Spring board

How's that?

Congress' pay

Q. Did Congress recently vote itself a 40 percent pay raise?
A. No, according to a representative of Congressman Charles Stenholm's Washington D.C. office.
 Congress' last pay raise was 3.4 percent in January of 1985, he said, and in about 1982, it received a 15.1 percent increase.
 To put the figures in perspective, the consumer price index is $289.56, using a base of $100 in 1970. Congress' pay would be $175.55 and the average wage $286.64.

Never silent

The Emmy award-winning "Love is Never Silent," starring Mare Winningham and Phyllis Frelich, airs at 8 p.m. on Channel 13. A deaf young woman's efforts to build her own life in the 1940s after serving for years as a link to the hearing world for her deaf parents, are portrayed.

- "ALF" at 7 p.m. on Ch. 13.
- "Shane" at 7:05 p.m. on Ch. 11.

Snowbound snooze
 A young woman sleeps as she waits with others at Denver's Stapleton Airport Sunday night. Homebound Thanksgiving weekend travelers experienced hours of delay as snow covered the Rockies and part of the Great Plains. Snow blown by winds made driving a nightmare in parts of Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska. Two weather-related deaths were reported in Kansas and South Dakota.

Area cotton crop a 'token amount'

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
 Staff Writer

Unusual weather trends are blamed for the county's low cotton harvest this season — a drastic 82 percent reduction from what normally is projected, according to two local gin managers.

However, federal aid should begin early in 1987 and one gin manager has detected an attitude of optimism.

"The stalk is nice and pretty, but there's nothing on it," said Mike Bragg, assistant Howard County Extension agent.

He said a majority of the farmers are shredding their cotton stalks, rather than harvesting them.

"There's not enough on the stalk to run a stripper through," Bragg said.

Billy Bryant, manager of the Big Spring Co-op Gin, said he normally receives 15,000 to 20,000 bales of cotton annually from local growers. This year, he has projected receiving 2,000 to 3,000 bales.

Lee Roman, manager of the Knott Co-op Gin, reported similar estimates.

"We're looking at a token amount," he said.

Of the 90 producers who normally harvest cotton, Roman expects about 10 to 12 will have a crop this year.

Relief is expected.

Texas farmers may face battle on taxes

By JENNIFER DIXON
 Associated Press Writer

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — Texas farmers face the fight of their lives when the Legislature convenes in January, the president of the Texas Farm Bureau said today.

In a speech to the 53rd annual meeting of the state's largest farm organization, S.M. True said agriculture could lose its sales tax exemptions as legislators look for ways of meeting a revenue shortage.

"The upshot is that agriculture's sales tax exemptions are in jeopardy," True said. "We're talking about big money. A farm or ranch operation with $100,000 of annual inputs is not at all unusual. If we lost our exemptions, a tax of 5.25 percent would cost such a producer $5,250 in taxes. ... The urban makeup of the Legislature presents a major problem to us."

Agricultural products such as machinery, feed, seed and fertilizer are exempt from state sales taxes.

In a news conference Sunday, True said rice and cotton produced in the United States are moving into the world market and feed grains may follow if critics leave the 1985 farm bill alone.

Drug detecting dog to do stuff at public meet

Persons attending a drug abuse program Tuesday night will see Danny, the drug detecting dog, do his stuff.

Danny will demonstrate his skills as part of the program on drug prevention and rehabilitation at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria at Big Spring High School.

The dog has been a focal point this year of programs on drug abuse in local schools and has been employed in a project to keep drugs off local campuses.

Also featured in Tuesday's program will be Beverly Barron, regional director of the Texas War on Drugs. Barron has been involved in the statewide drug prevention program since its inception and has been acclaimed for her dynamic presentations.

Rita Fambro, acting director of the Crossroads Recovery Program, will discuss methods used to help people recover from drug abuse and describe some of the rehabilitation programs available.

Parents and students also will learn how they can become active in local drug prevention programs. These will be described by Tom Watson, chairman of the Chemical People Task Force.

The program is sponsored by the Howard County Extension Service in conjunction with the Chemical People.

Reagan welcomes appointment of special prosecutor

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
 AP White House Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, saying he wants "all the facts to come out," said today he would welcome appointment of a special prosecutor if recommended by the Justice Department to investigate the funneling of Iranian weapons payments to Nicaraguan rebels.

"The Department of Justice investigation is continuing with my full support and cooperation, and if they determine an independent counsel is called for, I would welcome that appointment," Reagan said. He made the comments in addressing a special three-man commission he established to probe the operations of his National Security Council staff.

Reagan said he has ordered the staff not to participate in national security operations until the board issues its findings and recommendations.

The special board of inquiry headed by former Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, was named by Reagan in the wake of disclosures that NSC aide Lt. Col. Oliver North arranged for transfer of up to $30 million in weapons-sale profits to the Contra rebels.

Reagan fired North last week, and the Marine officer today reported as ordered at Marine headquarters for his new assignment.

"I want to assure you and the American people that I want all the facts to come out about learning of the possible transfer of funds from the sale of arms to Iran to those fighting the Sandinista government," Reagan said as he gave his investigative board its marching orders.

In addition to Tower, former Carter administration Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie and former Ford administration national security adviser Brent Scowcroft are serving on the panel. They are assigned to look into the role of the NSC in the administration.

In the past, the NSC staff has participated in White House handling of numerous crises, including the capture of the Achille Lauro hijackers and the invasion of Grenada.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan had instructed his staff to talk openly with the board and said it has "a blank check" to conduct its work. However, he said it would not have subpoena power, would not take testimony under oath and probably would not hold public hearings, as did the presidential panel that investigated the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger.

Answering reporters questions at the close of the brief photo session as the meeting got under way in the Cabinet Room, Reagan said the suggestion by Senate Republican leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., that he call a special session of Congress to investigate the scandal "is under discussion."

High court to decide in drinking age issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to decide whether some federal highway money may be withheld from states that fail to adopt a minimum drinking age of 21.

The justices said they will hear arguments by South Dakota authorities that such a federal law unconstitutionally weakens state powers.

Congress in 1984 passed a law requiring the secretary of transportation to withhold part of the federal money otherwise available to a state for highway construction if the state permits "the purchase or public possession ... of any alcoholic beverage" by someone under 21.

The law is aimed at reducing drunken driving by teen-agers, a major cause of death among that age group.

Under the law, those states with a minimum drinking age under 21 lose 5 percent of the highway funds otherwise scheduled for fiscal year 1987 and 10 percent of such funds during fiscal year 1988.

States that subsequently adopt a 21-year minimum drinking age may be entitled to recoup withheld funds.

South Dakota sued Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth H. Dole shortly after the law was enacted in an effort to block any reduction in funds.

The state permits people 19 and 20 years old to purchase and publicly possess beer containing a low percentage of alcohol.

U.S. District Judge Andrew Bogue of Rapid City, S.D., dismissed the state's lawsuit, and the dismissal was upheld last May 21 by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Cities plan to fight some tax changes

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Leaders of the nation's cities say they will oppose any congressional attempts to modify the new federal tax overhaul at the expense of urban finances.

Henry Cisneros, mayor of San Antonio and president of the National League of Cities, said the group's top priority in the new Congress is to fight any moves to further restrict the favorable tax status of municipal bonds or to take away the deductions for most local taxes which, except for sales taxes, were not changed in the new tax code.

"The temptation will be there to further make a run on city prerogatives," Cisneros said. "We've got to hold the line."

Cisneros, commenting Sunday at the start of the league's annual Congress of Cities meeting, said urban leaders also would ask Congress to reauthorize billions of dollars in key urban aid programs and would fight a proposal to give up many domestic programs in exchange for greater federal funding of welfare.

After two presidential campaigns in which urban problems of hunger, joblessness, homelessness, illiteracy and other ills were not major issues, city leaders also plan to try to force presidential candidates to deal with those issues in the coming political season.

"We're going to try to help galvanize some of those issues," said Alan Beals, executive director of the league. "We want to help them understand that urban issues have some political value ... and are worthy of attention."

Those issues, along with a call for Congress to drop many costly spending requirements placed on local governments in a wide range of programs, were set as the top priorities of the organization of cities and towns by its board of directors.

About 5,000 mayors, council members and managerial officials from nearly 1,000 cities and towns around the nation are attending.

Sheriff's log Silverware stolen from local home

Burglars stole a silverware set from the Albert Davis residence on old Gail Road between 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Sunday, said Sheriff A.N. Standard today.

A value has not yet been determined, the sheriff said.

County residents are urged to form neighborhood watch programs, to notify the sheriff's department of any suspicious person or activity and to secure or keep tangible items out of sight, Standard said.

Sheriff's deputies will also assist advising residents how to utilize and install home burglar alarms, Standard said.

• A Department of Public Safety trooper arrested Kenneth Paul Spicer, 26, no address available, Sunday afternoon on a Fort Worth theft warrant.

He was detained in county jail this morning in lieu of $200 bond.

Local man shot with shotgun

A Big Spring man is in critical condition in the intensive care unit of Scenic Mountain Medical Center after he was shot in the abdomen with a shotgun early Sunday morning.

Another Big Spring man was not listed as injured in a separate assault Saturday afternoon, according to police reports.

Julian Parra Ramirez, 21, 1104 N. Bell, underwent surgery early Sunday morning after he was shot, a hospital spokeswoman said this morning.

He was shot by someone he knows at his residence at 1:07 a.m. Sunday, police reports indicated.

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said police don't have much information about the incident because they haven't been able to speak to the victim. They have no strong suspects, he said.

In another assault, Joe Bernardo Lopez, 1003 Rosemont, was not listed as injured, according to police reports.

Lopez told police a vehicle containing two people he knows, and possibly a third person, rammes his 1977 Ford sedan when he was stopped at a stop sign.

Police classified the incident as an assault rather than a traffic accident because it was an intentional act, Edwards said.

"They used the vehicle as a weapon," he said.

Lopez's car sustained "substantial damage," but the other vehicle only minor damage, the reports said.

The incident occurred at the intersection of Northeast 12th Street and North Main Street at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Finding water seen as 'gift'

Howard Collier, a 66-year-old rancher, demonstrates dousing or "water witching," as it is often called. Collier accepts the ability to find water with a douser as a gift.

PECOS — Some people search for a scientific basis for dousing — or "water witching," as it is often called.

But not Howard Collier of Pecos. He just accepts it as a gift.

Still, he is aware of the explanations others have come up with. "It has something to do with the magnetism in that stick and in your body and in that water vein down there that causes the stick to come down," he said.

The 66-year-old rancher recalled that he first learned about water witching and that had the gift when he was 20 years old.

He was working that summer on his father's Screwbean Ranch in northeast Culberson County. Early one fall morning he and the foreman rode horseback to a site on the ranch where his father had constructed a dirt tank.

"Charlie Greer, the foreman, and I rode out there, there was not a drop of water. Instead, there was a hole in the middle of it where the water had slumped."

The young Collier was shocked by the sight. "My goodness," he said to Greer, "with all this trouble, all this expense, it might be just as cheap to dig a water well."

"Yeah," said Greer, "but it might help if you water-witch for it first."

