Hise retiring; schools chief sought

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer
Big Spring school board members unanimously but reluctantly approved the retirement resignation of Superintendent Lynn Hise during the board's meeting Thursday night.
Hise plans to step down on June 1 — two years early, because his contract runs through June 1989. He asked the board to approve the early release.
Later, board President Bill Brooks anticipated that the board would name a replacement by sometime in April.
The 21-year-veteran of the Big Spring school system announced his retirement in a letter read by Brooks. In it, Hise wrote he did not regret for one minute the 33 years he has devoted to public education.

Board member Jimmy Anderson said he was "reluctantly" making the motion to grant Hise's wish. It was seconded by Dan Wise before receiving unanimous approval.
Brooks said the board agreed to work jointly with the Texas Association of School Boards to hire a new superintendent.
"I had set a goal to retire in 1987. This really is not a deviation from that goal," Hise said later about his decision.

The Salfurrias native began his education career after earning a bachelor of arts degree in music education from Sul Ross University in 1951.
He eventually earned a master's degree in education administration from Sul Ross and served as a band director in the Iraan-Sheffield and Van Horn school systems.
He moved to Big Spring in 1966 and was principal at Boydston Elementary School before becoming assistant superintendent of the school district a year later.
In 1977, he replaced Superintendent Emmett McKenzie.
During his 10-year leadership,

Hise cited the settling of major law suits as accomplishments.
He spoke in particular of a 1983 federal consent decree on segregation, eventually agreed to by the school district and federal government, and which created the Bauer Magnet Elementary School.
Integrating the magnet concept with Bauer Elementary School diluted the heavy concentration of minority students that concerned the federal government, he said.
The magnet concept created a more integrated campus at the Bauer school as a result of students transferring to the special program, Hise said.

A major problem during his reign as superintendent has been the dwindling population that Big Spring began experiencing with the closing of Webb Air Force base in the 1970s, he said.
"His tenure as superintendent began at a time with the closing of the base. It was during a period of declining enrollment," said Don Crockett, the district's business manager.
"I regret I couldn't lead more innovative programs," Hise said.
He and his wife Mary Nell will remain in Big Spring, where Hise said he will pursue his interest in music.

Hise's tenure a challenging one

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer
Lynn Hise, Big Spring Independent School District superintendent, took the position under tremendous pressure, one former school board member recalled this morning upon learning of Hise's retirement plans.
Al Valdes, who served on the school board 12 years and retired last year, said Hise has done "a super job as superintendent," and described Hise as very dedicated.
Valdes was on the school board when Hise assumed responsibilities from former Superintendent Dr. Emmett McKenzie, a time of turmoil within the system, he said.
The district was involved in a lawsuit with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare over the desegregation of a school. Bauer Elementary School did not comply with desegregation requirements, the suit charged. When the school district attempted to bus students from one area of town to another in order to comply with the law, parents resisted, Valdes said.

"It's easy to transfer somebody else's kid to another school but (not) yours," he remarked.
The magnet school concept was implemented at that time. Children from all areas of town may attend Bauer Magnet School, to take advantage of extended-day learning and extra-curricular activities such as computers, typing, sports and use of the YMCA facilities.
"That's the best thing that ever happened to the school district," Valdes said, because it resulted in the painless desegregation of the northside school on a voluntary basis.

Former board member Delbert Donelson, who served on the school board seven years, said he is impressed with the way Hise handled the "difficult and controversial things we had to deal with," such as the desegregation problem.
"Through his leadership, we settled it in a satisfactory manner, to the best interests of the school district," he said.
Current board member Bill Brooks said that in addition to desegregation, House Bill 72 and the community's loss of Webb Air Force Base were major issues during Hise's tenure.
When the Air Force base closed, Big Spring lost a "tremendous" percentage of the student population, and was forced to close five schools. Brooks said Hise was responsible.

State to expand water conservation areas

From staff and wire reports
AUSTIN — Thanks to a 1981 underground water conservation district, Glasscock County is not among 10 sections of the state slated for a detailed study as possible critical ground water areas.
State officials last summer initially listed the southern portion of the county for scrutiny, explained Bill Klemt, chief of groundwater conservation section of the Texas Water Commission.

However, since the area already is included in an underground water conservation district, state water authorities are placing the area on the back burner and monitoring it.
First attention is being given to problem areas that do not already have such districts.

By law, an area designated as critical will be considered for creation of an underground water conservation district, which would have broad powers to prevent pollution and overdrafts (pumping in excess of recharge, based on water level declines) of groundwater.
Detailed studies required, however.

First, officials of the Texas Water Commission and the Texas Water Development Board currently are working on ranking the 10 proposed areas across the state to see in what order the areas will be studied.
Advisory committees will then be formed in each area to work with the agencies and participate in the detailed studies.

Other West Texas areas included in the final 10 regions include Reeves and El Paso Counties, Klemt said.
He said that Commission reports indicate that there has been a decline ranging from 20 to 40 feet in water levels in southern Glasscock County during the past 10 years.

Crime Jury acts on 41 cases

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer
Howard County grand jurors returned decisions Thursday evening on 41 cases, including two involving murder charges. The action came after convening for three days this week.
They passed on three cases and two persons pleaded guilty to their charges during the grand jury deliberation.
A former inmate at Big Spring Federal Prison Camp was charged with solicitation to commit murder in a case that occurred in June, according to a case list from District Attorney's Rick Hamby's office.
Robert Dodds, 36, is suspected of plotting an attempted murder of a prison employee, Hamby said. Another inmate was involved with the attempt, but he was not charged, the district attorney said.
The case was presented to his office after Texas Ranger Charles Brune investigated, Hamby said.
Federal Camp Superintendent Anthony Belaski confirmed

Hamby's statements this morning. Both Dodds and the other inmate have been transferred to more secure federal institutions, Belaski said.
The target was not identified or injured, the superintendent said.
The case is also being investigated and will receive jurisdiction on the federal level, Belaski said.
Abilene FBI agents first notified Brune of the case, Belaski said.
Grand jurors also reduced a murder charge to a charge of involuntary manslaughter concerning the shooting death of a 23-year-old man by his father in October.
Richard Del Cantwell, 45, Gail Route Box 735, was arrested by Howard County sheriff's deputies on Oct. 19.
He is a former Big Spring police detective, retired from the force at the time of the shooting.
Hamby said he expects both Dodds' and Cantwell's cases will receive jury trial dates in approximately three weeks.

Decrease seen in '86

Crime in Big Spring decreased during 1986 in all but two areas over the previous year, according to police department statistics.
Lt. J.D. Carter said four murders occurred during 1986, compared to two during 1985. The murders include those of 81-year-old Ara Erline Bohannon and of Disidoro Canales Jr., 800 Willia St., died of multiple gunshot wounds.
Burglaries increased 4 percent from 561 to 667, Carter said, adding that an increase in burglaries is not unusual with a downturn in the economy.
Ara Erline Bohannon, 81, was found dead, bound and gagged in her residence at 1106 Howell Lane May 23. She had been sexually assaulted and beaten, her home ransacked and her car stolen.
Andy Guzman, 20, 1501 Stadium Ave., was sentenced to life in prison after pleading guilty to the capital murder of the elderly woman.

Joseph Gilbert Garcia, 19, 510 Donley St., was sentenced to 30 years in prison for the burglary.
An argument at a party at which participants were sniffing paint, drinking and carrying firearms escalated into murder in April when 24-year-old Disidoro Canales Jr., 800 Willia St., died of multiple gunshot wounds.
Ricky Ornelas, 18, received a 37-year prison sentence for the crime. He had previously served a year in prison for a felony aggravated assault conviction five years earlier.
Lt. Carter reported that rapes decreased 21 percent, from 14 in 1985 to 11 in 1986. Robberies decreased from 24 in 1985 to 22 in 1986. Larceny decreased from 1,213 in 1985 to 1,196 in 1986; and auto burglaries decreased 13 percent, from 87 in 1985 to 76 in 1986.

Accident results in arrest

A Big Spring man described by police as "extremely intoxicated" was injured in a one-vehicle accident early this morning.

Billy Don Wilson Jr., 21, whose address was listed as 6061 Industrial Park, was treated and released from Scenic Mountain Medical Center, a hospital spokeswoman said.

The accident occurred at Tulane and Fourth Street at 2:28 a.m. today. Wilson was driving a yellow Ford pickup west at the 2900 block of the Interstate-20 south service road.

