Citizens initiate water study

By ROBERT WERNSMAN City Editor

The first steps of a citizen's committee to reexamine higher-thanusual water bills will include testing airflow through a water line Monday, Nov. 3 and comparing the past 13 months of billing among those complaining.

The committee began its task Monday night in an introductory

The question of air flowing through water lines was one of several possibilities discussed by committee members and officials.

Mayor Cotton Mize, Public Works Director Tom Decell, Finance Director Tom Ferguson and City Manager Mack Wofford all made presentations to the group Monday at City Hall.

Of apparent interest to committee members was an announcement by Decell that the city realized far greater efficiency in its water sales during August and September.

During those two months, the city sold 92 percent of the water it purchased — approximately 20 percent more than tradition indicates, according to Decell.

Decell used a comparison of 1985 and 1986 August water sales figures to illustrate the situation. The city purchased 260 million gallons of water in August 1986, and sold 236 million to its customers, nearly 91 percent. Twelve months earlier, the city purchased 353 million gallons and sold 256 million gallons, 72 percent.

Neither he nor other city officials could explain the jump.

The committee, Mize said, is an effort to "resolve the problems," stemming from more than 423 recorded complaints about July and August water bills. 'The council has expended its energy, time and ideas" to address the situation, he said. Mize encouraged the committee members to bring to the Council's attention 'anything you all can come up with no boundaries.

In addition to the question of air in water lines affecting water bills, Wofford sought to dispel rumours that "any employee, city staff or councilman" realized any personal gain from unusually higher water

Wofford reviewed the steps which have been taken by city personnel to attempt to isolate possi-WATER BILLS page 2A

Pair arrested in Dallas on local theft charges

Two burglary suspects were arrested this weekend in Dallas thanks to computerized information from the Howard County sheriff's department.

Rex Donald Rainey, 33, 2612 Lynn Dr. and Johnny Tonn, 31, of San Angelo were arrested by Dallas police and returned to Howard County jail on Saturday, said Sheriff A.N. Standard.

They have been charged with the Oct. 17 burglary of Harry McMillian's residence on Sterling City Route Box T62A.

Dallas police confiscated $1,370 worth of firearms in the vehicle in which Rainey and Tonn were traveling at the time they were pulled over, Standard

Information leading to the arrest was relayed via computer after the burglary was reported to the Howard County sheriff's department on Friday.

Also included within the cache was an undetermined amount of jewelry that matches the description of items burglarized from the McMillian residence, Standard said.

According to a sheriff's report, burglars entered the residence by prying open a window located under the carport.

During the removal of guns and jewelry, burglars also committed considerable damage in the house, Standard said.

The burglary occurred between 6 p.m. and midnight on Friday, according to the sheriff's report.

Both suspects remained in custody this morning in lieu of $20,000 bonds.

County assumes road maintenance

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

The county will maintain two roads and pay a portion of the cost for electrical work planned for the Howard County Fairgrounds.

Both actions were unanimously approved by Howard County commissioners during their Monday meeting

In addition to hearing requests for financial support and maintenance, commissioners also were informed of the county's projected revenue in the 1986-87 fiscal year and the total balance and investments the entity had on Sept. 30. County engineer Bill Mims and his employees of the county road and bridges department will maintain Pettus Road located off the Lamesa Highway about a mile north of the city limits. The department will also assume responsibility for the Buena Vista Road located about a mile east of the city limits off 11th Place Extension.

Both road lengths are less than a mile and were brought to commissioners' attention recently by residents who complained about road conditions resulting from the recent heavy rains.

Both roads are unpaved and county engineer Bill Mims said his department will not undertake paving this year because of the financial constraints of this year's budget.

Mims also complained of the commissioners' rulings concerning the acceptance of the roads.

"If you're going to accept these roads, get the drainage problems resolved," he told commissioners after they had voted. 'You're not solving any problems," he said about their action, "and you're creating a lot of problems ahead of us."

He suggested to commissioners that property owners and land developers throughout the county should assume responsibility for drainage

Commissioner Bill Crooker told Mims the criticisms were valid, but came at an inappropriate time — after a motion was made and acted upon.

The commissioner also said the county had made past mistakes concerning drainage. He singled out drainage problems in the Tubbs Addition, for which the county assumes responsibility.

Commissioners also unanimously approved allocating $1,500 for electrical work to be undertaken at the county fairgrounds. The county fair association will assume responsibility for the remaining balance, Crooker said. The work is estimated to run approximately $3,300, he said.

County tax assessor Dorothy Moore said her office projects collecting taxes for the following entities in 1986-87: Howard County, $3.6 million; Howard County Junior College District, $2.5 million; City of Big Spring, $2.4 million; City of Coahoma, $82,000; City of Forsan, $12,000; Howard County Water Improvement District, $33,000; and Big Spring Independent School District, $5.7 million.

to let people know that there is a justice on the ballot whose name is Campbell and it's important to know the backgrounds of the candidates," he said.

But his opponent, White, a Plano attorney, tells voters recent court decisions show the court is trailblazing a liberal path. "The main issue ought to be conservatism versus the apparent liberalism of the court," he said.

Campbell, seeking his second six-year term after being appointed to the state's highest civil appeals court in 1978, points to his experience and his responsibilities as chief budget planner for the state judicial system.

But White, a former county treasurer, said he would feel comfortable handling the court's budgetary matters.

In the Place 4 race, Gonzalez seeks to win the remaining two years of an unexpired term and in so doing become the first Hispanic to win a statewide election. His opponent, Bates, a Waco attorney, ran unsuccessfully for the reme Court in 1982 and 1984

Gonzalez, a South Texas appeals court judge when appointed by Gov. Mark White to a vacancy on the bench in 1984, survived a bitter runoff n the Democratic primary this year against Jay Gibson, a former legislator who enjoyed the support of defense attorneys.

Victory apparently has healed these wounds. In addition, all statewide Democratic officeholders have endorsed Gonzalez, along with conservative organizations.

