In remarks prepared for a swearing-in ceremony at the Seminole Junior High School auditorium, Bentsen praised the 150 Mennonites and 65 of their children for their tenacity in battling for freedom and cifizenship in the United States.

"These prayerful and productive people

Diedrich Harms, pastor at one of the four Mennonite churches in Seminole, praised Bentsen and others for their work on behalf of the immigrants.

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK

Associated Press Writer HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Gov. Mark White and Houston Mayor Kathy Whitmire insist the nation's fourth-largest city is prepared to host the 1988 Democratic National Convention. 'We plan to convince the Site Selection Committee there can be no other choice," Mrs. Whitmire said Thursday night at a $1,000-aplate fundraiser kicking off four days of briefings and wining and dining for 56 delegates from around the country who will decide on a site for the convention.

"We have full buildings and not so full buildings," White said. "We're ready for you. You are in the city of the future.

Democratic National Committee Chairman Paul Kirk said White's re-election to a second term next week, while a factor in the decision, would not be the major item in the process.

"It helps," he said of White's bid for a second term. "But I think it will be a moot point," he added, predicting a White victory over Republican challenger Bill Clements.

"Every city has its pros and cons," he said. "We'll weigh all the factors and take an accounting. Until that time the process is wide

Kirk, however, criticized Republicans for what he called a limp-wristed policy on trade, callous policy on agriculture and no policy on energy.

He said Clements was "looking at the future through a rearview

Local offices sent mixed drink taxes

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Both the city and the county received checks this week from the state comptroller's office as their share of the state's 12 percent mixed drink tax collected during the third quarter of 1986.

City Finance Director Tom Ferguson said this morning his office received a check Thursday in the amount of $1,586.31. The state's alcoholic beverage commission collected $12,690.50 in mixed drink taxes for Big Spring for the months of July, August and September.

The county's total mixed drink tax revenue reported for July, August and September was $30,529.31.

County treasurer Bonnie Franklin said this morning her office received a check in the amount of $3,816.16 on Monday.

The county's total tax revenue incorporates the city's tax revenue, said a spokesman from the tax information section of the comptroller's office.

The Legislature changed the mixed drink tax rate from 10 percent to 12 percent in 1984.

Cities and counties now each receive a 12.5 percent share of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in Texas. Cities and counties received 15 percent rebates before the rate was changed in 1984.

Revenues reported from surrounding counties and cities which allow sale of mixed drinks include: Mitchell County reported $4,066.61 in total tax revenue, of which the county received $508.33 and $343.31 for Colorado City; and Scurry County that reported $23,563.04 of which the county received $2,945.38 and $2,201.24 for Snyder.

Of the total $48.3 million in state collections, counties received $6 million, down from the $6.1 million received during the third quarter in 1985. Cities received $5.3 million, down from the $5.7 million rebated to cities last year during the third quarter. The state's general revenue fund received the remaining $37 million.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said the $36.9 million was deposited in the state's general revenue fund from third quarter collections, compared to $37.5 million collected in the third quarter 1985

Attack bulldog killed

An 81-year-old Big Spring woman remains in stable condition at Scenic Mountain Medical Center nearly two weeks after she was attacked by a pit bulldog.

Carmen Abreo, 500 Abrams, has had surgery several times since then, the last operation taking place Thursday, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Abreo suffered a compound fracture and massive tissue damage to

"It was a bad bite," the spokeswoman said, adding that the victim probably will be in the hospital for some time.

Meanwhile, the dog that attacked her has been destroyed, said Municipal Judge Gwen Fair.

Charges for keeping a vicious dog have been dismissed against the dog's owner, Sam Abreo. 500 Abrams, who is Carmen Abreo's son, Fair said. She said she agreed to dismiss the charges if he agreed to the dog's destruction.

Abreo's father, J.L. Abreo, also suffered a severe bite to the leg after he attempted to rescue his wife from the pit bulldog. His wound did not require hospitalization.

No problems have existed with other pit bulldogs Sam Abreo owns,

Seeking 'Christmas Cheer' support

Christmas Committee Chairman Dock Voorhies addressed diners at the Salvation Army "Christmas in October" luncheon Monday.

Statistics from last year's Christmas assistance were given: 428 families recieved Christmas food baskets; 916 children recieved toys, with an additional 338 gifts from the Live Angel Tree at Big Spring Mall and 278 gifts from the Living Tree at Highland Mall; 943 gifts were given to patients at the Veterans Administration Medical Center, Big Spring State Hospital, Golden Plains Care Center, and Mountain View Lodge.

Voorhies stressed the need for volunteers to help with this year's Christmas Cheer Program, because an even greater need is anticipated.

Local people have dressed dolls for the Army's Christmas Toy Shop, and they may be viewed at an open house Nov. 15 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Cindy Stenholm will present certificates of appreciation to the winning doll

Christmas Committee Co-chairman Carol Kohl said Dec. 7 will ee Salvation Army Christmas Cheer Sunday. Community churches will be asked to have a door offering for donations to the Christmas Cheer fund.

The Army will once again serve as a Christmas clearing house for the community, he said, for any organization or individual wishing to verify a need or whether a family is already receiving assistance. He pointed out that some clubs, churches, Sunday School classes and individuals in the past have adopted a family from those who applied to the Army for assistance, and the program will be in effect again this year.

Kohl also stresed the need for volunteers, who can give time, if not money. If not enough people volunteer, paid help will have to be secured, which would mean less money going to help the needy.

He urged everyone to act as an ambassador to clubs and other groups to get volunteer

Volunteers are needed for taking applications, sorting canned goods, packing baskets, establishing the Toy Shop, distributing toys and baskets and manning the familiar Red Christmas Kettles

Captain Braun of the Army said each child assisted would receive two new toys, as well as reconditioned toys if desired, and stocking stuffers. Each Christmas basket given will be basically a Christmas dinner, he said.

He said the Army anticipates an increase in Christmas assistance this year, because of the lagging economy. He said that from January-September, it assisted 3,000 more people than for the same time period last year

At the same time, donations to the organization were $50,000 less than last year. The Army is presently indebted by $65,000, and Braun said he hopes year-end giving will increase and the debt can be eliminated.

The Christmas Cheer fund goal this year is $45,000, to go to Christmas assistance. Any excess funds will be used for the Army's Winter Relief, he said.