Police reports state he disregarded a stop sign and drove into a concrete drainage ditch.

Wilson was arrested for public intoxication.

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said in order to charge someone with driving while intoxicated, an officer or citizen must observe him behind the wheel of a car. Wilson was not observed behind the car's wheel, he said.

Researcher and supporter

Bob Coltrane views a slide displayed by research scientist Dr. Larry Jefferson, Baylor College of Medicine. Jefferson visited Big Spring Thursday to present a report on his project "Sodium Bicarbonate in Resuscitation from Asphyxia in Immature Pigs" at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. The research project is dedicated to Coltrane, president of the local American Heart Association, in recognition of Coltrane's service to the Association. He is an admissions counselor at SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

New policy suspends students for drugs

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado Independent School District board of trustees took a firm stand this week against drugs and alcohol in the schools by adopting a policy calling for the suspension of students caught with either.

CHS principal Jerry Reynolds said that House Bill 13 allows for student suspension on the first offense and Supt. Charlie Useton recommended Monday that the policy be adopted.

The policy will go into effect Jan. 19, the beginning of the second semester. It states that if a student is caught with drugs or alcohol, the student will be suspended from school for the remainder of the semester.

Useton said the use of a drug-sniffing dog to detect concealed drugs or alcohol on school campuses is still under consideration. He said he will have a recommendation at a future board meeting.

In other business, citizens Priscilla Martin and Jane Mitchell told the board of the formation of a parent-teacher organization to work with the school district in a positive manner to address problems in the schools. The board pledged its support of the group.

Rogene Spruell, a citizen who had addressed the board at its December meeting about a number of subjects asked if the school district had determined the amount of supplies it buys from the local athletic supply store, as compared to out-of-town suppliers.

Athletic Director Tom Ramsey replied that C.C. Athletics had 35 purchase orders in 1986-87 school year, more than twice as many as the next supplier. He said the school district has purchased $56,059 worth of supplies from the local store in the past two and a half years, slightly more than $55,729 spent with West Texas Stadium Sports in Midland, second on the list.

In response to a question by Mrs. Spruell, Ramsey read rules concerning coaches being in the in-field during track and field events. He said regional and state meets prohibit coaches from being in the in-field and that district rules are set by each district. At other events, the host team sets the rules, he said.

In other business, the board extended Useton's contract for one year, with the same salary of $55,525.

Colorado City council names judge and secretary to posts

COLORADO CITY - Kay Craighead was appointed city secretary and Clayton Finch named municipal judge by the Colorado City Council Tuesday night.

Mrs. Craighead replaces Tina Raschke who resigned in October.

Finch, who has been acting as interim judge, replaces Ben Costin who resigned in November.

City Manager Brenda Tarter made the recommendation to hire Mrs. Craighead at an annual salary of $14,000. Mrs. Craighead has previous city hall experience.

Finch owns a laundry and had experience as a part-time dispatcher for the police department. His salary will be $500 per month, with the hours to be scheduled later.

Mayor Elmer Martin announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election this year. Martin has served on the council eight years, seven of which as mayor and one as mayor pro-tem.

In other business, the council:

- Approved on second reading an ordinance establishing speed limit for traffic control on Rodgers Road.
- Approved a health monitor option for employee health insurance.
- Adopted a fire station regulation manual concerning maintenance of the new facility.
- Approved a $59,522 payment to Panhandle Construction for partial payment for work done installing a new sewer line in the south part of town.
- Heard annual reports from the museum and fire department which show the museum had 2,976 visitors in 1986 and the fire department responded to a total of 169 calls in 1986.

Probations ordered

Judge James Gregg of the 118th District Court ordered two prison probation sentences Thursday for men who confessed to felony crimes.

Les Lloyd, 20, 3900 Parkway Road, pleaded guilty to delivering a controlled substance. He was arrested on Dec. 16 by Big Spring police.

He was placed on a 10-year probation sentence and ordered to pay court costs.

Johnnie See Turner, 35, Gail Route Box 231, pleaded guilty to a theft charge. He received a five-year probation sentence from Gregg.

Former board member Bert Harris said Hise "knew at all times what was going on in the schools and what was expected by the state," even during the implementation of House Bill 72 requirements.

Harris said he believes House Bill 72 was the toughest crisis Hise faced during his tenure. "It upset the whole apple cart," he said.

After detailed studies are completed, a report with recommendations from both agencies and the committees will be prepared. A public hearing will be conducted before the water commission

A critical area is one that is experiencing serious ground water problems or is expected to within 20 years. Possible problems in critical areas would be water shortages, underground water contamination and land subsidence caused by underground water pumping.

Board calls for brakes

WASHINGTON — The federal board probing last week's fatal Amtrak collision near Baltimore is calling for automatic brakes on all trains sharing tracks with passenger traffic in the busy Northeast corridor and says regulators should have required such a backup device long ago.

The high-speed Amtrak passenger trains that use the corridor from Washington to Boston are equipped with the automatic braking systems which trigger within six seconds if a train operator does not comply with a change-of-speed signal.

Freight trains such as the Conrail locomotives involved in a collision with an Amtrak train Jan. 4 are not required to have the devices, although the National Transportation Safety Board urged at least three times in the past decade that some kind of automated train control system be put on trains as a backstop against human failings.

Baby dies in air crash

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Six people injured in the crash of a small plane survived a night of subzero cold on a snowy mountain pass by huddling in the wreckage and burning aviation fuel, but a baby who had been aboard died.

The three men and three women were rescued Thursday morning, 22 hours after the single-engine Cessna on a 200-mile charter flight from Anchorage to Nondalton went down in blinding snow and clouds about 65 miles west of Anchorage.

"We laid blankets over everybody so we could keep them warm so they wouldn't start getting hypothermia. People were in a lot of pain. They were screaming," passenger John Kuczumski, 22, said Thursday.

Pilot Fred Simms of Anchorage started a fire with fuel. The plane's wings, tail and nose had been shorn off, but the fuselage shielded them from the wind, Kuczumski said.

The plane's emergency locator transmitter was not working and the pilot did not file a flight plan, so officials did not know the plane was overdue until about four hours after the crash, when a worried relative called, authorities said.

Audi series recalled

DETROIT — The recall of 250,000 Audi 5000-series cars further darkens the company's already tarnished image and may continue to depress sales of the luxury imports, according to an auto industry analyst.

However, the administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration said the recall announced Thursday would boost the sagging image of Audi, a subsidiary of Volkswagen of America Inc.

Audi spokesman Joe Bennett said the recall could cost Audi more than $10 million. The average price of the recalled cars is $23,000, he said.

Rebekah Whitelock, 20, stands outside her home Thursday where debris from a mid-air collision fell into the bedroom area. The collision between a SkyWest commuter plane and a smaller single-engine plane claimed the lives of ten people.

Air crash

Neighborhood witnesses tragedy

KEARNS, Utah (AP) — About 150 elementary school pupils at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic School were finishing lunch when an airplane collision at 7,000 feet pelted the front porch with debris.

"To my knowledge, none of them saw it," the Rev. Louis Fischer said of the youngsters, who were evacuated by bus Thursday to a sheriff's office to await their parents.

Other residents saw the grisly remains of the crash. "I saw a body hit right there," said Floyd Ries, 22, pointing to the church parking lot.

"I ran over to see if she was all right or if there was anything I could do. When I got there, I saw that the only thing holding her together was her clothes."

Kathy Horne, a playground aide at West Kearns Elementary School, said she "heard this boom and looked up and I saw a white flash."

"I saw the debris flying off in all different directions," she said. "I saw the main part of the body of the one plane going east," she said. "I went in (to the school) and yelled, 'A plane just exploded out here!'"

Authorities from at least seven agencies converged on St. Francis Xavier school and church, turning classrooms into a command post and a church storage room into a morgue after the collision of a Skywest Airlines commuter plane and a single-engine aircraft killed all 10 people aboard the planes. The school was to be closed today, officials said.

The impact hurled bodies and wreckage over a three-mile area.

The fuselage of the Skywest Metroliner "just kind of went plop, right out of the sky," landing in the middle of a snow-covered residential street behind St. Francis Xavier, four bodies inside, said Salt Lake County Sheriff's Deputy Les Newrin.

Two blocks away, the Skywest landing gear and a wing crashed through the roof of Rebekah Whitelock's home as she mopped her floor.

