Stenholm: Texan reps looking good

By DARRELL BERKHEIMER

Managing Editor
The Texas delegation to Congress is in a better position to help Howard County projects as a result of this past week's general election, 17th District Congressman Charles W. Stenholm said Tuesday during his day-long visit to the county

Stenholm, D-Stamford, spent the day attending a series of briefings, giving a Veterans' Day speech and asking questions about issues of importance to Big Spring and Howard County

He told community leaders that the Texas delegation will have more clout in the next Congress because Rep. Jim Wright, D-Fort Worth, virtually is assured of becoming the new Speaker of the House as a result of his re-election.

The congressman also speculated one or two other Texas members of the House will step into higher committee posts, and it was noted that Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, is expected to become a Senate committee chairman because the Democratic Party recaptured control of the Senate.

Stenholm's first briefing Tuesday was with aides in the Permian Building Conference Room. Then, with Big Spring's Johnnie Lou Avery as his guide, he met with board members of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to hear reports on the latest developments in the Stacy Dam project.

His briefings continued at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, where he was given a tour of the facility by Administrator Conrad Alexander and Lupe Dominguez, the hospital's chief of Voluntary Services.

After the tour and a private discussion on the future of the hospital with Alexander, Stenholm announced his decision to serve on

Hotel tax debt far from settlement

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Stacked dollar upon dollar, the tax debt of the Hotel Settles could soon exceed the height of the 15-story structure.

The debt connected to Hotel Settles towers high above downtown Big Spring, and its owner is trying to find a suitable proposal to relieve himself of that burden with little positive response from local officials.

The latest developments involve a dispute between the chief appraiser and a representative of the building's owner; an offer of a building in exchange for tax forgiveness, and an $89,800 tax debt that continues to mount.

Developer Gil Cuadra and his associate Ralph Kelley said they sent a letter on May 26 to request a protest hearing before the appraisal review board about the building's $284,000 assessed value. Both chief appraiser Gene Pereira and county tax assessor/collector Dorothy Moore said they neither received nor saw any such protest letter. Pereira said Cuadra received a protest form when he was sent his appraisal in April. 'They're kind of sloppy about handling their business," the chief appraiser said. The building's assessed value has run as high as $700,000, but Pereira said his staff has continued

"to cut the value on that thing." Kelley said he and Cuadra are considering going to court over their alleged refuted request.

'They better produce a copy of the letter," Moore said in reference to Kelley's statement that Cuadra had told him he sent the letter to Moore's office.

The tax assessor/collector said any letters pertaining to property values are immediately forwarded to Pereira's office. Kelley said the nature of the protest concerned Cuardra's $30,000 purchase price of the structure, compared to assessed value. When you establish the value of a building by sale — they have to honor it as appraised value,' Kelley said. "I don't care what anyone does with the Hotel Settles. It's not going to be earthshattering to me or my tax roll," Pereira said. Kelley said he has received two inquiries from persons in Big Spring since Nov. 5 when he began placing classifieds with the Bi Spring Herald advertising the sale of downtown properties, including Cuadra's hotel. "The problem we've got with the HOUSTON (AP) — A "minimum floor price" for domestic oil should be set by the government and the petroleum industry to ensure the industry's survival, an American Petroleum Institute official says.

Families not to be deported

By WILLIAM GARLAND Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Close family members of an illegal alien who qualifies for legalization might not be deported, even if they do not qualify for amnesty, according to an Immigration and Naturalization Service official.

He indicated that wives, husbands or children of a newly legalized alien might not be prosecuted if family members came to the United States after Jan. 1, 1982, the cutoff date for length of residency to receive legal status.

"I don't think it's going to be the intent for us to start busting up families," said the official, who discussed the new immigration law under the condition he not be identified.

INS officers have not raided private homes to find illegal aliens in many years, said Roger Conner, executive director of the Federation for American Immigration Reform.

He said the INS is expected to continue that policy and would not challenge the legal status of those living with the alien granted amnesty. He said those same persons might be vulnerable to deportation if apprehended in other circumstances by the INS.

The INS has tentatively scheduled a press briefing Thursday to give out information on how the immigration law will be implemented.

Under another major part of the law, employers will get a first official warning about hiring illegal aliens in tax form packages to be sent early next year, he said.

The INS will begin enforcement of employer sanctions for the hiring of aliens on May 6, six months after the date the immigration bill was signed, last Thursday. Information sent with tax forms will be a key part of the six-month education effort for employers that was required by the new law on employer sanctions, he said. Employers will not be held ac-FAMILIES page 2A

Students hear economic viewpoints

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

A country's economic system makes a difference to the people's prosperity — that's the message of a program presented to Big Spring, Coahoma and Sands high school 11th and 12th graders Tuesday morning.

A shorter version was presented to diners at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce community luncheon Tuesday.

'If you give an individual the right to profit from his work, he works harder — that's the secret" to the free enterprise system, said Lee R. Polk, chairman of the Department of Communication Studies of Baylor University, who spoke in the program.

He and William English, of the same Baylor department, had a Capitalism vs. Socialism debate during the morning program, and presented a synopsis at the luncheon.

The greatest resource is what people have inside themselves," he said, adding that "as our young people enter the world, it's important someone says 'that's what it takes' " to

Big Spring High School student Taff Wennik, 11th grade, said the program gave him a lot to think about.

"I didn't really know both sides of the issue" before, he said.

Several students said the program interested and entertained them, but some in an economics class believed the Socialism side of the debate wasn't presented fairly because fewer actual statistics were given.

"It left out a lot of important facts about Socialism," such as Socialistic countries have no unemployment and no one goes hungry, said senior Sam Sand.

The speakers said " 'our poor are better off than their poor,' but any way you look at it, they're still poor," Sand surmised. Senior Randy Odom said he believes socialized medicine "might not be a bad idea," but he agreed with the speakers that

Exposure to the elements of the system brings strength, he said. He said he hopes students returned from the program with many questions about the economic systems and a desire for discussion.

