Perot: his moves from GM to Iran

GM marriage dissolves

 ${\bf DALLAS}~({\bf AP})~-~{\bf The}~{\bf partnership}~{\bf raised}$ many eyebrows when it began and surprised few when it ended.

Ross Perot: the scrappy, crew-cut individualist with an entrepeneurial spirit. General Motors: the epitome of a straightlaced corporation.

The marriage dissolved Monday, when Perot resigned as chairman of Electronic Data Systems Corp. He founded the hugely successful data processing business in 1962 and sold it to GM in 1984 for $2.5 billion, a deal that is believed to have made Perot the richest man in Texas.

Perot sold his 11.3 million shares of stock in the company for what he said was $700 million. GM valued the deal at $750 million.

After the GM merger, he complained that the world's largest automaker was too bureaucratic and said its management was out of touch with its workers. He publicly recommended GM eliminate executive parking and dining rooms and move the executives out of their suites on the 14th floor of GM page 3A

Hanging incident linked to forgeries

Hudspeth sites eyed for nuclear dump

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Two sites in Hudspeth County in far west Texas — are the likely final choices for a low-level nuclear waste dump. However, state officials want to see how lawmakers will react to the idea during the 1987 legislative Asked what the agency would do if the Legislature nixed the West Texas sites, Rick Jacobi of the Texas Low-Level Radiocative Waste Disposal Authority said, "I really don't know what we would do. Perhaps we would look to South Texas again, because that is where a greater abundance of good sties are."

But it may be that anywhere the agency looks it will be thwarted by unhappy lawmakers, Jacobi said. In that case, the Legislature may want to reconsider whether it will build a dump at all, he said.

In 1985, lawmakers shot down a proposal to buy private property in south Texas for the dump. "We're looking at history," Jacobi said. "Last time we went about doing our work, the Legislature became involved and decided it preferred we pursue state-owned property.

But now that the agency has located two state-owned sites in Hudspeth County, West Texas lawmakers are upset.'

State Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, and State Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, who have Hudspeth County in their districts are on record against state-owned Hudspeth County

If the state decided not to build a dump or delayed construction, waste generators such as the Univesity of Texas and utility companies, would be forced to pay huge penalties for continuing to ship their waste out of state, if they so choose, Jacobi said.

Otherwise, federal law would authorize the generators to hand over their waste to the state of Texas even though the state would have no site prepared, he added.

At that point, the state could try to reach an agreement with other states for waste disposal, Jacobi said. At this late date, however. Texas probably wouldn't receive the best terms for joining a waste disposal compact and could become the dumping grounds for a four-state area, he said.

Under federal law, completion of a dump in Texas is required by 1992, Jacob said. "It needs to be decided this year, one way or another

Shaw could not be reached for comment Monday. A Sims aide said the selection of a Hudspeth County site may be inevitable. "The wheels keep grinding that way," said Laure

As a "fall-back position," McLaughlin said, Sims will push to see the county receives a number of state benefits, including fees for each ton of waste dumped.

The agency boared recently voted to narrow its site selection work to two locations in Hudspeth — 11 miles northeast of Ft. Hancock, and 25 miles south of Del City. A final location will probably be selected in the

The ransom attempt directly contradicted President Reagan's stated policy of refusing to negotiate with terrorists.

But, Perot explained, "As I understand the government's policy, it is they don't want to use U.S. money, but if and when they can find a willing citizen to help him in matters like this, then they can go to great efforts to save the person's life.'

About the same time as the ransom attempt, former national security adviser Robert C. McFarlane and North flew to Iran on May 28 with a planeload of arms in an attempt to secure release of the Beirut hostages, the Post said.

The Post's sources said they could not explain why North was working simultaneously on at least two tracks or how the two incidents might be related.

North's attorney, Brendan V. Sullivan Jr., did not return telephone messages left at his home Monday night Perot said his work with North on the hostages dates back to the kidnapping of William Buckley, a U.S. Embassy employee in Beirut captured on March 16, 1984.

At North's request, Perot agreed to make up to $2 million available for Buckley's release, but neither North nor the CIA was able to work out an exchange, the Post said. Buckley's captors claim to have killed him, but his body has never been found.

Perot said he could not remember the sum involved in that femi

The billionaire also attempted to provide ransom in an unrelated case in 1982, according to the newpaper. Again at North's request, the sources said, Perot wired $500,000 to an Italian bank to pay for the release of Brig. Gen. James L. Dozier, who was kidnapped Dec. 17, 1981, and held by Red Brigades terrorists until his rescue 42 days later by Italian police. In that case, the ransom was converted to Italian lire and taken to the U.S. Embassy in Rome, the Post said. But it was never used and was eventually returned to the billionaire, it said.

Forbes magazine, in its October issue, said Perot is the third wealthiest American and estimated his personal fortune at $2.5 billion. From early 1982 until March, 13, 1985, he was a member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, a group of prominent citizens who help review the activities of U.S. intelligence agencies.

In 1969, Perot agreed to work behind the scenes for the Nixon administration in an effort to improve treatment of American prisoners of war in Vietnam. He is still active in POW-MIA issues.

In 1979, two employees of Electronic Data Systems, which Perot owned, were kidnapped in Iran.

The proposed policy statement asks Congress to go beyond the $1.7 billion anti-drug bill enacted last month by providing more than $3 billion in aid to local law enforcement agencies. The new law provides $225 million in such aid for three years, and Koch said Sunday that the federal government should provide at least $4 billion for the total anti-drug effort.

The cities would also ask for Congress to order the military to help stop the flow of drugs into the country, authorize deportation of aliens convicted of drug offenses, and withold aid to nations that don't cooperate.

It makes many other requests without listing a pricetag, such as establishment of a new level of federal courts with jurisdiction over federal drug offenses and the authority to try state and local drug cases as needed to unclog those courts.

Toxic algae results in 200,000 Pecos fish kill

Austin Bureau AUSTIN - About 200,000 fish have died along a 100-mile stretch of the Pecos River, from Iraan to Pandale, because of a toxic algae similar to "red tide," the Texas Water Commission reported today. "That's a substantial fish kill for the Pecos River," said Max Woodfin, environmental coordinator for the agency The kill was confirmed Saturday, although some fish were reported dead as early as Thursday. All species, game and nongame fish, are affected, he

The fish kill is similar to one that occurred along the same stretch about a year ago. The agency believes the culprit is dinoflagellate, the same algae which caused the 1985 kill, Woodfin said.

