BAYTOWN (AP) - Candy Crawford had lived with a premonition for more than a year that something terrible had happened to her twin sister, who disappeared in November 1985 with a friend.

On Friday, Crawford's worst fears became reality. Skeletal remains that authorities believe are those of Crawford's sister, Sandra Ruth Terrell, and Debra Elizabeth Merritt, both of Baytown, were discovered in a rice field in Chambers County by farm workers.

Chambers County Sheriff Chuck Morris said the remains are believed to be those of the two women because of personal belongings found at the scenes.

The remains were found intermingled amid bits of clothing and pieces of jewelry, including a Seiko watch Crawford said could have belonged to her sister.

Morris said he could not say if the women died at the site but added "I think they very possibly died in each other's presence."

The victims, each the mother of two children, were last seen Nov. 15, 1985 after telling family members they were going to California.

By Associated Press Child, animal show axed

METAIRIE, La. - Plans for a fashion show featuring children up for adoption as well as dogs and cats needing homes were scrapped after state officials said the idea was tasteless

"Our children are not animals," said Gwen Bach-Stewart, spokeswoman for the state Department of Health and Human Resources, which has custody of the children.

The Easter fashion show, planned for Saturday at a shopping mall in Metairie, was canceled. Children available for adoption have taken part in the show for the past five years, but it was to be the first time that homeless pets from an animal shelter were to be included.

Seven children, ranging in age from 4 to 13, were to have carried the animals or walked them on leashes in a parade through the mall.

"The department believes that the combination of the children with homeless animals in a public display, despite the best of motives, is not in the best interest of the children," said DHHR Secretary Sandra Robinson.

Fire prompts evacuation

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - A fire in a hotel basement sent heavy smoke through the 28-story building and forced the evacuation of hundreds of guests and employees.

No one was injured in the Friday evening blaze at the Americana Kansas CIty Hotel, authorities said.

Hundreds of guests in the 490-room hotel and about 40 employees were evacuated and taken to nearby Bartle Hall, said general manager Bill Bennett.

The fire started in a basement control room that housed equipment for the hotel's telephone and reservation system, said Fire Department spokesman Harold Knabe. Improper use of an extension cord was the apparent cause of the fire, he said.

The hotel staff made arrangements for the guests with other hotels. People were allowed back into the hotel for their belongings.

Effect of gamma rays...

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hawaiian papaya growers, beset by a fruit fly infestation that could cut off sales in other states, this weekend are testing consumer attitudes toward buying fruit that has been zapped with pest-killing gamma rays.

The growers have organized a test sale of 600 pounds of irradiated papayas at one or two Los Angeles-area stores in an effort to see if consumers are willing to buy the fruit.

It is only the second time that irradiated fruit will be sold commercially in the United States. Irradiated mangoes were sold in Florida last September.

Opponents argue that irradiation using such materials as cesium 137 poses an environmental risk during both transportation and use. and question the health effects of eating treated fruit

Lebanese and Syrian soldiers inspecting the blast scene in Moslem west Beirut where a car bomb exploded early Saturday, killing seven and wounding 12. It was the first car bombing in the capital's Moslem sector since Syria's 7,500 law enforcement soldiers and 100 tanks deployed in the city Feb. 22.

Car bomb Seven killed in Beirut

By MOHAMMED SALAM

AssociatedPress Writer BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - A car bomb explosion on a seaside boulevard killed seven people Saturday and wounded 12, most of them strollers who stopped at beachfront stands to sip coffee, police said.

The 8:20 a.m. blast on Ramlet al-Baida thoroughfare, the city's "Lovers' Lane," was the first fatal car bombing in Moslem west Beirut since 7,500 Syrian troops fanned out in the sector to keep order on Feb. 22.

Among those killed were a Lebanese army soldier and his fiancee, who were in a Renault automobile parked next to the BMW sedan which police said was packed with an estimated 165 pounds of explosives.

There was no claim of responsibility for the attack. Nor has there been in 14 earlier bombings after the Syrians moved to end fierce combat among rival militias.

