No filings for Council

With the deadline 5 p.m. Wednesday, no one has filed for election to City Council.
 Positions held by Councilmen Henry Sanchez and Harold Hall will be voted on April 4.
 Sanchez has said he'd "like to wait a little longer" before announcing whether he'll run for re-election.
 He has served on the Council as district 1 representative for one three-year term. District 1 includes the north and west areas of town, City Finance Director Tom Ferguson said.
 Hall has said he's not sure yet whether he'll run, but he plans to announce his decision Monday afternoon.
 Hall has served as district 3 representative for nine years. District 3 covers the south and part of the west areas of Big Spring.
 Council member for the city's third district, district 2, is D.W. Overman. He was elected last year. The other three Council positions are selected at large.
 The city code is unclear on the procedure if no one files for election, City Attorney Hardy Wilkerson said.
 If the Council has one vacant position, Councilmen appoint a "reasonably qualified" citizen, he said. If two vacancies exist, a special election must be called.

Juvenile arrested in stabbing death

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
 Staff Writer
 Nearly two hours after being apprehended as a suspect in the Friday night stabbing death of Mark Rutledge, 24, of Gail Route, a 15-year-old male was transferred to an Abilene youth detention center.
 The juvenile's name was not released because of his age.
 Howard County Judge Milton Kirby said he ordered the suspect be detained pending a hearing date after he heard testimonies from two eyewitnesses.

 Justice of the Peace China Long said Rutledge "was dead on arrival" when he was brought to Scenic Mountain Medical Center's emergency room around 5:30 p.m. Friday.
 She has ordered an autopsy to be performed before ruling on cause of death.
 Sheriff's deputy Carl Thurman said deputies investigating the case determined that an argument preceded the stabbing, which occurred in the backyard of the suspect's residence on Hilltop Road.

 "He (Rutledge) died from being stabbed once in his chest through the heart," Thurman said.
 The argument and stabbing occurred between 5 and 5:15 p.m., Thurman said.
 Rutledge was transferred from the scene by private vehicle to the hospital's emergency room. Emergency room personnel notified Big Spring police before the sheriff's department was notified at 5:30 p.m., Thurman said.
 Deputy Barney Edens said he apprehended the suspect at his home around 6:30 p.m.
 According to information gathered by deputies investigating the case, the victim was not armed when he was stabbed and "didn't offer any resistance," Thurman said.
 A group of kids was near when it occurred, he added.
 Kirby said the suspect will be formally charged with delinquent conduct.
 According to the state's criminal statutes related to suspected juvenile offenders, the county judge can order the suspect confined in juvenile detention quarters up to 10 days.

Decreased tax revenues affect local cities

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
 Staff Writer
 Decreased sales tax revenues from the state comptroller's office are affecting budgets in Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan.
 Checks recently received in the county's three municipalities represent taxes collected on sales made in December and reported to the comptroller by Jan. 20.
 Coahoma's $3,241.23 payment is approximately $1,000 less than it received for the same period last year.
 Overall, payments to Coahoma this year have been 20.64 percent lower than payments received in 1986.
 "It's lower, but it won't hurt us that badly," Coahoma City Clerk Karen Bell said about the sales tax revenue decrease.
 She said Coahoma City Councilmen amended the budget in November in anticipation of the deficits.
 Officials developing the 1987 budget, which becomes effective April 1, are considering the continuing decrease of sales tax revenues, Bell added.
 Big Spring's $210,492.44 payment this month is approximately $42,000 less than it received for the same period in 1986.
 Overall, this year's payments to Big Spring is 12.52 percent lower than payments received in 1986.
 City Finance Director Tom Ferguson said this week he is determining exactly how much shortage the decreased revenues have created in the city's 1986-87 budget, which became effective Oct. 1.
 City Manager Mac Wofford told City Councilmen during a November workshop that the decreased sales tax revenue could affect the budget by as much as $61,000.
 The decreased sales tax revenue was part of the $130,000 total shortage Wofford estimated the city could experience in revenue collections for this budget year.
 Councilmen then discussed delaying proposed capital expenditure projects such as a $100,000 sealcoating project and $110,000 solid waste disposal project.
 Forsan's $1,297.16 payment this month is approximately $1,300 less than it received for the same period in 1986.
 Overall, Forsan's payment this year is 26.35 percent lower than it received in 1986.
 Mayor O.W. Scudday said that the decrease would not have a significant impact. "We hadn't depended on it, because we didn't know what it would be," he said.
 Surrounding counties with cities that received sales tax rebates this month also show significant decreases from 1986.
 Stanton's $6,278.21 payment is approximately $4,000 less than it received for the same period in 1986.
 Overall, payments Stanton has received so far this year total 32.57 percent lower than received in 1986.
 Colorado City's $33,723.94 payment is approximately $5,000 less than it received for the same period in 1986. Overall, this year's payments have been 12.10 percent lower than received in 1986.
 Within the same county, Loraine showed a 12.64 percent decrease and Westbrook showed a 48.08 percent decrease with its $1,755.51 in 1987 payments, compared to $3,447.87 in payments received during 1986.
 The state's comptroller office estimated that payments to date throughout the state are down 5 percent compared to payments made in the same period last year.

Former instructor sues college; SSC report compiled

Alleging he was fired from his job because of his activities with a faculty union, former Howard College instructor Bill Sprinkle has filed a lawsuit against the college, President Bob Riley and the board of trustees.
 The suit accuses college officials of firing Sprinkle and promoting an instructor with less experience and tenure to his position because

Sprinkle was president of the Howard College Faculty Association, which began publishing a newsletter, "HCFA Forum."
 Riley, named in the suit, confirmed that he received notice of the lawsuit. He said Sprinkle is suing "to get his job back," but declined further comment.

Valentine reroutes love notes

By DORALISA PILARTE
Associated Press Writer

VALENTINE, Texas (AP) — For the past 34 years, Leila Doris Kelley has been getting love letters from all over the world.

And without a second thought, she promptly sends them on their way again.

It's not that Mrs. Kelley is hard-hearted — her twinkling blue eyes and friendly manner hint that she's a softie. She's just doing her job as postmaster of this West Texas hamlet.

"Last year we lacked only two states getting letters from, but I forget which," she said.

