SSC would mean billions to state

By DARRELL BERKHEIMER Managing Editor

It would mean more than 7,000 full-time

It would mean Texas would become the center of the universe — for all physicists and all nuclear-related projects. It would mean billions of dollars to the state's economy. These are some of the benefits that will come to Texas if the state succeeds in attracting the Superconducting Super Collider project, according to Johnnie Lou Avery of Big Spring.

It will benefit the local and regional economy seven times more than what its cost will be, she said.

Avery is one of nine members named to the Texas SSC site selection task force by Gov. Mark White. The task force officially is named the Texas National Research Laboratory Commission.

Although more than 30 states are suggesting sites for the SSC, Avery said she has been advised that Texas is one of the three front-running states

Texans, however, have identified nine possible sites in this state alone, including the one west of Garden City -27 miles south of Big Spring.

'There will be only one SSC in the world." Avery said. "Wherever it is, the physicists from all over the world will go there," she Avery noted that scientists basically are not political animals, pointing out that if the SSC is built in the Soviet Union, U.S. scientists and others throughout the world will go there. If it's built in the United States, all will come here, she said.

So the United States must act, or another country could beat the U.S. to the punch. She added that France may commit to the SSC before the U.S. does. If so, all other nations considering it, including the U.S., will drop Avery listed some of the steps that must be taken to bring the SSC project to Texas.

First, she said financing of the project must be recommended to President Reagan by the Department of Energy. Then, Reagan must recommend the project, and Congress must commit the necessary funds to build it.

The Energy Department's recommendation is expected by the end of this year, and Congress is expected to consider the project in January, Avery said. The location search will begin after approval by Congress. Avery reported the criteria for selecting the site involves three major items. First, the appropriate land must be provided by the state in which the site is located. And flat land is required for the oval-shaped site, Avery said.

Next, it must be within 45 miles of a major airport, or one that can be expanded to become a major airport.

Alcohol park ban topic of council

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

A proposed ordinance to ban alcohol in city parks, in all but a designated area of Comanche Trail Park, will be discussed at the Big Spring City Council meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The area of Comanche Trail Park just north of the ball park is designated for alcohol consumption, under the proposal. At Moss Lake, alcohol may be consumed but not sold, according to Councilman D.W. Overman.

The golf course and Dora Roberts Community Center, both at Comanche Trail Park, would be

Alcohol would be allowed in prohibited areas with a permit, which requires a $150 application fee. Glass containers also would be prohibited. A plan proposed earlier this year would have banned alcohol from parks entirely, but it was revised when citizens protested. A citizen committee was organized, which proposed the partial ban.

The new proposal was approved Oct. 27 by the Parks and Recreation Board.

Also on the agenda is the first reading of a resolution authorizing Mayor Cotton Mize to execute a contract between the City of Big Spring and Lee Ambulance

City Manager Mack Wofford said last week that city, county and ambulance officials agreed that terms of the new contract will be the same as in a current contract.

The contract will be for a threeyear period, instead of the one-year contract currently used.

Also on the agenda: Second and final reading of a resolution authorizing Mize to execute an agreement with the Big Spring Model Airplane Association for recreational use of a five-acre tract of land.

 Second and final reading of a resolution authorizing Mize to assign water rights in O'Barr Well Field.

 Second and final reading of a resolution authorizing Mize to execute an agreement with Northside Community Action League for continued rental of the Northside Community Center building.

 Approval of homestead exemption refunds.

 Approval of specifications and permission to advertise for bids for 280 Christmas turkeys, and for a 4-wheel drive, all terrain vehicle for use at the Airpark.

Memorial honors Vietnam veterans

A bugler plays taps at the Sunday unveiling ceremonies of the statue "Hill 881 South" in San Antonio. The statue — depicting a radioman kneeling over a wounded soldier — is located in the new Veterans' Memorial Plaza. Big Spring Veterans Day activities will begin at 11 a.m.Tuesday in front of the Veterans Administration Medical Center, where Congressman Charles Stenholm will speak. The Honor Guard of Goodfellow Air Force Base, San Angelo, will play taps and there will be a 21-gun salute.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Vietnam veterans who were moved to tears Sunday in a special dedication ceremony paid tribute to their fallen comrades by ripping insignias and medals from their fatigues and laying them on the monument.

'This is for all the medics that never returned," one veteran said as he climbed San Antonio's Vietnam Veterans Memorial statue and placed an insignia near the fallen soldier depicted in the sculpture.

As each veteran placed his remembrance on the statue at Veterans Memorial Plaza, the crowd cheered. By late afternoon, the sculpture was covered with miniature American flags, medals, flowers, insignias and personal artifacts — including a pair of combat boots — from the war in Vietnam.

Some veterans, overcome by the memory of Vietnam, knelt at the foot of the giant sculpture and cried.

The keynote speaker, retired Gen. William Westmoreland, said that the time has come for America to show its appreciation for Vietnam veterans.

"The Vietnam veteran is a precious and valuable national asset." Westmoreland said. 'And the time has arrived for the American people to understand that in no uncertain terms.

'Sadly, in return, these men and women have been ignored and often abused by their fellow countrymen until now, and neglected by their nation until now," he said.

Westmoreland, who inspected the troops before making his remarks, said history may judge that the United States' attempt to keep South Vietnam independent and free of communism constituted one of 'man's noble crusades.'

'We wanted to give the people of South Vietnam some reasonable chance to achieve and keep a degree of freedom and human dignity," the general said. "This was indeed one of history's most selfless commitments.

