Spring board

How's that? Spring break

Q. Why do Big Spring students receive only three days off for spring break next week, instead of an entire week?

A. That option was elected by the majority of teachers, Superintendent Lynn Hise said. The teachers voted on a calendar allowing a full two weeks at Christmas rather than the extra time at spring break, he said.

Calendar Downtown

Outside Cloudy

Skies today are cloudy, temperatures in the mid 60s, with winds of 15-20 miles per hour out of the southwest, shifting to the west northwest later today. There is 40 percent chance of thundershowers in the evening, with the chance of rain on Tuesday increasing to 20 percent.

No injuries in bus mishap

No one was injured in an accident this morning involving a school bus and a car, according to Police Lt. Troy Hogue.

The 1987 Nissan Sentry, driven by 36-year-old Darlene Clouse, 2401 Marcy St., collided with the bus at Graffa and Alabama Streets, where the car was entering the street from the alley, Hogue said.

The Big Spring Independent School District bus, carrying 34 school children, suffered minimal damage to the right back quarter panel, he said, but the car's left front was severely damaged.

Clouse was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way, Hogue said.

Deliberations delaying arguments

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Deliberation over a final charge delayed this morning's scheduled closing arguments in the trial of a 39-year-old Big Spring man, who shot two persons Easter Sunday in Comanche Trail Park.

Attorneys representing Pedro Cantu, 1511 Johnson St., questioned seven persons Tuesday afternoon, including the defendant.

Evidence resulting from the testimony caused the prosecution to "make changes" in the final charge, Assistant District Attorney William DuPree said this morning.

"We didn't feel there were issues of sudden anger or passion that could have been incorporated into an attempted involuntary manslaughter charge," DuPree said.

The defendant's testimony did raise the issue of reckless conduct, DuPree said.

The final charge will include attempted murder and the lesser offenses of aggravated assault and reckless conduct, DuPree added.

The state has been trying the case on a grand jury indictment, which charged Cantu with the attempted murder of Ramon Calderon on March 30, 1986.

The defendant told a four-man, eight-woman jury Tuesday afternoon that a second shot he fired from his shotgun Easter Sunday in Comanche Trail Park was intended to scare away Ramon Calderon. Testimony indicates the shooting victim was in possession of a tire tool at the time.

The shot, however, hit Ramon Calderon in the face — resulting in permanent blindness, the victim testified earlier.

Cantu told jurors he "didn't mean to shoot Ramon. I was shooting at the tree."

Ramon Calderon was 10 to 15 feet away and dodging behind a tree when Cantu fired his shotgun a second time, Cantu testified. Moments before he leveled a blast toward Ramon Calderon, Cantu shot Enrique Calderon, who was 15 feet away from the defendant's car. The vehicle was traveling south, toward the city's swimming pool, Cantu told jurors.

The shot was intended to strike Enrique Calderon in the leg, Cantu testified.

The defendant had two guns in his car and, earlier that day, had tried to sell a .22 caliber rifle to Joe Ramirez, 19 W. Sixth St., because he needed money, Pedro Cantu testified.

The defendant's son Jim, a passenger in the car at the time, also testified.

Both Cantu and his son told jurors that the Calderons approached Cantu's car when he first entered a loop that circles the city's swimming pool.

"They were saying a bunch of cuss words to my dad and told him to get out of the car.

He (Pedro Cantu) was trying to ignore them," the 13-year-old Jim Cantu testified.

After they had driven around the swimming pool, Cantu reentered the loop and encountered the Calderons again, both the defendant and his son testified.

They were scared of being attacked because both Cantu and his son "knew they (the Calderons) had stabbed some other people," Jim Cantu testified.

Prior to the Cantu's testimony, Luis Alcantar, 1501 Oriole, testified that he had been attacked and stabbed by Enrique Calderon, Ramon Calderon and Librado Calderon in December 1, 1985 in El San Luis, 3500 W. Highway 80.

Librado Calderon was indicted two months later on an aggravated assault with a deadly weapon charge by a Howard County grand jury as a result of the encounter with Alcantar.

St. Patrick's Day weather has deadly effect in Texas

From staff and wire reports

Texas weather ran from one extreme to the other on St. Patrick's Day, with up to 10 inches of snow in the Panhandle, clear blue skies and 80-degree weather along the coast, a tornado fatality in Slocum and storms in the Big Spring area.

Afternoon storms brought rain, gusty winds and a report of a possible tornado two miles northeast of Big Spring.

A spokeswoman from the Howard County Sheriff's Department said the department received an unconfirmed report of what appeared to be a tornado. However, officers saw nothing and the National Weather Service had nothing on radar in this area, she said.

Cable television services were out in Coahoma most of the day Tuesday, City Clerk Karen Bell said. Larson Lloyd, director of Big Spring Cable, said electronic equipment that services Coahoma was damaged in the store. Although it's unsure what caused the damage, lightning is a likely culprit, he said.

Service was restored by night, he said. Bell said Coahoma City Hall had no reports of destruction, but residents complained of sand blowing into their homes.

The U.S. Agricultural Research Service reported 0.01 inches of rainfall Tuesday, bringing the year-to-date total to 2.20 inches, compared to the normal-to-date of 1.68 inches.

Tommy Hart, 1750 Purdue St., reported a mere sprinkle of rain and a yearly total of 2.20 inches. Wendell Shive of Coahoma said there was not enough rain to measure at his farm, but gusty winds blew all day.

A tornado that hit the East Texas community of Slocum hurled a house 50 feet along the ground and resulted in the death of one woman, authorities said.

One twister struck in the area south of Palestine, hitting the wooden manufactured house at about 6 a.m. and leaving only the base boards in their original location.

Kathy Dennis, 35, was pronounced dead at Anderson County Memorial Hospital at about 8 a.m. Her husband, Don Dennis, 39, was in guarded condition suffering from internal injuries, said Barbara Hart, a spokeswoman for the Anderson County Sheriff's Department.

Their children, Brent Dennis, 10, and Brad Dennis, 8, were in stable condition, Ms. Hart said.

Smaller twisters near Palestine and Maydelle blew down trees and billboards and damaged barns and mobile homes, authorities said.

Later Tuesday, high winds blew an 18-wheeler on Interstate 20 over a guard rail and into the Trinity River near Forney in North Texas, authorities said. The driver of the truck, which landed right side up in several feet of water, was not injured, officials said.

Other twisters touched down in East Texas, causing no injuries, as stormy weather marched across the state.

Chief eyes improved community rapport

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

With an eye toward establishing a rapport between police officers and the public, Police Chief Joe Cook has made several changes in the police department since he took office Jan. 1.

The object is to "break down the barrier of adversaries — us against them," Cook said.

More friendly contact between citizens and police would help prevent and solve crimes, he believes.

With that goal in mind, Cook moved half the detective force to night duty because, he said, "things occur at night. The city takes on a personality change. Different people are on the streets."

Although it's too early to see results after only a month since the change, Cook said he believes the shift has made officers somewhat more relaxed, which promotes better work.

In addition, he plans to involve more officers in crime prevention. Currently the police department has three crime prevention officers. Cook plans to involve all officers in preventing crime by getting them involved in the community.

"The more we become involved in the community and the community gets to know us, the better program we're going to have," he said.

The idea is not new, he said — many years ago, before officers rode in cars, they would walk a beat, and they knew the residents and merchants on their beat. He believes that was one factor in the lower crime rate of yesteryear.

Police officers will be encouraged to stop "for no apparent reason" to speak to merchants, get to know them and the area, he said.

Although there are other changes Cook would like to make, they must

CHIEF JOE COOK
... several changes

wait until funds are available, he said.

A wall in the police foyer separating the public from the dispatcher would be removed. However, to protect the dispatcher, the counter would be raised so it couldn't be vaulted over, electronic locks would be installed so that at the push of a button, an officer could be shielded from danger, and bullet-proof glass would be installed in the dispatcher's window.

Improved radio equipment, a computer system, tape recorders and shotguns for officers, and department-supplied handguns also are on a future shopping list for the police department, Cook said.

Cook doesn't view Big Spring as a high-crime area.

Big Spring has "a little more than our share" of burglaries and petty crimes, he observed, but "I don't view Big Spring as being a rough town, as it was in the 50s and 60s. We have mostly nuisance crimes."

Most of the thieves are in their late teens to early 20s, he said, adding that narcotics play a part in thievery. People often steal to support a narcotics habit, Cook said.

At the same time, he does not believe that Big Spring has a disproportionate drug problem.

There are no indications of drug kingpins engaged in massive illegal smuggling, and influencing government and business, as in Los Angeles, where he served as an FBI agent, Cook said.

Additionally, "hard economic times can push an otherwise honest citizen into doing something he wouldn't ordinarily do," the police chief said.

Big Spring has "some real solid citizens who want nothing but the best for the city" and are willing to work for it, he said. The observation is evidenced by support for the Superconducting Super Collider project, he said.

Truckers aid police quest

ODESSA (AP) — Truckers around the country are aiding in the search for a trucker who kidnapped and shot an El Paso woman and her daughter by contributing reward money and distributing composite sketches of the suspect.

Donations over the weekend from truckers who live in Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, New York and Arkansas increased the reward to nearly $2,500, Kloss said.

Besides contributing reward money, many truckers grabbed a handful of composite sketches of the kidnapper and promised to pin the drawings to bulletin boards in truck stops nationwide.

"They want this cleared in the worst way," Sheriff's Capt. Gene Kloss told the Odessa American.

The 35-year-old El Paso woman, a postal worker, remained in stable condition Monday at Medical Center Hospital and her daughter was listed in critical condition, officials said.

Kloss said the woman told lawmen that her abductor forced her to perform oral sex before kicking her out of his truck and shooting her in the neck and her

Police Officer Phillip Boys investigates a car-bus collision at 2:34 p.m. Tuesday at West Third and Gregg Streets. No one was hurt, according to Police Lt. Troy Hogue. The accident occurred when a car driven by Marianne Daily of Plano turned right onto Gregg Street, apparently while in the blind spot of the bus driver, Don Martin of Lubbock, who also was turning right, the police report said. The bus was not against the right curb of Third Street because it needs a wider area to turn, Hogue said.

Private prison operation pondered

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) — A five-member Senate committee has been appointed to review a bill that would let private companies build and run prisons for the Texas Department of Corrections.

Sen. Ray Farabee said Tuesday he would offer a proposal for the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker, or his representative, to review prison contracts.

"I think Gov. (Bill) Clements has expressed concern because of past administrative problems in TDC that there be some final review of its contracts for a major prison, which is an extensive undertaking," said Farabee, D-Wichita Falls.

"And although we've built in a great many requirements and checks and balances, this seems reasonable," said Farabee, who is chairman of the Senate conference committee on the prison bill.

The House has not yet named its committee.

Farabee said he had "a concern that corrections not be politicized. It is a favorite topic in political campaigns, and I don't want this concept to become politicized, so I did not favor simply having the governor as the final say or veto of private contracting."

"But I have no problem with a broader-based committee, including the governor, to review the contracts."

Farabee said if a majority of the committee rejected a contract, it would be referred back to TDC.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate approved and sent to the House bills that would:

- Prohibit the required use of hand tools with handles less than four feet in length for farm labor, except for harvesting and transplanting.
- Sen. Hector Uribe, D-Brownsville, said the Legislature had earlier enacted a bill prohibiting "short-handled hoes," and some individuals had tried to circumvent the law by issuing knives to laborers.
- Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, said by passing the bill the Senate had served notice that "we are not in favor of stoop labor in this state."
- Provide emergency medical personnel and fire fighters free legal counsel against court claims involving official acts.

- Authorize peace officers to make arrests outside of their jurisdiction if the crime is committed within his presence or view, provided the crime was a felony or against the public peace.
- Allow sheriffs to contact owners of trespassing animals prior to impoundment.
- Establish certain standards for cities which regulate security alarms, with a permit fee of $30. A penalty of $50 is proposed for every false alarm over five at the same site.
- Raise license fees charged by the Board of Physical Therapy Examiners.

Volunteer fire fighters carry Brad Dennis, 8, to an ambulance Tuesday morning after a tornado destroyed his family's home and killed his mother in Stocum. The child suffered a broken leg and his father and brother also sustained injuries when the tornado touched down about 6 a.m.

An intense low pressure system centered in northwest Oklahoma continued to pump cold northwest winds across the Texas Panhandle Tuesday night, the National Weather Service said.

Snow continued to fall as a result, with accumulations ranging from 3 to 10 inches and winds up to 30 miles per hour. A travelers' advisory was in effect for the area early today due to snow and icy roadways.

By 10 p.m. in Amarillo, 2 inches of snow had accumulated and more was falling.

Numerous roadways in the region were closed due to the blowing, heavy snowfall. U.S. Highway 87 was closed between Dalhart and Raton, N.M., according to area law enforcement officials.

daughter behind the ear.

Deputies still aren't sure whether the man sexually attacked the 9-year-old, Kloss said, because the abductor kept the girl in the front of the cab with him while he forced the mother into a closed sleeper compartment in the back.