He also hoped to show that the subject of economics isn't boring.

Michael Broome, a motivational speaker, used humor to explain to Chamber diners what he said in the program to students.

He said much opportunity exists in the U.S., but many receive a different picture from those fighting discrimination.

"We become what we think about," he said. 'We need to be wary of people that expect the government to solve all our problems. We don't want to become the victim of a Socialist

He said young people today don't have the natural faith and optimism of past generations because they have primarily seen such events as Vietnam and Watergate, and have experienced economic instability and inflation.

Dr. Victoria Bergin, deputy commissioner for circulation and program development at the Texas Education Agency, attended the programs to observe how well they meet the criteria the agency has developed, said master of ceremonies Drew Mouton.

Bergin thought well of the program, saying "I wish I could clone it and take it to the 1,000 other school districts" in Texas.

She said young people of tomorrow must be better educated than anyone in the past. However, she said, financial problems exist in the Texas public education system that will take years to correct.

She listed statistics, including that Texas has the highest rate of pregnancies for girls age 14 and under in the U.S.

Furthermore, many citizens expect the public schools to address all social problems, she said. She added that schools need the cooperation of communities and industry.

The luncheon was hosted by Big Spring's two Rotary Clubs and sponsored by Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

the House Veterans' Affairs Committee during his Veterans Day speech to hospital staff members, patients and their families.

Stenholm explained later, to community leaders, that his decision means he will drop his membership on the House Small Business Committee because he intends to continue serving on the House Agriculture Committee.

The agriculture assignment is his first priority, the former vocational agriculture teacher said, adding that members of Congress are allowed two major committee assignments.

Stenholm explained in his meeting with Alexander that his decision was based on his concern for health care in general and more specifically for rural and veterans' health care.

Stenholm and his District Representative, Dale King, accompanied Avery to the Quarterly Community Luncheon at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, sponsored by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and Scenic Mountain Hospital.

Avery was honored at the event when she was presented a bouquet of roses in recognition of her appointment to the Governor's Texas National Research Laboratory Commission — the nine-member task force organized to attract the Superconducting Super Collider research project to Texas

The congressman's afternoon activities included a visit with Anthony Belaski, superintendent of the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, and a tour of Big Spring Airpark facilities being proposed as the site for a second men's prison

Stenholm also visited the recently dedicated greenhouse facility developed by prison camp inmates.

The briefings continued at Permian Research Corp., where the congressman was advised of the need for legislation to protect patents and exported technology from being copied and imported at a lower price.

Hayes Stripling III, a Permian Research engineer, explained the company's research projects and cited the need for the legislative protection.

During a concluding session with community leaders as the Chamber of Commerce offices, Stenholm presented special commendations to the local Salvation Army and Red Cross operations for their "dedication and service, rendered with love" during recent local flooding disasters.

NEW YORK - Salary gains and other improvements during the past year failed to reduce the number of public school teachers who want to leave the profession, a new survey has found.

A majority of teachers said they endorse many of the aims of school reformers, but only little more than a third said they think reform has helped teachers, according to findings released Tuesday in the third annual Louis Harris poll of teacher viewpoints.

According to the poll, commissioned by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., 55 percent of the teachers said they have seriously considered quitting the classroom, compared with 51 percent in the 1985 survey.

Only 36 percent of teachers felt recent reforms have had a positive impact on teachers, but 78 percent of state education officials and 73 percent of legislators thought reform had helped teachers.

Mrs. Worthington gave birth by Caesarean section Thursday to the boy, named Phillip. On Friday afternoon, a woman, described as heavy-set, in her late 40s, with dark blond curly hair and wearing a white lab coat, walked into Mrs. Worthington's hospital room and said she was taking Phillip for an examination. By the time a search was begun, the woman had disappeared.

The FBI issued a nationwide alert Monday for the woman and for a silver car seen speeding from the hospital parking lot shortly after the kidnapping. A reward fund for the boy's return stands at $34,000

Veterans Day

Thousands pay tributes at memorials

More than 13 years after U.S. troops left Vietnam, honor for those who fought there was a dominant theme as America marked Veterans Day with parades and ceremonies in recognition of all those who fought for their country.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger on Tuesday laid a wreath before the Tomb of the Unknowns at Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia, and urged renewed support for President Reagan's military buildup, while other speakers cited the desire of veterans to spare their descendants the need to take up arms.

'No veteran wants future generations to suffer the tragedies of war," John Halachis, Massachusetts commissioner of veterans' services, said at ceremonies in Boston. "To know our youth will not have to repeat those sacrifices is what we fought

Stephen Stills, David Crosby, John Fogerty, Peter Fonda and other performers associated with the anti-Vietnam war movement teamed up for a concert in Kansas City, Kan., to benefit children of dead, missing or disabled Vietnam

Organizers hoped the event, which drew a crowd of 3,300, would raise $40,000 to $80,000 for a college scholarship fund.

'This is a statement you made by being here," Crosby told the crowd. "It's good of you to do it."

A memorial to Vietnam veterans was dedicated in Cody, Wyo., and ground was broken for similar projects in Olympia, Wash., and in Baltimore. In Oklahoma City the bronze figure of a battle-weary Vietnam-era soldier was unveiled.

The Cody memorial and those planned for Olympia and Baltimore consist of granite walls etched with the names of dead and missing servicemen, similar to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C.

"We look forward to the day when we will no longer have to remember our young with a chisel and granite," said Hugh Walkup, a member of the veterans group that proposed the new Olympia memorial. Organizers of the Maryland project said that memorial would be finished by next Veterans Day and would be the 22nd monument in the nation dedicated to Vietnam As the war fades into history, said Maryland Gov.

An unidentified person places his hand against the black granite wall of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Tuesday in Washington with an expression of grief as he joined large numbers of others visiting the memorial.

As he dedicated a 24-foot-long wall bearing the names of 139 dead and missing, Wyoming Gov. Ed Herschler said, "They hold a promise that these men and women have not died in vain.

