The color guard is composed of a rifle and flag line, said Howard College Vice President of Student Life, Cheryl Smith.

"We won in Class A competition. We received a score of 79, which gave us first place," Smith said.

The color guard will travel to Houston on March 20, when the national competition is held.

Jury duty response increases

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

The number of persons responding to jury duty is increasing, District Clerk Glenda Brasel said this morning.

Her comments came shortly before defense and prosecuting attorneys gave their opening statements to 48 potential jurors.

Two juries will hear testimony this week in the cases of a 38-year-old Big Spring charged with attempted murder and a Midland man's claim that the former Yamaha-Suzuki store in Big Spring engaged in fraudulent and deceptive trade practices.

Testimony in the criminal trial is expected to begin this afternoon, Brasel said. The 48 persons were ordered to return on Thursday when a jury will be named to hear the civil trial, she added.

According to Brasel's tabulations, 51 persons responded to their jury notices mailed from the district clerk's office.

District Judge James Gregg excused three persons this morning, Brasel said.

"That's a good number," Brasel said about those who responded. "More jurors are showing up for some reason, which is good," she added.

In February, 52 persons responded to their jury notices. Judge Gregg excused three.

The district clerk's office sends 140 jury notices each month, Brasel said.

Councilmen considering water deficit

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The city water department budget may suffer a $460,000 deficit this year, if revenues don't increase or expenses decrease.

That information was mentioned at the City Council budget work session this morning at the Airpark. Councilmen met with city department heads to review the proposed city budget revision, which City Manager Mack Wofford has said is to provide more current information on projected revenues and expenses.

"There are serious problems" with the budget, Wofford commented at the meeting.

Councilman D.W. Overman said the Council agreed to the revision proposal, and that officials will continue to attempt improvements.

Wofford said the main purpose of the revision is to cut overall expenses by decreasing employee overtime, capitol expenses and other items.

"Before October, we must determine where we're going to go" with next year's budget, he said, adding that the revision "is just an interim measure." The next fiscal year begins Oct. 1.

Wofford attributes the deficit in the water department budget to a 20 percent decrease in sales. Sales were earlier projected at $5.1 million, but now are projected at $4.2 million, he said.

"We've seen a pretty marked reduction in the amount of water we use," he said.

Councilman Russ McEwen said the decrease is a result of a population reduction. Mayor Cotton Mize said the population reduction "is reflected in everything" in the budget.

"This scares me. We're looking at a deficit of almost half a million dollars," McEwen commented. "A $460,000 deficit budget doesn't bode well for the coming year."

However, the deficit may be abated if expenses can be reduced or revenues raised, the officials agreed.

"Your concern is good," said city Finance Director Jim Mattox.

Mattox response may spur lawmakers

By SUZANNE GAMBOA
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawmakers may have to work even faster at balancing the state books if the state attorney general agrees it can't end the session in the red.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock says the state is constitutionally bound to find a way to pay off its $1 billion deficit before Aug. 31. Bullock has asked Attorney General Jim Mattox to issue an opinion whether the state can end the session in the red and Mattox has promised a quick response.

Bullock's request came the week before the state goes before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to head off a threat of $800,000 in daily fines because of alleged non-compliance with a prison reform lawsuit settlement.

The state appeals its case Tuesday. The Texas Constitution requires the state to operate on a "pay as you go" basis. Bullock says he is unsure whether he can certify a 1988-89 spending bill if the state doesn't have enough revenue to eliminate the current deficit by midnight Aug. 31.

At a Saturday meeting of state GOP officials, Gov. Bill Clements told the group he hasn't had the opportunity to discuss the constitutional issue yet.

"If the ruling should in fact be that we have to cure that billion-dollar deficit that I inherited before Aug. 31, we've got a giant-size problem. You better believe it. And, right now I'm not addressing that problem because it doesn't exist yet," Clements said.

Attorney General Jim Mattox has said he is optimistic about the state's appeal scheduled to be heard in New Orleans. The state has been ordered by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice to improve its prisons or face heavy fines.

Justice held the state in contempt of a lawsuit settlement for not making substantial improvements in the Texas Department of Corrections. The state agreed to make the improvements in the settlement of a lawsuit on behalf of TDC inmates.

The fines are scheduled to go into effect in less than three weeks.

Convicted physician works — by jail phone

AUSTIN (AP) — A Dallas-area physician convicted of murder last September and serving a life prison sentence did not have his Texas medical license revoked until six weeks ago — and only after he used a jail telephone to prescribe drugs to a patient.

Under Texas law, a doctor can retain his medical license even if he has been convicted of murder.

The trial of Dr. Elbert Stanton, 70, was highly publicized, but the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners did not learn of his criminal conviction until a caller told the board that Stanton prescribed drugs while behind bars, a board attorney says.

A medical board committee suspended Stanton's medical license six weeks ago, but the discipline was based only on the questionable jailhouse prescriptions.

Stanton was convicted in September 1986 for fatally shooting his Irving neighbor after an argument over an unleashed dog, board attorney Paul Gavia said.

The Texas Medical Practice Act allows the board to refuse a license to anyone convicted of a felony or a lesser crime involving "moral turpitude," but board attorneys interpret the law to mean a final — not an initial — conviction.

That reluctance to discipline convicted doctors until all appeals are exhausted prompted lawmakers to introduce a bill giving the Texas medical board clear authority to discipline a doctor after an initial conviction. The pending bill is supported by the board, said board officials.

Stanton's "conviction is not final so we can't do anything about that fact. His conviction is on appeal," said Gavia, chief board attorney.

Stanton, a general practitioner, was convicted in September of murder in the shooting death of Kerry Thurman, 25, of Irving. Stanton was accused of shooting Thurman during a confrontation in the parking lot of their apartment building, said Terri Moore, assistant Dallas County district attorney.

Seeking answers, the experts dodge darts

ABILENE (AP) — Federal health care experts came to Abilene to find answers to the problems that have forced 35 Texas hospitals out of business in the past three years.

Instead, officials involved in the peer review system of doctors spent much of the day dodging verbal darts from angry doctors, hospital administrators and rural citizens.

Several hundred people attended Saturday's meeting, sponsored by U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford. Five of the 35 Texas hospitals that have gone out of business in the last three years were in Stenholm's district.

Those in attendance heard that rural hospitals are going out of business for economic reasons, such as a low number of patients and Medicare payments that don't meet the costs of treating patients.

They heard that rural hospitals are having a hard time recruiting doctors and nurses.

And, they heard accusations that the Texas Medical Foundation, the group that reviews doctors for Medicare, is forcing small-town doctors out of rural hospitals by telling them they can't treat Medicare patients.

There has been a growing war of late between federal regulators and rural doctors in Texas and throughout the nation over the review process.

The regulators say their reviews of doctors ensure that Medicare patients get quality care. The rural doctors say the review organizations are picking on rural health care providers, and that the reviews are being used to cut Medicare costs.

Several doctors at the meeting said those doing the reviews are incompetent.

"Quality. That's the most misused word in health care today," said Dr. Brant Mittler of Physicians Who Care. "Quality control means cost control."

Almost every one of the 23 doctors TMF officials say have been sanctioned from Medicare work are from rural areas, said Dr. Jim Bob Brame, president of the Texas Medical Association and an Eldorado physician.

Run against disease reaches Texas

MIDLAND (AP) — Just 10 days ago, Brent Nicholson Earle added another 322 miles to a marathon run around the nation's perimeter. The death of a friend from AIDS brought to 31 the total number of the New Yorker's friends who have succumbed to the disease. For each AIDS death, he is running 322 miles in his personal fight against the illness.

Earle, 36, is in the 12th month of an 18-month odyssey in which he is running around the nation's border to educate people about acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

He began his daily 22-mile mini-marathons around the country in March 1986, and last week came through Midland in West Texas before heading toward Houston. He will then run eastward and hopes to finally end in New York on Halloween.

The AIDS epidemic, which has claimed 32,000 lives in the United States alone, "is going to get a lot worse," Earle says.

"Other folks say we're over-saturating people with talk of AIDS," he added. "But it is just a 'gay' disease? No. The time has long past for America to wake up and educate itself about safe sex."

