Just can't fight the computers

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) -Frances V. Madden wasn't a day late or a dollar short, but the city tax collector's computer kept telling her she couldn't register her car until she paid one cent it claimed she owed.

The 79-year-old retired school teacher got a delinquent notice earlier this month telling her the $20.41 she paid on her 1972 Pontiac in June was a penny short. She drove to City Hall, paid $1.50 to park and tried to pay the balance.

"The woman behind the counter said the one cent charge (was) ridiculous and she stamped my registration card," Madden said Saturday.

The computer apparently didn't agree. On Nov. 17, Madden said she got another delinquent notice.

"It said I had to pay $2 interest on the one cent that was not paid," Madden said. "I thought it was just ridiculous. The city spent 44 cents (on postage) to collect one cent."

Meanwhile, Madden had been able to register her car with the state Department of Motor Vehicles by showing the clerk the stamped registration card.

County to pay rent for center

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

The county will pay $500 monthly rent for the Big Spring State Hospital Outreach Center, although County Commissioner O.L. Brown voiced disapproval after the motion unanimously passed during a commissioners' court meeting this morning.

Both Brown and Commissioner Paul Allen were outside the courtroom when Commissioners David Barr, William Crooker and County Judge Milton Kirby unanimously approved the request by Jack Stovall, director of community affairs at the state hospital.

Both Stovall and Downtown Coordinator Teri Quinones announced earlier they had reached a tentative agreement with Mayor Cotton Mize to lease The Corral building, 611 E. Third St.

Mize owns the business and building, but he plans to close the business on Jan. 1. Stovall told commissioners he expects the center to begin operating on Feb. 1.

Brown entered the courtroom immediately after the vote was taken and requested an opinion from the state's attorney general's office to determine a possible conflict of interest between the county and city.

Crooker told Brown any possible conflict of interest would exist between the city and Mize.

County attorney Tim Yeats advised commissioners that he checked the statutes concerning the agreement.

"Legally, you do have power to Crooker said.

grant money. Politically — that's your decision," Yeats said.

Stovall told commissioners that City Manager Mack Wolford recently requested attorney Drew Mouton to research possible conflict of interest regarding Mize's position in the agreement.

Mouton's written opinion says "that to his knowledge, no conflict of interest existed," Stovall said.

This morning's action culminates a two-month effort by the State Hospital's citizen's advisory board to find a location near the downtown area to serve about 110 persons

Stovall said a utilities financing request would be made during this afternoon's Big Spring City Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interior Department draft study recommended today that the oilrich Coastal Plain of northeastern Alaska be opened to oil and gas development so long as the frigid tundra and its diverse wildlife are

The study, released by Assistant Secretary William P. Horn, said the 1.5-million-acre parcel along the Arctic Ocean may contain anywhere from 4.8 billion to 29.4 billion barrels of oil, as well as huge reserves of natural gas.

"The area is clearly the most outstanding oil and gas frontier remaining in the United States and could contribute substantially to our domestic energy supplies," the study said.

NEW YORK - Fresh reports surfaced today that Ivan F. Boesky allowed federal investigators to secretly videotape the stock speculator's meetings with Wall Street professionals who tipped him about impending takeovers, the crux of the largest insidertrading case in U.S. history.

The Washington Post, quoting what it called unidentified sources close to the investigation, said the meetings were videotaped in Boesky's Manhattan office and that audio recordings of his telephone conversations date back at least seven weeks.

The newspaper quoted the sources as saying at least one other investment banker is cooperating with investigators after being implicated by the recordings.

Republicans critical

WASHINGTON - Senate Republican leader Bob Dole says Secretary of State George Shultz should be more supportive of President Reagan, even if that means Shultz shares the blame for secret U.S. arms sales to

Although Dole said that only Reagan ultimately can end the political turmoil enveloping his administration, he also said Republicans are finding it difficult to speak up while Shultz fails to do so.

"It creates a lot of problems for a lot of us who trust the president and want the the president out of this mess ... it was a mistake," the Kansas Republican said of the arms sales during an appearance Sunday on CBS-TV's "Face The Nation."