"What do you mean?" said Collier, who had never heard the phrase before.

"Well, get down off your horse and let's find us a greasewood forked limb," Greer replied.

After cutting two forked limbs, Greer showed the young man how to hold the witching stick. And together they walked over a part of the ranch where the terrain showed promise of good water.

Suddenly Collier's stick started pulling toward the ground, so much so that he had to use force to hold it straight in front of him. The experience frightened him.

"I could see it in your face," said Greer. "Consider yourself lucky. That forked stick doesn't work for everybody."

Police beat $3000 in items taken from residence

- An estimated $3,000 in items was stolen from Bob Miller, 803 Highland Drive, between Saturday afternoon and Sunday night. Taken were a $400 color television, a $1,000 videocassette recorder, a $1,000 video camera and $200 in alcoholic beverages.
- Assorted radio and stereo equipment valued at $2,850, and various firearms and ammunition were stolen and a door window and TV damaged at the residence of Ray Thorton, 814 W. Eighth St., between Thursday and Saturday afternoons.
- A 1978 Pontiac Grand Prix was stolen from Robert M. Dean, 1518 Vines, Sunday. The car was valued at $1,500.
- Someone stole five videocassettes, two micro cassettes and a telephone from Wal-Mart at 4:15 p.m. Saturday.
- A $500 VCR was stolen Thursday from Dale McMurray, 1200 Wood, he told police Saturday.
- A $300 VCR, a $65 videotape and a .22-caliber revolver were stolen from Norma Valenzuela, 2509 Seminole, Sunday.

High court

- Allowed states to require drug and alcohol tests for people involved in thoroughbred horse racing. The court, without comment, rejected an appeal by five well-known jockeys who said breathalyzer and urine tests required by New Jersey racing officials violate their constitutional rights.
- Rejected the appeal of a Hollywood movie studio that lost a trademark battle to a Japanese video game company. The court let stand a ruling that Universal City Studios must pay $1.5 million to Nintendo Company of Japan. Universal lost a federal lawsuit that charged Nintendo with infringing the movie company's King Kong trademark by marketing the hit video game, Donkey Kong.
- Cleared the way for deportation to the Soviet Union of Karl Linna, who is under a death sentence there for running a World War II Nazi concentration camp.

Weather

Forecast

By The Associated Press

Mostly clear and cool through Tuesday. Lows tonight near 20 north to the mid 20s in the far west to near 30 in the south and southeast. Highs Tuesday will be in the 50s except around 60 in the far west and Big Bend.

State

Dense fog blanketed parts of East and Southeast Texas ahead of a cold front that extended from the Red River across East and South Texas, into the Rio Grande plains.

The National Weather Service issued a travelers' advisory in the Houston and Galveston areas because of the impaired visibility on highways as a result of the fog.

Behind the front, skies were fair to partly cloudy as drier air spread into Texas from the northwest. Gusty northwest winds at speeds of 10 to 20 mph swept across the state behind the front. South to southwest winds at speeds of 10 mph or less prevailed across the rest of Texas.

Temperatures were in the 20s over the Panhandle, while ahead of the front, readings were in the 50s. The 30s and 40s were common across the rest of the state. Early morning extremes ranged from 28 at Amarillo to 59 at Port Arthur.

The weather service said there was a slight chance for light snow over the western Texas Panhandle and for a few flurries in the eastern Panhandle and South Plains.

Reagan

Asked about calls in Congress and elsewhere for the resignation of White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan, Speakes said, "Don Regan has not indicated that he plans to leave ... Every indication is that he does not."

Speakes said he had not heard the president raise any question about Regan's performance.

Speakes also revealed that Regan was presented with a list of candidates Sunday as he flew back to Washington to succeed Adm. John Poindexter as his national security adviser. He said Regan had not made a decision.

As a Senate committee opened its own investigation of the Iran-Contra affair, Speakes said the administration had raised no objection to testimony by key officials but that information concerning their conversations with the president "could come under the claim of executive privilege."

He said the White House "would want to work out an agreement" with congressional panels about testimony from officials who had been in the administration.

No president has summoned a special session of Congress since Harry Truman called lawmakers back to Washington in 1948 to deal with labor disputes, Dole said.

Speakes said ultimately it is up to Congress whether to appoint a special committee.

Arson suspected in vacated house fire

Arson is suspected in a fire Saturday that caused $5,000 damage to an unoccupied house, according to assistant fire chief Burr Lea Settles.

A wood frame house at 1106 1/2 Johnson St., owned by Don Swinney, 801 Highland Drive, was aflame at 5:16 p.m. Saturday, according to fire reports.

The blaze destroyed one room and caused smoke damage to the rest of the house and windows were broken.

"It looks real suspicious," Settles said.

Witnesses saw someone leaving the scene, he said. The fire department is trying to locate the person to determine if he was "just passing by," he added.

"In all probability, it (the fire) was set," Settles said. "There's no reason for it to have started."

Deaths

W.H. McMullen

Services for former Big Spring resident W. H. (Howard) McMullen, 60, of Stafford, were Wednesday, Nov. 26, at Veterans National Cemetery in Houston.

He died Sunday, Nov. 23, in Livingston following a sudden illness.

He was born June 11, 1926 in Vaden, Ark. He lived in Big Spring from 1957 to 1975. He worked in the produce section at Furr's Supermarket and the former Foodway Store.

He was a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign War, Elks Lodge and Eagles Lodge. He moved to Stafford in 1975 and worked for Rice Grocery Stores in Houston. He was retired at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, Lynda McMullen of Stafford; a son, Leslie McMullen of Big Spring; a daughter, Judy Sidoni of Phoenix, Ariz.; two brothers, Alford McMullen of Bearden, Ark., Edward McMullen of Malvern, Ark.; two sisters, Louise Carter of Midland, and Lois Lanunius of Malvern. He is also survived by four stepchildren and eight grandchildren.

The family suggests memorials to the American Heart Association and the American Diabetes Association.

Farm conference set

DES MOINES, Iowa — Farmers trying to cope with the slim difference between survival and failure in today's agriculture economy will hear 100 ways to diversify at a special conference on the subject beginning Tuesday.

"Diversification seems to be the key to surviving right now. It's something to look into," said Doug Emanuel, a North Bend, Neb. farmer who is among the 5,500 registered for the ADAPT 100 conference.

ADAPT stands for Agricultural Diversity Adds Profit Today. The 100 stands for the number of alternatives to be presented at the 1½-day conference sponsored by Successful Farming magazine.

Teens likely victims

WASHINGTON — Teen-agers are twice as likely to be victims of violent crime and theft as adults, a new government study shows.

The study by the Justice Department's Bureau of Justice Statistics found that from 1982 to 1984 youths from ages 12 to 19 were the targets of 1.8 million violent crimes on average each year and 3.7 million thefts.

The report, released Sunday, shows that more than 60 of every 1,000 teen-agers are victims of violent crime each year, compared to 27 of every 1,000 adults.

The teen-age rate for theft was 123 per 1,000, compared to 65 per 1,000 for adults.

The study concludes that victims of violent teen crime usually know their assailant and that more than 60 percent of the violent teen crimes are committed by offenders who are younger than 18 years.

Drivers not tested

WASHINGTON — Less than 25 percent of the drivers who survive accidents involving a fatality are given blood-alcohol tests, and many drunken drivers are escaping prosecution as a result, concludes a new study.

The report by the Crime Control Institute, a non-profit research organization of law enforcement officials, also says national statistics underestimated the involvement of repeat offenders in drunken driving deaths.

Of the 32,000 drivers who survived accidents involving fatalities in 1984, more than 75 percent left the scene without being tested for alcohol abuse, said the report.

Traffic deaths over 400

CHICAGO — As the Thanksgiving weekend came to a close, more than 400 traffic-related fatalities had been reported across the country, with California and Florida leading the count.

The National Safety Council had predicted that between 350 and 450 people would die in traffic accidents during the four-day weekend.

At 9 a.m. EST today, 401 people were known to have died in accidents since 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, when the holiday began for counting purposes. The count ended at midnight local time Sunday.

California had the highest number of traffic fatalities with 41, followed by Florida with 33 and Georgia with 22.

The Chicago-based NSC says about 470 people could be expected to die in traffic accidents during a non-holiday, four-day weekend at this time of the year.

Actor Cary Grant, at far right, is shown during scene from the 1940 film "The Philadelphia Story." Grant died Saturday night of a stroke at a Davenport, Iowa hospital where he had been rushed after feeling ill while preparing for a theater appearance, hospital officials said. Hollywood mourns death of actor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cary Grant, who died while touring in a one-man show, was a consummate actor who "gave new meaning to the word gentleman," friends said of the urbane, witty leading man who never won an Oscar for a film.

"Cary Grant was one of the great people in the movie business," said actor Jimmy Stewart. "He was a consummate actor and a complete professional insofar as his work was concerned."

Stewart, 78, worked with Grant and Katharine Hepburn in the 1940 classic, "The Philadelphia Story."

"He was the most handsome, witty, and stylish leading man both on and off the screen. I adored him, and it's a sad loss for all of us," said actress Eva Marie Saint, who starred with Grant in Alfred Hitchcock's 1959 thriller "North By Northwest."

Grant, 82, died of a stroke Saturday in Davenport, Iowa, where he was to appear in a program that included a talk and clips from some of his 72 movies. His fifth wife, Barbara, was at his side.

The body was flown Sunday to Los Angeles. "There will be no funeral," said his lawyer, Stanley Fox. "The family wishes no service and no funeral is planned. Cremation is intended."

President Reagan, a former actor, called Grant a friend and said, "He was one of the brightest stars in Hollywood and his elegance, wit and charm will endure forever on film and in our hearts."

The name Cary Grant was one of the biggest in movie history, but his only Academy Award came four years after his last film — a 1970 honorary Oscar for "his unique mastery of the art of screen acting."

"I always thought and hoped that he was immortal," actor Jack Lemmon said. "His innate dignity and grace enhanced everyone fortunate enough to be a member of the same profession."

"His life was lived with consummate grace. He gave new meaning to the word gentleman at a time when that word was out of fashion," said actor Charlton Heston.

Actress Helen Hayes, reached at her home in Nyack, N.Y., called Grant "one of the charms and the joys of my life. Another light has gone out, I guess. He was most romantic and amusing, wasn't he?"

Grant's bearing suggested aristocracy, but his father was a presser in an English garment factory. He was the idol of millions of women around the world, but his private life often was troubled.

"I pretended to be somebody I wanted to be, and I finally became that person," Grant once said. "Or he became me. Or we met at some point. It's a relationship."

Grant was paired with Katharine Hepburn, Myrna Loy, Audrey Hepburn and Grace Kelly. It was to him Mae West tendered the most famous, and frequently misquoted, proposition in movie history: "Why don't you come up sometime and see me?"

It was a singularly successful relationship that began in 1932 and filled movie screens until 1966 and his last film, "Walk, Don't Run."

Castro criticizes labor

HAVANA — President Fidel Castro lashed out at "chaos and anarchy" in the workplace, telling a party congress that without worker discipline Cuba's economic goals will not be achieved.