Highway 87 discussion Wednesday

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners were invited this morning to attend a Wednesday transportation committee meeting at the Chamber of Commerce concerning a US Highway 87 lane expansion project south of Big Spring.

The state approved in October to upgrade the highway to four lanes. The action however is contingent tee chairman, they would not take to furnish right-of-way from Hearn Street to Glasscock County and to provide any necessary adjustment of utilities.

Commissioners told LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the Chamber; John Arrick, president of the Chamber; and Arnold Marshall, transportation commit-the necessary information you seek," Marshall said.

Commissioners also began canvessing Tuesday's county election results during this morning's meeting,

"We're reviewing the mechanicals — the addition and the subtraction — to make sure it checks out," said Commissioner William Crooker.

Economy snarls prison solution

ABILENE (AP) — The lowest-risk solution to the problem of criminal offenders in Texas, says State Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, "is to lock them up and throw away the key." And, he adds, "If we had the money, I'd do

But with the state's flagging economy, money is scarce, and Farabee, who serves on the House Criminal Justice Committee and the Senate Finance Committee, said legislators must be creative in finding alternatives.

State lawmakers recently finished two special sessions during which taxes were raised to make a dent in the multibillion-dollar shortfall in fiscal 1987's budget.

That shortfall is expected to be about $5 billion during the 1988-89 biennium, and lawmakers say they are planning large spending cuts during the 1987 session of the Legislature.

"There are very few problems in state government that don't have a dollar sign attached," said Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple, Senate Finance Chairman. "Frankly, some of the release programs designed to alleviate the problems may well mean high costs to people

Last year, the Legislative Budget Board estimated an increase of 400 prison admissions per month, Parker said.

Under that condition, to remain in compliance with the Prison Management Act, which states that capacity can't exceed 95 percent for five days in a row, the state would have to build a new 2,000-person penitentiary every five months, Parker said.

"The immediate pressing problem is that we are sending people to prison faster than the penitentiary can assimilate them," said Parker, who serves on the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committtee.

'When we send one in the front we've got to

The volume of crimes being committed during the first six months of this year is up 18.6 percent compared to the first half of 1985, Department of Public Safety statistics show.

SAN DIEGO — Five Soviet seismologists have arrived in San Diego to begin selecting sites to monitor seismic data from U.S.

The scientists, who arrived Sunday night, are from the Institute of Physics of the Earth in Moscow and are involved in a joint project of the Natural Resources Defense Council and the Soviet Academy of Sciences. The New York-based Defense Council is a private environmental group.

In July, a team of American scientists visited the Soviet Union and arranged instruments near the test site at Semipalatinsk to monitor nuclear tests. The Soviet scientists plan to choose sites in Nevada and California.

Trip turns to tragedy

DAVIE, Fla. — A trip to Walt Disney World became a "terrifying, horrible" ride Sunday as a bus loaded with Central American tourists flipped twice and landed upside down, killing one woman and injuring all 30 others

One witness said the bus was going 60-70 mph in a construction zone marked 45 mph, while the bus company blamed the accident on the wet road and highway conditions.

Homecoming

Former hostage receives warm embraces

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) Former hostage David Jacobsen hugged and kissed his 92-year-old father and other relatives as he returned for a reunion he said he could only dream about while being held by Lebanese terrorists for 17 months.

Jacob Jacobsen was waiting Sunday at the steps of the private jet that brought his 55-year-old son from Washington, D.C., and they hugged for a long time before David Jacobsen moved on to his sisters and other relatives gathered on the tarmac at John Wayne Orange County Airport.

"Dreams of this homecoming kept me going," Jacobsen, who wore an American flag on his lapel, told reporters when the greetings were over. "The thought of a reunion with family and friends gave me hope. And now that day has arrived, and I look forward to sharing time with my loved ones.

"Faith in God has made this day a reality."

Jacobsen was abducted May 28, 1985, and freed Nov. 2 in Beirut. He was met Sunday by about 20 family members and friends who held red, white and blue balloons and a sign that read: "Welcome Uncle David. We Love You.'

In nearby Huntington Beach, where Jacobsen lived for many years and where his son Eric still lives, yellow ribbons were tied to trees and banners on schools and churches welcomed his return.

Before leaving the airport for a private family gathering, Jacobsen asked for continued prayers for others still being held hostage in Lebanon, and also asked for undisturbed time with his family.

"I want to thank all the people who have followed my story and I ask them to continue to pray for Terry, Tom, Joe, Bill, Frank, Alec, Edward and all the other hostages. May they soon share a similar kind of celebration," he said.

Jacobsen referred to remaining hostages Terry Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent of The Associated Press; Thomas Sutherland, the American University's acting dean of agriculture in Beirut; Joseph Cicippio, an accountant at the American University; William Buckley, a U.S. Embassy political officer; Frank Reed, an American educator; Alec Collett, a British journalist-on assignment with the United Nations relief agency; and Edward American writer.

"I know that you have many questions," Jacobsen said. "I want to answer them, and a press conference will be announced in the next day or two. But now I want to share this glorious day with the people that I love so much that I have waited 17 months to hug and kiss. God bless you all.'

Jacobsen, his three grown children who had flown to meet him in West Germany, two sisters, father and other relatives then left for the party at the Altadena home of his sister, Carla Forbes.

In Huntington Beach, friends and neighbors around the apartment complex where Eric Jacobsen lives and on the street where David Jacobsen's former wife lives had tied yellow ribbons on trees and hung banners in case he came by.

