Spring board

How's that? Gas

Q. When I leave my home during the day, is it cheaper to turn off my gas heater or leave it on?
A. James Baios, the office manager at Energas, said it is cheaper to lower the thermostat, but not turn it off. He recommended lowering the temperature approximately four degrees less than where you keep it when you are there.

Calendar Lose weight

TODAY
• The Howard County Democratic Club will install officers at a 7 p.m. meeting in the district courtroom at the Howard County Courthouse. New members will be accepted and refreshments will be served.
• The Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department will offer a first aid CPA course from Feb. 2-16. Those interested must register by Jan. 28. The instructors will be from Lee Ambulance.
• 15th Street will be closed from Benton to Young streets from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. because new water lines are being put in.
• The Children's Rights through Informed Efforts (CRIE) group (formerly Texas Fathers' ERA) will meet at 8 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce meeting room. Anyone interested in children's rights are invited to attend.
• TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) club meets at 6 p.m. at 1700 Lancaster St. Guests are welcome. Call 263-4662 for more information.
FRIDAY
• It's birthday night for the Senior Citizens, so everyone is asked to bring food to Industrial Park Building 487. The dance starts at 8 p.m., and the Country Jammers Band will play. Guests are welcome.
• The Merry Mixers Square Dance Club will have a dance at the Square Dance Corral at 8 p.m. James Moore will call, and guests are welcome.

YMCA pool available

Citizens can use the YMCA swimming pool this summer for a daily fee, YMCA director Wallace Gill said this morning. His reminder was prompted by reports that city officials are considering not opening the city's only public pool this summer to allow extensive renovations.
YMCA patrons who are non-members are charged a daily fee for use of the facilities, including both the pool and gymnasium, or they can purchase an annual membership, he said. For children under 16, the daily fee is $1, for ages 16-21 the fee is $2, and $3 for those over the age of 21, he said.
Daily fees for the city pool were $1.50 for children and $2.50 for adults last summer, according to Public Works Director Tom Decell.
If YMCA facilities are used every day, a membership may be more economical, Gill added. A child's membership is $42.50 a year, and adult memberships cost about $10 a month, he said.
Different age groups and activities are scheduled throughout the day for the pool, he said. From 8 to 11:30 a.m. and from 6:30 to 9 p.m., lessons are taught. From 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 to 6:30 p.m., adult swimming is scheduled, and "recreational swimming," with mostly children participating, from 1 to 5 p.m.
The YMCA has two pools: a regular, 20-yard pool and a smaller teaching pool, Gill said.

Committee selects Wall's visit site

By ROBERT WERNSMAN
City Editor

A one-week home for the replica of the Vietnam Memorial Wall was selected for its visit to Big Spring in late September.
A location east of the former hospital on the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf campus grounds was recommended by the The Wall site selection committee Wednesday night and approved by the event's steering committee.
Charlie Lewis, local accountant and chairman of the site committee, presented the findings of the group. Five possible locations were considered.
Criteria upon which the committee's recommendation was based included general appearance, accessibility, facilities, traffic control, handicap access, aesthetic appearance and parking, he told the nearly 25 people in attendance.

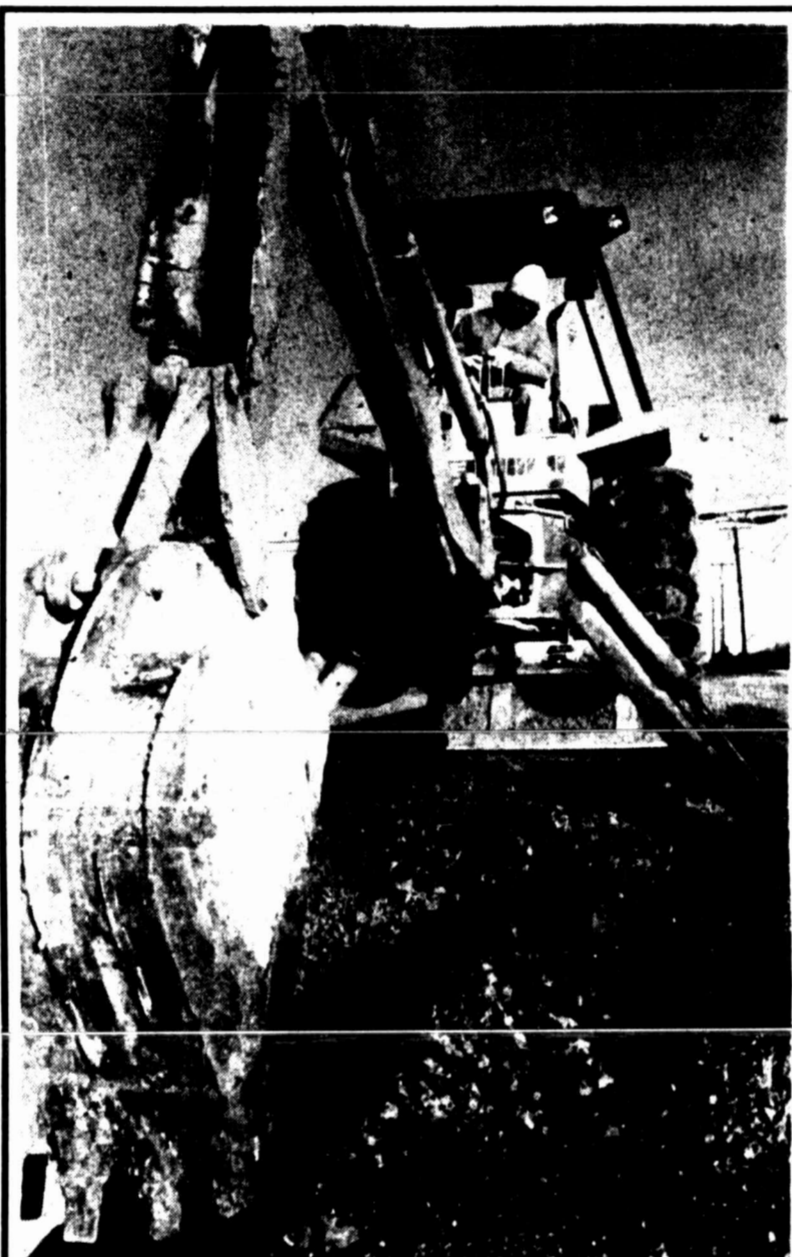

Lewis described the proposed site to the group, noting that Scenic Mountain in the background and trees on the location will provide a tranquil setting for the half-size replica of the monument to those who fought in Vietnam.
The decision answered what steering committee chairman Keith Gibbons described as "the biggest question in Big Spring" pertaining to the Wall's visit to the community.
Other sites considered included both Highland Mall and Big Spring Mall, Howard College and the golf course.
The committee also agreed with Lewis' recommendation that should the Big Spring area be inundated with rains similar to those experienced last fall, one of the two mall locations would be used.
He said that numerous merchants at both malls had contacted him, expressing interest in hosting the project.

The SWCID site rated highest on the committee's scale using the seven criteria, Lewis reported.
Representatives from three Odessa veterans' groups were in attendance Wednesday and pledged financial support for the effort.
It was the consensus of those attending that efforts to raise the additional $3,400 to fund the wall's visit may be limited to veterans' organizations voluntary projects and individual's tax deductible contributions.
The committee set a May 18 goal to have the funds in hand, in order to organize additional efforts if necessary.
"I foresee no problem" concerning the funds being raised for the event, said Patrick Carnahan, a local member of the VFW in attendance at Wednesday's meeting.

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Convention and Visitors' Bureau provided the initial $1,250 necessary to reserve the replica for an exclusive West Texas Sept. 30-Oct. 6 visit to Big Spring.
Donations and pledges received thus far exceed $400, steering committee secretary and treasurer Teri Quinones reported. Gibbons explained that several donations have been received at the Wall's post office box 2854.
Any funds raised in excess of the necessary $3,400 will be contributed to The Wall's maintenance, Gibbons said.
He said that local businessman Richard Kitchum has volunteered to raffle a shotgun from his Richard's Sports Headquarters, with proceeds going to The Wall.
Bob Coltrane volunteered to coordinate fundraising efforts by various veterans' groups in the West Texas region.

Jobless rate falls a percent

The Howard County unemployment rate dropped a percentage point in December to 9.5 percent, but it is still nearly twice the rate of a year ago, according to John Eckley, office supervisor of the local Texas Employment Commission.
Eckley said the figure compares to 10.5 percent for November and 5.1 percent for December, 1985. 218 additional workers were employed in the county during December, he said.
In addition, construction jobs for the Falcon Seaboard co-generation plant should make a difference, he said. 300-400 construction workers are expected to be employed in building the plant.
However, Eckley said because many of those jobs will be for six weeks to two months, not for the entire period of construction.
The TEC has taken about 300 applications for the work, he said, and they are being reviewed.
In addition, some of the workers will be brought to Big Spring from out of town for the project, he said.
Falcon Seaboard expects to have a groundbreaking ceremony for the plant Feb. 11, Chamber of Commerce officials have said.
Eckley attributes the lower December unemployment rate to oil field employees returning to work. The price of oil, which had dropped to approximately $10 a barrel earlier last year from a high of near $35 a barrel, has risen above $18 a barrel.
He said that although a few jobs were temporary Christmas help, he believes most of them are permanent.

Waterline break

Carlos Hilario digs into the northbound lane of Goliad St., just north of FM 700, in an effort to repair a water main break that occurred at that intersection Thursday morning. The break disrupted water service to the entire Highland South area, said city officials, who estimated that repairs would be completed by early afternoon. A break at Main and Third Streets is affecting a small area of downtown. Two other breaks, at the Industrial Park, affected no service because they are at a vacant area of the former Webb Air Force Base city officials said.

Local prosecutor heads for Denton in career move

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Prosecuting attorney Robert Morris is donning his hat and heading east to further his career.
Morris, who has served as assistant district attorney under Rick Hamby in the 118th judicial court since July 1985, will assume assistant district attorney responsibilities in Denton County at the end of February.
He will increase his annual salary by $20,000 with the job change and assist Criminal District Attorney Jerry Cobb in Denton.
"I'm going to miss him dearly. One can hardly begrudge him for passing up an opportunity in Denton. They will be fortunate to have him as we were here in Howard County," Hamby said of his assistant.
Morris, who will turn 35 on Feb. 6, concentrated primarily on child welfare cases and sex crimes since his appointment in July 1985, Hamby said.
"It will be almost impossible to find a replacement," Hamby said. Another grand jury may be called before Morris departs the office, he added.
Among the personal accomplishments Morris cited about his employment here was his involvement in a new victims' witness program initiated by The Rape Crisis/Victim Services.
Executive Director Cecelia McKenzie said Morris provided insight, cooperation and encouragement when her office applied for a state grant to start the program.

ROBERT MORRIS

He also cited satisfaction with being able to resolve the recent capital murder cases involving Andy Guzman and Joseph Gilbert Garcia, both of whom chose prison sentences shortly before the holiday season. Each was charged with capital murder in the beating death of Ara Erline Bohannon.
Guzman opted for life imprisonment while Garcia pleaded guilty to burglarizing her residence.
"We were able to resolve the cases without imposing a tremendous burden on taxpayers," Morris said about the cases.
The 1977 University of Texas Law School graduate said a problem inherent in the criminal justice system is the early release of prisoners as a result of overcrowding.
"The expense of having murderers and rapists out of prison far exceeds the cost of building new prisons. The state should be willing to pay for prisons we need," Morris said.
Answering a common complaint that prison sentences are too lenient for the criminals, Morris said "if people want stiffer sentences in criminal cases, the juries will have to do it."
The former Martin County attorney is a Bethesda, Md. native. He and his wife Gizelle are the parents of a two-year-old daughter, Sarah.

Chamber announces Seaboard ceremony

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The official ceremony for groundbreaking of the Falcon Seaboard co-generation plant will be 10 a.m. Feb. 11, according to the Chamber of Commerce.
The Chamber board of directors conducted its monthly meeting Wednesday.
Ground has already been broken for the multi-million dollar plant and construction has been underway since late December. However, officials have not yet conducted a ceremony, according to LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the Chamber.