Castro angrily told a Communist Party congress in Havana on Sunday that Cuban factories and other businesses employ too many workers and that he had never visited a factory when the workers were not on a coffee break.

Under the present system, he said, people in this island nation of 11 million are being taught not to work.

"It teaches that what should be done by one is done by three," he said. "The biggest shame for any man is to call him a bum. The biggest shame for any country is that it become a country of bums."

"The biggest pride for our revolution and for our people would be to develop a nation of workers."

Massacre stirs rioters

NEW DELHI, India — Police fired warning shots and tear gas today to break up 3,000 rioters blocking traffic on a highway outside New Delhi to protest the massacre of 24 Hindus in Punjab state's bloodiest Sikh terrorist attack.

In Punjab today, a group calling itself the Khalistan Liberation Force claimed responsibility for Sunday's slayings. The group made the claim in a written statement delivered to news offices.

Police said the attack was staged by four turbaned terrorists who ordered all the passengers off a state-run Punjab Roadways bus, gathered the Hindus into a group and sprayed them with gunfire, killing 24.

Waite continues effort

LONDON — Anglican Church envoy Terry Waite says he had renewed his efforts to win the release of hostages in Lebanon, but that recent political developments had "frayed" some of his Shiite Moslem contacts.

"I'm glad to say that in the last few days I have resumed contact with a number of Lebanese friends, and I'm fairly confident that it's going to be possible to continue what is a purely humanitarian and right thing to do in seeking the release of these people," he said Sunday.

In a British Broadcasting Corp. radio interview, Waite said he did not think his work had been undermined by the news about U.S. arms sales to Iran, with the proceeds being used to fund Nicaraguan rebels.

Papal pilgrimage ends

VICTORIA, Seychelles — Pope John Paul II wound up the longest pastoral pilgrimage of his papacy today with a plea for the sanctity of marriage and praise for the close-knit family, which he said keeps society from unraveling.

In a homily at an outdoor Mass during his rain-drenched 5½-hour stop in this Indian Ocean archipelago, the pontiff called close family ties "an irreplaceable treasure" and stressed the "exercise of responsible parenthood."

The sermon, delivered in French, was the last of a two-week, six-nation journey to the South Pacific. After a private meeting at the official residence of Albert Rene, the socialist president, the pontiff departed for Rome.

Anti-apartheid activists begin business boycott

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Anti-apartheid activists today launched a Christmas boycott of white-owned businesses around Johannesburg.

The boycott is intended to protest the almost 6-month-old state of emergency and to call for Soweto and other nearby black townships to be merged with Johannesburg and governed by a single, multiracial council.

In addition to white-owned stores, businesses owned by members of the current Soweto town council also are targeted by the boycott leaders. The council is viewed by militants as a component of the white-led government's apartheid system.

In the past, some black shoppers who defied boycotts have been beaten by youths or forced to swallow purchased goods such as raw meat, detergents and cooking oil.

The boycott is scheduled to continue through Dec. 31. It exempts patronage of drug stores and doctor's offices.

The Federated Chamber of Industries, representing most of the country's major industrial employers, condemned the planned work stoppage, saying such protests "are inappropriate, destructive and dangerous ways of mourning the dead or pressing political demands."

Opinion

Views of other Texas papers

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from around the state.

Oil drop threatens national security

Declining oil prices and drops in the level of oil production already have damaged the economy in Texas, and East Texas in particular, but a study group pointed out last week that another problem could arise from the situation. The National Defense Council Foundation announced that if the United States were required to mobilize the military, national security could be jeopardized by a lack of oil. The Reagan administration has established a cabinet-level review for the oil situation, and the foundation has submitted its report to be reviewed. Administration officials have been skeptical, however, when the national security issue has been raised, claiming it is a masked plea for economic relief by the oil industry. The cabinet review should take a good look at the foundation's report. We already know what the decline in oil prices has done to Texas. It is distressing to know that national security could be threatened as well. —Henderson Daily News

Hiring freeze lift seems revengeful

We view with alarm the actions of Gov. Mark White to lift the hiring freeze he ordered imposed on state agencies. Unless we've missed it, no drastic change has occurred in the state's financial situation, and the move smacks of political revenge against newly elected Gov. Bill Clements. It certainly gives the appearance that White is attempting to load the state work force before Clements takes office, forcing the new governor to fire state workers that would boost the state's unemployment rate. We believe the move is irresponsible financially and could bring about additional problems in attempting to solve the continuing budget crisis. Perhaps it's worth considering a new law: That once a politician is fired by the voters, he leaves office immediately. —The Lufkin Daily News

American book 'made in Japan'

The publisher of a coffee-table book of photographs about work and play, "A Day in the Life of America," sent the national AFL-CIO headquarters in Washington, D.C., a letter suggesting the labor organization might want to buy a number of books for holiday gifts for its executives. Nice idea. But The New York Times says, there was one small objection from labor's point of view: The book, while about America and Americans, was printed in Japan. —Austin American-Statesman

IRS not practicing what it preaches

When the federal government tells a taxpayer he owes taxes, the taxpayer had better pay or else. When the federal government is reminded about how it throws the same taxpayer's money away, it could care less. The government just carries on. An unpublished audit, according to Health and Human Services Department officials, shows that more than $900,000 in Social Security payments have been made yearly to felons serving time in state and federal prisons. It's been three years since Congress enacted legislation forbidding payments to jailed felons. It's been three years and Social Security checks still are being mailed to jails and prisons across this land. Think about it the next time you get a notice of intent to levy from the Internal Revenue Service on a delinquent tax bill. Laredo Morning Times

Texan leaves roads legacy behind

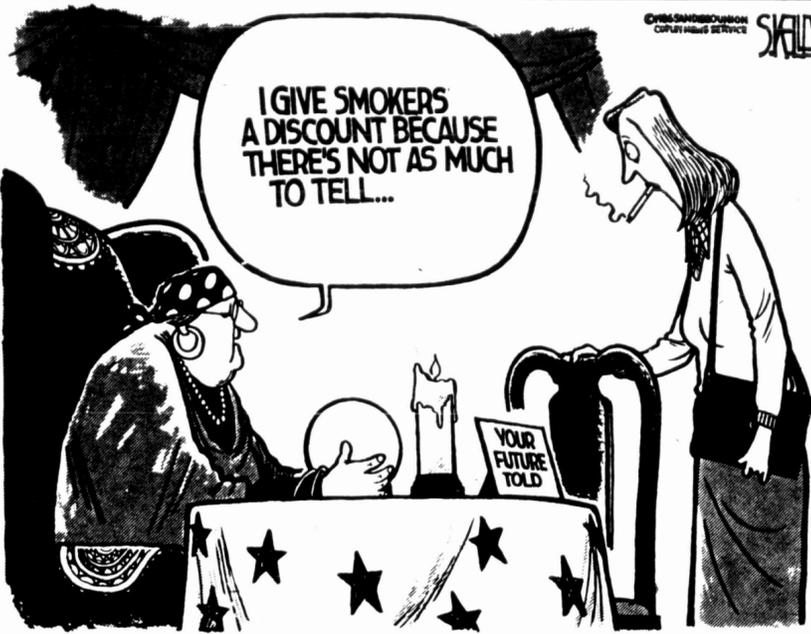

Texas lost a man last Monday who helped transform our state from a quiet, agrarian past into the pride of the booming Sunbelt, and his passing merits comment. His name was Dewitt Greer. In his capacity as the state highway engineer from 1940 to 1967 and as a state highway commissioner from 1969 to 1980, he oversaw the construction of a highway system that is clearly one of the best in the nation. When Greer started with the state highway department in 1920, Texas had just 20,000 miles of highways (not all of them paved) and no statewide program to maintain them. Under his guidance, the state added 43,000 miles of farm-to-market roads and developed a first-rate maintenance system. Greer's legacy of a modern, efficient highway network will live on long after his death, and because of his vision and commitment, those highways also will serve Texans far into the future. —Port Arthur News

Today in history

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Dec. 1, the 335th day of 1986. There are 30 days left in the year.
Today's Highlight in History: On Dec. 1, 1955, black seamstress Rosa Parks defied the law by refusing to yield her seat on a Montgomery, Ala., city bus to a white man. Parks was arrested, prompting a year-long boycott of the buses by blacks. The law requiring blacks to sit in the back of buses later was struck down by the Supreme Court.
On this date:
In 1824, the presidential election was turned over to the House of Representatives when a deadlock developed among John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, William H. Crawford and Henry Clay. Adams eventually was declared the winner.
In 1909, the first Christmas Club payment was made, to the Carlisle Trust Company in Carlisle, Pa.

In 1913, the first drive-in automobile service station opened, in Pittsburgh.
In 1917, Father Edward Flanagan founded Boys Town outside Omaha, Neb.
In 1919, Lady Astor was sworn in as the first female member of British Parliament.
In 1934, Josef Stalin's collaborator, Sergei M. Kirov, was assassinated in Leningrad. His death led to a massive purge of the Soviet Communist Party.
In 1965, an airlift of refugees from Cuba to the United States began. Thousands of Cubans were allowed to leave their native country.
In 1973, the founding father of Israel and its first prime minister, David Ben-Gurion, died in Tel Aviv at age 87.
Ten years ago: Jose Lopez Portillo was inaugurated as president of Mexico. He called for national unity and government austerity.

Vaccine bill seems good compromise

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN
Vaccines are one of medicine's greatest contributions to human welfare. They have eradicated smallpox and dramatically reduced the incidence of other diseases — polio, diphtheria, measles, typhoid fever and more. This is an achievement beyond the imagination of past generations.

Consider whooping cough — an excruciating disease characterized by violent fits of coughing, convulsions, brain damage and death. Before a vaccine was introduced after World War II, it killed several thousand people yearly.

Today it's almost unknown. Unfortunately, the vaccine also sometimes causes serious reactions. Of the nearly 10 million children inoculated each year, about 40 suffer brain damage. This is the stuff of public panic, but for every child who suffers severe harm, 250,000 acquire immunity to a deadly disease. By any rational measure, the vast benefits far outweigh the rare costs.

But the courts aren't always guided by reason in their efforts to help these few victims. Huge damages have been levied against the vaccine's manufacturers, even though they weren't guilty of negligence and even though they had provided warnings of the risks of inoculation. The damages fostered more litigation, and last year Lederle Laboratories, one maker of the vaccine, was hit with about 100 suits, as many as had been filed in the previous three years.

In addition, the generosity of the courts makes it almost impossible for a manufacturer or an insurer to gauge potential liability. As a result, one of the three manufacturers has quit the business, and the price per shot has risen a hundredfold. The same trend has affected other vaccines, prompting dozens of companies to abandon the market in recent years. Only two still invest heavily in vaccine research.

Consequently, badly needed vaccines may be unavailable. Sympathetic to the suffering of families with children badly hurt by vaccines, Congress has approved a compensation fund through which manufacturers would pay for the damage, and President Reagan signed the bill.

It also shielded drug manufacturers from outrageous damage awards and unreasonable lawsuits. The compensation will be financed through an excise tax of about $4 per vaccine. Anyone who can show injury from an inoculation is entitled to medical expenses, rehabilitation and the like, plus as much as $250,000 for pain and suffering.

