Arms sale impact seen on oil price

By WILLIAM GARLAND
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The shipment of U.S. arms to Iran might upset the delicate political balance of OPEC and lead to higher worldwide oil prices, several knowledgeable industry analysts believe.

Oil prices would "go through the ceiling" if the arms — described as modest shipments by President Reagan — helped Iran win its 7-year war with Iraq, said one of the analysts.

Short of such a victory, Iran will be seen as a more influential Middle Eastern power as a result of the shipments and will have greater sway in influencing the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, the analysts said in interviews Friday.

Iran has led a faction in OPEC that wants sharply higher oil prices while Saudi Arabia has argued for a more moderate increase, to $18 per barrel, in worldwide prices. Oil prices currently are slightly higher than $15 per barrel.

The analysts said they strongly doubted that the Reagan administration took into account the possible impact on oil prices before authorizing the arms shipments, which were tied to negotiations for freeing several U.S. hostages with the help of Iran.

The arms shipment "will drive oil prices up because it will weaken Saudi Arabia's willingness to engage in a high-level confrontation with Iran" over pricing policy, said G. Henry Schuler, director of the council on energy and national security at the Georgetown University Center for Strategic and International Studies.

The influence of Iran has been widely cited as leading to the OPEC production restraint agreement in August that stopped the pumping of millions of barrels of excess OPEC oil into worldwide markets. The production agreement caused oil prices to recover to current levels from the nose dive in prices that had taken place most of this year.

"It definitely has an impact on Saudi Arabia," said Schuler about the arms shipments. But he said it "was not a factor in the U.S. equation" that led to the decision to ship arms.

Bill jumps on tap for city group

Information on how many citizens had water bills 50 percent and how many 100 percent above their averages will be reviewed at a meeting of the citizen water bill committee Monday night.

The committee will meet at 6 p.m. Monday at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp conference room.

Computer system engineer consultant Tom Bates performed a computer search for the information, and the report should be available for the meeting, said chairman Sam Robertson.

The information will be used to develop a formula for the committee's recommendation on providing water bill refunds, he said.

"We need to be fair and just," and to develop "something rational we can use," he said.

The committee voted at past meetings on recommendations for the city council, including a partial refund for some customers.

Customers whose bills are a certain percentage greater than their average bill should receive a refund of half the difference, the recommendation states. The percentage is to be discussed Monday night.

Meter readings for the months of May, June and October, 1986, are being used to determine a customer's average usage.

Water bills based on an estimated amount of water used instead of an actual meter reading should be clearly labeled "estimated," another recommendation states.

The council also should rescind recent legislation preventing a water bill adjustment when a customer has problems of which he is unaware, such as a broken water line, the committee voted.

The committee investigated possible causes of mass water meter malfunctions. Meters were tested for the affects of air flowing through them, and individual meters were examined at residences.

Officials from Neptune water meter company, which supplies about 95 percent of the city's water meters, attended last week's meeting, as did Bates.

Transition era offering choices

Mediocre, excellent?

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas is in a transitional era when it must choose between mediocrity and excellence, San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros told a University of Texas Conference on "The New Texas" Saturday.

"These are critical, decisive moments for Texas," said Cisneros, who was keynote speaker for the conference sponsored by the UT College of Communications.

The second annual All Texas Conference was part of the College of Journalism's "New Texas" Ses-quicentennial project devoted to the future of Texas in the information age.

During a panel discussion moderated by Bob Marbut, chief executive officer of Harte-Hanks Communications, Larry Temple said the 1987 Legislature holds the key to the state's status in higher education. Temple is the chairman of the Select Committee on Higher Education.

"The jury is out on our commitment to higher education," said Temple, who noted that the recent special legislative session made deep budget cuts, mostly in higher education, and approved only a small tax increase.

"When the Legislature meets in the spring, it seems to me, that it may determine for a couple of decades what we do in the economy of this state as it relates to higher education."

Another panelist, economist Ray

Perryman of Baylor University said his 20-year economic prediction for Texas showed a 2.9 percent growth rate for the state, slightly higher than the national prediction of 2.7 percent.

"It is the response of the people of Texas that causes me to be optimistic," Perryman said. "The state always does a little bit better than expected. The people have a can-do spirit."

Robert Reinhold, a New York Times reporter based in Houston, said he was skeptical of optimistic forecasts for Texas.

One-car accident kills city woman

A 38-year old Big Spring woman was killed in a one-car accident 10 miles north of Big Spring on FM 669 at 6:10 p.m. Friday.

Mary Jo (Jones) Dukes of South Haven Addition was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace China Long, according to Department of Public Safety reports.

Dukes was driving a 1980 Toyota two-door north on FM 669, approaching a sharp curve to the east when the car ran off the roadway. Dukes overcorrected, sending the car into a ditch at the side of the road, the report said.

She lost control of the vehicle, which went into a broadside skid. The car overturned 1 1/2 times, coming to rest on its top.

Dukes wasn't wearing a seatbelt, the report stated.

Funeral services will be Monday at 4 p.m. at Myers & Smith Fuenral Home with the Rev. Larry Ashlock of Midway Baptist Church and Dr. Lee Butler, retired chaplain at the Big Spring State Hospital officiating. Burial will be at Mount Olive Memorial Park.

She was born March 23, 1948, in Big Spring and was a member of the Midway Baptist Church. She graduated from Forsan High School in 1966. She lived most of her life in Howard County. She returned from New Jersey in 1982.

She was employed at the Big Spring State Hospital since July of 1982.

She is survived by two daughters, Jennifer Gajewski of Bricktown, N.J. and Mary Jo Gajewski of the home; a son, Joey Gajewski of Bricktown, N.J.; her mother, Helen Walker of Sand Springs; two brothers, Dennis Paul Jones of San Leandro, Calif. and Jimmie Jones of Longview; a sister, Mrs. Ed (Jody) Friend of Mesa, Ariz.; maternal grandmother, Macie Freeman of Liberal, Kan.; three stepsisters, Mrs. Clyde (LaBeth) Montgomery of Coahoma, Mrs. Earl (Wanda) McMurray of Sand Springs and Charlotte Ginnetti of Coahoma; two stepbrothers, Danny Walker of Coahoma and Ronnie Walker of Big Spring.

Iranian arms controversy continuing

By BRYAN BRUMLEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iran buys about half its weapons from Soviet allies and an additional third from China, receiving the remainder from gray and black market sources in the West and developing world, according to administration officials.

The figures support the assertion by President Reagan that U.S. arms shipments to Iran, via Israel and possibly other countries, would not tip the tide in the six-year-old Iran-Iraq war, a see-saw conflict waged largely by infantry forces.

"Remember this has largely been an infantry war fought with lightly armed foot soldiers," said one source who closely monitors the war. "The Iranian arsenal has been badly depleted," leaving Iraq with about a 4-to-1 edge in tanks and a similar advantage in warplanes, said the source, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

It was not clear how the administration, by shipping anti-tank and anti-aircraft weapons to Iran, intended to help end the war, as Reagan contended in his news conference Wednesday night.

The Iraqi ambassador to Washington, Nizar Hamdoon, said that the U.S. shipments to the Iranians "will help them to continue the war."

Slaying prompts coup rumors

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Military authorities tightened security around the office and residence of President Corason Aquino after the slaying Saturday night of a Moslem politician who backed her. Soldiers sealed off two broadcast complexes as new rumors of a possible coup attempt swept the capital.

Also, senior military commanders held an unexplained conference at armed forces headquarters into early Sunday.

Police said Ulbert Ulama Tugung, chairman of the Western Mindanao autonomous government, was shot in front of the Aurelio Hotel.

Tugung, 47, was the third political figure assassinated in the Manila area in 10 days. His slaying followed widespread allegations of a campaign to undermine the Aquino government.

About two hours after Tugung's killing, some 200 soldiers sealed off the government radio and television complex in suburban Quezon City and barred reporters from the area. Asked why they were there, soldiers said it was part of a "military operation," but refused to elaborate.

An employee of the broadcast complex, reached by telephone, said soldiers had mounted machine guns on the roof and "we have literally been taken over by the military without them saying so."

He quoted Col. Emiliano Templo, deputy commander of the Manila district, as telling the broadcast workers to remain calm. Templo said the action was a "dress rehearsal" but did not elaborate, said the employee, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Rene Noda, a producer at the Roman Catholic station Radio Veritas, said that at 8:20 p.m. Saturday, about 840 soldiers arrived at the station compound on the outskirts of town.

"I wouldn't say they've taken us over,"

Noda said. "They told us they were here to secure the situation from subversives. They've made no untoward move."

Manila television stations still were broadcasting after 5 a.m. Sunday, long after their normal sign-off.

More than a dozen military trucks lined both sides of the street leading to the presidential palace, and groups of soldiers could be seen milling about on the street corners after 3 a.m. Sunday.

A light tank was parked inside one of the main gates of the compound, and an armored personnel carrier was stationed in front of Mrs. Aquino's residence in the palace guesthouse. The street leading to the residence from the palace was blocked by a steel barricade guarded by armed soldiers.

Reliable sources at the palace said Mrs. Aquino was in her residence and planned to convene a meeting of some officials later Saturday morning.

Man stable after shooting

A local man remains in stable condition at Scenic Mountain Medical Center after he was shot early Saturday morning.

William Jack Watson, Sterling City Route Box 157, was shot in the upper back part of his left arm at 4:30 a.m. Saturday by an unknown person, sheriff's department reports stated.

Roy Gonzales, 22, of Ackerly was arrested at 10:23 p.m. Friday in Borden County by the Department of Public Safety. He was arrested for driving with no headlights when they were required, fleeing from an officer and evading arrest. He was released from the county jail on a total of $2,200 bond.

Transition

"The oil bust revealed very deep weaknesses in Texas' economy," Reinhold said. "Texas is still very dependent on certain industries and has no particular advantages to compete for new industries."

"The can-do spirit can help but you have to know what you are doing," Reinhold said.

Cisneros said that Texas must realize "we are in the transition of an old economy that depended on natural resources to a new economy that depends on advanced technologies; from an economy that had little foreign competition to one that lies in a world of heavy foreign competition."

"From a Texas in which job creation seemed to be a federal responsibility to an era in which the states are on their own and job creation is now on the state level," Cisneros said.

"Indirectly, it could have an extraordinary effect on the world oil scene," said James E. Akins, a Washington OPEC analyst who was ambassador to Saudi Arabia under the Nixon administration.

"It's not only the arms that have been sent, but the effect on morale in both Iraq and Iran," he said.

"The effect on Iranian morale has been electrifying. The lasting and extraordinary impact could be an Iraqi collapse. Then oil prices go through the ceiling."

"Overall, it means more likelihood of OPEC taking a hard line, raising the price," said Harold B. "Bud" Scoggins, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, based in Washington. "I think Iran is going to feel some compulsion now to flex its muscle a bit" within OPEC, he said.

Lawrence W. Goldstein, executive vice president of Petroleum Industry Research Foundation in New York, said there would not be "a direct and easy connection" between the impact on oil prices and the Iranian arms shipments.

Weather

Forecast

West Texas: Turning colder through Sunday night, becoming mostly cloudy Sunday though Monday. Chance of rain most sections tonight and Sunday possibly mixed with snow north and higher mountains. Chance of snow and snow mixed with rain most sections Sunday night diminishing by Monday. Highs Sunday 37 Panhandle to near 70 Big Bend. Lows Sunday night 24 Panhandle to 38 south. Highs Monday 40s except to 67 Big Bend.

State

A weak cold front stretched from the Central Plains into the Texas South Plains Saturday, while light rain was scattered over parts of Southeast Texas and the coastline extending offshore into the Gulf of Mexico.

Elsewhere, patches of fog continued to plague parts of East Texas, where Longview and Tyler reported visibility below a mile, the National Weather Service said.

Otherwise, skies were mostly clear over the western half of the state, while partly cloudy to cloudy skies covered the rest of Texas. Afternoon temperatures remained in 50s under the cloud cover in East Texas and over the Panhandle behind the cold front. Readings were in the 60s over far West Texas and the South Plains.

The rest of the state had temperatures mostly in the 70s and 80s. The late-afternoon extremes ranged from 55 degrees at Dalhart to 85 degrees at McAllen, the weather service said.

The forecast calls for continued partly to mostly cloudy skies and cooler temperatures Sunday with a chance of scattered showers or thunderstorms. Highs will be mostly in the 50s and 60s, except in the 40s over Northwest Texas.

Nation

One storm system spread snow across the northern Rockies on Saturday while a second following close behind was expected to cause flooding in the Pacific Northwest.

Temperatures in the 20s over parts of North Dakota, northern Minnesota and northern Maine combined with wind to produce wind chills of zero to 15 degrees below zero, but southern parts of Florida and Texas had highs in the 80s.

The storm that moved rapidly into the northern and central Rockies spread snow showers across western Montana, much of Idaho, parts of Washington and Oregon and northern Nevada.

Deaths

Clarence C. Bell

Services for Clarence C. Bell, 68, 1425 E. Sixth St., will be 2 p.m. Monday with Royce Clay, minister at 14th and Main Street Church of Christ, and Curtis Camp, Church of Christ minister of Amarillo, officiating. Burial will be at Trinity Memorial Park.

He died at 7:20 a.m. Friday, Nov. 21, 1986, at a local hospital after a sudden illness. He was born April 12, 1918, in Davidson, Okla., and married Violet McDonell July 3, 1945, in Big Spring. He lived in this area about 45 years and was a member of the Street Church of Christ.

He served in the Navy during World War II in the Philippines. He worked at Corden as a shift foreman for 39 years before retiring in 1981.

He was a member of the Cosden 25-Year Club and was a licensed master plumber in the state of Texas. At the time of his death, he was manager of the Ponderosa Apartments.

He is survived by his wife, Violet of Big Spring; three daughters, Lou Carol Mullis of Aspermont, Sharon Thompson of Desoto, and Cheryl Darst of Nevada, Texas; a sister, Myrtle Loftis of Amarillo; eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Al Valdez, Cotton Mize, Wayne Pate, Joe Faulkner, R.L. "Chris" Christenson, William G. Fuller, Bonnie Jones Sr., Hollis Smith, Ricky Faulkner, and Brad Patterson.

The family suggests memorials go to the American Heart Association.

CLARENCE C. BELL

from a telepath in "The Shining" to a magical senior citizen in "Twilight Zone: The Movie," died of cancer Saturday. He was 76.

His better-known recent roles were in Stanley Kubrick's 1980 film "The Shining," and Steven Spielberg's "The Twilight Zone" in 1983. He also appeared in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," "The Shootist," "Hello, Dolly" and "Bronco Billy."

The actor, whose given name was Benjamin Sherman Crothers, picked the nickname Scatman after his ability as a "scat" singer, improvising nonsense syllables to a melody.

Elzire Dionne
NORTH BAY, Ontario — Elzire Dionne, mother of the quintuplets whose birth and survival astounded the world 52 years ago, died Saturday at North Bay Civic Hospital. She was 77.

Mrs. Dionne was 25 when she gave birth to five identical girls — Annette, Cecile, Yvonne, Emilie and Marie — in the family's isolated log farmhouse in nearby Callander on May 28, 1934. The babies' combined weight was 13 pounds, 6 ounces, and odds against their surviving were judged astronomical. But all lived to become adults, something described by doctors as unprecedented in the history of mankind.

