Textbooks on agenda

Big Spring Independent School Board members will consider recommendations Thursday night for textbook adoption for the 1987-88 school year.

The board will also act on a proposed career ladder provision and decide on contract renewals for the school system's professional employees.

Supt. Lynn Hise said this morning the 15-person textbook committee prepared a report last month after a public hearing was conducted on textbook adoption.

The committee studied all books submitted for adoption and consulted publishers before deciding upon its recommendations, he added.

The career ladder matter concerns a major policy change proposed for teachers to retain a Level 2 ranking if they transfer from another school district, Hise said.

The district policy does not now allow a teacher to enter Big Spring's school district with such a ranking.

"We didn't want to be tied to another school district's appraisal," Hise said.

However, amending the policy will enhance the school district's requiting of professional personnel, Hise said. "We could lose quality candidates if the present policy is not changed."

Board members are also to act on contract renewals for its nearly 300 professional degree certified employees, Hise said.

Citizens contest softball user fees

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

The city should improve its softball fields, since they've raised the user fees, citizens contended at a City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Roddy Caffey, president of the Umpire Association, said membership in the local league has dropped from 40 teams to 19 the past year because of the user fee increase to $200 per team.

"I think the Council is missing the boat as far as the user fee is concerned," he said. He said that for the fee increase, the city should maintain the softball fields and restrooms.

But he added that "the user fee is in line" if a new softball field is built, as has been proposed. Currently, he said, the city has no adequate place for a softball tournament, which would bring in enough out-of-town money to pay for maintenance.

Rocky Viera, president of the church softball league, agrees that the fee would be justified only if the new softball field is built.

"We're not looking for any handouts," he said. "All we're looking for is an even shake."

He said that membership in the church league has dropped from 18 teams to seven since the fee was

Players are forced to pay to have the fields maintained in addition to the increased fee, he said, adding that he believes players would be willing to pay the increased fee if the city would better maintain the fields. However, he said, the fee increase should be postponed until action is taken.

"Right now we don't even have a bathroom," he said.

Councilman Russ McEwen said that the city has maintained the softball field restrooms for years, but that vandals destroyed them every year. Finally, portable facilities were used.

Councilman Gary Don Carey said the reason for the increased user fees is to get the players to share the cost of their recreaton.

"We can't sit here and increase (fees for) the golf course, and increase the swimming fee and increase everything else, but not softball," he said. Bill Bailey, president of the Softball Association, suggested the city abandon Johnny Stone Park this year and concentrate on maintaining the other two softball parks.

Councilman Johnny Rutherford said "some compromise is in order. The players are saying

'we're getting nothing for our money; we've seen nothing but promises'.

Mamie Dodds, member of the Chamber of Commerce Athletic Committee, said that the city should wait until the new fields are constructed before taking any action on fees, to see if "part of this might be the lack of facilities.

J.B. Hollis, local sporting fan who recently donated $25,000 for the construction of a new softball field, complained that the Council is dragging its feet in beginning the project.

"This has been dragging along here for a long time," he said. "I've seen this thing begun; I'd like to see it finished. My pacemaker's only warranted for 15 years."

He also said the proposed locations "are not too desirable," and that the city must choose a good to contribute any money to the project.

At a work session Monday, Mayor Cotton Mize and Councilmen Rutherford and Harold Hall were appointed to find a solution to the new softball field location disagreement.

In other business, the Council agreed to a planned development situation on property owned by Earl Lusk, who wishes to establish an art gallery and frame shop. Lüsk had asked for the piece of land to be rezoned from residential to neighborhood service. However, the request was denied when nearby residents complained that other businesses could be established there in addition, turning the neighborhood into more of a retail

Juries to hear two cases

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

The cases of a 38-year-old Big Spring man charged with attempted murder and a Midland man who claims a former motorcycle store here engaged in deceptive trade practices are expected to be heard next week.

District Judge James Gregg said this morning the order of the cases has not been determined. The district clerk's office sent 138 jury notices, he added.

The attempted murder case stems from an Easter Day shooting in Commanche Trail Park.

Police arrested Pedro Mendez Cantu, 38, 1511 Johnson St., in connection with the shooting near the park's swimming pool.

Raymond Calderon, 1512 Harding St. and his brother, Enrique Calderon, 32, 501 Abrams St., were shot at by someone in a passing truck, according to police reports. Cantu, identified by a witness, was arrested by police the same day at his home.

The Calderons, citing police negligence in the shooting, later filed a $10 million claim against the city of Big Spring.

The primary basis of the claim is that police failed in their duty to protect the victims. They had been forewarned that Cantu had previously threatened the victims, Lubbock attorney Jorge Hernandez said.

Raymond Calderon has been permanently blinded as the result of the shooting, he added. The claim is currently pending

Spelling winner repeats

For the second straight year, Carvell Nguyen, 11-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Tra Nguyen, has won the Howard County Spelling Bee.

During the second half-hour, it took another eight rounds before Caroline Nguyen, sister of the champion, faltered on the word "tauntingly," taken from the intermediate list of words. Spectators were treated to a show of spelling skills during the final 20 rounds by the three remaining competitors, including Muffy Hollomon, representing Coahoma Junior High Muffy, Traci and Carvell rotated to the microphone round after round, correctly spelling word after word.

Then, in the 33rd round, Muffy, the daughter of Clint and Mary Hollomon, stumbled on the word "occupation."

Five words later, the annual bee was over.

Helen Gladden, elementary curriculum coordinator for Big Spring Independent School District, said she expects Carvell, sooner or later, will compete in the national competition in Washington, D.C.

She said she foresees he will win at the regional event either this year or during one of the next two years that he will be eligible to

Trainer: NFL should test athletes

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

Houston Oiler's Strength and Rehabilitation Coordinator Steve Watterson wants the National Football League to begin testing for steroids. He doesn't like what steroids do to athletes, and he's tired of the hysteria.

