Police seeking sexual assailant

Four Big Spring women Tuesday afternoon reported to police six sexual assaults and one attempted sexual assault.

Two people are under suspicion in the cases, but no one has yet been arrested, Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said.

The incidents occurred during a period that ranges from Dec. 2 to Monday, according to police reports.

Edwards said the assaults took place on the west side of town and each occurred at night.

The victims are in their teens or 20s, he said, adding that each knew her assailant, but that he was not a relative, as far as police can determine.

Although the victims live in the same area, he said, Edwards declined to name the area to avoid identifying the women. Names of sexual assault victims are not released.

Edwards said the women didn't report the crimes earlier due to embarrassment and fear of harassment. They came forward in a group Tuesday afternoon to inform police, he said.

The incidents reportedly occurred at 1 a.m. Dec. 12, 2:30 a.m. Jan. 1, Jan. 5 at an unknown time, 2 a.m. March 6, and 3 a.m. March 20. The attempted assault occurred at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Six finalists in line for school post

By KERRY HAGLUND
 Staff Writer

A local educator is one of six finalists being considered to replace Big Spring schools Superintendent Lynn Hise, who will retire June 1.

William A. McQueary, Big Spring Independent School District assistant superintendent, was among the six named at a School Board executive session Tuesday evening.

McQueary has been assistant superintendent since 1985, after serving as Big Spring

High School principal from 1980 to 1985.

The other five finalists also have experience in Texas. They include Carl Craighead, superintendent at Booker school district since 1980; and Don Crockett, superintendent at Pittsburgh district since 1982.

The others are H.J. Fuller, superintendent at Muleshoe since 1983; Robert M. Glover, assistant superintendent for finance at San Marcos since 1984; and Bill Walker, assistant superintendent for finance at Ector County since 1981.

The finalists, chosen from 46 applicants, will be interviewed by the School Board April 9-13, Board President Bill Brooks said. The field will then be narrowed to two or three, he said.

A final decision is expected about the last week of April or the first week of May, Brooks said.

The new superintendent will begin about mid-June, he anticipates.

A consulting service of the Texas Association of School Boards screened the applicants and recommended the six after each board member submitted a list of criteria.

The board is looking for someone strong in school law and finance, and who has administrative office experience, Brooks said. Although the position was advertised out-of-state by the association, he said the board prefers someone with Texas experience.

"We felt it would take someone from out-of-state at least one year to become familiar with Texas law," Brooks said.

He added the board plans to visit the communities of the final candidates to learn more about how people in their communities view them.

City awards airport bid, OKs budget

By SPENCER SANDOW
 Staff Writer

The City Council approved budget revisions and awarded a bid for construction of an airport runway at its Tuesday night meeting.

The budget includes reduction of capital expenses and employee overtime, and deferred paybacks to the revolving capital fund, City Manager Mack Wofford has said.

Councilmen reviewed the revised budget plan at a work session last week.

"We have reduced expenditures in all funds in a like amount as to estimated revenues," Wofford said, adding that the reductions were made "in a manner that would be the least detrimental."

Councilmen plan to meet at 9 a.m. April 13 to discuss long-range goals, he said.

The process will "give the staff and Council the opportunity to (determine) where we want to go from here," he said, adding that department heads probably will have lists of topics and suggestions to discuss.

A bid for construction of a crosswind runway at the airport was awarded to Strickland & Knight Inc., Big Spring.

Airport manager Hal Boyd said the bid was for $874,590.62, approximately $288,000 lower than the engineer's cost estimate.

The $1,058,317 project will be funded mainly by a federal grant, he said.

The Council also passed a resolution authorizing Mayor Cotton Mize to enter into an agreement with Louis Stallings for a clear zone easement at the airport.

Boyd said the legislation is "part of the package to construct the runway." A Federal Aviation Administration-approved appraiser recommended easement, which will cost $8,000, he said.

Other easements north of the airport, which the city no longer needs, are to be released at the Council's next meeting, he said.

The Council denied a livestock permit to Gene and

Texas may propose multiple SSC sites

By MICHAEL HOLMES
 Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas likely will propose more than one site to the federal government in the state's pitch to become home to the $6 billion Super Collider research project, Gov. Bill Clements says.

"We feel we might have as many as seven or eight or nine potential sites. We also feel that there is a possibility... that we can make two proposals," Clements told his weekly news conference Tuesday.

During a Thursday visit to Midland, Clements said that if the state can recommend two sites, a West Texas location will be among them. "I'm confident the cost-benefit site will be in West Texas," he said last week.

The governor's energy adviser, Dillard Hammett, said the Energy Department has said Texas could propose up to three sites.

The atom-smashing research project, formally called a Superconducting Super Collider, would be one of the largest scientific projects ever built.

The Super Collider would be housed in a 52-mile-long underground tunnel and is designed for high-energy physics research. Several states are competing for the project, and officials say California and Illinois appear to be leading candidates.

Clements earlier angered some West Texans by suggesting that the state had only two likely spots for the massive project — Dallas-Fort Worth or the area between Austin, Houston and College Station.

But Tuesday, he said more regions will be given consideration by the state National Research Laboratory Commission that is preparing the official Texas proposal.

Hammett said nine regions made presentations to the Super Collider commission on Monday, and added that "I would say we had four good presentations."

But when he was asked during the governor's news conference where those four were, Clements stepped in and told Hammett: "You're talking about an evaluation of the presentations. You don't want to do that, do you?"

Clements also named a 13-member advisory council he said will assist the Super Collider commission. The advisers are headed by J. Fred Bucy of Dallas, retired chairman of Texas Instruments.

Also named to the advisory panel were: former Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss of Dallas; Ernest Angelo Jr. of Montero Operating Inc., Midland; J.S. Farrington of Texas Utilities, Dallas; W.L. Fisher of the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology; F. Russell Huson of the Texas Accelerator Center at The Woodlands; Frank W. McBee of Tracor Inc., Austin; Peter M. McIntyre of Texas A&M's physics department; Robert A. Mosbacher Sr. of Mosbacher Energy Co., Houston; W. Arthur Porter of The Woodlands; John B. Roach of Tandy Corp., Fort Worth; Steven Weinberg, a University of Texas physics professor, and Bartell Zachry of the H.B. Zachry Co., San Antonio.

Using color chalk and pastels, blackboard graffiti artists Cesar Gellido, 18, son of Wayne and Lydia Gellido, Jacob Ruiz, 17, son of Alejandro and Eidolina Ruiz, Felipe Moran, 17, son of Felipe and Martina Moran, Ray Uranga, 17, son of Thomas and Josephine Uranga, and Roman Padron, 17, son of Susano and Catalina Padron, stand near a classroom board that features a portion of their work. They designed the graffiti project for their art class at Coahoma High School, taught by Gwen Stanislaus.

Graffiti becomes art for some

By SPENCER SANDOW
 Staff Writer

Graffiti is a serious subject for advanced art students at Coahoma High School. Using pastel chalks on two art classroom blackboards, five students create what teacher Gwen Stanislaus calls "blackboard graffiti" on a large scale.

The students, who hope to work in the art field after graduation, developed the idea themselves, she said, and they greatly enjoy doing them.

Completing the designs takes considerable effort, she said — just cleaning the blackboard takes two class periods.

"If they want to put that time into it, they must really enjoy it," Stanislaus said, adding that the project will continue as long as the students are interested, and may be part of next year's curriculum.

Completion time for a drawing ranges from one to three weeks, she said.

The students develop a small-scale model of their designs before attempting them on the blackboard. One student changes his design nearly every week, she said.

The method was a new experience for the students: "They had never done anything like that," she said.

The students' work has made those in other classes interested, and other students in Art II and III plan to develop similar projects, the teacher said.

Beginning students in Art I must learn chalk techniques on paper before attempting them on a blackboard next year, she said. On paper, chalk colors can be blended and the texture smoothed, she said.

Blackboard work differs because to develop a blended color, a layer of chalk must be applied over a prior color, she said. In addition, "you can't get a smooth effect" on a blackboard, she said.

Next year the five students, who anticipate being in an Art IV class, are to attempt a classroom wall-sized mural with latex paint, Stanislaus said.

Absentee deadline Tuesday

Tuesday, March 31, is the deadline to vote absentee in the City Council and school board elections.

Registered voters may cast absentee ballots at the City Hall office of Tom Ferguson, finance director, through 5 p.m. March 31, Ferguson said.

He added that a valid reason must be given for voting absentee, such as plans to be outside the city on election day, April 4.

So far, four absentee ballots have been cast, he said this morning.

Senior citizens may vote absentee by mail, he said. Mail ballots will be accepted through 7 p.m. on election day.

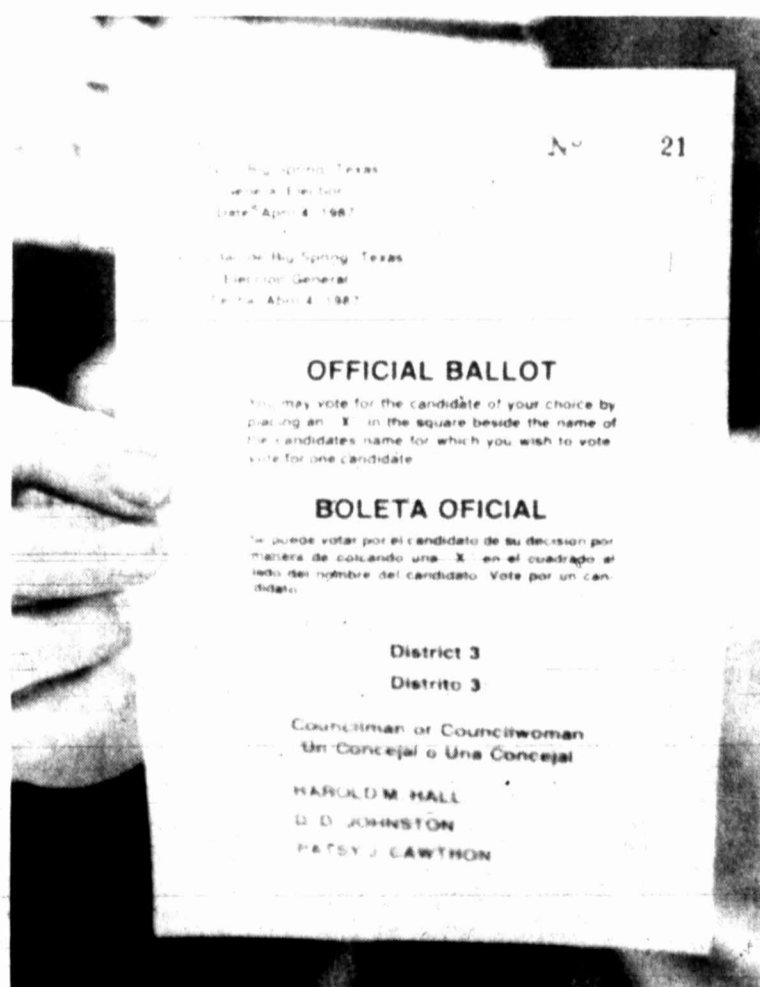

Absentee voting for the school board election may be performed at the courthouse office of County Clerk Margaret Ray, according to Ron Logback.

Logback is the assistant business manager and athletic coordinator at the Big Spring Independent School District, and is in charge of the election.

Mail-in ballots will be accepted through election day, he said.

Ferguson said absentee ballots typically number about 10 percent of those who vote on election day.

Seven candidates have filed for City Council election. The fil-

Tom Ferguson, city finance director, displays a copy of the absentee ballot citizens may cast at City Hall through 5 p.m. March 31. Four absentee ballots have been cast in the city election, he said this morning.

ing deadline was Feb. 18. For district 1, incumbent Henry Sanchez has filed, along with Pat Deanda, Elaine Oliver and Lee Young.

For district 3, incumbent Harold Hall has filed, as have Patsy Cawthon and D.D. Johnston.

Incumbents Billy Pineda, district 1, and Dewayne Fraser, district 3, have filed for re-election to the school board.

Affirmative action case ruling made

By JAMES H. RUBIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, ruling in its first affirmative action case involving alleged sex discrimination, said today an employer may promote a woman over a more-qualified man to help get women into higher ranking jobs.

By a 6-3 vote, the justices ruled against a man who was denied promotion to road dispatcher by the Santa Clara County Transportation Agency in California.

The court said employers need not admit past discrimination against women to adopt such preferential treatment. The promotion of more women is a legitimate effort to overcome "a conspicuous imbalance in traditionally segregated job categories," the court said.

"Voluntary employer action can play a crucial role in ... eliminating the effects of discrimination in the workplace," Justice William J. Brennan wrote for the court.

The decision was based on the court's interpretation of a 1964 civil rights law banning on-the-job discrimination.

The court today did not decide whether Santa Clara's affirmative action plan might violate the Constitution's equal-protection guarantees. Constitutional issues were not raised in the case.

Today's ruling marked the second defeat this year for the Reagan administration in key high court rulings on affirmative action.

The court last month upheld the constitutionality of a court-ordered plan requiring promotion of equal numbers of black and white Alabama state police troopers.

