Board topics include taxes

Big Spring Independent School District board members will be informed about the district's tax flow and overall performance today at 5:15 p.m. in the board room at Big Spring High School.

The tax flow report will be a very brief discussion "on where we are percentage and dollar-wise on the current collection of taxes," said Ron Logback, assistant business manager and athletic coordinator.

The projected figures on tax revenues will be compared to what has been collected, he said.
The annual performance report will be a summarization of earlier briefings concerning items such as student and teacher performances and plant operations, Logback said.

The districts' performance will be compared to school districts with similar enrollments and revenues, he said.

Tax form prompts discussion

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

A heated discussion Wednesday afternoon between a homestead owner and Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District board members ensued during routine business items approved by the board in a regular meeting.

A quorum of three board members was present before business items were reviewed and action taken.

The district will be served this year by the same officers who presided over the board in 1986. They are: Chairman Billy T. Smith, Vice Chairman Rob Roberson, and Secretary-Treasurer D.D. Johnston.

County property owner Cecil Gilstrap complained to the board about having to file homestead exemptions annually. He claimed Howard County was the only one of 15 counties he checked with that required homestead owners to file each year.

The requirement insinuates that a criminal element is inherent with this county's homestead owners, Gilstrap told board members.

"Taxes rely on people to do the right thing," Gilstrap said.

Chief Appraiser Gene Pereria answered Gilstrap's complaint, saying the requirement increased the accuracy of his tax role.

"I checked with the chief appraisers in Martin and Dawson counties, who do not require annual filings and they have a 30 percent margin of error," Pereria told Gilstrap.

According to the property tax code, the county appraiser may require a new application from persons claiming homestead exemptions, Roberson said.

"We're not accusing anyone of criminal negligence. Our viewpoint is the requirement is a method of keeping our records up-to-date," Roberson said.

The county landowner threatened to sue the board and further said he was "fixing to start a controversy."

He requested the board take action on a future bid he proposed to submit that would lower the county's appraisal office budget by $100,000.

The proposal would include restructuring and reappointments in the tax appraiser's office, he said.

"All I'm trying to do is save Howard County taxpayers money," Gilstrap said about his proposal.

His request for a confirmation from the board that the proposal be included as an action item requiring a vote in February's regular meeting agenda was denied by board members.

Chairman Billy T. Smith told Gilstrap the board was bound legally in 1967 to be served by its elected officers.

State legislature

Hobby assigns rookie to finance

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby pulled at least one surprise out of his committee appointments' hat Tuesday, assigning a first-term senator to replace a veteran lawmaker on the powerful Senate Finance Committee.

The surprise came when the lieutenant governor told six-year Senate veteran John Leedom, R-Dallas, that he had been replaced on the budget-writing committee by San Antonio Republican Cyndi Taylor Krier.

Hobby also named Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, as the new vice chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee. Montford also will continue as chairman of the Subcommittee on Water.

Montford was renamed to the Finance and Economic Development committees. Since the last session, he had to give up his spot on Jurisprudence for a seat on the finance panel.

Other Big Spring-area senators and their committee appointments are:

tee appointments are:

• Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo: Economic Development, Intergovernmental Relations, Natural Resources Committee and vice chairman of its Subcommittee on Agriculture.

• Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls: Finance, chairman of State Affairs, Criminal Justice, Administration.

Krier, who was elected to the Senate for a four-year term in 1984, is the first woman to serve on the Finance Committee since Neville Colson, D-Navasota, who served in the Senate from 1949 to 1967. Colson also was named to the committee during her first term in office.

Leedom said Hobby told him the change was made because of his votes against a tax increase during the 1986 special sessions.

The Dallas Republican said he was disappointed that Hobby "didn't have a more tolerant attitude to someone who disagrees with his philosophy."

Lawmakers say taxes necessary

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Big Spring area lawmakers say more revenue is necessary to help state budget woes, and much of what happens will depend on the new governor.

Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, said whether it takes lawmakers longer than the regular 140-day session to resolve state budget problems may rest with Gov.-elect Bill Clements.

The key is how quickly Clements will say things are worse than he thought and that a tax bill is needed, Shaw said.

If Clements postures to the voters, Shaw said, additional special legislative sessions may be required.
Shaw said he believes state budget problems may require expanding the sales tax base and possibly renewing a "temporary" gasoline tax hike.

Shaw said he believes Clements will be able to work together with lawmakers. "A lot of it depends on how long it takes him to catch up with where we are at," Shaw said, noting that lawmakers are familiar with the budget after two summer sessions.

Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, said temporary sales and gasoline taxes which took effect Jan. 1 will have to be made permanent to help the state budget crisis. He also advocates broadening the sales tax base.

"We could cut the budget to solve the problem and put Texas 50th in human services and education, but I don't think Texans want that," he said.

Montford said he the Legislature is willing to work with Clements, but added, "the campaign is over. It's time to put away the rhetoric," he said.

Rotary mounts search for girl

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

After 10 months of publicity in hopes that someone will sight missing 10-year-old Christie Proctor, the search has turned into an active process, according to Paul Shaffer, president of the Big Spring Rotary Club.

The club has hired a private detective in the search for the granddaughter of Ralph and Lynette Brooks of Big Spring. She has been missing since Feb. 15.

Steve Brown & Associates of Midland will work for expenses plus a nominal fee, Shaffer said.

"We're going to have to go find her, not sit back and wait 'til she's sighted," he said.

Brown is a former FBI agent who was in charge of the investigation of the Patty Hearst kidnapping case of the 1970s, Shaffer said, adding that the detective has the resource of a nationwide network of former FBI agents.

Expenses should total about $5,000 per month, he said. The Rotary Club is asking concerned citizens for monthly donation pledges for a period of six months. If enough money is raised, the search will continue indefinitely if necessary, he said.

To contribute, citizens can send money to the Big Spring Rotary Club Christie Proctor Fund, P.O. Box 1503, Big Spring.

The Rotary Club has helped in the search for the missing girl since July, when it paid a $3,000 fee to hire Missing Persons Unlimited. The non-profit organization's effort proved unsuccessful, and $2,500 of

Coahoma amends revenue sharing budget

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — The City Council Tuesday night amended the 1986-87 revenue sharing budget to transfer $7,500 that was originally slated for street repairs to be used for water department improvements, said City Clerk Karen Bell.

Bell reported that in other business, the Council:

Passed on second reading an ordinance renewing the franchise agreement between Coahoma and Wes-Tex Telephone. The ordinance extends the franchise agreement to 1997.

Passed on second reading an ordinance requiring all claims against the city to be filed within 30 days of the incident.

Accepted Joe Fowler's high bid of $137.50 for the city's '67 Chevrolet pickup truck.

Voted to take bids for a pickup truck for the fire department. Bids must be in by Jan. 27.

Voted to accept Councilman Billy Sullivan's motion that the city hire a part time dog catcher at $150 a month. Applications will be taken at City Hall until Jan. 27.

Voted to accept Bell's request to decrease her work week to four days and 32 hours. City Hall will remain open five days a week, Bell said.

Also, Bell said the Council announced that the Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department will offer a first aid CPR course from Feb. 2-16 from 7-9:30 p.m. The instructors will be from Lee Ambulance. Registration is being done at City Hall. The location of the class will be determined by the number of people registered by Jan. 28.

Shaffer said the $3,000 the organization charges cannot begin to cover the expenses of a full-time search for a missing person, and he hopes money spent for the detective will yield productive results.

Christie Proctor, daughter of Laura Proctor of Dallas, is believed to have been abducted in Dallas on Saturday, Feb. 15, two weeks before her 10th birthday.

Shaffer said evidence indicates she is still alive.

She was last seen about 6 p.m. that day walking to her apartment complex from a friend's house a few blocks away. A neighbor spotted her, waved, turned the car around and looked again, but within 60 seconds Christie had vanished, according to the December issue of The Rotarian.