At National Cemetery in Chattanooga, a Veterans of Foreign Wars official said those who fight are too often forgotten once a war

"A veteran not only has to fight in time of war, but we also have to fight in time of peace to keep our hospital system, medical care for veterans and compensation for veterans," said Otha M. Kerr, chief of staff of the VFW in Tennessee.

Weinberger told about 2,000 peopie at Arlington that the nation cannot reduce its strength in hopes of peace as it did after World War I. He said the message to the nation of its war dead is: "Safeguard what we have won; honor us by carrying forward our cause.'

Retired Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who commanded U.S. forces in Vietnam for part of the war, was grand marshal of a parade in Columbia, S.C., that police said drew 20,000 spectators.

"It's very refreshing to see a resurgence in patriotism," Westmoreland said. "I don't think America ever lost it.'

The Gay Veterans Alliance was allowed in New York City's parade for the first time, and the contingent of 25 men marched on even after a man dashed into the street and slashed the group's banner

Rhine disaster discussed

ZURICH. Switzerland - Environment ministers from Rhine River countries gathered today to discuss one of Europe's worst ecological disasters in recent years - a chemical slick from a Swiss industrial fire that is killing fish and threatening water supplies.

Ministers from France, West Germany, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and the Common Market Commission meet in Zurich today after being convened by Switzerland, which has come under strong criticism for its handling of the emergency.

About 30 tons of insecticides, herbicides, and mercury-containing fungicides poured into the Rhine River along with the water used to put out a Nov. 1 industrial fire at the Sandoz chemical plant outside Basel, Switzerland.

An approximately 25-mile-long chemical slick has slowly rifted downstream toward the North Sea, killing an estimated half-million fish and contaminating water supplies.

180 drown on ferry

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — A ferry boat apparently overloaded with passengers sank in the Bay of Port-au-Prince and at least 180 people drowned, authorities said. Twenty were reported rescued.

The U.S. Embassy said late Tuesday that the 50-foot boat Oklele sank off the bay island of Gonave, 30 miles west of the Haitian capital of Port-au-Prince. The boat was making its daily crossing when it sank, said Embassy spokesman Jeffrey Lite.

Radio Soleil, a Roman Catholic station in this seaside capital of 1 million, reported that their correspondent on the island of Gonave said the vessel apparently was carrying too many passengers for its size.

Overcrowding is common in impoverished Haiti, whether in buses packed with people hanging on for a free ride, in the colorful "taptap" taxis or in commuter boats that travel to four offshore islands.

Taiwain talks urged

PEKING — During unprecedented celebrations commemorating the 120th anniversary of the birth of revolutionary leader Sun-Yatsen, China today urged Taiwan's ruling Nationalist Party to open reunification negotiations.

"It is high time for the Kuomintang (Nationalist) authorities to take a step forward,' Peng Zhen, head of China's legislature, the National People's Congress, said at a rally at the Great Hall of the People.

About 10,000 people attended the gathering, the most important rally in this year's commemoration of Sun, who led the revolution that overthrew the last emperor in 1911 and is revered by both Taiwan and China.

The government has held major celebrations throughout the country for the anniversary, stressing reunification with Taiwan and portraying Sun as a reformer who wanted China to modernize and open to the outside

Anti-drug law counter-helpful

An angry Congress has vented its spleen against Mexico for its poor record in combating illegal-drug trafficking, and the biggest loser is likely to be the United States.

The landmark anti-drug law just signed by President Reagan automatically suspends half of the American aid provided to Mexico and 17 other drug-producing countries. Unless the White House certifies on March 1 that these nations are making significant strides in curbing drug shipments to the United States, the suspended funds will be canceled

Even if the president certifies such progress, lawmakers reserved the right to overrule his judgment and withhold the aid anyway.

The legislation further directs the treasury secretary to vote against any loans to drug-producing countries by the International Monetary Fund, the Inter-American Development Bank, the World Bank and other multilateral development banks, and it denies preferential U.S. trade treatment as well.

While the measure may help sour American relations with several Latin American governments, the punitive steps were directed primarily against Mexico. Lawmakers especially were infuriated not only by Mexico's feeble efforts to halt marijuana and cocaine shipments, but also by the wideranging war of words between Mexico City and Washington in recent months.

To add insult to injury, the Congress urged the State Department to issue a formal advisory warning Americans that it is dangerous to travel to Mexico as a result of the murder of U.S. Drug Enforclement Administration agent Enrique Camarena Salazar and the torture of agent Victor Cortez.

This last provision was intended to harm Mexico's vital tourist industry. Withholding U.S. support for loans to Mexico from the IM. and other international development banks is potentially a much more devastating blow, given the state of Mexico's foundering economy and its enormous foreign debt.

On numerous occasions, we have criticized Mexico for doing too little to fight narcotics trafficking. But economic sanctions against Mexico's already-crippled economy only will increase incentives for Mexicans to seek profits in illicit drug crops instead of legitimate enterprises. Indeed, Mexico's economic crisis is the prime reason for the boost in Mexican drug production during the past few years.

Pushing Mexico's economy over the brink only will spur illegal immigration to the United States and create a host of other threatening problems. If, for example, Mexico were to default on its foreign debt because of a lack of IMF support, American banks would suffer incalculable damage.

In short, Congress's approach is counterproductive to U.S. interests in the short run and dangerous to Mexican-American stability in the long run.

Savings and loan executives thwart bank board reforms

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — Edwin Gray, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, is trying to save the savings and loan industry from itself by curbing the reckless investment practices that have caused a wave of S&L failures and that threaten to bankruput the federal government's deposit insurance

But Gray's reform efforts are being systematically opposed by the thrift industry's powerful executives — and they aren't choosey about the methods they use to attack their top regulator. The S&L high rollers have deep pockets and apparently are willing to go to great lengths to stop Gray.