Still, Gonzalez faces a tough challenge. "The polls basically show we're unknown," Gonzalez said, adding, "It's frightening how much more work needs to be

Of Gonzalez, Bates said, "Judge Gonzalez, I will admit, is not the worst judge on the Supreme Court. But I'm probably more conservative than Gonzalez, and we need more conservatives on the Supreme Court.'

In Place 1, Mauzy, a 19-year state senator from Grand Prairie. faces Howell, a Dallas 5th Court of Appeals judge.

Howell, like his fellow Republicans, complains that the court is too liberal and points to the 1983 landmark Sanchez case in which the court said parents could sue for mental anguish in the death of a child through someone's negligence.

"This opened the gate to big, huge jury verdicts," which in-crease insurance rates for everyone, Howell said. Howell paints Mauzy as "the acknowledged ringleader of the ultra-liberal wing.

Mauzy defends the court, saving its decisions are neither liberal nor conservative.

He also defends his legislative record in fighting for single member district elections for Texas House seats in urban areas and sponsoring laws that established a uniform standard for calling potential jurors. Mauzy says of Howell, "the truth ain't in the fellow." He says Howell habitually sues his political adversaries, as he sued his Republican Party opponent.

The ground storage tank will stabilize water pressure fluctuations in the Kentwood area. The elevated storage tank will provide pressure for the system south of Scott Drive in the Highland area, he said.

Associated Press Writer TUNICA, Miss. (AP) - Scavengers are picking apart the shanties along Sugar Ditch, but former residents say they had hoped for something more dramatic, like a bulldozer, to start demolition of the Mississippi Delta slum.

"It would give me great pleasure to see it torn down because I'm the one who slept in there with the rats and roaches," said Jearlean Simmons, a former resident who lived with nine children in a three-room

She has moved her family into emergency housing on the other side of town but returned Monday expecting to see work crews start demolishing the shacks.

Sugar Ditch, which draws its name from a stinking drainage ditch slimy with human waste, attracted national attention in July 1985 when the Rev. Jesse Jackson paid a visit and called the slum "America's

The federal government has since approved $4.6 million in loans and grants for subsidized housing in Tunica County, one of the nation's poorest.

Vice Mayor Ellis Darby said the city got the title last week to demolish 17 houses along Sugar Ditch and work crews will begin soon to finish off any shacks left by the scavengers. A half-dozen men who attacked the shanties with hand tools on Monday said they were out to scrounge up any usable lumber.

The city plans to purchase a three-block section along Sugar Ditch and must find housing for the 50 or so families still living in the area.

Many of those residents still at Sugar Ditch live in substandard housing, but their houses are in considerably better shape than the first group of shacks bought by the city. Those 17 shanties and the land they sit on went for a total of $40,000, Darby said. The residents were moved earlier this year into house trailers with subsidized rents.

Mayor James Wilson apparently put out the word last week that residents willing to tear down the shacks could have them, Darby said. The mayor's secretary said he was out of town and could not be contacted.

Although government assistance is the primary source of income for Tunica County's 9,400 residents, 73 percent of whom are black, there has been no subsidized housing here.

U.S. offices bombed

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico - Bombs went off today at two U.S. armed forces facilities, wounding one person, police said. Bombs were found at five other U.S. facilities, but were defused.

The extent of the damage was not immediately known.

The Macheteros, a group seeking Puerto Rican independence, claimed responsibility for the blasts. The group has used violence in the past to draw attention to its political

A telephone caller who said he spoke on behalf of the group told The Associated Press the attacks were to protest reported plans to train Nicaraguan rebels in Puerto Rico.

Sources in the Reagan administration said Monday the Pentagon is developing plans to train the rebels, known as Contras, in the United States and that Puerto Rico was one of three sites being considered.

Official resigns

UNITED NATIONS - Ethiopia's foreign minister, saying his country's Marxist regime has forfeited the moral right to govern, resigned to protest what he called Ethiopia's slide into dictatorship.

"All efforts to moderate its policies from within were to no avail," Goshu Wolde told reporters at a news conference Monday.

Ethiopia, on the Horn of Africa, is the Soviet Union's staunchest ally on the continent.

Goshu said he was resigning immediately from his ministry and as a member of the Central Committee of the ruling Marxist party, but had not decided whether to seek political asylum.

Soviets return home

MOSCOW — Two Soviets who emigrated to the United States and then asked permission to come home have returned, and one of them said leaving had been a "tragic mistake." a Communist Party newspaper reported today.

Sovietskaya Rossiya, a publication of the party and the government of the Russian Republic, said the two former emigrants, Israel Glickman and Yefim Belikin, were met by members of their family Monday at Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport.

Sovietskaya Rossiya said Glickman and Belikin "were lucky.

"They were able to return," the paper said. "But many, many former citizens appear on the doorsteps of Soviet missions abroad, begging to let them back. One can't forever be correcting the mistakes of grown people, who made this pernicious decision themselves.

Arms control proposal reduces weapons by 50 percent

By BARRY SCHWEID

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweeping U.S. proposal to reduce superpower strategic nuclear weapons by 50 percent in five years and to rid Europe of all intermediaterange weapons will be submitted to the Soviet Union at the Geneva arms talks later this week, an administration official said today.

The proposal, which also sets as a goal eliminating all ballistic nuclear missiles in 10 years, was approved at a White House meeting of President Reagan and a planning group of the National Security Council on Monday, said the official, who demanded

The decision carries out the thrust of Reagan's discussions at the Iceland summit with Mikhail S. Gorbachev, the Soviet leader.

The Soviets have insisted that Reagan went further at Reykjavik, suggesting the United States and the Soviet Union work to ban all strategic nuclear weapons by 1996, not just ballistic missiles.

One official, who said U.S. records of the conversations between Reagan and Gorbachev had not yet been prepared, acknowledged the president "may have said that at one point."

But the official stressed that Reagan undoubtedly told Gorbachev many more times he was seeking only a ballistic-missile ban since this is the U.S. position.