The Justice Department called the Santa Clara plan "casual social engineering heedless of individual rights."

The plan was challenged by Paul E. Johnson, who was denied promotion in 1980 when the job of road dispatcher went to Diane Joyce.

Both had considerable experience working as road yard clerks with the transportation agency.

Johnson said he was more qualified because he scored two points higher than Ms. Joyce on an oral examination for the dispatcher job. Also, the examiners who conducted the test unanimously recommended Johnson for the promotion.

The agency adopted a voluntary affirmative action plan in 1978 aimed at promoting women, minorities and the handicapped. At the time, not one of the agency's 238 skilled craft positions was held by a woman.

The affirmative action plan has a long-range goal of assigning 36 percent of the agency's jobs to women, minorities and the handicapped. They approximate that percentage of the county's available workers.

The plan did not specify any past discrimination by the agency, only that the women and others were under-represented.

Brennan said today, "Substantial evidence shows that the agency has sought to take a moderate, gradual approach to eliminating the imbalance in its work force. ... There is ample assurance that the agency does not seek to use its plan to maintain a permanent racial and sexual balance." He noted that the plan is designed to be temporary in overcoming imbalances.

Naomi Rushing, 100 Cottonwood St., after neighbors objected and city and county health inspectors recommended a permit not be granted.

Gene Rushing sought Council permission to keep chickens, goats and rabbits at his residence. He raises the livestock for food, he said. He admitted that he has been keeping the animals at his residence without a permit.

Neighbors Larry and Natalie Shaeffer complained that the animals pose a health risk and that they dislike the livestock's smell.

Natalie Shaeffer and another citizen complained that the animals were not restricted to the Rushings' yard.

In other business, the Council:

- Approved specifications and authorized advertising for bids for wastewater treatment plant improvements, which include relocation of chlorination equipment and filter replacement.

Councilman D.W. Overman, upon making the motion, said "this has been long overdue. That plant is really in bad shape."

The improvements are part of a wastewater treatment plant renovation, mandated by the Environmental Protection Agency.

- Approved specifications and authorized advertising for bids for a new Municipal Auditorium stage curtain system.

Public Works Director Tom Decell said an anonymous local benefactor has offered to pay for the curtain system, which he estimates will cost $60,000.

- Named the Comanche Trail Park softball field Cotton Mize Park, on recommendation of the Parks and Recreation Board.

Mayor Mize clarified an earlier statement about his choice of new softball park locations. A location at the Airpark near Freecom is his first choice, along Driver Road his second choice, off Parkway and Hearn Streets his third choice, and at the Airpark near the federal prison camp his "last choice." Councilman have indicated a preference for the location near the prison camp.

- Heard from Morris E. Mills, 1206 E. 17th St., who complained that a group of children have been operating gasoline-powered go-carts in the alley behind his residence.

Police Chief Joe Cook said the police department will look into the problem.

New pipeline to begin operation

ODESSA (AP) — Oil will start flowing by next week through a pipeline designed to pump oil from California to Texas, a spokesman for the All American Pipeline Co. says.

The pipeline runs from Santa Barbara, Calif., to McCamey, about 50 miles south of Odessa.

The company and its parent firm, Celeron Corp., believe the project is economically feasible, said Louis J. Resweber, director of communications for All American.

Celeron Corp., builder of the nation's longest oil pipeline, announced Tuesday it will begin filling the $1.2 billion project across the Southwest with oil on March 30.

"We are extremely excited about this because it means we are getting ready for business," said Resweber, also spokesman for Celeron, the nation's third largest independent oil company in terms of reserves, with 153 million barrels.

Line filling, which involves 5 million barrels of California heavy crude at a cost of up to $60 million, is a crucial step in readying the pipeline for operation. The oil will come from the company's properties in oil-rich Kern County in California.

The All American Pipeline stretches 1,225 miles from Santa Barbara County on the California coast to McCamey, Texas, where it connects to various other lines to Gulf Coast refineries.

The pipeline must be full before shipments from other producers can be scheduled.

Celeron also announced it was beginning construction on a 43-mile feeder pipe to its 100-million barrel South Beldridge oil field in western Kern County in the San Joaquin Valley.

The Santa Barbara-based company plans to deliver between 75,000 and 100,000 barrels a day through the feeder pipe to the All American Pipeline. San Joaquin Valley is the site of three of the nation's largest oil producing fields.

VA clinic's success continues

The VA "Follow-up Clinic" continues to be very successful, commented Conrad Alexander, Director of the VA Medical Center in Big Spring.

Patients and families have been very cooperative. "We have learned a lot and patients and families have provided some good feedback," according to Alexander.

Alexander emphasized that members of the clinic team have been helped tremendously by the volunteers at the site. "Also, we would not have been so successful without the excellent support and cooperation from the Shady Oaks Nursing Home," said Alexander.

The next scheduled VA "Follow-up Clinic" will be conducted on Thursday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Shady Oaks Nursing Home, 2722 Old Anson Rd., Abilene.

Veterans are being seen by appointment only, except in case of emergencies. Veterans should contact the Taylor County Service Officer, Dan Garcia, at 915-677-1711.

Ext. 238 or 329, to schedule an appointment.

Appointments may also be scheduled with Mr. Pete Pegan, Chief, Medical Administration Service, VA Medical Center, Big Spring, at 263-7361, Ext. 312 or 314.

Veterans should be prepared to give their name, social security number, and telephone number, when calling for an appointment. Alexander further pointed out that the follow-up clinics are for "screening" purposes, and that veterans who need further diagnostic testing will be scheduled to be seen at the Big Spring VA Medical Center.

Some veterans who need to be hospitalized have indicated that they need transportation to Big Spring.

Alexander announced that transportation will be available on March 26, to bring patients who need hospitalization, back to the Medical Center in Big Spring.

C-City school board amends policy

COLORADO CITY — The board of trustees of the Colorado Independent School District Monday night, amended the discipline management policy, adopted the 1987-88 school calendar and approved the contract renewal of supervisors, directors and principals.

Following an executive session, the board approved the contract extensions of principals Jerry Reynolds, James McLean, Dell Riley and Bobby Lemons, assistant superintendent Don Nimmo, tax collector-business manager Geneva Findley, transportation supervisor Richard Steere, lunchroom supervisor Christine Cooley and community education director Barbara Gray. Salaries were frozen at their present level because of economic conditions, said Supt. Charlie Uselton.

The board took no action on the contract extension of athletic director Tom Ramsey.

The amendments to the school's discipline management plan were required as a result of ever-changing state laws, said Uselton, who noted that other areas of the plan may have to be changed before this fall.

The school calendar calls for classes to begin Sept. 1. The last day of classes will be May 26 if no days are needed to make up for bad weather days.

Second spy arrest made

WASHINGTON — A second former Marine guard at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow is in custody at a Virginia Marine base on suspicion of espionage, a corps spokesman says.

Cpt. Arnold Bracy, 21, of Woodside Queens, New York City, was transferred from the Marine base at Twentynine Palms, Calif., to Quantico late Tuesday, said spokesman Lt. Col. John Shotwell.

"He has not been formally charged as yet," Shotwell said. "But he is suspected of espionage and related charges. He will appear before a military magistrate who will determine whether his continued confinement is justified."

Shotwell said Bracy was arrested as a result of investigation into the case of Sgt. Clayton J. Lonetree, 25, currently held at Quantico. On Jan. 30, the Marine Corps announced it was asking a military lawyer to approve the start of court martial proceedings against Lonetree on 19 charges, including espionage.

Martin hunt continues

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — Entertainer Dean Martin held out hope Tuesday that his son may be alive somewhere on snowy Mount San Geronio where the actor's jet was believed to have crashed, a family spokesman said.

Military rescuers who scoured the 11,500-foot mountain in an extensive air-and-ground search expressed optimism that the two-man crew may have ejected and survived temperatures in the teens and snow depths up to eight feet.

"We still have a lot of hope. We still have our fingers crossed," Sgt. Carolyn Hamilton said. "We haven't given up."

The air search ended about mid-afternoon when a snowstorm moved in, but a ground search by 48 civilian and military rescuers continued until nightfall, said National Guard Maj. Steve Mensik. Air searches were to resume at daybreak, weather permitting.

Koop: AIDS test vital

WASHINGTON — Surgeon General C. Everett Koop and a national blood bank official are urging women to have themselves tested for AIDS before becoming pregnant.

That advice, which came separately Tuesday from Koop and Edwin A. Steane, president of the American Association of Blood Banks, is based on the high probability that a pregnant woman with the virus will pass it to her infant and that the child runs a substantial risk of developing the fatal disease.

Dr. James Curran, AIDS project director at the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, echoed the recommendation today.

"We've recommended now for the past year that all women with any increased risk of infection with the AIDS virus be tested before contemplating pregnancy," Curran said in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show. "This is an entirely preventable condition — the perinatal transmission of the AIDS virus."

Townpeople of Bakersfield listen to the bad news they received last March when town officials discovered that $500,000 was missing from town and school funds. The townspeople will meet Wednesday night to discuss their response at a presentence hearing for the former town clerk, Linda Hall, who pled to three felonies in the matter.

Entire town to address court

By JOHN DONNELLY
Associated Press Writer

BAKERSFIELD, Vt. — Prosecutors say the entire town was the victim when its treasurer stole from the public coffers, so everyone from elderly widows to troubled taxpayers are going to have their say at the woman's sentencing.

Under Vermont's victims' rights law enacted in September, crime victims have a right to address the court at sentencing. Bakersfield, population 850, plans to become the first community to take advantage of the law.

Townpeople were scheduled to meet tonight to select representatives to testify next month at the hearing for Linda Hall, the town treasurer and clerk for 13 years before she was forced to resign a year ago.

Last March, town officials discovered more than $500,000 missing from town and school bank accounts. A bond covered only $50,000 of the money. Ms. Hall, originally charged with 127 felony counts, accepted a plea bargain.

She faces up to three years in jail and unspecified restitution on three felony counts, including larceny by a town officer — akin to embezzlement.

Some 3,000 victims in other cases have been contacted and informed of their rights under the law, which was written with individuals in mind.

Franklin County victim's advocate Catherine Waltz said the state will call Bakersfield's representatives to the stand during Hall's hearing. Two days have been set aside to accommodate witnesses, she said.

"I'm glad that a whole town can get the impact of a crime on record," said Karen Bradley, coordinator of Vermont's victims' assistance program. "There's not only a lot of feelings on these cases, but in the past there has been a feeling they (towns) haven't had their say when a crime affects them."

Donald Clowes, chairman of the school board, agreed.

"You are talking about 850 victims," he said. "What we are going to attempt to do is to get a cross-section of people in town — an elderly couple, a young couple with children in school, selectmen, school board members — and try to get a common thread of thought to present to the judge."

Hall also faces civil action in Franklin Superior Court, a case that has been held up until the criminal charges are resolved. She has an unlisted number and there was no answer at her door Tuesday afternoon.

Clowes and Robert Gervais, chairman of the board of selectmen, declined to speculate on how the majority of townspeople feel about the plea agreement. Gervais said he and several others he has talked with were mainly concerned with how much Hall would pay back to the town.

Attack kills hundreds

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Soviet air attacks and commando raids killed hundreds of civilians and Moslem guerrillas in northern Afghanistan in retaliation for a guerrilla rocket attack on Soviet territory, guerrilla officials said today.

A Pakistan newspaper, meanwhile, reported that the toll from a series of Afghan bombing attacks on Pakistani border villages Monday was 147 dead and 176 injured. Government officials in Islamabad on Tuesday put the losses at 85 dead and 13 wounded.

Jamiat-i-Islami, the dominant guerrilla group in northern Afghanistan, said new reports described massive destruction in Afghanistan's Kunduz province along the Soviet border, with waves of Soviet jets and helicopters bombing villages and towns.

The group quoted guerrilla reports from Kunduz as saying hundreds of people were killed.

"Many people have been killed, many villages have been destroyed and the Soviets are everywhere," said a guerrilla officer, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Soviets forces launched their air attacks and commando raids five days after guerrillas bombarded Soviet territory across the Amu Daryu River with 107mm rockets on March 9, the guerrillas said.

Explosion injures 30

SEOUL, South Korea — An explosion at a road construction site injured about 30 people, police said, and reportedly shattered thousands of windows in nearby apartments.

Newspapers said about 3,000 residents evacuated the apartments overnight because of fears of more explosions and because the broken windows gave no protection from below-freezing nighttime temperatures.

The explosion occurred shortly before midnight Tuesday. Police said they believed road blasting materials were set off by a fire inside a makeshift storehouse used by road workers, but did not say what caused the fire.

An investigation was not concluded, they said.

200,000 'disciplined'

MOSCOW — The Soviet national prosecutor said in an interview published today action was taken against 200,000 officials last year for violations of laws, but that many others have gone unpunished.

The report in Pravda, the national daily of the Communist Party, served as a denunciation of corruption under the late Soviet leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev, and portrayed prosecutors' actions as a step in Kremlin leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's drive for social reforms.

The prosecutor, Alexander Rekunkov, said the violations tolerated under previous leaders affected the legal system as well as other social spheres.