Mrs. Kelley last February received packages containing more than 7,000 cards and letters from people who wanted their Valentine's Day greetings to loved ones stamped with this village's postmark.

"I don't think this year we'll get near that," she said. "Last year, it was the Texas Sesquicentennial and Valentine's Day came just as the wagon train came through here. That's the most we've gotten in one year."

Texas celebrated its 150th anniversary in 1986 and the year-round festivities included a horse-drawn wagon train that traveled across the state, including a stop in this town, located about 150 miles east of El Paso.

So far this year, the Valentine post office has received mail from as far away as Italy, West Germany, Ireland and Australia to addresses in Sweden, Canada, Saudi Arabia, the Philippines, Scotland and West Malaysia, said Mrs. Kelley. "Some of them ask me to hold (the pieces of mail) until the official February 14th cancellation date," she said. "It's a collector's item."

Mrs. Kelley won't get around to figuring out exactly how much mail went through the post office this year until March when she adds up the number of Valentine greetings that she logs in a notebook by the customer counter.

Some of the writers are people who have lived in this part of the state and moved away. Others have friends and relatives who tell them about Valentine, Texas, said Mrs. Kelley.

"People who travel in this area stop by all during the year and say they've read (newspaper) articles," she said.

Mrs. Kelley, a native of Petersburg, a town northeast of Lubbock, moved to Valentine in 1946. She has been postmaster here since 1953.

This February, the postmark is three hearts, each overlapping the next.

• Approximately 105 persons are scheduled to report Monday morning to 118th District Court as possible jurors in the case of a 34-year-old Big Spring man charged with voluntary manslaughter and in a property damage suit.

The voluntary manslaughter case concerning defendant Preston Crawford, 3606 Calvin St., who is accused in the November 1985 death of 19-year-old Jimmy Yanez, will be heard first, District Judge James Gregg said.

The civil suit involves suspected property damage, he said. Plaintiffs Oliver B. Nichols Jr., Glenn D. Grantham and Kathryn Grantham have requested the court to award them $102,234 damages from defendants Bennett Petty, Steven Radford Petty and Wanda Lou Petty Cottogim.

The city general fund is "pretty well pared down to a bare bones operation." That was the message from accountant James Welch Tuesday to City Councilmen who now must consider possible budget revisions, should revenue short-falls occur.

Welch made his comments upon presentation of the annual audit report at the Council meeting Tuesday evening.

City expenditures exceeded by $267,000 the $6.6 million received in revenues for fiscal year 1986, he said.

However, the city is not in debt because it had funds left over from the previous year, City Finance Director Tom Ferguson said.

• A lawsuit filed by the firm constructing a co-generation plant in Big Spring has been settled, a company official said Monday.

Falcon Seaboard and its subsidiary, Power Resources Inc., both of Houston, filed a $20 million lawsuit in 118th District Court Jan. 28 against BBC Brown Boveri Energy Services Inc. of New Jersey and its sister corporations of Houston, New York and Switzerland.

All difficulties have been resolved, and no present controversy between the factions exists now, said A.W. Slaid, Falcon Seaboard director of operations. He said the lawsuit has been dismissed, but would not discuss settlement terms.

Slaid said he sees no obstacle to the construction of the Big Spring plant, which he anticipates will be in partial operation by this summer. The plant is due to be completed in February 1988, he said.

"All we were concerned about was whether the child should be detained until a hearing is set," said Harvey Hooser, a Sand Springs attorney who was court-appointed to represent the suspect during the 25-minute hearing.

The male suspect could either be detained or turned back over to his parents, Kirby said.

He had not set a date for a hearing Friday night.

County Attorney Tim Yeats is expected to consult with District Attorney Rick Hamby concerning case prosecution, Kirby said.

The case could be processed through one of two means, Kirby said:

The 15-year-old suspect could be "certified as an adult" and be arraigned through the district court criminal process, having his case presented before a grand jury that would decide whether to indict him, Kirby said.

Or the case could be referred to county court where Kirby would preside, he said.

A maximum sentence through the county court process if the suspect is found guilty would be to send him to the Texas Youth Council in Brownwood for detention, Kirby said.

However, grand jurors could indict the suspect on murder if the case travels through the district court channel, the judge added.

HOLLISTER, Calif. — Fasts supervised by a self-styled religious leader are a danger to his followers, six of whom died during or after fasts, state officials charged Friday as they pressed legal efforts to end the practices.

State regulators say the Religious School of Natural Hygiene and its operator, First Minister Arthur D. Andrews, are illegally and dangerously practicing medicine.

The state rejected a tentative settlement Friday that would have allowed the fasts to continue if participants signed a waiver. Richard Arnold, a deputy attorney general representing the state Board of Medical Quality Assurance, called the proposal worthless.

Artifacts deteriorate

WASHINGTON — On the table where some of the nation's treasures normally are displayed lay a jumble of brown, faded documents, a photo negative that looked as if had been baked in a microwave, and half of a historic phonograph record.

There was no mistaking what the collection on the table represented: important artifacts of the nation's past that are crumbling and deteriorating.

"We sometimes call it jokingly 'Archival Alzheimer's'" Burke said. "But it is a serious problem."

A study last year found that a large percentage of 2.5 billion pages of historical records held in state archives are physically deteriorating. Surprisingly, said archivists, the papers produced since the Industrial Revolution are most prone to fall apart because of their acid content.

Message sent

WASHINGTON — Federal authorities sent a stern message to the pin-striped world of Wall Street by arresting prominent executives, handcuffing one, in the Securities and Exchange Commission crackdown on insider trading.

The message: People charged with breaking the securities law can expect to be treated like others suspected of illegal activities.

Three high-level executives — Richard Wigton, 52, a vice president at Kidder, Peabody & Co.; Timothy L. Tabor, 33, a former Kidder vice president, and Robert M. Freeman, 44, a partner at Goldman, Sachs & Co. — were arrested. All were accused of using secret information to make millions of dollars in illegal profits for Kidder.

And on Friday, Martin A. Siegel, a managing director of Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc., pleaded guilty to criminal charges of illegal stock trading conspiracy and tax evasion.

Gunmen foil camps mercy mission

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Gunmen killed an Iranian envoy and foiled a mercy mission Friday when they fired on two U.N. trucks carrying food to besieged and hungry Palestinian refugees, police reported.