The bill assured prompt compensation, without having to go to court or pay a lawyer. Though lawsuits still are allowed, that option will be less attractive. Anyone who sues forever forfeits the right to compensation from the fund.

To win, a plaintiff must prove that the maker was guilty of negligence or wrongdoing. In addition, getting punitive damages will be more difficult. Despite these improvements, the Reagan administration opposes the program, and the president signed the bill only because it liberalizes restrictions on drug exports, a measure he favors.

But the Justice Department has dismissed the vaccine portion as "a major new entitlement program for which no legitimate need has been demonstrated," and which is likely to "exacerbate rather than help cure the vaccine supply crisis." The "legitimate need" of families unexpectedly hit with costs that may run into millions of dollars, resulting from an inoculation that in most places is compulsory, is hard to dispute. No compromise is perfect but this one reasonably accommodates the interests of both manufacturers and parents, with the only losers being lawyers. Given the need to ensure a continuing supply of vaccines, so indispensable to protecting public health, it would be irresponsible not to give it a chance.

Two former career officials had major part in Iran deal

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — Two former high-ranking government career officials were an integral part of the secret arms/hostage negotiations with Iran. They are retired Maj. Gen. Richard V. Secord and Thomas Clines, a one-time top man in the CIA's covert operations branch.

Jack Anderson

We were first to disclose the secret negotiations with Iran. We reported early this year that Israel was the designated conduit for the sale of arms to Tehran until the National Security Council decided late last year to "regularize" the weapons shipments by sending them directly from the United States.

We also reported that former CIA Pentagon officials were involved in the secret talks with Iran over the hostages and other issues. The Reagan administration appealed to us to keep secret the details of the mission that we had learned, and even now there are some things we will not disclose.

But we can say that Secord and Clines, known to have excellent contacts in the Middle East, were dispatched to the region to dicker over the hostages' release. Their mission had the approval of Robert C. McFarlane, then the president's national security adviser, who later flew to Iran himself to negotiate.

Clines was director of training for clandestine operations at the CIA until he left in 1978. He was linked to renegade CIA agent Edwin Wilson, who was selling explosives to Libya and now is in prison.

After a lengthy grand jury investigation that directly followed a series of columns we wrote about a multi-million-dollar scandal in the shipment of U.S. arms to Egypt, Clines was indicted for fraud. In 1984, he pleaded guilty to filling false invoices with the Defense Department and was fined $10,000.

Gen. Secord is a West Point graduate, a much-decorated combat pilot and a former deputy assistant secretary of defense. He is known to have good contacts with various Arab governments, and in 1981 was instrumental in persuading the Senate to approve President Reagan's sale of AWACS radar surveillance planes to Saudi Arabia.

Since McFarlane's departure as national security adviser last year, primary responsibility for the negotiations with Iran rested on one man at the National Security Council: Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, deputy director for political affairs.

Footnote: Neither Secord nor Clines could be reached for comment. Their clandestine mission for the White House involved nothing illegal, of course. A National Security Council spokesman would not comment on "the assignments of staff."

CALIFORNIA MAFIA MIFFED: Donald Regan's tenure as White House chief of staff has left President Reagan's old-time California henchmen grumbling. One veteran Reaganaut who has left the White House for another agency complained that the president no longer is given a list of policy options to decide among. Instead, he is presented with a yes-or-no decision on a single solution worked out by Regan and his staff. Usually, the amiable president OKs the suggestion.

The California veterans resent what they see as a power grab by Regan, and say that the president always has functioned better by having options to choose from.

THE COST OF WAR: Six years ago, when it attacked Iran in what was supposed to be a quick, victorious war, Iraq had more than $35 billion in financial reserves. Now the reserves are gone and Iraq is more than $40 billion in debt to international bankers and its Persian Gulf neighbors.

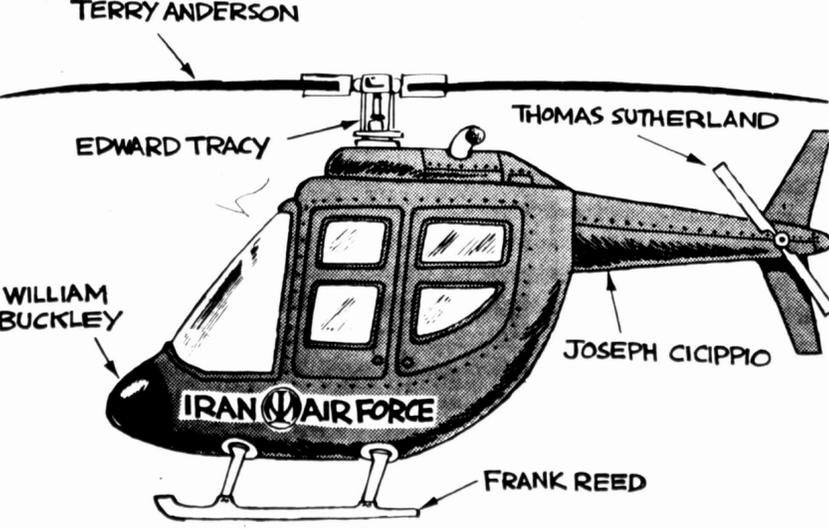

Adding to the discomfort of the Saudis, Kuwaitis and others who have helped bankroll Iraq's war is the certain knowledge that when peace finally comes, Iraq will be a fierce competitor in the world oil market. Its oil reserves are surpassed only by the Saudis.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Washington traditionally is an also-ran among cities vying for national political conventions, and we think we know why: These affairs have become entirely frivolous in recent years, and Washington just doesn't have the party-town image of San Francisco or the Big Apple.

We marvel at Ed Muskie's vigorous promotion of Washington as a grand, family-oriented city of museums, monuments and art galleries. Is he kidding?

Operation Abby sends Christmas cheer

DEAR ABBY: I am the national chairman of the 1986 America Remembers Campaign. We want to encourage the folks at home to send Christmas cards and letters to servicemen and servicewomen stationed abroad and at sea during the Christmas holidays.

In recent years you launched several Operation Dear Abby letter-writing campaigns that were highly successful; they raised the morale of hundreds of thousands of our men and women abroad.

Will you help us, Abby? Call this Operation Dear Abby II, and publish the addresses for readers to send their cards and letters to men and women in every branch of the service. I am enclosing addresses for the Army and Air Force in Korea as well as an address for the Coast Guard ships and radar sites in the Pacific. Also, an address for the Marines and sailors assigned to an aircraft carrier battle group is given.

Please, Abby, help us to let our troops abroad and on the seas know that we appreciate them.

DONALD P. GRIMES,
CHAIRMAN

Dear Abby

DEAR MR. GRIMES: Count me in.

Readers: Please use any (or all) of these addresses, and send holiday greetings and letters to our men and women who will be far from home during the holidays.

I also hope the recipients of these cards and letters will respond to those who cooperated in this campaign. What a great way to begin a pen-pal relationship!

There are five addresses. Two are for aircraft carriers, and there is one each for troops in Germany, Korea and Okinawa. The addresses are set up so that the mail will be distributed to the troops in the days before Christmas. Also, the addresses are set up to handle a large volume of mail so that the more mail that comes in, the more troops will get mail.

• The aircraft carrier U.S.S. John F. Kennedy will be in the Mediterranean Sea during Christmas. Mail sent to its crew can be addressed to "Dear Sailor" or "Dear Friend" or something similar. Its address is:
America Remembers U.S.S. John F. Kennedy (CV67)
c/o PAO
FPO New York 09538-2800

• The aircraft carrier U.S.S. Carl Vinson will be in the Indian Ocean over Christmas. Its address is:

America Remembers U.S.S. Carl Vinson (CVN 70)
c/o PAO
FPO San Francisco 96629-2840

• A special effort is being made in Korea. Mail sent there will be distributed to units from each branch. The address is:

America Remembers U.S. Forces in Korea
c/o Chaplain
APO San Francisco 96202

• There are over 20,000 Marines stationed on the island of Okinawa: America Remembers the U.S. Marines
c/o Camp Foster USO

APO New York 09093

Readers, write "Operation Dear Abby II" in the bottom left-hand corner of the envelope. I've always said that my readers are the nicest people in the world, so please don't let me down.

To get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 3823, Hollywood, Calif. 90038

Attack rabbit

"Cuddles," a large Samoyed breed dog cowers as a domestic rabbit lunges near the home of Peter and Bonnie Tucker in Farmington, Maine Sunday. The two pets play together often; however, Bonnie Tuckers says sometimes the play gets too rough and the rabbit bites the dog.

Hyperions plan Christmas activities

Shirley Shroyer presented a program "The Impact of Women on Texas History" at a recent meeting of the 1948 Hyperion Club. The club met at the home of Mrs. Ross Boykin. Mrs. Hank Thompson was co-hostess. Shroyer discussed the contributions to the development of Texas made by Jane Wilkerson Long, mother of Texas and Miriam Ferguson, Texas' only woman governor. Members of the club agreed to furnish four cakes for a unit Christmas party at the Big Spring State Hospital. The club also agreed to give individual contributions to the Rainbow Project instead of exchanging gifts. This will be done at the Christmas luncheon on Dec. 18 at the home of Mrs. Jerry Currie with Mrs. Jerry Foresyth as co-hostess.

Donohue and reader discuss common problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I hope you'll take a few minutes to write about my problem. I have been diagnosed by three separate dermatologists as having tinea versicolor. I am 39 and have had the problem since I was 19. I can't seem to get rid of it. I've spent a lot of money on it, but haven't been helped. — V.V.

I could go on for hours. Tinea versicolor has been the bane of my life for five years. I'm discouraged to learn that some have to battle it for as long as you have.

Tinea is the name applied to various fungal infections of the skin. Versicolor is another Latin word, which means varying color. It's a harmless infection marked by dark patches on pale skin and light patches on dark skin. I probably don't have to tell you that it sometimes itches or that there is a strong tendency for the darn mess to recur.

If you've tried some of the therapies for this, as have I, I think I can suggest our common problem, and it is our lack of faithfulness to the full course of therapy. We stop it too soon.

One such therapy is a solution of selenium sulfide. You apply it to the affected areas (at times, the entire body from neck down must be covered) and leave it there for 10 to 20 minutes four nights in a row for two weeks. Then you use it the same way one night a week for the following six weeks.

Dr. Donohue

Many other liquids and creams work — sodium thiosulfate, clotrimazole, miconazole, cyclopirox, and ketoconazole, for example. Some of these are rather expensive. I'm on the selenium sulfide right now, and I vow to be faithful this time. I'm going to leave the solution strengths of such substances up to your doctor.

So try again, V.V.
DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I saw a note my family doctor had written to an eye doctor he had referred me to. He mentioned "mitral insufficiency." He had not mentioned this to me. I am a 62-year-old female. Recently, I have been having severe pain in the shoulder area that is believed to be arthritis. I am on medication for that. I also continue to have a shortness of breath. What about this mitral insufficiency. — M.S.G.
The mitral valve controls blood flow between the upper and lower left heart chambers — the left atrium and left ventricle, respectively. The ventricle is the powerful chamber that pumps blood out into the aorta for body circulation. The mitral valve (so named because of its resemblance to a bishop's hat — mitre) closes to prevent the blood from backing up into the atrium when the ventricle pumps.