The car bombing was the first since the Syrian intervention

Two small bombs also exploded at garbage dumps in west Beirut's Sanayeh district before dawn Saturday, breaking windows but hurting no one.

The car bombing set seven other cars afire, hurled the BMW about 10 yards and left a 15-foot-wide hole in the road, police said.

It broke windows throughout Ramlet al-Baida district. The command headquarters of Syrian forces in Beirut is three blocks from the blast site. Ambulances evacuated the casualties to American University Hospital.

Helmeted Syrian soldiers of the elite Special Forces sealed off the site, set up checkpoints throughout west Beirut and frisked drivers and pedestrians. The car bombing was the sixth in Lebanon this year and came two days after Syrian soldiers killed three unidentified gunmen near a Beirut checkpoint.

According to police, 34 people have been killed and 188 wounded in this year's car bombings. Twenty-three bombings, including 12 car bombings, were reported in Lebanon last year. They killed 178 people and wounded 1.058.

The Syrian military intervention in west Beirut was requested by the nation's five senior Moslem leaders to end a week of factional clashes that killed 300 people and wounded 1,300.

The deployment ended a three-year reign of militias in the capital's Moslem sector during which kidnappings, holdups and bank robberies were daily events.

The Syrians closed all 75 militia offices in west Beirut, killing 41 defiant gunmen in the process. The troops also confiscated more than 60 arms caches and closed down illegal gambling dens.

A Lebanese security official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the Syrians have arrested about 250 thieves and recovered more than 50 stolen automobiles and at least 100 apartments occupied by militia squatters

"All the cars and apartments have been turned over to their legal owners," the official said.

Price hikes are decried

WARSAW, Poland - The government announced on Saturday sweeping price hikes ranging from about 10 to 100 percent for most basic foodstuffs, energy and gasoline, cigarettes and alcohol, and transportation and postal services.

The increases will begin going into effect today.

Lech Walesa leader, a founder and former leader of Solidarity, said the outlawed labor movement was "ready and prepared to take up action" to resist the price increases "in line with the general decision of workers."

"This time the working world should not agree to these price hikes," Walesa said in a statement read over the telephone from his Gdansk apartment. "They (the Communist authorities) do not have a program of getting out of the (economic) crisis.'

"Only a decided stand by workers ... may guarantee that the state enters the road in the direction of reforms."

Walesa said the only way the authorities could effectively reform the economy was by restoring trade union freedoms and other rights won by workers in the August 1980 protests that led to Solidarity's birth. Solidarity was outlawed under martial law in 1982.

Design led to collapse

SINGAPORE - A government-appointed inquiry commission reported on Saturday that a hotel building which collapsed a year ago, killing 33 people, was poorly designed, built and maintained.

The six-story Hotel New World was built in 1971 and included stores, a bank and nightclub.

"The root and main cause of the collapse lies in the structural design of the building. The quality of the construction of the building was very unsatisfactory. The construction was carried out in a very haphazard and unsatisfactory manner with virtually no professional supervision," the 115-page report said. It recommended new laws to control design and construction.

Talks provide agreement

BONN, West Germany - West Germany and the Soviet Union have agreed to cooperate in protecting the environment, the Environment Ministry said Saturday.

A ministry statement said a formal accord, the first of its kind between the two countries, is expected to be signed shortly and will initially cover the period from 1987 to 1989.

The agreement came after four days of talks in Bonn

It provides for cooperation in controlling air, water and soil pollution, and seeks to prevent accidents with serious consequences for the environment.

The statement gave no details and did not mention nuclear energy.

West Germany was among the countries most affected by radioactive fallout from last year's Soviet nuclear disaster at Chernobyl.

Cleaning effort one right move

The Adopt-a-Highway program is making an impression on the face of Big Spring.

Driving the first eight miles of Highway 87 immediately south of the city and four miles north is a pleasure these days, as a result of the effort of six groups that have each accepted responsibility for keeping two miles of highway free of litter.