Belittling laws violates beliefs

She came to America from Nicaragua and never went home. Her brother once fought with the Sandinistas, but he eventually broke with his former comrades and was forced to flee the country.

The woman who lived without a visa in America was afraid to return. She voluntarily turned herself in to the U.S. government and applied for asylum.

The United States refused to grant it, saying she could not prove that she would be persecuted in Nicaragua. She appealed on the grounds that her well-founded fears of persecution were proof enough. And now the U.S. Supreme Court has granted her asylum.

"To show a well-founded fear of persecution, an alien need not prove that it is more likely than not that he or she will be persecuted in his or her home country," Justice John Paul Stevens wrote in the landmark decision. "It is clear that Congress did not intend to restrict eligibility for (asylum) to those who could prove that it is more likely than not that they will be persecuted if deported."

This decision recognizes that people fleeing persecution can't prove what will happen in the future. It allows "well-founded fear" to justify asylum.

Thousands of aliens fearing persecution if deported to their homelands can take heart from the decision. They must now take steps to come out of hiding and apply for asylum. The government must change its guidelines to include the category of "well-founded fear."

Still, many people with less well-founded fears of persecution are afraid to come out of hiding, because this decision will not affect their situation.

The sanctuary movement continues to harbor aliens illegally in the belief that saving lives justifies violating immigration law. Sanctuary people who have been convicted and have accepted their sentences show moral courage.

But the Supreme Court has shown that the system of justice is capable of responding humanely to a legitimate cry for asylum.

The reason people flee countries like Nicaragua is that the law there does not protect their rights. Those who wish to share America as a refuge for others must beware of belittling system of law that is the foundation of American rights.

Family expresses opinion of jury

To the editor:
We are writing this in regards to the results of the attempted murder on Ramon Calderon and Enrique Calderon. I had read a lot about our justice system and all the concern over how justice was not done by our jurors. We really hope that the jurors are very satisfied with the results of their decision on Pedro Cantu.

little kids' faces again. On top of everything else, knowing in your heart that justice was not done to Pedro Cantu.

We hope and pray to God that none of the jurors have to suffer the pain and hurt that our family has suffered — all because he didn't mean to kill him.

Thank you for the good job done to try to stop crime in our city. At least we see what our kids will have to endure as they grow up in our city. Paul Harvey couldn't have said it better, "You want to get away with murder, go to Big Spring, Texas." Thanks to 12 jurors.

Citizen disagrees with judgement

To the editor:
Enough! A Howard County Jury has handed down another 10-years probation sentence for a crime committed with a deadly weapon! I am not in favor of allowing anyone, by any name, to take justice in his or her own hands and fire a gun or stick a knife into another human being.

than 10 years in prison and/or a $5,000 fine. The state law says that if the defendant receives 10 years or less and has never been convicted of a felony, he is entitled to a probation.

A jury has the power to recommend probation.
In Mr. Cantu's case that was the decision of 12 of his peers. These 12 people, selected to make the final decision in this case, decided to let Mr. Cantu serve out his sentence here among us.

I was not on the jury; nor did I attend the trial. I am asking why juries are handing down such lenient decisions?

Under the circumstances of the violence manifested by Mr. Cantu, he should make restitution to the victims. The state should not be required to pay in terms of financial remuneration for the crime against Ramon and Enrique Calderon and society. Judge James Gregg can and should order Mr. Cantu to make restitution payments to the blinded victim.

Jordan's king has finally found his Yankee Juliet

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — American diplomacy has clearly failed to bring peace to the Middle East through the judicious supply of arms to friendly governments. But one American "export" has at least brought inner peace to an important Arab ruler, King Hussein of Jordan.

Queen Noor, the former Lisa Halaby, is the American born wife of the 51-year-old Jordanian monarch. A smile lighting his face, Hussein gave this succinct view of his 9-year-old marriage during a recent interview with Dale Van Atta in Amman. "I am happy. In harmony."

Hussein's marital contentment was a long time coming. When he was 19, he was married briefly to a distant cousin, Egyptian Sherifa Dina Abdel Hamid, seven years his senior. After their divorce, she married a Palestinian commando and follower of Yasser Arafat, the Palestine Liberation Organization leader and frequent enemy of Hussein.

Hussein's second wife was a British officer's daughter, Toni Gardiner, whom he renamed Muna al Hussein (Hussein's Desire). They also divorced, but have remained friends.

Wife No. 3 was Alia Toukan, a sometime stewardess and the U.S.-educated daughter of a prominent Jordanian family. Hussein has described Alia as his first true love, and she was the first to bear the title of queen. She died in a 1977 helicopter crash, and the king was inconsolable.

After her death, Hussein paid little attention to affairs of state. In fact, his depression was so extreme that there was talk of his father, who had been forced to give up the throne because of insanity.

Jack Anderson

It was Lisa Halaby who brought him out of his depression. A blond, blue-eyed, Princeton-educated woman of 27, she was working as a designer for the Royal Jordanian Airlines. Alia (named for Hussein's oldest daughter). She is the daughter of Najeeb Halaby, former head of the Federal Aviation Administration and chairman of Pan American World Airways.

Hussein and his future queen met when her advice was solicited for an unfinished guest palace, and they found they had such common enthusiasms as flying, fast cars, sailing and skiing. Hussein proposed after 10 weeks, and they were married in June 1978. Their ceremony was Islamic, and she was given a new name, Queen Noor al Hussein (Light of Hussein).

The queen has described her transformation from American to Arabian as a response to a "mystical" pull by her father's Syrian ancestry over the Scandinavian heritage of her mother's side. She converted to Islam and began studying classical Arabic. The king calls her current command of the language "very good."

Attempting to describe his wife's transformation, Hussein said, "She hasn't changed in terms of all the qualities she always possessed." But he said she is "different in all that she's trying to do to serve" her adopted country.

Hussein spoke of his idyllic, almost ordinary family life. "We love to spend as much time as we can with the children, watch them grow and develop," he said. "They are doing 'very, very well, thank you,' and he is proud of them all — 'very much so.' He has three children by Queen Noor and seven from his earlier marriages (the oldest son is two years older than the queen).

"We enjoy the sea, and go to Aqaba whenever possible," Hussein said. And they play tennis, which his taught him. "We get a lot of videos (cassettes)," he said, and they "sometimes watch movies." The king said he also reads a lot, from serious books to light fiction — "something to distract me."

The royal couple also shares another interest: ham radio. The queen's designation is "Juliet Yankee One" — a fitting name for the transplanted American who has brought fulfillment to her royal Rome, regardless of the occasional strains in their two countries' relationship.

DON'T BOTHER US! The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has found a simple way to handle complaints from the residents of Apollo, Pa., where the country's first radioactive waste incinerator and compactor are planned.

The residents have been complaining for years about the safety record of Babcock & Wilcox, which will run the incinerator. The NRC has told Apollo residents it will no longer "respond to detailed questions about past activities at the B&W site."

Democrats need more than scandal to win

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN
Good luck beats early rising, says the Irish proverb, in which case the Democratic Party may be tempted to sleep late in its quest to regain the White House. The White House arms scandal is the best luck the Democrats have had since Watergate, and they hope it will have the same result.

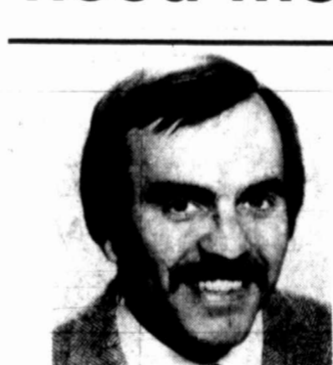

But good luck can change in a hurry. Iranamok gives the Democrats a real chance to win in 1988, but not without some early rising.

All the scandal did was take a highly popular two-term Republican president and, in one month, knock 21 points off his approval rating — the sharpest decline in the history of presidential polls.

In a recent Gallup poll, only 40 percent of Americans give him a positive rating. Although Ronald Reagan may recover, the affair is bound to hurt his party next year. Becoming known as the party of presidential scandals is not a formula for success.

The discovery that Reagan sold weapons to Iran also tends to neutralize a chronic Democratic liability — its image as weak and appeasing toward adversaries abroad. David Keene, an adviser to Sen. Bob Dole's campaign, suggests a slogan for the opposition party: "We're no worse than anyone else."

The benefit goes beyond foreign policy issues. One recent poll found that 41 percent of Americans say they would vote for a Democrat for President next year, up from 32 percent in October. Just 26 percent said they'd vote Republican, compared with 33 percent last fall.

Democrats had already made considerable progress in voter perceptions of their ability to deal with unemployment and trade. On other matters, attitudes are shifting their way. In 1985, 60 percent of Americans said the government was trying to do too much, and 40 percent said it was doing too little. Now just 51 percent say it does too much, and 49 percent say it should do more.

A growing number says the government doesn't spend enough money on education and environmental protection. Worries about inflation, which tend to help Republicans, have given way to worries about unemployment and other economic problems, which tend to help Democrats.

Still, converting these developments into victory won't be easy. If Reagan signs an arms treaty and the economy stays healthy, the Republicans can run on the formidable themes of peace and prosperity.

And historical tides aren't running in the Democrats' favor. They have won only one of the last five presidential elections, getting a humble 21 percent of the electoral vote.

In some areas, the party is barely competitive. The last Democrat to win one of the seven western mountain states was Lyndon Johnson. The fast-growing South, once an invulnerable Democratic stronghold, is now solidly Republican in national contests.

The nomination of a Southerner in 1976, who swept Dixie, only obscured the trend. In 1972 and 1984, the GOP carried all 11 states of the old Confederacy; in 1980, it lost only Georgia, Jimmy Carter's home state.

Gary Hart would presumably perform the unusual feat of carrying Colorado, and a running mate like Sam Nunn or Chuck Robb would help in the South. But the heart of any Democratic strategy has to lie elsewhere. To win, a Democrat needs to carry the handful of loyal states and sweep almost

Women's health focus of seminar on April 11

The Third Annual Healthy Woman's Seminar will be conducted at the Howard College Cactus Room on April 11 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This year's theme "Because You're Worth It," is an affirmation of the hospital's commitment to the health of women in the area, according to Andrew Gramlich, administrator of Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

"Because You're Worth It," "Taking Control of Your Life," "The Nutrition Connection," "What You Are Now Is What You Were When," "BodyWorks" and "Those Raging Hormones" are topics that will be discussed at the seminar. Health handouts and information, plus special discounts on women's health screenings will be among the fringe benefits offered to those who attend.

"The April seminar is for women all of all ages — and its focus is general. Psychology, as it pertains to women; the newest in medical information about PMS, osteoporosis, breast cancer ... and the all-important connection between diet and exercise to long-term good health — these are the lodestones of the seminar," Gramlich explained. Women tend to be more concerned about their husband's, children's and even their elder's health before they consider theirs, according to an information of women's health.

They live longer, but not always in good health, due in part to neglect of healthy habits they recommend to others yet do not practice themselves, Gramlich said.

The center hopes to encourage women to establish base-line studies while in good health so their doctors can use the information should a health problem arise that demands a comparative study in order to diagnose or treat the condition, according to a release from Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

For this reason, screenings for osteoporosis breast cancer and heart disease will be offered to participants at a discount.

Cost of the seminar is $5 for pre-registration or $7.50 at the door.

Sponsors of the seminar are the Scenic Mountain Medical Center, the Big Spring Blue Blazers, the Big Spring YMCA and Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

During the sack lunch hour a film featuring family value systems will be shown.

Love in the cards for military pen pals

DEAR ABBY: Last year when I was a freshman at Tulane University, I read in your column (The Times-Picayune) that the Marines at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, were "lonely" and wanted mail, so I wrote a friendly letter to a Marine (any Marine) telling him about myself. Much to my surprise, I received a wonderful five-page letter from Lance Cpl. Mark Dennis — a native New Yorker. I answered immediately and enclosed my picture. He wrote again and sent me his picture. (He's very handsome!) Soon we were often exchanging letters and there were hour-long long-distance telephone calls!

Mark was promoted to corporal and transferred to a base in Florida. The best news is that we have fallen in love through the mail. Mark flew to New Orleans and we met for the first time when I picked him up at the airport on a rainy Thursday night in December. Our weekend was like a fairy tale!

We exchange letters and phone calls almost daily now. From pen pals we became sweethearts — dreaming of the future. I flew to Florida to spend Valentine's Day weekend with Mark, and it's like a dream come true.

How can I thank you, Dear Abby, for giving fate a hand by publishing that address in your column last April?

VANESSA McMILLAN
DEAR VANESSA: Don't thank me, and don't thank fate. You reached out to cheer up a lonely

Dear Abby

Marine, and in so doing, you caught the gold ring. Congratulations and all the best to both of you!

DEAR ABBY: Some young relatives of mine are getting married. Bonnie is 19 and Chuck is 20. The other evening a friend (not a relative) was over and the kids were here. This friend congratulated the bride, then asked her what she wanted for a wedding present. Then Bonnie said, "How much did you want to spend?" I nearly fainted! The friend was obviously taken aback, but she hemmed and hawed and never did give Bonnie a direct answer. I got into it, and saved the situation by telling the friend that Bonnie was registered at such and such a store downtown.