They said the Iranian was in an ambulance accompanying the two trucks into the Bourj el-Barajneh refugee camp, which has been under siege by the Shiite Moslem militia Amal for 11 weeks.

The ambulance managed to enter the camp as the gunmen opened fire with automatic weapons, police said.

"The Iranian delegate was hit in the head and died later," they said.

The Iranian Embassy identified the victim as Musa Hammoud. It said in a statement he was part of a delegation sent by Iran's revolutionary patriarch, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, to help end the fighting at the camps.

Hammoud was "martyred while trying to get food supplies to the population of Bourj el-Barajneh," the statement said. It did not accuse either side of the shooting.

The ambulance left the shell-battered camp on Beirut's southern outskirts shortly before dusk without evacuating any wounded Palestinians.

Witnesses said the trucks came under fire a few yards from the entrance to the camp, which has been ringed by Amal forces since Nov. 24. There have been reports that many of the camp's estimated 35,000 residents are malnourished and that some are near starvation.

Police said the gunmen shot the trucks' tires out. One witness, who declined to be identified by name, said the drivers jumped out and ran for cover.

A Palestinian spokesman, who declined to be identified, blamed Justice Minister Nabih Berri's Amal fighters for the shooting.

Amal accused the Palestinians of firing at the food convoy from inside Bourj el-Barajneh.

The United Nations Relief and Works Agency, which sponsored the relief mission, also donated two truckloads of food supplies to Shiite Moslems living in slums around the camp, police said.

The foiled mission came after day-long clashes in Beirut and an Israeli air raid against Palestinian positions in south Lebanon.

Some PLO officials have said inhabitants of Bourj el-Barajneh had resorted to eating cats, dogs and rats. Reporters have not been able to verify these reports because they were not allowed through the Amal lines to enter the camp.

Investigation ordered

MANILA, Philippines — The military on Friday ordered an investigation of charges that soldiers massacred at least seven civilians after a battle with bloodiest violence since a cease-fire ended five days ago.

In other developments:

- Two rebels were wounded in a clash with soldiers near Davao City.
- About 800 people rallied outside a U.S. air base to demand an investigation of reports that nuclear weapons are deployed there.
- A rebel leader on the main Luzon island rejected government overtures for regional peace talks.
- Insurgents on southern Mindanao island announced the formation of a provisional council, to be the forerunner of a rival national government.

Fighters die in conflict

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — Seven government soldiers and 11 rebels were killed in heavy fighting overnight in northeastern Morazan province, the army commander in the region said Friday.

"It was strong combat," Col. Mauricio Vargas said in a telephone interview. He said the leftist guerrillas attacked the village of Delicias de Concepcion, about 100 miles northeast of the capital, at about 10 p.m. Thursday and withdrew at 5:30 a.m. Friday.

"They tried to take the town and once again that was not possible," said Vargas. He said the government forces also sustained 11 wounded. The number of guerrillas wounded was not known.

The guerrillas, whose five rebel armies are joined as the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, have been fighting the U.S.-supported military for more than seven years. Church and human rights groups say that more than 62,000 people, the majority of them civilians, have been killed in the war.

Track meet protest

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — The games' sponsor withdrew Friday and more than 70 white student athletes are boycotting an annual track-and-field meet because organizers excluded the first black ever selected to compete.

Nkululeko Skweyiya was the only non-white among 1,500 high school boys and girls scheduled to appear in the South African Foundation games this weekend at Menlo Park High School in Pretoria.

Skweyiya, whose father, Louis, is a prominent Durban attorney, attends a multiracial private school, Kearsney College, north of Durban.

Abducted girl found after 10 years

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A 13-year-old girl whose father abducted her 10 years ago has been found in New Mexico and returned to her mother, thanks to publication of the girl's picture in an advertising leaflet, a state official said today.

Stephanie Michno was abducted in July 1977 by her father, who didn't have custody, said Joseph Dean, North Carolina secretary of crime control and public safety. She was 3 when she was abducted.

"This has to be the greatest week of my life," Sue Fowler, the girl's mother, said today. "I have my baby back."

Even though she was reunited with Stephanie on Tuesday in New Mexico, Ms. Fowler was near tears today as she talked briefly to reporters. Her daughter was with her, clutching a teddy bear.

A felony abduction warrant outstanding since the girl disappeared was served on her father, Edward Michno, when social services workers took custody of her, Dean said.

The father, listed on jail records as Edward Michno or Edward S. Kopiak, was held in the Bernalillo County Detention Center in Albuquerque on North Carolina warrants, officials said.

Stephanie's picture was seen on a direct mail advertising leaflet by someone in New Mexico who anonymously called authorities.

"Her return makes this Christmas in February," said Vince Giuliano, vice president of ADVO Systems in Hartford, Conn., which mails out advertising fliers that also carry information about missing children. The fliers reach nearly 15 million homes a month, Giuliano said.

New Cosden manager

Cleanliness next to profitability

By TOM PETERS

Despite the best efforts of a professional photographer, the photo in Fortune magazine of a Japanese-owned and -managed auto component factory in the Midwest was somewhat washed out. Washing out occurs when there is too much reflected light. In this case, the reflected light came from the mirror-like, highly polished floors and metal fittings.

There go the Japanese, cheating again. This time it's unreasonably clean plants — on U.S. soil.

Perhaps it seems odd to devote a column to cleanliness. Between the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) and the labor law history of the last five decades, surely workplace filth is a passe issue.

Not so. I constantly observe vast differences in cleanliness, which has a dramatic impact on customers and employees alike.

Sewell Village Cadillac in Dallas and the New Phoenix Motor Co., that area's leading Mercedes dealership, make the service bays the first stop on a customer's tour. Both successful dealers consider the service bays' sparkle their top selling point.

The McDonald's-led revolution in American eating habits is based on consistent delivery — especially the consistent delivery of cleanliness. Obsessive cleaning of its parks throughout the day is a trademark — in addition to the all-night drone of what may be the world's largest sweeping machines. Fast-food purveyors and theme parks tout wholesomeness, with the family as their primary focus, but they usually fail miserably at cleanliness. How silly. Cleanliness can be a strategic advantage of the first rank.