Within the community, three other groups each have adopted two-mile sections and contributed their time to maintaining cleanliness and reducing litter.

The task is far from complete, however.

A surprising number of citizens throughout the city are guilty of neglecting a basic responsibility of property ownership: maintaining cleanliness. The general appearance is one that tends to detract from the image of Big Spring.

Although many residents exhibit their pride by properly caring for their property, visitors to this community are likely to return to their homes with a negative image as a result of Big Spring's overall appearance.

The lead has been established by the nine organizations in this community to achieve and maintain a cleaner, more attractive city in which to live and enjoy. Now, others need to examine their own corner of the world and determine whether they can't improve the conditions and the image of Big Spring at the same time.

It is a cumbersome job only if a few individuals were foreed to handle the entire matter themselves. If we each do our share, the task can be handled promptly, properly and without a great burden.

There is pride in this community — we simply need to make it more visible, to fellow residents as well as to passersby.

unnecessary ups. downs. outs and offs. We rape it by not using more appropriate and explicit words instead.

Unfortunately, I must point my finger at members of my own field the media – for being among the instigators and causes of this language assault.

Our ears and minds are attacked by an almost endless barrage of 'upskis'' and ''downskis.'' Broadcasters and print media often use them as part of their efforts to put pizazz into their reporting. With such bombardment, it's no wonder so many of us have picked up the affliction.

Notice the inadvertent use of "picked up" in the last sentence. You see, I did it myself. That's upmanship.

I should have written: "... it's no wonder so many of us have acquired the affliction.

Acquired is a much more explicit word than the generic "picked up" two words that are overworked, abused and trite.

In most cases, when we use an upski or downski term, we either should omit the "up" or "down," or use another word entirely.

One that I bristle at most fresimply say coming?

I can't remember how many times I've heard "upcoming next" on television. Doesn't "coming next" mean it's going to arrive just as soon?

I can recite many more examples.

For instance, when we "tighten up" or "tie down" something, is it any tighter than when we just tighten or tie it?

Can't we just clean, clear, slow, shut, close or pour rather than clean up, clear up, slow down, shut up, close down or pour out?

Instead of "giving up," can't we be more specific and relinquish, surrender or sacrifice? Can we not begin, start or initiate something rather than "start up" or "take up" knitting, tennis, hiking, or whatever?

Why should we destroy the beauty, the dynamics and specificity of our language? In most cases our language offers a more precise word than the upmanship versions. Perhaps we should draft a letter rather than than "write up" or "draw up" one. Moreover, wouldn't you prefer to direct or supervise, rather than "head up" the committee?

Embassy planners suspect hiring of spy

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR WASHINGTON - Call it "The Mystery of the Missing Engineer." Congressional investigators have been trying, without much success. to find out exactly what happened to Herman Silber, a Soviet emigre who worked in this country on plans for the new American Embassy in Moscow, then returned to the Soviet Union and apparently died ther.e

The trouble-plagued Moscow embassy building is already six years behind schedule, and cost overruns have topped $100 millon. Construction was abruptly halted in August 1985, after American inspectors uncovered numerous electronic "bugs" implanted in the structural concrete.

Since then, leaks in the roof and other defects have raised the possibility that the building will have to be started over from scratch.

The discovery of the KGB bugs led to an obvious question: Was Herman Silber a "mole" recruited by the Soviet secret police to pass along construction details that would compromise the security of the Moscow embassy? Here's what our associate Lucette Lagnado has been able to learn about the mysterious engineer:

In 1975, the chosen design firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill hired Silber, an American citizen who had emigrated from the Soviet Union, to work as a structural engineer on the embassy building. State Department officials told congressional investigators it is 'standard practice" on overseas building projects to hire people

Instead, let's make it:

As a coming event, I plan to clean the garage and tune the lawnmower. That will complete my chores.

But then just tuning the lawnmower doesn't sound quite right, does it? Is a compromise necessary?

