Crawford fate now in jurors' hands

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Jurors must consider the states of mind of those involved as they decide the fate of defendant Preston Crawford in the November 1985 shooting death of 19-year-old Jimmy Yanez, Crawford's attorney said this morning.

The jury began its deliberations at 11:10 a.m. today in the three-day case in 118th District Court.

District Judge James Gregg instructed the six-woman, six-man jury this morning to decide among three charges against Preston Crawford, being tried in the death of Yanez.

Jurors were expected to reach a decision today. If found guilty, Crawford's punishment will be determined by the same jury.

Gregg's instructions were announced during his reading of Crawford's charge, prior to final arguments by prosecutor Rick Hamby and Crawford's attorney Robert Moore.

The charge to which Hamby and Moore gave their consent contains jury instructions pertaining to voluntary manslaughter, involuntary manslaughter, criminal negligent homicide and death by accident ruling.

A guilty verdict by the jury would result in one of the following three charges:

• Voluntary manslaughter — a prison sentence from two to 20 years.

• Involuntary manslaughter, a lesser felony charge than voluntary manslaughter — a prison term of two to 10 years.

• Criminal negligent homicide — a jail sentence of up to one year and a maximum fine of $2,000, according to a Class A misdemeanor listing in the Texas Penal Code.

A death by accident ruling would clear Crawford of any charges, Gregg said.

Moore, who argued for the lesser charges, told jurors previous testimony clearly indicated that Crawford did not act "intentionally or knowingly" when the gun he was holding was fired into Yanez from a close range.

If he is found guilty on any of the charges, Gregg said, jurors must establish intent on Crawford's part.

Yanez was driving his Camaro Z-28 eastbound on West Fourth Street with Crawford sitting directly behind him and his brother-in-law Ruben Gonzales sitting in the passenger seat on the night he was shot. The trio had left the El San Luis Bar, 3500 W. Highway 80, and were proceeding to Yanez's uncle's house for a social visit, according to testimony.

"He (Crawford) was aware he was getting out of the car and he was aware he had a gun in his hand," Moore told jurors, "but he was unaware the car would accelerate and his hand would be knocked off the seat."

Crawford testified Tuesday the gun was fired the moment the car accelerated and the moment passenger Ruben Gonzales pushed his hand off the seat.

Dr. Robert Rember testified that the .380-caliber bullet entered Yanez's body beneath the left shoulder blade and traveled through his right side after severing a main artery near the heart.

Clements: West Texas has chance for Collider

By PHILLIP SWANN Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Gov. Bill Clements Wednesday said he has "no doubt" that West Texas has an equal chance of landing a multibillion dollar atom smasher called the Superconducting Super Collider.

Clements made his remark following a one-hour meeting Wednesday afternoon with Reps. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, Lamar Smith, R-San Antonio, and Larry Combest, R-Lubbock.

The governor angered the three lawmakers last week when he said two West Texas sites may already be out of the running and that Dallas-Fort Worth and the area between Austin, Houston and Bryan have the best chance.

But the governor said Wednesday that no site has an edge because the Energy Department will not issue local requirements for the project until April.

"I personally don't have any doubt at this point because we don't know what the criteria is going to be," Clements said when asked if he had any doubt that West Texas was still in the running.

In addition, Clements noted that one study shows the federal government could save at least $2 billion if it decides to build the physics laboratory in West Texas. Estimated cost of the project ranges from $6 billion to $10 billion.

"There's a whale of a difference between a $6 billion project and a $4 billion project," Clements told reporters. "If we can establish a differential of maybe $2 billion in the cost of the project, that would be a leg up on the whole selection process."

Clements' remarks seemed to satisfy the West Texas congressmen who joined the governor in a call for a non-partisan effort to bring the atom smasher to Texas.

The state is considered a front-runner in the contest along with California, Illinois, New York and Colorado.

Tower report criticizes NSC and president

By MERRILL HARTSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Reagan "did not seem to be aware" of the way his arms-to-Iran policy was implemented nor of "the full consequences" of that policy, the Tower commission said today in a report sharply critical of the freedom Reagan gave the National Security Council to run an amateurish operation.

The president's handpicked investigators bluntly challenged Reagan's oft-stated explanation for his policy, saying that the Iran initiative became almost from the outset "a series of arms-for-hostages deals."

As such, "they could not help but create an incentive for further hostage taking," threaten to upset the military balance of the Iran-Iraq war and "rewarded a regime that clearly supported terrorism."

BALLINGER — Although the people of Ballinger could well be noted for their patience, they would prefer to be known for their lake.

Ten years ago, representatives from the Colorado River Municipal Water District filed a request for a permit to build Stacy Dam, explained Joe Pickle, the CRMWD secretary-treasurer. If the dam is built, and barring unforeseen problems it appears that it will, Ballinger will have a 19,150-acre lake twenty-four miles southeast of this Runnels county community of 4,000.

Designed to provide a West Texas water source for the 21st century, the lake could have a more immediate and significant impact for Ballinger and the surrounding area.

Pickle led area media representatives on a tour of the proposed lake site Tuesday. Prior to the tour, the group gathered in Ballinger for lunch and a meeting with members of the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce.

If you got only one impression from the chamber members, it was this: the people of Ballinger want Stacy Dam, and they want it badly. Don Bethany, the Chamber's executive vice president, replied succinctly when asked how interested the people of Ballinger were in the project.

"This is the news in Ballinger," he responded.

Calvin Howell, Chamber president, said Ballinger would reap significant financial gains if the dam is built.

"You're talking about 25-square miles of water. I think we will benefit greatly, because we'll lose or less be the perimeter of the lake. Realtors have told me that a lot of people have shown interest already," Howell said.

He explained that 40 percent of BALLINGER page 2A

One-act plays provide local entertainment

The Howard College Department of Theatre will present two one-act plays, Tom Stoppard's "The Real Inspector Hound" and Edward Albee's "The Sandbox," Feb. 27 and 28 at 8 p.m. in the Howard College Auditorium.

The Real Inspector Hound is described as "a crazy, fun, comedy satire filled with role reversals and general farcial, theatrical fluff," director Bill Doll said. It is based on Agatha Christie's, "The Mousetrap."

Two critics enter the theatre, one is lustful and the other is a substitute for the regular critic. The play-within-a-play involves a countess, and her girlfriend guest, and the rogue she met through the girlfriend, creating a triangle, Doll said.

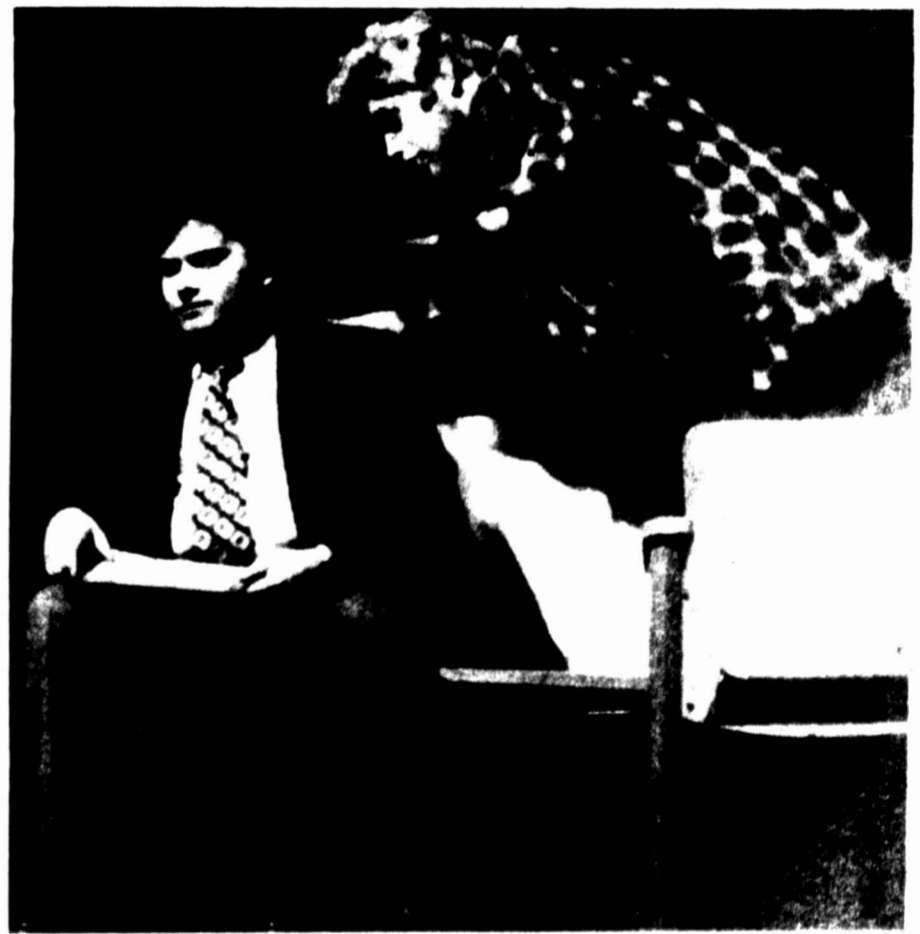

Then comes the crippled brother of the countess' dead husband in a wheelchair — a quadrangle. The rogue is shot dead, and Inspector Hound arrives — which is strange because nobody called him.