Her parents, searching the area after their daughter failed to return home, found only a crushed purple plastic heart with Christie's name and her white Valentine box. At least three sightings have been reported of a girl that may have been Christie: in Texas, California and, in June, in Lynchburg, Va.

Laura Proctor said the pattern suggests that of migrant farm workers, and the descriptions of the family with the girl sighted have all been similar.

Efforts to locate Christie have included rewards, posters, periodic mass mailings, publicity on NBC's television show "Missing...Have You Seen This Person?" and ABC's "Good Morning America" and "Hour Magazine," as well as the help of missing persons organizations.

The Big Spring Rotary Club encourages parents to collect photographs, fingerprints and hair samples of their children, in the hope that such evidence will assist police and other searchers if necessary.

Shaffer said the club may concentrate its efforts to persuade schools to document their students. "People have been reluctant to document their children properly" because they believe the children may be identified by fingerprints in later years if they turn to a life of crime, he said.

Shaffer said he has learned approximately 2 million children are abducted each year, 90 percent of them by estranged parents and other family members. The other 10 percent are believed to be kidnapped for criminal activity, including slavery, he said.

Ladder climb drop being considered

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The teacher career ladder — the carrot used to sell a 1984 package of educational reforms — would be dismantled and the spoils divided evenly among teachers under a bill proposed by Rep. Steve Carriker.

The program gives special pay raises to teachers who score high enough under peer evaluations. Complaints about meaningless evaluations and office politics have created tension that interferes with teaching, said Carriker, D-Roby.

But Annette Cootes, Texas State Teachers Association spokeswoman, called the career ladder a good idea that can be salvaged with money.

A cold weather snap hits Europe as spring-like weather warms the Arctic Circle

LONDON (AP) — Hungry wolf packs scavenged near Czechoslovakian villages, Soviet tanks pulled drivers from 6-foot snowdrifts and soldiers were called out to clear the streets as Europe remained paralyzed by snow and cold blizzard for at least 200 deaths this month.

British travelers were urged to stay home because some roads were buried under snow. In France, churches opened to shelter the homeless. In Austria, 28 members of an military band suffered frostbite after playing outdoors.

Although temperatures were somewhat milder today, the British Meteorological Office said there was no end in sight to the cold wave that has gripped the continent since last week. Temperatures dipped to 27 degrees today in Dublin, 23 degrees in Copenhagen, 12 degrees in Stockholm, 9 degrees in Vienna and zero in Helsinki.

Travel by air and sea was disrupted. France closed nine airports and Italy closed five due to snow or ice. A Dutch freighter with a crew of seven was missing in the storm off the southeast coast of Sardinia. In Denmark, authorities warned small boats not to leave harbor without assistance from an icebreaker.

Reports from Associated Press bureaus put the total of weather-related deaths in Europe, excluding Poland and the Soviet Union, at 88 since Friday.

Poland and the Soviet Union, which only issued reports for all of January, said the total in the two countries since Jan. 1 stands at 112 — 77 deaths in the Soviet Union and 35 in Poland.

Among the deaths were 10 from exposure reported by a Hungarian newspaper and a 79-year-old West German woman who wandered from a home for the elderly and was found frozen near the Berlin Wall.

London's Daily Telegraph newspaper said Soviet tanks based in Hungary plowed through deep snow Monday to rescue motorists, mostly Austrians and West Germans, after their cars ran into snowdrifts en route to Budapest.

"We had no fuel left and had given up hope when we heard a noise like thunder," the newspaper quoted an Austrian motorist as saying. "It was a Soviet tank that came charging through the 2-meter-high (6-foot) snowdrift. They smashed into our car before they came to a stop but at least we were saved."

The newspaper quoted the motorists as saying they had feared death as winds reached 62 mph and temperatures fell to minus 4 degrees.

By Associated Press Spy given lie test

WASHINGTON — A Marine sergeant suspected of espionage while working as a guard at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow has undergone at least one lie-detector test and appears to be holding back some information, Pentagon sources say.

The sources, who agreed to discuss the matter only if not identified, also disclosed a female KGB agent with whom Lonetree became involved in Moscow had worked at the U.S. Embassy as a translator.

"We know what her responsibilities were and that's all part of the damage assessment," added another.

Sources told The Associated Press last Saturday the 25-year-old Lonetree became involved in a sexual relationship with the woman while stationed in Moscow between September 1984 and March 1986. Lonetree later was transferred to the U.S. Embassy in Vienna, where he came forward voluntarily, disclosed the affair and acknowledged having passed secrets to the woman, the sources said.

Hundreds recall King

ATLANTA — Martin Luther King Jr., who would have turned 58 today, was remembered on the eve of the federal holiday in his memory by hundreds who packed the church where "the peaceful warrior" began fighting racism.

The bittersweet service Wednesday night at Ebenezer Baptist Church was one of many remembrances this week and next here in King's hometown and across the nation.

Today is the anniversary of King's birth, but the federal government and some states will observe it as a holiday on Monday. It was first observed last year.

U.S. Education Secretary William Bennett was scheduled to teach an elementary school class today on King's achievements, then speak at the King Center for Nonviolent Social Change. Gov. Joe Frank Harris also planned a tribute to the Baptist minister who won the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize.

Curran stops teaching

WASHINGTON — Suspended theology professor Charles Curran today ended his efforts to teach at Catholic University of America this semester, saying that to keep pushing could hurt his students and Catholic education in general.

But Curran, a priest, said he would continue his fight for eventual reinstatement.

The university on Wednesday, just before the beginning of the school's spring term today, canceled the three courses he normally teaches.

Arms talks

Nuclear arms negotiators meet

GENEVA (AP) — A new Soviet negotiator sat down with his American counterpart over lunch today to begin the seventh round of superpower nuclear arms talks.

Yuli Vorontsov, the new Soviet delegation head, greeted U.S. chief negotiator Max Kampelman in front of his residence at the Soviet mission compound at 1 p.m.

The two men, who were meeting for the first time, greeted each other warmly by shaking hands, smiling and slapping each other on the back as snow fell.

The two negotiators declined to answer reporters' questions.

The official Soviet news agency Tass today quoted Vorontsov as saying in an interview that the Soviets see their principal task as making progress in the 22-month-old arms talks.

He said the two sides should proceed from the understandings reached at the U.S.-Soviet summit last October in Iceland, and that his side would seek to make the Geneva talks "concrete" and "constructive," according to the report in Moscow.

"We count on reciprocity on the part of the U.S. delegation," Vorontsov told Tass.

U.S. spokesman Terry Shroeder said Kampelman accepted Vorontsov's luncheon invitation "as a courtesy." Shroeder said he had no details on what meetings would be scheduled after the luncheon.

Vorontsov told reporters Wednesday upon arriving in Geneva that he hoped this round of talks would be successful, but refused to say if he was carrying any new proposals.

But Soviet Ambassador Yuri V. Dubinin told a news conference in Washington on Wednesday that it is up to the United States to respond to existing Soviet offers.

Similarly, Kampelman said Wednesday that the United States already has proposals on the table that address areas of agreement between the two sides, and said referring to the Soviets, "The next significant move must come from them."

Vorontsov's predecessor, Viktor Karpov, said in an interview published Wednesday in the Washington Post that he expects no progress in the new because Kampelman plans to wait for the Soviets to make concessions rather than offering them himself.

Karpov heads the arms control desk at the Foreign Ministry, a lower rank than Vorontsov, who is a first secretary to Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze.

Karpov was quoted as saying that Vorontsov's appointment was intended to prompt the United States to replace Kampelman with a top State Department official. Dubinin, however, said the Kremlin was not trying to hurt Kampelman.