"However, the difference is that last year there was kind of a plume that moved down the river and the fish were swimming ahead of it and there weren't that many killed." Woodfin said. "This year it began simultaneously up and down the river.'

A similar organism, the red tide, recently caused severe problems along the Texas coast.

"It has many similarities. Our biologist has looked at it under the microscope. That is his best scientific guess right now to the cause of the kill," Woodfin said.

Feminists celebrate

LOS ANGELES - A cheering crowd of 2,800 feminists hailed the 20th anniversary of the National Organization For Women in a Hollywood extravaganza designed to fund future crusades for women's equality.

With NOW President Eleanor Smeal vowing to "keep the flame of feminism alive and growing," stars of stage and screen declared their dedication to a free and equal future.

A founding mother of the movement, Betty Friedan, received a wild ovation. And a former first lady, Betty Ford, declared herself a feminist forever.

The participants Monday night pledged to win a new bid for passage of the Equal Rights

The crowd roared approval as Helen Reddy sang her anthem of the women's movement, "I Am Woman."

Indicator index rises

WASHINGTON — The government's main gauge of future economic activity rose a moderate 0.6 percent in October, the biggest increase in three months, but a gain influenced by special factors.

The Commerce Department said the improvement in its Index of Leading Indicators followed a lackluster 0.2 percent September increase and a 0.2 percent decline in August.

The August drop was the fourth this year, emphasizing the generally sluggish performance of this collection of forward-pointing economic statistics all year long. In fact, the index has risen just 1.2 percent from April through October, compared to a rise of 3.9 percent for the preceeding six months.

Analysts said even the 0.6 percent October increase was not as strong as it appeared because half of the advance came from a pickup in raw materials prices.

But analysts said rising prices for raw materials can also be a signal of rising inflation and thus a negative force on economic

Jonestown trial over

SAN FRANCISCO - Eight years and two trials after the assassination of a congressman triggered the mass murder-suicide of 913 people in Jonestown, an obscure follower of the Rev. Jim Jones was convicted of murder conspiracy.

"It brings to a final conclusion a tragic story," Jackie Speier, who was wounded in the 1978 airstrip attack while working as an aide to Rep. Leo Ryan, said Monday after a federal jury reached its verdict.

Larry Layton, the only former Peoples Temple member to be tried in this country, also was convicted of aiding and abetting Ryan's murder and conspiracy and aiding and abetting the attempted murder of Richard Dwyer, a U.S. diplomat wounded in the attack in which four others died.

"Finally, there's been some vindication" for Ryan, said Speier, who learned of the verdict while in Sacramento to be sworn in as a newly elected assemblywoman. She said she was "overwhelmed."

Layton could be given life sentences for the conspiracy convictions and for aiding in Ryan's slaying. Sentencing was scheduled for

India Police arrest 1,300 rioters

By DILIP GANGULY Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Nearly 16,000 Hindus protesting Sikh terrorism rioted in the capital today, and some of them battled sword-wielding Sikhs outside two temples. Police arrested about 1,300 people and used steel-tipped clubs to disperse the crowds.

The violence erupted during a general strike called by an opposition Hindu party to express "anger and anguish" over this week's slayings in Punjab state in which police said terrorists gunned down 24 Hindu bus passengers on Sunday and killed 10 other Hindus in separate incidents.

Fighting today was heavy in 14 areas of New Delhi where Hindus threw stones, blocked roads and set fire to at least eight vehicles and two houses owned by Bloodied protesters were seen at two locations, but police had no overall casualty count. They said two officers were hospitalized.

A spokesman at New Delhi's police control room said all 32,000 police officers were out in force on the second day of protests stemming from the Punjab attacks, aided by 7,000 paramilitary troops and provin-

Police said sectarian fighting broke out near the Sisganj Sikh temple after 150 sword-wielding Sikhs confronted up to 8,000 Hindu protesters who crowded around the shrine.

Police shot in the air, fired tear gas and made repeated charges with steel-tipped bamboo clubs to disperse the rioters. But thousands of Hindus remained behind police barricades at nightfall, and area police chief R. Mohan said: "The situation is very tense. We can't say what we are going to do.'

The street in front of the temple was littered with rocks and broken bricks.

Temple spokesman Hardeep Singh said shouted curses by the Hindus brought the Sikhs out of the shrine. "They challenged us," he said.

Earlier in the day in east Delhi, about 2,000 protesters converged on a Sikh temple in the Jheel Kuranja area and fighting erupted when five sword-wielding Sikhs emerged from the shrine, witnesses said. Police said Hindus set fire to three vehicles, and about 200 people were involved in the fighting.

In west Delhi, police said they used the bamboo clubs to break up about 1,000 Hindus who tried to stop a police official's private car.

New Delhi authorities today halted bus service in this city of 6.5 million, and police put 200 residents of Kalkaji resettlement camp under "preventive arrest." The camp is home to about 320 Hindu families who have fled the Punjab violence.

Boesky inspires probe

LONDON - The government's probe of alleged misconduct in the dealings of brewery and distillery giant Guinness PLC may have been sparked by the U.S. government's investigation of New York financier Ivan Boesky, newspapers reported today.

The Financial Times, Britain's leading business daily, said Boesky is known to have bought shares in Distillers Co. Ltd. PLC, the gin and Scotch whisky company which Guinness acquired earlier this year in a bitterly fought takeover bid worth $4.15 billion.

The Daily Telegraph said Boesky's companies were also believed to have held shares in the Scotch whisky company Arthur Bell, which Guinness acquired for $518 million in an another sharply contested takeover bid in Arms talks begin

GENEVA - Soviet and U.S. arms negotiators today opened a special four-day session to talk about medium- and long-range nuclear missiles and space defense systems. Separate meetings were scheduled in the three areas of discussion. Chief U.S. negotiator Max Kampelman said Monday that he hoped the differences with the Soviets could be narrowed this week.

The superpower arms talks began 20 months ago. The special session was scheduled after the Nov. 25 end of the regular sixth round, described by Kampelman as the most productive so far.

The next regular session is to begin Jan. 15.

Perot gone, but fight's just begun

By JANETBRAUNSTEIN AP Auto Writer

DETROIT (AP) — A $700 million buyout may mean that billionaire H. Ross Perot is off General Motors Corp.'s board of directors, but his feud with the automaker and its chairman probably is not over, an industry analyst says.