Watterson wants the steroid problem defined, because he believes you can't beat an invisible

"I very much hope they will begin testing for anabolic steroids. Until that point, we are creating a frenzy over a situation where we really aren't sure what the ramifications are, because non-professionals or so-called professionals are speaking out on information they don't have.

"There are different ideas on how prevalent steroids are in the NFL, but nobody's done demographic studies and nobody's come up with tangibles — and the reason is because they haven't done the testing," Watterson said.

"Each and every strength coach has fears, but they don't know. Athletes could be lying we have no tangible data," Watterson added during a telephone interview.

As an example of the "speaking out" he mentioned, he referred to the now-famous Steve Courson interview in Sports Illustrated in 1985. In that interview, Courson, a former Tampa Bay Buccaneer and Pittsburgh Steeler, said that "Seventy-five percent of the linemen in the NFL are on steroids and 95 percent have probably tried them."

Watterson also has been much-quoted on his steroid views. As a former trainer at the 1982 Olympic Camp and 1983 Sports Festival, and after serving two years with the Philadelphia Eagles, his views on steroids have been sought by Sports Illustrated and USA Today. Watterson stressed that the steroid problem is an educational problem rather than a social problem and said he believes athletes must be made to understand the dangers of steroids.

"A steroid is not a recreational drug; it's a drug that is taken to enhance a player's marketability. That's where the athlete is com-

"That athlete perceives himself as a commodity, and the better commodity he has to put on the marketplace, the more money he'll make and the better he'll be able to support a family," Watterson explained.

When asked if he thinks some players in the NFL would not be there without steroids, Watterson said:

Yes, I would have to say that there are. It takes that marginal player and gives him that something extra. But is it fair? Is it right? Is it ethical?

'It's like telling a dirty player to keep doing it because that's what he needs to do to stay in. But that's not part of the game," he said.

One Oiler, offensive guard Dean Steinkuhler, admitted to Watterson that he had used steroids. Watterson and Steinkuhler talked, and designed a plan to increase Steinkuhler's weight naturally. Watterson said he does that with every athlete if he discovers they used steroids.

Associated Press Writer AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements, apologizing for his role in allowing payments to Southern Methodist University football players, says he hopes the school's agony will serve as a lesson to others who might cheat.

"I am very, very hopeful - and that's the only word I guess I can use — that our institutions will have learned a good lesson from this episode," Clements said.

By MICHAEL HOLMES

Clements on Tuesday admitted error by being one of those to authorize continued cash payments to players after some SMU officials discovered the booster-financed program.

"To those rightfully upset and angry about the decision, I am truly sorry," said Clements, a former SMU student and twice chairman of mistake at SMU. I made a mistake at SMU."

Speaking to a news conference, he renewed his call for other school officials involved to come forward and promised to cooperate with a Methodist Church investigation of the affair.

Last week, he touched off a wave of new investigations at SMU by saying he and some other school governors and administrators knew in 1984 or 1985 of booster payments to football players. He said they decided to continue some payments while trying to "phase out" that system.

Payments eventually were reduced from 26 players to three, Clements said.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has banned SMU from playing football this year and limited its 1988 season to seven road games for rules violations which occurred while the school already was on a probation handed down in August 1985. Clements said that continuing the payments was a mistake and that the school has suffered

Six take top district places in arts program

Big Spring had three first place and three second place district winners in the recent Cultural Arts Reflection program, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association. In addition, two third place winners were named, as was one fourth and two honorable mention winners, according to information provided by Karen Heiden, PTA coordinator for the project.

The first place winners, each of whom will participate in the state contest, represent visual arts, photography and music and all attend Marcy Elementary. Ann Marie Scott was first at the district level in visual arts, intermediate; Nicole McMillan was first in photography, intermediate; and Amanda Armstrong was first in music, primary

Second place winners, all from Bauer Magnet Elementary, were: Heidi McIntyre, visual arts, primary; Paul Haney, music, primary; and Elisa Himojos, music, intermediate.

Third place winners were Danielle Wilson, Bauer, photography, primary; and Amy Dominquez, Kentwood Elementary, music, intermediate.

Sterling Cave, Bauer, received a fourth place in literature, primary, while there were also two honorable mention recipients: Tara Merrick, Kentwood and Toni Chester, Bauer

By EDDIE CURRAN

Staff Writer COAHOMA — The City Council unanimously accepted the proposed 1987-88 budget, and agreed to consider allowing the Big Spring Church Softball League to use a Coahoma softball park. Essentially, the city passed two budgets for two accounts - the waterworks fund and the city's general fund. In both budgets, the city projects to spend more than it will receive. However, according to City Clerk Karen Bell, it can afford to do so.

Bell said the city expects to have approximately $50,000 in the waterworks fund on March 31, the end of the fiscal year. The waterworks budget passed by the Council shows expected expenses of $321,981 and an expected income of $309,028 — a deficit of $12,853.

Bell attributed the difference to a 25 cents per 1,000-gallon hike in the price of water charged by Big Spring, from which the city buys its water, she said.

For the general fund, the budget projects expenditures of $282,654 and an income of $217,725 a deficit of $64,929.

Cocaine ring broken

NEW YORK — A $1.5 billion cocaine ring masterminded by a former Pan Am employee used trusted airport workers to bypass customs in Brazil and New York, authorities said in announcing charges against 45 people.

Nineteen of those charged were part of the ring that imported an estimated 200 pounds or more of cocaine a month during the past six years through Kennedy International Airport, authorities said. The others charged were part of smaller rings also based at Kennedy, officials said.

65 mph bill in House

WASHINGTON - A Senate leader in the fight to allow states to raise the speed limit to 65 mph predicts the House will approve the measure next week, an action that likely would make the higher maximum speed

The House vote was made possible Tuesday when House conferees on the bogged-down highway and mass transit bill agreed to a Senate request to break out the speed issue, which was the major obstacle left to compromise highway legislation.