Kampelman was promoted Monday to the post of State Department counselor in a move the U.S. administration said was not linked to the Soviet shuffle. Kampelman's appointment must be approved by the Senate.

It was not clear what impact the wrangling over the status of the delegations would have on the talks, which have been bogged down from the start by disagreement over U.S. Strategic Defense Initiative research for a space-based missile defense, popularly called "Star Wars."

By Associated Press Cease-fire is goodwill

KABUL, Afghanistan — The leader of Afghanistan said today his Communist government's unilateral cease-fire was a gesture of good will. The crowd he addressed shouted that government troops should shoot back if attacked by guerrillas.

Guerrilla commanders, speaking in neighboring Pakistan, said today their forces attacked several government positions to underscore their rejection of the cease-fire. The Kabul regime made no report of fighting. Early today it said the cease-fire, which took effect today, appeared to be holding.

An Afghan army official, who identified himself only as Col. Fakri, said all Afghan troops had been pulled back to their permanent bases.

It was not clear whether the estimated 115,000 Soviet troops in Afghanistan were observing the cease-fire.

Officials meeting

PEKING — More than 100 buses were parked outside the Great Hall of the People today, fueling rumors that the Communist Party was meeting inside to discuss the ouster of its chief and a crackdown on pro-Western intellectuals.

Chinese officials, as is normally the case, declined to say whether a party meeting was taking place. East European sources have said the party's Politburo or Central Committee would convene today.

The buses and vans were parked on Tiananmen Square across from the Great Hall, where major party meetings usually take place. Armed police guarded the entrance.

The Central Committee has about 200 members, although thousands have been known to attend expanded sessions.

Republicans visit Hall

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Four Republican congressmen brought Sam Nesley Hall, an American accused by the Nicaraguan government of spying, a message from his family and said he asked for a Bible and a toothbrush.

The legislators spoke with Hall during a two-day trip to Nicaragua to talk with Sandinista and opposition leaders. After the meetings, they said they believed U.S. aid to Contra rebels fighting the government was justified.

"The situation seems worse than before," Rep. Frank Wolf of Virginia, told a news conference Wednesday. "I saw people very depressed by what is occurring and that reinforces my position that the aid to the rebels should continue to put pressure on the Sandinistas to change the direction they are taking."

The congressmen said Hall told them in a half-hour meeting at a State Security building used for visits with prisoners that he was eating well and exercising.

Prevention is the only cure

There is no cure for AIDS. There is only prevention. Doctors once spoke of high-risk groups. They now speak of high-risk behaviors. They once called it an outbreak. Then it was called an epidemic. Now it is threatening to become pandemic.

AIDS is breaking out of the gay community and into the general community. It now threatens anyone who is exposed to the virus through blood or sexual practice.

Scientists are working on a cure for AIDS and a vaccine against it. But researchers say they are at least five years away from either.

What can we do now to prevent millions of people from being exposed to AIDS?

California Sen. Gary K. Hart, D-Santa Barbara, has proposed urgent legislation requiring California public school junior and senior high students to learn about AIDS — and how not to get it.

The first step would be to purchase existing AIDS education videotapes and distribute them to the public schools. The second step would be to establish a program directed to students.

Why do teenagers need to know about AIDS? Because they are coming of age in an era of sexual danger unprecedented in modern times. Groups that are concerned about the moral impact of AIDS-prevention education on youth should weigh the danger of letting kids not know what mortal danger they may face.

Many junior and senior high school students are sexually active. A number use intravenous drugs. People with the deadly AIDS virus often don't know they are infected — and can infect others.

The best way to prevent AIDS from spreading uncontrolled among young people is for students to say No to sex, No to drugs, and Yes to health.

AIDS is 100 percent fatal. The threat of death is a powerful inducement for teens to remain virgins and drug-free — if they are told the facts.

Taxpayer: Say no to raising taxes

To the editor: You can always tell when the elections are over and a new year has started because here come our governing bodies (all levels), with that hot iron in their hand gouging for more tax increases. Taxpayers are defenseless and helpless. We have no ability to fight back, refuse payment or oppose the strong-arm tactics tax collectors use in court.

When times are prosperous, governing bodies have money to spend, and they spend it! When times are not prosperous, the same governing bodies have, by previous commitment and spending habits, financial obligations to continue spending from resources no longer available.

To support spending from obligations and extravagance of properous years in the presence of a declining tax base, tax rates are increased. That causes property owners to have an additional tax burden placed upon them.

It is no small wonder why people are reluctant to invest in real estate or other taxable property. They know what the inevitable is — more and higher tax.

The answer is not in raising tax rates to support revenue requirements. Instead, a system of flexible demand should be in place that will adjust to available revenue at a fixed ceiling on tax rates (Re: Proposition 13 in California).

In other words, "If you ain't got it, you can't spend it, and you can't gouge for more."

Today in history

Today is Thursday, Jan. 15, the 15th day of 1987. There are 350 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

Twenty years ago, on Jan. 15, 1967, the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League defeated the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League 35-10 in the first Super Bowl, played at Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles.

Although the game was shown on both CBS and NBC, no videotape of either broadcast is known to have survived.

On this date:

In 1559, England's Queen Elizabeth I was crowned in Westminster Abbey.

In 1777, the people of New Connecticut declared their independence. The tiny republic later became the state of Vermont.

In 1870, the Democratic Party was represented as a donkey for the first time in a cartoon by Thomas Nast in Harper's Weekly.

In 1919, pianist and statesman Ignace Paderewski became the first premier of the newly created republic of Poland.

In 1922, the Irish Free State was established.

In 1929, civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. was born in Atlanta.

In 1943, work was completed on the Pentagon, headquarters of the U.S. Department of Defense.

In 1973, President Richard M. Nixon announced the suspension of all U.S. offensive action in North Vietnam.

In 1976, Sara Jane Moore was sentenced to life in prison for her attempt to shoot President Gerald R. Ford in San Francisco.

Ten years ago: Palestinian guerrilla leader Abu Daoud, recently released by France, said in a telephone interview from Algiers that he would be willing, under certain conditions, to testify in West Germany that he was innocent of the 1972 Munich Olympics massacre.

Five years ago: Pulitzer Prize-winning sports writer Red Smith died in Stamford, Conn., at age 76.

One year ago: Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev proposed the elimination of all nuclear weapons by the year 2000, but said the United States had to renounce its Strategic Defense Initiative.

Bob Dole emerging as hero in the midst of 'Iranamuck'

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — As the incoming congressional Democrats and the tenacious surviving Republicans assemble in Washington to take up their respective dominions, they must warily pick themselves out of the shambles of Iranamuck. For the wreckage is littered with political hazards.

The scandal has broken down the cordon sanitaire around Ronald Reagan. But before the Democrats resume their Reagan bashing, they might hearken to the advice of Wilbur Mills.

Once a power in the party, he was ruined by alcohol but is now the most sober man in Washington. He has warned party leaders privately that the attacks on the president could backfire.

Mills has advised them not to underestimate Reagan's buoyancy; the president's cheerful visage may yet loom above the wreckage. Given his ingrained nonchalance about details, it is unlikely he was aware how far his subordinates had gone. He has always steered the ship of state, setting the course and issuing orders from the bridge, without much interest in the workings of the engine room.

Though Reagan may now be sagging in public esteem, he has always been able to exude a special calm. Mills predicted that, in the end, most Americans will feel the president is entitled to sympathetic national understanding.

Meanwhile, a degree of paralysis has already been inflicted on the Reagan administration. This may excite and delight Democrats of narrow perspective, but those with broader vision are concerned about the damage to the credibility and stability of the United States.

If the Iranian revelations keep reverberating in the public dialogue, Mills said, the Democrats may lose more than they will gain. For bashing the president has its inherent dangers — hazards that will be tested in the 1988 presidential election.