When the mitral valve leaks, you have mitral insufficiency. If the leak is great, blood can back up through the upper chamber and eventually to the lungs. That can cause shortness of breath.

Because of your new symptoms, I want you to return to your doctor. The problem is treated with the same drugs used in heart failure, digitalis among them. If the symptoms are really severe, and if the valve is implicated, then surgery to replace the leaky valve might be considered.

I'm not diagnosing your problem as valve-related, but there should be a good enough suspicion to investigate the possibility. Most people with mitral insufficiency of the mild variety do quite well without treatment.

Surgeons use music to ease tension in operating room

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Morris Kugler likes to finish surgery to the sound of a British rock group, while some of his colleagues prefer cutting to classics or a country 'n' western beat.

But regardless of their musical taste, they agree that rhythm cuts the tension in the surgical suite.

"After long cases, we need a pickup," said Kugler, a vascular and general surgeon from Belleville who sometimes listens to the rock group Wham as he completes an operation.

"It is a pickup. It makes me feel better," he said recently.

"It takes the edge off things," added Dr. Robert Lander, an orthopedic surgeon at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis. "It's light noise in the background. It's more pleasing than the anesthesiology machine."

At Memorial Hospital in Belleville, music first moved into the operating rooms to soothe patients who were awake under a local anesthetic during surgery, charge nurse Jan Oeltjen said.

"The patients were the prime concern," she said. "It gives them something to distract their thoughts. They like it."

But surgeons like Kugler also feel the need to reduce distractions and like the effect music provides.

"It makes the operating room a very tranquil place," he said. "It just calms the situation... It keeps the whole crew at ease."

At Memorial, the most popular choices are classical music and soft ballads by such artists as Johnny Mathis and Neil Diamond.

But at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville, surgeons listen to an eclectic mix including — but not limited to — classical, country and rock, said Judy Fritsch, the hospital's operating room supervisor.

One surgeon, she said, plays tapes of the church choir in which he sings.

Operating rooms at Jewish Hospital began playing music about nine years ago and initially offered earphones to patients under local anesthesia, Lander said. But surgeons and nurses decided they wanted music, too, so tape players were brought in.

But when it comes to selection, the surgeons sometimes get a second opinion — the patient's.

Stripper plans memorial

DALLAS — Jack Ruby, the man who gunned down Lee Harvey Oswald on live television, deserves a memorial or a medal for being such a "wonderful man," says a woman who worked as a stripper in his Dallas night club.

Bobbie Lee Meserole, 52, says she is working on a book that she hopes will help set the record straight on what kind of man Ruby was.

"He was always so nice to the girls," said Ms. Meserole. She described Ruby as a misunderstood "wonderful man" who needs a monument so that "then maybe we could finally lay him to rest."

Ruby shot Oswald in the basement of the Dallas City Jail on Nov. 24, 1963, two days after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The Warren Commission later determined that Oswald carried out alone.

Stolen U-Haul recovered

HUMBLE — A family that lost most of its belongings when thieves snatched its moving van on Thanksgiving Day may have gotten lucky, U-Haul officials say.

Authorities found the van in an apartment complex parking lot Saturday, and the lock was still on the cargo door, U-Haul clerk Traci Creasy said Sunday.

The truck still appears to have at least part of a load inside, said Bill Morgan, a U-Haul service manager who has been helping Dale and Annette Allen and their two children on their move from Houston to St. Louis.

Ms. Creasy said they won't know for sure what's inside until today, when officials planned to open the padlock on the 24-foot rental truck.

The company needs permission from the Allens to open the van, and it wasn't able to reach them Sunday because they apparently were still en route to Missouri, she said.

Calls to the family's new home in St. Louis went unanswered on Sunday.

The vehicle was stolen early Thursday from a hotel parking lot even though Allen had removed the ignition's coil wire.

"We thought we took all the precautions," Allen said earlier, adding that he didn't expect to ever see the truck or its contents again.

The truck contained most of the family's valuables, including furniture, appliances and a file cabinet with all the family's paperwork.

21 die in holiday traffic

At least 21 people, including a West Texas State University football player, died on Texas highways during the lengthy Thanksgiving holiday weekend that began Wednesday night and ended at midnight Sunday.

Anthony D. Watkins, 19, of Chesapeake, Va., a reserve strong safety on the Buffalo football squad, was killed in a 7:30 a.m. Sunday accident on U.S. Highway 87 about seven miles north of Tulia, Department of Public Safety officials said.

Two other WTSU football players were injured in the one-vehicle accident that occurred as the three were returning from a bi-district high school football game Saturday night in Abilene between Hereford and Cleburne.

Casey Wayne Smith, 18, of Hereford, a reserve left offensive guard, suffered head and neck injuries and was in critical condition late Sunday at Amarillo's Northwest Texas Hospital.

Brian David Lady, 20, also of Hereford, was taken to a hospital in Canyon, where he was treated and released Sunday.

Troopers said Watkins was driving northbound when his car veered off the left side of U.S. 87, skidded back across to the right side of the pavement and overturned three times.

Moseley says goodbye to Brent and boots winner

By BILL BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

Just a week ago, Mark Moseley was a network commentator, telling a national television audience how he used to love getting a chance to kick a game-winning field goal.

On Sunday, he proved that he could still do it, kicking a 29-yarder with 16 seconds left in overtime into a stiff wind in Cleveland, giving the Browns a 13-10 victory over the Houston Oilers and sole possession of first place in the AFC Central.

"I almost felt relieved," he said. "I just thought, 'I'm going to have the opportunity to kick the game-winner.'"

In other games Sunday, it was Buffalo 17, Kansas City 14; Cleveland 13, Houston 10 in overtime; Los Angeles Rams 17, New York Jets 3; Chicago 13, Pittsburgh 10 in overtime; San Diego 17, Indianapolis 3; Minnesota 45, Tampa Bay 13; Washington 20, St. Louis 17; Atlanta 20, Miami 14; Denver 34, Cincinnati 28; and Philadelphia 33, Los Angeles Raiders 27 in overtime.

In tonight's game, the New York Giants visit San Francisco.

Moseley, waived by the Washington Redskins in October and picked up by the Browns on Wednesday after Matt Bahr was injured, established an NFL record with his fifth overtime field goal, breaking a mark he shared with former Browns kicker Don Cockroft.

The victory, coupled with Cincinnati's loss, put Cleveland a game ahead of the Bengals in their division. The teams meet in Cincinnati in two weeks.

The finish overshadowed the game's nine interceptions, six of them by the Browns, and eight fumbles, seven of which were recovered by the fumbling team.

Cleveland quarterback Bernie Kosar threw three interceptions and Houston quarterback Warren Moon was intercepted four times before leaving the game with a bruised right thumb late in the fourth quarter.

Oliver Luck, Moon's replacement, hit rookie fullback Ray Wallace with an 11-yard scoring pass with 50 seconds left in regulation, tying the score. But Luck was intercepted twice by Frank Minnifield in overtime, with the second setting up Cleveland at the Houston 37. A fourth-and-3 pass completion by Kosar kept the drive alive before Moseley's second field goal of the game.

touchdown passes by John Elway in the second quarter and then holding off a late Cincinnati rally.

Elway, who hadn't thrown for a touchdown in the previous three games, had scoring passes of four yards to Vance Johnson, 19 yards to Mark Jackson and eight yards to Sammy Winder in the second period, and the Broncos took a 20-point lead into the fourth quarter.

The Bengals rallied for two touchdowns in the final period as Boomer Esiason hit Cris Collinsworth for scoring passes of seven and 46 yards. But after Cincinnati botched a shotgun formation play for a 23-yard loss, the Broncos kept possession for the last four minutes.

Patriots 21, Saints 20

New England pulled into a tie with the Jets atop the AFC East with the help of a blocked kick and a fumble recovery that resulted in two touchdowns in the last four minutes against New Orleans.

The Patriots have now won seven straight games for a 10-3 record and the last three victories have come with late heroics. They defeated the Los Angeles Rams with a last-play pass into the end zone and rallied to beat Buffalo a week ago with a scoring drive in the last two minutes.

With New England trailing 13-7, Eugene Profit, a rookie from Yale activated only two days earlier, blocked a punt, and Mosi Tatupu picked up the ball and scored a touchdown from 17 yards out with 3:51 left. Two minutes later, with 1:49 to go, 278-pound rookie defensive lineman Brent Williams ran 21 yards with a fumble recovery for another TD.

Reuben Mayes, who rushed 33 times for 157 yards, ran five yards for New Orleans' first touchdown, and the Saints got another TD with 28 seconds left on a 10-yard pass from Dave Wilson to Eugene Goodlow.

Hawks and Queens open district play

The Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens begin the real season, the district season, tonight at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum against the mens' and womens' squads from Odessa.

Tonight's game will be only the second home game so far for the Hawks. The Hawks concluded a brutal, on-the-road November with a 6-5 record. Over the weekend the Hawks finished second in the San Jacinto Classic in Pasadena. They lost 90-71 in the finals to the host Ravens, the number one team in the nation.

On Nov. 8, the Hawks defeated Odessa in the Midland College Tournament for their second win of the season.

The Hawk Queens crushed Ft. Hood 82-68 Saturday night, raising their record to 10-3.

The Queens begin at 6 p.m., to be followed by the Hawks at 8 p.m.

Arnsperger to leave coaching after Sugar

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Bill Arnsperger's decision to step down as football coach of Louisiana State opens the way for his move to another school or perhaps just a different office on the Tigers' campus.

Arnsperger made his decision after leading the Tigers to a No. 5 rating, the Southeastern Conference championship, and a Sugar Bowl berth on Jan. 1.

And he kept the rumors alive on what he will do next although he insisted he won't coach again.

Arnsperger, approaching 60, has led LSU to a 26-7-2 mark in three years, including three bowl berths.

This season, the Tigers — picked for the middle of the SEC pack last — finished with a 9-2 record and the title.

Arnsperger has been wooed by the University of Florida for the athletic director's job and has expressed, at least, an interest in the same post at LSU, which recently became vacant with the pressured resignation of Bob Brodhead.

"I don't have the authority to hire him," LSU Chancellor Jim Wharton said. "We have discussed it. We will be talking with Bill. It can't be done immediately. We would like Bill to stay on at LSU in some capacity."

One thing is for sure, Arnsperger said at a Sunday news conference. "I'm not going to another coaching job."

Heralded for years as the defensive genius for the Miami Dolphins, Arnsperger came to LSU to pick up a program that had almost dropped to the bottom, losing more SEC games than any Tiger team in decades in 1983.

Last summer, as Arnsperger and Brodhead apparently came to log-headers on the football program, the coach went to Florida to interview for the athletic director job. He came back to say that he had withdrawn his name, and LSU Chancellor James Wharton announced that Arnsperger would have more control over the football program.