Later I got into an argument with Bonnie's mother. She thought Bonnie's response was perfectly OK.

What do you think?

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: Bonnie's response was frank and forthright — although somewhat startling. The answer you provided in the interest of "saving the situation" was the one Bonnie should have used.

DEAR ABBY: A very bright, single and absolutely beautiful young woman recently came to work in our office, and I would like to ask her for a date. There's only one problem. She wears a very strong perfume, and too much of it. I would like to tell this otherwise appealing young woman to either change brands of perfume or use less of it, but I don't want to offend her. I'm not the only one in this office who can't get too close to her. Others even make jokes about it. Isn't that a shame?

OVERPOWERED
DEAR OVERPOWERED: I'm not crazy about anonymous memos — even those that are well-intentioned and constructive. Why not be up-front with the lady and tell her you would like to ask her out, but you can't handle perfume in anything but minimal doses? You would be doing her an enormous favor.

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing in regard to the man who became violent when a neighbor determined he was too drunk to drive and took his car keys. I am a recovering alcoholic who has been sober for over a year. I speak from experience when I say that alcoholism is the only fatal disease known to man where one of the major symptoms is denial of its existence.

It's too late to determine "how drunk" a driver was after someone has been killed by a drunk driver. Please don't drink and drive.

Bile problem causes body itch

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please discuss sclerosing cholangitis. I'm going nuts trying to find this illness in books. What is it? What causes it? How does one get rid of it? — D.B.T.

The ancient Greeks came up with a name for everything. Unfortunately, not many of us understand Greek. The words mean inflammation and scarring of the bile duct — sclero (hardening); chole (bile or gall); angio (vessel or duct), and it is (inflammation).

We don't know in most cases what causes this. The inflammation leads to scarring and that eventually closes the ducts, which normally drain the bile from the liver to the gall bladder, where it is stored for use in digestion. With the ducts closed, bile packs up into the liver, where cells become damaged.

You ask (another part of your letter) how other illnesses get involved. Sometimes, the condition is found along with ulcerative colitis, a large-bowel problem. How that leads to sclerosing cholangitis is not clear. It's one of the things looked for when investigating the duct problem.

There's no easy answer to the treatment question. Many times you have to settle for treating the symptoms, one of which can be a maddening itch. The drug used for that is cholestyramine, which acts on the bile acids. If the colon problem exists, you treat that.

You didn't ask, but there is a vitamin connection here. The vitamins that depend on fat absorption have to be supplied. Vitamin D is an example.

Another reader (G.L.) asks about surgery. Occasionally, an artificial drainage is created to substitute for the blocked ducts. But even that tends to get closed, so it is not done routinely. Sclerosing cholangitis can be a most difficult problem to control.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: With summer in the offing, what can you offer for a middle-aged woman whose skin dries out from the sun? — Mrs. R.P.

Most dry skin in older people results from a decline in the skin's natural moistening mechanism — the skin glands that secrete a thin mantle of oil. That is what permits the skin to retain its moisture.

The idea is to try to rehydrate the skin. Most of the products seem to fail in that respect. Water itself may be the best moisturizer. One authority suggests the best way to do that is to immerse the body in water, then with the body still wet apply a light emollient, like Keri Lotion or a similar product. That provides the skin mantle missing and permits moisture to remain. Do this a couple of times a day or when the skin seems extra dry. Lubricating lotions containing propylene glycol or lactic acid help also.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What are parathyroid glands and what is their connection with hypercalcemia? — C.C.

The parathyroids are small glands behind the thyroid (in the neck area). They regulate blood calcium and phosphorus levels though the hormones they make. If they aren't functioning properly, blood levels of either can rise.

But this is not the only cause of blood calcium rise. Too much Vitamin D can cause it, as can some cancers. High levels are also seen sometimes with the tissue nodule problem, sarcoidosis.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what kinds of trouble to look for, send for the booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

America's favorite yogurt recipes

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

In kitchens throughout the country, delicious and exciting recipes are being made with nonfat yogurt. With more than 3,000 entries in the 1986 Weight Watchers Nonfat Yogurt Recipe Contest, it was found that yogurt is being used in quiches, casseroles, pies and pastas.

In this week's recipe exchange, I have included the some of the award-winning recipes from the 16 Weight Watchers Nonfat Yogurt Recipe Contest.

Recipe exchange

TEXAS HOSPITALITY BREAST OF CHICKEN

6 chicken breasts, skinned (6 oz. each)
1 container (8 oz.) nonfat yogurt
2 tsp. seeded and chopped drained canned green chili peppers
1 tsp. minced fresh cilantro (Chinese parsley) or Italian leaf parsley
1/2 tsp. seasoned salt
1/4 tsp. each: ground cumin and thyme leaves, crumbled
2 oz. (3/4 cup) cornflake crumbs
1/4 cup reduced calorie margarine, melted
Garnish: cilantro (Chinese parsley) or Italian flat-leaf parsley sprigs Preheat oven to 350 F. In 13x9x2-inch baking pan arrange chicken breasts skinned-side up; set aside. In small bowl combine yogurt, chili peppers, cilantro (or Italian parsley), salt, cumin and thyme; spread mixture evenly over each chicken breast. Sprinkle each breast with 1/6 of the cornflake crumbs, then drizzle each with 1 tsp. margarine. Bake until chicken is crisp and golden, about 45 minutes. Garnish with cilantro (or Italian parsley) sprigs.

MICHIGAN CHILI RELLENOS

1/2 container (4 oz.) nonfat yogurt
1 egg
3 tsp. all-purpose flour
3 oz. each: Cheddar and Monterey Jack cheeses, shredded
1 can green chili peppers (4 oz.), rinsed and drained
1/4 cup tomato sauce
Preheat oven to 350 F. Spray two individual 2-cup casseroles with nonstick cooking spray; set aside. In small bowl combine yogurt, egg and flour, mixing until smooth; set aside. In another small bowl combine cheeses.

NEW YORK POPPY SEED YOGURT MUFFINS

2 cups all-purpose flour
1/4 cup poppy seed
1/4 tsp. baking soda
1/2 cup reduced calorie margarine
1/4 cup honey
2 eggs
3/4 container (6 oz.) nonfat yogurt
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1/2 tsp. lemon extract
Preheat oven to 375 F. Line twelve 2 1/2-inch diameter muffin pan cups with paper baking cups; set aside.

In small mixing bowl combine flour, poppy seeds and baking soda. In medium mixing bowl using electric mixer, beat margarine and honey until combined; add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Beat in yogurt and extracts. Gradually stir in flour mixture. Fill each baking cup with an equal amount of batter. Bake for 20 minutes (until a cake tester, inserted in center, comes out clean).

ARIZONA SEASHELLS N' CREAMY SEAFOOD SALAD SUPREME

1 container (8 oz.) peach nonfat yogurt
4 oz. each: drained canned or fresh crabmeat and drained baby shrimp
1/4 cup finely sliced celery
6 pitted dates, chopped
4 dried apricots halves, finely diced
2 tsp. each: minced onion and finely diced pared jicama
1 tsp. shelled sunflower seeds
16 uncooked jumbo macaroni shells (3 oz.), cooked according to package directions and drained
4 romaine lettuce leaves
In medium bowl combine yogurt, crabmeat, shrimp, celery, dates, apricots, onion, jicama, and sunflower seeds. Using a teaspoon, carefully fill each shell with yogurt mixture, reserving any remaining mixture.

Line a large serving platter with lettuce leaves and arrange shells around edge of platter. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate until ready to serve.

WASHINGTON MEXICAN QUICHE

4 corn tortillas (6-inch diameter each)
2 containers (8 oz.) plain nonfat yogurt

Into each prepared casserole sprinkle 1 ounce of the cheese mixture: top each with half the chili peppers and then sprinkle each with 1 ounce cheese mixture. Pour half the yogurt mixture into each casserole; top each portion with half the tomato sauce and half of the remaining cheese mixture. Bake until puffed and edges are lightly browned, about 40 minutes.

INDIANA CROCKPOT SWEET POTATO SOUP

1 medium onion, cut into pieces
1 large carrot, cut into pieces
1 large celery rib, cut into pieces
7 cups water
1 1/2 lbs. diced sweet potatoes
3 packets instant chicken broth and seasoning mix
2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. each: pepper and parsley flakes
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
3 containers (8 oz. each) nonfat yogurt
1/4 cup reduced calorie margarine (tub)
2 tsp. imitation bacon bits
In blender container combine onion, carrot, and celery, add 3 cups water and process using on-off motion, until shredded. Transfer to crockpot; add sweet potatoes, 3 cups water, broth mix, salt, pepper, and parsley and cook on low for 6 hours.

In small bowl combine remaining cup water and the flour, stirring to dissolve flour; add to crock pot along with the yogurt and margarine and stir to combine. Cook 30 minutes longer.
To serve, divide soup into 6 soup bowls and sprinkle each portion with 1 tsp. bacon bits.

4 eggs slightly beaten
1/2 cup seeded and chopped green chili peppers
1/2 tsp. each: salt and chili powder
4 oz. cheddar cheese, shredded
1/4 cup chopped onion
Preheat oven to 350 F. Wrap each tortilla in foil and bake until soft, about 8 minutes.

While tortillas are baking, in medium bowl combine yogurt, eggs, chili peppers, salt and chili powder; set aside.
Remove foil from tortillas and arrange each in an individual casserole. Sprinkle 1 oz. cheese and 1 tsp. onion over bottom of each casserole; pour in 1/4 of egg mixture. Bake in 350 F. oven for 1 hour (until a knife, inserted in center, comes out clean).

OHIO MEXI-CHEESE CAULIFLOWER BAKE

1/2 cup diced onion
1 container (8 oz.) plain nonfat yogurt
2 oz. cheddar cheese, shredded
3 tsp. self-rising flour
1 tsp. salt
Dash ground red pepper
1 tsp. ground cumin
2 cups cooked cauliflower flowerets
3 tsp. plain dried bread crumbs
In custard cup arrange onion and microwave on high for 2 minutes or spray 6-inch skillet with nonstick cooking spray and cook until translucent.

Preheat oven to 350 F. In medium bowl combine yogurt, cheese, flour, salt, pepper, and cumin; add cauliflower and onion and stir to combine. Spray 1-quart casserole with nonstick cooking spray; turn cauliflower mixture into casserole and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake for 45 minutes.

Pentagon reports on Soviet power

By NORMAN BLACK
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union continues to deploy new models of nuclear missiles with an eye toward achieving military superiority while conducting laser experiments against U.S. airplanes, the Pentagon said Tuesday.

Russia is also devoting almost three times as much of its gross national product to weapons purchases compared to the United States. And it shows no signs of slowing that build-up, "no matter who is general secretary; no matter what proposals are made, no matter what public relations activities are undertaken," said Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger.

The Soviet weapons drive also extends to its conventional arsenal, with dozens of new MiG-29 Fulcrum jet fighters along with tanks, artillery pieces and ships having been produced over the past year.

This grim assessment of Moscow's military might was released by Weinberger in the form of the Pentagon's annual publication, "Soviet Military Power." Now in its sixth edition, the magazine-size, glossy booklet has become the Reagan administration's primary vehicle for releasing information about Russian force developments and, in turn, buttressing calls for higher Pentagon spending.