Among the many constellations shaken by Iranamuck is George Bush. He achieved his place in the heavens as the tail to Ronald Reagan's comet, but on the descent, the tail appears to be ahead of the comet. Somehow the woebegone Bush has sustained more measurable political damage than the president.

Bush is seeking the kind of sympathetic neutrality asked of the Lord in the story about the country boy who was running along a railroad track inside a long, narrow tunnel while a train bore down on him from behind. As hope of escape withered, he cried out, "Lord, if you can't help me, for God's sake don't help the train!" Iranamuck seems to be helping the train.

But if Bush can't be rescued from the train, this will remove the presidential contender whom Democratic strategists considered easiest to defeat. Worse, his place is even now being taken in the polls by the candidate they fear the most: Senate Republican leader Robert Dole.

The nimble Dole is a charter member of the crew of Senate pragmatists who can trim their sails to accommodate the shifting winds of public opinion.

Though he has been the Reagan administration's most visible defender in the Senate, he is shedding this particular skin with excessive delicacy. So far, he has managed to weave enough ambiguity into his postures so as not to appear a toady nor a traitor.

Dole has also been edging toward a softening of the caustic image that has hurt him in the past. Instead of slashing his opponents, he has learned to suppress his scathing wit; now he goes about the Senate with a gargoyles inward grin as if he is saving some intended jibe.

In his new role as minority leader, Dole will also have more time to campaign. Yet he will continue to champion the Republican cause on Capitol Hill in the worst of weather. Already, he is beginning to emerge as a heroic figure carrying the deadweight of a flawed administration.

It is of such stuff that presidents are made.

WATCH ON WASTE: The Veterans Administration spends $10 million a year on unnecessary X-rays, according to the agency's inspector general.

Veterans Administration doctors told the inspector general's investigators that 21 percent of the chest X-rays at eight veterans' hospitals weren't needed.

WORKING THE CROWD: Nicaraguan contra leaders are understandably worried about continued U.S. government support in light of the Iranian arms scandal, so they're continuing their fund-raising efforts elsewhere.

Contra money-raiser Mario Calero went to Toronto to drum up support at the conference of the Anti-Bolshevik Bloc of Nations, an organization of exiles that included several members with reported ties to the Nazis during World War II.

Calero told the delegates the contras have chapters of "friends" in Canada, Europe, Australia and the United States, and have gotten money from European and Asian governments — which he didn't name.

MINI-EDITORIAL: A battery manufacturer recently reported that 40 percent of the industry's annual sales came in the last quarter of the year, when millions of Americans bought toys and electronic gadgets to put under the Christmas tree — most of which came with "batteries not included."

We wonder if additional research wouldn't be instructive. Judging by the momentarily silent, immobile litter underfoot at our house, we suspect a survey would show a new peak in battery purchases any day now.

Prosecutors get special hospitality

By ART BUCHWALD

I was walking through National Airport when I saw a sign: "Welcome Special Prosecutors." "Is there a convention?" I asked the lady at the booth.

"No, we're a volunteer organization that provides hospitality and doughnuts for special prosecutors who have been assigned to root out wrongdoing and evil in the executive branch of government."

"I didn't know there were so many prosecutors arriving."

"We expect over 10,000 before the year is out. These men are serving their country as well as our boys in Honduras, and we want to keep their morale high."

A man came up to the counter. "I'm a special prosecutor. Could you tell me where I can find a room while I'm investigating high crimes and sleazy misdemeanors complicated by unbelievable conflict of interest?"

"We can put you in a hotel until we get the permanent barracks on the Mall completed."

The man said, "You're building barracks on the Mall for special prosecutors?"

"We have to," the lady replied. "The hotels in town can't house all of them, and if Ollie North and Poindexter ever spill the beans we could have special prosecutors sleeping in the streets."

"Okay, I'll take the room." "Would you care to go to a Special Prosecutors Get Acquainted Dance?"

"You hold dances?" the man said.

"It's a chance for all the prosecutors to get together, let their hair down and trade stories about who is committing perjury. Our hostesses have all been cleared by the FBI."

"How much is it?" "It's free because it is sponsored by the 'Daughters of Watergate.' They were responsible for special prosecutors in the first place."

I said to the gentleman, "Welcome to Washington. Why doesn't the Justice Department do the work instead of the special prosecutor?"

"Because Justice is not equipped to find wrongdoing in the Administration. They don't have the staff, the resources or the stomach for the job. All the Attorney General has to do is question someone on wrongdoing and everyone in the White House starts bolting for his shredding machine."

"Does this mean the Attorney General is covering up for the Administration?"

"That's what they pay me to find out."

The lady behind the counter asked the special prosecutor if he wanted a cup of coffee.

He thanked her. "I'll remember this when I'm far away in the trenches of federal court."

The lady said, "This is the address of our Special Prosecutors Hospitality Suite downtown where you can take a shower and have your suit pressed while you're waiting for General Secord to talk."

The man answered, "I'm very grateful for all you've done for me. My wife said no one in Washington would speak to me."

"We'll speak to you," she assured him. "It's the ones whose lawyers told them to clam up who won't talk."

I said, "One question. Why would someone want to be a special prosecutor?"

He replied, "Some do it because they are bored with their jobs — others because they are bored with their wives. I do it because investigating Donald Regan keeps me young."

Army to lingerie-loving private: Can we talk?

DEAR ABIGAIL VAN BUREN: This is in reference to the letter from "Private Person," who described himself as a slim, trim, 26-year-old, happily married man who is now serving in the U.S. Army. His problem was that he enjoyed wearing women's underwear. You advised the private to keep the matter private.

To enlighten yourself regarding the military and what it can do for those who find themselves burdened with a desire to wear women's underwear, you should call the military's installation hospital and speak to the psychiatrist about the medical and psychiatric assistance that this man is entitled to gratis.

But now that you have already advised the soldier to keep his problem hidden, perhaps you should learn what might happen to such soldiers if they continue to hide such aberrations. Then your advice to others in similar circumstances might change, as it should, in order to be correct.

JERRY J. FLETCHER,
LA JOLLA, CALIF.

DEAR JERRY: The things I learn while writing this column! You Navy commandos wore panty hose openly, out of necessity, but the aforementioned Army private wore women's lingerie for kicks, which is quite another matter.

Cross-dressing is nothing new; it's been with us for centuries. It's a compulsion — not something that requires "curing," unless, of course, it creates marital or martial problems.

DEAR ABBY: When a person says to you, "If you have no place else to go for Thanksgiving, you are welcome to join us," would you call that an invitation or an insult?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: It was, no doubt, intended as an invitation, but it could have been more graciously extended.

DEAR ABBY: I, too, had never heard of the word "chthonic" until I read it in your column. I'm sure many others, like myself, immediately began thinking of ways they might use the word. In fact, its appearance in your column probably created a chthonic boom.

panty hose. We were out in the muck of the swamps and jungle for days on end, and the nylon really cut down on the friction, which could otherwise rub us raw. An added plus was that removal of the panty hose also removed many of the leeches that invariably clung to us — sometimes more than 100 per man!

It was always an amazing sight before every mission to see Navy commandos all camouflaged and painted green and black, struggling to get their hairy muscular bodies into the panty hose. But it worked! Sign me...

Toastmasters Club to conduct installation

The Tall Talkers Toastmaster Club of Big Spring will conduct its installation meeting tonight at 7 at La Posada Restaurant.

Toastmasters International, a worldwide organization, meets at Hermans Restaurant each Monday from 6:30-7:50 a.m. Breakfast is available from the menu.

The meeting consists of a short business session, table topics (a light exercise in off-the-cuff speaking), prepared speeches and evaluations, according to a release from the group.

Prepared speeches are given by members assigned in advance. Most of the speeches are short, five to seven minutes. Each speaker is evaluated by another member. The evaluator comments on positive and negative points of the speakers presentation and suggests ways to improve the speech, the release stated.