Perot resigned Monday as chairman and chief executive officer of fice at EDS in Dallas "makes mine Electronic Data Systems Corp., which he founded with $1,000 in 1962 and sold to GM in 1984 for $2.5 billion. Three of his top executives also agreed to leave in return for a total of $50 million.

Perot said that although he had accepted the offer, he wasn't going anywhere.

"I will be here as the founder of the company and will be doing exactly what I have been doing," he said. "I don't need any kind of fancy title to stay here at EDS.

'Ross Perot is not the type of person who limps away weakly with a whimper. His character is just the opposite. I think he will launch a massive retaliatory fight on EDS' behalf," said computer industry analyst Steve McClellan of Merrill Lynch in New York.

GM last month reportedly tried to sell all or part of EDS, and Perot with it, to American Telephone & Telegraph Co., but the deal fell through.

Drinking ruling was a mistake

We believe the Texas Supreme Court made a mistake earlier this fall when it ruled that bar owners can be held legally liable in traffic deaths caused by drunken drivers who earlier had been patrons at the bar.

What a ludicrous decision. We can only hope that the Supreme Court justices were half asleep, distracted or otherwise had an off day when they issued that ruling.

Whatever happened to that universal principle of accepting responsibility for our own actions — the one our parents strived so hard to teach us.

It makes us think of when we were back in elementary school, when we tried to find others to blame for our actions. You remember — when you told your teacher, mother or dad that John Henry made you do it.

Let's examine this situation in more detail. The ruling says if some one walks into a tavern, gets drunk and kills somebody else, we can blame the tavern owner.

Is the next step to hold beer distributors and liquor stores responsible for drunken drivers and destructive party goers? Will organizations, or even homeowners, be held liable because someone attended their party, got drunk, then went out and killed someone else? What about someone who went to four or five taverns and had several drinks at each? Should only the last one be sued? The last two, or maybe all of them?

Put yourself in the place of the bartenders in the busy tavern. How is that bartender to know who is driving and who are passengers? With a half-dozen people wanting drinks at the same time, should the bartender be expected to survey each before serving them?

We acknowledge that alcoholism and drunken driving are serious problems, and that sensible steps should be taken to reduce or eliminate abuses. But let's put the blame where it belongs — on the person consuming those drinks, not the one who's serving them.

Let's not allow money-grubbing attorneys to haul whomever they can into court just because the drunken driver or his estate has little or no money.

The Texas Supreme Court should admit it made a mistake and correct it as quickly as possible.

Reforms needed on Wall Street

'Risk arbitrage is not gambling in any sense." — Ivan F. Boesky, from "Merger Mania."

Ivan F. Boesky was the king of Wall Street, a man with an uncanny knack for turning millions in profits from seemingly risky investments in merging companies. Though traditional investors might have steered clear of this kind of speculation, Boesky proclaimed it the moneymaking wave of the future. He wrote a book, "Merger Mania," a guide on how to profit regularly by anticipating corporate mergers or takeovers and investing accordingly. How did Boesky fly in the face of traditional wisdom and take the risk out of one of Wall Street's most volatile invest-

As it turned out, he did it the easy way; he cheated. Ivan Boesky has admitted paying bribes to get secret tips.

For his troubles, the Securities and Exchange Commission is making him pay a $100-million fine - $50 million to repay illegal profits plus a $50 million civil penalty. Boesky has been banned from the American securities market.

Boesky's story involves much more than the downfall of one man and the temporary tumble of the Dow Jones industrial average. He is merely the biggest fish caught in the SEC's net. Others surely will follow, because Boesky cooperated with the SEC investigators.

Even the speculators content with a modest million in profits from insider trading aren't safe now, and Wall Street is

The SEC's crackdown is long overdue. In the past few years, Wall Street has become a playground for fastbuck artists and schemers. The current wave of company takeovers and mergers, fueled with junk bonds and other shaky financial arrangements, sent the speculators into a feeding frenzy. They are sapping the strength of corporate America.

If Boesky's fall serves any useful purpose, it is to point to the need for reform.

Congress needs to intervene, by tightening regulations to protect companies from frivolous, though costly, takeover attempts, and by tipping the scales back toward investors who play by the established rules.

While insider trading is a difficult to control as office gossip, surely Boesky pushed it to the outer limits. It is time for securities regulators and Congress to restore sanity - and discretion — to the stock market.

Israel as the middleman nothing new in arms deals

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — It should have been no surprise that Israel was the middleman used by the Reagan administration for its secret shipment of weapons to Iran. For years the Israelis have been up to their shoulder holsters in the murky world of international arms traffic.

Purchase orders, bills of lading and other documents obtained by our associates Corky Johnson and Donald Goldberg relating to CIA "front" corporations show a mysterious Israeli thread woven through weapons deals conducted by the CIA. Here are some of the details of this complex, clandestine trade in weapons of war:

In 1969 the CIA set up a front called Associated Traders, which funneted millinos of dollars through the First National Bank of Maryland to pay for huge arms Associated Traders, received 57 age firms Sherwood International Export Corp. and Shimon Ltd., handled the transactions for Shipping papers show that several of these arms shipments originated in Israel. Sherwood has had a close working relationship with Israeli defense officials, our sources report, and several former Israeli military officers have worked for the company.

Shimon is a Cayman islands company, believed to be associated with Sherwood, but little is known about it. Michael Kokin, president of Sherwood, did not return our telephone calls seeking information or comment

One interesting CIA arms shipment handled by Shimon in 1982 can be traced from the Israeli Mediterranean port of Ashdod to Lagos, Nigeria, where the trail ended. The CIA reportedly operates an air cargo service out of Lagos, and may have delivered the $4 million worth of weapons to U.S.-supported rebel groups, including those fighting in Angola.

The Israeli shipment was part of a $9.4 million transaction in which Shimon sent weapons to Lagos from several locations, including Portugal, the former colonial power in Angola. Portugal is a major trans-shipment point for arms; someof the U.S. shipments to Iran, in fact, went by way of Portugal, according to our sources. The CIA paid the money into Shimon's bank account in Luxemburg.

In another CIA arms deal, the agency's front company, shipments. Two weapons radio transceivers manufactured in Israel. The units, which cost a total of $128,250, were purchased by Sherwood and flown from Tel Aviv to Washington-Dulles International Airport. The radios were the standard backpack type used for combat in rugged terrain — such as that in Central America.

In 1984, Sherwood and an Israeli shipping firm, Merico, were involved ion a little-publicized incident after Italian officials seized the Merico freighter Viking, which was loaded with weapons that they feared were destined for the Red Brigades terrorists.