'But I must say it's rather difficult for us to move center stage if the players around the president are bickering among themselves and all looking for cover," he added.

Dole and other members of Congress continued to raise questions about the wisdom of the arms-sales to a country officially categorized by the State Department as a ter-

Aquino asks Cabinet resignations

Associated Press Writer

MANILA, Philippines (AP) President Corazon Aquino's spokesman said today that nearly 200 people plotted to topple her government and that the coup plans were one of several factors in her decision to restructure the Cabinet

The spokesman, Teodoro Benigno, said a new Cabinet will be announced in a day or two, and that two to four members, including Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile as earlier announced, were out. She had asked all members to resign on Sunday

Enrile's replacement is retired Gen. Rafeal Ileto, 66, a West Point graduate. He said today an "informal investigation" should be launched into the plot. Benigno indicated there would be no severe punishment for the coup planners.

Meanwhile, it was reported that negotiators for the Communist Party and its New People's Army guerrillas have demanded that the government suspend acceptance of U.S. military aid during a proposed cease-fire. Chief government negotiator Teofisto Guingona said the demand, made by Romeo Capulong as a condition for agreeing to Mrs. Aquino's request for a Christmas truce, was unacceptable Beningo said about 180 plotters. described as diehard loyalists to ex-President Ferdinand E. Marcos and military rebels backing Enrile, met Saturday at the home of Antonio Carag, a prominent Marcos supporter with links to Enrile. He said they planned to take over the National Assembly and void the Feb. 7 elections won by Mrs. Aquino.

Leaders of the pro-Marcos New Society Movement Party, known by the acronym KBL, issued a statement saying they had gathered at Carag's house for a 'regular party meeting.'

"We never discussed nor had any meeting with military officers about the coup," said the statement, signed by party leaders.
Chief of Staff Fidel V. Ramos discovered the plot through infiltrators and "checkmated" their plans, Benigno said.

According to official accounts, Ramos deployed troops around key installations in the capital Saturday night and the following day ordered commanders to ignore any defense ministry orders.

Later Sunday, Mrs. Aquino ask-

Newly-appointed Philippine DefenseMinister Rafaelo Ileto tells reporters in Manila today that a probe should be launched into an alleged coup plot whi ch one government official blamed on a faction close to IIeto's predecessor, Juan Ponce Enrile. President Corazon Aquino, pictured behind lleto, dismissed Enrile, who had been at odds with Aquino's policies, on Sunday along with the rest of her cabinet.

ed all Cabinet members to resign and warned she would take the "sternest measures" against

When asked what action would be taken against Enrile, Benigno said, "In the Philippines there are ways of settling things amicably.' There has been no public statement from Enrile since Sunday's developments.

Three factors which led to the Cabinet dismissal, Benigno said, were the recent slaving of prominent labor union chief and leftist. Rolando Olalia, the kidnapping of a Japanese businessman and the weekend coup plot.

Leftist groups blamed Olalia's murder on Enrile and staged a mass funeral procession through the heart of Manila last week.

Benigno said only two to four members of the Cabinet would be "affected" when Mrs. Aquino announces her new administration.

"It was very hard for the president to continue leading a country which was being held hostage by a group of military officers whose interest was to grab power," he said. "It's as if she was able to remove a bone from her throat.

With the removal of disruptive political elements, the remaining dangers to be faced were the commmunist insurgency and an ailing economy, Benigno said.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa Barclays Bank, in the largest divestment yet by a foreign company, is selling its last shares in its South African subsidiary due to financial pressure and anti-apartheid protests, the Views of other Texas papers

Here is a sampling of editorial opinions from around the state

Fraternity hazing needs study

The death and injuries suffered by college fraternity pledges from hazing in Texas should be the subject of a statewide study panel appointed by the governor.

The seriousness of the problem nas been recognized at the University of Texas where president William H. Cunningham has named a special commission to investigate fraternal organizations on the Austin campus.

Mr. Cunningham deserves credit for taking the initiative on the problem of over-zealous fraternity activities in the wake of the alcoholpoisoning death two months ago of a freshman fraternity pledge

But this study should not be limited to the University of Texas when several other schools in the state, including Texas A&M University and Southern Methodist University, have experienced appalling cases of student hazing that have led to death and injury. -Dallas Times Herald

No-pass, no-play preferred as is

The state Board of Education is reviewing the no-pass, no-play rule to see if it needs to be changed.