Among those endorsing the package at Monday's meeting, which was put in the form of new instructions to chief U.S. arms negotiator Max M. Kampelman, was the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. William J. Crowe, other sources said.

With American and NATO conventional forces outnumbered in Europe by the Soviet Union and its allies, U.S. military officials are concerned that eliminating U.S. nuclear weapons there would be a dangerous step. Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., and others have noted that nuclear disarmament would leave the Soviets in a commanding military position.

In the hours immediately following the conclusion of the summit in Reykjavik on Oct. 12, U.S. government spokesmen indicated the allout elimination of nuclear weapons was the administration position. Now they maintain that while Reagan discussed elimination of all nuclear arms, he never proposed more than destruction of all ballistic, or long-range guided missiles, in two five-year phases.

The distinction is strategically important because the U.S. position as now stated would leave both sides with substantial arsenals of cruise missiles, nuclear bombs and tactical nuclear weapons fired from conventional artillery pieces.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes insisted Monday that he had seen written notes from the two-day meeting, and he did not challenge a Reagan quote disclosed by the Soviets over the weekend.

The Soviets quoted Reagan as telling Gorbachev at the summit, If we agree that by the end of the 10-year period, all nuclear arms are to be eliminated, we can refer this to our delegations in Geneva to prepare an agreement which you could sign during your visit to the United States.

'There was discussion of the ultimate goal of elimination of all nuclear weapons from the face of the Earth, which has been the president's goal and dream for many years," Speakes said Monday. "However, in the formal presentation and exchange of proposals between the United States and the Soviet Union, the Soviets proposed 'all strategic,' and the United States took the paper and scratched through 'strategic' and put 'ballistic.'

Asked if the White House would release its own notes of the meeting taken by an official notetaker and an interpreter during the talks Oct. 11 and 12, Speakes replied, "No."

Asked why, he replied, "We just Speakes also refused direct comment when asked about the accuracy of the quote attributed to Reagan and complained that its release by Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Alexander Bessmertnykh violated "the usual practice in diplomatic discussions.

O'Neill merits national praise

His figure is not the slim, blow-dried profile that campaign consultants like to feature in TV ads. His style of patronage politics was not in vogue in the age of PACs. But House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill has been a figure to deal with in Congress.

For a quarter of a century, he fought for Joe Lunchbucket, for the Mrs.' right to work and the kids's education.

He fought for the grandparents' Social Security. He fought so the boys wouldn't be taken away to die in a foreign war. But in national crises, he always rallied behind the president.

O'Neill was the leader of the loyal Democratic opposition at a time of rising Republican popularity. Some say his image as an old-time politician did little to help the Democrats convey the new ideas vaunted by politicians such as Gary Hart.

But in an age of conservatism, O'Neill represented liberal conservatism, holding onto the New Deal ideals and the programs that transformed the working class of this country into

That transformation made patronage politics increasingly obsolete. Families came to depend less on the party and more on their own assets, their education and their professionial The middle class became increasingly independent, politically and economically. Many beneficiaries have tended to forget where they came from, abandoning the politicians who got them where they are. O'Neill never forgot where he came from, or what his constituents wanted. When a reporter asked him what mattered, O'Neill said: "The home, the family. That you have a roof over your head. That you have a meal. That you have heat. That you can educate your kids better than you were. ... That's what life is all about. That's what the home is all about, that's what the O'Neill's ideals are what this country is all about. He deserves America's thanks for his years of service.

Preference given to jury trials

To the editor:

Now, I believe, is the time for all concerned citizens of Big Spring to speak up loud and clear, and demand justice be done!

Luis Martinez, I agree when you stated anyone who takes another person's life should be punished by law. Also, I agree with your question "Why are some punished and others not?'

I want to ask Big Springers this question: Are we going to stand by and let a confessed brutal murderer, rapist and thief decide his own punishment, without even a trial by jurors? Of course he wants life in prison.

Andy Guzman confessed to brutally murdering and raping an 81-year-old woman, and now, with his decision of life in prison, Guzman can be out of prison and back on the streets in 20 years. Mrs. Bohannan will never have her life or dignity back, God rest her soul.

Did Andy Guzman give Ara Erline Bohannan a choice of life or death? No, Andy Guzman confessed to brutally murdering her and raping her, and then stealing her car. Neither she nor her family had a choice in her murder.

I say Andy Guzman should let jurors decide his fate. What kind of judicial system do we have, when a confessed capital murderer is given a choice of trial or life in prison? I say people of Big Spring should speak up and demand justice.

Guzman has already been to prison and released on early parole because of his "good behavior time." Now, because of his "good behavior release," an innocent woman was brutally killed in her own home, in broad daylight, by Guzman.

His neighborhood has lived in terror for years. Is this fair to the innocent people? I am concerned for the safety of Big Springers when we let a murderer "Get off with murder."

We have a good police department, sheriff's department, and judicial system that we all trust our safety and lives with. Community, let's demand justice be done.

show waste and blunders

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON - The Voice of America, which transmits news and opinion around the globe in 42 languages, has barely begun a $1.3 billion modernization program, but investigators already are sniffing out waste and mismanagement.

Only about $11 million has been spent so far on the wide-ranging modernization, but the U.S. Information Agency's inspector general has expanded his investigation from the engineers' designs for the improvements to include the improvements themselves.

One investigator said auditors have uncovered "major problems with the management of the VOA modernization project ... a messy, nasty problem (that reflects) a management appraoch which is not effective.'

Few would deny the need modernizing the radio network's crumbling facilities. Most of the equipment in the Washington, D.C., studios broadcast President Eisenhower's messages 30 or more years ago. In Europe, some of the Voice's hardware was captured from the Germans in World War II.

Acoustical tiles made of asbestos line the walls and ceilings of broadcast booths. The main building in Washington smells musty because of poor ventilation. In the central recording and master control rooms, toxic PCBs drip from the wires, forming puddles on the concrete floor.