Last year, a group of Texas S&L executives discussed how to get Gray off their backs, and raised a $20,000 kitty toward achieving that goal, according to banking sources and government officials. Sources also say a private detective was hired by a group of thrift executives in the Southwest, apparently to dig up dirt on Gray as a means of forcing him from office.

There was also a bizarre attempt to unseat Gray: A politically wellconnected thrift official tried to hire him, evidently to lure him away from his government job.

The incident was related to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., ranking minority member of the Senate Banking Committee in two confidential statements — one by Gray himself, who did not attend the November 1985 breakfast meeting where the offer was made, the other by his chief of staff, Shannon Fairbanks, who was present. The job offer was made by Charles H. Keating, Jr., board chairman of American Continental Corp., the holding company for Lincoln Savings & Loan Association of Irvine, Wrote Fairbanks: "Mr. Keating told me that he wanted Mr. Gray to come with his organization in a job capacity which he described as 'using Mr. Gray's contacts and skills to further the corporate interests and activites of Lincoln Savings. Mr. Keating explained his motivation by noting that 'there seems to be a problem in our ability to have our message heard' by the regulators and that he needed someone to help 'get our corporate in-

Media blocks condom ads in AIDS fight

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN

The battle against AIDS has encountered several common reactions, notably squeamishness, homophobia and simple lack of interest. That would be fine if the resulting ignorance were a defense against infection. In fact, it is a prime accomplice. Some of the people who have breezed along thinking themselves exempted by their heterosexuality or their monogamy are learning that they too are vulnerable

In a report published last wee, the National Academy of Sciences summarized the evidence about the growing toll of this fatal, incurable disease.

By the end of 1991, the report estimated, AIDS will afflict 270,000 Americans and will have killed 179,000. Most of these will be homosexual men or drug users, but roughly 7,000 victims will get the disease through heterosexual contact. Others will get it from contaminated blood used in transfusions.

And, because AIDS can be passed from mothers to infants during pregnancy or childbirth, 3.000 children will be infected. AIDS no longer can be dismissed as the deserved fate of homosexuals who have defied nature. It is a disease that threatens literally everyone.

That's why preventive measures are critical. But prevention has gotten short shrift in the effort to contain ATDIS Because everyone knows the disease can be transmitted sexually, everyone knows that chastity and monogramy provide a high degree of protection.

For many people, though, those aren't very inviting options. Only recently has it begun to seep into the public consciousness that there is another way to avoid getting AIDS through sex: condoms.

Both the NAS study and a recent report by the surgeon general stress the point. The former noted, 'Condoms have been shown under laboratory conditions to obstruct passage of (the virus). They should be much more widely available and more consistently used."

Surgeon General C. Everett Koop's report urges the use of condoms and includes a photograph of one for the uninitiated. His advice is blunt: "A condom should be used during sexual relations, from start to finish, with anyone whom you know or suspect is infected." Given the lethal nature of the disease, and the almost complete protection provided by condoms, you would expect their sales to be soaring. But demand has risen by only about 10 percent over the past year. The only explanation, barring an unnoticed outbreak of celibacy, is that most people still don't know how valuable condoms

Why not? Mainly because the mass media, particularly television, newspapers and magazines, have shrunk from the controversial step of allowing advertising for The policy would be more defensible if it reflected a principled stand in favor of old-fashioned morality. But anyone who ever tuned in to "Dallas" or "Moonlighting," to say nothing of the daytime soaps, knows that sex is no stranger to TV. There are some signs of change.

The makers of Trojan condoms have persuaded 53 magazines to run their ads, including such wholesome publications as Family Circle and Modern Bride.

To spread the word far and wide, publishers and broadcasters both large and small ought to change their policy against condom ads.

It won't cost them anything quite the contrary — and it will help prevent a damaging erosion of their audience by premature death. As long as the ads are tastefully designed, they aren't likely to evoke anything more than a brief spate of public resistance, if

With all the talk about the need for an expensive government campaign at public education, we should welcome private companies that are willing to spend millions of dollars of thei own money to help do the job, and do it much more effectively.

Dr. Donohue

hand swells by morning, but is OK

during the day. When I questioned my doctor about it, he said he could feel a pulse in my wrist, but when he held my hand up over my h ead, the pulse stopped. He explained that sometimes people havea little bone in the neck area and it may surgery help? Could there be another cause? I am a 48-year-old column every day and find it interesting and helpful. — A.K.

Have you heard of this? Would cause some pressure.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Would you please comment on pilonidal cyst? My grandson, 14 years old, has been sufferinig with this condition for about nine months and is preparing for surgery. The surgeon isn't promising a cure. My grandson is into sports at school and it's embarrassing for him, since he has to take showers and his underclothing is usually bloody from the drainage. I never heard of this cyst. — Mrs. J.R.

Pilonidal (pil-oh-NIDE-uhl) cysts are a very common problem, and you're born with it. They are minor malformations that occur during development but which may not come to attention until the teens or early adult life. The only sign can be a little dimple in the skin of the back above the tailbone, just above the crease of the buttock.

The word is a joining of two Latin words forhair (pilo) and nest (nidus). They may form along with a tiny tuft of hair.

They cause problems like your grandson's when they get infected or drain. And if there is infection present, that has to be brought under control before the surgery.

Your grandson's surgeon isn't promising a cure because it is difficult often to remove all spreading offshoots under the surface. However, there's enough hope for permanent cure tht the boy's parents shouldn't hesitate about having the procedure performed. No one should gear up for 100 percent certainty about any surgery.

I am sure the parents are consulting the doctors concerning his continued activity during the presurgery period.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can you tell me why my right hand (and sometimes the arm) goes to sleep when I sleep at night. It used to happen once in a while, but it is happening more often now.

The tips of my thumb and first three fingers are a little numb. My cises, then the surgeon can relieve the pressure by removing the impinging structure.

Perhaps if your doctor cannot confirm this diagnosis, he wil have another suggestion: carpal tunnel syndrome. Again, this result from pressure on nerves, not in the chest, but in the middle of the wrist. A lot of what you tell me suggests that.