Under the no-pass, no-play rule mandated as part of the 1984 public school reform act, a student who fails a course in ineligible for extracurricular activities for six weeks. Some folks, including Governor-elect Bill Clements and House Speaker Gib Lewis, consider a three-week suspension period as effective, but not as punitive.

The board or one of its commmittees is going to review the rule and set a public hearing after the first

No-pass, no-play has brought the emphasis in the Texas educational system back to education. The extras — football, band, theater, etc. are all great to round out the individual, but each student needs the basics.

We don't want to see Texas open to criticism that its high school graduates are great football players, but can't read or write. We urge as little change in the rule as possible. It's much too important to the future or our students

Reports of Iran dealings released for nearly a year

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — For nearly a year, we have been reporting on the secret deals the Reagan administration was making with Iran. We voiced our vehement objections to the secret negotiatons, both in this column and in private talks with administration officials.

Because of constant warnings from our sources that detailed reports on the U.S.-Iranian contacts would endanger the lives of American hostages in Lebanon, we were circumspect in outlining the exact nature of the negotiations. Even so, other journalists told us they couldn't confirm the stories. and high administratiosn officials tried their best to convince us that we were wrong.

But we knew we and we believed that the administration's policy was wrong Here's what we wrote on Aug. 11:

The United States and Western allies continue to conduct secret talks and cut secret deals with Iran while the Ayatollah Khomeini's terrorist lackeys control the fate of three surviving American hostages. ... We've reported before on the secret tilt toward Iran by the Reagan administration's top policymakers. We have declined to detail the extent and exact nature of the contacts because they are so closely intertwined with the fate of the remaining hostages.

Last January, we disclosed that former high-level officials were conducting secret talks with Iran over the hostages. Now that the cat is out of the bag, we can reveal that two of the negotiations were a onetime CIA official and a high Pentagon official who were closely associated with renegade CIA

On Feb. 24, in an Oval Office interview with President Reagan, Iran," he said, according to a tape __Iy, not through Israel. of the conversation. "For six years they've been waging a terrorist war against us and there are at least 264 American bodies they can count as being responsible for, including, as we reported, (hostage) William Buckley last year, whom they tortured mercilessly. I know there are still four hostages there now and that may preclude you from saving anything

The president confirmed part of our story, but then made a statement that - on his condition - we will be able to report only after all the hostages are safely home. But he made it clear he felt it was possible to deal with Iran

After further inquiries, we wrote two columns last April that began to pry the lid off the secret operation that has now been all but officially confirmed. On April 28, we reported that the administration "has been quietly conciliatory in behind-the-scenes negotiations with Iran over the American hostages held by pro-Iranian terrorists.

We added: "This dramatic, subterranean shift in policy toward Iran goes beyond the fate of the hostages into the realm of global geopolitics. President Reagan has been convinced by his advisers though there are still some dissenters — that an effort must be made to establish relations with

Thank God for daily newspapers

By TIM APPEL Staff Writer

Wouldn't life be simple if mankind ran civilization like a newspaper?

All throughout life, we're constantly bombarded with conflicting signals on how time goes by.

On one hand, we have the late people. Like airline flight schedulers. You'd think by now these people would be able to account for flight delays and schedule accordingly. Yet we frequently find our flights behind schedule. Trains often run the same way. As do many other facets in our world. Therefore we plan around the delays, take our time, and are somewhat surprised if they're on

Then we have the early birds such as magazine publishers. An Oct. 27 issue of Sports Illustrated will be on the shelves of the supermarket by that date, but will have been read and discarded days before by a subscriber.

Are you taking a monthly magazine like Reader's Digest? Your December issue should be in the mailbox by mid-November. Therefore, is it not a November issue instead of a December issue?

Maybe publishers should wrap the magazine in plain paper and stamp it "Do not open until December."

Auto-makers and the federal government are the worst of fenders of all. When autumn turns the leaves golden brown, and the sounds of football fill the stadiums we're told by our government that the fiscal year has ended.