"A timer, grammarian and an AH counter serve as watchdogs to keep the speaker on his toes for long windedness, bad grammar and stammering around.

"The benefits of Toastmasters are many and personal. In a non-threatening atmosphere, we work on conquering our worst fear — that of making a fool of ourselves in public. We do that by public speaking." The speech is evaluated for clarity, purpose and organization. This evaluation is constructive and its sole purpose is to help the speaker improve, according to the release.

Toastmaster dues are $48 per year. Half of the amount stays in the local club, the remainder is sent to the international organization to pay for manuals, a monthly magazine and educational publications, the release stated.

For more information about Toastmasters International, contact Sonny Choate, 267-1066; Bill and Dene Sheppard, 267-5845; or Gail Earls, 263-1330.

Neither the modern day teachers nor the taught have any law making authority at all in religion for according to the New Testament, Jesus Christ, who has all authority, is the only lawgiver, and He is able to save those who obey His laws (Hebrews 5:8,9), and to punish those who do not obey (11 Thessalonians 1:6-10). We have no need of any other lawgiver, nor other laws outside the New Testament. We need less "lawmakers" and more "law keepers". We would ask those who wish to have a legislating power, to inform us how they got the authority and how they know what laws to make, and upon what subjects they know more information than the Word of God contains in regards to the God-man relationship? The Bible says, "Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that you should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." Jude 3. There was one complete system of religion set forth in scripture here stated to be "the common salvation" and "the faith". We must know it and live it to be saved.

Dr. Donohue

Stop taking some drugs gradually

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What can happen to a person who has been on Corgard for a few years to prevent angina and who competently and all at once discontinues the medication for two weeks? — S.S.

Corgard is a beta-blocker drug, and the danger of abruptly stopping such medicine is a possible worsening of the angina. So I am comforted by the hypothetical tone of your question, S.S.

The manufacturers are clear on this point. The drug literature cautions against interruption of dosage all at once, and recommends stopping gradually, over a week or so. If you understand the action of the drug, you can understand why this advice is given.

Beta blockers block nerve messages to the heart, making it slow down and contract with less force. A slower heart is less likely to make excessive demands on an inefficient blood supply to it, and angina (pain from blood deprivation) is helped. Now when you stop interrupting those heart acceleration messages, you lose that effect. But more, you can cause stress of the heart (and the worsened angina pain I mentioned). You can also produce some weird heartbeats.

No one should stop taking such medicine without the doctor's knowledge and advice. If your question was not hypothetical, but born of personal experience in doing what you suggest, the danger has passed after two weeks. But has your need for the medicine passed? Has the condition for which you took the drug ended? Right now, those are the questions you should be asking. Please read through the booklet on angina I'm sending along. Other readers may order it by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.25.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Recently, my gastroenterologist diagnosed me as having sclerosing cholangitis. Do you have any information on that? — G.E.R.

Sclerosis is hardening and scarring. Cholangitis refers to bile ducts. They drain bile from the liver to the gall bladder. When you put the words, sclerosis and cholangitis, together you mean that the bile ducts have become scarred and narrowed, perhaps even completely blocked.

When blockage occurs, the skin and eyes become yellow-tinged, evidence that the bile is backing up into the blood. The person runs a temperature and may be nauseated.

You mention (another part of your letter) that you also have ulcerative colitis — the intestinal problem. While we cannot say for sure what causes the bile duct scarring, it is sometimes associated with that colitis picture. That's not always the case, and, in fact, one theory is that the bile duct scarring is yet another example of the body's immune system attacking its own tissue selectively.

I can't speculate on what the future holds for you. If bile drainage becomes completely blocked you may require surgery to empty the liver of backed up bile. If you have jaundice (the yellowing I spoke about) then the drug, cholestyramine, can be used. It eases the itching that is often a part of jaundice.

FOR T.N. — Popcorn is a good fiber source, but hold the salt (sodium) and butter, please.

For a better understanding of colitis and other intestinal ailments, their causes and treatment, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00. Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

A volunteer training program is planned for the near future, to increase the number of volunteers. After training, a person becomes an expert in all aspects of rape crisis, the release stated.

One objective of the center is to make sure legislation is current. The center is also trying to teach prevention to children in the public schools.

Man's job loss hurts

By COSMOPOLITAN
A Hearst Magazine

A man who loses his job also is in danger of losing his sense of masculinity and self-esteem.

Many women do not realize how profoundly the loss of a job can affect a man, according to an article in the January issue of Cosmopolitan, because they do not identify with their work in the way a man does.

"Unlike a man, a woman's sense of femininity, of who she is, does not depend primarily on her career but also on other aspects of her being, particularly her relationship with her man," said Toni Grant, a Los Angeles psychiatrist with a syndicated radio talk show.

"When a man loses his job, on the other hand, it's a direct assault on his sense of masculinity and self-esteem."

In most cases, it is not the man's fault he lost his job, making him feel both helpless and angry.

"A man in this situation needs a lot of understanding and support, although his own sense of helplessness and rage certainly won't make him easy to live with," said Robert M. Rice, executive vice president of Family Service America.

In many cases the wife, panicking over the rising number of unpaid bills and canceled plans, finds it difficult to offer support. Instead, she feels it is she who needs support.

"Talk out your feelings instead of letting anger fester," she said. "Do be aware, however, of your man's special vulnerability at this time."

Smith catches way into record books

Another Big Springer has written his name into the National Football League record books. This time it's St. Louis Cardinals' wide receiver J.T. Smith.

Smith set a Cardinals' individual receiving record, despite the team's 4-11-1 record. He broke the single season receiving record with 80 catches for 1,114 yards and six touchdowns. That comes to 12.7 yards per catch.

Smith broke the old record of 78 catches set by Roy Green in 1983 and 1984. A job well done, J.T.

The latest Western Junior College Athletic Conference stats have been released and the Howard College Hawks are averaging 88 points per game, fifth highest in the conference. Defensively, the Hawks are allowing 91 points per game, seventh in the league.

Team-wise, the Hawks are shooting 69 percent from the foul line, fifth in the league and 48 percent from the field, eighth in the league.

Individually, Kevin Bradsher is the fourth leading scorer in the conference, averaging 25 points per game. Western Texas' Alvin Lee is the conference leader, averaging 35 points per game.

Dennis Rhodes is among the leaders in two categories. He leads the assist department, averaging eight per contest, and he is also sixth in foul shooting, making 83 percent of his shots.

The Hawk-Queens are sixth in the conference in scoring, averaging 69 points per game. They also rank sixth in defense, allowing 63 points per game.

Howard has the third top shooting team from the field, hitting 47 percent of its shots. Howard ranks fifth in foul shooting, making 59 percent from the line.

There are three Queens listed in the top 10 in different categories. Stefanie Massie is third in rebounding, averaging nine boards per game. Leslie Carter is fourth in blocked shots, with 18 to date, and Pam Franklin is second in steals with 46.

Three area youths have qualified for the state finals Hoop Shoot in Temple on March 14. Debra Light and Andy Carmichael of Big Spring and Summer Rawls, Forsan all won the district free throw contest in Pecos January 11.

The trio advanced to district via winning the local competition at Steer Gym.

Two elected to Hall

NEW YORK (AP) — The waiting finally ended for Billy Williams, while Jim "Catfish" Hunter won another close one.

Williams and Hunter were elected to baseball's Hall of Fame Wednesday night, culminating careers marked by consistency but separated by their teams' results.

Hunter, with a 224-166 lifetime record in 15 seasons for the Kansas City and Oakland A's and the New York Yankees, played on five World Series winners. Williams, who hit .290 with 426 home runs during 16 years in the Chicago Cubs' outfield and two more seasons with Oakland, never played in a World Series.

