

Big Spring Herald

The Crossroads of West Texas

Saturday

10 Pages 1 Section

January 31, 1987

Clean water

President Reagan votes before noon bill, which is likely to pass in both houses of Congress. Details on page 1A.

Index

Business..... 5
Classified..... 10
Education..... 9
Obituary..... 8
Sports..... 9
Weather..... 2

Vol. 59 No. 245 25¢

Spring board

How's that?
Hayworth husband

Q. Rita Hayworth married King Ali Khan. What country was he king of, and what is their daughter's name?

A. Ali Khan was a prince, the illegitimate son of Aga Khan, according to Donna Jackson of the Howard County Library. The title was honorary, not official.

Aga Khan was a religious leader in Pakistan, then part of India. Ali Khan was raised a European. The daughter of Ali Khan and Rita Hayworth is named Yasmin.

Calendar Benefit

TODAY
• The American Heart Association will have a "celebrity waiter" benefit at 7 p.m. at Highland Mall. Tickets are $20, and include dinner and drinks. Tickets must be purchased in advance. For more information, call 267-2511.

• The Hot Potato Band will perform Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Charlie's Restaurant on Gregg St. The public is invited.

SUNDAY
• Meadowlark Lemon, star basketball player formerly of the Harlem Globetrotters, will speak at Christ Fellowship Church at 10 a.m. Sunday. The public is invited, and a nursery will be provided.

Tops on TV

Room upstairs

A woman who has sheltered herself from the outside world finds friendship and a new outlook on life with the newest tenant of her boardinghouse on "The Room Upstairs," 8 p.m. on Channel 7.

Outside

Growing colder

Skies are increasingly cloudy and windy today with a high in the low 60s. Winds will be south to southwest at 15 to 25 miles an hour and gusty. Tonight and Sunday, look for cloudy skies and colder temperatures, with a low tonight in the mid 30s and a high Sunday in the mid 40s.

Lighter side

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The woman pictured in Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" got her ethereal smile from a common nerve disorder, says a doctor who treats people suffering from the ailment.

The theory by Dr. Kedar K. Adour, a nose, ear and throat specialist, comes on the heels of one by computer artist Lillian Schwartz of Bell Laboratories in New Jersey, who suggested that Mona Lisa really might have been a kind of self-portrait of Da Vinci.

When patients suffering a temporary facial disfigurement called Bell's palsy are told they suffer Mona Lisa's disease, "they feel 200 percent better," Adour was quoted as saying in the Feb. 2 issue of Physician's Weekly.

Bell's palsy probably caused partial degeneration of the nerves on the left side of the face of the woman who posed for the famous painting, Adour said. The nerves then regenerated, causing drooping muscles to contract, he said.

Adour told a recent medical meeting in Santa Fe, N.M., the condition would explain why Mona Lisa's smile is a little higher on the left side of her face and why her left eye is narrower than her right.

Search launched for SSC project site

By WILLIAM GARLAND
Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — The Energy Department announced Friday it will launch a full-scale search next month to find a site for a massive $6 billion physics laboratory that will be sought by state officials for one of 10 proposed locations in Texas.

Energy Secretary John S. Herrington confirmed that the Reagan administration has given the go-ahead for construction of a "superconducting super collider" that he said would be "the equivalent of putting a man on the moon."

The collider will enable scientists to study the smallest particles of matter and gain clues to long-held secrets of the sub-atomic world, many of which are expected to be of practical use, Herrington said. Most other states also have expressed an interest in seeking the major federal project, but Texas has been considered a front-runner in the competition along with California, Colorado, Illinois and New York.

Herrington said Friday that no state is considered a leader in seeking the project and that the Energy Department will announce details of the site-selection process on Feb. 10.

DOE spokesman Jeff Sherwood said the site-selection process probably will take 12 to 18 months.

The Energy Department has spent $76 million on research for the collider in the past four years, including $10.2 million for research at the Texas Accelerator Center near Houston.

Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, who announced Thursday that the Reagan administration would give the project a green light, said it could "spark a boom for the Texas economy in terms of literally billions of dollars of investment in related high-tech industry."

Herrington said the collider laboratory would provide about 3,000 jobs with an operating budget of about $200 million each year.

Gramm said selection of a site in Texas would put the state "in front of the world in physics research."