Tow monopoly alleged

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A longtime feud among tow truck operators sparked a lawsuit, alleging the city's exclusive contract with one towing company is forcing other operators out of business

In protest, about 70 San Antonio Wrecker Association members formed a mile-long procession leading to the federal courthouse, where their attorneys filed the suit, association secretary Billie Baker said.

The suit seeks an injunction and $1 million in damages from both the city and its licensee, City Towing Associates Inc.

But Mayor Henry Cisneros said the current system beats the old one, where wreckers literally fought over a car.

'We are not going to go back to the old days of fights in the streets, and people being abused," he said. "It (the current system) makes more sense than the haphazard system that existed before."

However, wrecker drivers disagree.

"We just can't make a living anymore," said tow truck owner Rodney Peach. "They have a monopoly on the wrecker business."

In the 16-page petition, the association claims the city "for many years, has granted an actual monopoly ... to one private corporation over the ways and streets of San Antonio.

The suit, filed on behalf of 57 wrecker service and body shop businesses, also claims that on more than one occasion, "the exclusive contract was not put up for bid, but rather arbitrarily extended for five years."

City Towing is charged with violating antitrust laws by using their status to engage in a "sham" where other companies and businesses were required to use City Towing, the suit alleges.

Acting City Attorney Tom Finlay said he could not comment until he has seen the suit. City Towing General Manager Marty Cook denied the charges.

'They're just upset because we have the contract," Cook said. "That's all it boils down

Under the contract with the city, City Towing is entitled to pick up all disabled or abandoned cars, said Cook.

"If it's on a city street and it's a city accident, we pick them up," Cook said. "That's the way the contract reads."

Austin, Dallas and Houston rotate tow truck companies, so work is spread evenly, said attorney James Champion, who is representing the tow truck operators.

Water hearing resumes

LA CRUCES (AP) - A hearing will resume April 7 on legal efforts by the city of El Paso, Texas, to drill 21 water wells in the Hueco Basin of southern New Mexico.

State Engineer Steve Reynolds is running the hearing that began last November.

During the hearing Friday, attorneys on both sides fingered snail shells - a gag gift from one attorney signaling the hearing's slow pace.

Peter Schenkkan, an attorney for the El Paso Public Service Board, chipped away for the third straight day at a report by Leo Eisel, a civil engineer hired by groups opposing El Paso

Eisel contended El Paso could draw a third of its future water needs from the Rio Grande and that would make the wells unnecessary.

But Schenkkan questioned many of the numbers in Eisel's report, which have been revised three times

Lee Wilson, El Paso technical adviser, said during a break in the hearing that using Rio Grande water would force downstream Texas irrigators out of business,

But New Mexico farmers contend their farms would dry up if El Paso pumped water near Las Cruces

Wilson said El Paso's pumping would not affect New Mexico farmers for 20 years and by then more water would be available as Las Cruces sprawl claims nearby farms.

Bill Saad, Elephant Butte Irrigation District manager, said that while urban areas use less water than farmers, every drop is needed for other farmers.

El Paso officials also are seeking approval to drill an additional 266 water wells in a separate basin in southern New Mexico. A hearing on that request is scheduled for October

El Paso's water needs during the next 40 years can only be met by tapping underground water supplies in southern New Mexico, city officials said.

Force inquiry possible

DALLAS (AP) - A congressional subcommittee has proposed a hearing in Dallas next month on the city police department's use of deadly force and its relationship with the minority community.

The dates were set tentatively for April 24-25, pending approval by the House Judiciary Committee.

The request was submitted Friday by John Conyers, D-Mich, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, which would conduct the hearing.

Two Dallas congressmen, Martin Frost and John Bryant, requested the hearing last fall after meeting with Dallas minority leaders who said they were concerned about the Oct. 26 fatal shooting of Etta Collins, 70.

Officer Mark E. Kraus said he shot Mrs. Collins on her front porch after she twice ignored his warning to drop a weapon. Mrs. Collins had called police to report a burglary at a house next door.

On March 3, a grand jury declined to indict Kraus, but he was fired the next day. Police officials said Kraus failed to use good judgment in the incident.

