Spring board

How's that? Calendar

Q. How can I have a notice for my organization's non-charitable dance put in the paper?

A. Though dance notices were previously in the Calendar, they will now be on the Entertainment page, published Saturdays. To have your notice in the Entertainment page, contact Scott Fitzgerald, entertainment editor, by calling 263-7331.

Calendar Health check

TODAY

• The CANTRead board will meet at the Howard County Library at 6 p.m. The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. The film "What If You Couldn't Read" will be shown.

• A tax seminar designed specifically for the agriculture producer will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

WEDNESDAY

• The Wall Committee, working on a project to bring a Vietnam memorial wall to Big Spring, will meet at 8 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce conference room, 215 W. Third St. Everyone is invited.

• The local chapter of the American Red Cross will meet at 7 p.m. at the St. Mary's Episcopal Church parish hall. All volunteers are urged to attend.

THURSDAY

• The Salvation Army will be giving away bread from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at 308 Alford St.

City to pick dam proposal

City officials plan to review engineering proposals for the repair of Comanche Lake Dam and present a recommendation to City Council at its next meeting, according to City Manager Mack Wofford.

Wofford said the city received engineering proposals from three firms: Vansickle, Mickelson & Klein Inc. of Austin; Freese & Nichols Inc. of Fort Worth; and Parkhill, Smith & Cooper of Lubbock.

Public Works Director Tom Decell, City Councilmen Harold Hall and Russ McEwen and Wofford will review the proposals, which are "resumes" of the engineering firms, Wofford said.

The proposals detail the firms' experience, key personnel who would be involved in the dam project and how they propose to do the work, he said. They do not include the cost of the work, which is unknown, he said.

The city anticipates a $650,000 grant from the Texas Department of Community Development emergency fund to go toward repair of the dam.

Although the city hasn't yet received the money, "no news is good news," Wofford said. To facilitate obtaining the promised funds, the city has designated $112,642 of its own money toward repairs. The funds had been budgeted for the softball park.

In order for the city to receive the state grant, it must show it's willing to spend some of its own money for the project, Wofford has said.

If the project can be accomplished with the grant, the TDCA will not require city money to be spent, he said. Although no exact figures are available on the project, he expects the cost to exceed the $650,000 and he believes the city money will be necessary.

Heavy rains in late August contributed to a breach in the dam, causing the release of approximately two-thirds of the lake's water and flooding of nearby low-lying areas.

Super Collider

Clements rules out West Texas for project

By JIM DAVIS

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Gov. Bill Clements today ruled out the Big Spring area as a possible site for the Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) project because it isn't near a metropolitan center.

"In the judgment of everybody concerned that we've talked to, (it) has to do with the fact that it looks like the Dallas-Fort Worth area or the Houston metropolitan area are the only two areas that really qualify under the criteria already published," Clements said at his weekly news conference.

Asked if he was saying that this ruled out the Big Spring area, Clements added: "I am. I am saying that (being away from a metropolitan center) would be a very strong negative so far as Big Spring is concerned or so far as the area around Hereford is concerned, and the Panhandle and so forth."

The governor said that criterion is important because the super atom smasher needs to be located near top-notch educational centers.

With that in mind, he said, if located in Texas, the project "probably will be located somewhere in that general triangle area between Austin, Bryan and Houston." Dallas-Fort Worth is another option, he said.

Before Clements' remarks, the nine potential Texas sites included one between Bryan-College Station and Houston, another north of the Dallas-Fort Worth area and several in West Texas, including Garden City, Pecos and Amarillo.

Scientists at the Texas Accelerator Center near Houston have received $10.2 million in Energy Department funding to study aspects of the super collider. The center is part of a collaborative effort among Texas A&M University, Rice University, the University of Texas at Austin and the University of Houston.

Clements said the atom smasher will be his No. 1 priority when he visits with federal officials next week in Washington, D.C., where he will be attending a governors' conference.

The project could inject between $6 billion and $10 billion into the Texas economy over a 10-year period, he said. It also could provide 3,000 to 4,000 jobs for Texans in addition to bringing scientists to the state from throughout the world, Clements added.

"This will be a tremendous asset to this state," he said.

The governor said the chief competitors for the project are Illinois and California.

But he said he will argue in Washington that Texas is the only state without a federal research center and therefore should get this one. "We are entitled to one," he added.

More than 24 states are actively competing for the $6 billion project. Even Canada has expressed an interest in being involved in the federal project if it is placed near the U.S.-Canadian border.

City given $1 million for airport

A grant of more than $1 million has been awarded the city of Big Spring for airport improvements, a spokesman for Senator Phil Gramm said this morning.

The grant is to be used for the building and marking of a runway and taxiway, and for installing runway lights and guidance signs, Larry Neal said this morning. He is press secretary at Gramm's Washington D.C. office.

City Manager Mack Wofford confirmed that he received a letter this morning from the Federal Aviation Administration informing him the $1,001,516 grant has been awarded.

Wofford said the project at the McMahon-Wrinkle Airport is a major expansion and construction is expected to take six months. A crosswind runway is planned.

Conventional runways are built to accommodate prevailing winds, he said, but a crosswind runway will allow safer aircraft landings when the wind blows from a different direction. A taxiway is currently being used as a crosswind runway, he said.

In addition to the $1 million grant,

$111,280 of airport-generated city money may be used for the project, he said. City Council approved the funding when application was made for the grant, he said.

A tentative schedule would include advertising for bids for construction Feb. 27, awarding bids March 24, and issuing notice to proceed with construction May 1, Wofford said. The construction contractor would have 10 days after May 1 to begin the project, he said.

The project should be complete near the first of November, he said.

District 3 councilman announces candidacy

By SPENCER SANDOW

Big Spring City Councilman Harold Hall announced this morning that he will seek another term in the election April 4. Hall represents district 3.

Two candidates in Coahoma and one on the Big Spring school board also have filed for re-election.

Hall was elected to the Council in April 1984 for a three-year term, and also served from 1972-78.

During his first two terms in office, he was instrumental in the transformation of the former Webb Air Force Base to the present industrial park, he said.

For the past two years, he has been Mayor Pro-Tem. He represents Big Spring on the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, through which attempts are made to secure federal and state funds to assist the community.

Hall said he has sought to ensure that tax funds were used "as constructively and efficiently as possible" to avoid the need to increase taxes.

He has been active in upgrading the community's water and sewer systems and in improvements to the city park, he said, and he worked to obtain state funds for improvements to Comanche Lake Dam and to improve roads and utilities on the north side of town.

He said he currently is active in the effort to bring the superconducting super collider to West Texas.

Hall is a native of Big Spring and has been married for 45 years to the former Dorothy Hayward. They have three grown sons and six grandchildren.

Local contractor D.D. Johnston also has filed for the district 3 Council position. District 1 Councilman Henry Sanchez has not announced whether he will seek re-election.

The deadline to file as candidate for the April 4 election is 5 p.m. Wednesday for both Big Spring and Coahoma.

Coahoma Councilman Billy Sullivan and Mayor Eleanor Garrett have filed for re-election. Coahoma City Clerk Karen Bell said this morning.

In addition to the two positions, the Council seat filled by Barbara Robertson will be voted on, Bell said. Both Council positions are at large.

The city code is unclear as to the procedure if no candidate files for a position, she said. But she doesn't expect the situation to occur.

The candidates usually "come in at the last minute," she said. "They want to see who else will sign up" before committing themselves.

Incumbent Billy Pineda has filed for re-election as district 1 representative of the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees. Dewayne Fraser, incumbent for district 3, has not announced whether he will seek re-election.

The deadline to file as school board candidate is March 4.

West Texans not quitting on SSC bid

By SCOTT FITZGERALD

It was more than seven hours of highways that separated Ralph McLaughlin in Midland and Bill Clements in Austin this morning when they addressed the media on area prospects for the superconducting, super collider atom smasher.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce SSC steering committee Chairman Ralph McLaughlin planned to update planning and scheduling for the proposed Garden City site. Instead, he was faced with the need to respond to Clements' announcement that the governor was ruling out West Texas as a viable SSC location.

Although committee members were disappointed upon hearing Clements' announcement, McLaughlin said that his group's efforts will continue to attempt to lure the multi-billion dollar project to Garden City.

"We're disappointed but it's not that definite," McLaughlin said concerning Clements' remarks.

He said the steering committee will continue with its request for proposal efforts to locate the project at the Garden City site until April 1.

That is the date the Department of Energy has announced that invitations for site proposals will be sought from the governors of each state.

Although Clements' comments about ruling out West Texas as a possible site were not a formal announcement or statement, Deputy Press Secretary Jay Rosser this morning said they do represent the governor's interpretation of established federal criteria.

The federal criteria requires the SSC site be located in proximity to a major urban area and be accessible to major research facilities, Rosser said.

Clements has not yet appointed members to a SSC REACTION page 2A

Annual county spelling bee March 10

The annual Howard County Spelling Bee will be Tuesday, March 10, again under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Herald.

The bee will begin at 4 p.m. in the Howard Junior College auditorium.

Students of elementary, middle and junior high schools through the eighth grade are eligible to participate. Contestants from 12 or 13 county schools are expected to compete, as they have during the past several years.

Each of the local schools are expected to conduct their bees by Tuesday, March 3, so information on their winners can be reported to the Herald by Wednesday, March 4.

The county bee winner will qualify to compete at the regional event, scheduled Saturday, March 28, at Monterey High School in Lubbock.

Copies of the book, "Words of the Champions," are being sold by the Big Spring Independent School District administration office and the Herald. The price is 53 cents, including tax.

The Herald will again pay expenses for the winner and the winner's parents to attend the Lubbock competition, according to Publisher Tom Watson.

The winner of last year's county bee was Carvel Nguyen, then a 10-year-old student at Bauer Magnet School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tra Nguyen. The runner-up was Brandy Taylor of Coahoma Junior High School.

In 1985, the winner was Marilyn Corvin, then a 13-year-old student at Goliad Middle School. Sherrill West, then a 13-year-old at Coahoma Junior High, was runner-up.

Fire closes TU electric plant

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Utilities Electric Co. officials do not expect service to be disrupted for repairs after a Monday night explosion and fire at a generating unit at a Lake Ray Hubbard plant.

There were no injuries in the fire, sparked by an explosion in a natural gas-powered electric generator. It occurred shortly before 6 p.m. at Unit One of the two-unit electric generating plant about 17 miles east of downtown, utility spokesman Dick Ramsey said.

The power plant's generators had a capacity of about 990,000 kilowatts, less than 5 percent of TU Electric's system, Ramsey said.

Operation of the two generators was halted all night and they were expected to remain closed for an undetermined amount of time, Ramsey said.

"The load isn't particularly heavy. I know that. They've been able to route around it," said Paul Freeman, a spokesman for the utility.

The four-alarm fire was extinguished by Dallas firefighters about three hours later, he said.

The control room was evacuated and the other unit at the plant was shut down, Ramsey said.

Smoke can be seen at the base of a Texas Utilities Electric Co. natural gas-operated plant at Lake Ray Hubbard east of Dallas Monday night. The fire in a 375-megawatt generator was extinguished by Dallas firefighters in about three hours.

Weather

WEST TEXAS: Cloudy with no major temperature changes through Wednesday. Scattered showers east of the mountains with rain mixed with snow north this morning. Highs 30s Panhandle to mid 50s southwest. Lows tonight mid 30s plateaus of southwest to low 20s Panhandle.

C-City Dancers host senior dance

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Dancers will host a senior citizens' dance tonight, from 7-10 p.m. at the Civic Center. The Pork Proctor Band will provide the music. A covered dish supper will be served and the public is invited.

Tax appraisal audit to be presented

Glen Fillingim of Fillingim & Green will address members of the Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District on his audit of the district's 1986 budget.

The district meets at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the county courtroom. District members will take action on approving his report and audit fee.

District members will also amend the 1987 budget and take action on purchasing office furniture.

Medical scholarship fund organized

SNYDER — Area scholars interested in the field of medicine will benefit from a scholarship fund established in the memory of Dorothy Teague, according to Madilyn Pettit, Snyder.