Sites in Texas that have been recommended for the project are located west of Bryan-College Station, west of Garden City, west of Beaumont, near Amarillo in the Panhandle, south of Dallas-Fort Worth, north of Victoria, north of Austin and north of Houston.

Other proposed sites are near Pecos and near Bryan-College Station on the Brazos River, according to Peter McIntyre, a physicist at Texas A&M who has been heavily involved in research at the Texas Accelerator Center.

The center is a collaboration of Texas A&M University, the University of Texas at Austin, Rice University and the University of Houston.

Herrington said the government would attempt to share the cost of the collider with other countries and private industry, as well as state and local governments.

Several Texas congressmen, including Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, presented a plan to the Energy Department last year showing that the SSC could be built in West Texas for $2.3 billion.

The study by the SSC steering committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce offered several private financing options to help land the project in that area.

The accelerator will be an oval tunnel with a circumference of 52 miles, Herrington said. Sub-atomic protons will circulate in the tunnel at tremendous velocities, pulled by 10,000 powerful magnets, before crashing into one another.

Scientists will focus on the resulting debris, which is expected by some scientists to match the density of matter at the time of the "big bang" that they believe was present at the creation of the universe.

Young sleuth deduces source of lost money

By ROBERT WERNSMAN
City Editor

If you see Clay Atkinson with his eyes cast downward, don't think he's feeling dejected.

Likely, he has a smile on his face and ready to do a little more detective work.

The Big Spring freshman played a big role Thursday morning in solving a puzzle that might have left a teacher $306 poorer.

Clay and his mother, Tammeye, visited a Big Spring Safeway store Thursday — not an unusual activity, since Tammeye's sister works there.

What was unusual was finding a wad of money on the floor along the checkout aisle. A wad that included three one hundred dollar bills, a five and a one.

The cashier explained that no one had notified store officials of a loss, and there was nothing by which to identify the money.

Except for Clay. Having visited that same aisle minutes earlier for change, he recalled seeing a teacher he remembered from three or four years ago — perhaps it was hers, he deduced.

A phone call from Tammeye to the school provided identification of the teacher (who requests anonymity) and a quick exchange resulted in the solution to the discovery.

In response to Tammeye's question about having lost anything at Safeway, the teacher quickly searched her purse and produced the not-too-surprising answer: "I've lost $306!"

Later yesterday morning, the exchange was made and the Atkinsons "reluctantly accepted" a reward, the teacher reported.

"This is the kind of thing that

Chris Atkinson, left, hands the recovered money to his mother, Tammeye. The owner of the $306, which Tammeye found in a Safeway checkout aisle, was unknown until Chris engaged in a little detective work.

deserves some praise — integrity," she said.

Clay, who participates in football and boxing, seemed to have no second thoughts about finding the owner of the money. "He said he's going to walk around looking at the ground, now," his mother said.

She speaks from experience. More than two years ago she found a purse on the edge of Highway 87 near a convenience store. It was easier to return the woman's belongings that time, since identification was plentiful, Tammeye said.

Oddly enough, she recalls, there was slightly over $300 in cash that time as well.

Hearty benefit

City Councilman Gary Don Carey, in costume, participates in the 1986 American Heart Association Celebrity Waiter benefit. Howard County chapter president Bob Coletrane promises this year's benefit will have double or triple the "craziness." The benefit will begin at 7 p.m. tonight at Highland Mall.

Week in review

Clerk sworn in, lawsuits filed

• Glenda Brasel was sworn in Monday as District Clerk of the 118th Judicial Court in Howard County.

She fulfills the vacancy of Peggy Crittenden who died Friday morning after a long illness. "I don't plan to change anything. Everything we've been doing has worked," Brasel said. She has worked in the district clerk's office since October 1968.

• Two county men, "caught in the vice grip of drugs," were handed prison sentences this week after both pleaded guilty to burglary charges.

Ramon Gonzales, 35, 303 S. Adams St., Coahoma, was sentenced to an eight-year prison term. He also must serve an additional six years on an identical charge because his probation was revoked, said Robert Morris, assistant district attorney.

Jesse Martinez, 18, Route 1 Box 369, Big Spring, pleaded guilty Tuesday and received a five-year prison sentence from 118th District Judge James Gregg.

"These were crimes against property committed by rational people who we became acquainted with after their withdrawals" from drugs, Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

• The Big Spring High School choir and band will be represented by nine performers at the State Solo and Ensemble Contest, as a result of last Saturday's competition in Odessa.