Bryant, a member of the subcommittee, and Frost have said the hearing will focus on the use of deadly force in recent shootings instead of focusing on one shooting.

Smoke cessation sought who try to cut back on smoking in the workplace should be commended and more firms should follow suit, U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop says.

'We need to establish smoking cessation programs right across the Spectrum of American employment," Koop said Friday during a one-day conference on Smoking in the Workplace.

Koop, appointed surgeon general by President Reagan in 1981, said he hopes to see a smoke-free society by the end of the century.

'In its simplest terms, the achievement of a smoke-free society will ensure that we will have rescued the people of America from the preventable burden of smoking-related illness and death, a burden they have been carrying far too long at a far too heavy price." he said

Koop said the workplace is being targeted because executives can be persuaded that stopping smoking results in financial savings and health benefits

Big Spring

He said research shows that duct, Koop said.

DALLAS (AP) - Companies smoking is the direct or indirect cause of about 340,000 premature deaths each year and that thousands of people suffer from smoking-related cancer, heart disease and strokes.

Koop also said smoking should be banned in all public places.

The effects of secondhand smoke on non-smokers are still unclear, Koop said. Urine samples from non-smokers who live with smokers have shown that the nonsmokers inhale the same amount of nicotine daily as in two or three cigarette, he said

However, scientists aren't sure of the long-term health effects of that much nicotine, Koop said.

"He said anti-smoking campaigns help save lives and money and increase worker productivity. He claimed smoking costs $65 billion a year in health care and lost productivity

Essay winners express feelings

Big Spring Independent School District elementary students recently participated in an essay contest in celebration of the 200th anniversary of the United States Constitution.

The contest, sponsored by the Texas Education Agency and the United States Department of Education, focused not only on the Constitution, but also afforded students an opportunity to practice and refine writing skills

Winners in the different categories are:

Grades 1-2 Melanie Flenniken, Kentwood Elementary, Mrs. Woodall, teacher; Justin Harrell, Kentwood Elementary, Mrs. Phillips, teacher; Mrs. Clark, principal.

Grades 3-4 Sterling Cave, Bauer Elementary, Mrs. Cain, teacher; Mrs. Broughton, principal; Stephanie Moss, Moss Elementary, Mrs. Zant, teacher; Mr. Moss, principal. Grades 5-6

Betsy Norris, Bauer Elementary, Mrs. Berringer, teacher; Mrs Broughton, principal; Jeremy Mc-Carver, Bauer Elementary, Mrs. Berringer, teacher; Mrs. Broughton, principal.

Essays were judged on the following criteria: understanding of the topic, clarity of expression, unity of ideas, originality and style and mechanics.

Judges were Mrs. Martha Fiedler, Mrs. Clara Hernandez and Mrs. Lynn Calvert.

Winners' essays were sent to Texas Education Agency for additional judging. Winners' essays will then be forwarded to the United States Department of Education, school officials said.

By May 15, the federal selection committee will have selected 150 representitive essays. The 150 winners and chaperones will be hosted in Washington D.C., at awards/recognition activities.

A booklet containing the 150 essays will be placed in a federal repository. Approximately 10,000 copies of the book will be printed. The following are the winning essays, as submitted by school officials

Melanie Flenniken

I like living in the United States. I am glad that we have a Constitution because we have a free land. We are free to go to school and church where we want to. We can choose our own leader by voting. I am glad to grow up in a free country.

Some of the reasons for the Constitution, that I think are the most important are (1) to have a better government than the one we had under the Articles of Confederation, (2) to have equal rights and fair treatment with everyone, and (3) to have peace within the United States

The legislative branch of government is very important. It makes the laws or/and comes up with them. The legislative branch is the Congress and it has two parts. They are the House of Representitives and the Senate.

The executive branch carries out the laws that Congress passed. The judicial branch of government decides the meaning of laws. It is the federal system. The Supreme Court is the nation's highest court.

If we didn't have freedom we couldn't have our own religion, we couldn't go to different places, and we couldn't use press or speech.