A New York playwright, Earle began this quest after losing one friend to AIDS and then running a 12-mile race around Central Park.

"People thought I was a crackpot at first. I went to the Gay Men's Health Crisis Center in New York ... they told me they couldn't help. But God told me to do it ... the message persisted until I couldn't stand still any longer," Earle said.

So with help from his 70-year-old mother, Marion, and a friend, Bill Konkoy, he formed AREA — the American Run for the End of AIDS, which has headquarters in New York.

They left New York on March 1, 1986, in a 30-foot Winnebago, another "pace car" that follows him on his runs, and inspiration from a deceased Canadian athlete, Terry Fox, whose bout with cancer took its toll in the middle of his fund-raising run for cancer through Canada in 1984.

Donations come from new friends met on the road and the sale of AREA T-shirts and buttons. So far, $160,000 has been raised, although Earle said he set a goal of $10 million when his run began.

With AREA, Earle said he hopes to raise funds in support of the National AIDS Network and in support of local AIDS service organizations.

"People bet $6 billion on the Super Bowl ... yet the federal government has budgeted $85 million for AIDS education this year," he said.

Earlier in the run, Earle had a chance to meet with Californian Ryan Thomas, 5, whose childhood case of AIDS and subsequent controversy in going to school with other children has made headlines nationally.

Earle says that before his run is over, he hopes to teach people to practice safe sex and tell them about AIDS' unfortunate bottom line.

Overman said city officials plan to investigate that and other options mentioned at the meeting, such as improved efficiency of the city garage service center.

Also mentioned at the meeting were proposed attempts to reduce electric bills for softball parks. McEwen suggested asking teams to begin their games an hour earlier, to avoid playing at night when the lights must be used.

The bills should be reduced this summer when Johnny Stone Park is closed, Public Works Director Tom Decell said. The Council agreed to close the park at its meeting last week, and at citizens' suggestions, use the maintenance money to help maintain other softball parks.

Problems have been experienced with citizens using the park, and not turning off the lights, he said. Locks have been periodically installed, but have been forcibly removed repeatedly, he said.

Says suit lacks foundation

A civil lawsuit claiming radio station KBYG in Big Spring falsely broadcasted that William E. Sharp was indicted by a Howard County grand jury for attempted murder "is totally without foundation," Richard Fields, general manager of the station, said Friday.

Sharp is named as the suit's plaintiff and he seeks an unspecified amount of money for damages he allegedly has incurred as a result of the newscast.

The suit filed March 11 in the 118th District Clerk's office names the station and Fields as defendants.

Sharp contends the Jan. 13 newscast stated specifically he had been indicted for attempted murder.

He further contends the newscast "was done with reckless and heedless disregard for the truth ... and was in bad faith and without justification or excuse."

Fields refuted Sharp's claims and said it had been broadcast on either Jan. 15 or Jan. 16 that Sharp was no-billed on an attempted murder charge. No-billed means that the grand jury rejected an indictment proposal.

The report was part of a story about Howard County grand jury decisions that was prepared and researched by the station's news reporter Roger Gray, Fields said.

Injured girl treated, released following auto-bike accident

A seven-year-old Big Spring girl, hit by a car while she was riding her bicycle, was treated for injuries and released from Scenic Mountain Medical Center, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Jennifer Rose Perez, 1001 Stadium Drive, apparently rode her bicycle into the path of an oncoming car on Stadium Drive at 5:41 p.m. Sunday, police reports said.

The driver, Venus Marie Skeen,

24, 402 Circle, applied the brakes and swerved but was unable to avoid hitting Perez, the reports state. Skeen was driving a 1977 gray Chevrolet Vega.

Neither Skeen nor three passengers in the car — Genevieve Raylene Wright, 15, Sara Strain, 1, and Stephen Skeen, 3 — were injured.

Skeen was cited for having no liability insurance.

Parolee will testify again

A 34-year-old Big Spring man, who testified before Howard County grand jurors in January concerning a residential burglary charge, will again testify in April during a state parole summons hearing.

Grand jurors chose not to indict John Roger Turner, Route One Box 452, after he was arrested Oct. 15 by Howard County sheriff's deputies on burglarizing a habitation.

"He was arrested after he allegedly was caught coming out of a residence on McGregor Road," District Parole Officer David Harman said.

He requested the Board of Pardons and Paroles for a hearing "because there are some unanswered questions that need to be brought out," Harman said.

A resident on McGregor Road will testify in addition to Deputies Jimmy Wallace, Jack Howard and George Quintero during the hearing, Harman said.

Turner was on parole from the Texas Department of Corrections where he was serving a prison sentence for theft over $200 after being convicted July 1983 in Mitchell County.

Irish, others begin celebration early

Boston politicians lunched on corned beef and cabbage, Chicago paraded a float in honor of its best-known Irishman, and brass bands and bagpipe brigades took to the streets Sunday as the nation got an early start on St. Patrick's Day.

An estimated 100,000 turned out for a riverfront celebration in Savannah, Ga., which claims to have the largest St. Patrick's Day celebration outside of New York City. New York doesn't hold its parade until the holiday on Tuesday.

Shamrock, Texas, a town of 3,500 that has a Blarney Stone imported from County Cork, Ireland, and is said to have been named by Irish railroad workers, gave a bash Sunday attended by about 10,000 people.

But people in the 19th century town founded by an Irishman won't be doing the Irish jig. "We thought square dancing was as close as we could get," said Sandy King, president of the town's Shamrock Extension Club.

In Chicago, the wearin' o' the green got under way Sunday with a parade watched by about 35,000 people. Real-life politicians marched alongside a float depicting perhaps Chicago's most famous Irishman, the late Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The Irish stronghold of south Boston gave a luncheon spiced with Irish humor and song. The gathering of about 1,200 people was thick with politicians and power-brokers, some with impeccable Irish credentials, including Mayor Raymond Flynn and Rep. Joseph P. Kennedy II.

A parade later in the day drew an estimated 1 million spectators.

Gov. Michael Dukakis, who is expected to announce this week whether he'll seek the Democratic presidential nomination, took part in some of the political ribbing at the corned beef and cabbage luncheon.

Among those taking part in the tribute to Ireland's patron saint was 4-foot-3 Clancy Sheehy, wearing a white beard, curled green boots and top hat. The 59-year-old Boulder, Colo., man said he has been playing a leprechaun since 1972.

Sheriff's log

Two released Sunday

Mitchell Pierson, 24, St. Lawrence Route in Garden City, and Antonio Gonzales, 44, 306 N.E. 10th St., were both released.

Crash hurts nuke plant

COALINGA, Calif. — A small plane struck large power lines and crashed, killing both people aboard, forcing a partial shutdown of the Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant and closing Interstate 5, officials said today.

The plane crashed into a field next to the highway late Sunday, but the freeway was expected to remain closed until this evening because the power lines fell onto the roadway. Traffic was detoured about 10 miles, police said.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. had to stop Unit One reactor at the coastal plant in San Luis Obispo County approximately 140 miles northwest of Los Angeles, a spokesman for the utility said.

Blacks to cut boycott

SENATOBIA, Miss. — Blacks who kept their children out of school for 14 days to protest alleged racial discrimination agreed to let them return today while the group presses a boycott of white-owned businesses, a spokesman said.

About 350 parents voted Saturday night to end the school boycott and accept a compromise through which school officials agreed to hire a black administrative assistant and a black counselor.

The compromise answered key demands among 28 listed when the boycott of classes began Feb. 17.

The economic boycott, started Feb. 27, will continue until the proposed changes are written, said the Rev. Michael Cathey, a spokesman for the black group.

Base mourns victims

SPOKANE, Wash. — Flags were at half-staff today as Fairchild Air Force Base mourned seven victims of a jet crash, and an Air Force board continued its investigation of the fiery tragedy.

Drugs tests have been ordered for mechanics who serviced the four-engine KC-135 tanker, and autopsies were to be conducted for the six who died inside the tanker, said Capt. Bob Ballew. He called both measures routine.

Memorial services are scheduled Tuesday for the six on the tanker and the seventh, also a member of the elite Thunderhawks demonstration team, who was in a car near a base runway when the plane veered and crashed just after take-off Friday.