Although construction was to begin in November, the ceremonies were delayed when plans to build a larger plant were announced in December.
The plant is being constructed in the northwest corner of the Cosden refinery property.

Chamber President Troy Fraser said the plant will mean a great boost to the Big Spring economy.
In other business, the Chamber:
• Announced that Jan. 30 is the deadline to purchase tickets for the annual Chamber banquet, set for 7 p.m. Feb. 6 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.
Tickets are $12.50 per person.

Michael Broome, the motivational speaker who addressed high school students and Chamber members on the free enterprise system last fall, will be the keynote speaker at the banquet.
The highlight of the banquet will be the presentation of Man and Woman of the Year and other awards. Johnnie Lou Avery will emcee.
• Adopted an incentive plan for recruitment of new Chamber members. Members who recruit new members and collect fees totalling $360 per quarter will be eligible to participate in a drawing for $250, with extra chances as a result of additional recruitment.

• Announced that Congressman Charles Stenholm plans to conduct a hearing in Big Spring on legislation pertaining to agriculture. The

Second military air crash claims two

BROWNWOOD (AP) — In the second fatal collision of military planes in two days, two Air Force jets reportedly practicing a dogfight crashed in flames, killing two crew members while two others parachuted to safety, authorities said.

Investigators recovered the body of one pilot and the remains were taken to a local funeral home after Wednesday's accident. Scattered remains and the flight suit of the other pilot had been recovered from the site near Lake Brownwood, investigators said.

On Tuesday, six people were killed when a twin-engine Army U-21 collided with a Piper Navajo over the Lake City Ammunition Plant near Independence, Mo. All four people aboard the civilian plane were employees of Sachs

Electric Co. of St. Louis.

The two Air Force RF-4C Phantom II jets collided about 14,000 feet above Lake Brownwood while practicing dogfight maneuvers about 4 p.m., Fire Capt. Donald Reiger said.

"Someone zigged when they should have zagged," he said of the accident, which left a five-mile long streak of smoldering debris on the ground.

Airman Sean Ruark, an Air Force spokeswoman at Bergstrom Air Force Base, said she could neither confirm nor deny reports that the planes were practicing dogfight maneuvers.

At Brownwood Regional Hospital, Richard Dietrich, 28, of Austin was listed in good condition with second degree burns and contusions on his right knee, said Cheryl Wilson, director of public relations at the hospital.

James Johnston, the other crew member, was taken to the hospital after assisting in the search but was not treated, Wilson said. Johnston would not speak to reporters or hospital officials until Air Force investigators arrived, Wilson said.

Both surviving crew members of the Phantom jet were found near Sandy Beach, on the lake front, Texas Ranger Norman Autrey said.

Eyewitnesses said they saw three parachutes, one empty, falling to the ground after the 4 p.m. crash, said Steve Whittenberg, Department of Public Safety dispatcher.

Autrey said search crews found one of the missing crew members' bodies about 6 p.m.

Sheriff's log

Prisoners taken to Huntsville

Sheriff's deputies transferred two prisoners to the Texas Department of Corrections facility in Huntsville, and transferred another to Rusk State Hospital.

Pete Gutierrez Gonzales, 36, of Electra, plead guilty Tuesday to theft over $750 and was sentenced to five years in Huntsville State Prison.

Manuel Moreno Renteria, 30, of 1504 Lincoln St., plead guilty Tuesday to possession of a controlled substance and was sentenced to four years at Huntsville.

L.H. Williams, 68, of 907 N. Gregg St., was transferred to Rusk State Hospital, where he will undergo a competency hearing.

• Sheriff's deputies arrested David B. Marquez, 22, of 610 N.W. 8th St., for revocation of probation on a DWI charge.

Jobless

Howard County had 15,190 people in the labor force in December, with 13,753 employed and 1,437 unemployed, according to TEC figures.

In November, the county had 15,117 in the labor force, 13,535 employed and 1,582 unemployed.

Firefighter cools down the area around a plastic plant in League City Wednesday after an early morning explosion. Firefighters said they were going to let the fire burn itself out, which could take a couple of days. One firefighter twisted an ankle and was the only person injured.

Police beat

Two arrested for forgery, drug possession

Police arrested two out-of-towners for forgery Wednesday, when a search exposed substances believed to be illegal drugs, including marijuana and unidentified pills, police Lt. Jerry Edwards said.

Donald Alton Ashcraft, 31, of Canton, was arrested at the First National Bank, 400 Main St., for forgery, theft by check and possession of a controlled substance.

Also arrested was Mary Spencer, 36, of Rogers for forgery and possession of a controlled substance.

• Cash was stolen from two YM-CA lockers Wednesday.

Jerry Grimes, 1604 Osage Road, told police that someone stole $200 cash plus a $75 gold and diamond money clip from his locker, and Raul Marquez, 4116 Dixon St., reported the theft of $40 cash.

• A maple table and four chairs, valued at $200, and a $40 gray dresser were stolen and a sheetrock wall damaged at 1602 Jennings St. Wilma Marlow, 1208 Main St., told police the items were stolen from her rent house.

• Inell Hadderton Smauley, 1000 Howell Lane, told police that someone she knows stole a $100 vacuum cleaner, a $25 red wooden chair, a set of blue lace curtains and rods and a key from 1022 S. Nolan St. between 6 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. Wednesday.

• A car battery was stolen from a vehicle at Comanche Trail Park between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, manager Al Patterson reported.

• Someone stole eight cassettes and a ring of keys from Kelly Wingo, 516 Edwards Circle, between 9:15 and 10:30 p.m. Wednesday at Highland Lanes bowling alley.

• Stephen Williard Dallmier, 19, of Lubbock was arrested at 300 N. Gregg St. early this morning for failure to identify himself to police.

• Joann Kennedy, 35, 120 Airbase Road, was arrested Wednesday on a traffic warrant.

• Sandy Cole, 35, 508 Young St., was arrested Wednesday on a traffic warrant.

C-City band boosters to present live concert

COLORADO CITY— The Colorado City Band Boosters will present a live country music concert Thursday, Feb. 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the Colorado High School auditorium.

The concert, with the theme "40 years of Country Music", will feature the Shady Mitchell Band with special guests including Fiddling Don Tolle of Big Spring, a member of the original Johnny Lee Wills Band of Tulsa, Okla.; Bob McDaniels of Alpine on the pedal steelguitar; Jimmy Bryant of Pecos on piano; Tony Adams, bass; Randy Dollins, drums; and David Morrison, guitar.

The concert also will feature CHS band directors David Simms and Bob Newman on trumpets.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3.50 for students.

Rail theme park planned in downtown renovation

A railroad theme park or plaza is among the projects scheduled for the downtown redevelopment effort, according to Charles Bell, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Downtown Steering Committee.

The proposed plaza calls for the use of railroad cars as small, picturesque retail or service shops, he said, and a caboose would be used for performances in the park area.

The planned location is the north end of Main Street at First Street, he said.

Bell said it is believed that another, smaller such area will draw people into downtown, and he hopes it will encourage other property owners to improve their buildings.

The smaller "pocket park" will add an area of peaceful greenery to downtown, he said. It will be developed from a vacant lot next to the courthouse annex, which is under construction.

In addition, the committee is considering feasibility studies for residential use of the Settles Hotel, he said. He envisions a low-income retirement home or a higher-income apartment or condominium complex.

Signs and other "attention-getters" will be posted along Highway 87, on the Chamber parking lot and other areas to draw passers-by into the historic downtown area, he said.

The committee is working with consultant Bob Lima on a plan to redevelop the downtown area.

Publisher is charged

A Runnels County grand jury is expected to decide in February whether to indict the former publisher of the Ballinger Ledger on a theft charge.

Publisher Wade Warren was arrested Jan. 13 on suspicion of diverting newspaper funds for his personal use.

The charge was initiated by Thomas Watson, publisher of the Big Spring Herald, owner of the Ballinger newspaper.

Watson said more than $5,000 of the paper's funds are missing.

The Runnels County district attorney's office noted Warren was released on $5,000 bail.

Warren had worked as publisher of the Ledger since September. He was an advertising salesman for the Herald for a few months before taking the publisher's position.

Speaker cleans House; Shaw to Appropriations

AUSTIN — House Speaker Gib Lewis cleaned house Wednesday in the powerful tax-writing Ways and Means Committee and also dropped three Republican chairmen.

Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, said he received the committee appointments he wanted, especially a spot on the House Appropriations Committee. "That's really what the action is all about down here," he said of the budget writing committee. "It's important to my district."

Shaw won the coveted spot on the budget-writing committee thanks to being named chairman of budget and oversight for the Agriculture and Livestock Committee. That automatically puts him on Appropriations.

He said the budget deficit "is really the most important issue facing the state, and that has to be dealt with on the appropriations committee."

As for his appointment to the House General Investigating Committee, Shaw said, it's the only House panel with subpoena power, but "it's the kind of committee that you hope you generally don't have to fire up."

When the smoke cleared, Democrats had 25 chairmanships and Republicans held nine, the same number that existed in 1985, according to Lewis' staff.

But only two of 11 returning Ways and Means members from the last regular session remained on the committee, and the number of GOP members fell from seven to three.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, who was forced to sidestep Ways and Means during special sessions last year to get a tax bill to lawmakers, denied punishing any legislators.

"I'm not one to punish anyone," said Lewis.

Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, was dropped as chairman of Natural Resources and, Fred Agnich, R-Dallas, was removed as chairman of the Environmental Affairs Committee. Craddick has been in the House since 1969 and Agnich since 1971.

Rep. Nolan Robnett, R-Lubbock, lost his chairmanship of the Local and Consent Calendars Committee.

Agnich said he lost his job because he did not vote according to the wishes of the speaker.

Rep. Sam Johnson, R-Plano, who was ousted from Ways and Means, said Lewis made a mistake in dropping Agnich and Craddick. "It was a mistake to lose their expertise," he said.

Other area appointments included:

— Dick Burnett, D-San Angelo — Corrections Committee and vice chairmanship of the new Public Safety Committee.

Vernon Mason

Vernon Mason, Arizona, brother of Pearl Phillips of Big Spring, died Wednesday evening, Jan. 21, 1987 in Sun City Arizona. Services are free phonics workshops will be open until the Thursday before the classes. Registration may be completed by calling her at 263-7843 or calling the Howard County Library at 267-5295.

Becoming an adult reading instructor requires only an ability to read, a concern for people and a method — the latter provided by the workshop, Cauley said.

Phonics instruction books can be ordered in advance for $10, but the books are not needed at the free workshops, Cauley said.

The directors, elected last month, also accepted two resignations from their membership. Salazar reported she was leaving the Big Spring area to go to Houston.

In addition, she announced that Roy Green, her assistant at the college, had resigned as a director.

The board subsequently elected Tune to the vacancy created by Green's resignation. The other vacancy will be filled later.

Abortion foes protest

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Abortion foes who 11 weeks ago suffered defeat when Arkansas voters narrowly rejected a ban on the use of state money for most abortions say they have not given up their fight.

The proposed constitutional amendment, which would have allowed use of state funds only if the mother's life was in danger, failed in the Nov. 4 general election by only 516 votes out of the 636,530 cast. The tally was 318,007 votes for the amendment and 318,523 against.

Anti-abortion propositions also failed Nov. 4 in Massachusetts, Oregon and Rhode Island.

The renewed efforts by the Arkansas abortion foes comes as anti-abortionists nationwide converged today on Washington, D.C., to protest the 14th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court's Roe vs. Wade decision, which allowed women to have abortions on demand.

Kevin McCray, a Presbyterian minister who heads the Unborn Child Amendment Committee, which proposed the Arkansas amendment, said Tuesday a petition drive would begin in September to collect about 68,000 signatures to place a similar amendment on the 1988 ballot.

Senate OKs road bill

WASHINGTON — A Senate committee approved a massive $52.4 billion highway bill Wednesday after blocking an amendment that would have made it easier for states to remove billboards from many roads.

The action by the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee came shortly before the House began considering its own version of a $91 billion measure that contains $71 billion for highway projects and $20 billion for mass transit.

The House was expected to allow no amendments to its bill, but lawmakers who want the federal 55 mph speed limit increased were expected to seek consideration of their measure.

