'Tis the season of theft

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Recent thefts of jewelry and electronics equipment may represent the beginning of a surge of burglaries police anticipate during the holiday season.

Thieves are more active this time of year partially because people save money and shop in anticipation of the holidays, Sgt. Bill Anderson said this morning. As a result, cash and gifts are often more available than usual to burglars.

Police are investigating several thefts in which large amounts of jewelry were stolen this week, in addition to stereo, television and videocassette recorder thefts.

Anderson said police are unsure if the thefts are related. Comparisons of the way the thieves entered residences and the items taken might link the thefts to one group, he said.

Videocassette recorders remain a popular item because they are easy to trade, he said.

To protect against theft, citizens should record serial numbers on TVs, VCRs and guns, he said. If property is engraved, a drivers' license number should be used because it's easier for police to trace than Social Security numbers, he said.

Police can record the serial number or drivers' license number engraved on the stolen item, and use a computer to match the numbers with recovered property.

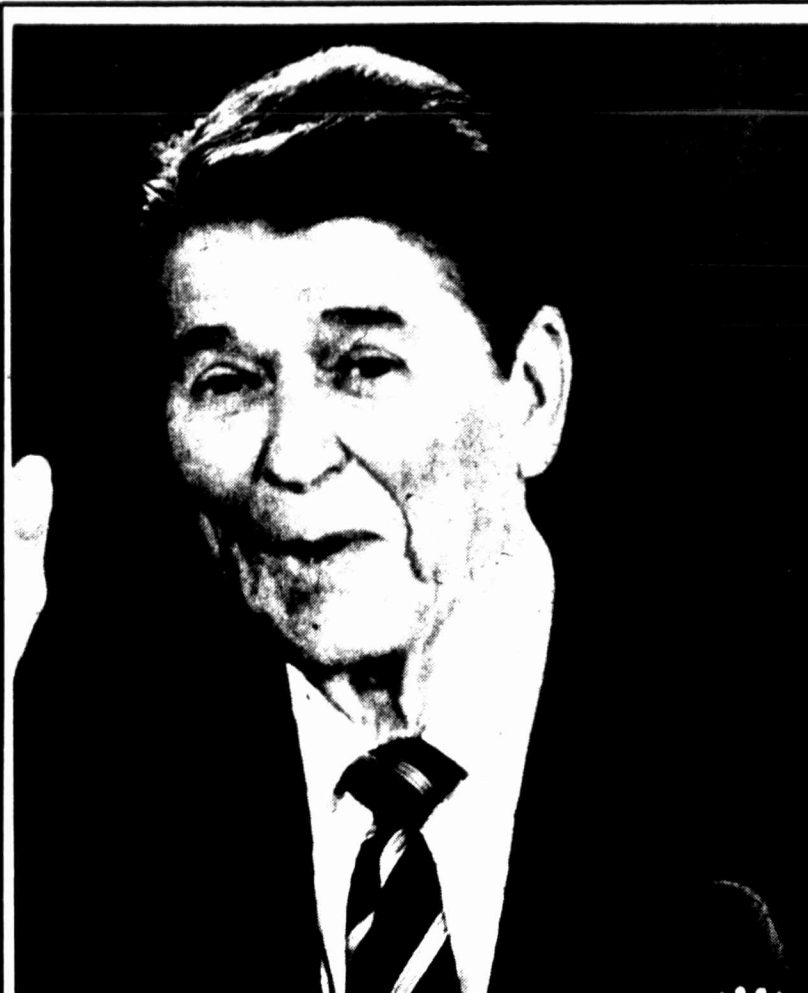

Anderson related an incident where stolen firearms were recovered a year later near Fallurrias. Police were able to determine the owner because the serial number was in the computer memory.

Jewelry is a popular item for thieves because it's easy to trade for money or drugs, and it's difficult to trace, he said.

Much jewelry looks alike, he explained, and gold can be melted and easily disguised. In addition, people often can't fully identify their jewelry, he said — they don't know their ring's size, the diamond's size, or the purity of the gold.

"You take it for granted you're not the one that's going to be burglarized," he said, and as a result, people often remain unprepared for a theft.

If people are going out of town for the holidays, police can watch their house to deter thieves. Police should be notified at least a day before the resident leaves, he said.

President Reagan waves at the end of his news conference at the White House Wednesday night. Defending his decision to sell arms to Iran, Reagan said he "was not breaking any law."

Reagan sees no reason to apologize

An AP News Analysis
By BARRY SCHWEID
AP Diplomatic Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Standing tall again, President Reagan hopes that with a show of confidence and an assertion that he is in charge the doubts surrounding his U.S. weapons shipment to Iran will melt away.

He sees no need to apologize, no reason to change the White House process that prompted the sale.

Reagan said Secretary of State George Shultz, who had opposed the sale, would remain on the job. But the president also said he would not trim the role of the National Security Council, which some critics accuse of running a paramilitary operation from the White House basement.

"I don't feel I have anything to defend about at all," the president said in a nationally televised news conference Wednesday night. "With the circumstances the way they were, the decision I made I still believe was the correct decision and I believe that we achieved some portion of our goals."

Besides, Reagan said, contradicting some accounts of the operation, Shultz and CIA Director William Casey were "involved in what we were doing."

He turned aside a reporter's suggestion that he shake up the National Security Council and assert that all future covert actions will have the support of the secretary of state.

"I don't see that the action that you've suggested is called REAGAN page 2A

Alleged pollution not a threat Fina Oil waste cited

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

No imminent threat to the public health and safety of Howard County residents exists as a result of alleged waste discharges at Fina Oil and Chemical Co. of Big Spring, a Texas Water Commission spokesman said today.

Bill Colbert, commission public relations director, issued that comment in the dispute between the commission and Fina over how Fina disposes of its wastes in Big Spring. The Big Spring plant was listed among the eight worst industries in the state for polluting with hazardous waste in a report released Wednesday by the commission.

Both Howard County Sanitarian James Luck and Big Spring Public Works Director Tom Decell said today that they had not been contacted about the issue.

Fina Oil was listed for discharging solid waste into groundwater and not complying with several solid waste regulations, said Max Woodfin, agency environmental coordinator.

"The TWC didn't tell us until the list was out and we're not particularly happy about it," Mark

Palmer, director of public relations with American Petrofina in Dallas, said this morning.

Fina Oil and Chemical is a subsidiary of American Petrofina.

Colbert said a disagreement concerning treatment of contaminated groundwater beneath the refinery's site will have to be resolved by the Environmental Protection Agency.

He said the commission, responsible for issuing federal hazardous POLLUTION page 2A

Chamber of Commerce elects four to board

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors elected four new vice presidents for 1987 at its regular meeting Wednesday.

Elected were: Shirley Shroyer, Organizational Affairs; Clyde McMahon Jr., Community Development; Richard Atkins, Public Affairs; and John Beddow, Economic Development.

The Chamber also voted to support proposed lawsuit liability limits in a plan by the Texas Civil Justice League, as recommended by the Governmental Affairs Committee.

Among other elements, the plan calls for limits on punitive damages and non-economic elements of damage, such as mental anguish. It calls for changing the burden of proof of fault to the plaintiff, and the elimination of "double dipping," in which a plaintiff is paid more than once for the same injury.

Committee chairman Scott McLaughlin said participants in the White House small business conference last month voted tort reform as the number one priority.

In other business, the board:

• Approved a Transportation Committee plan to suggest the state get further involved in distribution of federal airport funds.

• Announced the two-day Committee chairman Arnold Marshall also reported on projects to add a left turn lane on Gregg Street from 10th Street to FM 700, to stop corrosion on the Gregg Street railroad overpass, and the four lane extension of Highway 87.

• Announced the two-day membership drive will begin Thursday. Chamber members attended a training session Tuesday night in preparation for the drive, which pits the Ambassadors and Blue Blazers against the board of directors.

Unusual activities accompany state Smokeout

Staff and wire reports

A smokeless, snuffless, chewless day was planned for Billy Bob's honky tonk in Fort Worth, and a whip handler was prepared to snap cigarettes from the mouths of volunteers in Dallas as the 10th Great American Smokeout was observed in Texas today.

In Big Spring, local hospitals are promoting the program, which has a goal of persuading one in every five smokers to sacrifice the addictive habit for 24 hours, according to John Webb.

He is coordinator of the program at the Veterans Administration Medical Center and chief of social services there.

Webb said an estimated one-third of all people that enter the hospital are there as a result of cigarette smoking.

Non-smokers can help friends kick the habit. They can "adopt" a smoker for the day and "be their alter-ego," Webb said. The VA is offering adoption certificates for non-smokers to help their smoking buddies "on the path to smokelessness."

A "prescription" form prescribes non-smoking as a health improvement. A button advises "kiss me; I'm a non-smoker."

Brochures, buttons and other hand-outs are available in a booth in the VA lobby, he said.

Ramona Harris, nursing instructor at Howard College and local representative of the American Cancer Society, has been distributing materials and encouraging participation, Webb said.

In Boerne, cigarettes, chewing tobacco and snuff were being regarded as contraband. The sheriff's department was planning to confiscate all tobacco products at major entrances to the Hill Country city in an effort to quash the smoking habit.

Some cigarette smokers in Dallas were prepared to kick their habits with the help of an Australian whip handler, who uses a whip to snap cigarettes out of the mouths of willing smokers.

The activity, which included a downtown parade, was one of several statewide taking place today and yesterday to promote the annual Smokeout, sponsored by the American Cancer Society to encourage smokers to give up cigarettes for 24 hours.

Wednesday night in San Antonio, the Smokeout was kicked off by a beer-and-tamale party in front of the Alamo to honor people who have been non-smokers for the past 10 years.