Another body is discovered, and the lustful critic is pulled into the action by a phone call which no one will answer and the race is on to determine: "Who is the real Inspector Hound?"

The cast for The Real Inspector Hound includes: Moon — John Woodall; Birdboot — Jay Johnson; Mrs. Drudge — Connie Fittler; Simon — Fay Pursler; Felicity — Stacey Leonard; Cynthia — Tracie Wilkerson; Magnus — Jonathan Garrett; Police Inspector Hood — Jamie Gustin; The body — Alvin McVea; BBC Voice — Anissa Bartell. All are from Big Spring except Garrett, Snyder, and Gustin, from Forsan, Doll said.

The Sandbox is a parody on death and old age in American life, a serious look at a subject presented in an absurd and comic way, Doll explained.

The play opens with a well-built young

The makeup goes on before the lights come on, and Jamie Gustin, Howard College sophomore from Forsan, prepares himself for one of his two roles in one-act plays being presented this week at the college in the photo above. John Woodall, left, reacts to comments from Jay Johnson in "The Real Inspector Hound," in the other photo. Both are sophomores from Big Spring. The plays will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Howard College Auditorium.

Grandma begins to weave her rather dismayed history between the cool, indifferent pater of the people and the equally cool but somehow more sympathetic sounds from the musician as she prepares and the couple waits — for her to die.

The cast for The Sandbox is as follows:

Young man — Jamie Gustin; Mommy — Cheryl Shults; Daddy — John Woodall; Grandma — Stacey Leonard; Musician — Adolph Labbe, who is a Howard College music instructor. All but Gustin are from Big Spring.

Trade bill gives president more power

By PHILLIP SWANN
Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Sen. Phil Gramm and Rep. Jack Kemp said Wednesday they will introduce a trade package giving the president new authority to "encourage" nations to buy more U.S. goods.

The measure, which is expected to be introduced Thursday, pits Gramm against Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, who has introduced a rival plan calling for a crackdown on foreign trade barriers.

Gramm-Kemp would give the president greater powers to negotiate new trade agreements while Bentsen would require the president to closely consult with Congress on trade policy and strictly enforce U.S. laws against unfair trade practices.

Gramm, R-Texas, refused to comment specifically on Bentsen's legislation, saying, "I'm not going to get into trying to compare one bill with another."

But the GOP lawmaker said his bill is in "sharp contrast with most of the so-called 'trade' bills, which would crush trade, growth and employment for Americans."

Gramm added: "We reject protectionism. There is nothing fair about protectionism. It is a failed policy that will make our nation poorer as prices rise and the American economy becomes less competitive."

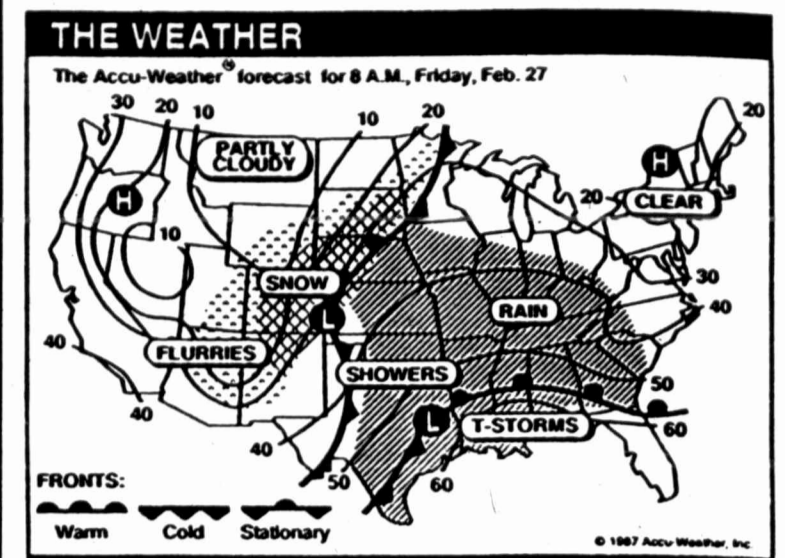

The Gramm-Kemp bill would:
• Require the president to try to negotiate a trade agreement with Mexico, the Caribbean Basin countries and Canada to promote a North American Free Trade area. The agreement would provide mutual reductions in trade barriers.

• Provide the president new authority to initiate expanded trade area negotiations with our allies. The agreements would be designed to provide mutual reductions or elimination of tariffs and non-tariff barriers by both sides.

• Make legal any trade agreement setting mutual reductions in tariffs, quotas and licensing fees unless Congress rejects it by an unamendable joint resolution within 90 days.

• Allow the president to suspend negotiations with a country engaging in unfair policies. Kemp, a New York Republican and likely contestant in the 1988 presidential sweepstakes, said trade is not "a poker game where you try out-cheat everyone else ... You need to go in with a lot of chips, play your cards close to the vest and keep the game honest all the way around."

Weather

State

Dense fog covered a vast area of West Texas today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue a travelers advisory because of hazardous driving conditions.

Scattered light rain, including some thunderstorm activity, covered most of the state. There was drizzle in West Texas and scattered light rain over the rest of the state at dawn today.

The travelers advisory for fog covered the Panhandle, South Plains, Permian Basin and Concho Valley.

The continuing wet weather was being triggered by a series of upper level disturbances moving across the state and was expected to linger tonight and most of Friday.

Forecasts called for cloudy skies statewide with drizzle in West Texas and rain and scattered thunderstorms across the rest of the state through Friday.

Lows tonight will be in the 30s and 40s over West Texas, in the 40s and 50s in North Texas and in the 50s in South Texas.

Highs Friday will be in the 40s and 50s over all of West Texas except along the Rio Grande where readings will be in the 60s, in the 40s and 50s in North Texas and the 60s and 70s in South Texas.

Five file for Forsan school board seats

By SPENCER SANDOW

Staff Writer

Five candidates have filed for three at-large positions on the Forsan school board, Superintendent J.L. Poynor said.

Incumbents Bill Mims and Dr. Robert Patterson have filed, as have Jon Hope, Lee George and Alton Fields.

Mims, Howard County engineer, has been on the board since 1972. He is involved with Boy Scouts and Little League, he said, and retired from civil service at Webb Air Force Base in 1977 after 25 years. He is on the board of directors of Citizens Federal Credit Union.

Dr. Robert "Rip" Patterson, Big Spring dentist, has been on the school board nine years. He is president of the First Presbyterian Church Session, and has been on the boards of directors of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and the YMCA.

He has worked with the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Summerfest, and provides dental services to children on Welfare through the Howard County Health Unit, he said.

He and his wife, Claudie, have three children.

The third incumbent, Morrison Donaghe, has not filed for re-election, Poynor said. Jon Hope is electrical supervisor at Cosden refinery. He has lived in Howard County 42 years and has worked at the refinery 14 years, he said.

He is a member of the Masonic Lodge, is brotherhood director for the Baptist Association for this area, and works with the Forsan Baptist Church youth group and 4-H, he said.

He and his wife, Carole, have two boys.

Lee George served eight years on the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School Board, he said. He is a Big Spring general contractor and secretary/treasurer of the Greater Big Spring Rotary Club.