Boy killer sentenced

DADE CITY, Fla. — A 10-year-old boy has been sentenced to state custody for nine years for fatally shooting an 8-year-old playmate in the chest with a rifle following an argument.

Investigators said the boy shot John Parks with a .22-caliber rifle following a disagreement that broke out while the boys were playing near the victim's home last summer.

Pasco Circuit Judge Ray E. Ulmer sentenced the youth Tuesday to the custody of the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services until his 19th birthday. Ulmer retained jurisdiction and said the child, who was not identified because of his age, could not be released before the stipulated age without a hearing.

Ulmer agreed with HRS recommendations that the boy be confined in a wilderness camp for juvenile delinquents, where children live 15 to a village and attend school on the grounds.

Marines fire on demonstrators

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Marines today fired into a crowd of 10,000 peasants demanding land reform when club-wielding farmers tried to storm the presidential palace. Hospitals reported at least 12 people were killed and 94 were injured.

It was the first time since President Corazon Aquino took office 11 months ago that her security forces have shot demonstrators.

There was no official word on casualties.

The clash occurred on Mendiola Bridge about 300 yards from Malacanang Palace. During the 20-year authoritarian rule of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, the area was the scene of repeated bloody confrontations between security forces and opposition demonstrators.

Mrs. Aquino came to power last February after massive street demonstrations and a military-civilian revolt forced Marcos to flee to Hawaii.

Government and Communist rebel negotiators later announced they were suspending peace talks because of death threats against representatives of both sides by unidentified forces seeking to destabilize the Aquino administration. The chief rebel negotiator said today's shootings would make resumption of the talks difficult.

The marines, who have been guarding the palace since coup rumors circulated last weekend, turned their guns on a crowd of about 10,000 people organized by the leftist Movement of Philippine Farmers. Security forces said they were provoked when demonstrators threw rocks and tried to break through a phalanx of about 500 troops and riot police.

Mrs. Aquino summoned key civilian and military advisers, including Defense Minister Rafael Ileta, to an emergency meeting after the clash. Her spokesman, Teodoro Benigno, said the president "expressed deep regret" over the confrontation and ordered an investigation.

The leftists, some of whom Wednesday barricaded entrances to the Ministry of Agrarian Reform, had vowed to march on Malacanang regardless of security measures to demand the immediate distribution of land.

The marchers scattered in terror when the troops opened fire. Security forces also fired tear gas, and two jeepsloads of troops chased after the fleeing demonstrators.

Hours later, crowds of angry protesters milled about in a nearby square in front of the main post office.

Peres: arms symbolic

LONDON — Israeli Foreign Minister Shimon Peres said Wednesday the shipment of U.S. arms to Iran was a symbolic move to promote the release of U.S. hostages in Lebanon and did not affect the strategic balance in the Persian Gulf war.

Peres vehemently denied that Israel masterminded the diversion of money from the Iran arms sales to the Nicaraguan rebels, known as the Contras. "We have nothing to do with it, neither as an idea nor as a fact," he said.

He made his comments in an interview on Independent Television's Channel 4 after arriving in London on a weeklong European tour during which he will discuss plans for economic aid to further the Middle East peace process.

China fires officials

PEKING — The Communist government today fired the president and vice president of China's prestigious Academy of Sciences in a move that appeared part of the leadership's crackdown on Western liberal ideas.

The official Xinhua News Agency said the academy president, Lu Jiaxi, and vice president, Yan Dongsheng, were dismissed at a meeting of the National People's Congress Standing Committee that ended today. It did not say why they were fired.

The official press, meanwhile, said too much emphasis on consumer goods could lead to instability and quoted top leader Deng Xiaoping as saying Chinese must continue to struggle hard because China is a backward country.

In the past few days, the political leadership and the official press have warned against the dangers of "high consumerism," indicating that there is a shift in Deng's 8-year-old program of modernizing the country through economic reform.

Cordero resignation OKd

QUITO, Ecuador — Congress today approved a non-binding resolution urging President Leon Febres Cordero to resign following his kidnapping last week by air force paratroopers who swapped him for a renegade general.

The opposition-controlled legislature approved the measure 38-29 in a session interrupted by shouting matches. Two legislators abstained and two were absent.

"Approval of the motion will represent a moral sanction," Trajano Andrade, head of the Social Democratic bloc, said before the vote ended. "We hope that Febres Cordero will meditate, change his conduct and obey the constitution."

The president, however, said before the vote that he was determined to remain in office until his term ends August 1988.

As the vote count neared its end, tempers exploded and several congressmen began shouting insults at each other. A pro-government congressman tried to kick a Social Democrat, but slipped and fell to the floor.

Tax loophole one too many

Former Sen. Russell Long, the Louisiana Democrat who retired at year's end, left behind a $20-billion tax loophole for wealthy Americans.

Long's handiwork was crafted during last August's negotiations between House and Senate tax writers, but the Internal Revenue Service became aware of the extent of his mischief only recently.

The Long loophole would permit the estate of a wealthy individual to avoid estate taxes simply by selling its stock in a company to that company's employee stock-ownership plan.

When the amendment was approved, the congressional Joint Committee in Taxation predicted it would have "little effect" on revenue. It now appears the loophole could cost the federal government $20 billion in estate taxes during the next five years. That's 80 percent of the $25 billion the estate tax was expected to raise in that period.

Employee stock-ownership plans are funds established to buy shares of a company's stock on behalf of its employees. The money may come from the employees themselves or a loan from their employers.

Long's loophole would permit trustees of an estate to deduct from its taxable value half the proceeds of any stock sale to an employee stock plan. Unless this loophole is closed, these employee stock plans could be used as tax shelters by almost any wealthy American.

Under the law's current provisions, the estate itself can purchase stock after a person's death and sell it to the employee-stock plan to avoid estate taxes. Although the Internal Revenue Service has adopted a rule prohibiting such purchases and resales, tax experts expect it to be overturned in court unless the legislation itself is changed.

Congress should resist the temptation to make major changes in the tax reform bill. But this loophole should be closed — immediately.

Today in history

Today is Thursday, Jan. 22, the 22nd day of 1987. There are 343 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
On Jan. 22, 1917, President Woodrow Wilson pleaded for an end to the war in Europe, saying there must be "peace without victory." By April, however, America was also at war.

On this date:
In 1788, the English romantic poet Lord Byron was born.

In 1881, an ancient Egyptian obelisk was erected in New York's Central Park. It is known as "Cleopatra's Needle."

In 1901, an era ended in England with the death of Queen Victoria at age 82.

In 1905, thousands of demonstrating Russian workers were fired on by Imperial army troops in St. Petersburg. The incident became known as "Red Sunday" or "Bloody Sunday."

In 1944, during World War II, Allied forces began landing at Anzio, Italy.

In 1955, the Pentagon announced a program to develop intercontinental missiles armed with nuclear weapons.

In 1970, the first commercial flight of the Boeing 747 began in New York and ended in London 6 1/2 hours later.

In 1973, the U.S. Supreme Court legalized abortions nationwide.

In 1973, former President Lyndon B. Johnson died at his Texas ranch at age 64.

Ten years ago: President Jimmy Carter held the first meeting of his National Security Council as he continued to consider his choice to head the Central Intelligence Agency. Carter's original nominee, Theodore C. Sorensen, withdrew his name from consideration.

Five years ago: The Labor Department reported consumer prices rose 0.4 percent in December 1981, bringing the increase in consumer prices for 1981 to 8.9 percent.

One year ago: The Commerce Department reported that the nation's Gross National Product grew 2.3 percent in 1985.

Today's Birthdays: Actress Piper Laurie is 55. Author Joseph Wambaugh is 50. Actor John Hurt is 47. Boxer George Foreman is 39. Hockey star Mike Bossy is 30. Actress Linda Blair is 28.

Thought for Today: "All farewells should be sudden." — Lord Byron (1788-1824).

SBA's method of lobbying under review of attorney

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — Allegations that the Small Business Administration's chief congressional lobbyist may have broken the law have been referred to the U.S. attorney for possible presentation to a grand jury.

The referral was made by the agency's own inspector general after an investigation into complaints about the way a demolition team of high-level SBA officials tried to get Congress to approve President Reagan's plan to dissolve the agency. The campaign failed; Congress kept SBA intact.

Sources told our associate Stewart Harris that the inspector general looked into the possibility that Richard Nelson, SBA's top Capitol Hill lobbyist, broke the law in an effort to help his superiors cause the agency to self-destruct. The sources declined to give specific details of the possible violations for fear of jeopardizing future investigations.

In addition to Nelson's role in the suicide mission, the inspector general examined the legality of an SBA pamphlet, "The Future of the SBA," which argued how easy it would be to dissolve the agency and turn its remaining functions over to the Commerce Department.

Also mentioned in the inspector general's report were acting administrator Charles Heatherly and communications director Richard Utley, who with Nelson spearheaded the lobbying campaign with Congress.

SBA employees, both current and former, blame the three officials for low morale within the agency. On his first day in charge — April 1, 1986 — Heatherly fired the regional SBA administrators in Boston, Philadelphia, Dallas, Denver and San Francisco; the Chicago director was fired the next day.

The Senate Committee in Small Business, a staunch advocate of any particular voucher involved" in the production of the pamphlet. "We recommend, however, that the administrator of the SBA take action to ensure that future violations do not occur," the comptroller added.

Footnote: Nelson said he had not heard of the investigation, and said the inspector general didn't interview him. The U.S. attorney's office would neither confirm nor deny that it is studying the inspector general's report. Acting inspector general Raymond Randolph did not return repeated telephone calls.

NO FARE: The hordes of Afghan refugees who have fled their embattled homeland and taken refuge in next-door Pakistan have caused resentment among the natives.

Not only are the newcomers getting aid from the United States and other countries, which the Pakistanis envy, but the Afghans are taking jobs away from their reluctant hosts.

Many of the refugee entrepreneurs are professional bus and truck drivers who escaped in their vehicles and are now plying their trade in Pakistan, to the intense disgruntlement of local teamsters.

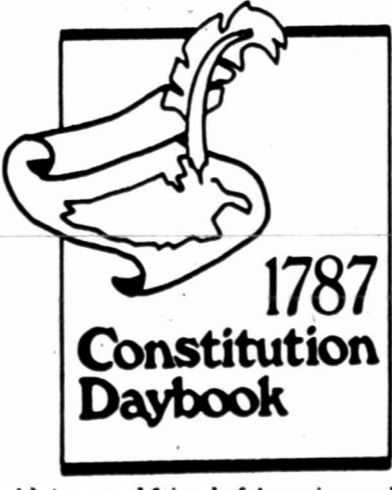

WATCH ON WASTE: Commerce Department employees spent a total of 18,000 staff days on improper personal telephone calls in 1985, according to the department's inspector general. This cost the taxpayers an estimated $3 million.

"Over the years, a permissive attitude has developed that allows, if not encourages, (telephone) abuse," the inspector general noted.

"Practices that are strictly forbidden by the regulations have become, in some employees' minds, a right." Most of the personal calls were to family members but many were to banks, horoscope services and dial-a-porn numbers.

Constitution Daybook

From The Associated Press
EDITOR'S NOTE — This day-by-day account of 1787, the year that the U.S. Constitution was written, blends the significant with the small, personal details that bring history to life. The authors spent three years in research and writing, drawing on letters and personal diaries as well as the better-known historical documents. The writers are David D.C. Dutcher, David A. Kimball, Robert K. Sutton and Anna Cox Toogood, all of the Independence National Historical Park in Philadelphia, where the Constitution was created 200 years ago.
Monday, Jan. 22, 1787
PHILADELPHIA TODAY
The day was raw — 34 degrees with a stiff wind from the northeast and rain occasionally mixed with snow. George Nelson came to see stable-keeper Jacob Hiltzheimer, and together they searched the public accounts to locate bills for hay Hiltzheimer was supposed to have bought from Reese Meredith in 1777.

They found that they had bought six loads of hay from Meredith in July 1777 for public use. After dinner, Hiltzheimer met with the vestry of his church at the Dutch Reformed schoolhouse.