Williams' frustration continued as he was bypassed by the Baseball Writers Association of America in Hall of Fame voting the last five years, missing by just four votes in 1986.

But that ended Wednesday night.

Williams, 20th on the all-time home run list, said from Glen Ellyn, Ill. "I can truly say it's one of the most exciting moments of my life."

exciting moments of my life."

Williams was named on 354 of 413 votes for 85.7 percent, well above the required 75 percent. Hunter got 315 votes, five over the minimum, and reached the Hall in his third try after missing by 30 votes last year.

Jim Bunning, the recently elected Congressman from Kentucky, came up 21 votes short of election. He missed by 40 votes last year.

None of the other 25 players on the ballot got as much as 50 percent of the vote. Orlando Cepeda was fourth with 179, followed by Roger Maris with 176 and Tony Oliva with 160.

While Williams was cautiously optimistic this would be his year, partly because there were no new big names on the ballot to splinter support, Hunter said he was surprised that he was elected on his HALL page 2B

TCU dodges bullet

By The Associated Press
The Texas Christian Horned Frogs proved for the second time in five days that it's more blessed to play bad and win lucky than to play well and lose.

TCU, which dodged a three-point shot at the buzzer to defeat Texas A&M 55-54 on Saturday, edged Southern Methodist 57-53 Wednesday night to stay atop the SWC basketball chase.

"I just feel lucky to win," said TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth, who earned his 250th senior college victory.

In other SWC games, Arkansas junior Andrew Lang came off the bench to score nine points, block eight shots and grab 16 rebounds to ignite the Razorbacks (2-2) past Rice (0-4) 62-54 and Texas Tech (3-1) whipped the Baylor Bears (2-2) 56-50 in Waco behind Sean Gay's 19 points.

Carl Lott scored all 12 of his points in the second half to pace TCU's Frogs to their fourth SWC victory without a loss. TCU is 13-3 overall.

Killingsworth praised Lott for shaking off a scoreless first half to rally TCU in the second half.

"Lott is a good shooter and I knew he would come back and he did," said Killingsworth, who compiled his 250 victories at Idaho State, Oklahoma State and TCU. He also had 487 victories in high school, junior college and as a col-

Troubled times in Rocketland

HOUSTON (AP) — There was the trip to the NBA finals last year, and then it started falling apart. Piece by piece.

The Houston Rockets were hit by more shrapnel last week when guards Lewis Lloyd and Mitchell Wiggins were banned from the league for using cocaine.

"If I'd ever been through anything like this before I wouldn't be sitting here as a coach right now," Bill Fitch said after NBA Commissioner David Stern banished the two players.

"This is just so typical of our entire season," forward Jim Petersen said. "It seems like every time we start to get things together, something else happens."

Houston, behind its twin towers of Ralph Sampson and Akeem Olatunji, seemed to have every chance of returning to the NBA championships this season — especially after last season's dramatic trip to the title round.

There was even 'dynasty' talk about the young Rockets, who eliminated the Los Angeles Lakers and then tested the Boston Celtics, before losing 4-2, in the best-of-seven title series.

Then it started.

Sampson missed 11 of Houston's first 13 regular-season games with two separate ankle injuries. Olatunji was sidelined seven games with a sprained right ankle. Guard Robert Reid underwent arthroscopic knee surgery Dec. 8 and missed seven games.

Then, during a slump when the Rockets dropped below .500 for the first time since the 1982-83 season, it was reported that Sampson and

Commissioner of the National Basketball Association David Stern announces that Lewis Lloyd and Mitchell Wiggins of the Houston Rockets became the third and fourth NBA players to be banned from the league for using cocaine.

Wiggins were playing less than their best to get Fitch fired. Sampson, Wiggins and Fitch issued denials. With his team already embattled, guard Rodney McCray learned that his 5-year-old daughter, Apryl, had an inoperable brain tumor.

"With all the injuries we've had, plus my personal problem and now Mitch and Lew, I just don't know what else could happen to us," McCray said Tuesday night, just hours after the ban was announced.

"When I heard about them, I just went home and tried to get my mind on playing the game."

The Rockets defeated Phoenix 118-110 that night, getting lots of help from Sampson and Olatunji.

"That's their best, stat-wise this season," Fitch said.

Sampson scored 31 points and grabbed 19 rebounds; Olatunji had 30 and pulled down 10.

Sampson is outspoken against drugs and often lectures youth groups on the subject in the off-season.

"The Len Bias case was something with meaning behind it, the Don Rogers case was something with meaning behind it," Sampson said, referring to the cocaine-related deaths of both athletes last year. "People have to understand what that meaning is and what drugs can do to you."

When guard John Lucas was dismissed from the Rockets last March 15 after testing positive for drugs, Reid stepped in to fill his position — and sparkled.

Now Reid is being asked to fill the void again. He'll come through, he says, and so will his teammates.

"Last year, some teams expected us to fall on our butts," he said. "But they found out how much manhood there is in this locker room, that young men can grow up and get the job done."

"Now we have to do it again."

Hawks' nest

By LARRY BROWN
HC Hawks coach

Welcome back from the holidays. The Hawk basketball staff has been extremely busy recruiting. Coach Horstman and myself left Big Spring on Dec. 11 and returned on Jan. 4. Scott Horstman recruited all over Texas, while I hit twelve tournaments in Texas, Orlando, Fla., Louisville, Ky. and Chicago. Somedays I would watch as many as 16 games. Needless to say, it was a busy time. But, we saw a lot of very good players. I did spend a few days at Christmas in Huntsville with my family.

It's exciting for us to put this recruiting together. Scott and I usually find a place to stay free on the road and have been known to get free flights to places like Chicago and Orlando.

Howard College has a quality program and it will continue to improve. The 1986-87 Hawks are ready to make a run at the playoffs. They came back on Jan. 4 and have worked very hard. Between eating and some three-a-day workouts, I think they have slept. The young men playing at Howard are paying the price for success.

We played in the Kilgore Classic Jan. 9 and 10 and beat an excellent Tyler team 95-86. They were 12-2 at the time which included a 101-100 loss at San Jacinto Kilgore beat us 87-80 at their place the next night. Overall it was a good tournament.

A winning record through a brutal non-conference schedule is a credit to our players. Then, we defeated New Mexico Military 88-74 with a solid defensive effort. Now comes Midland there Thursday night. Every person on our team believes we can win. It will be no upset if we score more points than they do.

I would like to commend the players on their academic standing the fall semester. Nobody came even close to flunking out. Only four classes were missed total for the semester. The squad as a whole had an average of 17.1 hours passed with 3.04 grade point, out of a possible 4.0. This is an outstanding accomplishment. Really, this is what education is all about. Academics and athletics go hand in hand with success. The magic that the Hawks weave on the floor is done through faith in God, a strong mind, a healthy body, and a big heart.

Clippers win a game

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Clippers haven't proven much except for how bad they are his season. The team with the NBA's worst record has gotten tired of that — and the finally did something about it.

The Clippers snapped a 16-game losing streak with a 123-105 rout of Denver Wednesday night. The 5-31 Clippers got 22 points from Michael Cage and Mike Woodson added 20 for their first victory since beating Seattle Dec. 10.

The streak was three games shy of tying the franchise record for losses, set in 1981-82.

They won this game, their 100th home game at the Sports Arena since moving from San Diego to Los Angeles in 1984, by building a 17-point margin in the third quarter and never letting the Nuggets challenge.

The loss ended a three-game Denver winning streak, despite 39 points by Alex English and 18 by Mike Evans coming off the bench.

Bullets 118, Nets 100

Moses Malone led seven Bullets in double figures with 21 points as he moved into 12th place on the NBA's all-time scoring list, ahead of Dolph Schayes and Bob Lanier. He also kept the Bullets in hot pursuit of the 76ers.