Sen. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, who led the Senate fight for the higher speed and who sought the House vote, said, "I'm placing my chips on the House because with all the publicity on this issue, the elected representatives of the people will vote yes.

Doctors disappointed

American doctors using artificial means of human reproduction expressed disappointment at the Vatican's condemnation of their work but predicted it would not deter childless couples from turning to the new techniques.

"We've had many Catholic couples and we'll continue to have them," said Dr. Wulf H. Utian, director of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at Mount Sinai Medical Center in Cleveland.

U.S. Catholic leaders, however, praised the statement as a reaffirmation of human

'As a leading voice for basic human life, the Catholic Church has challenged contemporary medical and scientific practice in bioethics and has restated God's plan for human reproduction, a plan that does not allow for tampering," said Archbishop Roger Mahony, head of the Roman Catholic archdiocese in Los Angeles.

The Vatican came out Tuesday against all forms of test-tube births, artificial insemination, surrogate motherhood and experimentation on living embryos.

"The church has always felt that procreation should be a physical act of love between two people and not a scientific act," said the Rev. John R. Connery, professor emeritus of theology at Loyola University of Chicago.

Two survivors were taken to nearby Western Medical Center of Santa Ana. One was in stable condition and was undergoing surgery for cuts, and the other was in "very good condition," said Betty Chrisco, a nursing supervisor.

The pilots were flying visually without the use of instruments and may have been at an altitude below 1,000 feet, Aina said.

"They had to keep their eye on the suspect," he said. The aircraft were helping chase a car that was reported stolen some time before in Anaheim, said Anaheim police dispatcher Dolores Jenkyns.

The chase was begun by Santa Ana police, and the car finally was stopped and the lone male driver arrested at 10:54 p.m. in Anaheim, Ms. Jenkyns said.

FitzGerald resigns

DUBLIN, Ireland - Former Prime Minister Garret FitzGerald announced today he was resigning as leader of his political party, effectively removing himself from toplevel Irish politics.

FitzGerald made the surprise announcement at a meeting of his Fine Gael party the day after Charles Haughey, who won last month's general election, replaced him as

The resignation means FitzGerald no longer regards himself as a candidate for prime minister in Ireland's next election, party spokesman Peter White said.

White told The Associated Press that FitzGerald would remain in Parliament as an opposition backbencher, quitting the front bench which is occupied by the party leadership.

Prince visits ferry site

 ${\tt ZEEBRUGGE}$, ${\tt Belgium-Britian's\ Prince}$ Charles today flew over the capsized Herald of Free Enterprise ferry before meeting with rescue officials and hospitalized victims of the disaster that killed as many as 134 people.

Efforts continued meanwhile to retrieve barrels of a flammable solvent that apparently slid off a truck that washed out the ferry's doors. Officials denied reports that toxic chemicals from the overturned vessel might contaminate the North Sea

Prince Charles landed at Zeebrugge Naval Base shortly after 10 a.m. on a Royal Navy helicopter after flying over the stricken ferry, which lies half-submerged about 1,000 yards

Debt payment canceled

QUITO, Ecuador - The government canceled payments for the rest of the year on its $8.2 billion foreign debt following strong earthquakes and mudslides that cut off its main oil pipeline, killed an estimated 300 people and left about 4,000 others missing.

Air force planes and helicopters today continued to search the remote jungles of eastern Ecuador, where provincial officials said villages were buried by giant mudslides triggered by the quakes last Thursday and

Many villages could not be reached by land because roads and bridges were washed out or

The mudslides also destroyed a 25-mile stretch of the nation's main oil pipeline, forcing a halt to oil production and exports. On Tuesday, the government canceled foreign debt payments for the rest of 1987 because of the projected revenue losses.

When are things going to change?

People, how long will you remain dormant, accepting the crumbs from the rich man's table? Not a day passes without at least one encounter with someone who whines and complains about Big Spring's justice system, government, land conditions and over all biased attitude of city officials.

Urges citizens' unity against crime

To the editor:

I would like to comment on a recent trend I see developing in Big Spring — one that could rip us part as a community.

The latest in a series of homicides have touched off a flurry of racism, bias, fear, and deep, personal pain. Each "letter to the editor" blames the punishment, or rather the lack of, on the race or ethnic background of the perpetrator of the crime. I have no doubt that examples may be found to support either side of the coin.

Prevention is best cure for scandals

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN The first lesson of Watergate for presidents and their aides was simple: Don't break the law. The second was equally easy to grasp: Don't compound mistakes, especially serious mistakes, with dishonesty. The American people can forgive a lot of faults in their leaders, but they don't like to be lied to and they don't like to see laws broken by the people entrusted with enforcing them.

Those lessons, as the Tower commission report on the Iranamok scandal makes plain, were lost on Ronald Reagan and those around him. They behaved as if gaining occupancy of the White House were a license to do whatever they pleased as if they had never heard what happened to Richard Nixon and

A dangerous combination of presidential inattention or incompetence, misguided humanitarianism, ideologiical zeal and disdain for the tedious requirements of constitutional government thus produced a devastating series of errors and dent's standing. Well, it can't hurt But the true responsibility for what has happened and for what happens next lies with Reagan himself.

On the origin of the Iran arms deal, the commission minced no words. Though Reagan has stoutly insisted that he was engaged only in a daring diplomatic attempt to moderate Iran's hostility, his three hand-picked examiners essentially said the President has lied. The shipments, they declared, amounted to "a series of arms-forhostages deals" that "rewarded a regime that clearly supported terrorism."