CONFEDERATION TODAY
Richard Price, English dissenting clergyman, economist, pamphleteer and friend of America and Americans, wrote to Massachusetts Gov. James Bowdoin to give his thoughts on the recent bad news from the United States: "It is with particular concern I have heard lately of the tumults in your state and New Hampshire, of the vile measures employed in Rhode Island to give a currency to the paper (money) issued there, and of many other events in the United States which damp the hopes of their friends and make their enemies triumph. "It is not possible they should prosper till they have learnt more to such true independence by despising foreign luxuries and finding all they want within themselves; and till also they see the necessity of giving more energy to their federal government." As had been the case on every day except one since Nov. 7, Congress did not have a quorum.

DELEGATES TODAY
Pennsylvania's Supreme Executive Council, chaired by Benjamin Franklin, conveyed the three-story house with assorted outbuildings and lot at the corner of Sixth and Market streets, and another lot along Minor Street, to Robert Morris.

The Commonwealth had confiscated them from the Tory speaker of the last provincial Assembly, Joseph Galloway. Morris promptly rented the house to Samuel Meredith, merchant, congressman and brother-in-law of delegate George Clymer.

LOOKING BACK
Plundering Former Friends
Joseph Galloway, long-time political ally of Benjamin Franklin, former speaker of the colonial Assembly, former vice president of the American Philosophical Society, delegate to the First Continental Congress, was not alone in losing his property when he turned Tory. All of the colonies seized and sold Tory property, especially from those who, like Galloway, sought refuge with the British.

"This President is different. You don't talk to him, you shout. You have to break the sound barrier to find if Reagan is going to have a summit with Gorbachev."

"I can yell with the best of them, sir."

"I'm not talking about ordinary yelling. I'm talking about getting through to the President when he steps off the helicopter with the engines roaring and the dog barking."

"I'm talking about shouting to Ronald Regan when he's on an aircraft carrier in the Mediterranean and you're on a tanker 3,000 yards away. And I'm talking about asking a question about his prostate from the sidewalk when the President's in his pajamas peering out the 24th-story window of Bethesda Naval Hospital."

"I know I can do it. I used to yell all the time when I attended Harvard football games."

"You're a sad sack compared to some of the White House greats. Have you ever seen Sam Donaldson, the finest presidential shouter of all time?"

"No, but I've heard him on television."

"Sam has a way of getting the President's attention that is a joy to watch. Whenever the President sees Sam he automatically cups his ear. Study Donaldson's technique, son, and you'll go far in the White House correspondents business."

"Gosh," the young reporter said, "I never dreamed I would be yelling in the same reporter pack as Sam Donaldson."

"Don't let Sam fool you. He may seem like a nice fellow but he'll bust your eardrum before he'll let you yell a question to the President."

"Maybe I should bring a megaphone to work."

"They won't permit it. When it comes to interviewing Ronald Regan the only thing you can use is your tonsils."

"I'll gargle every day," the young man said.

The bureau chief said, "Come with me." He took the young correspondent into a soundproof room with a tiny photo of Ronald Regan in the distance. "This is where we practice yelling at the President. Now let's hear you shout."

"Here I go. MR. PRESIDENT, WERE YOU INVOLVED WITH THE LAUNDERING OF THE $1 TRILLION BUDGET? How is that?"

"Not very good," the chief said.

"What's wrong?"

"You should have also said, 'AND I INTEND TO SHOUT A FOLLOW-UP QUESTION.'"

Money said to be key

AUSTIN — Some Texas schools spend more money and yet still get less in quality education, a state district court was told in a crucial school financing case.

Jim Turner, the Austin attorney for some of Texas' 48 wealthiest districts, made the point to counter demands by poorer schools that seek to share the wealth.

"The state has evidence that no additional dollars will buy you a better education," Turner contended.

On the other hand, said Rick Gray, Austin attorney for 67 property-poor districts, "We say that money makes the difference."

"If a school has more money, it can do a better job of teaching," Gray said Wednesday in the second day of the trial.

The poor school districts are challenging the state's distribution of school money under the 1984 school reform act.

Attorneys have estimated the trial will last at least a month.

"I do think that funds provided a school district have an effect on the quality of education. Not the only one, but part of it," District Judge Harley Clark commented.

Dr. Richard Hooker of the University of Houston, a school finance expert, was the first witness presented at the opening of the trial Tuesday and remained on the stand Wednesday.

Hooker was asked, from his own experience as a teacher, whether he could teach as well in a school with a limited budget as in one which provided all necessary teaching assistance.

NRC rates Palo Verde

WINTERSBURG, Ariz. — Federal regulators rated five operational aspects of the Palo Verde nuclear plant in the highest of three categories, 13 in a middle category and one in the lowest ranking, the plant's operators said.

The Arizona Nuclear Power Project said Wednesday that the assessment by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission for the 12 months ended Sept. 30 said the aspects with the highest rates included fire protection, testing and training.

The one aspect rated in the lowest category was security, the ANPP said, adding that it was implementing improvements.

"We weren't surprised with the rating on security. During the first six months of assessment period, we had some problems with our security program," said Ed Van Brunt, ANPP executive vice president.

Van Brunt said the overall report "reaffirms our strengths and recommends specific areas where improvements can be realized."

Palo Verde, a three-reactor located approximately 50 miles west of downtown Phoenix, is owned by utilities in Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas.

Farm Hotline available

WHARTON — Texas farmers with financial problems can get advice over the telephone now, officials said.

The Texas Farm & Oasis Hotline began operations Wednesday from Wharton County Junior College.

Nancille Gallant, director of the service, said the first priority of the hotline will be to get Texas loan applications in order in case Congress makes more money available under the farm bill.

"The most immediate problem is the shortage of loan funds," said Donald Kopnick, a Bay City farmer who will staff the center. "Even good farmers, who could hang on until a new farm bill is written, can't get operating loan money this year."

He said the hotline, at (409) 532-1131, is a nonprofit organization formed by donations and grants.

School fires teacher

ODESSA — School trustees have fired a teacher who was arrested last August in a motel and charged with possession of cocaine.

Eli Cruz Esquivel, a teacher for three years in the Odesa system, pleaded guilty to the charges in a Nov. 13 appearance before Tom Green County District Judge Royal Hart in San Angelo, fined $2,000 and given five years probation, according to Tom Green County District Attorney Steve Lupton.

After the Tuesday decision, a spokesman for the Odesa school board declined comment other than to say Esquivel had violated school regulations and was removed for just causes.

Kirk Hawkins, a San Angelo attorney who represented Esquivel at his court appearance, claimed the teacher had found a vial and absent-mindedly put it in his pocket.

He claimed the vial fell from Esquivel's pocket while he was at the San Angelo Sheraton Inn and that an employee at the Sheraton called police to the scene.

Esquivel was arrested in San Angelo and held when investigators claimed the vial contained a trace amount of cocaine.

Agency seeks jobless

HOUSTON — An employment agency is recruiting out-of-work skilled laborers in an attempt to fill 1,000 job openings in the Washington, D.C. area, officials said.

Mickey Hanson, president of the Personnel Services of Centreville, Va., said he decided to come to Houston because he thought he could find plenty of available workers that the Washington area lacks.

In the Washington area, the unemployment rate is only 2.3 percent. The unemployment rate in Houston, however, is about 10 percent.

Hanson is looking for plumbers, electricians, mechanics, air conditioning and refrigeration repairmen and sheet metal fabricators and installers.

He also is collecting applications from people qualified to work in the accounting, medical, data processing and computer fields, but these positions are not included in the 1,000 jobs.

Several of his clients have given him permission to hire people on the spot to fill vacancies in their companies, Hanson said. Others want to review applications that Hanson and his associates recommend.

Paul resigns from GOP

WASHINGTON — Former Rep. Ronald E. Paul, a fiscal conservative during his four terms in Congress, resigned in disgust from the Republican Party, saying Wednesday his convictions were shattered by Ronald Reagan's economic policies.

"I guess it's something I've been thinking about for months, if not for years," Paul said in a telephone interview. "My struggle has been to minimize government. Very early in the Reagan years, I knew it was all over."

In a three-page letter of resignation sent to the Republican National Committee, Paul detailed the actions and lack of actions that caused him to spurn membership in the GOP.

Since Reagan took office as president six years ago, Paul said he has grown weary of ineffective attempts by the Republicans to reduce the size of the federal government and instead watched it balloon to mammoth proportions.

"How is it that the party of balanced budgets, with control of the White House and the Senate, accumulated red ink greater than all previous administrations put together?" asked Paul, a resident of Lake Jackson who represented the 22nd district near Houston in 1976, then again from 1978 through 1984.

"All Republicans rightly chastised (former President Jimmy) Carter for his $38 billion deficit. But they ignore or even defend deficits of $20 billion, as government spending has grown 10.4 percent per year since Reagan took office, while the federal payroll has zoomed by a quarter of a million bureaucrats."

Colleagues of Paul's described him as a fervent backer of a return to the gold standard and a fiscal conservative who sought to reduce government activities in any way he could.

"I think it's frustration because he thought all this would be solved with Ronald Reagan in power," said Texas GOP chief George Strake.

Committee keeps report proposal

AUSTIN — A blue-ribbon committee studying higher education refused Wednesday to strike a controversial proposal to trim from 15 to five the number of public university governing boards.

The recommendation is part of a 64-page report the Select Committee on Higher Education expects to present to the Texas Legislature the second week in February.

Lubbock lawyer Bill Parsley suggested removing the board realignment scheme in case the the provision might overshadow and cause the defeat of other good recommendations.

Parsley first suggested leaving it out during last week's committee meeting.

Parsley, a Lubbock attorney and former Texas Tech University official, said he thinks five "super boards" might cost the state more money and not accomplish much more than the present setup.

A majority of the members disagreed, however, and on a voice vote declined to remove the recommendation.

As it stands, the University of Texas and Texas A&M University would maintain their current regent boards. However, two new "comprehensive university" regent boards would take control of a number of schools, while the current Texas State University System would be expanded.

Texas State University System would include Angelo State, Corpus Christi State, East Texas State at Commerce and at Texarkana, Laredo State, Midwestern State, Sam Houston State, Southwest Texas State, Stephen F. Austin State, Sul Ross and its Uvalde Study Center, Texas A&I and West Texas State.

The Texas Comprehensive University System of the South and East would include three Lamar University campuses, two Pan American University campuses, Texas Southern University and four branches of the University of Houston, including one in Victoria.

Judge: price fixing suit is class action

LUBBOCK — U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward has declared that a cotton growers' price-fixing suit against numerous cotton exchanges and merchants will be a class action suit.

The ruling on Wednesday means that three Lubbock-area growers — Robert Graves, Clifford Hamilton and Raymond King — will represent the interests of all U.S. cotton farmers when the case is tried or settled.

Woodward found that all farmers who have raised cotton since 1974 may participate in the suit because of concerns common to the entire group.

Attorneys for the Lubbock and Dallas cotton exchanges and other defendants argued that allowing the farmers to join the suit would require hundreds of "mini-trials."

The defense claimed the trials would result because cotton sales are highly individualized. Woodward ruled, however, that issues common to all cotton farmers predominate and that the plaintiffs' claims are typical of the entire group.

The exchanges and merchants buy from the farmers for resale to other merchants, textile companies and manufacturers, Woodward states. The suit contends that the prices set are artificially low and violate federal anti-trust laws.

Farmers are prevented from getting the best prices, they claim, because they are restricted to selling their cotton within its growing area.

Woodward noted that the plaintiffs have indicated they can prove a nationwide price-fixing conspiracy against cotton farmers.

GONE TO THE DOGS

More than 1,100 entries buoyed the 1987 Dog Show and Obedience Trials sponsored by the Big Spring Kennel Club, Inc., Saturday, with dogs from 30 different states competing.

More than 100 breeds were represented in the show.

Texas led the entries with 820, while New Mexico enthusiasts numbered 85. Other states represented included: Oklahoma 56, Arizona 27, California 20, Kansas 17. Two dogs were from foreign countries, show officials reported.

Group winners were:

Sporting Group

Irish Setter: CH. ROSEWOOD ANAKIN SKYWALKER, owned by Shirlee Murray of Roanoke.