Energy Aid assisting county families

For the first 10 months of the year, the Salvation Army assisted 53 Howard County area families with Energy Aid, money contributed to Texas Electric Service Co. to help provide energy to the needy.

Salvation Army Captain Carroll Braun said that so far this year, $1,543 has been contributed to the program in Howard County. Most of the money came from donations to TESCO, he said.

Winter can be a serious problem for the needy, said Cheryl Stevens, consumer operations supervisor at TESCO. During other seasons, people in financial difficulty can diminish energy use, but in winter, that can be unsafe, she said.

Donated funds are used not only for electric bills, but also for gas, fuel oil or wood. Anyone in need may apply to the Salvation Army, 308 Aylford Street. Braun said preference will be given to needy senior citizens on fixed incomes and families with small children.

With November electric bills, customers will receive a brief explanation of the program and a contribution card. Funds donated in Howard County go to help local people, Braun said. Stevens explained funds can be donated either in a single payment, or can be paid month-by-month as an electric bill addition. All contributions are tax deductible.

In order to help as many families as possible, the normal amount of assistance is limited to a maximum of $30 and assistance is limited to once a year, Braun said.

"There is such a need for this service that many times the Army spends more than they receive through the Energy Aid program," he said.

Investigating suspicious vehicle, theft

Velta Hiltbrunner, Gail Route Box 327, notified the Howard County sheriff's office Wednesday night and reported a suspicious vehicle parked near his residence.

A Department of Public Safety report showed the vehicle was reported stolen from College Station. It was described as a large white Ford pickup with a cage in the bed to carry livestock.

Its occupants fled in the vehicle before deputies arrived at the scene.

Further investigation revealed that someone stole three tools from Hiltbrunner's pickup that was parked at his residence. Value of the stolen items amounted to $15.

The occupants of the suspicious vehicle were described as one white female and one white male.

Deputies continue to investigate.

Keith Allen Peters told Howard County sheriff's deputies Thursday morning that someone unknown to him pointed a gun at him in the Brass Nail parking lot and threatened to shoot him.

Deputies released Pedro Mendez Cantu, 38, 1511 Johnson St., from county jail Wednesday morning after he served a jail sentence for fines he owes the county from a resisting arrest judgment.

He pleaded guilty to the charge in county court on Nov. 7.

Deputies arrested Melissa G. Carson, 17, 800 Lancaster St., Thursday midnight on a verbal contempt of court order from District Judge James Gregg. She remained in county jail this morning in lieu of bond.

Shultz had not only questioned the sale but also the secrecy that cloaked Reagan's overture to still unidentified factions in Tehran. He said this deprived the president of "expertise" and the cushion of the "checks and balances" of the U.S. system of government.

But Reagan insisted secrecy was essential. "I think the people understand that sometimes you have to keep a secret in order to save human lives," he said.

Three American hostages in Lebanon, Benjamin Weir, Lawrence Jenco and David

Jacobsen, were released after Reagan approved the arms sale. Apparently referring to Terry Anderson and Thomas Sutherland, who remain held by a group believed to be influenced by Iran, the president said "if there had not been so much publicity, we would have had two more that we were expecting."

There was no mention of the fact that three other Americans were taken hostage in Lebanon since the weapons sale.

Reagan asserted he broke no law, and he reached out for support to a predecessor whose stature approaches sainthood, Abraham Lincoln. "If it turns

To enter, contact the Chamber. The contest will be judged Dec. 15, from 7 to 10 p.m.

Approved $2,000 to send Taylor to the West Texas Travel Council program, in which Big Spring brochures will be distributed on the east and west coasts.

Reagan's speech to the nation last week, delivered on the crest of controversy over the sale, was a quiet appeal for understanding. It had none of the zeal or patriotic drum-rolls that once gave rise to such triumphant declarations as "America Is Back."

There were no stumbles. His tone was soft.

Reagan was self-confident. He spoke out for boldness.

waste disposal permits, had determined Fina was not in compliance with permit standards.

Palmer said American Petrofina submitted a plan to the commission during the past year to monitor groundwater on the property and to determine the source of a high level of chlorides in the water. "We don't know what the source (of the chlorides) is, it may be coming from somewhere else," Palmer said.

He said the company is monitoring wells on its property, and that no danger of seepage exists into the surrounding area or into Big Spring's groundwater.

American Petrofina and Fina Co. representatives are in Austin and plan to resolve the matter sometime next week, Palmer said.

Deadly weapon used in 7-Eleven robbery

Someone wearing a mask used a deadly weapon to rob the 7-Eleven store at 2301 Wasson Drive early this morning.

Clerk Debbie Schenek was choked and "pushed around," but not injured in the robbery, police Sgt. Bill Anderson said.

The robber wielded a board which, used as a club, would be considered a deadly weapon, he said. $32.34 was taken.

No arrests have been made, but Anderson said police have suspects in mind.

Two jewelry boxes with miscellaneous jewelry, including cuff links, gold chains and a pearl necklace, were stolen from Francis Zant, 507 Edwards, between 1 p.m. Monday and 1:34 p.m. Wednesday.

A videocassette recorder, a color television, a microwave, a combination black and white television-stereo and miscellaneous coins were stolen from Betty Rhynes, 1511 Avion, early Wednesday morning.

Someone broke into the residence of Martha Lucille Morrow, 501 E. 15th St., between Monday and Wednesday nights, damaging two doors, a wall, a bed headboard and a stereo. Nothing was reported stolen.

Darrin Lee Lamb, 21, 714 Cindy Lane, was arrested Thursday afternoon on a warrant for assault by threats.

Esmeralda Cantu Ortiz, 30, 2507 Carleton, was arrested at 700 S. Owens early this morning on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Albino Mendoza Ortega, 55, 817 N.W. Sixth St., was arrested Thursday afternoon on a warrant for public intoxication.

Utilities' refund agreement sought

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Texas Utilities Electric Co. and the Office of the Public Utility Counsel were trying Wednesday to reach an agreement about when to refund $58 million in overcharges to consumers.

Further negotiations were expected Thursday along with a progress report to a Public Utility Commission judge, a commission spokeswoman said. The Office of Public Utility Counsel, which acts as advocate for consumers and small businesses, asked that refunds be made in December.

The company wants to refund the money in January as a credit to customer bills, according to a PUC news release. The overcollections resulted from a rapid drop in the price of natural gas used by TUEC to generate electricity.

TUEC also has said it will ask the commission to let it lower its customer-paid fuel rates, which have resulted in the overcollections.

The fuel rate is set by the commission based on company estimates of fuel costs.

The Band Director's Award is given to the senior who has worked the hardest and "done the job with the least amount of 'hoopla' and recognition," he said.

The Best Marching Spirit Award is presented to the student with the best attitude during the season, he said.

Ten Best Marcher awards will be given to students who exhibit best marching and playing style. Mitchell said all awards except the Band Director's Award are elected by the band members.

Parents and others interested in attending the banquet may call 267-7463, Ext. 170 for reservations before Friday. Tickets are $5 per person.

Crafts sale to benefit Hospital fund

An arts and crafts show to benefit the Christmas fund for patients at the Big Spring State Hospital will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday at Big Spring Mall.

The fund assures each hospital patient gifts for Christmas, said volunteer coordinator Kathy Viccinelli.

In addition to the usual arts and craft show fare are popular items such as jogging suits and bandanas, she said.

Donations of men's clothing also are needed for the hospital Fashion Show, she said, adding that the hospital constantly faces a shortage of clothing for male patients.

The Chalet, the hospital's downtown resale shop, needs bed linen and covers.

To donate, call the volunteer office at 267-8216, Ext. 534. Volunteers will collect the items.

'Toys for Tots' drive undertaken

Big Spring Cable TV is sponsoring a Toys for Tots drive to help provide Christmas toys for underprivileged children in the Big Spring area.

A 50 percent discount off installation charges will be given to those who donate toys. The drive will begin Friday and continue through Dec. 19.

The cable TV office at 2006 Birdwell Lane will be a collection point for the toys.

Manager Larson Lloyd said toys "like one you might give your own child" will be accepted for the discount installation. For more information, contact the cable TV office at 267-3821.

GM lays off 16,700

DETROIT — General Motors Corp. indefinitely furloughed 16,700 workers in three states starting today and said it may have to shut down its North American assembly operations because of a strike at a parts plant in Indiana.

The plants that would be shut down would include the General Motors assembly plant at Arlington.

Talks to end the strike at the Delco Electronics plant in Kokomo were to resume today.

The 7,700 Delco workers have been on strike since Monday. Delco is a GM subsidiary that makes electronic parts such as radios, heat sensors and onboard computer components.

New AIDS virus found

NEW YORK — Blood screening technology used to track the AIDS virus may have to be modified some day to look for related, newly found West African viruses if those germs show up in this country, scientists said.

The current test will overlook a third of those infected with any of three new West African AIDS-related viruses, they said, but there's no evidence those viruses have reached the United States or West Europe in significant numbers.

The latest West African virus to be found apparently depresses the immune system without causing full-scale AIDS.

The scientists have not published their finding, but have discussed it at international meetings, he said Wednesday.

Shuttle practice today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Rescue teams today prepared to help seven space shuttle astronauts escape from a simulated launch pad emergency involving feigned injuries.

The drill is part of NASA's overall review of all aspects of the shuttle program as a result of the Jan. 28 Challenger explosion that killed the seven crew members.

After the astronauts, all rookies, start boarding shuttle Atlantis on launch pad 39B, NASA was to declare a mock emergency — possibly a fuel spill — and order the flight pad crews to evacuate. Fire and rescue workers were to rush to the pad from a mile away.