Because of a controversial wire-tapping case and reports of accepting a free trip paid for by an LSU booster, Brodhead resigned.

Asked Sunday if he is still in the running for the Florida job, Arnsperger said, "I can't answer that."

Will he apply for the LSU job as athletic director?

"That is one of my options," Arnsperger said.

A new LSU coach should be named quickly, said Arnsperger, because of recruiting. He put in a pitch for all of his assistants.

"It's important that the program stay as it is," he said. "I'm hoping someone on the staff will move up and there would be a smooth transition."

He declined to pick a favorite although reports are that he is pushing Mike Archer, the defensive coordinator, who joined LSU after being defensive backfield coach of Miami's 1983 national championship squad.

"I hope to be back next season whatever my capacity," Archer said after Saturday's 37-17 victory over Tulane. "If it's head coach, fine. If not, I can accept that."

Also mentioned prominently as a successor have been Tulane Coach Mack Brown and Southwestern Louisiana's Nelson Stokely, who once quarterbacked the Tigers.

Arnsperger, in coaching for 36 years, served as an assistant coach for Tulane, Kentucky, Ohio State and Miami of Ohio before joining the Baltimore Colts as an assistant.

He was head coach of the New York Giants from 1974-76 and then rejoined Don Shula as an defensive assistant for the Miami Dolphins in 1976.

Fuzzy gets rich and Jack gets nil on Skins Game

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

LA QUINTA, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus has learned something after four years of competition in golf's Skins Game.

"Well, I can see a trend," Nicklaus said with a wry smile. "I seem to be winning less money every year."

Nicklaus didn't win a dollar in this year's 18-hole, two-day event, even though he shot perhaps the best round.

"Jack probably played the best of all of us," Lee Trevino said. "But he just wasn't at the right place at the right time."

For the second consecutive year, Fuzzy Zoeller was in precisely the right place at exactly the right time and, for the second straight year, emerged as the big winner. He collected $310,000 on Sunday and $370,000 overall.

Trevino won $55,000 and Arnold Palmer pocketed $25,000 during Saturday's play. Zoeller won all the money available on Sunday.

Had the scoring been by strokes, Nicklaus probably would have won with his two-day total of 2-under-par 70 on the extremely difficult PGA West course. The other three players each had at least one "X" on their scorecards.

Nicklaus didn't appear bothered by his lack of success.

"It's gone from a made-for-television show to an event," he said of the Skins' Game.

"Just look at you guys," he said, waving an arm at a packed audience or reporters. "When we started, nobody knew what the response would be. Now, it's become an event."

"It's grown enormously. It's good to have a change from the 72-hole stroke play tournament."

Nicklaus, the current Masters champion, had his chances to win money, but a balky putter undid his efforts.

He had a shot at $100,000 on the 12th hole, but missed a six-foot birdie putt.

On the 13th, after Zoeller dropped an eight-foot putt, Nicklaus faced a five-footer to halve the hole. Again, he missed and Zoeller won $135,000 with a par.

Zoeller won the 17th when Palmer's putter let him down. After Zoeller scored from 25 feet, Palmer crouched over a 6-foot birdie putt to tie the hole. But his putt didn't touch the hole, and Zoeller had another $140,000.

After the 18th was halved, the players went to an extra hole, and Zoeller won that with a two-putt par. Trevino hit into the water, Palmer picked up, and Nicklaus missed a 30-inch par putt that would have tied it.

That final hole was worth another $35,000 to Zoeller.

"I didn't play all that well, but I guess you could say I got the skins well," said Zoeller, who has won $625,000 in the last two Skins Games.

"That's ridiculous, isn't it?" he asked. "I always said this was a crazy game."

This particular version also has become an extremely popular game.

"It's become a real event, something that the public has come to accept and look forward to," Palmer said. "You won't have any trouble finding a sponsor for it."

That's a sharp turnaround from the first Skins Game, produced by Don Ohlmeyer four years ago.

"We barely broke even," Ohlmeyer said of the inaugural event. "We couldn't get the sponsors until we got the players, and we couldn't get the players until we got the sponsors."

But in the last three years, the Skins Game has become the highest-rated golf show on television, and there is no shortage of potential sponsors.

Arnold Palmer uses a little body english to help his ball to the hole on the 11th green Sunday during the Skins Game at the PGA West golf course in La Quinta, California. Palmer, who missed the shot, ended the two-day event with $25,000.

Knicks axe Hubie, hire assistant

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubie Brown was fired today as coach of the New York Knicks and replaced by assistant Bob Hill because of the NBA team's failure to improve after recovering from two-year run of injuries.

The coaching change took effect with a morning practice at Upsala College in West Orange, N.J. Then the Knicks left for a four-game western road trip, beginning with a game Tuesday night in Phoenix.

Brown was in his fifth season as coach of the Knicks. He led them to the Eastern Conference semifinals his first two years, but they were 24-58 and 23-59 the last two seasons after injuries to Bernard King, Bill Cartwright, Pat Cummings, Patrick Ewing, Rory Sparrow and Marvin Webster.

Hill, 37, has never been a head coach at either the professional or college level. Prior to joining the Knicks, where he was Brown's top assistant for two seasons, and prior to joining the Knicks, he was a top assistant at Kansas for eight years.

The Knicks are 4-12 this season despite the return of most of the injured players — with the notable exception of King, the NBA scoring champion in 1984-85.

They have been embroiled in controversy over the use of 7-footers Ewing and Cartwright as center and forward. Both have struggled at the power forward position.

"It was an extremely difficult decision but we felt a change was needed at this time because the team was not showing the progress we expected," said Scotty Stirling, general manager of the Knicks.

"The move was not necessarily made because of the team's disappointing early win-loss record but because the expected improvement in the team was not there."

Pardee rumored headed for Houston; Colts fire coach

HOUSTON (AP) — The University of Houston is expected to hire former NFL and USFL coach Jack Pardee as its next head football coach, three days after Bill Yeoman coached his last game for the Cougars, according to reports published today.

The Dallas Times Herald, quoting a source close to the school's athletic department, said the announcement will be made at a news conference Tuesday.

But Rick Rivers, assistant sports information director, told The Associated Press today no news conference has been scheduled.

"I have not been informed that one is scheduled," said Rivers, whose office plans the conferences. Yeoman, the Cougars' head coach for the past 25 seasons, resigned to become executive director for athletic relations.

The Times Herald and Houston Chronicle quoted sources as saying Pardee is expected to receive a multi-year contract for about $100,000 annually. Yeoman's salary was $103,000.

"Unless there's some stumbling blocks, we will be in a position to have an announcement Tuesday," the Times Herald quoted a source.

The Chronicle source added,

"It's not tied up in a neat little bow as of yet, but I think we're going to be delighted with our new coach."

The school's search committee is expected to recommend Pardee today to the Intercollegiate Athletics Council, which must approve and forward its recommendation to the board of regents, the Chronicle said.

The committee on Sunday interviewed Florida offensive coordinator and former Kansas State coach Jim Dickey, making him the sixth candidate to meet with the full committee.

Others interviewed for the job were Lynn Amedee, Texas A&M offensive coordinator; Larry Lacewell, Arkansas State coach and athletic director; Wade Phillips, Philadelphia Eagles defensive coordinator; and Gary Mullins, former Mississippi State assistant and ex-Cougars quarterback.

Phillips and Lacewell later withdrew from consideration.

Pardee, a college linebacker at Texas A&M, was head coach of the NFL's Chicago Bears from 1975-77 and the Washington Redskins from 1978-80. He was an assistant coach with the San Diego Chargers for two seasons before coaching the USFL's Houston Gamblers.

Meanwhile, The Houston Post today said Amedee is being mentioned to replace Bill Arnsparger at Louisiana State after he announced his resignation Saturday.

Amedee said he has not talked with anyone from LSU and if offered the Houston job first, he would accept it without waiting for LSU to move.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Rod Dowhower was fired today as coach of the Indianapolis Colts, winless after 13 games this season, according to a published report.

The Colts' office neither would confirm nor deny the report in the Indianapolis News that Dowhower had been ousted.

A news conference was set for 2 p.m.

Dowhower confirmed the firing to The News, and said he was not surprised.

He said he knew three weeks ago that it was going to happen. "I just didn't know what day it would happen," he said in an interview.

The News quoted sources as saying Dowhower would be replaced by Ron Meyer, the former New England Patriots' coach and Purdue University player. Meyer also has been mentioned as a possible replacement to Leon Burtnett as Purdue coach.

Mike Chernoff, the Colts' general counsel, confirmed Dowhower's firing to The News, but would neither confirm nor deny the Meyer report.

Dowhower, 43, the ninth Colts' coach since Robert Irsay purchased the team in 1972, met with assistant coaches this morning to tell them he had been fired.

He was called in early today by the Colts' management and told that it had been decided to make a change, Dowhower said. "I told them I understood," he said.

"When you lose 13 games in this business you have to expect it," Dowhower said. "You are expected to win."

"I feel badly that things didn't work out ... but life will go on," he said.

The Colts have three games left this season — Atlanta, Buffalo and the Raiders.

There were 10,485 no-shows Sunday and only 47,950 were in attendance Sunday at the Hoosier Dome as the Colts lost 17-3 to San Diego. It was the smallest home crowd since Irsay moved the franchise to Indianapolis in 1984.

Bad joke spurs Becker by improving McEnroe

ATLANTA (AP) — Boris Becker says it was a little joke by John McEnroe that turned around their match, paving the way for victory for the 19-year-old West German in the $500,000 AT&T Challenge tennis tournament.

Becker, ranked second in the world, earned the top prize of $150,000 in the week-long, round-robin tournament that featured eight of tennis' top players, by defeating McEnroe Sunday 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

McEnroe, who is attempting a comeback after taking off for seven months and returning to the game in August, came out strong in the first set in the nationally televised championship match, breaking Becker in the sixth game for a 4-2 lead and hitting seven aces and five service winners in the set.

Becker, the two-time Wimbledon champion who has won six regular Grand Prix events this year, said he "wasn't mentally ready" at the start. "I wasn't fired up."

That changed, Becker said, when he muttered about a line call that went against him late in the first set, saying "This isn't fun." McEnroe then said: "I pray for Boris in these upcoming years," drawing laughter from the crowd. "I think he made a little mistake there, joking about me," Becker said. "I don't like that."

Becker went on to break McEnroe in the eighth game of the second set for a 5-3 lead and served out the set to win 6-3 and tie it.

He immediately broke McEnroe in the third set but was broken himself in the sixth game for a 3-3 tie. It remained even until Game No. 11 when McEnroe double-faulted trailing 15-40 to fall behind at 6-5 and Becker, who had 14 aces in the match, got his ninth on his next service game that helped him clinch the title.

The two had played Tuesday night in the first round of the round-robin event. Becker also won that one, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

"He played much better than Tuesday night, so I had to play better, also," said Becker. "The way we play I think it's a lot of fun for myself and him. We bring out the best in each other. There never is an easy match."

With Sunday's victory, Becker has now beaten McEnroe three of four times.