The following students earned a Division I (Superior) rating on a Class I solo, and have qualified for the Texas State Solo and Ensemble Contest:

Mike Carroll (vocal), Medina Corwin (vocal), Kathryn Dawes (piano and vocal), Malinda Ellison (vocal), Joanna Hamilton (piano), Cary Lewis (piano), Rebecca Thompson (piano and vocal), and Kristie West (vocal).

Christy Alexander, Kathryn Dawes, and Malinda Ellison earned a Division I rating on a Class I ensemble, and have qualified for the Texas State Solo Ensemble Contest.

• Dam repairs, extended alcohol sales hours and wastewater treatment facilities received City Council attention Tuesday night.

The Council approved funds to go toward repair of Comanche Lake Dam, passed on first reading an ordinance extending the hours during which alcoholic beverages can be sold, and decided to purchase a bar screen for the city wastewater treatment plant.

• The parents of nearly 400 Big Spring kindergarten students can rest easier these days when they send their children to school, John Slaten says.

The Kindergarten Center principal was recently involved, along with his 25-member staff, in receiving instruction on the use of Cardio

Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), said Glenda Low, L.V.N., of the school.

The reason for the course, she said, "was to make the school safer for the children."

• An "unfortunate incident" for which Big Spring was not responsible.

That is how the city's attorney has answered a $1.7 million lawsuit filed by businesses and citizens seeking damages from late August flooding.

The City of Big Spring is not responsible for the breach in Comanche Lake Dam that resulted in the flooding and damages, attorney Terry Rhoads is contending.

Rhoads' response answered a lawsuit filed against the city by five businesses and six citizens. The city's Jan. 15 answer to the Jan. 6 $1.7 million lawsuit filed in 118th District Court court records show. He is a Midland attorney.

• Alleging an attempt to thwart construction of a Big Spring cogeneration facility, the plant's owners have filed a $20 million lawsuit.

Falcon Seaboard Oil Co. and Power Resources, Inc., both of Houston, filed the lawsuit against BBC Brown Boveri Energy Services, Inc. of New Jersey in 118th District Court Wednesday, according to court records. Falcon

REVIEW page 2A

Nation

By Associated Press

Ties to aid found

WASHINGTON — Reagan administration officials have directed more directly than previously known in a military aid network for Nicaraguan Contra rebels during a two-year congressional ban on arms support, according to evidence in a Senate Intelligence Committee report.

While reaching no conclusions about possible violations of the aid ban, the 65-page report demonstrates the close relationship since 1985 between some White House officials, particularly Marine Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, and principals in the network funneling military assistance to the rebels.

Waite detained

WASHINGTON — Terry Waite, the Anglican church envoy, is being detained by Hezbollah forces in Lebanon in a political tug-of-war between the militant Moslem group, which has close ties to Iran, and Druse leader Walid Jumblatt, diplomatic sources said Friday.

Waite, who was working for the release of reporter Terry A. Anderson and educator Thomas M. Sutherland, has not been seen for 11 days.

The sources, who demanded anonymity, said the account of Waite's detention, which is being circulated in Beirut, indicated the churchman had not been harmed.

According to this account, Waite went to Lebanon on his latest rescue mission at the suggestion of Jumblatt, who had informed the churchman late last year that he had "links" to Hezbollah that might be helpful in the effort to liberate the two American hostages.

After a trip to Washington in December to talk with U.S. diplomats, Jumblatt met with Waite in London.

Poisoning detected

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Farmers with flu-like symptoms actually may be suffering from pesticide contamination, but a widely available blood test can help pinpoint the problem, experts say.

"Sometimes a farmer says, 'Gee, I had the flu all summer,' when in fact he had been poisoned," said Mike Hardt of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau. "This test detects it quickly so the farmers can get prompt diagnosis and treatment."

The test, however, is no substitute for wearing gloves, masks and other protective gear when handling such chemicals, said Dr. Samuel Epstein, a professor of occupational and environmental medicine at the University of Illinois.

Clean water bill

Reagan vetoes, chides Congress on courage

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, calling on Congress to show "a little more political courage," vetoed a $20 billion water cleanup bill Friday but acknowledged he lacks the votes to be sustained.