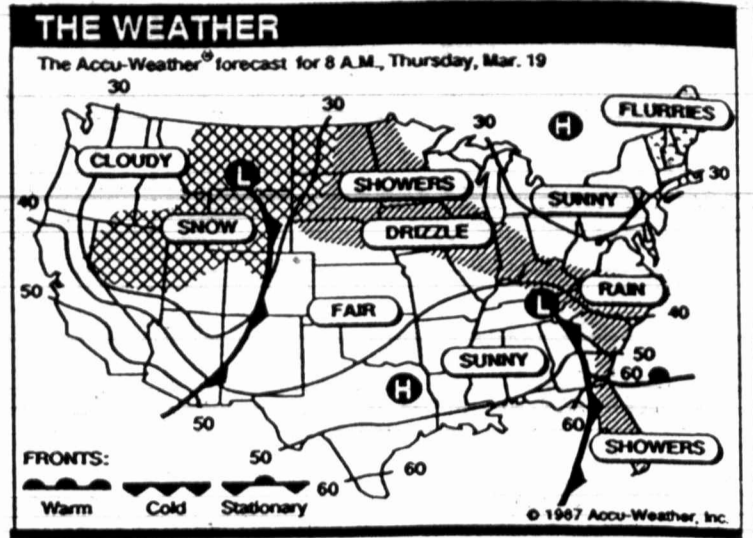

The ordeal began when the woman's 1980 Audi broke down Wednesday night seven miles east of Colorado City on Interstate 20, sheriff's Lt. Jeff Schwende has said.

Meanwhile, Maricopa County Sheriff's deputies in Gila Bend, Ariz., detained for four hours Sunday one trucker who partially fit the kidnapper's description before allowing him to proceed to California, Detention Officer Dan Birchfield said.

Truckers who remembered hearing a description of the abductor and his tractor-trailer rig besieged lawmen with calls concerning the Californian, who was stopped by Maricopa County Sheriff's deputies about 10:30 a.m. at an Interstate 8 truck stop, Birchfield said.

Investigators questioned the man, fingerprinted him and photographed him before he was released, Birchfield said.

Special council meeting

The City Council will conduct a special called meeting at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Airpark meeting room.

On the agenda are consideration of bids for municipal auditorium and Phillips Pond repairs, an agreement for engineering services for repair of Comanche Lake Dam, and an appointment to the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

Four contractors responded to a request for bids for municipal auditorium repairs, the Council agenda shows.

The bids range from $55,555 from D.D. Johnston to $74,430 from J.W. Little. Johnston also is a candidate for the Council position currently filled by Harold Hall.

The bids cover Phase III in the auditorium repairs, which includes plastering, painting, replacing floor coverings and general inside restoration. Public Works Director Tom Decell has said.

The agenda shows only one bid for repair of Phillips Pond, which is part of the wastewater treatment plant. Brown-McKee Inc. of Lubbock submitted a bid of $17,394.

The Council is to consider executing an agreement with Freese & Nichols Inc. for engineering services in repair of Comanche Lake Dam. Projected budget for the engineering services is $13,696.

The earthen dam was breached during heavy rains near the end of August. Most of the lake's water was released, flooding nearby residences and businesses.

The city has been notified it will receive a $650,000 grant from the state to repair the dam.

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said the goods reported stolen were found in the suspect's possession with the tags still on them.

Police apprehended Mendoza when an officer spotted a vehicle license plate that had been reported as suspect, he said.

Stores which reported clothing stolen were The Guy Next Door and Dunlaps at Highland Mall, J.C. Penney and Beall's at Big Spring Mall, Anthony's at College Park shopping center, and Payless Shoes, 2011 Gregg St.

A total of 11 shirts, a pair of jeans, a pair of tennis

Superconducting data topic of report tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Magnets far more powerful than any now in existence can be made from a newly discovered superconducting material, scientists say.

Such magnets could hasten development of nuclear fusion reactors, futuristic high-speed levitating trains and anti-missile beam weapons. The New York Times reported today.

The Times report was based on unpublished data from a half-dozen laboratories in the United States and China. The research information is scheduled to be presented tonight in New York at a special session of the American Physical Society annual meeting.

The session is expected to involve a spate of findings that resulted from the discovery less than three months ago of the superconducting material, a ceramic that can carry electric current at record high temperatures with no loss of energy.

Researchers are finding the material also is capable of sustaining unexpectedly large magnetic fields.

Jury cites conspiracy

LEESBURG, Va. — Followers of political extremist Lyndon LaRouche, already awaiting trial on federal and Virginia state fraud charges, have been hit by a New York grand jury with a new round of indictments.

Fifteen people, including some of the LaRouche organization's top-ranking leaders, were named in the indictment charging conspiracy, fraud, grand larceny and various securities charges in connection with money-raising activities.

Nine of the 15 were arrested by local authorities Tuesday night in Leesburg, a town where LaRouche makes his headquarters 40 miles west of Washington. They were held without bond pending a hearing today and extradition to New York.

Six others were being sought in New York and elsewhere.

LaRouche himself was not charged and was said to be in Europe.

Ortega has peace plan

NEW YORK — Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega says the Sandinista government is willing to make concessions to satisfy U.S. security concerns in Central America if the United States wants a peace agreement, it was reported today.

But a basic shift in the Reagan administration's attitude toward Central America is essential to the success of any peace plan, including the one endorsed by the U.S. Senate last week, Ortega told The New York Times.

The U.S. Senate backed a plan proposed by President Oscar Arias Sanchez of Costa Rica by a vote of 97-1 last week. The text of the Arias plan has not been made public.

The Reagan administration is putting pressure on Central American leaders not to agree to a regional peace plan with Nicaragua, Ortega said.

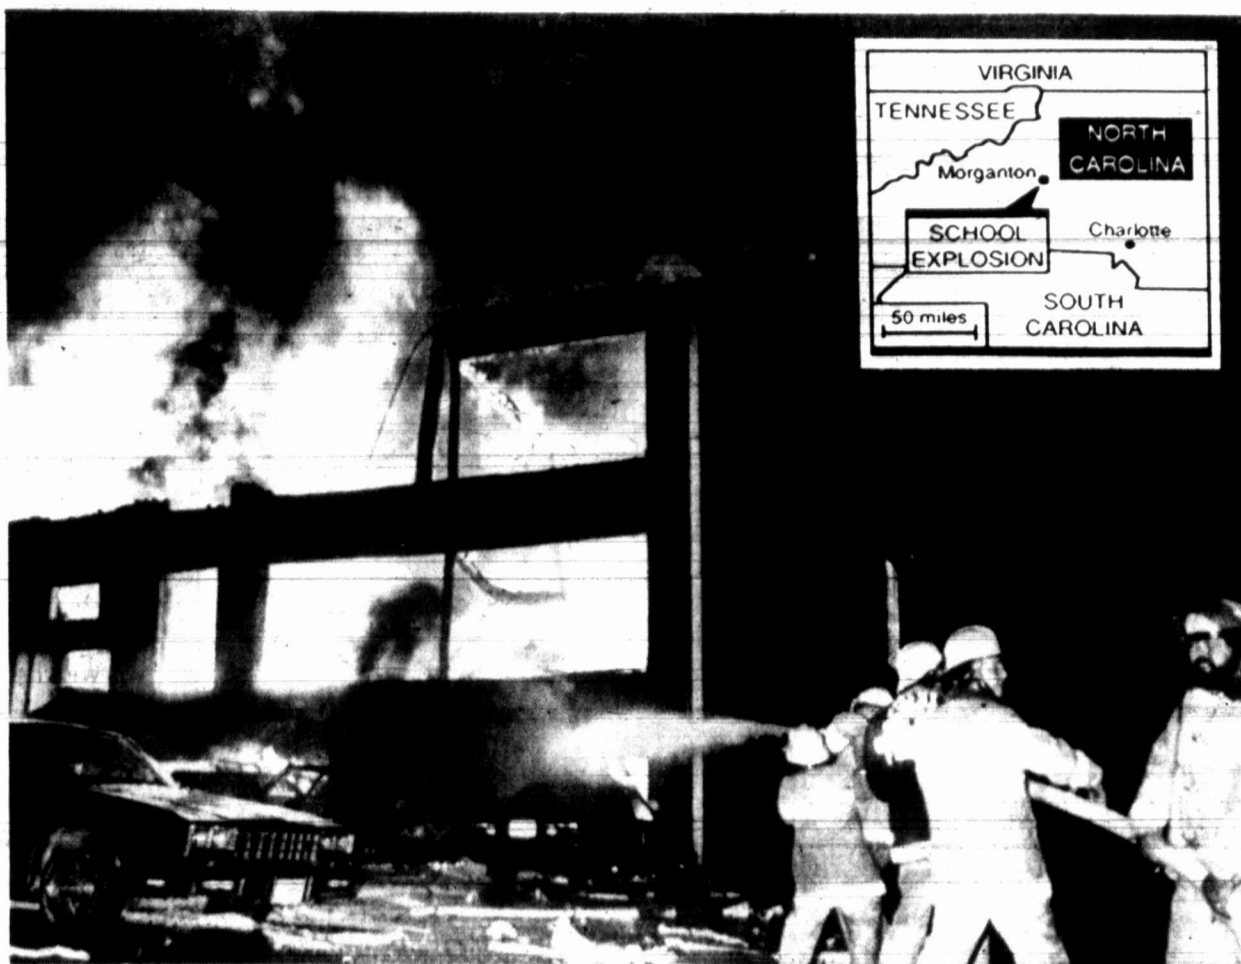

"If the United States wants an agreement, one could be reached quickly, and it would respond to the major security concerns of the United States," Ortega said.

He is charged with providing dynamite to Dennis Malvasi, a fireworks expert who surrendered to police Feb. 24 after a televised plea by New York Cardinal John O'Connor.

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — Firefighters were hosing the smoking ruins of a school today to allow investigators to enter in a search for the cause of the fiery explosion that ripped through the building as a basketball game went on next door.

No injuries were reported Tuesday in the blast at the Salem Junior High School that rocked houses for several blocks, threw the school's locked doors 60 to 70 feet and blew out windows and doors in a nearby elementary school.

Flames could be seen 10 miles away, witnesses said. "I thought someone had hit the house with a car," said W.G. Biggerstaff, who lives about a quarter-mile away.

The U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms was asked to investigate by state and local officials because of the magnitude of the explosion, said Ray Robinson of Burke County Emergency Management Services.

"This explosion is not consistent with anything that should have been in that building," said EMS Director Nick Waters.

The 7:30 p.m. blast occurred while a game between teachers and Little League coaches was in progress in the adjacent gymnasium.

The school's walls were left standing, but the interior was destroyed. About 70 firefighters brought the blaze under control about three hours after the explosion.

The blast and fire damaged several cars parked in front of the school and shattered windows in the gym, witnesses said. The explosion was heard as far away as four miles, Robinson said.

"We were just about at the entrance to the school when it went off," said Dennis Leonard, who was driving to the game after it had begun. "We saw the fire come out the right front side of the building and heard a big explosion."

"We drove up there from stupidity, I guess," he said. "It was obvious that the windows were all blown out and people started coming out of the gymnasium."

Troops claim success

EL PAISNAL, El Salvador — A year-long military campaign to drive leftist guerrillas from a key stronghold has been a near total success, the regional military commander claimed Tuesday.

Col. Leopoldo Hernandez, leader of the 1st Infantry Brigade, said his troops had been able to gain control over the area around and on the slopes of the Guazapa volcano, 15 miles north of San Salvador. He estimated the guerrilla forces in the area had been reduced to 5 percent of their original strength - with only 50 to 100 rebels still operating in the region.

The army began a major offensive in January 1986 to drive the rebels out of the area, long considered one of their main strongholds.

Hernandez said that since the campaign began, troops killed 211 guerrillas, dismantled 83 rebel camps, deactivated 870 land mines and uncovered 330 underground hiding places.

Premiers plan summit

OTTAWA — For the first time in five years, Prime Minister Brian Mulroney and the premiers of Canada's 10 provinces will meet April 30 to discuss ways of convincing Quebec to accept the nation's revised constitution.

"We are still at the stage of ... informal discussions," Lowell Murray, minister in charge of federal-provincial relations, said Tuesday when announcing the meeting.

Mulroney, a Conservative, has said that bringing his native province of Quebec to accept the constitution is a priority of his administration.

In 1981, former Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and nine provincial governments agreed to a revised constitution. French-dominated Quebec province has refused to sign it.

Quebec has one-quarter of Canada's population, and 80 percent of the province's 6.5 million people are French speakers. Voters in the province rejected a 1980 referendum to secede, but separatist sentiment remains strong.

Quake shakes Japan

TOKYO — A strong earthquake rocked buildings and knocked objects off shelves in southern Japan today, but police said there were no reports of serious damage or injuries.

Authorities ordered boats out of Kagoshima Bay off Kyushu island and warned residents away from the southern coast of nearby Shikoku island.

The agency said preliminary readings showed the earthquake measured 6.9 on the Richter scale, indicating a quake capable of causing severe damage in populated areas.

