Spring board

How's that? Burial

Q. For VA improved pension income purposes, can burial expenses for a spouse be claimed for exclusion along with unreimbursed medical expenses?
A. Yes, says the Veterans Administration. Expenses related to illness and burial of a veteran's spouse or child can be claimed.

Calendar Playday

TODAY
• The Howard County Youth Horseman Club will have an open playday, with registration at 1 p.m. and activities beginning at 2 p.m. Activities will include barrels, poles, flags, potato races and a Western pleasure class. The play day will be at the HCYHC arena on the Garden City Highway. There will be concessions, and the public is invited.

• The Big Spring Prospectors Club will have its annual Gem and Mineral Show today and tomorrow at the fair barns. Show will be from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. today.

• The CANTRead Crossroads Adult Need to Read Program will have a phonics workshop to train those interested in teaching adults how to read. The workshop will be from 1-4 p.m. at the Howard County Library. For more information, call the library or Howard College.

• Volunteers trained by the IRS will help senior citizens, low income persons, and Spanish speakers with their income tax returns from 1-4 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church Youth Center on 509 N. Aylford. For more information, call 267-7884.

SUNDAY
• Today is Scout Sunday, the beginning of Girl Scout Week. The girl scouts will go to First Methodist Church at 10:30 a.m., and will attend a luncheon at Garrett Hall at the church at 12:30. A scout exhibit will open at 1 p.m. at the Heritage Museum.

• The Big Spring Prospectors Club's annual Gem and Mineral Show continues at the county fair barns.

THURSDAY
• The Big Spring Kiwanis Club will have its annual fund raising pancake supper at the Howard College Cafeteria, from 5-8 p.m. Tickets are $3, with proceeds to benefit Howard County youth.

Items for the Spring board calendar must be community-wide events to be included, and will be listed no more than one week in advance. Send such notices to: Spring board, Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring. Club notices will be printed in the "Bulletin Board" section of the Sunday Herald.

Planning bake sale benefit

A bake sale to raise funds for the Lisa Phillips Medical Fund will be conducted at Citizen's Federal Credit Union March 9 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Pat Deanda, cash supervisor, said.
Phillips is the victim of leukemia.
Donations in the form of money or contributions to the baked goods will be appreciated, said Deanda.
The Credit Union is located at 701 E. FM 700. For more information, call 267-6373.

Sirens, roads on Board's agenda

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners will consider upgrading siren warning devices in outlying Big Spring rural areas in addition to hearing about Knott's deteriorated road conditions when they meet 9 a.m. Monday.

Big Spring's Emergency Coordinator Hal Boyd said he seeks county financial support to purchase radio control devices in Coahoma, Forsan and Sand Springs.

The devices would activate rural sirens simultaneously with city sirens, Boyd said. Sirens in rural areas are now manually operated by volunteer fire departments, he explained.

The radio control devices would be connected to a central switchboard that receives teletype messages and forecasts from the National Weather Service, Boyd said.

Each device costs approximately $1,000, he added.

"It is an effort to improve the warning system and maximize the number of people we can reach in times of pending emergency," Boyd said.

Commissioners will also be requested to appoint two members to the Big Spring-Howard County Airport Zoning Board, Boyd said.

The board convenes to approve or deny any proposed construction near the airport, he added.

Board action is based on zoning ordinance requirements stipulated by the Texas Air Control Board, Boyd said.

Commissioners will also hear from six persons from Knott who will request county assistance to repair deteriorated roads in Knott.

"We're going to see if we can get them fixed," said Knott store owner Kent Robinson. The roads were heavily damaged by last August's torrential rainfall, reported County Engineer Bill Mims.

County resident Bill Swindell who lives near Knott will also speak to commissioners about continual flooding and drainage problems on his property.

Swindell addressed commissioners recently about his problems and he was referred to the soil conservation district for advice on drainage needs, Mims said.

Concerns from Knott citizens and Swindell have not been addressed directly to their commissioner, says O.L. Brown who serves as the Precinct One Commissioner.

"Those people don't confide in me," Brown hastily said Friday afternoon about his constituency.

"They want something and I don't know what it is," the commissioner said.

"They haven't given me courtesy nor time to prepare," Brown added.

SSC efforts, dam bidding top the news

By Herald staffwriters

At the same time as West Texans were entertaining the Texas congressional delegation and their staff, a group of congressmen was warning that interstate rivalries shouldn't be allowed to snare the proposed $4.4 billion Superconducting Super Collider project in a bureaucratic tangle.

Representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce returned this week after a four-day visit to the nation's capitol, Ralph McLaughlin reported Thursday, to "thank them for their support and be sure we're doing what they asked us to do."

It was not, he said, a time for hard-hitting on the SSC project.

While lawmakers from several states actively seeking the project — Illinois, Texas, California, Colorado and Ohio — said Wednesday that interstate rivalry must be put aside to ensure the Super Collider is built at home, not abroad, the West Texans were illustrating such a spirit of cooperation among Texans.

McLaughlin said that all congressional personnel were offered the results of the study conducted by his group in analyzing the Garden City location as a prospective site for the SSC.

• An international construction company centered in Houston announced Thursday it can construct the Stacy Dam reservoir at $31.8 million and complete the job in less than 2½ years.

Colorado River Municipal Water District President John Taylor's reading of the bid this morning in the East Room of Dorothy Garrett Coliseum drew an audible response from an audience of nearly 300 persons.

The bid submitted by Brown & Root, U.S.A. Inc. was lower than its nearest competitor by $4.5 million. H.B. Zachry of San Antonio submitted a $36.3 million bid for the project.

The low bids contrasted the $63.5 million bid by the Sunmount Co.

Colorado River Municipal Water District officials had estimated a $37 million ballpark figure for the job, said District Manager Owen Ivie.

• The two incumbents will run unopposed in the Big Spring school board election April 4.

District 1 and 3 positions on both the school board and council will be determined.

The two school board incumbents — Billy Pineda, representing district 1 and Dwayne Fraser representing district 3 — were the only candidates to file for the election by the Wednesday afternoon deadline.

Seven candidates have filed for City Council election. The filing deadline was Feb. 18.

• Thanks to a vehicle larger than a bridge was designed to accommodate, Sterling City residents will see a new bridge near their community.

Hilton Hagan, spokesman at the state highway department office in Austin, said that a truck that was too tall for a bridge clearance but passed through anyway has resulted in plans for the new bridge.

The project will cost an estimated $200,000. Engineering plans are being made, he said, and the construction should be under contract within the next six months.

Says West Texas interests slighted

BIG SPRING (AP) — Johnnie Lou Avery, replaced on a state panel that is trying to attract the Superconducting Super Collider to Texas, said Friday she believes Gov. Bill Clements has slighted West Texas interests.

The Big Spring businesswoman said she was not surprised that Clements did not reappoint her to the nine-member Texas National Research Laboratory Commission. But Mrs. Avery said she was disappointed another West Texan did not take her seat.

Among the board members are two West Texans, Charles Perry of Odessa and Jerome Johnson of Amarillo.

Mrs. Avery was replaced Thursday by Morton Meyerson of Dallas, a former head of Electronic Data Systems Corp.

Mrs. Avery did not discount the credentials of her replacement. But she said she fears that people from big cities might have a bias to secure the multibillion-dollar atom-smasher project for large municipal areas.

"What he (Clements) will probably do is charge the commission to recommend a rural site, or he has called it a remote site, and metropolitan sites," Mrs. Avery said.

"That would suit us fine. We would prefer to be the only site, but if he does go in that direction, that would be all right," she said.

Bar: Proposed plan 'taxes personal hardship'

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The head of the State Bar says putting a sales tax on the services of a lawyer is the same as "putting a tax on personal hardship and adversity."

William Whitehurst, Austin, was one of a long list of witnesses appearing Friday before the Senate Tax Policy Subcommittee concerning a proposed new sales tax package that would cover personal and professional services.

"This is bad public policy," Whitehurst said. "It's putting a tax on a mother of five children who must get child support or an abused wife seeking protective aid."

He was critical of exemptions from taxation for doctors and other health providers, for newspaper and TV advertising, and particularly for veterinary services.

"A man could get a dog dewormed without paying a tax, but not a person trying to hire a lawyer for assistance," he said.

Lawyers, engineers, architects, accountants and real estate agents would pay most of the $492 million expected from the addition of services to the sales tax law. Barbers, beauty shops and security guards would pay $42 million.

"An expanded sales tax seems your best option," John Moore, an associate deputy comptroller, told the subcommittee.

"It may be your only option," Moore told the group that will make tax recommendations to the entire Senate.

Comptroller Bob Bullock's version proposes a sales tax of 4.5 percent effective in 1988, broadened to include services, a 15-cent gasoline tax, an adjustable rate franchise tax and a bingo gross receipts tax.

Moore told the subcommittee the proposal would produce $3.3 billion for 1988-89, including the extension of the "temporary" sales tax rate until Dec. 31, 1987.

He said a package with a 5.25 percent tax — the current rate — throughout 1988-89 would produce $4.8 billion.

Moore also said formerly proposed sales taxes on advertising, construction services and commercial leasing of real estate and insurance commissions had been removed from Bullock's proposal. "They were taken out after we got feedback that indicated they would not be feasible or profitable to collect," Moore said.

Ed Howard, Austin attorney and former state senator representing the Texas Broadcasters Association, testified that radio and TV advertising were removed because of the way the industry operates.

"Many times the local spots on local TV are sold by national agencies, who buy time frames from the local stations," Howard said. "Advertising placed intrastate could be taxed but not that placed interstate."

"And an advertising tax has to be fair-proportioned to be constitutional. It has to apply to all advertising the same way."

Moore told the committee Bullock's proposal with the 4.5 percent expanded sales tax would cost a Texas family of four with an annual income of $25,000 an additional $223 a year.

In addition, Moore said, city and county government with a one-cent local sales tax would get an additional $220 million.

H.B. Whitworth, representing the Texas Chemical Council, said attracting new manufacturers to Texas depended largely on a good tax policy.

"This latest Bullock plan does not impair our competitiveness in Texas — that is, the whole package," Whitworth said.

SMU board looking for more details

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University's Board of Governors demanded Friday that Gov. Bill Clements get specific about his claim that some members knew of a decision to continue improper cash payments to athletes.

Clements has repeatedly refused to do that in public and rebuffed pleas from four board members to name names in a private meeting at the governor's mansion in Austin.

"The governor, I think, feels he is helping the university — clearing everything up ... taking whatever burden on him alone that he thinks he needs to take," board member Robert Dedman said after a day-long board meeting.

Clements said earlier this week that he and some of the board members knew that the continued payments and that they were being phased out. Several board members vehemently denied knowing anything about them, and have asked John Russell, the United Methodist Church bishop of the North Texas area, to appoint a committee to verify the accuracy of their statements.

On Friday, the board passed a six-point resolution that included a request that Clements make a full disclosure of any board members who joined with him in continuing improper payments.

"We're asking him to be specific on that if he will," Dedman said.

Later Friday, Clements was interviewed by about 10 reporters while walking from the Capitol to his car.

"I want to compliment all of you on really a great job you're doing on this story. I really do," the governor said. "I think that — and I'm being serious about this ... It's a serious matter. I'm interested in the truth."