The commission was also skeptical about Reagan's claim that he doesn't recall whether he approved of the first Israeli arms shipments in the fall of 1985. "The board believes it is plausible to conclude demonstrated its contempt for the that he did approve of them in advance," the report said, while admitting that the members were may have wanted, the blame "unable to reach a conclusive doesn't lie entirely with North. judgment.

Reagan. Either he gave his approval to a drastic reversal of U.S. policy and forgot or lied about it later, or else he failed to exercise even minimal control over his subordinates. Equally damning is that, based on what we know about our President, either scenario is wholly believable.

Certainly his subordinates seem to have been willing to pursue the President's foreign policy goals by whatever means they could find.

As the commission found, former National Security Adviser John Poindexter evidently knew that funds were being diverted from the arms deal to the Nicaraguan contras, but didn't bother to investigate or to let Reagan know. Lt. Col. Oliver North arranged the diversion, even though a law was then in effect forbidding such aid.

But the surreptatious help to the contras hardly contradicted Reagan's preferences. Long before the Iran deal, North and his superior at the time, Robert McFarlane, had set upu a "private aid" network to evade the congressional prohibition, an idea Reagan was happy to promote.

The administration had

law. If North took that demonstration a bit further than his superiors

The deal with Iran can be excus-Neither scenario is flattering to ed as a mere mistake, however awful. But the diversion of money to the contras, however legitimate their cause, is something worse. Congress had proscribed such aid. If the administration thought the law interfered with the President's constitutional prerogatives - as the Reagan apologists at the Wall Street Journal argue — it could have settled the question in court. That it didn't suggests that it knew it would have lost.

Besides, it had an easier option at hand: simply flouting the law, believing a noble purpose vindicates ignoble methods. As if that weren't enough, we are now treated to accounts of documents being shredded, stories being revised, records being altered, all to conceal stupidity and arrogance.

The result is a deserved loss of poublic confidence and a general resentment at an abuse of trust. Can Reagan overcome the damage done by this scandal? Certainly not without publicly confronting his full culpability, and maybe not at What is true of disease is also true of political scandals: It's easier to prevent than to cure.

Sodium a prime suspect in high blood pressure been watching your column for information concerning the role of sodium in relation to high blood pressure. I would like to know the physiology of excess sodium in the body and why it should be kept to a minimum. So far, I haven't found the answer. I would assume that there are many of us concerned about this. — W.D.G.

If you considered high blood pressure a major crime and were looking for a prime suspect, you'd indict sodium on the basis of strong circumstantial evidence. Uncovering the smoking gun for conviction might be a bit more difficult. But even without it, most juries would return verdicts of guilty as charged.

Here is some of the circumstantial evidence. In cultures where salt (sodium) is used sparingly, high blood pressure is rare. In our culture, where we use more than 25 times more than we need for health, blood pressures skyrocket. Further, limiting salt use almost always brings blood pressures down. It's convincing, isn't it?

Now for the smoking gun, the physiological evidence you want. Here's one explanation offered:

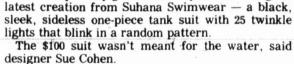

Normally, when blood pressure rises, the kidneys respond by getting rid of sodium and water, thus reducing the fluid in circulation. Blood pressure falls back to normal. In some people (those with high blood pressure) the kidneys can't get rid of the water and sodium as they should. Consequently, blood pressure rises and stays that way. Since sodium retains body fluid, cutting back on it helps alleviate the problem.

It's not the total answer to hypertension, but a part of it. There seem to have several smoking guns involved.

The idea for adding flashing lights to one of her proven suit designs came to Cohen while she was riding an exercise bike at a local fitness club.

"It was a flash," she recalls. "I pictured the suit lighting up but not necessarily blinking."

Coach Bill Fi as did Seatt Bickerstaff. By EDDIE CURRAN

Staff Writer Midway into his freshman year, Jeff Keith was starting at offensive guard for the Texas Tech Red Raiders football team. He has started ever since, and plans on starting next year, his senior season.

In a recent telephone interview, the 6-foot-3, 273-pound Keith said he has never used anebolic steroids, but he did not rule out taking them in the future.

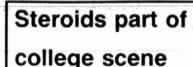

"I think there is some use, from what I know and from what I've

"You can tell in a puffiness way, and some people you just have a good idea they're on 'em. But I guess you never know for certain,' Keith said.

He added, however, that he doesn't think steroids are used much at Tech

"All my best friends are on the offensive line, and we've talked about it many times. From what we've been told, the gains are unbelievable. But the side effects part — the unknown — that's really scary," Keith said.

While growing up, Keith saw the effects of steroids in a friend. Keith said that Ed Burke, who competed in the Olympics three times in the hammer throw, was a good friend of his father, and that Burke used steroids.

Ken Murray, the assistant to the athletic director for sports health at Texas Tech, said he believes steroids are used in college athletics, but he's not sure how much.

"It would be naive to say they're not prevalent; and it would be naive to say they're everywhere. I think they're prevalent, but to what extent is the big question. It depends on the university, the coaches, a lot of things," said Murray.

Murray added that he didn't believe there was "much, if any" steroid use at Texas Tech.

"We've tested and everything looks pretty good," Murray

He recalled that once, when Burke was visiting the Keiths, he and his father had to take Burke to the hospital for what Keith said were steroid-related kidney problems. "I've been around them (users)

Keith said he has heard of people selling bags of clean urine to players, who put the bags under their arms and run.a tube from the bag to their underwear. When they go into the bathroom to provide a sample, Keith said they squeeze their arm and the urine flows out of

According to Keith, steroids are not hard to acquire

"It's like anything else - if you want it bad enough, you can get it.

"But it's better to see how much you can get from your natural ability and how much time you dedicate to the weight room, and not how much you can get out of a drug," he said.

Despite the negatives he's seen and heard about, Keith said he will consider taking steroids for one reason - to play professional to using steroids include the chance "It comes back to those tests. I'll have to sit down and decide how bad I want it. I've thought about it, but I haven't been faced with it yet.