U.S. offers jet fighters

WASHINGTON - The Honduran government, which has been edging toward a larger role in supporting the Nicaraguan rebels, is weighing an American offer to buy modern jet fighters, a U.S. official says.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Thursday the United States has offered Honduras a chance to buy either the American-built F-5E fighter or the Israelibuilt Kfir fighter for the Central American nation's aging air force.

If the deal is made, the new plane would replace the Hondurans' 12 French Super Mystere B-2 fighters, which are from the 1950s. American and Honduran leaders feel there is a need to improve Honduras' air defenses, the official said.

The F-5E and the Kfir can be used to attack ground troops and defend against invading United Flight 282, a Boeing 727 with 87 passengers and a crew of seven aboard, was on final approach to Los Angeles International Airport on a flight from Monterey on Wednesday when the incident occurred, airline spokesman Joe Hopkins said Thursday.

The pilot of the United jet filed an incident report with the Federal Aviation Administration saying the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration helicopter came within 100 feet of his plane at an altitude of about 2,000 feet. Investigators planned to interview the United pilot today.

Waldheim explains

Austrian President Kurt Waldheim said he never fought Yugoslav partisans during a Nazi operation and denied that the Soviets tried to blackmail him into becoming a spy by threatening to charge him with war crimes, his spokesman said.

Gerold Christian, the spokesman, made the comments after The Washington Post reported Thursday that Waldheim had acknowledged after months of denial that he served in Kozara, site of a brutal Nazi "pacification" operation.

Thousands of Yugoslavs died in that province during the 1942 operation. The Post said Waldheim was recommended for a German army medal for his role.

No warning for pilot

WASHINGTON - The pilot of an Aeromexico jetliner apparently had no warning and no time to avoid a collision with a private plane in August over Cerritos, Calif., according to documents released by the National Transportation Safety Board.

Co-pilot Hector Valencia was at the controls of Flight 498 and Capt. Arturo values From who was handling the radio aboard the DC-9, had just completed a routine exchange with air traffic contol when tragedy struck

'Oh (expletive deleted) this can't be!" Valdes, 46, said in Spanish. Investigators are uncertain whether he was talking about the impact or possible loss of the controls, but they are convinced by then the two aircraft had collided.

Child dies

Religious family accused of abuse

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — A 13-year-old boy, in a coma for five days, died Wednesday of injuries allegedly inflicted by the adoptive parents with whom he and 16 other children shared a home in a school bus

An autopsy showed that the boy died of acute head trauma, said police Officer Lou Thurston.

Dominick Joseph Diehl, who was called Andrew, died in Virginia Beach General Hospital, police Lt. J.W. Pritchard said.

"He was not taken off life support," Pritchard said at a news conference. "He died as a result of his injuries."

The boy's adoptive parents, Michael and Karen Diehl, were told of his death at the City Jail, where they were being held on charges of child abuse.

Diehl, 41, was being held in lieu of $25,000 bond on charges of malicious assault and felony child abuse. Mrs. Diehl, 36, was being held in lieu of $10,000 bond on a felony child abuse charge.

The Diehls' attorney, Paul E. Sutton II, said he would try to get the couple released on bond before a Thursday hearing at which the prosecutor plans to ask for higher or no bond. Additional charges also were expected to be filed Thursday, police said.

"I don't see that we're dealing with Bonnie and Clyde," Sutton said. "I don't see that these folks are bad and terrible people. I've seen worse crimes with less bond and less media coverage.

A search warrant filed by police in Circuit Court said that when Andrew arrived in the hospital emergency room, his legs and wrists showed signs of bondage. The boy's hands and feet were swollen and his buttocks had open sores, the warrant said.

Diehl told police that for about a month he had been tying the boy to the floor of the bus where the family lived and beating him with a wooden switch, the warrant said. Police found a wooden stick, handcuffs, a hose clamp, two ropes and a homemade whip in the bus.

The Diehls had been living since March in a school bus at various Virginia Beach campgrounds with the children, ages 2 to 17. Four of the children were born to the Diehls and the other 13, some of them physically disabled or emotionally disturbed, had been

Idaho, home two years ago and have been traveling around the country in the bus since then, Pritchard said

"Apparently, they traveled to spread the word of the Lord," he said. Since they arrived in Virginia Beach, the Diehls had appeared on "The 700 Club" on the Christian

Pritchard said the Diehls had described Andrew as a difficult, disruptive child. The boy was born in Minneapolis and lived in a Chicago slum before he was adopted by the Diehls about five years ago. He was so rebellious that another couple kept his brother but returned him to an adoption agency, Chris Boykin, executive director of a private adoption agency in Post Falls, told the Norfolk newspaper.

Hasenfus to speak

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — U.S. mercenary Eugene Hasenfus gets a chance today to tell his side of the story to a revolutionary tribunal trying him for terrorism and conspiracy for his role in aiding Contra rebels.

The 45-year-old former Marine from Marinette, Wisconsin appears before the People's Tribunal, composed of a lawyer, truck driver and laborer, to respond to the leftist Sandinista government's charges and to examine the evidence against him.

It is his first appearance at the tribunal offices, a half mile from the U.S. Embassy, since he was arraigned on Oct. 20. He is being held in a prison outside Managua

Police raid protest

SEOUL, South Korea — About 8,000 police today stormed a university campus and dislodged anti-government student protesters who had occupied five buildings since Tuesday. Police said they detained more than 1,200 students and that 78 people were injured.

Police helicopters dropped tear gas canisters on the campus and leaflets urging surrender as they surged onto the campus of Konkuk University in Seoul.

Witnesses said they saw police swinging clubs charge into groups of students as residents stood near the campus gates shouting, "Don't hit the kids, don't hit them."

The confrontation began Tuesday when about 2,000 students from 26 schools in Seoul and provincial areas held a rally on the Konkuk campus to protest what they called the dictatorship of President Chun Doo-hwan and U.S. support for his government.

Enrile backs off Cory

MANILA, Philippines - Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile, whose outspoken criticism of President Corazon Aquino's policies has raised fears of a government crisis, said today he was cutting back on speaking engagements to avoid stirring controversy

"We shouldn't fight the president because she is our president," Enrile said in a speech to a civic club.

He expressed objections to an anti-nuclear provision in the draft constitution, saying it could endanger national security and render American military bases in the Philippines obsolete. But he refused to say whether he would oppose the constitution, which is to be approved or rejected in a plebiscite expected by late January.