I refer to your night symptoms. Carpal tunnel often acts that way. The swelling, too, points that way Your doctor can check this out, if he hasn't already done so. There are some easy office tests to rule out suspicion of carpal tunnel. If it seems to be that, the doctor can have nerve transmission tests done in the area. That clinches the diagnosis.

Carpal is a reference to the wrist. The tunnel is the one that takes the nerve serving the fingers through the wrist.

FOR E.L. - Endometriosis is a woman, otherwise healthy and ac- condition where bits of uterine tive in many sports. I read your tissue lining migrate to other parts of the body. It's most often in the pelvic area, but some can get to In thoracic outlet syndrome rectal areas. This kind of tissue (which your doctor is suggesting), responds monthly to hormone some extra structure in the neck stimulation, and in the uterus it area presses on nerves and vessels causes the menstruation as it in the chest. I talked about this sheds. But it will act the same way recently as cervical rib, you may in other areas, and cause bleeding recall. If symptoms don't go away there. This might be the cause of with physical therapy and exer- your bleeding.

A enjoyable Saturday afternoon

This past Saturday was my day off so I decided to do something I haven't done in over a year — attend one of my alma mater's home football games. I went to see the Eastern New Mexico University Greyhounds host the number five ranked team in the nation, the Texas A&I Javelinas.

And boy am I glad I did. I had one of the most enjoyable times I've had in a while. The reason was because I saw one of my old college coaches, my journalism professor and two former Howard County football players. In addition, I saw the Greyhounds upset the Javelinas 34-28.

It was a cold, windy afternoon when I rolled into Portales, N.M., 30 minutes before kickoff. I noticed Greyhound Stadium hadn't changed very much. The playing surface was still in great shape and the natural grass looked almost like artifical turf.

Before the end of the game I concluded the biggest change at ENMU was the football team. It played a much better brand of ball than we ever did back in the late 70's.

As soon as I got to the stadium I brought a program and decided to check out this year's version of the Greyhounds, who are now a member of the Lone Star Conference.

When I thumbed to Eastern's roster I found out the Greyhounds had 90-plus players listed on their roster, which indicates the coaches must be doing a good job of selling the recruits on the program.

Then I thumbed to the picture of the coaching staff. I was

Then I thumbed to the picture of the coaching staff. I was totally surprised to see my old defensive line coach, Howard Stearns, looking as mean and fit as ever. I later found out that this was his first year back in coaching after taking a six-year layoff.

My next big suprise was running into my old journalism professor Bill Sheridan, although I called him a lot of other things while taking his courses.

We had a good visit and watched the game together. It was the most enjoyable time I've ever spent with him. I guess because he wasn't lecturing me on adjectives, proper layout, and good lead paragraphs.

We jumped, yelled and cursed the referees together. And by the time the game was over, we were high-fiving it like two youngsters watching their first college football game.

And before the game had concluded, I gave him a firm handshake, and said "Thanks, for staying on my butt in school." He just looked at me and said, "I knew you would make it." I'm glad he had confidence in me, because I was doubtful myself.

The game itself was a classic confrontation of championship battle. It had more outstanding plays, hard hits and emotion than any game I've witnessed this season.

A&I jumped out to a 22-7 lead midway through the second quarter as the Javelinas rushing attack ran through the Greyhound defense. Time and time again I heard coach Stearns shouting "Pirkle, Pirkle!, get in there." He was referring to ex-Big Spring player Jay Pirkle, now a 6-2, 205-pound sophomore defensive end for Eastern. Coahoma's Shawn Justiss is also a member of the squad.

Although Pirkle didn't start, he saw ample playing time on defense as well as on speciality teams. Pirkle started out as a safety, but because of his strength, he was switched to end. According to Stearns, Pirkle is one of the strongest players on the team (385-pound bench press). And sometimes the defense calls for the ends to drop off and cover pass, so Pirkle is ideal for the job. "He's going to be a fine football player," Stearns said.

But getting back to the game.

Eastern scored a TD right before the half, cutting the lead to 22-14 at intermission. But the second half was a different story. The Greyhound defense got nasty and dominated the run-oriented Javelinas, shutting them out until the final two minutes of the game.

By that time Eastern had taken a 27-22 lead. Then the vistors established their only scoring drive of the half. A&I's second team quarterback completed three passes, the last being an 11-yard score.

What was once a wild, noisy Greyhound crowd turned into an almost funeral-like congregation. ENMU stopped the two-point conversion, giving A&I a 28-27 lead.

Then ENMU sophomore quarterback Tommy Gonzalez led his troops to the winning TD in Roger Staubach-like form. It took him 58 seconds to march the Hounds 70 yards in for the score. Instead of resembling a funeral, the Greyhound crowd was having a party.

After the game I went down on the field to say hello to Stearns. Misty eyed, he shouted, "Bevo it's good to see you. I'm glad you got a chance to see this game." A lump formed in my throat and all I could muster was "I'm glad I did to coach."

Like I said earlier, not much had changed at the University with the exception of the football team. Head coach Don Carthel and his staff have put together a squad that is loaded with talent, as indicated by its 8-2 record.

The Greyhounds have a balanced offensive attack that can either run or pass, unlike in my playing days when we barely had a running game. ENMU's defense is talented also. Can you imagine having a 6-2, 220-pound linebacker that is a seven-foot high jumper?

Or how about having your starting sophomore tailback, who's a 1,000 yard rusher miss the game with an injury? Only to have his backup, a freshman, gain 126 yards in 22 carries and catch three passes for 64 more?

So it turned out to be one of the most fulfilling experiences I've had in a long time. Too bad I can't enjoy myself every Saturday.

Hawks fly by Cisco 101-83

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

The 1986-87 Howard College Hawks introduced themselves and triple digit basketball to Big Spring as they blasted the century mark and the Cisco Junior College Wranglers in an impressive 101-83 home opener at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Tuesday night.