Pinning the blame for big budget deficits on Congress, Reagan said "Let's not belly up to the same old bar, let's not drive down that dangerous road again. Let's work together for clean water and responsible government."

Reagan made a ceremony out of his veto, announcing it to an audience of invited guests in the Old Executive Office Building. He entered the room brandishing thumbs up and left it the same way. When he was handed the water bill, the president made a pretense of throwing it away.

"Just say no," shouted someone in the audience, sounding Reagan's anti-drug slogan. "I just said no," the president responded.

He addressed his remarks to Congress, recalling that only on Tuesday, when he delivered the State of the Union message, he received a standing ovation in calling the deficit unacceptable and outrageous.

"Well, I'm now asking you to stand with me in the first great battle of the deficit in the 100th Congress," Reagan said. "My friends on Capitol Hill, you cannot have it both ways."

"You cannot vote to radically increase deficits once day and decry them before the nation next. It's time for a little more political courage and a little more political consistency on the part of all of us."

The House has scheduled a vote on overriding the veto for next Tuesday and Senate action is expected later in the week. A two-thirds vote by both chambers is required to enact the bill over Reagan's objection.

The bill was passed 406-6 by the House and 93-6 by the Senate earlier this month.

The president rejected an identical bill in November but that action was not subject to an override because it was a pocket veto, exercised after Congress had quit for President Reagan pauses after he vetoed — for the second time in three months — a $20 billion water cleanup bill, Friday at the White House. Reagan denounced the bill as being "loaded with waste and larded with pork." White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan looks on from behind.

the year. "I know this veto is going to be overridden," Reagan said. "I know that I do not have the votes to sustain it, but it's time we did the right thing, all of us, regardless of the political fallout."

The action drew an immediate response from lawmakers and environmental groups.

"We gave him two chances to get on board, but now the president has simply postponed the inevitable," said Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-S.D., chairman of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee.

"The Senate wants this bill, the House wants this bill, the American people want this bill.

The president stands alone on this one," Burdick said.

Lawrence Downing, president of the Sierra Club, called the veto "an insult to the health and the environment of the American people."

Eric Draper, speaking for the Clean Water Action Project — a lobbying group — said if Reagan had visited "Baltimore's Back River (sewage treatment) Plant or the Boston Harbor or Pittsburgh, Pa., he would understand that economic growth is tied to clean water."

"He sent a message to the country, which is 'just say pollute.'"

Rick Hind of the U.S. Public Interest Research Group called the veto outrageous.

World

By Associated Press

Asked to emigrate

MOSCOW — The KGB has promised to free dissident Sergei Khodorovich from a labor camp on condition he and his wife leave the country, Mrs. Khodorovich said Friday.

She said in a telephone interview that the couple never had planned to emigrate, but now they have "no choice."

Dissident sources in Moscow said earlier that the secret police had offered a similar arrangement to jailed dissident Anatoly Koryagin and his wife, Galina, who lives in the Ukrainian city of Kharkov and could not be reached for comment.

"These (KGB) words are terrifying to me," Tatiana Khodorovich said. "But of course, I can't let Sergei serve out his term. That would mean six years in a labor camp."

Official meets Walesa

WARSAW, Poland — Solidarity founder Lech Walesa met with a senior U.S. official Friday night for the first time since the martial law crackdown on his free trade union in December 1981. Neither said what they would talk about.

"We will discuss many things of interest to both parties," the shipyard electrician and Nobel Peace Prize winner said as he arrived for the dinner meeting with John C. Whitehead, U.S. deputy secretary of state.

It was held at the residence of U.S. Charge D' Affaires John Davis, the top American diplomat in Poland.

Walesa refused further comment. He smiled and shook hands with Whitehead while posing for photographers at the front door.

Bokassa testifies

BANGUI, Central African Republic — Former Emperor Jean-Bedel Bokassa took the witness stand Friday to tell his version of the 1979 student massacre that triggered his downfall in a coup soon afterward.

Bokassa is charged with the beating deaths of 17 schoolchildren arrested during student protests. The charge is the third of 14 indictments to be heard against the former ruler, who stands accused of crimes ranging from murder to embezzlement to procuring human bodies for cannibalistic purposes.

He was overthrown in a 1979 French-backed coup provoked by the student massacre.

The students, mostly girls between the ages of 10 and 18, were protesting the mandatory purchase of the costly uniforms manufactured in a factory owned by one of Bokassa's wives.