The nursing scholarship fund has been established at West Texas State Bank in Snyder, Pettit said, in honor of Mrs. Teague, who died Saturday.

An LVN, Mrs. Teague received her title at the Medical Arts Hospital in August 1965. She was employed at the Cogdill General Hospital in Snyder at the time of her death.

SSC reaction

nine-person research committee, Rosser said.

The committee is to prepare and research information for a presentation to federal officials for their consideration of Texas for the SSC site, Rosser said.

"The committee is obviously a top priority with the governor, but people don't seem to understand that reviewing candidates is not an overnight process," Rosser said.

McLaughlin, who commented this morning from Midland during a news conference at the Petroleum Club, said the Garden City site offers a strong advantage with its cost projection.

"We haven't given up. If cost is a factor — we have to be considered," McLaughlin said.

He said the Garden City site would save taxpayers "billions of dollars," compared to other sites. McLaughlin said he was upset that preliminary talk of locating the project had not taken construction costs into consideration.

"If cost is no problem, then why don't we just put it (SSC) on the floor of ocean?" he added.

The steering committee would be discussing the possibility of hiring a lobbyist to promote further West Texas efforts to locate the SSC here, McLaughlin said.

Executive Vice-President LeRoy Tillery of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce said the first priority of a lobbyist would be to ensure that the Garden City site be selected for the state's proposal to the federal government.

Nine other areas throughout the state have expressed interest in being selected as the site for the project, Tillery said.

Members from 15 media groups throughout West Texas were present for this morning's press conference, Tillery reported.

Shaw: White critics 'must be surprised'

AUSTIN — State Rep. Larry Don Shaw said Tuesday those in his area who criticized former Gov. Mark White for inaction on the atom smasher project "must be surprised now."

"They thought it would all happen if they got White out of office," Shaw, D-Big Spring, said. "Some of those who bad-mouthed White must be surprised now," he said.

White's successor, Gov. Bill Clements, announced Tuesday that West Texas sites would be out of the running in Texas' bid for the Superconducting Super Collider.

Shaw said he would talk with Clements' staff to find out why Glasscock County and also a Trans-Pecos area were excluded from potential sites.

Texas is among many states vying for the $6 billion particle accelerator recommended for construction by the Department of Energy.

Shaw said he would back Clements 100 percent to get the project to Texas. "No matter where it goes in the state, I fully support it," he said.

Shaw said bickering among those in West Texas on the progress of putting together a bid may have influenced Clements' decision.

During the 1984 election, Shaw said the West Texas Chamber of Commerce criticized White for not appointing a panel to compose a state bid proposal.

But Shaw said White delayed appointing the panel because at that time the federal government had not decided on whether to pursue the project.

Although White eventually appointed the panel several of the committee members complained that the state was not preparing its bid soon enough after Clements returned to office.

Shaw said that criticism may have reached Clements. "I'm not saying that that kind of thing clouds the decision of a politician, but it doesn't help," Shaw said.

Shaw said if Texas hopes to attract the scientific facility it must commit more funds to higher education.

Howard College to provide financial aid information

Howard College's Financial Aid Office will have an information table at the Big Spring Mall on Thursday and Friday, February 19-20, 1987 from 3-8 p.m. and on Saturday February 21, 1987 from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Money is available for anyone interested in attending college, according to the Texas Association of Student Financial Aid. The group announced that this week is Financial Aid Awareness Week.

However, early application is a key item in securing funds, since some funds are limited.

Applications for financial aid will be available at the table, as well as general information about types of financial assistance available.

Contact Financial Aid Office at Howard College for applications and more information at 1001 Birdwell Lane or 267-6311 extension 345.

Shamir to explain role

WASHINGTON — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir intends to try to make two points clear during his visit here: Arming Iran was a U.S. idea, and Israel had nothing to do with the secret fund for Nicaraguan rebels.

Shamir, according to Israeli officials, will stress his nation's close ties with the United States and a willingness to explore peace prospects with its Arab neighbors during a three-day visit beginning today.

He is expecting a warm reception from President Reagan and senior administration officials, with only a new U.S. arms plan for Jordan and Saudi Arabia a potential source of friction.

But the visit is still likely to be marked by controversy as Shamir faces members of Congress and an American press eager to get at the origins of the Iran-Contra scandal.

Also, the prime minister is bound to be quizzed about persistent rumors that Israel is negotiating a deal to free a captured Israeli pilot and some of the American and other foreign hostages in Lebanon in exchange for 400 Arab prisoners.

Gates makes promise

WASHINGTON — Robert M. Gates, President Reagan's nominee to succeed William J. Casey as director of the CIA, promised today to avoid "valleys of mistrust" with Congress, such as the situation that led to the Iran-Contra scandal.

"We must insure that no covert action is undertaken without proper coordination and proper written authorization, and also that they are conducted in full accordance with the law and our own regulations," Gates said in a statement at the outset of his confirmation hearing for the post.

"We must find a way to avoid valleys of mistrust in this relationship," Gates said. "I consider it one of my highest priorities to help reestablish mutual trust and confidence."

The Senate Intelligence Committee chairman, Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., promised a careful examination both of Gates' qualifications and of his involvement in the Iran-Contra matter.

Women claim children

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Five women who claim to be the mothers of six young children found hungry and insect-bitten in a park have met with authorities in an attempt to regain custody of the youngsters, the women's attorney says.

"What they're trying to do is straightforward and as non-adversarial as they can possibly be," said attorney Paula Walborsky of her clients, members of a Washington, D.C.-area "community" group known as the Finders. "They believe it can be best handled in a straightforward, cooperative manner."

The women planned to stay here until a judge settles custody of the children. The 2- to 7-year-old children, dressed in tattered clothes, were discovered Feb. 4 in a Tallahassee park with two well-dressed men, who have pleaded innocent to misdemeanor child abuse charges.

Ms. Walborsky said the women, who arrived here Friday, answered questions Monday from officials of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

"They have nothing to hide. Cooperation would be the fastest way to get what they want — the kids released and the men in jail released," Ms. Walborsky said.

Two children express grief over the collapse of 26-year-old Johnnetta Hodges, on sidewalk at right, who rescued family members Sunday from a burning apartment on Chicago's South Side. Hodges, who was five months pregnant, died later at a Chicago hospital.

Fatal fires

Pregnant woman saves family, dies

(AP) — A pregnant woman collapsed and died after leading two children from a burning Chicago apartment, while weekend fires in five other states killed 17 other people, most of them children, authorities said.

"She was standing and just collapsed," said Fire Department spokesman Jerry Lawrence. "I'm told she had a history of heart problems."

Paramedics tried to revive Johnnetta Hodges at the scene. She was taken to the University of Chicago's Billings Hospital and pronounced dead at about 11 a.m. Sunday, said Sandy Clark, a hospital administrator.

No attempt was made to deliver the fetus, which was at least 5 months old, Ms. Clark said.

The fire started when Ms. Hodges' 5-year-old son, Tecata, ignited some bedding while playing with a lighter in the bedroom of a second-floor apartment, Lawrence said. The blaze was quickly extinguished by firefighters and caused minor damage to the apartment.

The other child was Kewanee Hodges, 14, a nephew of the victim, according to Jacob Cook, a spokesman for the city's Department of Human Services.

The victim's mother, Mary Hodges, accompanied her daughter to the hospital, but was not injured in the fire, Ms. Clark said.

Other residents of the three-story brick apartment building on the South Side had been evacuated when the woman led the children out, Lawrence said. He said he did not know how many people lived in the building.

Others killed in fires included a little boy and three young sisters who died in their home in Pennsylvania, and three children killed in Providence, R.I., in that city's deadliest fire in almost a decade.

A 1-year-old boy died in his crib in New York City, a man and his 18-year-old son were killed in Tennessee and two children died in Seattle. An elderly couple died in New York City and two people died in separate fires in New England.

A firefighter was killed Monday at Everett, Wash., in a fire that destroyed the library and cafeteria at Everett Community College. Battalion Chief Larry Dressel said the cause of the fire was not known.

In Chicago, Johnnetta Hodges' 5-year-old son, Tecata, ignited bedding while playing with a lighter in their apartment, said Fire Department spokesman Jerry Lawrence.

Fire broke out Sunday in a Cochran, Pa., home, killing a 4-year-old Amish boy and his three sisters, aged 3 years, 2 years and 1 month, officials said.

Authorities said the fire started on the first floor, apparently from an overheated chimney on a wood-burning stove, said Venango County Coroner Jonathan Hutchinson.

In Providence, officials speculated that an electric heater placed too close to a bed might have caused a tenement fire Saturday that killed three children. Four children and an 83-year-old baby sitter were injured.

Moise said the fire was the worst in terms of deaths and injuries since a 1977 dormitory fire that killed 10 Providence College students.

In Seattle, a fire that apparently began in a bathroom swept through a nearby children's bedroom Saturday morning, killing Evangel Vau Savini, 10. Her 7-year-old brother, Fili Vau Savini Jr., died early Sunday from burns covering 70 percent of his body, said Harborview Medical Center operator Helga Duckart.

New York City firefighters rescued two men from a ninth-floor apartment fire thought to have started in the room of 13-month-old Seron Eason at about 3 a.m. Sunday. The men sustained minor injuries.

The baby's body was found when the fire was brought under control after about 30 minutes, said Fire Department spokesman Efrain Parrilla. The cause was not determined.

Vietnam fires general

BANGKOK, Thailand — Vietnam announced today that 12 ministers — including Vietnam War hero Gen. Van Tien Dung — have been fired in one of the most sweeping government shake-ups in that Communist nation's history.

Analysts said the firings were part of an effort to inject vigor and efficiency into an aging leadership that led Vietnam to victory in wars against the French and Americans but failed to bring post-war economic recovery.

The Voice of Vietnam radio, monitored in Bangkok, said 12 ministers lost seats on the Council of Ministers, while a 13th was shifted to a new portfolio. It said several ministries were merged and other government agencies were incorporated into ministries.

The move follows the unprecedented resignations of three top officials from their Communist Party posts last December and a revamp of the all-powerful party Politburo. The three officials — General Secretary Truong Chinh, Prime Minister Pham Van Dong, and key Politburo member Le Duc Tho — still hold their government posts.

Soviets free dissident

MOSCOW — A Soviet government spokesman said today that dissident Anatoly Koryagin has been ordered released from prison and that Jewish activist Josef Begun "most likely" will be freed soon.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady Gerasimov said a special commission of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet parliament, that is reviewing dissident appeals for clemency decided Friday to release the 48-year-old Koryagin to "spare him further imprisonment."

Koryagin, a psychiatrist, was sentenced in 1981 to seven years in prison and five years in internal exile after complaining the government was sending dissidents to mental hospitals.

Britain to bar AIDS

LONDON — AIDS soon will be added to the list of diseases that can bar entry into Britain, the Home Office said.

Although it is not yet policy, in practice visitors already may be refused entry if immigration authorities suspect them of having AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

A Home Office spokesman, who could not be identified in keeping with British practice, said Monday that an American airline steward was detained at Gatwick Airport overnight last month and then returned to the United States because he was suspected of having AIDS.

Irish elect prime minister

DUBLIN — Ireland — Irish voters cast ballots today in a general election that opinion polls predict will end in defeat for Prime Minister Garret FitzGerald but may deny challenger Charles Haughey an outright majority.

Irish state radio estimated about one-sixth of the electorate had voted by noon and called it "a brisk turnout." At the last general election in 1982, 72.8 percent of those eligible voted.

An absolute majority for Haughey in the 166-seat Dail, or lower house of the Irish Parliament, would mean a remarkable comeback for a politician who has served two abbreviated terms as prime minister in a career dogged by controversy.

Lawmakers cite public opinion to defend 65 mph

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western and rural lawmakers leading the move to increase the federal speed limit to 65 mph are bolstering their case with public opinion polls, states' rights arguments and even lessons about teaching children to respect the law.

"A child now sits in the back seat and watches his old man drive and put it at 62 mph, because that is where you can get by," Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., said during debate on the measure last week. "It happens to be that the speed limit is 55. That is a pretty poor law."