The Hawks led 47-42 at the half, but the five point lead was not as important as the drain on the Wranglers' gas tanks. Sophomore Billy Giggins, who had not played in either of the Hawks' previous games, started the second half and ignited the Hawks with three consecutive baskets.

Freshman Bruce Mitchell took over from there, single-handedly taking care of any rebound problems the Hawks may have had earlier. Mitchell embarrassed the Wranglers with eight offensive rebounds and five defensive boards. He finished with 13 points, mostly off put ins.

"In the first half we were standing around too much. But when you get a few put backs it sure helps. I don't know how many rebounds Bruce Mitchell got, but it was a lot," Head Coach Larry Brown said after the game.

Mitchell said he was just following instructions.

"Nobody was really getting any rebounds but coach told me we needed some and I just got them," he said matter of factly about his big second half.

In the first half, the Hawks and Wranglers traded buckets, with neither team gaining a significant advantage. Kevin Bradsher, who entered the game with a 25 pointsper-game average, scored 15 of his game high 25 points in the first half.

With five minutes gone in the first half, the 6-1 Bradsher took a full court pass from Dennis Rhodes and jammed a powerful dunk. The fans, not sure he could dunk, erupted after Bradsher's slam. Bradsher, however, didn't give himself a perfect 10.

"I wasn't real happy with it. I didn't get up too high, but it was OK," the humble Hawk said.

Brown's little point guards, the 5-6 Rhodes and 5-9 Sammy Jackson, both got in early foul trouble, and were forced to spend more time on the pine than they would have liked.

Matt Brown, who had not played much in earlier games, did a good job in substitution, playing good defense and directing the offense during the Hawk's second half surge.

"Matt Brown had a real good practice yesterday. He came out with more vigor and it showed in tonight's game," his coach said.

Coach Brown said the Hawk's superior conditioning was a big factor in the second half. The Wranglers were able to fly with the Hawks in the first half, but tired legs grounded Cisco in the second half, as the Howard College fast break met with increasingly less resistance.

As the difference vacillated between 10 and 15 points, the Wranglers' game plan eroded. Shooting three pointer after three pointer, their missed long shots were tailor made for the Hawks' fast breaks.

The tired Wranglers also tried to press the Hawks, but gave up more easy baskets than they got.

For the fans it became less a matter of the Hawks beating Cisco as them topping the 100-point mark. With less than a minute remaining, Norris Sumrall got the ball on the baseline, ignored the crowd's instructions to shoot, and bounce passed to Mitchell Porter. Porter banked it in from close, and the crowd rose to their feet in applause.

"We wanted to show up good for the home fans so they'll come back and see us. We have a product here that people will be excited about," Brown said.

Giggins, one of only three returnees from last year's team, had not played in the first three games because of a bad ankle. He was pleased with his effort, and happy to have started the second half.

Queens win fourth straight

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

If Tuesday night's Howard College Hawk-Queens home opener was indicative of what's in store for local basketball fans, then Howard County will get a treat watching coach Don Stevens' team perform.

Using a aresonal of defenses and sound shooting, the Hawk-Queens ran their record to 4-0 with a 80-65 win over the Cisco Junior College Lady Wranglers in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Hawk-Queens were in control throughout the game, although they trailed a couple of times. But each time they fell behind, they would put it into high gear to run back into the lead.

Howard did it by constanly switching defenses, using everything to halfcourt pressure to a 2-1-2 zone. The most effective of the defenses was the most basic one, man-toman. And the Queens played it well, harrassing Cisco ball handlers, blocking shots and causing their opponent to force shots.

"Yes we changed our defenses throughout the game," said Stevens. "That way the other team doesen't get use to running its offense against the same defense all night. Our man-to-man defense worked best for us tonight. I felt like we had better athletes than Cisco so I thought we could go head-to-head with them and beat them"

Stevens was right. When Howard used its man-to-man defense the Lady Wranglers committed more turnovers as the game went on. Four of the main reasons for Howard's defensive success was the play of guards Pam Franklin, Leslie Gooch and Trena Jackson and post player Leslie Carter.

Franklin, Gooch and Jackson kept the pressure on Cisco guards throughout the game. Frankin, a sophomore from Grand Prairie, led the way with three steals. Gooch and Jackson, both freshmen, added two steals each.
Carter, a 6-4 freshmen from

Dickens, was a force under the goal. She came off the bench to block five shots, including four in the first half.

Stevens substituted his players freely throughout the game, as all 12 team members got ample playing time. Leading the scoring was ing time. Leading the scoring was sophomore guard Terri Powell with 16 points. After missing her first three shots of the night, Powell found the range and connected on eight of 14 field goals.

Post players Stefanie Massey and Carolyn Willandt also shot and Carolyn Willandt also shot well. Massey was five of seven from the floor, finishing the night with 13 points and six rebounds. Willandt turned in a strong second half performance, sinking four of six attempts. She finished the contest with 12 points and four rebounds.

In fact the entire Queens team shot well, sinking 35 of 68 field goals for 52 percent. It also made 71 percent of its shots from the foul

"We needed to shoot well in this game," Stevens said. "We sure didn't shoot well last week in the McLennan tournament. This is by far our best shooting game of the season."

Cisco jumped out to a 6-3 lead after the first three minutes of the game. Then Powell got hot and hit three outside shots in-a-row and Howard made a run, outscoring Cisco 28-17 in a 10-minute span.

Behind the shooting of forward Leah Dunn, Cisco took a brief 36-35 lead with 3:40 left in the half. Then Howard made another run, allowing the vistors one free throw the remainder of the half while taking a 41-37 halftime lead.

Dunn had a hot first half, sinking seven of 14 field goals and while scoring 18 points. In the second QUEENS page 2B

Seven of nine Crossroads Country teams ended their season Friday, with only Garden City and playoff bound Forsan continuing. It was a fitting finale, as area teams notched a 5-4 record, their best since early in the season.