McEnroe beat No. 1 Ivan Lendl in Saturday's semifinal while Becker beat fifth-ranked Yannick Noah in the other semi. McEnroe earned $100,000 for his runner-up finish.

The Pros

The Jets, held to just a field goal for the second straight week, were hurt by two fumbles. A 96-yard drive ended with Wesley Walker's fumble into the end zone, and just after House's touchdown, Freeman McNeil fumbled at the 22 and Vince Newsome recovered, setting up a Mike Lansford field goal to make it 10-0.

Eric Dickerson rushed for 107 yards for the Rams, including a 4-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Eagles 33, Raiders 27 Philadelphia quarterback Randall Cunningham, who was intercepted on a first-down play with 1:54 left in regulation that allowed Los Angeles to force the overtime with a field goal, scored on a 1-yard sneak at 8:07 of overtime.

Cunningham scored two plays after Andre Waters recovered a fumble by the Raiders' Marcus Allen at the Philadelphia 15 and raced 81 yards to the Los Angeles 4 before being tackled. Cunningham gained three yards on a quarterback sneak before scoring the winning points.

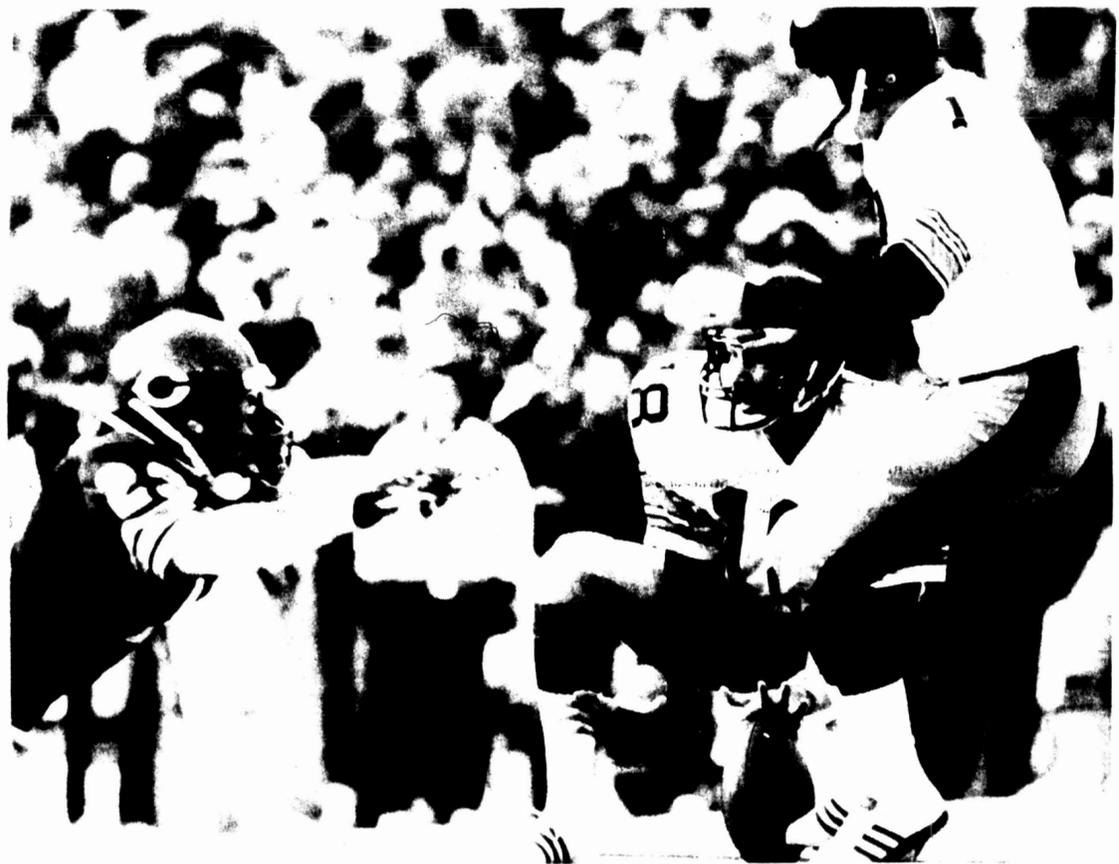

A 27-yard field goal by Chris Bahr of the Raiders with 11 seconds remaining in regulation forced the overtime.

Cunningham completed 22 of 39 passes for 298 yards and three touchdowns, all to Mike Quick. Raiders quarterback Jim Plunkett hit 16 of 42 passes for 366 yards and two touchdowns, both to Jessie Hester.

Bears 13, Steelers 10 Defending Super Bowl champion Chicago clinched its third straight NFC Central title when Kevin Butler, who missed a field goal at the end of regulation play, kicked a 42-yarder 3:55 into overtime against Pittsburgh.

The field goal was set up by a 27-yard pass from Mike Tomczak to Keith Ortego to the Steelers 24. Four plays later, Butler, who missed a 28-yarder with 55 seconds left in regulation, kicked the game-winner.

Touchdown Pittsburgh Steelers' kicker Gary Anderson bypasses the ball after a bad hike, but Harry Newsome, the holder, grabbed the ball and passed for the fourth quarter, which started with the Steelers ahead 10-3. They had taken the lead when a botched field-goal attempt was turned into a 6-yard touchdown pass from holder Harry Newsome to Preston Gothard.

The Bears tied the score with eight minutes left in the fourth quarter when Walter Payton ran three yards for a touchdown. He carried 10 times for 42 yards in the drive.

Redskins 20, Cards 17

Max Zendejas kicked a 27-yard field goal with four seconds left and Jay Schroeder threw two touchdowns against St. Louis as Washington took over first place in the NFC East, a half-game ahead of the Giants.

Zendejas, who missed a 34-yarder early in the fourth quarter, kicked the game-winner after the Cardinals had tied the game 17-17 on a 35-yard pass to Roy Green from Neil Lomax, his second scoring toss of the game.

Bills 17, Chiefs 14 Buffalo ended its road losing streak at 22, one short of the NFL record, as Jim Kelly threw two touchdown passes to Andre Reed at Kansas City.

The Bills' last previous road win was also at Kansas City on Dec. 4, 1983. The streak was one short of the record 23 lost by Houston between 1981-84.

Falcons 20, Dolphins 14 Atlanta broke a five-game losing streak as Turk Schonert scrambled four yards for a touchdown early in the final period and Gerald Riggs ran for 172 yards in 33 carries.

The Falcons intercepted four Dan Marino passes to keep the league's No. 1 offense in check despite his two touchdown passes. Riggs ran one yard for Atlanta's first touchdown and Schonert's scramble made it 17-7.

Marino threw touchdown passes of 20 yards to Jim Jensen and 52 yards to Mark Duper.

Chargers 17, Colts 3 San Diego, with Dan Fouts returning from a shoulder injury, scored 10 points in the first quarter and went on to hand winless Indianapolis its 13th consecutive loss.

A 39-yard interception return by Jeff Dale set up Fouts' 30-yard touchdown pass to Wes Chandler in the first quarter, and Rolf Benirschke added a 19-yard field goal in the period.

Fouts, listed as questionable for the game because of a bruised shoulder, hit 24 of 31 passes for 250 yards, while San Diego held the Colts to three plays on all but two of its second-half possessions, one of which ended with a 27-yard field goal by Dean Biasucci.

The Chargers scored their final touchdown on a 1-yard run by Curtis Adams with 1:42 left.

Vikings 45, Buccaneers 13 Wade Wilson riddled Tampa Bay's secondary for 22 completions in 33 passes for 339 yards and three touchdowns for Minnesota.

Wilson, starting in place of injured NFC passing leader Tommy Kramer, passed on every down of a seven-play, 68-yard drive that ended with a 36-yard touchdown pass to Steve Jordan for a 7-0 Minnesota lead 2:35 into the game.

Longhorns whip slumping Cards

Coach Denny Crum says he isn't nervous even though his defending NCAA champion Louisville basketball team is 0-3.

Louisville's latest defeat came Sunday, 74-70, to Texas in the seventh-place game, following Saturday's 69-54 loss to Washington and Friday's 88-84 overtime loss to Northeastern. The Cardinals, ranked second in The AP poll before the weekend started, dropped completely out of the Top Twenty with the three losses in balloting released today.

No. 1 North Carolina 118, Hawaii 80

Seven North Carolina players scored double figures, led by freshman J.R. Reid and Dave Popson with 16 points each. The Tar Heels, in front 53-42 at halftime, and forced 37 turnovers.

No. 2 UNLV 96, Western Kentucky 95, 2 OT

In raising its record to 4-0, Nevada-Las Vegas got 31 points from Freddie Banks, including a three-point play with 13 seconds left. He scored seven points in the second overtime.

The Runnin' Rebels, who trailed by 20 points early in the second half, outscored Western Kentucky 30-9 during a 10:22 span to make a game out of it.

Tellis Frank's 23 points topped the Hilltoppers, 3-1.

No. 3 Indiana 90, Montana State 55 All-American Steve Alford scored 24 points, including nine three-point goals and junior college transfer Dean Garrett scored 10 points and blocked eight shots for Indiana.

No. 5 Iowa 103, Northeastern 80 Roy Marble played a near-perfect game, hitting nine of 11 from the field and all 11 of his free throws for 29 points, to pace Iowa. He also had a team-high six assists and grabbed five rebounds.

No. 6 Kansas 88, Tenn.-Martin 69 Danny Manning scored 26 points and freshman Kevin Pritchard 13 as Kansas won its 34th straight game at home. Mike Meschede and Andrew Joslin had 12 points apiece for Tennessee-Martin.

No. 9 Illinois 69, Duke 62 Ken Norman scored 22 points and Glynn Blackwell 17 for Illinois, which overcame a 34-31 halftime deficit. Tommy Amaker topped Duke with 16 points.

No. 10 Navy 91, Michigan State 90, OT David Robinson, Navy's 7-foot senior, scored a career-high 43 points, including the winning basket with four seconds left in overtime. Darryl Johnson, who scored 27 points, had put Michigan State ahead with a three-point play with 34 seconds left.

No. 12 Pittsburgh 108, Indiana

(Pa.) 49. Curtis Aiken, making 11 of 19 from the field, scored a career-high 27 points and Charles Smith had 22 points and 11 rebounds for Pitt.

No. 13 Kentucky 71, Austin Peay 69 Irv Thomas' 10-footer with 18 seconds left earned Kentucky the victory after Austin Peay's Vincent Brooks scored on a four-point play — he was fouled while making a three-point goal — with 46 seconds left.

Richmond 67, No. 15 Georgia Tech 62, OT

Peter Woolfolk scored 17 points and reserve Scott Stapleton made a jump shot that put Richmond ahead for good 61-59 with 2:53 remaining in overtime. Duane Ferrell led Tech with 20 points.

No. 17 Syracuse 87, Loyola (Ill.) 66 Derrick Coleman, a 6-9 freshman, had 13 points and four blocks and Greg Monroe scored 14 points for Syracuse. Andre Moore's 20 points paced Loyola.