Anwar Nusseibeh
TEL AVIV, Israel — Anwar Nusseibeh, a former defense minister in Jordan and a leading Palestinian moderate, died Saturday of cancer at his home in Jerusalem. He was 74.

Nusseibeh, a Cambridge-educated lawyer and head of a prominent Palestinian clan, also served as housing minister, education minister, member of Parliament member and ambassador to Britain in Jordanian governments before the 1967 Middle East war.

At his death, Nusseibeh headed the East Jerusalem Electric Co., the last Palestinian economic bastion in the mixed Jewish-Arab city.

Controversy

"If the powerful of this world have to reach accommodation with Iran, why would (the Saudis) want to continue in a high-profile conflict with Iran over oil prices?" asked Schuler, who previously has negotiated with OPEC for U.S. oil companies and who often is consulted by Reagan administration officials on energy policy.

He predicted oil prices would rise to about $23 per barrel within six months, midway between the $18 price wanted by Saudi Arabia and the $28 price wanted by Iran.

the Iranian government is quite dangerous, no matter what the intentions behind it were," Hamdon said in an interview with The New York Times.

U.S. officials have "publicly and privately entreated" China, the Soviet Union and other nations to stem the flow of weapons, but these efforts may be undercut by disclosures of the secret American arms sales, administration sources said.

Iran appears to have intensified its stockpiling of weapons in recent months, in apparent preparation for a long-awaited "final offensive" pledged by the nation's spiritual patriarch, the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, sources said.

The onset of the rainy season in the Persian Gulf may further delay the Iranian offensive, according to Pentagon and State Department sources.

Wallace bids farewell

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. George C. Wallace cried openly Saturday as he bid farewell to the political faithful who once helped him run for president, telling more than 1,000 supporters: "I may never see you again."

"I'm sort of getting to be an old man," Wallace said at a barbecue luncheon and rally that was billed as a final chance to say goodbye to the four-term governor. "I'm the lamest duck there could be."

Wallace, 67, who has had to use a wheelchair since an assassination attempt during his 1972 bid for the White House, dabbed a handkerchief at his eyes repeatedly as a choral group sang "I've Reached The Mountain."

"As far as the political and governmental arena is concerned, I bid you a fond and affectionate farewell," he said.

Awaiting human heart

MILWAUKEE — A steel worker was doing "as well as we could hope" after receiving an artificial heart to keep him alive until a human heart is available for transplant, said one of his doctors.

Ronald Smith, 38, of Gary, Ind., remained in critical but stable condition Saturday after the nearly 8-hour operation Friday, the first use of the artificial heart in Wisconsin.

"It was obvious he would not be alive today if we didn't implant the artificial heart," said Dr. Alfred J. Tector, who helped implant the Jarvik-7 heart at St. Luke's Hospital.

Tector, who heads the Midwest Heart Surgery Institute, told reporters afterward that Smith was "doing as well as we could hope. The patient is stable."

Smith's wife, Dorothy, said her reaction had been "instant panic" when told of the decision to use an artificial heart. "But the family is relieved that he is doing so well," she said. The couple have one daughter.

She's eager for return

MARINETTE, Wis. — The wife of the American sentenced to 30 years in prison in Nicaragua said Saturday she is eager to get him back home but is making "decisions day by day."

"Even though he knew it was coming, when you hear it, it's difficult," Sally Hasenfus said of the sentence at a news conference outside her home. "It hits you harder. He's feeling pretty down about the conviction, but he's holding up."

Her husband, Eugene Hasenfus, 45, was captured by Nicaraguan soldiers Oct. 6, a day after his cargo plane, carrying arms and supplies for the U.S.-backed Contra rebels fighting the leftist Sandinista government, was shot down.

A People's Tribunal convicted him of terrorism and of disturbing public order and security, and imposed the maximum sentence Nov. 15.

Volcano erupts

Awaiting word on families

By MONIKA JAIN
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO — Hundreds of refugees from an erupting volcano on Oshima island listened anxiously Saturday to loudspeakers at the Minato Ward Sports Center in Tokyo, hoping for word on friends and relatives separated in the flight to safety.

Emiko Matsushima, 24, said she left Oshima with her husband and 5-month-old daughter, but was separated from her parents and two younger sisters when boarding the rescue boats.

"I'm very worried, and want to find and talk to them soon," she said. Her baby rested on her back as she hurriedly checked lists of names of evacuees.

The government overnight evacuated more than 11,000 people from the 35-square-mile island about 70 miles south of Tokyo after Mount Mihara erupted violently Friday and lava streamed toward the main town. Only police, firefighters and volcano experts remained.

Almost 2,000 of the evacuees were taken to the Minato Ward Sports Center in downtown Tokyo.

The Japan Broadcasting Corp. said 60 evacuation centers had been set up in Tokyo and Ito city on Izu Peninsula. It said about 150 people had been seen by doctors, but did not specify why.

There were no reports of serious injuries directly related to the eruption, but police said one elderly man died of a heart attack while being taken to a rescue vessel.

Many evacuees at the Tokyo center tried Saturday to telephone relatives and friends to tell them they were safe.

Yutaka and Tami Ishikawa said they were separated from their 36-year-old son, who stayed behind to help the island fire department.

"He sent a message saying 'be careful when you leave,'" Mrs. Ishikawa said. "I feel very worried about him. I just hope that at least the house remains standing."

Towels and blankets were handed out to the refugees, and dozens of officials and volunteers passed out lunch boxes brought in by the truckload.

One center official estimated it would be a week to 10 days before the evacuees could return home.

While some waited outside the building, scanning the crowds, others were fast asleep inside the gymnasium after their overnight boat trip. The officials said more evacuees would be able to move from the gymnasium to more comfortable rooms as people moved out to stay with friends and relatives.

Spill prompts closure

LUDWIGSHAFEN, West Germany — Two West German states on Saturday closed waterworks that draw from the Rhine because of the latest chemical spill into the already contaminated river.

Environmental officials in North Rhine-Westphalia and Rhineland-Palatinate states issued the order after discovering a toxic herbicide, dichloroacetic acid, was in the Rhine in concentrations up to a thousand times the level considered safe for drinking water.

The leak from the BASF AG chemical plant near Ludwigshafen on Friday was the third industrial spill into the Rhine in three weeks.

The closure order applies to all waterworks less than 500 yards from the river. Authorities could not immediately say how many waterworks that affected, but said there were at least several dozen.

Even so, no Rhine river city was without drinking water, as they have other sources available, authorities said. No illness related to the spill has been reported.

One injured in bombing

MELBOURNE, Australia — An explosion that police said was caused by a bomb rocked the building that houses the Turkish Consulate early today and injured one woman.

The blast came from a car in the basement parking lot of the five-story building in the fashionable suburb of South Yarra, said Allan Richards, Melbourne's deputy chief fire officer. The consulate is on the ground floor.

A woman, said by police to be in her 20s, suffered shock and minor cuts and was treated at the scene.

Police at the scene said the blast was caused by a bomb placed in a car, but official statements did not say whether an explosive device was involved.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility.

In December 1980, two gunmen killed the Turkish consul in Sydney and his bodyguard.

Five Soviets to Canada

OTTAWA — Five Soviet army deserters have been brought to Canada in a secret government mission after being held captive by Afghan rebels for about three years, newspapers reported Saturday.

Prime Minister Brian Mulroney confirmed that the five were "safe and sound" in Canada, but said no further information would be released until later this week.

The men were taken to a Canadian armed forces base in Ontario for debriefing. The Whig-Standard newspaper of Kingston, Ont., quoted unidentified sources as saying. The sources said the men were in good health.

Officials said representatives of Canada's External Affairs Department would speak to the Soviet Embassy about the secret mission.

The five men were flown to Canada on Thursday after being released in two groups and united in Pakistan. The Whig-Standard said.

Concert facts explanation given

To the editor:
In answer to C. Roy Wright's letter to the editor, published Nov. 19 on the Asleep at the Wheel concert conflict with the football playoff, I must take time to share with Mr. Wright some facts.
I attended the meeting when the concert project initially was shared and the Big Spring Steers game was not scheduled at that time. I certainly agree with supporting the Big Spring Steers and congratulate them on the great season they have had.
But, sometimes, things are planned and then other plans come about through transition such as the Steers playoff. I have seen this happen many times in my occupation and in city and civic functions. We can never find a time when there is no conflict.

However, I have been attending the city council meetings in an effort to show our mayor and councilmen some support. I can personally assure you that Councilman Johnny Rutherford has Big Spring at heart and I for one am proud to have him serve me as one of our city councilmen.
Sometimes, we see things in a different light because we are not too well informed as to what is really happening.

Column draws three-point rebuttal

To the editor:
Jesse Trevino's column last Sunday — "Church sets bad example" — bothers me for at least three reasons.

● First: He reduces Liberation Theology to a one-sentence definition, which, if taken at face value, sounds good.

● He says that Liberation Theology is "the belief that the church should be an integral part in the social development of man." Who could find fault with that?

● The truth is that this philosophy-theology is very complicated and volumes have been written about it.

What Trevino should have mentioned is that Vatican opposition and censure is based on at least two flaws that are incompatible with the gospel of Jesus Christ. Namely (1) that Liberation Theology is a Marxist analysis of the gospel with political application, and (2) that one of its fundamental postulates is that class hatred and class struggle are necessary for human liberation — i.e., revolution, and bloody if necessary.

● Trevino's column also bothers me because he offers the peculiar reasoning that the disciplining by the Vatican of Seattle Archbishop Hunthausen and theologian-teacher Rev. Charles Curran somehow threatens the free speech and thought of all Catholics.

What is so unfair about the church requiring that its official teachers and leaders teach and preach the doctrines they officially represent?

These two men are as free as anyone else to write, teach, preach and speak when they do so as private citizens. But they want approval for dissenting doctrine that the church holds to be untrue.

Their "discipline," after at least two years of investigation, amounts to abrogation of their official teaching authority.

● The third reason Trevino's column bothers me — and perhaps most serious — is the encouragement and suggestion Trevino seems to be giving to Hispanic Catholics to blame the church — both past and future — for human disobedience.

That kind of thinking, in my opinion, sets a really bad example.

'Tenderfoot' gets march invitation

To the editor:
Just a little note about Robert Wernsman — the 11-mile marathon walker (for the Northside Community Center).

I believe Mr. Wernsman is a "tenderfoot" for sure, after telling about his tender feet.

Sure feet are made for walking. I feel sorry for Mr. Wernsman — if that helps. But it was for a good cause, and down deep I believe I know just how he feels. He's glad and proud that he did it. He has proven to himself and others that he could do it, and that means a lot.

They are proud of him, too, and that should make up for a few little blisters.

Speaking of walking, what do you think of the people who walked from California to Washington? Maybe a young fellow like Mr. Wernsman needs some cheering a bit, seeing as now he has lots of experience.

As you know, we have a Christmas parade every year, and we ask 1,000 walkers to walk with us. We only walk a mile, though. That should be duck soup, or like taking candy from a baby, to a marathon walker like Mr. Wernsman.

So, as the coordinator for the Christian marchers, it gives me great pleasure to extend an invitation to Mr. Wernsman to walk with us. We will be proud to have him and others he might bring with him.

I walked a mile once for a camel, and I'm not a long distance walker. Shall we expect Robert? It will be the greatest mile he ever walked.

He should be at the Box parking lot Saturday, Dec. 13, at 9 a.m. That is where the parade marchers will form.

I hope this invite doesn't come as too much of a walk so soon after his other walk.

Widening sought for Highway 33

To the editor:
I have been hearing about the plan to widen Highway 87.

I think if they are so anxious to spend money on a road, it should be Highway 33. It needs to be widened from Highway 87 to Garden City.

About 75 to 100 feet could be put to use on both sides of that road. You can drive down the road and see where workers have been patching holes in the shoulders. There isn't much room for passing oncoming cars, so the shoulders get broken.

They spend enough money and time patching the holes that they could widen the road 10 to 15 feet on both sides. But they will keep wasting time and money patching holes until someone is killed, and then it will cost more.

I have been driving trucks most of my life, and I know highways. There isn't anything wrong with Highway 87 the way it is.

Just like Third and Fourth streets, they are no better now than they were before they worked on them. And they will be patching them soon.

Why spend the money if they are not going to do it right?

But it's your money, so why should they care.

First national Thanksgiving offers different perspective

By DARRELL BERKHEIMER
There was little to give thanks for in the fall of 1777 when Continental Congress initiated the first national Thanksgiving.

The 13 states were at war with England in an attempt to make good their Declaration of Independence.

Goods, except those handcrafted in the colonies or raised from the ground, were in short supply because England controlled the seas.

Continental soldiers, in need of clothing and boots, began to suffer as much from the weather as from the advancing British.

Seldom do we think of that scene when Thanksgiving time comes. If our thoughts turn historic, we usually think instead of Pilgrims in dark hats, short pants over long stockings and wide belts with big buckles.

We think of them holding blunderbuss shotguns as Indians carry turkeys and deer to the first Thanksgiving.

But when Thanksgiving comes, I tend to think about 1777 because I was born and raised in York, Pa., where Continental Congress was meeting when that first official Thanksgiving proclamation was adopted.

At sunset on Oct. 31, 1777, Samuel Adams had authority to write that first Thanksgiving proclamation.

The next morning, Saturday, Nov. 1, his committee presented to Congress the proclamation that Adams must have scratched out by candlelight the night before.

Berky's babblings

That proclamation set Dec. 18 as the day "for solemn thanksgiving and praise, that with one heart and one voice the good people may express the grateful feelings of their hearts and consecrate themselves to the service of their divine benefactor."

On the same day the proclamation was adopted, Henry Laurens, then president of Congress, wrote a letter to each of the governors of the 13 newly independent states, enclosing a copy of the proclamation.

Historic accounts reveal that Dec. 18 that year was "dark and misty" and that a cold rain fell.

In Valley Forge that first national Thanksgiving, Lt. Col. Henry Dearborn wrote in his diary:

"God knows we have very little to keep it with, this being the third day we have been without flour or bread and are living on the cold ground. Upon the whole I think all we have to be thankful for is that we are alive and not in the grave with many of our friends."

An army surgeon near Valley Forge, also on that first national Thanksgiving Day, said, "Mankind is never truly thankful for the benefits of life until they have experienced the want of them."

Thanksgiving celebrations had, of course, occurred previously in several states. But that Dec. 18 of 1777 marked the first time a Thanksgiving was observed in a coordinated manner throughout the states.

Later — with the growth of peace, power and prosperity — Thanksgiving proclamations ceased after the presidential terms of John Adams and James Madison. But in the 1840s, a determined woman editor, Sarah Josepha Hale, successfully campaigned to restore the custom.

The observance, however, has been shifted to late November because an early or mid-December date was considered much too close to Christmas.

I'm not sure whether I would know much about these sidelights of Thanksgiving had I not been raised in that historic Pennsylvania setting.

I thought I'd share this information because I think it offers another interesting perspective to our observance — an observance that seems to be more important when we're experiencing the hardest of times.

Clements again casting eyes toward improving Mexico ties

By JIM DAVIS
Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Bill Clements will be up to his ears in domestic budget problems when he takes over as governor in January, but that won't keep him from casting his eyes southward occasionally and engaging in a bit of international relations.