'I'm just going to have to wait and see what kind of gains can be made normally," he said.

Before making the decision, Keith said he would consult Burke, and a California sports physiologist that Burke has recommended

While an assistant at Princeton University, Dukiet once spoke at one of Nee's basketball banquets during Nee's coaching days at a New Jersey high school.

"I've known Danny Nee for a long time, and I know his team will be a reflection of him,' Dukiet said. "They will be tough, aggressive and will get after you.

Six games will be played Friday to wrap up first-round action in the 32-team field: Seton Hall at Niagara; Arkansas State at Arkansas; Mississippi at Southern Mississippi; St. Peter's at St. Louis; Oregon State at New Mexico, and Fullerton State at California.

In his first year at Nebraska, Nee has rekindled a spark with the Cornhuskers. He promised an up-tempo type of basketball and has come through despite lacking some of the personnel he said would be better-suited to the running game.

Nee's team has averaged more than 74 points a game this season. The Huskers ran through a non-conference schedule with a 10-3 record but stumbled early against Big Eight Conference teams.

Today's players using smaller lumber

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Willie McCovey went to the San Francisco Giants' bat rack the other day planning to see what was left of his Hall of Fame swing at age 49. He struck out in

"I didn't bring any of my own bats to spring training, and I couldn't find one big enough. Joel Youngblood has a big bat, but I didn't see any of his," McCovey said. "All the young players are using little 'ole bats now.

'I'm amazed that they're all going that route. I'm even more amazed that they think they can't handle bigger bats.

"I think it's the main reason you don't see as many guys having 40-homer years now. With a light bat, you have to make perfect contact to hit the ball out."

Willie Mays, who reached the Hall of Fame seven years before his former teammate, shares McCovey's opinion. They both serve as spring training instructors.

"I've tried to convince some of the players as did Seattle Coach Bernie that with more wood at the end of their bats they could get more distance," Mays said.

"Richie Allen used a 40-ounce bat, and he could pull the ball!'

Bats 35 inches or longer and weighing 36 or more ounces were commonly used, especially by power hitters, not too long ago. The averages now are 34 inches and 32 ounces, according to Chuck Schupp, director of sales for Louisville Slugger bats on the pro level.

"The drop is because the younger players have become so used to the feel of aluminum bats. There's no doubt in my mind," says Giants President Al Rosen, and that's the consensus around baseball

Rosen swung 36 ounces during a playing career which included a 43-homer season for the Cleveland Indians.

Aluminum bats, used by most players from Little League through college, weigh 31 ounces Rosen and Bob Kennedy, the top men in the Giants' front office, plan to force-feed more wood to hitters in the organization. "The Giants have taken the initiative and ordered bigger bats for their minor leaguers,' according to Schupp.

"We're going to have them try using slightly heavier bats with thicker handles. We experimented with one club (Clinton, Midwest League) last year and thought we saw some improvement," said Kennedy, director of the Giants' player development.

The two Giants' executives also think that if the minor leaguers can adjust to thicker handles, choke up on occasion and not swing from the end of the bat all the time, they will strike out less.

"I wasn't afraid to choke up," says Rosen, who never came close to striking out 100 times

"With two strikes, a batter has to give a little bit and not swing as hard," Kennedy said. "Maior league batters struck out 24,700 times last year. There were 5,000 strikeouts in our

"I don't know if 5,000 is high compared to other organizations, but it's too high for us," said Rosen

SMU loses 3 players

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pair of three-year starters for Southern Methodist University's football team are transferring to UCLA and will play there next season, the Bruins' recruiting coordinator said Tuesday

Seniors David Richards, a 6-foot-5, 300-pound offensive tackle, and Ben Hummel, a 6-4, 230-pound outside linebacker, chose UCLA after a three-day recruiting spree at th SMU campus in Dallas that drew recruiters from schools throughout the country, Bill Rees

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has banned SMU from playing football this year and limited its 1988 season to seven road games because of improper cash payments made to players while the school already ing a probation handed down in August, 1985.

In imposing a one-year "death penalty," the NCAA ruled that SMU players could transfer to other schools without losing a year of eligibility and without having to sit out a year.

Bichards, from Highland Park, Texas, and Hummel, from Rockwall, Texas, both will be given one-year scholarships, said Rees. The Bruins recruited both players out of high school but "came up a little bit short." he said.

SMU's recruitment of Richards and Hummel "had never been brought into question," during the NCAA's investigation of SMU's football program, so UCLA didn't hesitate to accept them, Rees said.

Cowboys up ticket prices

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys fans will have to pay higher ticket prices if they want to see million-dollar players like Herschel Walker, said majority owner H.R. "Bum" Bright.

Prices are going up more than $5 for Cowboys tickets this year because the team lost money in 1986 and needs to increase revenues to stem the losses, Bright said Monday night.

Word of the Cowboys' price increase comes after the 1986 season in which the club's record of seven wins and nine losses was its worst since 1964. Dallas ended 1986 with a five-game losing Tickets will be going up from the 1986 price of $19 including tax, to $23 plus tax of $1.67 in 1987, Cowboys vice president Joe Bailey said. All individual tickets are the same price for Cowboys games. The hike makes the Cowboys the second most expensive team in the NFL, after Miami, where ticket prices will be $26 this year.

The price increase is necessary, Bright said, "to try to make some money out of this season. "It's not a profit-making operation. You just try to make it break even," Bright said.

Bright said the team lost "a little bit" of money during the 1986

Clemens prepared to sit out

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Roger Clemens is prepared to sit out the 1987 season if necessary in his salary war with the Boston Red Sox, his agent, Randy Hendricks, said.

Hendricks, accompanied by his brother and co-agent Alan, also reacted to the Red Sox's threat to fine Clemens $1,000 a day starting Wednesday unless he returns to training camp.