Even in grade school, we're taught that the year ends Dec. 31 except for the Jewish New Year and the Chinese New Year. Confusing, isn't it?

The car dealers, of course, have been telling us since September that the 1987 models are out. Makes you wonder if those people know what day of the week it is.

But newspapers are reassuring. If the paperboy hasn't thrown it behind a bush, you can look at the top of every page and see the exact day, month and year.

It's a comforting thought to read that paper, after having driven a 1987 car to the airport to wait on a flight that's been delayed.

NBC sows myth about Agent Orange

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN

A straight-arrow American GI survives a year of combat in Vietnam, only to discover years later that he is dying of cancer. If that's not bad enough, it turns out that his disease was inflicted by his own government. Outwitting bureaucrats determined to suppress the truth, the doomed veteran learns that he is the victim of a deadly chemical known as Agent Orange, which was used by the Air Force to defoliate Vietnan's

That was the story told Monday night in the NBC-TV movie, "Unnatural Causes." Starring former "Three's Company" star John Ritter as the vet, this "fact-based" firm told how he and a woman employed by the Chicago office of the Veterans Administration together uncovered the ghastly truth about Agent Orange. The story was fast-paced, well-acted and emotionally powerful.

Unfortunately, it was also false. The movie's dramatic force derived from its premise: that exposure to dioxin, a component of Agent Orange, caused widespread disease and death among soldiers exposed to it in Vietnam. It would have spoiled everything for NBC to admit that the scientific envidence contradicts its premise. By ignoring inconvenient facts, the network made itself an accomplice to dishonest propaganda.

veterans suffering from a multitude of ailments rashes, numb fingers, liver problems, loss of sex drive and, most commonly, cancer. All, it turns out, served in areas of Vietnam sprayed with Agent Orange. So did the protagonist, Frank Coleman, a trim, vigorous, health-food-eating teacyher, who is struck down by a rare cancer, soft-tissue sarcoma. "People don't just die for no reason," he protests.

Actually, people die for no obvious reason all the time. But not in TV movies. If Coleman is dying, it is because someone did something to kill him - in this case, the companies that made the defoliant containing dioxin ("the most lethal chemical ever created," as one character describes it) and the Air Force that sprayed it.

No one denies that dioxin is powerful and even hazardous. In some experiemental animals, it is extremely toxic, causing cancer, reproductive damage and spontaneous abortions. Humans exposed to high levels of the chemical develop an assortment of transitory ailments, including skin rashes, digestive problems and nervous disorders.

But that apparently is all. Among Vietnam veterans, cancer and chromosome damage are no more common than among other Americans. The same is true of the 1,000 men who actually did the spraying, whose exposure was unusually high.

As for the particular type of cancer supposedly caused by dioxin, soft-tissue sarcoma, the Air Force study of those 1,200 men found that none had it. A VA study of 85,000 Vietnam veterans found they were less prone to the disease than other Americans.

Other studies confirm these. An industrial accident in West Virginia in 1949, for example, subjected 200 workers to much higher doses of dioxin than anyone in Vietnam is likely to have gotten. But doctors who monitored these workers found no increase in the death or cancer rate. A 1975 explosion in Seveso, Italy, also yielded no evidence of long-term risk.

A new book by Michael Gough, formerly a scientist for Congress' Office of Technology Assessment, says no connection has been found between dioxin and cancer, birth defects or other serious ailments. "The position of the majority of scientists who have examined the human health effects of dioxin," he writes, "is that little or no harm has been done.

Last February, the respected journal Scientific American summarized the evidence: "None of the many studies directed at thtis question have demonstrated that (dioxin) causes severe chronic human effects. Moreover, not one human death has been attributed to (dioxin), even though exposure has been high in a number of cases' (emphasis added).

NBC's one gesture toward the truth came in a printed statement after the film which noted that, in the settlement of the suit by Vietnam veterans against the makers of Agent Orange, the presiding judge concluded that "as of 1984, scientific research had not been able to prove that Agent Orange exposure had caused the veteran's disabilities." But that tardy admission couldn't overcome the effect of the moving images that preceded "Unnatural Causes" could have illuminated the facts about Agent Orange and thus done a service to those who served in Vietnam. But the facts wouldn't support this tale of the shameful betrayal of our veterans, so scientific truth had to give way. By airing this movie, NBC disseminated a cruel myth.