Results of the investigation, which a 13-member panel began Sunday, will remain secret, Ballew said.

"We don't know what the cause is at this point, and when we do, we're not going to tell you," said Ballew. "The cause will never be released."

Misery index

U.S. fifth on comfortable side

By RANDOLPH E. SPEIDEL

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Switzerland, nestled in the Alps, is the world's most comfortable nation in which to live, while war-torn Mozambique is the most miserable, a Washington-based population study group reports.

A detailed analysis of human suffering worldwide released on Sunday rated Switzerland as having the lowest level of human discomfort, while misery was highest in Mozambique, a guerrilla-war-torn country along Africa's southeast coast.

The United States finished fifth on the comfortable side of the list compiled by the Population Crisis Committee — after Switzerland, West Germany, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

On the suffering end of the scale, Mozambique was joined by Angola, Afghanistan, Chad and Mali.

The analysis of human misery was done to see if various measures of suffering could be tied to population growth rates, explained Dr. Joseph Speidel of the committee.

"For the first time we have been able to look at a broad spectrum of human welfare and correlate it with rates of population growth," Speidel said in a telephone interview.

Rapid population growth "is a general underlying factor that makes development more difficult and relates to the condition of health, the economy, families and other factors," he said.

"Our basic message is to get a snapshot of the world and how we're doing, and for much of the world we're not doing very well. We, living in the U.S., in one of 10 best off countries, have to keep in mind that most of the world is worse off than we are ...," Speidel said.

In the private, non-profit committee's new International Index of Human Suffering, data from a variety of sources were used to develop a numerical scale of human misery.

Mozambique was rated at 95 on the scale, the highest amount of suffering recorded. Angola, on Africa's opposite coast, compiled a 91 and was the only other nation with a misery rating above 90.

At the other end of the scale, Switzerland had a misery rating of only 4. The United States rated 8.

Elements included:

- Per capita calorie consumption
- Access to clean water
- Energy consumption
- Increase in urbanization
- General personal freedom
- GNP per capita
- Inflation rate
- Labor force growth
- Literacy
- Infant mortality

The higher the number, the more the misery.

The ratings were developed by scoring each nation between 0 and 10 in 10 different categories of potential human misery. Little or no misery rated a zero, and the most misery rated a 10. Then the categories were added, so the best score would be 0, the worst 100.

Mozambique scored suffering ratings of 10 in eight categories, departing from the bottom in only two areas.

It scored a 9 in access to clean drinking water, indicating that between 11 percent and 19 percent of its residents have such water. To get a top rating would require clean water for 92 percent of the population or more.

Mozambique managed a rating of 6 in labor force growth, since the number of workers is increasing between 2.4 percent and 2.7 percent annually. Growth of less than 0.3 percent would qualify for a top rating. Angola also managed a 6 in labor force growth and got an 8 in drinking water, slightly better than Mozambique.

It also did a little better in gross national product per capita, scoring a 9, with a per capita production of between $251 and $500. The best rating would have required a per capita product of $15,001 and over.

Angola scored an 8 in per capita daily food consumption, indicating its residents averaged between 86 percent and 90 percent of their daily food requirements. A top score would mean a nation's residents obtained more than 126 percent of their daily food needs.

Like Mozambique and Angola, other nations near the bottom of the ratings included Chad and Afghanistan, where wars or civil unrest are occurring. While the ratings did not specifically measure warfare, Speidel noted that it will affect several categories, including infant mortality, food and health care.

At the more comfortable end of the scale, Switzerland scored a perfect zero rating on every category except per capita energy use, where it collected a 4.

The United States scored a 4 on the average annual rate of inflation category, indicating inflation of between 7.1 percent and 8 percent.

17 die after dam fails

MOSCOW — Torrential rains and mudslides destroyed a dam in southern Tadzhikistan today, killing 17 people and leaving 22 missing, the Tass news agency reported.

Another six people were hospitalized in serious condition, the official Soviet agency said. It said that after heavy rain and mudslides destroyed the dam, water from a reservoir swept through the village of Sargazan.

The agency reported 53 houses, a livestock-breeding farm and a poultry farm were swept away. "Bridges and a railroad section were destroyed, communication was disrupted. Part of the crops were washed away," it said.

Relations improving

BONN, West Germany — Chancellor Helmut Kohl said East-West relations appear to be improving but warned against exaggerated hopes for better ties with the Soviet Union.

"I am in favor of taking small but decisive steps, rather than falling into the trap of high enthusiasm followed by disappointment," Kohl told the ZDF television network in an interview Sunday.

"It appears as if things are moving in a positive direction, in a direction that will bring results," he said.

The chancellor did not comment directly on Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's proposed domestic reforms or his recent proposal that the superpowers negotiate a separate accord on ridding Europe of medium-range nuclear missiles.

On Saturday, Foreign Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher praised Gorbachev's proposals and urged the Western allies to seek greater cooperation with the Soviet Union.

Israel assists Pollard

TEL AVIV, Israel — Israel has paid $80,000 toward the legal expenses of Jonathan Jay Pollard, the former U.S. Navy analyst convicted of selling U.S. military secrets to Israel, Israel radio and newspapers reported today.

Israel radio said the government transferred the money to Pollard's attorney, James Hibey, through "indirect channels." It did not elaborate.

A Washington court earlier this month sentenced Pollard to life in prison. His wife, Anne Henderson-Pollard, was sentenced to five years in prison for possession of classified documents.

Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir has denied any responsibility for the Pollard spy operation, saying it was a "rogue" operation arranged by low-level officials in the Defense Ministry.

Soviet crew enjoys American hospitality

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — Crew members rescued by Coast Guard helicopters from a sinking Soviet freighter in an Atlantic gale rested at a Soviet compound here today after wolfing down an American favorite: cheeseburgers with beer.

The 34 men and three women plucked from the heaving decks of the 482-foot Komsomolets Kirgizii spent Saturday night at a New Jersey motel.

On Sunday, they were taken to a Soviet living compound in Washington, and then to a Soviet recreational compound near Centreville, about an hour from the capital, "to spend the night and have a good rest," said Embassy attache Anatoly Khrustalev.

"Maybe they would like to go shopping to get the things they need," or go for a tour before leaving for the Soviet Union on Tuesday, said Aleksey Zhvakina, a Soviet vice consul in Washington. "These things are possible."

The freighter, carrying flour to Cuba, apparently sank Sunday in about 12,000 feet of water some 210 miles off the New Jersey coast, the Coast Guard said.

"When daylight broke, all they found left was an oil slick and some flour sacks," Petty Officer Michael Schultz said from New York City.

Officials speculated the ship's cargo of 10,292 tons of flour shifted, causing the capsizing, after an engine malfunction left the vessel prey to 25-foot waves and 45 mph winds.

The Coast Guard detected a distress signal and dispatched three helicopters. Lt. Keith Comer, pilot of the first helicopter, said the first three crew members he rescued were women.

The Soviets were taken to the U.S. Customs House in Philadelphia, then a motel in nearby Gibbstown, N.J., where they were accompanied by an embassy official, said motel manager Mary Ellen Leash.

Their arrival in the dining room for a hastily prepared meal Saturday night caused a sensation, said Ms. Leash.

"It was really amazing just to see how everyone got along," she said. "It was like they were old friends."

"It was a beautiful experience. We all felt like ambassadors here," said Ms. Leash.

Opinion

Views of other Texas papers

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from around the state.

Immigration law raises concern

More and more concern is in evidence as the time approaches for implementation of the new immigration law on undocumented aliens residing and working in the United States.

Concern has been shown in Mexico City on how the new United States immigration law will affect Mexicans residing in the United States.

Not only in Mexico City is the concern expressed. Some have the fear that, having signed the application for amnesty, names and addresses will be used by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service to deport illegal aliens.

Whatever the results of the new law may be, it seems there'll be some changes made. Since we're on the border and have witnessed the flood of illegal aliens moving through the area, we have an interest in the situation.

Del Rio News-Herald

Texas students may surprise state

Students who hit the Texas beaches over spring break are being asked to clean up the beaches as well as have fun.