Police hurt in shootout

NEW YORK — A gun battle in a tenement left six police officers wounded and authorities searching for the armed man, who is wanted in a quadruple murder of suspected drug dealers.

The suspect, who escaped apparently unscathed from Wednesday's shootout, was armed and dangerous, packing a .45-caliber handgun "with lots of ammunition," said Officer James Coleman, a police spokesman.

Police Commissioner Benjamin Ward said the officers had gone to the South Bronx apartment building to arrest the man.

Chemist Walter Stutz, background, uses a chart to explain the chemical composition of a cloud of gas which escaped from the Ciba-Geigy plant in Basle Wednesday night. Benno Gunzinger, works manager at the plant, listens to the explanation at a news conference today. The new accident occurred near the site where a toxic spill into the Rhine River triggered an ecological disaster recently, but officials said the latest incident posed no danger to health.

Accident Contaminated cloud 'out of control'

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — A new chemical accident close to the site where a toxic spill triggered an ecological disaster three weeks ago sent a contaminated cloud of smoke drifting over this city early today, but authorities said there was no danger to health.

Police said that 1,100 pounds of a poisonous compound "went out of control" at a testing center of Ciba-Geigy A.G., Switzerland's largest chemical manufacturer, causing a smoke cloud containing phenol particles.

Residents were warned over a local radio station to keep windows and doors closed if they smelled "offensive odors" which could irritate the respiratory system.

But before dawn, police said there were no precautions needed because toxicological experts had determined that the cloud did not pose any health threat.

About 30 tons of toxic chemicals were flushed into the Rhine on Nov. 1 when firemen doused a blaze at the Sandoz chemical plant near Basel. A fetid cloud of smoke and gas mushroomed over the site, and about 20 people subsequently sought medical help for acute nausea.

Pope visits Singapore

SINGAPORE — Pope John Paul II, during a brief stop in this densely populated city-state that has actively discouraged large families, told a rain-soaked Mass today that couples must be free to decide how many children they want.

"I wish to assure couples that the church supports them as they strive to exercise responsibly their fundamental right to form families, to bear and rear their children without any form of coercion or pressure," John Paul said in the outdoor Mass for a crowd estimated at 70,000.

Singapore has only about 100,000 Catholics.

Leftists demonstrate

MANILA, Philippines — Tens of thousands of people chanting "Revolution!" marched through Manila today in the funeral procession of a slain labor leader, then appealed to President Corason Aquino to move against what they see as a rightist threat.

It was the largest and most open display of flags, banners and personalities from the underground left in the heart of Manila since the beginning of the 17-year-old Communist insurgency.

Many marchers wore T-shirts with the hammer and sickle symbol. They raised clenched fists and chanted, "Long live the Communist Party of the Philippines" and other leftist and anti-military slogans.

Survey: socialists lead

LONDON — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher says she hopes to eliminate socialism from Britain in one or two more terms of Conservative government, but a poll published today showed the socialist Labor Party regaining its lead over the ruling Tories.

A Gallup poll published in the Daily Telegraph newspaper gave Labor 39.5 percent support against 36 percent for the Tories and 22 percent for the Liberal-Social Democratic alliance, the third of the main groups in the House of Commons.

The survey was based on 910 interview and the no margin of error was given.

'Good signs' for release

BEIRUT, Lebanon — A senior Shiite Moslem cleric was quoted today as saying there were "good signs" that could speed up the release of French hostages in Lebanon.

Several Beirut newspapers said Sheik Abdel-Amir Kabalan, Lebanon's highest Shiite religious judge, made the statement after a meeting with two naturalized French physicians of Lebanese descent.

The newspapers said the main topic of discussion in the meeting was the release of the French hostages, especially journalist Jean-Paul Kauffmann, who was kidnapped in Moslem west Beirut on May 22, 1985.

United support needed in effort

We find it hard to understand the difficulty the United Way organization is having in meeting its goal this year.

We also find it just as hard to understand the excuses given for not supporting this worthy campaign.

Ten local agencies depend on the United Way campaign for financing a considerable amount of their operations. And without a successful United Way campaign, all will suffer.

Let's look at the list. The member agencies are the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Boys' Club of Big Spring, Northside Community Center, the Salvation Army, West Side Community Center, the YMCA, West Side Day Care Center, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the American Red Cross.

Is there even one organization in the list that isn't worthy of our support? We think not.

We know that recent economic hardships have hit nearly all of us. But haven't those hardships been even tougher on the people who rely on the services provided by the 10 United Way agencies?

For those of us who continue to have steady work, isn't it even more important this year to dig a little deeper to help others suffering from less fortunate situations?

Aside from those important reasons, another — perhaps just as important — must be mentioned. If we do not have successful United Way campaigns each year, what is the alternative?

To answer that question, we must recall what the situation was like before Community Chest and United Way programs were developed. Those were the days when each organization conducted its own annual campaign and solicitations.

That would mean yearly drives by each of the 10 agencies. Do we want to return to those days?

We think not. But to keep that from happening, each of us must support the United Way each year.

We believe in the United Way because it works, and because it keeps our money where it can see both the immediate need and benefits — through our local agencies.

Writer suggests ousting Cuadra

To the editor:

Let's get rid of Gil Cuadra. If we could encourage Chris Christopher to buy the Settles Hotel and the former Crestwood Mobile Home Park from Gil Cuadra, we would no longer be annoyed at reading about Gil Cuadra in the newspaper.

Chris Christopher evidently has been able to make a profit out of any financial investment in Big Spring.

At the town meeting at which Gil Cuadra unveiled his plans for Crestwood Mobile Home Park and Settles Hotel, city officials immediately gave their approval. I asked Cuadra if he had a crystal ball in which he foresaw a need for another mobile home sales and a reconditioned Hotel Settles, since Big Spring had empty apartments and many houses for sale. He didn't answer.

Today in history

Today is Thursday, Nov. 20, the 324th day of 1986. There are 41 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Nov. 20, 1975, Gen. Francisco Franco died in Madrid, two weeks before his 83rd birthday. Franco's death ended nearly four decades of absolute rule in Spain.

On this date: In 1620, Peregrine White, the son of William and Susanna White, was born aboard the Mayflower in Massachusetts Bay. He was the first child to be born of English parents in New England. In 1789, New Jersey became the first state to ratify the Bill of Rights.

In 1910, revolution broke out in Mexico, led by Francisco I. Madero.

In 1925, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was born in Brookline, Mass. In 1943, during World War II, American forces landed on Tarawa and Makin Atoll in the Gilbert Islands.

In 1945, 24 Nazi leaders were put on trial before an international war crimes tribunal at Nuremberg, Germany.

In 1947, Britain's Princess Elizabeth married Lt. Philip Mountbatten in Westminster Abbey.

In 1967, just a few minutes after 11 a.m., the Census Clock at the Department of Commerce ticked past 200 million.

In 1980, after a disastrous reception by New York critics, United Artists announced it was withdrawing its $44 million movie "Heaven's Gate" for re-editing. In 1983, an estimated 100 million people watched the controversial ABC-TV movie "The Day After," which depicted the outbreak and aftermath of nuclear war.

Ten years ago: Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Plains, Ga., to brief President-elect Jimmy Carter and Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale on foreign policy matters.

Five years ago: Anatoly Karpov of the Soviet Union retained his world chess championship in Italy by defeating challenger Viktor Korchnoi in the 18th game of their title match.

One year ago: President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev held more private meetings in Geneva. White House officials said Gorbachev planned to visit the United States in 1986, and that Reagan would go to Moscow in 1987.

Today's birthdays: Author and TV personality Alistair Cooke is 78. Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., is 69. Actress Gene Tierney is 66. Actress-comedian Kaye Ballard is 60. Actress Estelle Parsons is 59. TV personality Richard Dawson is 54. Comedian Dick Smothers is 47. Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., is 44. Actress Veronica Hamel is 43. Broadcast journalist Judy Woodruff is 40. Actress Bo Derek is 30.

Trinidad's ambassador gets new chandeliers

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — While State Department officials were begging Congress for money to beef up security at terrorist-threatened posts — and closing others to save money — the American ambassador in Trinidad was picking out crystal chandeliers for his official residence and proposing a tennis court and costly renovation of his swimming pool.

All told, Ambassador Sheldon Kryz wanted an estimated $150,000 worth of improvements for his digs in Port-of-Spain, the Caribbean capital of Trinidad and Tobago. At the same time, the department was preparing to close consulates in Bremen, West Germany; Rotterdam, Netherlands; Salvador de Bahia, Brazil; Seville, Spain; Trieste, Italy; and Winnipeg, Canada, to save money.

The State Department's pleas for additional security funds were only partly met: Congress cut $138 million from the department's salaries and expenses budget, and $887 million from the proposed outlays for security.

Word of the budgetary crisis apparently traveled by banana boat to the southernmost U.S. outpost in the Caribbean, but information on the ambassador's luxurious refurbishing plans was sent to Washington in cables and official order requisition forms, some of which have been obtained by our associate Stewart Harris. Here are some pages from the ambassador's dream book:

- Construction of a tennis court and paving of the ambassadorial parking lot: $40,000.
- Re-tiling, scraping and repainting of the swimming pool: $7,000.
- Installation of central air conditioning for the residence: $20,130.

Cables explained that the residence's existing window units repeatedly break down.

- Renovation of the master bedroom and bathroom and another bathroom: $20,000.

The master bathroom "can only accommodate one person at a time,"

Jack Anderson

one cable noted.

- Remodeling guest bedroom and bathroom, repairing or replacing plumbing and electrical fixtures: $10,000.

In a telephone interview, Kryz told us that some improvements to the 29-year-old residence were approved long before he took over in August 1985 — which was also, of course, before the current fiscal crisis.