One of the trademarks of Clements' first four-year administration was his active interest in promoting a special relationship between Mexico and Texas.

Within days of taking office in January 1979, Clements flew to Mexico City to meet with then-President Jose Lopez Portillo. The two met several more times during those next four years, and Clements visited and played host to the governors of all four Mexican states bordering Texas.

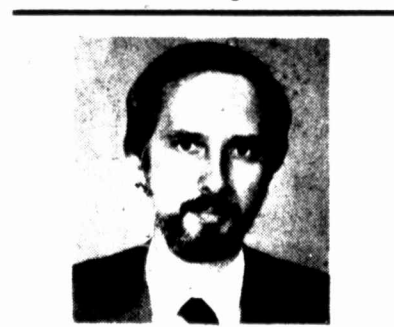

When the PRI (the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party) nominated its candidate for president in 1982, Clements quickly headed southward for a meeting to make sure that his policy of improved relations would continue into the 1980s.

Nomination by the PRI is tantamount to election in Mexico's one party-dominated politics.

One thing interfered with that carefully conceived plan: A nomination for a second term as governor of Texas is far less certain of success than the PRI's nomination for president of Mexico.

Clements lost his Republican governorship to Democrat Mark White in 1982.

It's possible that Clements' interest in Mexico played a small part in his defeat. At times during the campaign Democrats criticized his special interest in improving communications and cooperation with Mexican border states.

The Democrats said the governor ought to keep his body and his attention in Texas. They hinted that Clements' activities bordered at times on violating federal laws that limit negotiations with foreign states to the U.S. government.

But Clements never seemed bothered by such criticism, and he likely won't pay much attention to it now.

In his successful campaign against White this year, Clements concentrated on domestic issues relating to the Texas economy, but he jumped at every opportunity to talk about Mexico.

During Clements' Republican primary campaign last spring, this reporter and the candidate sat in the lobby of a Houston hotel for what was supposed to be a quick interview. Clements succinctly answered most of the questions.

But when asked whether he would, if elected again, reinstitute his promotion of special ties with Mexico, Clements not only said yes but also launched into a detailed answer stressing the importance of such ties.

And when he campaigned later against White with a six-point economic development plan, he put improved relations and increased trade with our neighbors to the south on the list.

The exact form of Clements' renewed policy of improved relations with Mexico is unclear, and the state's budget crisis may limit what he can do.

For one thing, the budget deficit itself must dominate the new governor's attention. He has pledged to cut spending and hold down taxes, and he will be judged mostly on how well he can work with the Texas Legislature to accomplish those goals.

The problem will leave little time for the personal sort of Texas-to-Mexico diplomacy that marked his first administration.

Clements also could face an image problem if he flies off to Mexico too often on state-paid trips while other state spending is slashed.

But he can't afford to sit back and do nothing if he really wants to promote new ties with Mexico.

U.S.-Mexican relations already are strained after comments by U.S. officials about corruption and drug trafficking among Mexican officials. And many Mexicans blame their powerful neighbor to the north for the severe economic problems their country is battling.

White's administration scored some publicity points with a state relief effort that rebuilt a Mexico City school after the 1985 earthquakes, but not much has been done to establish any lasting relationship.

Jesse Trevino Texas can't afford cuts in education

By JESSE TREVINO
Sometimes, it seems, a higher force is warning Texas about its future. Recent developments on the education front look too one-sided to be left to mere humans.

Last week, a report sponsored by the American Association of State College and Universities decried the shrinking financial resources available to all college students. The report concluded that lost opportunities in education are creating a new, permanent underclass of citizens.

Ethnic minorities, the report said, will constitute a substantial segment of this emerging subgroup — whose continued growth would be an act of "national suicide."

That report was followed later in the week by a disappointing survey conducted by the Intercultural Development Research Association of San Antonio. The survey reported dropout rates among the state's Mexican-Americans remain as alarming as ever.

Half of all Mexican-American students drop out before they are scheduled to graduate from high school — strong evidence that Hispanics will dominate the emerging underclass of unskilled, uneducated workers.

Prominent Texans H. Ross Perot and Bobby Ray Inman have not kept secret their fears about the possible evolution of this Hispanic underclass.

Any Texan can find more evidence for these fears in yet another report, prepared by the Mexican-American Task Force on Higher Education for the Select Committee on Higher Education. The committee paid surprisingly little attention to the report, brushing it aside at its September meeting.

The report drew even less attention from the press covering the committee's deliberations on higher education's role in the future of Texas. Seemingly content with exploring little more than the implications of the new immigration bill, the state's press seems unable to grasp the global implications of the Hispanic community's growth.

But grasp them we must. While the educational deficiencies afflicting Mexican-Americans are not confined to Hispanics alone, their accelerating growth may be planting seeds for problems on a scale so far unimaginable in Texas.

Comprising 21 percent of the population, Hispanics will grow to almost 40 percent of the state's population in the next 15 years. The need to educate as many Mexican-Americans as possible should be self-evident.

Yet the number of Mexican-Americans in college is dropping.

Mexican-American enrollment in the state's public colleges and universities increased steadily from 25,113 in 1977 to 33,367 in 1985, falling from a high of 33,367 in 1983. Individuals familiar with Hispanic enrollment figures suspect college Hispanic enrollment will decline further in 1986.

Even if the decline from 1983 to 1985 were reversed, total enrollment will have hovered around the same number for several years — surely an unwelcome sign.

The root causes of these stagnating figures are the lack of financial resources and the malignant legacies of bad elementary and high school educations.

Yet, Mexican-American students from lower-income families receive smaller financial aid packages than Anglo students in similar financial circumstances.

Whether one group gets more or less than another is not the issue. We must get more individuals into schools and, once in school, they should not fall through the cracks because of a lack of money.

Should dwindling enrollments, diminishing financial aid and spiraling drop-out rates in both high school and college be the norm, Texas will approach the 21st century with wounds that are truly self-inflicted.

Jesse Trevino writes on social and political issues.

Assassination anniversary observed

Personal theories abound

By SUZANNE GAMBOA
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Bill Borom designated himself a volunteer tour guide Saturday and marked the 23rd anniversary of John F. Kennedy's assassination by mapping out the president's route for visitors to the downtown Kennedy memorial.

"It was a morning just like this. He was coming down the street and the sun suddenly broke through," Borom told a visiting family. "And the Secret Service men decided, 'Let's take the bubble canopy off and let the people see.'"

"If they had left it on another 10 minutes, he would be alive today," Borom said.

Although the city has not had an organized commemoration of the presidential slaying for years, at least 100 people came out Saturday in cool, foggy weather to see the infamous route.

At 12:30 p.m., the approximate time the fatal bullets were fired, one group of people clasped hands and bowed their heads, while others stood nearby in respectful silence.

Two pink bows and some silk flowers decorated the lawn flanking Elm Street, the street Kennedy's motorcade was traveling when he was shot.

A yellow and white plastic flower arrangement with a label reading "A Witness" also marked the site Saturday, and pink ribbons were tied around green lamp posts along the route.

Although some made a stop at the memorial, most gathered at the Texas

Schoolbook Depository and at Dealey Plaza along the motorcade route.

"It's still overwhelming after all these years, after 23 years has passed," said Debra Johnson, a student of Lamar University in Beaumont. "It's still kind of sad in a way."

Ms. Johnson visited the site with several other Lamar students to fulfill a criminal justice class assignment.

"We're here just to look at the crime scene," she said.

Conversations of most of the visitors were dominated by personal theories on the assassination.

Following the moment of silence, several of the visitors sat and listened to Penn Jones, an elderly man who says he has researched the assassination and each year gives visitors his opinion in an informal speech.

"He was trapped by the police in this area," Jones said sweeping his hand across Elm Street. "It is my opinion that there were nine guns that fired one shot each. One of those guns was on top of the Dallas County jail, and I assure you in order to get up on top ... you got to get permission from the sheriff," he said.

"The greatest short-selling in history took place on the morning of Nov. 22, 1963," Jones said.

A number of visitors were from out of state.

Debts, death, two wives devastate families

WACO (AP) — A hearing is set for Dec. 11 in the bankruptcy proceedings of a tire dealer whose slaying last month led to revelations he had two wives and debts of $2 million.

Harold McCollum and his wife, Marguerite, both 68, listed $2.6 million in debts and $1.3 million in assets in a Chapter 11 reorganization filed July 1.

Waco attorney J. David Dickson, who filed the reorganization papers for McCollum, said the family will make a statement in a few weeks, adding that the "triple trauma" of bankruptcy, murder and revelations about McCollum had been devastating for them.

Dickson said he does not anticipate claims by other spouses or family members other than the Waco family on McCollum's estate. McCollum's body was found Oct. 16 on the banks of the Navasota River in Leon County. He had been shot twice in the head with two guns, police said. Authorities have made no arrests in the case.

It was then disclosed that McCollum was married to a woman in Dallas. Earlier, he had been married to three other women simultaneously in Tennessee, California and Lubbock.

McCollum's widow in Waco, Marguerite Wallace McCollum, filed a court document seeking resolution of the bankruptcy claim Oct. 27.

Dickson said he couldn't comment on details because of the criminal investigation into McCollum's death.

McCollum once operated a Waco-based tire wholesaling and retailing business, Allied Tire Co.

According to documents filed in federal court, he owed $1 million to Longview resident Carl Johnson on a loan, $544,160 to the Guaranty Bank of Mount Pleasant, and nearly $42,000 in back taxes from 1982, 1983, 1984, and 1985.

In August, State District Judge Derwood Johnson found Allied Tire Co. in default to Lee Tire & Rubber Co. and ordered Allied to pay $523,080 plus attorneys' fees.

In September, Johnson found Allied and related companies in default to General Tire Co. and ordered the company to pay $194,012 plus $19,401 in attorneys' fees.

Brother believed dead found 42 years after departing

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston woman located the younger brother she believed was dead 42 years after he left their home in Romania, thanks to help from Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Irina Cobzuc, 67, was able to place a telephone call this week to her brother, Ion Lintescu, 66, in Australia.

"He was so glad to hear me," Mrs. Cobzuc said. "For me, now that I've found my brother, everything is possible."

She said her brother told her he might come to Houston for a visit.

The two became separated when Lintescu left Romania to study in Germany in 1944 during the closing months of World War II. After the war, he stayed in Germany until his employer transferred him to Australia, his sister said.

She last heard from him in 1950 when he wrote to say he was immigrating to Australia. She said she wrote back, but he apparently never received her letters.

The family never gave up. After the Cobzucs had settled in Houston, their daughter, Liliana Cobzuc Ashley, wrote last month to the Texas senator to ask for help in locating the brother.

Katy Rail's 114th birthday celebration will be somber

DENISON (AP) — It is likely to be a somber birthday party on Christmas Day when the Katy Railroad celebrates its 114 years in this North Texas town.

The planned merger of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad with Union Pacific means "we're losing the backbone of Denison" along with 580 jobs that paid $17 million a year, said City Manager Jim Stiff. Besides the economic impact, Denison will be losing historical and sentimental attachments, he said.

Plane crash victim found

ARCOLA (AP) — Authorities said Saturday they found the body of a pilot who died when his small-engine plane crashed into woods near here after it had left the Southwest Houston-Arcola Airport.

The Federal Aviation Administration was investigating Saturday afternoon, said Fort Bend County Sheriff's spokesman Bobby Grayless. The cause of the crash and the pilot's identity were not known, he said.

The pilot was believed to be the aircraft's only passenger, officials said. The remains of the light Mooney aircraft were found at about noon in a remote area after authorities began searching for a plane that left the suburban airport at 8:30 p.m. Friday but never reached its College Station destination, Texas Wings Lt. Col. Harry Hicks said.

His volunteer civil air patrol searched for the plane in the Arcola and College Station areas, he said. The plane was found about a mile from the Southwest Houston-Arcola airport, he said.

SMU interim pres admired

DALLAS (AP) — William B. Stallcup Jr., who was nominated interim president at Southern Methodist University, is described as a dedicated scientist liked by students and admired by faculty.

"I have never heard anyone ever say a negative thing about him," said Assistant Provost Judy Mohraz.

"We absolutely love the man as a colleague and a friend. He is integrity," said Dennis Smith, chairman of the biology department.

Stallcup was nominated interim president after the resignation of President L. Donald Shields on Friday.

Stallcup will serve in that position until a new president is chosen, and he said he has no ambition to be Shields' permanent replacement.

Senior Tracy Haley, president of the student senate, called Stallcup a "charming and pleasant man" who is a friend to students.

"What impressed me was that shortly after the announcement, he told me he wanted to meet with us soon," she said.

Stallcup joined SMU's biology department in 1945 and has served as associate provost twice. He also is a graduate of the university.

"He's exactly what the university needs now," said Charles Sprague, president emeritus of the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas, who is a longtime friend of Stallcup.

"Bill is solid, very thorough and very thoughtful," he said.

When good moms have bad days, kids can suffer.

The phone keeps ringing. The dishwasher won't work. You've got a splitting headache. And now the baby's crying her head off in the back bedroom. You drop a dish, you bump your elbow, the crying gets louder... and suddenly you're headed for the baby determined to shut her up. Stop.

Take time out. Sit down, breathe deeply, count to ten very slowly. If the anger's still there, punch a pillow. Take a hot bath or a cold shower. Whatever you do, don't take hold of your child until you get hold of yourself.

Information about your changing telephone service from Darlene Gifford, Manager-Community Relations

A look at phone services of the future
It may be hard to believe but 1987 is a little more than a month away. I don't know about you, but every year about this time, I start to think about the future. It's as if the passage from one year to the next is a window, and every November I get the urge to step up to that window to look at the images on the other side of the glass.

As an employee of Southwestern Bell Telephone, I am naturally inclined to think about the changes that will be taking place in the telecommunications industry. Certainly, this industry has had more than its share of changes in the last few years. However, when I look to the future, I see technological advancements that will literally change — no, revolutionize — our way of life.

Business Week recently published an excellent article on the future of the telecommunications industry, titled, "The Rewiring of America." It told of how current research is working toward forming one compatible coast-to-coast network, called the Integrated Services Digital Network or ISDN. This system would simultaneously carry voice and data messages over one line, acting as a sort of telecommunications super-highway.

Before ISDN can become a reality, however, new types of equipment must be installed nationwide. Especially critical to ISDN is the digital switch, which Southwestern Bell Telephone is installing at an aggressive pace in its central offices across the state. This year alone it is estimated that we will spend $253 million on this project.

As part owner of Bellcore, the research wing of the seven regional Bell operating companies, Southwestern Bell Telephone is participating in experiments relating to the ISDN. The developments initiated in the coming years will not only improve the quality of your call transmission, but will expand the ways in which you use your phone.

Technology permits new uses for your phone
For example, your phone line will be able to serve as a home security system, mail carrier and, with the help of your personal computer, a video newspaper. You will also be able to use your phone to check the status of your bank account in another city.

The new technology will make your phone even more reliable than it is now. Among the service-related developments on the horizon is a computer system that will detect trouble on your line — even before you do — and automatically make the necessary repairs.

What's more, you will have a wide choice of phone features — far beyond what you may have ever imagined. For example, our network will know the originating location of an incoming call. Then, as the phone is ringing, a computer-generated voice will announce the caller's name so you can decide if you would like to answer it or not.