But they are being countered by legislators and their allies, largely from urban and Eastern states, whose major argument is safety.

"Every recognizable piece of evidence indicates that speed on highways kills and that trucks and other vehicles operate most safely at lower speeds," says Robert Mann, spokesman for the American Trucking Association.

The Senate passed a highway bill Feb. 4 that would allow states to increase the speed limit to 65 mph on segments of interstates outside urban areas. The highway bill approved by the House on Jan. 21 would retain the 55 mph limit. Conferees from the two chambers are expected to begin meeting this week.

Part of the dispute is tactical. According to the office of Sen. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, chief Senate supporter of the higher speed limit, the bill would allow higher speeds on 33,910 miles of the 43,291 miles of interstate.

Al Lauersdorf, traffic safety specialist with the National Safety Council, which favors the lower limit, says, "We look at that as probably an opening. If they get that, probably they'll go further."

The American Automobile Association, which favors allowing states to set higher speed limits, commissioned a poll last September asking whether speed limits should be increased on rural interstates. The results: 56 percent said yes and 40 percent said no. The telephone survey of 1,014 randomly selected adults had a margin of error of plus or minus 3 percent, and represented a reversal of an identical poll in 1985, when 43 percent said speeds should be increased and 55 percent said no.

The lower limit was instituted in 1974 in response to the oil embargo. Symms argues "the energy scare has passed" and says the 55 mph limit costs 1 billion additional hours of passenger time each year.

But House supporters of 55 such as James Howard, D-N.J., chairman of the Public Works and Transportation Committee, disagree.

"My main argument for 55 is it saves fuel, it saves lives and it saves money," Howard says.

Howard and his allies say the lower speed limit saves about 167,000 barrels of oil daily, and reduces automobile maintenance costs because cars run more efficiently at the lower speed. And they say the billion extra hours of passenger time works out to an average of one minute for each car trip.

Budget would cut junior college funds

By DANA PALMER
Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Higher education officials appealed Monday for help in thwarting a House budget proposal that would cut funding by 27 percent for the state's 49 public junior colleges.

That would reduce funding for the 1988-89 biennium to less than $600 million, said Stewart McLaurin, president of Kilgore College and the Texas Public Community-Junior College Association.

That's at a time when the state's Coordinating Board is recommending $1.1 billion for community colleges, he said.

The proposal for a 27 percent reduction is included under a barebones appropriations bill filed in the House as a vehicle for developing a final budget proposal.

A Senate bill is proposing $819 million in funding for junior colleges that basically would maintain current funding levels through the 1988-89 biennium.

McLaurin said the state's junior colleges would like to see a return to 1985 funding levels, similar to the House and Senate budget proposals for the state's senior universities.

That would bring the 1988-89 total funding for junior colleges to $992 million, up from the current biennium's $847 million, McLaurin told the budget subcommittee of the House Higher Education Committee.

"This request, if granted, is not a growth budget. It is a maintenance budget," he said.

The long-term goal would be to receive the $1.1 billion recommended by the Coordinating Board, McLaurin said.

With another 27 percent cut, McLaurin said, academic programs would be eliminated, especially with funding so tight at the local level.

"I lost 51 lbs. and learned how to keep them lost."

Free enterprise a costly lesson

What a costly economics lesson the 1983 Emergency Jobs Appropriations Act turned out to be.

A federal Government Accounting Office report on the multibillion-dollar boondoggle is enough to set taxpayers' teeth on edge.

When the nation's unemployment rate was more than 11 percent and 12.5 million persons were out of work in the country's worst recession since the Great Depression, the Jobs Act was expected to produce as many as a half-million jobs.

But 15 months and $3.1 billion later, the program produced only 35,000 jobs at a record cost of $88,571 each, according to the GAO report.

During the same 15-month period — March 1983 to June 1984 — 5.8 million jobs were created by private businesses as the jobs rate dropped to 7.4 percent.

Why didn't the jobs bill work? It didn't for the same reasons most federal job programs fail. The government usually reacts too slowly to changing economic conditions and then wastes valuable time and money implementing its programs.

Instead of acting quickly to funnel the funds into programs to assist private business in creating immediate jobs, Congress earmarked about 86 percent for long-term public projects such as highways, dams and airports.

Those big projects take years to design and plan before construction begins. So they do nothing to provide short-term relief for unemployed workers.

Predictably, the act produced bureaucratic horrors. The Department of Education, for example, was given $40 million to remove barriers to the handicapped at schools. Two years later, not a cent had been spent because the department had not developed regulations for distributing the funds.

But the GAO report says that even under ideal circumstances the 1983 act would have been a costly effort that helped but a handful of the nation's unemployed.

According to GAO auditors, had the entire $9 billion been spent within a year of the law's enactment, only 131,000 jobs would have been produced at a cost of $68,700 per job!

That's still a poor return on investment. Free enterprise is the engine that drives the U.S. economy. That's the oft-taught and seldom-learned lesson that should be emphasized from this latest fiasco of simply throwing money at the problem.

When the economy sputters, the government can help tune it through changes in the money policies, the tax code and various incentives. But, as the 1983 Jobs Act demonstrates, short of a depression, government cannot produce enough jobs to restore economic vitality. That's a job for private businesses.

The GAO report on the 1983 act reiterates the principle that government does not belong in the job-creation business. If that lesson is learned, then perhaps the act will have served a useful purpose after all.

We hope Texas can learn this lesson as the administration of Gov. Bill Clements searches for ways get to jobless Texans back to work.

Dislikes proposed container bill

To the editor:

I feel the need to tell people about House Bill 210. This bill puts a mandatory 5-cent deposit on all beverage containers. You would, of course, be reimbursed when you return these containers to your favorite retailer.

This creates several problems for me as a consumer. One problem is the dirty, empty containers being returned and stored at an outlet where I buy food products. This has to increase health hazards in storing these containers.

If this bill is meant to reduce litter, I have read that of the nationwide litter problem, less than 20 percent is beverage containers. If this is the case, then we also need to consider a 5-cent deposit on cigarette and candy wrappers.

How about a 5-cent deposit on styrofoam fast food containers? Last, but not least, we would definitely need a 5-cent deposit on disposable diapers.

Our cost on products ultimately will go up, as wholesalers and retailers will have increased expenses with the addition of equipment, manpower, and storage areas to handle the returns.

This bill will not solve the problem of litter, but will increase our consumer cost! Now is the time to let your legislators know.

Art Buchwald Just another Washington snow job

By ART BUCHWALD
Despite what the President said last week, the country doesn't need a Star Wars program — it needs a Snow Plow Initiative.

All Mr. Reagan had to do was look out the window of his limousine to realize the capital had been brought to a grinding halt without one Soviet missile being fired.

The idea of having enough snow-clearing equipment for Washington, D.C., has always been a dream of government scientists, many of whom live outside the Beltway.

Werner Zambowski, a leading voice for developing the Snow Plow Initiative, claims it is not only feasible to produce such a system with present technology, but it is absolutely necessary considering the snow job the Soviets are doing on Moscow.

"The United States has the technical know-how to remove the snow from its streets," he said in his thick German accent. "It's just a question of getting the Congress to pay for it. To dump tomorrow we must be willing to invest in the future today. Our children and their children must never be snowed in."

"I see the day when not only our main streets but our side streets will be plowed out from curb to curb. I see the day when we can push all abandoned cars into the Potomac. And I see the day when Washington's honorable mayor will actually be in town when the snowstorm comes."

Opponents of the Snow Plow Initiative believe SPI is unrealistic. Jarrell Jerryboam is opposed because he doesn't think snow removal in Washington has any future. "Once the first snowflake hits the ground," he says, "everyone in the nation's capital panics. It doesn't matter how many snowplows you deploy, they're only going to be blocked by people taking early leave from the Pentagon."

Jerryboam showed satellite photographs of last week's storm to prove that snowplows are not the answer to snow removal. "It takes more than equipment to deter snow. The truth is that there is no response to a Washington snowfall because the chance of human error is too great."

Secretary of Defense Cap Weinberger, caught in a storm on the George Washington Parkway, told reporters in an off-the-record wiener roast that Moscow has three times as many snowplows as Washington. These plows have a throw weight capable of clearing a six-lane highway from Pinsk to Minsk in less than an hour.

Asked why Washington is so short on trucks and bulldozers, and the Soviets so big on them, Weinberger blamed liberals soft on snow for drifting from one crisis to another. He told Ted Koppel, who happened to be on the parkway doing a snow-removal report, "We're paying the price for 20 years of salt and sand neglect."

I called the White House and asked where the President stood on a Snow Plow Initiative. A spokesman replied, "The President's dream has always been to leave a clean Washington behind when he finishes his term. He plans to go on television next week and deny that any U.S. snow-removal equipment was sold to Iran."

"He will also announce that he is appointing a snow-removal commission made up of those guilty of last week's disaster to recommend what Washington should do in case of a new storm."

"In an address to the nation the President will express sympathy for those who suffered during the past week and he intends to read a letter from a little girl who couldn't go to school and pray because of the snowstorm and the Supreme Court."

"Finally he will cite a true national hero — a driver of a tow truck who was buried in an embankment for three days on I-66. When he was dug out he was asked by the highway patrol if he had any message for the American people and he said, 'Send me more snow!'"

Embassy 'gift funds' used in many extravagant ways

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — A government investigation of American embassy "gift funds" reveals that questionable use of the privately donated money by Ambassador Faith Ryan Whittlesey in Switzerland was matched by former Ambassador Helene von Damm next door in Austria.

Both women worked in the Reagan White House before appointment to their diplomatic posts.

The State Department has ended the controversial embassy funds, which were an administration idea designed to supplement an ambassador's sometimes skimpy "representational fund" for entertainment and similar goodwill gestures.

News stories last fall reported that Whittlesey had dipped into her embassy fund to play hostess to some of the same American big shots who had donated to the fund.

When the stories broke, the House Foreign Operations Subcommittee, headed by Rep. Dan Mica, D-Fla., ordered a General Accounting Office audit of all such privately financed embassy funds. Our associate Lucette Lagnado has seen the resulting report.

Here are some examples of the Vienna embassy's expenditures from the gift fund during the tenure of von Damm, who resigned as ambassador after marrying the owner of Vienna's famous Sacher Hotel:

- In September 1985, she spent more than $13,000 to take some 400 guests on a "friendship cruise" on the Danube River. The tab included boat rental, restaurant meals, fireworks and a photographer to record the event.

- In August 1985, von Damm dipped into the embassy gift fund to buy a $600 coat as a birthday present for Dagmar Koller, wife of

Jack Anderson

Vienna's mayor. Cable traffic between the embassy and Foggy Bottom revealed an initial reluctance in Washington to approve the expenditure; it was finally OK'd after the fact.

- In December 1986, von Damm played the gracious hostess to Attorney General Edwin Meese, his son and their wives, who stopped off in Vienna while on a European tour. The ambassador, who worked in the White House while Meese was presidential counselor, threw a party for the visitors.

She also arranged tickets to the Vienna Opera production of "Fidelio" at a cost of $317.28 for five tickets. The purpose of the expenditure was "to further U.S. interests," according to the embassy voucher.

- Also justified by the need to promote the national interest was the purchase of 10 scallop-shaped pewter bowls from Cartier Inc. in New York at a cost of $1,023.

Not all the embassies with gift funds spent the money on frivoletries. The GAO auditors noted that the embassy in Lagos, Nigeria, which had received more than $338,000 in donations, used the money to make badly needed improvements at a consulate, "such as retaining walls, fences and gates." In addition, the embassy donated a large chunk of the gift fund to the American International School in Lagos.

The Paris embassy also used its gift fund for such unglamorous expenses as renovating the ambassador's residence, buying a piano, reupholstering furniture, installing drapes and painting light fixtures.

The Moscow embassy wouldn't let the GAO auditors see its gift fund vouchers on grounds of security.

Footnote: The current ambassador to Austria, Ronald Lauder, was deprived of a $150,000 check for the gift fund from his mother, cosmetics tycoon Estee Lauder, because nervous Foggy Bottom bureaucrats sent the donation back.