Merico told the Italians that the ship's deadly cargo was headed for Brazil in a deal arranged by Sherwood. Brazil at first denied it was importing the arms, many of which were types that Brazil manufactured and exported itself. But the Brazilians later changed their story and said they had contracted with Sherwood for the arms.

According to court papers, Sherwood was recently stopped by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms from importing 17,000 frames for Browning .30-caliber machineguns. The seller was the Israeli Defense Ministry. Sherwood executives said they wanted to assemble the machineguns for sale to "friendly foreign

It's against the law to import fully automatic weapons without valid purchase orders from the federal government or local governments. BATF officials said Sherwood could provide no proof of the machineguns' ultimate destination. Our sources said it is doubtful that the Israeli government would have sold Sherwood the guns without knowing where they were

West Texas cursed with a plague?

By KEN BROADNAX

The Odessa American Don't be surprised if more than a few West Texans are keeping wary eyes on the horizon on the off chance that a plague of locusts might show up.

On second thought, it seems in evitable that a few billion of those critters are on their way.

After all, that's one of the few problems that Permian Basin residents have escaped in recent

And Odessans will be quick to point out that they've endured their share of those difficulties. Anyone want to howl a few verses of "Nobody knows the trouble I've seen?

Even before the caprices of nature and the quirks of fate began to create havoc, things weren't all that rosy. A depressed oil economy laid waste to what had generally been considered a fat and happy West Texas

Languishing in a stale business atmosphere (and waiting for the next bank to fail) would seem to be enough punishment for a single geographic area. Especially when one specific city in that region spent several years trying to live down a brief reign as Murder Capital of the Universe.

But, noooo. This was to be the year that was in West Texas.

Into the area rode a ghastly gastric distress that nobody could spell or pronounce. Few had heard drews. But both senators told us of the stranger, but those who crossed its path had immediate regrets

Shigellosis struck fear in the hearts — and tummies thousands of citizens. The several hundred who actually were stricken were joined by thousands of others who imagined the worst

Before that commotion died down, the ever-present spectre of hydrogen sulfide reared its ugly head. The potentially deadly gas seeped from a well and caused the evacuation of about a thousand Odessans. It was accepted as just another blow below the Basin's

Between all these other happen ings, part of the petrochemical complex blew up and one of Odessa's largest buildings did its best to burn.

The sequence of seemingly unceasing events gives rise to the theory that the Basin's faltering finances could be bolstered by providing locations for a whole new round of disaster movies.

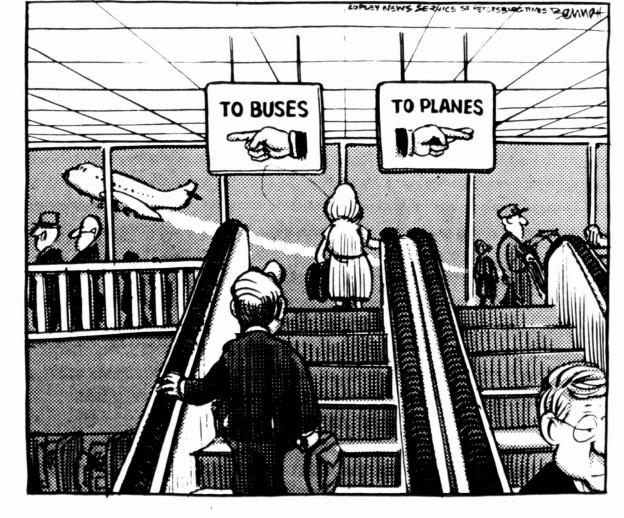

But more likely, stoic West Texans will accept their various fates and look forward to the upcoming months that will, no doubt, yield a few routine blizzards

Skeptical, we called the Houston Opera to verify this shocker and were assured that it is true. No, it is not a Mel Brooks production, and yes, Henry Kissinger is apparently portrayed as well as the former president

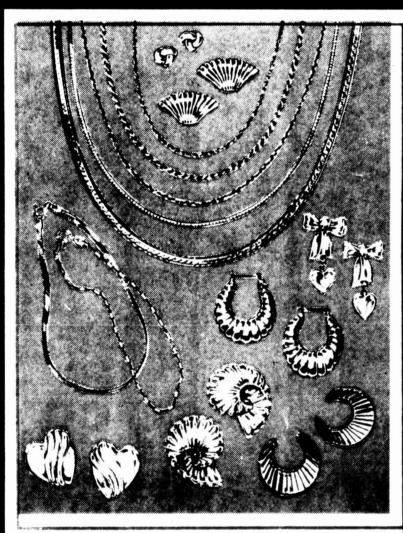

The music is "quite lovely and very abstract," we were told, and the whole production is "very dreamlike." That's what we'd expect of an opera about Nixon. Dreamlike. Zzzzzzzz.

Bentsen: trade is job one

McALLEN - Sanctions are needed against countries that export freely to the United States but erect trade barriers against U.S. farm products and other goods, says U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

"I'm not a protectionist, I'm a a pragmatist," the Texas Democrat said Monday in his first policy speech since becoming next in line for chairman of the Senate Finance Committee

Bentsen told members of the Texas Farm Bureau he would fight for legislation that would penalize countries that put up trade barriers to U.S. goods while dumping their products in the United States at below cost

'If our doors are open to you, you must open your doors to us," Bentsen said. "We should be telling Japan and Germany to open up those markets. We produce the world's best grapefruit but try to buy it in Japan or Europe.'

Bentsen said foreign trade would be the No. 1 concern of the Senate Finance Committee when he takes over as chairman in January, saying to open foreign markets "is critical to agriculture but should also be a high national priority.

AT&T rate cuts in effect

AUSTIN - AT&T Communications has cut its long-distance rates within Texas by 10 percent in line with a new rate structure approved last week by the Public Utility Commission, company officials said.

The reductions, totalling about $112 million, follow final approval last week by the Public Utility Commission.

The reduced rates — which went into effect on Monday — affect long distance calls, both incoming and outgoing WATS service, and long distance directory assistance, AT&T spokesman Steve Parrino

The company said the lower prices are the result of reduced access charges paid by AT&T to Southwestern Bell and independent telephone companies in Texas, as well as lower payments to Bell for providing billing and collection services for AT&T.