Generation gap may be closing

The popular perception is that the generation gap is widening. Poverty rates among the elderly have fallen dramatically, thanks in large measure to government-sponsored programs. On the other hand, many young workers feel burdened by ever-higher Social Security taxes and wonder if there will be anything left when they retire. Some sociologists predict that for the first time in the nation's history, today's young people are likely to have less education and less economic comfort than their parents. That's a formula for bitterness, they contend. Not so, reports a national poll designed to measure possible tension between generations. It concluded: "Most Americans are convinced that a blend of the energy of youth and experience of older people is required to solve the country's problems. Further, there is widespread rejection of anti-elderly sentiment." That good news summary is from the Daniel Yankelovich survey group. At least on the surface it refutes assumptions that inter-generation resentment is rising as America grays. However, the poll was sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons and it contained a few tough questions. Pollsters found, among other things, that an overwhelming percentage of respondents opposed forcing older workers to retire to make room for younger workers and favored greater government spending for poor children and long-term health care. Those opinions reflect a sense of fairness and universal concern as much as they reflect support for expanding Medicare. Regarding the latter, is it appropriate to ask if the poll will be used in lobbying for catastrophic illness legislation? What the heck, ignore the cynicism. The kids like the old folks and vice versa. Let's leave it at that.

Movie again stirs poor taste issues

The forced cutting of a new movie called "Angel Heart," to change its rating from "X" to "R," again confirms that realistic-looking violence is more acceptable to Americans than simulated sex. As the film's director, Alan Parker, noted: "In most countries, sex is not something that gives you a problem. Violence is. Here, you can blow 10 people's heads off in two minutes and it's OK." The dilemma of harmless sex vs. graphic violence has been around for years. In 1953, a film called "The Moon is Blue" got director Otto Preminger in hot water for using the word "virgin." Meanwhile, killing and maiming were capturing the hearts of audiences. Lately, this John Wayne syndrome has been personified by Sylvester Stallone's "Rambo" character. What makes "Angel Heart" so special is clean-cut 19-year-old Lisa Bonet (of TV's "The Cosby Show") in an interracial, dreamlike love scene. The black Bonet is in bed with the white Mickey Rourke when rainwater leaking from a ceiling turns to blood, splattering their nude bodies. It may not be wholesome, but neither gets garroted. Parker, who edited his film three times to earn the "R," said he hopes no other director "will have to go through such stupidity; this film will play uncut almost everywhere in Europe." The Motion Picture Association of America says the cuts (totaling only 9 feet of film) were so "crucial to the concerns of parents that we thought we could responsibly give our 'R' classification to this third version. . . ." But the matter goes deeper than that — or should. What's really offensive, it seems to us, is watching Ramboesque patriots bashing their way to gore or glory. So how about ratings that are based on violence? It couldn't hurt.

Army generals slow to act in halting counterfeit bolts

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA WASHINGTON — Soldiers riding in certain Army trucks and armored vehicles better hope that unscrupulous foreign bolt makers always make counterfeit fasteners as well as generals think they do. Otherwise, the steel bolts that hold the vehicles together could start popping loose. Counterfeit bolts have been noticed in vehicles made by four American manufacturers. The bolts look like the genuine article but are made with low grade steel.

The problem is that generals at Army Tank Command are convinced that counterfeit bolts will do the job as long as temperatures do not climb above 500 degrees. Above that mark, the low grade steels start turning to putty. Apparently the generals had not heard the latest from experts at the National Bureau of Standards: They found two counterfeit bolts that were 25 percent weaker than normal — at room temperature. So far, bolts of this poor quality have not been detected by the Army or the manufacturers. Nevertheless, the generals were so concerned about fake bolts that they ordered the four vehicle makers to stop using them. But the generals weren't worried enough to order replacement of counterfeit bolts in existing vehicles, or even to order an immediate halt to use of the potentially disastrous bolts. Instead, they gave the manufacturers two months to use the fakes they may have in their inventories.

In a Nov. 10, 1986, memo obtained by our associate Stewart Harris, Brig. Gen. Carl W. Tipton granted the waivers to four defense contractors so they could use substandard steel bolts until Feb. 1. The companies and the Army vehicles they make are FMC Corp., M113 and Bradley Fighting Vehicle personnel carriers; BMY Corp., field artillery ammunition carriers and M88 recovery vehicles; Emerson Electric, M981 fire-support team vehicles; and Oshkosh Truck, heavy, multi-use trucks. Of the four contractors, only Oshkosh said it discarded its stock of counterfeit bolts or sent them back to its supplier. The three other companies accepted the Army's reasoning that counterfeit bolts presented no problem — until after Feb. 1. "I'm appalled," said Tommy Grant, the country's premier crusader against substandard bolts. "It's not the general who is going to get killed if these bolts fail; it's the soldiers." Grant, a Houston-based bolt maker, has been working on the counterfeit problem with congressional and military investigators since last year. The counterfeit bolts originate mainly in Asia.

Jack Anderson

Also expressing shock was Charles Wilson of the Industrial Fastener Institute in Cleveland. He recalled a recent TV report in San Jose, Calif., on the Bradley Fighting Vehicle, in which a man claiming to be a mechanic at FMC Corp. told how bolt heads on the Bradley kept popping off. Instead of replacing the bolts, the man said, the bolt heads were simply glued back on to pass Army inspection. An FMC spokesman denied the accusation. "If the mechanic is correct," Wilson said, "they have a significant problem." He said the breakage could have been a result of improper tempering by the bolt manufacturer. "These bolts might have been full of thermal stress," Wilson explained, "and when subjected to the first transient load during testing, the heads fell off." A Tank Command spokesman said it's impractical to test every bolt, and added that its quality-control specialists have yet to find a counterfeit bolt that fails below 500 degrees. As for the prevalence of counterfeit bolts, a spokesman for BMY said the company identified 250,000 counterfeits out of 750,000 supposed Grade 8 bolts. Emerson Electric said it found none that would fail below 500 degrees. FMC's spokesman said that between 20 percent and 30 percent of its Grade 8 bolts were counterfeits in tests done before Feb. 1. Oshkosh found "six or seven" counterfeits in tests of 170 Grade 8 bolts. Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Reagan needs fresh challenges

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN Ronald Reagan finally has done what he should have done months ago: confessed error, shouldered blame, promised to do better. The Sam Donaldsons of the world still may be dissatisfied at his failure to perform the ritual of humiliation exactly as prescribed, but the public is bound to be reassured by the President's new posture. For Reagan, it's a start to restoring his public standing and political influence — but only a start. Unlike Reagan's past statements on the subject, he didn't try to shift the blame. Nor did it have the stingy, grudging tone of his admission, in the State of the Union address, that "mistakes were made." His theme was unmistakable: "I screwed up, and it won't happen again."

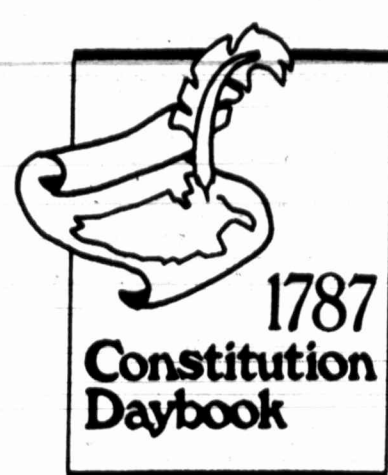

Though the speech glossed over some of the pricklier issues, particularly Reagan's encouragement of private aid to the Contras, it probably is enough to arrest his slide. The harder task is to make the last two years of his presidency more than an epilogue. However, plenty of obstacles are in his way. One is the continuing stream of revelation about Iranamok. Barring some dramatic new discovery tying Reagan closely to the diversion of funds from the arms sale, none of the revelations is likely to harm him more than what already has been reported.

Steve Chapman

But they will provide endless reminders of how he got into this mess. Another problem is his lame duck status. The closer Reagan gets to Jan. 20, 1989, the harder it will be for him to use persuasion, threats and rewards to get his way on Capitol Hill, and the harder it will be for him to attract and keep good people in his administration. Even a popular and commanding president would be handicapped. These matters largely are beyond Reagan's control. Two other issues, equally crucial to the fate of his presidency, are not. Reagan has left the management of his administration to others, and lately he has left key policy decisions to others as well. In both areas, he should seize the initiative. Reagan needs to involve himself more in the substantive decisions required for governing, and he needs to determine which goals should have priority in the next two years. A good place to start on the first point is to make it his personal business to prevail in Congress on the budget and aid to the Contras. In his fights for tax cuts and tax reform, Reagan proved himself a formidable lobbyist. Resuming that role would require the President to master the details of these subjects, and allow him to display that mastery. By confronting the realities of congressional politics, he would be forced to make choices that too often have been made by subordinates. With the help of Howard Baker, who is highly popular with his former colleagues, Reagan may be able to avoid bitter confrontations. But don't bet on it. Facing a President at the nadir of his popularity, Congress won't be eager to come to his rescue. Fortunately, Reagan still wields the veto, and he shouldn't hesitate to use it to restrain spending and block tax increases. Reagan also can remind the public again and again that, when it enacted Gramm-Rudman, Congress made a commitment to eliminate the deficit, and it has a duty to keep it. When it comes to Central America, Reagan also should make it clear what the consequences will be if Congress aban-

From The Associated Press Sunday, March 18, 1987

CONFEDERATION TODAY James Madison wrote George Washington to brief him on Congress and gave a rather dreary outlook on the United States. First, he described the situation in Massachusetts.

Shays' Rebellion had been put down and the state had chosen to give the insurgents amnesty if they would agree not to hold office or vote for a period of time. Although Madison thought this action was reasonable, he also heard that the rebels were ignoring the prohibition and voting and running for office anyway.

Second, Madison commented on the state of Congress:

"The thinness of Congress has been an obstacle to all the important business before them. At present there are nine States on the ground but this number, though adequate to every object when unanimous, makes a slow progress in business that requires seven States only. And I see little prospect of the number being increased."

The entire letter, though, was not full of doom and gloom. Madison also enclosed copies of Cherokee and Choctaw dialects collected by Benjamin Hawkins. He asked the general to forward these to Catherine the Great, the empress of Russia, who was interested in comparing them with the dialects of natives in northeastern Asia.

DELEGATES TODAY Edmund Prior wrote to James Pemberton of Philadelphia today. He recently had visited with Rufus King who would be a delegate to the convention from Massachusetts. King was convinced that the convention would deal with the issue of interstate commerce, and he hoped to have the opportunity to at least introduce a measure to end the importation of slaves into the United States.

LOOKING BACK James Madison's View of the Nation

Madison believed that the states had gone too far in their democratic zeal. For example, as a member of the Virginia Assembly, he had watched his fellow legislators butcher his carefully drafted resolutions.

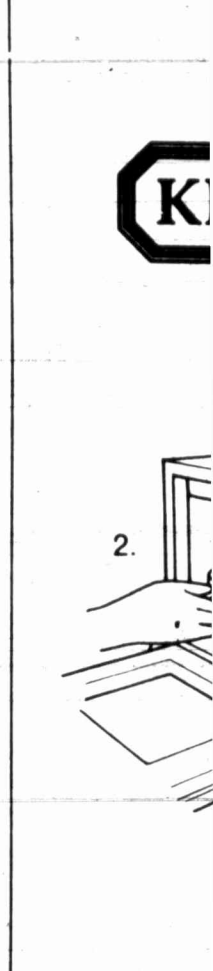

Now he was observing the situation in Massachusetts — the aftermath of Shays' Rebellion — and believed that some kind of controls were necessary to keep the states in line.

About this time he began to put his observations on paper in an essay titled "Vices of the Political System of the United States."

Madison also needs new goals. Lately, his agenda has been written by Cabinet officers indifferent to Reagan's philosophy of government — the Labor secretary pushing a big new job training problem, the head of Health and Human Services pushing catastrophic health insurance for the elderly.

When Reagan takes on causes more appropriate to Walter Mondale, he alienates his strongest supporters, makes no friends among his enemies and confuses everyone else. He can find better issues than these. One possibility would be a campaign of privatizing an array of federal services, from Amtrak to mail delivery, which would not only cut the deficit but also stimulate economic efficiency. More important than the specific issue, though, is that the administration shake off its lethargy — which was apparent even before Iranamok — and look for new challenges. Reagan has accepted responsibility for the arms scandal. Now he should assume responsibility for the theft of his administration.

KIDS COOKING

Kid's Cooking Microwave Magic

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

The microwave oven is a safe appliance to use when teaching your child how to cook.

To begin your child's first microwave cooking lesson, demonstrate the correct use of your model. Then, teach your beginner these important safety rules as you work together in the kitchen:

- Use the microwave oven only after asking permission.
- Turn the microwave oven off only when there is food in it.
- Use only microwave-safe cookware, never anything made of metal. Your instruction manual will specify which cookware is recommended for your oven.
- Use pot holders or oven mitts for removing foods from the microwave oven. Cookware can become hot from the heat of the food inside it.

Children love cheese and making Cheddar Cheese Sauce is an ideal microwave cooking adventure. The cheese may be purchased in a chunk for the kids to shred over wax paper or already shredded for extra convenience. For a change of taste that kids will enjoy, substitute Monterey Jack, Swiss or Colby cheese.

