School reform articles will begin Sunday

Starting Sunday, the Herald will publish a series of articles on the effects and results of two Texas laws adopted to improve the state's public education system.

Those two laws — known informally as House Bill 72 and House Bill 246 — have been in effect during the past two years. They have brought some improvements as well as confusion and additional costs, according to local educators.

Although the controversial no-pass, no-play portion of HB 72 has drawn much of the attention, it is only a small part of the reform legislation. Other sections of the two laws deal with teacher evaluation, the career ladder program, financing and standardizing of curriculum.

In the series, local educators cite some of the major strengths and weaknesses or faults of the reform effort, with suggestions on modifications.

Sunday's first article particularly notes how the two laws differ and how they cover separate aspects of education reform.

Proposal may lower county car rates

Staff and Wire reports
AUSTIN — Personal automobile insurance rates will increase 9.8 percent on the average statewide, but drop 2.1 percent in Howard County, if a State Board of Insurance staff proposal is adopted.

Industry officials, however, want a 19.7 percent increase statewide and a 11.4 percent hike in Howard County. The rates are proposed to be effective April 1, 1987.

The matter is pending before the State Board of Insurance.

Larry Hollar, State Farm insurance agent in Big Spring, said insurance rates vary according to region. Howard County, with Midland, is in territory number 60, he said. Rates are determined considering population, accident frequency, severity and cost, he said. If insurance companies within a region are losing money, rates may be increased and if they're making what is considered a high profit, may be decreased, he added.

Insurance companies are allowed to deviate about 35 percent above or below state board rates, he said. Therefore, not every policyholder will see an increase or decrease on his bill.

Rates will vary according to several factors, including location, the age of the driver and the car's value.

The state agency describes a typical policy as one for a 1986 low- to medium-priced car, not used in business but driven to and from work, with no male operator under 25 and no unmarried female operator under 21.

Under the staff recommendation, Howard County residents would see their rates drop $12 for typical private passenger policies that include collision and comprehensive insurance, according to the agency staff recommendation.

That premium would fall from $571 to $559 under the staff proposal compared with $635 recommended by the industry.

Howard County residents who buy only the basic policies for bodily injury and property damage would see an increase, from $158 to $175. The industry-recommended premium is $209.

Figures for other area counties include: — Borden, Dawson, Glasscock, Martin and Mitchell counties, a premium increase for typical policies, from $509 to $532 under the agency staff plan. The industry-suggested premium is $582.

Basic policy holders would see their costs climb from $118 to $130 under the agency staff proposal. The industry-proposed premium is $155.

Kremlin says it will abide by SALT II

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union said today it will continue to abide by the SALT II treaty on nuclear weapons, but warned that the United States "is making a big mistake" by exceeding the treaty's limits.

A government statement, issued by Tass news agency, also said Washington's decision to exceed the SALT II limits would not increase U.S. security.

The United States deliberately exceeded the limits of SALT II this week by putting into service its 131st B-52 bomber armed with cruise missiles without dismantling a Poseidon submarine.

The Soviet Union today called the Reagan administration's decision a violation of the agreements in principle on arms reduction reached at the Oct. 11-12 Iceland summit.

The statement rejected U.S. charges that the Soviets have violated provisions of the treaty and accused the United States of numerous violations.

SALT II, signed in 1979, was never ratified by the U.S. Senate, but both superpowers have claimed up to now to have abided by its provisions.

Today's statement said that although the Soviet Union now has grounds to consider itself free of SALT II limits on nuclear arms, "the U.S.S.R. refrains for the time being from abandoning the limitations under SALT I and SALT II."

It said that it would keep on hewing to SALT II because of what it called "the need to preserve the key constraint on the strategic arms race."

Soviet news media and Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady Gerasimov already have criticized Washington's decision to abandon the SALT II accords, but today's statement was the first official Kremlin reaction.

Congressional probe develops

By JIM DRINKARD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — A congressional probe of the Iran-Contra scandal is expanding as both the House and Senate move to establish investigative units and one committee casts a net of subpoenas for a growing list of witnesses and documents.

The widening investigation is part of the increasing pressure being placed on President Reagan and some of his closest aides by members of Congress and Reagan's own administration.

The Senate Intelligence Committee on Thursday spent more than four hours under tight secrecy quizzing Robert M. Gates, the No. 2 official at the Central Intelligence Agency, on what he knows about the deal that sent plane loads of arms to Iran and diverted as much as $30 million of the proceeds to Nicaragua's Contra rebels.

Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn., the committee's chairman, said the committee's list of potential witnesses had been expanded and now included the National Security Council, except for the president and Vice President George Bush.

While he did not name them, that list potentially includes CIA Director William Casey, White House Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan, Secretary of State George P. Shultz, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and Adm. William J. Crowe, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The probe now also encompasses a long list of documents, and committee staff members were dispatched around the country Thursday to subpoena papers from a number of sources, including several Different waste system more efficient

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

A waste treatment system city officials examined in New Braunfels this week appears more efficient than Big Spring's present system, said Public Works Director Tom Decell.

Decell, City Manager Mack Wolford and other city officials examined the system and its operations, he said this morning.

"2,700 square feet of this new surface will accomplish the same drying as 45,000 square feet of conventional sand beds," such as those used in Big Spring, he said.

In addition, the sludge-drying beds can be emptied by machine in about five minutes, while conventional beds take an employee "a number of hours" to empty, he said.

But adopting the new type bed wouldn't mean eliminating any plant jobs, he said. Instead, employees' time will be freed to accomplish other tasks. More time will be available to pay more attention to detail in cleaning, beautification and maintenance routines, he said.

Four of the new beds would replace 20 conventional beds, and the cost would be slightly less, Decell said. He estimates the cost of a new system at $415,000 to $420,000.

The New Braunfels system has been in use about two years, he said, and has also been used along the Eastern seaboard.

Location is a problem with the beds currently used in Big Spring. Decell said they are in a low area and have been flooded four or five times within the last few years. The Environmental Protection Agency has mandated that the beds be relocated to avoid flooding, he said.

Relocation will not be simple. The concrete beds are poured in to the ground, which means they can't be just picked up and moved, but must be repoured, he said.

Valves and pipes from the old beds would be used in the new system.

The plant has ample land available to move the beds and still have space for possible expansion, he said.

Decell said he plans to visit other places and speak to individuals involved with similar systems throughout the U.S. He plans to recommend a course of action to the City Council at the March 10 meeting.

CIA may be involved in Cuba flights

WASHINGTON (AP) — A controversial air cargo company's flights between the United States, Cuba and Angola indicate a possible CIA-Fidel Castro link, a Texas congressman says.

U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez said Thursday that records of the Civil Aeronautics Board show that since 1982, Miami-based Southern Air Transport has flown an average of two plane loads a month into Havana carrying between 15 and 26 tons of cargo per trip.

Southern Air has been linked to the Reagan administration's covert Iran and Nicaragua dealings. In June, the company made two flights from Miami to Havana carrying a total of 45 tons, the San Antonio Democrat said.

"The State Department said those planes were taking supplies in to the American Interests Section, which is the Swiss Embassy in Havana, which has two people in it," Gonzalez said. "Now you don't bring in 45 tons of supplies a month to supply two people."

On Nov. 25, the State Department said Southern Air sometimes flies supplies to the American diplomatic mission in Cuba. Department spokesman Charles Redman said carriers are selected for flights to Cuba on the basis of price and availability.

Redman said the State Department hires those carriers to move its diplomatic pouch and from the mission, formally known as the U.S. Interests Section.

The flights also carry official and personal correspondence, household effects, office supplies and occasionally construction materials not readily available in Cuba, he said.

State Department spokeswoman Laura Jehl said Southern Air has flown into Havana on many occasions, bringing in basic provisions and construction materials for the American interest section.

She said some of the loads contained large items that required big aircraft to move.

Southern Air spokesman William Kress was not in the airline's office Thursday and an employee answering the telephone said he did not know when Kress would return.

Gonzalez said that in probing through the records he found Southern Air planes also flew cargo from Dobbins Air Force Base in Georgia to an airport in Luanda, Angola, controlled by the Marxist government there.

businesses, Durenberger said.

"We're putting together a lot of people and a lot of pieces and a lot of documents in order to come to an answer, which I'm afraid the American public assumes the president already knows," Durenberger said. "If he does, it would obviously help everybody if he told us about it."

Weinberger said in an interview in Brussels, Belgium, that it would be "clearly the exception" if the president did not know all essential details about something as important as the arms deal and the diversion of cash to Central America.

Weinberger said the episode was the result of bad advice from Reagan aides who told the president to seek rapprochement with Iranian moderates. The comment put Weinberger at odds with the White House, where spokesman Larry Speakes reiterated Reagan's belief that the policy goal was justified.

Some members of Congress were more blunt in their criticism. Said Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del.: "If the president is lying, he's finished. He is absolutely finished."

House leaders outlined plans for a special 15-member investigative committee that would conduct the body's scrutiny of administration actions and hold hearings, most of them in public. Senate leaders agreed to a plan for a 13-member panel with two non-voting ex-officio members.