The question is not whether the money is needed, but whether it is being spent wisely. Hundreds of pages of internal VOA documents obtained by our reporter David Davis make clear tht it is not. For

• On the other hand, VOA spent thousands of dollars repairing equipment that still was under the manufacturer's warranty. • Major purchases were made from companies that later went out of business and sold their spare parts inventory in the process of liquidation. In one case, as a result, technicians had to be called more than 60 times in a single month to repair high-speed tape-duplicating machines purchased from a company that now is defunct. In fact, the machines break down so frequently that the old ones they replaced are kept on standby in another room

 Installation of the computerized master switching control system — the heart of the modernization effort — is more than six months behind schedule. The equipment for this vital project sat unused for more than three years; meanwhile, the agency loses $1 million a month because of the

• A $185,000 mobile studio van elicited this complaint from the crew following one recent assignment

"The equipment in the van proved inadequate for dubbing and for reel-to-reel editing and cutting-in inserts. The wall-mounted playback equipment proved unmanageable. The broadcasters ended up editing cassettes in their (hotel) rooms. ... The generator malfunctioned, bringing everything to a stop.

VOA spent tens of thousands of dollars correcting contractors' mistakes.

For example, after a contractor had supposedly completed four radio studios and two production booths for $1.5 million, two agency administrators asked for an additional $69,000 to $94,000 worth of equipment (not counting labor costs), saying it was work "which must be done before these facilities can be considered fully operational and ready for program and recording use.

Many willing to get credit for arms job

By ART BUCHWALD For the past week I have been trying to find out who was responsible for the C-123 cargo plane that was shot down over Nicaragua. Everyone seems to be taking credit

The White House folks say that the Reagan Administration was involved

'We don't approve of airplanes that fly over Marxist countries we have diplomatic relations with, but we're always willing to make an exception. If we can't violate the laws of Congress to wage a secret war, then we have no right to call ourselves the White House. 'Who helped you do the job?''

"The Abraham Lincoln Brigade They fought on the Loyalist side during the Spanish Civil War and they were aching for action again. What gets you mad is that Maj. Gen. Singlaub says he did it all with his mercenaries

"Who is Gen. Singlaub?" +"He runs the Club Med for the contras in El Salvador.' I went to see Gen. Singlaub. "Are you involved with the plane that was downed in Nicaragua?

"I didn't know a plane had been shot down, but if there was, we'll take credit for it. "It was one of ours not one of theirs. "You mean one of mine. No plane flies over Nicaragua without my permission. 'Then the CIA had nothing to do

'They always brag about being part of a covert operation whether they are or not." Maybe I should ask William Casey. His footprints are all over Central America.

When I called and asked for Casey, I was told he wasn't there. "Where is he?" I inquired.

"He's on The Hill telling everyone that the CIA was up to its ears in monkey business in Managua. He's afraid someone else will get the points.'

"You would think he'd want to deny it, since it is against the law.' "Denying covert operations gets you nowhere. Besides, we subcontract most of our work in Central America, and if it leaked out that we didn't do our own illegal air drops, the press might think we're up to no good."

"In spite of what you're telling me, I assume you do have a cover story denying any involvement in this?

"Our cover story is that the pilot of the C-123, whom we didn't know. took off from Miami, which we've never heard of, on a crop-spraying flight to Green Bay, Wis. The plane ran into bad weather, and, to save fuel, dumped all the guns and ammunition it was carrying over what he thought was Nashville. Unfortunately, some Alabama duckhunters fired on the plane forcing it down over Nicaragua. "Is that the best the CIA can come up with?' "It did some better in the briefing room.

'Everyone claims responsibility for the C-123 plane, even Vice President George Bush.' "He's always loved covert operations.'

I called. "Mr. Vice President, it's being bandied about all over town that your office is handling illegal arms smuggling to Nicaragua.

"Why would the White House give you the assignment when it could inflict embarrassment on the office, challenge your credibility, and cause you nothing but grief and suffering? "They owe me one."

AIDS virus not spread through air

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I heard on TV that as soon as the AIDS virus is exposed to air it dies. Is this true? - K.A.

If you want to be technical, a virus is alive and kicking only when it in inside a body cell. That's where it can go about its virulent work. This is as true of the AIDS as of any other. It can't do a thing outside a cell. And we know that this is a difficult task for it to accomplish. This is why we say the disease, AIDS, is hard to catch.

Does the AIDS viral structure go to pot when it's exposed to air? The answer to that is no, it doesn't. But even so, it is easily destroyed by minor disinfectants, like a dilution of common household bleach (1 to 10 bleach to water)

Following through the implications of your question, I gather that your real concern is about just how AIDS is spread. It is not spread via droplets in the air. Years of experience with it tells us that a sneeze won't pass AIDS from the person who has it.

How then does the virus get into

there by penetrating skin or mucus membrane, the coverings of the mouth and reproductive tracts, for examples. And people can get it by injecting it along with drugs, using paraphernalia in common with people who may have it already. Male homosexuals get AIDS through sexual activity.

You do not catch AIDS as you do measles — from droplets sneezed or coughed into the air. You avoid the body and into the blood? It gets AIDS by moderating or abandoning any of the practices with which its spread is associated. Today, with careful screening of donor blood, those are practically the exclusive means of contracting it.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a born-again physical activist. I am a 52-year-old male, sedentary until I took up jogging (what else?) and I now jog three times a week. That's about it. I cannot get motivated for much more than this. I spread the three days out over the week, maybe a half hour or 45 minutes each time. Am I getting sufficient benefits? It hardly seems possible. Comment, please. — S.V.

On the face of it, your program should be providing maximum expected benefits. You're getting vour pulse rate up for an extended period of time (20 minutes is considered sufficient) and you're doing that with accepted regularity.