"I thought it was the end of the world. I thought it was a nuclear bomb or something," said Whitelock, 20, after the wreckage caved in the bedroom of the pink and white house.

"I was four steps away from opening up the door and it hit. My two kitties didn't make it," she said.

It was the worst plane disaster in the Salt Lake Valley since 1965, when a United Airlines jetliner crashed on landing at Salt Lake International and burst into flames, killing 43.

Chief made 'mistakes'

PEKING — Communist Party chief Hu Yaobang resigned in disgrace today after weeks of student protests and a crackdown on pro-Western intellectuals whom he reportedly backed. Premier Zhao Ziyang was elected to replace him.

The 71-year-old Hu, once considered a likely successor to top leader Deng Xiaoping, resigned after saying he made "mistakes on major issues of political principles," the official Xinhua News Agency and national television reported.

The announcement ended days of speculation that Hu would be ousted. Deng reportedly was unhappy with the way Hu handled the students' pro-democracy demonstrations and the subsequent party campaign against critics.

An enlarged session of the Politburo, the party's top decision-making body, accepted Hu's resignation and unanimously selected Zhao as the new secretary-general of the 44-million-member party, Xinhua said.

Police charge busboy

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Officials added 96 counts of first-degree murder to the arson charges already faced by a Dupont Plaza Hotel busboy in the New Year's Eve blaze that killed 96 people. Doctors said one set of remains may never be identified.

The murder charges were filed Thursday against Armando Jimenez Rivera, 28, who also was charged in San Juan District Court with arson, conspiracy and destruction of property.

He was charged Wednesday in federal court with arson and aiding and abetting another hotel employee, maintenance man Hector Escudero Aponte, whom officials believe actually set the fire.

Conspiracy charges were filed Thursday against Escudero Aponte, 35, who already had been charged with arson, destruction of property and 96 counts of first-degree murder.

The two men, both longtime hotel employees, were to appear in U.S. District Court today for bail hearings on the federal arson charges.

Jihad ignores Waite

BEIRUT, Lebanon — The pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad organization today threatened terrorist attacks against Kuwait if a summit conference of Islamic nations is held there this month.

The threat was made in a typewritten statement delivered to a Western news agency in west Beirut along with a picture of American hostage and Associated Press correspondent Terry Anderson, who was kidnapped March 16, 1985.

Islamic Jihad, or Islamic Holy War, claims to hold Anderson, educator Thomas Sutherland and at least three Frenchmen hostage.

Pay erosion felt by working poor

Federal employees, President Reagan points out, have experienced a "substantial erosion" of pay in recent years. To halt that erosion, he has recommended significant pay raises. Members of Congress, for example, would make $89,500; Cabinet officers, $99,500; and appeals court judges, $95,000. Good work if you can get it.

Those who can't might be interested in the fact that the minimum wage is still $3.35 an hour. It has been $3.35 an hour in the six years Ronald Reagan has been president. That works out to $134 for a 40-hour week.

Congress last dealt with the minimum-wage issue in 1977, when it passed a series of four increases, the last of which took effect on Jan. 1, 1981. Meanwhile, the cost of living has risen 20 percent.

A person working full-time, year-round at $3.35 an hour will earn only $6,968.

The poverty level for a family of three was $8,573 in 1985, the latest year for which figures are available.

And yes, there are families, many of them, that are affected by the minimum wage. They fall into the category of the working poor.

They work because they prefer self-sufficiency to being on welfare. They know the minimum wage, and they know something about "substantial erosion" as well.

Chancellor still beats around bush

The rerun season came early to West German television. One of the country's networks mistakenly ran Chancellor Helmut Kohl's 1986 New Year's address, rather than his 1987 speech.

The network later apologized and ran the correct speech. But viewers apparently didn't remember enough of the 1986 oration to spot the repeat performance until Mr. Kohl wished his listeners a "peaceful 1986."

Mr. Kohl's party accused the opposition of sabotage, apparently on the theory that the chancellor's speeches don't bear listening to more than once.

Predictably, an opposition party spokesman said there was no difference between the speeches: "He beat around the bush in his 1987 message just as he did in the 1986 one."

Does that sound like a familiar tune?

Grace Caucus saves billions by eliminating wastefulness

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — When the federal cash is counted at the end of this fiscal year, there will be a projected savings of $41.7 billion from squeezing waste out of government programs. This enormous amount will be saved every year, in fact, because the waste has been permanently eliminated.

But it would be premature for taxpayers to start shouting hosannas. The bad news is that another $100 billion disappears down the government drain year after year.

Meanwhile, the extravagance of Congress and the laws of economics have been pushing the public debt relentlessly up, up, up, impervious to the gravitational pull of economic reality. Federal spending has ascended to heights that economists regard as unconscionable; they fear the public debt could soar beyond all economic control.

The government's spending habits have to be reversed to avoid a smashup. Yet the congressmen who appropriate all the money are nonchalant about the forbidding consequences. Since no single member can be held accountable for what the whole Congress does, each can afford, if he wishes, to be irresponsible.

The onrush crisis is unlikely to affect the convivial, collusive atmosphere on Capitol Hill. All too many congressmen are expected to continue indulging in the same old flummery, bargaining selfishly for patronage and pork, putting parochial interests ahead of the national welfare. They look forward to the political pleasures of spending unprecedented amounts of money before the roof falls in.

These congressmen have learned to swim in the wake of the widening deficit. If the hullabaloo over the deficit starts to resemble a crisis, they won't abandon their extravagance; they'll merely howl for more taxes. For an unspoken alliance exists between the appropriators and the spenders against the taxpayers.

Yet glimpses of sunlight can be seen through the clouds. Many conscientious congressmen are responding to the danger signs and are signing up in the Grace Caucus, named for that caustic crusader against government waste, J. Peter Grace.

Last year they voted for billions in savings that could begin the prodigious adjustment to a balanced budget. The Grace Coalition, which runs the national campaign to stamp out waste in government, has called for 2,478 reforms that would reduce federal waste, inefficiency and mismanagement. The implementation of these recommendations would save an estimated $41.5 billion every year.

In a report to co-chairmen Grace and Jack Anderson, executive director George Goldberger projected $41.7 billion in savings from the reforms that have already been adopted. This is one-third of the possible savings — a respectable amount, but which still leaves $99.8 billion in continuing waste that should be eliminated.

Of the 2,478 proposals, President Reagan has accepted 1,741. Of these, 596 have been implemented, 819 are in the process of implementation and 326 are proposed for implementation in the 1987 budget. The president has done about all he can do to achieve the recommended savings; it is now largely up to Congress to eliminate the waste.

The big spenders, of course, would rather raise taxes to reduce the deficit so they can continue their prodigal ways. But if Congress will simply eliminate the waste, it won't be necessary to increase taxes. The taxpayers can find out who's on their side by asking their congressmen whether they belong to the Grace Caucus.

Footnote: Goldberger's figures are based upon the findings of the White House Office of Management and Budget and the Congressional Budget Office.

BEIRUT BLUES: There was a time — long ago — when Beirut was known as the Paris of the Middle East, and was a highly prized assignment for swinging singles in the Foreign Service.

Now Beirut is a certified hardship post and the greatest single preoccupation of personnel assigned there is survival.

To help in this worthy endeavor, Foggy Bottom briefs its Beirut-bound diplomats on ways to thwart terrorists and kidnapers.

SAVE THE DELEGATES!: The Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species was founded in 1973 with 24 nations as members.

Now it has 92, but some governments either don't care enough or can't afford to send delegates to the annual meetings. So private environmental groups and better-off countries, like the United States, have been paying the fare for those members' delegates.

But some nations charge that the rich folks are buying votes with their travel vouchers.

MINI-EDITORIAL: It's the morning after on the tiny Scottish island of Eriskany in the Outer Hebrides, but what a grand party it has been.

Back in 1941 a ship carrying 20,300 cases of Scotch whiskey ran onto the rocks and broke up — but not before the hardy residents of Eriskany (population 200) had rescued the cargo and hidden it from snooping Sassenach officials.

A movie — "Tight Little Island" — was made about the incident and tourism boomed on the bleak Atlantic fflyspeck. Now the supply of free whiskey has run out, and a pub — hitherto unneeded — will soon open, named after the ship that brought such a glow to Eriskany.

White House agenda says hold the line

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN
The Iranamok affair, in which the White House contrived to simultaneously decimate American interests in two crucial areas of the world, has left U.S. foreign policy in a hopeless mess.