Under the new rates, a 5-minute daytime call from Dallas to Houston, San Antonio or Austin will be $1.86 instead of $2.02. A 10-minute evening call drops from $3.02 to $2.78, and a 10-minute weekend call falls from $2.41 to $2.23

Two dead of 'moonshine'

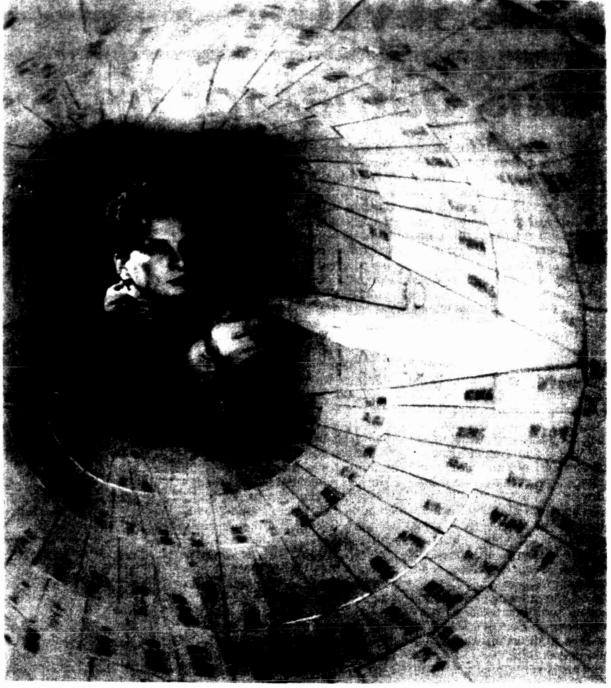

OKLAHOMA CITY - A Del City teen-ager charged in the death of one person who apparently drank toxic wood alcohol thinking it was moonshine also is named on Texas warrants issued in the death of a second person and injuries sustained by another man who drank the concoction.

Assistant District Attorney Ray Elliott said Oklahoma County prosecutors filed an involuntary slaughter charge Monday against John Robert Lowrey, 18, of suburban Del City, in connection with Friday's death of Timothy Scott Tilson, 23, of Oklahoma City.

Tilson and Kevin Elder, 17, of Richardson, Texas, died from methanol poisoning, authorities said.

Richardson authorities issued an aggravated assault warrant Monday for Lowrey in connection with injuries suffered by Adam Wilson, 17, who a police spokesman said was in critical condition at Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas

The aggravated assault warrant was the second in two days naming Lowrey, who was named in an aggravated assault warrant Sunday after Elder died.

Fans gather for final Texas Playboys concert

By THOMAS KOROSEC

Fort Worth Star-Telegram FORT WORTH (AP) — Some recalled how the sound would break the drudgery of a Texas farm day, blowing away the Depression-era dust with a swing beat and a twangy lyric.

Others remembered twostepping at dance halls in prairie towns and cities across the Southwest — places where the Crystal Springs Hop was king when the steel guitar hummed.

Fond memories and a few tears welled up on Nov. 16 as eight men in white hats and steel-blue blazers — Bob Wills' Original Texas Playboys took the stage and struck up on hits like "San Antonio Rose," "Take Me Back to Tulsa" and "Steel Guitar Rag" for one last time.

Originators and chief practitioners of Western swing music, the Playboys closed a 51-year history of concerts, movies, record-making and radio shows.

For the audience, the twoand-one-half-hour sold-out performance at Fort Worth's Will Rogers Auditorium was wrapped in nostalgia.

"This is something you lived all your life," said Harold Sanders, 55, whose memories of the Playboys date to the late 1930s and a family homestead outside Wichita, Kan.

Sanders recalled his father breaking from work on an oil at 12:30 p.m. to tune in the Texas Playboys' half-hour

uess I remember my father most — I lost him six months ago," said Sanders, who wept openly during the show. "It brings back memories of us, of him.

"I feel sad to think the Texas Playboys will be no more, I feel very deeply about it." he said. "I know this is a bit like a funeral but I hope the music never dies."

Betty Stapler, 50, remembered telling her parents in small-town Hamlin that she would be spending the night at a slumber party, only to skip out with her girfriends and drive 20 miles to Texas Playboys dances.

"That was around '50 and my parents were strict Baptists. They didn't allow dancing,' Stapler said. "I went to a lot of 'slumber parties,' so to speak, and I danced every dance.'

James Robert "Bob" Wills, the band leader who died in 1975, "was kind of a handsome man," she recalled. "But it was the music and the way he worked the crowd — he could entertain me, and I loved it.

James Baker was 17 years old in 1935, the year he started going to Fort Worth's long-gone Crystal Springs, an open-air dance hall.

"Well, yeah, that is where you met the girls. In those days you could go out and pick you one out and go dancing," he said. "Bob Wills was everybody's favorite band. Sometime they would doubleband with Milton Brown, he was out of Fort Worth. Man, was that something.

The dance hall closed, but not before Baker and his late wife took spins around the dance floor to make her memory hang with him at Sunday's performance.

"You'll find a lot of people here with memories," he said. Before the show began, scores of fans made their way to the Bob Wills Museum, which opened last year in the Stockyards.

There they strolled thoughtfully past framed record albums, photographs, and a collection of Wills' saddles before settling in front of a music I can remember. That's video screen showing Wills enough for nostalgia.

Facts about a fever

By BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS

The symptoms are listlessness, glassy eyes, shivering and aching. A hand on the forehead confirms the suspicion of a full-fledged fever.

But bringing down the fever isn't always the best remedy, says Better Homes and Gardens magazine. A growing number of doctors now say that lowering a fever may prolong the illness, increase contagion and hamper treatment.

The magazine quotes Dr. Philip Brunnell as saying, "There is evidence that fever may be of some benefit." Brunell, who chairs the Committee on Infectious Diseases of the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP), says: "It is one weapon the body uses to protect itself. Moderate fever is not an enemy. It can usually be allowed to run its course.

Pediatricians in particular are beginning to use new — and more cautious — methods when treating fever in children. One reason is the rare but dangerous condition known as Reye's syndrome.

Reye's syndrome strikes children just as they seem to be recovering from flu or chicken pox, often with fatal results. The cause is unknown, but one widely noted study has shown that children treated with aspirin during the initial illness were more likely to develop the disease. The AAP cautions against giving aspirin to children with flu or chicken pox.

A fever isn't something to ignore, especially in people with heart and respiratory problems (a rise in temperature elevates heart and breathing rates). If someone develops a fever, follow these guidelines suggested by doctors:

Rely less on the thermometer. Someone who looks and acts ill probably is ill, no matter what the thermometer reading says.