There may be little difference in the aerobic outcome (better heart performance, etc.) between those who exercise daily and those who alternate days, as you are doing. You asked other questions, for which I'll refer you to my booklet,

"Introduction to Fitness." Other readers may obtain a copy by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope

FOR P.S.H. — Here's the colorblind story. We sense color by way of certain cells of the retina (at the rear of the eye chamber). They are the cone cells. These cells produce pigment that detects three colors red, blue or green. When these cells absorb light they send signals to the brain, which sorts them out and produces color images. In color blindness the person has a genetic defect that causes a deficiency in pigment production by the cone cells. The defect is inherited.

ST. PAUL — Pipeline safety laws sion in Mounds View, Minn., on Juneed "a top to bottom overhaul" and Congress should define strong roles for states and local governments to regulate pipelines, U.S. Sen. Dave Durenberger said

Monday. The Minnesota Republican. along with Democratic U.S. Reps. Bruce Vento and Gerry Sikorski, testified before Gov. Rudy Perpich's Commission on Pipeline Safety, which was appointed following the fatal pipeline explo-Durenberger, in his prepared remarks, said legislation he has introduced would repeal the section of current law that explicitly preempts the right of states and local governments to regulate pipelines which run between states.

Under his bill, Durenberger said, states would have the right to impose requirements more stringent than federal requirements on

Economic effects considered

AUSTIN - Judging the economic impact on Texas of the federal immigration reform law is difficult, Comptroller Bob Bullock said.

"There's going to be little effect on the state's finances or the Texas economy in the short run and there's simply no concrete evidence to predict an impact for the long-term picture,' Bullock said in a statement Monday.

Bullock said his office has estimated as many as 600,000 of the one million estimated illegal aliens in Texas might be eligible to apply for American citizenship under the new law.

However, Bullock said if there is strict enforcement of the sanctions against employers who hire illegal aliens, the action might dry up a source of cheap labor for many Texas busnesses and industries.

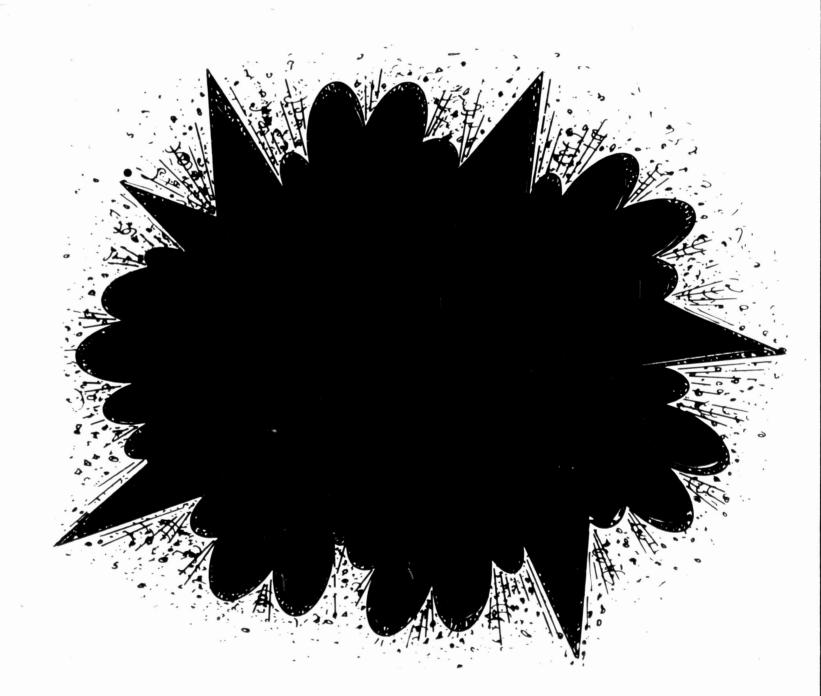

"For the most part, illegal aliens in Texas are paying virtually all the same taxes - sales taxes, gasoline taxes and excise taxes — as you and me,' Bullock said.

The youth-oriented Crossroads County football teams took their lumps Friday night, with only undefeated Forsan and Borden County

Forsan defeated Stanton 32-7 in a key District 6-2A matchup that puts the Buffaloes in the driver's seat for a playoff spot. Besides Stanton, Coahoma, Sands, Klondike, Grady, Garden City, and Colorado City lost. Grady, Garden City and Coahoma are winless so far in '86. Here is what area coaches had to say about last Friday's games

Jan East, whose Forsan team whipped Stanton after tying Reagan County the week before but edging them in penetrations.

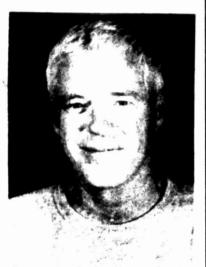

"We felt like we had to win it to get into the playoffs and we were real pleased. To be truthfull, I thought it would be a lot closer, but we scored two touchdowns right before the half all in about a minute and I think it hurt their morale a little bit.

"We shut their running game down pretty well; we felt like that's what we would have to do to win the ballgame. They had 110 yards rushing and that's way below what they had been averaging.

"If we don't win the district now it'll be our own fault. We got it where we want it. If we win the next two games, we'll be district champs. Now we want it all; we don't want second place.

"I haven't played against anybody I'd trade him (Wayne Wright) for, that's for sure.

JOE BOND

JAN EAST

Dale Ruth, Stanton, whose Buffaloes fell to Forsan and play Reagan

"I was pretty disappointed and our kids were pretty down. We came out trying to get after them and the second quarter we were able to go ahead, but they just caught us out of position on two passes right at the end of the half.

"If you take those plays away it might have been a different game in the second half. They didn't score in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter they were able to score against us and we couldn't get anything rolling. But the kids realize they have a second chance (against Reagan County.)

Billy Kidd, on Coahoma's 14-0 loss to heavily favored Brady and next week's game at Ballinger, the third ranked team in the state.