But even before the populace knew Oliver North from Oliver Hardy, the administration had stalled on the domestic front, having run out of ideas and energy. Here, the agenda for the last two years of Ronald Reagan's term is brief and uninspired: Hold the line.

This is quite a change from the past six years, which witnesses a parade of Reagan triumphs. He got a 25 percent cut in tax rates, rolled back regulations on a variety of economic activities, won some victories in an assault on domestic spending, pushed through a rewrite of the tax code and lent decisive support to an overhaul of the immigration laws.

Now what? The administration doesn't seem to know. Compounding the lack of drive is a sense of confusion. The only ambitious proposal kicking around these days is one that could have come from Walter Mondale: an expansion of Medicare to pay for catastrophic illness.

This plan, offered by Secretary of Health and Human Services Otis Bowen, is supposed to be financed by monthly "premiums" paid by beneficiaries. Considering that they don't pay for all the coverage they get now, and that the Medicare trust fund has a huge long-term deficit, that promise is likely to prove empty.

People at the Labor Department likewise seem to have forgotten who won the 1984 election. A task force on plant closings is set to recommend a federal initiative to pay for worker retraining and placement, at an estimated cost of more than half a billion dollars, besides interfering in managerial decisions about the shuttering of unprofitable operations.

Originally the scheme was to be paid for by raising the payroll tax, but that idea was dropped in deference to a certain President's well-known opposition to tax increases. Now it presumably will be paid for by increasing the deficit.

The sounder ideas are considerably more modest. One, proposed by the Presidential Task Force on Regulatory Relief, is to abolish fuel economy standards for cars, a boneheaded relic of the Carter energy "crisis."

These are all worthy suggestions, but they're hardly in a class with Reagan's previous achievements. If he wants the last quarter of his time in office to add up to more than an epilogue, he needs to return to the audacious approach of his first term. If he decides to go for broke, he could tackle two noble projects.

The first is to abolish farm subsidies, an area in which Reagan has been an utter failure. Federal subsidies to farmers have more than doubled since 1981 and now add up to $25 billion a year — all to prevent the sort of free market that Reagan advocates elsewhere. Given the failure of government management, agriculture deserves a dose of laissez-faire.

The second is to overhaul Social Security, a combination of insurance and welfare which has the worst elements of each — and which is headed for bankruptcy in the next century. If the biggest domestic program is off-limits, what hope is there for truly reducing the size of government? A better, cheaper system would halt transfer payments to those who are not poor, while guaranteeing a minimum income to those old people genuinely in need.

Winning either of these fights would be fitting conclusions to Reagan's presidency; the two together would be a monumental achievement. A daring domestic offensive may be the only way to prevent his administration from becoming weak and irrelevant. If Reagan's going to fail — and he may not — at least it will be at something big.

Reader hates being hounded by charities chasing funds

DEAR ABBY: I am not rich, neither am I poor. I've always contributed to the charities I feel are deserving, and nobody has to remind me to make my annual contribution, but things have now gotten out of hand.

Lately I have been deluged with what appear to be "bills" from numerous well-known organizations, pleading that they are desperately in need of funds. Yesterday, I received 16 requests from charities — yes, 16 — with urgent "please-help-us-now" letters, of which 12 were third and fourth requests! I felt as though I was being billed for a debt that was long overdue.

I am aware that charities need funding, but I am so annoyed at this point, I am ready to toss all of these letters into the wastepaper basket without even opening the envelopes — even though some may contain a 22-cent postage stamp that could be used for another purpose.

Abby, please get this message across. These people need to know how turned off some of us get when we are...

DUNNED TO DEATH
DEAR DUNNED: I couldn't agree with you more. But please don't quit giving to the charities of your choice because of those who dun you to death with high-pressure tactics.

DEAR ABBY: My 58-year-old husband has a habit of sitting sideways at the table when we are eating. He always has turned his chair sideways, and now the children, ages 27, 22 and 19, are doing exactly the same thing. This is especially annoying when we have company for dinner.

Would it be wrong to tell my family to please sit the proper way, or leave the table?

E.A.K.
DEAR E.A.K.: Yes, it would be wrong. However, you could tell them before your guests arrive to please sit properly at the dinner table. And by the way, if your husband has always sat that way, your chances of breaking that irritating habit are slim. But you could work on the 19-year-old.

because she gets so little happiness from her husband.

Well, the inevitable happened. Her husband found one of those letters Joan had carelessly left in the bathroom. Although it was addressed to me, he read it and became very angry. He confronted Joan, they talked it out and she promised to end all contact with Jim. He forgave her, but he refuses to speak to me or have me in his house. He hangs up on me when I call, and I am never included in anything they do together.

Joan tried to reason with him, but he is very stubborn. She is forgiven. Meanwhile I am being punished.

What advice have you for me?
OUT IN THE COLD IN WISCONSIN

DEAR OUT: Try to put it out of your mind. You can't change anyone but yourself. Unfair? Yes. But you are paying dearly for having been a party to a sneaky business in the first place. I hope your sad story will prevent someone else from making that mistake.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, so family means a lot to me. My sister, whom I'll call Joan, is married. Hers is not a happy marriage, but she has tried hard to make it work. Joan asked me to receive mail for her at my address, and I agreed. She's corresponding with "Jim," a former boyfriend. He is also married, and they see each other occasionally and maintain contact by mail. When I see how happy Joan is when she gets a letter from Jim, it does my heart good

Health is topic at Modern Woman's Forum

Emily Ward, public relations director at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, was guest speaker at the Jan. 9th meeting of the Modern Woman's Forum.

The group met at the home of Evie Eastham.

Irene Smith, program leader, introduced Ward who presented, "Health, You're Worth It."

Ward said that attitude has a lot to do with health and in order to have good health in later life, one should eat good food, exercise and keep well emotionally.

If there are physical defects that preclude ordinary types of exercise, she said that one should develop passive exercises to keep the body and mind alert.

Other suggestions she offered were to develop a special inner circle of close friends and an outer circle to grow from.

"Women, especially mothers, are inclined to neglect themselves to give to their family. To stay well emotionally one should develop special confidential friends in whom one can confide worries as well as happy events."

Ward added that health should never be taken for granted and daily exercise, good food and supplements are necessary.

Next club meeting will be Jan. 23 at the home of Nola Whitaker.

Appetite suppressants bad news for dieting

By NYU MEDICAL CENTER
Even at recommended dosages, over-the-counter appetite suppressants can cause serious side effects and will not provide significant weight-loss benefits, according to a physician at the New York University Medical Center.

"The risks associated with taking these medications completely outweigh any of their potential benefits," said Dr. Lewis Goldfrank, associate professor of clinical medicine.

Goldfrank, who also directs emergency medical services at Bellevue Hospital Center, singled out phenylpropranolamine (PPA), the most common ingredient in over-the-counter diet aids, as a potentially dangerous substance. "PPA is similar in its potential for abuse to amphetamines and cocaine. In addition, even at recommended dosages it causes high blood pressure in one-third of the healthy young adults who use it," he said.

The adverse consequences of taking PPA can be quite serious for people with a variety of medical conditions, such as high blood pressure or diabetes. Also at risk are those taking medications such as MAO inhibitors, tricyclic antidepressants, phenothiazine tranquilizers (such as chlorpromazine), and arthritis medication (such as indomethacin). "In these instances, PPA can cause the blood pressure to skyrocket, and may lead to a fatal heart attack or cerebral hemorrhage," said Goldfrank.

In general, Goldfrank believes there is little place for appetite suppressants in a weight-loss program. "Even at the suggested dosage, weight loss induced by the pills is insignificant and usually short-lived," he concluded. "Permanent weight loss cannot be chemically induced."

Humidify air to end chronic nasal drip

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What can a person do about a chronically runny nose in the winter time? I lay down at night and within a few minutes I feel a tickle in my throat, and I have to cough. This, too, is a winter thing. Are the runny nose and cough part of the same problem? — Mrs. A.J.

They probably are related. But the problem begins with the nose, and the name for the condition is vasomotor rhinitis. I am just now getting my annual quota of complaints from sufferers of this seasonal affliction.

Vasomotor rhinitis, which any regular reader can tell you, is an exuberant manifestation of normal nasal function. Normally, the pint or so of nasal mucus drains easily and is swallowed along with salivary secretions. Some people are bothered by excessive production of those normal salivary substances. Most often, however, nasal secretions produce the real irritations.