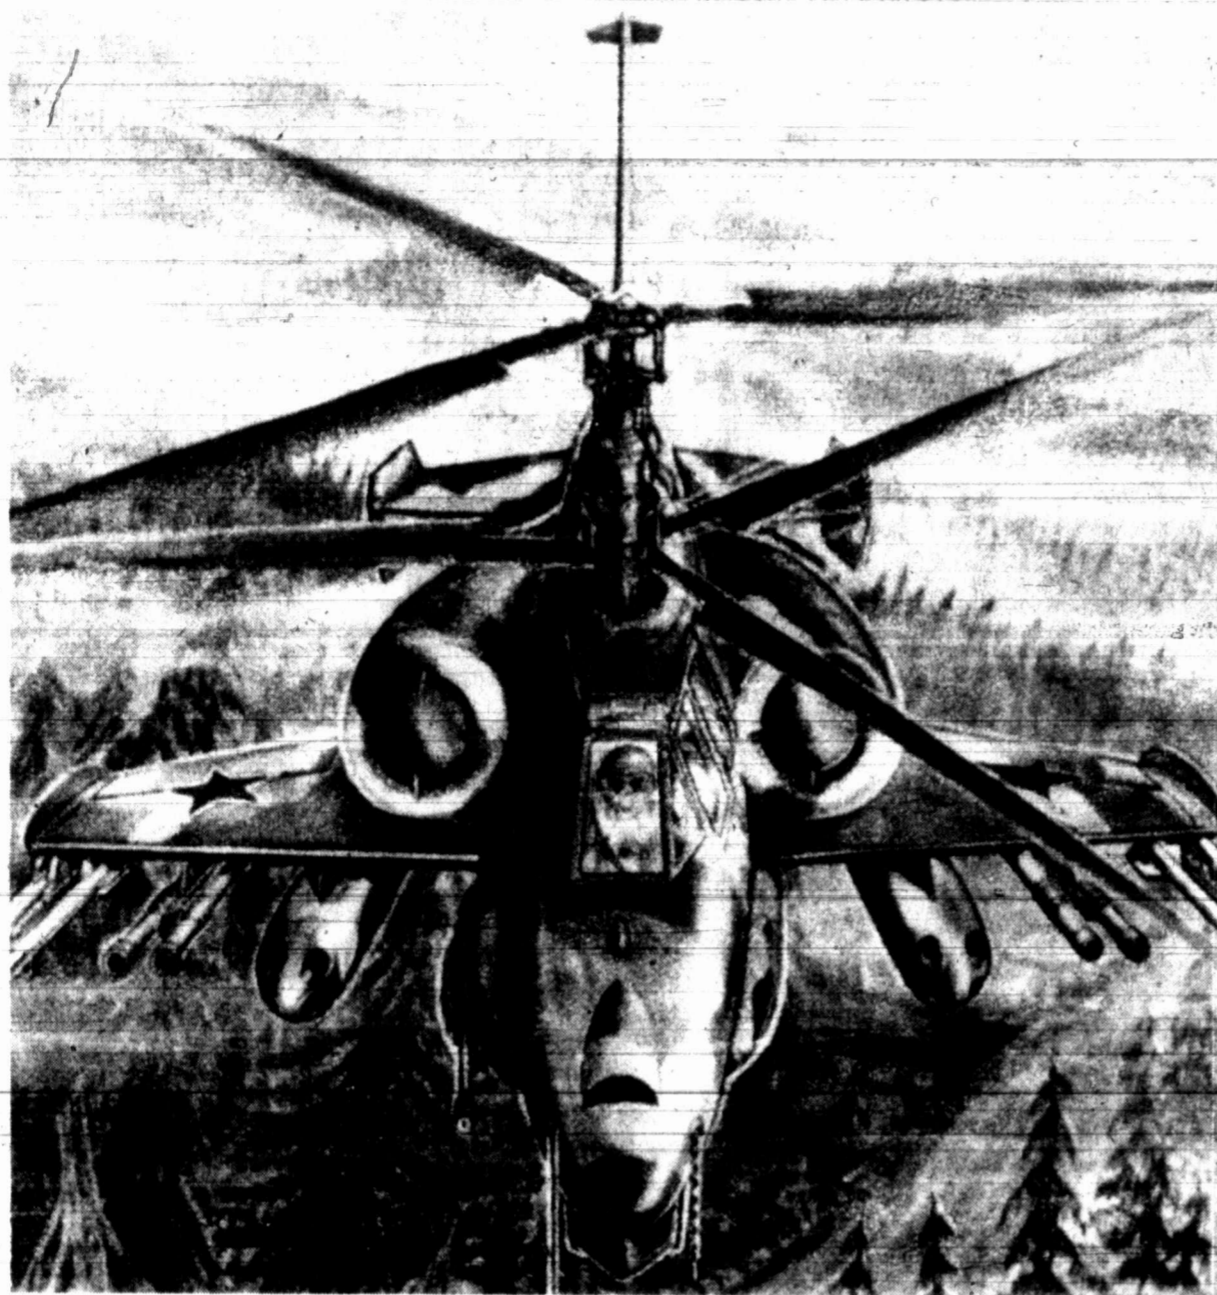

"We must realize that we are competing with a dynamic, and an expanding, Soviet military threat," Weinberger said.

He added, "We do not need to match nor are we trying to match the Soviets weapon for weapon. But we must have an adequate defense program — one that is grounded on a clear understanding of the nature and character of the threats posed to national interests."

Overall, the booklet concludes that Soviet military expenditures are consuming between 15 percent and 17 percent of Russia's gross national product. By comparison, Pentagon spending consumes about 6 percent of America's GNP. The report was released hours before Weinberger went to Capitol Hill to push for the administration's request for a 3 percent increase after inflation in the defense budget for the next fiscal year.

Weinberger referred to the booklet on several occasions, telling the House Armed Services Committee that it outlined the "very real threat, the growing threat" presented by the Soviet military machine. That threat, rather than domestic considerations, should be used as the basis for the Pentagon's budget, Weinberger told the panel.

The 1987 edition of "Soviet Military Power" contains little in the way of new disclosures. One exception involves continuing Soviet work in the field of laser technology. Without elaborating, the booklet states that "recent Soviet irradiation of Free World manned surveillance aircraft and ships could have caused serious eye damage to observers."

Above, an artist's rendering of the new HOKUM Soviet attack helicopter, which appears in the Pentagon publication "Soviet Military Power." The rotary-wing craft is now in flight testing, according to the report.

Included is a picture of an "electro-optic sensor laser device" aboard a Soviet destroyer that "has been used to irradiate Western patrol aircraft."

A senior Defense Department official, in discussing that reference, said laser devices had been fired in the Middle East, Afghanistan and "other parts" of the world. While no U.S. personnel have been blinded, there have been reports of individuals from other countries being temporarily blinded by such laser beams, the official said.

"We've had several reports from various parts of the world — Middle East and other parts — indicating that either from Soviet equipment, Soviet vessels or Soviet-provided equipment, there have been incidents of lasering against ground equipment and aircraft," said the official, who briefed reporters before Weinberger's appearance on condition he not be identified.

The reports have provided evidence of "an impact, both in terms of blinding pilots and ... in terms of some physical burning."

As for nuclear forces, the booklet asserts that by the mid-1990s the Soviets will have placed in hardened silos or made mobile more than 70 percent of their land-based, long-range missile force.

The Russians have increased from 70 to more than 100 the number of mobile, single-warhead SS-25 intercontinental ballistic missiles aimed at the United States and will soon deploy the large, rail-mobile SS-X-24 ICBM, which carries 10 warheads, the Pentagon said.

Pentagon seeks order in training airspace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon may not be able to resolve rural residents' complaints of being "bombed" and "strafed" by warplanes, but it has decided it's got to bring some order to the process of setting aside airspace for military training.

The Defense Department, in a Feb. 24 letter to the General Accounting Office, officially concurred with a new audit's conclusion that the Navy and Air Force have been approaching airspace management in a haphazard fashion.

Because it has "not been a high priority in the Department of Defense," the military services have not attempted to forecast or coordinate their requests to restrict airspace, said the GAO, the congressional watchdog agency.

US insists on matching Soviet force in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before signing any treaty to rid Europe of medium-range nuclear missiles, the Reagan administration wants Moscow to agree that the United States can match 130 shorter-range Soviet weapons.

The demand was voiced Monday at the State Department while a spokesman also denounced as "patently false" a charge by former Soviet negotiator Viktor P. Karpov that the United States was foot-dragging.

The focus of the U.S. demand are Soviet SS-12 and SS-23 missiles, some of which are based in Eastern Europe, that have a range of 300 miles to 600 miles.

The treaty now being negotiated in Geneva would eliminate all U.S. and Soviet medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe. These range from 600 miles to 1,800 miles.

Asserting a right to match the Soviets in the shorter-range category of arms, Charles E. Redman, the State Department spokesman, said the guarantee must be an "integral part" of the treaty.

The U.S. official acknowledged, meanwhile, that some of the 108 medium-range U.S. Pershing 2 missiles that would be withdrawn from West Germany could be remodeled and left in Europe as shorter-range weapons.

Hooray for random drug testing

I recently read Gary McLain's story concerning his bout with drugs, which was published in Sports Illustrated. The general consensus I've heard goes something like this: "That bad boy McLain, how could he do such a thing? How could he tarnish the reputations of his former coaches and teammates?"

Well, I'm not here to criticize McLain. Sure, he got paid money for his story, but it was a story that needed to be told, a story that could happen to any athlete.

It's a story of how a highly recruited basketball player ended up in big time college basketball. How a moderate pot smoker turned into a strung out cocaine addict. It tells how being a stud athlete can help you meet the right people, the ones with the green, who will do anything to keep an athlete happy.

I'm not saying McLain wasn't at fault. Anytime a player uses drugs, he has to face the consequences. Sometimes the drugs affect his performances, sometimes they don't. Let's face it, if McLain's performances had been that bad, Villanova coach Rollie Massimino would have benched him, and McLain wouldn't have graduated with his business degree in four years.

This brings us to the point of random drug testing for college athletes. I used to be very much against this. I thought it was an infringement against athletes by the NCAA. I thought, "We are all people. We all have a brain and it should be left up to us to use that brain to make our own decisions."

I always said the only way a coach had a right to put a player through a drug test was with reasonable suspicion. But McLain proved that theory wrong. His story is hardly the only one. Look no farther than Lamar Hoyt, Thomas Henderson, Lawrence Taylor, Dexter Manley, John Lucas, Chris Washburn, Len Bias and Don Rogers for others, some worse.

Drug abuse has now grown into a monster that keeps sprouting new arms. It is grabbing hold of young people and old people alike. No, it's not limited to overpaid professional athletes and hot shot college players. There are a lot of lawyers and doctors and even housewives who are hooked and need help.

As harsh as random drug testing may seem, there's no denying it can have an immediate impact in fighting drug use among our young people. Testing will either keep students from experimenting with drugs, or will find those who do and set them on the road to recovery.

So the Gary McLain story was very helpful to me in reaching my decision. Random drug testing is a giant step in stomping out drugs on the college athletic scene.

Eagles, Explorers to play for 65th

NEW YORK (AP) — One team's poison might be another team's candy.

That could be the lesson for Southern Mississippi Coach M.K. Turk, who put his team in a zone defense during a decisive stretch of its 82-75 victory over Nebraska in the National Invitation Tournament semifinals Tuesday night.

But Turk might think twice about doing the same thing against La Salle in the final on Thursday.

La Salle took advantage of Arkansas-Little Rock's zone defense in the other semifinal, hitting eight of its first 12 shots from 3-point range to build an 18-point lead late in the first half. When UALR went man-to-man in the second half, the Explorers took only one 3-point shot, but went on to a 92-73 victory.

"I was happy to see the zone," La Salle Coach Bill "Speedy" Morris said. "Making our first four 3-point shots got us off good and relaxed us."

La Salle, 20-12 will play Southern Mississippi, 22-11, in Thursday night's 50th NIT championship game.

Randolph Keys had 24 points and nine rebounds and combined with John White to score all of Southern Mississippi's points during a 15-2 second-half spurt that broke open a close game.

Nebraska led 60-58 before White, who had 19 points, started the streak with a 3-point goal, giving the Golden Eagles a 61-60 lead with 7:17 left.

At that juncture, Turk went to a zone defense.

"We had defensive problems early and in the second half we struggled until we went to the zone when we got ahead 61-60," Turk said. "Man-to-man pressure is our usual defense, but we had to use the zone when we got ahead because their fast break was hurting us."

With White scoring eight points and Keys seven, the spurt ended with the Golden Eagles ahead 73-62 with 2:58 left, and Nebraska got no closer than the final score.

Southern Miss made only two of its first 15 shots and fell behind 18-5 in the first six minutes of the game. After making 54.2 percent of their field-goal attempts in three previous NIT victories, the Golden Eagles hit just 43.9 percent against the Cornhuskers, 20-12.

"It was not a pretty win, but it was a great win," Turk said. "We aren't beautiful to watch to anyone but our wives and girlfriends."

The Golden Eagles got back in the game with a 14-0 spurt late in the first half, giving them their first lead at 30-28. After that, the game at 12 more lead changes until Southern Miss grabbed the lead for good at 61-60.

In the first game, Tim Legler had 26 points, Rich Tarr 23 and freshman star Lionel Simmons 21 for La Salle against UALR, 26-10.

Guards Legler and Tarr had three 3-pointers each during the Explorers' first-half bomb fest when they collected all but one of their nine 3-point goals.

"No team in the country can play us like they tried to," Legler said. "Temple played a zone against us and we were up 20 at the half. I think they didn't know we were such good shooters."

Legler said La Salle's game plan

Steers crushed by a legend

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen lived up to their baseball rich tradition by drumming the Big Spring Steers 22-4 Tuesday afternoon at Steer Field.

Coach Bobby Moegle's Plainsmen, regarded each season as the top team in the South Plains, showed this year is no different. Moegle, who has coached at Monterey for the past 28 seasons, has built a dynasty in Lubbock.

He has posted a 778-181 record, which makes him the winningest coach in Texas high school baseball history. His teams won state championships in 1972, 1974 and 1981.

As far as Tuesday's game was concerned, the Plainsmen looked like state champions.

Led by the two-hit pitching of Randy Robbins and a 20-hit attack keyed by Kyle Guerry, the Steers were no match on this day. Seven Big Spring errors helped the Monterey cause.

Robbins pitched the first four innings of the five inning game. He left with is team leading 22-0. He gave way to Frank Torres, who was roughed up for four runs in the last inning.

Guerry, a senior first baseman, was deadly on the Steers. The big lefty got three singles and a double in five trips to the plate. He drove in seven runs and scored three himself.

Monterey shortstop Max Stephenson was also deadly on Steer pitching. He singled twice and doubled in four at bats. He also drove in three runs and scored two himself.