But when the embassy's summer employment program for young people was short of funds last year, Ambassador Lauder wrote out a check of his own for $10,000.

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Tom Lantos, D-Calif., is known on Capitol Hill for his interest in foreign affairs, his concern for mistreated animals and his usually dignified appearance.

But the Hungarian-born Lantos is also a bit of a ham — in an almost literal sense. As a sort of Rich Little of the animal kingdom, he does an amazingly lifelike imitation of a pig.

His aides are amused by the boss's oinking — but also a little nervous. They can't be sure when a constituent from the posh San Francisco Peninsula might happen by during a performance and wonder if there's a truffle hunt going on in their congressman's inner office.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Constitution Daybook

Saturday, Feb. 17, 1787
PHILADELPHIA TODAY

The Supreme Executive Council today pardoned William Brock, alias William Smith Brock, convicted of burglary, was under a sentence of death. He was pardoned if he transported himself beyond the seas not subject to return to the United States.

Jacob Hiltzheimer accompanied Gen. Thomas Mifflin to his place at the Falls of the Schuylkill. They crossed the river there to inspect some farm land the general purchased last year.

CONFEDERATION TODAY
Congress was adjourned today. William Samuel Johnson reported New York's weather continued fair.

The Assembly of New York today resolved to ask its delegation in Congress to call for a convention to revise the Articles of Confederation. It is believed that Alexander Hamilton was the author of this resolution.

DELEGATES TODAY
George Washington's weather report was 32 in the morning.

Gen. Jeremiah Wadsworth and John Chaloner visited the general. Wadsworth was still actively engaged in supplying the Army. He was commissary general in the late war and Chaloner was his assistant.

LOOKING BACK
William Livingston (1732-1796)
William Livingston was the seventh child born to Philip and Catherine Livingston of Albany, N.Y. Upon graduation from Yale in 1741, he began the study of law with the liberal James Alexander.

In 1745, before the completion of his legal studies, he married Susanna French by whom he had 13 children. He began to champion popular causes and to oppose the established order.

In 1751, he fought the founding of King's College because it would increase the influence and power of the Anglican church in New York. His appeal served to strengthen the Liberal Party and, by 1760, Livingston was playing a major role in colonial politics.

By the end of that decade, however, his attempts to reconcile the street mobs to the leadership of the wealthy moderates cost him his political power in New York.

In 1772, Livingston retired to his country estate, Liberty Hall, in Elizabethtown, N.J., but he ended his retirement almost immediately, quickly plunging into the political life of that colony. Livingston served as delegate from New Jersey to the First Continental Congress where he joined his son-in-law John Jay in drafting an address to the American people.

He continued his work during the Second Continental Congress, and in 1776 the New Jersey Legislature elected him first governor of the State of New Jersey, a position he held until his death in 1790.

In 1787, Livingston traveled to Philadelphia to take his seat as a member of the New Jersey delegation to the Federal Convention where he worked for compromise and signed the Constitution. He thereafter exerted his influence and helped to produce the speed and unanimity with which the New Jersey ratifying convention adopted the Constitution.

Livingston read and spoke Dutch fluently, as his mother was Dutch. He liked to pun, and several of his letters this year give delightful examples of this trait.

He saw himself as a plain and unassuming individual as this description of him by a French diplomat indicates: "You may have an idea of this respectable man, who is at once a writer, a governor, and a ploughman, on learning that he takes pride in calling himself a New Jersey farmer."

Beta Sigma Phi Sweethearts named

This year's Beta Sigma Phi chapter sweethearts are Carolyn Clark, Mu Zeta Chapter; Tonita Reid, Alpha Phi Delta; Linda Coskey, Preceptor Delta; and Lisa Murphy, city council sweetheart.

The Big Spring chapters celebrated Valentine's Day and honored their sweethearts with a banquet at the Howard College Cactus Room Saturday.

CAROLYN CLARK pledged the Mu Zeta Chapter in 1986. She serves the chapter as city council representative and is a member of the contact, membership and scrapbook committees of her chapter. Clark has one daughter, Misty, and attends Howard College. She is employed at Winn-

Dixie.

TONITA REID pledged Alpha Phi Delta in 1980. She serves the chapter as treasurer and is being honored as Girl of the Year and chapter sweetheart. She has served on city council for several years and served the council as vice president. Reid progressed into XPE in 1986 and is on the ways and means and social committees. She has one daughter, Nicci. Her hobbies include skiing, weight lifting, landscaping and reading.

LINDA COSKEY is a charter member of the newly formed chapter, Preceptor Delta, and serves as recording secretary. Coskey is also president of city council. She has been honored as pledge of the year, girl of the year (several times) and as chapter sweetheart. Over the years, she has served in all chapter offices, on all chapter committees and on city council for several years. Coskey and her husband, Mike, have two sons, Chuck and Clark. She is a cosmetologist at Eloise's Hair Fashions and her hobbies include reading and needlework.

LISA MURPHY is the city council sweetheart. Murphy pledged Mu Zeta in 1986, serving that chapter as treasurer, president, recording secretary and city council representative and being honored as pledge and girl of the year and chapter sweetheart. She progressed into XPE in 1986 and is vice president. She is also a city council representative, a capacity in which she has served for several years. She is has one daughter, Lacy. Murphy is a patient data coordinator at Big Spring State Hospital Outreach Department where she has worked since 1978. Her hobbies include sewing, cooking and snow skiing. She has been continuing her education toward becoming an RN.

In lieu of the Valentine Ball, the Beta Sigma Phi chapters have scheduled a spring charity dance on April 3 at the Stampedo. Tickets are $5 per person and can be purchased from any Beta Sigma Phi member.

Club notes

Club to give $100 to Proctor fund

The Mary Jane Club met Thursday and voted to contribute $100 to the Christie Proctor Fund.

Club members will also help by distributing pictures and posters. The group met at the home of Mrs. Larry Nix, Midway Rd., with Mrs. Donal Hale, co-hosting. Mrs. Horace Nash presided over a brief business meeting and Mrs. Raymond Phillips presented a program.

Phillips, president of the Howard Glasscock Chapter of the American Cancer Society, presented "Five Minutes that May Save Your Life."

She explained how a monthly breast self-examination can detect breast cancer.

A woman should have a baseline mammogram completed between the ages of 35 and 39; ages 40 through 49 should have one every 1 to 2 years; and over age 50, annually.

Some of the risk factors to be aware of are: white female over age 45; having a personal history of breast cancer; having a mother or sister who developed breast cancer before menopause; beginning menses before age 12; having no children or having a child after age 35; personal history of ovarian, uterine or colon cancer; and being 40 percent or more overweight.

Phillips explained the services that are available for cancer patients through the local chapter. For more information, call Mrs. Clyde Thomas, service chairman, 267-6272.

Members answered roll call with "When was your last mammogram?" Guests were Phillips and Darla and Amber Choate. The next meeting will be March 12 at the home of Mrs. Sonny Hart.

Two chosen as chapter delegates

Mrs. Turner, chapter president, and Mrs. Kathryn Thomas, first vice president were selected as delegates at the American Gold Star Mother Chapter meeting on Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Odell Turner, 1310 Rannels St.

The women will attend the department of Texas Convention in Houston on March 27 and 28.

Turner opened the meeting with the ritual and Betty O'Brien, chaplain pro-tem, opened the Bible and voiced the ritual prayer.

The group presented the Veteran's Administration Medical Center report stating that 31 patients and six visitors were served refreshments of coffee and cake on Jan. 21 by Mrs. Edna Peacock and Mrs. O'Brien.

Patients at the medical center need western paperback books, domino counters, pool sticks and donations to replenish the fish tanks on the sixth floor, according to the report.

The community service report showed that $35 in donations, six vases of flowers and 10 trays of food were given to the sick and shut-in friends.

The chapter history book was presented to the past chapter president Mrs. Peacock by Elida Hernandez, chapter historian.

The March 12th meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Annie Smith.

Club member to move to California

A letter of resignation from Dolores Norred, was read at the Feb. 13th meeting of the City Extension Homemakers Club.

She will be moving to Thousand Oaks, Calif. in March to be near her family.

The group met at the home of Irene Priebe. One new member, Debbie Lancaster, was welcomed. Sarah Landers was guest.

Roll call was answered by members telling their birthplace.

The council report was presented by Jowili Etchison. She announced the proceeds made at the January stock show food booth. The club by-laws were read and revisions were made. Cookies will be taken to the State Hospital the first week in May and November.

The program "Now you see it, now you don't" was on stain and spot removal and presented by Nadine Hodnef and Etchison. The purpose of the program was to extend the life of clothing by removing stains and spots with the proper cleaning solvents.

The women said to always test for fabric change on underside seam or facing.

The next meeting will be Feb. 27 at the home of Jowili Etchison.

Creator of teddy bears finds each has its own personality

HARTFORD CITY, Ind. (AP) — Terry McVicker has a lot in common with Beartholomew, Robearto and Bearjamin — the jointed teddy bears she lovingly creates.

McVicker considers herself a bear artist, and in the year since she began crafting the furry creatures, she has built a reputation for herself among bear collectors.

She insists that each of her bears has its own personality and nothing delights her more than a customer who recognizes that quality and falls in love with a particular bear because of its quirky embroidered smile or quizzical expression.

She is emotionally attached to the stuffed animals. Speaking of a bear she sold recently, she said: "I was kind of sad to see him go. I wanted to look at him a couple more days."

"I make them one at a time. I don't like mass production because I get bored," she said as she stroked a half-finished, cream-colored teddy bear in her lap.

"I used to make the body first and stuff it and then put the face and ears on last. But now, I put the face on first because the bear gets personality, and then I enjoy finishing it."

McVicker has been making stuffed animals since high school, but her love affair with bears began a year ago when a friend insisted that she try her hand at the jointed variety.

She began with a pattern from a book in the library and gradually created her own design. McVicker's creations are reminiscent of antique teddy bears. Their long, thin arms and legs and humped backs date to the presidency of Teddy Roosevelt, the man who inspired the first such bears.

"The first couple I made, I gave away," she said. Her daughter's friends were first in line.

"I gave away a lot of bears — all of Mary's friends got experimental bears. As I would develop my pattern, I got rid of the ones I didn't like."

Since she began making bears, McVicker also has started collecting the works of other bear artists, and friendly ursine faces peek out from cabinets and cubbyholes throughout her house.

Her interest in the cuddly creatures mirrors what seems to be a national trend. Stuffed bears aren't just for children anymore. McVicker said about half of hers went to adult collectors.

"A lot of people had bears when they were kids, and I think they kind of take people back to their childhood," McVicker said. "Each bear has a personality. They are like an old friend or confidante."

McVicker, the mother of two and a former school teacher, is in the process of getting a retail merchant's license from the state. She said she planned to expand her business and was thinking about designing a line of bear clothing.

"I didn't intend for it to be a full-time business or job," she said. "But it looks like that's what it's going to be."

She's a good book misjudged by her cover

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "On the Outside Looking In," the graduate student who's shy and insecure. He described himself as "nice looking, personable, intelligent, sensitive, with a good sense of humor." Well, I have the same qualities as this male, only I'm 23, not ugly, tall with long blond hair, and I'm female. I also have trouble connecting with members of the opposite sex, but I think it's the way I dress.

I dress like a "biker" — black leather jacket and black knee-high leather boots. Guys, especially the clean-cut ones — the kind I like — usually get the wrong impression of me; they think I'm a "tough" girl and they don't bother to talk to me. I'm not "tough" — I have very high moral standards. I just like the look of leather.

Very often when my friends and I go dancing at a bar, we get offers from a lot of weirdos who try to pick us up and take us outside to tango in the back seat of their car. Meanwhile, we try to think of a nice, police way to say, "Leave us alone."

Here's a message for "Looking In": Don't give up. I'd love to meet you, but I know that's impossible because Abby isn't running a dating service. So next time you're at a bar, or walking down the street, if you see a tall blonde in a black leather jacket, please stop and get acquainted.