He and his wife, Janet, have three children.

Alton Fields is an operators helper at the Crude Unit of Cosden refinery. He is on the advisory board of Cosden Employees Credit Union, is vice president of the Big Spring Bowling Association, and has been on the American Little League board of directors nine years, he said.

He and his wife, Becky, have two boys, Trent and Clark.

The deadline to file as candidate for the Forsan school board is March 4.

Tower report

romism and hostage taking." An hour after receiving the report, the president announced he would make a nationally televised speech next week. "I will do whatever is necessary to enact the proper reforms and to meet the challenges ahead," Reagan said.

The president refused to answer reporters' questions about the future of embattled White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan—who came in for harsh criticism from the Tower panel for not exercising his own control on the NSC.

Reagan repeated that he has worked to make sure the facts of the Iran-Contra controversy become known to the public, and in that, the Tower Commission agreed.

"The board is convinced that the president does indeed want the full story to be told."

Tower told a news conference, "The president made mistakes." But, he also added that the president was "poorly advised and poorly served" by many of his aides.

"I think he was not aware of the things that were going on and the way the operation was structured and who was involved in it. It's very clear he didn't understand all that," said commission chairman John Tower, a former Republican senator from Texas and a staunch Reagan ally while serving in Congress.

In its formal report, the panel concluded that, "if but one of the major policy mistakes we examined had been avoided, the nation's history would bear one less scar, one less embarrassment, one less opportunity for opponents to reverse the principles this nation seeks to preserve and advance in the world."

The panel said Reagan himself was apparently motivated, according to notes and diary entries, by a strong and compassionate desire to see the American hostages released from captivity in Lebanon.

The commission spread the blame around to the president and many of the most senior officials in his administration:

—Regan was portrayed as being unaware of the way in which his policy was carried out, and "at no time did he insist upon accountability and performance review."

—Regan—widely rumored to be leaving his post in a few days—"must bear primary responsibility for the chaos that descended upon the White House when" there was public disclosure of the secret arms sales.

—Former National Security Director John Poindexter "failed grievously" for failing to investigate the apparent funneling of funds to the Contras or bring it to Reagan's attention.

—Former CIA Director William Casey "shared a similar responsibility."

—As for Secretary of State George Shultz and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, they "distanced themselves from their march of events."

All in all, the investigators concluded, the National Security Council-run operation that provided arms to Iran "was a very unprofessional operation."

The inch-thick report, given to Reagan and reporters simultaneously at mid-morning, said:

"By his own account, as evidenced in his diary and notes, and as conveyed to the board by his principal advisers, President Reagan was deeply committed to securing the release of the hostages.

"It was this intense compassion for the hostages that appeared to motivate his steadfast support of the Iran initiative, even in the face of opposition from his secretaries of State and Defense," the report said.

Ballinger

Ballinger's population is over age 50, and that that figure is consistent for the surrounding area. Howell said he expects retired citizens to flock to the lake, both as a place to live and a place to vacation.

Howell added that dry lakes forced Ballinger to ration water two years ago and Stacy Dam is expected to avoid similar problems in the future.

"The main thing is the water. The livelihood of West Texas means more than anything else," he said.

Ballinger has been excited about the project since its inception in 1977, which has meant some big disappointments over the years. You get the idea Howell spends a lot of time crossing his fingers and knocking on wood.

"You know, we've been high and we've been low. We'll be full speed ahead and then we get hit with a bombshell. We get over that and then something else would happen."

"The lower lakes have fought us from the start. They lobbied against us. Their biggest battle cry was that we were cutting water from them," Howell said. He contends that representatives from around Buckhannon and Highland Lakes didn't want the tourist competition from a new lake.

"It's been on and off for the last five years. There was the big controversy over the snake (the Concho Water Snake), and we thought that would kill it. It's been one hurdle at a time, and finally it's beginning to clear," Howell said.

For ten years Howell and other Ballinger residents have imagined boats, water and homes where there is now only sand, rock and mesquite trees.

It appears likely that those imaginings will become reality before the next decade.

E.D. Nixon dead at 87

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — E.D. Nixon, who launched the 1955 Montgomery bus boycott then stepped aside to let a young minister named Martin Luther King Jr. lead blacks into the civil rights era, has died at age 87.

Nixon, a former leader of the Alabama chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, died Wednesday at Baptist Medical Center, where he was admitted Feb. 16, the hospital said.

In the 1920s, Nixon and A. Phillip Randolph organized the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, an early black union. During World War II, he established the first USO club for black soldiers, in Montgomery.

Nixon in 1955 helped post bond for Rosa Parks, a black woman arrested for refusing to yield her bus seat to a white man, and formed the Montgomery Improvement Association to launch the 381-day boycott that elevated King to national prominence.

Citizens pray for town

BLACKWELL, Okla. — At home, in churches and in offices, residents of this struggling oil-country town pause every morning at 11 a.m. to pray things will get better, and the mayor says it's already had a positive effect.

One local business has just hired 10 employees, Mayor John Stauffacher said Wednesday.

Oklahoma has been hit hard by declining oil prices and a downturn in farming. The local clergy suggested prayer, and City Council approved unanimously, said Rev. Danny Moss, president of the Blackwell Area Ministerial Alliance.

The 11 a.m. prayers were inaugurated last week when about 150 of the town's 8,400 residents held a public prayer service in a parking lot. From that came daily observances.

Waste proposal rejected

WASHINGTON — Two key congressional committees are turning thumbs down on the Reagan administration's controversial proposals for major changes in planning for disposal of the nation's high-level nuclear waste.

In reports adopted Wednesday, the Senate Energy and Natural Resources and House Interior committees said Energy Secretary John Herrington should forget his proposals to deviate from the terms of the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982.

The action represents the first formal word from Capitol Hill against Herrington's most controversial nuclear-waste idea: indefinitely shelving the search for a spent-fuel repository east of the Mississippi River.

Pastor Hank Smith leads members of the United House of Prayer in Johnson City, Tenn., in burning records and pornographic magazines during a service Wednesday night. The Mainland Assembly of God in Linwood, N.J., simultaneously conducted a program in preparation for its planned rock-and-roll record burning Friday night.

Rock music Christians, punkers debate 'truth'

LINWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Church members contending rock music promotes immorality plan a record burning Friday, and punk rockers say they'll be there, but not to toss anything onto the fire.

"We're bringing the Bill of Rights," Bryant Amper said Wednesday, swinging his long hair.

The Rev. Jerry Sturgeon, pastor at the Mainland Assembly of God Church, held a viewing of the movie "The Truth About Rock" Wednesday as a preview to Friday's record burning in this affluent Atlantic City suburb.

As the congregants watched the movie here, about 40 people outside a church in Johnson City, Tenn., participated in the burning of adult magazines and records of the Beatles, Bob Dylan and others.

Most of the 200 or so people attending the movie here nodded in agreement as youth pastor Richard Kin warned, "You hear a lot nowadays about sex and drugs and rock 'n' roll. I believe rock 'n' roll is the most influential."

The movie, narrated by Steve and Dan Peters of the Zion Christian Life Center in St. Paul, Minn., accuses various rock artists of promoting immorality.

Black-leather-clad members of the Misfortunes of Virtue punk band, seated in the back of the church, looked around at the audience and grinned.

In the church parking lot, a lively debate went on between Julie Sturgeon, the pastor's daughter, and punk rock accordionist Malcolm Tent.

"I serve only one master," said Miss Sturgeon.

"I choose not to serve," Tent said.

"I want to listen to music that glorifies Jesus Christ," she said.

"I don't believe that music has to say 'Praise the Lord,'" he said.

Deacon Tom Hoskins came outside to thank the punkers for attending the movie. "They have a right to come here and say what they want," he said.

In Tennessee, the Rev. Hank Smith led members of his United House of Prayer outside the church in the record and magazine burning.

"I pray for the old people who allowed this in their houses, for the mothers and fathers who allow this in their homes," Smith said as he stirred the fire in a 55-gallon drum.

"Hell will be a lot hotter than that," he said.

Soviets detonate test

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union today staged its first nuclear test in 19 months, exploding a device in Soviet Central Asia that ended the Kremlin's unilateral freeze on weapons testing started in August 1985.