"Welcome Back Dave!" read one

"Free at Last," read another. A high school, a Catholic church and an elementary school spread welcoming banners, as well.

Jacobsen, his children and their spouses returned from Washington aboard a jet provided by a board member of television evangelist Robert Schuller's Crystal Cathedral, said spokesman Michael

Schuller was among the airport

Nason said Jacobsen had attended services at the Garden Grove. Calif., church and when the exhostage was in West Germany "we got word that he would welcome a

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from around the state.

Immigration law may lead to ID cards

One of the most controversial parts of the new immigration reform law continues to be the amnesty provision, and the financing plan that goes along with it.

Plans are going strong for processing illegal aliens claiming amnesty under the new law, with 10 are concerns that fake documents might be used by some in efforts to prove they have lived in the United States since 1982 ...

One thing that does seem certain is that the new law brings us a lot closer to the day a national ID card will be required of everyone. We already have something pretty centers planned in Texas. There close to that, but the official kind likely will be coming soon. -Tyler Morning Telegraph

Child abusers should be executed

In less than 20 years, a 26-yearold Houston man, sentenced to 50 years imprisonment for killing a 2-year-old child by forcing black pepper down his throat, will be back in circulation.

That is a small price to pay for depriving a Christopher Kalmbach of his God-given right to life.

Not only did the man strangle the child, but he struck the little boy several times with a wooden paddle, burned his tiny body with cigarettes and scalded him.

If Texas criminal statues do not classify the crime committed against Chris Kalmbach as a capital offense, we should lose no time in amending the law so that the next violator will know he stands in danger of the death penalty.

Union plan to do battle with deficit

The large and growing trade imbalance this country has with foreign nations is a serious economic problem, but the AFL-CIO has come up with a good proposal to reduce it.

The AFL-CIO hopes to distribute a mail-order catalogue that would only contain products made in America and made with union labor. The idea is to encourage the purchase of domestic products that are available at prices comparable

This proposal avoids the problems associated with tariffs and boycotts and simply allows Americans to help other Americans. It won't erase our trade deficit, which reached $148 billion in 1985, but if it does anything to reduce the drain of dollars and jobs overseas, it's worth trying.

Pentagon demands control of commercial satellites

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon is quietly pressuring commercial satellite operators to take costly precautions against terrorists and pranksters, even though many industry officials are convinced the safeguards are unnecessary and a waste of their money

The controversial satellitesecurity policy, put in effect by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger a year ago, is based on President Reagan's National Security Decision Directive 145. It requires operators of commercial satellites who want to lease channels to government agencies or contractors to meet expensive standards approved by the National Security Agency for all satellites launched after 1989.

The intent is to protect the satellites from unauthorized commands that could disrupt national security-related communications.

NSDD 145 gives a government task force, headed by the military, the authority to protect all types of government information and communications.

As we previously reported, critics of the directive contend that it could also put the vast amounts of computerized information on individuals under the control of the military.

Assistant Defense Secretary Donald Latham disagrees, and argues that the precautions are essential to protect sensitive government information.

Because not all government information falls into existing categories of classification, NSDD 145 created a new category — not yet defined — of material that can be kept from the public. The Pentagon has denied that this new category will be used to cover up embarrassing information.

That may be so, but the ominous direction the policy could take is gested by the fact that the National Security Agency refused to let our associate Donald Goldberg see documents that described the debate over the satellite policy even though the documents are not classified.

Veterans Day is a day of thanksgiving

By THOMAS K. TURNAGE

Administrator of Veterans Affairs This month we celebrate two significant holidays. Two observances in which we show our appreciation and offer our thanksgiving.

The first of these holidays is Veterans Day — a time to thank those whose loyalty and valor helped preserve all that we hold so dear — our freedom. It is a time to recognize the great contribution of our veterans to an America that throughout the world is an example of freedom, liberty and democracy.

In ceremonies all over America, Tuesday, we will honor those who have fought and died for our nation. But our responsibilities to veterans do not stop there.

For some, the memory of America's wars gradually fade. But the Vetrans Administration and others have a continued awareness, years after the battlefields are silent, that problems remain for many soldiers who fought at those battlefields.

As Administrator of Veterans Affairs, I am very much aware of this. Therefore, we must constantly strive to continue to provide these brave men and women with the needs that emanated from or have been exacerbated by their duty in uniform.

America has an obligation to its veterans. War does not end when the shooting stops. It ends when our veterans have been fully assimilated into our society when all that can be done has been done to heal the wounds and to compensate for the sacrifices.

The Veterans Administration has a mission ... to serve America's veterans and their families with dignity and compassion and, related to that, to be their principal advocate in ensuring that they receive the care, support and recognition they earned by serving this nation

The American people always have been grateful to our men and women in uniform. This tradition of respect has been supported by the most extensive system of benefits and care ever provided by any nation for its defenders.

As the federal agency responsible for administering benefits for veterans, we have a deep concern that our programs bring effective readjustment and health care services to our special constituency. To serve our constituency, we operate the largest medical care delivery system in the nation -172hospitals, 227 outpatient clinics, 103 nursing homes and 16 domiciliaries - where more than one-third of the nation's health professionals receive training.

In addition, we adminsiter a GI Bill program for education, an insurance program that's the fifth largest in the country, a home loan program where more than $35 billion in loans were guaranteed last year, and compensation and pension programs that paid more than $14 billion in 1985. We also operate the National Cemetery System, which consists of 109 cemeteries nationwide. At the Veterans Administration, we observe Veterans Day yearround. We do this by dedicating ourselves to President Lincoln's call to "care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan.'