The "vasomotor" part of vasomotor rhinitis refers to fluid that seeps from blood vessels of the nose. That's a normal thing, too, but the fluid seepage can be excessive and create more volume than we can comfortably abide. The excess vessel seepage occurs as a natural response of the nasal passages to some irritation.

In winter, outdoor cold can trigger a great amount of discharge. But for most, the trigger is the lack of proper humidity in the home, where most of the day is spent. A one-word answer for that is "humidify."

Dr. Donohue

Another contributor to the problem is smoking. In others, perfumes turn on the nasal faucets.

Sparing use of drugs, like antihistamines and decongestants, can be justified for temporary control of the environmental causes you cannot eliminate, but most often, an understanding of what is going on and why points the way to the cure.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was diagnosed by a major clinic as having porphyria. I cannot stay in the sun long because I am allergic to it. Can you, first, explain porphyria for me and, second, tell me if I should take vitamin D? Because that is in sunlight and I am allergic to sunlight, I worry about taking D supplement. — D.C.L.

Have no fear of vitamin D. First of all, it is not in sunlight, and second, it has nothing to do with porphyria.

I wish I knew what form of porphyria you have, because it is really a group of inherited illnesses.

They do all have one thing in common — an inborn defect in production of porphyrins.

Porphyrins are the raw materials of hemoglobin, the substance in red blood cells that captures oxygen and transports it to all body tissues and organs. In porphyria, the porphyrins build up in the body and cause havoc.

These substances sensitize the skin to sunlight. With exposure, the skin blisters very severely in people with porphyria. They also cause trouble in nerves, the liver and other organs.

The sun's ultraviolet rays convert a skin substance, called a provitamin, into vitamin D. But because you have porphyria does not mean you are allergic to vitamin D in food or supplement pills. Certainly, you can take it if your doctor thinks you need it to make up for the lack of D production you are lacking by not going out in the sun.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My doc is talking heart surgery for me, and already I'm jittery. How could I get to meet other people who've gone through it? It would make me feel more confident, and confidence is something I need badly. — S.B.

You can ask your doctor if he might let you meet one of his heart patients. It's not a bad idea, really. In fact, it is good enough to have been used extensively in at least one large city — Boston. There it is known as "Mended Hearts." The theory is that a well-informed patient is a better patient. Not only that, but it has been demonstrated that the better informed the patient is, the better he emerges from the surgery. Perhaps a local chapter of the American Heart Association knows of a similar group near you. Let me know how you fare in this, OK?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have heard of the law of diminishing returns used when referring to the amount of miles logged by a jogger or walker. Can you expand on this a bit. I take a brisk 30-minute walk three times a week. If three times a week helps this 60-year-old lady get benefits, why not six times a week? — K.M.

If you have the time and endurance, there's nothing wrong with daily exercise. There is a point at which adding miles walked or run will not add to the aerobic benefits. For jogging, that point is about 12 miles for a week, for example.

But the real point is how long you sustain the training heart rate. Doing that for 30 minutes three days a week gives you all the aerobic benefit you need or can get.

I'm speaking of walking strictly for health purposes, not for competition. The three sessions a week is a minimum, not an ideal maximum. If you get approval, the training heart rate goal is determined by subtracting your age from 220, then finding 70-80 percent of that.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Officials seeking quick extradition

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The Justice Ministry today predicted West Germany would quickly extradite to the United States a Lebanese accused of hijacking a TWA jetliner and killing one hostage.

Justice Ministry spokesman Juergen Schmid said, however, that before expedition could be granted, West German law required a guarantee that the suspect, Mohammed Ali Hamadi, not be sentenced to death if convicted.

The 22-year-old Hamadi was seized at Frankfurt airport when customs agents discovered three wine bottles in his carry-on luggage containing methyl nitrate, a fluid sometimes used in making explosives, security officials said Thursday.

He was one of four people indicted in the United States on charges of conspiring to commit air piracy and murder in the 1985 TWA hijacking, during which a U.S. Navy diver was shot to death.

The hijackers held 39 Americans hostage for 17 days in June 1985 before releasing them following Syrian mediation. Then, hooded and carrying handguns, the hijackers read a statement at Beirut airport before vanishing.

In Washington, U.S. officials said they were talking with West Germany about extraditing Hamadi, believed to have been one of two gunmen who carried out the hijacking.

"It would appear this (extradition) can be handled quickly," Schmid said at a news conference in Bonn.

He said the decision would be made by West German prosecutors, courts and the justice and foreign ministries.

Air piracy contains a death penalty provision in the United States, but U.S. officials have declined to comment on whether the government would seek capital punishment if Hamadi is extradited and convicted.

U.S. officials in West Germany were not immediately available for comment on the West German requirement ruling out the death penalty.

Earlier today, U.S. Embassy spokesman Robert Heath said U.S. authorities were "in touch" with the West Germans on the case. He refused to comment further.

U.S. and West German authorities said they were investigating whether Hamadi had any connection with 26-year-old Lebanese Bashir al-Khodr, who was arrested Monday in Milan, Italy, with more than 20 pounds of plastic explosives and detonators in his luggage.

Beware of phone hustlers

WASHINGTON (AP) — One caller is just taking a survey. Another is looking for a family to demonstrate a product. The third offers a prize in return for postage and handling.

Beware. Federal and state officials warn that chances are such calls are cons.

Hustlers trying to gyp Americans via telephone have become a $3 billion-a-year problem, Federal Trade Commission Chairman Daniel Oliver said Thursday.

Oliver joined state attorneys general in launching a war on so-called telemarketing fraud.

Victims are a cross-section of Americans ranging from recent widows to small businesses. "Everyone in America who owns a phone is vulnerable," warned Arkansas Attorney General Steve Clark, who heads the National Association of Attorneys General.

Low-cost long-distance telephone lines allow con artists to extend their reach nationwide from one location, and it is that prospect that has drawn the state and federal officials into a joint effort.

Funding available for border colonias

By JENNIFER DIXON Associated Press Writer
McALLEN (AP) — Impoverished communities along the border will be eligible for aid to develop sewage and drainage systems under a $3.5 million appropriation approved Thursday by the Texas Water Development Board.

The funds represent just a fraction of the cost to bring water and sewage systems to the state's colonias, isolated communities without basic utilities, said Herbert W. Grubb, director of planning for the water board.

Thousands of people live in colonias along the Rio Grande from Brownsville to El Paso, Grubb said.

The cost of supplying sewage systems to the Rio Grande Valley's colonias is estimated at $93 million, Grubb said, with better systems costing up to $150 million.

He said the $3.5 million could be used in individual projects to bring sewage and drainage to a colonia, to help a community pay the interest on a loan from the board for such a project, or to leverage a loan.

The Valley alone has 435 colonias, Grubb said, while El Paso County also has a high concentration of the settlements.

"Ninety percent of the colonias have a water line right to it or right by it, but not every house on every street has a connection. The pipelines to get the water to the colonias are in place, but that's not to say they're big enough. They're not. And that's not to say there's enough water in their pipelines to meet the ultimate need," he said.

"The network to supply the water is minimally there," Grubb said. "Drainage systems are very poor, inadequate in almost any case."

The $3.5 million is part of $14.5 million remaining in the water assistance fund. The board voted Thursday to use the remaining $11 million in 1988 and 1989 for water research, flood protection planning, and regional water supply and water quality planning.

Board members fear if they don't set aside the money, the Legislature could raid the fund this session as it tries to meet a budget shortfall, Grubb said.

The Legislature could still reappropriate the money to another purpose, despite the board's action, Grubb said.

Lewis needs name ideas

AUSTIN (AP) — The budget, taxes, prisons and other state government issues aren't the only problems facing House Speaker Gib Lewis these days: He's looking for a name for his new pet zebra.

"The contest's not over yet. Don't any of you quit thinking," Lewis said Thursday.

Lewis, whose hobby is big game hunting when he's not working at the Legislature or his Fort Worth business, received the zebra as a gift from his House staff before the new Legislature convened this week. Aides said Lewis planned to keep the animal at his ranch.

On opening day, after Lewis said he hadn't picked a name yet, several suggestions were offered.

"Someone came forward yesterday with 'Spot,' Lewis said.

Earthquake shakes up Texas town

ROTAN — When the first pre-dawn jolt hit, a few folks thought it was a supersonic jet fighter breaking the sound barrier.

But the noise came from below ground, not above. Four earth tremors shook houses and produced a flurry of phone calls to city officials. No injuries or damage was reported.