Hundreds of children were arrested after violent confrontations with the police. At least 100 were said to have been later murdered while in police custody.

Diet pills linked to 4 deaths

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — A regimen of pills prescribed by Mexican doctors for weight control has been linked to four deaths in Texas, prompting officials to reconsider a policy allowing consumers to bring the drugs into the United States.

"The American public has been looking for a diet miracle for years and they'll take anything. Unfortunately they're going to hurt themselves," said Donald Heaton, a regional director for the Food and Drug Administration in Dallas.

"The lucky ones are the ones who are going to only lose weight. There's no question they work, if they don't kill you first," Heaton said.

The regimen of three pills containing four different drugs — an appetite suppressant, a stimulant, a depressant and a diuretic — has also been linked to mental illness, heart disorders and other ailments, officials said.

Arnold Lochner, supervisor in the Drug Enforcement Administration's Houston division, said ingredients in all three pills are prescribed in the United States, but not for the type of diet regimen prescribed by Mexican doctors.

The drugs apparently are being prescribed primarily at a dozen weight loss clinics in Nuevo Laredo, just over the border from Laredo, Heaton said. All patients receive the same regimen and their medical histories are not taken before the prescriptions are issued, he said.

"That's a violation of law if occurring in this country," Heaton said.

Despite the hazards, the desire to be thin is creating a large demand for the drugs, the officials said.

Ted Rotto, chief investigator for the FDA in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, said he knows of buses loaded with diet-minded people going into Mexico to receive the pills. Lochner said he has also heard of instances of people smuggling large quantities of the drugs into Texas for resale.

"It looks like one heck of an enforcement problem. Customs, DEA, FDA and the state don't have the resources to do it," Rotto said. "It's best to educate the people."

Sew What's
Sale Continues thru Sat.
January 31

1/2 Price
Patterns

McCalls — Vogue — Butterick

Limit 4 with Purchase of Fabric

Final Markdown on Fabric

Highland Mall 267-6614

PROFESSIONAL TREE TRIMMING
Free Estimates
Green Acres Nursery
267-8932

WOW! Our Business Has Really Been

BALLOONING
Lately
Balloon Bouquets Delivered For Any Occasion

RAINBARREL
GENERAL STORE
1011 11th Place
263-7793

REACH OUT

Join the FOSTER PARENT PROGRAM

Texas Dept. Human Resources
Contact Toni Rash 263-7671

Grand Opening
Monday Feb. 2nd

DEECO Rubber Co. Inc.

Hyd Hose & Fittings
Pit Lining
BFG V-Belts
Hubs & Shafts
Tank Truck Hose
24 Hr. Service

210 Lancaster
Big Spring
267-2553

Meadowlark Lemon

World Famous Harlem Globetrotters Basketball Star, Will Be Sharing His Personal Testimony Sunday Morning, Feb. 1, at Christ Fellowship Church. Services Will Begin At 10:00 A.M. Nursery Will Be Provided.

3401 11th Place 263-3168

ANTHONY'S Sidewalk Sale

Last of the Fire Damaged Merchandise
Nothing Over $400

Don't forget the 25% off Yellow tag Sale Inside on All Fall & Winter Merchandise

Other Inside Store Savings

Flows 4.97 2-800	Baskets 4.97 2-800	Comforters 1997	Moss Short Sleeve Jumpsets 1997
---------------------	-----------------------	-----------------	---------------------------------