A NICE LEATHER-LOVING GIRL

Dear Abby

DEAR GIRL: You say cleancut guys don't bother to talk to you because you dress in black leather and look like a "biker." The guys whom you call "weirdos," who want to pick you up for immoral purposes, may just look like weirdos — their moral standards might be as high as yours.

The way a person dresses is a statement he makes about himself. If you don't want to look like a "tough girl," don't dress like one. And don't you judge another person's character and motives until you get to know him, and if you're lucky, no one will judge you before he gets to know you. But start with yourself.

DEAR ABBY: So macho Al in Santa Barbara says he hates pants on women because he can't tell the women from the men. How about when you're driving down the street and the driver in front of you has a nice head of hair down to her shoulders, and when you pass her, you notice that "she" also has a beard and moustache.

Now that is what I call ridiculous!

LIKES PANTS ON WOMEN

CONFIDENTIAL TO FURIOUS IN FORT LAUDERDALE: My response to Mr. Barrett's letter about what an unborn child would miss had to be one of the most misunderstood columns I have ever written.

For the record: I am not pro-abortion — I am pro-choice. When "Hurting in Fort Worth" wrote that she and her husband had agreed to have no children, and she became accidentally pregnant, her husband, knowing that she was opposed to abortion on religious and moral grounds, insisted that she have an abortion. I advised her: "If you have to choose between your husband and the baby, choose the baby." I did not encourage her to have an abortion.

I received a barrage of critical mail and a few supportive letters. I maintain that every child should be a wanted child, and God help the child born into a family that does not want him, cannot provide for him and resents his presence.

DEAR ABBY: Mike and I have been married for 14 years and have two wonderful children, but life has not been easy for me with this man. Along the way he picked up a lot of bad habits such as drinking, smoking four packs a day, gambling and staying out all night.

About a year ago he became a "new" man. He quit drinking, smoking, gambling, and he stays out only one night at week — on Saturdays.

He finally broke down and confessed that he's been seeing another woman, and he owes it all to her! He was honest enough to confess, but how can I tell him not to see her any more when she did more to make a man out of him than I did?

ON THE SPOT
DEAR ON: Once you give your husband permission to "see" another woman, you can say goodbye to your marriage. Regardless of what your husband "owes" her, he shouldn't be paying it off with what belongs exclusively to you.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how I can get a high school diploma by mail?

ANONYMOUS IN CAMBRIDGE, OHIO

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Telephone your neighborhood high school and inquire about its adult education programs. Ask specifically about the General Equivalency Diploma program. In most states you must be 18, but there are exceptions.

Donohue gives answers to woman plagued with urinary tract infections

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Will you please cover urinary tract infections? I am one of those women who get it every three or four months. It is both bothersome and puzzling, as to why. Is my system lacking something? I've done everything I can, but I might be missing something you know about. — M.W.

Women get more urinary tract infections (UTIs) because of their anatomy. Their bladder outlets are shorter than men's. Bacteria have an easier approach to the tract and to bladder itself.

It's wise, though, to make sure there isn't some structural disturbance in the tract obstructing free flow of urine. If there is stagnating urine, the chances of repeated infections increase. I think it's time you had X-rays to determine this, if that has not been done.

Let's assume this is done and no structural problems exist. There are ways to defend against such infections. One is to go on a low dose of antibiotics for a long period, say six months. Another is to take antibiotics after sexual relations, for that is one of the prime disposing situations for such infection. Intercourse can allow entrance of the bacteria into the lower tract to cause the infection.

I know UTI is a nagging problem, but it is almost always one with an answer somewhere.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is isolated systolic hypertension? — R.P.

Blood pressure numbers, such as 120 over 80, refer to the two kinds of pressure. The first number is the systolic beat pressure, as the heart acts to pump. The second is the diastolic pressure, the residual pressure in the vessels after the beat. Isolated systolic hypertension means the high pressure is present only during the beating (systolic) phase.

Certain peculiarities mark the two pressures. For example, diastolic pressure tends to rise gradually through the middle years of life, then level off. Systolic pressure, on the other hand, is apt to begin rising after age 60, when the other pressure is leveling. This is a growing problem encountered today with the sharp rise of the elderly segment in our population. You will find answers to your other questions (another part of your letter) in the booklet, "Blood Pressure and Your Health," which other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.25.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a real problem with my husband. When he comes home and sits down, before I know it he has fallen asleep. He does this at work, and has to stop and take a nap. It's either this or he is constantly eating ice cubes or popcorn to stay awake. The minute he goes to bed he is asleep in seconds. It is embarrassing to have people over, because he is always dropping off to sleep. He is only 62 years of age. Please help. I am really at the end of the rope. I, on the other hand, suffer from insomnia. — D.E.

What can I say? There are as many reasons for your husband's somnolence as there are for your insomnia. Both problems require a doctor's visit if they are interfering with domestic tranquility or daytime functioning. I might come up with all manner of clever conclusions to explain your husband's lethargy — anemia, low thyroid production. I might ask if he snores loudly and thrashes about during sleep. That would be a good indication of sleep apnea, which can carry over into daytime drowsiness. And I haven't scratched the surface of causes yet. The best I can do is offer you that old wheeze about seeing a doctor. That's what both of you have to do.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Why no mention of enterically-coated aspirin for the arthritic who says aspirin upsets his stomach? (recent item). — W.W.

Enteric aspirin is coated and doesn't dissolve in the stomach. It's a good idea. One drawback is that it may not be as completely absorbed as uncoated kinds. But if it works, it's OK.

Having trouble getting to sleep at night? In his new booklet Dr. Donohue examines the insomnia problem and offers some ways to help you get your needed rest. For a copy of "Why Can't You Sleep?" send $1.00 and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Boudoir portraits

Photographer finds demand for his work

DENTON (AP) — The photographer gives quiet directions: "Look this way. That's good. Just move your left hand back ... OK? That'll be great!"

He works carefully and precisely, constantly talking and flattering.

The model is a little nervous at first, but she quickly relaxes. It could be any portrait sitting — if she had her clothes on.

Instead of street clothes, Laura is wearing a simple white teddy. The set is all in white with touches of subtle color: a chaise with a satin coverlet and pillows piled high, white drapes in the background, a delicate bouquet of flowers on a table. Imagine a romantic boudoir set in a forest of studio lights and watched by an omniscient camera.

Thomas Judd works meticulously, constantly adjusting lights and his model, taking just one more meter reading, then one or two shots, then a new pose, and the whole process of adjustment begins again.

About two years ago he began to get calls for boudoir portraits, intimate portraits women could use as gifts for very special friends: lovers and husbands. He did a few for friends and portrait clients and began to get calls from word-of-mouth referrals.

He worked out promotional arrangements with some area lingerie stores and began to get even more calls. After a number of successful sessions he decided the Christmas and Valentine seasons would be the time to begin promoting the service.

Boudoir photography is a big, if somewhat private, business. First popular in California, it has become a nationwide craze in the last few years.

It is a rare month that one of the professional photographer's magazines does not carry an article on the subject and more than a few ads for seminars, costumes, sets or supplies.

Like many boudoir photographers, Judd is a little surprised at his clientele. He says the average age is about 30 to 35, actually a little younger than the national average, and that many or most of his clients are professional women. Many are married. Most say they want the pictures for a husband or a boyfriend, but a few admit the photos are just for themselves.

So far Judd's clients have all been women, but he has had inquiries from couples and says he would do men if asked. One couple says they want to do their sitting in an antique bathtub. They have the tub and are willing to bring it to the studio.

As the sitting proceeds, it becomes more openly erotic. "Would you mind taking your strap down," the photographer asks. But Judd insists his pictures are clean.

"I want them to be kind of sexy, but not explicit by any means," he says. He has not yet been asked to do any real nudes, and says he is not sure he would if approached.

He and his clients seem to prefer the suggestive rather than the revealing. Many of his clients first want to pose in a swim suit, but when they see his samples they realize that the lingerie in his photos is actually less revealing than most swimwear.

When he first thought of promoting this type of photo, he says, he tried the idea on the most conservative people he knew. When he received no negative responses he asked his wife to talk to women where she works. None of them found the idea objectionable. In fact, several were interested in booking sittings.

Most of the clients so far have been attractive, Judd says, but not all have them have been exceptionally good looking.

"I try to make them look better than they thought they could look," he says. He is pleased when clients tell him they have never looked so good before or when they say their friends almost did not recognize them.

Judd has been a photographer most of his life, and much of his business has been for performers and models. His experience working with models' portfolios keeps him current on style.

"A woman wants to be portrayed like a model ... like a star," he says. He believes that with a little extra effort and technique he can achieve that effect.

He says his sittings usually take about two hours and produce 20 to 25 poses. The basic sitting fee is $50 with prints extra, available either individually or in packages. He describes his fees as moderate for Denton, and says his average total bill is around $150, about half the national average for this type of photography.

His typical order includes one display size print, 11 by 14 inches or larger and several smaller prints.

He prides himself on being able to make photographs which need neither excessive soft focus nor retouching to flatter the sitter. He says that very few of his prints are retouched except to fix mechanical flaws in the film or print, though he says he could remove every flaw and wrinkle if anyone ever asked him to do so.

If his clients are not all up to Playboy standards, he doesn't seem worried.

He points out that these pictures are often for someone who knows and loves the sitter. His aim is to make her look just as good as she possibly can. "You can make a flattering picture of anyone," he says. "The secret is caring about the person."

Special sitters help handicapped children

ARLINGTON (AP) — For a family with a physically handicapped or mentally handicapped child, an extra pair of hands can mean the difference between staying at home day after day or going out to a movie, an amusement park, or just for a walk.

Special Sitters provides those hands.

"It's difficult for families to find someone to care for them (children with special needs) because it can be hard work," said Emma Bell, an Arlington resident and mother of a 6-year-old girl with multiple handicaps.

Special Sitters began two years ago by the First Texas Council of Camp Fire in Fort Worth to teach teens how to care for children with special needs. A group of 11 Arlington teen-agers recently completed training.

"I'm so happy it's in Tarrant County," Mrs. Bell said. "There's a big difference between doing it just because you know how and because you want to be doing it. The teen-agers involved in the program are just amazing to me."

Carla Garber, Camp Fire special services coordinator in Fort Worth, said the Special Sitters program began in Seattle and was so successful that the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services gave Camp Fire a grant to set up similar programs in five other cities.

Fort Worth was selected as one of the five cities because of the need in the area, Ms. Garber said.

"Most people just think of hiring a sitter so they can go out for an evening," said Mrs. Bell, founder of Our Special Children, a support group for families with developmentally delayed or mentally handicapped children.

"These (sitters) are available for all kinds of things, and we (parents) think up all kinds of ways for getting a break."

Mrs. Bell said some families hire a sitter so the parents can do yard work, spend more time with another child, or just relax. Having a sitter also enables the whole family to enjoy an outing to a place such as Six Flags, she said.

"Some of the families take their sitter with them on vacations,"

Special Sitter Robin George, 16, of Arlington, works with 5-year-old Vanesa Harbin. Special Sitters provide help for families with a physically or mentally handicapped child.

Mrs. Bell said. "It gives the parents that other pair of hands they didn't have before."

Mrs. Bell said Our Special Children uses sitters at its monthly meetings, allowing families and sitters to meet each other and giving sitters a chance to become familiar with each child. This allows the parents to decide whether to use the sitter.

"The veteran sitters are very popular and are on everyone's list," Bell said, and having the additional 11 will make a big difference.

"If you needed a sitter before, you had to count on sitters from Fort Worth," Mrs. Bell said. "It worked for some, but for some it didn't. We're really excited (to have the recently trained group), but it doesn't begin to cover the need."

So far, 61 people have completed training since the program began two years ago. Training consists of 24 hours of instruction by area professionals, including an occupational therapist, the program director of United Cerebral Palsy, a former child-care worker who has worked with the developmentally handicapped, and parents of hearing-impaired children who teach sign language, Ms. Garber said.

Areas of training include communication, managing a child's behavior and special needs such as feeding and dressing handicapped children.

Sitters are taught to communicate with parents in terms of listening effectively and being assertive.