"We felt we played as good as we can probably play. Our kids got after it and played real good defense the whole game. Our offense moved the football on the ground real well but we couldn't throw it Friday night. I thought that would have been the difference in the "One thing that hurt us was an interception we made and a pass interference call on the play — we looked at it on the films and it was just a bad call. It was 6-0 late in the game and we would have had the ball deep in their territory and would have been in a good position to

"Ballinger is undefeated and number three in the state — it'll be real tough. They're real big and they have lots of speed and experience, but we're not afraid of them, and we feel like we'll get after them and give them a good ballgame. Sands' Coach John Blair, whose team lost 43-26 to Midland Christian, but played without two starters, including star running back Jay "We're not making any excuses, but Fryar and Bill Gregg (cornerback) were out. But they just gave us a good country whipping — they have a good ballclub "He (Fryar) probably could have played, but he's had tonsillitis and I just didn't want to take any chances. Our biggest game is with Loop next week, and I think he'll be all right. 'We had several chances but we'd make mistakes. We just never did get into the ballgame like we should have.' Joe Bond, Borden County, whose Coyotes overcame a 14-0 deficit to edge Dawson 15-14.

'I was really kind of disappointed in our game. In the first half we turned the ball over twice that led to their scores. We were down 14-0 and I feel like after that our kids played pretty good defensively.

"We were pretty ineffective with our offense in the first half; we were unable to move the ball. In the second half we made a few it was 22-0 at the end of the first quarter. We came back in the second quarter and scored seven and had a little momentum at the half. This was a real letdown because we felt like we had a shot at getting our first win of the season. "We have an open week this week and then Miles. They're 0-8 and I think we'll have an opportunity for a win.

Mike Mathis, whose freshmen-filled Grady squad fell to 0-8 with a 57-12 loss to Wellman.

"It was a tough game. They're winning district so they're in the driver's seat. You know when the third and fourth place teams in the district roll over us it won't be hard for the number one team to roll over us. They were the best team we've played so far.

"Our most improved player this week was Julian Valle. Every one else played about par. It's just a no win situation when you have a

Tom Ham, Klondike, whose team lost 30-8 to Loop, and will play Grady Friday

They're all tough when you lose. In the second quarter Kirk Tidwell (quarterback) separated his shoulder and I doubt seriously he'll be back this season. We lost three kids to House Bill 72. Two of those were starters and the other was playing a whole lot "We've got Grady next week. You can't take anybody for granted in six-man. A lot of people say Grady is weak and I wish I could say the same thing. You just don't lose people like we've lost and beat those teams, so we're taking Grady very seriously. We're going into it expecting to win but we're going to have to play hard to win.

Colorado City Coach Tom Ramsey, whose Wolves lost 49-14 to Clyde. "We ran into a buzzsaw with Clyde. Everything just seemed to go wrong. It was 21-0 before we looked up and they never slowed down and we never cranked up.

"We came out and played a little better in the second half. Our first half killed us but our kids hung in there and scored twice in the second half. We played much better - practically all our offense was in the second half. In the first half it was all them.

Mets win deciding game

ignited a three-run rally in the seventh inning with a home run, climaxing another New York comeback and sending the Mets to their second World Series championship with a 8-5 victory Monday night over the Boston Red Sox.

The Mets scored three runs in the sixth inning, two on a single by Keith Hernandez, to chase twogame Series winner Bruce Hurst and tie the score 3-3. Then Knight, voted most valuable player in the series, led off the seventh with his third hit of the game, a homer to left-center that started the Mets to their first World Series title since Hernandez capped the inning with a sacrifice fly for a 6-3 lead.

The Mets still had one last obstacle to overcome as the Red Sox rallied for two runs in the eighth on Dwight Evans' double, and had the tying run on second base with no one out.

But Jesse Orosco came out of the bullpen and got Rich Gedman on a line drive to second, struck out Dave Henderson and got pinchhitter Don Baylor to ground out to short. He pitched a perfect ninth for his second save of the Series.

Darryl Strawberry led off the eighth with a homer off Boston reliever Al Nipper. Orosco, batting for only the fourth time this season, singled in Knight with the eighth New York run.

The party is in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — They burned Red Sox caps, they danced in a parking-lot-turned-disco, they drank and shouted and generally exalted in their team's climb from worst to first. It was a night for Mets fans.

"That's right, they're amazing!" screamed Richard Kish, after watching the New York beat Boston in the seventh and final game of the World Series, 8-5.

Chastened by a tremendous show of police force — both on and off horseback - the crowd stood and cheered, and staved off the field at 11:26 p.m., when Jesse Orosco struck out Marty Barrett to end the Mets' season with 116 wins.

During the game and in the ensuing madness, there were 15 arrests at Shea Stadium for offenses ranging from assault to car theft. Red Sox traveling secretary Jack Rogers was hit on the head with a partially filled soda can that was thrown from the stands, and suffered a 6-inch gash. Starting pitcher Ron Darling had complained that the stadium was too quiet, that the real fans had been replaced by a more affluent, more sedate bunch who could afford the $40 price and had the clout to obtain tickets.

But from the very start Monday night — when the fans booed Jean

The noise did not subside when the Mets fell behind, 3-0. And when they came back to tie it in the sixth inning and then went ahead, the crowd sang along with Frank Sinatra's "New York, New York" and the rock group Queens' "We Will Rock You.

When Ray Knight homered boisterous beer-drinkers sprayed the entire left-field bleachers with suds. And when the Mets were poised in the ninth to win the championship, someone threw a red smoke bomb into left field, delaying the final out. Police arrested a 27-yearold Brooklyn man.

The public address announcer repeatedly said it was "absolutely essential" that fans remain in the stands after the game; to reinforce the point, mounted police made cameo appearances from time to

Sad time for Bostonians

BOSTON (AP) — Subdued Boston Red Sox players returned to Fenway Park early today amid cheers from fans who stubbornly waved "We're No. 1" signs despite the World Series loss to New York.

"They're the greatest. I think they're wonderful. Everyone of them. They might not have won the World Series, but they're champs,' said Nancy Joyce, 39, one of about 50 die-hard fans on hand for the team's 3:15 a.m. EST arrival.