76ers 96, Hawks 93

Ruland had missed 34 games with a knee injury. His performance in returning to the lineup Wednesday was a key to host Philadelphia's victory.

"It's great to be out there again," the 6-foot-11 center said after he scored 19 points, had five rebounds, two assists and blocked a pair of shots.

Ruland played with a brace on his left knee following arthroscopic surgery on Nov. 19.

"The knee felt great. It doesn't bother me at all. I promised myself I wouldn't even think about it (the knee), just go out and play my game," Ruland said.

Also playing his game was Charles Barkley, who scored 24 points, including a dunk for the winning points. Atlanta didn't score in the last 5:18 of the game.

Barkley was 10-of-11 from the field and had 20 rebounds, handed out four assists and blocked three shots.

Dominique Wilkins' 27 points was high for Atlanta. Celtics 117, Mavericks 108

At Boston, a balanced attack led the league champions as Larry Bird and Kevin McHale each scored 25 points. Danny Ainge had 24, Dennis Johnson 20 and Robert Parish 16 in Boston's ninth victory in the last 10 starts. Bird also had 15 rebounds.

The Celtics broke open a close game with a 40-point third quarter. The Mavericks, who lead the Midwest Division, were hurt when Mark Aguirre, their leading scorer, was ejected on two technical fouls.

Dallas was led by Sam Perkins with 29 points and Rolando Blackman with 25.

"Larry got going in the third quarter," Boston Coach K.C. Jones said. "We were getting him open with the picks. You have to stick the ball in his hands and get him started. He's been off for a long time and we should have got him going earlier."

Pistons 104, Cavaliers 87

Detroit swept its home-and-home series with Cleveland behind 26 points by Adrian Dantley, a season-high 22 from Sidney Green and 20 by Isiah Thomas. Detroit also won 103-101 on the road the previous night.

The Pistons prevailed despite 23 points and 16 rebounds by Brad Daugherty, the Cavaliers' top pick in the draft.

"It's a matter of experience," Thomas said of the sweep. "You know when to play. You know how hard to play. You know the important parts of the basketball game. That's something you learn through experience."

SuperSonics 130, Spurs 104

Dale Ellis scored 25 of his game-high 32 points in the first half and Xavier McDaniel added 20 for host Seattle.

Ellis scored 17 points in the first period, including a three-point shot to open the scoring for Seattle. Alton Lister scored 14 points and had a game-high 15 rebounds for Seattle.

The Spurs, who lost their third consecutive game, were led by rookie Walter Berry, who had 24 points. Alvin Robertson added 17. San Antonio has now lost six of its last seven games and 14 of its last 15 on the road.

Alton Lister of the Seattle SuperSonics sets up a road block as Artis Gilmore (53) of the San Antonio Spurs tries to drive in during first quarter action in Seattle Wednesday night.

Former 49er dies

LOS ALTOS, Calif. (AP) — Former All-Pro linebacker Matt Hazeltine, one of three San Francisco 49ers stricken with Lou Gehrig's disease in the past two years, has died, the team announced.

Hazeltine, 53, played for the 49ers from 1955 to 1968, was named to the Pro Bowl in 1963 and 1965 and was team captain for five years after being drafted out of the University of California at Berkeley.

Edwards in early lead

LA QUINTA, Calif. (AP) — David Edwards opened up his 1987 golf season with the best round of his career, an 11-under-par 61 for a two-shot lead in the $900,000 Bob Hope Classic.

Edwards' effort matched the low score shot on the PGA Tour all of last season of Rod Curl and Don Pooley and tied the course record of Bert Yancey at Indian Wells, one of four desert courses used for the first four rounds of this five-day, 90-hole event.

Lucas ready to sign

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Houston Rockets guard John Lucas, twice dismissed from the team for using cocaine, says he's about ready for his third chance at playing in the NBA.

Two days after two of his former teammates were banned from the NBA for using cocaine, Lucas said today he's on the verge of signing with an NBA club.

Although Lucas would not name the team, the Houston Chronicle reported that it likely is the Milwaukee Bucks.

"I want to play basketball again because I think I have something to give to the game," Lucas said.

"I have developed a program that I think will keep me drug-free, regardless of my environment. I want to prove to the world that I have something that works."

Lucas has been undergoing intense rehabilitation for the past 10 months at Houston International Hospital since he was waived by the Rockets.

Warriors are finally winning

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Eric "Sleepy" Floyd and Chris Mullin appear to be a backcourt combination coming of age, and the Golden State Warriors expect to reach the playoffs for the first time in 10 years.

It's been five years since a Golden State player appeared in an NBA All-Star game. Floyd is the man most likely to break that unflattering streak.

"If that happens it would be nice, but I haven't even thought about it. I want to make the playoffs. That's the big thing," says Floyd, stating the goal of the entire Warriors' organization.

Going into Thursday night's road game against the Los Angeles Lakers, the 6-foot-3 guard ranked second in the league in assists, with 10.5 per game, and had a 19.7-point scoring average. The former Georgetown All-American is in his fifth NBA season.

It's been several years since the Warriors even came close to qualifying for postseason play. But after beating the San Antonio Spurs on Tuesday night, they had a 21-16 record, compared to 12-25 at the same point last season, and the fifth best record in the Western Conference.

"We're confident now that we're going to make the playoffs and we want to be the best playoff team we can be," Coach George Karl, in his first season with the Warriors, said.

The Warriors have won despite frontcourt personnel problems. High-scoring forward Purvis Short has been absent since injuring a knee on Dec. 19 and top draft pick Chris Washburn, struggling to adjust to the pro game and live by Karl's team rules, plays so little that he's been nicknamed "Washout" by some fans with taunting tongues.

Ben McDonald, a player released by Cleveland last year, has done admirably as the fill-in for Short, joining center Joe Barry Carroll and Larry Smith in the starting lineup.

Lott wasn't happy with his performance.

"I had a terrible game," Lott said. "At halftime I was mainly thinking about penetrating and taking the short jumper. But the coaches told me to go ahead and take the outside shot."

There was a controversial moment late in the game on a shot by Scott Johnson that SMU thought was a three-pointer to tie the game at 54-all.

Official Jim Harvey said it was a three-pointer, but he was overruled by Mike Tanco and Paul Sternberger.

TCU, leading 54-53, then iced the game on two free throws by Jamie Dixon and one charity toss by Lott.

SMU Coach Dave Bliss, who endured his fourth consecutive close loss, said Johnson's three-point shot appeared to be good after looking at a television replay.

"That's unfortunate," Bliss said. "If it's a three-pointer, that changes the whole way we play at the end there. We just haven't been too lucky lately."

Johnson said "I couldn't tell if it was a three-point shot or not. It was definitely a close call. It just seems like we've gotten a lot of bad breaks at the end of games lately."

"Our luck is bound to change."

SMU has lost its last four games by close margins in the final minute. The Mustangs (0-3) are off the their worst start in SWC play in five years.

Texas Tech beat Baylor for the 10th straight time dating back to 1983. The Red Raiders led by as much as eight points in the first half, but Baylor gained a 24-24 halftime tie on Mark Buchanan's 3-point goal at the buzzer.

Tech took the lead for good seven minutes into the second half. Michael Williams scored 17 points to lead Baylor.

Lang was an unlikely hero for Arkansas. He suffered a sprained knee in a warmup session before Arkansas' loss to Texas Tech last weekend and was not expected to play. But he blocked five first-half shots, inspiring a defense that held Rice to 34 percent from the field.

Shawn Baker led all Arkansas scorers with 15 points.

Greg Hines scored 21 points for Rice. Andy Gilchrist, who had a game-high 17 rebounds, added 16 for the Owls.

played 1,117 consecutive games.