The ambassador said much of the furniture is 15 years old, and the floors are covered with "a cacophony of carpets." The only item requested that could be considered extravagant, according to Kryz, was a $2,500 chandelier for the dining room.

In one cable to Foggy Bottom, the ambassador said a tennis court would improve the "post's morale and provide a healthful outlet" for embassy employees. Private tennis clubs are expensive and have standards of athletic prowess that not all embassy staffers can meet, the cable explained, adding: "There is only one public court; however, it is located in a high-crime area."

The Foreign Building Office approved the ambassador's tennis courts "in principle," but officials said that funding for all embassy tennis courts was put on hold after the budget cuts. The department authorized only $17,000 for the Port-of-Spain residence's furnishings, $5,000 for new gutters and a new roof and $57,000 for the air conditioning and bathroom work.

Not included in the refurbishing outlay were the piano flown down to the islands and the armor-plated Opel Senator car shipped from Europe for $20,430.

Officials defended the expenditures, particularly the repairs to the residence, which they said had deteriorated badly from constant exposure to the sea air. They also pointed out that the renovations were ordered to coincide with security work on the embassy compound to avoid tearing it up twice.

BEER BUST: Lt. Col. B.S. Baer, an Army finance officer, may have to pick up the $742.84 tab for beer and chips provided to GIs on maneuvers in West Germany four years ago, because his office mistakenly OK'd the expenditure from the wrong account.

The Army has asked the Comptroller General to let Baer off the hook since the error was made by one of the colonel's clerks.

But the civilian comptrollers say they can't clear Baer until they have conclusive evidence that he didn't see the disbursement document himself. The Army is working on this.

The beer, incidentally, was American, even though the maneuvers were in the heart of German beer country.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: The collapse of world oil prices has forced severe budget cuts on the notoriously spendthrift Saudi Arabian royal family, but their priorities appear to be a little bizarre.

We've learned, for example, that the Saudi defense budget has been trimmed from a high of around $20 billion a year to a mere $16.5 billion.

And "foreign aid" — including subsidies to terrorist groups like the Palestine Liberation Organization — has been reduced from $7.4 billion in the early 1980s to around $3 billion a year now.

Russkie garage sale plays 'I Spy'

By ART BUCHWALD

I live around the corner from the Soviet Embassy in Washington. The other morning I saw a crowd in front of it and asked an FBI man dressed as a parking meter maid what was going on.

"It's a garage sale being held by the Russians who were booted out of the United States. You can get some great buys on Afghani wool potherlers and Andropov ashtrays with secret tape recorders inside."

I wandered over to one of the bridge tables. The Soviet Embassy employee said to me, "Can I interest you in Navy submarine codes that have only been used once? They come in this beautiful Statute of Liberty key ring and can easily be hidden in a pumpkin." "No, thank you," I said. "I stopped collecting submarine codes after Admiral Rickover died."

"Then perhaps I could whet your appetite with stolen blueprints of the Stealth bomber. They make extremely colorful wall decorations." I said, "I wouldn't know one stolen blueprint from the other. How can I be sure they're genuine?"

"Each and every one of them has been authenticated by Cap Weinberger. We Soviets do not deal in phony American blueprints. That's why we're being kicked out of your country."

I told him I would be back. The next table featured microfilm of Reagan's Star Wars plan.

A Soviet Embassy lady manning the stand was selling microfilm which she had taken when she walked through the White House with a little baby under her arm. "All I had to do was say the baby was a 'Right to Life' poster child and they let me photograph everything in the Oval Office."

"Are you an expert on microfilm?" I asked her.

"No, but I know what I like." "Why are you selling them rather than taking them back to the Soviet Union?"

She replied, "If you are an American you get a fortune from Moscow for Star Wars material. If you are a Russian they tell you it's your duty to turn it over to the motherland for free. This is my last chance in America to make a buck."

I wandered over to another table and saw a framed silver photo.

"Is that who I think it is?" I asked.

The Russian Embassy man smiled. "This is a genuine autographed photo of the American spy John Walker. It is dedicated to me and says, 'Tovarich, I couldn't have done it without you.'"

"That is a very sentimental memento. Why are you unloading it at a garage sale?"

"I have hundreds of them. John gave me a picture every time he

Lack of opposition inhumane

By SPENCER SANDOW

Where's the public outcry in response to the U.S. government conducting radiation experiments on humans?

The experiments, conducted by federal agencies over a 30-year period, included injecting subjects with plutonium, radium and uranium, a House subcommittee stated. The Associated Press story was published in the Oct. 25 edition of the Herald.

The experiments were conducted across the country over four decades, from the 1940s to the '70s, the subcommittee said in the report, "American Nuclear Guinea Pigs: Three Decades of Radiation Experiments on U.S. Citizens."

They were an attempt to measure the biological effects of radioactive material from injected, inhaled or ingested doses. The testing also determined the time it took the radioactive substances to pass through the body, the report said.

Although some participants were willing subjects, no record of informed consent exists from others. The report said subjects included prisoners, the elderly and terminally ill, and incidents involving transients and people of unsound mind were recorded.

Subcommittee chairman Edward Markey, D-Mass., urged the Department of Energy to try to find the living experimental subjects and look for increased incidence of radiation-associated diseases, and to compensate them for suspected damages.

That seems only fair. However, remembering the government's denial since the Vietnam War that Agent Orange was responsible for soldiers' cancer, I doubt the task will get the attention it deserves.

The world is quick to condemn the Nazis for their gruesome, quasi-scientific experiments on Jewish concentration camp inmates during World War II. But there has been little reaction to these inhumane U.S. tests.

Aside from the House subcommittee revelation and Markey's comments, I have heard no remarks on our government's experiments and decades of concealing the facts.

The government's record of hiding the truth and out-and-out lying is poor. Obviously Washington can't be depended on to keep citizens informed of events they might not like.

Public opinion is still the most effective way to combat shocking, diabolical practices like these experiments.

So, why is everyone still silent?

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Honest family introductions matter

DEAR READERS: I recently published a letter from "Birmingham," who wrote to say that while she was at the home of a new friend, the children came home from school and the mother introduced them this way: "I'd like you to meet my son, Andrew. And this is my stepson, Johnny."

"Birmingham" wrote: "Might it not have been kinder to have introduced them both as 'sons'?" Then she ("Birmingham") remarked that she had a relative who always made it a point to tell people on first meetings that Sharon and Natalie were her whole sisters, but Jennifer was her half-sister. She added, "Another relative, believe it or not, would say in the presence of her children, 'Tommy is our own child, but Jimmy is adopted.'"

"Birmingham" asked me to comment. I did, as follows: "In making a casual introduction, any mention of 'step,' 'half,' 'own' or 'adopted' strikes me as insensitive and uncalled for. Should a closer friendship develop, the special relationship will probably be disclosed in due time. But until and unless it does, to make a point of it is both tasteless and inappropriate."

That seemed to be a reasonable and proper comment, right? Wrong! Read on for a few of my critical letters:

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am the stepmother of two wonderful children who have lived with my husband and me for over five years. The children's mother lives in the same town in which we live. When introducing the children, I state that they are my stepchildren. Not only would their mother have corrected me for calling them my "children," but the children would have corrected me. (And they have!)

So, you think the introduction of stepchildren as such is "tasteless and inappropriate"? Well, you haven't had a 12- and 14-year-old correct you in front of a stranger. Abby, give us mothers a break!

THE 'WICKED STEPMOTHER' IN HOBBS, N.M.

DEAR ABBY: My own mother, to whom I was very close, died when I was 13. My father remarried and later moved to a city where I had never lived. My stepmother not only told all her friends that I was her daughter, but maligned me to them and complained continually about my lack of love and respect. She treated me with contempt, and then had the temerity to complain to my children about what a terrible child I had been. She also berated me for telling my own children all about their "real" grandmother.

Thirty years later I am still trying to undo the damage she has done. She even persists in introducing me as her daughter after I have repeatedly asked her not to. I do not wish to be thought of as this woman's daughter. Moreover, the memory of my own mother means a great deal to me and I want to keep it alive for my children.

So you see, Abby, some of us stepchildren prefer to be introduced that way.

A STEPCHILD (NO CITY, PLEASE)

DEAR ABBY: When I married a man with two teen-age children from a previous marriage, there was considerable discussion as to what I should be called. The children felt that calling me "Mom" was disrespectful to their still-living mother. For that reason, there were some protests and corrections from them when some unknowing stranger referred to me as their "mother."

However, they were uncomfortable with "stepmother" because of the "wicked stepmother" connotations from fairy tales. I joked about it and told them they were perfectly welcome to introduce me as their "wicked stepmother."

When addressing me directly, they call me by my first name. With the high number of divorces these days, this must be a common problem. I see no reason to do away with a distinction between two different relationships, which the child may regard as an important distinction.

Chapter plans Christmas events

The Gold Star Mothers Chapter met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Odell Turner.

Mrs. Kathryn Thomas, past department president, installed Turner as chapter president for the ensuing year. Turner was escorted to the altar by Mrs. Betty O'Brien.

The chapter mothers will place a Christmas wreath at the Heritage Museum on Dec. 2.

Two Christmas trees will be decorated on Dec. 1 for the nursing care home unit at the Veterans Administration Medical Center for the patients to enjoy during the holidays. Gifts will be distributed by the chapter mothers to the patients on the third and fourth floors at the VAMC on Dec. 17.

VAMC patients are served coffee and cake on Wednesdays by Turner and Thomas.

The community service report showed 11 trays of food and 27 vases of flowers given to shut-ins, hospital patients and friends; also $1300 in memorials.

Chapter members will exchange Christmas gifts on Dec. 1 at the VAMC.