A high temperature does not always indicate a serious illness. Preschoolers, for example, can run fevers of 104-105 degrees F, which may seem alarmingly high. Actually, Brunell says, many doctors believe fever-related convulsion results from a rapid rise in temperature. A gradual rise poses less of a threat.

Small chance of AIDS occurs in transfusions

DEAR ABBY: I'm always impressed by the advice you give. Particularly concerning medical matters, you are rarely, if ever, off the mark.

In today's Greenville, S.C., News you said, "The risk of getting AIDS from a blood transfusion is no longer a threat since all bood is tested for the AIDS virus before it is used in a transfusion.

Unfortunately, Abby, when a person gets the AIDS virus in his (or her) system, there may be a delay of several weeks or even longer before he tests positive, so there's a "window period" that may result in a person contracting AIDS from contaminated blood in a transfusion. That is if the donor has the AIDS virus but hadn't had it long enough for the blood test to become positive.

There is certainly much less of a threat with present testing, but, unfortunately, a small threat still

Mercury in fillings not toxic

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My husband has had a mysterious ailment for four or five years. He has arm pain that affects his fingers. Once he was told it was poisoning due to a lot of silver fillings in his teeth, mercury poisoning.

When he told his dentist about and asked to have his fillings taken out and replaced, he hit the ceiling. Anyway, this would be a big thing for him to go through, not to mention the expense.

Have you ever heard of this, and what about the millions of others with silver fillings? My husband is so mixed up, he doesn't know where to turn. - Mrs. G.B.

I can understand why his dentist hit the ceiling. Your husband is not being poisoned by those fillings. believe me.

Mercury in some forms is poisonous, and mercury is in the amalgam of metals used for dental fillings. I am sure that some people some where have put those two facts together and come up with the dire prospects you have heard

We have no such epidemic. advise your husband to continue his search for an answer to his shoulder/hand symptoms. Neural? Circulatory? Anginal? But not from his fillings.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am enclosing a clipping from a health magazine. Why is it true (if it is) that a person will have a lower blood cholesterol reading if the test is done when he is lying down than when he is standing up? Shouldn't people know this? — M.C.Under normal circumstances, it doesn't make a great difference. I suspect the writer refers to changes that occur when a person has been prone for some period, as in a hospital setting. When the body is supine for some time, fluid from surrounding tissue seeps into vessels. That might dilute blood and give a relatively lower blood fats reading. When standing, fluid leaks out of vessels, leaving behind a greater concentration.

Most often, blood for tests is drawn with the person standing or seated anyway

Queens upset OC, 61-53

> By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

The Howard College Hawk-Queens started Western Junior College Athletic Conference play with a dramatic 61-53 win over the Odessa Junior College Lady Wranglers Monday night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The loss gives Odessa, the defending national champions, a 9-2 season record. It was only their third loss in the last three years.

Led by a halfcourt trapping press and sharp shooting by forwards Carolyn Willandt and Stefanie Massie and guard Terri Powell, Howard jumped on the Lady Wranglers and made them play catch up.

Howard held a 34-22 halftime lead and stretched it to 40-24 early in the second half. But the Queens had to hold off a pressing Odessa team. Using a halfcourt trapping press of their own, the Lady Wranglers came back to narrow the lead to two late in the contest.

But Howard got some heads up defensive play from guard Pam Franklin and some cluch baskets by Massie to ice the game.

"For some reason we always do well against Odessa with our halfcourt trapping press," said a smiling Stevens after the game. 'But I can't ever remember an Odessa team scoring under 60 points. We didn't get the turnovers we wanted, but I wasn't really expecting to. We did get their offense disorganized so they couldn't get it to their big people.

Hawks hold tight for 71-70 victory

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

The Howard College Hawks were like a boat without a rudder for The 6-1 sophomore scored 28 most of the first half of Monday night's Western Junior College Athletic Conference opener at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum against Odessa, trailing by as many as 12 points in the opening minutes.

But the rudder, 5-6 point guard Dennis Rhodes, playing for the first time in four games, came off the bench to provide the Hawks with the necessary guidance. With and directing the offense, the Hawks won a 71-70 squeaker over the visiting Wranglers.

"He was the key to the game. He's missed four or five games, and he's still injured. But we had to have him. This is for real (a conference game), and he gives leadership. He's the guy that turns the key to the car," said Hawks' Coach Larry Brown after the win.

Without Bradsher's leaping, onehanded jump shots the Hawks would have been in trouble at the half. Instead, they closed the 12-point Wrangler margin to a 34-31 lead at intermission.

The Wranglers, who started a Rhodes playing cat quick defense frontline of 6-7, 6-5 and 6-6 and had a 6-9 substitute, outrebounded the Hawks 33 to 23. With Edwards nailing three-pointers and opening up the inside passing lanes, the Wrangler big men gave the Hawks trouble early

And with the Wrangler's regularly getting two and three shots at the basket, the shorter Hawks appeared in trouble. The tallest Hawk, Sam Williams, is 6-4.

Giants rally for win against 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Phil Simms threw two touchdown passes and set up New York's third TD with a 49-yard completion to Stacy Robinson during an amazing third-period turnaround Monday night which gave the Giants a 21-17 victory over the San Francisco 49ers and clinched a spot in the NFL playoffs.

Simms totaled 388 yards passing, including 202 in the 21-point third quarter, as New York stretched its winning streak to six games, the NFL team's longest in 16 years, by coming back from a 17-0 halftime deficit. Simms was intercepted twice in the first half, when the Giants' rushing game netted only two yards and kicker Raul Allegre missed two field goal

The 49ers had a chance to pull out a victory in the final minutes of the game, but were stopped on downs at the Giants' 20-yard line.

By improving to 11-2, the Giants remained tied with Washington for the NFC Eastern Division lead. They will meet the Redskins next Sunday in a first-place showdown.

The 49ers, second in the NFC West, dropped fullback Roger Craig. He also established a to 7-5-1 and 112 games behind the divisionleading Los Angeles Rams.

Simms passed 17 yards to running back Joe Morris and 34 yards to wide receiver Robinson for the touchdowns which completed drives of 49 and 71 yards. Ottis Anderson plunged one yard for the go-ahead TD immediately after the 49-yard play to Robinson, who pulled the ball to his chest as he landed on the ground near the

The 49ers, who failed to get a first down in the third quarter, built their 17-0 lead on Ray Wersching's 30-yard field goal in the first period and a pair of TDs by receiver Jerry Rice in the second quarter.