"We teach them to let the parents know what they (the sitters) feel they can and can't do," Ms. Garber said, including telling parents they are uncomfortable dealing with a child in a particular way.

How to interview for a job and negotiate for a wage is part of the training, and a "play section" is included too.

"We feel that as teens, they may have forgotten how to play," Ms. Garber said. "At that age they're usually concentrating on being sophisticated, so we teach them to play responsibly."

Training for grandparents

To get 'n shape without getting sore, start working out in water, suggests Grandparents magazine. Easy aquatic exercises trim inches, strengthen the heart, flex joints and increase muscle tone as effectively as calisthenics but without the usual aches and pains.

Water workouts are easier because there is no fight with gravity. The water supports the body, so there's less stress on weight-bearing joints. Yet, because muscles work against water's natural resistance, endurance develops just as with exercise on dry land.

What's more, like any physical exercises performed regularly and at the proper level, they'll benefit circulation.

Check if water exercises are offered in your area or start a group on your own using a simple program of leg lifts, upper body pushes and all-over stretches.

It is essential that the heartbeat stays within what's called the training zone for the duration of the workout. Every few minutes during the workout and immediately after the final exercise, place two fingers lightly on the large (carotid) artery on the side of your neck. Count beats for six seconds and multiply by 10. Adjust the intensity of workout if needed to keep heartbeat near the suggested rate.

'Miracle Midgets' come through

No. six Chaps bite dust

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

Before Monday night's Howard College Hawks-Midland Chaparrals showdown, word circulated in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum that Kevin Bradsher, the team's leading scorer, and Sam Williams, its tallest player, had been dismissed from the team.

If that wasn't disturbing enough, the absence of the Hawks was. The Chaps had done their layups, gone into the dressing room, returned, and still the home team wasn't on the floor.

With the game scheduled to start in little more than a minute, fans were asking each other questions. Where are the Hawks? Without Bradsher and Williams, won't they get killed by the nation's sixth ranked team?

At courtside, Sandra Brown, the wife of Hawks' coach Larry Brown, reassured those nearby.

"The Hawks are comin'. They're just down there eating raw meat." Not exactly, but close. When the Hawks finally ran into Dorothy Garrett, they glistened with the sweat of a 45-minute work out. There were no smiles on the Howard players.

Two wonderful hours later, there was jubilation. When the buzzer sounded with the Hawks on top 78-75, players hugged and jumped, fans rushed to the floor, and Brown pegged his wife with a big kiss.

In the locker room celebration afterwards, Matt Brown, who had played perhaps his best game of the year, chanted, "We're the Miracle Midgets. We're the Miracle Midgets!"

That they were. The two tallest Hawks stretch out at 6-4 and 6-3, while the Chaps had six players over 6-6. But those two Hawks, Myron Wright and Mitchell Porter, blocked out, leaped, and went after rebounds like dogs after, well, raw meat.

Wright got started a little too soon. He dunked during warm-ups, and the refs called a technical. The Chaps hit the free throw, and then their first two shots to take a 5-0 lead.

The Hawks, playing patiently on offense and relentlessly on defense, scrapped to a 12-9 lead after consecutive three-pointers by Robert

For Howard College hoops, it was a night to remember

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

You would have been hard pressed to find a happier bunch than the Howard College Hawks basketball team Monday night. After beating the sixth ranked Midland College Chapparrals, the Hawks exulted in their locker room.

"Yeah! Yeah!" was all they could say at first. Matt Brown, the Hawks' sophomore guard from New York, yelled to his teammates, "We're the Miracle Midgets!" Point guard Dennis Rhodes pointed to a message on the chalkboard that read, "You have to believe," and, between laughter, roared, "We believed, we believed!"

Coach Larry Brown walked into the room, the players quieted, and he told them what he thought of their effort.

"I knew you could win, and you knew you could win. You earned every bit of it. It wasn't no fluke, and it wasn't no home job.

"I'm really proud of you. I can't say much more," Brown said.

Mitchell Porter, with his best game of the year, scored 16 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. The Hawks could not have beaten Midland last night without his inside play.

"Tonight I was giving everything I had," Porter said. "I wasn't holding anything back. We all came together. Everybody earned this thing, everybody earned this."

Myron Wright, Porter's partner inside, scored 17 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. He also hit four pressure free throws in the last two minutes, and came away with the biggest rebound of the game in the final 30 seconds.

"If it came down to the win, I guess I had to be the one to do it. I just concentrated. I knew we had to do it," Wright said about the foul shots. "I wasn't going to let anybody get it," he added about the big board.

Rhodes couldn't stop laughing.

"It's an indescribable feeling. When you beat the number six ranked team in the nation, it's indescribable. We knew we could play without them (Bradsher and Williams). We believed it, and we went out and did it," Rhodes said.

A beaming Coach Brown explained why the Hawks didn't enter the Coliseum until less than two minutes before the game.

"We worked out in the old gym. We've been starting kind of slow, so we got their blood flowing. I'm sure the fans and the other team were wondering," Brown said.

Sports Briefs

Steers in Sweetwater

The Big Spring Steers' games in Sweetwater tonight will be earlier than usual. The J.V. will start at 5 p.m., and the varsity will begin at 6:30.

Big Spring comes into the contest with a 18-11 overall record and 10-4 district mark, good for third place. The Steers are coming off a 84-78 loss to Lamesa Friday night in Steer Gym.

Sweetwater is currently 15-14 overall and 6-9 in district play. The Mustangs are saddled in fifth place. Friday night Sweetwater was upset by Monahans 60-56.

In the first Big Spring-Sweetwater meeting, the Steers won the game 87-70. Brian Mayfield and Charles Young combined for 47 points in the win.

Softball meeting tonight

There will be a softball meeting today Feb. 17, at 7 p.m. in the second floor meeting room of the Big Spring City Hall.

The subject of discussion will be unique ideas of raising money for new softball fields this year. All interested softball players and coaches are urged to attend.

Playoff games on tap

Tonight Dorothy Garrett will be the site of a Class A girls hoop bi-district double-header.

In the 6 p.m. game it will be Highland versus Robert Lee and at 8 it will be Roscoe versus Sterling City.

Lady Steers vs. Canyon

The Big Spring Lady Steers will be in bi-district basketball playoff action Thursday when they travel to Lubbock to take on Canyon at 7:30 p.m. at Lubbock Coronado High School Gym.

The Lady Steers, 25-4, are ranked number 10 in the state while Canyon, runner-up in District 1-4A, is ranked second in the state and sports a 28-2 record.

Six locals win in GG finals

ODESSA — The Big Spring Boxing Club had three winners in the finals of the Golden Gloves Tournament in Odessa's Ector County Coliseum last night.

Geno Lozano won the 95-pound weight division by decisioning Bubby Jones of Odessa. Lozano was named the Best Fighter in his weight division.

Johnny Hernandez, a 106-pound Junior Olympic, stopped Joe DeLeon of Odessa, and Cruz Gutierrez won the 80-pound division uncontested.

The Howard County Boxing Club also had three winners Monday night.

Juan Garza, Mario Cavoza and Jim Cautu were all Golden Glove winners.

Astro owner sues owner

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros minority owner Don A. Sanders is suing majority owner John J. McMullen, claiming McMullen reneged on a 1984 agreement on how to manage the team.

Sanders, the largest minority owner of the Astros with a 13.6 percent share, wants a judge to order McMullen to allow him to participate as an owner in management of the club.

The suit was filed Monday in state district court. "I've tried to settle this thing with him for three or four months," Sanders said. "I just want John to live up to what he promised. I believed that John and I, as a team, would make the baseball decisions."

If McMullen does not honor the alleged agreement, the suit asks he be ordered to buy Sanders' share for $8.2 million. Sanders said he has invested $4.1 million in the Houston Sports Association, which owns the Astros.

Three frogs suspended

FORT WORTH (AP) — Three Texas Christian University football players have been suspended for disciplinary reasons, Coach Jim Wacker announced.

Off the Horned Frogs squad are junior-to-be cornerback Ricky Rougely of Carthage, sophomore defensive back Roy Evans of Atlanta, Texas, and sophomore linebacker Paul Montgomery of Brownsboro.

Wacker would not elaborate on the reasons for the suspensions, which were ordered on Monday, but Montgomery confirmed the action involved an on-campus liquor violation, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported.

"I think Coach Wacker is over-reacting a little bit," Montgomery told the newspaper. "I'm upset. I don't understand the situation right now. A lot of players on the team drink."

Wacker would not say if the suspensions are permanent.

Bulldoggettes miss playoffs

BALLINGER — The Sonora Broncos knocked the Coahoma Bulldoggettes out of the running for a state playoff berth by taking a 60-55 win last night.

The Broncos and Bulldoggettes, who tied for the district first half crown, were playing to see who would face second half district winner Abilene Wylie for the district championship. Both Sonora and Wylie will advance to the state playoffs though. Sonora will play Wylie tonight in Ballinger.

"Our kids played hard and gave it everything they had said Coahoma coach Truman Meissner. "Sonora played a little better than they had before. But I guess it just wasn't our night to win. If Sonora plays with the effort they had against us, then I think they can beat Wylie. But I don't know if they'll be emotionally drained after such a hard game against us."

It is the first time in eight years the Bulldoggettes haven't advanced to the state playoffs.

The game was nip-and-tuck all the way as Coahoma led 14-12 after the first quarter and 31-30 at the half. In a low-scoring third quarter, Sonora took a 38-37 lead going into the final quarter. "The third quarter was a real down period for us," said Meissner. We didn't play well. At the start of the quarter we got four straight steals and didn't score on a single one."

Senior post player Shanna Fowler paced Coahoma with 18 points. Shonna Drewery scored 13 and Nancy Hardison added 10 points.

Kate Mathews paced the winners with 24 points. "She hadn't hurt us in the past, but everything she threw up went in last night," said Meissner of Sonora's 5-9 post player.

Sonora is 19-13 and the Bulldoggettes end the season with a 24-6 record.

COAHOMA (55) — Nancy Hardison 4 2 10; Jo Hudson 2 0 4; Shanna Fowler 6 6 18; Shana Drewery 4 5 13; Jancy Cunningham 2 0 4; Paula Clanton 3 0 6; totals 21 13 55.

SONORA (60) — Gayann Dobbs 1 7 9; Kathy Wither 3 0 6; Michelle McCleary 6 2 14; Asan Bitch 1 0 2; Kate Mathews 11 2 24; Kellie Whitehead 1 3 5; totals 23 14 60.

This girl is a scoring machine

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP) — It wasn't even an average night for Ventura's Lynne Lorenzen, but it was still something special.

Although the 54 points Lorenzen scored in Monday night's sectional tournament game were 10 below her average, they were more than enough to make her the national career scoring leader in high school basketball.

"I came out kind of sluggish, but I knew tonight would be the night if things all went well," said Lorenzen, who has scored 6,266 points in her career.

Lorenzen needed 39 points to pass the state and national record of 6,250 set by Denise Long of Union-Whitten and she reached that figure with 5 minutes, 12 seconds left in the third quarter of her team's 87-51 victory over Meservey-Thornton.

Long, who played from 1965-69, was in the crowd of 4,000 that packed the Mason City High School gym and joined Lorenzen in the celebration of her achievement afterwards.

"I was kind of nervous before the game," Lorenzen said. "My arms felt like needles. But once we got into the game, I felt more relaxed."

Lorenzen plays the six-player girls' game which gives the three forwards in front court more opportunities to score than a five-on-five full-court game. Long also played under those rules.

Lorenzen got the record-breaking points when she caught a lob pass from teammate Steph Anderson just to the right of the basket and banked in a layup. A roar went up from crowd and the game was stopped for five minutes so the feat could be recognized.

"That was definitely a big wow," Lorenzen said of the record-breaking basket. "It's something that was so special. I didn't even realize I was crying because there was so much to take in. It was such an emotional high. It's something I'd love to do again."

Lorenzen was fouled on her historic basket and when the game resumed, the 6-foot-2 senior sank the free throw to complete a three-point play as if nothing had happened. For the game, Lorenzen was 24-for-33 from the field and made all six of her free throws.