Farfetched? Not at all. Austin customers have been trialing early versions of similar services for nearly two years. One of the most popular, Automatic Recall, addresses a frustration we have all experienced. Inevitably, when you rush to answer a ringing telephone, it stops just as you pick it up. With this phone feature, you can call that number back by simply dialing a two digit code.

Another feature being tested allows you to block certain numbers from ringing through to your phone. Another still, enables you to forward only certain calls to a third number. And perhaps one feature that could have the greatest impact of all, will allow you to trace annoyance calls.

The ultimate winner in this technological explosion will be you, the phone customer. You will have advanced telecommunication systems at your fingertips. And if you prefer only to use your phone for that most basic of reasons — to make a call — you will have faster, more dependable phone service than ever before.

We are proud of the research under way at Southwestern Bell Telephone. It is part of our pledge to provide you with the best possible phone service — today and in the future.

Contract approval will return idled workers

KOKOMO, Ind. (AP) — Autoworkers, whose strike at a key plant idled tens of thousands of General Motors Corp. employees nationwide, overwhelmingly approved a new contract Saturday, a union official said.

With about 3,000 votes cast, approximately 99 percent of the striking Delco Electronics plant workers approved the new contract, said Mike Thayer, shop Chairman of United Auto Workers Local 292.

The 7,700 UAW workers at the GM subsidiary, which makes and ships parts used in all GM cars, walked off the job Monday in a dispute over job subcontracting and transfer of some radio work to Mexico.

By Friday, the ensuing parts shortage forced 37,550 layoffs at other GM plants. By Monday, more than 47,000 workers at 16 assembly plants nationwide would have been idled, GM spokesman Donald Postma said Saturday.

The plants that face layoffs on Monday are in Missouri, Louisiana, Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, Kansas, Indiana and Delaware.

John Grix, another company spokesman in Detroit, said the company was working to determine how long it would take to return the affected plants to full production once the Kokomo strikers return to work.

Thayer estimated the first full shift of Delco employees would return to work around midnight Sunday.

Thayer said the new contract keeps radio production at the Kokomo plant. In return, employees promoted to a new radio product line would not transfer to other units for 12 months, saving the company training costs.

He said that during negotiations, which ended early Friday, GM offered to keep the radio lines in Kokomo if UAW negotiators could find $25 million in cost-cutting measures.

The two sides also agreed to eliminate some management positions by requiring hourly workers to take more responsibility, including some budget planning.

PUBLIC NOTICE

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals addressed to the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Big Spring, Texas, will be received at the office of the Purchase Agent, City Hall, Big Spring, Texas, until 2:00 P.M., December 1, 1986, for either equipment only or equipment and labor necessary for the maintenance and repairs to the municipal swimming pool at the City of Big Spring, Comanche Trail Park.

Bidders should note that there are two separate proposals to be bid. Proposal A consists of the equipment and labor necessary for the renovation and repairs to the existing Comanche Trail Park Swimming Pool and will include the replacement or repair of a portion of the expansion joints and concrete surface of the 9,000 square foot pool, recirculation piping and filtration system. Proposal B consists of equipment only necessary for the renovation and repairs to the pool as previously described. The City of Big Spring will provide all necessary labor for Proposal B.

Bidders may submit bids on either Proposal A or Proposal B or both. The project will be awarded based on the lowest qualified bid of either Proposal A or Proposal B whichever is most advantageous to the City of Big Spring. Additive alternates are included with each proposal. Any combination or none of the alternates may be awarded with the base bid. The City of Big Spring reserves the right to choose which proposal will be utilized as well as the right to reject all bids.

Bidders must submit a Cashier's or Certified Check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, or a Proposal Bond from a reliable Surety Company, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Big Spring, Texas, in an amount not less than five percent (5%) of the largest possible bid submitted as a guaranty that the Bidder will enter into a contract and execute bonds and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without the required check or Proposal Bonds will not be considered.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Payment Bond, each in the amount of the contract, written by a responsible Surety Company, authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and satisfactory to the Owner, as required by Article 5160, V.A.T.C.S., as amended by H.B. 344, passed by the 56th Legislature, Regular Session, 1959.

The City of Big Spring, Texas, reserves the right to hold all proposals for a period not to exceed 30 days after the date of receiving bids, to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities. No bids may be withdrawn, after having been opened, within the 30 day period set out herein.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions.

Information for bidders, proposal forms, specifications and plans are on file in the office of the Purchase Agent, City Hall, Big Spring, Texas, and at the office of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, Inc., Consulting Engineers, 4010 Avenue R, Lubbock, Texas 79412. Phone 806-747-0161.

Copies of the plans, specifications, and contract documents may be secured at the office of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, Inc., Consulting Engineers, 4010 Avenue R, Lubbock, Texas 79412 (Phone 806-747-0161) upon payment of $25.00 deposit for each set of documents. Refund of the deposit will be made as provided in the INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS.

Attention is called to the fact that there must be paid on the project not less than the general prevailing rates of wages as set out in the SPECIAL PROVISIONS. However, the inclusion of such minimum schedule of wages does not release the Contractor from compliance with any State Wage Law that may be applicable. The Contractor must abide by the Wage and Hour Laws of the State of Texas and must pay not less than the rates legally prescribed or as set forth in the SPECIAL PROVISIONS, whichever is higher.

REAL ESTATE REPORTING

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 obligates real estate brokers, mortgage lenders, or other persons responsible for closing a real estate transaction to file certain information with the Internal Revenue Service.

It appears that all real estate sales, including business and non-business property, will be required to be reported after January 1, 1987. The reporting will be done on a Form 1099 (much the same as the one now used for interest and dividend reporting).

It appears that the party responsible for reporting real estate sales will be the broker. New IRS regulations will define the term "broker" for this purpose. The broker may be any of several people involved in a real estate transaction. The primary responsibility for reporting could lie with the realtor, attorney, title company, mortgage lender, seller's broker, buyer's broker, or any other person that the Internal Revenue Service chooses to designate in the regulations.

The new regulations will specify the information to be supplied on Form 1099. It will require information which will give the IRS the identity of the seller (by name, address, and taxpayer identification number), the amount of the sale, and the date of sale.

Since this will affect all closings after January 1, 1987, it seems appropriate to set up good office procedures now to allow you to comply with the new law. Even if your office will not be primarily responsible for reporting, perhaps a procedure for obtaining a copy of the report for your files would be a good idea. The final regulations may not be available before January 1, 1987. One should therefore establish procedures with the best information available at this time.

The responsible party will be subject to a penalty of $50 for each unreported transaction.

If we can be of assistance to you in complying with this new filing requirement, please contact us.

Nebraska coliseum may be site of Farm Aid III

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Farm Aid III will be hosted at Memorial Stadium unless University of Nebraska officials object, Gov. Bob Kerrey said Saturday.
Singer Willie Nelson announced Friday that he wants to give the benefit concert in the 73,650-seat NU football stadium.

"If the university gives its approval, that's where it will be," Kerrey said.
University of Nebraska-Lincoln officials have not reviewed the proposal but will consider it carefully, NU President Ronald W. Roskens said.
"I would think it's the sort of thing we'd want to try to give help to," Roskens said. "Cooperation is our motto."

Nelson said he'd like the concert in late September, close to the second anniversary of the first Farm Aid concert. Nelson organized Farm Aid I in Champaign, Ill., and Farm Aid II in Austin.

The country music star made his announcement about Farm Aid III at the Austin Opera House, where he was officiating at a music contest.
"This may come as news to the people in Lincoln," Nelson said with a chuckle.
"We'd originally talked about having Farm Aid III in Washington, D.C., in JFK Stadium," the singer said. "But the more I thought about it, the more sense it made to go to the heart of the country, where people are suffering and need help. We had the last one in Texas, so I thought, 'This time, Nebraska.'"

Kerrey said he discussed the concert with Nelson on Thursday. The governor said he'd like for it to be in Lincoln.
"It doesn't hurt at all to get some enthusiasm going and have people pay some attention to the farm crisis," Kerrey said.

Hereford knocks Steers from playoffs

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

LUBBOCK — As any Steer fan who was in Lubbock last night will tell you, the Big Spring Steers played well enough to advance in the state playoffs.

They played gutsy football on both offensive and defensive, and had the Hereford Whiteface exactly where they wanted them — with a 10-point lead in the fourth quarter.

And that advantage might just as well have been a 17-point lead.

But the Whitefaces turned the Steers' fourth quarter fumbles into touchdowns, and scored 19 points in the closing stanza to close the Steers' season 26-17 at Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

The Steers finish with a most respectable 9-2 season mark.

"The fumbles just up and got us. I'm naturally real disappointed in the outcome of this game," Steers' coach Quinn Eudy said.

"But I'm proud of this team. They won a district championship — the first team to win a district championship in 33 years. They ought to be proud of it," he added.

The Steers scored first on a 20-yard John Olsen field goal after a Whiteface fumble. Steers' safety Brian Mayfield had slammed Hereford's Mark Artho leading to Todd Coker's recovery of the loose ball.

A 35-yard keeper by Paul Decker set up the field goal.

Late in the quarter the Whitefaces drove 75 yards to take a 7-3 lead. Quarterback Todd Shire completed passes of 29, 17 and nine yards on the drive. Vincent Brown scored from three yards out with 2:01 remaining in the quarter.

The Steers' punting game dominated the contest in the second and third quarters. John Olsen, who shared punting duties with Mayfield, walloped a 72-yard punt that rolled out on the Hereford three yardline.

The Steer defense, strong all night, forced a punt and the offense took over on the Hereford 42.

After a first down, Decker rolled to his right, spotted Phillip Mathews, and passed 27-yards for the score. Mathews fell on the goal line marker to give the Steers a 10-7 lead.

With less than a minute remaining in the half, Mayfield boomed a 55-yard punt that Whiteface's return man Marcus Brown muffed. The Steers' Marcos Ramos recovered at the five, but the Steers failed to take advantage of the opportunity.

Eudy opted to go for the touchdown. The angle for a kick was poor, and Eudy said he believed the Steers could score.

A Hereford defender proved otherwise, when he upended Charles White on the three. The half ended with Big Spring leading 10-7.

The Steers and Whitefaces traded interceptions to open the second half. Then, Mayfield and the Steers' punting team replayed their earlier fortunes.

Mayfield rolled this one 53 yards, and again it was Marcus Brown who fumbled. Steers' center Charley Ogle recovered on the four.

Decker had pitched twice to Mathews on the failed scoring attempt that ended the half. He chose a different route this time.

Keeping the ball, Decker scored easily when the Whitefaces keyed on Mathews. The Steers led 17-7 with 6:36 remaining in the third quarter.

The Steers' defense, led by Dickie Kelly's sack, stopped the Whitefaces on their next possession. Hereford's initial first down in the second half did not come until the 11:46 mark in the fourth quarter.

The Whitefaces' defense held the Steers on three plays, only to set up another Mayfield punt. He shanked the kick; however, a Herford penalty provided a second chance.

Hereford may have thought Mayfield was greasing the ball on the sideline, because 42 yards later Robbie Collier fumbled it. Eric Thompson landed on the Steers' punting team third fumble recovery of the night. Although Thompson recovered on the eight, a personal foul gave the Steers first and goal on the Hereford 21. The Steers were unable to capitalize, and the quarter ended at 17-7.

"The whole thing boiled down to the punting game. When we had the ball deep down in their territory, we should have put more points on the board and didn't. Later on, it came back to haunt us," Eudy said.

Early in the fourth quarter, Hereford's Shire went to work on the Steer secondary. Beginning at the 26, he completed passes of 24, 35 and 18 yards. The last one, to split end Bobby Baker, closed the Steers' margin to 17-13.

The Whitefaces went for two because they trailed the Steers 5-1 in penetrations at the time. Had the game ended in a tie, the Steers would have advanced to the next playoff round on the basis of penetrations within their opponents' 20-yard line. The two-point attempt failed.

The teams traded punts, and the Steers took over on their 14 with 6:47 remaining.

Their task: hold on to the ball and take their time doing it.

On the first play, however, Mathews fumbled and the Whitefaces recovered on the 15. One play later, Vincent Brown ran untouched around the right end and the Whitefaces owned their first lead in more than two quarters.

The Steers took over on their own 38 after the kickoff.

White ran over right tackle on the first play for 12 yards and a first down. Moments later he went nine yards on a crucial third down play, for the Steers' second first down in the drive.

The Steers had the ball on the Hereford 35 and looked strong. The line was moving the Whitefaces' defensive front and White was running hard.

Miscommunication on first down between Decker and White on the Veer resulted in a fumble. Hereford recovered on its own 32.

To that point, the Steers had held the Whitefaces to just 32 yards rushing.

Moments later, however, Artho raced 55 yards to the Steers' 10. STEERS page 3B

A trio of Big Spring Steers put the stop on Hereford split end Bobby Baker (88) during first quarter action of Saturday night's Class AAAA bi-district clash between the Big Spring Steers and Hereford Whitefaces. Hereford won the game 26-17.

Big Spring Steers quarterback Paul Decker has lots of running room against the Hereford defense as he makes a good gain in state playoff action in Lubbock Saturday. Pursuing on the play is Hereford's Robbie Collier (3) and Bobby Medina.

Queens whip Grayson, 73-56

By STEVE BELVIN

The Howard College Hawk-Queens closed out a successful tournament as they defeated the Grayson County Vikings 73-56 Saturday afternoon in the Howard Hawk-Queen Classic at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The win gave Howard a 3-0 record in the tourney. Western Texas and Odessa also went 3-0 in the tournament. Howard, WTC and Odessa are all in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference. Coach Don Stevens' Queens are now 8-2 for the season.

After what Stevens called a "flat first half," the Queens came out and dominated the second half. Howard led 27-26 at intermission. "We were flat after that game last night with Angelina," he said. "We were emotionally drained. We had to work hard to get that win," he said of Howard's 90-87 win over Angelina.

One reason the Queens did better in the second half was because they shot the ball better. After making only 10 of 41 field goals in the first 20 minutes of play, Howard sunk 20 of 43 attempts in the second half.

With five minutes left in the game, Howard led 60-43. "At halftime I told them the only thing we needed was some spark. We couldn't buy a basket in the first half and we had no fast breaks. We didn't spend much time in the dressing room. We went out and shot the ball well and had a change of attitude."

Stefanie Massie led a balanced Howard scoring attack with 11 points. Terri Powell and Sophia Ish added 10 points each.

Leslie Carter, Carolyn Willand and Massie had seven rebounds each.

For Howard, Massie, Powell, Carter and Leslie Gooch were named to the All-Tournament team.

In other action Saturday, Western Texas defeated Angelina and Odessa defeated Wharton 75-44.

Lady Steers hoopsters fall to Coronado in championship

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Too bad if only a handful of spectators saw the championship game of the Big Spring Invitational girls basketball tournament. They missed a good game as the Lubbock Coronado Mustangs downed the Big Spring Lady Steers 56-44 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Big Spring qualified for the finals by easily defeating Andrews Saturday morning.

Garrett Coliseum was almost empty because most sport fans were in Lubbock watching the Big Spring football team play Hereford in a bi-district playoff game. In fact, the Lubbock congregation outnumbered the Big Spring fans.

Even though it was a tiny crowd, both teams went at it like they were playing in front of a packed house.