Mastectomy isn't the only answer to lumps

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My oldest daughter, 39, found a breast lump. She told me she will not report it. She is so afraid of surgery. She is quite attractive and shapely and she is afraid of being disfigured. I am trying to get her to report this and get something done. I told her it doesn't necessarily mean surgery, although I admit I was not really on steady ground when I said that. Can you elucidate this issue? — Mrs. K.D.

I hope you are overcoming your daughter's reluctance. You are not giving her bad information. A breast lump, first of all, doesn't have to mean cancer at all, and if it is a malignancy it doesn't necessarily mean mastectomy. And the sooner she reports this sign the better the chances that more conservative approaches will be feasible.

If the lump is cancerous, then a careful evaluation can be made before a final treatment decision has to be made. Many patients are being treated today with a combination of lump removal and follow-up radiation therapy. That removes the basic problem and gets rid of any bits of cancer tissue left behind.

Not all women are going to be candidates for this kind of treatment. But it is becoming popular and your daughter has enough at stake here to want to find out about it.

Women have everything to gain and nothing to lose in reporting breast lumps just as quickly as possible. I'll sleep easier at night knowing she has taken your good advice.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Our 12-year-old daughter was told she had slight scoliosis and that we should have her doctor take a look for possible follow-up. The degree of bending of the spin was said to be 20 percent. Is that bad? We are going to take her in. Just wonder if her younger sister, who was not in the screening program, should be taken in at the same time. Can it be genetic? — J.I.

By all means, take the younger girl in. Some forms of scoliosis can be genetic and often detectable at earlier ages. But even for the 12-year-old, the detection is important, for now you can keep track of the progress.

One cannot be absolute about such things, but generally a curvature of 15 degrees is not surprising in a young girl. The danger is of a worsening during the pubertal growth spurt she is to undergo.

Your doctor can evaluate this better first hand, and determine whether she needs any therapy or bracing, etc. At the same time, he will look for such factors in curvature as uneven leg length. I support such routine screening for scoliosis.

New AT&T rate cut may save 6.2 percent monthly

By BILL McCLOSKEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Residential customers will save an average 6.2 percent on their monthly American Telephone & Telegraph Co. long-distance bills under a $1.2 billion rate reduction AT&T wants to impose starting Jan. 1.

For the average home phone caller, who spends about $9 monthly on long-distance, the rate reduction will amount to about 50 cents a month.

The reductions described in AT&T's rate filing focus on daytime calls and favor those who make shorter calls by placing the deepest cuts on the charge for the first minute of the call.

The proposal must be approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

AT&T delivered its 11,000-page proposal for the rate cut in 16 boxes, contained in two grocery carts, at closing time Monday.

From details made public earlier in the day, MCI Communications Corp. was able to say only that it "would remain competitive." US Sprint Communications Co. said, "We intend to remain the price leader in the telecommunications industry."

Two groups supported by corporations, foundations and individual consumer donations, the U.S. Public Interest Research Group and the Consumer Federation of America, questioned the rate structure, saying it would give the lion's share of benefits to those who make short calls during the business day — primarily businesses.

Overall, business bills, most of which are made up of charges for specialized services as well as regular long-distance calling, will drop an average of 4.9 percent.

About 20 percent of AT&T's revenue from business customers comes from regular long-distance calling. The rest comes from its specialized services such as private lines, WATS, and the 900 and 800 services.

The deepest cuts in regular long-distance tolls will come during the 8 a.m.-3 p.m. calling period, when rates will fall 11.6 percent.

Because businesses place most of their calls during the day, the reduction for business use of regular long-distance will come to 11.5 percent, which combined with the 6.2 percent cut for home phone bill would mean an average 8.1 percent cut for all customers of AT&T's regular long-distance service. The average drops to 7.1 percent when the specialized services are included.

AT&T spokesman Herb Linnen did not dispute that businesses will see significant savings "to the extent that business customers make a lot of calls in the daytime."

However he added, "I don't think it's fair to say it favors them."

He said 27 percent of the income AT&T gets from residential customers comes from daytime calling while 86 percent of the business revenues come from daytime calling.

The documentation presented to the FCC provides justification for the distribution of rate reductions, including a comprehensive projection of AT&T's earnings and cost pictures for 1987, he said.

Linnen said giving greater reductions on first-minute rates recognizes improvements in technology that have cut the time spent connecting, or setting up, a call. All of the set-up time, including recovery of unbillable no-answer and busy-signal calls, is charged to the first minute.

The company said evening and late-night rates are also being reduced, by 6.2 percent and 2.7 percent respectively.

Evening calls would be 38 percent cheaper than the new, lower daytime rates. After 11 p.m. local time, rates would be 53 percent lower than midday calls.

"Show me another store in town that has those kind of discounts," Linnen said.

But Gene Kimmelman, legislative director of the Consumer Federation, said, "It seems to be an effort to entice users to use the more expensive daytime service."

The reductions are possible because of a $966 million reduction in the fees local telephone companies plan to charge AT&T next year for providing the local link between individual telephones and AT&T's long-distance network.

Follow no man any farther than he follows Christ. It is observable that those who live the closest to what the New Testament says, make the least complaint of any supposed deficiency within it. And after all, if there is some deficiency within it, who is to supply the correction to that deficiency? And let any who would attempt it be reminded of one verse: "If any man shall add to the words of this book, God shall add to him the plagues written therein." (cf Revelation 22:18,19). I suppose there are close to a 1000 different creeds in the religious world. They cannot all be right (for there are too many that contradict the other as well as the Word of God.), and they all may contain error. If we consider that all men are fallible, liable to error, it would not be unreasonable to say they all contain imperfection. Shall human creeds, then, mixed with human imperfection, be made the standard for the conscience and for those who are striving to please God?? Take only the standard that the perfect LORD God set forth, for then only are we safe!

NOTICE OF PROPOSED REDUCTION IN AT&T's TEXAS RATES

The Public Utility Commission of the state of Texas has entered orders in two recent cases that would substantially reduce the charges which AT&T pays to the state's local telephone companies and which could allow AT&T to reduce prices for most of AT&T's customers on calls placed within the state of Texas.

The total amount of the reduction to AT&T's customers is expected to be between $115.3 million and $120.6 million. This is in addition to the $19.8 million reduction in AT&T's Texas basic long distance prices that went into effect on March 1, 1986 and is in addition to the approximately $2 billion in AT&T interstate price reductions that took effect earlier this year.

If the changes are approved, all of AT&T's direct dialed long distance, directory assistance, WATS and 800 service customers would be affected, and would experience a decrease in their prices for these services when calling within the state of Texas. The following tables show the anticipated impact of the changes on AT&T customers by service category:

Class of Service	Approximate Overall % Reduction	Approximate Overall Dollar Reduction (in millions)
Long Distance	9.2	$ 68.4
Directory Assistance	20.0	1.0
WATS	29.1	29.7
800	19.9	21.5

The rate reductions are presently anticipated to occur in two phases on or about October 22, 1986 and November 12, 1986. The matter has been assigned as Docket Nos. 6926 and 7113. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf. A complete copy of the tariffs reflecting the potential rate reductions will be on file with the Commission on or before October 23, 1986.

Howard College fall play is 'personal experience'

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

David is a 37-year-old widower living on a small island off the New England coast.

He will not reconcile the loss of his wife Gillian who died in a tragic accident two years earlier.

David immerses himself in star gazing, confides in his 16-year-old neighbor and alienates himself from his daughter, Rachel.

Sound intriguing? It is.

Howard College Department of Theatre presents "To Gillian on her 37th Birthday," at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Howard College Auditorium. Admission is $4, and $3 for students and senior citizens.

The play is dedicated to the memory of the recently deceased Dan Shockey who taught speech and drama at Big Spring High School and Howard College.

Michael Brady's work which opened November 1983 in New York's Ensemble Studio, is "a very personal experience," says Director Bill Doll. He is in charge of the speech and drama department at Howard College.

"I'm very pleased with what we've accomplished," Doll says about his seven-member cast and 15-member production staff and crew.

David's sense of loss is tragically felt in Act One Scene Three. The main character, tactfully portrayed by J.C. Johnson, lashes out at everyone during a mid-afternoon gathering.

It is the last weekend in August and one day before the anniversary of Gillian's death.

Esther, who is played by Cheryl Shults, and Paul, portrayed by John Norman Woodall, have arranged for a friend to join them on a weekend visit at David's.

Their friend, Kevin, played by Stephanie Ann Dobbs, is interested in meeting David. She has dealt with a sense of loss having undergone a recent divorce and is seeking "kindness," she tells David in the last scene.

Woodall is particularly effective in portraying Paul who provides a much-needed sense of humor between the emotional clashes.

Other stellar performances are turned in by Shults as Esther, Dobbs as Kevin, and Leslie Kirkpatrick as 16-year-old Cindy.

Gillian's ghost does appear. Her mystical shroud is neatly packaged in three appearances by Connie "Styx" Fritzler.

At the end of her first appearance, she tells David a secret.

GILLIAN: The secret is, Bucky, I'm dead. Very...very...very dead. (Long pause. Lights begin to fade around GILLIAN). Got to go, Mr.

Man... DAVID: Don't go. What's life? What's it cost?

GILLIAN: Ten cents.

Doll said he read the play about a year ago and was "touched" by it. The play contains "enough light elements as to not keep it too heavy," he said.

The first-year department head is excited about possibilities of "producing good theatre" in Big Spring.

He's made a positive initial step towards that goal with "To Gillian on her 37th Birthday."

First performance tomorrow night

UT hazers to undergo discipline

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas says it is taking disciplinary action in connection with the drinking death of fraternity pledge Mark Seeberger.

However, UT spokesmen would not say what action was taken or how many persons were involved.