Soviet officials said they were forced to resume testing for reasons of national security because the United States had refused Kremlin overtures to suspend its own weapons tests.

"The irresponsible policies of Washington made it necessary for Moscow to stop the effects of its test moratorium, and the historic opportunity to end testing once and for all was lost," Soviet army Maj. Gen. Gely Batenin told a news briefing in Moscow.

The official news agency Tass said in a two-paragraph report that the test was conducted at 8 a.m. Moscow time (midnight EST) and had a yield of less than 20 kilotons, the force of the U.S. atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima in World War II.

Price freeze ordered

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — The government on Wednesday devalued the currency, ordered a price freeze but allowed a hike in the minimum wage as part of a package to fight inflation and respond to unrest over low earnings.

Banks were ordered to remain closed on Thursday, a third straight day, to prevent currency speculation.

The measures were announced by Economy Minister Juan V. Sourrouille, who told Argentines in a nationally televised address that the government had no "magic formulas" to combat inflation.

He made no mention of Argentina's $52 billion foreign debt. Most analysts did not expect Argentina to follow the lead of some debt-strapped countries and suspend payments.

Afghans bomb towns

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Afghan aircraft bombed two Pakistani villages today, killing at least 35 people and wrecking homes and businesses, government officials said.

The officials said eight Afghan aircraft attacked the Pakistani villages of Saidgal and Ghulam Mohammad, about 190 miles southwest of Islamabad and near the Afghan border.

The bombs flattened at least 100 shops and many houses, and killed a large number of cattle, the officials said. The officials spoke on condition of anonymity.

No other details on the attacks were immediately available.

The bombings, the worst such attacks in recent years, came on the second day of another round of U.N.-mediated talks in Geneva between Afghanistan and Pakistan. The talks began five years ago.

Views of papers across the U.S.

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from around the nation.

Oil fee needed to prevent extortion

America isn't yet ready to reconstruct those gas-guzzling, automotive land yachts of the 1960s, nor is the full-service filling station likely to make a big comeback soon. Still, we're beginning to behave as if happy days are here to stay as far as oil prices are concerned. ... If we're not careful, we will stroll smack into a booby trap. ...

Two things need to happen. First, the nation must better restrain its consumption. ... Second, Congress needs to enact an oil import fee. ... A small fee would encourage conservation, but more importantly, it would encourage domestic production. A strong American industry is a vital hedge against extortion from abroad. ...

Atlanta Constitution

Iran deal witnesses 'raise doubts'

One after another, the witnesses appearing before the special commission investigating the Iran-Contra scandal raise new doubts about the president's claim that he was an innocent bystander in the tawdry affair. ... It's hard to see how President Reagan can recover his credibility unless he scuttles his discredited defense and gives the nation the straightforward explanation it's been waiting for since the scandal first broke. ...

A straightforward explanation of his role to the American people will not be easy. It might require acknowledging that laws were broken in what the president believed was the pursuit of the national interest. He still enjoys the support of Americans. But their patience and tolerance, especially in the face of deception, are limited. ...

Los Angeles Herald Examiner

'Amerika' compared to night soaps

If the Russians ever try to take over America, they're going to have to do it a darned sight faster than ABC's "Amerika" mini-series. ... To be blunt, this mini-series is boring. And considering the topic, it should be anything but boring. ... We may be holding "Amerika" up to too high a standard — one raised by the extreme advance media hype. However, it seems that if someone is going to tackle such an issue, the production ought to move faster and be of higher quality than the average "Dallas" or "Dynasty" fare. ...

Suggests stiff penalties in trading

It started with Ivan Boesky's conviction on a mammoth insider stock trading scandal, and indications are the problem is far from over. The more recent arrests of several prominent executives associated with two prestigious Wall Street brokerages give rise to speculation that this story will continue for some time to come. ... Reacting to the scandals, the New York Stock Exchange has stiffened its own trading surveillance and compliance rules and will require its approximately 1,500 members to begin filing quarterly reports proving they have done the same. ...

Internal and external pressures must be applied and maintained to see that the unsavory insider trading mess is cleaned up and then kept clean. Stiff penalties, including prison, need to be meted out to discourage those who might be tempted to play the game illegally. ...

The Janesville (Wis.) Gazette

Supports the right of self-defense

Americans are asserting the right of self-defense, which was attacked on legal and moral grounds during the 1960s and 1970s. ... Seven in 10 respondents to a new public opinion poll said people should have the right to shoot an intruder even if they are not sure the intruder is armed. ...

The opinion is logical. To deny people that right would give intruders the right to invade homes with little or no risk. At the same time, absence of the right would place the victims of such invasions in legal jeopardy if they used guns to protect their families or themselves. ...

Nuclear self-sufficiency needed

In 1957 Congress passed the Price-Anderson Act. It placed a $665 million liability cap for the nuclear power industry in the event of an accident. ... The act was intended to protect the fledgling industry against excessive claims if a nuclear accident occurred ... (and) as an inducement for utilities to build nuclear power plants. ... The act is up for renewal, but it is badly out-of-date. It has been estimated that the Soviet Chernobyl accident, for example, caused $2.5 billion in property damage. ...

The General Accounting Office estimates that a major meltdown in the U.S. could cost more than $15 billion. Nuclear power has been around for more than 30 years. It has received and is still receiving large amounts of federal subsidies in various forms. This is enough time for it to have become economically self-sufficient. ...

Birthday card has more sense than dollars

DEAR ABBY: On my son's 16th birthday, he received a birthday card from his grandparents on his father's side. (His father and I are divorced.) "Grandma Jones" added the following handwritten message on the card: "Sorry, Billy, no money this time because we received no thank-you for the money we sent with our card last year. Lots of love, Grandma and Grandpa Jones."

Dear Abby

Abby, although these grandparents are retired and living on a fixed income, they are far from poor, and it wouldn't have hurt them to have enclosed a $10 bill. It would have made the difference between my son feeling good or bad on his birthday.

I wrote to my ex-mother-in-law and told her what I thought about her birthday message to Billy. I haven't heard from her since, and I don't expect to.

What do you (and your readers) think about the message a grandmother sent to her grandson on his 16th birthday?

BURNED UP IN BUTTE

DEAR BURNED: I think Grandma may have given Billy a birthday gift that was far more valuable than a $10 bill.

has too many hands and I get worn out trying to protect myself. He told me he probably wouldn't be calling me again. Could my virginity be standing in the way of my popularity?

I would like to have a good relationship with a guy, but I'm not ready to include sex. Am I weird or what?

HURTING IN HARTFORD
DEAR HURTING: You are not weird and you are no dope. All relationships do not include sex — many long-standing relationships are based on friendship and mutual interest. If you are being made to feel that the price of going out is "putting out" — you are being blackmailed. Stick with your principles.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were separated for several months, during which time he admitted that he had played the field and had several affairs.

We've decided to give our marriage one more try. I've told him that I will not go to bed with him unless he has a test for AIDS.

He refuses, saying I am unreasonable. What do you think?
CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: I think you are wise, and he is foolish. He should have the test not only for your peace of mind, but for his.

DEAR ABBY: Last year I was diagnosed as having multiple sclerosis and I recently began using a cane. My question is this: How do I respond to people I don't know very well (nor care to) when they ask, "Why the cane?"

I don't wish to discuss my disability with people who are merely making small talk on the sidewalk. If it is someone I dislike, I say, "Oh, this is just an affection." But I can't use this response to people who are genuine acquaintances, or are actually concerned. What do you think?

MINNESOTAN
DEAR MINNESOTAN: Why not use the same response for all inquiries? There is nothing wrong with saying, "I have multiple sclerosis," even to people who are making small talk on the sidewalk. It might shake them up a bit.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Is it true that some people might be diagnosed as having Alzheimer's disease when they do not really have it? I have been told this by my doctor. Why, then, cannot a test be devised to positively diagnose it? — Mrs. R.R.

Dr. Donohue

No sure test for the Alzheimer's disease exists. In that situation doubt has to be entertained in making a diagnosis. Is it Alzheimer's or is it some other form of dementia. The National Institute on Aging itself recognizes this fact. It estimates that, in fact, from 10 to 30 percent of Alzheimer's diagnoses based on psychological testing may be flawed.