Now, that might strike some as a waste of effort. Students on spring break don't have a reputation for neatness. Garry Mauro, the state land commissioner, and Mary Jo Peterman, president of the Texas State Student Association, think otherwise. And you know, they might be right. Last fall, thousands of students were among the volunteers who picked up trash on the beaches. Few groups love the beach as much as college students. A clean beach is more fun than a dirty one.

A little peer pressure and the beaches might look better after spring break than before. It's worth a try.

The Houston Chronicle

Support trucking regulation laws

To ensure safety and to help the economy, the Legislature should deregulate the trucking industry in Texas and adopt strong safety laws that track the federal law on interstate trucking.

Bills to accomplish the latter have been filed and at least one bill partially deregulating the industry has been filed. Full deregulation would be best, but steps toward that end are not to be frowned upon and should be enacted.

The Legislature should pass both the safety and deregulation measures, thus increasing the safety of trucks operated on Texas highways and stimulating competition and the economy.

Austin American-Statesman

Don't mix politics with oil market

We support U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm's courageous contention that the price of oil, as with any other commodity, should be determined by market conditions rather than political or regional exigencies.

The senator's stubborn stance contrasts with proposed remedies offered recently by his Texas colleagues, U.S. Rep. Larry Combest, R-Lubbock, and U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Combest has introduced into Congress the Energy Equity Act of 1986 — a complicated "inverted windfall profits tax" that would levy petroleum sales on a sliding scale of taxation based on the current price of oil.

Simply put, as the price of oil declines, so would the percentage of tax paid on oil income. Bentsen has proposed a bill that would require the president and Congress to keep abreast of oil market conditions. Under the Democrat's legislation, the president would submit to Congress annually a three-year estimate of oil import levels.

Should that level exceed 50 percent, certain import restrictions would be imposed.

We don't question the sincerity of Combest and Bentsen in trying to rescue the Texas economy. We believe, however, that their legislative proposals would obstruct trade by creating political and bureaucratic tangles.

Judge Hand decision 'out of hand'

Federal District Court Judge Brevard Hand has abused his judicial power, indulged in a petty grievance over having a decision overturned, and pursued an illogical, dangerous course by declaring "secular humanism" a religion and banning some 40 Alabama public school textbooks. This preposterous decision will be speedily appealed. It should be just as quickly overturned.

This case began in 1983, when Judge Hand, sitting in Mobile, upheld the right of Alabama to impose prayer in the schools by decreeing that the Bill of Rights guarantee of the separation of church and state does not apply to Alabama. He was overturned by the appellate court and U.S. Supreme Court in 1985.

It should have ended here, but Judge Hand said that "if this court is compelled to purge 'God is great,

God is good, we thank him for our daily food' from the classroom, then this court must also purge from the classroom those things that serve to teach that salvation is through one's self rather than through a deity."

In maintaining that the manner in which a person lives a life is a religion — including feminism or vegetarianism — Judge Hand has declared an idea a religion and ruled it unconstitutional.

Granted, many textbooks are incomplete or poorly drafted. Judge Hand is correct to assert that many textbook publishers have deleted religion from books, omitting, for example, that the Pilgrims were a religious group. But the federal court is not the place to correct the deficiencies in the textbook industry.

WWII spies used condoms to destroy enemy trucks

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
 WASHINGTON — If the Smithsonian Institution is looking for a sure-fire exhibit to amuse boys of all ages, it couldn't do better than to borrow the CIA's historical "dirty tricks" collection now under lock and key at the agency's headquarters in Langley, Va.

The display would bear a sort of perverse resemblance to the show window of a Times Square joke shop. But instead of rib-tickling whoopee cushions, joy buzzers and fake ink stains, the fiendish devices developed for the Office for Strategic Services during World War II were deadly serious. They were designed to commit murder and maybe behind enemy lines or otherwise help OSS agents carry out their dangerous spying and sabotage missions.

Here are some examples, either from the CIA collection or as described graphically in a yellowing copy of "OSS WEAPONS," a manual produced in June 1944, just as Allied troops were invading Normandy:

• A "psychological harassing agent" with the jocular name of "Who, Me?" It was a small tube containing a "liquid chemical of violent, repulsive and lasting odor" — in plain English, a stink bomb. But it wasn't designed for pranks in an elevator. Here's how the "Who Me?" was to be used, according to the OSS manual:

"It is to be squirted directly upon the body or clothing of a person a few feet away. The odor is that of accidental feces, which is extremely offensive to the Orientals. Very good use of this agent can be made by native patriots in crowded markets and bazaars to create disturbances, attack morale of enemy guards and divert attention from other activities."

• The "Caccolube" was a simple but effective device to disable an enemy vehicle. It was a condom filled with abrasive powders and crushed walnuts, and was dropped into an engine crankcase. "After the engine heats up," the OSS manual explained, "the hot oil will deteriorate the rubber sac and free the compound into the lubricating system."

"When circulated through this system, the compound fuses and welds the moving metal parts of the machinery. Slipped into a truck, the Caccolube takes effect after the truck has been driven from 30 to 50 miles. It reacts so thoroughly on pistons, cylinder walls and bearing journals that the vehicle is not only thrown out of service but the engine is destroyed beyond repair."

This lethal "lube job" replaced the original effort using sugar, when it was discovered that sugar actually promoted better engine performance in the vehicles of that era.

• The "Dog Drag" was another smelly device, which deposited a "persistent aromatic" scent when dragged behind an agent "to throw trained dogs off the scent of their quarry." The drag kit "can be particularly useful in disguising the operator's trail to a hidden storage point or other revisited spot." The device would presumably discombobulate Nazi bloodhounds without buring their sensitive sniffers as the British favored hot-pepper trick did.

• Explosives and incendiaries for use against people and inanimate objects were disguised as harmless, everyday objects. "Some were made to resemble chunks of coal and logs — with startling results when an Axis soldier placed them in a roaring fire," one description notes, adding: "Others were made to look like animal droppings and were used as land mines."

• "Capsule H" was a sort of delayed-action Molotov cocktail, consisting of a small plastic capsule filled with powdered sugar, potassium chlorate and buckshot (for weight). It was usually placed in a bottle filled with sulfuric acid and gasoline. The acid would eat through the plastic in about two hours, "igniting the powders with a brief hot flame," bursting the bottle and spreading the burning gasoline.

MINI-EDITORIAL: First George Shultz wants the government to buy an official residence for secretaries of state. Now Gov. Mario Cuomo wants New York taxpayers to buy him a mobile home for his frequent trips between Albany and New York City when bad weather grounds the gubernatorial helicopter.

Friday, March 16, 1987
 PHILADELPHIA TODAY

Jacob Hiltzheimer reported that the Pennsylvania Assembly was in the final stages of passing an act to extend the charter of the Bank of North America. The final details included 14 years as the term of extension and $2,000,000 for the capital that would be allowed.

The final vote was scheduled for tomorrow, but most observers believed it would be pro forma.

Before the Assembly session, Hiltzheimer and another assemblyman, Thomas Fitzsimons (who also had been appointed as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention), went to Eberhart's slaughterhouse to look at Hiltzheimer's steer, which was butchered yesterday.

Walnut Street Prison officials reported today that they foiled an escape plan from that institution. However, they provided very few details.

CONFEDERATION TODAY

Congress did not meet today.

It seems that nearly every newspaper in the country was carrying editorials on the sorry state of the present American political situation. For example, today's Charleston (S.C.) American Recorder reported:

"The combustibles are collected — the mine is prepared — the smallest spark may again produce an explosion! ... This is a crisis in our affairs, which requires all the wisdom of energy of government; for every man of sense must be convinced, that our disturbances have arisen, more from a want of power, than the abuse of it — from the relaxation, and almost annihilation of our federal government — from the feeble, un-systematic, temporising, inconsistent character of our own state — from the derangement of our finances — the oppressive absurdity of our mode of taxation — and from the astonishing enthusiasm and perversion of principles among the people. It is not extraordinary that commotions have been excited."

DELEGATES TODAY

George Clymer, who would be a Pennsylvania delegate to the Constitutional Convention, celebrated two rather significant events today — his 48th birthday and his 22nd marriage anniversary.