Action to formally authorize the committees is expected to begin Jan. 6, when the 100th Congress convenes.

In related developments:

—The New York Times, quoting "three people familiar with the testimony" of Robert McFarlane, reported the former national security adviser told the Intelligence Committee that Reagan gave advance approval to Israel's sale of arms to Iran, despite administration assertions to the contrary. The Times, in today's editions, said McFarlane took issue with Meese, who said Reagan was informed after the shipment.

The newspaper's sources said McFarlane told the committee on Monday that Reagan informed the Israelis through McFarlane in August 1985 he would "condone" the Israeli shipment and would sell Israel replacement parts for the anti-tank missiles sent to Iran.

—Frank Carlucci, who begins work as Reagan's new national security adviser Jan. 1, said he would have direct access to the president "on substantive matters" and would not hesitate to champion his own opinions. He also began a study of whether an overhaul of the 53-member NSC staff is necessary.

—House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., retiring next month, predicted "everybody will be smoked out" in the investigations to come, even if they use the Fifth Amendment to avoid answering questions. But he said he does not believe the scandal will force the president to resign.

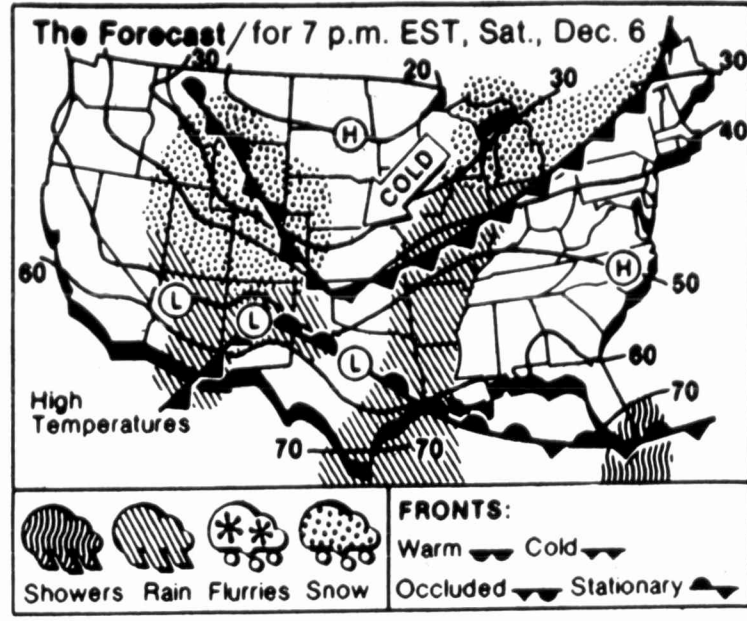

—The House Foreign Affairs Committee said it would call Shultz, Casey, McFarlane and Reagan's former national security adviser, Vice Adm. John M. Poindexter, to testify under oath about the impacts on U.S. foreign policy of bypassing normal diplomatic channels with covert action such as the Iranian arms sale.

Poindexter, who resigned after it was disclosed proceeds from the deal had gone to fund the Contras' war, invoked Fifth Amendment protections against self-incrimination.

Weather

Forecast

Cloudy with isolated showers or drizzle through Saturday expected. Skies were foggy this morning over the Permian Basin and the South Plains. Temperatures will turn warmer in the south Saturday, but turn colder in the Panhandle late Saturday afternoon. Highs today were in the upper 40s in the Panhandle to mid 60s in the Big Bend. Lows tonight will be mostly in the 30s, except in the mid 40s in the southeast. Highs Saturday in the mid 40s in the Panhandle to upper 60s in the far west.

State

A high pressure system centered over the northeast part of Oklahoma and was moving south into Texas today, while much of the Permian Basin and South Plains were under a travel advisory because of fog.

Scattered thundershowers were over the southern sections of South Texas and patches of light rain were over the western sections of north Central Texas.

Fog in the low rolling plains, South Plains, the Hill Country and the middle Rio Grande plains reduced visibility to less than one-eighth of a mile in the Permian Basin and South Plains early today.

Northeast to east winds breezed through the greater part of the state except in the High Plains where southerly winds were common. Speeds were in the 5 mph to 10 mph range. The winds were calm in the Rolling Plains and northern sections of the Hill Country.

Temperatures at 4 a.m. were in the 30s in the High Plains, Far West, mountain areas of West Texas and eastern sections of North Texas.

Readings in the 40s and 50s were common elsewhere. The deep south had temperatures in the 60s. Extremes ranged from 29 at Marfa in the Davis Mountains to 64 Brownsville in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

In the forecast, skies in most of the state should be mostly cloudy to cloudy tonight. There is a chance of showers in most of South and West Texas and a slight chance of rain over the extreme northwest part of North Texas.

Goliad book fair

A book fair open to the public will be hosted at Goliad Middle School Monday through Wednesday, Dec. 8-10, school officials announced today.

The fair, organized by Librarian Essie Person, will be conducted in the Goliad Library between 7:50 a.m. and 3:50 p.m. each day.

Book prices range from $1.25 to $5.95 and make ideal Christmas gifts, Mrs. Person said. The fair is sponsored by Texas School Book Fair.

She said that the book titles are chosen to "excite and motivate students in developing motor skills, reading skills and problem solving."

Police beat

- ### VCR, HBO box stolen from residence
- A videocassette recorder and a Home Box Office selector box were stolen and a window damaged at the residence of Johnny Ray Gardner, 101 N.W. 12th St.
 - Someone entered the First Baptist Church Wednesday night, damaging a glass door and lock, a vent, a wooden chapel door and a VCR. Damage was listed at $280.
 - A tool box with assorted tools and gauges, valued at $250, was stolen from Hilton Witt, 409 E. Second St., Wednesday.
 - Phyllis A. Moore, 1002 N. Main St., told police that someone entered her residence several times Nov. 28-29, stole $50 cash and made approximately $319 in long distance phone calls.

Sheriff's log

- ### Stolen vehicles may be from 'joy riding'
- Howard County sheriff's deputies began investigating this morning a suspected second stolen vehicle report that may be related to a stolen pickup recovered in a cotton field Thursday night, said Sheriff A.N. Standard.
- "It looks like helter skelter and joy riding which pops up occasionally," Standard said.
- The second report which is a suspected stolen vehicle from Pollard Chevrolet is "obviously of the same background" as the vehicle found in the cotton field, Standard said.
- According to a sheriff's report, Deputies Carl Thurman and Ralph Matteson responded to hot rodding calls from Webb Road at about 10 p.m. Thursday.
- Further reports indicated a vehicle was running over mail boxes on Webb Road.
- The deputies located a Ford pickup in the cotton field at the corner of Webb Road and Howard County Road 26.
- A further identification check on the vehicle revealed that it matched the description of a Ford pickup reported stolen Thursday night by Burt Hilger of Bob Brock Ford to the police department.
- No suspects have yet been identified in the case, Standard said.
- A Department of Public Safety trooper arrested John Robert Marsh, 19, of Oceanside, Calif. and Farrion Lee Hambrick, 21, of Bet-

Veterans' land tracts sold

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Veterans Land Board Thursday announced the sale of 34 tracts that had been repossessed from veterans who were delinquent on their loan payments.

The winning bids totalled $776,524 for the 670.4 acres.

Since the program began in 1949, more than 92,000 Texas veterans have received low-interest loans. Less than 1 percent have become delinquent in payments.

The largest single bid was $50,257 for a 20-acre tract in Hays County.

State hospital official retires

A reception honoring Albert Keene Smith, Big Spring State Hospital superintendent, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today in the auditorium in the Aldred Building at the hospital.

He is retiring for health reasons Jan. 2, according to a hospital press release.

Smith has worked for the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for 38 years, and has been at the Big Spring State Hospital for six years.

Smith has coordinated care of patients and their appropriate placement in the community, resulting in reducing the hospital's census from 450 to 300, said department commissioner Dr. Gary E. Miller.

Frankie E. Williams, deputy commissioner for the department and a former Big Spring medical staff member, said Smith expanded the hospital's community involvement and implemented a new clinical teleconferencing network.

The network improves the hospital's ability to offer continuity of care where distances between treatment units are great, he said.

Before coming to Big Spring in 1981, Smith was an Illinois state mental hospital system administrator, serving at Dixon School for the Retarded and Alton Mental Health Center.

Smith plans to return to his family home in Edwardsville, Ill.

FAA to probe appeals

WASHINGTON — The head of the Federal Aviation Administration is ordering an outside inquiry into how the agency approves medical appeals by commercial pilots, after complaints that some unfit pilots have been allowed to fly.

The directive by FAA Administrator Donald Engen was revealed Thursday in the wake of increasing criticism by the airline pilots union and medical officers of major airlines against Dr. Frank H. Austin Jr., the FAA's federal air surgeon.

Engen did not mention Austin by name in calling for the review of the medical licensing program, but agency sources said privately that the action stemmed from the controversy surrounding Austin's activities since he became the FAA's top medical officer two years ago.