Hound Group

Afghan Hound: CH. ARIES SOUTHERN CROSS, owned by Pamela Levander and Roger E. Elfgrén of Denver, Colo.

Working Group

Standard Schnauzer: CH. EVAN VON SCHADEN, owned by Maxine H. Petteway of Houston.

Terrier Group

Kerry Blue Terrier: CH. TORUM'S CORKY CAPERS, owned by Doreen Fletcher of Bedford.

Toy Group

Toy Poodle: CH. JODAN'S WINTER JASMINE, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O. Gallas of Sunnyvale.

Non-Sporting Group

Lhasa Apsos: CH. JOLEE'S SPIKE JONES, owned by Elizabeth Faust of New Braunfels.

Herding Group

Old English Sheepdog: TO-JO PERFORMANCE CO O'RUSS-MAR, owned by Steve R. Russell, Mickey Dudley and Joy Kelley of Roanoke.

The seven group winners met in the final competition and the one chosen from these winners as Best in Show was: Kerry Blue Terrier: CH. TORUM'S CORKY CAPERS

Obedience Trial results:

Novice A: SEJKORA'S RED REBEL, Vizsla, owned by Rocky and Debbie Monzingo, Odessa, with a score of 194.5.

Novice B: RAVENTINE, Doberman Pinscher, owned by Sandra Davis, El Paso, with a score of 198.5.

Open A: NAHANI DE ORO, Golden Retriever, owned by Tori Schrami, San Antonio, with a score of 196.5.

Open B: CH & OTCH ABERDARE ELIZA OF TALIESIN, Welsh Corgi (Pembroke), owned by Peggy McConnell, Dallas, with a score of 197.5.

Utility Class: CH & OTCH ABERDARE ELIZA OF TALIESIN, Welsh Corgi (Pembroke), owned by Peggy McConnell, Dallas, with a score of 197.5.

Best Jr. Handler: Dawn Kennedy of Roanoke.

Nancy Lomas of Tucson, Ariz. gives a command to her dog Lacy, a Yorkshire Terrier, to lift its head during the competition.

Emil, an Afghan puppy, finds himself in a precarious position — while owner Helga Jeffs of Austin grooms him before he is to be shown.

More than 1,100 dogs and their owners visited Dorothy Garrett Coliseum for the Dog Show and Obedience Trials Saturday sponsored by the Big Spring Kennel Club.

Club notes

Club's yearbook pages distributed

Six members of the National Association of Letter Carrier's Auxiliary #1975 met Monday evening with Mrs. Martha Moody, co-hosting.

Frances Hendrick, president for 1987, presided over the first meeting of the new year.

New yearbook pages were distributed to members by Altha Trupp, chairperson of the yearbook committee.

Other committee members as appointed by the president are: Marie Daniels and Merlene Brown, social committee; Glenda Brown, welfare committee; Jean Slate, membership committee; Altha Trupp, by-laws committee; and Merlene Brown, ways and means committee.

Members reported that several of the china light switch plates had been sold. The switch plates are still available from auxiliary members for $3. Proceeds of the sale will be used for charitable donations within the community.

Recipes were submitted for "The Best of Postal Recipes Vol. II" cookbook.

Trupp will be the hostess for the Feb. 10 meeting. This year the hostesses will call members to remind them of the time and location of the meeting.

Frames program presented to club

The Mary Jane Club met Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Clovis Phinney Jr. with Mrs. Carroll Choate co-hosting.

Ernestine Day, owner of the Hitting Post, presented a program "Getting Framed." She stated that a frame should compliment the piece to be framed. Matting adds to the decorative design of the home. Mats come in many different materials, some of which are linen, suede, grass and cork.

Day showed examples of framing different items, which included paintings, needle work, medals, diplomas, awards, doilies, locks of hair, prints and photographs.

Bonnie Hale won the drawing for a set of prints, donated by Day.

Roll call was answered with "My most prized possession." Visitors were Lusana Wegnar, Daria and Amber Choate and Ernestine Day.

The next meeting will be Feb. 12 at the home of Mrs. Larry Nix.

Man unsuccessful in search for Miss Right

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a nice-looking, clean, personable, intelligent, sensitive fellow. I'm 23, masculine (but thin), have a good sense of humor and I'm friendly. However, I'm shy, insecure and very, very lonely. I am currently attending a university for graduate study. I have only two friends here. (They're both from home.) I was never with the "in" crowd.

I'm polite, have social skills and I'm always first to offer my congratulations for an achievement. I offer compliments to others on their appearance (especially girls), but no one has ever congratulated me on any of my numerous achievements. (I do not brag about them.) Actually, I was complimented once. A homosexual said I was "cute," and he was sorry I was straight.

I'm adored by my female relatives, but treated with contempt by most girls in my age group. Younger girls mainly ignore me.

Don't tell me to just be myself. I've been myself forever, and the only women who express any interest in me are either going steady, engaged, married or over 60. Where did I go wrong? Don't suggest joining a group.

evaluation. Ask two friends. If they can't offer any constructive criticism, maybe you're trying too hard. For a shy but intelligent guy, how about Toastmasters? Or a drama group? Even though you've already rejected joining a group, try again.

If none of the above relieves you of your loneliness, perhaps the counselor at the university can help you. Whatever you do, don't give up. Somewhere there's a nice-looking, clean, personable, intelligent, insecure, conservative, lonely female in your age group who's just dying to be discovered.

DEAR ABBY: I need help real fast. My husband and I have always had a wonderful relationship with my parents, but lately my mother and I had a serious disagreement concerning my three small sons. We want our children to respect and enjoy their grandparents' company without thinking that every time they stay with them they are going to either get a present, or get away with something while they are visiting. (We do not allow the boys to eat sweets all day; Grandma says at her house, she makes the rules.) Two weeks ago we took the boys over to help Dad trim his trees and pile the branches. Mother insisted the boys should be paid for helping. I objected, saying this would only teach them that every time they went to help they should get paid. My husband agreed with me. (Our middle son, 8, said he could not understand why Grandma would want to give them money for helping when they were having fun.) I wish Mother would just say she disagrees with us, but will abide by our rules, instead of getting into a big heated argument. By the way, my father thinks that if we say "No," it should be "No," not, "You can do it because you're at Grandma's house."

Mother told me that if I had the nerve to mail this letter, she would abide by your decision. Should there be two sets of rules — one for Grandma's house and one for home?

BETTY BLUE

DEAR BETTY: One set only: yours. Some grandparents tend to spoil their grandchildren, not realizing they could also be spoiling the efforts of parents who try to raise their children to be generous, honest, and to take good care of their bodies.

To get Abby's booklet, "What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know," send a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (30 cents) self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.

ON THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

DEAR OUTSIDE: You write a charming letter, and I'll bet you'd be great company, but I don't qualify because I'm over 60 and married.

If you describe yourself accurately, something is wrong here. It's either your perception of yourself, or the world's perception of you. Ask a friend for an honest

Those who seek truth, God's truth and God's approval, as the support for their beliefs and religious practices, should follow this attitude: (1) Submit everything to the test of reason with revelation (Bible scriptures). (2) Never adopt nor oppose any Bible teaching or religious doctrine because of the persons who embrace or reject it. (3) Rest your cause upon truth and Bible evidence alone. (4) Seek truth, to know the truth of God. (5) Seek to understand God's truth, regardless of cost. (6) Seek to know how to apply the truth into your life. (7) Seek the courage to stand up for the truth. (8) Seek the boldness to proclaim the truth and only God's truth. (9) Never fear truth, fear only God who is the author of truth. (10) Make no claims for writing God's truth and take no position of authority against it. (11) Keep an open mind toward every truth and never be beligerent about it. The Bible says, "Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on Him, If you continue in My Word, then are you My disciples indeed; and you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." ### Hawks, Queens at home tonight

The Howard College Hawks and Hawk-Queens will host squads from Frank Phillips Junior College tonight at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Hawks haven't played since last week's nail biter at Midland, as Monday night's trip to South Plains was postponed by snow. The Hawks are 3-3 in conference and 11-9 overall, while the Plainsmen are 0-4 and 7-11.

Here's a prediction: cabin fever, the frustrating loss to Midland, and the home court advantage will all be bad news for the visitors.

Look for the Hawks to romp, something like 103-86. Tonight's game will be telltale for the Queens, who haven't played in almost 12 days. They have a record of 2-2 in conference and 14-6 overall, while Frank Phillips posts 1-3, 9-8 records.

Life hasn't been kind to the Queens of late. Coach Don Stevens was recently hospitalized for gall stones; forward Carolyn Willand was in a bad accident over the Christmas holidays, and is questionable for tonight; and two of the Queens' post players, Leslie Carter and Sophia Ish, did not return after Christmas.

For those reasons, tonight's game will be an important one from a mental standpoint. It should also be interesting for the fans. How will the Queens respond to adversity and a 12-day layoff?

For the answer to this and other questions, be at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at 6 p.m. tonight. The Hawks follow at 8 p.m.

Those wishing to attend the Big Spring High School Fall Sports Banquet Monday night must purchase tickets by this afternoon, so make haste if you haven't yet done so.

The tickets are $8 per person and are being sold at Big Spring Athletics and the high school administration office. Former New York Jets receiver Don Maynard will be the guest speaker.

The banquet is open to the public. However, tickets will not be sold at the door, because those in the kitchen will base the amount of food prepared on the amount of tickets sold.

The Runnels A and B girls basketball teams made short work of Colorado City Monday night in a 44-14 victory. The Runnels B team got eight points and seven rebounds from Shannon McCarthy to defeat Colorado City 36-14.

Lillian Trevino, Carla Van Vleet and Shawn Settles each scored six points. Van Vleet had five rebounds and Michelle Chavarria had seven steals in the game.

The Runnels A team ran its record to 5-2 by taking a 40-18 win over the Lady Wolves.

Pam Gill had a banner night by scoring 19 points and hauling down seven rebounds. Liane Dabbs scored seven points and collected eight steals and Kerry Burdett added six points and five steals. Amanda Ybarra chipped in five steals.

Runnels held Colorado City to five points in the second half. Offensively Runnels shot a hot 62 percent from the floor.

This weekend they will try to continue their winning ways at the Snyder tournament.

The Weight Management class at the Big Spring YMCA, originally scheduled to begin Jan. 13, will start Feb. 3 instead.

The first session, an introductory to the course, will be free, thus allowing the curious to test the waters without a fee.

Here's hoping the Super Bowl isn't the dud of past years. I'm getting tired of icing down the beer, buying a few hours worth of munchies and getting in a festive mood for what should be known as the Super Let Down.

How come college basketball's Final Four is always awesome, and the Super Bowl is always a dud? Certainly this is one of life's more perplexing questions. How do you qualify as the best team in your conference one week and two weeks later lose by 20 or 30 points?

For the answer, ask the Patriots, Dolphins, and Redskins, or just about any losing team in the Super Let Down of the 80's.

Maybe, just maybe, this firecracker won't fizzle. But don't bet on it. If your hosting a Super Bowl party, you might want to rent a tape from your favorite video store. Prepare to begin filming at halftime.

Duo back together again

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Pitcher Vida Blue and designated hitter Reggie Jackson, the only players still active from the Oakland A's championship years, have come home.

The A's announced Wednesday that they have signed Blue to a one-year contract. Jackson, 40, rejoined the team four weeks ago as a free agent.

"I really want to shed some tears, because I really am elated," said Blue, now 37. "I'm really excited about getting the chance to play for the A's again."

The A's won five consecutive American League West titles from 1971 to 1975 and won the World Series in 1972, 1973 and 1974.

"It has a lot of sentimental meaning to me to come back and to get No. 14 (his old uniform number)," Blue said.

Blue said he plans to retire after 1987.

"It goes beyond playing one more year," Blue said. "I get a chance to do it in my back yard with the team I started with. This is where my roots are."

"Plus, I get to play again with Reggie Jackson. How many players can say that?"

Despite the emotional overtones behind the return of Blue and Jackson, both players said they came back because they believe they can help the team.

"That burning desire is still with me to compete on a big league ballclub," said Blue, who appeared in 28 games for the San Francisco Giants last season, compiling a 3.27 earned run average and 10-10 record.