But as far as specifics were concerned, Clements said: "I don't know how many times I have to repeat what I said. I want the facts to come out. And everybody has to be comfortable with their own position. So, we'll see what develops as time goes forward."

The board asked each of its current members to cooperate fully with the bishop's committee, including giving a sworn deposition if requested. It also authorized the bishop's committee to hire outside counsel if necessary.

Dedman said he will meet with Clements over the weekend and plans to ask the governor then to clarify his statements.

Highway 158 to Garden City was knocked down, he said. Although the culprit wasn't caught, Hagan said that in 99 percent of the cases, it's oil equipment.

• Landing the Super Collider will not be an easy task, but North Texas leaders have begun pulling together to snare the multibillion-dollar research project.

Efforts to persuade the Department of Energy to put the project in the Dallas-Fort Worth region have created an alliance between people in business, government and academics, said Dr. Lylan Lyon Jr., executive vice president of the North Texas Commission.

Several other Texas sites including one near Garden City, as well as numerous other states, also are vying for the project. Gov. Bill Clements said last week that Illinois and California both have an edge on Texas in the race for the Super Collider.

Big Spring, Midland and San Angelo each pledged $50,000 last week to finance lobbying efforts for the project.

• Although child abuse cases and foster home placements have dramatically decreased within a year, Big Spring protective services workers from the state's human services department say a need for more foster homes exists.

"We have no way of predicting the number of abused and neglected children who will need the protection of foster homes in 1987," said Jeannie Hunt, Big Spring's foster home recruiter.

Toni Rash, Big Spring's foster home developer, says homes are needed for youths ages 12 to 16.

• A bill by Rep. Larry Don Shaw ensuring state funds for dorm and food service maintenance at the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf was approved in the Texas House Tuesday.

He has begun to lobby for passage of the bill, now pending in the state Senate.

"The bill would help attract (students) and give stability to the institution," he said.

• A Coahoma girl who underwent surgery in Houston to remove a brain tumor was scheduled to return home Wednesday, a friend of the girl's family reported that morning.

Beverly Martin, secretary at Coahoma Junior High School, said approximately $1,600 was raised at a pancake supper Tuesday night for a fund to go toward medical expenses of Shelle Reid, daughter of Phillip and Shyrlee Reid. More than 400 people were fed at the supper, believed to be the largest number ever to attend a pancake supper at the school, she said.

"We ran out of food. It's the best we've ever done," she said. "It's such a close-knit place out here."

• Anthony Belaski, superintendent at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, was named Cultural Affairs Man of the Year by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce during ceremonies Wednesday.

The award is based on displayed support for the local arts community through outstanding volunteer work, financial support and/or personal talent, Lea Whitehead, chairman of the Cultural Affairs Council said.

Belaski was honored for his initiative and efforts with the staff and inmates of the prison working toward development of the amphitheater and Comanche Trail Park as a cultural activity center.

• Three Big Spring women defended the use of Mexican diet pills to control obesity, despite efforts by U.S. Customs officials to seize the pills that officials link to four deaths in Texas.

Rita Fort, Patsy Pettit and Wynona Pate disagree with the actions because they think the Mexican diet pills are a safe and effective way of losing weight. They said the pills have worked for them.

Although three local doctors were contacted, they declined comment because of their lack of knowledge and experience with the pills.

Prosecutors seek murder scene video tape source

By AVID SEDENO
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Prosecutors on Friday began tracking down the source who gave ABC-TV a copy of a videotaped reenactment in which one police officer showed how he allegedly killed his former partner.

Farrell Tucker is charged with murder in the slaying of his best friend Stephen R. Smith, a suspected vigilante who allegedly planned to kill three top law enforcement officials in Bexar County.

Tucker, who faces trial on May 4, claims he shot Smith in self-defense. The reenactment was made last fall, was presented to a grand jury and was supposed to be kept secret, officials said.

The re-enactment was shown Thursday night on ABC-TV during a "20/20" segment on the problems of the San Antonio Police Department.

Dan Maeso, first assistant district attorney, said he initiated an investigation on Friday to determine who sent the videotape to the network.

"As I look at it now, I don't see anything coming out of it unless I know who did it. I can't say there is a clear violation," he said.

Tucker's first attorney, Joseph Scuro Jr., allegedly gave the network a copy of the videotape, said Terry McDonald, Tucker's current attorney.

"Last Wednesday, my client called me and said he had just talked to Joe Scuro and Joe had told him the '20/20' show would be on Thursday and they've got a copy of the video and that he had sent it to them," McDonald said Friday. "Farrell called me and I went to the judge the next day so he wouldn't think I did it," McDonald said.

McDonald was angry after learning about the tape and questioned Scuro's actions.

"I'm probably not as red-faced as I was last night. It's over with. We've got to sit back and forget about it," McDonald said. "Whoever released that videotape is in violation of the grand jury gag order. It was made on behalf of the grand jury," said Sid Harle, special prosecutor in the case.

Scuro did not return telephone calls to The Associated Press. In January, he asked to be taken off the case because of a conflict of interest.

In the re-enactment, Tucker portrays himself and narrates the sequence of events. A Texas Ranger portrays Smith. The Texas Ranger is driving a standard transmission, compact car and is holding a pistol on Tucker. Tucker pulls another revolver from his trousers and shoots Smith.

McDonald said he would not ask for a change of venue. He said he had not talked to Tucker, but didn't think his client had seen the television program.

At the time of the slaying, Smith was on suspension and awaiting trial on charges of violating the civil rights of a prisoner.

His wife, Lea, had told Tucker that Smith was planning to kill Assistant Chief Frank Hoyack, Deputy Chief Robert Heuck and then-Bexar County District Attorney Sam Millsap, whom Smith blamed for wrecking his police career.

Tucker went to the three officials on the morning of Aug. 18 and told them about Smith's alleged plans.

They asked Tucker to meet with Smith later that evening and provided him with a tape recorder. It didn't work, officials said. After Smith's death, authorities found numerous weapons in his apartment and more than 50,000 rounds of ammunition.

Tucker has been on suspension since his indictment last October.

Inmate ordered released, one confined

The state's board of pardons and paroles ordered Friday that a Howard County jail inmate will return to the state prison while another inmate was ordered released from confinement.

• Johnny Ray Jones, 48, Old Mill Road, will return to the jurisdiction of the Texas Department of Corrections to resume serving a five-year sentence for sexual abuse of a child.

• Jones was arrested by police on Dec. 23 for allegedly assaulting two women, said District Parole Officer David Harman.

He was initially sentenced to prison in September 1984 from 118th District Court.

After serving 14 months in prison, he was released on parole in November 1985.

He was arrested earlier this summer for not reporting to an assignment halfway house in Fort Worth, but was released shortly thereafter, Harman said.

• Aubrey Morris, 31, 305 W. Sixth St., was released from county jail Friday afternoon by sheriff's deputies after the board of pardons and paroles ordered a violation warrant withdrawn.

He was arrested Dec. 15 by police "for assaulting his wife at Denny's Restaurant," Harman said.

The board ordered that a special condition requiring that he attend marriage and family counseling be attached to his parole, Harman said.

Morris was initially sentenced to prison in September 1985 for a forgery charge he was convicted for in Yoakum County.

Deaths

Annie M. McMillan

Services for Annie M. McMillan, 84, of Abilene, mother of a Big Spring man, were at 3 p.m. Friday at Colonial Funeral Home in Brady, with the Rev. Carrol Duke, Mark McMillan and Mike Kilmer officiating. Burial was scheduled for Resthaven Cemetery in Brady.

She died Wednesday, March 4, 1987, in Abilene. She was born April 8, 1902, in Junction and married W.C. McMillan in 1920. He died in 1969. She moved to Abilene in 1980, where she was a member of the Baptist Church.

She is survived by three daughters, Mozelle Wilbanks of Ballinger, Florence Vickers of San Angelo and Margie Daniels of Abilene; a son, Lee Roy "Buzzy" McMillan of Big Spring; three sisters, Ima Thornton, Abbie Connell and Eva Hicks, all of Temple; a brother, R.B. Green of Belton; 11 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Bush focusing on 1988

MASON CITY, Iowa — Vice President George Bush said Friday he is beginning to "shift gears" to focus on a likely presidential campaign in 1988.

On the second day of a two-day, seven-city tour of Iowa, Bush told Republicans that "I'm going to do my job for the next two years." But he also said he must begin to tell people what he would do if elected president.

Bush, appearing before some 300 people at the Mason City Sheraton, suggested his final decision on whether to run could depend on how people react to "my vision of America down into the 1990s."

So, Bush said, he has to let people know what his vision is, and he said his principal themes would be "jobs and peace, ... but peace with an adherence to democratic principles."

Walsh gets office

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Edwin Meese III says he is protecting the investigation into the Iran-Contra affair by appointing Lawrence E. Walsh to a new office of independent counsel.

Meese's action amounts to an end-run around a lawsuit by Lt. Col. Oliver L. North that could have torpedoed Walsh's criminal probe.

Meese's legal maneuver raises questions about Walsh's independence, but the attorney general says the independent counsel will maintain the wide scope of his investigation and that he retains all the independence he had previously when appointed by a panel of three federal judges.

North's lawsuit, raising constitutional questions about the 1978 Ethics in Government Act under which Walsh was appointed, "places a question mark over ... Walsh's activities," the attorney general said.

Law first of a kind

TRENTON, N.J. — New Jersey residents will have to separate bottles and newspapers from the rest of their trash under a bill expected to become the nation's first statewide mandatory recycling law.

Gov. Thomas H. Kean has promised to sign the measure, which received final legislative approval Thursday.

New Jersey's proposed law would be the most stringent in the country, but other state and local governments, spurred by dwindling landfill space and rising garbage dumping costs, are turning more and more to recycling.

"The reason for it is quite clear: Solid waste has moved from a municipal problem to a state and regional problem and, soon, to a national problem," said Jonathan Puth, a Washington-based recycling advocate. "There is just not enough room to put the junk."

Under New Jersey's proposal, residents in the state's 567 communities would be required to recycle three kinds of materials, including aluminum, and all towns would be required to compost leaves.

Staci Bonelli, 12, smiles as she displays a copy of the Philadelphia Daily News announcing her rescue from a sand pit where she was trapped for several hours Thursday night. Bonelli was released from Philadelphia's Children's Hospital Friday after being treated overnight.

Girl rescued

Stuck in sand pit five hours

By DAN BLAKE
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 12-year-old girl spent five harrowing hours trapped in wet sand up to her chest and braving 28-degree cold before firefighters could drain the sand and haul her out of the pit.

Staci Bonelli had been playing with three friends at Trap Rock Co., a local cement manufacturer, when she and another girl became trapped Thursday evening, police Officer Malinka Bragg said.

The second girl was freed easily, but Staci's "own motions and trying to get out forced her down deeper," said Richard Bailey, a Fire Department battalion chief.

The wet sand, coupled with the freezing temperatures, raised the danger of hypothermia, or low body heat, making time important in the rescue, he said.

Staci was treated for mild hypothermia at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and kept overnight for observation, spokeswoman Laura Feragan said today.

Firetrucks illuminated the scene with floodlights as rescuers worked to drain the sand beneath the girl. The pile was surrounded by two concrete walls and open on two ends.

Rescuers tied a rope under Staci's arms and pulled it taut from an overhead conveyor as rescuers prepared to open a trap door about 2 feet below her feet. The door is normally used to transfer sand to a conveyor belt.