Beginners will need the guidance of an adult cooking coach when measuring ingredients for this recipe. To measure a tablespoon of flour, show children how to dip the correct size measuring spoon into a container of flour and level it with the edge of a spatula.

Most measuring spoon sets do not have a 1/4 teaspoon measure, so children will need to measure half of 1/2 teaspoon measure for the salt. Be sure to show small fry cooks what a dash of pepper looks like to avoid overseasoning.

Cheddar Cheese Sauce is so tasty and versatile, youngsters will have fun creating new ways to serve it.

For starters, have them try it over favorite cooked vegetables or fish sticks. It's a winner with chicken, turkey or ham slices or sandwiches, tossed with hot cooked macaroni or other favorite pasta or spooned over hot dogs or hamburgers. For a super snack, serve the sauce as a dip for corn or tortilla chips or cut-up raw vegetables.

Fast food restaurants have popularized one current favorite way to serve cheese sauce — as a filling for baked potatoes. It's a quick way to turn a potato into an easy entree.

Potatoes are a breeze to bake in the microwave oven and while they cook, children can gather the ingredients needed for the cheese sauce.

Once the potatoes have been removed from the microwave oven, they retain their heat long enough to allow time for preparing the sauce, so both will be ready to serve at the same time. Assist first timers with these following steps for microwave cooking potatoes:

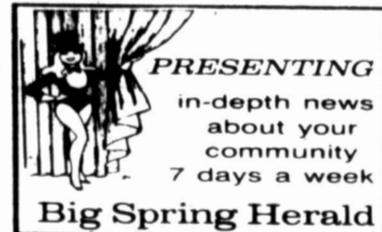

- Scrub 4 large (about 9 oz. each) potatoes with a vegetable brush under running water; dry with paper towels.
- Pierce potato skins with a fork in several places, to allow steam to escape; place potatoes on a dry paper towel in microwave oven.
- Microwave on High 17 to 20 minutes or until fork tender, turning potatoes over and rearranging after 10 minutes, to insure even cooking.

- Let stand 5 minutes.
- Youngsters can customize cheese sauce-filled potatoes in a variety of simple, creative ways. For South-of-the-Border Spuds, have them sitr into cheese sauce or top cheese sauce-filled potatoes with chopped green chilies and diced tomato. Create a colorful Vegetarian Treat by adding cooked broccoli flowerets and diced red pepper or a Midwestern Special adding chopped ham or crumbled bacon and green onion slices.

How did that cherry get in the chocolate?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The secret of how the fruit got inside the liquid-filled, chocolate-covered cherries is almost as much of a mystery as how the ship got inside the bottle.

The process by which these unique candies are created relies on a chemical reaction that actually takes place after the candy is made, says Dr. David Chisdes, an American Chemical Society member affiliated with a major candy company.

Before being dipped in chocolate, the cherries are coated with a sugary paste containing a chemical, or enzyme, called invertase, he explains. The paste hardens and the cherries are dipped in chocolate. Then they are stored for one to two weeks.

During this period the enzyme triggers a chemical reaction in the candy. One form of sugar, sucrose, is changed to two other more soluble forms: dextrose and fructose.

"In effect, the outer part of the cherry liquifies in its own syrup, leaving the cherry center swimming in liquid," adds Chisdes. "This explains how these succulent candies can be made without there being a hole somewhere in the coating."

Commercial chocolate products are made by mixing together sugar, cocoa butter, milk powder and chocolate liquor made from ground cacao beans. The mixture is passed through a series of rollers until an optimum particle size is achieved.

"The size of the compressed particles is critical," Chisdes points out. "If they are too small, the chocolate will feel slimy in the mouth, and if they are too large, it will feel gritty."

Before chocolate is ready to be poured into a mold or used as a coating on a fruit or cream center, it must pass through a heating, and then cooling, cycle.

"This helps the cocoa butter to crystallize in a stable form," Chisdes says. "If it doesn't, as sometimes happens, a white or grayish tinge is visible on the chocolate surface."

"The general public usually considers this a sign of staleness," he adds, "but in fact it's only a crystal defect and has nothing to do with the age of the chocolate."

To keep chocolates from developing this condition — known as fat bloom — Chisdes advises storing them at room temperature (70-80 F). Refrigeration often brings on fat bloom and high temperatures melt the product, he says.

Women's group discusses memory

Memory was the topic of discussion at a recent meeting of the Modern Woman's Forum.
 The group met at the home of Marie Affleck on March 13. "The Best Memory System" was read by Dorothy Hull and Gene Duncan told of "The Mystery of Memories."
 Hull said that "memories are the lightest and most important luggage we carry with us through life."
 The process of how memory recall works is unknown, but it gives us great pleasure at times, and is very frustrating when recall fails to click, she explained.
 Writing things down is a memory aid, as it leaves a set of traces in our brain. Often the use of memory is ignored until it goes wrong. Memory pulls information from what seems dead files. It is one of God's greatest gifts and may be one of our greatest resources, Hull said.
 "When God gave us power to build memories, he did not provide erasers and often these memories let us forgive but not forget. We should try to build memories of which we will be proud of and happy to recall."
 The mystery of the human memory is still not matched and it is one of our greatest natural resources. Everyone's memory is different and most people's memories are better than they give themselves credit for. Memory loss is only abnormal when it causes major disruptions in life, for memory loss happens at times to all of us.
 The next meeting is March 27th at the home of Gertrude Hill.

Group to meet at Kentwood Center

The National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees (NARVE) will meet at the Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center for a potluck supper and a business meeting on March 19 at 6:30 p.m.

Releasing personal info is a very serious matter

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: When I talk to my doctor, I see it as talking to a clergyman or a lawyer, that what you say is between you and them. I got a copy of my file and it reads like the National Enquirer. There are lots of personal things I never expected to see in print, and some stuff that is just not true.

Dr. Donohue

I thought a medical file was just medical. I would never have signed release of information forms all over the place (insurance and employment needs) if I knew what was in it. I don't think I will ever trust another doctor again. I think I had a right to know that everything I said was being used against me.
 — Hurt by a Healer.

You've raised an issue dear to my heart. I hope some doctors read your words.
 Doctors might put in their files information bearing on their patients' health. Often that includes very personal and confidential material. You can see why this is done. Doctors cannot remember everything said to them.
 Patients like yourself, on the other hand, sign release of information forms allowing access to those files by others. An example is when applying for life insurance. And here is where I side with you.

I think doctors sometimes fail to scrutinize such files, even though the patient has signed the release. I believe that only a summary of the file should be sent, a summary containing information pertinent only to the conditions asked about by the inquiring agency.
 I also believe that we doctors had better be a bit more circumspect or risk losing patient confidence. And patients signing release forms might want to remind their doctors that any inappropriate material in files be kept from the summary, that only relevant information be released.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: For the past two years I have been waking up in the morning and finding my hands asleep. Is this a symptom of carpal tunnel syndrome? I am a pianist, seamstress and knitter, so depend on the use of my hands quite heavily. Should I consult a physician? Is surgery always necessary for carpal tunnel syndrome? — Mrs. C.F.

A simple test in the doctor's office will provide a clue to carpal tunnel syndrome, the compression on the nerve in the wrist that serves the hand. Nighttime symptoms such as yours often occur with this problem.

If the doctor elicits a tingling sensation when tapping on the nerve with a rubber hammer, he can assume entrapment of that nerve within the carpal tunnel, the wrist opening that permits its passage. Further testing, as with a device to check nerve impulse transmission, provides further evidence. Nerve transmission is delayed if there is entrapment.

Non-surgical treatment to relieve the nerve compression can be tried in some instances, but it does not always work. Many patients find relief through use of wrist splints, worn at night especially. Anti-inflammatory drugs are used. Sometimes, cortisone is injected into the compression area. Your family doctor will be familiar with this quite common disturbance and be able to diagnose it for you.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is the difference between AIDS and lupus? — Anon.

You might better ask if there are any similarities. There aren't. Medically speaking, this is apples and oranges.

AIDS (acquired immunodeficiency syndrome) is virus-caused. We are not certain what causes lupus except for a suspicion that it is one of the examples of the body turning against its own tissue. Lupus is almost always controlled with medicine. AIDS is a fatal illness that resists treatment.

All of this would be a total waste of your time and mine were it not for the fact that it points out the vast void of information about AIDS, not to mention lupus.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please say a word about blistering sunburns in children. A word in advance of the summer season might properly alert parents to the danger. — L.W.

A blistering burn can make a child more prone to development of melanoma later in life. For children prone to such severe sun reactions, the best plan is to schedule outdoor activities in the cooler hours.

Herpes may be killing the sexual revolution, but having it doesn't mean the end of your life. Or the end of your sex life. In his new booklet, Dr. Paul Donohue separates the truth from the fiction about this controversial health problem. For your copy of "Herpes: Don't Panic," send $1.25 and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Vietnam Vet's breakdown is soothed by stranger's touch

DEAR ABBY: These days when most people are understandably suspicious of strangers, I must relate a recent experience.

On Friday, Feb. 6, I went to the Countryside Theater in Clearwater, Fla., to see a matinee showing of the film "Platoon." Because I am a combat veteran of Vietnam, for me that film was so realistic that I found myself searching the screen for the enemy and checking behind me only to discover a theater audience.

When the movie ended I was so emotionally drained, I couldn't leave my seat. Something snapped, and I lost the control of nearly two decades and fell apart completely. I leaned my head on the seat in front of me and began to sob uncontrollably, crying for all the people who had been maimed and killed in that senseless war, crying for all the friends I had watched die.

Suddenly I felt someone's arm around me, and a woman asked, "Are you all right?" I was inarticulate, but managed to say that I had been there. Then I looked up and saw that she was crying. Although I was crying for others, she was crying for me. I was stunned!

All I know about this stranger who comforted me in my moment of need is that she's about 20 years old, very pretty, and the people who know this beautiful, compassionate lady are lucky indeed.

PAUL MACAULAY JR.,
PALM HARBOR, FLA.

Dear Abby

DEAR PAUL: Thank you for sharing that heartwarming experience. We need to be reminded that in these times when evil and selfishness grab the headlines, there are still people who are basically kind and caring.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen my pet gripe mentioned in your column, so this may be a first: I telephoned a travel agency yesterday for some information and was put on hold. That was all right with me, but while I was on hold I was forced to listen to some lively dance music played at a high volume. I sat there holding the receiver to my ear because I had nobody to dance with, but I thought this was very inappropriate to say the least.

This morning I phoned a store and was put on hold to listen to some classical music — violins and wind instruments in a minor key. It was very depressing.

Abby, I do not need to be entertained while waiting on the line. I would like to know if I'm the only one who feels this way.

NO MUSIC, PLEASE

DEAR NO MUSIC: I'm sure you're not. This little ditty appeared recently in The Wall Street Journal:

A simple request
 If I might be so bold:
 Play me no music
 When you put me on hold.
 I may seem ungrateful
 In making this stance,
 But I've asked lots of phones
 And none cared to dance!
 — R.C. Shebelski

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years and do not recall ever seeing my problem in print. My future father-in-law is an alcoholic who hasn't had a drink in over three years. I'm having a dinner party and he'll be present. Would it be OK to serve a dessert that contains a small amount of alcohol? It's mainly for flavoring, so it might not be enough to worry about, but I want to be sure.

LOVES TO COOK

DEAR LOVES: Make a dessert that requires no alcohol. Even one drop is a drop too much for an alcoholic.

HEY DUMMY!

It's not funny!

If you're bent on driving yourself to drink, take a lesson from statistics... don't become one! Statistics will show you that there are too many people drinking and driving. As a result, people are getting hurt... getting killed. Now, the laws are getting stricter and the courts are getting tougher, but they can't do it all. There's still one person who can do his or her part... to try to put a stop to these horrifying statistics... and that's you. It's easy to remember and easy to do... don't mix automobiles and alcohol. Only a dummy would drink and drive!

State briefs By the Associated Press

The trick: Make noises like a crocodile in distress

IRVING — Authorities hope a Florida native will be able to "call" a caiman, a variety of Central or South American crocodile, from a canal in this Dallas suburb.

First reports had indicated there were two 7-foot alligators smacking their jaws in a canal, prompting city officials to break out dart guns, snares and firecrackers and drag around some chicken.

But authorities now say they have determined that the object sighted in the canal is a 3-foot caiman.

Mark Potts, a Florida native, offered Tuesday to help Irvin officials with his gator-calling expertise.

"You make noises like a young crocodilian in distress," Potts explained. "It's a kind of grunting sound that, believe it or not, pulls them into you."

The first report came a week ago when two boys reported seeing two reptiles they thought were alligators sliding into the canal.

No one paid much attention to the report until several residents of apartment complexes near the canal made the same discovery.

"The first night I recognized him as an alligator was one night at 4 a.m.," said Brian Martin, who lives near the canal. "It went out of the water into some bushes on the other side and made a little squeaky noise, like chipmunks talking to each other."

City animal control officials first spotted the creature, some reptile tracks and muddy "belly-slides" last Thursday and posted "danger" signs near the edge of the canal.