Milliken & Co., which I recently honored as 1986's "best managed company in America," will go to any length to entice a customer to visit a plant. "We never lose an order once we get the guy into the plant," a senior manager flatly asserts.

Many firms keep the customer as far away from the plant as possible, often on the flimsy pretense of protecting production secrets. The real reason is usually the plant's questionable appearance.

It's impossible to earn credibility about high quality and timely delivery when your plant or distribution center looks — as many do — more like a garbage dump than a hospital's operating room.

Frito-Lay and Federal Express are obsessive about keeping their trucks spic and span — white trucks, no less! Sure, winter slush makes this a daunting chore; but that's all the more reason to do it. The dirtier the surroundings, the more a spiffy vehicle stands out as an advertisement.

A second, even more important, attribute of fanatical housekeeping is respect for employees. After a speech I gave in Cleveland, a septuagenarian reproached me, "You forgot the most important point — clean toilets." He avowed that that's where respect begins. And I agree heartily.

If the workplace feels shabby, if the toilets are foul, with graffiti on the bathroom walls to boot, how can you dare to preach about commitment, participation, quality and service?

Worthington Industries founder John McConnell was looking to buy a company a while ago. During his pre-acquisition tour of the facilities, he noticed a net temporarily rigged beneath the ceiling in the employee cafeteria — to catch the crumbling plaster and keep it out of the food! He eventually approved the deal, but sprucing up work and rest areas was near the top of his list of fix-up tasks.

A bucket of paint, sparkling fittings and clean washrooms alone may not renew American competitiveness, but becoming a "neat freak," as one executive calls it, can be a surprisingly powerful step in the right direction.

Here are some actions to take:

- 1. Become a keen observer of the "housekeeping" standards at your firm, among your competitors and at other businesses.
- 2. Look at all of your work spaces for opportunities to make small improvements in cleanliness and amenities. I consistently observe that even the most macho workers respond to fresh flowers in the cafeteria.
- 3. Become a "neat freak," a "paint and potty" zealot. Demand nearly fanatic levels of cleanliness and sparkle in every nook of your work areas. Make the look of the workplace a prime selling point to customers and employees alike. Spend money on it. For instance, daily cleaned uniforms — for food-preparation people, housekeepers and factory workers — are a must.
- 4. Set stringent objectives: Cleanest service trucks on the highway; cleanest and cheeriest employee cafeterias in the industry; cleanest factory floors anywhere in the industry, city, etc.; cleanest customer dressing rooms among retailers in your region. And so on.

Respect your customers. Respect your employees. That, is what it's all about.

Bill targets 'credit repair clinics'

AUSTIN (AP) — "Credit repair clinics" that offer to cure credit problems for a fee promise a lot more than they can deliver, according to lawmakers who filed a bill to curb the clinics.

Reps. Barry Connelly, R-Houston, and M.A. Taylor, R-Waco, said Thursday that much of the help sold by the clinics is offered free by other services.

"There is nothing they can offer that you can't do on your own through existing law," said Connelly.

The Connelly-Taylor bill filed Thursday would require credit clinics to disclose what they can and cannot do, including what services they provide that consumers can get elsewhere at no charge.

"They are one of those gray-area services. They sound like they are on the side of good, but, instead, they are selling services that other laws require to be given for free or at very little cost," he said.

Connelly said the bill probably would put many credit clinics out of business. The state and several non-profit organizations provide credit counseling for free, according to the bill's co-sponsors.

Connelly said there are Texans whose credit history is beyond a quick fix.

"In many cases the people they are attracting are people who honestly have a bad credit history. The only way it is going to be repaired is to live a life of clean credit habits. It is not going to be cleaned by these people sending them a brochure or a pamphlet or something giving them advice they could get by simply walking into a consumer reporting agency or into a non-profit credit counseling service," he said.

He said the bill also would apply to business that offer assistance in obtaining credit cards for people with bad credit histories.

In those cases, the customers sometimes pay for what turns out to be merely a list of out-of-state banks that will issue credit cards if the applicant backs it with money in a bank account, according to Connelly.

Credit repair clinics and credit card acquisition services operate in many Texas cities. Several advertised in Thursday editions of Dallas newspapers.

Great game, wrong finish as Steers fall

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

A fourth foul is like a straight-jacket. Once you've got it, you can't run and jump and play like you want to.

When the Big Spring Steers junior forward Brian Mayfield was tagged for number four, the Steers led by 12 points with less than five minutes to go in the third quarter. Less than four minutes later, Lamesa led by one, and ended up on top, 84-78.

Though Mayfield remained in the game, he was no longer free to attack the defensive boards as he had earlier. In addition, the call seemed to rattle the rest of the Steers, who turned the ball over 18 times in the second half.

Until that foul, the Steers had played their finest basketball of the season in front of the biggest crowd of the year.

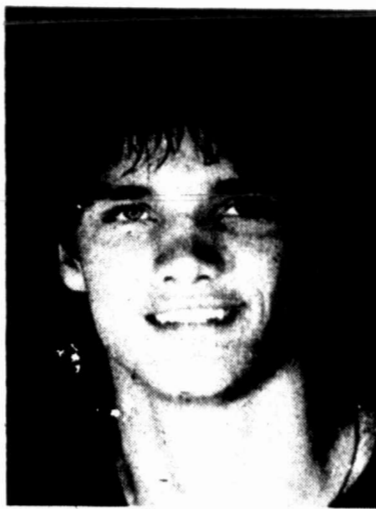

Lamesa took an early 6-2 lead, but the Steers gained control of their game and the teams traded buckets throughout the first quarter. In the last second of the first quarter, Mayfield picked up his second foul, and Cedric Mason canned both shots to give the Tornados a 22-17 lead. Until then, Lamesa had missed all six of their free throw attempts.

In the second quarter, the Steers scorched. At the 5:58 mark, Cedric Banks tossed a jumper from the baseline that was in whispering distance of the roof before it fell in, closing the Lamesa edge to 28-26.

Banks assisted to Shawn Shellman moments later to tie the game, but Lamesa scored the next two baskets. In less than a minute, Banks responded with six unanswered points to give the Steers a 34-32 lead at 3:33. With Mayfield blocking shots and controlling the defensive boards on the Lamesa end, the Steers started scoring off the break.