Once Staci was secured with ropes and wooden planks were positioned to prevent more sand from collapsing around her, the trap door was slowly opened to drain the sand.

As the sand flowed through the door, rescuers pulled on the ropes to lift her out.

"Once the sand started to drain, it took about five or 10 minutes," Deputy Fire Chief Phillip McLaughlin said.

The girl's parents, Christopher Clayton and Donna Bonelli, were at the scene but declined to speak with reporters.

British ferry capsizes

ZEEBRUGGE, Belgium — A British ferry with more than 500 people aboard capsized at the Zeebrugge harbor entrance Friday night and the Coast Guard at Dover, England, reported at least 26 killed and 240 missing.

Coast Guard spokesman Derek Watt, speaking by telephone from Dover, said authorities were certain of 300 survivors.

An official at Ostende Radio, a Belgian maritime radio service, said the 7,951-ton Herald Of Free Enterprise, which capsized a half-mile out of the port as it departed for Dover, was lying on one side, its funnel in the water.

The accident occurred at 7:50 p.m. (1:50 p.m. EST) in calm, cold weather, the official said, speaking on condition of anonymity. Raymond Nossent, a spokesman for Townsend Thoresen, the ferry's owner, said it carried 463 passengers and a crew of 80.

Spy case unfinished

JERUSALEM — Politicians called Friday for a probe of the government's handling of the Pollard spy case, but aides said Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir opposed further investigation.

Jonathan Jay Pollard, a 32-year-old former U.S. Navy intelligence analyst, was sentenced in Washington Wednesday to life in prison after pleading guilty to spying for Israel. His wife, Anne Henderson-Pollard, was sentenced to five years for helping him.

The issue was expected to come to a head Sunday when Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin reports to the regular weekly meeting of the 25-member coalition Cabinet.

Some Cabinet members, in an effort to placate U.S. officials, plan to propose removing Aviem Sella as commander of the Tel Nof air force base, said political sources who demanded anonymity.

Sella, who had recruited Pollard to spy for Israel, was promoted to commander on Sunday. The promotion caused a serious strain in U.S.-Israeli relations, because U.S. officials had believed that those involved in the Pollard case would not be rewarded.

Freak weather in Greece

ATHENS, Greece — Snow fell for a record fourth straight day and temperatures dropped to a 33-year low Friday as Athens braced for more snowstorms over the weekend.

Windblown flurries dusted the deserted city center throughout the day. Many Athenians took the day off, some schools were closed and restoration work on the ancient Acropolis temples was suspended.

"The persistent snowfall in Athens is extraordinary. It's already snowed four consecutive days and we expect at least two more," said Angelos Kakouras, forecast director for the National Weather Service.

In the northern province of Thrace, officials banned hunters from killing wild boars and wolves descending from the mountains to escape six-foot drifts. On the eastern island of Mytilene, 40 farm animals died in the cold.

Stargazer discovers supernova

TORONTO (AP) — A 29-year-old Canadian stargazer who lives alone on a mountaintop in Chile and earns less than $15,000 a year has elated astronomers worldwide with his discovery of the explosion of a dying star — one of the most important celestial events observed in centuries.

At 11 p.m. on Feb. 23, almost by accident as Ian Shelton waited for a comet to race across the southern hemisphere, he suddenly glimpsed an exceptionally bright star on a routine photograph. It hadn't been there hours before.

Shelton dashed outside the observatory at Las Campanas in northern Chile to take a clear-eyed look at the naked sky and confirmed his discovery.

Within hours, astronomers around the world were in a state of high excitement.

Shelton — followed a few hours later by a New Zealand amateur astronomer — had stumbled upon a supernova, the celestial explosion of a dying star.

The importance comes from the star's proximity in the Large Magellanic Cloud, a satellite of the earth's galaxy, about 150,000 light-years away, very close by astronomical standards.

That makes it the brightest supernova since 1604 and the only one visible to the naked eye since 1885.

"This is really big for astronomers and incredibly exciting to be a part of," said Robert Garrison, director of the University of Toronto observatory.

"Every telescope in the Southern Hemisphere is now looking at it," he said of the supernova, expected to fade within a month as it turns into a neutron star of black hole.

He listed 40 telescopes operated by professional astronomers in the southern hemisphere, including 20 European and U.S. telescopes in Chile.

Shelton gets his meals from an American lodge run by the Carnegie Institute of Washington, D.C., which operates a telescope 10 times larger than Shelton's on the mountain where the Canadian observatory is located.

"It's been hard to get him to sleep and eat," Garrison said of the young astronomer who volunteered for the star-watching job in the Andes after collecting a bachelor's degree in physics from the University of Manitoba.

"He's a pretty self-denying sort of person," said Garrison, who talks with Shelton twice daily by shortwave radio and visits the observatory regularly. Among Shelton's rewards will be having the supernova named after him.

Musicians record via satellite

By RONALD POWERS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stevie Wonder and Nile Rodgers got together to make a record even though they were on opposite coasts, demonstrating technology that producers said could unite musicians worldwide.

Their studio Wednesday stretched from the boroughs of Queens to Staten Island via fiber optics, then across thousands of miles of space to a GTE satellite and back down to Los Angeles, where Wonder performed.

The technology will allow recording artists to work together from virtually any major city in the world, said Ben Rizzi, co-owner of Master Sound Astoria, which sponsored the session.

Just as important, Rizzi said, is the quality of the recordings the sessions produce. Through use of computers, fiber optics and digital technology the music played at a remote studio can be recorded "thousands of miles away with absolute clarity."

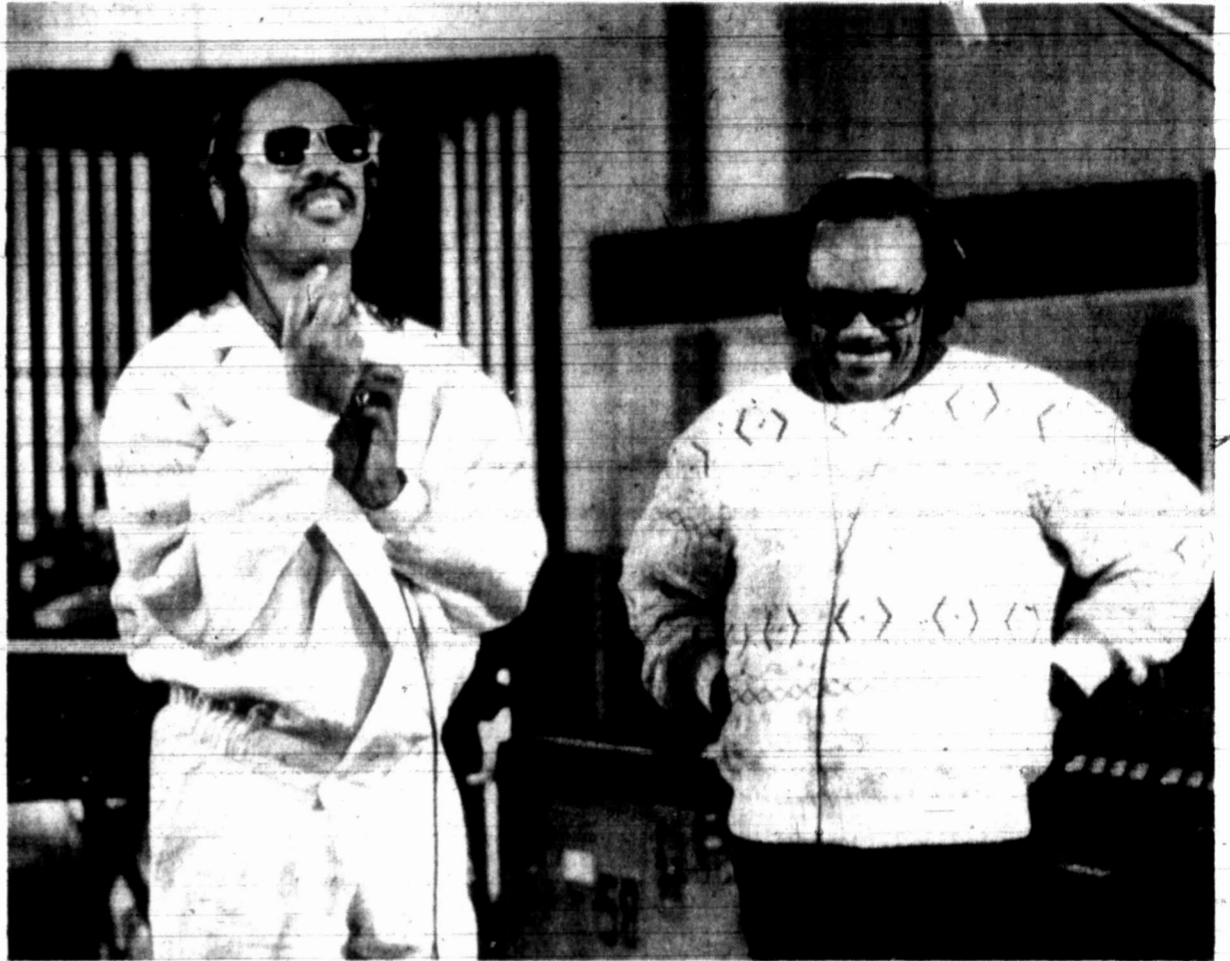

"This is not a copy, but a clone," Rizzi said.

The demonstration relied on a hookup of four satellite channels and provided audio and video connection between the two locations.

"It's very personal and it's very comfortable," said Rodgers. "It's an aural experience. We have to hear this stuff, and it works great."

Quincy Jones, producer of the West Coast segment, said, "This breakthrough can help bring the world's musicians closer together."

Harry Mendell, who organized the artists and is a consultant to Master Sound, estimates costs of a four-hour recording session at about $12,000. The companies donated services for the demonstration.

Recording star Stevie Wonder, left, and Quincy Jones participate in a coast-to-coast recording session, linked to a studio in New York, to record an anti-drug song Wednesday in Los Angeles. New technology enabled input from studios in both cities. The demonstration project was the recording of "Stop, Don't Pass Go," an anti-drug song.

Bob Clearmountain, a producer and engineer who has worked recently with Bruce Springsteen, Brian Adams and David Bowie, said, "It's hard to justify that kind of a cost in a normal album budget. But if they can get the cost down to where it's a little more economical, it will be marvelous."

The first music recorded was a vocal overdubbing of a Wonder anti-drug song, "Stop, Don't Pass Go," by a chorus led by Rodgers.

"I felt that this being a historical moment... what would be better than making a message on something that is devastating us," Wonder said.

PBS kicks off 'Festival' Child safety show set

By KATHRYN BAKER
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Arlo Guthrie and friends kick off public television's March "Festival" of fund-raising Saturday with a nostalgic two hours of folk and blues recorded in concert in Austin. The two-week "Festival" raised $36 million nationally last year for the Public Broadcasting Service.

"Audiences have been quite stable and growing a bit and I think that's remarkable considering what's happening elsewhere in the industry," said Hugh Price, senior vice president of production at WNET, the biggest producer of "Festival" programming.

In the past eight years, WNET-produced programs have brought $16 million to public television, Price said. Last year, he said, a Benny Goodman special alone drew $1.4 million in pledges.