Clemens' agents stated that their offer to the Red Sox will increase by $1,500 a day, in regard to the $1,000 a day fine by the club.

Hockey teams trade four players

NEW YORK (AP) — Marcel Dionne, the NHL's second all-time scorer, was acquired by the New York Rangers from the Los Angeles

The Rangers sent defenseman Tom Laidlaw and center Bobby Carpenter to the Kings and also acquired left wing Jeff Crossman and Los Angeles' third-round draft choice in 1989.

Only Gordie Howe, with 1,850, has scored more points than Dionne's 1,673. Dionne, a center, is also second on the all-time goals scored list with 689 to Howe's 801.

Number one seed advances

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) - Top-seeded Dianne Fromholtz-Balestrat of Australia and eighth-seeded Niege Dias of Brazil advanced to the third round, but 13th-seeded Marcella Mesker of The Netherlands was upended in a first round match at the $75,000 Virginia Slims of Arizona women's tennis tournament.

Fromholtz-Balestrat held off qualifier Sandra Wasserman of Belgium, 6-3, 6-3 to advance, while Dias needed to rally from a set down to take a 5-7, 6-3, 6-3 win over Tina Mochizuki of South Pasadena, Calif.

Marquette leads the series 3-2. Another coach familiar with his opponent in the NIT feld is Utah's Lynn Archibald. He's an old Boise State nemesis from his days as coach of Idaho State University — and has been effusive in praising the Broncos.

Boise State, 21-7, hosts the 17-12 Utes at the BSU Pavilion.

Beyond the fact they are from neighboring states, there are some intriguing connections between Boise State and Utah that are expected to help fill the

Committee approves Enoch

AUSTIN (AP) — A.judge whose nomination to the Dallas Court of Appeals stalled because of racebased questions about his candidacy has won committee approval that takes him one step closer to the bench

The Senate Nominations Committee voted 6-0 Tuesday in favor of appointing State District Judge Craig Enoch as chief justice of the Dallas Court of Appeals. The entire Senate will vote Thursday.

The vote came after the committee heard Enoch say he made a mistake in 1982 when he took part in distributing signs to Dallas polling places that said "You Can Be Imprisoned' for voter fraud.

'I did not take into consideration that any other voters would read the sign differently than I did," the Republican nominee of Gov. Bill Clements told the committee. "I know now there were other voters who would read the sign differently and I would not do that today.'

'My feeling now is that this incident was not planned or orchestrated by you," said Sen. Eddie Bernice Johnson, D-Dallas, who last week delayed action on the apppointment until she could determine if he had a part in what she said was an 1982 effort to intimidate black voters

"But this does not make it any more appropriate," she said Tuesday in removing her objections.

Enoch said he was a manager of one of Gov. Bill Clements' telephone bank operations in 1986 in Dallas.

He said he personally helped place signs at South Oak Cliff High School in Dallas warning that voters could be imprisoned for voter fraud. The signs had big red letters saying, "You Can Be Imprisoned.

He said similar signs were distributed at nine other polling places in north Dallas on his instructions.

"In retrospect, I generally regret my participation," Enoch said Tuesday, adding that district

House OKs prisons plan

AUSTIN - Despite objections from a lawmaker who said it brought to mind "horror stories" of years gone by, the House has backed a plan to let private companies build and run prisons.

The Senate-approved bill, with several minor House amendments, now returns to the Senate for review. The House voted 122-19 approval Tuesday.

Floor debate featured an unsuccessful attempt to give the governor final say in private-prison contracts, as well as complaints from Rep. Al Price about the concept.

"Nobody should have the right to incarcerate anybody except the state," said Price, D-Beaumont. Price predicted private prisons would "make it possible to relive many of the horror stories that occurred in this state between 1865 and 1925.

Under the bill, TDC would be allowed to contract with private companies and counties for construction and operation of minimum- and mediumsecurity prisons. The facilities would have to meet all state and constitutional standards.

Red tide victims may get aid

WASHINGTON - Two Texas congressmen have won approval for their amendment that requires the government to designate the Gulf Coast fishing industry in the throes of a disaster because of last fall's red-tide outbreak.

The measure would require the Small Business Administration chief to offer fishing businesses federally subsidized loans at rates as low as 4 percent for terms as long as 30 years.

The amendment from Reps. Mac Sweeney, R-Wharton, and Jack Brooks, D-Beaumont, was was attached in subcommittee to the Fiscal Year 1987 Supplimental Appropriations Bill on Tuesday.

The prolonged red tide last fall, followed closely by intense rainfall and flooding, has hurt the Texas fishing industry more than some hurricanes I can think of," Sweeney said.

"Just because this disaster doesn't fit the SBA's narrow definition of a disaster is no reason to deny help," he said.

Small businesses in the coastal regions have been denied disaster relief through the SBA's Economic Injury Disaster Loan Program since the tides last year because, unlike a hurricane or tornado, the Texas Gulf Coast disaster does not fit their definition of a "disaster," said Brooks.

State bond rating falls

AUSTIN - The decision by Moody's Investor Service to lower its credit rating on Texas' general obligation bonds is Wall Street's way of telling the state to balance the books, Texas officials say.

For the first time since 1962, Moody's on Tuesday lowered the bond rating from Aaa to Aa.

'The state's billion-dollar deficit and a tax system that is overly dependent on the oil and gas industry have made the folks at Moody's nervous, and that's why they've downgraded our bonds," said Comptroller Bob Bullock.

In announcing its decision, Moody's cited the state's troubled economy for its action.

The oil-price drop since November 1985 has created state government budget deficits and sent the Texas jobless rate soaring. Ms. Cohen said Moody's believes the state is in for a long-range

Hart says three may run

DALLAS — By the time Texans vote a year from now in the Super Tuesday primary, there may be just three Democrats left as presidential contenders, former U.S. Sen. Gary Hart predicts. Hart said he believes that he, the Rev. Jesse Jackson and possibly one other Democratic candidate will make it through the Iowa caucuses and New Hampshire primaries in 1988.