With :05 left in the half, Mayfield got foul number three, but the Steers went to the locker room leading 42-35. Mayfield had nine points, eleven rebounds, three blocks, and, maybe biggest of all, three fouls. Both teams had nine turnovers at the half. Eight Tornados played, as compared to five Steers. "We're in good shape, damn good shape. Don't worry about that," Steers' coach Boyce Paxton said during halftime.

The Steers sure appeared fit starting out the second half. Mayfield grabbed an offensive rebound and scored, and rebounded again and passed to Banks, who scored to give the Steers a 46-35 lead. The teams traded baskets, and when Shellman scored with 5:29 in the quarter, the Steers had a 13-point lead, their biggest of the night.

When Shellman took a charge with the Steers up 50-37, Lamesa called time-out, and the Steers' side of the gym went wild. It doesn't get any louder at rock concerts.

With 4:35 left in the quarter, the fans made even more noise, but it wasn't happy noise. Mayfield got his fourth, Paxton stood and protested, and the refs called a technical. Steer gym thundered with boos.

Two minutes and a Steers' time-out later, Lamesa trailed by one. The Tornados' full court press had forced three turnovers in the span. Mayfield ended the drought with a bucket to give the Steers a three-point margin. At the 1:30 mark, Chris Lopez, the Steers' first substitute, entered the game for Shellman.

At the 27 second mark, Shellman returned for Young, who picked up his fourth foul. When the Tornados Jim Demerson made a three-point play to end the quarter, the Tornados led 59-58, their first lead in almost two quarters. They wouldn't trail again.

The Steers turned the ball over their first two possessions of the fourth quarter, and a total collapse appeared imminent. With Lamesa's running game in high gear and Mayfield unable to battle on the defensive boards, the Tornados

Giants dunk Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan swapped quips with the New York Giants Friday, saluting the NFL champions as "true representatives of a great and grand football tradition."

In the packed East Room of the White House, Reagan stood before the players and singled out many for their heroics during the season, and accepted two football jerseys and a replica of the Super Bowl ring.

"Boy, they're going to be big when they get as old as I am," the president mused as he finished greeting the players, club owner Wellington Mara and Vice President and General Manager George Young.

Referring to linebacker Harry Carson's penchant for drenching Coach Bill Parcells with Gatorade toward the end of Giant victories, Reagan deadpanned, "Nancy was going to invite you to my birthday party last week, but when I mentioned the way you liked to celebrate, she said she didn't think that wearing Gatorade was presidential."

In giving Reagan the replica of the ring, Carson said, "I had to talk some of my teammates out of dunking you."

Moments after the ceremony ended and Reagan was getting ready for a helicopter trip to Camp David, Md., the president came down the steps of the South Portico carrying a bucket full of popcorn, walked over to Carson and dumped the popcorn on him. Carson returned the favor, picking up the bucket and hoisting popcorn toward the president.

During the ceremony, Reagan likened the 1986 Giants to the championship teams of the 1950s, saying, "No one who saw your performance during those close games in the middle of the season and your overpowering victories in the playoffs and the Super Bowl can doubt that."

At one point the president slipped, indicating he may have had the Iran-Contra affair on his mind. "The New York Giants played great football this year, but they also had fun," he said.

Soviets defeat NHL Stars, 5-3

QUEBEC (AP) — Valeri Kamensky, a rising young star from the powerful Red Army team, scored twice in a three-goal second period and added an assist in the third to lead the Soviet national team to a 5-3 victory over the NHL All-Stars Friday night.

Vladimir Krutov also scored two goals as the Soviets' won this summit meeting of hockey superpowers at Rendez-Vous 87 to gain a co-championship of the two-game series. The NHL won Wednesday night 4-3 on Dave Poulin's goal with 1:15 left in the game.

Featuring many of the world's best players, the high tension, low scoring game belonged to the NHL before the Soviets broke it open with three straight goals in the second period.

The back breaker was the second goal of the period by Kamensky with just 19 seconds left that gave the Soviets a 3-1 lead. That didn't entirely take the steam out of the emotion-charged NHL squad, who didn't let down in the final period against the swift Soviets.

Down by two goals, the NHL made things close on a score by Chicago's Doug Wilson. Ray Bourque scored with 37 seconds left in the game for the NHL's third goal.

The savvy Soviets nailed things down with a clinching goal by Vladimir Krutov, a key member of the so called "KLM Line" featuring Krutov, Igor Larionov and Serge Makarov.

It was Larionov who stole a blind pass from Pittsburgh's Mario Lemieux to set up Krutov's goal.

Andrei Khomutov sewed things up for the Soviets with a goal late in the third period for a 5-2 lead.

Edmonton's Mark Messier had scored a first period goal to give the NHL a 1-0 lead before the Soviets roared back with three goals in the second period. Kamensky scored the first and third goals, sandwiched around a goal by Krutov.

The NHL made things close on a score by Chicago's Doug Wilson. Ray Bourque scored with 37 seconds left in the game for the NHL's third goal.

The NHL had a little help from the Soviets on this one when defenseman Mikhail Tatarinov tripped while trying to clear the puck behind the net.

Edmonton's Wayne Gretzky pounced on the puck and delivered it to Oiler teammate Jari Kurri, who set up Messier in front of the net.

The NHL, meanwhile, continued to play the fine defense that helped them win Wednesday night.

The Soviets, who were only able to get off one shot in four power-play opportunities Wednesday night, failed to put a shot on goal in their first opportunity with a man advantage in Game 2.

Driver killed in car race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — One driver was killed and another seriously injured Friday in the Komfort Koach 200 subcompact race at Daytona International Speedway.

Joe Young of Richmond, Va., 38, died in the six-car crash between turns three and four, and Duell Sturgill of Staffordville, Ky., reportedly suffered fractures to both legs.

Young was pronounced dead at Halifax Medical Center, where Sturgill was reported "alert and stable."

Dr. Arthur Schwartz, Volusia County medical examiner, said Young died instantly from multiple injuries, including a fracture to the base of the skull.

Observers said Young's Chevrolet was sliding backwards on the banking when it was struck almost head-on by Sturgill in the middle of the melee.