Manager Tony La Russa, once an Oakland teammate of Blue and Jackson, said the primary reason the A's went after the Blue was because the team needed a left-handed starting pitcher.

The A's were short on left-handed pitchers last season, both in their starting rotation and in the bullpen, and Blue could help the team in either area.

"I would be willing to do anything possible to help the ballclub," Blue said. "I probably will control my own destiny."

Blue began a comeback with the Giants as a reliever in 1985 after being suspended during the 1984 season because of drug-related problems, but he later took over a starting job.

Blue, who was two years out of high school when he first pitched for the A's in 1969, has a career record of 209-161. In 1971, Blue's first full major league season, he won the American League's Most Valuable Player and Cy Young awards after posting a 24-8 record, with a 1.82 ERA and 301 strikeouts.

Blue, Catfish Hunter, Ken Holtzman, Rollie Fingers and Darold Knowles were the top pitchers during the A's championship years. Jackson was at the heart of a batting order that also included Bert Campaneris, Sal Bando, Joe Rudi, Gene Tenace and Dick Green.

Drexel sinks big Dave and Middies

By The Associated Press

David Robinson scored 44 points, more than half of Navy's total. The 7-foot-1 center also grabbed a game-high 14 rebounds. He made 67 percent of his field goal attempts, matching his teammates' total of 16 field goals.

Oh yes — Drexel beat the 18th-ranked Midshipmen.

Casper Cooper scored a career-high 23 points as the Dragons ended Navy's five-game winning streak, beating the visiting Middies 83-80 Wednesday night.

"He's a great ballplayer, but he can't do it all by himself," Drexel guard Michael Anderson said of Robinson, who almost did it all by himself.

The 44 points were one below Robinson's career high, but it was his three missed free throws in the game's final four minutes that allowed the Dragons, 7-7, to overcome a 78-74 deficit with 2:11 to play.

"Basketball is a team game and (Drexel Coach) Eddie (Burke) got a real good performance from his whole team," Navy Coach Pete Herrmann said of his club, which fell to 12-4.

No. 8 DePaul 78, Evansville 68

The Blue Demons remained one of three unbeaten Division I teams with their 18th victory of the season. Kevin Edwards scored 26 points and Rod Strickland added 22 as visiting DePaul never trailed.

"A lot of people have been questioning this team's heart," DePaul Coach Joey Meyer said. "But this game here should show some people we do have heart."

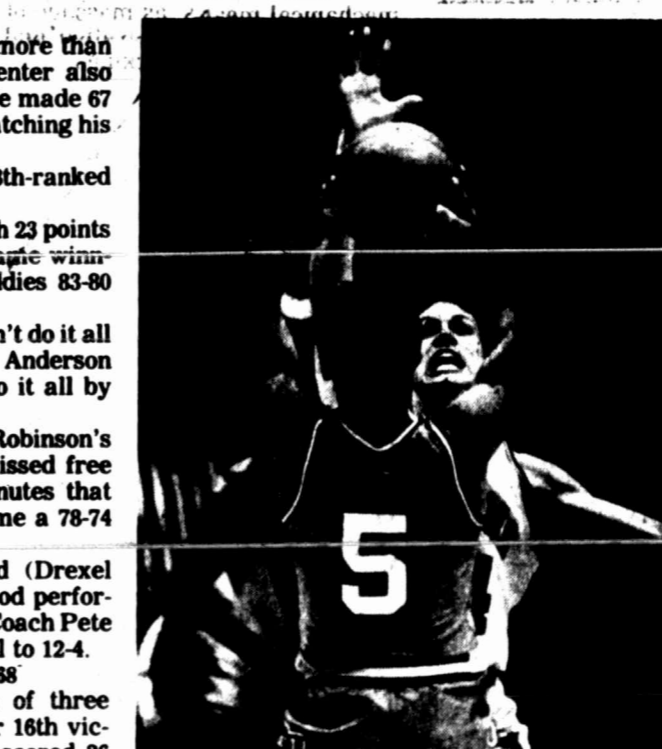

The Blue Demons built leads of as much as 14 points in the first half and were never really pushed by Evansville, 8-9, which was led by Scott Haffner's 28 points.

No. 7 Syracuse 70, Villanova 58

Visiting Villanova actually led 52-51 with 3:54 to play, but the Orangemen went on a 17-0 run to seal the victory and keep the top spot in the Big East with a 5-0 record.

"Defensively, we played well. Unfortunately they exploded at the end," Villanova Coach Rollie Massimino said.

Derrick Coleman led the Orangemen, 16-1, with 17 points, 15 in the second half, and Rony Seikaly had 15 points and 14 rebounds. Kenny Oklahoma forward Dave Sieger (44) defends against Oklahoma State guard Jay Davis (5) in Big Eight hoop action Wednesday night.

Wilson led Villanova, 10-7 and 3-3, with 13 points.

"We were a little sluggish in the first half. I'm not sure what the reason was," Syracuse guard Greg Monroe, who had 10 points, said.

"Our press (in the second half) didn't seem to bother them a whole lot, but I think it was able to get us going."

No. 8 Temple 72, Massachusetts 60

Temple's Mike Vreeswyk held Massachusetts Lorenzo Sutton, who had 21 points in the first half, scoreless over the final 20 minutes. Vreeswyk, who scored 18 points himself, covered Sutton in a box-and-one defense that turned the game around for the Owls, 16-2 and 7-0, who remained atop the Atlantic 10 standings.

Sutton, a 6-2 guard, was 8-for-13 from the field in the first half, including five of seven on 3-point attempts.

"We had to do something because he was hitting all those long shots," Temple Coach John Chaney said of Sutton. "I've seen Mike play one-on-one before, so I knew he could do the job."

Massachusetts, 5-10 and 2-6, led 53-51 with 11:09 to play, but a 13-3 run by the Owls gave them their 28th consecutive victory at McGonigle Hall.

No. 11 Oklahoma 94, Oklahoma State 67

The Sooners handed Oklahoma State the worst loss in the intrastate series since 1929. Reserve guard Dave Sieger used the 3-point field goal for all but two of his 17 points as the Sooners improved to 13-3 and 2-1 in the Big Eight. Five other Sooners finished in double figures.

Oklahoma used a 22-10 run to take a 31-18 lead with 3:45 left in the first half and the Sooners led by as many as 30 in the second half.

Todd Christian, who scored all 19 of his points in the second half, led the Cowboys, 4-12 and 0-3. No. 20 North Carolina State 87, No. 12 Duke 74

Kenny Drummond scored 26 points and handed out eight assists to lead the Wolfpack to the Atlantic Coast Conference victory.

North Carolina State took a 53-38 lead with 17:40 to play on a layup by Mike Giomi but the Blue Devils, 13-3 and 3-2, were able to close the gap to 67-61 with 7:23 remaining on a three-point play by John Smith. However, that was as close as Duke could get as the Wolfpack, 12-4 and 4-2, went on a 14-4 run.

Danny Ferry led Duke with 23 points.

No. 15 Georgetown 65, Connecticut 51

Georgetown never trailed as it coasted to the Big East Conference victory over the Huskies, who lost to the Hoyas for the 11th consecutive time.

The Hoyas, 13-2 and 4-2, held Connecticut to 16 first-half points and Perry McDonald scored 13 of his 22 points in the opening 20 minutes that ended with Georgetown leading by 11.

Cliff Robinson led Connecticut, 6-9 and 1-5, with 17 points.

Millrose Games attracts Olympians

NEW YORK (AP) — Sprinters Carl Lewis, winner of four gold medals in the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics, and Evelyn Ashford, who collected two golds, head a field of 38 Olympians, 19 Olympic medalists and 14 world record holders who will compete Jan. 30 in the 90th Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden.

Lewis will run in the men's 60-yard dash against Lee McRae, holder of the world indoor best, plus Olympic 200-meter silver medalist Kirk Baptiste, 100-meter world record holder Calvia Smith, two-time Olympian Harvey Glance, Emmitt King, Floyd Heard, Mel Lattany and Mike Morris.

Ashford leads the women's 60, which also will include Jeanette Bolden, Alice Brown, European champion Nellie Fiere-Cooman of The Netherlands and defending champion Gwen Torrence.

Among the other outstanding athletes entered are Renaldo Nehemiah, Greg Foster, Ireland's Edmond Coghlan, Britain's Steve Ovett, Billy Olson and Joe Dial.

Nehemiah, the world record holder in the 110-meter high hurdles and owner of the world indoor best for the 60-yard hurdles, will try and avenge an early season loss to Foster in the shorter distance.

Olson, the 1986 Millrose champion in the pole vault and the American indoor record holder, will be challenged by Dial, the American outdoor record holder, along with Olympic bronze medalist Earl Bell.

The men's 3,000-meter race features U.S. 5,000-meter champion Doug Padilla, Olympian Jim Spivey, two-time Olympian Jose-Luis Gonzalez of Spain, Kenyan Olympian Charles Cheruiyot, Britain's Geoff Smith, Tanzania's Suleiman Nyambui and Ireland's Paul Donovan.

The other top women's competitors will include Stephanie Hightower and Olympic heptathlon silver medalist Jackie Joyner-Kersey in the 80 hurdles, Olympic relay gold medalists Diane Dixon and Lillie Leatherwood in the 400, Joetta Clark and Delisa Walton-Floyd in the 800, Britain's Wendy Sly and Canada's Lynn Williams in the mile, and Louise Ritter and Canadian Debbie Brill in the high jump.

Earnhardt to defend NASCAR title

NEW YORK (AP) — Dale Earnhardt is a man of simple pleasures and down-to-earth opinions.

Earnhardt, the defending NASCAR Winston Cup champion, is preparing to start defense of his second stock car title on Feb. 15 in the Daytona 500. But he's trying to mentally separate the new season from his triumphs in 1986.

"We're last year's champions," Earnhardt said earlier this week in an interview during the Eastern Motorsports Press Association convention. "That might carry some weight somewhere. But it don't mean much on the racetrack."

Earnhardt, who won five races and nearly $1.8 million last season, drives for the team owned and operated by Richard Childress, who never won a race in his NASCAR driving career.

"The championship doesn't change anything," Earnhardt said. "We're still hungry. I think we've always been hungry. I won the championship in 1980 and that was very satisfying, but it took several years for us to win the second one, and that shows what you're up against. Nothing comes easy."

"And, right now, everybody's dealt a new hand. We're pumped up just like we were at the start of last season. I'm as determined and hungry as I've ever been."

Earnhardt says the major difference between the two championships he has won is the way he feels about himself and his career. After winning the first one, times got tough for the young second-generation driver and he often appeared surly and uncommunicative.

"In 1980, I was on a rollercoaster," Earnhardt said. "Back then, I didn't know where I was going. I was just taking things as they came and waiting to see what would happen next."

"Now, I'm getting things planned out. I know what we're going to do and how we're going to do it. And I've learned how to take defeat as well as victory."

The only driver to win more races than Earnhardt on NASCAR's premier circuit last year was Tim Richmond, who will miss at least a month of the season while recuperating from pneumonia.

Steers' stampede

A person's character comes out in stressful situations. Flaws expose themselves and strengths surface under pressure.

Our Steer team fought a hard battle in one of the best high school basketball games anyone could ever hope to see against Andrews last Friday night. The Steers played one of their best games of the year only to see the other team play one of their best. This is really what it's all about - "Big games," good competition, good skills and outstanding efforts by both teams.

Although we lost the game, we had some outstanding efforts by many players. Andrews, like Lamesa, played about as good, if not above their ability, as possible. The Steers were 54% from the field and 73% from the line, compared to Andrews 64% and 87% respectively. One really can't ask for better efforts.

The Steers are two games out of first place through the first half of play. We are still in the hunt and every district game and opponent are important the rest of the way. We have to win the games we're supposed to win.

We cannot have a letdown and be slipped up upon by any team. We will have second half showdowns again with Snyder, Lamesa, and An-draws. This is not to take any other teams lightly. We play all of them one at a time. Each game is important. Our rule of thumb is: "Respect everyone, Fear no one!"

This team is averaging 83.2 points per game in district play and 76.4 a game for the season.