Opinion split on boy who prefers bowling

DEAR ABBY: Hallelujah! My faith in the younger generation has been restored after reading the letter from the 17-year-old young man signed "Opting for Abstinence." He said he has had sex, and thinks that bowling is more fun. DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I've started clipping all your diabetes items. The reason is that my husband, 45, has it, only recently discovered. His doctor was surprised at how high his sugar was. School suffers $1.5 million fire

GARLAND — Vandals went on an early morning rampage through a high school, smashing trophy cases, ripping out water fountains and sparking a fire that did about $1.5 million in damage, officials

The Sunday morning blaze destroyed Garland High School's administrative offices, and school officials think the vandals may have used reams of paper from those offices to start the fire, fire Capt. Tommy J. Weston said.

It was the fourth reported case of vandalism in the Garland school district in three weeks, but school administrators said it was not clear whether the incidents were related.

Weston said he needed more time to probe the fire's source. No flammable liquids, paint cans or other incendiary devices were found at the scene, he said.

School superintendent Jill Shugart said school would resume today as scheduled. Assistant superintendent Marvin Roden estimated the damage at $1.5 million and noted that the roof had collapsed over some offices.

"Our biggest problem is that our administrative complex is destroyed," Ms. Shugart said. "We need to make some adjustments and regenerate some records.

The fire was reported at 1:01 a.m. by a motorist who saw smoke blowing across the street from the Investigators tentatively ruled school in this suburban city east of arson as the cause of the blaze, but Dallas. No injuries were reported.

PORT ACRES (AP) — Times have changed since Preston Murphy used to skin the hide off his father's cows, salt it down and dry it out. But the leather product he makes from the rawhide hasn't

His daddy taught him how to cut the leather, plait it and knot it on a hardwood handle to make the loudest whip a cow could hope to hear. And his granddaddy taught his daddy before him.

In the midst of assembly line products and factory labels, 76-year-old Murphy's product can whip anybody else's.

Some Western stores agree. Murphy makes whips for Sam's Western Store in Beaumont and Harmon's Western Store in Hankamer. Over the years, he's worked out a deal whereby Harmon's provides the leather, and he uses half of it to provide its whips, he says. The remainder he uses to make his own whips, which he sells to customers who have heard of him by word of

But it's not the business that attracts him, it's the tedious and deliberate process that has become a dying art.

"You put a little notch here, you see that's the four-plait," he says as he leans his big frame over a work table in a shed out back of his house. As he slowly cuts a precisely straight, 9-foot line down the massive piece of leather, he explains that he is cutting strips that will be plaited four times and then eight times. The more plaits, the thicker that part of the whip.

He pauses to run his knife over a whetstone that's never an arm's length away. "You got to have a sharp knife to make a good whip," he says, eyeing a row of 100-pound rice sacks filled with fertilizer intended for his garden nearby. "I usually runs his knife down the sides of each one to cut off the rough

You got to get them pretty and round on each edge," he says patiently. Then he fastens the end where all the leather strips connect to a door latch or a nail and begins plaiting.

"To get it tight," he says, yanking a leather strand, "you got to pull each string like you wanted to break it."

Murphy says he can plait a whip in 40 minutes, but sometimes he seems to take his time just to enjoy the entire process. "Just about anybody can plait a four-plait, but when they start the eight-plait, some of them are going to run into trouble.

Murphy next winds a complicated knot around his thumb in a series of loops and twists he makes look simple. He'll use the knot to connect the plaited leather to a handle, for which he uses only an extremely hard wood called bois d'arc.

He used to make the handles himself, but now he gets them from a man in Sulphur, La. 'This wood is so hard people can't cut into it," he says. "And it sure beats me how worms can bore holes in it.'

Murphy sells the whips for $25 each, but he doesn't make much profit from them, he's quick to inform. "I drive 80 miles (to Hankamer) to get the leather and 100 miles to get the handles," he laughs. "When it's all said and done, I probably make about $3 a whip.