The Constitution allows no slavery in the U.S. I am glad of that because slaves are sometimes treated badly. I am also glad of no slavery because I wouldn't want to be one. It gives us our right to vote. The Constitution gives us our rights for all people to be treated equally. The Constitution gives me my freedoms. It means a lot to me.

Bill Took His First Step Today In Admitting That He Is An Alcoholic

Bill is 36 years old, married, with one daughter. He is civically active, a successful businessman and an alcoholic. Thanks to his wife he got help. It's a real struggle to admit that a family member has a drinking problem. Everyone suffers. The family and the person suffering with the problem feel guilty and embarrassed by the situation and often deny that a problem exists. But alcoholism in an illness and it won't get better on its own.

At Charter Plains Hospital, we help those people suffering from an alcohol or drug dependency. Our intensive inpatient treatment begins with the safe withdrawal from toxic substances in a medically supervised environment. We include the whole family in the healing process. This helps the patient and the family to confront and understand the addictive process. Through this therapeutic approach, everyone learns to deal openly and honestly with the situation while developing skills to maintain recovery. An individualized Aftercare Program is established which usually incorporates active participation in twelve step recovery programs like Alcoholics Anonymous (AA), Narcotics Anonymous (NA), Alanon and Alteen.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - The suicide of a prominent, wealthy political activist on the campus of the university where she served as regent has left friends and family groping for an explanation.

"It's beyond conjecture. You ask the question why? - and nobody has an answer," said Keith Molin, a University of Michigan official who spoke to Sarah Goddard Power by telephone an hour before she died Tuesday.

Power, 51, jumped to her death from the eighth floor of the Burton Memorial Tower that looms over the University of Michigan campus, where she had been a regent more than 12 years.

Three days after she died, several hundred people crowded into an auditorium adjacent to the tower to remember the powerful and privileged woman who nevertheless took an interest in the unfortunate.

"Sarah's caring mattered to us in so many ways that it brought us here today to celebrate her life, and to try to understand her sudden, violent death," said her sister, Margery Goddard Whiteman.

Power was elected to the eight-member Board of Regents in 1974 and re-elected in 1982. In 1978, she campaigned for her husband when he made an unsuccessful bid for the U.S. Senate.

"She was a woman who didn't need to work, yet she worked very hard," said state Sen. Lana Pollock, a friend.

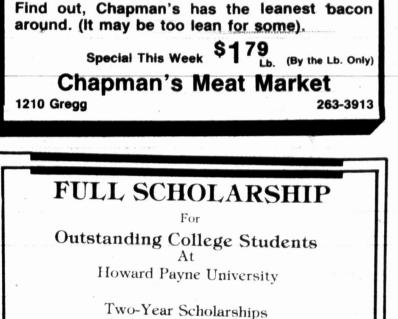

But acquaintances say the last few months had been difficult for Power. She was hospitalized for several weeks last fall with a serious respiratory infection, an illness that "had taken a great deal out of her," said Molin, the university's interim communications director.

She also was deeply troubled by racial unrest on campus, sparked by a low black enrollment and a string of racial incidents, including racist jokes broadcast on a student radio station. Power either climbed the stairs or took the elevator

Sports BIG SPRING (TEXAS) HERALD, SUNDAY, MARCH 29, 1987 Allen propels Steers' whitewash

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

Saturday's baseball game between Big Spring and Fort Stockton could best be titled "A Tale of Two Pitchers.

For Big Spring hurler Aaron Allen, it was the best of times. The lanky left-hander blanked the Panthers, struck out eight batters, and helped his cause by driving in five Steer runs.

For Fort Stockton pitcher Joaquin Banda, it was the worst of times. He allowed ten runs, walked six Steers, and was struck out in his only plate appearance.

The end result was an easy 10-0 victory for the Steers in a game that was called after five innings by the ten-run rule. It was the district opener for both teams.