We've had good performances from players off the bench that sometimes fail to show up in the stats. Solid help has come from senior guard Chris Lopez, a good shooter and all around player. Tyrone Foster, Randy Odum and Steve Gill have provided good play for the Steers in all games of late.

An open date Friday the 23rd, will allow us to get well and prepare for the second round of play. We do have a few players fighting off colds and other winter ills. The schedule is good to us the rest of the way provided we do our job and play up to our potential down the stretch. Our goals remain high.

We can do the job just as well with two black eyes. It'll just take a little more dedication, work and concentration on our parts to accomplish those goals. Confidence, determination, preparation, and hard work will be our mainstays in the days and weeks ahead.

We appreciate the great turnout of Big Spring fans. Don't stop. We'll do everything in our power to keep your interest and respect. Fan support is great and is like a sixth man on the floor. Keep it up and help us in our quest for the playoffs. We're on our way up.

Next game: Tuesday, January 27 here.

Support the Steers. We're striving to be a team Big Spring can take pride in.

Player Of The Week

Chris Lopez has been named player of the week for his consistent play in past games. Chris is a good shooter, defensive player, and all around hustler. He has an outstanding attitude that makes him a big part of the Steer team. Chris is a senior guard and is the son of Ramon and Viola Lopez.

TCU stops Tech, 48-43

By The Associated Press

Texas Christian gained some breathing room atop the Southwest Conference by downing Texas Tech, but Texas A&M was surprised by Rice and was replaced in second place by Houston, which dined Southern Methodist.

TCU's 19th-ranked Horned Frogs used a big rebound advantage to extend their unbeaten conference record to 6-0. Carven Holcombe provided the offensive punch, scoring 16 points, and Larry Richard pulled down 16 rebounds.

The Frogs forced outside shooting from the Red Raiders, who managed only 37 percent from the field as they fell 48-43 Wednesday night.

Senior center Tony Papa, listed as questionable before the game with a thigh injury, played a major role in the victory. Papa scored six points and pulled down a career-high 11 rebounds.

"I thought Larry Richard and Tony Papa both did a super job on the boards tonight," TCU coach Jim Killingsworth said. "When you are able to get that kind of performance from your front line, generally good things happen for you."

The loss was Tech's first on its home court this season. The Raiders fell to 4-3 in conference play.

Tech coach Gerald Myers had praise for TCU's big men, too.

"They played well and controlled the rebounding on us," Myers said. "We played as hard and as well as we could but you have to give their defense credit."

Texas A&M got a stellar performance from leading scorer Winston Crite, who had 19 points, but the Owls' DeWayne Tanner played the spoiler by sinking two free-throws with four seconds on the clock for a 69-67 Rice win.

The win was the first conference victory for the Owls, now 1-5, and the first win over A&M since 1973.

Southern Methodist University guard Kato Armstrong (22) knocks the ball loose from University of Houston center Rolando Ferreira (33).

Rice had lost 10 straight league games dating back to last season.

The Aggies registered victories over Texas, SMU, Tech and Houston and came within two points of TCU before falling to the underdog Owls. Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf expressed his disappointment.

"It was a devastating loss," Metcalf said.

Meanwhile, Houston, 4-1, recovered from a tough loss to the Aggies Monday by whipping SMU 75-64 Wednesday to move ahead of A&M by one-half game in second place and keep the pressure on TCU.

SMU remains winless in conference play at 0-6, the worst season start in Dave Bliss' seven years at the helm of the Ponies.

The win sets up a Houston-TCU showdown Saturday in Hofheinz Pavilion.

Coach gets last laugh in win over Pistons

By The Associated Press

While Detroit and Utah are both involved in close divisional races as the NBA season approaches the halfway mark, their meetings this season were bound to have an intensity that goes beyond the standings.

The rivalry between the two teams was set by the offseason trade of Adrian Dantley to the Pistons for Kelly Tripucka - after a longtime feud between Dantley and Jazz Coach Frank Layden.

A sellout crowd at the Salt Palace greeted Dantley with a standing ovation before Wednesday night's game was won 112-108 by the Jazz, who snapped a four-game losing streak.

"It feels good to get those four losses behind us, and this was an emotional win for all of us, especially Frank," said Karl Malone, who led Utah with 23 points and 10 rebounds.

Dantley, playing his first game in Utah in a Detroit uniform, shot 3-for-12 from the field and 6-for-12 from the free-throw line for 12 points, 10 under his average. He failed to score in the first quarter and had four points at halftime.

Tripucka finished with 15 points for the Jazz, who didn't clinch the victory until John Stockton hit two free throws with nine seconds left.

Detroit, which was 21-of-31 from the free-throw line, trailed 109-99 with 2:50 left, but Isiah Thomas had six points and Joe Dumars added a three-pointer as the Pistons closed the gap to 110-108 with 11 seconds left. Stockton, who had 17 points and 16 assists, completed the scoring with his two free throws.

"At times we were flat," said Detroit Coach Chuck Daly, whose team remained in first place in the Central Division. "We gave up too many points. We missed a lot of foul shots. You can't miss that many foul shots and win."

Lakers 112, Hawks 109 Los Angeles won its fifth straight as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored eight of his 26 points in the final 6:41 against Atlanta.

Abdul-Jabbar scored five points during an 11-1 spurt that turned a two-point Lakers deficit into a 105-97 lead with 4:39 left. The Hawks scored eight straight points to get within two, but James Worthy and Michael Cooper grabbed offensive rebounds in the final minute to preserve the victory.

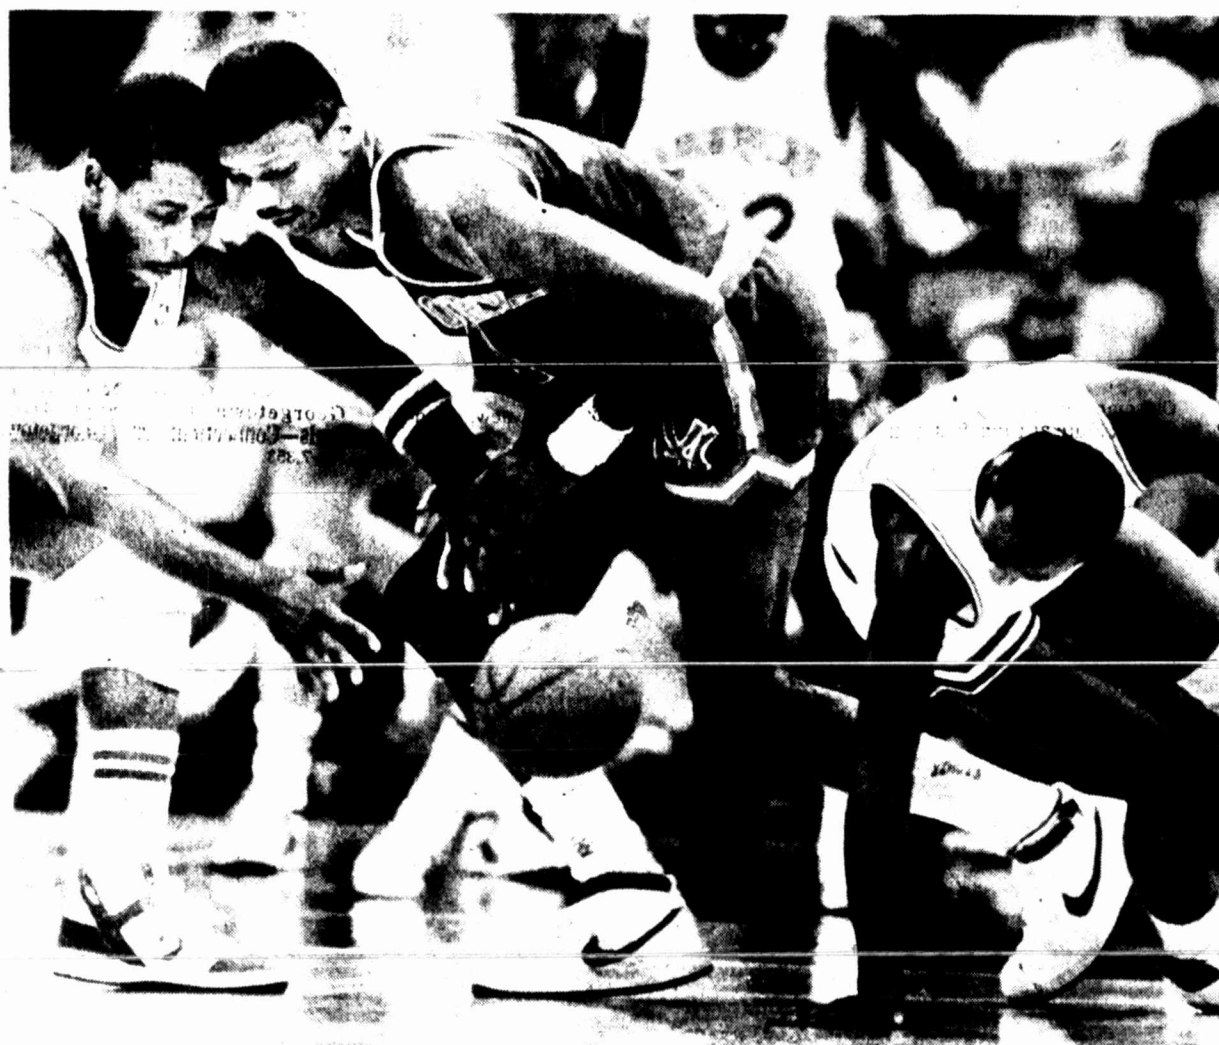

Kevin Willis had 35 points and 14 rebounds for the Hawks, and Dominique Wilkins added 29 points.

Celtics 130, Pacers 100 Boston took command early against Indiana as Larry Bird and Robert Parish scored 12 points each to help the Celtics lead 41-26 after one quarter.

Bird finished with 26 points, Kevin McHale 24 and Parish 22 for the Boston, which still led 60-48 at halftime despite being held to 19 points in the second period. The Celtics continued to widen their lead in the second half en route to their 18th victory in 19 games at Boston Garden this season.

Herb Williams led the Pacers with 17 points.

76ers 129, SuperSonics 123 Charles Barkley's three-point play to start the overtime period gave Philadelphia a lead it never lost against Seattle.

Barkley, who had 15 rebounds, scored five points in overtime after being held to 11 in regulation. Roy Hinson had 28 points and Tim McCormick 27 to lead the 76ers, who scored the first seven points of overtime.

Dale Ellis paced Seattle with 40 points, while Xavier McDaniel added 28 points and Tom Chambers 22. McDaniel's basket with 12 seconds left in regulation tied the score 115-115.

Rockets 111, Spurs 91 Houston beat San Antonio for its fourth victory in five games since Mitchell Wiggins and Lewis Lloyd were banned from the NBA for cocaine use.

Robert Reid scored 23 points and Akeem Olajuwon added 17 of his 22 in the second half for the Rockets, who outscored the Spurs 61-44 in the last two periods.

Rookie Walter Berry led San Antonio with 20 points.

Mavericks 113, Knicks 93 Mark Aguirre scored 27 points and Dallas pulled away from New York with a 16-2 streak in the final 6:41 of the third period.

The Knicks had cut a nine-point halftime deficit to 66-65 early in the second half before the Mavericks' streak gave them an 82-67 lead going into the fourth quarter.

Dallas got 18 points from Sam Perkins and 15 points and 17 rebounds from James Donaldson. Patrick Ewing had 27 points and Gerald Henderson 24 for New York.

Bucks 111, Cavaliers 107 Terry Cummings and Ricky Pierce scored 21 points each and Milwaukee hit all six of its free-throw attempts in the final three to hold off a Cleveland rally.

The Bucks led 62-49 at halftime, but the Cavaliers closed the gap to 99-97 with 3½ minutes left. After Milwaukee scored the next four points, two free throws by Cleveland's Craig Ehlo made it 105-101, but two free throws by Cummings and four by Craig Hodges kept the Cavaliers from pulling closer.

Ron Harper scored 24 points for Cleveland, which has lost 10 of its last 12 games.