Engen said the review panel should make a thorough examination and provide "an entirely fresh look" at the way the FAA handles medical appeals by pilots. He said he expects a report and recommendations for improvements within 45 days.

New AIDS tests begun

WASHINGTON — Researchers say they are beginning tests in apes of a prototype vaccine against AIDS that uses a tiny piece of the disease virus to muster antibodies against it.

Testing the potential vaccine in chimpanzees follows research that shows for the first time that only a fragment of protein from the AIDS virus is necessary for developing antibodies to neutralize it, they say.

The collaborative research involving scientists in government, industry and academia shows the piece of protein from the coating of the virus spurs high levels of antibodies in rabbits and goats, according to a report published today in the journal Science.

Ice blamed for crash

WASHINGTON — A yearlong investigation into the airline crash that killed 248 U.S. soldiers returning home for Christmas has narrowed the likely suspected cause of the accident to ice buildup on the wings, Canadian and U.S. aviation sources say.

The Canadian Aviation Safety Board findings are not expected to be final for several months, although investigators have begun writing a draft report on the accident, which occurred last Dec. 12 in Gander, Newfoundland.

U.S. drug test possible

WASHINGTON — The government, concerned about possible drug abuse in aviation, is exploring for the first time minimum federal requirements for drug testing and rehabilitation of airline employees, although officials suggested requirements for random drug testing seem unlikely.

Shooting

Montana student kills teacher

By LEN IWANSKI
Associated Press Writer

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP) — A high school student failing French shot to death his substitute language teacher and wounded a vice principal and two classmates at the school Thursday, then fled to his home where his parents turned him over to police.

The 14-year-old student, who was armed with a large-caliber revolver, shot the teacher in the face at Fergus High School then ran into a hall and out the school, firing as he went, said Tom Killham, assistant police chief.

"He knocked on the door (of the classroom), a student opened the door, and he asked for the teacher that was in there," said Police Chief Russell Dunnington. "The teacher came to the door, and he pulled the gun and shot her."

"He left that room, went down the hall, an assistant principal was there, and he fired at him, striking him in the mid-section," the chief said.

The assailant ran more than a mile to his home with police in pursuit, and officers surrounded the house, said Killham.

Police called the parents, and they turned the youth over a little more than an hour after the shootings, which occurred around 1:20 p.m., he said.

The youth was identified as Kristofor Hans by Fergus County Attorney Craig Buehler. Hans was charged with deliberate homicide and attempted deliberate homicide, and other charges may be considered in the shootings, said Buehler.

Buehler said the youth was taken to a juvenile facility in Billings, 130 miles to the southeast. No court hearing was immediately scheduled, said Buehler.

No motive was disclosed by police, but classmates said Hans apparently was upset with his French teacher, LaVonne Simonfy, because of grades and shot the substitute by mistake.

"He was flunking in French," said Jolyn Eggart, 14, a freshman. "She (Simonfy) gave him an 'F'."

Freshmen Tana Rowe and Rachel Stein said Hans previously had talked about killing his French teacher.

Colombian kills 26

BOGOTA, Colombia — A 52-year-old man fatally shot his mother, set her afire and went on a shooting spree in his apartment building and a nearby Italian restaurant before being killed by police. A total of 27 people died.

At least six other people were wounded. "I have never seen so much blood in my life," said criminal investigator Judge Gloria Lucena.

Authorities said the gunman, Campo Elias Delgado, fired about 400 rounds from his .38 caliber weapon. His motive was not known.

Police said the bloodbath began early Thursday evening when Delgado fatally shot his mother, 72-year-old Rita Delgado, in the apartment they shared.

Authorities said 15 people, including Delgado, died at the restaurant and six died later at hospitals. A total of 15 women and 12 men were killed in the massacre, counting Delgado and his mother.

400 attend conference

ACAPULCO, Mexico — Industries, banks and the governments of eight Mexican states are taking part in a two-day exhibit and conference in an effort to attract more assembly plants to this country.

A U.S. Commerce Department plan to sponsor the conference was strongly criticized by the United Auto Workers as contributing to U.S. unemployment by helping export jobs to Mexico. Congress prohibited the Commerce Department participation in a 1987 spending bill.

About 300 people from the United States and 100 from Mexico were attending Expo Maquila 86, which was designed to be "a matchmaker," bringing together U.S. companies with potential sites and financing institutions, Erica Garcia, a spokeswoman for the organizers of the event, said.

Most of the about 800 existing in-bond plants are along the U.S. border, but only one of the eight Mexican states represented at the exhibit, Nuevo Leon, was from that area.

Students protest bill

PARIS — The government announced today it would modify a bill aimed at revamping the state-run universities after clashes between police and hundreds of thousands of protesting students injured at least 160 people.

Dennis Baudouin, a spokesman for the premier's office, said Education Minister Rene Monory would make the "governmental declaration" later today in a nationally televised address.

He said Monory would announce moves "toward modification of the three points (of the bill) which trigger anxiousness among students and has created among them a certain unrest."

Students, hundreds of thousands of whom joined Thursday's demonstration, claim the bill will create an elitist university system and want it withdrawn. The government says the students have misunderstood the measure.

Opinion

Retirement law may be costly

With a healthy, active 74-year-old holding the most important job in the United States, how could Congress resist outlawing mandatory retirement?

Apparently it couldn't, so come next January employers no longer will be able to require workers to retire at age 70. There are some exceptions, primarily in the field of public safety, but in general, older workers may be dismissed only "for cause."

The legislation, passed in the waning minutes of the 90th Congress, won't have a large numerical impact; only an estimated 200,000 workers will be affected.

What critics are upset about are the ways the legislation was passed and the lack of consideration for its consequences.

There was no debate and no recorded vote on the issue in either the House or the Senate. It was railroaded through, departing Congress at 2:45 a.m. on Oct. 17.

No demonstrable concern was given to the fact that the legislation conflicts with collective bargaining agreements and disrupts current personnel and pension practices, most of which were developed during the course of decades of employer-employee experience.

Another disturbing aspect is sighted by Mark de Bernardo, manager of labor law for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. He suggests that the legislation greatly will expand the number of potential plaintiffs making age discrimination claims in court, because the law provides for jury trials and for liquidated damages (double back pay).

Those features alone, he contends, will add considerably to the costs of legal fees and liabilities now facing employers and ought to be eliminated by the next Congress.

He predicts the no-forced-retirement is likely to backfire on workers in the 65-70 bracket. Some employers have permitted older, long-time workers to stay on until 70 even though their productivity has decreased. That won't happen, he argues, if the workers show no sign of ever retiring.

Unions also are expected to have problems with the legislation. Automatic retirement helps insure jobs for younger workers.

About the only thing Congress seems to have considered is possible federal savings. Even that is fairly insignificant. The Congressional Budget Office projects that by 1991, over-70 workers drawing wages and covered by company insurance will save Social Security $20 million and Medicare $5 million.

The big question employers and unions are asking is what will that savings cost them.

New laws won't help campaigns

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN

It is an unvarying American tradition that every two years, on the first Tuesday in November, we hold our elections for most federal and state offices. And every two years, on the Wednesday following the first Tuesday in November, we begin our biennial debate on how to reform our election laws to spare ourselves another obnoxious campaign like the one we've just endured.

Just about everyone with access to a printing press, microphone, TV camera or soap box seems to agree that the American style of political campaigns is not merely imperfect but an embarrassment, a disgrace and a threat to the survival of Western civilization.

They also agree that tough new regulations are the only remedy. Only a party-pooper would point out that many of the supposed problems are the product of existing laws that were supposed to "reform" our elections, or that most of the rest predate those reforms and have survived them nicely.

The rise of the dreaded political action committees (PACs), for instance, is attributable to two events of the post-Watergate era. One is the establishment of limits on individual contributions to candidates.

Another is the Supreme Court's ruling that such groups are free to spend as much money as they please to help a candidate, so long as the expenditures are not coordinated with him or her.

The ingenuity of the politically committed can't be underestimated. It is safe to assume they will find ways around new laws, just as they have found ways around the existing ones. And the various proposals being considered have still other flaws.

One idea is to find some way to ban "negative" advertisements. Even if this sort of measure could be squared with the First Amendment, it mainly would serve to drain our campaigns of what little content they now have.

Unlike most "positive" ads, which are heavy on American flags, schmaltzy music and flattering shots of the office-seeker, negative ones generally contain information that the voter may find useful in judging what a particular candidate is likely to do if he's elected.

Granted, some of those that appeared this year featured distortions and unfair charges, but at least they generated debate about issues.

Lower limits on contributions to candidates is another bad idea. It's crazy to think, in an election requiring the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars, that a gift of more than $1,000 is likely to corrupt a candidate.

The limit is even sillier when you consider that the would-be donor is free to spend millions on his own to promote a favored candidate. Let donors give as much as they want, with recipients required to disclose the source and amount of each contribution, and let the voters decide how much is too much.