Steve Asbeck, an animal control officer, said he spent a long night Saturday alternately dragging chickens through the water and detonating firecrackers in an attempt to scare the beast into shallow water at the end of the canal.

"We probably did everything wrong you can possibly do because we just didn't know what we were doing," Asbeck said. "(Potts) said the only way you're going to catch him is by stealth."

Attorney General's office plans Chronicle sale review

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Attorney General's office will review the Hearst Corp.'s $400 million purchase of the Houston Chronicle, a spokesman said Tuesday.

The state's largest newspaper was sold last week to Hearst by the Houston Endowment Inc., a non-profit corporation that is required by federal law to divest itself of controlling interest in the newspaper by 1989.

Attorney general spokesman Ron Dusek said Tuesday the sale will be reviewed "as a matter of course."

"I wouldn't classify it as an investigation," he said.

"It's a routine. It's part of our responsibility," he said. "There has been no suggestion at all that anything was done wrong."

Dallas Times Herald owner William Dean Singleton had offered $415 million for the Chronicle two days before the Hearst purchase was announced, according to a financial consultant who handled the offer.

Singleton's MediaNews Group is the owner of four other Texas daily newspapers, including the Big Spring Herald.

Dusek said that and any other offers would be part of the review. But he said the sale would have been studied by the attorney general's office anyway because of its size and the involvement of a non-profit corporation.

Dusek said no official review has begun, and he noted that the actual sale is not final.

Hearst officials said last Thursday that the sale, involving $300 million in cash and $100 million in notes, was subject to certain regulatory filings and probably would be completed by June 1.

"It's a good guess that there's probably nothing wrong with the transaction," he said. "But these kinds of things still have to be reviewed."

The Tax Reform Act requires that tax-exempt foundations divest themselves of control of operating companies after May 26, 1989. Attempts to exempt the Chronicle from the law and prevent its sale were unsuccessful.

Prison system won't issue condoms

HUNTSVILLE — Although the use of condoms can help prevent the spread of AIDS, Texas Department of Corrections officials say they will educate inmates on the deadly disease instead of issuing condoms.

"I don't think we want to sanction any kind of sexual activity within TDC," said Dr. Laurence Cunningham, the prison system's chief of the medical staff. "The main way to avoid AIDS is to abstain."

Cunningham said Tuesday some of the issues against condoms being distributed involved security and the risk that condoms could be used to smuggle drugs within the prison system.

An in-house seminar for about 400 prison staff members Tuesday dealt with the legal, medical and ethical issues surrounding acquired immune deficiency syndrome, said Dr. Vonda Reeves, director of the AIDS program for the Texas prison system.

The consensus at the day-long seminar was that education, not condoms, will help prevent the spread of the fatal disease, she said.

The California and New York prison systems have opted not to issue condoms, although the U.S. Surgeon General has said the use of condoms helps prevent the spread of AIDS.

Digging draws misdemeanor charge

AUSTIN — A 22-year-old Austin man was charged with violating state law by digging in a protected prehistoric archeological site in an Austin park that souvenir hunters have nearly destroyed, authorities said.

Daniel L. Ross was charged with violating the Texas Resource Code, a class B misdemeanor, said Austin Police Sgt. Don Field.

Texas law prohibits unauthorized digging in registered archeological and historical sites, Field said.

The site, one of 17 in the park, is believed to have been the seasonal home of nomadic Indians who lived around the time of the mammoth hunters, said Rick Fuszek, cultural resource manager for the city Parks and Recreation Department.

Fuszek said park police staked out the 4,000-year-old site to watch for illegal diggers after severe damage to the area was discovered a few weeks ago. Unauthorized diggers have destroyed about two-thirds of the site over the past several months, he said.

Hawks murder Dragons

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Just like the New York Yankees of the late '20's and early '30's, the Howard College Hawks might well be on their way to having their own version of the Murderers' Row.

The Paris College Dragons probably won't argue with that statement, especially after the Hawks bombed them 17-4 Tuesday afternoon at Jack Barber Field.

Howard's first five hitters — Ernesto Castro, Chad Baker, Frank Medina, Randy Deal and Juan Rodriguez simply wrecked Paris starter Wayne Pootet and reliever Carl Sample in the game, which was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

The quintet combined for 14 hits, 11 runs and 15 RBI's. Baker had the best game, going four-for-four with two triples, two singles and four RBI's. Medina was close behind, hitting two singles and a triple while driving in three runs.

Castro hit two triples and drove in three runs while Deal and Rodriguez hit homers, driving in three and two runs respectively.

"We definitely hit the ball well," said Howard coach Bill Griffin after the rout. "But we'll know more about our hitting when we face better pitching."

Howard will get a chance to face better pitching this weekend when region favorite McLennan College goes to town for a big showdown.

While Howard's Murderers' Row controlled things offensively, Howard pitcher Ted Hebert controlled things defensively. After getting touched for four runs and five hits in the first two innings, he pitched shutout ball the final three innings while allowing three hits. "Hebert is a front line pitcher," said Griffin. "He started out a little slow but ended up pitching a very good game."

Trailing 4-3 going into the bottom of the second inning, the Howard bats went to work and the rout was on. Howard scored four runs in the inning and never trailed again. Baker's single scored two runs in the stanza.

Howard added a run in the third and put the game away in the fourth, erupting for nine runs on eight hits. The big blows were a three-run scoring triple by Castro and back-to-back homers by Deal and Rodriguez.

Hebert held the Dragons scoreless in the top of the fifth and Howard had its 17th win in 20 games this season, and its eighth in a row. Paris fell to 9-6 overall.

Griffin said that his team has the momentum going into all important series with MCC.

"I think we've come of the Paris series on a high note. McLennan has a very good team. They have good hitting, defense and pitching," he said. "We can hit the ball. If our pitching and defense holds up, it will be a great series."

The Hawks will play MCC in a single game Friday beginning at 2 p.m. On Saturday the two teams will play a double-header starting at 1 p.m.

TCU coach retires after 38 seasons

FORT WORTH (AP) — Jim Killingsworth gave Texas Christian Athletic Director Frank Windegger enough retirement warning so there can be a rapid replacement for "The Killer" as head Horned Frog basketball coach.

Killingsworth, 63, retired on Tuesday effective June 30. After 38 years of basketball coaching, he will quit the sport for his log cabin at Starr Valley Ranch on the Idaho-Wyoming border.

Windegger, who was told last September by Killingsworth to start looking around for a replacement, said "I have a guy picked out. I hope we can announce something soon."

It won't be from Killingsworth's staff.

"It will be someone with head coaching experience," Windegger said.

The Horned Frogs were eliminated from the NCAA playoffs 58-57 by Notre Dame last week, ending their season at 24-7. It was their first NCAA Tournament bid in 16 years.

Killingsworth told Windegger on Monday he was going to put up his coaching whistle.

"I came close to backing out on the announcement but I'm going to try retirement," said Killingsworth.

"It's tougher to get out than I thought it would be. Gosh, I might even have to learn how to mow lawns now."

Windegger, who hired Killingsworth eight years ago with a telephone call from Oklahoma State, said "I was selfish. I kept hoping he would decide not to do it."

Windegger said he hoped to have a quick announcement of a successor "so we can expedite recruiting."

Killingsworth said "I wish I

JIM KILLINGSWORTH led Frogs to SWC title could have left the program in better shape. Whoever takes over will have to do some shoring up."

There were eight seniors on the Horned Frog team.

Killingsworth said he wanted to go out with a successful season.

"I think that is a big part of it. I would have had a hard time going out losing," Killingsworth said. "I would have hated to go out that way. Most people like to get out while they are ahead. At least that's pretty good advice in a poker game, anyway."

He added "I've said on hundreds of occasions how much I have enjoyed my career at TCU. It's been a tremendous place to live and end my coaching career. Truthfully, I never dreamed it could be this good in the end."

TCU players weren't surprised. "All of the guys realized he might retire," said Carl Lott. "He's been working hard all of his life. It's time he did it."

"It was no surprise," said Jamie

Cal finally has 20 win season

By The Associated Press

Since winning the NCAA's national championship in 1959, the California Golden Bears have been anything but golden in basketball.

This season, however, they've had a chance to shine in the National Invitation Tournament.

"Twenty wins is a heck of an accomplishment for this team," Coach Lou Campanelli said after his Bears downed Oregon State 65-62 in a second-round NIT game Tuesday night.

It's the first 20-win season for Cal, 20-14, since that sparkling 1959 season, when the Golden Bears won the national title with a defensive-tough club geared around center Darrall Imhoff.

In other second-round action Tuesday night, La Salle beat Niagara 89-81; Nebraska turned back Arkansas 78-71 and Southern Mississippi beat St. Louis University 83-78 in overtime.

The results set up the quarter-final pairings for this Saturday, when Illinois State will play at La Salle, Southern Mississippi at Vanderbilt, Washington at Nebraska and California at Arkansas-Little Rock.

The semifinals and finals will be played at Madison Square Garden in New York on March 24 and 26.

California 65, Oregon St. 62

Kevin Johnson scored 28 points and became California's all-time leading scorer as he led the Bears.

The senior guard scored 17 in the first half as the Bears built a 40-35 lead at intermission. He also had a crucial steal in the final minute of the contest.

Oregon State, which trailed by as many as 12 points, cut the Bears' lead to 61-59 on Gary Payton's 17-foot jumper with 1:43 to play.

La Salle 89, Niagara 81

Freshman Lionel Simmons, who missed more than four minutes in the first half after taking an elbow to the nose, scored 23 points to lead La Salle over Niagara. Simmons, who also had nine rebounds, scored 14 points in the second half and the Explorers hit all 14 free throw attempts in the final 20 minutes to clinch the game at Niagara.

Craig Conlin had 20 points and 10 rebounds for La Salle, 18-12. Larry Koretz, who went scoreless in missing all seven of his shots from the field in the first half, and Tim Legler added 17 points apiece.

Nebraska 78, Arkansas 71

Reserve Anthony Bailous scored 20 points, Bernard Day had 19 and Derrick Vick added 18 to lead Nebraska over Arkansas.

Bailous scored 12 of his points in the first half as Nebraska built a 31-12 lead. The Cornhuskers' biggest lead was 21 points early in the second half. However, two straight 3-point goals by Tim Scott capped an Arkansas rally that closed the margin to 53-50.

Bailous scored six points and Day five as Nebraska spurred to a 64-51 lead with 4:10 to go. Arkansas then rallied to within 68-62 with 1:47 left, but two baskets by Vick and six free throws by Henry Buchanan sewed up the victory for Nebraska.

The Cornhuskers improved their record to 19-11. Scott scored 17 points and Ron Huery 10 for Arkansas, 19-14.

S. Mississippi 83, St. Louis 78, (OT)

John White hit a 3-point basket with 1:25 left in overtime to trigger Southern Mississippi over St. Louis University.

Southern Mississippi, which outscored St. Louis 9-4 in overtime and scored the last six points of the game, made 10 of 19 3-point shots overall in raising its record to 20-11.

Casey Fisher led Southern Mississippi with 23 points, hitting six of nine shots from 3-point range. White added 18, four of them 3-pointers, and guard Kenny Siler had 14.

St. Louis, playing in a post-season tournament for the first time in 22 years, finished at 25-10. Monroe Douglass led the Billikens with 21 points, and three other players scored in double figures.

Southern Mississippi Golden Eagles' Kenny Siler crashes into Saint Louis University Billikens' Tony Brown (42) during first half NIT action Tuesday night in St. Louis.

NCAA drug testing: so far, so good

By The Associated Press

The first four schools of the 16 left in the NCAA Basketball Tournament to receive the results of their drug tests say all their tested players passed.

Representatives from DePaul, Kansas, Notre Dame and Alabama reported their test results Tuesday. The tests were taken after first-round games last weekend.

The Associated Press contacted all 16 schools left in the field and none reported any positive testing, although the other 12 said they had not heard from the NCAA.

"All of our guys' tests are negative," said Doug Vance, assistant athletic director at Kansas. "We have no problem."

Bob Grim, associate athletic director at DePaul, said his school was notified of test results late Monday and all were negative. Notre Dame spokesman Scott Dupree said the school was notified late Tuesday afternoon that all its tested players had passed.

Alabama tested "100 percent drug-free" following its first-round win over North Carolina A&T, school spokesman J.D. Rutledge said.

Eight players on each of the 32 first-round tournament winners were tested and more tests will be conducted after the regional semifinals Thursday and Friday as part of a new NCAA drug policy. Any player testing positive will be declared ineligible for further tournament play although the team will be allowed to continue.

The procedure of testing immediately after the games drew criticism from some players and coaches. Because they were dehydrated from the games, many players had problems providing urine samples. Some waited for hours.

"I'm for drug testing, but that was ridiculous," Kansas Coach Larry Brown said. "I know it's good and I know it's important but there has to be a better way."

Twentieth-ranked Kansas is scheduled to play No. 4 Georgetown in the Southeast Regional semifinals Thursday night at Louisville. Fifth-ranked DePaul will meet LSU in the Midwest Regional at Cincinnati on Friday night.