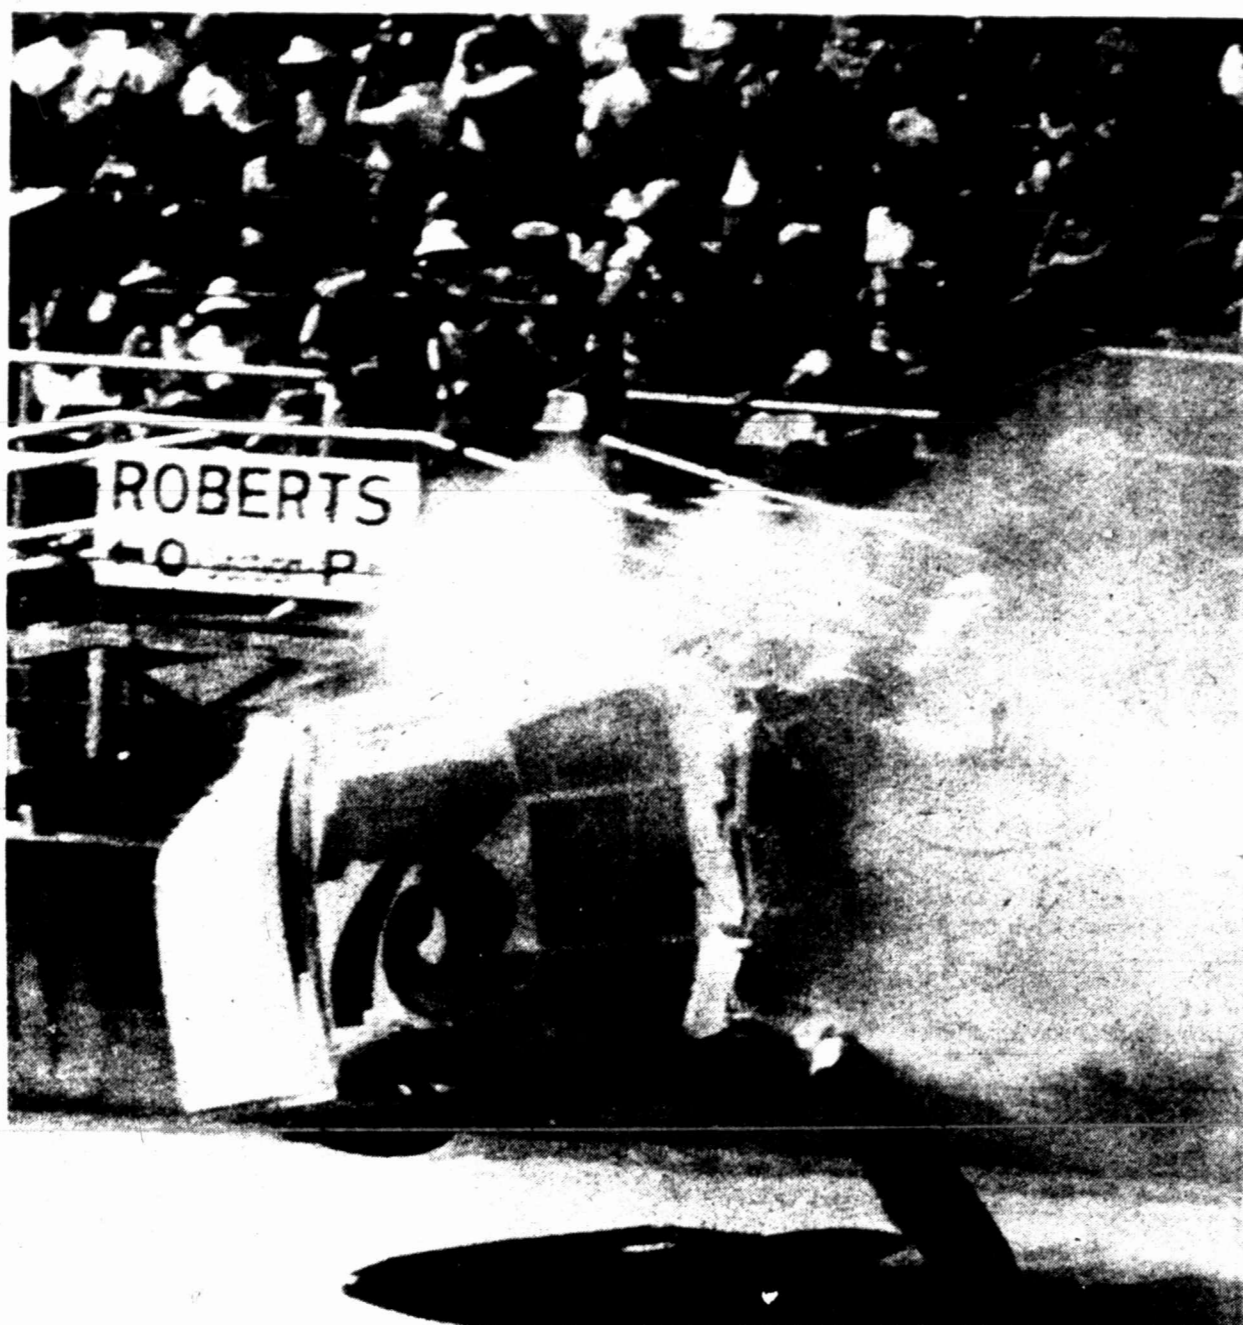

Young, an auto mechanic, is survived by his widow, Dolores, and two children. He had been racing for 10 years, mostly in the Daytona-Darlington Dash series for subcompacts.

Young, who made eight previous starts at Daytona, was the first driver killed at the Speedway since December 1985 when Dr. Charles Ogle of Knoxville, Tenn., was fatally injured while testing a Daytona-Darlington Dash series car on the 2.5-mile track.

He is the 17th driver, including 14 auto racers, two motorcycle racers and a boat racer, killed in an accident on the infield lake, to have died as a result of accidents at the 28-year-old track.

In the race, Larry Caudill, who started from the pole after Mike Swaim's record qualifying lap was disqualified because of a technical violation, took control.

Except for brief periods following pits stops, he kept his Pontiac Sunbird out front from lap 49 to the end.