"I was heartbroken for Wade Boggs," said she said of her favorite player, who sat the dugout and wept after the Sox bowed 8-5 to the Mets in the seventh and final game Monday night. 'We're here to say thank you,' said Trudy Siraco of Cambridge. After watching the game on television, she came out to the ballpark with her husband Joe and their son, Sean, 4. The Red Sox' charter landed at Logan International Airport where advance word about tight security kept fans away. Players were taken by bus to Fenway, where many of them had parked their cars.

At Fenway, fans gathered around Game 7 pitchers Bruce Hurst, who went six innings, and loser Calvin Schiraldi, who waded into the small crowd to shake hands. The rest of the team walked slowly and quietly into the ballpark.

Ed Gurley, 27, assistant manager of a souvenir shop at Fenway, looked at the bright side. "Right now, a lot of pople are hurt. The Red Sox were supposed to be in fifth place, and they're American League champs. People forget Earlier, about 250 fans crowded into the Dockside Bar and Restaurant near Faneuil Hall to watch the game on television. When second baseman Marty Barrett struck out to end the game, the bar was quiet and the crowd filtered out.

While some fans went to their favorite watering holes to watch the game, city police reported no problems. "It's been extremely quiet," said police spokesman Thomas Santry.

James Cali, 45, a subway inspec tor, said the mood of the riders on one line after the game was solemn, "like somebody passed

"There's no joy in Mudville tonight," Cali said. "There are a lot of sad people. I feel bad for them. You want to see the Sox win, not for the team, but for the people of Boston. But there's always next

Tide, Huskers drop in rankings

By The Associated Press

Penn State's convincing 23-3 victory over Alabama catapulted the Nittany Lions into second place today in the Associated Press college football poll and sent the Crimson Tide plummeting to eighth.

Nebraska was another big loser, skidding from third place to ninth after being upset by Colorado 20-10. Meanwhile, Michigan, Oklahoma, Auburn, Washington and Arizona State all moved up.

Top-rated Miami was idle last weekend. The Hurricanes entertain Florida State this Saturday, and the Seminoles climbed back into the Top Twenty after a four-week absence.

Miami received 55 of 60 first-place votes and 1,193 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters, to Penn State's four first-place votes and 1,107 points. Both teams are 7-0.

Michigan's 38-14 trouncing of Indiana lifted the Wolverines, 7-0, from fourth place to third with 1,081 points. Michigan received the remaining first-place vote.

Oklahoma, the preseason No. 1 pick, continued its climb back toward the top since a loss to Miami late last month. The Sooners whipped Iowa State 38-0 and jumped from fifth to fourth with 1,017 points. Auburn trimmed Mississippi State 35-6 and moved up from seventh to fifth with 986 points, followed by Washington, which rose from eighth to sixth with 818 points after a 38-3 drubbing of Oregon.

Arizona State's 52-7 pounding of winless Utah sent the Sun Devils from ninth place to seventh with 798 points, followed by Alabama with 792 points and Nebraska with

Texas A&M, No. 10 last week, again rounded out the Top Ten with 679 points after crushing Rice 45-10.

The Second Ten consists of Iowa, LSU, Arkansas, Arizona, UCLA, North Carolina State, Ohio State, Southern Cal, Mississippi State and Florida State.

Last week, it was Iowa, LSU, Mississippi State, Arkansas, Arizona, Clemson, UCLA, Stanford, Southern Methodist and North Carolina State.

Ohio State returned to the Top Ten after a six-week absence by blanking Minnesota 33-0. Southern Cal reappeared after a oneweek lapse by downing Stanford 10-0 and Florida State made it back after a four-week absence by crushing Louisville 54-18. Meanwhile, Clemson lost to North Carolina State 27-3 and fell out of the rankings, Southern Methodist dropped out after losing to Texas 27-24 and Stanford's loss to Southern Cal cost the Cardinal its spot in the

Giants defeat Redskins; three-way tie in NFC East

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — It was a typical NFC East battle and New York Giants Coach Bill Parcells gave an assist for the victory over the Washington Redskins to the New York Mets, or at least their fans.

Joe Morris rushed for 181 yards and two touchdowns, including a 13-yard sweep off right end for the winning points with 1:38 to play, as the Giants defeated the Redskins 27-20 Monday night, creating a three-way tie for first place in the NFC East.

"Well, that's the NFC East right there," said Parcells. "It's a battle. I'm just happy to get the win. It finishes up the first half and I guess there are three teams that kind of got to start over."

The teams are the Giants, Redskins and Dallas. All are tied for first place with 6-2 records heading into the second half of the season.

The Giants are tied because Morris, who carried 31 times, followed big blocks by Chris Godfrey and Maurice Carthon and then sidestepped the final five yards into the end zone for the game winner. It capped a 10-play, 81-yard drive, with Morris carrying five times for 66 yards.

The run also nullified a great comeback for Washington and outstanding performances by quarterback Jay Schroeder, who completed 22 of 40 passes for a career-best 420 yards, and wide receiver Gary Clark, who had 11 receptions for 241 yards, a club yardage record for a receiver.

However, Schroeder missed on his last attempt of the game after driving the Redskins to the Giants' 35 in the final minute.

One of the reasons the Redskins lost was because an offsides penalty cost them a touchdown in the second quarter. It came as the crowd at Giants Stadium, listening and watching the Mets-Boston Red Sox World Series showdown on radio and television, cheered a two-run single by Keith Hernandez.

'The noise hurt us,' said guard Russ Grimm. "It pulled us offsides a couple of times."

Redskins Coach Joe Gibbs also noticed the

"The crowd caused us to jump offside, and it cost us a touchdown," he said. "That was a big play."

Redskins rallied for 17 straight second-half points against the NFL's best-rated defense to tie the game 20-20 on a 29-yard field goal by Max Zendejas with 4:20 to go. The field goal, like all the Redskins' points in the rally, was set up by a big play. This time it was a 47-yard pass from Schroeder to Art Monk.