Public financing of all federal campaigns is also suggested as an antidote to our ills. But no one would argue that the level of debate in presidential campaigns has risen since candidates got access to the federal Treasury in 1976. The only thing worse than being forced to watch a tedious, empty election battle is being forced to pay for it.

Instead of making taxpayers finance the campaigns, some people want to make broadcasters do it. To relieve candidates of the heavy burden of paying for air time, they would force TV and radio stations to run political ads free. This would be a boon to those running for office, but it is expropriation pure and simple. The editors of the New Republic magazine, who endorse the idea, would be appalled if anyone tried to make them run political ads for nothing.

US-Soviet space mission pursued by administration

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — Despite the mild chill that followed the "summary summit" at Reykjavik, the Reagan administration is actively pursuing the resumption of a detente-era program that worries some of the president's hard-line advisers: another joint U.S.-Soviet space mission.

Those pushing hardest for the mission are key officials at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, including director James Fletcher. It's no coincidence that Fletcher was also head of the agency during the only previous U.S.-Soviet space venture, in 1975.

NASA sees a new superpower cooperation in space as a way to free the agency from the military embrace it has had to endure to hold onto even minimum funding.

In Geneva, Dale Van Atta has learned that several State Department officials and some of their Soviet counterparts there support a joint space mission. The Soviets have demonstrated a clear interest in such an effort during recent talks in Geneva.

Hard-liners in the Pentagon and the National Security Council oppose the idea, however. Their argument — made particularly by Assistant Defense Secretary Richard Perle — is that the Apollo-Soyuz mission 11 years ago was a classic case of the United States giving away valuable technology, which the Soviets then adapted to military programs.

A top-secret CIA report on that 1975 space flight explains why the critics of the new joint venture are unhappy.

The Soviets, according to the CIA, wanted to win propaganda points then by "demonstrating to the world that the U.S.S.R. was on a par with the U.S. in space research and development" — which it wasn't time. (Nor is it today.)

The CIA report said the Soviets also expected to "profit from close exposure to U.S. space technology and proven operational procedures and techniques." And, the CIA added, the Soviets did just that.

Jack Anderson

The Soviets "gained a great deal from their exposure to U.S. hardware and software technology," the CIA reported. And while not all of the technology as "of direct military significance, (it) enhanced their understanding of the U.S. state of the art," and provided at least some spillover to their military programs. The same thing would happen in a joint mission today, the CIA said.

The Soviet space program also profited by observing and experiencing the training given to American astronauts, which was then adopted to improve the training of Soviet cosmonauts. The Soviets involved in the joint space flight "spent several hours training on U.S. equipment," and were considered "better prepared than any of their predecessors" in the Soviet space program, the CIA report stated.

In 1975, according to the CIA, the Soviets had poor command-center procedures, and the joint space venture helped to correct that. Until then, the Soviet "ground contingent had generally been unable to respond quickly to suspected or known emergencies in space, and often required several hours to identify a problem, discern its cause and find a solution." After observing the U.S. methods, the Soviets were able to "improve their capabilities in this area."

The 1975 cooperative mission even helped the Soviets improve the quality of their hardware, the CIA maintained, because of the exhaustive pre-launch simulations and checkouts insisted upon by the Americans.

Didn't the United States gain anything from the 1975 Apollo-Soyuz mission? One thing: an era of friendly relations — detente — with the Soviet Union. In other words, it won precisely what many hard-line Reagan advisers consider not worth winning. The White House will now have to decide whether the value of a new detente is worth the technological gains the Soviets would make from a new joint venture in space.

GALLOPING GOB-BLEDYGOOK: Can you intentionally break the law without intending to? Only if you're unconscious, according to congressional wordsmiths.

The problem was that some companies — like car makers — monitor and test electromagnetic transmissions of their vehicles to make sure they don't inadvertently interfere with licensed radio signals. But intentional monitoring violates the law.

Thus, a new, perfectly clear definition was born: "An 'intentional' state of mind means that one's state of mind is intentional as to one's conduct or the result of one's conduct if such conduct or result is one's conscious objective." Got it?

ENERGETIC JAPANESE: For years Japan has been second only to the United States in energy consumption, yet a determined national effort has made the Japanese significantly less dependent on oil imports.

Between 1973 and 1985, according to an expert's unpublished study, Japan's gross national product grew by about 60 percent, while its annual oil consumption dropped by 25 percent. By comparison, U.S. oil consumption dropped by less than half that amount during that period.

MINI-EDITORIAL: The Army has just let it be known that it's going to be $100 billion short because of the budget cuts being imposed in hopes of keeping the country from going bankrupt.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Today in history

Today is Friday, Dec. 5, the 339th day of 1986. There are 26 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Dec. 5, 1933, at 5:32 p.m. EST, national Prohibition came to an end in the United States as Utah became the 36th state to ratify the 21st Amendment to the Constitution, thereby repealing the 18th Amendment.

On this date: In 1776, the first scholastic fraternity in America, Phi Beta Kappa, was organized at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va.

In 1782, the first native American president of the United States, Martin Van Buren, was born in Kinderhook, N.Y.

In 1791, composer Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart died at the age of 35.

In 1848, President James Polk triggered the Gold Rush of '49 by confirming that gold had been discovered in California.

In 1901, Walt Disney was born.

In 1929, the American League for Physical Culture, the first nudist group in the United States, was organized.

In 1955, the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations merged to form the AFL-CIO.

Ten years ago: Budget Director-designate Bert Lance told the Los Angeles Times that a tax cut in the Carter administration was "almost a certainty."

Five years ago: U.S. Secretary of Defense Caspar W. Weinberger concluded a three-day visit to Turkey with an agreement between the two countries to expand military cooperation.

One year ago: On Wall Street, the Dow Jones Industrial Average rose above the 1,500 level for the first time, then fell back to end the day at 1,482.91.

Today's Birthdays: Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., is 84. Singer Little Richard is 54. Author Joan Didion is 52. Author Calvin Trillin is 51. Actress Morgan Brittany is 35.

Thought for Today: "Examine the contents, not the bottle." — The Talmud.

Yeast infection isn't always the problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: You would do a lot of women good by writing about yeast infections. I've had this for the past two years and just endured a hideously hot summer with it. I have been using Monistat cream for it, but it still comes back. I get so much advice, like giving up panty hose, etc. I want to be rid of it for good. Can't you tell me how? — C.J.

Tracking down the source of genital discomfort requires a bit of detective work. You have to go through the basics.

First of all, too many women assume they are dealing with a yeast infection, when they may be actually dealing with something else. Sending a good yeast medicine out after a bacterial organism is futile. So first on your agenda should be an examination to settle the matter of which culprit is bothering you.

The other side of that coin has also to do with medicines. Sometimes, taking a medicine for one organism, (antibiotics for bacteria fighting, for example) can permit normal yeast populations in the genital tract to multiply unchecked.

Then there is the matter of the environment. You can control that. The advice about foregoing use of tight-fitting synthetic panty hose is worth heeding. The combination of a hot, humid climate and such confining garments can create just the environment for various organisms, including yeast. Some doctors also feel that yeast organisms harbored in the rectal area may spread to the genital tract.

And then there is the matter of irritants. Perfumed vaginal deodorants and soaps (including laundry preparations) can easily irritate delicate vaginal tissue and even cause discharge similar to that we usually associate with infection.

Many times, a woman will be involved in cycles of infection and reinfection until it is found that the sexual partner himself is infected. The problem ends when the mate is treated simultaneously.

I haven't exhausted the list of basic considerations. There is the matter of compliance. Are you using your medicine in the prescribed manner and for the prescribed length of time to be effective?

Also, I am constantly hearing from women who have succeeded in finding some unsuspected factor, like failure to adequately rinse undergarments after laundering. I'd like to know how you have resolved your mystery.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How can one know the proper temperature to keep a house where the family includes a 90-plus-year-old woman? — Mrs. G.G.

There are two considerations.

One is comfort and the other is guarding against hypothermia, a health-threatening drop in body temperature. You may find that her comfort demands a room temperature a degree or so above what is normal for you. That becomes a problem usually at night, and can be solved by finding ways to regulate heat in her bedroom independently, perhaps with use of a small heating unit.

Hypothermia is a less likely problem. It occurs most often in situations where the elderly person lives alone.

With age, the body's heat-regulating mechanism becomes less efficient, less able to adapt to sharp changes in ambient (room) temperature. If room temperature drops sharply (as when a furnace fails in a cold snap) the very elderly may experience a dangerous drop in body temperatures. Even a drop of a few degrees in body temperature is dangerous. The hypothermia danger point is reached when the body skirts the 95 degree mark (from 98.6 norm).

This should serve as my annual reminder to friends and relatives of elderly people living alone as we once again approach the hypothermia season.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Why have I heard that women who have morning sickness in pregnancy are better off in the long run? — Mrs. H.N.

If you mean do such women tend to carry babies to full term as opposed to other women, then you are correct, according to studies. I can't tell you why this is so. It's just a statistical fact at his point.

FOR E.V. — Your likelihood of getting AIDS by visiting an AIDS patient are about the same as getting it by reading this sentence.