A University of Texas geophysicist said the earthquakes were probably caused by underground pressure changes in natural gas and oil.

"I've been living here 70 years, and this is the first one I've felt here," said Jack Aaron, the town's water superintendent. "We got a lot of calls here at the city office. The people were just concerned. They didn't know anything. They didn't know if it was a sonic boom or what." Mayor Jerry Marshall said residents are accustomed to sonic booms from jets flying from Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene.

About 2,300 people live in Rotan, which is in Fisher County, about 50 miles northwest of Abilene.

In Austin, Toshimatsu Matsumoto of the University of Texas said underground pressure changes probably caused the earthquakes.

"I feel the earthquakes may have been triggered by changes in pressure associated with production of natural gas and oil," Matsumoto said.

The Fisher County Sheriff's Department said tremors were reported at 5:30 a.m., 5:34 a.m., 8:40 a.m. and 9:45 a.m.

Ray Bolger dies of cancer at 83

LOS ANGELES — Ray Bolger, the last surviving member of the whimsical foursome that skipped down the Yellow Brick Road in the classic film "The Wizard of Oz," has died less than a week after his 83rd birthday.

Bolger, the lean and limber actor and dancer whose career spanned six decades, died at a nursing home Thursday from complications of cancer, said family spokesman Barry Greenberg. Bolger had celebrated his birthday Saturday.

"Now, Dorothy and her friends are back together again," said Jack Haley Jr., whose father played the Tin Man to Bolger's Scarecrow in the 1939 movie. Dorothy was portrayed by Judy Garland, who died in 1969, two years after Bert Lahr, who played the Cowardly Lion. Jack Haley Sr. died in 1979.

"A great dancer and a great performer," said ac-triss Rose Marie. "He sang, he danced, he did skits, he did comedy, he did drama."

"The Wizard of Oz," in which he portrayed the brave man of straw in search of a brain, was his favorite film. But he said he had no idea the movie would become a classic.

"I knew that I was taking part in a strange kind of adventure," he said. "Everything had to be invented for the picture — the effects, the sound, the Technicolor. It was all new. But when the reviews came out, it was a terrific disappointment. The picture got terrible notices."

"It was only when 'The Wizard of Oz' came into the home with television that it redeemed itself. Then it was no longer a picture, it was an institution. After all, 'The Wizard of Oz' carries the message that there's no place like home."

Bilingual education not to suffer

SAN ANTONIO — Education is the key out of poverty and parental involvement in school activities will help control the dropout rate, Education Secretary William H. Bennett said.

Bennett was the featured speaker at today's Texas Education Conference, which examined the problems of disadvantaged children and the dropout rate.

"This is depressing. This is sad and this is something that we need to do something about," Bennett said Thursday. "Students have to feel that school is worthwhile, that it is a worthwhile activity."

Bennett said bilingual education would not suffer, despite a proposed 30 percent cut in the department's budget for 1988.

On Thursday, Bennett asked Congress to amend the Bilingual

Education Act to allow for more local control in bilingual education programs.

"We don't think it's appropriate for the federal government to be telling the local school districts which methods to use," Bennett said. "Local school districts should have the flexibility, the discretion to decide which method they think will work best and be able to put that into effect."

The bilingual education program has a 1988 proposed budget of $143 million, most of it going to transitional education, in which students are instructed in their native languages.

Bennett said the transitional bilingual education method is good, but added that some school districts have done better with other programs.

Nephew replaces Shearn Moody Jr.

GALVESTON — The 24-year-old nephew of indicted Galveston insurance heir Shearn Moody Jr. will take over his position on the charitable Moody Foundation.

Moody's mother and brother voted in a closed session on Thursday to remove the 53-year-old Moody, who has been indicted twice in a month on charges he defrauded the foundation.

Frances Moody Newman and Robert L. Moody, trustees of the foundation, then appointed Ross Rankin Moody, the son of Robert Moody, to take the third trustee position.

"I feel kind of bad (about) the circumstances of which I was put on the board," Ross Rankin Moody said. "I'm very happy. I've got some new ideas (about the foundation)."

He is a corporate financial analyst for a Wall Street investment firm and on the board of directors of several insurance companies and the Moody National Bank.

Shearn Moody refused to comment before and after the vote. His brother said only "We're glad to have Ross on the board."

The Thursday session was described as a tense and tearful meeting.

PUC OKs more phone deregulation

AUSTIN — Think you have finally figured out the new world of telephones? Don't hang up yet. More changes could be on the way.

The Public Utility Commission on Thursday endorsed a partial deregulation of AT&T Communications. But the company says the proposal does not go far enough. The company is talking to lawmakers about complete deregulation.

Also Thursday, Consumers Union announced its opposition to a proposal to deregulate some services offered by Southwestern Bell and other local telephone companies. The bill would not allow the companies to set their local phone rates, but would allow them to set the price for related services, such as repairs.

Ricky Knox, spokesman for the Texas Telephone Association (representing the local phone companies), said there is no intention to seek deregulation of local rates.

Johnson, Worthy score 62; Lakers kill Warriors

By The Associated Press
James Worthy and Earvin "Magic" Johnson scored 31 points apiece, but Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley talked about the Lakers' defense.

"The key to our game was defense," Riley said after the Lakers defeated the Golden State Warriors 129-109. "The double figures in blocked shots definitely played an important part."

The Lakers took a 106-95 lead in the fourth quarter after Byron Scott, who finished with 26 points, scored the Lakers' first seven points in a 9-2 run. And although the Warriors scored the next six points to cut the margin to 106-101 with 8:03 left in the game, Golden State could get no closer.

"We just had to go back to basics like we did in the first quarter," Scott said. "We had to pressure them, make them take shots they didn't want to take, and run."

The Lakers' defense blocked 13 shots, forced 19 turnovers and pulled down 36 of a possible 49 defensive rebounds.

In other NBA action Thursday, it was Atlanta 130, Milwaukee 91; Indiana 113, Washington 105; Houston 107, Chicago 96; Phoenix 123, Utah 107; and Sacramento 120, Portland 118.

Terry Teagle hit a 20-footer from the right of the key with 36 seconds left in the third period put the Warriors ahead for the first and only time in the game, 93-92. But Kurt Rambis' three-point play and Johnson's two free throws gave the Lakers a 97-93 lead after three quarters.

Then, when the Warriors pulled within five points late in the game, the Lakers went on a tear, Johnson feeding Worthy with a behind-the-head pass for a slam dunk to climax the run that gave the Lakers a 115-101 lead.

"It just didn't seem like anyone was serious," Warriors Coach George Karl said of his starters, who started slowly and were quickly removed. It was the bench, led by Teagle, Rod Higgins and Greg Ballard, that kept Golden State in the contest.

"Our bench has been a very good part of our team and will have to continue to be," Karl said. "They have been giving us more of a defensive lift than an offensive one."

Eric "Sleepy" Floyd led Golden State with 21 points, while Teagle added 16.

Kings 120, Trail Blazers 118

Forward Eddie Johnson hit a three-point jumper from the right corner with three seconds left to boost Sacramento over visiting Portland. Seven seconds earlier, Johnson hit a 15-foot jump shot from the top of the key to give Sacramento a 117-116 lead.

Portland regained the lead with nine seconds remaining when guard Terry Porter sank a pair of free throws.

The victory snapped a four-game Sacramento losing streak. The Kings have lost 18 of their last 23 games.

Forward Otis Thorpe and guard Reggie Theus led Sacramento with 29 points apiece. Portland forward

Kiki Vandeweghe paced the Trail Blazers with 37. Hawks 130, Bucks 91

Glenn Rivers sank a 76-foot shot at the halftime buzzer as everything worked for Atlanta in its victory over Milwaukee.

Dominique Wilkins scored 32 points to lead the Hawks as Milwaukee never threatened after a 9-1 Atlanta run snapped a 4-4 tie.

The Hawks ran off streaks of six and seven points in the third quarter, building a 94-69 lead late in the period.

Kevin Willis finished with 28 points and Mike McGee added 23, while Rivers had 18 assists — 13 in the first half.

"Tonight, everything just went right for us," Rivers said. "We knew they were going to make us pass the ball. Usually when a team does that it gives us problems, but we worked on it today. Tonight I didn't have to look for the ball. I could distribute the ball all game long."

Ricky Pierce scored 19 points and Jerry Reynolds had 15 for the Bucks, who lost for the fourth time in five games.