Joyce Pole, spokeswoman for UT, said under university rules disciplinary actions are confidential and the university cannot reveal details.

"The university has completed its investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Mark Seeberger," said a brief statement from UT Vice President for Student Affairs Ronald Brown. "The dean of students is proceeding to take disciplinary action."

Under UT rules, disciplinary action can range from simple admonishment to expulsion.

Sworn testimony given Austin police indicated that Seeberger, 18, a Phi Kappa Psi pledge from Dallas, and two other pledges were handcuffed the night of Sept. 17 during a fraternity "ride."

Seeberger died later the next day after consuming some 18 ounces of rum.

Judges wage bet on playoff game

When the Mets played the Red Sox in the just finished World Series, the mayors of the two towns waged bets. I don't remember the exacts, but it was something like, "I'll give you a zillion pounds of New England clam chowder and fly your ugly flag in my park if we lose, and you'll give me a zillion Polish sausages and fly my flag in your park if we win."

A very similar such bet is being waged between our county judge, Milton Kirby, and Deaf Smith County Judge Glenn Wilson (Hereford's county).

Kirby reported that he and Wilson have made the bet but haven't told each other the prizes for winning. Considering the dreadful possibility that the Steers lose, Kirby said he'll give Smith a cowchip.

"I'm an old farmboy and I know what a cowchip is. I can get one in any of these cow pastures. But I don't know how I'd get it to him. I might have to mail it," Kirby explained.

Let's hope nobody sees Kirby stalking and stooping in a cow pasture; or worse, bumps into him at the Post Office with a large, smelly package in his hands.

Still talking Steers, the Big Spring High School Sports Booster Club is urging Steers' fans to meet in the Golden Corral Saturday at 2:30 p.m. to give the Steers a big send off.

For those of you who've been out of the country, the Steers play Hereford in a bi-district playoff game Saturday night at 8 in Lubbock. By the way, the Harris Poll rates the Steers a four point favorite.

The Big Spring YMCA Boys Gymnastics Team wasn't much of a host for the Midland Y's squad, as they whipped them Saturday at the Big Spring facility.

The Big Spring team, coached by Ken Werner, is without national champ Will Rutherford, who is training in Longview.

Lance Moore captured five gold medals and one silver in his six events to dominate the 13-15 Class IV. Bill Carey was runner-up in that division.

Teammate Robert Lee won four golds to win the 10-12 Class IV division. Chad Carpenter finished second.

The Big Spring team ruled the Class III competition as well. Cory Adams won, and Hank Tonn and Drew McEwen turned in strong performances. Looks like the "Y" has another strong boys team with many improved young gymnasts.

Speaking of the Big Spring YMCA, that big giant sweatshop will be the site of two youth basketball leagues for boys and girls ages six through 12.

The kids under eight will play under modified rules, a smaller court and shorter goals. In the Instructional League, as it's to be called, the kids will learn basic skills, team play, fun and values.

The Junior League will be played with some modifications, and each player is guaranteed to play at least 40 percent of the game. Games will be played on Mondays in January and February.

The cost is $17.50 for members and $22.50 for non-members, and Dec. 10 is the final registration day. Mail or bring fee to: Big Spring YMCA; 801 Owens Street; P.O. Box 1428; Big Spring, Tx. 79720.

Kay Boyles, Dawn Wagoner, Tricia Wright and Valencia Kirby were among the local winners in the Tex Mex Barrel Racing Associations' meet at the Howard County Youth Horseman's arena Saturday and Sunday.

The race was a fund raising project for future races. Anyone interested in participating in future events should call Dawn Wagoner 263-0390.

Ex-Forsan Buffaloes' griddle Bruce Strickland seems to be doing well as a freshman for the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes. Quoth his coach:

"With athletes like Bruce we have been able to become a competitive team and we have a chance to win every week. It is very exciting to see such a tremendous turn around in such a short time. It is even more exciting to know we will have everyone except one senior back," said second year coach Jack Welch.

Strickland is playing linebacker and kicker for the Coyotes. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Strickland of Forsan.

The Coahoma Bulldogs found the going rough this season, but there's help on the way. Last week the Coahoma Bulldogs of the Little Football League for third and fourth graders finished a successful season.

The tiny Bulldogs finished with a 7-0 record. In the season finale they destroyed the Big Spring Bears 48-0. Jason Arguello scored three times on passes from Michael Martinez. Imagine, a fourth grader passing for a touchdown.

The Bears and Forsan Buffaloes tied for second in the league with 3-4 records. The Big Spring Cowboys were 1-6.

Tickets to the Big Spring-Hereford playoff game are still on sale at the Big Spring High School business office. Through Thursday, tickets can be purchased from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Friday, tickets will be sold from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Tickets costs are $2 for students and $5 for adults. Price at the game is $6 per ticket.

Time for Forsan-Goldthwaite II

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

It's deja vu for the Forsan Buffaloes and Goldthwaite Eagles. The two teams meet in a Class AA area playoff game Friday night at 8 in Abilene and not much has changed from last year.

Last season at about this time the two teams battled in a Class A area game at the same place, McMurry's Indian Stadium. This season about the only thing that has changed is the team's classifications. Both moved up to AA this season, and there's a new head coach for the Eagles.

Just like this season, both teams come into the contest undefeated. Coach Jan East still coaches Forsan while Gary Profitt, who was an assistant coach last year, is now the head coach for the number five ranked Eagles.

Last year the Eagles, 11-0 for the season, defeated the 10-1 Buffaloes 16-0. Under coach Chad Priest, who is now at Ballinger, the Eagles went on to win the state championship. That contest was very evenly matched, though Forsan had three turnovers to Goldthwaite's one.

Goldthwaite outgained Forsan 235 to 207 total yards. But the glaring tale of the game was the big play. Both Eagles' TDs came on big plays — a 68-yard pass and a 45-yard run.

Both East and Profitt project that this encounter will be just as hard fought as the one last season.

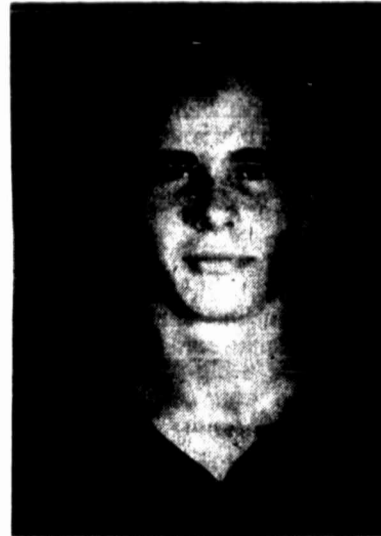

"We're looking forward to playing them again," said East, who has led his troops to a 32-3-1 record over the past three seasons. "The revenge motive will play a little part in it. I'm sure the kids would like to get some. We'll be fired up, that's for sure."

"I definitely think this will be a tough game. If you look back at it, both teams lost about the same amount of players and both teams are undefeated again. They were one of the best teams we beat last year. It will be a hard physical game just like last year."

While both teams graduated about the same number of players, there will be one Goldthwaite player missing that didn't graduate. He is halfback Scott Miller, who tore ligaments in his knee three games ago.

Miller finished the season with 749 yards. Byron Henry will take his spot in the Wishbone offense. Henry was the starting fullback and gained 500 yards this season.

But the workhorse of the Eagles' offense is healthy and ready to go.

LEE MORRIS
...20.7 yards per catch

BRANT NICHOLS

Doug Holtzclaw is Goldthwaite's leading rusher with 1,252 yards. Last season Forsan held him to 41 yards on nine carries.

"They are going to try to run on us," said East. "I don't think their offense is quite as good as last season because they lost Miller. If we can stop their running attack, we can beat them."

While Goldthwaite plans on moving on the ground, the Buffaloes plan on moving through the air. East said his team will come out throwing, unlike last year when Forsan threw just six times.

"Last year we moved the ball on them and couldn't get it in the end zone. This year we've got to get it in. Our game plan is to throw the football. Last year we went to the

Celtics clip Hawks

By The Associated Press

The Atlanta Hawks, with 50 victories last season and a 7-1 mark to start 1986-87, want to believe that a younger generation of NBA teams is ready to challenge for the championship.

The defending champion Boston Celtics have other ideas.

The Celtics, the oldest team in the league, and the Hawks, with some of the best young players, met for the first time Wednesday night, with Boston winning 111-107.

Kevin McHale, who led the Celtics with 30 points, said the Hawks were "right up there, one of the five top teams in the league."

Other Boston players had similar praise for Atlanta, but Larry Bird said after his 29-point performance that "We didn't play very well and we still beat them. To tell the truth, we're not really worried about them. We're not worried about anyone."

In other games, it was Philadelphia 98, New York 94; Washington 119, Detroit 105; Golden State 112, Cleveland 104; Los Angeles Lakers 117, San Antonio 108; and Phoenix 111, New Jersey 101.