I ask that you remember and appreciate - not just today, but long after all the ceremonies are over the faithful service our fallen comrades and our living veterans have given to their country.

As President Reagan said in his proclamation, "let us recall their heroic accomplishments and thank them for their unselfish devotion to duty. They are indeed worthy of the solemn tribute of a grateful nation.'

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am concerned about a 5-year-old daughter of a couple I know. She is a bed-wetter and wets during the day as well as at night. Her parents feel the problem is emotional and she does this on purpose. Therefore, they refuse to have her examined, thinking it is a waste of time and money. Efforts to correct the problem by yelling, shaming her and threatening to put her in diapers, etc., have all failed. I hope you can shed some light on this problem and suggest effective ways to deal with it. - Anon.

If this is an emotional problem, which I doubt, that should be ironed out before it leads to lasting maladjustment. That's the first reason to have the child examined. The second is equally compelling for having her seen. And that is to investigate physical factors, such Only a few have urinary as bladder size.

With more than one in three girls the victim of sexual abuse in this country, surely the possibility should be considered likely. Hollywood stars always buying and selling

By COSMOPOLITAN A Hearst Magazine

Hollywood celebrities buy and sell real estate as casually as if they were playing a giant game of Monopoly — and $2 million buys only a modest property.

People out here fall in love with a certain kind of house, and then that house goes out of vogue or out of sync with their growth as individuals, and so they change houses," real estate agent June Scott said in the November issue of Cosmpolitan. "Fortunately for real estate brokers, they do this quite frequently.'

The heavy traffic in real estate speculation, coupled with inflation, has sent prices soaring, particularly in Beverly Hills. A property currently held by 20th Century-Fox coowner Marvin Davis illustrates more than $20 million. The price had risen $18 million in nine years. That Beverly Hills address is allimportant. When Cher put her seven-bedroom Egyptian palace in Benedict Canyon on the market the price was $6 million. Three years price is down to $5.7 million. Real estate agents theorize why the house hasn't sold — it has a Beverly Hills address and phone number, but its owner pays taxes in Los Angeles, meaning it's not really a Beverly Hills house.

'Impossible for $1 million," Young said. "It's just not enough money for a really good house. You need at least a $2 million house for a tennis court. You get a little teeny driveway for $1 million. You may not even get two bathrooms for the master bedroom. Burt Reynolds is looking for a

The current celebrity trend is away from hard-to-maintain estates in favor of smaller houses on larger pieces of property.

AUSTIN (AP) - The once-bright through cash rebates and lowprospects for solar energy in Texas interest loans, sales have severely have turned gloomy this year as sales of solar water heating equipof companies have shut their doors, officials say.

The industry was hit hard nationally when federal solar tax credits expired at the end of 1985. But business has been particularly bad in Texas, according to some industry officials.

Solar companies in other Texas cities are under a similar cloud, industry officials said.

"There is no doubt that the solar industry in Texas is flat on its back," said Mike Osborne, president of the Texas Renewable Energy Industries Association and head of Osborne Solar in Elgin.

"In Dallas, San Antonio and Houston there were probably 50 companies out there selling solar water heaters two years ago, and there are only a handful now," Osborne said.

The statewide industry organization, which had about 60 members two years ago, is down to 27 and probably will lose another 15 after the first of the year, Osborne said.

WIFE hears of challenges

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) -The new officers of the national Women Involved in Farm Economics organization will have to face some of the toughest challenges in their group's 10-year history, an agriculture official says.

Naioma Benson of Colorado was re-elected as president and Alice Parker of Washington state became first vice president Sunday at a ceremony during WIFE's annual convention.

Bob Bergland, who led the U.S. Department of Agriculture under the Carter administration and is now general manager of the National Rural Electric Coop Association, told 200 WIFE members Saturday that their group was a constant presence in Washington over the last 10

But he said WIFE faces even greater demands now because foreign nations once dependent on the United States for their food are becoming increasingly self-sufficient.

"Next year will be a wild one," Bergland said of farming's economic situation. "There definitely will be a down-sliding in American agriculture. The question is, how will we solve it?

Bergland predicted that because Democrats gained control of the U.S. Senate in Tuesday's elections, there will be public hearings on the state of agriculture in the United States.

But he noted that one issue surely to be targeted in such hearings will be the enormous amounts of money being spent on the 1985 farm bill. "Congress considers the farm bill a failure, and I don't know if they can change anything because they may not be able to override a veto," he noted. "It could be two years of a stalemate between Congress and the president.

"The deficits, the federal budget now will be the biggest item," he said.

Zoo animals are flying high today

GRAND PRAIRIE (AP) — Noah used an ark, but the people who are supplying a new zoo in Taiwan are using airplanes to transport giraffes, elephants, chimpanzees, zebras and other animals.

About twice a week, a special flight of 747s from China Air leaves Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport with some of what eventually will be 1,000 animals to be sent to Taiwan.

The new 400-acre Taipei City Zoo in Taiwan is expected to open in January. Total cost of the zoo, including purchase and transportation of animals, is estimated at $100 million.

The animals are being supplied by the International Animal Exchange of Michigan. It is one of the world's largest suppliers of exotic animals. The airlifts of the animals will take about three months and is about half complete. The animals stay at the International Wildlife Park in Grand Prairie, owned by the International Animal Exchange, before the final leg of their journey, which is 15,000 miles and takes 24 hours.