This year, WNET programs airing during "Festival" include tributes to actor Jimmy Stewart, composers Jule Styne and Henry Mancini and the traditional concluding gala of stars on Sunday, March 22.

This year's gala host is violinist Itzhak Perlman joined by stars of opera, jazz, classical music and Broadway. The show was taped before a live audience in New York. Performers include Leonard Bernstein, Roberta Peters, Marilyn Horne, Howard McGillin, Bernadette Peters, Pinchas Zukerman and The Modern Jazz Quartet, among many others.

"The Arlo Guthrie Show" features performances by folk singers Pete Seeger and Jerry Jeff Walker, and rock and blues from Bonnie Raitt and David Bromberg. Guthrie opens with the popular "City of New Orleans" and proves he can still spin a tale, stopping in the middle of a song to complain at length about conversion to the metric system and why it is causing all the world's woes. A good time is had by all.

NEW YORK — The makers of "How to Raise a Street-Smart Child" warn at the outset that young children should watch with an adult.

Indeed, the hour-long program is scary enough to frighten even big people, beginning as it does with eerie scenes of an empty playground.

But it is packed with valuable tips. For instance, who would think that giving a kid a shirt with his name on it could make him an easy target for a child molester?

The program, also offered as a home video, airs this month on Home Box Office beginning Sunday. It is based on a book of the same name by Grace Hechinger.

Actor Daniel J. Travanti of "Hill Street Blues" is narrator. He played John Walsh in a television movie about the kidnapping of Walsh's son, Adam, who was abducted from a shopping center and murdered.

The video is interspersed with interviews of first-graders, who demonstrate a common ignorance about what exactly a "stranger" is. Neither can most of the little ones supply their full names, telephone numbers or addresses.

Travanti said in a telephone interview that he had two "hip" 11-year-old friends watch the tape. "They were amazed at how naive the little kids were," he said. "Danielle kept saying, 'He doesn't know what a stranger is?' I said, 'Danny, why are you sneering? Are the kids at your school as hip as you are?'"

Indeed, one kid in the video describes a stranger as someone "maybe with a coat that goes over their mouth."

Then viewers are shown pictures of nice-looking guys who turned out to be child molesters. Children, we are told, must be taught that a stranger is simply anyone they do not know.

Police officers in the video suggest that in case someone other than a family member must pick up a child at school, for instance, they should have a secret "code word" the child will demand before going with them.

They also say children should be taught not to be afraid to resist an adult under certain circumstances. John Walsh appears on the tape to suggest his son might be alive if he weren't taught to be so polite.

Business briefs

Service lists oil properties

Petroleum Listing Service, a multiple listing data base for the oil industry, has been established in Midland. The company was founded to initiate the concept of multiple listing, as found in real estate, into the petroleum industry, Director Ron Wise said.

PLS lists properties for sale. Members receive a report of those who have inquired about their listing or property.

Interested parties, after accessing the service through either an office visit or computer modem, are sent a one- to eight-page synopsis on the property in question, on the letterhead of the property owner.

Members may call the office to ask for daily printouts of any new listings, or listings of properties for sale in categories.

The company can be reached at P.O. Box 834 Midland 79702, phone 687-1200.

Museum plans oil photo contest

Focus on Oil, the ninth annual photo contest and exhibit on petroleum-related subjects, will be conducted at the Petroleum Museum in Midland.

Focus on Oil is open to any amateur or professional photographer who is a U.S. resident. Photographers may enter prints in Amateur Color or Professional Color classes, and both amateurs and professionals may enter the Black & White class.

The prints must portray any aspect of oil and gas exploration, drilling, production, transportation or refining, including people working in the industry, but may not include end-product use.

Cash awards include $250 for best of show, $175 for first place in each class; $125 for second places; and $50 for third places. An entry fee of $5 per print will be charged.

Judges will select approximately 50 photographs for exhibit in the museum during June and July.

Entries must be received by May 15 for the May 24 judging. For more information, contact the Museum, 1500 Interstate 20 West, Midland 79701.

Bank donates historical spots

A series of Sesquicentennial radio spots written and recorded by Tumbleweed Smith, also known as Bob Lewis, have been made available to the Heritage Museum by a donation from the First National Bank of Big Spring.

These spots of Big Spring history include the sounds of trains as they pull into the station, the yells of cowboys branding steers, the wind blowing over the basin and the lonesome howl of the coyote at sundown, according to curator Angie Way.

Area farmers preparing land

Farmers are busy with land preparation as the weather permits in District 6 Far West Texas, including Howard County, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The district has had rain up to one inch and snow up to three inches, the service reported; wheat looks good.

Ranges and livestock are in good shape, but the cold weather has been difficult for shorn sheep and goats.

In District 7 West Central Texas, including Runnels County, wheat offers good grazing. The region has experienced rain and 3-6 inches of snow.

Lambing and angora goat shearing are in progress. Mohair yields are fair to good. Some gardeners are setting out onions.

Big Spring belt buckle available

The Big Spring solid brass belt buckle, number five in the series, has arrived and may be purchased for $20 at the Chamber of Commerce office at 215 W. Third St. The buckle features a rattlesnake.

Cheryl Shults, 1001 Birdwell

Lane, was the winner of the gold plated silver buckle at the Chamber community luncheon Wednesday. Al Valdes won the silver buckle, with a ticket he purchased with $25 he won in a drawing earlier at the luncheon.

Water deliveries lower

Almost unprecedented winter flow and cooler weather combined with the depressed economy to lower Colorado River Municipal Water District deliveries during February, officials said.

Deliveries reached 889,273,334 gallons, down 277 million gallons or 23.8 percent from February 1986.

Of the number, 760,220,200 gallons in municipal deliveries represented a 258,178,000 decrease, of which 110,691,000 gallons were represented by San Angelo taking no water this year.

Oil companies drew 129,053,134 gallons, down 19.6 million or 13.37 percent from last year.

Big Spring took 133,779,000 gallons, down 23.32 percent; Midland 258,495,000 gallons, down 23,975,000 or 9.49 percent; Odessa 309,482,000 gallons, down 67 million or 17.81 percent; Snyder 53,336,000 gallons, down 15 million or 22.23 percent; and Stanton 6,128,000 gallons, down 1.2 million or 16.26 percent.

Successive light showers on already soaked terrain, plus a brisk rain at the end of the month, resulted in Lake J.B. Thomas gaining 2,285 acre feet to 31 percent of capacity. Also, Lake Spence, gained 9,440 acre feet to elevation 1883.64, or two-thirds of capacity.

Drilling report

The price of West Texas crude is $18.09, as of Friday, March 6.

These are the latest oil and gas activity reports filed with the Texas Railroad Commission for the five-county crossroads country.

Four 4,000-ft. developmental wells are planned by A.K. Guthrie Operating of Big Spring at drillsites eight to nine miles northeast of Forsan, Howard County. The locations are in 40 and 120-acre leases in the WANW Survey.

The well has been designated as the No. 3 John Otis "B" and the No. 1 Southland "B", 1 Southland "C" and 1 Southland "D". They will be drilled in the Howard-Glasscock Field.

Enduro Oil has abandoned two undrilled locations in the Moore Field, Howard County. The No. 2 Gilbert and the No. 1 Quinn "35" were to have been located five miles west and six miles southwest of Big Spring, respectively. Each well had carried permit for 3,600-ft. total drilling depth.

A new producer has been brought on line in Mitchell County's North Coleman Ranch Field, with Vista Energy as the operator.

Located two miles northeast of Cuthbert, the well is in a 20-acre lease in the H&TC Survey. It is designated as the No. 5 Coleman Ranch.

The operation indicated potential to pump 55 barrels of oil per day. It bottomed at 3,500 feet, and will produce from perforations in the Clear Fork Formation, 2,999 to 3,441 feet into the wellbore.

Mobil Producing of Midland is planning to conduct a re-entry operation at the No. 108 Mary Foster A/C "2", a developmental well in the Itan Field, Mitchell County. The well is located three miles southwest of Itan in a 3,940-acre lease in the T&P Survey.

The well was originally completed by the same operator Dec. 18, 1973, and it pumped 82 barrels of oil per day, plus 166 barrels of water from perforations in the San Angelo Formation at 2,494 to 3,265 feet into the wellbore. Mobil will be seeking production in the San Andres Formation at approximately 2,390 feet.

The No. 1 R.R. Williams, Jr., an 8,550-ft. wildcat well, is scheduled to be drilled in Borden County. Wagner, Duer & Co. of Fort Worth is the operator. The well will be spudded in a 163-acre lease 15 miles northeast of Gall in the H&TC Survey.

Two undrilled locations in Borden County have been abandoned by Amoco Production. The wildcat wells had been designated as the No. 5 and 6 Pearl Jones. Drillsites were three miles northeast of Gall. The wells had carried authority for 9,100-ft. total drilling depth.

Parker & Parsley Petroleum has filed first production figures on a new oil well in the Spraberry Trend Field, Martin County. The No. 2 Campbell "B" showed potential to pump 96 barrels of oil per day, plus 48,000 CF casinghead gas and 94 barrels of water.

The operator has 320 acres leased, with drillsite in the Hartley CSL Survey, seven miles northwest of Tarzan. Production will be commingled from perforations in the Spraberry Formation, 8,088 to 9,593 feet into the wellbore. Total drilling depth was 9,700 feet.

RK Petroleum has given up on its efforts to make a producer out of the No. 1 Texas Land & Mortgage, a re-entry try in the South Bredlove Field, Martin County. Drillsite was three miles north of Tarzan in a 160-acre lease in the T&P Survey.

The same operator originally completed the well Sept. 21, 1977, and at that time it flowed 176 barrels of oil per day from perforations in the Devonian Formation at 11,852 to 11,866 feet. Total drilling depth was 11,866 feet.

Maynard Oil has hung the "dry hole" sign on the No. 1 Wilkerson Ranch, a wildcat try in Glasscock County. The operation was located six miles south of Garden City in the T&P Survey. The well was spudded last Dec. 17, and bottomed dry at 10,509 feet.

Gunner Pickett, 11, left takes a look at a poster pointed out by his sister Ginger, 10, at the Highland Mall. Both are students at Elbow Elementary School. Pictured between them is Ashley Alexander, 4, who will attend school there next year. The three were on hand as the results of the fifth annual Americanism Poster Contest were put on display in the former TG&Y building Thursday and will be exhibited during March. The competition, in which Gunner earned a second place, is sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Club Forsan Study Club. Ribbons and monetary awards were presented to the top three finishers in each class, from kindergarten through fifth grade. The Picketts are the children of Benny and Kathy Pickett; Ashley is the daughter of Jim and Susan Alexander.

Compact discs help school officials

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — Although the rules and regulations governing Texas public schools now cover 60,000 pages, Draper Kauffman carries them around in his pocket.

And he's betting that school administrators, tired of sifting through reams of paper for hours to make certain they are complying with the rules, are willing to plunk down $2,000 a year to make that chore easy.

"The problem schools are facing is a classic information explosion," says Kauffman, who until last year was director of planning for technology for the Houston Independent School District. "The bureaucracy keeps generating more and more paper, more and more rules, more and more regulations, more and more forms. And you just can't keep up."

Kauffman's solution is the compact disc — the same pancake-size golden plate more and more Americans are turning to for music. But instead of the crystal clear sounds of Beethoven or Bon Jovi, Kauffman uses the immense storage capacity of the disc for data that can be retrieved by a CD player connected to an IBM-compatible personal computer.