267-5161

College Park Shopping Center

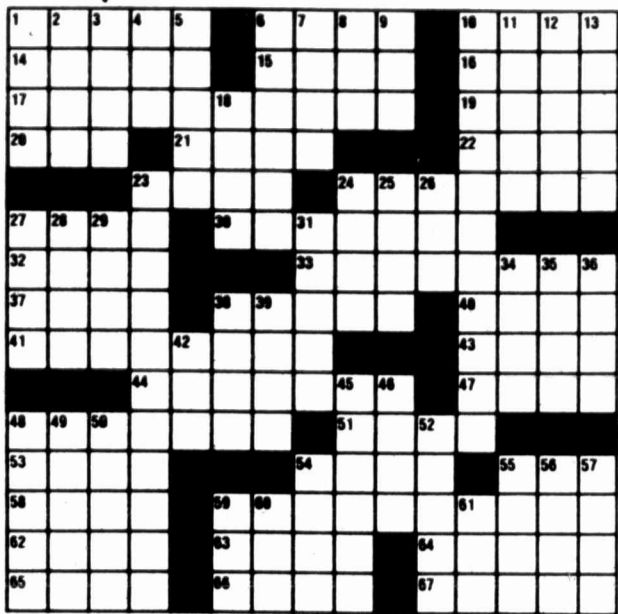

Mon.-Sat. 9:00 to 5:00
Sun. 1:00 to 5:00

Anthony's Visa MasterCard American Express

COMICS Page

THE Daily Crossword by Harold B. Counts

- ACROSS
 1 Removed the center
 6 Visage
 10 Overseas
 14 Relax
 15 "— Rhythm"
 16 Monad
 17 Kan. poker hand?
 19 Poison
 20 Curling mark
 21 Ceramic piece
 22 Paddy plant
 23 Walking stick
 24 Irrigated
 27 Hemingway epithet
 30 Accumulate
 32 Always
 33 In flight
 37 Sally or Ayn
 38 Sealing substance
 40 Sortie
 41 Final
 43 —a-ling
 44 Rio de Janeiro's capital
 47 Robert
 48 Manors
 51 Roman road
 53 Genuine
 54 Ancient kingdom
 55 Poem
 58 Roadhouses
 59 Anaheim desserts?
 62 It. wine city
 63 Frost
 64 Makes money
 65 Actor Connery
 66 Finds the sum
 67 Wipe out
- DOWN
 1 Small wagon
 2 Hautboy
 3 Marth
 4 Gr. letter
 5 River deposit
 6 Headband
 7 Chills and fever
 8 Lettuce type

© 1987 Tribune Media Services, Inc. All Rights Reserved. 1/31/87

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

L	I	K	E	D	A	V	A	S	T	G	E	L
A	N	I	E	R	A	T	E	R	U	R	E
O	C	E	A	N	I	C	T	R	I	O	I	N
A	L	P	I	N	E
S	E	E	D	S		E	M	M	A
P	A	C	I	F	E	R	S
A	M	O		S	A	N	E	L	I	F	E	R
G	I	R	D		E	L	A	N	D
E	S	N	E	S		A	T	E	E	S	S	E
H	E	C	T	A	R	E
T	A	R				S	T	I	L	E
D	E	F	I	A	T	E
A	R	T				F	I	D	D	L	E	R
T	I	S				F	R	G	O	T
A	S	H				D	E	E	M	S
						S	N	E	E	R

45 Houston 54 Mild oath
55 Gumbo 56 Cozy rooms
57 Being: Lat. abbr. 59 Exclamation
60 Bend the head
61 Swiss river

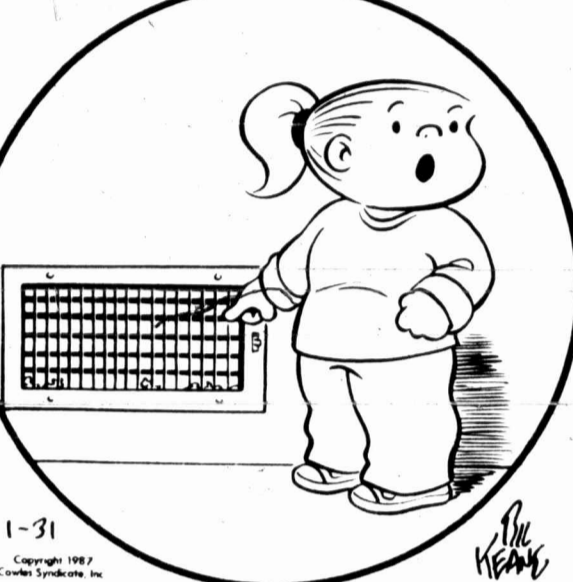

Copyright 1987, Cowles Syndicate, Inc.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"DID LITTLE BO BEEP EVER FIND HER LOST JEEP?"

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"I found PJ's missing farm animals!"