Hunter, who won the AL Cy Young Award in 1974 and pitched a perfect game in 1968, was a six-time All-Star, as was Williams.

Induction ceremonies for Hunter and Williams — bringing the Hall of Fame total to 199 — are tentatively scheduled for July 26. The Veterans Committee is scheduled to announce results of its voting on older players in early March.

Williams and Hunter were scheduled to be in New York this morning for a press conference.

"I don't know whether to laugh or cry. It hasn't sunk in yet," said Williams, the Cubs' current batting coach.

Cubs General Manager Dallas Green, who pitched against Williams for Philadelphia in the 1960s, said Williams' election "was long deserved."

Hunter said his "first dream was to become a major league ballplayer" and that he "never dreamed of being in the Hall of Fame."

third try.

"I don't know if I deserved it," said Hunter, who spent Wednesday boar hunting near his Hertford, N.C., farm. "I was a control pitcher who hit spots."

"I had players behind me to back me up. If I didn't play on those teams, I wouldn't have won as many as I did and I wouldn't have been in the World Series six times."

Hunter won 20 or more games from 1971 through 1975 and finished with a career earned run average of 3.26. His reputation as a big-game pitcher may have helped him as much as Williams' lack of post-season play hurt him.

Hunter was 5-3 in World Series games and still holds Championship Series records with 10 starts and 69 1/3 innings pitched. The closest Williams got to a World Series was the 1975 American League playoffs with Oakland, when the A's were swept by Boston and Williams went 0-for-8.

Williams finished with 2,711 career hits, batted over 300 five times and in 1969 became the last player to hit four doubles in a game, which ties for the major-league record.

Williams was the NL Rookie of the Year in 1961 and went on to hit 20 or more home runs for 13 straight seasons. He led the league with a .333 average in 1972, which came during a streak in which he

DENNIS THE MENACE

"I THINK THE NAME OF THE NEW KID IN MY CLASS IS ELMER. WE ALL USED HIS GLUE TODAY."

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JAN. 16, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today can have frustrations for you when you try to put across a plan of action that means a good deal to you. Later something will happen and you will find your means.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't try to push your talents on someone. Before you handle a business matter, consider your family.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use tact in handling a difficult affair at home. Show your friends and kin that you truly care.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A letter or phone call could cause you to worry, but know that the matter can soon be rectified.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Today is not ideal for handling financial matters. You get good ideas from partners, so listen carefully.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Your intuitive perception is erroneous, so don't follow any hunches you have. Your mate has good ideas for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't let some annoying worry bother you. Extend invitations to persons who are successful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A friend wants to think over a plan of action before going through with it, so wait it out patiently.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid a bigwig who doesn't want to be bothered. You may find it difficult to start new tasks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to plan how best to gain new aims. Don't run off on any tangents and things go smoothly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study a bill well before you pay it and make sure it's correct. Be careful with your expenditures.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do whatever will bring greater understanding with an older partner. Be careful in conversations with others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't let a thoughtless remark from a co-worker disturb you. Later you come to a better understanding.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have very expansive ideas for the future, so be sure to give as fine an education as money can buy. Praise when exceptional work is accomplished is wise, for this will raise the incentive and insure success. Your progeny will be concerned with humanity.

Millions of mentally ill children going untreated

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 7.5 million children in the United States may need treatment for mental health problems, yet the majority never get the proper help, a congressional research unit says.

And if untreated, mental health problems could lead the children to later, more serious troubles in school or with the law, the Office of Technology Assessment found.

"Mental health problems are a source of suffering for children, difficulties for their families and great loss for society," the office said in a report released Wednesday. "Though such problems are sometimes tragic, an even greater tragedy may be that we currently know more about how to prevent and treat children's mental health problems than is reflected in the care available."

The office, which provides Congress with scientific and technical information, prepared the report on mental health services for children at the request of Sens. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., members of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The office concluded that, in general, mental health services for children are helpful, although it could not determine what programs are best for particular children with particular problems.

The office also found that although there are shortages in all forms of mental health care for youths under age 18, community-based services and coordination of services seem to most need improvement.

"Available epidemiologic data indicate that at least 12 percent, or 7.5 million, of the nation's approximately 63 million children suffer from emotional or other problems that warrant mental health treatment — and that figure may be as high as 15 percent, or 9.5 million children," the report said.

Of those in need, 70 percent to 80 percent may not be getting the proper services, the report said.

The causes of mental disorders generally are not known, the report said. But some factors pose major risks for children's mental health, the office said, among them poverty, mental illness or alcoholism in parents, a teen-age parent, maltreatment, premature birth and parental divorce.

"These factors rarely occur in isolation and frequently interact with other aspects of a children's family, educational and social environment," the report said. And although the factors don't necessarily result in mental problems, "they can cause maladjustment and place a child at risk for later and potentially more serious problems."

Family support programs, prevention programs in schools and preschools and pregnancy prevention programs for teenagers have been found to help children with mental health problems, the report said. They lead not only to "positive changes in social, emotional and academic measures, but such programs appear capable of preventing later government expenditures through the justice and welfare systems."

Three die in military air crashes

Military planes crashed in four states, killing three servicemen, while four crew members safely ejected before their crafts went down, authorities say.

The accidents, which occurred Wednesday in Alabama, California, Texas and Arizona, injured four servicemen.

In Alabama, an Air Force C-21A Lear passenger plane crashed near a trailer park shortly after takeoff, said Frank Taylor, a spokesman at Maxwell Air Force Base, outside Montgomery.

An officer was pulled from the wreckage of before it exploded in a field near a trailer park in Alabama.

The jet "couldn't have been 30 or 40 feet" above the trailer park, said witness Willie Streeter. "It was like they were trying to control it and they couldn't."

Another witness, Harry Bailey, said he went to the wreckage and pulled the survivor away. Bailey said he turned and saw someone tapping on the cockpit window but the aircraft burst into flames before he could rescue him.

Killed were Maj. Charles Edward Sullivan III, 42, of Alexandria, Va., and Lt. Vincent L. Michael, 23, of San Antonio, Texas, said Capt. Pat Engelhardt of Eglin Air Force Base, where the plane had been assigned. The jet had been returning to the base near Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

Lt. William Edward Kelley, 26, of Abington, Pa., was hospitalized in serious condition with leg injuries and burns, officials said.

In California, an A-6 Intruder flying a training mission crashed a few miles northwest of the El Centro Naval Air Facility during a training mission, said base spokesman Robert Haagenson.

The name of the flier killed and the crew member who ejected and was injured were withheld pending notification of relatives. The survivor was treated at a base hospital 110 miles east of San Diego, Haagenson said.

The plane was assigned to the Naval Air Station on Whidby Island, Wash.

A Navy A-4 jet out of El Centro crashed outside Yuma, Ariz., during a practice bombing run, said another El Centro spokesman, Chief Warrant Officer Tim Bennett. The two crew members who ejected suffered minor injuries.

In Texas, a F-4S Phantom jet clipped a broadcast tower in Cedar Hill south of Dallas, knocking out two radio stations for more than three hours, officials said. The pilot, Marine Reserve Capt. Jody Ashford of Mesquite, Texas, and a radar intercept officer, Maj. Larry Pandy of Perrin, Texas, ejected before the crash and were not injured.

Committee: New Mexico should buy water rights

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico can best protect its water supply by determining long-range regional needs within the state and purchasing water rights to meet them, a research committee said.

The Water Law Study Committee said in a draft copy of its report that the state should buy as much water rights as possible by applying for the rights just like anyone else.

Anyone can apply to the state engineer's office for use of unappropriated ground water. The city of El Paso is currently seeking permits to drill wells in southern Dona Ana and Otero counties.

The state engineer has to allocate water on a first-come, first-served basis to anyone who meets certain conditions.

Like any other applicant, the state would have to show it needs the water and would put it to use within a certain time.