George Washington, though a great general and a great statesman, probably would have wanted to be remembered as a scientific farmer. He was most content when he was at Mount Vernon, tending his crops, experimenting with new seeds or planting procedures, and discussing agricultural subjects.

Gorbachev calls Reagan's bluff

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN

Ronald Reagan has insisted for years that he is not against arms control, only against arms control that endangers America. Now Mikhail Gorbachev has called his bluff, accepting a longstanding Reagan proposal to rid Europe of intermediate-range nuclear missiles and dropping the Soviet demand that Reagan first retreat in Star Wars.

This puts the administration and its friends in a quandary. They all like the noble-sounding "zero option" as a means of making the Soviets look intransigent and warlike, but they never thought it might actually come to pass.

They now gag at the prospect that the U.S. might have to take yes for an answer. To this way of thinking, any agreement that the Soviets would sign is by definition a bad one.

There is no question that the Soviets have made concessions. At first they were willing to merely freeze their force of SS-20s aimed at Western Europe — if the U.S. agreed to deploy no medium-range missiles at all. Eventually they walked out of the Geneva talks, but when that got them nowhere they came back. At the Reykjavik summit, Gorbachev agreed to the zero option, but only as part of a package including limits on Star Wars.

In his Feb. 28 announcement, he came still further, offering to make a separate deal on these weapons and accepting the U.S. insistence that it be allowed to keep 100 missiles anywhere in the U.S. to match the 100 the Soviets will get to keep in the Far East.

That doesn't remove all the obstacles, of course. Assorted issues about verification will have to be resolved, but none of them look insurmountable or even extraordinarily difficult — that is, if both sides want to resolve them, rather than use them as an excuse to abandon the whole deal.

There is also the matter of shorter-range missiles, in which the Soviets enjoy a large numerical edge. Absent restrictions, these could still hit most of the targets currently allotted to the SS-20s.

But here too, Gorbachev's proposal suggested a readiness to listen to reason. He said the shorter-range weapons will be removed from Eastern Europe as soon as a treaty is signed, and he vowed that "we are prepared to begin talks immediately with a view to reducing and fully eliminating them."

Keep in mind that the controversy about Euromissiles is wildly disproportionate to their actual importance. They represent only a small percentage of either side's weaponry.

The SS-20s, which the administration portrayed as a grave new danger to NATO, threatened nothing that hadn't been threatened before. Our Pershing IIs and ground-launched cruise missiles were deployed not to fill a war-fighting need but to remind everyone that a Soviet invasion of Europe might provoke a nuclear response. Their purpose was political, not military.

But that doesn't mean that a treaty would be pointless. It would establish the principle that nuclear arsenals can be reduced, even at considerable cost to their owners. Though it wouldn't eliminate NATO's ultimate reliance on nuclear weapons to deter war, it would move the alliance closer to the minimum deterrence required.

Conceivably, relinquishing these nuclear weapons may also spur our allies to strengthen their conventional forces. By scrapping the American Pershing II, a fast-flying missile which the Soviets understandably regard as a potential first strike weapon, the deal also would reduce Moscow's incentive to strike first itself, thus strengthening stability in the region most likely to produce the igniting spark for World War III.

But no one should take this sort of treaty as grounds for a broader optimism about the arms race. In fact, it augurs ill for the negotiations on intercontinental systems — those with which the U.S. and the Soviets can reach each other's soil. Gorbachev probably focused on the Euromissiles because he has given up hope that Reagan will ever agree to restrict Star Wars, without which the Soviets will not contemplate offensive reductions.

A treaty ought to suit Reagan just fine, because it will distract attention from his obstinacy on strategic weapons, which are considerably more numerous and important. Disguised as a peacemaker, he can then proceed with his dangerous Star Wars fantasy. In Reagan's hands, arms control itself may serve as a weapon against arms control.

That is no grounds to oppose a treaty on Euromissiles, since Reagan will push for Star Wars regardless. But it is grounds to treat any deal as what it will be — not a prelude to a truly important agreement, but a substitute for it.

Old cribs must be repaired to prevent harm to babies

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent
Kathy and Roger have plenty on their mind just paying the hospital bills from the birth of their first child. So when Kathy's aunt gave them an old crib from her garage, they were thrilled. Now that it's been washed up, and the new baby sheets are on the mattress, the crib looks terrific. But what Kathy and Roger don't know is that this crib is also a hazard to their baby.

Focus on family

Federal safety standards for the manufacture of cribs were not set until 1974 — just 12 years ago. So it's possible that the family heirloom, a hand-me-down from a relative whose babies are now teenagers, or a garage sale bargain crib could present problems. Even if you think the crib is made from a recent manufacturer, it's wise to check it for safety hazards.

Here are some of those crib safety hazards and what you can do about them.

Crib slats should be no more than 2 1/2 inches apart. Otherwise a baby can slip through the slats and possibly be strangled.

Don't buy a used crib with a wider slat width. If you must use a crib with widely spaced slats, put bumper pads in it. The pads should run the entire perimeter of the crib, tie or snap into place and have at least six straps.

Some older cribs have head or foot boards with decorative cut outs in them, or decorative corner posts. A baby's head or limb can get caught in these openings. Clothing can get caught in a corner post if an older baby attempts to climb and may result in strangulation.

These hazards can be fixed. If the crib has cut-out head or foot boards, nail plywood boards to the inside of them. Pad and then cover the boards with decorative fabric. The decorative corner posts may be unscrewed or sawed off flush with the head and foot board, then sanded smooth.

Older cribs may also have a space between the mattress and the crib where a baby's head could become lodged. If you can fit more than two fingers between the edge of the mattress and crib, the mattress is too small.

You can correct this problem by buying a tighter fitting mattress for the crib, or rolling towels tightly and packing them in that space.

Since restrictions against lead in paint weren't put into effect until 1978, consider repainting a used crib. Refinish the crib by removing all the old paint. Use only high quality household enamel paint. Let the crib dry thoroughly so there nursery, a room shared with an older child or any other room.

• Avoid placing the crib on an outside wall because this wall tends to be colder.

• Don't place the crib close to a radiator or in a direct line with the hot or cold air ducts. The direct flow of air will dry out the baby's mouth and throat.

• Don't place the crib near windows with blinds or window treatments that have long cords. A baby can become entangled in the cord.

• Also avoid direct sunlight in the baby's eyes.
• Rearrange lamps so they do not throw an uncomfortable light in the baby's eyes.

are no residual fumes.

Finally, check all the screws, hardware, latches and teething rails. Replace any hardware that doesn't work, and smooth sharp or rough edges.

Kathy and Roger are a fictional couple, but their situation is not. Each year around 40,000 babies are injured in crib accidents so seriously that they have to be treated by a doctor. The Consumer Product Safety Commission estimates another 150 to 200 infants die each year in accidents involving cribs.

ARRANGING THE NURSERY

BIG SPRING TRAVEL TALK

ANGLER'S DELIGHT

San Diego allows a fisherman his fondest wish — year-round fishing. Each year, more than 100,000 anglers from around the world descend on San Diego. Those who come in the winter have an added bonus in that the majority of the tourists have gone home. The thermometer hovers around 68 degrees. In addition, there are pale blue, sunny skies to enjoy. In this coastal city known for a large variety of game, saltwater enthusiasts have three options: surf, pier, and deepsea fishing. Freshwater anglers have a lot to be excited about, as well. The county's nine lakes yield record-breaking bass, at least four kinds of catfish, several species of crappie, red-ear sunfish, bluegill, and trout. If this has not induced you to book a San Diego vacation, consider that yellowtail and yellowfin tuna were caught in record numbers last year.

For the vacationer, the business person or the emergency traveler, the resources of getting you where you want to go is available at BIG SPRING TRAVEL, 808 Scurry. We take the trouble and hassle out of travel planning and cater to your needs and preferences. From saving time and aggravation to getting more pleasure and value out of every travel dollar and mile, we invite you to come to BIG SPRING TRAVEL and discover all we can do for you. Tel. 263-0225. Last day for freeze predicted in April

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent

When is the last date for an expected freeze in Howard County? Farmers as well as gardeners get the urge to plant spring crops just as soon as there are a few days of warm weather. But, there's still plenty of time for freezing temperatures.