The game was much closer than the score indicated. For three and a-half quarters, no more than five points separated the two. But in the end, it was Coronado's tenacious press and Big Spring's foul trouble that made the difference.

The Mustangs used a trapping press throughout the game, causing the Lady Steers much grief. The press really started to take its toll late in the game, after Paige Clawson, Kathryn Burrow and Katrina Thompson.

Big Spring really missed its guards, Paige and Thompson, and coach C.E. Carmichael had to use freshman Peggy Smith and junior Nikki Rodriguez.

Meanwhile the Lady Steers tried to press the Mustangs, but the fine play of their two guards, Stephanie Blair and Carmen McClain handled it with ease. In contrast, Big Spring committed 20 turnovers compared to six for Coronado.

Thompson wasn't around very long for the Lady Steers. She fouled out midway through the second quarter. Burrow and Clawson both fouled out midway through the third quarter.

Big Spring missed Clawson the most. The left-handed junior was the only player that could break the Mustangs' press.

It was Clawson who led Big Spring to a 22-18 first quarter lead. The transfer from May hit all five of her field goal attempts and scored 11 points in the quarter. Unfortunately, it was the last points she scored in the contest.

Big Spring's senior forward took up the slack, but she couldn't do it by herself. Pruitt played a dominating game. She finished the contest with 19 points and 22 rebounds, including seven offensive boards.

With Thompson out and all the pressure on Clawson to fight the press, Coronado rallied to take a 37-34 halftime lead.

Both teams suffered cold shooting third quarters, especially Big Spring, who made just three field goals. Pruitt scored two and Sheri Myrick added one. Laura Gaydon's three-point play gave the Mustangs a 48-40 lead going into the final quarter. In the fourth period Big Spring fought a game battle, but the Coronado press wouldn't let the Lady Steers get back into the contest.

Blair and McClain led the Coronado defense, combining for seven steals. They also combined for 32 points. Clawson and Myrick got six rebounds each for Big Spring, who falls to 3-1 for the season. Coronado is 4-0.

BIG SPRING (44) — Teresa Pruitt 7 5 19; Paige Clawson 5 4 14; Katrina Thompson 0 2 2; Sheri Myrick 3 0 6; Kathryn Burrow 1 0 2; Kelly Myles 0 1 1; totals 16 12 44.

Kilgore drops Hawks, 99-89

TYLER — Rallying from a 48-44 halftime deficit, the Kilgore Rangers defeated the Howard College Hawks 99-89 Saturday night in the Tyler Classic at Tyler.

Winning was definitely a group effort for the Rangers as all five Kilgore starters scored in double figures. Anthony Warner and Colin Wade paced the Rangers with 17 points apiece, while Anthony Armstrong and Bryant Kirksey both chipped in 16 points. Howard was led by Kevin Brad-sher's 32 points, while Sam Williams and Robert Barley scored 15 and 13 points respectively. The leading Hawk rebounder was Myron Wright, with 5 caroms. Matt Brown, playing in the place of injured point guard Dennis Rhodes, contributed 8 points and 8 assists in the losing effort.

After the teams came back from the intermission, the fans were treated to a see-saw battle, in which Howard trailed by only four points with 10 minutes left in the contest. The Hawks could not close, and as a result had to resort to fouling to try and close the gap. This strategy back-fired however, as the Rangers shot a devastating 20 for 21 from the free-throw line in the final two minutes, gradually putting the Hawks away.

Howard, whose record now stands at an even 4-4, play next Tuesday night at Cisco Junior College. Tip-off is at 8:00 p.m.

Tyson disposes of Berbick in two

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Mike Tyson knocked out Trevor Berbick with a smashing left hook in the second round Saturday night and became the youngest man to win a heavyweight championship. Tyson won the World Boxing Council title at the age of 20 years, four months and 22 days.

The youngest champion had been Floyd Patterson, who was 21 years, 11 months when he knocked out Archie Moore for TYSON page 2B

Reagan County Owls oust Anson, 35-20

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Reagan County Owls survived a first quarter filled with turnovers and went on to defeat the Anson Tigers 35-20 in a Class AA area playoff game Saturday afternoon in Memorial Stadium.

The Owls were plagued by two fumbles and one interception in the first quarter and found themselves trailing 8-7 after the period. They exploded for two touchdowns and a field goal in the second quarter, however, and controlled the play the remainder of the game.

Reagan County got on the scoreboard first, thanks to a blocked punt by Roland Saldibar. His block was recovered at the Anson three yardline. On the first play, Anastacio Romero scored from the three.

Romero, a 200-pound fullback, led all rushers with 82 yards in 16 carries. Mike Townsend's extra point kick gave Reagan County a 7-0 lead with the game two minutes old.

A Reagan County blunder followed. Quarterback Stott Lipsey fumbled at the Owls' nine and recovered his own fumble in the end zone for an Anson safety at the 8:04 mark in the first quarter.

The next Reagan County blunder was another fumble, by James West. Anson safety Don Barron recovered at the Owls' 20. Barron also picked off a pass in the first quarter, but the ensuing drive ended with a missed field goal attempt.

Anson did convert West's fumble into a score, however, when Fullback Tracy Neal went in from the one. The score was set up by a 15-yard pass from quarterback George Ramos to Peter Torres.

Anson failed on the try for two but led 8-7 with 5:16 left in the first quarter.

Behind the bull-like runs of Romero, Reagan County drove for two TD's in the second quarter. Lipsey's 10-yard TD toss to Danny Bingham capped off a 65-yard drive.

The Owls didn't have to drive far for their next touchdown in the half.

David Collins recovered an Anson fumble at the Tigers' 26. On the next play Lipsey fired a 26-yard scoring strike to Townsend.

Anson came back with a five-play, 69-yard scoring drive of its own. The big play was a 47-yard dash by fullback Mike Beauchamp.

Eddie Villanueva scored from the four. Reagan County came back and drove 45 yards just before the half, to score on a Saldibar field goal from 30 yards as the half ended and the Owls led 22-14 at intermission.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Owls put the contest away with two TD's in the final period. Lipsey capped off a 52-yard drive with a 12-yard option keeper.

The final Reagan County score came on a 43-yard run by James West.

Anson scored a consolation TD with five seconds left in the contest.

Reagan County fumbled at its own 11. Anson scored when Ramos hooked up with Torres for their second scoring play of the game. But the Owls came away with a convincing 35-20 win.

Reagan County advances to regional play with a 11-0-1 record while Anson's season ended with an 8-4 mark.

Red Raiders blast Cougars; going to Independence Bowl

LUBBOCK (AP) — Mighty Midget Tyrone Thurman stung Houston's fumbling Cougars with 97 yards in punt returns Saturday as Texas Tech rolled to a 34-7 Southwest Conference victory and into an Independence Bowl showdown with Ole Miss.

Thurman, the 5-3, 130-pound terror from Midland, returned one punt 67 yards for a touchdown and sped 30 yards to set up another as the Red Raiders, 7-4 and 5-3, recorded their first winning season in eight years.

The Raiders won five of their last six games under rookie coach David McWilliams and promptly accepted an invitation to rendezvous with Mississippi's Rebels Dec. 20 in Shreveport.

Ole Miss, 7-3-1, beat Mississippi State 24-3 Saturday.

Tech's triumph was the first over Houston in eight years and extended the Cougars' losing streak to eight in a row. The loss was a final, bitter pill for Houston coach Bill Yeoman, who is resigning after 25 years and a 160-107-8 record.

Texas Tech struck for 10 quick points on a 26-yard field goal by Scott Segrist and Thurman's weaving 67-yard punt return down the sideline.

Thurman, the smallest player in college football, opened the second quarter with a 30-yard punt return to the Houston 28 and Ervin Farris ran 15 yards for a touchdown four plays later.

The Raiders exploded for 17 points in the third period as Farris bolted a yard for his second touchdown, Segrist kicked a 38-yard field goal and quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver sneaked in from the 1.

Thurman's 444 yards in punt returns was a new single season Raider record.

Baylor 18, Texas 13

WACO, (AP) — Senior quarterback Cody Carlson, Baylor's all-time passing and total offense leader, accounted for three touchdowns and cornerback Ron Francis intercepted three passes Saturday as the No. 17-ranked Bears defeated Texas 18-13.

The Southwest Conference victory raised Baylor's season record to 8-3 and earned it an invitation to play in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston on Dec. 31.

Texas fell to 5-5 and must defeat Texas A&M on Thanksgiving to avoid its first losing football season in 30 years.

Baylor scored its first touchdown after Texas receiver Everett Gay fell down and Francis intercepted, returning the ball 16 yards to the Texas 29.

Carlson threw 11 yards to Bobby Jack Goforth on third-and-8 for the score with 8:24 left in the first quarter.

Carlson scored on a 6-yard run with five seconds gone in the second quarter after Texas tailback Eric Metcalf fumbled at the Texas 21 and linebacker Ray Berry recovered.

After a 69-yard Baylor scoring pass was called back for holding, Texas safety John Hagy intercepted a Carlson pass and returned it 10 yards to the Baylor 30.

Metcalf's 24-yard pass reception set up a 2-yard scoring run by Texas quarterback Bret Stafford.

Baylor took the kickoff and drove 77 yards with Carlson throwing 13 yards to Matt Clark for the touchdown and an 18-7 Baylor halftime lead.

The only points in the second half came with 12:57 left in the game on a 6-yard run by Texas tailback Charles Hunter to climax a 35-yard scoring drive set in motion by a 13-yard punt return by Metcalf.

Texas A&M 74, Texas Christian 10
COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Precision passing by Kevin Murray and a four-touchdown performance by Roger Vick powered 13th-ranked Texas A&M to a record-shattering 74-10 victory over Texas Christian Saturday, clinching at least a tie for the Aggies' second consecutive SWC crown.

The Aggies, 6-1 in SWC games, could win the SWC title outright Thursday with a victory or tie over the Texas Longhorns and earn the host berth in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day.

In addition to beating the Horned Frogs by the second biggest league victory margin ever, the Aggies amassed a school record 705 yards, the second highest total in SWC history.

Murray hit his first six passes of the game and completed 11 of 12 in the first quarter. He moved to second place on the SWC's career passing yardage list with 6,249 yards and his 6,189 yards in total offense is third in the league.

University of Arkansas quarterback Greg Thomas, a former San Angelo Central High School star, leaps over SMU defenders as he makes his way in for a Razorback touchdown during first quarter action Saturday.

Arkansas 41, Southern Methodist 0

IRVING (AP) — Quarterback Greg Thomas ran for three touchdowns to power 11th-ranked Arkansas to a 41-0 crushing of Southern Methodist in the Southwest Conference finale for both teams Saturday.

The win keeps alive Arkansas' hopes for a Cotton Bowl bid. The Razorbacks, who finished the season with a 9-2 overall record and 6-2 in SWC play, will be in Dallas New Year's Day if Texas defeats Texas A&M in Austin Thursday.

If the Razorbacks do not earn a Cotton Bowl berth, they are assured of a spot in the Orange Bowl.

SMU, which is barred from postseason play because of NCAA probation, finished the year at 6-5 and 5-3. It was the first time since 1964 that the Mustangs have been shut out twice in a season. SMU opened the season with a 30-0 loss to Arizona State.

Thomas, who gained 116 yards on 16 carries, scored on runs of four and one yards in the first quarter and added a 23-yard scoring jaunt in the second quarter to cap a 98-yard Razorbacks scoring drive.

Michigan romps over Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Michigan quarterback Jim Harbaugh had guaranteed a victory over Ohio State, and Saturday he backed up his brash words.

The 6-foot-3, 207-pound senior completed 19 of 29 passes for 261 yards and led the No. 6 Wolverines back from a 14-3 deficit to earn a trip to the Rose Bowl with a 26-24 triumph over the seventh-ranked Buckeyes. Tailback Jamie Morris did his share with 210 yards rushing and two touchdowns.

The guarantee of victory "was exactly what I needed personally," said Harbaugh after the game. "The loss to Minnesota (a 20-17 setback last Saturday) was pretty devastating.

"I wanted to put pressure on myself today. There was no turning back. I stuck my neck out and the rest of the guys responded tremendously. But I knew those were the kind of guys we had."

Ohio State Coach Earle Bruce said, "Mr. Harbaugh took the crowd out of the game."

Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler, speaking of his quarterback's guarantee, said, "I'd have said it myself, if I'd had any guts.

"What do you want me to do, have him stand up there and say, 'I hope we play a nice game?'"

Harbaugh added, "Winning this game felt great. A lot of people were laying in the weeds just waiting for us to get knocked off. They said we were lucky ... Those kind of people are always out there."

Ohio State linebacker Chris Spielman said, "Maybe (Harbaugh's comment) was strange, but the guy backed his talk up. He won the game."

Michigan, 10-1 overall and 7-1 in the Big Ten, shares the conference championship with Ohio State, which saw a nine-game winning streak end. Ohio State, 9-3 and 7-1, accepted a bid to the Cotton Bowl.

Ohio State drove late in the game to the Michigan 28, from where kicker Matt Frantz attempted a 46-yard field goal with 1:01 left. But the kick was wide to the left, preserving the Michigan victory.

Ohio State held a 14-6 lead at the half, but Michigan scored on its first three possessions of the second half to take a 26-17 lead.

Morris, a 5-foot-7, 179-pound junior, scored on a 5-yard run at the 8:53 mark of the third quarter, completing an 83-yard drive. Mike Gillette's extra-point kick narrowed Ohio State's lead to 14-13.

After Ohio State answered on a 27-yard Frantz field goal for a 17-13 advantage, Morris gained 60 yards on two runs. His scoring run of eight yards gave Michigan a 19-17 lead with 3:53 left in the third quarter.

On their next offensive series, the Wolverines moved 86 yards with backup tailback Thomas Wilcher scoring the touchdown on a 7-yard run with 12:46 left in the game. Gillette's kick made it 26-17.

Ohio State came back after defensive lineman Darryl Lee blocked a Gillette field goal try from the Ohio State 30 with 11 minutes remaining.

The Buckeyes then drew to within two points on wide receiver Cris Carter's second touchdown reception of the day from quarterback Jim Karasatos, this one covering 17 yards at the 9:42 mark.

Ohio State defensive back Sonny Gordon recovered a fumble by Wilcher at the Ohio State 37 with 3:17 remaining and the Buckeyes moved downfield on the drive that concluded in Frantz's errant field goal attempt with 1:01 left.

Tyson

the undisputed title in 1956. Tyson was devastating. He also knocked Berbeck down early in the second round and then finished it late in the second.

Tyson crashed a left to the jaw that dropped Berbeck on the seat of his pants. Berbeck got up, but fell into a corner. Again, he arose, but again he fell. Finally, he got to his feet at the count of nine, but referee Mills Lane stopped it.

There was no way Berbeck could continue. He didn't know where he was.

The time was 2:35 of the second round.

"If he attacks me, he's going to attack a wall," the 33-year-old Berbeck said before the fight.

The wall began crumbling in the first round when Tyson hurt

Berbeck with a flurry of four punches that drove him across the ring. Tyson then crashed home a left and right to the jaw and Berbeck was on wobbly legs as the round ended.

Fifteen seconds into the second round, Tyson knocked down Berbeck with a right to the head. Berbeck got up and took a mandatory eight count. He then tried to get through the round by grabbing and holding, but Tyson was too strong and too quick.