Randy Payne, Keith Mann, Kevin Kerr, Hunter Langford and Robbins all got two hits each.

The Steers started sophomore left-hander James Thompson and he came through the first two innings fairly well, as Monterey only scored three runs.

But the last three innings were a mixture of solid Monterey hitting and Steer blunders which would eventually end in a Big Spring nightmare.

The Plainsmen erupted for eight runs in the third inning off six hits and two Steer errors. It looked like the Steers might get out of the inning without allowing a run, but a double-play ball turned into an error and Monterey capitalized by scoring eight times.

Steers' coach John Velasquez pulled Thompson in the fourth in favor of Timmy Guterrez. Thompson pitched three-and-one third innings, and allowed 13 hits and 12 runs. By the time Guterrez had finished the fourth, Monterey led 15-0.

Monterey added seven more runs in the fifth inning, off four hits and two errors.

But Big Spring avoided total humiliation by scoring four runs off Torres in the fifth. John Olson, in his first bat of the game, blasted a solo homer that just cleared the left field fence, for the Steers' first run of the game.

With one out, Byron McElreath reached base on an error and Matt Garrett doubled Raymon Ontiveros also reached on an error and McElreath came home with run number two.

Aaron Allen, one of two Steers with two hits in the game, doubled, scoring Garrett with the third run. Eric Thompson, who also had two hits in the game, drove in Ontiveros with the fourth and final run when he collected an infield hit.

"We just have to start over again," said a calm Big Spring coach John Velasquez after the game. "We are really not that bad of a team, we just have to be mentally prepared for everything. We had a bad case of lack of concentration. Everytime they scored more than one run, we should have been out of the inning.

"We played a tough non-district schedule and it will help us in district. We're going to start playing come Friday. We'll be all right."

The Steers begin District 2-4A play Friday when they host the Fort Stockton Panthers at 4 p.m. at Steer Field.

Hawks 'lackadaisical' in split

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

LUBBOCK — The Howard College Hawks split a non-conference double header with Lubbock Christian College, and Coach Bill Griffin was not happy.

"We played like we were sleep-walking. Our concentration was terrible and our baserunning was pathetic. We committed errors and mental mistakes we just can't afford to commit."

"I was somewhat disappointed they were so lackadaisical about the way they played. If I can't get their concentration back prior to playing Ranger at Ranger, we're in trouble," Griffin said.

The coach did admit, however, that the Hawks' sloppy play — they committed five errors in two games — was probably due to a let-down from last weekend's big series with McLennan.

The Hawks won the opener 8-1, and lost the second game 5-4 in extra innings. The Hawks are now 20-5.

In game one, Hawks' ace Ted Hebert went the distance, spreading out six hits and not allowing an earned run. He struck out six and walked two.

The game was scoreless until the bottom of the fourth, when the home team scored on two hits and an error. At that point, Howard had just one hit.

Lubbock Christian starter Ron King left the game after the fifth, and his relievers couldn't do the job. Howard scored four runs on two hits, a walk and three errors in the sixth. Randy Deal's double was the only extra base hit for the Hawks, and he scored on Jeff Shultz rbi single.

The Hawks batted around in the sixth, and did the same in the seventh. In that inning, the big hits were an rbi single by Deal and a two rbi single by Chad Baker.

In the second game, Ernesto Castro started, and surrendered four runs in the third inning on a two-out rally by Lubbock Christian.

Howard rallied for three runs in the fifth. The big hits were an rbi single by Thad Weber and a two-run bunt error by Joel Chimelis. Howard tied the game in the sixth when pinch hitter Joe Camarillo singled home Baker.

Howard Landry, in relief of Castro, pitched three scoreless innings, then gave up the winning run in the bottom of the eighth.

Tech suspends five players

LUBBOCK (AP) — Texas Tech head baseball coach Larry Hays announced Tuesday the indefinite suspension of five starters because of unspecified violations of team rules.

The five were junior catcher Scott Drury, senior shortstop Dave Geck, junior third baseman Tommy Hernandez, junior second baseman Kevin Lowery and designated-hitter Dan Spencer.

Taking Stevie off the radio

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Because they don't want to see Steve Alford warming the bench during the Final Four in New Orleans this weekend, three Indiana radio stations say they will stop playing "Stevie Shoot a Three-Pointer" and the "Bobby Knight Bop."

Indiana University sports promotion director Chuck Crabb said WEAG-FM and WENS-FM in Indianapolis, and WTTS-FM in Bloomington, stopped playing the songs when they learned the NCAA had warned that any player named in a song on a commercial broadcast could be ineligible to play in remaining games.

"Three of the four radio stations I've had to contact about playing the songs have all agreed to comply with the request to discontinue the songs," Crabb said.

"They said the last thing they wanted was for any player's eligibility to be in question going into the Final Four."

Crabb said the fourth station, WSTO in Owensboro, Kentucky, is unwilling to stop playing "Stevie Shoot a Three-Pointer," which was written by a WSTO employee.

Barry Witherspoon, the program director there, says they don't see the song as being sold as a commercial product," Crabb said. "They say they want to study the matter further."

Crabb said the problem began when he heard "Stevie Shoot a Three-Pointer" on WTTS.

Alford received a one-game NCAA suspension in the 1985-86 season because he posed for a calendar made by an I.U. sorority to benefit charity.

"I heard the song, and a note of alarm went off in my brain," Crabb said. "So I contacted our associate athletic director, who talked with the Big Ten, which then sent a request for interpretation to the NCAA."

He said the NCAA ruled that the use of a player's name in a commercial broadcast was illegal, and that any player mentioned would face being eliminated from the roster for any remaining games.

The NCAA said the university should contact the radio stations and ask them to stop playing the songs.

Joel Grey, program director for WENS-FM, said his station consented willingly to the request to remove the song from the play list. WENS disc jockey Mark Patrick wrote "The Bobby Knight Bop."

"We were just out to have some fun," Grey said.

He also said he plans to replace the song, which mentions all five I.U. starters in its refrain, with another number without names.

Bird, Air and Aguirre catch fire

By The Associated Press
For one night, the Los Angeles Lakers — the team with the best record in the NBA — looked more like The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight.

The Lakers lost Magic Johnson early in the game with a bruised calf muscle and then had their 10-game winning streak snapped by the Phoenix Suns 108-93 Tuesday night.

Along the way, the Lakers made only two of 24 shots in the second quarter — the fewest field goals in one period ever in the Arizona Veterans Memorial Coliseum — as they were outscored 28-12 and fell behind 57-42 at halftime.

Despite their cold shooting, the Lakers were warmer than Washington's Jeff Malone, a 22.3-point scorer. In what he conceded was "probably my worst shooting night," Malone missed his first 13 shots and scored only six points, getting his only field goal of the game with five seconds remaining as the Bulls lost to Atlanta 96-87.

Meanwhile, at the other end of the thermometer:

—Michael Jordan scored 56 points and sparked a 12-point burst in the fourth quarter as the Chicago Bulls held off the Philadelphia 76ers 93-91.

—Larry Bird made 13 of 16 shots, including his last 10, and added nine assists and eight rebounds as the Boston Celtics rolled to a 111-88 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

—Mark Aguirre, who became involved in controversy after being ejected from a game on Saturday, scored a season-high 43 points and tied the pro scoring record for the Byrnie Meadows Arena as the Dallas Mavericks defeated the New Jersey Nets 119-107.

—The Milwaukee Bucks set season highs of 78 points in the first half and 135 points in a game in routing the New York Knicks 135-96.

The Lakers were outscored 48-43 and had four shots blocked by the spirited Suns, who had lost 14 of 16 games against Los Angeles dating back to November, 1984.

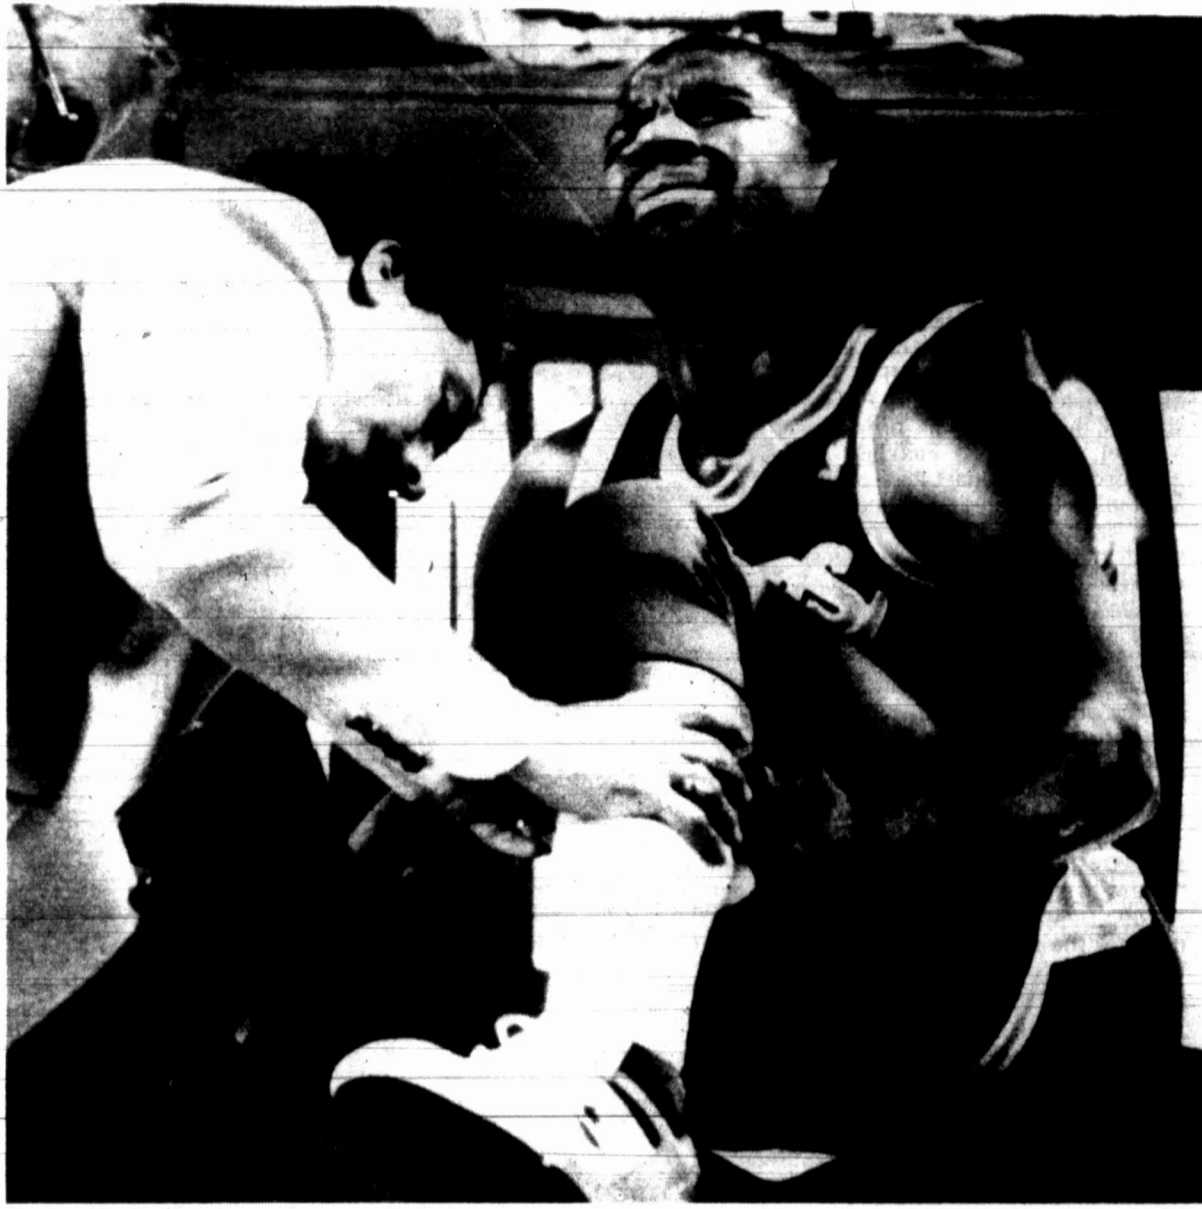

The victory was only the third in 11 games for Phoenix interim Coach Dick Van Arsdale, who took over for the fired John MacLeod on Feb. 26.

Riley said the loss of Johnson may have been a factor in the outcome.

"There's always a shock when one of your great ones goes down, and you could feel it on the bench," he said. "Magic got kicked in the back of the calf and we'll have to wait and see, but he should be okay. It's the same thing as a charley horse."

Hawks 96, Bulls 87

Dominique Wilkins took six stitches above the left eye when he caught a stray elbow in the first quarter, but came back to score 31 points as Atlanta moved one game ahead of idle Detroit in the Central Division.

Los Angeles Lakers' guard Magic Johnson injured his left calf muscle after a collision during first quarter action of the Lakers loss to the Phoenix Suns. The extent of Johnson's injury is not known.

"I'm getting used to it," said Wilkins, the NBA's third leading scorer. "It's my third time getting stitches this year. It didn't bother me a whole lot."