Rice, who caught nine passes for 84 yards in the game, increased his season touchdown total to 15, tying a team record set last year by team record for receiving yardage in a season with 1,367. The old record of 1,344 was set by Dave Parks in 1965.

Wendell Tyler, the veteran running back resigned by the 49ers last week, turned in a strong comeback performance, particularly in the first half. The 49ers rushed for 84 yards in the opening half against a defense allowing an average of 74 yards per game.

In the third period, the Giants scored on drives covering 49, 71 and 71 yards. They threatened to squeeze a fourth TD into the quarter, but tight end Mark Bavaro lost a fumble, recovered by linebacker Ricky Ellison, at the 49ers' 6-yard line.

In the first TD drive, Bavaro gained 31 yards on a pass from Simms. On the second drive, the key play was a 17-yard run by Morris on a fourth-and-two play from midfield.

"All that bravery stuff is bull," Layne said. "I tried a new face mask every day they brought one out. But they bothered my vision. I had my nose broken but it wasn't anything serious.

Layne also had a reputation of taking a tougher thrashing nightclubbing before the game than he did during it.

"I don't think there's any way possible I could have played for 15 years if I had done all those things I'm supposed to have done," Layne said. "If you ever get your name in the paper with that kind of reputation it's going to continue.

Layne first gained prominence in Texas when he led Highland Park to the state semifinals.

Enrolling at Texas in 1944, Layne immediately became a star for D.X. Bible.

On January 1, 1946, Layne hit 11 of 12 passes in a 40-27 victory over Missouri in the Cotton Bowl. The next year he led Texas to a 27-7 Sugar Bowl victory over Alabama.

He left Texas with every pass ing record in the school's book. He also had a 39-7 record as a baseball pitcher.

Layne was a bonus pick in the NFL. He was drafted originally by Pittsburgh but ended up with the Chicago Bears.

"Mr. (George) Halas thought Sid Luckman was going to retire but Sid decided to play two or three more years," Layne said. "Johnny Lujack also was on the

"Mr. Halas told me 'Bobby, I can't afford to keep three quarterbacks and I can't make Sid retire. He's Jewish which means more season tickets, and you're a Baptist from Texas.' Layne was traded to the New sore throat we were worried about getting paid," Layne said. "If she couldn't sing 'God Bless America' there wouldn't have been any checks. I learned a lot that year.'

Layne went to Detroit for the 1950 season and led the Lions to NFL titles in 1952 and 1953.

Coach Buddy Parker left for Pittsburgh in 1956 and Layne followed him. Layne retired in 1962 and went back to Lubbock and his beloved golf game.

"I want to run out of money and breath at the same time, Layne said. "My other one is that if a man works after noon the job is too big for him in the first place.

Layne never made the big money now associated with pro fessional athletes. "Our big dispute with the owners was over who was going to buy the football shoes and whether the players should be paid $50 for an exhibition game," Layne said.

Pardee gets Cougar job

HOUSTON (AP) - Jack Pardee, who coached teams in three professional football leagues, today was named coach at the University of Houston.

Pardee, 50, succeeds Bill Yeoman, who retired from coaching after 25 years to take a post in the university administration. Pardee's appointment was announced at a news conference.

Interim Athletic Director Michael Johnson said Pardee was given a 4-year contract that renews itself each year and pays him $100,000 per year. Pardee said he was impressed that the university's search committee is interested in having a first-class athletic organization and a first-class school. "That's the goal they have," he said. "I hope to have a winner very, very quickly.' Pardee, a college linebacker at Texas A&M, was coach of the NFL's Chicago Bears from 1975-77 and the Washington Redskins from 1978-80. He was an assistant coach with the San Diego Chargers for two seasons before becoming head coach of the USFL's Houston Gamblers.

In his first pro coaching job, he took the Florida Blazers to the World Football League championship game in 1974.

Pardee says the transition from professional to college level football won't be a difficult one. "Football is football. That part just doesn't change," he said.

At the University of Houston, Pardee takes over a team that won only one of 11 games this season and lost all eight Southwest Conference games. The team also played under the shadow of allegations that some Cougar players were paid and had academic records altered.

School officials briefed Pardee on an NCAA investigation into those allegations.

"The impression I have gotten is that no violation should be catastrophic in any category. I certainly hope there will be no sanctions that directly effect what we are doing now," Pardee said.

The UCLA Bruins whip the number one Tar Heels

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The UCLA Bruins brought back some of that old-time basketball religion to Pauley Pavilion.

Gaining what Coach Walt Hazzard called "one of UCLA's biggest wins," the unheralded Bruins knocked off top-ranked North Carolina 89-84 Monday night and avenged the worst defeat in their

"We demonstrated that our recruits are as good as anyone's, and our players can compete with anyone," said Hazzard, a one-time member of the national championship teams that used to represent UCLA in the 1960s.

The upset at Pauley was a bit of deja vu for the Bruins, who won 10 NCAA championships in the 1960s and 1970s. It also avenged last season's 107-70 embarrassment at Chapel Hill.

This is another check off my list." said UCLA forward Reggie Miller, who scored 32 points. "I've got a lot of checks.'

In other games involved the nation's ranked teams, it was No. 4 Purdue 96, Illinois State 54; No. 6 Kansas 87, Southern University 69; No. 7 Auburn 94, Armstrong State 54; No. 8 Alabama 96, Furman 69; No. 15 Georgia Tech 84, Penn 57 and No. 17 Syracuse 82, George Washington 69.

Miller scored 21 of his points in the second half, and freshmen Greg Foster and Trevor Wilson played key roles as the Bruins hung on to beat the Tar Heels.

The Bruins led almost the entire way, opening a 13-point lead in the first half. Foster scored six points in the second half and Wilson added six more in the final four minutes to shut the door on the Tar Heels, who had the opportunity to tie in the last 10 minutes.

Kenny Smith led North Carolina with 18 points.

'They played with intensity and Hazzard had them very well prepared," North Carolina Coach Dean Smith said. "In the second half, we got the shots we wanted. We were overrated, anyway." No. 4 Purdue 96, Illinois St. 54

Troy Lewis scored 16 points and Everett Stephens and Melvin Mc-Cants contributed 15 each as Purdue crushed foul-plagued Illinois State. The Boilermakers sewed up their second straight victory with a 21-2 burst in the second half when four Illinois State players fouled

"There's really not a lot to say," said Purdue Coach Gene Keady. "We came out, played well and wore them down. We hit the boards good and shot the ball well.'