Before the fight, Tyson admitted to being nervous about his chance at history, but added: "As far as being intimidated, no one intimidates me."

Both men entered the ring wearing black trunks, but it was Tyson who was the gunfighter before about 8,800 fans indoors at the Las Vegas Hilton.

Tyson, 22½, of Catskill, N.Y., treated the defending champion with disdain. At the opening bell, he began pressuring Berbeck, and Berbeck, who weighed 218½, couldn't handle it.

Tyson was fined $3,000 by the Nevada Athletic Commission for wearing black trunks. The champion has the choice of the color of trunks and Berbeck chose black. But Tyson, who always wears black, would not change colors.

Tyson unleashed 106 punches and landed 59 of them, while Berbeck was able to throw only 38 and land 13.

Tyson now has won all 28 of his pro fights, 26 by knockouts. He became a champion in the space of 21 months and just 77 rounds since turning professional. Fifteen of his fights have ended in the first round and five have ended in a span of 30 to 50 seconds. Berbeck lost for the fifth time against 31 wins and one draw. The native of Jamaica, who lives in Miami, has scored 23 knockouts.

Berbeck's purse for his first defense of the title he won on a 12-round unanimous decision over Pinklon Thomas on March 22 was $2.1 million. Tyson was paid $1.55 million.

Despite Tyson's relative inexperience, especially against top competition, he entered the ring as a 4-1 favorite, and he spit those odds right in Berbeck's face at the opening bell.

The 6-foot-2½ Berbeck had a seven-inch reach advantage over Tyson, who is listed as 5-11 but looks to be closer to 5-9.

What Berbeck needed Saturday night was a whip and a chair.

Nebraska to Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Nebraska accepted an invitation Saturday to meet either Alabama or Louisiana State University in the Jan. 1 USF&G Sugar Bowl football game.

The invitation was extended immediately after fifth-ranked Nebraska lost a 20-17 decision to Oklahoma.

The outcome of that game sends Oklahoma, the Big Eight Conference champion, to the Orange Bowl in Miami, and Nebraska, the Big Eight runnerup, to New Orleans to play a representative of the Southeastern Conference.

It will be Nebraska's fourth Sugar Bowl appearance and, by coincidence, the Cornhuskers lost to Alabama in their first appearance in 1967 and beat Louisiana State in their last in 1985.

The SEC champion traditionally hosts the Sugar Bowl, but No. 9 Alabama could tie eighth-ranked Louisiana State for the league title by winning its remaining game next Saturday against Auburn.

Louisiana State, with a 5-1 record, is assured of a tie for the SEC championship. Alabama is 4-1 heading into the game against Auburn.

"We will not make a decision relative to a tie — if one should occur — until the season's over," said Mickey Holmes, the Sugar Bowl's executive director.

Holmes said the selection committee would meet next Sunday — after Alabama plays Auburn and after LSU closes its season against Tulane — to choose an SEC representative.

Bob Devinney, Nebraska's athletic director, said in a telephone interview that it probably makes no difference to Coach Tom Osborne which team his Cornhuskers play.

"I don't really think he has, at this time, given it any thought," said Devinney. "Whichever team is selected, we will play them, and it doesn't make any difference who we play.

"We're very glad to accept an invitation to a great bowl."

OU comeback sinks Cornhuskers, 20-17

No. 3 Oklahoma 20, No. 5 Nebraska 17

Tight end Keith Jackson caught a 17-yard touchdown pass with 82 seconds remaining and his one-handed 41-yard catch set up Tim Lashar's game-winning 31-yard field goal with six seconds to go. The Sooners won the Big Eight championship and a third straight trip to the Orange Bowl, even though they trailed 17-7 entering the final period.

Lashar's 22-yard field goal with 10:39 left to play made it 17-10, but Oklahoma stymied itself with three turnovers in the final 18 minutes. A punt by Nebraska's John Kroeker was downed at the Sooners' 6-yard line with 4:10 to go, but Jamelle Holieway completed three of four passes for 60 yards as the Sooners stormed the length of the field to tie the score.

Sophomore quarterback Steve Taylor threw a 25-yard touchdown pass and directed two other scoring drives as Nebraska built a 17-7 lead at 4:12 of the third period. Nebraska, 9-2, settled for a trip to the Sugar Bowl against either LSU or Alabama. The Cornhuskers finished third in the Big Eight. Colorado, which beat Nebraska 20-10 last month, wound up 6-1 in league play to Nebraska's 5-2, the first time in 10 years the Cornhuskers failed to finish first or second.

"They believed we'd do it, and we did, too," Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said. "There's something about Sooner magic and our luck. We don't ever worry about not coming from behind."

"We just choked," nose guard Danny Noonan said in the somber Nebraska dressing room.

Arizona 34, Arizona St. 17
Arizona, which is headed to the Aloha Bowl, beat Rose Bowl-bound Arizona State for the fifth straight year. The loss ended the Sun Devils' shot at a national championship and undefeated season.

David Adams, Art Greathouse and Chris McLemore scored touchdowns out of the backfield and Chuck Cecil returned an interception a school-record 100 yards for 8-2 Arizona.

Cecil, a junior safety, picked off a Jeff Van Raaphorst pass deep in the Arizona end zone on third-and-goal and raced untouched along the sidelines for the score with 8:56 remaining.

No. 6 Michigan 26, Ohio State 24

Michigan clinched a tie for the Big Ten crown and a trip to the Rose Bowl by rallying to beat the Buckeyes, who will play in the Cotton Bowl.

Jamie Morris rushed for 210 yards and two touchdowns for 10-1 Michigan. Ohio State led 14-6 at halftime but Michigan scored on its first three possessions of the second half to take a 26-17 lead. Morris had a 5-yard TD run and an 8-yarder.

Ohio State drove to the Michigan 28 late in the game, but placekicker Matt Frantz missed a 46-yard field goal attempt.

Penn State moved itself into position to play for the national football championship with a 34-14 rout of Pittsburgh on Saturday that earned the Nittany Lions an invitation to the Fiesta Bowl.

The second-ranked Lions, 11-0, made Joe Paterno only the second coach in modern college football history to produce six regular-season undefeated, untied teams. The late Paul "Bear" Bryant is the all-time leader with seven.

If No. 1 Miami beats 2-8 East Carolina on Thanksgiving Day, Penn State will meet Miami in the Fiesta Bowl on the night of Jan. 2 for the national title. If the Hurricanes are upset by East Carolina, the Nittany Lions could go to the Orange Bowl, which has left a spot open until after the Miami-East Carolina game.

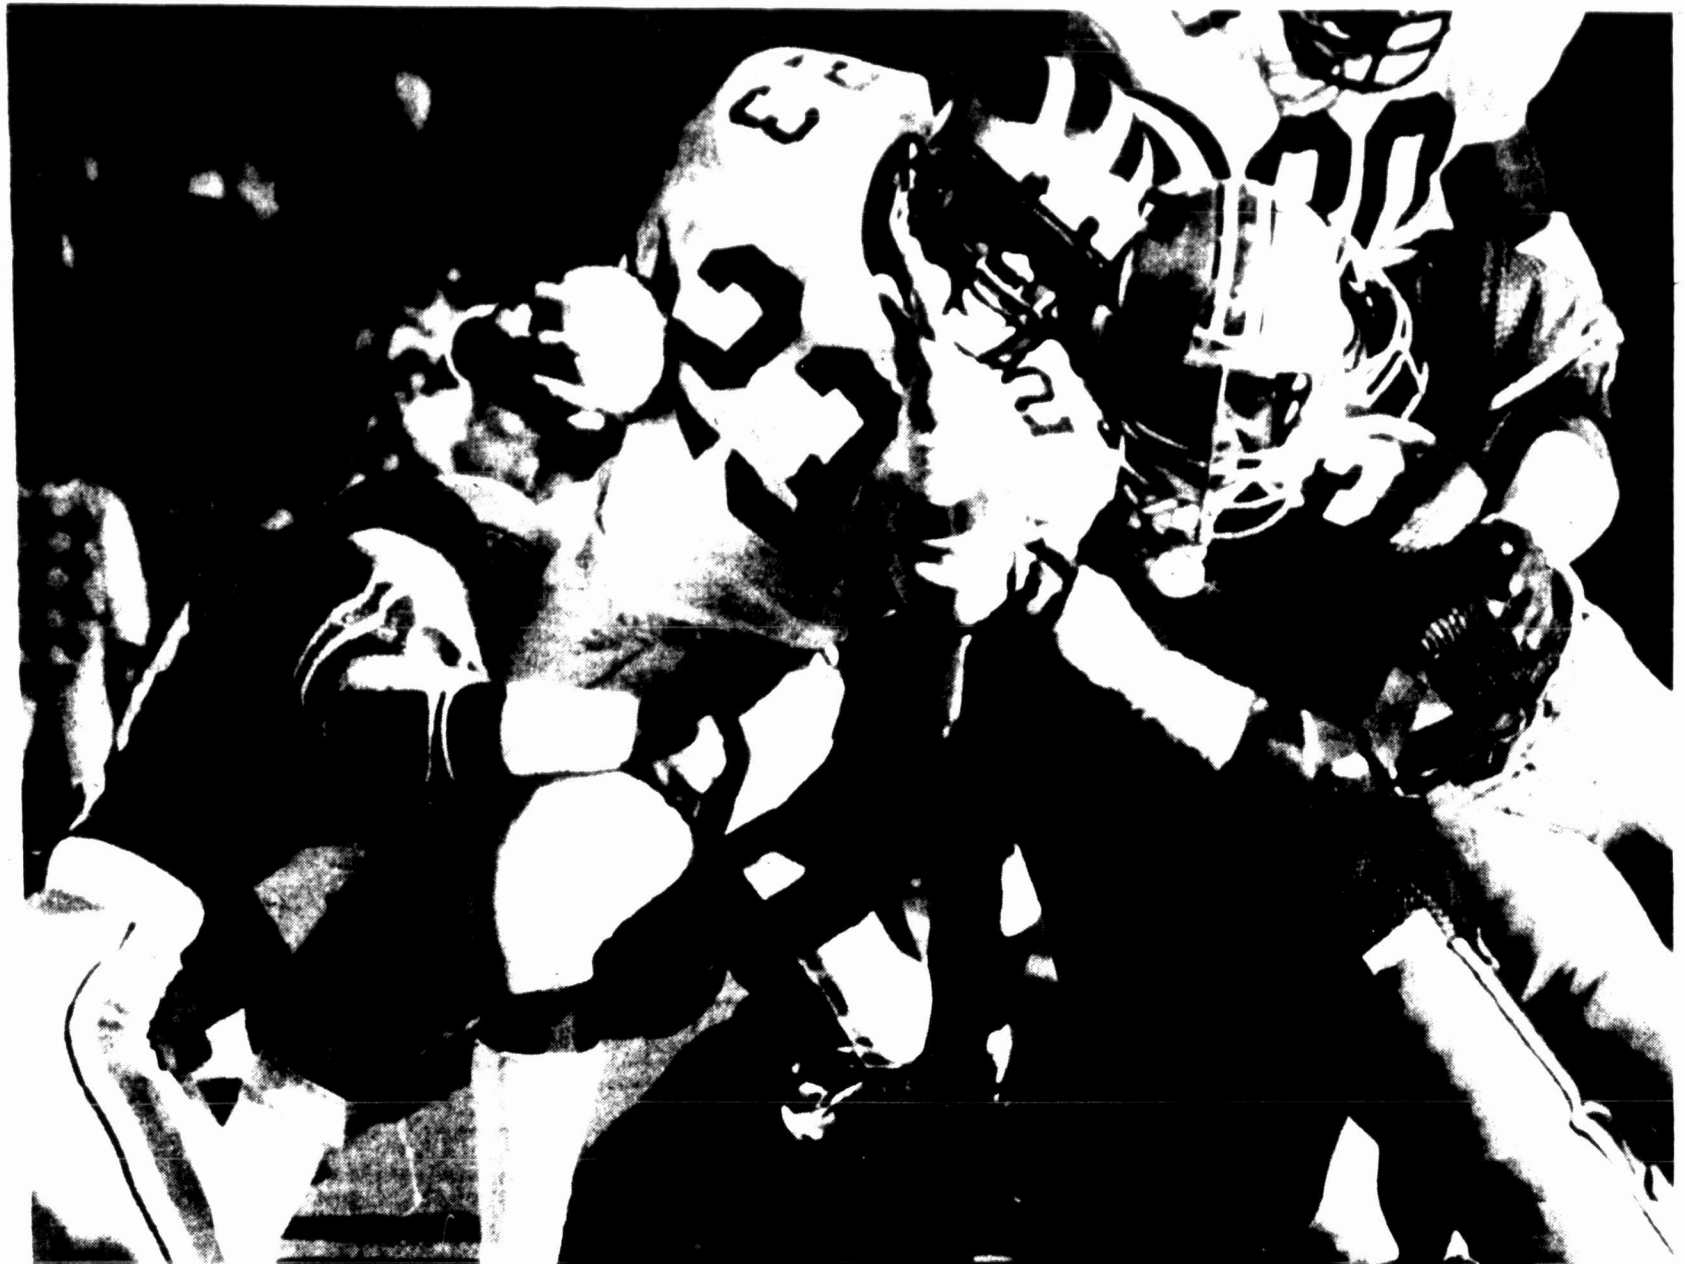

Blair Thomas' 91-yard kickoff return and D.J. Dozier's 26-yard touchdown run in the first half sparked Penn State's victory.

Pitt, 5-5-1, drove 80 yards on nine plays to go ahead 7-3 with 2:12 left in the opening period when Craig Heyward scored from the 1.

But Thomas used four blocks and returned the kickoff 91 yards for a touchdown that gave the Lions a 10-7 lead. Penn State never looked back, though it lost quarterback John Shaffer with a hand injury.

"We wanted another shot at the national championship," said Paterno, whose team lost to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl last New Year's Day, giving the Sooners the crown. "And they've got it."

"I possibly have been tense these last three or four weeks because they worked so hard," Paterno said. "And I really was trying to make sure we did everything that was right, try not to foul them up, so they would have a chance at winning all of the games."

The win was the Lions' 22nd straight in regular-season play and the Fiesta invitation marked the 24th bowl appearance in the university's 100th year of football.

In other games involving ranked teams, it was No. 3 Oklahoma 20, No. 5 Nebraska 17; fourth-ranked Arizona State was stunned 34-17 by

No. 14 Arizona; No. 6 Michigan 26, No. 7 Ohio State 24; No. 11 Arkansas 41, Southern Methodist 0; No. 12 Washington downed Washington State 44-23; No. 13 Texas A&M 74, Texas Christian 10; No. 16 Stanford lost to California 17-11; 17th-ranked Baylor 18, Texas 13; and South Carolina 21, No. 19 Clemson 21.

In later games, No. 10 Southern California played No. 18 UCLA, while No. 8 Louisiana State hosted Notre Dame.

Porkers eye Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield says he'll be rooting for arch-rival Texas on Thanksgiving Day because a Longhorn win would put the Razorbacks in the Cotton Bowl for the first time since 1976.

The Cotton Bowl picked up a visiting team, No. 7 Ohio State, when the Buckeyes lost 26-24 to No. 6 Michigan in the showdown for the Big Ten title. Ohio State, 9-3, will play the Southwest Conference champion.