Syracuse Athletic Director Jake Crouthamel said his school probably would not be notified until Wednesday, adding that there is "no obligation" to make the test results public. The NCAA has said that any announcements regarding the eligibility of players would have to come from the schools.

Washburn NAIA champs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Washburn's game plan "to go right at the big guy," worked to perfection Tuesday night as the Ichabods put 7-footer Ron Moore on the bench with five fouls and slipped past West Virginia State 79-77 in the title game of the NAIA Basketball Tournament.

"We wanted to make them run, make them get their big guys fatigued, and I guess it worked," said a smiling Bob Chipman, coach of the team from Topeka, Kan. "We thought we could get their big people tired. We were really looking to transition it."

Washburn, cheered on by several thousand followers who drove 65 miles to see the Ichabods make their first NAIA appearance since 1938, benefited for the second straight game from lopsided foul-calling.

The crew of Louis Fuentes and Pete Ranucci, who officiated Washburn's 65-63 semifinal victory over Central Washington, also called the title game. Central Washington and West Virginia State each shot three foul shots. Washburn in the two games shot a total of 62.

"I don't mean to take anything away from Washburn's fine victory, but that is ridiculous," said Coach Craig Carse of West Virginia State.

Moore, the Yellow Jackets' high-scoring center, fouled out with almost five minutes to play after scoring 18 points. Moore had averaged almost 30 in four previous tournament games.

"This is supposed to be a national tournament and it's too bad the crowd didn't get to see a fine player like Ron Moore," Carse said. "But the officials took us right out of the game. When I saw we had the same crew that worked Washburn's game against Central Washington, I could hardly believe it."

"I was concentrating on the basketball game. I didn't even notice who the officials were," Chipman said. "We just have good players who know how to lean in and get fouls."

Tom Meier scored 22 points and Bobby Sumler added 18 lead the Ichabods to victory.

Mavericks clinch playoff spot

By The Associated Press

The Atlanta Hawks are flying high and Dallas Mavericks are acting ornery — but not as high or as ornery as they'd like.

"We have won 11 straight and are still trailing (Detroit)," Atlanta Coach Mike Fratello said after the Hawks rolled over the Washington Bullets 118-98 Tuesday night to climb within one-half game of the idle Pistons in the NBA's Central Division.

Dallas clinched a playoff berth from Dec. 8, 1968-Jan. 3, 1969.

Mavericks 114, Bulls 96

Mark Aguirre scored 31 points and Sam Perkins added 27 while the Bulls, who suffered their sixth consecutive loss, were led by Charles Oakley with 23.

Twenty turnovers, 10 by Oakley, hurt the visiting Bulls. It was the most turnovers by one player against the Mavericks in their history.

Chicago's Michael Jordan was held to 21 points, well below his league-leading average of 36.9, and only the third time this season he wasn't the Bulls' high scorer.

Rolando Blackman, who guarded Jordan, added 15 points for the Mavericks and Derek Harper had 17. Perkins did most of his damage in the fourth quarter, scoring 16 points.

NBA

for the fourth year in a row, its earliest clinching ever, with a 114-96 victory over the Chicago Bulls. "It feels good to clinch the playoffs this early," Coach Dick Motta said. "But we can't relax. We still haven't clinched the (Midwest) division."

Elsewhere, it was Milwaukee 123, Boston 115; Utah 118, Golden State 103; Portland 134, Los Angeles Clippers 123; Denver 133, New York 111; Cleveland 110, New Jersey 91 and San Antonio 108, Sacramento 106.

Atlanta wrapped up its game with Washington early, scoring 17 straight points to take a 17-1 lead. Dominique Wilkins, who scored 18 of his 43 points in the opening period, had nine in the Hawks' quick start and Kevin Willis added six. He finished with 19.

The Hawks led 63-46 at the half and stretched the margin to 24 points in the third quarter. They are one victory short of tying the franchise's longest winning string points and three teammates added 21 as Portland equaled last year's total of 40 victories. The Trail Blazers got 21 points from guards Clyde Drexler and Terry Porter and reserve forward Jerome Kersey en route to their sixth straight triumph over the host Clippers.

Nuggets 133, Knicks 111

Bill Hanzlik scored 19 of his 22 points and Alex English 18 of his 26 as Denver outscored New York 70-51 in the middle two quarters and won for only the sixth time in 32 road games.

Cavaliers 110, Nets 91

Rookie guard Ron Harper scored 32 points, including 14 as Cleveland took control in the third quarter and snapped a six-game road losing streak with only their second triumph in their last 23 road games.

Spurs 108, Kings 106

Reserve guard Johnny Moore made two free throws with two seconds left as San Antonio rallied from a 16-point deficit in the final 9 1/2 minutes. Alvin Robertson scored 30 points and Walter Berry 28 as the Spurs snapped a seven-game road losing streak.

The Kings led 94-78 with 9:21 remaining. But Berry scored 12 points in the next nine minutes, including an eight-foot jumper with 47 seconds left that put San Antonio ahead 106-104.

Sacramento forward Otis Thorpe tied the score with 26 seconds remaining. Moore was then fouled by Reggie Theus to set up the winning free throws.

Dixon. "He didn't talk about it but we knew he would probably do it."

"I've always been kind of a gypsy and there are plenty of things (wife) Margaret and I still want to do while we are healthy enough to do them," Killingsworth said. "I said the TCU job was the last job that I would ever take and it was."

"Now I've got to find me another 'Killer,'" Windeger said. "This program was in shambles when he got here. He's done one of the finest coaching jobs in America."

The Horned Frogs were 14-2 during the regular season, winning the SWC title by four games, the largest margin since the schools began playing round-robin. Killingsworth was the unanimous Coach of the Year.

He had a career record of 130-106 at TCU. There have been only five 20-win basketball seasons at the school and Killingsworth had three of them.

Killingsworth came to TCU from Oklahoma State in 1979 after the Cowboys had fashioned seasons of 10-16 and 12-15.

He was 109-54 in six years at Idaho State and had a 158-47 record in seven years at Cerritos, Calif., Junior College.

His 38-year record, including high school and freshman coaching, was 748-292. The Checotah, Okla., native started his career at such tiny Oklahoma high schools as Stidham, Schuller, Lindsey and Pawhuska. He was 305-50 in high school.

Prior to Killingsworth's arrival at TCU, the school had won a total of 13 games in the three previous seasons combined.

Killingsworth was the second

Astros pluck Cardinals

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Non-roster first baseman Glenn Carpenter went 4-for-5 with two RBI and Houston pitchers allowed just three hits to lead the Astros to a 10-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in exhibition baseball Tuesday.

Houston, the National League's defending West Division champion, used a 16-hit attack to end St. Louis' four-game winning streak in Grapefruit League play. The Astros' pitching came from starter Bob Knepper, the winner, and relievers Manny Hernandez, Jeff Edwards and Dave Smith.

After Cards starter Tim Lincecum permitted four hits and a run through the first four innings, the Astros pounded ex-teammate Bill Dawley for 11 hits.

St. Louis' only hits were singles by rookie Tom Pagnozzi in the third, Jack Clark in the seventh and Curt Ford in the eighth. The Cards' moved to 9-2 in the Grapefruit League and Astros went to 5-5.

Carpenter, who was invited to Houston's camp because of regular first baseman Glenn Davis' contract dispute, hit two doubles and two singles. He also scored a run. A year ago, Carpenter hit .285 for Tucson of the Pacific Coast League, an Astros farm club.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAR. 19, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Differences in viewpoints over financial and practical matters are almost bound to arise today. They can be harmoniously settled if each person makes an effort.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be sure you know exactly what is expected of you by the other person in any monetary dealings you may have.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can have a bad argument with an opinionated partner if you do not handle the matter tactfully.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle a personal task early so that it will not interfere with your routine affairs later.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You may not agree with a close friend over someone you both know, but everyone's entitled to an opinion.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Schedule your activities wisely so that home affairs do not conflict with outside matters. Do not lose your temper at home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may find it hard to get your theories working today. A friend and a new contact could argue, but don't mix in.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study that new plan carefully and then discuss it with an expert until you reach a meeting of the minds.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try not to be so stubborn if you want to gain your personal wishes or you will meet with stiff opposition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You hardly know how to handle all the work you need to do. Plan it well and it will soon be done.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Someone in your group refuses to go along with all of you in a pleasurable venture. Accept this graciously.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can improve home affairs if you concentrate on them exclusively. Steer clear of trouble makers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't go off on any tangents. You have every opportunity to get ahead if you support your partner more.

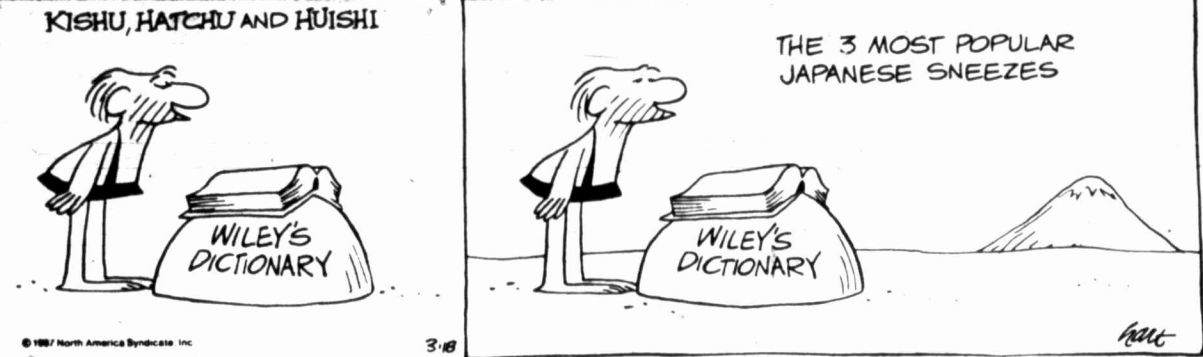

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he, or she, will be very capable at whatever is of a practical nature. Teach this one not to expect others to do things the way he, or she, does, or your progeny will be met with a great deal of opposition. Slant the education along business lines for best results.

State officials seeking feds' modification

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Texas officials asked a federal appeals court to modify a court-ordered compliance plan to ease some of the pressure on the state's prison system.

But members of the three-judge panel gave no indication at the hearing Tuesday when they would rule.

Texas could face fines of up to $800,000 a day because of prison conditions.

Assistant Attorney General Scott McCown asked the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to approve "flexible modifications" to a district court-ordered compliance plan and to more clearly define what would qualify as "substantial compliance" with the plan.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler, in a Dec. 31 order, gave the state Department of Corrections until April 1 to comply or face the fines.

However, Justice suspended the fines Friday and set a hearing on March 31 to determine whether the state is now in compliance.

The state Legislature has been working to appropriate money and begin programs to improve the prisons.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said Tuesday the state was moving toward compliance at all deliberate speed.

"We're going to try to get (the prison system) open and to keep it open," Mattox said. "We're certainly not going to operate an unconstitutional system."

At issue are considerations concerning the education, work atmosphere and recreation of the prisoners.

Plaintiff attorney William Bennett Turner, who argued that the state had not shown good faith, said that attempts at compliance included waking up segregated prisoners for recreation in the middle of the night.

He also said that handicapped prisoners were "just sitting in the hospitals" without the benefit of the nine physical therapists ordered by the court in Houston.

Although Texas is spending almost double the amount on each prisoner per year as when the lawsuit began, Turner said most of the money went to hire more prison personnel and not to relieve the plight of the prisoners.

Students take part in Wright cable telecast

By ANDREW MANGAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some questions asked of Jim Wright by high school students in his home district during a live cable television telecast were easy hits for the House speaker, but others were political hot potatoes.

"What steps should the United States take to restore the confidence of other nations in American foreign policy?" asked Julie Joe, a senior from Fort Worth Arlington Heights High School, referring to President Reagan's Iran-Contra debacle.

Wright quickly responded that the United States has to behave like it talks. "If we are to be credible in the world, then we have to stand for something and we have to be consistent in our deeds in what we stand for," he said.

The half-hour program Tuesday night was the first of its kind telecast across the country on C-Span, a cable television network that records daily activities in the two houses of Congress.

The youths who took part in the show had watched congressional action in their classrooms over the past year via the network.

Scott Baum, freshman from Southwest High School, hit the speaker with a zinger when he asked, "Has a severe breach of confidence between the U.S. and Israel built up due to the conviction of a U.S. citizen spying for Israel?"

"No, Scott, no it hasn't. There still is an enormous amount of trust and good will between the U.S. and Israel. That's a bond of friendship that couldn't be broken by the erratic behavior of any one individual," Wright responded, avoiding mention of the brewing scandal in Jerusalem.

Jonathan Jay Pollard, a former intelligence analyst for the U.S. Navy, was recently convicted by a Washington court of selling U.S. military secrets to Israel and sentenced to life in prison. Israel's leaders say Pollard was part of a renege operation not authorized by the government.

A total of 14 students representing five high schools questioned Wright via satellite from the studios of Sammons Communications Co. in Fort Worth. All were part of a pilot program sponsored by Sammons called the Adopt-a-School program.