"I don't make nothing off it; I don't lose nothing off it. It just gives me something to do.'

When a customer buys a whip, generally after Murphy has fixed him a cup of chicory coffee, he'll watch Murphy disappear through the screen door for a

Dorsett and Walker break loose for 16 yards on 16 carries

WASHINGTON (AP) — With one glorious victory, the Washington Redskins have enhanced their playoff hopes and put the postseason plans of the Dallas Cowboys in serious jeopardy.

Led by quarterback Jay Schroeder and a defense that belied its poor ranking in the NFC, the Redskins rolled to a 34-0 halftime lead Sunday and cruised to a 41-14 triumph over the Cowboys. It was the most points Washington has scored in the history of what has become one of the NFL's fiercest rivalries.

The victory improved the Redskins' record to 10-2 and kept them Terry Orr forced Dallas' Darryl in a tie atop the NFC East with the New York Giants. Dallas, 7-5, fell three games behind the leaders 30. Three plays after the turnover with four games to play.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said that if the Cowboys are to make the playoffs, it will likely be as a wild card entry. "I don't think we have any chance to win our division,' Landry admitted. "But we're not out of the playoffs yet. We have a chance, but we have to win from

Schroeder passed for 230 yards and two touchdowns in the first half as Washington amassed 336 yards in offense while limiting the Cowboys to 43. The Redskins scored on six of their eight possessions before intermission, including all four in the second

After Steve Cox missed a 50-yard field goal on Washington's second possession, the Redskins forced Dallas to punt and got the ball back at their own 29. Schroeder promptly foiled a Cowboy blitz by tossing a 71-yard touchdown pass to tight end Clint Didier, who had gotten behind Dallas defensive back Bill Bates. Entering the game, the Cowboys had given up only six first-quarter points all season.

Schroeder, who improved his record as a starter in the NFL to 14-3, completed 16 of 31 passes for Washington's initial two possessions of the second period ended with Max Zendejas' field goals, and the score became 27-0 three minutes before the half on a 22-yard scoring run by Kelvin Bryant.

An 11-yard scoring pass from Schroeder to Gary Clark 13 seconds before intermission made it 34-0 and the Cowboys' three-game winning streak over Washington was all but over. Clark, who became only the fifth receiver in Redskin history to have a 1,000-yard season, caught seven passes for 117 yards in the first half alone.

The Washington defense, which entered the game ranked 13th among 14 NFC teams, registered four sacks for 40 yards before the half while limiting Dallas running back Tony Dorsett to 3 yards on 8

The Cowboys got second-half touchdowns from Herschel Walker and Robert Lavette, the latter coming on an 8-yard pass from backup quarterback Reggie Collier with four minutes left.

Dorsett finished with 13 yards on 11 carries and Walker gained only 3 yards on 5 attempts.

Quinn's Quarter

Big Spring Steers' Head Football Coach Quinn Eudy had these comments this morning about Saturday night's season ending 26-17 loss to Hereford. The 1986 Steers tied a Big Spring High record for wins with nine. There record was 9-2.

"I felt like the kids played hard. I think the newness of the playoffs caused some tightness and mental mistakes that we normally don't have.

"Hereford came in with a good game plan. They've been in the playoffs a few more times than Big Spring, and we were a little uptight. But no excuses intended. It's my job to make sure that doesn't happen.

"I think our inability to take advantage of some of their mistakes hurt us as much as anything

"I felt like we were going to score (on the fourth quarter drive that ended with a fumble). I think you could see the confidence in the kids by the way they drove the ball. I didn't have any doubt that we'd either get a touchdown or a field goal. A field goal would have won the game (on penetrations.)

"I think we started a little tradition and our seniors, shoot, I wish them the best. This years team gave us something to build on and look forward to.

"Now the school and community needs to stay together and back all the programs.

Big Spring Steers' defensive end Robert Sumner (57) races Hereford White Faces' running back Mark Artho (20) for a loose ball in the early going of the Steers' 26-17 loss. The Steers finished the season 9-2 overall and as District 2-4A champions with a spotless 8-0 district record.