The difficulty in producing some sure-fire chemical evaluation test lies in the fact that true markers of Alzheimer's (for example, the peculiar tangles of tissue observed only from post-mortem examination) lie deep within brain tissue.

Within a few years, we may have the kind of definitive test that will take the guesswork out of diagnosis. Researchers are, for example, on the track now of certain protein markers that might appear in either the blood or spinal fluid. Until that test is found, we will continue to rely on the accumulated signs of symptoms of the illness, which in most cases is sufficient.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was interested in your write-up on diverticulosis. I had surgery last year after developing that problem and had the drainage tube (colostomy) for a month afterward. Ever since, I have been taking a teaspoon of Metamucil daily to keep the stool soft.

I was wondering why you did not mention that to the other writer. I tried the bran you suggested and I could not hack it. I'm thankful I don't have the colostomy anymore, but hate this fat belly I substituted for it. It makes me look six months pregnant. I'm wondering if the doctor who did the surgery put everything back in proper place. A short comment would be appreciated. — A.M.

If you cannot hack bran, there are many other grains, vegetables and fruits containing lots of fiber. That's what you need for diverticulosis or for good digestion in general. You want to keep the stool soft to prevent further out-pouchings (diverticula) from developing. Metamucil is great, somewhat expensive, but a good way to enrich your diet with fiber. It has my blessings. Dosage is variable. Your other questions are dealt with in the booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," which other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and one dollar.

FOR MRS. A.F. — Graves' disease is overproduction of thyroid hormone. That accelerates metabolism. The person is operating at high gear. One of the ways to treat it is the one proposed for you. The radioactive iodine destroys thyroid tissue and cuts off production. It is not a cancer threat. After treatment, many people have to take thyroid hormone adjusted to the proper level, which the gland previously was overshooting.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Donohue's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1120, Chicago, Ill. 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Sixth-grader without TV for one year to get $500

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — An 11-year-old boy who stopped watching television last year on a bet with his mother says he doesn't know what he'll do with the $500 he'll win if he can stay away from the tube until Monday.

But he knows where he'll be Monday afternoon — watching whatever is on.

Benjamin Barreaux says he was watching about six to seven hours of TV daily before his mother, Roslyn, showed him an article about two youngsters whose parents gave them $500 if they didn't watch TV for a year.

He eagerly said he would stop watching the tube for $500.

"I figured either way I'd win," Ms. Barreaux said. "If he didn't follow through, I saved $500, and if he did, it would be worth having him do other things for a year."

Since the wager was made, he said he has filled his time reading.

Stacks of magazines and library books line his bedroom in the family's Millburn house, said his mother, a newsreader for WCBS radio in New York.

And an interest the boy had in GI Joe soldier toys has expanded into a curiosity about military history, she said.

"He could name almost every plane and ship in World War II," Ms. Barreaux said in a telephone interview this week.

Thomas Donohue, director of Boston University's School of Mass Communication, said several cases of families giving up television have been documented.

"I think it says more about the kid and his discipline than it says about television," he said.

"This proves that TV is not an addiction in a physical or psychological way," added Terence Moran, professor of Communications Arts and Science at New York University. "Normal kids can live without it, such as when they go to summer camp and don't watch TV for two months."

Benjamin said he had a tough time adjusting during the first month of the bet and that his resolve was tested when the Sylvester Stallone movie, "Rambo," was broadcast on a cable channel.

"All my friends would talk about the movie and kid me by asking how I liked it," he said. "Sometimes they would shove a TV Guide in my face."

He also said that there were times he worried about losing the bet on a technicality.

"When we would go to the department stores and we'd walk past the TV displays, he would hide his eyes," his mother said. "In one restaurant, there were three TV sets and he had to position his chair so he couldn't see any of them."

The year ends Monday at 9:01 a.m. Benjamin said he was not sure what he would do with the $500 except that he has agreed not to buy a TV, and Donohue predicted the boy would be back in front of the tube as soon as the bet ends.

Let's hear it for Herald photographer Tim Appel. Appel, who's known for winning awards for his pictures, added another blue ribbon to his collection this week. This picture, which appeared in the sports section of the January 8 issue, won first place in the National Press Photographers Association Region 8 monthly competition. The region covers all newspapers in Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana. The shot was taken at a wrestling match at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum when wrestler Ric Steiner hid behind referee Edward Faulk as Gary Young moved in.

The first place finish currently puts Tim in a three-way tie for second place in the contest for Photographer of the Year. Appel is tied with 52 points with Curt Wilcox of the Odessa American and Juan Garcia of the Dallas Morning News. Erich Schlegel of the Brownsville Herald is leading the competition with 92 points. We will keep you posted on Appel's race for the gold.

Big Spring Invitational this weekend Golf tournament on tap

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

Over 40 golf teams will be in Big Spring Friday and Saturday for the boys and girls Big Spring Invitational at Comanche Trail and Big Spring Country Club golf courses.

Abilene Wylie will be back to defend the boys title it won last year while Snyder and Andrews, the number one and two ranked 4A teams in the state, will highlight the girls field.

The Big Spring teams will be making a bid to be one of the top contenders itself. Coach Don Cook's Steers team will have three teams entered in the contest while the Lady Steers, coached by Mickey Finley, will have two teams competing.

The boys number one team will consist of Chris Sims, Jeff Rhodes, Michael Porch, Chad Freeman and Paul Berringer. The number two team will be composed of Wesley Fields, Robert Chrane, James Averette, Frank Reyna and Tony Stuteville.

The Steers number three team will be Max Watts, Jon Hernandez, Shane Miller, Heath Stuteville and Tim Tubbs.

The Lady Steers number one squad will be Karen Brodie, Michelle Cox, Heather Varley, Tammy Burnsed and Samantha Subia. The number two will be Leigh Corson, Jenny Daniels, Katie Kestermeier and Jennifer Cravens.

The Big Spring boys have competed in two tournaments this season. They finished 12th out of 45 teams in San Antonio and 11th of 20 teams in Odessa. Rhodes had been the top golfer, averaging 80 in the two tournaments.

The Big Spring girls finished fourth in a 24-team tournament in San Angelo. Brodie recorded the top score, with a 36-hole total of 197. She finished 13th in the medalist competition.

Last year Odessa Permian won the girls competition. The Lady Steers finished fourth. The Steers finished 13th last year.

Cook says the team has high hopes for this tournament. "We're looking forward to playing better," he said. "We didn't play that well in the last tournaments. With a good field like this, if we finished in the top five we would be playing great."

Action gets underway at 8:30 a.m. each day. The girls will play the first 18 holes at Comanche Trail and the boys will be at the Country Club. On Saturday the girls will be at the Country Club and the boys will be at Comanche Trail.

Tracksters gear for season's first meet

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

Track season is officially here and the Big Spring Steers and Lady Steers will begin their season this Friday and Saturday at the Comanche Relays in Ft. Stockton.

While the picking is still slim for first year girls coach Mike Randle, boys coach Randy Britton has some fine talent to choose from.

Speed will be one of the big factors for the boys because Britton has at least seven runners who can run 11.2 or better in the 100 meters. "We have lots of talent back," said Britton. "We've got talent in other events, but because of the numbers, sprinting is our strength."

In a practice meet two weeks ago, the Steers' 400 relay team of Danny Williams, Rodney Bailey, Charles White and Phillip Mathews clocked a 4.43. "That's about what we were running in the middle of last season, and we had terrible hand-offs," said Britton.

Another runner pushing for a spot on the relay is sophomore Dennis Hartfield. "Dennis is really coming on strong, he's cut his time down from 12.0 to 11.2. He doesn't have the best form in the world but he's got a quick start."

Hartfield will run both the 100 and 200. Joining him in the 100 will be Williams and White, who clocked a 10.85 last season. Mathews will be the leader in the 200. He set a school record of 21.99 last season. Hartfield (23.6) and White (22.60) will also run.

Britton says his 1600 relay corp should be better than last season. "We lost one man who ran under 50 seconds (Dewayne Sherman), but I think we've got more talent this season." Last season Big Spring ran a 3:22.51, a time Britton says they should have beaten by four seconds. Britton will go with Bailey, Andy Dominguez, Paul Decker, Mathews and Cedric Banks in the event.