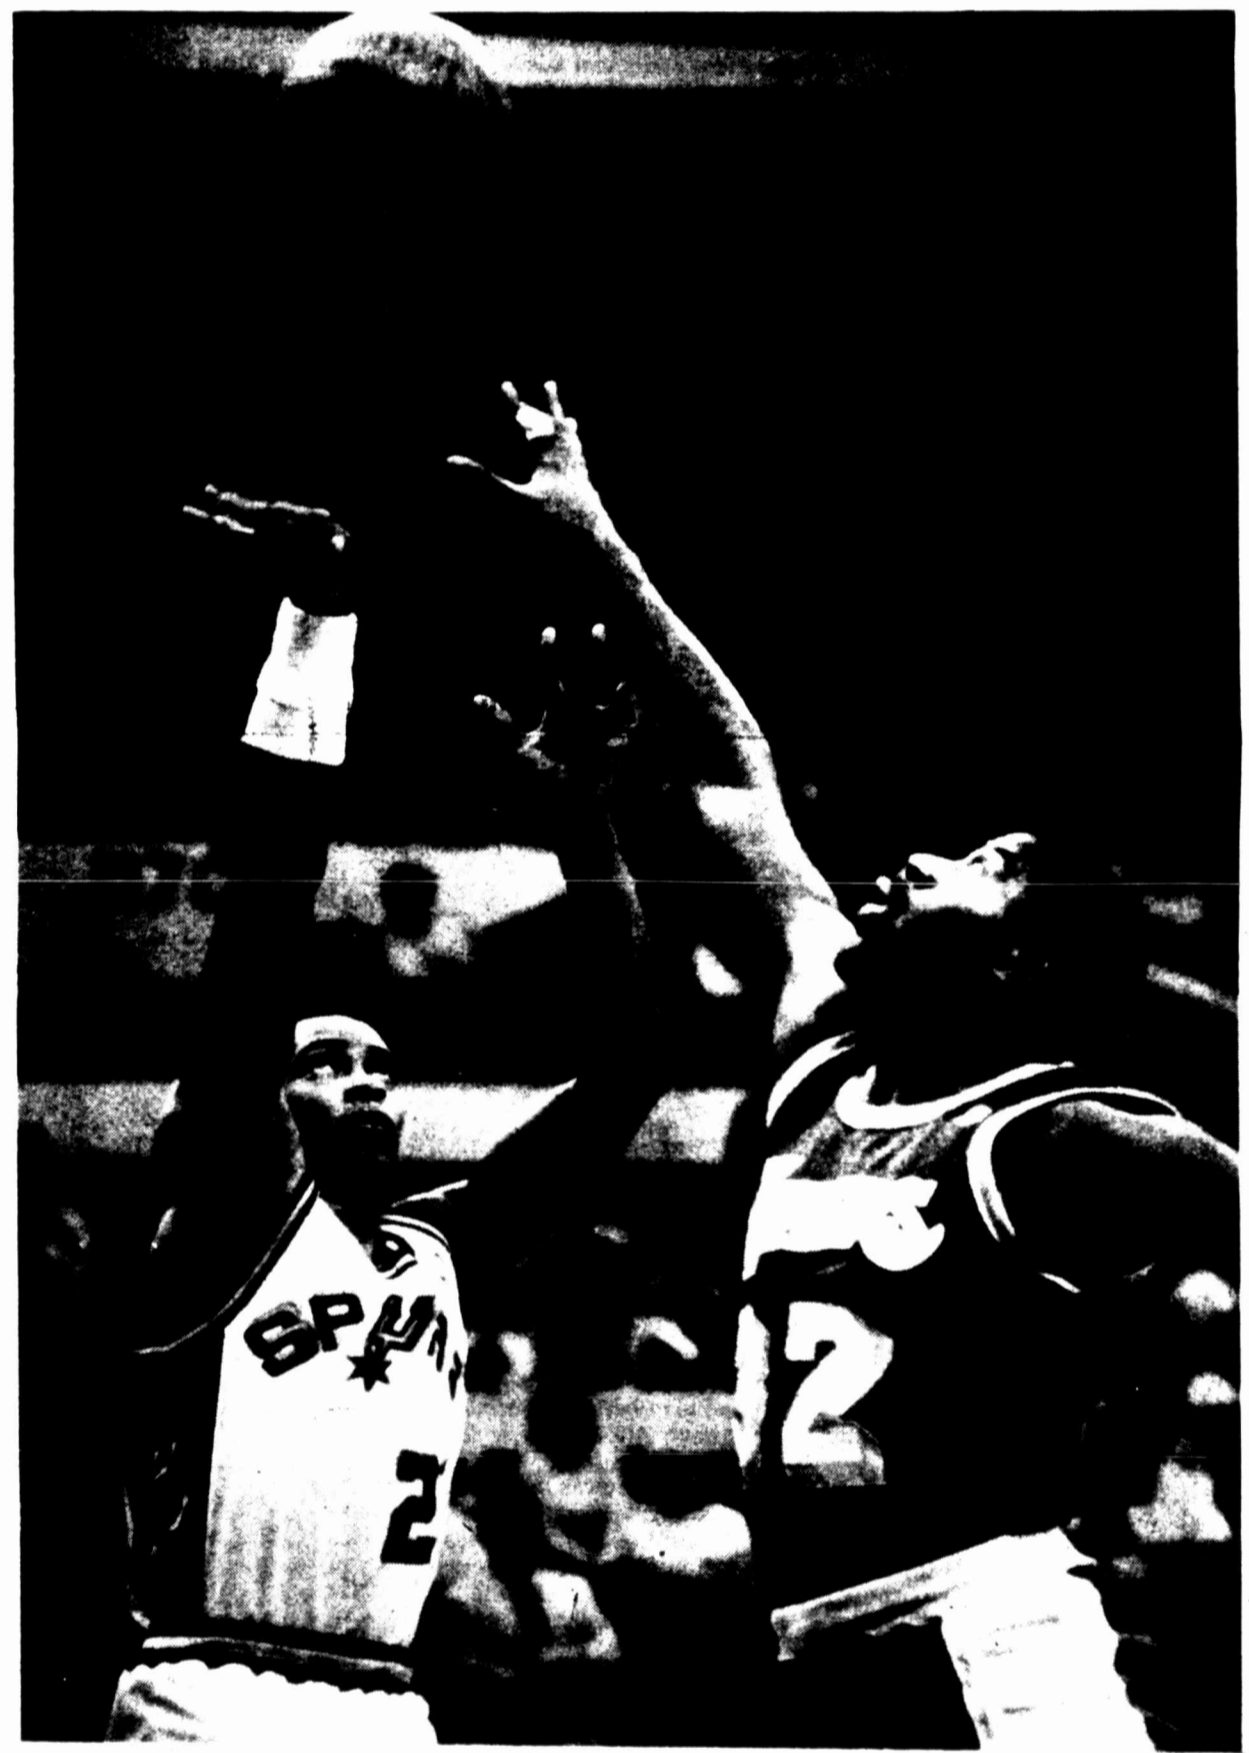

The Celtics and Hawks are both 7-2, but Boston has done it despite injuries to Danny Ainge, Bill Walton and Scott Wedman, although Ainge played briefly against the Hawks in his first appearance of the season. Meanwhile, McHale played 43 minutes, Bird 46, Dennis Johnson 42 and Robert Parish 40. Parish had 20 rebounds to go with his 12 points.

But assistant coach Jim Rodgers, who took over when Coach K.C. Jones was ejected with two technicals in the second quarter, said the Celtics stars are not overworked.

"We're not worried about the minutes the starters are playing right now," Rodgers said. "We want to win basketball games and establish ourselves as the champs. We want the wins and we'll do whatever it takes."

"I think all the talk about the number of minutes the starters are playing is very much overplayed," Johnson said. "We've only played nine games. We have a bench that can help out when we need it."

The Celtics scored eight consecutive points for a 99-92 lead with just over five minutes left and went on to their 45th consecutive home victory, including 42 at Boston

Garden.

The Hawks closed the gap to 101-98 with 3:11 remaining, but a three-point play by Johnson and two free throws by McHale put Boston back in control.

"We made too many mistakes," Atlanta Coach Mike Fratello said. "Too many mental mistakes. With a team as good as they are, they're going to take advantage of them."

The game was marred by a near fight between Bird and Atlanta guard Glenn Rivers in the second period, followed by a shouting match between Fratello and Rodgers.

"Tempers flare in this type of game," said Atlanta's Dominique Wilkins, who had 29 points. "There's a lot of emotion. Both teams will do anything to win. You have to take that approach. They are as tough as they were last year."

Bullets 119, Pistons 105. Moses Malone scored 18 of his 31 points in the first half and Jeff Malone added 17 of his 28 in the same span as Washington easily pulled away from visiting Detroit, which lost its third straight game.

The Bullets opened a 62-40 halftime lead and coasted the rest of the way. Moses Malone scored

Lady Steers hosting Spring City Invitational

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

For the first time in a number of years, the Big Spring Lady Steers will host a basketball tournament. The eight-team Spring City Invitational Tournament will begin at 3 p.m. Friday in Steer Gym and will conclude Saturday night at 7 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum with the championship game.

The championship game will be the only contest played in Dorothy Garrett. The title match will follow the final game of the Howard College Hawk-Queens Classic between Howard College and Grayson at 5 p.m.

Big Spring Steers coach C.E. Carmichael has assembled together a good field which includes a much improved Lady Steers basketball team.

Also in the tournament are Sweetwater, Hereford, Lubbock Coronado, Snyder, Andrews, El Paso High and Lubbock High.

"We are trying to get a good tournament established. We are going to work on it until we get as strong as field as there is anywhere," said Carmichael.

The Sweetwater Mustangs is a good team to build a strong field around. Last year the Mustangs made it to the regional tournament and this season they are ranked number five in the state. "Sweetwater is definitely the top dog at this tournament," said Carmichael.

"I feel this will be a good tournament. With us, Sweetwater, Snyder and Andrews, I feel this is four of the top teams in our district. People can come out and see a preview of the district."

The Lady Steers are coming off an impressive 61-35 win over Denver City in their season opener Tuesday. Forward Teresa Pruitt led the way with 25 points and 14 rebounds. Guard Paige Clawson added 16 points and five steals.

"I was pleased with our effort," said Carmichael. "We got after it and played hard. But we've got to work on our silly mistakes. We had 22 turnovers, which is too many. But we also had 16 steals."