Long, who works at a Des Moines hospital, said she was happy to see Lorenzen break her record, which at one time was thought to be unreachable.

"On the ride up here I was joking around in the car and then about halfway, I started having the same kind of feelings I had on the bus before a game," Long said.

"I think it's a tribute to me to have the record broken by someone like Lynne — someone who's a tremendous athlete like she is, someone who's a tremendous person."

Hoosiers escape lowly Badgers

By The Associated Press
The Indiana Hoosiers apparently bring out the best in the worst of the Big Ten.

Having just recently escaped with a close victory over Northwestern last week, the second-ranked Hoosiers were extended to three overtimes Monday night in beating lowly Wisconsin, 86-85.

"They deserved to win the ballgame," Indiana Coach Bobby Knight said of the Hoosiers. "They played hard and well."

Wisconsin Coach Steve Yoder, whose Badgers are tied with Northwestern for last place in the conference, said that "for guys who have been maligned the last four weeks, I thought our players were just great."

He said, though, it was no consolation playing the Hoosiers that close.

"We've been too close too many times to think about that," Yoder said. "What we needed was a victory, but we didn't get it."

In other action, it was No. 4 DePaul 88, Monmouth 53; No. 5 Temple 84, Duquesne 56; No. 9 Syracuse 96, Villanova 82, and No. 20 St. John's 63, Fairleigh Dickinson 59.

Dean Garrett hit a follow shot with four seconds left in the third overtime to give Indiana the win. Garrett, who led all scorers with 21 points, grabbed a rebound off a missed shot by Joe Hillman and banked it in.

J.J. Weber scored 20 points for Wisconsin before fouling out in the second overtime. Mike Heineman also had 20 for the Badgers.

Steve Alford scored 13 points to become Indiana's all-time leading scorer. Alford missed his first two shots of the game before hitting a three-pointer from the corner with 14:40 to surpass the late Don Schlundt, who scored 2,192 points from 1952-55.

No. 4 DePaul 88, Monmouth 53
Terence Greene and Kevin Edwards each scored 18 points to lead

Wisconsin's Trent Jackson (on ground) knocks the ball out of Indiana's Dean Garrett (22) hands while Kurt Portman watches. Indiana won the game in triple overtime 86-85.

DePaul over visiting Monmouth. Monmouth, 7-15, kept the score respectable until a 31-8 run at the start of the second half gave DePaul a 74-38 lead. A three-point field goal by reserve James O'Shaughnessy gave DePaul an 80-39 lead, it largest, with less than six minutes left. The Hawks of the ECAC Metro Conference fell apart in the second half, scoring only eight points in 11 minutes. Ernest Dix had 14 points and Ken Henry chipped in with 10.

For DePaul, 23-1, Rod Strickland scored 12 points and Stanley Brundy had 10. The Blue Demons have won seven straight since suffering their only loss, Jan. 25 against Georgetown.

No. 5 Temple 84, Duquesne 56
Nate Blackwell scored 24 points and Ramon Rivas had 14 points and 11 rebounds as Temple extended its winning streak to 13 games by routing Duquesne.

The Owls scored 17 consecutive points late in the first half to build a 44-23 halftime lead, then cruised to their 24th victory in their last 25 games to clinch a tie for the Atlantic 10 regular season title.

Jerome Dowdell came off the bench in the second half to score a career-high 14 points, including nine on three-point field goals.

No. 9 Syracuse 96, Villanova 82
Sherman Douglas scored 25 points, hitting 10-of-10 from the field, and Rony Seikaly and Derrick Coleman had 20 each as Syracuse overcame a 15-point deficit early in the second half to beat Villanova.

Villanova outscored Syracuse 7-2 at the start of the second half to take a 55-40 lead. But Syracuse, led by Douglas, who scored 18 in the final half, and Seikaly and Coleman each with 13 in the last 20 minutes, rallied to finally move ahead, 74-73, with 5:39 left.

Once Syracuse got the lead on a pair of free throws by Douglas, the Orangemen outscored the Wildcats 22-9 the rest of the way.

Doug West led Villanova with 21 points and Harold Jensen had 19. No. 20 St. John's 63, Fairleigh Dickinson 59.

Marcus Broadnax hit a 15-foot jumper with 31 seconds left and Willie Glass added two free throws with seven seconds remaining as St. John's edged Fairleigh Dickinson at Madison Square Garden.

New York Yankees Don Mattingly, shown here in a file photo, won his arbitration case with the Yankees. The Yankees' slugger will receive almost two millions dollars a year.

Yankees' slugger almost a 2 million dollar man

By The Associated Press
Don Mattingly of the New York Yankees today was granted the largest salary arbitration award in the 13-year history of the procedure, winning a $1.975 million one-year contract.

The Yankees had offered $1.7 million to Mattingly, their All-Star first baseman who had a .352 batting average last year with 113 RBI and 31 homers. Mattingly's case was heard Monday by arbitrator Arbid Anderson.

The previous highest arbitration award was the $1.85 million granted to pitcher Jack Morris of the Detroit Tigers earlier this month.

Outfielder Kevin McReynolds of the New York Mets lost his arbitration case, while the other case heard Monday, that of St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Danny Cox, still was pending.

Mattingly and the Yankees avoided arbitration at the last minute a year ago when they agreed on a $1.375 million contract. In a bid to settle before Monday's hearing, the team offered the slugger a two-year, $3.5 million deal which Mattingly's agent, Jim Krivacs, rejected.

Mattingly, a Gold Glove winner, set set Yankee club records with 238 hits and 53 doubles last year. McReynolds, acquired by New York from San Diego in December, was looking for an $825,000 contract after hitting .288 with 26 home runs and 96 runs batted in for the Padres last year. The Mets countered at $625,000.

Cox, 12-13 with a 2.90 earned run average for the Cardinals last year, asked for $875,000 while St. Louis came in at $600,000.

Meanwhile, two pitchers, Cleveland's Ken Schrom and Ted Power of Cincinnati, lost their arbitration arguments, leaving management with 11 victories in the 18 cases decided so far.

Arbitrator Richard Bloch, who on Friday had awarded the $1.85 million contract to Morris, chose the figures submitted by the clubs in the cases of Power and Schrom.

Power had sought $610,000 after a 10-6 season with a 3.70 ERA in 56 games last year. He will play instead for the Reds' figure of $500,000. Schrom, who wanted $545,000 after going 14-7 with a 4.54 ERA in 34 games, was awarded the Indians' offer of $450,000.

Among other players who settled their salary disputes before arbitration hearings were pitchers Dwight Gooden of the Mets, Mike Smithson of Minnesota and Bob James of the Chicago White Sox, and infielder Pat Tabler of the Indians.

Malones cause trouble in NBA

By The Associated Press
While the Boston Celtics were having problems with Utah's Karl Malone, the Phoenix Suns had double Malone trouble.

Karl Malone scored 25 points and pulled down 15 rebounds and the Utah reserves outscored the Boston bench 56-6 as the Jazz defeated the Celtics 109-89 Monday night.

Meanwhile, Jeff Malone tied his season-high with 38 points and Moses Malone shook off the flu that kept him on the bench at the start of the game to score 36 and pull down a game-high 11 rebounds as the Washington Bullets beat the Phoenix Suns 124-110.

NBA

"Malone was all over the boards and was running the fast break," Boston Coach K.C. Jones said.

"We had trouble with both Malones," said Phoenix Coach John MacLeod.

Karl Malone scored seven points in the fourth quarter as Utah broke open a tight game, outscoring Boston 26-16. Darrell Griffith, who didn't play in the first quarter, added 23 points, including five 3-point goals, and Thurl Bailey had 18 while John Stockton dished out 17 assists.

Bullets 124, Suns 110
Moses Malone, who complained of dizziness before the game and sat out the first period, came off the bench to score nine points in the second quarter while Jeff Malone added seven to give the Bullets a 60-49 halftime lead. Moses added 12 points in the third period as Washington took an 89-26 lead.

Walter Davis paced Phoenix with 24 points and Larry Nance added 23 but Washington notched 18 steals and forced Phoenix into 27 turnovers.

Cavaliers 105, SuperSonics 94
Ron Harper scored 28 points and Brad Daugherty 21 while Cleveland held high-scoring Tom Chambers and Xavier McDaniel to a combined 16 points in handing visiting Seattle its sixth straight setback.

Chambers, averaging 23.9 points, was held to 11. McDaniel, scoring at a 22.4 clip, did not score until 2:55 was left in the game and finished with five points. Dale Ellis led Seattle with 17 points, nearly seven below his average.

Rockets 105, Mavericks 100
Houston's Akeem Olajuwon scored 36 points and blocked a shot by Rolando Blackman with 13 seconds to play and Cedric Maxwell made four free throws in the final nine seconds as the third-place Rockets moved within five games of the first-place Mavericks in the Midwest Division.

Blackman, who scored 22 points, could have put Dallas back in the lead but Olajuwon's block kept Houston in front.

Bucks 128, Nets 124
Sidney Moncrief, in his second game since returning from an injury, scored 20 points, 11 in the final period, and passed the 10,000-point career mark, helping Milwaukee to its fifth straight victory, tying its longest streak of the season.

The third-place Bucks are just two games behind first-place Atlanta in the Central Division. The Nets have lost 10 of their last 11 games and 16 of 18.

Ricky Pierce led Milwaukee with 23 points while Cummings and Paul Pressey each had 21. Buck Williams and Mike Gminski had 22 apiece for visiting New Jersey.

Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson said he had planned to use Moncrief only the first five minutes of each quarter. He played 24 minutes.

Kings 124, Bulls 120
Sacramento's Eddie Johnson scored seven of his 17 points in overtime and Reggie Theus hit two clutch free throws with 12 seconds remaining.

Chicago's Michael Jordan, who led all scorers with 43 points, gave the Bulls a 120-119 lead on a pair of free throws with 4:31 left.

But Johnson put the visiting Kings ahead to stay at 121-120 on a 15-foot jumper with 56 seconds left and Theus, who scored 28 points, made his free throws when he was fouled by Jordan after LaSalle Thompson's steal.

Otis Thorpe led Sacramento with 29 points while Chicago's Dave Corzine of the Bulls had a season-high 26.

76ers 111, Knicks 101
Charles Barkley scored 17 points and grabbed 19 rebounds while Tim

McCormick had 19 points to lead six Philadelphia players in double figures. With the score tied 20-20 in the first quarter, the 76ers ran off 10 consecutive points and never trailed thereafter.

Maurice Cheeks and Roy Hinson each had 18 points, Andrew Toney 15 and Erving 10 for Philadelphia. Erving did not play in the final period because of a jammed middle finger on his right hand. Patrick Ewing led New York with 24 points.

Pacers 112, Warriors 93
Indiana used Chuck Person's 25 points and a club record 40-point first quarter to beat Golden State. Indiana led 40-25 after the first quarter, including 12 of Vern Fleming's 18 points. Golden State got as close as 70-66 with 5:23 to go in the third quarter but the Pacers then boosted their lead to as much as 21 points remaining thanks to a 10-0 spurt, six by Person.

Trail Blazers 110, Clippers 105
Clyde Drexler tied his season high with 36 points and Jerome Kersey added 19 in place of the injured Kiki Vandeweghe. Although they had only eight healthy players due to Vandeweghe's back spasms and Michael Holton's bruised thigh, the Blazers stormed to a 19-point lead late in the second quarter.

Trailing 88-73 after three quarters, the Clippers opened the final period with an 18-3 run and Earl Cureton's layup with 7:28 left tied the game 91-91.

Chaps

Barley and Walter Walker. With less than ten minutes remaining in the half, Brown inserted Rod Martin, a 6-1 whippet of a guard who had played sparingly during the year, and almost never doing crucial situations.

The skinny guard, nicknamed "Boo" by his teammates, responded with a three-pointer and a shake-and-bake layup in the lane to give the Hawks a 30-24 lead at the 7:20 mark. A minute later, Dennis Rhodes, the Hawks' 5-6 point guard, got his third foul, and Porter's third foul followed soon after.

Brown responded by slowing the game down, but with Rhodes and Porter on the bench, the Chaps took a 42-41 lead at the half.