Large Texas cities want changes in traffic tickets

AUSTIN (AP) — Some of Texas' largest cities want to "decriminalize" minor traffic tickets.

Instead of putting a driver in jail for non-payment of parking tickets, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi want to seize the vehicle, representatives of the cities told the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

The measure by Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, was left pending Tuesday for possible consolidation with a similar bill by Sen. Frank Tejada, D-San Antonio.

"There are some things we want to work on," Lyon told the committee.

"We believe parking violations should be treated as a civil offense, not criminal," said Mildred Cox, director of transportation for Dallas.

"San Antonio has a 26 percent collection rate for traffic tickets," said Dana Christensen, parking manager for San Antonio. "Some cities that have tried decriminalization collect up to 85 and 90 percent of their tickets."

The witnesses said that decriminalization, which began in New York City in 1970, calls for administrative hearings to settle minor moving and parking violations.

"Under the present system, police officers must appear as witnesses for an offense to be proved. It is very expensive and time consuming," said Ms. Cox.

Sen. Richard Anderson, D-Marshall, said the measures seem to allow cities "to seize private property without a trial."

Officials select Friday as state Agriculture Day

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements and State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower have proclaimed Friday as "Texas Agriculture Day."

In taking the action, they noted farmers are suffering from circumstances they can't control.

Their official proclamation says that "despite their efficiency and productivity, America's family farmers are suffering economic distress due to low commodity prices, a depressed export market and a variety of factors" beyond farmers' control.

Oil study stirs criticism

DALLAS (AP) — A Department of Energy study of an oil import fee should have another chapter — "Chapter 11" — says an executive of a Texas producers group.

The DOE report shows the potential dangers of increasing dependency on foreign oil but proposes no solutions to help the plight of the domestic energy industry, oil industry leaders said Tuesday.

Dan Jones, executive vice president of the East Texas Producers and Royalty Owners Association, was in Washington for a briefing on the report by Deputy Energy Secretary William Martin.

Jones said the report "has 10 chapters, but I made the suggestion to Mr. Martin, they should have added another chapter, because Chapter 11 is the one that's most prominent in East Texas now." His comment referred to the bankruptcy chapter.

The report "fails to offer an action plan for solving the problems facing America's energy industry," said Philip Burguires, president of the Petroleum Equipment Suppliers Association.

Shelby D. Pitts, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, said the solutions proposed in the report could help the industry in the long run, but that "nothing short of the immediate, direct boost of a variable import fee is going to turn this disaster around in time to save the core of the exploration and well servicing industry."

The 335-page report was released Tuesday by Energy Secretary John S. Herrington. It was ordered by President Reagan during last fall's election campaign and took twice as long to complete as expected.

Jones said the "conservative" DOE report gives "every indication an oil import fee is needed, but will not recommend imposing an import fee because of the possible severe impact a fee would have on the gross national product."

The study examined the effects of several tariffs. It said a $10-a-barrel tariff would restore 120,000 of the 150,000 jobs lost by the domestic petroleum industry last year, but would cost the economy 400,000 jobs elsewhere as petroleum buyers cut back purchases of other goods and services to meet the higher oil price.

Jones said Martin told about 125 producers from across the United States and from several foreign producing countries that the DOE suggests eliminating the windfall profits tax and supporting comprehensive deregulation of the natural gas industry.

Ken Werner's found what he does best

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

On the surface, it seemed like the opportunity of a lifetime.

Bela Karolyis, the famous Rumanian gymnastics coach, asked Big Spring YMCA gymnastics coach Ken Werner to come to Houston and coach his boys' team. Karolyis' resume includes pupils like Nadia Comaneci and Mary Lou Retton, so surely Werner grabbed at the chance to coach with him.

Werner told his friend no. "I told him I didn't want to work for him. I told him I wanted to compete against him, and I wanted to beat him. He liked that, he thought that was real good," said Werner, laughing loudly.

Have you competed against him? Did you beat him?

"Yeah, we've beat them every time this year," said the 24-year old coach, with another burst of laughter.

Obviously, Werner appreciates challenges. He also likes to do his own thing. He rides a motorcycle, calls himself a "dead head," and is very religious.

A "dead head," by the way, is a fan, or more specifically, a fanatic, of the Grateful Dead, the famous San Francisco hippie-rock group. Werner's such a fan that he plans to spend his vacation seeing three Grateful Dead shows with friends in Chicago.

If Werner wasn't such an individual, he might never have become involved in gymnastics.

In junior high school, some schoolmates called him a sissy because he was a gymnast.

"So I said, 'Well let's go in the gym,' and we'd do strength moves and I'd just blow them away," remembers Werner, laughing again.

At the time, he concentrated more on swimming and track, and was good enough to own Colorado state age-group records in the long jump, triple jump and high jump.

Werner's interest in gymnastics started at age three, when he entered a YMCA program in his native Illinois. After moving back to Illinois his sophomore year in high school, Werner quit track and swimming to concentrate solely on gymnastics.

"It just kind of happened. An instructor was absent from work one day and I just filled in. I needed the money, and I dwindled out of practicing and into working," Werner said.

ANGLER'S DELIGHT

San Diego allows a fisherman his fondest wish — year-round fishing. Each year, more than 100,000 anglers from around the world descend on San Diego. Those who come in the winter have an added bonus in that the majority of the tourists have gone home. The thermometer hovers around 68 degrees. In addition, there are pale blue, sunny skies to enjoy. In this coastal city known for a large variety of game, saltwater enthusiasts have three options: surf, pier, and deepsea fishing. Freshwater anglers have a lot to be excited about, as well. The county's nine lakes yield record-breaking bass, at least four kinds of catfish, several species of crapple, red-ear sunfish, bluegill, and trout. If this has not induced you to book a San Diego vacation, consider that yellowtail and yellowfin tuna were caught in record numbers last year.

For the vacationer, the business person or the emergency traveler, the resources of getting you where you want to go is available at BIG SPRING TRAVEL, 608 Scurry. We take the trouble and hassle out of travel planning and cater to your needs and preferences. From saving time and aggravation to getting more pleasure and value out of every travel dollar and mile, we invite you to come to BIG SPRING TRAVEL and discover all we can do for you. Tel. 263-0225. Help is waiting for your child March 15-21 at a special Dyslexia Screening Clinic.

Dyslexia. It's a word most people don't understand. But, if your child is one of the millions who suffer from dyslexia, you understand the pain and frustration this disability can cause.

You know your child isn't lazy...stupid...or disobedient, as many have said. Although the strict definition of dyslexia is "a disturbance of the ability to read," you realize that it affects every aspect of your child's life.

This is the way a dyslexic sees the word. Letters are often transposed and backwards. Reading and writing can be nearly impossible!

Dyslexics find reading almost impossible.

Aside from difficulty with reading and composition, your child shies away from sports involving eye/hand coordination. He has trouble following directions and is often clumsy and insecure. These are just a few of the symptoms that can make the life of a dyslexic child confusing and miserable.

Now, a special Dyslexia Screening Clinic, affiliated with Dyslexia Centers of America, offers you and your child hope for a normal life.

Sponsored by Boyd Chiropractic Clinics of Midland who have served the health care needs of the area for over 40 years, the clinic will feature the world's foremost chiropractic experts in the treatment of dyslexia.

During the Clinic, Dr. Boyd will instruct other professionals in his treatment methods which involve no drugs or anesthesia. The treatment, which centers around adjustments of the spinal and cranial structures, along with kinesiological and muscular balancing has brought about a marked improvement in a majority of cases.

Call 684-5436 to schedule an appointment for your child's free screening and examination. The initial meeting determines whether your child will benefit from the procedure. If your child is diagnosed as receptive to future care, a reasonable fee may be discussed to cover all aspects of possible correction. We are happy to discuss your insurance coverage.

For convenience and accessibility, the Clinic will be held at the Holiday Inn Country Villa, 4300 W. Highway 80 in Midland.

Appointments may be scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This is the practice of chiropractic and is not the practice of medicine.

HOTLINE
(915) 684-5436

A doctor of chiropractic will be available to answer any questions you may have regarding the Clinic or the dyslexia treatment.

Help your child find a better perspective on life.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I own and manage a very nice small apartment building. We've never discriminated against anyone, and have always rented to tenants based on their applications being approved through credit checks, references, etc.

Dear Abby

We recently rented an apartment to "Douglas," a nice single man (or so we thought); then we noticed a strikingly glamorous woman leaving and entering his apartment with increasing frequency. One night last week we saw this woman, beautifully dressed, leaving Douglas' apartment, so I went out and asked her where Douglas was. She smiled and in a very husky voice replied, "I am Douglas, but when I'm in this attire, you may call me Melanie."

you've never discriminated against anyone, please don't start now, and give Douglas high marks for honesty.

DEAR IN: Unless he creates a disturbance, damages your property, falls behind in his rent, or in some way becomes an undesirable tenant, if he has a lease, you cannot legally get him out. "This type" of person isn't harming anyone, so if you've never discriminated against anyone, please don't start now, and give Douglas high marks for honesty.

DEAR ABBY: I'm having problems with my husband of six years and need your opinion. I am 5 foot 5, 110 pounds and I'm considered very pretty. Yet I've been feeling very down because "Tony" is more interested in his Playboy magazines than in me! I'm lucky if he makes love to me once every six weeks. I was very jealous of the girls in Playboy, so I had some pictures taken of me by a top professional photographer. There was nothing showing except a little bit of breast underneath a sheer fabric. When I gave Tony those pictures for Christmas, he just put them aside and hasn't looked at them to this day.

Abby, I thought the pictures were lovely. They gave me a totally new image of myself. I felt like a beautiful, sexy woman instead of a rejected, unloved housewife. I did this for both of us. Your opinion? HUNGRY FOR LOVE

DEAR HUNGRY: There's nothing wrong with fantasizing — but it shouldn't be a substitute for the real thing.

Tony should see his doctor for a thorough examination to determine whether his low sex drive is the result of a hormonal deficiency or some kind of medical problem. If there is nothing physically wrong with him, his next stop should be a marriage counselor with you at his side.

Mayfield soars to the heavens

Small business workshop set

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

ODESSA — The Big Spring Steers put on a good show but fell short in their bid to win their second consecutive track meet Saturday at Ratliff Stadium.

The Lubbock Estacado Matadors edged Big Spring out 145-122 for the West Texas Relays Division AAAA team championship.

While the Steers jostled for first throughout the track meet with Monahans and Estacado, the Lady Steers found the going rough, scoring 2½ points. The only ones scoring for coach Mike Randle's Lady Steers were Cary Brooks and Teresa Pruitt. Brooks tied for fourth place in high jump. Her jump of 4-10 was three inches off her best. Teresa Pruitt jumped 16-4 in the long jump for fifth place.

But the boys put up a strong tussle against the speed-laden Matadors.

Big Spring did outdistance district rival Monahans, which beat the Steers in the Ft. Stockton Relays in the first meet of the year. Last week the Steers won the Andrews Relays. Monahans finished third with 102 points. "The only thing I'm disappointed with is the performance of our mile relay," said Steers' coach Randy Britton after his team finished third in the 1600 relay in a season-best 3:25.37. "It's no good when your anchorman has a disadvantage he can't make up. We had 50-flat quartermilers running 52's."

Big Spring Steers high jumper Brian Mayfield clears 6-8½ in the high jump, setting a meet record at the West Texas Relays in Odessa Saturday. The Steers finished second in the meet behind Lubbock Estacado.

"But other than that we did a good job. Brian Mayfield is consistent in the high jump and long jump. Charles White is running the sprints better and our 400 relay did a good job with a new man."

Mayfield scored 20 points by taking two firsts, in the high jump and long jump. He broke the meet record with a 6-84 jump. He jumped a career-best 22-4. He went out on 6-10 in the high jump.

"I felt pretty good today but next time I might start at 6-4 instead of starting at 6-0. I didn't have that explosion at the end of my jumps," Mayfield said.

Phillip Mathews followed Mayfield in the long jump, leaping to a season-best 21-10.

Distance runner Mario Gonzales had a banner day in the 1600 and 3200 meters. He won the 3200 by 50 meters. His time of 10:03 was just off a meet record.

"I really didn't have anyone pushing me. I really wanted that meet record," he said. The senior runner teamed with sophomore Ben Gonzales to score 18 points in the 1600. Ben (no relation to Mario) won in 4:40.53. Mario finished second in 4:42.08. Britton said Ben didn't practice all week because he had tonsillitis.

The Steers' 400 relay team of Danny Williams, Dennis Hartsfield, Charles White and Mathews finished third behind Estacado and Monahans in a season-best time of 43.13. Hartsfield, a sophomore, was running on the relay for the first time this season.

Big Spring also got top performances from quarter-miler Cedric Banks, who ran a personal best 49.92 for second place. He also anchored the 1600 relay, running a 50.4 and making up 10 meters on the second place Lubbock Dunbar runner. Estacado won the event in 3:20.62.

Half-miler Sean Jackson ran his fastest time of the season in the 800. His 2:00.82 was good for second place.

White ran well in the sprints, getting two four places in a fast field. He ran 10.76 in the 100 and 22.93 in the 200.