Sean Jackson will be counted on to score heavily in the 800. Last season as a sophomore, he clocked a 2:02.30. Strengthening the distance forces will be Mario Gonzales, who finished 10th in the state cross country meet in the fall.

"There's no telling how well Mario will do. Last week he ran a 10:19 in the 3200 and he wasn't even pushing himself," Britton said of his senior distance star that will double in the metric mile and two mile.

Others that might score in the running events include hurdlers Derrick Watts and Ronnie Miller and 1600 runner Ben Gonzales.

The Steers look fairly strong in the field events also. Junior high jumper-long jumper Brian Mayfield returns to lead the corps.

Last season Mayfield had best of 6-10 (school record) in the high jump and 21-11 in the long jump. He barley missed out on a trip to state, finishing third at the Region I-SA meet last year in Lubbock. Tyrone Foster and Randy Odum will also high jump.

MARIO GONZALES ...one of distance favorites

JAMES HARLIN ...hoping to go over 12-6

Mathews is another threat in the long jump, having gone 21-9 last season. Bailey and Shawn Shellman will also try their luck at the long jump pit.

The pole vault crew will be much stronger than last season. James Harlin, who went 12-6 last season, returns; as well Decker who jumped 11-6. Dieter Gerstenberger will also pole vault.

Dickie Kelly has been doing well in the shot put. Last season his best throw was 43-6, this season he's been over the 45-foot mark. The discus freshman Pete Buske and senior James Weaver are the hopefuls. Both are throwing around the 120-foot mark now.

Coach Mike Randle's girls will be led by distance runner Susan Garza. Garza ran a 13:30.90 in the 3200 as a freshman. She also turned in a 6:20 in the 1600.

Randle will get sprint help from Angie Dees and Kaya McMillian. McMillian will be competing in the regional swim meet next week.

Yolanda Green is another hopeful in the discus. Although she didn't throw last season, Green has been tossing the oval plate around 115-feet in practice.

Field events and running prelims get started at 2:30 p.m. Friday. Running finals in the five division meet will begin at noon Saturday.

Sands nipped by Wink; Stanton falls to Ozona

WINK 71, SANDS 70

ODESSA — The Sands Mustangs' season came to a halt in bi-district basketball action Tuesday night as they dropped an overtime decision to the Wink Wildcats at Odessa High School gym.

Sands had a chance to win the game with seven seconds left in overtime but their shot wouldn't fall. A Wink player rebounded and was fouled on the play. He missed the front end of a one-and-one situation and Sands tried vainly to get off one more shot.

Area Playoffs

In the first half Wink came out with some hot shooting and Sands fell behind by 10 points, but rallied to cut it to 37-31 at the half. Sands was paced by post player Paul Martin, who scored 14 of his team-high 18 points in the half.

Martin and fellow post player Chad Nichols would foul out in the fourth quarter, forcing coach Bobby Bell to go with a smaller lineup the remainder of the game.

Wink wing player Shane Bealer got hot in the second half and pumped in 16 of his game-high 25 points in the half.

"Considering all the hard luck we've had, we had a pretty good season," said coach Bell. "We had a chance to win it and we didn't, that's all there is to it."

SANDS (70) — Jerry Long 41.9; Paul Martin 9.0; Chad Nichols 3.6; Sam Rodriguez 5.1.11; Damien Zarate 3.2.8; Jay Johnston 1.0.2; Jay Fryar 8.0.16; totals 33.4.70.

WINK (71) — Tony Roach 5.0.10; Junior Cobos 8.0.16; Danny Carroll 5.4.14; Shane Bealer 12.1.25; Jeff Jones 2.2.6; totals 32.7.71.

STANTON — The Ozona Lions overcame a 41-33 Stanton Buffaloes lead going into the fourth quarter to defeat the Buffaloes 57-48 to win the District 6-AA basketball crown Tuesday night. The Buffaloes advance to the state playoffs as district runnerup.

The extra game had to be played because Ozona won the first half of district play with a 7-0 record and Stanton won the second half with a 6-1 mark.

SMU alumni sick about penalty

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist alumni expressed sadness about the crippling of the school's football program and condemned the actions of the boosters who triggered the scandal.

There was hope the penalty would have a positive effect on college football in the long run, but little consolation that the NCAA did not impose the full two-year ban available under the "death penalty" provision.

"I think what they've done is worse than that. It's like setting a lame dog on a fence with a bunch of hunters out there shooting at him," former Mustang quarterback Lance McIlhenny said in Dallas after Wednesday's announcement.

In addition to canceling games for all of 1987 and part of 1988, the NCAA infractions committee curtailed recruiting and scholarships. "That's a pretty good clout," said former SMU running back great Doak Walker, who now lives in Colorado.

"I feel sorry for the players who went there in good faith and had the integrity. I feel sorry for the coaches who were there. It's a shame. The NCAA had to do something. The rules are there."

New England Patriots Coach Raymond Berry, who played at SMU, viewed the NCAA decision as "both good and bad."

"It's bad that SMU is standing in the center of the bull's-eye, but good that there is movement to police what I think is a situation in college football that, from what I've been told, has gotten out of control across the country," Berry said.

"The regrettable thing is that SMU is perhaps the one school that is really going to pay for it when a number of schools are just as guilty, from what I understand," he said.

McIlhenny's father, Don, also an SMU football alumni, was upset.

"I'm a traditionalist," the senior McIlhenny said. "I love the school. It just means a great deal to me. I have a tough time just talking about it."

He wondered aloud about boosters who made illegal payments to players.

"What satisfaction do they get out of what they were doing? It's bewildering to me. I don't know what's going to happen. With quality leadership, it can rise again to the top, but it's going to take a long time," he said.

A former booster who quit fundraising in 1985 in disgust over recruiting violations, said he didn't understand boosters who would break the rules.

"The public should know who they are," Walt Coughlin said. "They are the ones who destroyed the program."

George Owen, who was linked in media accounts to a rent-free apartment for a player, said that it was proven to the NCAA that SMU was not to blame and the matter had no bearing on the penalty.

Owen, banned from booster activity in 1985, said he wasn't the anonymous booster cited by the NCAA as having made payments to players.

"It wasn't me. I haven't been out there in two years," Owen said.

He said he was "sick" about the NCAA sanctions.

"They put us under a microscope when they don't put anyone else under one," Owen said.

Cougars catch Frogs napping

FORT WORTH (AP) — With the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic only a week away, the Houston Cougars served notice Wednesday night that the regular season champion Texas Christian Horned Frogs can be conquered.

Houston caught the 15th ranked Frogs napping and drilled them 84-65 Wednesday night, snapping a 24-game TCU victory streak in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

"I think this proves it will be anybody's tournament to win in Dallas," said TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth. "Maybe we better wake up."

In other SWC action, Southern Methodist beat Rice 95-79, Texas Tech defeated Texas, 62-50, and in a non-conference game, Baylor defeated Southwest Texas 97-61.

TCU dropped to 22-5 overall and 13-2 in the SWC while Houston improved to 17-9 and 9-6.

"We'll have to regroup for the tournament now," Killingsworth said. "We just got too far behind Houston then we had to do too much gambling on defense. That (a fullcourt press) pays off about once every 85 times you try it."

"I hate to see our streak go," Killingsworth said "but we ran into a hot team that did everything well. The Cougars were just unconscious."

Greg Anderson scored 27 points and grabbed 12 rebounds as the Cougars shot 57 per cent from the field.

Guard Tim Hobby hit five three-point baskets and tied a career-high 25 points.

Rickie Winslow chipped in with 17 points as the Cougars avenged an earlier 62-56 loss.

Houston Coach Pat Foster said "Anderson was tremendous, Winslow played well and Hobby was magnificent. Our players were down after a loss to SMU. You just never know what this team is going to do."

Anderson scored 14 of his game-high 27 points in the last 10 minutes of the game.

"We had been a real tight team" Foster said. "We just tried to create the kind of atmosphere where the kids could play loose."

Killingsworth said "maybe we were a little too eager. Or maybe it was just too much Cougars. I thought we played pretty slow. We're not a very good team unless we play quick."