In Howard County, according to records at the USDA Experiment Station in Big Spring, our expected last freeze is around April 10.

A chance for an earlier date in nine out of 10 years has been calculated for around March 27, according to the National Weather Service's Southwest Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University.

The average date for the last freeze has been around April 10 in five out of 10 years and April 25 was the last freeze once in ten years. With the information, our advice is to put off spring planting for awhile yet!

When are the dates for the Permian Basin Farmers' Market Association sponsored educational meetings this year?

direct to consumer crops for farmers' markets in the Odessa, Midland and Big Spring areas. Dates and locations are: March 16 at 7 p.m. — St. Lawrence Parish Office, 2445 E. Hwy. 80, Midland. The format for the meetings will be the same at both locations.

- 1987 PBFM Update — H.C. "Junior" McElyea and Joe Hollinghead
- National Direct Marketing Conference — Dr. Austin Stockton, Extension Horticulturist

Agriculture

You will have a chance at this open forum to ask questions about cultural problems. Insects, diseases or whatever. All producers are welcome to attend either or both programs whether they are members or not. We urge all interested persons to attend these meetings.

When is the Permian Basin Home and Garden Show?
The Ector County Extension Horticultural Program Area Committee and the Permian Basin Farmers Market Association will be hosting this event at Building G in the Ector County Coliseum grounds on March 28 and 29.

The primary objective of this two day show is to allow residents of the Permian Basin area to see anything and everything related to homeowner comfort, lawn care, landscape development, lawn and outdoor living area enjoyment. General public admission will be $2 for adults, $1 for senior citizens and children will be free. Educational events and seminars will be presented concurrently with the home and garden show. Some seminar topics include "Five steps to Your Best Garden Ever," "Conserve Water with Texas Native Plants," "Down Texas Fruit Like a Pro," "Down the Garden Path with Healthy Snacks," "Successful Food Preservation" and the "Secrets of Growing West Texas Pecans."

Other topics that speakers will address during the home and garden show include insect and pest management, irrigation, growing tomatoes, shade tree alternatives, windbreak plantings and windbreak grape growing.

The home and garden show will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on March 28 and from 12 noon to 3:30 p.m. on March 29. Concurrent seminars will be conducted every 30 minutes throughout both days.

When is the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Ram Test Field Day?

This annual event, which has some outstanding Rambouillet rams from Howard County's Dr. Hank Thompson's flock featured in it again this year, will be March 19 in Sonora. Registration and inspection of the performance test records begin at 8:30 a.m. A bar-b-que lunch will be served at noon followed by awards of the register testing program will be discussed and a report will be presented on the recent lamb disease problem experienced at San Angelo. The sale of the certified rams will be at 2.

Common sense prevents accidental poisoning

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I wrote to tell you that the incidence of child deaths from aspirin had been reduced by 88 percent due to the child-resistant caps on pill containers.

I also mentioned that because older people with painful arthritis in their fingers complained about how difficult it was to open those child-proof caps, regular caps could be obtained from the pharmacist for the asking. I then urged you to warn grandparents to poison-proof their home in case their grandchildren visited them because small children love to explore the cupboards, cabinets and drawers in their grandparents' homes.

I was at the Seattle Poison Center at the time — and I am still here — so I hope you will run your valuable tips on how to poison-proof your home. It would be ideal if you ran it the week of March 16-21, as that is Poison Prevention Week.

ELIZABETH BENNETT,
SEATTLE POISON CENTER

DEAR ELIZABETH: The number of children who have died and/or have been seriously injured ingesting poisonous substances found in the home would make you weep.

It is the responsibility of adults to poison-proof their homes to prevent children from becoming victims.

First: Never take medicine in front of children. They love to imitate adults. Also, never call medicine "candy."
— Store all cleaning supplies out of sight and out of reach of children. (Never leave cleanser or detergent under the kitchen or bathroom sink.)
— Keep all products in their original containers.
— Discard old medicines by flushing them down the toilet.

Here is a checklist of potential poisons found in the home. These products should be locked up or kept out of reach of children.

KITCHEN: aspirin, drain cleaners (lye), furniture polish, powdered and liquid detergents, cleansers and scouring powders, ammonia, oven cleaner, rust remover, dishwasher detergents. BEDROOM: all medication, jewelry cleaner, cosmetics, perfume.

LAUNDRY: bleaches, soaps, detergents, disinfectants, bluing, dyes, spot removers.
CLOSETS, ATTIC, STORAGE PLACES: rat poison, ant poison, mothballs, insect sprays.
PURSE: aspirin, all drugs.

BATHROOM: all drugs and pill, shampoo, wave-set lotions and sprays, nail polish and polish remover, suntan products, shaving lotions, toilet bowl cleaner, rubbing alcohol, room deodorizer, hair remover, boric acid, denture tablets, deodorants, pine oil and bath oil. BASEMENT:

WORKSHOP: lye, kerosene, bug killers, gasoline, lighter fluid, turpentine, paint remover and thinner, paint, weed killers, anti-freeze and fertilizers.
GENERAL: flaking paint, repaired toys, broken plaster. Some flowers and plants are poisonous.

There was more than meets the eye in Louisiana State's NCAA upset of eighth-ranked Temple. It's called: "freak defense."

Invented by LSU Coach Dale Brown, the Tigers used it, and 21 points from Anthony Wilson, to beat Temple 72-62 Sunday and advance to the Midwest Regional tournament semifinals Friday in Cincinnati.

Temple Coach John Chaney thought the defense was a simple man-to-man.

"It may have looked like man-to-man, but it wasn't," Brown said.

Brown describes the it as a combination of eight or nine different sets that he can change quickly during with signals from the bench.

At Rosemont, Ill.

LSU 72, No. 8 Temple 62
Besides Wilson's 21 points, Darryl Joe had 18, including nine in the final three minutes, for LSU, which takes a 23-14 record into Friday's regional semifinals at Cincinnati. Temple's finished 32-4 after shooting just 36.5 percent from the field to 54.5 percent for LSU.

The Owls trailed just 61-58 on a 3-point basket by Mike Vreeswyk with 5:14 to play. But Joe hit a 3-pointer, and the Tigers built on the lead from the free-throw line.

Vreeswyk finished with 26 points. "When we were 1-5, I said we would be in a national tournament," Brown said. "With these kids, nothing surprises me."

No. 5 DePaul 83, St. John's 75, OT
Dallas Comegys and Rod Strickland hit baskets that sent the game into overtime tied at 69, and Comegys broke a 73-73 tie with a short jumper that sent DePaul on its way to victory. Strickland's tying layup came with five seconds left in regulation after Comegys purposely missed a foul shot. St. John's guard Mark Jackson missed a short, driving jumper as time expired.

Kevin Edwards had 26 points for DePaul, 28-2, while St. John's was led by Jackson with 23. The Redmen finished 21-9.

DePaul led by as many as 14 points in the second half before St. John's rallied, tying the score at 57 on a 3-pointer by Jackson.

SOUTHEAST REGIONAL

No. 4 Georgetown 82, Ohio State 79
Georgetown rallied from a 15-point deficit in the second half to advance to a showdown with Kansas on Thursday at Louisville. Charles Smith hit four 3-pointers, and All-American Reggie Williams made three in the second half.

Ohio State, 20-13, got five quick points from Jerry Francis to lead 44-29 early in the second half. But a 3-pointer by Smith with 1:16 to play gave Georgetown the lead for good, 76-73, and completed a 47-29 run.

Williams finished with 24 points, and Smith, who averaged just 5.9, had 22. Both had 19 in the second half.

"When I see 20 minutes go up on the scoreboard, then I know it's time for me to start shooting," Williams said.

DePaul's Dallas Comegys guns for two over several St. John's defenders during the Blue Demons' 83-75 win over the Red Men Sunday in Rosemont, Ill. Comegys later later deliberately missed a free throw that helped throw the game into overtime.

No. 20 Kansas 67, SW Missouri St. 63

All-American Danny Manning scored 42 points, most from inside, as Kansas rallied from a 33-31 halftime deficit. Southwest cut a 10-point lead to two, but Manning made 7-of-8 free throws in the final 3:07 to hold off the Bears, who had won 15 in a row. Kansas is 25-10. Southwest finished 28-6.