Ex-juvenile delinquent proves an old Cus right

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Cus D'Amato was right.

Seven years ago. D'Amato watched a 13-year-old inmate at a school for delinquent boys spar, then told the youth that if he listened and worked hard he would become heavyweight champion.

"I thought he was a crazy old white dude," said Mike Tyson, the youth who moved in with D'Amato and became his legal ward in 1981.

Saturday night at the Las Vegas Hilton, the 20-year-old Tyson became the youngest man to win a heavyweight title.

In the 28th fight of a professional career a little less than 21 months old, the unbeaten Tyson knocked out Trevor Berbick in the second round and won the World Boxing Council championship.

"If it wasn't for Cus, this would never have happened," Tyson said of D'Amato, who died Nov. 4, 1985 at the age of 77. "He was probably up there saying I made lot of mistakes," Tyson said Saturday night.

There wasn't time for Tyson to make many mistakes.

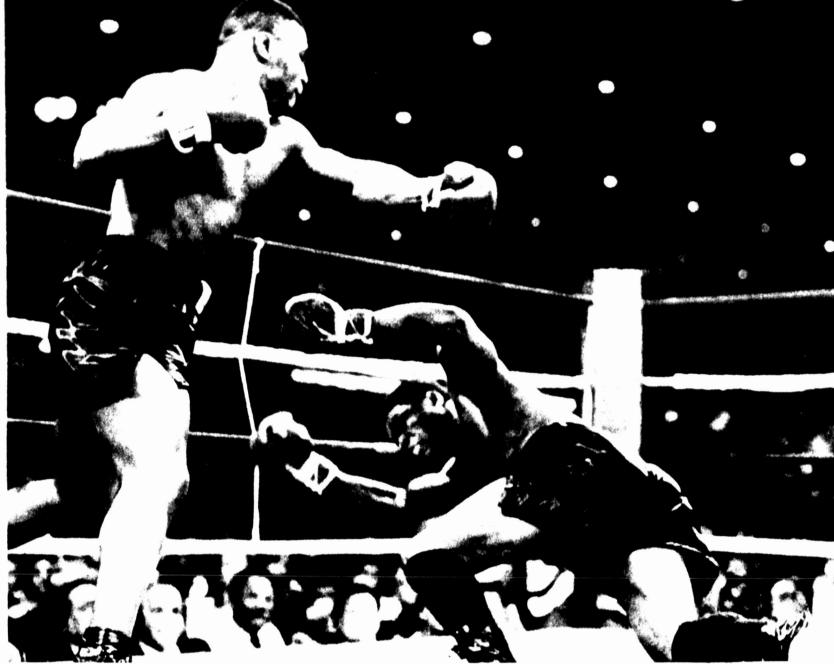

He hurt Berbick with a fourpunch combination late in the first round and knocked him down early in the second. Then, late in the second round, he caught Berbick with a left hook to the side of his head.

Berbick froze for a moment, then crashed to the canvas. He fell twice while trying to get up, then finally regained his feet at the count of nine. But his eyes were glazed and his legs were wobbly. Referee Mills Lane wrapped his arms around Berbick and stopped the fight at 2:35 of the second round.

It was Tyson's 26th knockout. His 28 fights have totaled just 77

Tyson got off 106 punches and connected with 59. Berbick was credited with 38 punches and 13

"He's very quick," the 33-yearold Berbick said. "He has a lot of power. I think he has a very good chance to be the undisputed champion.

Then, under the format of the HBO television series of heavyweight title fights, the winner of the Tyson-WBA champion fight would meet Michael Spinks. the International Boxing Federation champion, here in May for the undisputed title.

Spinks was at ringside Saturday night, and he was asked how he felt about fighting the agressive Tyson. "I'll give it a try," he said. "I'm willing. I'm not afraid of anybody. I'll give it my best, like I do every

But promoter Butch Lewis, who guides Spinks' career, was thinking about a fight against Gerry Spinks is not scheduled to fight again until the May match for the undisputed title, but Lewis said, "I'm not going to allow other fighters to stay active while Michael is staying dormant."