TCU hadn't lost in Daniel-Meyer Coliseum since the last game of 1985.

TCU's Larry Richard and Carl Lott had never been on a team that lost at home.

Lott was making his first appearance after missing 10 straight games with a broken finger.

Lott scored 16 points while Richard added 15. Carven Holcombe, TCU's leading scorer who averaged 18 points per game, had 10 points.

"Houston mauled us on the boards (35-24)," Richard said. "We depend on our rebounding to carry us. We just did a terrible job. We have to play like a team to be successful. Instead, we played like a bunch of individuals."

Dewayne Chism scored 16 points to lead four Texas Tech players in double figures as they defeated Texas, 62-50.

It was the final SWC game of the year for the Red Raiders, who are 14-13 overall and 9-7 in league play. Texas is 13-16 overall and 6-9 in SWC play with a game against Houston remaining before the post-season tournament.

Tech coach Gerald Myers started four seniors for the game.

"That was a good game for us to finish up with, especially for our seniors. They went out and took control of the game early, and we didn't have to sweat it out for 40 minutes," Myers said.

Chism said, "The seniors wanted to come out and play well tonight, and we did. We played good defense, and everything went good for us. We've played some good teams since I've been at Tech, and it's been the experience of a lifetime."

Kato Armstrong scored 25 points and Scott Johnson added 19 to lead SMU to a 95-79 victory over Rice.

The Mustangs improved their record to 15-12 overall and 6-9 in SWC games. Rice dropped to 8-18 and 2-13.

Greg Hines led the Owls with 18 points.

SMU coach Dave Bliss said the victory will help the Mustangs as the SWC tournament approaches.

"You can win a game and still lose momentum but I thought we played hard," Bliss said.

The Mustangs had a 45-29 over the Owls in rebounding.

"They are a superior rebounding team to us but we certainly didn't get done what we could on the boards," Rice Coach Greg Walcavich said. "I think part of it was it we shot real well early in the game and it seemed to make us stop wanting to go to the offensive boards."

Bird guns down Blazers

Larry Bird has won three consecutive Most Valuable Player awards on the strength of his all-around play. But he has no qualms about turning himself into a gunner when the opportunity arises.

Bird took 30 shots — and made 17 — Wednesday night, posting a season-high 43 points as the Boston Celtics captured a 122-116 NBA victory over Portland, the only visiting team to win a game at Boston Garden last season.

"I take pride in all phases of my game; when the opportunity is there to score, I'll take it," said Bird, who also had 10 rebounds and eight assists. "My teammates were isolating me, and when I was open I took the shot."

Lakers 99, Suns 91 Los Angeles rallied from a 13-point third-quarter deficit to defeat visiting Phoenix and sweep a home-and-home series.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 10 of his game-high 26 points in the final 5:08 for the Lakers, who trailed 76-69 at the end of three quarters after the Suns grabbed a 68-55 with a 15-0 spurt in the third period.

The game was tied six times in the final 6:29 before Michael Cooper, who started in place of the injured Magic Johnson, gave the Lakers the lead for good at 93-91.

Larry Nance scored 24 points and Walter Davis 19 for Phoenix, losers of five straight, while Byron Scott had 18 for Los Angeles, which has won five in a row and now leads the Pacific Division by 7 1/2 games.

Pistons 106, Cavaliers 105 Isiah Thomas sank one of two free throws with six seconds left as Detroit won its fifth straight game and handed Cleveland its 15th consecutive road defeat.

A layup by John Bagley tied the score 105-105 with eight seconds remaining, but Bagley fouled Thomas in the backcourt two seconds later.

After Thomas' free throw, Cavaliers rookie Ron Harper, who scored 33 points, missed an 18-foot jump shot with one second left.

Adrian Dantley had 26 points and Joe Dumars tied his season high with 24 for the Pistons, who have a 2 1/2-game lead over Milwaukee in the Central Division.

Thomas and rookie Mark Price wrestled each other to the floor in the second quarter after Price slapped away the Detroit guard's hand while Thomas was on defense. No punches were thrown and neither player was ejected.

Mavericks 108, Kings 101 Dallas extended its Midwest Division lead to four games behind Rolando Blackman's 35 points against visiting Sacramento.

With the Mavericks leading 104-101 and less than a minute to play, Blackman stole a pass and was fouled. He made both free throws to give Dallas a 106-101 lead, and Mark Aguirre accounted for the final two points when he made two free throws with three seconds to play.

Aguirre scored 26 points and James Donaldson had 18 rebounds for the Mavericks.

Honeyghan-Bumphus bout ruled non-title confrontation

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A victory by welterweight champion Lloyd Honeyghan over Johnny Bumphus last Sunday has been ruled a non-title fight by the World Boxing Council because the WBC didn't sanction the bout.

"The main reason for our refusal to sanction it is that it was scheduled for 15 rounds, which goes against the measures for medical security of our organization," the WBC said in a statement Wednesday.

The WBC limits its championship fights to 12 rounds, unlike other boxing organizations which usually go 15.

Honeyghan, also a former welterweight champion of the World Boxing Association, but gave up his WBA title on principle.

Error in law bars television reports

AUSTIN - The Senate State Affairs Committee is considering a plan to correct an "unintentional" error in state law that does not allow camera coverage of public meetings.

"We have found the law provides for tape recorders and other sonic recording devices but does not provide for visual reporting of public meetings," said Sen. Cyndi Krier, R-San Antonio.

She asked the committee not to take immediate action on her proposal to allow visual reporting of public meetings until she and Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, could work on joint legislation.

"He has a bill that includes changes in the Texas Open Meetings Act and we have talked about including my bill in his," she said.

Krier said the situation was discovered when the Titus County Commissioners Court asked to edit film taken by a cable TV station of its meetings. The station refused, and the commissioners declined to allow further TV recordings.

Woman injured jumping from fire

McALLEN — Authorities say they believe a smoldering mattress lighted by a guest's cigarette sparked a blaze that damaged the landmark La Posada hotel and injured at least eight guests, one seriously.

A 30-year-old woman underwent several hours of surgery Wednesday after she jumped from her third-floor room as smoke engulfed the hotel in the border city in south Texas.

McAllen Fire Marshal Honore Castro said firefighters pleaded with the woman not to jump as they were propping up ladders to rescue her.

"The firemen were setting up (for rescue), and when they saw her they advised her not to jump. ... She jumped anyway. We don't know why," Castro said.

Castro said the blaze was apparently sparked by a guest's cigarette and prompted the evacuation of more than 100 guests.

"The guest occupying that room made the statement he fell asleep while watching TV with a cigarette," Castro said.

Brownsville city officials indicted

BROWNSVILLE — Mayor Emilio Hernandez and at least three other present and former Brownsville city officials have been indicted by a special grand jury investigating city purchasing practices.

Hernandez, who was named on two earlier indictments, is accused in the latest indictments of official misconduct and of tampering with a witness.

As he did after the first two indictments were returned last month, Hernandez on Wednesday proclaimed his innocence and blamed the indictments on a political vendetta.

The mayor was released on a $12,500 bond. He already was free on a $15,000 bond for the previous two indictments of solicitation of a bribe and solicitation of a gift.

Three of the five other people named in the indictments Wednesday also turned themselves in at the county jail and were released on bond later in the day.

"This is ridiculous," Hernandez said as he left the Cameron County Jail with his attorney. "I knew people had been after me for the last seven years, but I didn't know they were this vicious."

Hernandez told the Valley Morning Star of Harlingen he was surprised the grand jury indicted him again and called it "completely out-of-line."

Jury gives murderer life in prison

ALBANY — A jury has sentenced a 23-year-old Albany man to life in prison in the murder of his mother, sister and niece.

Confessed killer Ray Seedig was sentenced Wednesday after four hours of deliberation by the jury in the capital murder trial.

Seedig killed his mother, Dorothy Seedig, 58; his sister, Julie Dennis, 32; and his four-year-old niece, Melissa Dennis, on Feb. 17, 1986.

Testimony in Seedig's trial began Jan. 16 before District Judge Quay Parker and a jury of six men and six women.

Jury foreman Jimmy Farmer told Parker that at least 10 jurors had a "reasonable doubt" if Seedig committed the murders deliberately and if he would be a threat to society.