Pacers 113, Bullets 105

Rookie Chuck Person scored 29 points, reaching double figures for the 14th consecutive game, as Indiana stopped Washington in Indianapolis.

The victory snapped the Pacers' three-game losing streak and a four-game winning streak by the Bullets. Leading 88-78 after three quarters, the Pacers outscored Washington 8-2 to start the final period and were never seriously challenged again.

Moses Malone was used only sparingly in the second half, scoring just 13 points in 23 minutes of action for the Bullets, who also played much of the second half without Jeff Malone. He left the game with a back problem.

Rockets 107, Bulls 96

In Chicago, Akeem Olajuwon hit eight points in the final 4:31, and Robert Reid scored 26 points to lead Houston over the Bulls.

It was the Rockets' fourth straight victory, even though only eight players saw action for Houston following the suspensions of Lewis Lloyd and Mitchell Wiggins for drug use. The loss ended the Bulls' four-game winning streak.

Michael Jordan scored 43 points for Chicago.

Suns 123, Jazz 107

Shifted forward to replace the injured Larry Nance, Walter Davis scored a career-high 45 points as the Suns snapped a four-game losing streak by defeating visiting Utah.

Davis, a five-time All-Star, scored eight of his 10 second-period points in the final 48 seconds to erase a 54-53 deficit and give Phoenix a 61-55 halftime lead.

Davis had 10 more points in the third period and Alvan Adams added seven to put the Suns up 96-85 entering the final quarter.

Utah never got closer than nine from there, losing its third straight game.

Karl Malone paced the Utah with 27 points.

Hawks

the Chaparrals sophomore star stepped to the line with 20 seconds remaining.

When Blalock missed the front end of the one and one, Walker snatched the rebound, and the scorching Hawks had possession with a shot at the win or overtime. But a gang of Chaparrals slapped, hacked and finally took the ball from Walker.

In return, the Hawks treated the Chap in much the same fashion, and this time the Hawks' Sam Williams pounced on the fumble.

With the fans going berserk, it was Williams' turn to take a beating. The harassed Williams lost the ball to the Chaps, and with :01 remaining, the shy zebras took a stand and blew a whistle. Herman "Skeeter" Henry hit both foul shots to provide the final 86-82 margin.

"They did foul me, but that's no excuse though," Walker said in a funeral-like Hawks' dressing room. Hawks' coach Larry Brown felt the same way.

"At the end of the game, they were not going to make a call, but you have to play better in spite of that. You have to cover the ball and hold on. But if it would have been at Howard College they would have called it.

"We played hard in the second half but we didn't play hard in the first half. We didn't play with the confidence I thought we would in the first half.

"It seemed to be if we were going to get 'em, this was the night. But there's not a lot of consolation for me for playing close. You don't get any points for playing close," Brown said afterwards.

As Brown said, the Hawks did not play well in the first half. The Midland defense didn't give them many easy shots, and they forced a lot of shots and missed bunches of easy ones. Bradsher, who didn't start because he's been nursing a sore shoulder, scored eight in the first half but the Hawks trailed 38-20 at the half. They made just nine of 24 shots in the half.

The Hawks started the second half sluggishly, and Billy Giggins kept them in the game with a layup and five clutch free throws. Defensively, all the Hawks raised their game a few notches, and the offense took off. The Hawks scored an amazing 62 points in the second half.

Bradsher, who finished with 31 points, 12 rebounds, six steals, and six for six shooting from the line, led the Hawks' comeback. Among others, coach Stone was impressed.

"It seemed like Bradsher's shots were longer and longer. We should've tackled him at midcourt and taken our chances from there.

"I wasn't surprised with the way they came back. They've got the kind of team that can beat anybody," Stone said.

Los Angeles Lakers forward James Worthy (right) attempts to take the ball away from Golden State Warriors forward Larry Smith (13) as Lakers A.C. Green (45) heads to the action.

Ex-MC guard comes through

By The Associated Press
The locked shot that sealed the victory for Oklahoma over Kansas came from an unlikely source — point guard Ricky Grace.

The 16th-ranked Sooners led the No. 20 Jayhawks 76-74 Thursday night on a field goal by Tim McCalister with nine seconds to play.

College Hoops

Kansas still had a chance to tie, or win, and the last shot, a 3-pointer by guard Mark Turgeon, was blocked by the 6-foot-2 Grace.

"It was clean all the way," Grace said of his defensive play.

"We were going for three. We were trying to hit the trailer, but Turgeon had a good shot," Kansas Coach Larry Brown, whose team was 1-for-3 on long-range shots before Turgeon's, said. "Grace made a super block."

Least you think Grace is strictly a defensive specialist, the junior college transfer from Midland College finished with eight points and 10 assists as Oklahoma improved to 11-3 overall and 1-1 in the Big Eight Conference. Kansas, which was led by Danny Manning's 21 points, fell to 9-5 and 2-1.

Falcons closer to Donahue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA football Coach Terry Donahue will accept a five-year, $2.5 million contract offer to coach the NFL's Atlanta Falcons, the Los Angeles Herald Examiner reported today.

Donahue, the most successful football coach in UCLA history with an 88-34-7 record in 11 years, had told Falcons officials he would let them know his decision today.

Donahue would replace Atlanta's Dan Henning, who did not post a winning record in any of his four seasons.

The newspaper, quoting unidentified sources close to UCLA, said the 42-year-old Donahue decided Thursday that he would take the Falcons job. It said attempts to contact Donahue at home Thursday were unsuccessful.

The sources said Oregon Coach Rich Brooks, a former UCLA assistant and a close friend of Donahue, was the leading candidate to replace him. Brooks has a 40-66-4 record in 10 years at Oregon, which competes with UCLA in the Pacific-10 Conference. The Ducks' best record under Brooks was 6-3-2 in 1980.

Donahue was a defensive lineman for UCLA from 1965-66 and was an assistant coach at Kansas for four years. He returned to UCLA as an assistant in 1971 and was named head coach five years later.

Donahue won five straight bowl games, including three Rose Bowls, and four of his last five games against cross-town rival Southern Cal.

He was contacted Monday by Falcons' officials after they received permission from UCLA Athletic Director Pete Dalis to talk with him.

Bears fire general manager

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — The dismissal of Jerry Vainisi as general manager of the Chicago Bears has caused a ripple on the lakefront, including some very emotional words from Coach Mike Ditka.

Vainisi, who served Chicago for 15 years in various capacities, was removed Thursday as general manager of the team that captured the Super Bowl last year.

"Fired is too harsh a word," said Michael McCaskey, president and chief executive officer of the Bears and grandson of the late George Halas, founder of the NFL club. "It was more a parting of ways."

Vainisi, 45, was originally hired by Halas in 1972 and served as controller, treasurer and club counsel. When Jim Finks resigned as general manager of the club in 1983, Halas named Vainisi as Finks' replacement.

"I feel very sorry for his wonderful family and his children," said Ditka, his voice breaking. "Jerry Vainisi is a class person. He's my best friend, and I and the players will miss him very, very much. He's respected in our business as one of the best and he was."

Vainisi and his wife, Doris, have five children. Ditka and Vainisi were close friends and partners in a downtown restaurant and night club.

Immediately, there was speculation on Ditka's future with the Bears, but McCaskey gave Ditka, who guided the team to a 32-4 record the last two seasons, a vote of confidence.

McCaskey said Thursday that a mutual decision had been reached by the two men as to a parting of the ways. But Vainisi's contract runs through mid-1988 and indications were he was not prepared to leave quite so soon.

beat Cal-Santa Barbara 88-74; No. 4 Indiana routed Wisconsin 103-65; No. 7 DePaul defeated Loyola, Ill. 84-65; No. 11 Temple beat Penn State 66-49; No. 15 Alabama defeated Louisiana State 69-65; and No. 17 North Carolina State beat Wake Forest 75-67.

Grace got his chance at being a hero because of the rebounding of his teammates in the final seconds.

Oklahoma rebounded a missed Kansas shot with 1:15 to play and the score tied 74-74. The Sooners took two shots and missed them both. But each time they were able to get the rebound. After running 36 seconds off the 45-second clock, McCalister, who finished with 21 points, took his game-winner from the left side of the lane.

No. 1 Nevada-Las Vegas 88, Cal-Santa Barbara 74
The top-ranked Runnin' Rebels got a slight scare by Cal-Santa Barbara before extending their unbeaten streak to 15 games.