The IBF says Spinks must make a mandatory defense against Tony Tucker. Such a fight would be outside the series and change the series time scheduled.

But Lewis said there won't be a Spinks-Tucker match.

'If I'm going to take a fight outside the series, it's going to be meaningful and lucrative.'

Asked if he meant a Spinks-Cooney fight, Lewis said, "Possibly, yes. I'm going to be on top of it beginning Monday.

Cooney is supposed to fight Dec. 26, his first bout since May, but his manager, Dennis Rappaport, said Sunday by telephone from New York, "There is a good chance it won't take place."

Cooney's opponent in the Atlantic City bout was to be William "The Bayou Moose'' Thomas. But Thomas is asking for more money, Rappaport said.

While there is more than one champion, there's little doubt that the star of the division is Tyson, who fulfilled D'Amato's prophecy at the age of 20 years 4 months 22

Fresno State QB breaks record

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) - Fresno State quarterback Kevin Sweeney broke Doug Flutie's major college career passing record Saturday with an 11-yard toss to Stephen Baker in the second quarter against Utah State.

Sweeney finished with 216 yards in Fresno State's 14-7 Pacific Coast Athletic Association victory, giving him 10,623 yards for his career. Flutie's NCAA Division I mark of 10.579 yards was set at Boston College between 1981 and 1984. The all-time collegiate record of 13,220 yards was set by Neil Lomax, who played for Portland State, a Division I-AA team, from 1977 through 1980.

Gretzy shatters another mark

EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) — Wayne Gretzky became the fastest 500-goal scorer in NHL history Saturday when his shot from center ice went into an empty net in a 5-2 Edmonton victory over the Vancouver Canucks

Worrell named the NL's top rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals' reliever Todd Worrell was named National League Rookie of the Year today, falling one vote short of being a unanimous selection in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Worrell, a 27-year-old right-hander, got 23 of 24 first-place votes to easily outdistance San Francisco Giants second baseman Rob Thompson. Worrell, who had a league-leading 36 saves, totaled 118 points in balloting by two writers from each of the league's 12 cities.

Worrell, who played a major role in the Cardinals' march to the 1985 NL pennant by posting a 3-0 record with five saves in 17 appearances after being called up late in the season, was with the team from the start in 1986. He relieved in 74 games, posting a 9-10 record and a 2.08 earned run average.

Worrell did not play enough in 1985 to lose his rookie status, and thus was eligible for the 1986 award.

Ramsay was impressed with the play of Steve Johnson, who was not with the team last season. Johnson, playing center after Sam Bowie broke his leg on Nov. 7, had 19 points, nine rebounds and four blocked shots

Ferguson sees his current opportunity in place of injured Eric Hipple as a key to his future.

"After this year, my future is pretty uncertain. I just don't know what's going to happen," Ferguson, 36, said. "I do know that I want to play some more, but I'm

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"I'm mailing you a letter, Grandma. Wanna hear what it says?"

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOV. 25, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day of mixed blessings. At one moment you will have delays and obstacles, but later you find it possible to get around them by your own business-like attitude.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Benefits from a distance are not forthcoming, so handle local matters. Go through with tonight's plans.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't overspend for pleasure. Go after whatever is wholesome and delightful. Take care of your health.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Remain neutral if an argument starts between a family tie and an outsider and it will soon blow over.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Don't forget to answer a missive from a good friend. Enjoy a hobby tonight that relieves your tension.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get into practical situations that have to be righted. A wise person could give you advice that would be well to follow. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Go after your personal desires. Get in touch with your friends and show affection for them. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to get into private matters that are important to you. Your closest tie will be very helpful. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact good friends who can assist you in gaining personal wishes. Plan a campaign for future pleasures. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your ideas are poor and your judgment is not up to par today, so rely on advice given by bigwigs. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Have conversations with those whose views are different from your own. Steer clear of a jealous person. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can come to a better understanding with your partner if you are with that person today. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take some time to comprehend the views of an associate. Give more support to your partner and get ahead. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will do very well in such fields as engineering, architecture, and the like, where exactitude is a prerequisite. Slant the education along such lines to add to the innate talents. Teach to study self motives and the motives of others for true success.