Work on the various crates. boxes and other contraptions being used to transport the animals began five months ago.

"The crates were all custommade to suit specific animals,' said Ray Sutton, wildlife director at the Grand Prairie park. "Some will try to turn inside the crate and will require more room. But others are somewhat more nervous, and we want to confine their movements so they won't injure themselves.

Zebras don't travel well alone and must be shipped with other animals.

The duiker, an African antelope, was given a padded roof and special carpet so it would not slip during the journey.

Sarus cranes tend to jump straight up inside a container and need a fabric roof to prevent their bumping their heads. Rhinos, hippos and elephants are so strong that they need to be caged in steel pipes or iron slats.

Jet threats lead to jail for singer

HOUSON (AP) — A church singing group member accused of threatening to blow up a plane after attendants refused to serve him an alcohoic drink remained jailed over the weekend pending an appearance before a federal magistrate.

Alfred Dukes, 31, has been held without bond at Harris County Jail on charges of interference with operation of an aircraft and interference with a flight crew, FBI spoksman Johnnie Joyce said.

Dukes was scheduled to appear before a federal magistrate today, Joyce said.

Bill Ainsworth, spokesman for the Houston aviation department, said Dukes was apparently intoxicated and angered Saturday when the flight crew on USAir flight 64 from San Antonio to Philadelphia would not serve him an alcoholic beverage. USAir does not serve alcoholic drinks until 9 a.m., he said.

The spokesman said the plane's pilot radioed Houston's Intercontinental Airport shortly before 7 a.m. Saturday to report a threat to blow up the Boeing 727 aircraft.

When the plane landed in Houston, it was taken to a remote area where water trucks and other emergency crews were waiting. Dukes was arrested without incident and some of the 35 passengers and five crew members on board were questioned, Ainsworth said.

No explosives were found, he said

Plunkett proved his point Sunday in a relief role by throwing two touchdown passes in the second half of the Raiders' 17-13 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Asked if he should start in place of Marc Wilson, Plunkett replied Yes, I proved it all year. It's no fun on the bench.

Plunkett said his age should be no barrier.

"They (the Raiders' coaches) may think I'm 38, but I don't think of it that way," he said.

But Los Angeles Coach Tom Flores said he didn't want a quarterback controversy.

"I don't want to get into that right now," Flores said.

Wilson suffered three interceptions in the first half and the Cowboys led 10-3 after Tony Dorsett ran 13 yards for a score. It was then that Flores decided to go to his bullpen.

Plunkett threw touchdown passes of 20 and 40 yards to Dokie Williams as the Raiders' victimized young Steve Pelluer, who was starting in place of the injured Danny White.

The Raiders intercepted him five times and sacked him six times. The five interceptions tied a Dallas club record held by White and Ed-

56 more than Simpson. "I never dreamed when I left college I'd do that," Dorsett said. "I have a lot of respect for O.J. Simpson.'

Plunkett, meanwhile, heaped his praise on Williams.

"Dokie made two tremendous catches," Plunkett said. "The last one could have very easily been intercepted, but he just outjumped the Cowboys. Good receivers make a quarterback look good.'

Williams said the game-winning touchdown pass early in the fourth period was just like basketball. "It was a jump ball situation and I just happened to get it," he said. The game was more than Dallas Coach Tom Landry could stomach. The Cowboys had two touchdowns called back by penalties and Herschel Walker fumbled the ball away another time on the Raiders' 1-yard line. "We beat ourselves," Landry said. "We had two touchdowns called back by penalty. It's simple.'

Landry said the Cowboys aren't

"We can't lose any more and win the East," Landry said.

Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett holds up a number one sign after scoring during the second quarter at Texas Stadium Sunday. Dorsett became the 5th leading all-time rusher, passing O.J. Simpson.

Montana amazing in his come Back

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -Ten minutes into the game, Joe Montana threw the ball nearly 50 yards. As Charlie Baker crashed into Montana, Jerry Rice was catching the ball in stride and trotting into the end zone for a touchdown.

It was the quintessential test of Montana's improbable medical comeback.

One day short of eight weeks after undergoing delicate back surgery that might well have ended his distinguished career, he had simultaneously thrown his first touchdown pass and taken his first hit. He suffered no after-effects from the latter.

"I have no pain, no soreness, I feel fine," Montana said Sunday after the game. And well he should have.

He completed 13 of 19 passes for 270 yards; threw touchdown passes of 45, 40 and 44 yards to Rice and absorbed eight hits of various force to lead the San Francisco 49ers to an easy 43-17 victory over St. Louis.

His presence was also quite apparent on the 49ers, who had played the last seven weeks with Jeff Kemp and Mike Moroski at quarterback. They entered the game at 5-3-1 with two straight losses and finished it just onehalf game behind the first-place Los Angeles Rams in the NFC

"I think any team has a central point like a pitcher in baseball, a scorer in basketball without whom it absolutely erodes the positive feeling." San Francisco Coach Bill Walsh said. "We've been through three quarterbacks. With Joe back, we just seemed much more in synch."

"Not to knock Mike Moroski or Jeff Kemp," guard Randy Cross said, "but we've gone an awful lot of places with Joe Montana. It was just the fact that we had him. Armies work hard for Lancelot but they work even harder for King Arthur."

This King Arthur had just undergone a taxing week in which even his sanity was questioned. It was more taxing, he said, than the weeks before the two Super Bowls in which he ended up being named most valuable player.