Kansas took the lead for good at 40-39 on a layup by Mark Turgeon with 16:15 to play, and the Jayhawks bolted to a 51-41 lead with Manning scoring six of 11 points in the spurt.

"Manning was the man," said Southwest forward Greg Bell, who drew the defensive assignment.

Florida 85, No. 7 Purdue 66
Florida, in its first NCAA tournament, advanced to the regional semifinals Thursday at East Rutherford, N.J., behind the 24 points of guard Vernon Maxwell and another 21 from 7-foot-2 freshman center Dwayne Schintzius.

Florida Coach Norm Sloan praised Schintzius. "When an 18-year-old kid goes out and does that he did, he deserves credit," he said.

The Gators, 23-10, led 54-46 with less than 13 minutes to go, then outscored the Boilermakers 14-1 to lead 63-46 with 10:13 to play.

Purdue finished 25-5.

No. 10 Syracuse 104, W. Kentucky 86

Syracuse used two second-half bursts to run away after leading just 42-40 at halftime. The Orangemen, 28-6, started the second half with a 15-3 run. Later, a 15-6 tear put them ahead 76-63.

With Sherman Douglas scoring 27 points, the Orangemen built their lead to as many as 23 points.

Rony Seikaly and Howard Triche had 21 points each for Syracuse, while reserve Bryan Asberry had 22 for Western Kentucky, 29-9.

WEST REGIONAL

At Tucson, Ariz.

Oklahoma 96, No. 12 Pitt 93
Oklahoma squandered a 16-point first-half lead and had to rally behind senior Tim McCalister to earn a trip to the West Regional semifinals against Iowa on Friday in Seattle.

Pitt trailed 51-41 at halftime, but freshman Rod Brooklin led a second-half rally for an 87-84 lead with 3:34 left. Pitt still led 89-88 when McCalister gave the Sooners the lead for good with a 12-foot jumper.

The Sooners move into the round of 16 with a 24-9 record, while Pitt finished 25-8. Brooklin had 24 points.

No. 6 Iowa 84, UTEP 82
Forwards Roy Marble and Kevin Gamble led a second-half rally for Iowa.

The Hawkeyes, 29-4, trailed 42-38 at halftime before Marble scored 13 points and Gamble 12. Marble finished with 28 points and Gamble 14.

Marble's two free throws put Iowa ahead to stay at 76-74 with 3:11 left. Gamble's layup with 2:25 made it 78-74.

Marble, with 13 points in the second half, finished with 28.

Mike Richmond, who scored 16 of his 18 points in the second half, got a three-point play to get UTEP within a point, but Ed Horton's layup with 1:10 remaining put Iowa up 80-77 before Marble sank two more foul shots with 31 seconds left.

15-3 Hawks blast Paris to run win streak to six

The streaking Howard won their fifth and sixth games in a row Sunday against Paris Junior College. In both games, freshman pitchers making their first starts won games for Hawks' coach Bill Griffin.

In game one, Derek Matlock surrendered a two-run homer and three runs in the first inning, but that was it for Paris. Matlock allowed them just two more hits and the Hawks' infield turned three double plays in the last six innings.

In the meantime, the Howard bats came alive. In the bottom of the first, Juan Rodriguez hit a one-run single, and Frank Medina cracked a two-run double to tie the game.

In the second, Ernesto Castro hit a one-run double and Freddie Lopez hit a one-run single. In the third, designated hitter John Wiles smacked a homer over the 375-foot mark for two more runs. Howard scored once more in the eighth for the 8-3 win.

Game two was halted by the 10-run rule when the Hawks scored four runs in their half of the fifth for the final 14-3 count.

In that game, freshman Mark

Medrick walked six and struck out two for the win. He surrendered one run in the first, and two in the fifth, but that was all.

In the second, Howard sent 10 batters to the plate, got six hits, one walk, and seven runs. Castro had a two-run single, Lopez hit an infield single rbi, and Randy Deal slapped a two-run triple. Joel Chimelis followed with his fifth homer of the season, scoring Deal as well.

In the third, Castro hit a two-run double. In the fifth, Rodriguez hit a two-run triple and Deal "put one in orbit," according to Griffin. The towering two-run shot proved the knock-out, as it gave Howard an 11-run bulge and halted the game.

The Hawks improved to 15-3. They play double headers today and tomorrow at Jack Barber Field. Both first games start at 1 p.m.

Hawks' streak now at 10

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

As the NBA regular season enters its final weeks, having a roster of healthy players can be as important as winning.

Guards Jim Paxson of the Portland Trail Blazers and Michael Adams of the Washington Bullets returned to action Sunday and played key roles in their teams' victories.

Paxson, after missing nine games with a sprained right ankle, scored 16 points in 19 minutes as the Blazers beat Golden State 119-108.

Adams, just recovered from a hamstring injury, had nine of his 16 points and four of his six assists in the fourth quarter as the Bullets defeated Cleveland 97-89.

Five of Paxson's points came early in the fourth period as the Blazers increased their lead from 91-83 to 100-88, virtually putting the game out of reach.

"He gave us a spurt that helped us win the game," Coach Mike Schuler said. "It's good at this time of the year to get him back. We need him desperately."

Kiki Vandeweghe led Portland's balanced attack with 26 points. Terry Porter added 21 points and 11 assists and Clyde Drexler had 20 points and 11 assists.

Larry Smith led Golden State with 23 points and 15 rebounds. Joe Barry Carroll added 20 points and also grabbed 15 rebounds.

Bullets 97, Cavaliers 89
Adams, who played one minute on Saturday night after missing six full games with the injured hamstring, saw 24 minutes of action against Cleveland.

"We had a lot of tired players out there tonight," Bullets Coach Kevin Loughery said. "Michael gave us a lift we definitely needed. He'd been such a positive player for us until he got hurt. It's good to see him back."

The Cavaliers, who have lost 21 of their last 22 road games, rallied from a 52-40 halftime deficit to tie the score 75-75 with 8:40 left in the game.

Adams then scored seven of Washington's next 11 points as the Bullets opened a 86-81 lead at the 5:43 mark. Cleveland was unable to get closer the rest of the way.

Jeff Malone had 26 points and Terry Catledge 20 for Washington, while Ron Harper paced Cleveland with 20.

Hawks 104, Nuggets 100
Atlanta extended its winning streak to 10, longest in the NBA this season, as Kevin Willis scored 24 points, including a follow shot that broke a 99-99 tie at Denver.

After Willis' tip-in gave Atlanta a 101-99 lead, the two teams exchanged free throws before Dominique Wilkins, who had 20 points, hit two more free throws for the final margin.

Alex English led all scorers with 27 points for the Nuggets, while Darrell Walker added 21. The victory pulled the Hawks within a half game of first-place Detroit in the Central Division.

Celtics 113, Knicks 104
Larry Bird sparked a decisive 17-5 spurt by scoring 15 of his 35 points in the last 3:24 of the second quarter, and Boston went on to defeat New York, which played without three injured 7-footers.

The Knicks, with Patrick Ewing, Bill Cartwright and Jawann Oldham sidelined, took a 46-43 lead with a 21-5 run in the second period. Then Bird, who had 18 points in the quarter, gave the Celtics a 50-41 halftime advantage.

New York, which was led by Gerald Wilkins with 22 points, got no closer than seven points in the second half as the Celtics won their 19th straight home game in front of the 300th consecutive capacity crowd at Boston Garden.

Lakers 115, Clippers 101
Magic Johnson scored 20 points and Kurt Rambis grabbed a career-high 18 rebounds as the Lakers won their seventh consecutive game and beat their crosstown rivals for the 16th consecutive time at the Forum.

The Lakers used a 9-2 run midway through the third quarter to take a 74-59 lead, and a 13-5 run in the fourth quarter extended the margin to 101-79 with 7:20 left. The Clippers got no closer than 12 points down the stretch.

The Clippers, losers in seven of their last eight, were led by Mike Woodson with 19 points and Michael Cage with 16.

Pacers 123, Nets 99
Indiana shot 68 percent from the field while taking a 72-56 halftime lead, then coasted to victory over New Jersey, which had its longest winning streak of the season snapped at four.