Phil Barkdoll's Helen Rae Oldsmobile goes airborne in front of the grandstand during the qualifying round of the Korfort Coach 200 Thursday in Daytona, Beach, Fla. Barkdoll was not injured in the accident. On Friday, Joe Young was killed in a six-car crash.

Caudill beat runner-up Danny McClain by 8.58 seconds. The winner, who collected $8,950, averaged 110.092 mph. Ken Auman was third, followed by Jim Higgs and Jesse Samples Jr. Swaim, who had won this race three straight years and finished third the previous two tries, started 26th Friday and wound up ninth, three laps off the pace. In all, there were six caution flags for a total of 31 laps.

Connors seeking 8th U.S. indoor title

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Jimmy Connors neutralized the power of Kevin Curren with a scrambling net game Friday to post a 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 victory and advance to the semifinal round of the U.S. Indoor tennis championship.

Connors, seeking his eighth U.S. Indoor title, meets Mikael Pernfors of Sweden in Saturday's semifinal round.

Pernfors rallied in the third set to defeat Greg Holmes 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 in Friday's opening match.

Defending tournament champion Brad Gilbert, the No. 4 seed, defeated Johan Kriek in straight sets, 6-2, 7-6 (7-5) and will meet the winner of Friday's late match between top-seeded Stefan Edberg and No. 7 seed, Tim Mayotte.

Both Connors and Curren started slowly, losing their opening service before Connors was handed his second service break when Curren forced a volley past the base line in game nine.

Connors, seeded second here and ranked eighth in the world, then held serve to win the first set.

Curren got his high-powered serve in gear in the second set with eight aces and took Connors to deuce four times in game four before breaking when a Connors lob fell behind the base line. Both men held service through the first five games of the final set.

In game six, Connors broke Curren with a cross-court winner off the second serve.

In the ninth game with Connors leading 30-15, Curren miss-hit a return of a second serve to put Connors at match point and then returned Connors' first serve into the net to end the match.

Curren served 15 aces on The Racquet Club of Memphis' hard-court surface to Connors' two, but fell victim to an assortment of drop shots and well-placed passing shots by the 34-year-old veteran.

Pernfors appeared in total control in the first set of his match with Holmes, breaking Holmes' serve in games one and nine and taking the set at love in game 10.

Holmes, who made 35 unforced errors during the match to Pernfors' 14, broke Pernfors in game four of the second set when the world's No. 14 player was unable to handle a volley at the net.

Holmes, ranked 84th, won the set with a cross-court winner at the net.

After being broken at the start of the third set and later falling behind 2-3, Pernfors leveled the match at 3-3 by breaking Holmes' serve.

From that point, Pernfors took three quick games, capturing the match when Holmes netted an easy return from the base line.

Gilbert breezed through the first set against Kriek, who upset John McEnroe Thursday night, but let two match points escape him in the second set.

Kriek gained a reprieve in game 10 when a Gilbert backhand from the base line hit the tape and fell back into Gilbert's court and when a Gilbert forehand from the baseline was long in game 12.

Gilbert jumped to a 5-2 lead in the tie-breaker, but Kriek pulled even with a forehand winner down the line, an unforced error by Gilbert and a service winner.

Gilbert earned his third match point on a wide return of service by Kriek and took the match when Kriek netted a backhand from the base line after a short rally.

Detroit pitcher wins big arbitration case

DETROIT (AP) — Pitcher Jack Morris, who reluctantly agreed to stay with the Detroit Tigers after four other teams rebuffed him as a free agent, won a $1.85 million salary through arbitration Friday, the largest such award ever made.

"Jack Morris is one of the finest players in the game," his agent, Dick Moss, said. "He deserves to be getting one of the top salaries in the game."

The award was the highest since salary arbitration was instituted in the owners' contract with the Major League Players Association, and was $500,000 more than third baseman Wade Boggs got in 1986 when he lost his arbitration with the Boston Red Sox.

"It's an either-or situation," arbitrator Richard Bloch said from Chicago, where he heard presentations Thursday from Morris and the Tigers. Bloch, a Washington, D.C. labor lawyer, is one of about 10 arbitrators who handle baseball salary cases.

Under the procedure, the arbitrator must choose either the figure asked by the player or the one offered by the club, and cannot settle for a middle ground. The Tigers had offered Morris $1.35 million.

Morris, 31, baseball's winningest pitcher in the 1980s with a 123-81 record, now becomes one of the game's higher paid players, though not the highest.

"Next year there will be eight or nine players who will be making more money," his agent said.

Morris, who became a free agent after last season, decided to stay with the Tigers and file for arbitration after failing to come to terms with the New York Yankees, Minnesota Twins, California Angels and Philadelphia Phillies.

Moss repeated the earlier charge that Morris' failure to get a contract offer from another team indicated collusion between the owners.

"They have violated the contract by conspiring not to sign free agent players," he said. A charge of collusion made by the players union is being heard as a grievance by an arbitrator.

Morris had a 21-8 record with a 3.27 earned run average last season. His victory total was second only to Roger Clemens of the Boston Red Sox.

Morris' six shutouts were tops in the majors, while he ranked fifth in innings pitched with 267 and strikeouts with 223. He tied for third in complete games with 15.

The Tigers contended that Morris' ERA wasn't among the top 10 in baseball, while he led all pitchers for much of last season in home runs allowed. For the entire year, Morris allowed 40 home runs, second behind Minnesota's Bert Blyleven with 50.

Rodriguez still in lead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Chi Chi Rodriguez shot a hard-earned under-par 69 Friday to hold onto a one-shot lead after two rounds of the $260,000 PGA Seniors Championship.

Rodriguez, who had a 70 in Thursday's opening round, carded an eagle and a double bogey in his strange round Friday. His two-day total of 5-under 139 over the 6,550-yard Championship course gives him a one-stroke lead over Dale Douglass at 140.

Douglass birdied the last four holes on his way to a 66, the lowest round of the tournament.

Former PGA Seniors champion Joe Jimenez is next at 141, and another former winner, Jack Fleck, is tied for fourth with Butch Baird at 144. Bruce Crampton and Doug Sanders are at 145.

The leaders' front nine was highlighted by an eagle at the 389-yard eighth hole when he ran in an 8-iron shot into the cup from 142 yards. But he lost those two strokes three holes later when he hit his drive into water on No. 11. He ended up with a 7 on the par 5 hole.