Now, by using the disc assembled by Kauffman's Houston-based Quantum Access Inc., a school administrator merely selects a key word, punches it into a computer terminal and within seconds receives a reply that indexes how many times the word appears in the Texas Education Encyclopedia and where in the rules and regulations it can be found.

"We index every bloody word except 'a,' 'an,' 'the,' 'and,' and 'but,'" Kauffman says. "This is going to help schools during a time when they need to save money."

So far, about 35 Texas districts — ranging in size from San Antonio and Austin to Pine Tree and Jacksboro — have purchased the disc. The Texas Education Agency has six of them and 17 of the 20 service centers the state operates are equipped with the disc program.

"You don't have to wait for someone to dig out the paperwork," Kauffman says. "Not only does it take less time, but people below don't have to wait as long on hold, waiting for a decision. So it makes things run more smoothly and saves them a lot of grief and frustration."

For the annual fee, the districts every three months get a new disc updated with any changes in state school rules.

Quantum Access only has been in business since last April, but already has 20 employees operating out of a building in Houston's Galleria area.

"I was certain it was a good gamble," says Kauffman, who has a doctorate in long range forecasting and education policy from the University of Massachusetts and also worked as an education policy analyst for the Stanford Research Institute. "The odds are very strongly in favor of the technology and the applications."

Three cheers for aimless ambling

By TOM PETERS
In a recent Detroit Free Press feature, "The Hazards of Business Fads," American Management Association President Tom Horton takes a swipe at my favorite prescription: managing by wandering around.

Or, the paper reports, "by stumbling around, as Horton says. It's his nomination for most ridiculous recent management fad."

The article quotes Horton's gripe: "The theory is that the captain needs to get away from the bridge and roam the ship. But somebody's got to be steering the ship." Good managers, he points out, don't wander aimlessly; their visits are planned and purposeful.

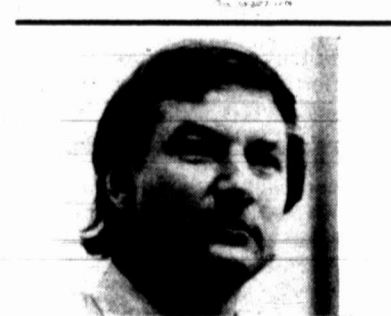

Utter nonsense. Our businesses, large ones especially, are losing ground for two principal reasons: out-of-touch leaders and an inability to act fast in a fast-changing world. Here's why.

1. Management enemy number one is information distortion, especially when it comes professionally packaged, accompanied by computer-generated, 16-color graphics.

As a long-time consultant, I know almost every trick of the trade when it comes to distorting information behind crisp logic and clever schematics. The world today is a messy place. You, the manager, had better be as messy as the world.

Information-professing scientists even have a term to describe this need — requisite variety. That is, the variety of your sources must match the complexity of the real problem, or you will be led to erroneous conclusions.

In the office, whether you are chief of a big organization or a small one (like me), you are shielded from the truth by a bewildering array of devices, prudent and malicious, all designed to "save" you from trivia and complexity so that your mind can be clear as you confront the "big picture" decisions. Instead, our minds are empty, and we make uninformed decisions.

2. The action and the truth are on the front line. Sad to say, Mr. Horton, the team plugging away in the distribution center on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. graveyard shift knows more about the company's quality and service problems than the bosses do, all dozen levels of them. But to disgorge that information, you must visit enough and chat with enough people at 3 a.m. to stitch together an accurate picture.

Gen. George Patton understood all this. He had an intuitive feel for bottlenecks in the Army's execution of his grand strategy.

Recall the sometimes censored scene in "Patton," the movie, in which the general shoots a peasant's horse to clear a bridge and let the Army through. I don't endorse shooting horses; I do endorse Patton's restless roaming.

Likewise, Patton's British counterpart, Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery, occupied a mobile, near-the-front trailer, rather than his formal headquarters. He resided there with a tiny band of young officers who directly passed his orders to subordinate generals. Their second purpose was to collect undistorted feedback about the feel of the front, and the subordinate generals' states of mind.

3. Ambling must be semi-aimless. Psychologists used to preach to guilty dads, "It doesn't matter how much time you spend with your kids, it's the quality of the time that counts." Common sense, as well as subsequent studies, say that's bunk.

Most good things that happen with kids (or in any other setting) are inadvertent, a sideshow to the planned purpose of an activity. For instance, it's said that Albert Einstein discovered relativity while riding a train, absent-mindedly watching a parallel train pull ahead, leaving him with the sense of moving backward — relatively. As philosopher Vilfredo Pareto put it, "Logic is useful for proof, but almost never for making discoveries."

That meticulously-planned state visit by the chief of the 16- or 16,000-person firm will be contorted by subordinates to ensure that the hypotheses he already holds are confirmed.

4. There is not enough time to get it "right." By the time you have collected enough evidence to be sure about anything today, three competitors have captured the market.

In "Kaisha: The Japanese Corporation," James Abegglen and George Stalk, Jr., described Japanese firms' obsession with competitors. Oddly, they conclude that our problem is our obsession with planning.

A leading Japanese firm lets no competitive move go unanswered, no matter how tiny. The authors say we are "dangerously naive."

We reason that the Japanese "are not using any technology or innovation we are not already aware of... Our challenge is to leap frog them." While we carefully consider the virtues of an appropriate response... the gap engendered by Japan's host of tiny changes continues to widen.

Horton's former employer, IBM, is suffering from this malaise right now. Its highly articulated systems have kept too many unit commanders effectively isolated on the bridge, while skippers with wanderlust, such as President Ken Olsen of Digital Equipment, have tackled rapidly to several victories.

Above all, today, we must teach action. In a Harvard Business Review article, McKinsey & Company consultant Amar Bhidé called "organizational hustle" an unparalleled competitive weapon. Our firms of all sizes must learn to hustle — grab a little bit of information, check it out some, and then, for heaven's sake, do something.

Captain, get off the bridge, travel by yourself, and don't rest until you find out why one lonely consumer doesn't like your car or steel joist; and find out why one lonely front-line employee thinks your latest participative management scheme is just so much hot air coming from the isolated bridge once again.

Crime-conscious public spurs security boom

By DOUG CRICHTON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — An increasingly crime-conscious public — even paranoid, some officials say — is spurring an unprecedented boom in the private eye and private security business across Texas.

In 1975, the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies regulated just 3,000 people in the industry, a number that in 1986 swelled to more than 84,000, said Clema Sanders, the board's executive director.

"People are now more paranoid than ever," Ms. Sanders said. "You read so much and hear so much about crime. People are so much more aware of all these things that happen nowadays."

Dale Simpson of Dallas, a member of Ms. Sanders' board, agreed: "The private security business is probably the most booming business in the state of Texas today."

Industry officials say the soured Texas economy has fueled the trend. Besides pushing unemployment and crime rates ever higher, the cash crunch has hampered many cities' law enforcement agencies and left them unable to keep up with security demands.

"It's the economy that has caused our business to pick up," says Col. Charlie Beckwith, who led the aborted mission to rescue American hostages in Iran. He now operates Interpro Personal and Corporate Security Co. in Austin.

"We're doing at least 50 percent more business now than three years ago," he added. "And customers are now more precise and sophisticated. They want to write the rules and they know more about what kind of security they want."

The growth of the security and private investigator business is averaging more than 20 percent per year in Texas. But most of the growth has been in the private security area such as alarm contractors, contract guard agencies, guard dogs and private patrols, Ms. Sanders said.

And it is that explosive expansion that is taxing the agency beyond its means. Her staff has added only four employees since 1975, when 30 people regulated 3,000.

"I'd have to say we're a teeny tiny bit outnumbered. It's absurd," she said. "December '86 was the strongest month we've ever had and we're hip deep in paper. My knees have carpet burns from pleading for more money at the Legislature."

Nevertheless, a New York-based security consultant concluded after his recent national study that Texas runs the best security-investigator regulatory operation of any state.

Wind beating homer keys Hawks' rally

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

All Alfred Lopez wanted to do was hit the ball deep enough in the outfield to give Chad Baker time to score from second base. When he hit the ball, he thought he'd done his job, and nothing more.

But when Northwood Junior College's centerfielder and right fielder slammed against the aluminum wall, and the ball sailed over their heads, the Howard College bench let out a collective whoop and Lopez knew he'd done something more.