John Long scored 14 first-quarter points and backcourt partner Vern Fleming added 12 in the same period as the Pacers grabbed a 37-30 lead.

Fleming finished with 20 points, Steve Stipanovich 19, Long 16 and Stuart Gray a career-high 13 for Indiana. Orlando Woolridge scored 25 and Buck Williams 24 for the Nets.

Kings 107, Sonics 106
Sacramento survived a 41-17 Seattle spurt in the second half and a career-high 40 points by Dale Ellis to beat the Sonics on Eddie Johnson's 15-foot jumper with four seconds left.

The Kings, who snapped a six-game losing streak, built a 75-53 lead with 10:02 left in the third quarter.

third longest jumps to cap a Runnels' sweep of the event. Baker also finished second in the high jump, and Jermaine Miller was fourth.

In the shot put, Mike Williams was third, Louis Alonzo fourth, and Sean Johnson sixth. Williams was also third in the discus.

Freddie Rodriguez was third in the 100-meters, and Soldan finished sixth in the 400. The Yearlings were second in both the 1600 and 400 meter relays.

Roman Ortega was third in the 300 hurdles; Joe Miramontes finished third and Johnnie Lazano fourth in the 800 meters. In the 1600 meters, Furman Gutierrez finished fourth and Raul Castillo finished fifth.

LSU, Arkansas win indoors

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — When Loren Seagrave became women's track coach at Louisiana State four years ago, the Lady Tigers were only good enough to beat one of the seven teams in the Southeastern Conference indoor meet.

Now, the Lady Tigers are the best in the nation. Thanks to a big first day in which four girls combined to score 21 points, Louisiana State was able to outdistance Tennessee and win the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships that concluded Saturday night.

Louisiana State won the meet with 49 points, well ahead of second-place Tennessee, which had 30. Villanova was third with 24, followed by Arizona and Texas with 22 each.

"We don't have a lot of superstars," Seagrave said after LSU won its first-ever national title. "We just have kids who work real hard, and have a staff that probably works harder than any staff in the country. Our assistant coaches are part and parcel to this."

The Arkansas men got some late-meet heroics of their own to capture their unprecedented fourth straight indoor title.

First the 3,200-meter relay team set a meet, collegiate and American record to win in 7:18.67. Then Roddie Haley, named the meet's outstanding performer, set a world best by breaking the 60-second barrier in the 500-meter dash.

Finally, Joe Falcon won the 3,000-meter run in a time of 7:56.79. "This one is sweeter than the others, because we did it with less people," said Arkansas Coach John McDonnell. "No one can say we out-numbered them this year."

Arkansas finished with 39 points, eight more than Southern Methodist. Indiana, Georgetown and McNeese State tied for third.

Haley, who anchored the 1,600-meter relay team that finished second, clocked a 59.90 in the 500. A year ago on the same track he ran a 59.82.

Notes

over Michigan, it gave the Tar Heels more points than Notre Dame had scored earlier in an entire game when the Irish beat Texas Christian 58-57.

The tournament field has made 42.2 percent of its 3-point shots, connecting on 457 of 1,082. Notable 3-point performances include Alabama, 16 of 22 for both games, with Jim Farmer six of eight and Mark Gottfried six of nine. Providence leads the tournament with 21 3-pointers, including eight of 12 by Billy Donovan.

Four teams enter the regionals with double-digit winning streaks led by Nevada-Las Vegas with 20. Georgetown has won 13 in a row, Alabama and Notre Dame 11.

Nevada-Las Vegas would get a chance to avenge its only loss in 36 games this season if the Runnin' Rebels get by Wyoming and Oklahoma beats Iowa. Oklahoma beat UNLV 89-88 on Jan. 17 in a game best remembered for the officials' failure to credit the Rebels with what televised replays showed clearly was a 3-point field goal.

UNLV beat Fullerton State 73-65 in its next game, marking the last time a team has finished within 10 points of the Rebels.

All four No. 1 seeds — Nevada-Las Vegas, Georgetown, Indiana and North Carolina — are still alive. The lowest surviving seeds are Wyoming, 12th in the West, and Louisiana State, 10th in the Midwest. LSU, seeded 11th last year, was the lowest seed ever to make the Final Four.

Tournament spectators can see four of the five first-team All-Americans — Georgetown's Reggie Williams, Kansas' Danny Manning, Indiana's Steve Alford and North Carolina's Kenny Smith. The fifth All-American, Navy's David Robinson, was eliminated in the first round, but he went out with style, scoring a career-high 50 points against Michigan.

The much-criticized home court advantage enjoyed by seven teams proved to be just that. Only Arizona and Alabama-Birmingham were losers on their home floors. Syracuse, DePaul, Indiana, Alabama and North Carolina each won two games playing at or close to home. The overall home-court record is 10-2.

Western Kentucky freshman guard Roland Shelton fouled out and was whistled for two technicals in two minutes of playing time as the Hilltoppers lost to Syracuse 104-86 in the second round of the East Regional.

Some notable quotes from the first two rounds: "If Rod can play like that sick, I'm going to get some sick pills." — DePaul Coach Joey Meyer, after flu-ridden guard Rod Strickland scored 25 points and dished out eight assists in the Blue Demons' 76-62 first-round victory over Louisiana Tech.

"I'd never been to a mercy killing before." — New Orleans Coach Benny Dees, after the Privateers were routed by Alabama 101-76 in the second round of the Southeast Regional.

"We shoot the 3-pointer very well and we'll have some problems there. But I haven't even thought about them yet. I led the nation, the world, the continent in worrying since Wednesday. I'm going to rest from worrying tomorrow." — Alabama Coach Wimp Sanderson on Providence, the Crimson Tide's opponent in the Southeast Regional semifinal.

"Tark is the biggest moaner, crier and sniveler on the face of the Earth. You'd think his guys were choirboys and they couldn't beat the Sisters of the Poor." — Wyoming Coach Jim Brandenburg commenting on Nevada-Las Vegas Coach Jerry Tarkanian.

Super Dream Pill
Guaranteed Weight Loss

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH — An amazing new super Dream Pill System has recently been perfected that guarantees rapid weight loss. Best of all, it allows you to eat your favorite foods while losing weight from the very first day until you achieve your ideal weight and figure.

The Dream Pill System features the extraordinary Dream Pill. The Dream Pill combines natural substances L-arginine, L-lysine and L-ornithine which can stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Dr. Robert Harris, a specialist in nutritional medicine was recently quoted as explaining: "Growth Hormone may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail."

"Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-ornithine make the body 'think' it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat as much as they want — and still be thin and wiry."

Life Extension Authors Confirm Results

Durk Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life

Extension. They discovered the weight-loss effects by accident. Sandy fell and broke her foot and started taking L-arginine because of its well-known healing qualities. Much to her amazement Sandy lost 25 pounds of fat and put on 5 pounds of firm-toned muscle in six weeks. According to Durk's calculations, the pill caused Sandy to lose 400 times as much fat as she would otherwise have lost — without dieting!

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 17, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today it will be necessary to express your greatest charm and thoughtfulness to prevent unfortunate, but potential, break-ups from taking place.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): There are tense situations that could strain certain relationships, so be most diplomatic with everyone.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Don't try to change your methods at work or you jeopardize the comfortable position you are in now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Think about entertainments you want to enjoy and decide on those that are not too expensive.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21): The situation at home is not as you want it to be, but it will soon improve. Don't make any changes.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21): You want to get into new outlets, but this is not the ideal time for such. Postpone until conditions improve.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Take care you do not take any reckless chances where finances are concerned, or you will soon regret it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Your life is running quite smoothly now, so don't act impulsively and spoil it all. Take it easy and be happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Don't fight the limitations connected with your work, but profit from them and become more efficient.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): If someone criticizes you, don't take it to heart since it could be constructive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You need to be wise but silent today in any civic matter. Safeguard your reputation and be happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You have so many new ideas that you want to break present set-ups, but this could bring you trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Make sure you keep any promises you have made. Be kind with your mate and don't be critical.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he, or she, will want to have many varied interests in life. If not taught early to complete whatever has been started, your progeny may never accomplish much of anything. Once this is overcome there can be considerable success in the renovation business.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