Illinois State Coach Bob Donewald:

"As the game developed by thoughts reflected back to 1975-76, when I was (an assistant) with Bob Knight at Indiana. I think Gene was really kind, and it could have been a lot worse. That's the way we used to handle people (at Indiana). Now I'm getting my lunch handed to me.'

No. 6 Kansas 87, Southern U. 69 Danny Manning scored 21 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Kansas over Southern University. Cedric Hunter and Mark Randall added 15 points each for the Jayhawks, and Randall also grabbed 10 rebounds.

ter once Manning left the game, but in the end was overmatched, Coach Ben Jobe said. "I thought when we got Danny in foul trouble we would get an opportunity to do some things," he said. "I thought we played well but we just didn't have the manpower. No. 7 Auburn 94, Armstrong State

Jeff Moore had 17 points and four other players scored in double figures as Auburn defeated outmanned Armstrong State. The Tigers jumped to a 7-0 lead and increased it throughout the first half, holding a 58-24 advantage at

It was the fourth game in four days for the Pirates, who have lost all of them.

Along with Moore, four other Auburn players scored 10 points each: Terrance Howard, Mike Jones, Johnny Lynn and Aundrae Davis.

Auburn outrebounded the Pirates 57-28, with John Caylor the top rebounder for the Tigers with nine. Tim Sellers led Armstrong State with 23 points and eight rebounds.

No. 8 Alabama 96, Furman 69 Mark Gottfried made seven three-point field goals and scored 23 points overall to lead Alabama over Furman. Overall, the Crimson Tied hit 12 of 19 three-point attempts, including four by Jim Farmer, to roll past the Paladins. Alabama, playing its first home game of the season, built a 50-38 lead at halftime and didn't begin to

through the second half. Despite the loss, Furman Coach

Butch Estes said he could not be too disappointed with his team's showing. 'We're leaving here with some piece of mind because until there were seven or eight minutes left in the game, I honestly thought we had a chance to win it," Estes said. 'When you're a young team like we are and you can come in against the (eighth-ranked) team in the country and play a tight ball game, you're on the right track.

No. 15 Georgia Tech 84, Penn 57 Duane Ferrell scored 20 first-half points and Tom Hammonds broke out of a shooting slump in the second half as Georgia Tech used its height advantage to beat Penn.

Georgia Tech's guards, Bruce Dalrymple and Craig Neal, held Penn guards Perry Bromwell and Chris Elzey to two points, both by Elzey, in the first half.

Ferrell, 6-foot-7, played both forward and guard in the first half, when he blocked one shot and hit 9 of 12 from the field. Ferrell, who finished with 26 points, helped the Yellow Jackets build a 45-31 halftime lead.

After intermission, Hammonds, a sophomore forward who was one of the nation's best collegiate shooters last season, broke out of a 3-for-15 slump in the opening games and made 7-of-8 from the floor and all five free throws. Hammonds finished with 19 points and eight rebounds.

No. 17 Syracuse 82, George Washington 69

Greg Monroe scored eight points in the first 41/2 minutes of the second half and Syracuse used a pressing fullcourt defense to overcome a three-point halftime deficit and pull away from George Washington.

Colts tab Meyer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Ron Meyer, the Indianapolis Colts' fourth head coach since the club's move from Baltimore 32 months ago, is anxious to get to work as the field boss of the only winless team in the National Football League.

"There's no question, I'm not going to stand idly by and sit on my hands. I don't want to muddy the waters, but quite honestly, when you're 0-13, they might need to be stirred up a little," said Meyer, who was named to succeed the fired Rod Dowhower on Monday,

The Colts were 5-11 under Dowhower last year. The year before, in the team's first season in Indianapolis, they were 4-11 under Frank Kush and 0-1 under Hal Hunter, who coached the final game after Kush resigned to take a job in the United States Football League.

Defensive lineman Harvey Armstrong was one of the few Colts who knew Meyer, having played for him at Southern Methodist. Meyer also served as Armstrong's agent. "Coach Meyer will definitely speak his mind when he sees something he doesn't like and he's as great motivator. Coach Dowhower was more of a person who had the attitude that we are professionals and that we should go out and do our job.'

Meyer, 45, becomes the club's 10th coach since owner Robert Irsay bought the franchise in 1972. Meyer served as coach of the Patriots from 1982 to 1984, compiling an 18-15 record. He entered the NFL following nine seasons as a college head coach at Nevada-Las Vegas and Southern Methodist.

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Tech football coach David McWilliams has been interviewed for the vacant head coaching job at the University of Texas. UT Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds confirmed Monday that he talked with McWilliams, a former UT assistant coach, in Lubbock on Sunday. Dodds also said he discussed the job with "more than one" candidate, but did not identify the others.

Dodds fired Longhorn head coach Fred Akers on Saturday. McWilliams said he visited with dependence Bowl.

Mr. Dodds is looking for and that was it," said McWilliams, a player and coach at UT for 20 years before leaving last year to take the Tech

"There was no job offer. He indicated he had some other people he would visit with. There was no indication of further contact with me at any point or any time," McWilliams said.

Monday was the first day that high school football players were allowed to make official recruiting visits to college campuses. But Akers' assistant coaches, who have contracts running through Feb. 28, 1987, weren't recruiting. Akers told a news conference that the school had ordered them not to recruit.

"They are not recruiting. They were told not to ... by the administration," Akers said.

Akers described McWilliams as committee, which includes former a personal friend and said he would wish him well

"If David wants it, he's got my blessing, of course. I think David's a good man," Akers said. " If David were to get it and he wanted it, I'd be happy for him...

As for other possibilities, Akers said, "The rest of them, I don't care. I'm not going to get involved in selecting — of course, no one's asked, either."

Among those being suggested as possibilities for the Longhorn job are John Cooper of Arizona State, Larry Smith of Arizona, Fisher De Berry of Air Force and Mike Shanahan, an assistant with the Denver Broncos. Miami of Florida Coach Jimmy Johnson also has been touted as a possibility, but said he plans to remain with the Hurricanes next year.

UT officials said that following the search, Dodds would recommend his choice to Cunningham for final approval.

Besides Royal, the search committee includes Longhorn quarterback Bret Stafford and senior captain Eric Jeffries. Former player Doug English also is on the panel, as well as various faculty members and business leaders.