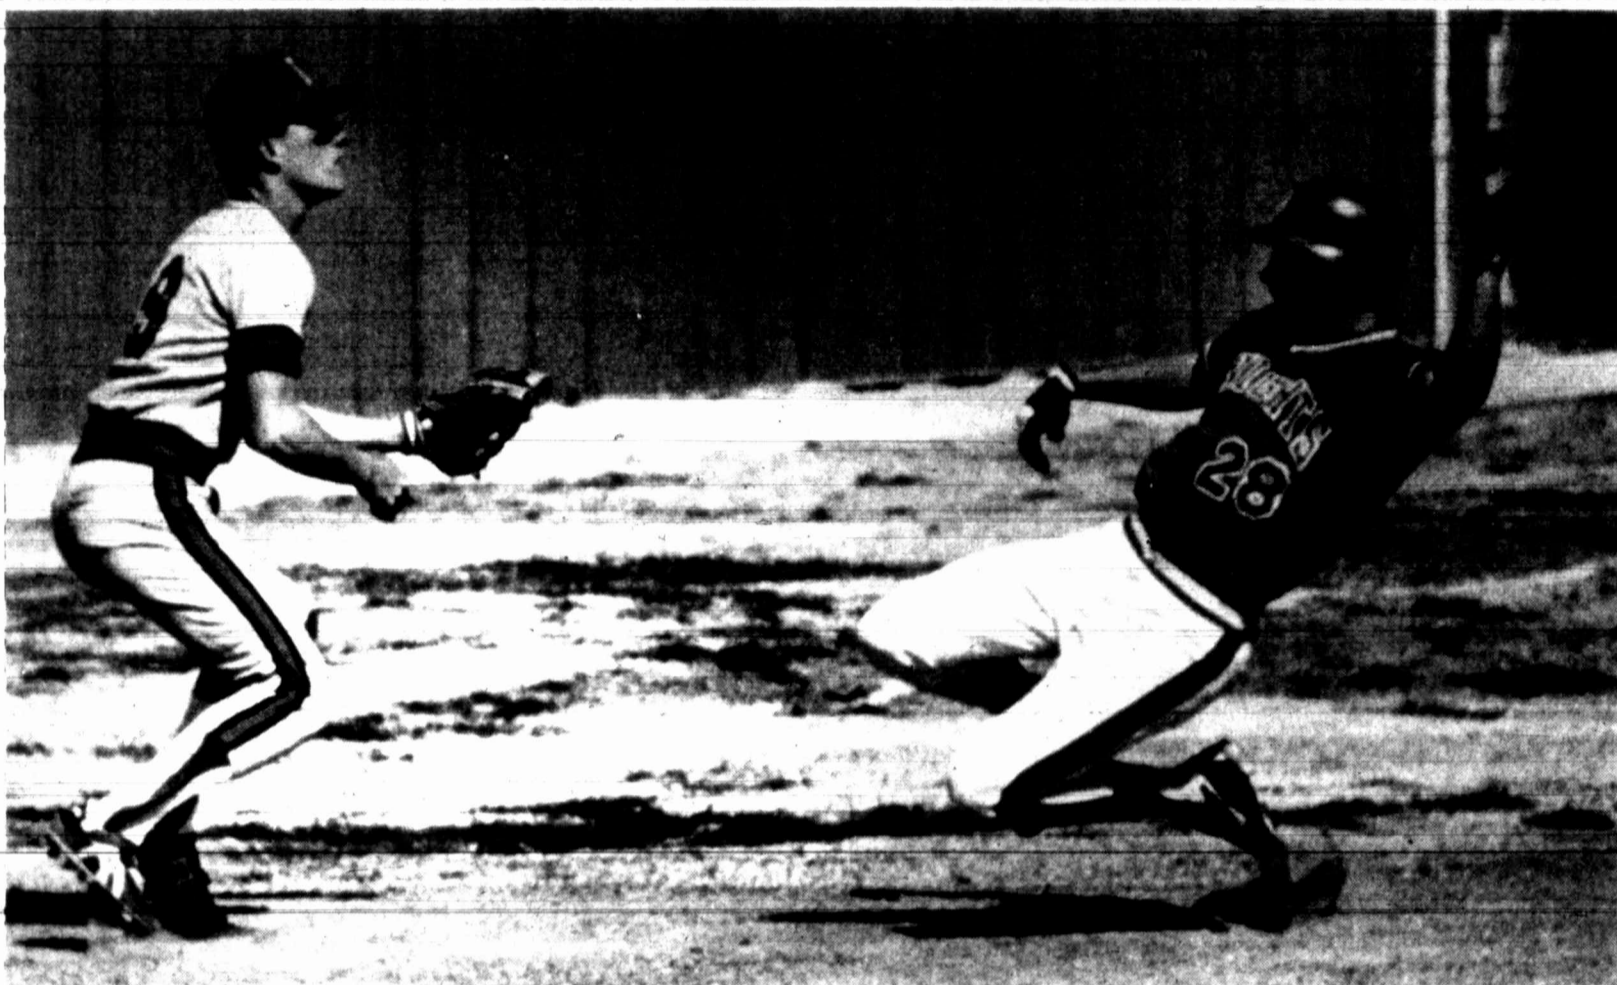

Lopez's two-run shot with one out in the bottom of the eighth gave the Hawks an 8-7 lead, and they went on to score two more runs in the inning to take a 10-7 win in the opener of this weekend's three-game series at Jack Barber Field.

"I thought it was just a deep fly," Lopez said. "I was really just trying to hit it to deep right field. I'll take that, but I would've taken a tag. I was just trying to move the runner to third. I didn't predict it or anything."

What made Lopez's homer all the more impressive was that it flew against a stiff wind that didn't allow another homer all day. The timely round-tripper was Lopez's only hit of the day.

The Hawks had trailed the Knights by three runs in the seventh inning, and the visitors seemed to have control of the game.

Neither team scored in the first inning, but Northwood scored in the second when Louis Luna crossed the plate before the Hawks could tag Rich Ostropowicz in a hot box between first and second for the final out of the inning. The Hawks scored an unearned run to tie the game in the bottom of the second. The score stayed that way until the bottom of the fourth, when Ernesto Castro led with a walk, and catcher Randy Deal cracked a shoulder level fast ball to the left field corner for a run scoring double.

In their next turn at bat, the Knights rebounded with three runs on three hits for a 4-2 lead.

The Hawks answered with a two-run, two-out rally to tie the game. After the first two batters grounded out, Jeff Shults whalloped a double to the right field wall and scored from second on a bad throw to first by Northwood pitcher Daryl Wood.

Chimelis reached first safely because of the error, and advanced to second on an Ernesto Castro single. With two-outs and the runners going, Chimelis scored on a single by catcher Randy Deal.

In the top of the sixth, as in the top of the eighth, the Hawks played excellent defense to thwart strong Northwood scoring bids.

In the sixth, the Knights' lead-off batter, Steve Briere, walked and reached third on an error. The next batter walked, but the Hawks caught Briere in no man's land, and burned him in a hot box. Though they started the inning with runners on the corners, the Knights came up empty.

In the eighth, lead batter Kevin Heritage reached first on an error by the Hawks. While pitching to the Brian Woods, Howard pitcher Mark Hutchison nailed a sneaky Heritage leaning to far towards second. Though Hutchison walked Woods, Deal burned him when he tried to steal second.

For the game, Howard pitchers picked off two Northwood runners at first, two Knights were tagged in hot-boxes, and another was caught stealing. Combine that with the fact that five of Howard's runs were unearned and you can conclude that Northwood lost this one as much as Howard won it.

"They just gave that ballgame away," said Hawks' coach Bill Griffin. They made five errors and we only earned five runs. But we took advantage of some walks, and boy, my pitchers were wild.

"But I thought my boys played well. They came back, and that's what's important," Griffin said.

The wildness Griffin referred to was 10 walks surrendered by Howard pitchers and another free base issued on a hit batter. The other side of the coin is that the three Howard pitchers — starter Howard Landry and relievers Hutchison and Ted Hebert, struck out eight batters, and, as noted above, gave Northwood baserunners fits.

In the seventh inning, the Knights scored three runs on two hits, and Howard countered with one run by Lopez following a walk. After seven, the Knights led 7-5, and the stage was set for the Hawks' eighth inning heroics.

Frank Medina opened the inning with a deep fly ball to center field, which the Northwood center fielder simply dropped. Chad Baker followed with a single, and Philip Kerne scored Medina with a sacrifice fly. Lopez followed that with his game winning homer.

Jeff Shults then reached safely on a bunt, and the crumbling Knights followed with two wild pitches and an error, allowing the Hawks their two final runs.

Hutchison earned the win, to up his record to 2-1. Hebert got the save. Bubba Dixon took the loss for the Knights.

The Hawks are now 8-2 on the season. Northwood fell to 9-2.

The Hawks and Knights will battle twice today, with the opener of the double-header beginning at 1 p.m.

Clemens leaves practice angry with Sox contract

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Roger Clemens, the American League MVP and Cy Young Award winner, cleaned out his locker and left the Boston Red Sox's training camp Friday when the team said it was unilaterally renewing his contract.

The Red Sox said the pitcher rejected a contract offer which could make him "the highest paid third-year player in baseball this year."

Advised by agents Alan and Randy Hendricks that the team was exercising its right to automatically renew his contract for $450,000, Clemens walked off the field during practice.

He packed his equipment, met briefly with Manager John McNamara and then walked out unnoticed.

"We're leaving Winter Haven and Roger is leaving Winter Haven," Alan Hendricks said without mentioning a specific destination. "The Red Sox's original offer was $400,000, then $500,000 on Wednesday. It's too low. You're talking about an MVP and Cy Young Award winner."

Since Clemens is one year shy of the three-year requirement for going to salary arbitration, the team has the right to renew his contract at any figure not exceeding a 20 percent salary cut from the previous year.

Gorman said that he wanted to deliver notice of Clemens' contract renewal personally, but the big right-hander already had left the clubhouse.

Gorman said that the Hendricks demanded a 2-year contract for a total of $2.4 million—$1 million for 1987, and $1.4 million for 1988. Clemens received $340,000, including $120,000 in incentive money, in leading the major leagues with a 24-4 record last season.

"We're still apart, they didn't budge, Gorman said. "We met with them (Hendricks) for about 30 minutes and they said that based on our offer they would recommend that Roger leave camp."

"We told them we were going to renew his contract under terms of the basic agreement to protect him and protect the club. As soon as copies are sent to his home here and his home near Houston by certified mail, he'll be under contract."

"We feel we made an attempt to narrow the gap. Our offer was double his contract of last year with incentives way beyond that. Even without the incentives he would be the highest paid third year player in baseball right now."

A source, who asked not to be identified told The Associated Press, that the Red Sox renewed Clemens' contract for $450,000. The same source said that the club's offer, including incentives, was worth about $850,000.

Gorman stressed that the renewal figure "had no bearing at all," saying, "Hopefully, when all emotion dies down we'll go back to negotiating a new contract. We made it very clear we still want to talk and get something settled."

"I'm disappointed, McNamara said. "I hope they keep talking and get him back into camp."

"Roger came up to me before he left and told me he wasn't going to pitch tomorrow. That was all that was said."

"I don't want to speculate. We just have to adjust."

Clemens was scheduled to pitch the exhibition season opener against the Detroit Tigers Saturday. McNamara said he would be replaced by Calvin Schiraldi, who had been scheduled to work a couple of innings in relief.

"With renewal of his contract, Roger should show up tomorrow," Gorman said. "If he doesn't, he'll be in violation of the contract."

Mustangs, Indians in finals

By STEVE BELVIN

The Shallowater Mustangs and Hawley Bearcats hooked up in a classic confrontation in the opening game of the Region I-AA boys tournament at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Friday night.

The score was tied 16 times and the lead changed hands 12 times. When it was all said and done with the Mustangs came away with a thrilling 80-76 victory. The win puts Shallowater in the championship game against Morton, an 85-57 winner over Coleman in the second game of the tournament.

The game was nip-and-tuck all the way through. The two main differences were that Shallowater held a 32-21 rebounding edge and coach Ray Morris went to his bench regularly, using eight players.