There were several strong performances in those games, and tough choices for players of the week.

Though Grady finished at 0-10, there were extenuating circumstances, as in one senior, one sophomore and the rest freshmen. That senior, Walt Stone, played quarterback for the first time ever this season.

Stone, a diabetic, was often unable to finish games. But in Grady's 60-12 loss to Sands he had perhaps his best game, completing 17 of 29 passes for 261 yards and two touchdowns. For that, Stone is the Offensive Player of the Week.

Defensively, two area players had exceptional games. Borden County's Shannon Bond made 12 tackles and two interceptions in the Coyotes 44-41 loss to Wellman. Forsan junior defensive lineman Stacy Munoz also had a big game, with 12 tackles and a sack. Bond and Munoz share this week's Defensive Player of the Week.

Garden City had several big performances as it broke the ice with its first win of the season, a 40-0 stomping of Miles. Jesse Lopez romped for 138 yards on 19 carries, and Weldon Hillger had 64 yards on 11 carries. Corky Turner and Roy Ramirez led a stingy Bearkat defense that shutout the Bulldogs.

In Forsan's 49-0 shellacking of Rankin, Wayne Wright had another super game. The big senior had 152 yards and two touchdowns on 15 carries. Defensively, Wright had nine tackles, one sack and returned an interception for his third touchdown of the game.

Buffaloes' fullback John Roman ran 11 times for 60 yards and a touchdown, and substitute runner Wade Salvato galloped for 66 yards on just three runs.

on just three runs.

In the Coyotes' tough loss, Bond, who also plays quarterback, completed 13 of 19 passes for 228 yards and three touchdowns. Rocky Harbar caught one of those touchdowns, and ran for two others. Mickey Burkett led Borden County with 15 tackles and Harold Barnes had five stops and a fumble recovery.

In Grady's loss, Scott Terrell caught five of Stone's passes for 122 yards and a touchdown. Julian Valle had four receptions for 52 yards and Scott Glaze caught five for 61 yards and a touchdown. All are freshmen Defensively, the Buffaloes were led by Tommy Smith's two interceptions and Stan Young's sack in the end zone for a safety.

In Sands' lopsided win over the Coyotes, Jay Fryar gained 105 yards and scored twice while carrying the ball just three times. Teammate Jerry Long kicked five extra points, which in six-man

In Coahoma's loss to Merkel, Craig Wallace had another good game for the Bulldogs, with 75 yards rushing. Quarterback James White gained 65 yards running and passed for 50 yards.

Klondike played one of their better games of the season, crushing Dawson 42-30. Cisco Arrendando had a big night, with 189 yards and two touchdowns on 28 carries. Wesley O'Brien had 67 yards running and 51 receiving. Kirk Tidwell completed 14 of 19 passes for 146 yards and four touchdowns and no interceptions to lead the air attack.

Cahill wants that feeling

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

Last Friday night in Snyder, a Tiger runner found a rare big hole in the Big Spring defense and accelerated. He shouldn't have.

Steers' linebacker Mike Cahill closed the hole, and then some. He slammed his helmet into the Tiger runner's numbers, grabbed the back of his legs, and unceremoniously dumped him. A brick wall couldn't have stopped the runner quicker, and probably wouldn't have hurt as much.

In football lingo, the Snyder back had just run into a perfect form tackle.

Hits like that are one of the reasons Mike Cahill plays football. "Just getting out there and playing and being a part of this team makes me feel good. But it feels good when you get a hit and you know you hit somebody. It's a almost sounding sentimental. Cahill has been playing for Coach Quinn Eudy for three years, two as a starter, and it's obvious from the way the two kid around that they're close. Eudy said Cahill has been around for the bad times, and it's only fitting he enjoy the good

"Mike understands what the game of football is about, and that's getting to the football and punishing the runner — he's and excellent hitter," Eudy said. For three games early in the season, Cahill didn't hit anybody. In the season opening win over Riverside he took a hit on the side of the knee and strained some

In his first game back, Cahill got a part of everything with a Lamesa jersey. He had five unassisted tackles to lead the team, and was in on countless others. The spirited Cahill had come back in a big way. Still, the knee is not fully healed.

"I feel safer with it every game I play. It's probably 90 percent now. I've been hit a couple of times and I felt it, but it's almost there. But I'm way behind on the tackles - it's time to catch up.'

Like Eudy said, Cahill has seen plenty of losing games in a Steers' uniform. The senior linebacker appreciates this year's difference.

"I'm real excited. I've been on the losing end of the stick and now I'm on the the winning end of the stick. The rewards are really paying off for all the hard work. 'I'm glad to be a winner. I feel

By DON RICHARDSON County Extension Agent

Deer season opens this weekend. Our office has some excellent new bulletins available from field dressing a deer to care and cooking of wild game. Give our office a call if you would like to have a copy of some of them.

Hunters with more venison than they can handle this fall may want to donate some to The Salvation

A new program has been initiated by The Salvation Army in Texas to receive donations of venison at 45 Corps Community Centers to be used in feeding indigent families and transients across the state.

Hunters who have harvested more venison than their family needs are encouraged to donate the extra meat to the nearest Salvation Army Center.

The centers will accept deer field dressed to fully processed, but the more fully processed carcasses would be appreciated to reduce operating costs.

Hunting is an important tool in game management and conservation. Many deer hunters often are reluctant to harvest does. Increased doe harvest is greatly needed in certain areas of the state to bring deer populations more in line with food supplies. The venison could be donated to The Salvation Army.

For more information on this new deer carcass donation program, contact the Salvation Army Corps Community Center.

Hunters are reminded to be sure to adhere to regulations in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Hunting Guide concerning a legible hunter's document, tags or permits when donating a deer carcass. Guides are available from all hunting license dealers.

For your garden

Mike Bragg, my co-worker, has advised all 4-H members and parents to remember that there will be a special night for entering all projects at the major livestock shows on Nov. 18, at the County Extension Office. He also reminds them that all 4-H'ers must have social security numbers this year to enter livestock shows in Texas.