Injuries in two accidents

Lee Ambulance paramedics responded to two separate automobile accidents in Big Spring Friday and transported victims to Scenic Mountain Medical Center's emergency room.

A 34-year-old Big Spring woman was reported in good condition Saturday night at the hospital after she was admitted from the emergency room, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Susan Morris Casey, 34, 1706 Purdue Ave., suffered injuries when a car she was driving collided with a pickup driven by Max Odell Roberts, 66, Route Three Box 283.

Roberts' vehicle was northbound in the 900 block of South Goliad Street before he attempted to turn west on East Ninth Street, according to the police report.

Casey was traveling southbound on Goliad and collided with Roberts as he was attempting to turn onto Ninth Street.

Roberts was cited with failure to yield right-of-way to approaching traffic.

The accident occurred at 4:25 p.m., according to the police report. A little more than two hours later, police responded to an accident at the intersection of the 300 block of South Gregg Street and 200 block of West Third Street.

Ambulance paramedics transported David Dominguez, 16, 1605 Canary St. to the hospital's emergency room where he was treated for injuries and released, the hospital spokeswoman said.

Dominguez was the driver of a car in the northbound lane on Gregg Street that collided with a pickup driven by Hugh Gene Bostick, 69, 1303 Mesquite St.

Bostick was westbound in the 200 block of West Third Street, according to the police report.

After Dominguez's car struck Bostick's pickup, the car veered left and collided with a car driven by David Ray Gonzales, 16, 807 W. 18th St. who was traveling south on Gregg street.

Witnesses indicated a driver involved in the accident ran a red light, but no citations of that nature were issued by police.

Bostick was cited for failure to maintain financial responsibility, while Gonzales was cited for allowing an unlicensed driver to drive.

Mattox visit

Attorney General Jim Mattox, left, and City Councilman Johnny Rutherford speak to media representatives shortly before Willie Nelson performed a Comanche Trail Park benefit concert. Both Mattox and Rutherford toured Comanche Trail Park and Big Spring's Federal Prison Camp Saturday afternoon. The state is taking inventory of federal property that could be donated to the state for correctional facility purposes, Mattox said.

Diet Pill System Sweeping U.S. Pd. Adv.

Super Dream Pill Guaranteed Weight Loss

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH — An amazing new super Dream Pill System has recently been perfected that guarantees rapid weight loss. Best of all, it allows you to eat your favorite foods while losing weight from the very first day until you achieve your ideal weight and figure. The Dream Pill System features the extraordinary Dream Pill. The Dream Pill combines natural substances L-arginine, L-lysine and L-ornithine which can stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Dr. Robert Harris, a specialist in nutritional medicine was recently quoted as explaining: "Growth Hormone may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail."

"Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-ornithine make the body 'think' it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat as much as they want — and still be thin and wiry."

Life Extension Authors Confirm Results

Durk Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life

Extension. They discovered the weight-loss effects by accident. Sandy fell and broke her foot and started taking L-arginine because of its well-known healing qualities. Much to her amazement Sandy lost 25 pounds of fat and put on 5 pounds of firm-toned muscle in six weeks. According to Durk's calculations, the pill caused Sandy to lose 400 times as much fat as she would otherwise have lost — without dieting!

Extraordinary Guarantee

Old cribs must be repaired to prevent harm to babies

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent
Kathy and Roger have plenty on their mind just paying the hospital bills from the birth of their first child. So when Kathy's aunt gave them an old crib from her garage, they were thrilled. Now that it's been washed up, and the new baby sheets are on the mattress, the crib looks terrific. But what Kathy and Roger don't know is that this crib is also a hazard to their baby.

Federal safety standards for the manufacture of cribs were not set until 1974 — just 12 years ago. So it's possible that the family heirloom, a hand-me-down from a relative whose babies are now teenagers, or a garage sale bargain crib could present problems. Even if you think the crib is made from a recent manufacturer, it's wise to check it for safety hazards.

Here are some of those crib safety hazards and what you can do about them.

Crib slats should be no more than 2 3/8 inches apart. Otherwise a baby can slip through the slats and possibly be strangled.

Don't buy a used crib with a wider slat width. If you must use a crib with widely spaced slats, put bumper pads in it. The pads should run the entire perimeter of the crib, tie or snap into place and have at least six straps.

Some older cribs have head or foot boards with decorative cut outs in them, or decorative corner posts. A baby's head or limb can get caught in these openings. Clothing can get caught in a corner post if an older baby attempts to climb and may result in strangulation.

These hazards can be fixed. If the crib has cut-out head or foot boards, nail plywood boards to the inside of them. Pad and then cover the boards with decorative fabric. The decorative corner posts may be unscrewed or sawed off flush with the head and foot board, then sanded smooth.

Older cribs may also have a space between the mattress and the crib where a baby's head could become lodged. If you can fit more than two fingers between the edge of the mattress and crib, the mattress is too small.

You can correct this problem by buying a tighter fitting mattress for the crib, or rolling towels tightly and packing them in that space.

Since restrictions against lead in paint weren't put into effect until 1978, consider repainting a used crib. Refinish the crib by removing all the old paint. Use only high quality household enamel paint. Let the crib dry thoroughly so there are no residual fumes.

Finally, check all the screws, hardware, latches and teething rails. Replace any hardware that doesn't work, and smooth sharp or rough edges.

Kathy and Roger are a fictional couple, but their situation is not. Each year around 40,000 babies are injured in crib accidents so seriously that they have to be treated by a doctor. The Consumer Product Safety Commission estimates another 150 to 200 infants dies each year in accidents involving cribs.

ARRANGING THE NURSERY

You've finally got all your nursery equipment together for the "new arrival." Now, where do you put it? Here are some things to consider when arranging baby's furniture, whether in a separate nursery, a room shared with an older child or any other room.

- Avoid placing the crib on an outside wall because this wall tends to be colder.
- Don't place the crib close to a radiator or in a direct line with the hot or cold air ducts. The direct flow of air will dry out the baby's mouth and throat.

- Don't place the crib near windows with blinds or window treatments that have long cords. A baby can become entangled in the - cord.

- Also avoid direct sunlight in the baby's eyes.
- Rearrange lamps so they do not throw an uncomfortable light in the baby's eyes.

Last day for freeze predicted in April

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent
 When is the last date for an expected freeze in Howard County? Farmers as well as gardeners get the urge to plant spring crops just as soon as there are a few days of warm weather. But, there's still plenty of time for freezing temperatures.

In Howard County, according to records at the USDA Experiment Station in Big Spring, our expected last freeze is around April 10.

A chance for an earlier date in nine out of 10 years has been calculated for around March 27, according to the National Weather Service's Southwest Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University.

The average date for the last freeze has been around April 10 in five out of 10 years and April 25 was the last freeze once in ten years.

With the information, our advice is to put off spring planting for awhile yet!

When are the dates for the Permian Basin Farmers' Market Association sponsored educational meetings this year?

The directors of the PBFM Association have requested educational programs for area growers who are interested in producing direct to consumer crops for farmers' markets in the Odessa, Midland and Big Spring areas. Dates and locations are: March 16 at 7 p.m. — St. Lawrence Parish Hall, St. Lawrence; March 30 at 7 p.m. — Midland County Extension Office, 2445 E. Hwy. 80, Midland.

The format for the meetings will be the same at both locations.
 • 1987 PBFM Update — H.C. "Junior" McElyea and Joe Hollinghead

• National Direct Marketing Conference Report — Dr. Austin Stockton, Extension Horticulturist
 • Growers Question and Answer Period — Staff members from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture

You will have a chance at this open forum to ask questions about cultural problems, insects, diseases or whatever. All producers are welcome to attend either or both programs whether they are members or not. We urge all interested persons to attend these meetings.

When is the Permian Basin Home and Garden Show?

The Ector County Extension Horticultural Program Area Committee and the Permian Basin Farmers Market Association will be hosting this event at Building G in the Ector County Coliseum grounds on March 28 and 29.

The primary objective of this two day show is to allow residents of the Permian Basin area to see anything and everything related to homeowner comfort, gardening, landscape development, lawn care and outdoor living area enjoyment.

General public admission will be $2 for adults, $1 for senior citizens and children will be free.

Educational events and seminars will be presented concurrently with the home and garden show. Some seminar topics include "Five steps to Your Best Garden Ever," "Conserve Water with Texas Native Plants," "Grow West Texas Fruit Like a Pro," "Down the Garden Path with Healthy Snacks," "Successful Food Preservation," and the "Secrets of Growing West Texas Pecans."

Other topics that speakers will address during the home and garden show include insect and pest management, irrigation, growing tomatoes, shade tree alternatives, windbreak plantings and background grape growing.

The home and garden show will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on March 28 and from 12 noon to 3:30 p.m. on March 29. Concurrent seminars will be conducted every 30 minutes throughout both days.

When is the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Ram Test Field Day?

This annual event, which has some outstanding Rambouillet rams from Howard County's Dr. Hank Thompson's flock featured in it again this year, will be March 19 in Sonora. Registration and inspection of the performance test records begin at 8:30 a.m. A bar-b-que lunch will be served at noon followed by awards of the register of merit certificates. The ram testing program will be discussed and a report will be presented on the recent lamb disease problem experienced at San Angelo. The sale of the certified rams will be at 2.

Dodson receives real estate license

Marjorie Dodson, Realtor-Associate with ERA-Reeder, has been awarded a real estate broker's license.

To qualify, a candidate must work as a real estate salesman for two years, complete courses above the salesman license requirements, and pass a Texas Real Estate Commission test.

Dodson has been in real estate work for two years and previously was a public school chorale director for 20 years. She is secretary and a director of the Big Spring Board of Realtors.

Dodson recently was appointed to a three-year term on the Texas Association of Realtors' Community Revitalization Committee. She also is a member of the National Association of Realtors.

Telephone service changes name

Advanced Telephone Systems, a subsidiary of Big Spring ATS, Inc., is changing its name to ATS Telecom, president H. Gene Moses announced.

He listed two reasons for the change: the name "Advanced" has become so popular that company identities are often confused, he said. Also, "the name 'Telecom' better represents our position in the marketplace as we expand our services to include data as well as voice communication," he said.

Moses said no changes in ownership or management will be made. The company has its headquarters in the Big Spring Airpark and services phone systems in more than 40 Texas communities.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Bob's Custom Woodwork Remodeling is specialty

When you engage Bob's Custom Woodwork for your remodeling project you're entitled to the exclusive advice and counsel of owner Bob Noyes. Remodeling is his specialty.

All you have to do is share with him your ideas, or if you don't know where to begin, he'll make suggestions.

As a general contractor, Bob's provides turnkey construction on major remodeling including room additions, full kitchen and bath renovations, and everything from slab to roof including sheetrock, painting, electrical, plumbing and cabinets.

In kitchens, Bob's Custom Woodwork handles everything from the little jobs of installing microwave ovens and dishwashers to replacing laminated countertops to full replacement of the kitchen.

The staff designs, estimates and constructs the cabinets in their shop in the Industrial Park. The cabinets are designed by Bob Noyes with many options, including door styles, lazy Susans, roll-out shelves, Amerock kitchen aids (including sink front drawers, cook book racks, spice racks, and other special storage products). Rod Zapata builds the cabinets.

After the cabinets are built, they are finished in the shop under the supervision of Craig Neighbors by Robert Loveless. After Eddie Word and Bob Kinnan have completed the room preparations, the cabinets are delivered to the house and installed with a minimum disruption of the home. Room preparation includes any necessary wall removal, closing of doorways, changing window locations, floor repair and electrical or plumbing preparations.

In bathrooms, Bob's Custom Woodwork provides and installs vanities, tubs and showers, plumbing fixtures, medicine cabinets, lights, heaters, fans and floor coverings. The firm can order and install custom-made cultured marble vanity tops, tubs, whirlpools made of 90 percent crushed Israel marble blended with polyester resin.

In the shop, Bob Kinan is production supervisor in the manufacture of expandable, affordable and versatile shelving for business display or home collectables.

Other staff members include: Elvin Bearden, furniture repair; Ray Valencia, Jr., carpenter; and Jan Noyes, supervisor of the Strip Shop, bookkeeper and customer service representative.

In addition to bath and kitchen work, Bob's Custom Woodwork sells and installs doors, Majestic heat circulating fireplaces and mantels.

The firm also is a distributor of Alcoa building products including siding, roofing, trims, soffits and fascia, aluminum cedar shake roofing, Fashion carpets and patio covers. Instead of costly painting consider Alcoa building products line.

Bob's Custom Woodwork accepts Visa and Mastercard, and financing is available through local institutions. The firm is a member of the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) and is a charter member of the Permian Basin Chapter of NARI Professional Remodelers.

Bob's Custom Woodwork is located in Building 613 at the Industrial Park. Call them for your remodeling work at 267-5811.

GARAGE CONVERSION — Reclaim all that valuable space now in your garage. When Bob's Custom Woodwork does the job, the staff carefully matches windows, materials and design (both inside and out) so that the conversion does not look like it's just been "added on." Pictured is an example of the firm's work.