No. 13 A&M clinched a tie for the SWC title Saturday with its 74-10 mauling of Texas Christian, and can win the title outright by beating Texas on Thursday. That would leave No. 11 Arkansas in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma.

An A&M loss, however, would give Arkansas the Cotton Bowl bid and send Texas A&M to the Orange. If that happens, the SWC would have three co-champions — Arkansas, Texas and Baylor.

But Arkansas would go to Dallas under that scenario because A&M and Baylor have been to the Cotton Bowl since the Razorbacks, who last played in the bowl in 1976.

Arkansas blanked Southern Methodist 41-0 Saturday.

"We played today for that ring (SWC title)," Aggie Coach Jackie Sherrill said. "That's something nobody can take away from them. Next week, we'll play for the Cotton Bowl."

"We are proud to be coming to the Cotton Bowl as the Big Ten co-champions," said Rick Bay, Ohio State's athletic director.

Hawks edge Celtics

ATLANTA (AP) — Dominique Wilkins scored 38 points, including two free throws with 24 seconds left, leading Atlanta to a 97-96 NBA victory over Boston Saturday night, the Hawks' first home victory against the Celtics in nearly five years.

The Celtics, who were led by Kevin McHale with 25 points, managed the last shot, but did not have Larry Bird on the court. Bird fouled out with 1:11 to play, the first time in 465 regular season games he had been disqualified by fouls.

Boston scored six straight points to take a 94-90 lead before Bird fouled out. The Hawks followed with a three-point play when Wilkins hit a free throw but missed the second, and Willis rebounded the miss and scored.

Johnson scored to put the Celtics ahead 96-93, but Webb scored and was fouled. The Hawks rebounded his missed free throw, then Wilkins was fouled and scored the game-winning points.

Pistons 93, Cavaliers 84
PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Reserve guard Vinnie Johnson scored 18 of his game-high 26 points in the second half, leading the Detroit Pistons to a 93-84 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

The victory was the Pistons' second after three consecutive losses. The Cavaliers have lost their last seven games.

Two jump shots by Johnson and a layup by rookie Dennis Rodman, who scored a season-high 12 points, gave the Pistons a 76-59 lead with 10:15 left in the game. The Cavaliers, who were led by Ron Harper with 21 points, got no closer than nine the rest of the way.

Warriors 97, Knicks 93

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Barry Carroll scored a game-high 22 points and Eric "Sleepy" Floyd, who sparked a 12-0 spurt to start the third quarter, added 18 as the Golden State Warriors overcame a 16-point deficit to defeat the New York Knicks 97-93.

Rory Sparrow topped the Knicks with 21 points, and Bill Cartwright added 20.

Bulls 93, Bullets 84

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan was held to 22 points, his lowest total of the season, but his supporting cast came to the rescue as the Chicago Bulls captured a 93-84 win over the Washington Bullets.

Jordan, who entered the game the league's leading scorer with a 38.6 average, was the leading scorer for the Bulls, but he was closely followed by Charles Oakley with 21 points and Earl Cureton with 17. It was the sixth straight loss on the road for the Bullets.

Steers

yardline. The game's scoring ended with a pass to Baker in the end zone.

"We were driving the football extremely well. I had a lot of confidence that we could kick the field goal or take it on in, either one," Eudy said.

Mayfield had an interception, caused a fumble, saved a touchdown with a deflection and hit three punts that Hereford fumbled and lost, while leading the Steers.

Shire completed 12 of 27 passes for 197 yards to lead the Whitefaces' offensive attack.

The real difference wasn't Shire's passing, however. What it came down to were two fumbles and the Steers' failure to put points on the board when they had possession deep in Hereford territory.

Otherwise, the Steers would be 10-1 and playing Cleburne Saturday, instead of packing their gear.

He's here!

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle editor

I knew I was in trouble when I said "yes."

But really, I'm glad I did it.

A miracle occurred, right before my eyes. I witnessed the birth of a 10 pound 1 ounce baby boy — Dane Andrew Hayes — on Nov. 19 at 2:14 p.m.

Wow!

It all began nine-and-a-half months ago. One of my very dearest friends, Lynn Hayes, told me one evening that she believed she was pregnant.

So, off to TG&Y we went to buy an EPT (Early Pregnancy Test.)

After Lynn had carefully read and followed the directions, we sat — and waited. The specimen turned from gray to clear. That meant the results were positive.

To double check the EPT, which is 99 percent accurate, Lynn visited her doctor, who confirmed the results.

No doubt, a baby was on its way.

After the initial shock had subsided, Lynn asked me to be her coach for the delivery.

Her husband, J.R., works nights — and everyone knows babies are born at night.

So, I agreed.

As the time grew closer, Lynn grew bigger. At one point, there seemed a genuine possibility of twins.

The month before the baby was due, we attended four weekly Lamaze classes at Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

Each class was informative and answered "beginners" questions — and as a first-time delivery coach, I had plenty.

Since this was Lynn's second pregnancy, the answers were familiar, although she benefitted from a refresher course.

The first night, we introduced ourselves and our partners; and we had to tell our class whether we wanted a girl or a boy.

Lynn joked about having a girl and stuck with that conviction until her ninth month — when her doctor said he thought it was going to be a boy. Only then did she stop referring to the baby as "Amanda."

We practiced the breathing techniques, exercised and learned how to relax our partner for the big event at the Lamaze classes.

I'll never forget our third

New Mommy, Lynn Hayes, and two-day-old Dane Andrew are ready to go home. Her 10 pound 1 ounce baby boy was born Wednesday after a three hour and 15 minute labor. Although it seemed like eternity to session. We saw a movie with "real" people having "real" babies — in living color.

That's when I turned to Lynn and said, "what have you gotten me into?"

She laughed — and I practiced some deep breathing of my own.

As she entered her ninth month, I began acting like a typical expectant father.

to help initiate the process. As it turned out, not all babies are born at night.

On Wednesday morning, Lynn and I made the trip to Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

All I could think was: "today is the day."

My excitement was intense.

After seeing the doctor and getting situated in the Lynn, she was lucky to have her baby so quickly. Both baby and mommy were released from the hospital Friday morning.

while she was in labor.

Now I understand why they call it labor. It was a day's work if I've ever seen one.

We breathed with her, massaged her, soothed her and comforted her. Although it helped, it couldn't completely ease her pain.

Between contractions, Lynn managed a smile and cracked a few jokes.

She kept telling me, "Carleen, don't ever have kids — adopt."

At one point, she wanted to go home, watch her soap operas and return to the hospital the next day.

At 1:45 p.m., she was dilated to nine centimeters and we wheeled her into the delivery room. Then, off the bed and into the birthing chair.

Only one step remained — delivery. That also meant, however, that the pain was now excruciating.

Lynn's main focus was to push and concentrate on the birthing.

Another thought she had was to forget the whole thing. She kept saying, "I can't do this, I don't want to have it."

As each contraction occurred, Dr. J.W. Kuykendall, the nurses and I coached her to keep her energy internal and concentrate on pushing.

A few times, Lynn let out a scream or a wail and my heart went out to her. It intensified my respect for what a mother must experience to bring a life into the world.

Finally, the time — and baby — arrived.

She gave a big push and a little head was working its way toward the light of day. The doctor quickly unwrapped the umbilical cord, which was looped loosely around the baby's neck; another push and his body was emerging.

Shoulders were coming through and the doctor eased out the baby's entire body. "It's a boy," I yelled, "it's a boy."

I knew I was in trouble when I said "yes."

But I wouldn't trade a minute of the experience.

As she entered her ninth month, I began acting like a typical expectant father.

Lynn was getting anxious, too. Every morning she'd prepare for the trip to the hospital. She was so excited she often couldn't sleep at night.

As for me, each time the phone rang I'd jump, fully expecting Lynn to say "it's time."

However, nine-and-a-half months passed and the little guy still didn't want to enter the "real" world.

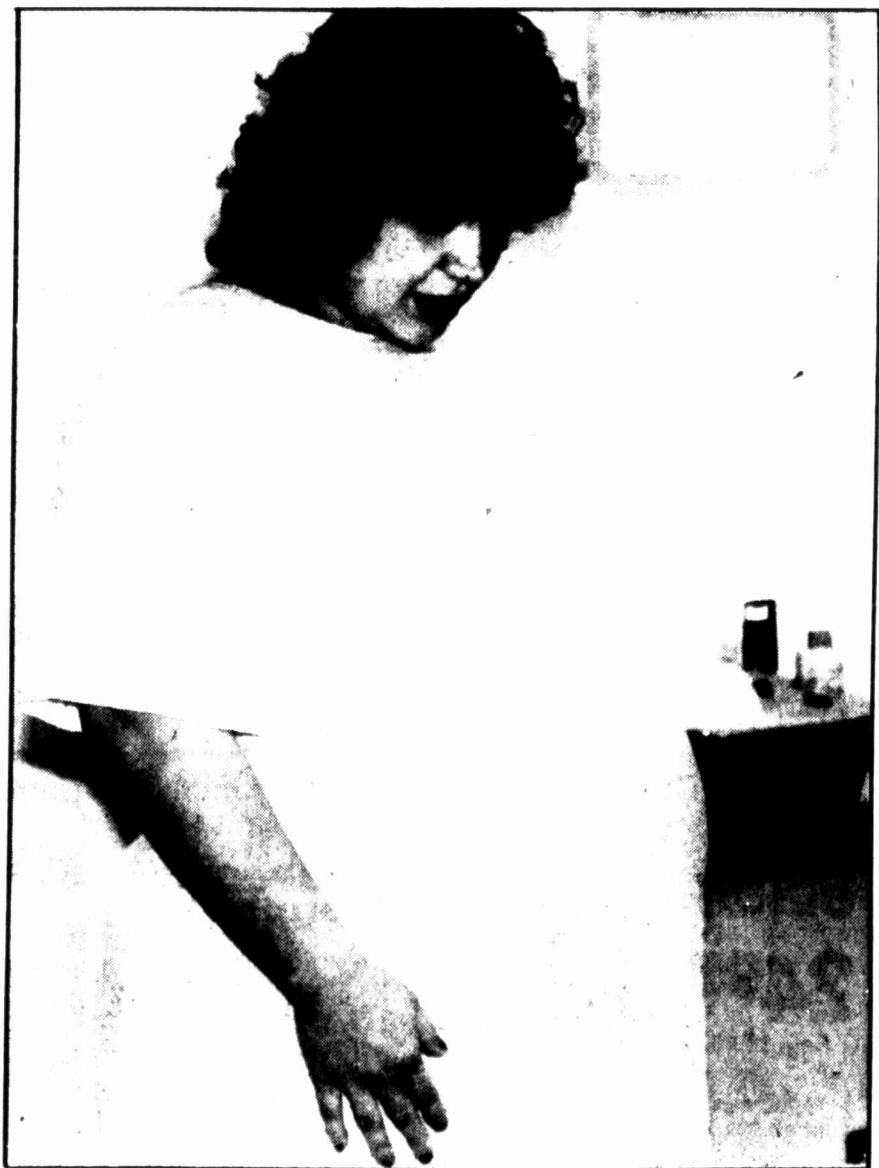

Since she was 14 days overdue, the doctor decided hospital, Dr. M.A. Porter broke her water at 10:30 a.m.

We were going to have a baby. There was no turning back now.

At 11 a.m. Lynn began having her contractions and she was dilated to 5 centimeters — once she reached 10, delivery was imminent. Each contraction got harder, stronger and more intolerable.

J.R., Nurse Dorothy Dossey, and I helped Lynn

Lynn Hayes takes one last look before Dane was born. Since she was two weeks overdue, the doctor decided to initiate the birthing process and broke her water at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday.

Daddy J.R. Hayes anxiously awaits the birth of his son. Although he's in the waiting room now, J.R. also helped coach Lynn through her labor.

Preparations for pecan show begin

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent
Our county pecan crop is maturing very early this year. The quantity is not as great as last year but our quality is excellent. In fact we are advising growers now to begin preparing for our annual County Pecan Show.

Our show will be Dec. 2 at the Highland Shopping Center. Included in the newsletter is a news release on pecan shows, prepared by our specialist, Dr. Austin Stockton. Please read it and consider participation in this year's show.

In the 1870's the first pecan show in Texas was conducted. The exact date has been lost to history but we do know that Mr. E.E. Risien conducted the contest in San Saba. The original Mother San Saba won the prize and was thus identified by Risien for future propagation.

The annual county pecan show concept was initiated in 1952 with four central Texas counties participating. Last year over 100 counties participated in 70 local shows across the state. Winning county entries go on to one of three regional pecan shows in December. Regional winners will be judged at a state show in 1987.

County and regional pecan shows demonstrate the superior quality of Texas pecans and play a major role in the evaluation of new pecan varieties.

Pecan shows are truly educational events in addition to being competitive. Growers get an opportunity to see how their entries compare with other pecans of the same variety.

Proper management throughout

For your garden

the growing season shows up dramatically at a pecan show. Pecan producers, whether one tree or 100 acres, can measure the success of their management program by the way their entries compare with others. Poor irrigation, lack of zinc, improper insect control and disease prevention inadequacies can be pinpointed and corrected in subsequent growing seasons.

Pecan entries are judged objectively. Each entry is weighed twice to determine the size of pecans (number per pound) and what percentage of the pecan is actually edible kernel. Kernel appearance is important. The brighter and lighter the golden brown of the kernel, the better. A heavy, well filled kernel is much more desirable than hollow one. Pecans in the shell that are clean, not discolored and free of insect damage are also important.

The following guidelines for selecting pecans for county show entries have assisted winners in the past.

• Participants are limited to one entry of each named variety they grow. Growers may enter as many seedlings, known hybrids or natives as they wish.

- The exhibitor must be the grower.
- A minimum of 40 pecans are necessary for each entry. This minimum sample of 40 should represent the variety and be uniform in size and shell color. Mixed samples (more than one variety in an entry) are disqualified.
- The grower may wish to select the heaviest pecans by weighing individual nuts.
- A varietal entry may be composed of nuts from more than one tree. For example, if the grower has ten Choctaw trees, each tree could contribute nuts to the grower's one Choctaw entry.
- Nuts should be without insect and disease damage.
- The pecans should be free of dust, dirt, and shuck remnants. They should not be buffed to the extent that shape or color is altered.
- Discolored shells and kernels may result from peeling pecans from the shucks too early.
- Pecans exhibited must be from the 1986 crop.
- Pecans are judged on the basis of size (number per pound), appearance and shell color. Kernel quality is equally important and is based on the percent kernel, color, general appearance, texture, solidness and taste.

Local growers are encouraged to have their entries in to the county Extension Office by no later than Monday, December 1, 1986.

The Jim Woods

Jim and Odessa Wood will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Nov. 29 at the First Baptist Church parlor from 2-4 p.m.

Children and grandchildren of the couple are hosting the event. Wood was born in Scurry County and Mrs. Wood, the former Odessa Krop, was born in Nolan County. They grew up as neighbors in the China Grove Community in Scurry County. They married on Nov. 28, 1936 at the home of the late Rev. Jim Fields of Snyder. Rev. Fields also officiated the ceremony.