Pope denounces gays

VATICAN CITY - A Vatican letter to bishops worldwide stressed that homosexual acts are sins and accused pro-homosexual groups of "deceitful propaganda" in trying to gain a foothold in the Roman Catholic Church.

The letter, approved by Pope John Paul II and made public Thursday, instructed bishops to stamp out pro-homosexual views within the 810 million-member church and oppose any attempt to condone homosexuality through legislation or other means. Increasing numbers of people, even within the church, are bringing enormous pressure to bear on the church to accept the homosexual condition as though it were not disordered and to condone homosexual activity," it said.

Water bills 'explanation' provided

To the editor:

Since Mayor Cotton Mize, Public Works Director Tom Decell, Finance Director Tom Ferguson and City Manager Mack Wofford cannot explain the jump in water sales, I will explain.

In the Big Spring Herald front page article of Tuesday, Oct. 28, the city officials tried to confuse the committee members along with the citizens of Big Spring with a few figures

Decell used a comparison of 1985 and 1986 August water sales figures to illustrate the situation. The city purchased 260 million gallons of water in Aug. 1986, and sold 236 million to its customers - nearly 91 percent. Twelve months earlier gallons and sold 256 million gallons, 72 percent. The figures are misleading, because there is no

There was a drop in sales of 20 million gallons — or about 7.8 percent. Instead of a 20 percent jump, it's a 7.8 percent drop.

Why did the city purchase only 260 million gallons of water in Aug. 1986? Maybe to keep the water pressure down low enough to allow them to work on the faulty valves. But the reason really doesn't matter because the amount purchased does not give you the percentage difference of the gallons used, or sold. The difference in gallons sold gives you the percentage difference in sales.

Seems like the city officials think we are very dense, but the way they figure this water business shows that they are not very bright the city purchased 353 million and my opinion is they should be replaced as soon as possible. PEDRO TREVINO JR. 613 Linda Lane

Letter prompts defense of Shaw

To the editor:

This letter is in response to Scott McLaughlin's Oct. 1 Mailbag letter. Mr. McLaughlin stated that he believes in printing facts and the

In that letter he states that our state representative, Larry Don Shaw, does nothing to represent the people of West Texas and is considered a political wimp by the people in Austin.

These unfounded statements suggest that Mr. McLaughlin has been out of touch with reality since January 1981 (when Representative Shaw took office), or he has been in a deep sleep, or he is not interested in truth or the facts.

Contrary to such statements, Larry Don is highly respected and admired by his colleagues, both in the House and Senate, among the Texas legislators, Republicans and Democrats alike, whether their politics be conservative or moderate.

Saying that Larry Don Shaw does nothing to represent the people of West Texas surely will go down as a ridiculous, unbelievable distortion of fact.

The fact is, and Mr. McLaughlin you know it to be a fact, that since Larry Don Shaw has been our state representative, he has worked harder and accomplished more for the people of his district and the people of West Texas than anyone during the past 50 years.

First of all, the statement that Larry Don is a wimp is strictly a myth. Texas Business magazine, a very conservative publication, honored Larry Don in its list of "Cream of the Crop" as being among the best in the Legislature. And Shaw was twice chosen among the "Top Ten" most promising young men in Texas by the Texas Javcees.

He has been very influential in preventing the closing of SWCID (SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf) in Big Spring, UTPB (University of Texas of the Permian Basin) at Odessa, Sul Ross State University in Alpine and West Texas Children's Home in

He helped draft the first statewide water plan ever to be approved the voters of Texas, and he led the successful fight on the house floor to prevent a nuclear dumpsite from being built in our

He has fought long and hard and is still fighting to restore dignity and pride to the teaching profession, which Bill Clements tried to destroy. He is a champion of the teachers of Texas and Larry Don will continue to do battle until Texas is ranked number one in our nation in education.

Finally, Mr. McLaughlin, Mr. Anderson did sponsor a visit by Nicholas Benton, a Lyndon LaRouche candidate, at a political meeting in Big Spring Municipal Auditorium on June 19, 1982. (See that date's Big Spring Herald.)

Benton was trying to garner support to oust Bob Slagel as State Democratic Chairman. When the votes were counted, the result was Slagle, 3,796 and Benton, 18. Because of these facts, and the other acts performed by Larry Don Shaw for the people of the 69th Legislative District, I sincerely believe the voters of his district will return Larry Don to Austin for a fourth term.

Reserve Board has money to burn on 'goofy gizmos'

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTOIN - The Federal Reserve Board apparently has money to burn. It has wasted more than $18 million on anticounterfeiting technology that it tried to ram down the throats of the Secret Service and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Then, after stubborn Fed officials finally grasped that the anticounterfeiting experts wanted no part of their goofy gizmos, they sold the unused equipment back to the dealer at a sizable loss. They also canceled the remaining technology contract, bringing on a $4 million lawsuit from the

Here's the pitiful story of bureaucratic bullheadedness:

Hoping to find a way to thwart ingly sophisticated color copiers, the Treasury Department set up a task force of experts from the Secret Service and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing — plus some people from the Federal Reserve Board. Sources confided to our associate Michael Binstein that the only reason for including the Fed was for its money. As an agency that doesn't have to get money from Congress, the Fed has a reputation for "deep pockets."

Unfortunately, like the kid who owns the baseball, the Fed insisted on pitching — and the ideas it tossed around appalled the real experts. The Fed gave a series of contracts totaling $17 million to Optical Coating Laboratories Inc. to develop anti-counterfeit devices. They failed 90 percent to 96 percent of the tests conducted by Engraving and Printing.

Among the items the Fed forced on its reluctant task force colleagues were eight "hot stamp" machines, which apply a unique, hologram-like film to currency.

"The eight machines cost a total of $2,022,820," an internal House Banking Committee memo states, even though the Bureau of Engraving and Printing expressed no interest in the machines and had not determined that thin-film devices would be used as a counterfeit deterrent.'

In fact, the Fed bought the first two machines before the bureau had run any tests at all. That was bad enough. What was infinitely worse was that after the technology had flunked the bureau's tests, the Fed bought six

The first twoi "hot stamp" machines were bought in December 1983 from the Swiss manufacturer's distributor. One cost $370,040, the other $442,351. The prices included a combined commissioin to the middleman, Optical Coatining Laboratories, of $150,723

In April 1984, the Fed bought a third machine directly from the distributor for $271,204. A month later, it bought five more, once again going through Optical included a commission of $365,179.