In the third-quarter, the Giants' defense blew a deep coverage and Schroeder hit Clark on a 42-yard touchdown pass on a third-and-19 play. On Washington's previous series, Schroeder hit Ricky Sanders on a 71-yard pass play to the New York 1, setting up a short touchdown run by George Rogers.

The Giants had opened a 20-3 lead midway through the third quarter as Raul Allegre booted field goals of 37 and 44 yards, Morris scored on an 11-yard run and Phil Simms hit Bobby Johnson on a 30-yard scoring pass.

The loss was the Redskins' third straight in Giants Stadium and it came in a game in which the Giants' defense did not live up to its No. 1

The Redskins offense got untracked midway through the third period and scored fast, making two big plays.

Trailing 20-3, Schroeder connected with Sanders, another former USFL player, on a 71-vard pass after Giants cornerback Mark Collins seemed to trip on the play, leaving Sanders wide open. Rogers scored on the next play.

Washington closed to 20-17 on its next possession after a 15-yard personal foul against the Giants' Pepper Johnson gave the Redskins the ball at midfield.

A 17-yard pass to Clark got the ball to the New York 33, but a second-down sack by Lawrence Taylor had Washington in a third-and-19 at the New York 42. However, the defense blew a coverage and Schroeder found Clark all alone at the 5 and he backed into the end zone for the Allegre, who missed a 29-yard field goal attempt early in the fourth quarter, capped New York's opening drive with his 37-yard field goal. Morris was the workhorse on the drive, gahning 41 yards on six carries.

Morris again did most of the work on the Giants' second drive, gaining 48 yards on five carries. He capped the march by following a Zeke Mowatt block and going untouched the final 11 yards off right tackle.

Zendejas closed the gap to 10-3 with less than four minutes left in the half.

Bowa to get Padres job

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Larry Bowa, who guided San Diego's Class AAA Las Vegas Stars to a Pacifc Coast League championship this year, will be named to replace Steve Boros as Padres manager, according to a published report.

The Padres planned to announce the change at a news conference today, The San Diego Union

Bowa, 40, guided the Stars to an 80-62 record in his first year managing them. Boros, 50, ended his first year as Padres manager with a 74-88 record, fourth in the National League West. Boros became manager in February after Dick Williams abruptly resigned at the start of spring training. Previously, Boros was coordinator of minor-league instruction and reportedly will return to that job.

Boros, who left Saturday for a vacation in Tahiti, received word of the move at a meeting Friday with Padres president Ballard Smith and team General Manager Jack McKeon. The Union said the plans had been in place for two weeks, but Smith wanted to wait until after the World Series to announce them.

Pokes' rookie a true deep threat

IRVING (AP) — Tex Schramm raised his fist in triumph when the Dallas Cowboys traded up to take wide receiver Mike Sherrard in the first round of the NFL draft.

"It's about time we finally did something right," said Schramm, who had been unhappy with the Cowboys' first-round mistakes the previous five years.

The Cowboys haven't been sorry a second since they took the speedy Sherrard, a rookie from UCLA who specializes in sensational catches.

"He gives something to our offense we've never had before," said quarterback Danny White. "He's so fast it's hard to lead him enough. And he has great hands. He makes the routine catches and he makes the great catches. It's impossible to overthrow him, and believe me I've tried.'

most clubs although he has caught touchdown passes of 22, 27, 36 and 39 yards. "Teams don't give me a lot of respect deep and it's kind of funny because that's all I do is go deep," Sherrard said. "They kind of dare me to go deep.' Going deep, Sherrard caught five passes for 111 yards in a 37-6 victory over the St.

Louis Cardinals. "Mike can go deep and it helps loosen up the defense if we can throw to him four or five times during a game," said Dallas offensive coordinator Paul Hackett. "And he has great hands besides great speed.'

The 6-foot-2, 185-pound Sherrard has excellent speed lines. His mother, Cherrie, was a member of the 1964 U.S. Olympic team as an 80-meter hurdler. That was the same team that featured "bullet" Bob Hayes, who later became a Cowboys' receiver.

Hayes said, "You can see some similarities between her running style and Mike's. Hill said Sherrard and running back Herschel Walker are the big reasons the Cowboys are improved this year.

"We are so diversified that teams can't key on one thing," Hill said.

Sherrard has a flair for the spectacular. He took a pass away from Washington's Darrell Green in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Mets started poorly in the

That gave Evans time to throw Hernandez out at second for the second out of the inning, and Strawberry lined out to shallow left for the third out of the inning.

But the score was 3-3, and the Mets' master of no-decisions, Darling, was off the hook. During the season, he had 13 decisionless starts and a 15-6 record. # SAY HELLO TO STEEDS

BEST FRIEND!

Share Bear is a kid's best friend — a friend who's going to make this Christmas very special for thousands of children.

For many kids, Christmas is a magic day filled with new toys, warm food and the love and devotion of caring family members. But for far too many other children, Christmas is just another day in their bleak existence. Another day to be cold. Another day to be hungry. Another day to be abused or neglected.

These kids need a best friend and that's why Share Bear is here to reach out to them.

Share Bear is the official mascot for the Furr's Foundation Christmas Campaign, a program aimed at raising $500,000 for needy kids in West Texas and New Mexico.

YOU CAN HELP TOO!

The major fund-raising project for the Furr's Foundation Christmas Campaign is the sale of Share Bears. Because of the scope of our mission, we need to price each Share Bear at

From this purchase price,

$5.00

goes into the Share Bear Christmas Fund.

Five dollars may not seem like a lot of money, but it can do a great deal for a child. It can help buy warm clothes or shoes in winter. It can provide hot meals and day care. It can pay for after school care and counseling. It can make life a little easier for kids who need hope.

Share Bear will be in our stores early this week, so watch for him. You can't miss him — he's almost two feet tall and is the cutest bear to come out of the woods in a long time

Furr's Supermarkets is helping the Furr's Foundation in its effort to raise money for needy children in West Texas and New Mexico. We are proud to offer the Share Bear for sale in our stores. Thank you for your generosity and your participation in the Share Bear Christmas Campaign.