He had injured his back running left and throwing right in the season opener at Tampa Bay. He underwent surgery to repair a ruptured disc and his season, if not his career was deemed

But he began working out two weeks after the operation. An operation which leaves many people happy just to be able to tie shoes. By last Monday, the doctors cleared him to play. Almost.

On Friday, his back surgeon, Dr. Arthur White, told a medical panel that although Montana's back was healthy "anyone who had back surgery should not return to professional football" and that anyone who did so was 'crazy.'

Of the first six series he directed, five resulted in San Francisco scores — two touchdowns and three field goals by Ray Wersching. The seventh ended in San Francisco's only punt of the game and it came on the first play of the fourth quarter.

In the three games Bradsher scored 76 points. He's the Hawks leading scorer with a 25.3 points per game average.

Bradsher and point guard Dennis Rhodes were both named to the alltournament team

Midland College won the tournament by stomping South Plains College 92-67 in the final Saturday night. The Chaparrals have never lost their tournament.

The tournament's most valuable player was Midland's Mookie Blaylock. Joining Bradsher and Rhodes on the all-tournament team were Jerry Johnson of Barton County, Horace Chaney of Garden City, Troy Bell of Odessa College. Darryl Night and Greg Colbert of South Plains, and Lincoln Minor, Alex Stanwood and Todd Duncan of Midland College.

Quinn's Quarter

Big Spring Steers Head Football Coach Quinn Eudy had these comments Monday about the Steers' 27-17 win over Snyder Friday that clinched Big Spring's first district championship since 1953.

"It feels great. I'm very tickled to be the number one playoff team, and like I say, I'm extremely proud of our kids and "Our kids played well when they had to on both sides of the ball. We stopped Snyder three times inside the 20 and they came away with just three points. When they did score, we came right back and scored. Then we kind of played a bend but don't break defense. "Like I said, the officials did take away from the game with their flags. The opening kickoff should have been a touchdown we saw that on film.

"We need to work hard against Andrews and be excited against Andrews and build momentum going into the

"We don't know who we're going to play in the playoffs. Estacado should finish first. They play an 0-9 team. If they lose to them it will be the end of the world. It will be one of those other three teams (Canyon, Borger or Hereford), but I'm not really interested in talking much about that because we've got Andrews.

King Arthur's back and Chargers stun Broncos

By the Associated Press Joe Montana's return to the San Francisco 49ers was right out of a storybook. After seeing his season nearly ended by a back injury, the quarterback returned to the NFL battlefield with a near-perfect day. "It was just the fact that we had him," veteran guard Randy Cross said after Montana returned from career-threatening back surgery and led the 49ers to a 43-17 NFL victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday. "Armies work hard for Lancelot but they work even harder for King Arthur.'

Despite advice from doctors that 55 days after surgery was too soon to return, Montana completed 13 of 19 passes for 270 yards, including touchdown passes of 45, 40 and 44 yards to wide receiver Jerry Rice.

"I got hit hard enough to test Montana said, but he added that he felt no pain or soreness after playing just over three quarters. He was sacked once, but the Cardinals were penalized twice for roughing the passer.

Tonight, Miami is at Cleveland. Montana was the driving force behind a San Francisco offense that clicked in all areas. The 49ers had 164 yards rushing, 64 more than their average, and Joe Cribbs had his first 100-yard game this season with 105 on 21 carries.

"Joe Montana played beautifully," Coach Bill Walsh said. "With Joe back we just seemed to be much more in synch."

Rice, who leads NFL receivers in touchdowns with 12 and yardage with 1,030, caught four passes for 156 yards, a 39-yard average.

San Francisco, 6-3-1 and one-half game behind the first-place Rams in the NFC West, also was tough defensively, intercepting three passes by Cliff Stoudt, one of which was returned 78 yards for a touchdown by Tom Holmoe. Another interception was made in the end zone by Keith Fahnhorst when the Cardinals, 2-8, trailed by only 13 points in the third period. But while he had plenty of help, Montana was the unquestioned leader.

"It boosted my spirits having him in there again," Rice said. "I was just glad to be back," Montana said. "If you are afraid of getting hit or hurt, then you are going to get hurt. Once the game started, it was too late to start worrying about it.'

Chargers 9, Broncos 3 San Diego, with the 25th-ranked defense in the league, used three two key interceptions of John nine-yard gain in the second quarter of the Oiler's 32-28 win over Cincinnati. Elway to upset Denver.

The Jets, 9-1, lead second-place New England by two games in the AFC East.

O'Brien, who finished with 322 yards passing, hit on a club-record 17 consecutive passes during one stretch, and was 13 for 13 for 195 yards in the second quarter.

'It's unbelievable what he can do," Wesley Walker, who caugh two of O'Brien's three secondquarter touchdown passes, said.

O'Brien's 17 consecutive completions tied for the fifth-best string in NFL history, breaking the Jets' record of 15 set over a two-game span by Joe Namath. It was only three shy of the all-time record set by Kenny Anderson of the Cincinnati Bengals against Houston on Jan. 2, 1983.

Jets nose tackle Joe Klecko suffered a twisted left knee and defensive lineman Marty Lyons a tendon injury to his right shoulder. Lyons could be sidelined 4-to-6 weeks. Giants 17, Eagles 14

The combination of running back

Joe Morris and a stingy defense worked again for New York in its victory over Philadelphia, giving the Giants' their best start since Morris scored two touchdowns and recorded his fourth consecutive 100-yard-plus game while the defense collected seven sacks, three by linebacker Lawrence Taylor. The Giants' eighth victory against two losses kept them tied for first in the NFC East with Washington.

hospital for X-rays, was to be kept overnight for observation. The Redskins have now won 21 of their last 24 games on grass. Patriots 30, Colts 21

New England spotted Indianapolis a 14-3 lead before quarterback Tony Eason warmed up and threw two third-quarter touchdowns.