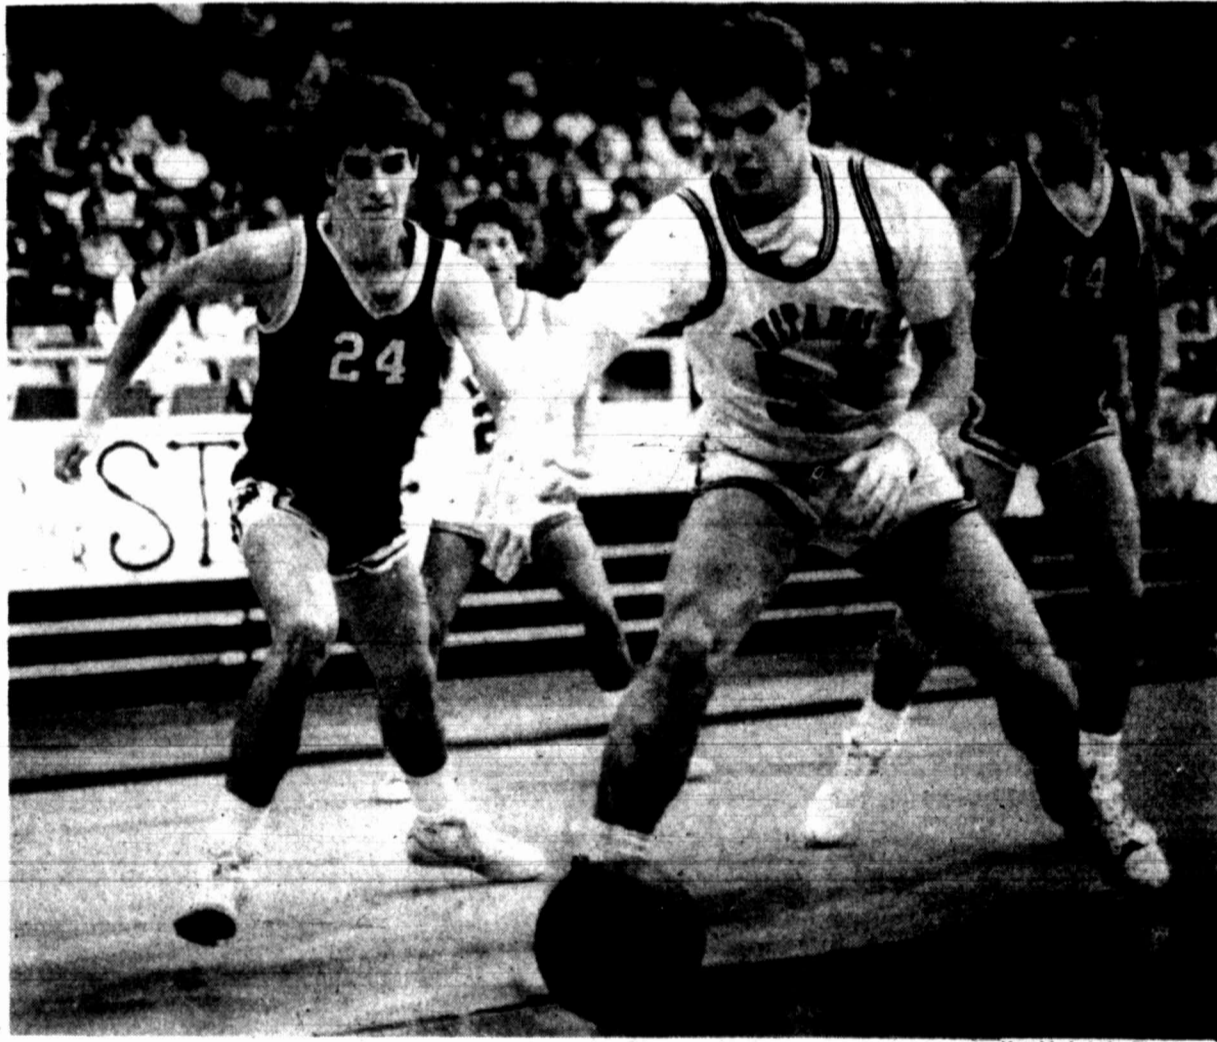

Meanwhile, Hawley coach Joey Light played his starters the entire game. His only sub came with 15 seconds left in the game, when forward Terry Allen fouled out.

Trailing 36-31 at the half, Hawley rallied back in the third quarter to take a 56-54 lead going into the final quarter on a 12-foot jumper by Hunter Cooley.

Cooley, a 6-4 senior forward, played a strong game, scoring 33 points, grabbing 9 rebounds and collecting eight steals. Most of his thefts came when Shallowater tried to lob the ball over him.

The game was tied six times in the final quarter and Shallowater made its move with under two minutes remaining, thanks to three steals by Brett Jungman. The Mustangs converted all three steals into baskets, taking a 71-66 lead with 2:46 left in the game.

But Hawley rallied back to knot the score at 74 with 1:01 left. Shallowater then answered with a

Shallowater was led by hot-shooting guard Scott Chamberlain, who bombed the Hawley zone for 29 points. Ables damaged the Hawley zone for 16 points and Robb Johnson used his 6-3, 235-pound body to collect 11 rebounds and score 14 points, against the Bearcats, who only had one starter over six-feet tall.

Guard Terry Allen followed Cooley with 18 points and forward Tony Elliott scored 12 points.

Don't bet on Iron Mike and Bonecrusher going the distance

LAS VEGAS, NEV. (AP) — Mike Tyson, boxing's master of menace, and James Odell Smith, a college graduate who is called "Bonecrusher," will meet tonight in a battle of heavyweight champions.

At stake will be Tyson's World Boxing Council title and the World Boxing Association championship held by Smith. The winner will be the world's only heavyweight champion, at least temporarily.

The International Boxing Federation title is vacant. The IBF withdrew championship recognition from Michael Spinks for his refusal to make a mandatory defense against Tony Tucker.

Tyson is a 7-1 favorite in the fight at a 14,600-seat outdoor arena at the Las Vegas Hilton. It will be televised by HBO and will begin no earlier than 7:55 p.m. PDT.

The match is scheduled for 12 rounds, but it's doubtful the two sluggers will need a decision to determine the outcome.

It is intriguing, this matchup between Tyson, who followed the mean streets of Brooklyn into a reform school at age 13, and Smith, a former North Carolina prison guard with a degree in business administration from Shaw University.

Tyson started on the road to boxing stardom under the tutelage of the late Cus D'Amato and, at 20, became the youngest man to win a heavyweight championship. He did it with a second-round knockout of Trevor Berbick here last Nov. 22.

Smith took up boxing while in the Army in 1976-78, but did not turn pro until he was 28 "to make a few bucks . . . a little Christmas money." He bid for the IBF title and was stopped by Larry Holmes in 1984. Then, substituting for the injured Tony Tubbs, Smith became WBA champion at 33 when he knocked out Tim Witherspoon last Dec. 12 at New York.

"I'm concerned about the hype of Tyson," Smith said. "Iron Mike . . . it's a lot of bull."

At a joint news conference this week, Smith complained, "The media made Tyson a star. I notice when he came in all the cameras were on him. I plan to win the fight and become an instant super star."

"I'm not concerned about anything or anyone," said Tyson, who has scored 26 knockouts in winning all 28 of his fights in a career that will be one day past

2-years-old Saturday.

He has scored 16 first-round and four second-round knockouts.

"Tyson has never been in an adverse situation where he's had to survive," Smith said. "I'm the hardest punching heavyweight in the world and I plan to prove that."

Perhaps Smith, who has scored 14 knockouts in a 19-5 record, has more single-punch power than Tyson, but Tyson throws punches in rapid-fire clusters that overwhelm an opponent.

Tyson also keeps his head moving, creating a difficult target for a telling blow.

Besides losing to Holmes and beating Witherspoon, Smith has scored a one-round knockout over Mike Weaver, a former WBA champion, while losing decisions to Witherspoon and Tony Tubbs, another former WBA champion.

"You have to give Bonecrusher the puncher's edge, but Bonecrusher is going to be in front of Tyson," said Tyrell Biggs, the WBA's No. 1 heavyweight contender, who will fight on Saturday's card.

"Tyson won't have any trouble finding him. His quickness will overcome Bonecrusher's power."

Aggies stun Horned Frogs

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Christian preserved one record and shattered another with its loss in the opening round of the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic on Friday.

Top-seeded and 15th-ranked TCU, which has never won an SWC tournament, was again eliminated, this time by the first eighth-seeded team ever to knock off the first seed in the tourney.

Texas A&M shot a tournament record 64.5 per cent from the field to bump the Horned Frogs 81-70.

The Horned Frogs, which closed out the regular season at 23-6 overall and 14-2 in the SWC, won the conference title by four games over Baylor, the widest margin in 10 years.

TCU coach Jim Killingsworth said his team suffered a letdown.

"I'm worried now about our team," he said. "If we keep playing like we did today, we won't be playing long. We won't have but one more game.

"It seemed like we had a letdown after we won the conference championship and we haven't recovered yet."

The Horned Frogs struggled from the start. They lagged by as many as 13 points in the first half and led only once in the game, when a layup by Carl Lott at the 2:44 mark put TCU up 32-31.

"We didn't do many things well, said Killingsworth. "The free throws hurt us. They (A&M) did a good job defensively and kept us out of our offense."

TCU closed a 21-point lead to 65-71 with 2:51 left to play on a 3-point shot by Rod Jacques. But A&M's Darryl McDonald twice connected on both ends of a one-and-one to dash TCU's hopes.

The Horned Frogs shot just 39 percent from the line and hit just 37 percent of their field goals.

"A&M caused much of our poor shooting," Killingsworth said.

"They came ready to play. We weren't that ready."

Carven Holcombe, TCU's leading scorer and SWC player of the year, was 7 for 16 from the floor, including 1 of six in the second half.

With the loss, TCU could lose a high seeding in the NCAA playoffs.

"It's not a certainty that we'll get a bid," said Killingsworth. "I think we will, but it's not a certainty."

The Horned Frogs played most of the game without senior guard Jamie Dixon, who suffered a concussion with 3:38 remaining in the first half. Dixon was the conference's assist leader, averaging 5.5 per game.

"The doctor told me Jamie couldn't play, so I didn't play him," Killingsworth said. "He said he was ready and I thought he was ready but the doctor said no. I go by what he says."

Red Raiders pound Hogs

DALLAS (AP) — Junior forward Greg Crowe scored a career-high 27 points Friday to carry the defending champion Texas Tech Red Raiders to a 73-59 victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks in the quarterfinals of the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic.

Texas Tech, 15-13 for the season, plays the winner of the game between No. 15th ranked Texas Christian and No. 8 seed Texas A&M to advance to Saturday's semifinals.

The Red Raiders, who had split with the Hogs during the regular season, put them away midway of the second half with a 13-0 run. Arkansas, 18-13 for the year, went 5:08 without a basket.

Crowe, who had scored a total of only six points in the two regular season games against Arkansas, made the Red Raiders first six points and they were never headed although the Hogs pulled within two points in three separate occasions.

Crowe's previous high was 17 points this year against Wyoming.

Ron Huery led Arkansas with 20 points including six 3-point shots and Tim Scott added 13.

The Red Raiders own an 10-0 record in opening games of the SWC Classic. They've earned the automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament the last two seasons.

DeWayne Chism added 14 points for the Red Raiders.

Arkansas shot a miserable 35 percent from the field against the tough Texas Tech man-for-man defense and made only 11 of 21 free throws.

Tech could manage but 46 percent from the field but made 21 of 29 free throw opportunities.

Crowe gave credit to his teammates for his career performance. "Wendell (Owens) and Sean Gava were executing the offense well and the shots were open for me," said Crowe. "I'd just say I was lucky."

Tech Coach Gerald Myers said, "Greg played well and I thought our inside guys did a better job on defense and rebounding than they have before."

Asked about his success in first round games, Myers said, "We're just trying to survive. To me, there is no explanation for that statistic."

Myers said Tech's 13-0 run was the key part of the contest midway of the second half.