No. 18 North Carolina St. 94, Utah St. 82

Kenny Drummond scored 24 points and Bennie Bolton added 20 to pace North Carolina State over Utah State. The Wolfpack took control early in the second half with six points each from Charles Shackelford and Mike Giomi, and a dunk by Chucky Brown to build a 67-54 lead with 11:41 left.

Lakers blaze by hobbling Clippers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar spotted the Los Angeles Clippers' problem right away.

"Injuries have hit (the Clippers) harder than most teams have been hit," Abdul-Jabbar said. "Their injured list has more talent than their roster."

The Los Angeles Lakers took advantage of the injury-riddled Clippers Sunday night at the Forum for a 137-115 victory.

The Clippers are playing without their leading scorer, Marques Johnson, whose career has been threatened by a back injury, and veteran guard Norm Nixon.

The Clippers have tried to secure free-agent guard Quintin Dailey, but have gotten snagged in contract negotiations.

"You might see an ad in the paper next week asking guys to come off the street and try out for this team, that's how bad things are going," Chaney said.

Hot-shooting Byron Scott scored 16 of his 26 points as the Lakers opened a 42-24 lead in the first quarter. The Lakers ran off a 28-6 spurt to lead 38-18 with 2:20 left in the period.

"I just wanted to try and help get it started," Scott said.

Scott, who has struggled with his shooting touch in recent games, corrected his problem during an afternoon practice. "(Laker Coach) Pat (Riley) told me about getting my legs into my shot more," Scott said. "The last couple of games, I haven't been doing that."

Abdul-Jabbar added 22 points and reserve Wes Matthews scored a season-high 16 points off the bench.

Michael Cooper added 15 points and Earvin "Magic" Johnson contributed 13 points and 11 assists.

The Clippers were led by Lancaster Gordon and Michael Cage, who each registered career-high points. Gordon finished with 27 points, Cage 26.

The Clippers showed more life Sunday night than they did when Lakers had beaten them 126-92 last week at the Sports Arena.

"They were ready to play tonight," Scott said. "The last game, it looked like they didn't want to be out there."

"Even down 20 points, they kept fighting."

The Clippers got within 98-85 after three quarters, but could get no closer during the final 12 minutes.

Trail Blazers 118, Pacers 101

Kiki Vandeweghe and Terry Porter contributed 10 points apiece as Portland outscored Indiana 45-22 in the final quarter en route to victory.

Vandeweghe totaled 30 points and Porter had 12 for the Trail Blazers, who hit all 30 of their free throws in the game, the second-best consecutive free throw performance ever. Utah holds the record with 39 consecutive free throws at Portland in 1982.

The Pacers were led by rookie forward Chuck Person with 22 points.

Hawks 113, Kings 109 Dominique Wilkins scored 27 points, including the go-ahead three-point play with 1:19 to play, to spark Atlanta over Sacramento.

Tree Rollins hit a layup with 15 seconds left to ensure the victory. The basket gave the Hawks a 111-107 lead, their biggest of a season final period.

Sacramento went ahead 88-87 with 9:26 left on a pair of free throws by Reggie Theus. The lead changed hands six times until Wilkins' three-point play gave Atlanta a 109-106 advantage.

Randy Wittman finished with 25 points for the Hawks, who have the NBA's second-best record with 12-3. The Kings were led by a 28-point performance by Theus.

"They're one of the best teams in the league, without a doubt," Sacramento forward Terry Tyler said of the Hawks. "They're a young and big team and very well coached."

Ross resigns over welched promises

Maryland coach cites failure to improve stadium as factor

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland football coach Bobby Ross, citing a variety of reasons, has decided to resign, effective Jan. 14.

Ross had said university officials had given him a deadline of today to decide whether he would remain with the program.

"Certain commitments I have made to the players I have not been able to fulfill," Ross said. "I feel badly about that."

Specifically, he said, he had shown players plans of proposed Byrd Stadium improvements promised to him by the administration.

He said he had expected the work to be under way by now. But acting athletic director Charles Sturtz said today that the work probably would not begin until 1988.

Ross said he had wavered quite a bit over the weekend about whether to leave and had numerous discussions with his family. He said he would not have left had he not felt the program was in good shape to turn over to a successor.

He said the absence of a permanent replacement for athletic director Dick Dull had some impact on his decision.

Ross alluded to the innuendo that has followed the football team in the wake of charges against the basketball program following the cocaine-induced death of Len Bias in June.

"I feel our football team has represented the university well, both on and off the field," he said.

"I have always felt that a major college football program can be successful by working within the rules and regulations of the NCAA and maintaining the concept of the student athlete.

"We have done that during my tenure at Maryland."

Sturtz said the university should have an announcement by Wednesday on how it will seek a new coach.

Ross said he has no substantial offers from anyone in the collegiate or professional ranks.

After Ross met with his players and coaches, co-captain and linebacker Chuck Faucette told WBAL radio, "It's like losing a member of the family."

Ross submitted his resignation to Sturtz before that meeting.

Ross has three years remaining on his current contract.

The Maryland Terrapin football team ended its season 5-5-1 after beating Virginia on Friday 42-10.

Ross, 50, has a 39-19-1 record at Maryland in five seasons and won three straight Atlantic Coast Conference titles before this year.

During the past two years, Ross was pursued first by the University of Missouri and then by the University of Minnesota. He signed a four-year contract with Maryland in January, reported to be worth about $150,000 a year, after turning down the Minnesota offer.

This year, there was speculation Ross was being considered for coaching vacancies at several other universities. Although Ross said he had not pursued anything, the university gave him until today to decide whether he would remain at Maryland.

The coach said last week that he had been hurt by what he called "innuendo, insinuation and guilt-by-association" stemming from the investigation into Maryland's athletic programs following the June 19th cocaine-induced death of basketball star Len Bias.

He said the controversy had made it increasingly hard to focus on football this season.

Following the victory over Virginia, Ross said he still wasn't certain that the university had committed itself to his program. One of his major complaints, he has indicated, has been the university's failure to renovate Byrd Stadium.

Ross also had expressed concern over who is going to be Maryland's next athletic director — and his boss. Former athletic director Dick Dull stepped down in September as criticism mounted during the Bias investigation over the supervision of Maryland's athletic programs. He was replaced by Sturtz.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, DEC. 2, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now your day is here to make changes if you wish. It's also a very good day to decide the school of thought and philosophy of life under which you wish to live.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can easily make new associates today. Your intuitive perceptions are fine, so follow their promptings.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day to make the right arrangements with your mate and have long, fruitful discussions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be more willing to accept advice or suggestions from outside allies. Add to the prestige you now enjoy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Plan your work for the rest of the week carefully. Show more affection for your family.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) A good day to enjoy recreations and to plan future ones. Be enthused and you can have fun with your mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can discuss problematical affairs with your kin and solve them, provided you do not lose your temper.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to visit as many individuals as you can for whatever good purpose, either business or personal.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study into newspapers and other periodicals that can give you wise data about greater abundance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can get into whatever can help you to expand in your career and start to reap the benefits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be with an expert and quietly get advice you need. Buy a little gift that will be appreciated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day to see as many persons as you can for whatever your purpose and get good results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get in touch with the influential people who can make things easier for you. Gain their backing and support.

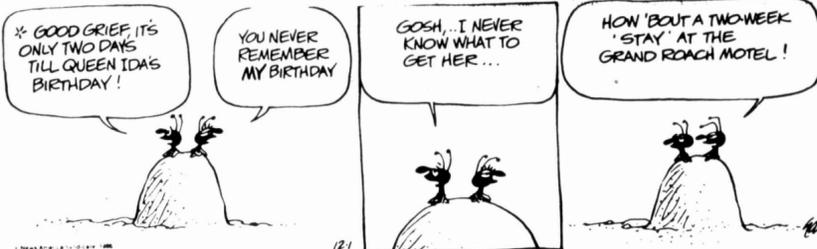

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will do very well in any position of power and importance and should have as fine an education as possible. Add foreign languages to the college curriculum for best results, since much travel is indicated here. Don't neglect physical training or sports.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Study of Mormon families breaks some stereotypes

PROVO, Utah — A study by two Brigham Young University professors of successful Mormon families in Texas and seven other states has produced expected results, but also shattered some stereotypes, the researchers say.

More than 200 families were scrutinized by William G. Dyer and Phillip R. Kunz for their new book, "Effective Mormon Families," which describes several characteristics of a strong Mormon clan.

The families live in Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Texas and Wyoming. Most follow traditional sex roles with father as provider and mother as full-time homemaker.

Among the shared traits are an atmosphere of love and unity, a strong husband-wife relationship, high church activity, abundant affection, a strong work ethic, and discipline stemming from high expectations and parental example.

"Most studies look at problems — divorce, abuse and so forth. We wanted to look at what makes families work," said Kunz, BYU professor of sociology.

Although the most effective families are faithful churchgoers — almost all of them full tithing payers and all strong believers in accepting every church calling — they don't meet stereotypical expectations in other ways, the authors said.

Only 23 percent said they always or usually read scriptures daily, 29 percent said they always had daily prayer and 66 percent always or usually held family home evening.

Many parents said they wanted to be more consistent in these areas but, with an average of six children, found it very difficult to get all family members together at the same time.

The study also found fewer rules and less strict discipline than might be expected.

"These families have few rules but high expectations. Strictness implies high control and a punishing attitude, and these families just aren't that way," said Dyer, former dean of the school of management at BYU.

Dyer said he also expected to find that most good Mormon families come from a traditional heritage, with the father a returned missionary and both parents products of stable Mormon homes.

"That just wasn't the case," he said. "The majority of fathers, (79 percent), had not gone on a mission and few of the fathers or mothers had graduated from seminary.

Many came from split or inactive families. "The crucial factor in their success is that they made a conscious decision they would be different. They developed their own patterns," the authors said.

The families studied were identified by stake presidents who were asked to choose the 15 best families in their stake. The two researchers specified that the families had to have children still at home and one or more old enough to go on a mission or be married.

"We wanted parents who had worked through the strains of the teen-age years with at least one of their children," the authors said.

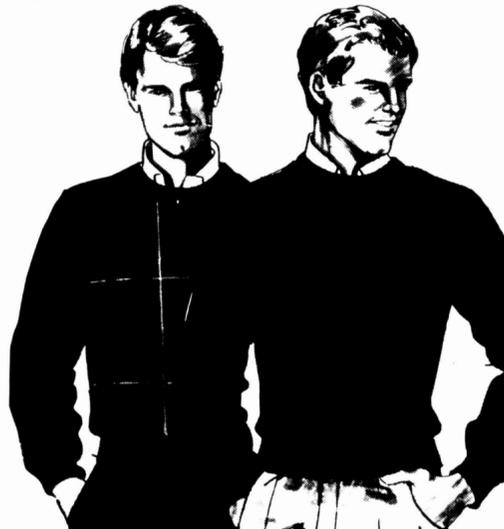

For the study, parents answered a long survey that asked such questions as: What goals do you have for your family? Who does which jobs in the home? How do you discipline your children? How much time do you spend with your children?

In all, nearly 500 variables were examined. The authors also conducted several dozen in-depth interviews.

In the future, the team hopes to study effective Mormon families in other cultures as well as look at split families, single-parent families, and young families just starting out.