The loss aropped the Colts to 0-10, the only winless team in the NFL. Scoring passes by Eason of eight yards to Willie Scott and two yards to Irving Fryar in the third quarter put the Patriots ahead to stay.

Chicago, the defending Super Bowl champions, rebounded from Monday's defeat as Mike Tomczak took over at quarterback, passing for one touchdown and running for another to beat Tampa Bay.

Walter Payton, playing with a dislocated toe, ran for 139 yards.

Tomczak, who was relieved by former USFL quarterback Doug Flutie late in the fourth quarter, completed 11 of 24 passes for 265 yards. Two of the four scoring drives he directed covered 92 and 91 yards.

'I was not smooth, but good enough," said Flutie, who entered the game with just over four minutes to play and threw one incomplete pass.

The Bears lead the overall series

Vikings 24, Lions 10

Minnesota stayed in the playoff chase in the NFC as Tommy Kramer threw for 284 yards and a touchdown to defeat Detroit.

The victory improved Minnesota's record to 6-4 while the Lions, whose losing streak reached four games, fell to 3-7.

Joey Browner, who returned an interception 39 yards for a touchdown, led a Vikings' defense that recovered three fumbles, one on the Minnesota goal line with 4:54 remaining.

By scoring 10 points in the first quarter, the Vikings have now outscored their opponents 109-30 in the opening period.

Bills 16, Steelers 12

Robb Riddick rushed for 108 vards and a touchdown to key Buffalo's victory over Pittsburgh and make Mary Levy's coaching debut a success. "A person comes into a situation very apprehensive about what might happen the first time out there and his team does not have a good record," Levy, who replaced the fired Hank Bullough as Bills head coach on Monday, said.

The Bills also scored on a 3-yard pass from Jim Kelly to Andre Reed, and a 29-yard field goal by Scott Norwood.

Pittsburgh was hurt by two missed extra-point attempts, one after a 5-yard run by Earnest Jackson and the other after an 11-yard pass from Mark Malone to Weegie Thompson. Chiefs 27, Seahawks 7

On Sunday night, "Dr. J" played his last game in Portland, scoring 29 points to pace Philadelphia to a 125-119 victory over the Trail Blazers.

"It's a new experience," Erving said of his first taste of the role of basketball superstar on his last swing through the league. "It didn't seem to be too painful.

"I think it's quite flattering for a visiting player to be acknowledged like this.

"I'm enjoying every moment of this season," he said.

Erving certainly enjoyed Sunday night.

surge that lifted the 76ers to their

Portland its fifth loss in six

The Blazers had 6-foot-7 Kenny Carr playing center for much of the game because Sam Bowie is out, probably for the season, with a broken leg and his replacement, Steve Johnson, was in foul trouble.

'It's certainly no knock on Kenny, but you would hope he would not have to be playing center," Schuler said.

Schuler said he isn't going to dwell on what the loss of Bowie has meant to his team.

"I'll say this just one time and I don't want to talk about it any more," Schuler said. "You know as much as I know how much we're going to miss Sam Bowie. But that's what we're faced with and we're going to do the best we

Aggies in Cotton barring disaster

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports Writer The 1987 Cotton Bowl is beginning to take on a maroon-andwhite hue.

The defending champion Texas A&M Aggies have a twogame lead with three to play, including a 2:30 p.m. regionally televised (ABC) meeting with the deflated Arkansas Razorbacks on Saturday in Little

Thanks to Baylor's 29-14 victory over the 10th-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks on Saturday, the Aggies are sitting pretty. "There's no way in the world anybody can catch the Aggies now," said Baylor Coach Grant A&M has games remaining against Arkansas, Texas Christian and Texas on Thanksgiving night. "I guess you could say there is still a mathematical chance, but that's about it," Teaff said.

"The Aggies are back again."

While A&M rested, they watched Baylor's come-frombehind victory on television. Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield said it was one of the toughest losses he's had.

"We're hurt as bad as we've ever been hurt before," Hatfield said. "It was a tough loss emotionally for our team and all of Arkansas. We didn't accomplish our mission of coming down here and winning to give us a chance to get to the Cotton Bowl.

"Now, everyone in the league has at least two defeats except Texas A&M. They still have three league gyames left to play, but they are playing very well. It will be difficult for us to still have a chance for the Cotton Bowl but it isn't impossible

Texas A&M is 5-0 in SWC play. Other teams with two league losses include Texas Tech. Texas and Southern Methodist. SMU isn't eligible for title consideration. In other SWC games on Saturday, Texas downed Houston 30-10 and Texas Tech whipped Texas Christian 36-14 to keep alive its bowl hopes

Southern Methodist was humiliated on the nonconference front, falling 61-29 to Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind. It was SMU's worst whipping in 70 years

The SWC finished the year 15-11 against outside competition.

Baylor was all but assured a bowl bid, and the Bluebonnet, Independence, Freedom and Sun Bowls are courting the team. "I sure hope Baylor comes to Houston on New Year's Eve," said Ted Nance, the Bluebonnet Bowl's executive director. "We would sure like to have 'em." "There's no question we'll be in a bowl now," Teaff said.