On Nov. 1, 179 lambs were validated at the county 4-H/FFA validation day. This year's lambs look like they're good quality and will produce a strong county show coming in January.

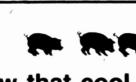

December 1 is the deadline for -H'ers to get a market pig on feed for that show, so please contact Mike as soon as possible if you still need a pig.

County Extension Agent Consumer surveys show that people are attracted to — and buy food products that are supposed to be "natural."

But the term "natural" on a food label can mean almost anything, because its use is not regulated by the Food and Drug Administration. Here's an example of a food labeling term that is regulated. "Pasteurized" is the term which refers to the heat treatment that kills bacteria in foods. It's most often used for raw milk. Because the Food and Drug Administration regulates use of the term, consumers can be assured that all foods labeled "pasteurized" have gone through the same

By contrast, terms like "natural," along with "organic" and "health," also appear on food labels. But these terms are being used to promote the food rather than to describe its scientific properties.

Natural foods: A matter of definition

Because these terms aren't regulated by the FDA, consumers have no way of knowing whether they accurately describe the product or not.

But many consumers believe that "natural" foods have more vitamins and minerals and less sodium, cholesterol, fat, white sugar and chemical additives than ordinary products.

That may or may not be true. And in some cases, the differences between "natural" and regular products may not be significant.

With some products, such as unsalted potato chips, there is an obvious difference between the food labeled natural and the regular product. And while the reduction in sodium is a plus, the natural potato chips have just as much fat and calories as standard chips. But the difference between a preservative-free "natural" cookie, made with honey and conventional cookies made with white sugar is probably insignificant. Both the honey and sugar provide calories without nutrients, and there is no scientifically established benefit to preservative-free

> BUYING SUGAR SUBSTITUTES

For years large food and drug companies have been pursuing the perfect substitute for sucrose - or sugar. Most of their efforts have gone into artificial sweeteners, such as saccharin, cyclamate and aspartame. outreach patients.

"There was so much hassling from the folks downtown," said Jack Stovall, director of community services at the hospital, about the board's reason to reject Heckler's offer.

'But in the face of of griping and moaning, we elected to reject Mr. Heckler's offer and we're looking at several other options," Stovall said.

The board had entered into an oral agreement with Heckler last month to lease his space. Howard County commissioners approved a motion during their Oct. 27 meeting to allocate $350 of county funds per month for building rental fees. The door also closed on an earlier option to possible use of the Salvation Army facility at 308 Aylford

St. on a rent-free agreement. Captain Carroll Braun announced on Tuesday that the salvation army's executive board chose not to offer the space in its facility because "it would preempt vital and ongoing commitments and programs of the Salvation Army.' Downtown coordinator Teri Quinones called a meeting on Wednesday involving downtown merchants, the hospital's advisory board and the downtown steering committee.

She said the purpose of the meeting was to recognize that downtown merchants had established themselves as an entity whose concerns needed to be

Merchants accept the idea of the program, but they object to a proposed locale in downtown, Quinones said.

They reject it being located downtown because it is not incorporated within the proposed master plan now being developed by urban planner Robert Lima of Lubbock and Quinones.

The plan proposes that a retail zone be established in a block of buildings bordered by Second and Third streets on the north and south, and Main and Runnels streets on the east and west.

The spirit established between merchants and board members as a result of Wednesday's meeting "super cooperative," Quinones said.

She said she was pleased at 30 merchants taking time to attend As a result of that meeting, all involved approved the proposal of Quinones working as a liaison among the three entities to find an approved site. Other sites under consideration are the former Lee's Chinese Garden Restaurant at the northwest corner of Third and Runnels streets, as well as a building owned by Bill Chrane at 1407 Lancaster St.

"The building is adequate, but it is so far away from downtown," Stovall said.

Cut winter's utility bills with high-efficiency heating systems

Carol Hollingsworth, office manager of Hester and Robertson Mechanical Contractors. The firm offers seasonal servicing, which includes checking filters, blowers and motors and lighting pilots.

With emphasis today on conserving utility costs, Hester and Robertson can improve homeowners' heating bills by replacing furnaces with highefficiency gas-fired heating systems.

According to Office Manager Carol Hollingsworth, standard gasfired heaters are 60% to 65% efficient in the use of natural gas. Now manufacturers are making furnaces that are 85% to 97% efficient. These units offer more heat and less waste.

Since gas furnaces require venting of combustion gases, none can be 100% efficient. However, if your furnace is 10 years old, it's probably in the range of 55% to 60% efficient. This figure is based on a 45% of the heat is vented outdoors need," Carol says. (and 45 cents of every heat dollar you spend is wasted).

With the new high-efficiency heating systems, only a small percent of heat loss occurs due to combustion venting. If the heating system is 96% efficient, only 4% heat is lost. Why continue to lose 45% when you can cut it to 4%, Carol says.

The high-efficiency heating bills enough to justify replacing your present unit today, even though it still operates. Homeowners also can install highefficiency air conditioning units with their high-efficiency furnace or a heat pump. This will qualify them for a Texas Electric rebate, she says. Heat pumps also are energy savers.

Hester and Robertson carries these brands of equipment: Lennox, Payne, Carrier and Trane. It also has a full stock of heating

With its mobile-dispatched ser vice vehicles, the firm believes it can handle service needs promptly with one-day service most of the time. Service trucks also are well stocked with parts and usually do not have to make more than one trip to get the job done.

Now is the time to do heating and air conditioning service work and unit changeouts. Carol suggests systems can reduce your heating calling on Hester and Robertson to install residential air conditioning equipment at this time of the year. It can save the cost of price increases that all air conditioner manufacturers will hit dealers and customers with before next summer's cooling season.

For your heating and cooling needs, contact Hester and Robertson Mechanical Contractors at 263-8342 or stop by their headquarters on North Birdwell Lane. Hester and Robertson is "your key to comfort.