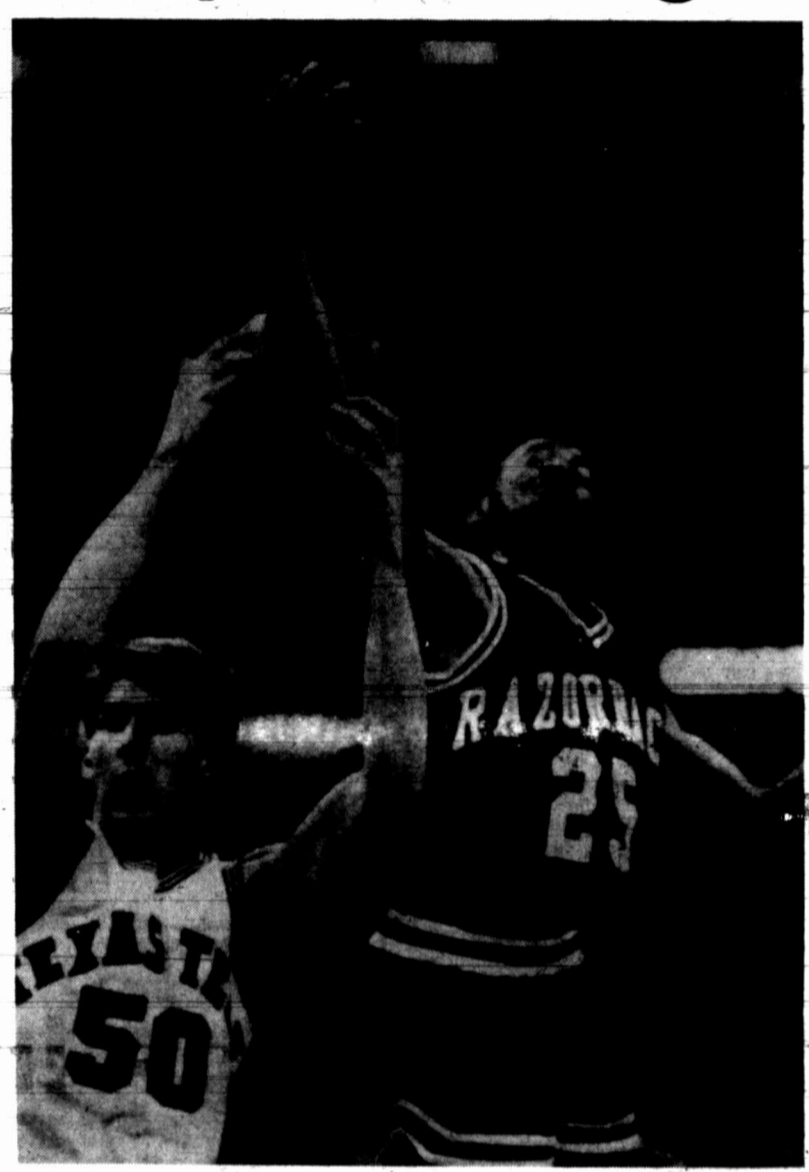

"Arkansas was making a big run at us and we stole the momentum with a couple of big steals and breakaways," Myers said.

Owens also chipped in 14 points for the Red Raiders.

Georgetown 56, Boston College 51

NEW YORK (AP) — Reggie Williams, held in check until the last 2:51 when he scored six points, lifted No. 7 Georgetown past Boston College 56-51 Friday night and into the semifinals of the Big East Conference basketball tournament.

It was Georgetown's ninth straight victory and eighth in a row over eighth-seeded Eagles, 11-17, who gained the quarterfinals by beating Connecticut 61-59 Thursday night.

Arkansas forward Tim Scott fouls Texas Tech forward Wes Lowe during the first half of Texas Tech's 73-59 SWC tournament win in Dallas.

Williams, the highest single-season scorer in Georgetown history, scored 18 of his 24 points in the first half when the Hoyas led 36-30.

Tyrone Scott and Jamie Benton paced the Eagles with 10 points apiece. From the foul line, the Eagles made 22 of 25 and outrebounded the Hoyas 39-26.

Houston 59, Texas 49

DALLAS (AP) — Greg Anderson scored 19 points to power the Houston Cougars to a 59-49 Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic quarterfinals victory on Friday night over the Texas Longhorns.

Houston, now 18-10 for the season, will meet the second-seeded Baylor Bears in Saturday's semifinals at Reunion Arena. Baylor bounced Southern Methodist 83-69 earlier.

The 6-foot-9, 220-pound Anderson also played tough defense, blocking three shots and controlling the boards.

The cold-shooting Longhorns, who finished the season 14-17, depended on the outside shooting of Patrick Fairs. The 6-5 senior scored 22 points, five of them on 3-point field goals.

Syracuse 72, Villanova 66

NEW YORK (AP) — Sherman Douglas scored 14 points, including four free throws in the final 28 seconds as No. 10 Syracuse beat Villanova 72-66 in the quarterfinals of the Big East Conference basketball tournament Friday.

The Orangemen, who finished as tri-champions of the league with Georgetown and Pittsburgh, will meet No. 11 Pittsburgh, which beat Seton Hall 96-88, Saturday in a semifinal game.

Alabama 68, Tennessee 60

ATLANTA (AP) — Terry Coner scored 16 points and sparked two bursts by ninth-ranked Alabama that helped carry the Crimson Tide to a 68-60 victory over Tennessee in the quarterfinals of the Southeastern Conference basketball tournament Friday night.

It was the seventh victory in a row for the Tide, 25-4 and winners of the SEC regular-season championship.

Alabama will meet arch-rival Auburn, a 79-72 winner over Kentucky, in Saturday's semifinals following a game between Georgia and LSU.

Connor scored four points in an 11-0 run in the first half that erased a 25-16 deficit and had eight points and an assist in a 15-4 burst in the second half that staked Alabama to a 54-40 lead with 9:44 remaining.

Sidewinders fare well in meet

Kristy Coots and Tracy Carpenter both finished second in their divisions in a United States Gymnastics Federation Qualifying Meet in El Paso last weekend.

Coots won the vault competition in the 15-and-over, class III optional, 9-11 division, and finished second in the overall standings. Carpenter won the vault and the uneven bars in the age 12-14, class II compulsories and optional division. She also finished second overall.

In the class III optional, 9-11 age group, Dawn Kennedy finished sixth in the vault and ninth overall. Kendra Carey finished third on the vault and sixth overall.

The Sidewinder girls' next meet is next Saturday in Big Spring.

Pistons come back to whip Mavs

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Reserve guard Vinnie Johnson scored a season-high 28 points and center Bill Laimbeer added 24 Friday night as Detroit overcame an 11-point halftime deficit to defeat Dallas 125-115 in a clash of NBA division leaders.

The Pistons, ending a three-game losing streak, took control during the final 7:25 of the third quarter, outscoring the Mavericks 20-4 over that stretch to turn a 77-66 deficit into an 86-81 lead after three quarters. Dallas converted just 27.2 percent of its field-goal attempts in the period.

Detroit took its first lead of the game, 82-81, on a Joe Dumars layup with 2:09 left in the third period. The Pistons never relinquished that advantage, with Dallas unable to get closer than three in the fourth quarter.

Mark Aguirre, who led Dallas with 25 points, scored 16 in the final quarter. But the 6-foot-6 forward sat out part of the second quarter and all of the third with four fouls.

Hawks 111, Nets 83

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Dominique Wilkins scored 17 points and ignited a decisive spurt early in the first quarter Friday night as the Atlanta Hawks defeated the New Jersey Nets 111-83 for their fifth straight NBA victory.

The five-game winning streak matched the Hawks' longest of the season and the win was their third straight this season against New Jersey, which lost for the 22nd time in 27 games.

Atlanta took control early, running off a 16-2 spurt for a 20-8 lead with 4:06 left in the period on a basket underneath by Jon Koncak. Wilkins, who had 10 points in the quarter, scored six in the run that began when he drove through the lane for a layup.

Knicks 110, Bulls 109

CHICAGO (AP) — Patrick Ewing hit a 12-foot jumper with 10 seconds remaining and Gerald Wilkins scored 33 points Friday night, lifting the New York Knicks to a 110-109 NBA victory over the Chicago Bulls.

Ewing added 31 points as the Knicks won their third straight game.

Michael Jordan, who was held to just 10 second-half points, by Wilkins, had a 17-footer blocked by Jawann Oldham with three seconds left, sealing the Bulls' defeat.

76ers 123, Bullets 113

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cliff Robinson, playing in his first game since Feb. 23, scored 26 points, leading the Philadelphia 76ers to a 123-113 NBA victory over the Washington Bullets Friday night.

Robinson, who has been troubled by an eye infection, had missed 13 of the last 14 games, but led Philadelphia to its first victory over Washington in four meetings this season.

Moses Malone, who scored 22 points for the Bullets, was ejected from the game with 6:31 left in the fourth quarter after being charged

MORTON 85, COLEMAN 57

The first two minutes of the game indicated what was in store for the Coleman Bluecats for the rest of the contest. Morton's press forced four Coleman turnovers and the defending state champs Morton, led 6-1.

The Indians kept up their defensive pressure and routed the outclassed Bluecats 85-57.

Keyed by the defensive pressure of guards Rob Shields and Anthony Hawkins, the Indians forced 39 Coleman turnovers in the game. That, combined with the scoring and rebounding of Jerry Joyce and Kenneth Johnson, allowed the Indians to simply overwhelm the Bluecats.

Joyce scored 34 points and pulled down 20 rebounds before fouling out in the fourth quarter. Johnson scored 13 points and added 16 rebounds. Hawkins, who came off the bench, scored 16 points to go along with his seven steals.

Morton had a 17-12 lead after the first quarter and had the game out of reach by halftime, leading 47-28. Joyce keyed the second quarter surge, scoring 16 points and rebounding at will.

Coleman got a fine performance from Hurtado, who scored 25 points. He was the only Bluecat in double figures.

Morton is now 30-5 for the season. Coleman ends the season with a 23-10 mark. Morton will play Shallowater in the finals at 1 p.m. today at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

SUNDAY, MARCH 8, 1987
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Make sure you use care in whatever judgments you make. Be objective now in things of a personal nature, or else you may wind up feeling hurt and rejected.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Get outside tasks handled today. Relieve the tensions of family and friends who need you now.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Today is fine for getting all the data you need about a financial matter. A newcomer can be helpful.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get your personal matters in better order. A friend can help you with some money matters later.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Improve your private affairs. Handle a situation with your mate wisely with the assistance of a friend.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be tactful in trying to gain a personal aim. Don't waste time doing a job for a friend who doesn't need it.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get that outside job done, even though it is hard to your liking. Help a friend who is in trouble.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't make any new promises. Take care you do not upset one of prominence or you may soon regret it.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make sure you handle the responsibility that is so important today. Tonight you have a duty to handle for your mate.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Listen carefully to an associate and then you will know how best to handle your end of the deal.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use care in trying to help another, otherwise you wind up in trouble. Schedule your activities wisely.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make some plans for entertainment. Discuss any health treatments you want to take with your mate.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Give your home more attention and get everything there in perfect order. Rest up tonight.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ...he or she, will learn very quickly but should be taught to study in such a way that the knowledge gained can be retained throughout the lifetime. Upon reaching maturity your progeny can do remarkably well in the field of merchandising, whether it be ideas or goods.
 ***
 "The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

MONDAY, MARCH 9, 1987
GENERAL TENDENCIES: It's an unusually good day to start carrying through with what you have agreed to do for members of your family. Tend to property matters now and get constructive results.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Come to a better understanding with your associates so that greater accord is possible.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Listen to a good friend who suggests how best to improve your appearance. Sharpen your talents now.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Confer with a financial expert and then you will know how to become more prosperous.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact good friends whom you can rely on. Join some group whose ideas are similar to your own.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make a wise plan for the future and then take it to a bigwig for support. Tend to a civic affair.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good friend can introduce you to one who has the right suggestions. Go along with these ideas now.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your status in the world and plan to do something practical that can improve your standing greatly.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It's a fine day to plan a trip that means a great deal to you. Count the cost well and look for a bargain.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make sure you complete whatever you have promised to do for your mate and get good results.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you find it easy to get associates too green to a mutual project that can be lucrative for all.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study the duties that need your personal attention and then you can handle them very efficiently.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Keep at that special talent you have perfected and gain a good deal of money with it.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ...he or she, will comprehend the wants and needs of the family and will be a top notch citizen as well as very patriotic. There is a great ability here at merchandising and much money can be made during the lifetime. Be sure to nurture the musical talent here.