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, FEB. 1, 1987
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day of changing moods and activities for you. The early hours are fine for progressive ideas, but then some upsets occur that require a change of plans.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your personal ambitions and how best to attain them. The evening is fine for enjoying yourself.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Contact a good friend who can help you gain your ambitions. Don't commit yourself in practical affairs.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get into activities that will gain you more prestige in public. Don't worry about the little matters now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Early concentrate on elevated thoughts. Do nothing today that can injure your health.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be happy with the one you love even if amusements are not possible now. Enjoy inexpensive pleasures.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) An associate gives you good suggestions. Sidestep a talk with your family, thus avoiding an argument.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study early how to make your environment more charming. Try to improve some special talent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan some fun for later, but be careful you do not overindulge or jeopardize other assets.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can be very happy at home. It's not wise to go after that long-term wish now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't worry about something you can do nothing about. Set up a better budget now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle some practical matter that needs attention. Do whatever you like the most for entertainment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your judgment is not very good. Do nothing that may upset a higher-up. Put aside practical work.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have the ability to communicate with others around him, or her, and should have training in the right directions during the early years since there would be the tendency to make drastic changes in the lifestyle otherwise. Life can be very happy here.

 "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

GEECH

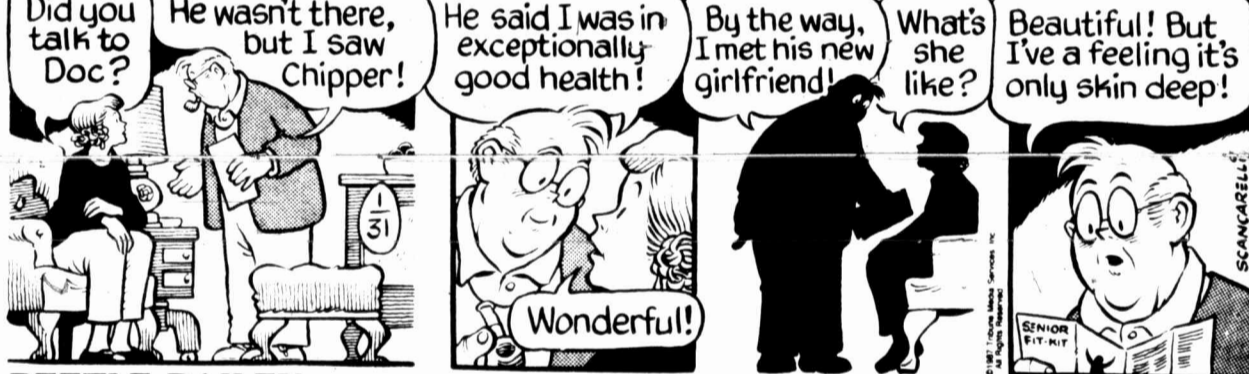

B.C.

WIZARD OF ID

ANDY CAPP

GASOLINE ALLEY

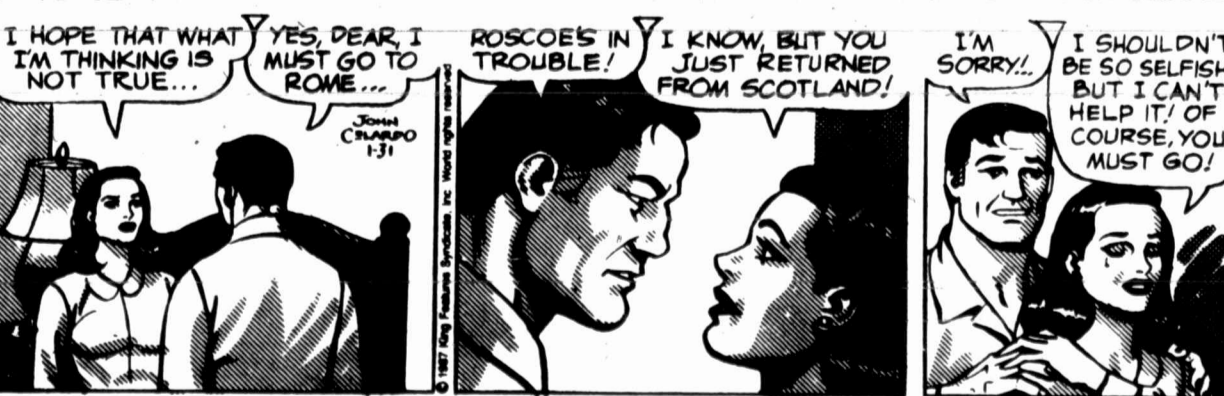

BEELE BAILEY

HI & LOIS

BUZ SAWYER

PEANUTS

DICK TRACY

SNUFFY SMITH

BLONDIE