Vaginitis can strike any woman at any time in her life. You can read about the causes — and cures — for this troublesome complaint in the booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment." To get a copy, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Christian players

Strive for recognition from non-Christians

By JULIA DUIN
Houston Chronicle
HOUSTON (AP) — Caught between the two worlds of Christianity and theater, the A.D. Players opened its 20th season this fall occupying a space midway between the two.

By now, the group has made an international name for itself as a Christian theater troupe. There is more than enough available taken from the ranks of eager Christian artists. But funding is hard to get, as are good scripts.

And hardest of all to acquire is recognition from the non-Christian world.

A.D. Players founder Jeanette Clift George mixes the Gospel with whimsy and comes up with a piquant brew. One recent production, "Galley Proof," includes such improbabilities as a Moses with a sand bucket, a Pharaoh's daughter with a Southern accent — "It's nawt much fu-un being the daw-tuh of a Pharaoh," she complains — and Moses' brother, Aaron, who quotes Scripture and platitudes ad nauseum.

Ms. George says that comedy is often the only way to get a serious point across. The theater company's Christmas season, which opens Dec. 5, includes three short comedies.

"We're a theater, not a pulpit," she explained. "I feel that theater can communicate specific principles... more easily with humor. When we laugh, we're vulnerable and very available for instruction."

A.D.'s first performance was a humorous occasion. As 12 volunteer members with no assets other than Ms. George's plays, the troupe took its first booking before a Chinese congregation that couldn't understand English. The actors nicknames themselves "A.D." for "after dinner," because they hoped to be fed prior to their performances.

Two decades and thousands of performances later, the Chris-

A.D. (After Dinner) players Shelli Wright, Nancy Sherrad and Marion Kirby react to the 10 plaques of Egypt in the play "Galley Proof." Caught between the two worlds of Christianity and theater, the A.D. Players opened its 20th season this fall. The group has made an international name for itself as a Christian theater troupe.

tian theater group operates off a $500,000 budget; employs 22 people full time; carries 680 season ticket holders; just completed its third European tour; and averages 70 percent capacity during performances in its 212-seat Grace Theater in Houston.

To make the budget stretch, each company member takes part in acting, management and production. All are professing Christians, Ms. George says, although "many weren't Christians when they came here." However, they had to maintain a lifestyle "not destructive to our programming," she adds, and attend a weekly Bible study which Ms. George teaches. Many of the company's actors and actresses say they feel called to a career in Christian — not secular — theater.

"I was going for a Broadway career and do a cattle-call routine," said actor Marion Kirby, who plays Aaron in "Galley Proof." "Then I said, 'Lord, I know this (Christian theater) is your call on my life.'"

"What is tender of the Lord is how he supplied all my needs... I wanted to put myself in the limelight. Now that I've put God in the limelight, I've gotten a full-time job in the theater," he said.

Full-time acting jobs are prized possessions in the theater world, and Ms. George is proud that she can offer 22 of them — a generous staff for any community theater — with six people on a waiting list for openings.

Were she to do anything differently in the theater's 20-year evolution, it would have been to organize a theater structure earlier than 1976, when she hired her first full-time staff members. In 1979, the company brought the former Grace Bible Church and saved enough money to renovate it into Grace Theater three years later.

"I'm a performer, so I wanted to get people up onstage," she said, "but now I see that to be a theater company of permanent residents. I should've defined our structure more specifically; set a five-year plan, set goals and put in a training program."

"But at the time, I didn't intend all this to come about," she added, surveying her blue-carpeted office. "The A.D. Players were to have been like a graduate degree program for Houston Baptist University," where Ms. George once taught drama.

Food bank helps feed the hungry

PECOS (AP) — Frank Apolinar runs a grocery store, and its shelves, he says, are "filled by God."

The concept may not sound like good business strategy: giving away food with no idea how long the supply will last or where the next supply will come from.

But the store has fed thousands of Pecos residents who had no idea where their next meal was coming from.

The Santa Rosa-St. Catherine's Church Food Bank has been operating the past six months out of a small room at Santa Rosa Catholic Church that is lined with groceries and other items.

"We don't limit the people. We try to give them what they think they need," Apolinar said. "Whatever we have, we give. And, you know, the Lord just multiplies and multiplies."

In an average month, the food bank provides groceries to 110 needy families — more than 500 Pecos adults and children.

Adults out of a job or making less than $600 a month are assisted until they can get on the Department of Human Service's food stamp program, and then the "grocery store" provides them with non-food items that can't be purchased with stamps.

The store was started by the same Santa Rosa Catholic Church prayer group that last year built a house for a needy family in Barstow.

Apolinar, a 59-year-old retired butcher, and his wife, Mary, are in that group. Early this year, they saw the need for a food bank.

"My wife is on the (Reeves County) community council, and she was telling me about this lady we know that came into the community council office on a Friday looking for food. They told her they'd try, and to come back on Monday."

"This lady has four boys and two girls — she couldn't wait until Monday."

"So our group got together what we could, and I took it over there," Apolinar recalled.

"There was this little girl, about 5 or 6 years old. She had red, dark around her eyes, and I asked her sister if someone had been pressing something against her face. She said, 'No, that's the way she is.'"

"Malnutrition is what it is."

With the help of St. Catherine's church, the food bank idea became a reality. The Knights of Columbus built shelves to hold the cereal, baby food and formula, sugar, flour, beans, crackers and other snacks that had been purchased to give away.

"When they started coming in, they really started coming. In one day there at first, we filled 40 orders. We didn't have any paper towels left, there was no food, and no money," Apolinar said.

"Mary told me, 'Let's pray about it. Let's talk about it.' Then after we talked and talked and prayed and prayed, Mary looked at me and said, 'We have faith; we live by faith; let's buy by faith.'"

They went to Popular grocery and charged $300 worth of food and non-food items. Popular owner Louis Tellez has been selling to the food bank at his cost ever since that day, Apolinar said.

"And we've been paying our bills," he added, smiling. "We bought a $795 freezer, and only owe $225 on it."

Mostly, the food bank is funded by individuals who give groceries or money.

Haney to perform concert Sunday

Don Hal Haney, a Big Spring native, will be in concert Sunday at the First Church of the Nazarene at 9:45 a.m.

Haney, a pianist, organist and vocal soloist, shares God's message through music. He has toured Europe and the U.S.S.R. with Oral Roberts University and worked with David Wilkerson, evangelist, and the author of "The Cross and the Switchblade." He has also appeared on the 700 Club (CBN).

With his selection of music, including scriptural songs and worship choruses, Don Hal Haney has been described as a "minstrel with a message."

The public is invited to attend. Admission is free.

An old friend comes down, but memories will linger

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

South Ward Elementary School at East 13th and Austin streets has disappeared, but memories from within its walls live on.

On Tuesday, four 1940s South Ward students gathered at the site before Lee George Construction workers began razing the structure.

The pupils were Pat Porter of Vealmoor, Patsy Anderson of N. Anderson Road, Wanda Phipps, 602 Baylor Blvd., and Jerry Forseyth, 2902 Macaulan St., who were classmates from 1943 through 1948.

Their third grade teacher, Mrs. S.M. Smith, 1300 Runnels St., was also in attendance.

"When we looked at the building the other day, we could remember where we sat. We went around through all the rooms and reminisced a little bit," Anderson said.

Anderson, Porter and Forseyth broke the rules though when they descended the southside staircase for a last look at the boiler room — an area that was known to all of them as "out-of-bounds."

"I don't know what they would have done if we had gone down there. It was always a big 'no'," Phipps said.

"We had a furnace in the basement. I acted as a janitor at times and ran down to the boiler room to check on it," Smith said.

Forseyth remembers his third grade teacher.

"She (Smith) was strict. At that age, most of us were scared of her. You'd stand in the corner" when you misbehaved, Forseyth said.

Anderson, Phipps and Forseyth dreaded Smith's spelling bees.

"Jerry (Forseyth) said he couldn't spell then, and he couldn't now," Anderson said about Tuesday's reminiscing.

"I was sweet to them. They knew, though, I meant exactly what I said," Smith said about her former pupils.

One of their classmates who missed Tuesday's reunion but spoke at length about South Ward was Melvin Brown of Coahoma.

Mrs. Smith "was an awfully good teacher," he said. However, a fifth grade teacher named Mrs. Mabel Strothers — now living in Levelland stands out in Brown's memories.

"She could spank like the dickens," Brown said about his teacher who gave paddings "with a board. Everyone feared her," he said.

The alleged mean temperament of Strothers never bothered Porter.

"I wasn't a rowdy," she said. "There were several that tried her because she was handicapped, but that didn't restrict her."

Porter said about her favorite South Ward teacher.

Strothers was "missing her left arm below the elbow," Porter said.

It didn't prevent her from participating in softball, which was a favorite pastime.

"She'd play ball with us — even with one arm," Anderson said.