By last December, the Fed grudgingly conceded that the Treasury wasn't going to use the machines. So it resold two of them and put the rest in storage. When the storage charges began moun-high school teacher on Oregon ting inexorably, the Fed finally sold the remaining six machines back to the distributor.

A House Banking Committee memo sums up the transactions: 'In total, the Fed paid $3,022,820 for eight Gietz hot stamp machines. All were resold to (the still had faith. distributor) for a total of $1,249,204, for a loss of $1,773,616."

CIA CADDY: The CIA's budget is perhaps the most secret of all the documents in Washington. Even Congress doesn't know exactly what it's putting up the money for.

So we can't offer an explanation for this particular item; all we can report is that Associated Traders Inc., the CIA arms company, spent $88.000 last year to have a 1983 Cadillac Sedan de Ville overhauled at a body shop in Gaithersburg, Md., and that the car was originally shipped to Maryland from California. Must have been some breakdown.

Beaver fan dedicated to the cause

I don't mean to rub salt into the wounds of my colleague Eddie Curran, just because his Alabama Crimson Tide lost to Penn State Saturday, but this has been a great week for me.

Oregon State Beavers won a game — actually their second this

Now, if you had read Curran's column in the Oct. 26 edition of the Herald, and reverse everything said, you can get a glimpse of Beaver football. In recent years, Oregon State has done for football what Rev. Jim Jones did for Kool-

Aid sales. That bad. The football office is equipped with a revolving door. The coach is not allowed to write with permanent ink. And the team has deals with bandage companies — rather than a shoe company. In other words, OSU is in tough times.

So what's the big deal? Because I publicly admit that I am the biggest fan of Oregon State football there is. Almost like admit-Coating. The $1,939,225 total price ting that you're a New Orleans Saints fan. Well, maybe not that Even if you live in OSU's home city, being a Beavers fan is tough. I always had faith in the team. I used to bet math test points with my State games. The scores put me dangerously close to flunking that class, yet I kept the faith. Coach after coach would cruise into town, making promises and raising hopes, then leave a few years later, a defeated warrior. I

Every week, I check to see who my boys are playing. It's not easy, As a final touch, the Fed then playing in a league with five teams tried to persuade the Bureau of in the Associated Press Top 20, and playing a team like Michigan at the beginning of the season.

But the Beavers aren't quitters Against Michigan, they outplayed those Wolverines in almost every aspect except the scoreboard. I was proud.

Then came last week against Boise State. For once in many moons, OSU was a powerhouse, winning the game, 34-3. The city, Corvallis, had plenty of parties that night. And Big Spring had at least one party, too — mine.

Do you like rooting for the underdogs? Do you secretly have a Minnesota Twins pennant hanging in your living room? Climb aboard the bandwagon. Be the first on your block to be an Oregon State fan.

The Beavers play the 15th ranked UCLA Bruins this week, and the Bruins are an 18-point favorite. No matter, though. I still have faith.

Baseball broadcast babbling unbearable

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN

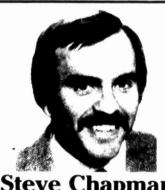

Baseball is a serene, pastoral game that is in danger of being ruined by the incessant noise of human voices. The thinking fan's sport is awash in mindless jabbering.

Take the television broadcast of the World Series. Television's effect on this lovely pastime has been roughly like that of the Moingol hordes on Russia: terrifying and destructive, leaving the landscape unrecognizable.

It's bad enough that the convenience of the networks has extended the regular baseball season well into the football season, and the post-season playoffs to approximately Thanksgiving. It's bad enough that the games have to be played not only at night, but in weather cold enough to deter an Arctic exploration team. It's bad enough that the noble Shea Stadium diamond has been dragooned into service as a platform for Tom Brokaw's "News

But once the game begins, the fans should be allowed to enjoy it. Instead, they are assaulted with an endless barrage of useless information that distracts the mind and numbs the senses.

Trying to appreciate the subtleties of baseball over the drone of Vin Scully and Joe Garagiola is like trying to enjoy a ballet set to the music of Twisted Sister. These two aren't the worst of the genre. What makes their performance alarming is that it isn't unusual at all. There are the silly redundancies: Keith Hernandez had an errorless streak of 103 consecutive games have great running speed. There are the exercises in the obvious. In the second game, we were told, "Make no mistake, if they lose this one, the Mets are hurting. And no game would be complete without a few solemn fatuities: "All of New York is holding its collecltive breath." "If you like crowd without an error." "The Mets don't noise, if it does something to you, you've come to the right place at the right time." Scully and Garagiola have a special fondness for juvenile nicknames - "Billy Buck,"

"Dewey," "Hojo," "Buddy," 'Nails." You get the feeling that if Scully ever meets the Prince of Wales, he'll greet him with "Hiya, Chuck.

They also love to indulge in aimless reminiscing. A thought that begins with the ball and strike count will end its meandering course in a recollection, apropos of nothing, of Bob Gibson's 1968

Once these guys fasten their teeth into a piece of information, they hang on like snapping turtles. Some Boston players, taking the advice of the late Charlie Lau, end their swings with only one hand on the bat. This is mildly interesting, but not worth the attention it got in the first game, when it was the subject of roughly half the total words uttered by Scully and Garagiola.

Modern technology is also at fault, for creating new ways of introducing inane trivia. After the Mets' second baseman let a crucial groundball go through his legs, a film clip was shown of yet another Mets second baseman, in the 1969 series, letting yet another crucial groundball go through his legs. What's the point — that the Mets recruit bowlegged infielders? Some computer no doubt disgorged the irrelevant information, when the Red Sox's No. 8 batter came up with the bases loaded, that "the last grand slam in a Series was by a pitcher.'

Sometimes things get downright weird, as when Garagiola leaps into one of his Faulknerian flights of obscure rhetoric. In a disquisition on Red Sox base running, he said. "It's station to station, keep making those left turns. ... Move up 90 feet, get gas and look at the road map." Of one player: "He's running on marbles." Sometimes Garagiola sounds like a man who has just smoked his first joint. But unsuspecting viewers with clear heads may wonder if they're at fault for not knowing what in the world he is talking about.