Here is a schedule of the first round games Friday at the Spring City Invitational.

Big Spring vs. Lubbock High, 3 p.m. Sweetwater vs. Hereford, 4:45 p.m. Lubbock Coronado vs. Snyder, 6:30 p.m. Andrews vs. El Paso High, 8:15 p.m.

Dynamite comes in small packages

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

If you've seen the Steers' James Harlin run the football, but you haven't seen him face to face, you might be surprised.

By the time Harlin takes the handoff he's already shooting for a hole, and when he gets the ball it's really take-off time. Hesitation is not a part of his game. Neither is backing down from monster defensive linemen and linebackers.

One thing's for sure — Harlin doesn't strike you as small when he plays football. That's why, on first meeting him, you might be excused for thinking he's his own little brother.

Barefooted, Harlin stands 5-5 and weighs a not-so-hefty 145 pounds. Without beating around the bush, that's small. There's a tendency to want to use the word cute to describe him, but cute doesn't seem to fit the description of someone who bangs into and sometimes over defensive linemen.

Whatever you call him, don't tell him he's too little, and don't tell it to Big Spring Coach Quinn Eudy either.

"Don't ever judge a kid by his size. Size has no bearing on playing football. Don't get me wrong. Big fast stuff always beats that little fast stuff, but if the kid is an athlete and a competitor then he can play. "James is not real big, but he has stepped in and done a great job for us. He's a tremendous competitor. He has a good attitude; he plays as a starter and he plays as a backup — he's really come through for us when we've been injured.

"He's a good sharp cutter and he reads blocks well; he understands that north and south is the quickest way to the goal line," Eudy said.

Harlin transferred from Eldorado after his sophomore year, and soon after moving to Big Spring he and his father went to the school in the summer and met Eudy. Harlin said Eudy told him it would be a big jump from 2-A to 5-A, but the coach in no way discouraged him.

He started on the junior varsity last year, but made it obvious he could play varsity. He even cracked the varsity starting lineup, but broke his arm and '85 ended early. He said the injury cost him valuable experience and hurt his preparation for this season.

Though Harlin opened the season as a backup to Charles White and Phillip Mathews, he has seen plenty of playing time, both because of injuries to White and Mathews and because he deserves to play.

JAMES HARLIN
Against Monahans White bruised his foot, and it's been slow to heal. It's likely Harlin will start against Hereford Saturday night in Big Spring's first playoff game in 33 years.

In last Friday's 27-0 stomping of Andrews, Harlin blasted from the starting gate with runs of one, six, 19 and 17 yards on the opening scoring drive. But on his fourth run an Andrews' defender landed on his ankle and it twisted from underneath.

"I wanted to stay in but Coach Blackburn (Everett) wrapped it and it was just about a cast. But I tried twice and couldn't," Harlin said.

Harlin, who's best game was a 76 yard effort against San Angelo Lakeview, said he was particularly disappointed to leave the Andrews game because he had a great opportunity to break the 100-yard mark. With 43 yards in the first three minutes it's a safe bet he would've done it. Regardless, he said he'll be ready for Hereford Saturday night.

The Steers' version of the Smurf agreed with Eudy's assessment of his running style.

"I'm more of a straight ahead runner. I get more out of straight ahead running than trying to go around. I don't have the quickness like Phillip (Mathews) does to juke and get around them.

"But usually if they're that big they're slow, and I'll try to go around if there's a chance," he said, with a smile wider than he is tall.

Saturday night in Lubbock when the 5-5 senior takes the field, the fans will be excused for forgetting his diminutive size. They'll just see a blur with 45 on his back and tall chunky lineman wondering what went over, around or under them.

Chargers fighting quarterback injuries

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Instability at quarterback, a problem the Chargers thought they had solved last week, resurfaced on the eve of tonight's game between San Diego and the Los Angeles Raiders.

Backup up quarterback Tom Flick will start in place of Dan Fouts, who has been unable to practice this week because of a sore shoulder, San Diego Coach Al Saunders said Wednesday. Fouts suffered the injury last Sunday during the Chargers' 24-21 loss to the Dallas Cowboys. He had missed the three previous games with a concussion, an injury that also felled reserve quarterback Mark Herrmann during his first start in relief of Fouts on Oct. 26.

"He's nursing an injury to his throwing arm," Saunders said. "It's disappointing that Dan is not able to start because we were really counting on it, but we have a great deal of confidence in Tom."

Flick, a fourth-year pro who joined San Diego as a free-agent during training camp, made his first career NFL start against Kansas City on Nov. 2 in a game won by the Chiefs, 24-23. He was the starter against Denver on Nov. 9, when the Chargers upset the Broncos, 9-3, and snapped their eight-game losing streak.

"One of the problems we've had is injuries to critical positions," Saunders said.

eight points during a 12-0 spurt that gave Washington a 32-17 lead late in the first period.

Vinnie Johnson led the Pistons with 20 points.

Lakers 117, Spurs 108
Los Angeles improved its record to an NBA best 7-1 as Magic Johnson had 29 points and 13 assists.

The victory wasn't easy for the visiting Lakers, who broke away from an 84-84 tie in the fourth period. The final margin was their largest lead of the game after Johnny Moore hit two three-pointers in the last 2:10.

Byron Scott added 23 points for the Lakers, while Alvin Robertson had 34 points, 10 rebounds, 10 assists and 10 steals for the Spurs.

76ers 98, Knicks 94
Roy Hinson scored 23 points and Philadelphia held off a New York rally from a 16-point deficit in the fourth quarter.

The Knicks, who have lost 15 consecutive games at the Spectrum since 1981, trailed 89-73 with nine minutes left, but an 11-2 spurt cut the deficit to 91-84 with 4:17 left. Hinson had four points down the stretch to help keep the 76ers in front.

Rookie Kenny Walker scored 25 points and Bill Cartwright 22 for New York.

Warriors 112, Cavaliers 104
Golden State handed Cleveland its fifth straight defeat as Purvis Short scored 21 points despite leaving the game with a strained knee late in the third period.

The host Cavaliers led 85-83 after three quarters, but Short's replacement at small forward, Greg Ballard, hit four jumpers during a 21-7 streak that gave Golden State its biggest lead, 104-92, with 4:47 left.

Larry Smith had 16 points and 17 rebounds and Eric Floyd 17 assists for the Warriors. Rookie Brad Daugherty scored a season-high 29 points for Cleveland.

Suns 111, Nets 101
Reserve forward Mike Sanders scored 21 points and Walter Davis was 10-for-12 from the field for 20 points as Phoenix dropped visiting New Jersey to 2-8, worst record in the league.

The Suns, now 4-0 at home, did not score in the game's first two minutes, then rallied for a 22-8 run to take a lead they never relinquished. Phoenix outscored the Nets 37-23 in the second period for a 77-55 halftime lead.

Orlando Woolridge led all scorers with 24 points for the Nets.

run; this year I feel like we can throw the ball. We put in a new passing set this week.

"I really think our team is better offensively this year. The main difference is the offensive line has a year of experience under its belt. Our quarterback Brant Nichols is a whole lot cooler under pressure this year."

Nichols has been a cool operator all season long. The junior QB has completed 55.4 percent of his passes. He's completed 72 of 130 passes for 1,130 yards, 10 touchdowns and six interceptions. Three of those interceptions came in the game against Plains.

Nichols' favorite target has been wide receiver Lee Morris, who's caught 23 passes 475 yards. His 20.7 average-per-catch leads the team. Wingback Lance Soles has caught 16 passes for 255 yards while wide receiver Brandy Bryan has caught 15 passes for 220 yards.

Nichols also likes to throw to backfield mate Wayne Wright, who has snagged 21 passes for 202 yards. But Wright is even more deadly on the ground, where he's gained 1,448 yards. Last year Goldthwaite held him to 41 yards in 19 carries.

Both teams are coming off unimpressive bi-district wins, according to their coaches.

Goldthwaite defeated Stamford 30-8. Goldthwaite gained 184 yards offensively and Holtzclaw gained just 41 yards. But the Eagles turned three Stamford turnovers into 17 points.

"We played real good defense, but not offense," said Profit. "We've done a good job this year of turning turnovers into points, but we must play better offensively."

In Forsan's 12-7 win over Iraan, the Buffaloes made 160 yards on offense and Wright was limited to 72. "We weren't very intense last week," said East. "We had beaten them before and I think we were looking ahead to this game. The kids will be high for this one. I feel like we've got a chance to go a long way, but we've got to get by these folks first."

So the stage is set for Forsan-Goldthwaite II. The Forsan Buffaloes are hoping for a different ending.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, NOV. 21, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Both men and women are likely now to be in a receptive mood and to be helpful in whatever concerns both your personal and emotional interests.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Have a discussion with family ties about mutual interests and be more aware of problems connected with them.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day to sit down with an associate and see where you are both headed. Take it easy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are able to gain more benefits from whatever projects you are engaged in, so gather them in.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You are able to enjoy recreations that you like the most, be they athletic or romantic.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Study your personal desires early and then you can get a family tie to assist you in gaining them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you are understanding with new acquaintances they can be turned into fast and devoted friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look to individuals of both sexes who can assist you in some vital business project.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have an advanced course you want to follow, but handle it from a different angle for best results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can pay bills that have been worrying you for some time. Do whatever your mate desires.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Have a meeting with partners and plan a new enterprise wisely so that it can meet with success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can get a whole pile of work behind you if you apply yourself seriously. Take time for your friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Become more romantic with your beloved and the evening can be a highly pleasurable time together.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will easily gain the help of higher-ups for any enterprise which he, or she, becomes involved in. Teach this one not to hurt the feelings of others which could easily result in spoiling the friendship and losing benefits. Give a business-type education.