Kevin Willis had 22 points for the Hawks. Jay Vincent led Washington with 22.

Bulls 93, 76ers 91

Jordan scored 56 points and sparked a 12-point burst in the fourth quarter. Jordan tied the game 71-71 with 9:50 left, then stole the ball and scored on a slam dunk 27 seconds later. After a three-point play by Gene Banks, Jordan added a free throw and two more baskets to give the Bulls an 81-71 lead with 5:14 left.

Celtics 111, Cavaliers 88

Kevin McHale had all his 22 points and Bird had all but two of his 32 in the first three quarters as the Celtics built a 20-point lead and substituted freely in the final period.

Mavericks 119, Nets 107

Aguirre scored 18 points in the first quarter and 17 in the fourth period when Dallas came from behind for its sixth straight victory. New Jersey, which led by nine points in the third period, was ahead 88-84 early in the final quarter. Then Aguirre took over, scoring all of Dallas' points in a 13-4 spurt that put the Mavericks in front for good.

The spurt put Dallas in control and the Mavericks went on to their 14th victory in the last 18 games. They lead second-place Utah by 7½ games in the Midwest Division. Orlando Woolridge led the Nets with 29 points.

"I've worked hard to gain the respect and confidence of my teammates," Aguirre said. "I kind of tarnished that respect the other night."

Bucks 135, Knicks 96

Craig Hodges scored 27 points and Milwaukee opened a 44-30 first-period lead in snapping a three-game losing streak. Ricky Pierce added 24 points for Milwaukee. Trent Tucker scored 19 for the Knicks, who lost for the seventh time in the past eight games. New York played without three injured 7-footers — Patrick Ewing, Bill Cartwright and Jawann Oldham.

Spurs 103, Rockets 97

Artis Gilmore scored 24 points as San Antonio avenged a string of five straight losses to Houston. The Spurs had four other players in double figures — Walter Berry with 22, Jon Sundvold 18 and Johnny Moore 17 while David Greenwood had 14 points, 10 assists and 15 rebounds. Houston was led by Akeem Olatunju with 22 points.

Nuggets 128, Clippers 119

Alex English scored 34 points and Lafayette Lever added 28 as Denver handed the Clippers their 11th consecutive road loss and 31st in 34 games away from home. By winning, Denver remained 3½ games ahead of San Antonio in the race for the eighth and final playoff berth in the Western Conference.

Kings 128, Trail Blazers 116

Reggie Theus scored 11 of his 23 points in the final eight minutes, as the Kings outscored Portland 18-4 during a four-minute stretch that gave them a 118-101 lead with 4:16 left.

Bruno pounds Tillis; awaits dubious reward

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — Of the 3,000 spectators who witnessed Frank Bruno's impressive comeback victory over James "Quick" Tillis, only one mattered.

As Bruno punched Tillis into submission and stopped him in the fifth round on Tuesday, heavyweight champion Mike Tyson watched from ringside at the Wembley Arena analyzing the fight for television.

It was billed as Bruno's ticket to a fight with Tyson, the 20-year-old World Boxing Council and World Boxing Association champion.

British promoters promised Bruno that, if he performed well against Tillis, he would be pitched into a $16 million fight with Tyson at Wembley Stadium in July or September.

After Bruno's 29th victory in 31 fights, Tyson was left to ponder the fact that the 25-year-old Briton had taken five rounds to finish off an opponent who took Tyson to the 10-round limit.

Tyson always has maintained that when he outpointed Tillis last May, he was recovering from an operation to cure an ear infection and was nowhere near his best shape.

He said, however, that Bruno "did a tremendous job and I'm looking forward to meeting him in the ring."

Tyson's co-manager, Bill Cayton, said: "I have never seen anyone destroy Tillis like this. Bruno was brilliant and remember, Tillis gave Mike his hardest fight."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAR. 26, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: One of the best days you could have to put into motion a new inspiration that is unique and original and which involves persons who are quite extraordinary.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Some ideas you have may seem odd, but later you realize that they are dynamic and can bring you the right results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be more enthused when dealing with the public and you can get your points across more successfully.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Any communications, either written or oral, are the best means through which you can get your new plans across.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Use more advanced systems that can help you to produce more during the daytime.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Plan a new course during the day with an associate. Take time to do some civic duty and gain more prestige.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can gain all the data you need now that will help you in furthering your ambitious activities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make romantic and recreational arrangements for the evening. Work on ideas that are lucrative.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are highly enthused at home with your kin and can get much done. Have guests in and enjoy amusements.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find the right words in any communications with others. Be sure to dress nicely today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan on making new additions to your home. Your education in finances can be most helpful to you now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are cheery and can help others to come out of any depression. Get into new outlets with the one you love.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have privately been thinking along modern lines and can use such ideas in a profitable way now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he, or she, will be quite dramatic in actions, but don't try to change your progeny since the best success can come from this very difference. Do teach your New Age progeny to value the conventional things in life. Give as many courses as possible in school.

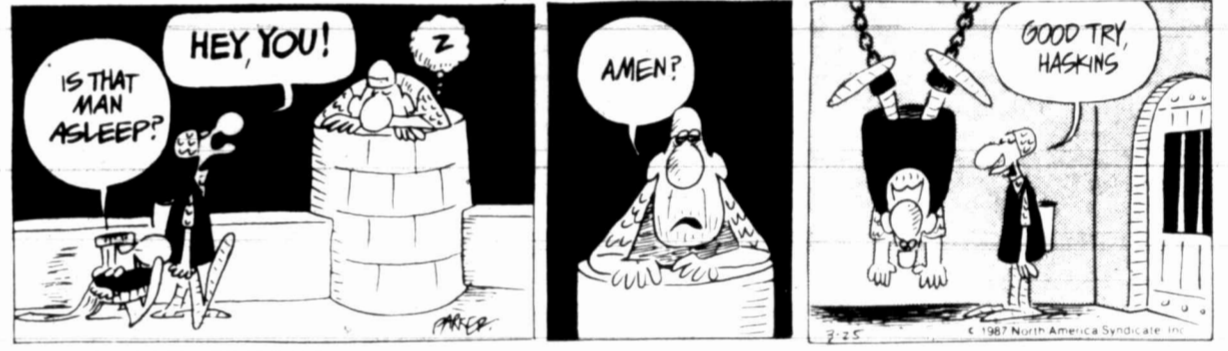

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Lottery foes square off in Austin

Herrington says oil fee won't work

HOUSTON — An oil import fee may boost domestic production and create needed jobs in the energy states, but it would hurt the overall economy too much and could not be sold to Congress, Energy Secretary John Herrington says.

Although such a fee is seen by many energy executives as the ticket out of the oil industry's depression, but Herrington said Tuesday that there would be economic trouble elsewhere.

"It offers potentially appealing benefits at first glance," Herrington told the Houston chapters of the American Petroleum Institute and International Association of Drilling Contractors.

"An oil import fee increases U.S. production. A $10 oil import fee will increase domestic oil production 1 million barrels a day. It will create in the energy states 120,000 to 150,000 jobs. Both those things are extremely positive because they target exactly what we need to target."

Herrington added, however, that it would cost over five years $32 billion annually in reduced gross national product and a loss of 400,000 jobs in other sectors of the economy.

"Those facts alone make it very difficult to put together a proposal in this area that will get through Congress," Herrington said. "It does not make sense to wreck the GNP. I'm looking at costs and benefits and it doesn't make economic sense to me."

An import fee, he said, would prompt calls for exemptions for countries such as Canada and Mexico, for high-use fuel oil consumers and for farmers.

"By a reasonable calculation, it is conceivable that an oil import fee will apply only to Libya," he added.

Other tax and financial incentives make better sense to encourage exploration and do not have the negative overall effects, Herrington said.

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN — Both camps in the legislative lottery battle are counting heads in the House and expressing confidence they will prevail.

"We are very close. I'd say real close," lottery bill sponsor Rep. Ron Wilson said Tuesday of his efforts to gather the 100 House votes needed to approve his measure.

But Rep. David Hudson, who opposes the lottery as "anti-work ethic," said his count "indicates we have a solid 70 votes in opposition to a lottery. There are probably another 15 or so that are soft that will probably be on our side."

There are 150 House members, and it takes a two-thirds vote to approve a proposed constitutional amendment, such as the lottery measure. Legislative approval would send the proposal to the November general election ballot for voter review.

The Senate, which approved a lottery measure last year, is expected to do the same this year. The House, which has resisted the lottery, will be the battleground.

Pro- and anti-lottery lawmakers held news conferences Tuesday in the Capitol to push their positions.

"A state lottery is obviously a part of the answer to balancing the budget and financing vital state services," said Sen. Hector Uribe, D-Brownsville, sponsor of a lottery measure.

But at a later news conference, Hudson, D-Tyler, said, "The lottery is a dead skunk in the middle of the road. It's not going anywhere and the longer it lays there, the worse it stinks."

Among the key issues will be whether to dedicate the lottery proceeds for a specific purpose, such as prison construction. Uribe and Wilson said they generally oppose dedicating state funds, but indicated they might be willing to bend if it would help passage of the lottery measure.

Speaker Gib Lewis, who supports the lottery, knows where he wants the money to go. "My attitude is if that can be done and that's an avenue we can follow as far as funding prison construction to keep the people in prison that need to be kept in prison, I'm all for it," Lewis said.

But Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said dedicating funds "doesn't really accomplish anything."

Gov. Bill Clements said Tuesday he has been told dedicating the lottery proceeds for prisons could help the measure get through the Legislature.

"It needs to be put on the ballot and let the people of Texas vote on it," Clements said.

Bottling plant closing hits town

MONAHANS — J. Conrad Dunagan says he watched his life's work evaporate with the closing of the local Coca-Cola bottling plant, the latest hard knock this West Texas community has suffered in the continuing oil industry slump.

"You can't help but be sad about something you ran for 36 years," said Dunagan, 72, who became the plant's manager in 1933 and later became chairman of the company's board.

Southwestern Coca-Cola, new owner of the bottling plant, laid off 24 employees Friday when it closed down Monahans' Coca-Cola production. Officials said the plant duplicated their operations elsewhere.

The closing "will be hurtful" to Monahans, Dunagan said, "but it won't mean as much as some of the oilfield service layoffs."

Some of the community's residents who worked in the surrounding oilfields were laid off earlier as the price of oil plummeted. Monahans, with a population of about 8,400, is about 30 miles southwest of Odessa.

Schools recruit spring breakers

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND — The need for teachers is so strong in this fast-growing area that even highway billboards have been recruited to get the message across.

"Love the beach, live and teach," proclaims a highway billboard that urges spring-breakers drawn here by the beach to stay and teach in a school district scrambling to fill 200 positions by fall.

The Brownsville Independent School District is growing so fast it needs a new school a year, and 1,500 new students are expected to push enrollment to near 36,000 this fall, says Oscar Barbour, assistant superintendent for personnel.

The city's growth, coupled with a teacher shortage in Texas, makes it hard for Barbour and his sole assistant to find enough teachers locally or even within the state.

So the school district is trying to tap a pool of as many as 200,000 college students expected to flood the beaches of South Padre Island this month. The "Love the beach, live and teach," billboard, on the highway between Port Isabel and Brownsville, is just one tactic.

The school district also bought radio time and newspaper advertisements, and has placed brochures in businesses frequented by students.

"If I can get 15 I'd be really happy, 15 or 20, every little bit helps," Barbour said.

The BSID began recruiting students on spring break last year and received more than 50 responses, Barbour said. A few were hired.

MALDEF: New laws may hurt aliens

SAN ANTONIO — Information aliens provide when applying for amnesty could be used by the government to deport those who are rejected, Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund officials say.

But the local immigration chief said such comments are an example of the "bad mouthing" directed at the Immigration and Naturalization Service by Hispanic civil rights organizations.

"That's a bunch of baloney," INS District Director Richard Casillas said Tuesday of the concerns expressed by MALDEF.

He charged that MALDEF and the League of United Latin American Citizens are to blame for much false information being circulated in the Hispanic community.

"If those lawyers over at MALDEF read the law, they wouldn't be making such asinine comments," Casillas said. He said that under the law, amnesty applications are confidential and cannot be used to identify and deport aliens who do not qualify for amnesty.

But MALDEF state policy analyst Elsa Nava said the law is unclear.

"We are telling people to go first to churches offering help or immigration attorneys to know if they qualify," she said. "If they go directly to the INS, we are not sure if those people will be deported."

Ms. Nava added that aliens seeking amnesty will be required to tell the INS where they live. "We are telling people to stay away from the INS until we know for sure."

About 30,000 aliens living in the San Antonio area are expected to seek amnesty under the Immigration Reform Act that was signed into law by President Reagan last year.

Judge says youth to be tried as adult

HOUSTON — A judge has granted prosecutors' request that a 15-year-old boy accused of fatally shooting his parents be tried as an adult.

State District Judge Robert Baum returned the ruling Tuesday in the case of Richard Joseph "Ricky" Vitek despite pleas for mercy from members of the boy's family.