So far, the announcing has been just mediocre, without the glorious gaffes that can redeem the klutziest broadcasters — like Phil Rizzuto, whose comment on a bulletin that Pope Paul VI had died was, "Well, that kind of puts a damper on even a Yankees win.

Or Jerry Coleman, who once reported, "He slides into second with a standup double." Scully and Garagiola aren't good, but they aren't bad enough to be truly entertaining. Their mistake is to assume, like most baseball announcers, that the viewer hates baseball and will be bored to death if his only diversion is the action on the field. Just allow 10 seconds of silence, they fear, and half of American will doze off.

The effect is as nerve-jangling as, heaven forbid, a football game. Baseball fans love the sport partly because of its aura of rural peace, something that would be enhanced by cutting down on all the babble from the broadcast booth.

Maybe it's time to change the last two words of the National Anthem from "play ball" to "shut

Neighbor who lent helping hand got burned

DEAR ABBY: I felt sorry for my neighbor, so I let her use my telephone when hers was "out of order." She would come over here as early as 7 a.m. and as late as 11:30 p.m. and talk sometimes for an hour or more.

She had no consideration for my rest and privacy. I have a 3-yearold child and am expecting again in two months

I finally got fed up with her coming over here at all hours to talk on my phone, so I made excuses, lied and finally refused to let her in my house. I thought my troubles were over. I was wrong.

I just got my phone bill and found out that the telephone calls she made on my phone were all long distance. Her phone wasn't out of order; the telephone company disconnected it because she failed to pay her bill.

Now I am stuck for over $200 an expensive lesson for a woman in my circumstances. Although I could take legal action against her, she's living on welfare and has nothing.

DEAR ABBY: A number of years ago Life magazinie had a story about a decapitated rooster (chicken) that lived a number of days after being decapitated, delaying a Sunday dinner that had been planned by the person who decaptitated it. To everyone's amazement, the rooster lived for two days with its head chopped off.

I read this in a doctor's waiting room in the early '50s. I have repeated this story to several people, and the way they looked at each other, I am sure they thought I was nuts or the world's biggest storyteller.

How can I get a copy of this magazine, or some information in support of this story, which I am absolutely sure I read in Life magazine? Please help. My reputa-tion is riding on this. Maybe one of your readers remembers it, and can back me up.

DEAR NEEDS: Life magazine ceased publication in 1972, but if anyone out there can provide me with any information on the decapitated rooster, it will be something to crow about.

FACT:

John R. "Rich" Anderson is spending a small fortune trying to convince us he never had anything to do with fringe extremist groups!

FACT:

Anderson ran as a member of the fringe constitutional party against another conservative democrat — Congressman George Mahon.

FACT:

Anderson bought advertising, leased the auditorium and lead the program for a Lyndon LaRouche candidate running for Chairman of the Texas Democratic Party.

WHICH PHILOSOPHY DOES ANDERSON REALLY REPRESENT?

Anderson has been associated with the fringe constitution party — the republican party — the democratic party — the Lyndon LaRouche extremist group.

Rep. Larry Don Shaw is now a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee.

The number of bills passed by Rep. Larry Don Shaw is four times the average for member's of the House and includes the following:

Cost cutting package trimming state spending by over $100 million a year. A vigorous anti-crime package making it easier to prosecute drug dealers, rapists and criminals who sexually abuse children.

As Vice Chairman of the Natural Resources Committee Shaw helped draft and pass the first statewide water plan approved by Texas voters.

Shaw successfully negotiated the appointment of a West Texan from our district to the SSC Task Force which could bring new jobs and billions of dollars to our district.

Shaw was instrumental in stopping attempts to close Sul Ross, UTPB and the McDonald Observatory.

Reverse running proven to help injury treatment

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) - Running backward may never catch on as a fitness craze, but two professors at the University of Toledo think it may have a place in treating injuries.

Charles Armstrong, a specialist in biomechanics, and his colleague, Frederick F. Andres, an exercise physiologist, are near the end of a research project to determine how and why reverse running helps in treating injuries.

"In terms of a fitness activity it will probably be a novelty, Armstrong says. "Beyond the novelty element, we think there is something there.

Physical therapists and sports medicine specialists have found that running or walking backward is effective in treating injuries and teaching stroke victims how to walk again. "It was suggested initially that it might have the capacity to reverse the kinds of things that occur in forward running,' Armstrong said. "People who do a lot of jogging develop muscle imbalances that lead to injuries. Running backward can counteract those imbalances and decrease the likelihood of injuries.

"It was suggested the body's ability to deal with the force that occurs when the foot hits the ground might be enhanced. The jarring that occurs is the primary mechanism for producing injuries.'

The two say their studies show that running in reverse burns more calories, makes the cardiovascular system work harder, and gives the perception that the body is working harder. In terms of body mechanics, the studies showed surprising cinematography to film the volunteer subjects running on a treadmill, a sophisticated scale that measure the forces on the foot as it hits the ground, and tiny sensors on the bottom of the foot, they found that the stress and displacement from each step is completely different when running in reverse.

Using high-speed

'There are changes in range of motion at the joints of the hip, knee, and ankle, and the positioning of the feet changes," Armstrong said. "There is a tendency to spread the feet when running backward. The obvious pattern of force as it moves through the foot changes

"There are particular implications in the business of absorbing the shock every time the foot hits the ground.

The stress is absorbed differently, but not necessarily bet-

'The large muscles of the calf help absorb the force. That may be a very effective way to absorb the force," but it may be several years before backward runners develop injuries, he said.

They expect to finish testing this fall, and to present their findings at a sports medicine conference next spring.

Physical benefits aside, one obvious problem is how to see where you're going.

"I'm seeing potential for a whole new line of jogging apparel — padded shorts, a helmet for when you hit your head when you trip, rear view mirrors,' Armstrong said.

'You have to pay very close attention to where you're going. Constantly turning and looking around behind you does create a

Pharmacist questioned about Chelation

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a pharmacist. Chelation ("blood purification") is an area of interest to many of my older patrons. A great many are taking the treatment.

The theory is that they will reduce plaque buildup in their arteries. They ask questions and I don't have the answers. If it is effective, why do most M.D.s frown upon the method? If it is useless, a great many people are spending money foolishly. Worse, they are not getting proper treatment while

This is a dangerous situation. It has been around for years and we should know whether it has merit or not. I get plenty of heresay pro and con on it, but no definite answers. Please comment. -T.R.F.