The Hawks opened the second half with three turnovers, and it seemed the fears of the Hawks' fans might soon become reality. Though the crowd at Dorothy Garrett was perhaps the biggest of the year, they were slow in exploding, but with reason. The Chaps were probably just too big a hurdle for the undermanned Hawks, and the mood was one of doubt filled hope.

With 16:43 remaining, Walter Walker went down in a heap, and the Chaps' Billy Ray Smith grabbed the ball for an easy layup. With Walker writhing on the floor and holding his knee, Midland led 49-41.

In the Hawks' locker room during halftime, Brown wrote on the chalkboard, "You have to believe." Early in the second half, down by nine, their belief in themselves was their only chance. With Walker recovering on the bench, Rhodes hit two three pointers, then found Billy Giggins in a seam in the Chaps' defense, and Giggins scored to knot the game at 49.

With 11:34 left, Porter got his fourth foul as Smith scored a bucket, and the Chaps led 59-56. Without Porter, who was cleaning the glass with a vengeance, the Hawks wouldn't have had much chance. Brown stayed with his hustling sophomore, and Porter responded with a put-in after an offensive rebound.

At the 7:20 mark, Bruce Mitchell tipped in a rebound to give the Hawks a 64-63 lead, and the Hawks' fans erupted. From this point on, the story was noise and an intense trading of buckets. The Hawks would score, the Chaps would score, back and forth, back and forth. Trailing by three, Brown took off in the air looking for a shot, but passed it off to Wright, who hit the layup and was fouled. The three-point play tied the game at 69.

Rhodes made a twisting layup and then assisted to Porter, and the Hawks led 73-70 with 2:15 left. At 1:53, Rhodes passed to Wright, who was fouled, and the Chaps called time. A standing ovation thundered on the Hawks, who were close to their biggest win of the year.

Wright canned both free throws, and the Hawks led 75-70. The Chaps' Todd Duncan, an ace shooter in the midst of an off night, swished a three-pointer to close the lead to two at 1:35. On the Hawks' possession, the ref called Rhodes for a charge at midcourt, and the Coliseum exploded with boos.

The Hawks' defense held, and Rhodes was fouled. He missed the front end of the one-and-one, and the Chaps dribbled down the court looking to tie the game. Duncan bombed another from three-point land, but this one missed, and Wright looked to be on a staircase as he lunged for the coveted rebound.

Again Rhodes was fouled, and this time he made one of two for a three-point lead. With 14 seconds remaining, Mickey Blalock scored inside to bring the Chaps within one. Midland fouled Wright after the inbound, and the freshman hit his third and fourth foul shots of the final two minutes for a three point lead.

When Midland missed on a final shot, fans swarmed onto the floor and the celebration started.

Griming, he admitted he liked the dramatic effect of the late entrance. He also said he didn't want the Midland coach to know about Bradsher's absence until the last minute.

"I'm real proud of our kids, because they fought so hard. They could have lost their composure, but they didn't. Mitchell Porter was outstanding on the inside. He told me in practice he was going go do it."

"He really came to play, and I thought Matt Brown was a real positive. I thought that Matt really met the challenge tonight. And Dennis did a good job passing the ball. He's a clutch player. Me and him have had a whole lot of wins through the years," Brown said about Rhodes, his old point guard at Bryan High School.

"That was a tremendous show of support. I think the Hawks' nest (Dorothy Garrett Coliseum) could be a place where people could have a rough time if they keep doing that."

"I just hope this will be a spring board to something good. We can't have a let-down. Every night they've got to do it, but there's no telling what we can do," Brown said. In the locker room, his players were screaming, "Waco, Waco!", where the regional playoffs will be.

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, FEB. 18, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Put into motion whatever unusual progressive plans you have now, for soon you find that one who is very impulsive will try to thwart your efforts.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A new contact has the knowledge that can be helpful to you, so cultivate this person. Be tactful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can keep the promises you have made in a most wise manner. Don't permit anything to disturb you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) An associate shows you how to gain a cherished desire. A friend later tries to change your plans, but hold your ground.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You can produce more at your job than usual. Later you find civic matters need your attention.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get some amusement or romance set up. Be very cooperative tonight and study something worthwhile.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Talk over with family members your practical matters. Get together with influential people and learn a good deal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be certain to get important letters out before you get together with associates. Have some fun tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get some financial or property affair settled. Plan for a greater abundance in the near future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into some personal activities that can be beneficial to you. Be with congenials tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Rid yourself of a problematical affair. Later please your family with the aid of a bigwig.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get in touch with a dynamic person you know. Plan a trip that will be taken soon.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Today is the best time to handle some worldly affair. Be happy with the one you love tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have every ability to understand the problems of others and be able to help them to get the right solutions to them. Upon reaching maturity your progeny will want to make a sudden change, but this soon passes and he, or she, is willing to work hard.

State By the Associated Press

Car owners recount sour experiences

Lawmaker says build more prisons

TENNESSEE COLONY — Texans must decide whether they are willing to pay for more prisons or release convicts currently behind bars, says the chairman of the House Corrections Committee.

"There are only two alternatives," said Rep. Allen Hightower, who accompanied Speaker Gib Lewis and 16 other House committee chairmen on a tour of four prison units Monday.

"We build more prisons and do a better job of parole and probation, or we turn prisoners out," Hightower, D-Huntsville, said.

During their day-long tour, the lawmakers got a first-hand look at the state's filled-to-capacity prison system, where they were able to talk with inmates and top officials of the Texas Department of Corrections.

They visited the construction site of a 2,250-bed prison scheduled to open this summer, but several said the new unit won't end the crowding crisis that has closed the prison system's gates three times this year. "We should be building two of these right now," said Rep. Al Luna, D-Houston, of the $67 million Mark W. Michael unit that officials said should open by July.

The the prison population has continued to expand while court-ordered reforms are reducing inmate population at some prisons.

Hightower noted that legislation introduced to impose tougher sentences and stop the early release of inmates will, if passed, add to the pressure on a prison system already under court supervision.

"They're just plugging in the numbers to build more and more and more of these (prisons)," he said.

Jim Lynaugh, acting director of the Texas Department of Corrections, said the prison system that was closed last week should reopen today.

But the problem of too many inmates and too few cells remains.

Alamo City prepares for papal visit

SAN ANTONIO — A 144-acre tract of rolling West Bexar County land described by one priest as "like a part of the hills of Galilee" has been selected as the site where Pope John Paul II will celebrate Mass during a Sept. 13 visit.

The pope is scheduled to make a 22-hour stopover in San Antonio as part of a 10-city U.S. tour.

Selection of the undeveloped land, honed by nature into a large amphitheater, was announced during a news conference Monday.

Wild grasses and holly shrubs cover much of the land, which slopes about 15 degrees from the site's low point.

But by next fall, when the pope arrives, the site will be covered with grass "like one big football field," a developer said.

An estimated $750,000 will be spent to prepare the site — including clearing the land, building a temporary altar and making other preparations for the expected throng of at least 500,000 people expected.

"We want to create a sacred space so that when people come there they know they're there to celebrate with the Holy Father — a Mass of thanksgiving, a Mass asking God's blessings upon our state and nation and world," said Father Lawrence Stuebben, Texas coordinator for the papal visit.

Private vehicles will be prohibited in the vicinity of the site. Instead, officials plan to implement a park-and-ride system in which about 1,000 city and school buses will be used.

The site is near Interstate 410, Loop 1604 and a new West Side Expressway scheduled to open in April.

Study: alien law won't affect funds

AUSTIN — A legislative study of the new federal immigration act indicates there will be little change in state funding for illegal aliens.

The report by the Texas House Research Organization said public schools in Texas already enroll the children of illegal aliens. As a result, there should be no added costs to education, the state's biggest expenditure, the report said.

In addition, the immigration law passed Nov. 6 provides for federal payments to state and local governments to help cover costs of services to newly legalized residents.

The report said that while long-term implications cannot be measured, there are indications the new law will have no immediate impact on state finances and the state's economy.

The new law grants temporary legal status to illegal aliens who have lived in the United States since Jan. 1, 1982 and levies fines against employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens.

The report said the employer sanctions could cause major changes in the Texas work force, depending on how vigorously the immigration service enforces the law.

The study said Gov. Bill Clements predicts the law will force major changes in the Texas job market, capital investments and voting patterns unless it is amended substantially.

Group proposes truck deregulation

AUSTIN — A group of Senate and House members proposed that motor truck rates within the state be deregulated.

"Texans are being badly gouged," Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, one of the authors of the Motor Carrier Competition Act, said Monday.

"We must not let the single, narrow-interest trucking lobby stifle the Texas economy any longer," said Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi. "It is time to change to free enterprise."

Others appearing at the news conference were Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville, and Rep. Bill Hammond, R-Dallas.

The proposed change introduced in both houses would let the Texas Railroad Commission set rates, but intrastate truckers would be allowed to charge less than the established rates.

Congress deregulated interstate trucking in 1980.

As a result, Caperton said, "picture frames made in Taylor can be shipped all the way to Illinois for the same or less than they can be delivered to Palestine, Texas."

"Trucking competition will stimulate the Texas economy, encourage businesses to locate here and help keep down the price of food and at the same time allow Texas farmers to compete more fairly with out-of-state farmers," said Edwards.

Hammond said the Dallas-Fort Worth area has lost business to Shreveport, La., and Little Rock, Ark., because of Texas' non-competitive intrastate trucking rates.

Drugs found under watermelon load

McALLEN — In 11 separate cases, law officers seized 1,462 pounds of marijuana in the Rio Grande Valley over the weekend, officials said.

The haul included 1,100 pounds of the drug hidden beneath a load of watermelons, authorities said Monday.

Acting on a tip, U.S. Customs officers found marijuana in a tractor-trailer rig Saturday night on a highway outside Edinburg.

The driver of the truck was arrested pending a hearing before a magistrate today, authorities said.

The drug was found underneath a load of watermelons, officials said. "It was a normal weekend. We do this daily, really," said Juan Garcia, assistant chief of the McAllen sector of the Border Patrol. "It used to be 800 pounds or 200 pounds would really be something big. Now we have five, six, eight cases a day.

Clements speaks on partisanship

AUSTIN — Gov. Bill Clements says Democrats in the Legislature would be more helpful solving the state's economic woes if they would work at it from a non-partisan angle.

"I have repeatedly called on members of the Legislature to shun partisan politics and work together to solve these problems," Clements told the Southwestern Dairy Industry Conference on Monday. "Some have listened and some have not."

Later Clements told reporters he was more "amused" than "irritated" by Democratic criticism of his budget request.

Last Thursday, Democratic senators gave their formal response to Clements' call for taxes within the expected 1988-89 revenue estimates.

Clements said Monday his critics were trying to sell Texans on a $6 billion tax bill.

LATONIA, Ky. (AP) — Their cars have leaked floods of fluids, died dozens of deaths, and made more trips to the garage than to the grocery store. Now, the owners of such lemons are uniting to show displeasure to automakers.

About 30 people turned out Monday night for the initial meeting of the American Lemon Club, a grassroots effort to put the squeeze on automakers who put clunkers on the road.

"It's really tough to try to fight them, especially if you're doing it alone," said co-founder Pat Trimble of Silver Grove. "I think from now on, they're going to get the message."

Their message: end the horror stories like those shared Monday night.

"The story of my life is trying to get a car that will run," lamented Pat Willman, 40, of Ludlow, who listed a litany of problems with his two cars.

Mark Owen of Dayton, said he bought a 2-year-old used car from a dealer and immediately got a taste of what to expect.

"It turned out to be a lemon," Owen said. "He gave me a complimentary tank of gas. As soon as I got it home, it was leaking all over the driveway."

Ms. Trimble said more than 300 people from around the country and Canada have contacted the organization since it was formed last fall. The Lemon Club hopes to help owners of troubled cars pressure automakers into making necessary repairs or replacing the vehicles.

Mark Owen, of Dayton, Ky., expresses his dissatisfaction with his car problems at the first meeting Monday night of the organization called the American Lemon Club.