The Gauchos, 6-6 overall and 1-2 in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, used a 13-1 run in the second half to take a 64-62 lead with 7:56 to play. But Mark Wade's layup put Nevada-Las Vegas back in front and the Runnin' Rebels were never headed.

No. 4 Indiana 103, Wisconsin 65
Steve Alford made 7-of-8 3-point attempts, the only shots he took in the game, as he passed the 2,000-point mark for his career.

The Hoosiers won their 10th consecutive game to improve to 13-1 overall and 4-0 in the Big Ten Conference. Two of Alford's 3-pointers came in Indiana's game-opening 12-0 run.

No. 7 DePaul 84, Loyola, Ill. 65
DePaul improved to 13-0 and posted the 1,000th victory in school history by beating its cross-town rival.

The Blue Demons used a 16-2 run at the start of the second half to overcome a 43-42 halftime lead by the Ramblers and open the game up.

No. 11 Temple 66, Penn State 49
Howard Evans scored a career-high 24 points, 17 in a 23-4 second-half run by Temple, which held a 59-29 lead with 9:25 to play.

No. 15 Alabama 69, Louisiana State 65

Jim Farmer's 19 points included four free throws in the final minutes as the Crimson Tide won its ninth consecutive game. Louisiana State rallied from an 11-point first-half deficit to take a 46-44 lead with 11 minutes left. But Alabama, 12-2 and 5-0, went on a 12-2 run and was able to hold off the visiting Tigers' last-minute rally with Farmer's free-throw shooting.

No. 17 North Carolina State 75, Wake Forest 67

North Carolina State held a 57-38 lead with 12:31 left in the Atlantic Coast Conference game and was able to hang on for the victory. Bennie Bolton scored 14 of his 18 points in the first half for the Wolfpack as Wake Forest, which hit 11 of its first 14 shots, missed 12 of 15 from the field after a 22-22 tie and was never able to recover.

North Carolina State improved to 11-3 and 3-1, while Wake Forest, 8-5 and 0-3, lost its 20th consecutive conference game.

Musical family

The Wesley and Dorothy Pearce Family sings for the Lord

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

Wesley and Dorothy Pearce think their family has its priorities straight. "We believe in God first, family second and career third," Mrs. Pearce said during an interview this week.

The Pearce family is one with many talents. Its members sing, play music, write music and poetry, paint, draw, shoot photography and minister about the Lord.

Their local photography studio supports their love of Christian music, Pearce said. "If we could just get that one song ... and the right backer," Pearce said, with a sense of hope.

Of their talents — their first love is music. "If we could cross over into the music, we would," he added.

The seven-member band is comprised of Wesley and Dorothy Pearce and their five children — Stephen, 20; twins Michael and Marina, 19; Tina, 17; and Jonathon, 14.

Their style varies from gospel to contemporary to country-western, the couple said. Each family member plays an instrument and sings.

Pearce sings country-western style, plays the synthesized accordion and Mrs. Pearce sings country and gospel and plays the piano and rhythm guitar. Stephen plays the bass guitar and sings contemporary style music; Michael is the drummer; Marina, sings soprano; Tina sings alto and plays the saxophone; Jonathon plays the harmonica and is learning to play the synthesizer and guitar.

"Each year the kids get better and better," Mrs. Pearce said, with a sense of pride. In addition to performing in local churches, the family has toured in Canada and various states.

"One year we went from Seattle, Wash., to Texas to Tennessee to Detroit," Pearce said. Last year, the family toured Canada twice, he noted.

The group books ahead and plays one-night-stands in each town, which can be quite profitable, Pearce said.

"Sometimes we can make more in one night than we can in a week at the studio."

Other nights can be pretty slim, he added.

The family travels in a GMC touring bus — similar to a Silver Eagle, but not as deluxe.

"The kids are just as comfortable in the bus as they are at home. They were raised on the road," Pearce said.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearce have always enjoyed music.

"I used to play at dances in the '60s," Pearce said, with a hint of nostalgia. "We had a seven-piece band when I was in the Air Force." That was the Royal Canadian Air Force, he said, explaining that he's a native of Canada.

"I became dissatisfied with the club scene and wanted to do music with a positive direction. I asked the Lord to take charge of my life."

In January 1965, the couple met in Arizona, then married on April 16 — almost 22 years ago.

The couple remarked that they just knew their relationship was meant to be.

"When you put the Lord first,

then you know," Mrs. Pearce said.

They lived in Canada until 1971, when they moved to the United States.

Of their children, "Jonathon is the only Texan," said Mrs. Pearce, herself a native Texan. "The rest were born in Canada and have dual citizenships."

Pearce has maintained his Canadian citizenship so the family can work in both countries without problems, he explained.

The couple began their music careers as a duo. As each child was born, they became members of the band.

"We're family oriented," Mrs. Pearce said. "If everyone would take care of their family first, then our country would be a lot better."

Throughout the years, the Peaces have accumulated four albums and a cassette, and they're planning to release a second cassette this year, Pearce said.

They also plan to tour Canada this year.

"Instead of working five days a week, we work seven," Mrs. Pearce said.

Their work days are spent at the photography studio on Tuesdays through Saturdays. They shoot weddings on Saturday afternoons, and Sundays they're always singing somewhere.

That leaves Mondays to return home, and to do what they haven't had time to do during the week. Or they rest — "if we have the time," Mrs. Pearce explained.

Although they are members of Christ Fellowship Church, Pearce said they "will cross any church barrier" to perform. "We're interdenominational."

LEVELLAND (AP) — LaTona Morgan knows about hurt. She first tried suicide when she was 12, gulping down a handful of pills and following that with a chaser of bleach.

She was in a coma for five weeks. She says she saw her first murder when she was 5 years old, and three more slayings by the time she was 8.

She said she remembers her mother as a hopeless alcoholic, a street person; her father as a drug addict.

She started to cook when she was 5 — stealing potatoes, stuffing trash in holes dug in an alley and lighting the refuse to cook the only meal of the day.

Today, the 33-year-old woman wants to make a difference.

She's trying to make a dent in the number of homeless and hungry in this West Texas town the only way she knows how.

"Levelland has an excessive amount of hurt," says Mrs. Morgan, who established Morgan's Christian Shelter Inc. in Levelland.

Established mostly to help recovering alcoholics and drug addicts, the shelter has caught the attention of many of Levelland's prominent citizens, including Mayor Kenny Wilmon and Marvin Baker, president of South Plains College, both of whom serve on the shelter's board of directors.

LaTona and Howard Morgan filed the charter for Morgan's Christian Shelter last July, and started taking in street people Aug. 1.

"This is their home," said Mrs. Morgan of the street people and recovering addicts. "God gave them a home."

"I spent a lifetime looking for someone to say 'I care,' and this is why I feel the need to help someone else if I can."

In no small respect, she is trying to offer the warmth and security to others than she thought she'd never find in her own life.

"We lived a lot in the Midland-Odessa area, and later, I lived off and on in Levelland," she said. "My mother didn't have a family, so she made money for her habit on the streets, and by telling fortunes."

"I never saw my mother sober. We lived, or survived, mostly in shacks and abandoned places. I learned early to get by as a street person."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JAN. 17, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today there is considerable confusion concerning your personal philosophy, but this soon changes and you have some excellent creative ideas.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may find it difficult to utilize some past knowledge. Meet with many interesting personalities.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't go off on any tangents otherwise your secret plans can be spoiled. Invite fascinating people in tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep out of an argument between your mate and a friend and then you can make outside contacts.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Don't mix in if a quarrel develops between a partner and a prominent person. Study into financial dealings.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) This is a good day to go after your personal wishes. Get in touch with modern thinking for best results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Forget those amusements that are too expensive for you and plan the future with the aid of experts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Avoid an argument between a close tie and an outsider. Show more affection for your relatives.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Schedule your time well so that you can attend to duties and shop. Study into improving your career.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Forget that idea to spend lavishly for pleasure. Make fascinating new contacts with valuable advice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your ideas and the ideas of your kin may differ, so get out to business interests and come to a fine agreement.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't go into a tizzy over problems. Get into activities that are profitable in the business world.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Avoid that acquaintance who has his, or her, eyes on your assets. Plan to cooperate more with co-workers.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she won't be able to decide whether or not to adhere to the past or get into future interests, so be sure to give a good education that will help your progeny to adjust well to both. Upon reaching adulthood your progeny can make headway in worthwhile ventures.