Edward and Judy Vitek, the youth's adoptive parents, were found dead Jan. 8 in their north-west Harris County home. They had been shot with a .22-caliber Magnum rifle, authorities said.

The youth has denied he was responsible for killing them. Harris County Sheriff's Detective Ed Kroschell said the boy told investigators he found his parents' bodies and then threw a rifle his parents had given him for Christmas into a pond.

Baum certified the youth to stand trial as an adult on both murder and capital murder charges, but officials said it will be up to a Harris County grand jury to decide what, if any, charges will be filed against him.

Defense attorney Bob Scott argued against the boy being tried as an adult. He said the youth does not belong in the adult system.

Tricky maneuver aids Hawks' split

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer
The Howard College baseball Hawks combined strong pitching and timely hitting to defeat McClennan C.C. 12-2 in the first game of a double-header at Jack Barber Field Saturday.

McClennan came back to win the nightcap 5-2.
With the split, Howard took the weekend series two games to one and climbed to within one game of conference-leading McClennan in the standings.

FIRST GAME
Howard 12, MCC 2
The Hawks Murderer's Row combination of Randy Deal and Juan Rodriguez had an off day Saturday, but Howard prevailed behind the pitching combo of Mark Hutchinson and Ted Hebert, with not a little help from McClennan errors.

Hutchinson and Hebert held the Highlanders to just two runs on five hits, while the Hawks took advantage of eight McClennan errors in cruising to the easy win.

Hawks' head coach Bill Griffin even used a little bit of subterfuge in this game.

Coach Griffin had noticed Friday that two MCC players carefully watched Howard starter Howard Landry go through his warm-ups.

After taking stock of Landry's pitching inventory, the Highlander players relayed this information to their teammates.

To prevent a re-occurrence of this, Griffin hid starter Hutchinson behind a maintenance building, while another pitcher warmed up in full view of the Highlanders.

Whether or not this helped confuse MCC is debatable, but the Highlanders were definitely error-prone from start to finish in the first game.

McClennan's charity began in the first inning. Ernesto Castro walked to open the Hawk's half of the inning, then Jeff Shults hit a looping fly ball that MCC left fielder David Degelia misplayed for a two-base error.

With runners on second and third, Chad Baker hit a deep fly to right field that was dropped by Highlander Tony Baldwin. Castro and Shults scored on the play, and the rout was on.

After scoring twice more in the second, Howard struck for four runs in each of the last two innings.

In the fifth, with Shults and Baker on base, Rodriguez punched a single into left field for one run. Joel Chimelis then stepped up and rapped a one-bagger to center, scoring Baker.

Hawks' third baseman Frank Medina followed with a ground-rule double to right field that scored Rodriguez. After Thad Weber walked, MCC reliever Mike Essex gave up a bases-loaded walk to Castro, forcing in Chimelis.

In the sixth inning, Baker and Deal both reached base on errors. Rodriguez brought Baker home with a single to left. Medina, Joey Camarillo, and Weber all reached base on errors, with Deal and Rodriguez scoring in the process.

Castro then ended the game with an RBI single to center, scoring Camarillo. The ten-run rule was then put into effect, and the game was called.

Howard starter Hutchinson picked up the win to increase his record to 4-1. Downey took the loss for MCC.

SECOND GAME
MCC 5, Howard 2

Highlander pitcher Downey redeemed himself in the nightcap, throwing two and two-third innings of no-hit ball in relief to pick up the win.

Ernesto Castro, whose record is now 2-3, suffered the loss for Howard.

The wheels came off for the Hawks in the fifth inning. Leading 2-1, Castro gave up a single to MCC left fielder Baldwin, then followed that by hitting Pat Listach, putting two runners on with none out. Two wild pitches later found the Highlander runners on second and third.

MCC center fielder Ricky Candelari scored Baldwin on a sacrifice fly, and David Degalia sacrificed Listach home as well.

McClennan scored two more runs in the sixth to seal the victory. With the win, McClennan raised its region mark to 7-2, with the Hawks one game back at 6-3.

Howard's next game is Tuesday against Lubbock Christian College at Lubbock. Game time is 12:30 p.m.

Fish joins eye surgeon college

Dr. John R. Fish, 207 E. Seventh St., has been accepted as a charter member of the American College of Eye Surgeons.

The national professional organization's primary objective is to promote high quality standards in eye surgery services, he said.

The college will serve as a training ground for ophthalmic surgeons who will seek certification by the American Board of Eye Surgeons, he said.

He has been in practice at that address 11 years.

Mullins becomes bank chief

Ron Mullins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Mullins of Big Spring, has been elected chief executive officer of MBank Abilene.

Mullins began work at the bank nine years ago as a drive-in teller. He was elected senior vice president in the loan area November 1984; executive vice president and board of directors member March 1986; and bank president September 1986.

He graduated from Abilene

Christian University with a degree in banking and finance.

He serves on the board of directors of the YMCA, Humana Hospital-Abilene, and the Abilene Industrial Development Authority. He is president of the Abilene Clearing House Association and a member of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

He and his wife are parents of two daughters, Courtney, 4, and Meagan, 2.

VA number to be listed

The Veterans Administration Medical Center will have its telephone number listed in the directories of 23 West Texas cities within its service area, Director Conrad Alexander announced.

Listing the number in the area's larger cities will make it more convenient for veterans to contact VA when they need medical attention, he said.

The Big Spring VA center serves 121,000 veterans in 53 West Texas counties and one county in New Mexico, Alexander said.

Help is waiting for your child March 15-21 at a special Dyslexia Screening Clinic.

Dyslexia. It's a word most people don't understand. But, if your child is one of the millions who suffer from dyslexia, you understand the pain and frustration this disability can cause.

You know your child isn't lazy...stupid...or disobedient, as many have said. Although the strict definition of dyslexia is "a disturbance of the ability to read," you realize that it affects every aspect of your child's life.

Aside from difficulty with reading and composition, your child shies away from sports involving eye/hand coordination. He has trouble following directions and is often clumsy and insecure. These are just a few of the symptoms that can make the life of a dyslexic child confusing and miserable.

Now, a special Dyslexia Screening Clinic, affiliated with Dyslexia Centers of America, offers you and your child hope for a normal life.

Sponsored by Boyd Chiropractic Clinics of Midland who have served the health care needs of the area for over 40 years, the clinic will feature the world's foremost chiropractic experts in the treatment of dyslexia.

During the Clinic, Dr. Boyd will instruct other professionals in his treatment methods which involve no drugs or anesthesia. The treatment, which centers around adjustments of the spinal and cranial structures, along with kinesiological and muscular balancing has brought about a marked improvement in a majority of cases.

Call 684-5436 to schedule an appointment for your child's free screening and examination. The initial meeting determines whether your child will benefit from the procedure. If your child is diagnosed as receptive to future care, a reasonable fee may be discussed to cover all aspects of possible correction. We will be happy to discuss your insurance coverage.

For convenience and accessibility, the Clinic will be held at the Holiday Inn Country Villa, 4300 W. Highway 80 in Midland.

Appointments may be scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This is the practice of chiropractic and is not the practice of medicine.

HOTLINE
(915) 684-5436

A doctor of chiropractic will be available to answer any questions you may have regarding the Clinic or the dyslexia treatment.

Luske-Ellerbe

Sonia Marcel Lusk and Mark Elam Ellerbe, both of Midland, will exchange wedding vows on March 21 at the home of the bride's parents with John Hamilton, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lusk of Big Spring. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Ellerbe of Santa Anna.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with salmon geraniums, asparagus fern, roses and candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory tea-length silk dress with a lace collar and pearls. She wore a ring worn by her mother, grandmother and great-grandmother and a sapphire lavaliere that belonged to her paternal great-grandmother.

Maid of honor was Eileen Scott of Houston. Best man was Terry Lowrey of Snyder.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at the home of the bride's parents. A two tiered amaretto white chocolate cake was featured with fresh pink rose buds and baby's breath. The table was draped with a damask cloth featured with a silver rim punch bowl with a silver candelabra with roses.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Texas Tech. She is a geologist at Mobil.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Wisner High School in Wisner, La. and Louisiana Tech. He is an engineer at Mobil.

After a wedding trip to San Francisco, the couple will make their home in Midland.

Local police officers receive promotions

The Big Spring Police Department announced the promotion and transfer of three officers.

Officer Mike Pearson is promoted to the rank of sergeant, while Sergeant Pam Jordan and Officer Roger Sweatt are transferred to Criminal Investigations. They attained their promotions through competitive testing and oral interviews March 17. The promotions are effective Sunday.

MIKE PEARSON

Pearson, 45, has been with the department 2 1/2 years, and has 14 years of law enforcement experience, including prior employment with the Big Spring Police Department. He also has worked as a sales representative for Fiber Glass Systems.

Pearson has a wife, Dawne, and four children: Nicole, Suzy, Cindy and Michelle.

His new assignment will be with the patrol division.

Roger Sweatt, 29, has been involved in law enforcement 7 1/2 years, including a year with the

ROGER SWEATT

Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission. He was previously a radio announcer.

His new assignment is as patrol officer of criminal investigations.

Vulcan Nimoy addresses West Texans

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

No one imagined 20 years ago that a longshot pilot television show called "Star Trek" would become one of the most popular science fiction series made, Leonard Nimoy said.

Nimoy, the pointy eared, alien Spock in the series, spoke to a crowd of hundreds at Odessa College Thursday night.

One result of the show's unexpected popularity is a new program. This year, Star Trek's 20th anniversary, "Star Trek: the Next Generation," is being planned, he said. It is to be set roughly 100 years after Captain James T. Kirk's five-year Enterprise voyage.

Gene Roddenberry, original Star Trek creator, is to direct the show, Nimoy said, and will write 13 entirely new episodes.

In addition, William Shatner will direct a fifth Star Trek movie, he said. Shatner, who plays Captain Kirk, is looking for a writer to develop his story idea for the movie, Nimoy said.

Nimoy's "love affair" with the series and character he plays began in 1965 when he was chosen for the part, he said.

"What Gene (Roddenberry) needed was a constant reminder that this was a mixed crew, not only humans," he said. So Spock was developed as an obviously non-human character, with pointed ears, green blood and a non-emotional demeanor.

And Nimoy began to hear the first of numerous pointy eared jokes. The most common, he said, is simply "What happened to your pointed ears?" To that, he says he often replies "I sent them out to be sharpened."

He also described his development of the "live, long and prosper," Vulcan greeting that features the palm of the hand facing the viewer with fingers spread to form a V.

The gesture was used by leaders during an Orthodox Jewish prayer when Nimoy was a youngster, he said. Worshippers weren't supposed to look, but out of curiosity — he peeked. "It was magic," he jokingly said.

When "Star Trek" was launched by NBC in 1965, "I really felt the show was going to be about something," he said. "The stories could touch you in the heart, touch you in the mind."

Episodes dealt with questions of ecology, overpopulation and other topics that people are concerned about, he said. When the show gained popularity, however, Nimoy "had no idea what would happen in time. I was totally naive."

For example, he said, his telephone number was still listed in the local directory. Nimoy began to get phone calls from people who would respond — "I got him! I got Spock on the phone!"

Although audiences were enthusiastic, the press' reaction was shaky at first, he said.

"We were perceived as a kiddie show," he commented, adding that ratings never were extraordinary.

Reaction was unprecedented when the show's cancellation was announced after the second season.

Leonard Nimoy, right, portrays Spock in "Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan," with Captain James T. Kirk, portrayed by William Shatner. Nimoy spoke about Star Trek's development and popularity Thursday night to a crowd of hundreds at Odessa College.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Jack & Mattie's now open til 9 p.m.

There's good news at Jack & Mattie's Cafe.

For one thing the popular dining spot is now open for dinner because of popular demand.

And for another thing, they're still serving at 1982 prices!

Of course, the food is still the same good old fashioned home cooking, with everything cooked to order. And anything on the menu can be ordered to go.

They start serving breakfast at 6 a.m., including homemade buttermilk biscuits, giant homemade cinnamon rolls, eggs with choice of meat, hash browns and gravy.

The daily luncheon includes soup, salad, homemade rolls, vegetables, choice of as many as six entrees, drink and dessert.

At dinner, choose fried chicken, chicken fried steak or breaded veal cutlets with baked potato and salad. Or old fashioned Mexican food. Dinner is served until 9 p.m.

Jack has been in the cafe business since 1946. He started out at the old Crawford Hotel Coffee Shop in Colorado City. Mattie began her restaurant career hopping cars at the Dixie Pig Stand in Abilene in 1949. They both have been in this business "most of our lives," Mattie says.

The pair met and married in Abilene while they both worked for Casey's Drive Ins.

Jack was working for Associated Foods in Abilene in 1960 when he was transferred to Big Spring. He later took a job with the old 66 Truck Stop and at the Holiday Inn as chef. During this time Mattie was working at the Golden Nuggett from 1962-68.

Together the Taylors put their culinary arts to work at the popular Permian Building Snack Bar from 1973 until 1981.

In November of 1981 the Taylors opened Jack & Mattie's Cafe at 901 West Third Street — and their prices haven't changed any since they opened.

The location and the menu and the homey atmosphere have caught on.