On the other side, we have the opinions of the American Heart Association, the American College of Cardiology, and the Food and Drug Administration itself that EDTA is ineffective and potentially harmful. (It can cause kidney damage )

At this point, all I (and you) can do is cite these simple facts. Per-Some theorize that if EDTA can sonally, I continue to strongly discourage people from spending their money and valuable treatment time on chelation therapy in hopes of purifying their blood. DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What's the latest thinking on scheduling of Pap tests for women? I am thinking particulariy about older women. - Mrs. O. H B.

The latest recommendation I have seen is from the American Cancer Society. It suggests annual Pap tests until you get a negative finding for two tests in a row. After that, the recommendation is for tests every two or three years until the age 65. Women who have had hysterectomies should also observe this schedule.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I had an enlarged thyroid pop out of my neck and the diagnosis was "granulomatous thyroiditis." I had a biopsy done to confirm this. Then my only treatment was aspirins, which I took for a few months. The swellling has since gone. I feel do you think? - Mrs. P.I.

Yes. This very likely it is the end of the thyroid problem for you. Granulomatous thyroiditis is benign inflammation of the gland, usually from a viorus, the same one that causes respiratory infection (flu) or even a common cold.

The problem you had can also occur from mumps, measles, and other virus-caused illnesses, and women are most often affected. The gland, besides being greatly enlarged, is also quite tender to the touch. It does return to normal in a few months and it thereafter resumes normal functioning

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How does the high fiber diet decrease one's chance of having colon cancer? — A.R.

One theory is that the greater stool bulk from the high-fiber diet lowers the concentration of bile acids and sterols (fats). Both those substances are thought to be factors in such cancer.

NRA ENDORSES JOHN R. ANDERSON IN TEXAS HOUSE DISTRICT 69

Dear NRA Member:

On Tuesday, November 4, when John R. Anderson and State Representative Larry Don Shaw square off at the polls, sportsmen in Texas's House District 69 will have the opportunity to vote for a strong supporter of your right to keep and bear arms.

In Anderson, you are fortunate to have a candidate who is dedicated to sportsmen's issues. He has been rated an "A" by the NRA based on his stand on the Second Amendment. You can be certain that, if elected, John Anderson, will actively support all sensible, progun/pro-hunting measures introduced into the House, and will work to defeat all legislation unfavorable to sportsmen.

Anderson's opponent, Representative Larry Don Shaw, can make no such claim! During the battle to protect law-abiding Texans from onerous local gun control laws, Larry Don Shaw voted against the bill on the critical Second Reading vote. Obviously, Larry Don Shaw would prefer to allow local "Morton Grove-style" gun control to come to Texas. That is why it is critical that John Anderson be elected to represent you in Austin.

John Anderson will have the courage to stand up and fight for your freedoms and not succumb to anti-gun pressure.

With the critical need to reform Texas law to allow law-abiding citizens to carry a firearm for self-defense purposes, your vote is critical.

Thank you for your continued support. Vote, Anderson, November 4.

Director, State & Local Affairs

P.S. Every vote counts, yours is extremely important!

Name worth a million dollars?

By JOE CUTBIRTH Austin Bureau

Ask Land Commissioner Garry Mauro what a name's worth, and he'll tell you it can be worth about $1 million dollars.

That's how much the 38-year-old incumbent said he's planning to spend this year in a re-election campaign where name identification seems to be as big an issue as Mauro's operation of the state's General Land Office.

The land commission is one of the oldest state departments, dating back to the days of the republic. Its commissioner manages the state's Veterans Land Board as well as Texas' oil- and mineral-rich public lands, offshore property, highway rights of way, the Capitol grounds in Austin and much of the land used by the Texas Department of Corrections. Revenues generated from the public lands are used to fund the state's permanent school and permanent university funds.

Political polls show Mauro's Republican opponent, M.D. Anderson Jr., a bar owner from Seven Points, with almost 100 percent name recognition and within striking distance of the one-term incumbent in the Nov. 4 general election.

Anderson defeated two opponents in this spring's Republican primary, although he spent virtually no money and made few campaign appearances. While he acknowledges that name recognition was clearly a factor in the win, Anderson said he chose to use his initials on the ballot because they are less clumsy than his full name: Marion Dudley Anderson Jr.

Liberterian candidate Honey Sue Lanham said she isn't running "a hard-core, issue-oriented campaign." Lanham is touting her party as the alternative to the state's two traditional political parties, and said if elected, she would work to implement the Liberterian philosophy of fewer taxes and less government.

As for Anderson using his initials instead of his full name on the ballot, Lanham said: "If that's, his name, that's fine. If he wants to run as Godzilla, it doesn't bother me."

Mauro, who cut his political teeth

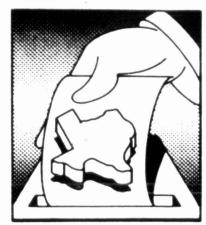

John Tower in 1978, is no stranger to the Texas tradition of tough, aggressive campaigning. And he said he is not buying Anderson's story.

'My opponent is trying to trick people," Mauro said. "He doesn't serve the sick; he serves drinks at his saloon in Seven Points. He's staying in Seven Points so people don't find out he's Dudley Anderson and not related to the famous hospital.

In 1982, Mauro said he expanded the state's veterans programs while at the same time streamlining the operation of the land office. Mauro said he pushed for a constitutional amendment to provide a veterans' housing program without creating more bureaucracy.

Mauro points to statistics that show during the last three years, while oil and gas prices have decreased almost 7 percent, revenues at the land office have increased.

Anderson has centered his campaign around claims that Mauro. who is considered a long-term fixELECTION '86

ture on the state's political scene, is using the his position to promote his own career

Anderson claims Mauro could raise much more revenue for the state if he didn't spend so much money on salaries, consultant fees and routine expenses. Anderson said he will cut those expenses if

CORPUS CHRISTI - An aerial survey showed few traces of the red tide that has plagued Texas' Gulf Coast for two months, prompting some state officials to say conditions are returning to normal.

Juarez market destroyed

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico Authorities are investigating a fire that destroyed a city-owned market, leaving smoldering ruins of a structure that had servedd as a central place to sell goods for almost a century.