"My thought is that there will probably be no more than two or three candidates to come out of New Hampshire," Hart told reporters who met with him after he addressed the Dallas Democratic Forum

"That's just my guess," said Hart, who ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic nomination in 1984.

The former Colorado senator said the way delegate selection is stacked, it will take a strong showing in Iowa and New Hampshire to be able to continue drawing the campaign funds necessary to remain viable as a candidate.

Suit: INS detaining illegally

PHOENIX, Ariz. — A federal lawsuit filed here by a farmworkers union accuses the U.S. Border Patrol of illegally detaining Mexican aliens eligible to become legal residents and denying them their constitutional rights.

Border Patrol agents violated not only the federal 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act, but internal policies of the Immigration and Naturalization Service as well, according to the class-action lawsuit filed Tuesday by attorneys for the Arizona Farm Workers Union.

Undocumented agricultural workers are given the right to become legal residents by the immigration reform act signed into law in November, according to the lawsuit. The law also requires the INS to stay the deportation of apprehended aliens who claim eligibility to become legal residents and to provide them with work authorization, the lawsuit says.

Have you looked at your grocery receipt lately? There's a lot to be learned by studying it carefully.

For example, how much food did you get for your "grocery" bill? Cross out the amounts spent on cleaning and laundry supplies, toiletries, paper good, personal care items and special items like videotape rental, plants or housewares. Add up the cost of the remaining food items and you have your actual food bill.

Then look at how much nutrition you're getting for your food money. List the price of each food item on your receipt in one of the following categories: meat, poultry and fish; fruits and vegetables; cereals; breads and pasta; dairy products; convenience foods that don't fit in any other category; and snack foods and beverages. Then figure a total for each food category.

In general, money spent on foods that fit in the first four groups is buying nutrients. Convenience foods may also be nutritious, but are relatively high in cost because you are paying for their time saving features. The money spent on snack foods and beverages buys lots of calories, but little in the way

Are you getting enough nutritional food for your grocery costs? You'll have to be the judge of that.

If you want some basis for comparison, take out your calculator and divide your total for each food category by your total grocery cost. This will tell you what percent of your grocery spending went to food in each category.

U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers suggest that nutritious diet can be achieved by spending 28 percent of grocery dollars on meat and protein foods, 23 percent on fruits and vegetables; 20 percent on breads and cereals; 17 percent on dairy products and 7 percent on fats, sweets and beverages.

How does you grocery spending measure up?

LESS EXPENSIVE DOESN'T MEAN LESS NUTRITIOUS

Spending more money on food doesn't necessarily mean you're getting more nutrition. Consider the following examples:

 Enriched specialty breads, such as French and Italian, cost up to three times more than enriched white bread with similar nutritional value.

• Parboiled (converted) rice and regular rice have the same nutritional value. Fresh produce in season is usually cheaper.

 Fresh, frozen and canned fruits and vegetables have essentially the same nutritional value. Fresh produce in season is usually cheaper.

 Nonfat dry milk, skim milk, lowfat milk and whole milk have the same amount of calcium, riboflavin and protein. Nonfat milk is the least expensive.

SSC efforts, dam bidding top news of the past week

By Herald staffwriters

At the same time as West Texans were entertaining the Texas congressional delegation and their staff, a group of congressmen was warning that interstate rivalries shouldn't be allowed to snare the proposed $4.4 billion Superconducting Super Collider project in a bureaucratic tangle.

Representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce returned this week after a four-day visit to the nation's capitol, Ralph McLaughlin reported Thursday, to "thank them for their support and be sure we're doing what they asked us to do.

It was not, he said, a time for hard-hitting on the SSC project.

While lawmakers from several states actively seeking the project — Illinois, Texas, California, Colorado and Ohio - said Wednesday that interstate rivalry must be put aside to ensure the Super Collider is built at home, not abroad, the West Texans were illustrating such a spirit of cooperation among McLaughlin said that all congressional personnel were offered the results of the study conducted by his group in analyzing the Garden City location as a prospective site for the SSC.

 An international construction company centered in Houston announced Thursday it can construct the Stacy Dam resevoir at $31.8 million and complete the job in less than 21/2 years.

Colorado River Municipal Water District President John Taylor's reading of the bid this morning in the East Room of Dorothy Garrett Coliseum drew an audible response from an audience of nearly 300

The bid submitted by Brown & Root, U.S.A. Inc. was lower than its nearest competitor by $4.5 million. H.B. Zachry of San Antonio submitted a $36.3 million bid for the project.

The low bids contrasted the $65.5 million bid by the Sunmount Co.

Colorado River Municipal Water District officials had estimated a $37 million ballpark figure for the job, said District Manager Owen Ivie. • The two incumbents will run unopposed in the Big Spring school board election April 4. District 1 and 3 positions on both the school board and council will be determined.

The two school board incumbents — Billy Pineda, representing district 1 and Dewayne Fraser representing district 3 — were the only candidates to file for the election by the Wednesday afternoon

Seven candidates have filed for City Council election. The filing deadline was Feb. 18.

 Thanks to a vehicle larger than a bridge was designed to accommodate, Sterling City residents will see a new bridge near their community.

Hilton Hagan, spokesman at the state highway department office in Austin, said that a truck that was too tall for a bridge clearance but passed through anyway has resulted in plans for the new

The project will cost an estimated $200,000. Engineering plans are being made, he said, and the construction should be under contract within the next six months.

A beam supporting a bridge at the west lane of Highway 158 to Garden City was knocked down, he said. Although the culprit wasn't caught, Hagan said that in 99 percent of the cases, it's oil equipment.