She never received a spanking during her South Ward days, but Anderson does remember having Four South Ward pupils who attended the elementary school from 1943-48 gathered Tuesday morning to share memories with their third grade teacher about their neighborhood school. Those pupils and their teacher, from left, are: Pat Porter, teacher Mrs. S.M. Smith, Alice Anderson, Wanda Phipps and Jerry Forseyth.

"to stand up against the wall." That was for being ejected from a softball game when she had protested an umpire's ruling, Anderson said.

In addition to softball, the former South Ward pupils remembered annual field days that included all types of competition.

The all-day events consisted of jump rope, jacks, softball, broad jump, relay races and sprints, Porter said. They matriculated later through Central Ward, College Heights, Runnels Junior High and Big Spring High School before graduating in 1955.

They have kept in contact throughout the years. "When you attend school with someone from the neighborhood for five years, you keep in touch," Porter said.

Students at South Ward were not nearly as "mobile community as you have today," she said. "It was a neighborhood school," Porter said.

Citrus growers suffer from theft

McALLEN — Thieves are picking some Rio Grande Valley citrus orchards clean, but a grower who lost 20 tons of Ruby Reds and Valencia oranges says he doesn't know how to stop what is known around here as finger blight.

An official of the Texas Citrus Mutual agrees stopping the thievery and tracing the stolen goods is a problem with no easy answers.

"It's always difficult to get a handle on exactly how much is going on," said Ray Prewett, executive vice president of the trade group for Valley citrus growers. "The fruit is not identified by serial numbers. It's hard to track."

Prewett said this year's harvest is the best in years, but it's also been the target of record thefts.

Prewett estimates 75 tons of oranges and grapefruits have been picked by thieves out of a total estimated harvest of 115,000 tons.

Almost one-third of the fruit stolen this year was taken from a single orchard over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, the largest citrus theft since a 1983 freeze.

Gonzalez hits man in restaurant

SAN ANTONIO — U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez punched and shoved a man in a local restaurant after overhearing the man call him a "communist," the congressman said.

"His exact words, and he spoke them three times to my face, were, 'There's Henry B. Gonzalez, our number one biggest communist,'" Gonzalez said. "I punched him, our number one biggest communist," Gonzalez said.

Gonzalez, 70, said he responded by half hitting and half shoving Bill Allen, 40, Thursday night.

"He didn't lose his balance, and he stayed in his chair," he said. "He didn't make any movement, so I left."

Allen told police the fight occurred at about 9:30 p.m. while he and his two companions were having breakfast at a 24-hour restaurant.

Gonzalez and two other men were seated at the next table.

"In a quiet voice I expressed my low opinion of him," Allen said. "He asked, 'Did someone call me a communist?'"

"I said, 'Yeah. I did.' Then he took a swing and got me in the left eye."

Allen said he was treated for a bruised eye at a local clinic, but was not seriously hurt.

"If a man calls me a crook or a communist, those are fighting words," Gonzalez said. "It's kind of an assault on my integrity."

Allen filed assault charges with police after the fight and said he plans to file a civil lawsuit.

Construction safety laws needed

AUSTIN — Tougher laws are needed to protect employees involved in on-the-job accidents, a House subcommittee has recommended.

"We are agreed that a series of public hearings shows that a serious problem exists in Texas regarding construction job safety," said Rep. Ernestine Glosbrenner, D-Alice, chairman of a subcommittee of the House Committee on Business and Commerce.

"We need to change laws to provide better safety programs and to provide penalties for not reporting data on construction accidents, particularly trench deaths," she said Thursday.

Ms. Glosbrenner said she and other members of the subcommittee would submit specific legislative measures to back up the broad recommendations.

Testimony presented to the subcommittee by the State Board of Insurance showed there were 776 work-related fatalities in 1985, 794 in 1984 and 754 in 1983.

A special report from the Texas Department of Health said there had been 93 deaths from construction excavation cave-ins in the last 10 years. There were 58 fatalities during the last five years, 1981-85, a 66-percent increase.

Smoker stakes a claim on public rest rooms

DEAR ABBY: Your agreeing with "Holding My Breath" was selfish and bigoted. She complained about having to use smoke-filled rest rooms in restaurants and department stores because their employees use them as a place to smoke. Then you went along with her, saying that one day you hope to see "No Smoking" signs in public rest rooms.

For your information, Abby, the rest rooms in department stores and restaurants are a necessity for employees — not a convenience for customers! Those employees do you the courtesy of allowing you to use their rest rooms — the only place they can go to get off their feet, relax and enjoy a cigarette.

Why don't you non-smokers stop throwing your weight around as if you owned the world? We smokers are part of the population, too, and if you don't like it, then stay in your ivory tower and stagnate!

I'M SOMEBODY, TOO, MELBOURNE, FLA.

DEAR SOMEBODY: Recent studies confirm that second-hand tobacco smoke is hazardous to one's health. For your information, most restaurants and stores are required by law to provide clean and safe toilet facilities for their customers. And the department of public health is supposed to inspect those facilities regularly to ensure that they meet the requirements.

DEAR ABBY: My son is a smart fellow. He makes very good money, but spends it as fast as he gets it. He lives recklessly and isn't interested in building any kind of future because he doesn't believe he has one.

How did this happen? Well, he went to a palm reader a few years ago. She read his palm and told him he had a very short lifeline. He took this to mean that he wasn't going to live very long, so he just lives for today.

I have tried to convince him that palm readers cannot see into the future and there is no way they can tell how long a person is going to live. Abby, do you think it's possible to foretell the future by looking at someone's palm?

WORRIED IN INDIANA
DEAR WORRIED: No. All one can tell by looking at someone's palm is whether it's clean or dirty. However, if your son is looking for an excuse to live recklessly with no thought to his future, one excuse is as good as the next.

DEAR ABBY: I am a post-menopausal woman who wants very much to have a baby with family genes. I am thinking about asking my unmarried 20-year-old daughter to have an egg fertilized ex utero by the sperm of my 18-year-old son.

Would this be incestuous?
WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: It would be not only incestuous, it would be illegal, immoral and outrageous.

Local Amateur Radio Club to train tomorrow

No one wants disaster to occur. If it does, the Big Spring Amateur Radio Club is trained and prepared to take action.

The annual Simulated Emergency Training program will be conducted at the club building tomorrow. Members will be trained for emergency communication during and after a local, state or national disaster.

The club works in conjunction with Emergency Management Services of Howard County, serves as back-up communication for the Big

Cornelius Bennett wins coveted Lombardi Trophy

HOUSTON (AP) — Alabama linebacker Cornelius Bennett believes his performance on the field, not his silence off it, helped him win the 17th annual Lombardi Trophy.

"I guess my plays on the field showed (the media) that I wasn't a hot dog, that I was out there doing my job," Bennett said Thursday night after being the first Alabama player to win the award honoring the nation's outstanding college football lineman.

Bennett said he started being called a "hot dog" after refusing to talk to the media much of the first half of the season.

"All along, I knew, I didn't have anything to say," he said, adding that "talking never won any football games."

"When I play on the field, it exemplifies what I have to say," Bennett said.

The 6-foot-4, 235-pound outside linebacker led the Crimson Tide in quarterback sacks even though he missed two games because of a pulled hamstring.

Bennett will close out his college career when Alabama faces Washington in the Sun Bowl on Christmas Day.

About 1,200 people attended the benefit dinner for cancer research sponsored by the Downtown Rotary Club of Houston where the award was announced.

In garnering the award, Bennett became the second linebacker to win the honor since it first was awarded in 1970. Tim Stillwagon of Ohio State, the first recipient, was a linebacker.

Other finalists for the award voted on by 208 sportswriters and broadcasters were University of Miami tackle Jerome Brown and linebackers Brian Bosworth of Oklahoma, and Ohio State's Chris Spielman. All four finalists were All-Americans this season.

Vote totals are never made public.

Bennett said it meant a lot to him to win the award for Alabama.

"The whole team deserves a part of (the award). They're out there with me," he said.

The trophy, a 40-pound block of granite, is presented in honor of the late Vince Lombardi, former coach of the Green Bay Packers and Washington Redskins. Lombardi died of cancer in September 1970.

Proceeds of the Lombardi Trophy dinner go to the American Cancer Society for research.

Bennett's future plans include a spring wedding and a pro football career. But the college senior, who graduates next fall, would not comment about which team he preferred.

"Anybody that wants Cornelius Bennett, Cornelius Bennett would be happy to have them," he said.

Bosworth, a 6-foot-2, 240-pound linebacker, made the All-America team for the second consecutive year. A junior, he led the Sooners in tackles with 136 and helped Oklahoma become the first team to lead the nation in scoring defense, total defense, rushing defense and passing defense. Oklahoma faces Arkansas in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day.

Brown, a 6-foot-2, 285-pound defensive tackle, received the Plummer Award voted by his teammates for outstanding leadership and team spirit. In 1985, he was named second-team All-America. The senior will play his final game when No. 1 Miami faces No. 2 Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl Jan. 2.

Spielman, 6-foot-2, 230-pound inside linebacker, led the Big Ten with 194 tackles and is one of the five finalists for the second annual Butkus Award, which Bosworth won last year.