Nuggets 129, Warriors 112 Lafayette Lever, Mike Evans, Alex English and Blair Rasmussen scored 21 points each and Denver converted 26 Golden State turnovers into 30 points.

The Nuggets, who led 66-56 at halftime, extended the margin to 20 in the third period and took their largest lead at 126-100 in the fourth period.

Eric Floyd led all scorers with 22 points for the Warriors.

Nets 120, Suns 114 New Jersey snapped a six-game losing streak as Buck Williams had 30 points and 17 rebounds and Orlando Woolridge scored 12 of his 29 points during a 23-11 second-half spurt.

The game was tied 77-77 late in the third quarter before Woolridge hit four baskets and four free throws in a seven-minute span as the Nets grabbed a 100-88 lead with 7:33 left. The Suns, who lost for the 10th time in their last 13 games, got no closer than five points down the stretch although Walter Davis scored 11 of his 15 points in the final six minutes.

Larry Nance paced Phoenix with 29 points.

Giants say playing on natural grass won't hurt

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Take away artificial turf and you take away Joe Morris' speed. And that takes away a big advantage for the New York Giants on Sunday's Super Bowl.

So the reasoning goes, and the statistics would seem to bear that out.

But to the Giants, that reasoning is artificial and the statistics are meaningless. In fact, they seem to prefer playing on natural grass, as they will in the Rose Bowl, and not artificial turf.

"There's no difference, man," New York wide receiver Bobby Johnson said. "Football's football."

"I love playing on grass. Our receivers play better on grass. They cut better."

Morris concedes he might not be as quick on grass. But, he said, he won't be the only one when the Giants meet the Denver Broncos.

"They'll be 22 guys out there on grass and it'll affect them the same way it'll affect me," he said. "Twenty-one other guys will also be slower than usual."

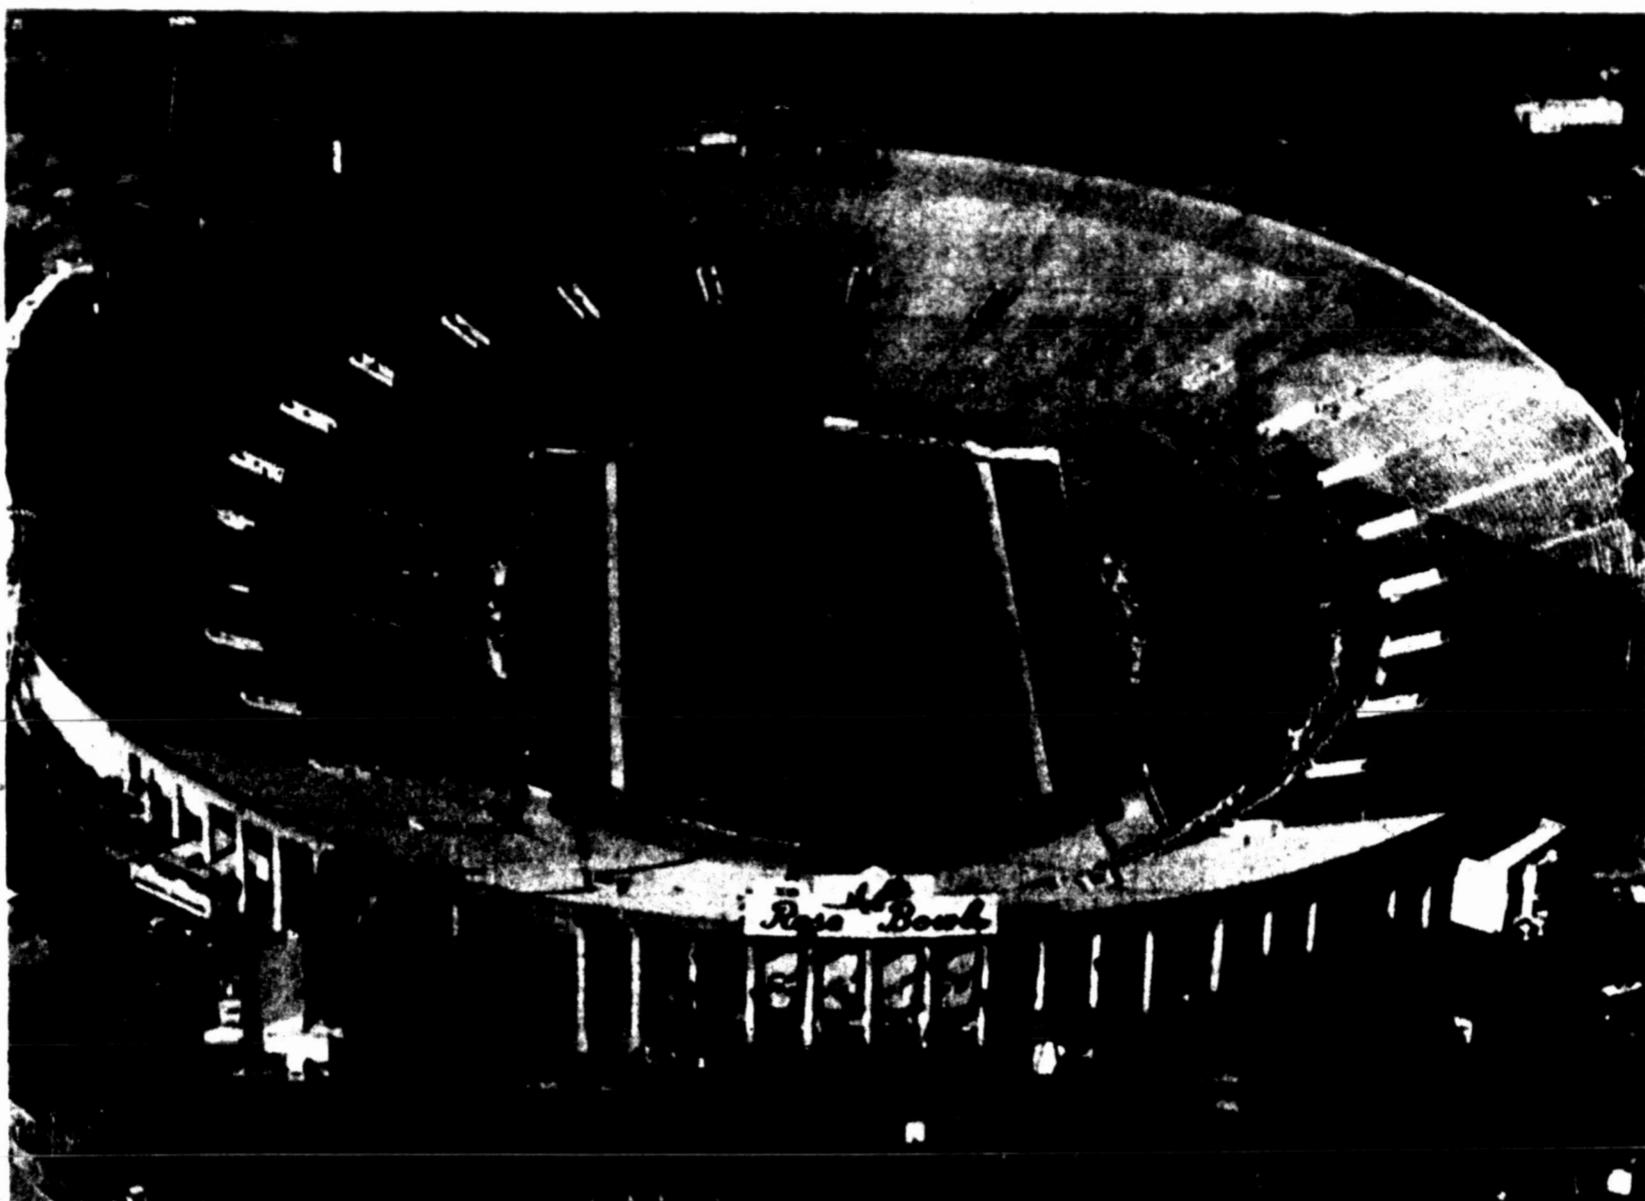

But 21 other guys might not depend on speed as much as Morris. Still, he is undaunted.

"All my high school games were on grass. I started in college (at Syracuse) on grass," he said. "I did fine in college and high school. This is a grass game, and I'm going to practice and play on grass. When you get used to it, it's not that different."

So he says. The statistics say there is a difference.

Morris averaged better than 100 yards a game this season. But in three games on grass, he averaged just 62 yards — 110 yards on 18 carries against the Los Angeles Raiders, but only 14 yards on 13 carries against the San Francisco 49ers and 62 yards on 22 carries against the Washington Redskins.

Misleading, the Giants insist. In San Francisco, they say, what Bowl stadium in Pasadena, California. Giants players say that playing on natural grass instead of artificial turf won't affect their play.

the game was played on was less a factor than how it was played. "The 49ers believe if they stop the run, they'll win the game," Ard said. "They forgot we have two dimensions. And the field was lousy." Also rushing to Morris' defense is offensive coordinator Ron Erhardt. "If the hole is there, he'll scoot," Erhardt said. "It's like playing on the run or wood in basketball. He has had good games on grass." So, actually, have the Giants, even when Morris hasn't. The NFC champions, whose home field is artificial turf, won all three of their games on grass — 14-9 over the Raiders, 21-17 over the 49ers and 24-14 over the Redskins. Overall, New York is 16-2. The AFC champion Broncos play their home games on grass and won 11 of 12 games on natural surface this season. The only loss was a 9-3 setback to San Diego at Mile High Stadium. Overall, Denver is 13-5.

"They're making a lot out of nothing," said Stacy Robinson, another Giants wide receiver. "We played well on grass this year. I prefer grass. I think most players prefer it. "You get a game of this magnitude, we'll play it on concrete. Guys have been playing football for years. You didn't play on artificial turf in high school."

"I much prefer grass," said wide receiver Lionel Manuel, who scored both New York touchdowns against the Raiders on passes from Phil Simms. "It's a lot softer. It's easier on your knees, easier when you fall down or get knocked down."

While Morris was held down at San Francisco, Simms completed 27 of 38 passes for 388 yards. "I'd rather play on grass," Simms said. "It's better to fall on, it's better to throw the football on grass. We practice on it nearly every day. We seem to play well on grass."

Another Giant who had his problems at San Francisco was placekicker Raul Allegre. But he didn't sound concerned about it.

"People have bad games," he said. "I would prefer a good grass field and a nice, sunny day."

Chances are, he'll get both Sunday at the Rose Bowl.

"Grass is no different," Allegre said. "It's not bad unless you have a rainstorm and mud. Then, it's bad."

Denver Coach Dan Reeves said he didn't believe his team had an advantage because of the playing surface.

"They're 3-0 against good teams," Reeves said of the Giants. Reeves said there was no question as to his preference and that of his players.

"Our players enjoy playing on natural grass. I think every player does," he said. "You see guys dripping mud, you see guys bleeding."

"I had 10 knee operations. It hurts when I have to stand on the sidelines and watch on artificial turf. It particularly hurts guys the older they get."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JAN. 23, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today brings the need to double-check whatever comes to your attention, whether it's the written or spoken word. Be aware of the romantic needs of your loved one.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Keep out of an argument between your mate and a friend and it will soon cease. Be as charming as you can.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A mundane affair can cause you some worry. Make up your mind to get along well with stubborn persons.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A message from far away could disturb you if you don't take it in stride. Use your magnetism today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Figure out how much entertainment will cost and then choose whatever is within your means.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) The evening is ideal for inviting worthwhile guests into your home. This can lead to an interesting alliance.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't make any changes in your routine. Take time to visit those friends you count among the best.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get your property improved. Listen to the needs of your mate. Don't spend too much money.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You do not agree with kin over some important affair but say nothing for the time being.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do not send that message that could cause others much trouble. Solve the problem wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A wise friend gives good advice which you may not appreciate yet. Avoid one who wastes your time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) What you desire does not work well today, so plan your time for other things. Make a new contact.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You get new ideas that need further study before you can make them work. Forget mundane tasks today.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have a great thirst for knowledge and would be most unhappy if taken away from studies. One who can easily make friends with persons who are highly educated. Try to give your progeny all the educational advantages that you can afford.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." "What you make of your life is largely up to you!"