"We'll just have to wait and see what happens.' Bowl bids can't go out until Nov. 22 and the Red Raiders may get one. They are 6-3 and assured their first winning season since 1978. "Our defense did just a great job against TCU," said Tech Coach David McWilliams. TCU Coach Jim Wacker said, "Jim Wacker didn't coach very well — that's the biggest problem we had.

In other games this week, TCU hosts Texas at 2 p.m., Baylor is at Rice in a noon Raycom TV game, and SMU is at Texas Tech in a 2 p.m. clash.

One of the last water 'dinosaurs' laid to rest

By TAD BARTIMUS Associated Press Writer

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — In this high plains wheat country, where the spine of America sways in the wind and rustles in the night, the 40 Years' Water War is finally over. Mobody claims victory.

When America was young and the deserts of the West were empty, the need to dam water so people would come dwarfed all other demands. Money could always be found for diversions and dikes, canals and culverts.

Such was the case on the Missouri River in the heydey of the Bureau of Reclamation and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. But in this 210th year of the Republic there is Star Wars and Social Security, Medicaid and foreign aid. Priorities have changed.

Enormous water diversion projects that began with fanfare and consensus generations ago are ending unsung and unmourned now, closing out the age of the engineers who dared to rearrange nature with the Panama Canal and the Hoover Dam.

In North Dakota, a handful of sodbusters at the state's constitutional convention first dreamed of funneling precious Missouri River water from its natural bed in the state's western badlands to farms in central and southern counties 200 miles away.

But it wasn't until Franklin Delano Roosevelt's time that the dream got a name. The Garrison Diversion Unit was authorized by Congress in 1944. Since then legal battles and political skirmishes have shaped a blueprint of canals, reservoirs and ditches designed to shift water from the horned toads and rattlesnakes toward the Hundreds of farmers plowing on the edge of America's arid West have embraced Garrison as their Holy Grail. The Dirty Thirties' drought instilled in them the determination to have a dependable water supply the next time the rains failed.

Only token opposition from two politically impotent Indian tribes stood in the way of Garrison's parent project after World War II. The Indians' land and tribal unity 'soon drowned behind a dam.

But not a drop of Garrison water has reached its destination. To date because nobody won and prairie potholes.

only 15 percent of Garrison is everybody lost. finished. Progress was stalled for years because of environmental court challenges and congressional deadlock on funding.

Foes brand Garrison the biggest stave in America's water projects pork barrel. They include environmentalists who claim it will destroy a major breeding ground for ducks and fiscal conservatives who argue that farmers already foundering on excess crops don't need more water to grow more surpluses. North Dakota, mostly without irrigation, lags behind only Kansas in annual wheat production.

Boosters claim Garrison is vital to grow more food for what they believe will be future worldwide shortages. Besides, they say, Uncle Sam owes Garrison to the people of North Dakota. A bargain's a bargain.

In April, after intense talks among local water interests, state negotiators and national environmental groups, Congress passed compromise legislation permitting completion of a greatly scaled-down version.

The bill also shifts emphasis from rural to urban life, authorizing diversion of Missouri River water to 130 North Dakota towns for municipal and industrial use.

Instead of the originally proposed 1 million acres of irrigation, water is earmarked for only 408 farms comprising 130,940 acres. The average cost of getting it there will be $1.65 million per farm. Garrison's total pricetag, including $650 million for irrigation, is $1.1

The bill also marks the first time Congress has ordered farmers receiving water from the Bureau of Reclamation to pay extra if it's used to grow surplus crops.

In a statement issued when he signed the bill into law May 12, President Reagan cited "the long and contentious history of the Garrison Diversion Unit" but said the project "demonstrated that people of good will can reach a consensus on the critical water development and environmental issues that face

Maybe. The special interest actors involved in North Dakota's longest-running passion play say Garrison is a true compromise U.S. borders come from the state's

"Both sides sat back and said, 'My God, we may have just sold the farm," said Mike McEnroe, 37, a biologist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service who, as a private citizen, represented the North Dakota chapter of The Wildlife Society at the bargaining table.

"We won't know whether or not we did the right thing for five years. We're going to have to work twice as hard to make this compromise succeed as we did to oppose Garrison.

Mike Dwyer, 34, an attorney for the North Dakota Water Users Association, said: "I'm the third generation of North Dakotans who believes Garrison is our birthright, that the federal government owes us that irrigation. But the hatred and animosity that built up over Garrison over the years caused agony and conflict in the state."

The National Audubon Society, which adamantly opposed Garrison for 10 years, in the end agreed to the truce.

'With this agreement, resource development and resource protection are now linked," said Charlene Dougherty, Audubon's chief Washington lobbyist. "Any wildlife losses that result from construction must be mitigated on a one-for-one basis. It was a bittersweet end to a very long fight.'

One concession eliminated drainage from Garrison canals and reservoirs into Canada's Hudson Bay basin. Canada had vigorously opposed Garrison on grounds that fertilizer runoff would cross the border and pollute that fragile ecosystem.

Another compromise, one environmentalists say tipped the scales, established a trust fund to protect wetlands where millions of birds breed.

North Dakota is a landscape of glacial gouges, prairie potholes formed 12,000 years ago when the thick ice retreated, that hold the fresh water ideal for nesting birds.

Among the 119 species of birds found in North Dakota are seagulls from California, white pelicans from Texas, the piping plover, which has nearly vanished from its original Great Lakes range, and Canada geese that winter on the shores of Chesapeake Bay. About 80 percent of the ducks born within Every drop seems worth fighting over in a region where precious water is scarce.