Cornelius Bennett of Alabama poses with the Rotary/Lombardi College Lineman of the Year statue. The 6-4, 235-pound linebacker is a senior.

Queens get upset

CLARENDON — In somewhat of an upset, the Clarendon Lady Bulldogs defeated the Howard College Hawk-Queens 67-64 Thursday night in Western Junior College Athletic Conference action.

It was a bad blow for the Queens, who had defeated powerful Odessa College 61-53 Monday night. But it wasn't to be for Howard Thursday, as the Lady Bulldogs controlled the inside and made Howard play catch-up most of the game.

Clarendon jumped out to an 18 point lead midway through the first half. By halftime Howard had cut the lead to 39-30. Howard gained ground in the second half, cutting the margin to 54-53. Then Howard had four chances to take the lead and failed on them all. From that point on, Clarendon held on for the win.

"We played very flat," said Howard coach Don Stevens. "Clarendon has a good ball club, but we have a better one. We just didn't show it last night."

A good indication of Clarendon's inside domination is that 23 of their total 28 field goals came inside the lane. "We didn't get very much production from our inside people," echoed Stevens.

Guard Terri Powell was the only Howard player in double figures with 16 points. Forward Carolyn Willand added nine points and 10 rebounds.

"This underlines the sermon I've been preaching to them this year. You can never take anything for granted. I hope we learned a lesson," said Stevens.

Howard is now 11-4 for the season and 1-1 in conference play. The Queens will play the New Mexico Junior College Thunderbirds Monday at 6 p.m. in Hobbs, N.M.

Their next home game is Thursday against Western Texas College.

HOWARD (64) — Brandye Owens 12 4; Leslie Gooch 3 0 6; Pam Franklin 2 1 5; Terri Powell 8 0 16; Stefanie Massie 4 0 8; Trena Jackson 1 3 5; Leslie Carter 1 3 5; Sophia Ish 1 4 6; Carolyn Willand 4 1 9; totals 25 14 64.

CLARENDON (67) — Lori Stevenson 12 4; Frana Klotz 2 0 4; Pam Jackson 3 0 6; Cindy Reagan 3 0 6; Sheila Adams 9 1 19; Sequita Miller 4 1 9; Stacie French 5 3 13; Pat Jackson 1 4 6; totals 28 11 67.

Hawks lose by one

CLARENDON — Four Clarendon Bulldogs scored over 20 points as the Bulldogs edged the Howard College Hawks 106-105 in overtime.

The Hawks dropped to 7-6 overall and 1-1 in conference. The Bulldogs are also 1-1 in conference play.

The Hawks built leads of 10 in the first half eight in the second half, but Hawks' Assistant Coach Scott Horstman said they were unable to finish off Clarendon.

"It was really a big loss after such a big win at Odessa. But we're not going to let this hold us back because we've got a job to do against New Mexico Junior College (Monday night in Hobbs) and we're going to go get them," Horstman said.

Coach Larry Brown praised the play of 6-1 forward Kevin Bradsher, who scored 32 points, grabbed 11 rebounds and took three charges to lead the Hawks. The sensational sophomore is scoring at a 23.9 points per game clip.

Brown said the Hawks played hard and rebounded well, but made mental mistakes at crucial moments. Horstman added that the Bulldogs shot exceptionally well.

The Hawks led 47-45 at the half, and both teams ended regulation with 95 points. The Bulldogs built a 106-102 lead with four seconds remaining and Brown called a time out. Brown called a three-point play, and Sam Williams canned the shot, but there was just a second remaining.

The Hawks and Hawk-Queens travel to Hobbs Monday, and both will be looking to go over .500 in conference play.

HAWKS (105) — Rhodes 2-0-5; Bradsher 12-6-32; Barley 3-0-7; Mitchell 4-0-8; Porter 6-0-12; Wright 5-4-14; Williams 6-2-17; Brown 1-1-3; Jackson 1-1-3; Santos 1-0-2; Martin 1-0-2; Sumrall 0-0-0. Totals: 42-14-105.

Coach killed in car accident

LA MARQUE (AP) — Hugh Massey, the La Marque High School football coach who guided the Cougars to a 12-1 season and a berth in the quarterfinal round of the state 5A playoffs, died when his car skidded into a disabled truck, officials said.

Massey, who also served as La Marque's athletic director, was headed north on Interstate 45 about 10:45 p.m. Thursday when his car ran into the back of a large utility truck that was disabled in the right lane just north of the Galveston causeway, police said.

Because of construction on the highway, there was no shoulder for the truck to park on, officials said. The driver told investigators that the truck's lights were on, said a Department of Public Safety spokesman who did not give his name.

Massey, who was alone in the car, was pronounced dead at the scene. There were few tire marks at the scene, indicating Massey had not seen the truck until the final moment, investigators said.

The Cougars are scheduled to meet Aldine MacArthur Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the quarterfinal round of the Class 5A playoffs. It is the first time La Marque has advanced to the quarterfinal round.

Lady Bearkats destroy Westbrook

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

GARDEN CITY — With the score tied 2-2 with 5:12 remaining in the first quarter, there was nevertheless an indication that the Westbrook Wildcats were no match for the Garden City Lady Bearkats.

And as the game progressed, it became more and more evident that the Wildcats were simply outclassed. The net result? The Lady Bearkats romped over Westbrook 58-31 Thursday night in the two team's first game of the 24th Annual Garden City Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Lady Bearkats, 3-2 for the season, shook a miserable first quarter start to advance to the winner's bracket of the eight team boys and girls tourney. They will play the winner of today's 1 p.m. Loraine-Blackwell contest.

Led by the all-around play of Danette Holdamph, the Bearkats simply dominated the Wildcats. Holdamph, a 5-9 senior forward, ended a banner game with 26 points, 14 rebounds and six steals.

The Lady Bearkats got off to a rocky start, hitting just two of their first 11 shots. In fact, Westbrook led 4-2 after a basket by Rachael Simon at the 4:50 mark. But that was the last hurrah for the Wildcats. The Lady Bearkats' man-to-man press started to take affect and Garden City found its shooting touch.

Jacque Jost's corner shot tied the game and Garden City charged to the lead on back-to-back buckets by Holdamph, who was 12 of 22 from the floor. Both baskets came off Westbrook turnovers. In all, the Wildcats committed a horrendous 35 turnovers. Holdamph, Jost, Michele Pechacek and Carol Schwartz led the ball-hawking Lady Bearkats.

By the end of the first quarter Garden City held a commanding 20-6 lead and coach Jimmy Fine substituted freely throughout the remainder of the game.

Garden City led 31-14 at the half and Holdamph dominated. She sunk six of eight field goals while scoring 16 points and grabbing nine rebounds.

Fine said he was happy with the win but didn't want to see too many more slow starts. "We stunk up the court the first three minutes," said the man who guided Garden City to a district championship last year. "Overall we played well in spots. Sometimes we played real good and at other times we seemed to forget what we were doing."

"I was pleased with the play of our reserves. They all did a good job of hustling. But we just need some more time; we still haven't jelled as a team."

Fine played his regulars most of the third quarter and put the game out of reach as Garden City led 51-22 going into the fourth quarter.

Forwards Stephany Pierce and Katie Walls were the only offensive weapons for the Wildcats. Walls

SMU coach, AD turn in resignations

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist football coach Bobby Collins and Athletic Director Bob Hitch have submitted their resignations and an announcement on their futures with the university could be forthcoming quickly, said Gov.-elect Bill Clements, chairman of the SMU board of governors.

After a regularly scheduled meeting of the board of governors on Thursday, Clements said, "Both Mr. Hitch's and Mr. Collins' resignations were discussed."

He responded to reports of the resignations during a news conference Thursday afternoon called to discuss his economic plans for the state when he takes office as governor.

"I did not say it was accepted or rejected. Who brought it up first, I'm not prepared to say," said Clements.

He said an announcement could come as early as today, but Pat Sites, SMU spokeswoman, said no board meeting was planned.

Both Dallas newspapers quoted unidentified sources in the SMU athletic department as saying Hitch and Collins were trying to work out a settlement of their contracts with the board of governors, in exchange for their resignations.

Hitch and Collins could not be located for comment Thursday night and today. Earlier Thursday, Collins told the Times Herald he had not discussed his future at SMU with school officials.

"I have not talked with anyone from the board," Collins said. "No one from the board has contacted me."

An SMU athletic department staff member said Collins left the football office Thursday afternoon to meet with his attorney.

Another board member, Ruth Collins Sharp, confirmed that the resignations of Collins and Hitch were discussed during Thursday's session, but that no action had been taken.

A longtime associate of Collins said he did not believe the coach would resign voluntarily.

"I know damn well he hasn't resigned of his own volition," said football recruiting coordinator Henry Lee Parker. "I'd bet my last penny that's not the case. That's not Bobby Collins. I know he has not resigned. If he had, he would have told us."

SMU President L. Donald Shields resigned two weeks ago, citing health problems aggravated by new allegations of wrongdoing in the SMU football program.