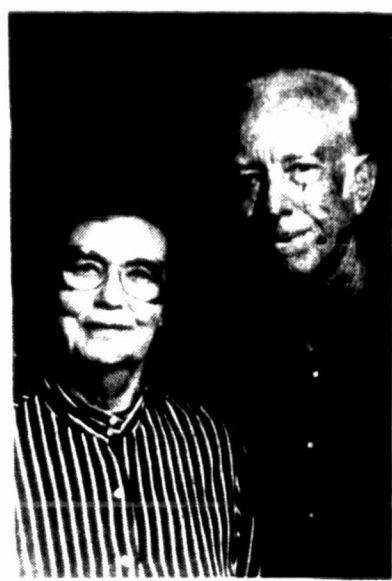

Children of the couple are Jimmie R. Wood, 3209 Cornell; Judy Nixon of Roanoke; and Michael Wood, who died at the age of 11 with leukemia. The couple has 2 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren.

During their marriage the couple has lived in China Grove, California, Colorado City and Big Spring. Wood is retired from Col.-Tex and Cosden Refinery where he worked for 30 years. Mrs. Wood has worked for drug stores in Colorado City and Swartz's and Bell's Pharmacy in Big Spring.

They are members of the First Baptist Church, R.S.V.P. and the Senior Center.

During their marriage, they have "worked together," they said. Hobbies of the couple are fishing, sports, crochet and quilting.

Portion size is the key when dieting

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — "Families and individuals can lose weight if they stick to the four food groups — milk, meat, fruit-vegetables, and grain — and are careful to serve them in accurately measured portions," says nurse Audrey Braunschweig of the University of Rochester.

Most nutrition guidelines suggest four portions of grain foods daily. But what constitutes a portion? A half cup of cooked cereal. A half cup of rice. A half cup of pasta. A hamburger bun is two portions.

How many people are aware of these measurements?

"Not very many," says Braunschweig, who suggests dieters visit the library or speak with a nutritionist to learn about the four basic food groups and the proper portion sizes.

elect officers

The National Association of Letter Carriers Auxiliary #1975 met recently in the home of Mrs. Jean Slate with Mrs. Altha Trupp, vice president, presiding.

Mrs. Wynona Payter was welcomed into the group as a returning member. A fund-raising project of selling decorative light-switch plates was discussed and approved by members.

Officers for 1987 were elected. They are Frances Hendrick, president; Marie Daniels, vice president; Merlene Brown, secretary; Martha Beene, treasurer; Jean Slate, chaplain; and retiring President Myrtle True, historian. Mrs. Daniels was appointed as executive members of the social committee.

Next meeting will be a Christmas salad supper. It will be Dec. 8 at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mamie Lee Dodds with Mrs. True, hosting.

Members are urged to bring guests.

Weddings

McKnight-Westlake

Melody Lou McKnight of Waco and William Edward Westlake of Troy exchanged wedding vows on Nov. 22 at Paramount Baptist Church in Amarillo with Rev. C.N. "Shad" Rue and Rev. Kelly Boggs officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. McKnight of Amarillo, formerly of Big Spring. Bridegroom's parents are Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Earle John Westlake of Harker Heights.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with a brass arch covered with greenery, baby's breath and teal bows. Two spiral candelabras with greenery and baby's breath and baskets of white gladiolas and peach roses were one each side of the arch.

Organist was Mrs. Rod Saylor of Amarillo and pianist was Mrs. Jim Pendergrass of Amarillo.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding gown — an antique white silk peau de soie gown featured with hand-threaded alencon lace. The dress was highlighted with a portrait neckline rimmed with lace and re-embroidered seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Long fitted sleeves, ending in petal points were fastened with tiny buttons. The full skirt fell to a court train.

She carried a bouquet of ivory sweetheart and open roses centered with an orchid, fern and baby's breath with cascades of apricot lace, satin ribbon and strings of seed pearls.

Maid of honor was Meagan McKnight of Amarillo, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Shelley McDonald of Dallas; Joanne Wilson of Amarillo; Lisa McKnight of Amarillo, sister-in-law of the bride; Sara Ransom of Colorado Springs, Col.; and Kim Grimm of Salado, sister of the bridegroom.

Flower girl was Shellie Grimm, niece of the bridegroom. Ringbearer was Jeremy Grimm, nephew of the bridegroom.

Best man was Danny Thompson of Houston. Groomsmen were Clayton Bell of Troy; Randy Clayton of Waco; Mark McKnight of Amarillo, brother of the bride; Ron Sutton of Round Rock; and Danny Grimm of Salado, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

MRS. WILLIAM WESTLAKE
...formerly Melody McKnight

Ushers were Mark McKnight, Randy Clayton and Rush Goodson of Dallas. Candlelighters were Randy Clayton and Rush Goodson.

Following the wedding, a reception was hosted at the reception room of the church. The bride's table, draped with a floor-length cloth and decorated with roses, featured a four-tiered cake based in fern and baby's breath.

The bridegroom's table, draped with a white cloth with a peach overlay, was centered with a three branched candelabra with peach candles.

The bride is a graduate of Amarillo High School and graduated cum laude with a bachelor of business administration degree in accounting at Baylor University. She is employed as an audit staff accountant with KMG Main Hurdman in Waco.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Killeen High School and attended the University of Mary Hardin Baylor on a baseball scholarship and received his bachelor of business administration degree in management. He is employed in the Career Professional Leadership program with McLane, Inc. in Temple.

After a wedding trip to the Virgin Islands, the couple will make their home in Troy.

Maintenance on appliances prolongs their lifespan

By BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS
A Meredith Magazine

Regular maintenance on most kitchen appliances can be performed by even the moderately handy.

Better Homes and Gardens Kitchen and Bath Ideas magazine divides the chores into weekly, monthly, seasonal and annual schedules.

The weekly chore list includes the more mundane tasks of cleaning the dishwasher sprayer and drainer, being careful to remove food scraps. Clean outside and inside surfaces of all appliances and clean burners on the range with steel wool.

Monthly tasks include defrosting the refrigerator, cleaning the range hood vent, oven, and dryer vent hose and exterior vent.

The seasonal cleaning check list should include, clearing gas ports on range burners, vacuuming refrigerator condenser coils, inspecting the drum belt on the dryer and evaluating the air-to-gas mixture in burners and pilot lights. Adjust the air shutter on the gas line to give a clear blue flame.

Things to be done once a year are the most challenging and may require referral to the appliances' service manuals. Annually inspect for damaged parts such as a worn grind wheel, motor bearings or fly wheel in the garbage disposal. Also, check the gaskets on the disposal because worn gaskets may cause the unit to leak. Check the oven thermostat. Make sure all appliances are level, as a year's use may cause a leveler to vibrate out of place. Clear house drains as well as the water intake valve on the clothes washer.

FROM THE FAMILY OF JULIE ANNE EZELL
We would like to express our deep appreciation to Dr. Marc Schwartz, Dr. Sullivan, and the staff of Scenic Mountain Medical Center who fought so hard to save our little Julie.
We want to thank Dr. Ray Owen, Judy Pherigo, and Frances Williamson for the love and care they have given her through the years.
A special thanks we give to Frannie Bartlett — emergency room night shift — who is truly an angel of mercy.
We appreciate Tommy Welch and other staff of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home who have helped us so much to get through this ordeal.
Our family is truly blessed by the Lord with a wonderful church family and community. The outpouring of your love and prayers have given us so much strength to go on without Julie.
God bless each of you.

Senior Talent Fair to be Dec. 6

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent
The Senior Citizens Talent Fair will be December 6 at Highland Shopping Center.

The fair is an annual event sponsored by the Howard County Council on Aging. There is no charge to participate and all proceeds go directly to the Senior Citizen exhibitor.

The only requirement to have a booth is that you be a Senior Citizen. Each exhibitor brings his/her own table and a hand made or home produced items to sell.

Last year's merchandise included needlework, crochet and knitted items, woodwork, peanuts and pecans, ceramics, and macrame and holiday decorations.

Making the items for sale provides meaningful activities for older persons and the proceeds from their sales provide additional income.

To help Council on Aging staff prepare for the event, please register in advance if you plan to be an exhibitor. To register or for more information, call Gene Smith, Council on Aging Director, 263-4016.

Focus on family

MOBILE MEALS PROGRAM

Another Council on Aging service to the community is the Mobile Meals Program. Each weekday a hot meal is delivered to elderly persons who are unable to prepare food for themselves. This program is locally funded and is not supported by government funds.

Meals are delivered by volunteers, many of whom are senior citizens themselves. There is no charge for the meals, however; donations are accepted to help defray the cost of the program.

Volunteers are badly needed to help deliver the meals. Relief volunteers are currently needed to deliver meals when a regular delivery person is ill or must be out of town. If you have as much as two hours a week you would like to contribute to this valuable service, please contact Gene Smith at the Senior Center 267-4016.

The Council on Aging greatly appreciates the assistance of local agencies in meal delivery during recent flooding conditions. The cooperation of the Big Spring Fire Department, Red Cross, Westside Community, and Salvation Army made it possible for meals to be delivered when regular volunteers were unable to do so because of the flood.

The Mobile Meals program helps improve the nutritional status of older persons living alone and enables them to live independently in their own homes.

Rope skipping is good exercise

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What are the benefits of rope-skipping? I enjoy this form of exercise. — K.E.

Rope-skipping can be an excellent aerobic exercise, and boxers find it great for coordination and agility. Boxers also like it because it is hard work, the kind that calls for the brief bursts of energy (anaerobic kind) required in ring work.

That should tell you something else about rope-skipping. It should not be overdone. Begin it modestly and work up gradually.

A nice aspect of rope work is that it is so easy to vary the jump routine and the pace of exercise to suit yourself. You get good upper body exercise anyway, and you can increase that by using a heavier rope. Jumping with a standard rope at the rate of 50-75 jumps a minute burns 10 calories a minute. If you increase the jump pace to 125-145 per minute you burn 15 calories a minute.

The constant impact on the feet, ankles and legs can be a serious drawback to rope-skipping as regular fare. Jumping on a padded surface will reduce the chances of injury

Dr. Donohue

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a woman of 67. My problem is that my upper arms are very flabby and weak. I would like to improve my appearance by exercising with weights, but I don't know how to use them, or what exercises to use with them. Also, because of my age, will exercising really help, or would I be wasting my time? — J.L.R.

You wouldn't be wasting your time, even if you were 87. Exercise always increases strength of the areas exercised. Muscles always get stronger and firmer when they are asked to do more work than they are accustomed to doing. That is the overload principle, which knows no age barrier.

Am I saying that weight exercises will restore your arms to their once-svelte youthfulness? Of course not. But you will notice changes. And because flab is partly a fat accumulation problem as well, you will have to cut calories along with your exercises.

I don't want to confuse you with an attempt to outline a total program for you. Go to any bookstore and in their sports medicine section you'll find lots of books that outline simple and effective weight programs for older people. They also have explicit pictures.

Millions of out-of-shape men and women desire fitness, but shy away from formal programs because they think it's all too complicated and difficult. Dr. Donohue's newest booklet, "Introduction to Fitness," puts the esoteric terminology of aerobics into plain language and offers a fitness program anyone, regardless of age, can adapt.

For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.50.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Rage over affair fuels wife's fire for revenge

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Fifteen years ago, when I was 43 and pregnant with my seventh child, I found some pictures of a pretty young girl in my husband's wallet. Steve swore he didn't know how they got there, but I'm not stupid. I had enlargements made and hung them all over the house. My kids thought I was nuts, and Steve and I have been fighting ever since.

Last year I had a tap put on our phone and I learned plenty. Steve and this girl, Jill, have been seeing each other for 15 years and they have a 9-year-old son together. Jill's married and has two sons with her own husband.

Steve and I own our business and if it weren't for me we wouldn't have anything. He can hardly read and write, and he needs me to do all the paperwork.

I called up Jill's husband and told him everything. He couldn't believe it. He said Jill was a perfect wife and mother. And get this — she never misses a Sunday at church! I called her minister and told him all about her, and all he said was, "If she were perfect she

DEAR HURTING: Don't make any decisions while you are in this bitter, vengeful state. You desperately need to vent your anger and unload your hostility. See a counselor and try to get your emotions under control. Then decide if you will be better off with him than without him, under the circumstances.

Living to make someone miserable will only make you a miserable old woman in the end. Think about it.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, a reader came down hard on you for using the term "Army brat" in your column. For your information, that term is alive and well. As a matter of fact, at my husband's 50th West Point reunion last June, Gen. Bruce Palmer said, "Many of us were 'Army brats' — as my mother used to call us."

Since Gen. Palmer is over 70, that term has been around for at least that long.

My son, a retired colonel, was an Army brat, and his son was an Army brat, and we're proud of it.

MRS. R.J. QUINN JR., SAVANNAH, GA.

DEAR MRS. QUINN: Finally! Many wrote to say that they felt that the term was offensive, but I had hoped that some high-ranking Army officer would use that term publicly, thereby officially confirming its respectability. Your letter made my day. And a 21-gun salute to Gen. Palmer.

DEAR ABBY: How humanitarian of you to urge your readers to discontinue the use of that cruel expression, "To kill two birds with one stone." The very thought of stoning birds to death sends cold chills up my spine.

Now, please discourage the use of the equally cruel expression, "There's more than one way to skin a cat." Thank you from a... CAT LOVER

DEAR CAT LOVER: Communication is at its best when one says exactly what one means in the most direct and simple way, so when stating that something can be done in more ways than one, there is no reason to drag a cat into it.

Men sells horse meat to eat

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Ron Corn sees it as his duty to educate people about horses. He thinks Americans should eat them. Corn has sold horseburgers in Manhattan, horse steaks to Navy commissaries and horse roasts in the West. But due to pressure from U.S. humane societies, his main market is abroad. Corn, the owner of M&R Packing Co. and Margo International in Hartford and South Carolina, said: "Nationwide, I would guess 25 percent would eat it (horse meat) without advertising. An educated public would eat more." Corn would love to educate the public on the benefits of eating horses, saying he's probably the most knowledgeable person in the United States on horsemeat. "I am a horse lover," he said. "At one time I wanted to be a vet. I've owned horses. If you told me that I would get into this business I would have said you were crazy. We've grown up with an attitude that needs correcting." Corn moved from slaughtering cows to horses when the beef market fell in the early 1970s. A European friend suggested he try butchering horses and selling the product abroad. Corn initially was skeptical, believing the only market for horse meat was in dog food. But he did some sleuthing and discovered horses bound for packing were treated better than those destined for dog food plants.

Foster selected to compete in Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant

Leslie Foster, 16, has been selected to compete in the 1987 Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant to be hosted at Midland College on Jan. 10.

Foster, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Foster, will compete in the 13-to 18-year-old category and will be recognized for their achievements in scholastics, community involvement and personality.

The young ladies will be judged on scholastic achievement, volunteer service, interviews, speech or talent and a formal presentation.

Winner of the Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant will receive a $500 cash scholarship, an 11x14 portrait, an official crown, sash and trophies and an all-expense paid trip to Dallas for the state pageant.

At the state pageant, she will compete for more than $3,000 in cash and prizes, plus the winner will receive an all-expense paid trip to the National Pageant in Kansas City, Mo. where the scholarships and prizes total

George D. Weeks

The community of Big Spring is very special to me. I've been actively involved here for over 25 years. I am a member of the Church of Christ and have served on many committees over the years. I feel good about doing all I can for this community. Greeting both the old and new friends that come through our doors at Nalley-Pickle & Welch is just one more way I can help.