Fire broke out early Thursday in the 81-year-old Mercado Cuauhtemoc, causing an estimated $125,000 in damage, Fire Chief

Manuel Calderon Sanchez It was the second fire in the market's 81-year history.

The fire broke about shortly before 7 a.m. (6 a.m. El Paso time), Calderon Sanchez said. No injuries were reported in the blaze, which was put out in two hours by about 30 firefighters.

Calderon Sanchez estimated about 100 million pesos ($125,000) in structural damage to the building, which sustained major damage on the roof and all three Andres Barraza Martin, the market's secretary general, urged the merchants to believe in the city's promise to rebuild the market. He asked them not to speculate on the cause of the blaze.

Marta Elena Ramirez de Gonzalez said she was in the building when the fire broke out.

Monahans (6-1) at Big Spring (6-1)

The eyes of Texas are upon this AAAA clash that pits the number nine Steers against the number 16 ranked Lobos. Incidentally, the Harris Poll rates the Lobos a two-point favorite.

But rankings don't really mean a thing. It's who ends up on top of the scoreboard that counts. The Lobos tasted defeat for the first time last week and are fired up and kicking for the Steers, who are on a five-game winning streak. Monahans will march into Memorial Stadium with two stud running backs by the names of Charles Thompson and Dana Amos, and a pretty good defense to match.

Meanwhile the Steers will counter with the "MHW attack" featuring running backs Phillip Mathews, Charles White and James Harlin - plus a nasty defense led by Mike Cahill, Deeg Young and Eric Thompson.

This will be a classic battle. The game will be decided not by who's got the best rushing attack, but who's got the best defense. The nod goes to that vicious Steers front line, which has been physically overpowering opponents. They won't overpower Monahans, but they'll dominate enough to win.

The Colorado City Wolves might have to wait to next year to win a another game. The Wolves have been struggling lately and Wylie is definitely better than its 3-5 record.

Colorado City has one of the biggest offensive and defensive lines around, but unfortunately they are young and slow. Wylie's balanced attack will run circles around the Wolves. Wylie 30, Colorado City 14

Coahoma (0-8) at Ballinger (8-0)

Coahoma is another team that might have to wait until next season to get a win. In the Ballinger Bearcats the Bulldogs face the number four ranked team in the state and the Bearcats are worthy of their Ballinger is gearing up for the playoffs and they'll showcase their talents in front of their home crowd for the next to the last time this season. Check this out for talent — Ballinger has an All-State quarterback, running back and offensive guard. In case you're wondering about its defense, its allowed only 33 points the entire season.

The Coahoma Bulldogs are no quitters and they'll battle to the bitter end. But this will be no contest.

Big Lake (7-1-1) at Stanton (5-2)

Late season playoff desperation is the name of this game. The team that wins will almost certainly make the playoffs and the team that loses will not. Those will be the marbles tonight in Stanton.

If Forsan is the stick by which Stanton and Big Lake are to be measured, give Big Lake the edge. Forsan scrapped their way for a tie at Big Lake and crushed Stanton last week at Forsan. Stanton, however, will return Derek Sorley to the lineup and will be playing at

Klondike (2-6) at Grady (0-8)

Klondike has found the going tough since a strong start, Grady has found the going tough all year. The Cougars would have been a heavy favorite two weeks ago but that's changed.

Last week Klondike lost its quarterback to a shoulder injury, and the week before two key players were hit head on by House Bill 72. These problems provide Grady with a chance, however slim. Nevertheless, it should be their closest game of the year. Klondike will win, but the Wildcats get a much needed moral victory. Klondike 34, Grady 26

The Coyotes will be feasting on their second easy meal in two weeks, though last week Dawson proved to be tougher meat than the Coyotes expected. Coach Joe Bond was not happy with last week's 15-14 squeaker over lowly Dawson.

Clements blasts Big Apple

BOSTON (AP) — The song, "I Love New York," is not Roger Clemens' favorite.

You won't find him frequenting the Boston-New York air shuttle. The Red Sox' star pitcher is giving the big raspberry to the Big Apple. Angry about the behavior of fans, security guards and the wives of Mets' players during World Series games at Shea Stadium, Clemens said Thursday he won't return there for a scheduled exhibition game next season.

The Red Sox "can dock me one day's pay," Clemens said. "They ain't going to see me at Shea.'

"The New York fans, 100 or so, ruin it for the rest of them," he said Thursday. "People are trying to hit me from 100 feet away with beer

Personnel assigned to protect the Red Sox didn't behave much better, according to Clemens.

"The security guards in there trying to protect us were saying, you're losers, you stink,' '' he said.

NBA season opens

By The Associated Press Te Detroit Pistons, tired of chasing Milwaukee in the NBA Central Division, have some new weapons that could help them catch the Bucks this season.

"This two-year, three-year, four-year plan, this wait and see until tomorrow outlook - I'm not interested in that," Pistons guard Isiah Thomas said. 'That's the way it was when I got here, and six years have gone by waiting on that plan."

The Bucks, winners of six straight division titles, open the NBA season tonight at the Pontiac Silverdome against the Pistons, who have two new forwards in Adrian Dantley and Sidney Green.

"Dantley is going to make it easier for me," Thomas said of the former NBA scoring champ who the Pistons acquired from Utah in exchange for Kelly Tripucka. "I'd be a fool not to welcome him here. Teams are going to emphasize stopping him, not Isiah Thomas. He should create a lot of open opportunities for me that I didn't have before."

Milwaukee, however, also has a new look with seven-time All Star Jack Sikma, acquired from Seattle, at center.

"What Jack brings us offensively is the ability to make other players better, and that is the measure of a true star,' Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson said. "His efforts on and off the court are great. He just gives more character to a team I think is already loaded with character.'

Other openers tonight have New York at New Jersey, Indiana at Philadelphia, Washington at Boston, Utah at Dallas, San Antonio at Denver, Golden State at Phoenix, the Los Angeles Clippers at Sacramento and Seattle at Portland.

On Saturday, the Los Angeles Lakers are at Houston for a nationally televised game. ### WBA suspends South Africa

RENO, Nv. (AP) - A divided and emotional World Boxing Association has suspended South Africa from its organization until the country abandons its policy of racial apartheid.

"From the bottom of my heart, I can tell you it has been a very painful decision," WBA President Gilberto Mendoza told the South African delegation following Thursday's 30-18 vote.