Three weeks ago, allegations surfaced that SMU football players had received improper benefits. Only last summer SMU had been placed on three years' probation by the NCAA.

The NCAA could suspend the school's football program for two years if the latest allegations are proved. Shields, Hitch and Collins have all been at SMU during the time the problems emerged in the athletic program.

Hitch said three weeks ago that he would be willing to resign if that would be in the university's best interests.

SMU Acting President William B. Stallcup Jr. confirmed that discussions involving Hitch's and Collins' contracts have occurred, but said he had received no letters of resignation.

Steers win Levelland tourney opener

LEVELLAND — The Big Spring Steers scored 49 first half points and cruised to an easy 77-52 win over the Levelland J.V. in the opening round of the Levelland Invitational Tournament Thursday night.

The Steers, 4-3, play Snyder at 4 p.m. today in the second round. If they beat Snyder they'll play in the championship game Saturday at 8 p.m. If Snyder wins, the Steers will play in the third place game at 5 p.m.

"I don't like playing J.V. teams, because you're a bully if you win and a chump if you lose," said Steers' Head Coach Boyce Paxton.

Nevertheless, Paxton was proud of his teams' play, especially its defensive effort.

"We scored nearly fifty points in the first half and then eased off them a little bit. Our press worked real well and we played good defense. Everybody played and everybody contributed," Paxton said.

The Steers, led by Charles Young's 21 points, built a 49-29 lead at the half. Sidney Parker added 14 points and Brian Mayfield 13 to pace the Steers.

Paxton praised the play of his bench, including Cedric Banks, who grabbed eight rebounds and played good defense on the press; and Abner Shellman, who scored six points off the bench.

"I think our prospects of winning the tournament are pretty good. We're improving every game, and our defense is coming along. That's what we've been working on," Paxton said. In other games, Levelland beat Hale Center 102-50; Sweetwater beat Union 80-50 and Snyder beat Frenship by 10.

BIG SPRING (77) — Charles Young 10-1-21; Brian Mayfield 6-1-13; Sidney Parker 7-0-14; Dewayne Anderson 4-0-8; Shawn Shellman 3-2-8; Abner Shellman 3-0-6; Randy Odom 1-1-3; Chris Lopez 1-0-2; Tyrone Foster 1-0-2; Cedric Banks 0-0-0; Doug Young 0-0-0 Totals: 36-5-77.

Runnels boys sweeps Snyder

The Runnels Yearlings boys hoopsters made a sweep of the Snyder Tigers Thursday night in Runnels Gym.

Behind the 21 point, 16 rebound, six steal performance of Neal Mayfield, the Runnels A team defeated Snyder 46-23. Louis Soldan scored 17 points and Michael Williams dished out nine assists.

About the only problem the A team had was free throws. Runnels made only six of 22 attempts.

The Yearlings are 2-0 for the season. Their next game will be Monday vs. Sweetwater here at 6 p.m.

Meanwhile the Runnels B team had an easy time with the Snyder B, coming away with a 30-7 win. Runnels held Snyder to one point for the first three quarters. Lamont Jajola led Runnels with 10 points and eight rebounds. Fermin Gutierrez scored six points.

Runnels B, now 2-0 for the season, will play Sweetwater here at 5 p.m. Monday.

Runnels girls whip Andrews

The Runnels A team girls defeated Andrews by a 31-11 margin Thursday night in Runnels Gym.

Amanda Ybarra and Pam Gill scored 10 points each for the winners. Jamie Mirales added four points. Gill was top rebounder with five. Ybarra and Kerry Burdette added four rebounds each.

Mirales and Ybarra combined to get 11 total steals. Runnels will play Sweetwater Monday in Sweetwater at 6 p.m.

Pardee hires former coaches

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston Coach Jack Pardee named three assistants, all former members of his staff with the now-defunct Houston Gamblers.

Bruce Davis was appointed linebacker coach, Pat Thomas, secondary coach and John Jenkins offensive coordinator on Thursday.

Retirement on Walker's mind

IRVIN (AP) — Dallas Cowboys running back Herschel Walker says he has enjoyed his first NFL season, but there is a chance he might not return next year.

"I might retire," Walker told the Dallas Times Herald on Thursday. "I have enjoyed this season more than I thought I would. But I just know that I won't be doing this much longer. I'm serious. There is a chance I won't be back."

Team President Tex Schramm said he wasn't concerned and compared Walker to the Cowboys' head coach.

"I think he's a lot like Tom Landry. He is a Christian-thinking kind of person," Schramm said. "He believes that he will do what the Lord has planned for him."

"He's not saying this from the standpoint that he's threatening to quit," Schramm said. "I'm sure this is no threat at all."

★ JOBS ★
U.S. POSTAL SERVICE
BECOME A POSTAL WORKER. TRAIN NOW FOR EXAMS TO OPEN IN WESTERN TEXAS IN JANUARY. WANT TO RELOCATE? WE CAN SHOW YOU THE SECRET OF GETTING ON THE HIRING LISTS OF MAJOR POST OFFICES NATIONWIDE IMMEDIATELY.
The Postal Service hires over 5,000 people a month with the average salary plus benefits being $27,500. There are no lay-offs, no strikes, and no shut downs. Men and women, regardless of age or experience are eligible to apply. These exams do not test general knowledge. Proper preparation is the key to getting hired, because people are hired for these positions based on their exam scores. The easy to learn techniques taught in this course were designed by Bill Harold. He is a former Postal Employee, the author of three postal exam guides, and has repeatedly scored 100% on Postal Tests.
3 HOUR WORKSHOP: SCORE 95-100%
A survey in January for Boston's new hiring list indicated that 39 of the first 40 hires had taken a workshop course. Of the 287 people who took our course last year in Northwest Indiana, 282 indicated they were offered positions with the Postal Service.
GUARANTEE: The time saving and accuracy-increasing methods taught in this course are so powerful that we will enter into a written agreement.
*You will score 95% or higher or your money will be refunded.
*If you do not receive a job application/interview within 90 days of your score, your money will be refunded.
WORKSHOP TUITION is $30 and includes the guaranteed workshop, 3 workshops covering all 3 major exams, interview hints, study guide with 25 complete take home exams, follow up consultation privileges with free information phone number, home study program kit, and the free Postal Alert Bulletin giving you postal exam dates nationwide... and more. You are invited to bring your tape recorder to record the workshop for personal review.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, DEC. 6, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Poor judgment is generally in effect today, especially where making any dramatic changes in your life is concerned. Take your time as you go about your duties.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't get involved with bizarre persons today or you can get into real trouble with them.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Avoid anything of a public nature today and keep out of trouble. Don't neglect your shopping.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are interested in new sites and places, but this is the wrong day for exploration.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You and your mate may not agree today, but you know that each is entitled to your own views.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Situations arise that could be quite startling today, but use patience and all works out well soon.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Situations arise that can cause you to change your plans radically, but accept this philosophically.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You get a sudden idea for pleasure with friends, but it is not suitable at all, so forget it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may be under pressure of some sort and may vent your anger at home, but control yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't go off on any tangents and thus avoid trouble. Enjoy intimate friends tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan how to save money at this time instead of spending lavishly. Build your savings account.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be careful you do not lose your temper or you could get into trouble. Be gentle and kind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to get rid of a nagging situation by using force. This could backfire, so be tactful instead.

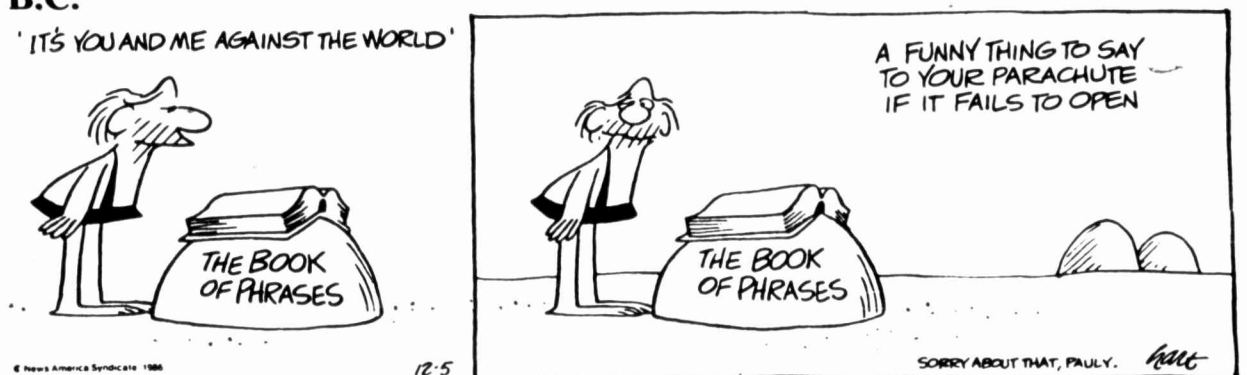

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will always be getting into things that are not wise, so take this in hand early. Send your progeny to the right schools where he, or she, will learn to be more conventional and learn the importance of manners. This will bring success for your child.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