 Landing the Super Collider will not be an easy task, but North Texas leaders have begun pulling together to snare the multibillion-dollar research

Efforts to persuade the Department of Energy to put the project in the Dallas-Fort Worth region have created an alliance between people in business, government and academics, said Dr. Lylan Lyon Jr., executive vice president of the North Texas Commission.

Several other Texas sites including one near Garden City, as well as numerous other states, also are vying for the project. Gov. Bill Clements said last week that Illinois and California both have an edge on Texas in the race for the Super Collider.

Big Spring, Midland and San Angelo each pledged $50,000 last week to finance lobbying efforts for the

 Although child abuse cases and foster home placements have dramatically decreased within a year, Big Spring protective services workers from the state's human services department say a need for more foster homes exists.

"We have no way of predicting the number of abused and neglected children who will need the protection of foster homes in 1987," said Jeannie Hunt, Big Spring's foster home recruiter.

Toni Rash, Big Spring's foster home developer says homes are needed for youths ages 12 to 16.

 A bill by Rep. Larry Don Shaw ensuring state funds for dorm and food service maintenance at the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf was approved in the Texas House Tuesday. He has begun to lobby for passage of the bill, now pending in the state Senate. "The bill would help attract (students) and give stability to the institution," he said. A Coahoma girl who underwent surgery in Houston to remove a brain tumor was scheduled to return home Wednesday, a friend of the girl's family reported that morning. Beverly Martin, secretary at Coahoma Junior High School, said approximately $1,600 was raised at a pancake supper Tuesday night for a fund to go toward medical expenses of Shele Reid, daughter of Phillip and Shyrlee Reid. More than 400 people were fed at the supper, believed to be the largest number ever to attend a pancake supper at the school, she

"We ran out of food. It's the best we've ever done," she said. "It's such a close-knit place out here."

 Anthony Belaski, superintendent at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, was named Cultural Affairs Man of the Year by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce during ceremonies

The award is based on displayed support for the local arts community through outstanding volunteer work, finanical support and/or personal talent, Lea Whitehead, chairman of the Cultural Affairs Council

Belaski was honored for his initiative and efforts with the staff and inmates of the prison working toward development of the amphitheater and Comanche Trail Park as a cultural activity center.

 Three Big Spring women defended the use of Mexican diet pills to control obesity, despite efforts by U.S. Customs officials to seize the pills that officials link to four deaths in Texas. Rita Fort, Patsy Pettit and Wynona Pate disagree pills are a safe and effective way of losing weight. They said the pills have worked for them.

Although three local doctors were contacted, they declined comment because of their lack of knowledge and experience with the pills.

The Association Of

On-The-Job Injury Don't let it keep you off the job a day longer than necessary

"I want to get rid of the pain and get back to work." We hear this a lot.

Temporary pain killers may be okay for temporary pain. But when the pain stays . . . or keeps coming back . . . it's time to try something else. The chiropractic approach to pain is to locate the CAUSE of the pain and correct it. When the cause is corrected, the pain usually goes away in short order. Why not try chiropractic FIRST for on-the-job injuries?

A consultation and preliminary examination can help determine whether chiropractic might help. If treatment, x-rays or other lab tests are indicated, they are covered by most Workers' Compensation insurance plans. CALL US TO-

Hawks split twinbill with conference foe

By STEVE REAGAN

Howard College head coach Bill Griffin had been after his players to play better in recent games. In the words of pitcher Ted Hebert, Coach Griffin "gave us the incentive to win-or Judging by the results of the first game of Saturday's doubleheader here at Jack Barber Field, Coach Griffin's urgings were well heeded. Combining a fine performance from Hebert with an 11-hit attack, the Hawks trounced the Northwood Institute Knights. 13-3.

The game was called after five innings by the 10-run rule. The Hawks wasted no time in getting on the scoreboard. With one out in the first, and Joel Chimelis and Ernesto Castro on base, Randy Deal lifted a Shawn Mokennin slider over the leftfield fence for a three-run

After Chad Baker singled home Juan Rodriguez for the fourth and final run of the inning, the Hawks had all the runs they needed — but they weren't finished by a long shot.

After the teams exchanged runs, Howard exploded for seven runs off Northwood reliever Rich Marchant in the fourth inning. Marchant inadvertantly helped the Hawks by walking the first three batters he faced that inning.

That once again set the stage for Deal, who delivered a tworun single to center field.

With that, the rout was on. Rodriguez drove in two more runs with a triple to center, and scored following a wild pitch by Marchant. Two outs later, Freddy Lopez brought home Baker, advanced to second on another wild pitch, and scored on a single from Jeff Shults. In the fifth inning Hebert began to have control problems, the first and only time in the game. After giving up a walk and a single, Hebert threw a hanging curve ball that Northwood batter Steve Briere pounced on for a two-out, tworun double. Fortunately for Howard, Hebert regained his control to fan Tony Vilares and squelch the modest Northwood

Juan Rodriguez closed the scoring in the game by crushing a Marchant fast ball for a solo home run. The ten-run rule took effect, and the game was halted, mercifully for Northwood.

Hebert scattered five hits while striking out four in boosting his mark to 2-0. Losing pitcher Mokennin and reliever Marchant gave up 11 hits, while striking out three and walking seven.

NORTHWOOD 12, HOWARD 1 Northwood turned the tables in this game, scoring all 12 of their runs in the third inning.

The Hawks used four pitchers in the stanza and they all had control problems, issuing eight walks in the inning. Starter Ernestro Castro took the loss. He was relieved by Al Benavides, John Medrick and Derek Matlock.

Loftin just misses

LUBBOCK - The Big Spring High School swim team came close, but failed to get anyone to the state swim meet in Austin.

Coach Harlan Smith's tankers competed in the region swim meet in Lubbock Thursday and Cade Loftin came very close to making it to Austin.