Under the suspension, Mendoza said South African boxers would continue to be ranked by the association and would be able to have options to WBA title fights outside South Africa, but no bouts would be sanctioned in that country.

The ouster followed impassioned speeches by boxing promoters Don King and Butch Lewis in favor of the action and equally strong pleas by South African association members asking to remain a part of the organization.

'We can no longer hide our eyes to the horror of apartheid," King told the delegates. "We must take this step toward the total abolishment of this inhuman form of human degredation.

"Apartheid has been tried, found guilty and sentenced to death. It only awaits its execution. We want to be one of its pallbearers.'

Lewis, who urged outright expulsion of South Africa rather than suspension, told the group: "If we cannot convince the WBA to rid itself of South Africa, the WBA subjects itself to total self-destruction. It is an issue that has absolutely no room for compromise.

Michael Mortimer, one of South Africa's representatives at the meeting, said the country's boxing association had been a leader in the fight against apartheid and had provided hope for the nation's boxers, 80 percent of whom are black.

He said South African boxing had not only pioneered blacks and whites together in the ring, but at the judging table and in the audience as well. Lewis "wants to cut off the legs of our black boxers . on political principles," he said.

'It's boxing that has abolished apartheid," Mortimer continued. "Our boxing represents the very standards which persons outside wish to see in South Africa, a society free of discrimination.'

"The forces sweeping America are not really interested in what our boxing is doing and has been doing. It's open season on us,' Mortimer said.

His voice quavering with emotion, he concluded, "Good God, we deserve your approval and your encouragement.

But in response to several delegates who urged that the boxing family not be shattered in response to the politics of apartheid, Lewis responded, "Friends disagree. Family members disagree. In any struggle there are sacrifices.

And echoing the warning of Jimmy Binns, the WBA's legal counsel, that failure to impose the suspension "will be the end of the WBA," Nevada Athletic Commission vice chairman Duane Ford threatened to launch a pullout effort.

"Unless we dissasociate from South Africa, the Nevada Athletic Commission will dissasociate itself from the World Boxing Association," Ford told the delegates.

"The Nevada Athletic Commission will not allow WBA fights in the state and will solicit the help of California, Arizona and other commissions within the United States to do the same thing," he said.

The vote to suspend the country from the WBA followed more than five hours of debate in both Spanish and English and a parliamentary effort by Mortimer and fellow South African delegate H.W.O. Klopper to force a unanimous vote to approve the motion, rather than a simple majority. The effort was overruled by Binns.

Binns also called for a public vote on the suspension, but that was rejected 23-22 and the question was decided by secret ballot. South Africa was not eligible to vote on its future.

New Mexico was the lone U.S. delegation to call for the secret ballot, a vote George Chavez defended as "a right we have." He also would not say how he voted on the suspension, saying, "That's one of the reasons we have the secret

Mortimer said that because of his Christian commitment, he bore no resentment against those who voted against his country.

And Klopper added, "I still appreciate the good work, the excellent work this organization is doing for boxing. I can only tell you I hope we will be back within a very short time.

What looks like a first-grade phonics lesson is just that, although some of these adults are training to reteach older students and adults to read.

The 36-week program "Sing and Say, Read and Write," was developed by a teacher in New Jersey public schools over a 17-year period and is distributed all over the United States by the Christian Broadcasting Network.

Sponsors of the program say it does not promote any particular religious doctrine, but strictly teaches students to read and write.

Statistics show that one of every five adults in the nation is functionally illiterate, a figure that may be higher in oil-producing states like Louisiana and Texas where many drop out of high school to take advantage of high wages available in industry.

Charles Logan, pastor of the Living Word Fellowship, an interdenominational church, became aware of the program and the problem of illiteracy through CBN programming.

Six months ago, he started training to teach the literacy program. Now he is looking for others to teach and assist with reading and writing classes for adults and children.

Anyone who knows how to read can teach someone else the skill, Tauber said. Students see, hear and write the letters they eventually will put together as words and sentences, mastering each step Tauber said of the program, which stresses thorough learning of material rather than getting to the next lesson.

Tauber, who traveled from Beaumont to give training sessions at the church recently, said the success of the program depends on the involvement of the community.

First, those who need the program have to be located and told about it.

"Everybody knows someone who needs this program," he said, adding since those in need probably can't read about it, organizers are counting on word of mouth.

Ms. Dittfurth thinks she might be able to help, particularly because she can relate personally to the struggle to read.

Having never learned to read phonetically, Ms. Dittfurth graduated from high school with minimal reading ability and spent years reteaching herself the basics

With Ms. Dittfurth at a recent training session was her pastor's wife, Debbie Abate, who is concerned about illiteracy in her community.

She said the catchy tune used to teach students the sounds of the alphabet helps them learn without the stress of memorization and repetition.

The program may seem elementary, but Tauber said someone who has trouble reading recognizes the need for reviewing the basics.

One child reported he knew his father was making progress in the program because he heard Dad singing the alphabet while shaving in the bathroom.

Organizers say the program is not a replacement for basic education, but an enhancement to what's being taught in school.

Tauber points out that teaching adults to read benefits everyone.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, NOV. 1, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's new moon finds it advisable to use particular care in any ventures with which you are preoccupied. Look and think twice before getting into new projects.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be more wise in handling your responsibilities and get good results. Show that you don't take your mate for granted.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A quarrel between you and an opinionated partner could bring only big trouble, so postpone any meetings.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study your duties and be sure to handle them in a very controlled and wise manner. Don't argue with anyone.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You know exactly how to put across some fine talent you possess, but wait a day or so.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) A big argument could occur at home if you take the bait where some vindictive family tie is concerned. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Much care in motion is vital today. Avoid possible accidents and don't be sarcastic with associates.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take no risks where money or property is concerned. An advisor is not apt to be up to par today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A day when you feel that nothing can stop you from gaining a cherished aim, but don't be demanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try not to worry over a secret anxiety since there is nothing that can be CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Steer clear of a friend who is upset and looking for a whipping boy. Show that you are poised and calm.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be wise and say little. Plan duties wisely and then do them one by one and handle them precisely.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Others are pressuring you to get into activities that you are not sure of, so take under advisement and study them.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those stubborn young persons who has the ability to carry through with some project that he, or she, likes, but is sure not to listen to the views of others. A good education is needed here in order to gain more wisdom so that success is assured.