Jimenez saved par from the edge of the water on No. 9, which was his 18th hole, to remain close to the lead. He came away pleased with his round, which included three short birdie putts.

"I made everything I should have," Jimenez said.

Defending champion Gary Player shot a 73 for a two-day total of 147. Arnold Palmer, a two-time winner of this tournament, also is at 147 after a 72 Friday.

Jordan's 45 sink Sonics

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan scored 45 points and teamed with Mike Brown for 16 consecutive fourth-quarter points Friday night to rally the Chicago Bulls to a 106-98 NBA triumph over the Seattle SuperSonics.

Jordan put the Bulls ahead to stay at 89-88 with 5:36 when he made one of two free throws. Jordan had 11 of the next 15 points and Brown added four before the SuperSonics scored again.

Seattle, losing its fifth straight game, was paced by Xavier McDaniel's 27 points. Tom Chambers added 26. It was the third win for the Bulls in their last nine games.

The Bulls were down 88-87 before Chambers tied the score with a free throw. Chicago climbed to a 93-88 lead with 4:46 left as Jordan scored three and Brown added two from the line.

After hitting 12 of 21 shots in the third quarter, Seattle managed to score on only one of its first eight shots in the final period as the Bulls erased an 83-76 deficit to grab an 86-85 advantage with 7:26 left.

Seattle's Dale Ellis, who went 0-for-5 from the field in the first half, scored 12 third-quarter points and Chambers added eight to earn the Sonics an 80-76 edge with 12 minutes left.

nadoes pushed their lead to 69-64, when Cedric Mason scored a bucket and was fouled by Young. Young fouled out, Mason made the free throw, and Lamesa led 72-64 at the 4:22 mark.

The Steers, wiping away the notion that they were tiring, fought back. Sidney Parker hit a jumper, Shellman canned two free throws, and Mayfield hit two more from the line to make it a four-point game at the 1:55 mark.

Lamesa punctured Steer hopes with the next three points and a seven point lead. But Mayfield scored to close within five, and Shellman, with Lamesa threatening to score on the break, took a charge. The junior guard made both free throws, and the Steers trailed by three with :57 remaining.

The Steers pressed on defense, but Mason found a wide open Jim Scott under the bucket, and Lamesa scored to put the game out of reach.

Despite the foul trouble, Mayfield finished with 25 points, 24 rebounds, and four blocked shots. He never did foul out. Banks, with seven rebounds, was second in that department. He also scored 15 points. Shellman, with his clutch free throws, scored 16, and Charles Young finished with 14 points.

Mason led the Tornadoses with 25 points. Though both teams had nine turnovers at the half, Lamesa had just five in the second half, as compared to the Steers' 18.

"We just made too many mistakes in the second half. That's all it was, too many mistakes," Paxton said.

"Brian did a great job on the boards. Everybody worked hard and everybody hustled hard. I don't have any complaints about hustle.

"Lamesa knows how to win. They've been doing it for 30 years and we've been doing it for one. You develop mental toughness over a period of time. You don't just snap your fingers," Paxton said.

The Steers dropped to 18-11 overall and 10-4 in district, and were eliminated from playoff contention. Lamesa improved to 25-4 and 13-1, and locked up at least a second-place finish and a playoff berth.

In the J.V. game, the Steers upset the Tornadoses 54-42.

BIG SPRING (78) - Mayfield 11-3-25; Young 5-4-14; Parker 4-0-8; Banks 7-1-15; Shellman 5-6-16; Lopez 0-0-0. Totals: 32-14-78.

LAMESA (84) - Pennington 8-0-16; C. Mason 9-2-25; Edwards 1-0-2; Aldridge 2-0-4; Demoss 2-1-5; Sarrett 1-2-3. Totals: 35-14-84.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

SUNDAY, FEB. 15, 1987
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to avoid any sarcastic remarks or negative actions toward others. It could get you into considerable trouble. Tonight you find positive influences.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You find it difficult to make arrangements with others, but patience makes the evening very pleasant.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be meticulous in carrying through with promises you have made instead of trying to sneak out of them.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't feel frustrated in handling daily routines. Tonight try enjoying your favorite sport.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A day to steer clear of luxuries. Be kind to your mate who has a problem you don't understand.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Forget your own desires for the time being and see what you can do to help your family.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be more alert to the driving of others and yourself. The evening should be spent making important calls.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't dwell on your monetary problems today. You can use that special data most advantageously tonight.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try not to be forceful in gaining your wishes or you can lose much of the progress you have already made.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You feel you have more anxieties than most, but take it easy and they soon vanish.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to berate a friend for something that has disturbed you, but you may be wrong, so be quiet.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) It's not a good day to be in the public limelight. Unfavorable conditions could cause you to lose prestige.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are interested in many new outlets, but study them well before getting into them.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be good looking and magnetic but could have fixed ideas and would stop at nothing to gain his, or her, own way, whether it's good or bad. Give a fine education that can bring good judgment and will teach this one to follow the right paths in life.

 "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

MONDAY, FEB. 16, 1987
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today finds you able to understand situations facing you, despite a strange plan cropping up this morning. Watch for a deceptive condition that could sidetrack you.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Today you are able to get a new and more progressive awareness. Steer clear of a scheming higher-up.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Confer with a friend who has had a good deal of experience in business. Your hunches aren't so good tonight.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be more willing to listen to the advice of an expert. A partner could be confused tonight.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Change your attitude regarding your philosophy of life and you get ahead faster.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) After much thought you find a better way to keep promises. Be happy with your mate tonight.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen to the advice of a partner. Be careful in handling your communications. They could be disappointing.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Buy new items that will make your environment more charming. Take any health treatments you may need.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have fine new ideas on how best to get your talents across today. Be more careful in motion.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have a fine opportunity to get your home affairs as you would like them. Relax after a busy day.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get in touch with associates you want to allied with. Enjoy a boost of energy from your favorite hobby.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You cannot gain a wish today, so concern yourself with business. Find a way to increase property value.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Use good judgment in trying to gain an intimate wish. Avoid social activities after a busy day.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will have every ability to find ways to garner information that is difficult to get, so slant the education along investigative and research lines. Upon reaching maturity your progeny will be less opinionated and more cooperative with others.