The murders will have a lasting impression on the town, Albany Mayor Wayne Hogan said.

"It will make people more aware of crime — that this sort of thing can happen in a small town," Hogan said.

Hogan said this is the most important trial he has seen in Albany since he moved to the town in 1951.

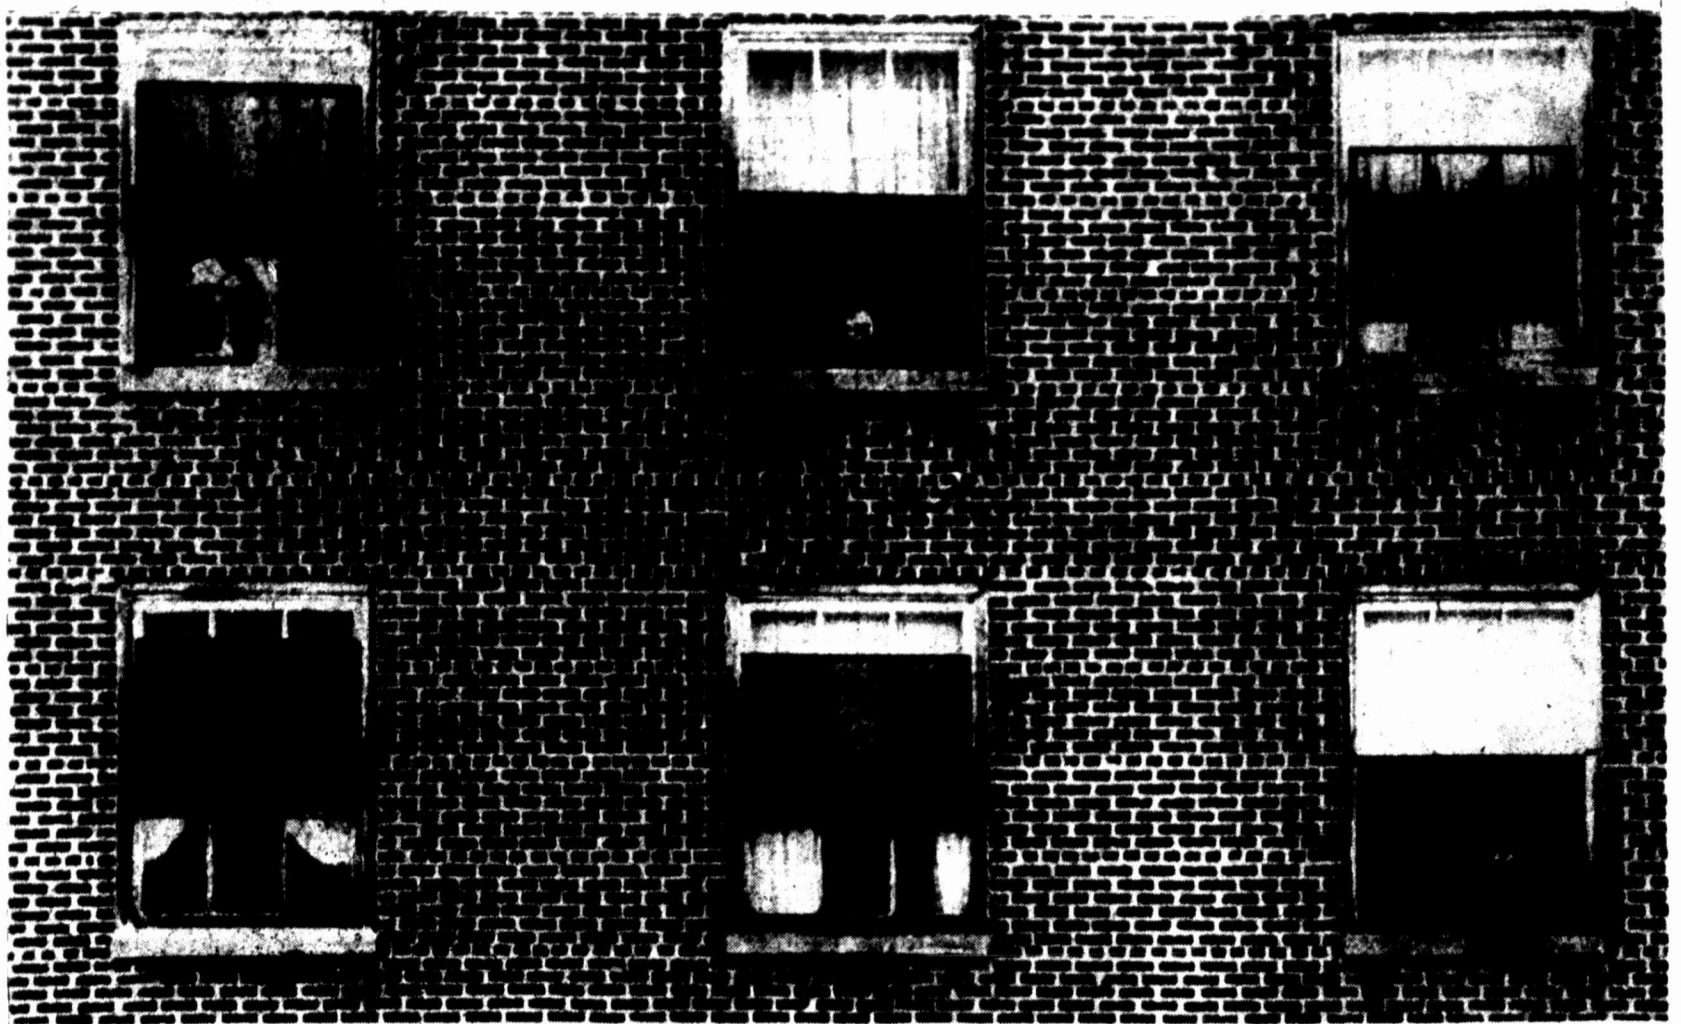

On some days, more than 100 people packed into the 259th District Courtroom to see the trial.

UT replaces two speakers on arms control

AUSTIN (AP) — Two featured speakers at a University of Texas conference on intelligence and arms control have been replaced because of "the recent turn of events in national affairs," school officials said Wednesday.

Former U.S. Sen. John Tower and Robert Gates, acting director of the Central Intelligence Agency, are too busy in Washington to attend the March 3 conference.

Tower is chairman of a three-man presidential commission reviewing the role of the National Security Council in the Iranian arms sale. He will be replaced at the conference by Walt Rostow, a UT economist and former special assistant to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Court: Can't collect unborn baby damages

AUSTIN (AP) — A woman who lost her unborn baby after tripping at work has been told that because the child died before it was born she can not sue her employers.

The Texas Supreme Court, in a 6-3 decision, issued an opinion Wednesday saying an unborn fetus is not included in the wording of the state's wrongful death act.

But Justice William Kilgarlin, in the dissenting opinion, said the ruling was archaic.

The court has unbelievably resurrected the old common law maxim that it is more profitable for the defendant to kill than to injure," said Justice William Kilgarlin in his dissenting opinion.

"A dead fetus is now worth nothing, but one injured and later born alive may sue," he said.

The state Supreme Court opinion stems from a lawsuit Kimberly Witty, 25, brought against American General Capital Distributors, Inc. where she once worked as a receptionist.

Ms. Witty sued for $3 million after tripping over an office outlet while she was 4½ months pregnant. During a trial at a Harris County district court, Ms. Witty's physician testified the fetus was alive after the fall, but nine days later was removed from its mother's womb because it had died.

The mother asked for $1 million for the child's injuries, $1 million for the loss of her baby's companionship, $500,000 for emotional trauma she suffered and $500,000 in property damages for the loss of her fetus.

A state district court in Harris County ruled against Ms. Witty, saying she could not collect the damages because the fetus was not born alive.

An appeals court in Houston reversed part of the decision, ruling that Ms. Witty could sue for the death of her child and her mental suffering. The appeals court denied her the $1 million for injuries to the fetus.

American General appealed the ruling to the Texas Supreme Court.

In writing the Supreme Court's majority opinion, Ted Robertson said the Legislature did not include unborn fetuses when writing the wrongful death act, so Ms. Witty was not entitled to any damages.