Allen was dominating throughout the game. In the four innings he pitched, only three Panthers reached base, and two of those runners fell victim to Allen's outstanding pick-off move Steer head coach John Velasquez was impressed with Allen's performance also. "Aaron was excellent.", Velasquez said. "In the past, his big problem (with control) has been in the first few innings, but he kept the ball down real well today.

Velasquez had words of praise for the rest of his team, too. Applauding the Steers' error-free game, he said "We played the way we were supposed to. We played as a group.

Group effort would indeed describe the Steers' offensive effort, although Allen's five RBI's were the highlight. Big Spring rapped out eight hits, and displayed heads-up base-running in taking advantage of four Panther errors.

The Steers jumped on Banda early and often, scoring all ten runs in the first three innings.

Big Spring got things rolling in the first inning. With one out and Raymond Ontiveros on first base, Eric Thompson hit a grounder that Panther first baseman Peter Valenzuela misplayed for a two-base error, putting runners on second and third. Allen then punched a single to right field, scoring both runners.

After walking John Olsen, Banda muffed a line drive off the bat of Danny Gamble. As the ball rolled into center, Allen scooted around from second to score the last run of the inning. In the second, Matt Garrett and Ontiveros were on second and first, respectively, with one out. Banda then attempted to pick off Ontiveros, but his throw was wild, and both runners advanced. Garrett scored from third on a wild pitch from Banda.

After Eric Thompson singled, moving Ontiveros to third, Allen drove him in with a sacrifice fly to deep center field. The score now stood at 5-0 in the Steers'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) -Syracuse advanced to its first NCAA championship game by using good, old-fashioned basketball to beat a team that relied on the sport's newest trick.

The 10th-ranked Orangemen, 31-6, beat fellow Big East member Providence 77-63 Saturday in the first NCAA semifinal game. The Orangemen will meet the winner of the second game between topranked Nevada-Las Vegas and No. 3 Indiana.

and the Orangemen had a 53-35 ad vantage in rebounding. That, coupled with Providence's inability to hit the 3-point shot in which they led the nation this season, ended the upset tournament ride for the Friars.

"I thought we could rally," Rick Pitino Providence's second-year coach said. "We had to hit a higher percentage of shots and we had trouble off the boards because of their greater reach.'

The key to the game, said Syracuse Coach Jim Boeheim, was to contain Billy Donovan "and we have the guy who could do that." That was his guard, Sherman Douglas.

Douglas held Donovan, the tournament's leading scorer, to eight points and 3-of-12 shooting from the field.

"Howard (Triche) and Greg (Monroe) played the other two guys and that forced them underneath and we had the advantage underneath," Boeheim said.

Donovan combined with Ernie Lewis and Delray Brooks this season to form the best 3-point shooting trio in the nation in the first year of the extra-point shot. On Saturday, he made just one of three shots from 3-point range, while Lewis made one of eight and Brooks one of five.

Three Orangemen were in double figures in rebounds. Freshman Derrick Coleman grabbed 12, and Triche and Douglas had 11 each.

Indiana outscores Runnin Rebs

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - For once, Bobby Knight wasn't the one criticizing the defense.

Indiana's Dean Garrett, assigned to guard Nevada-Las Vegas' powerful 6-foot-9 Armon Gilliam, had little good to say about his performance, despite Indiana's 97-93 triumph in the NCAA semifinals on Saturday.

"Well, he scored 32 points, so that tells you what kind of defense I played," Garrett said. "I had a hand in his face as much as I could but it did not seem to affect him. He is a great player and his shots were falling all night. There wasn't much else I could do.

On this occasion, Knight said his player was being a little hard on himself.

"He was a little better than he thinks he was. He (Gilliam) plays like King Kong.

Garrett, a 6-10 junior center, we were down two and went back pulled down 11 rebounds and came up. Those two spurts gave us the up with Indiana's only two blocked shots. One came when the topranked Rebels were trailing only 67-63 with 12:17 to play. As for defense, he limited the hotshooting Gilliam to only four points in the final six minutes.

Gilliam said that Garrett didn't do anything differently down the stretch.

"He played the same the whole game. They were sagging Mark's Wade) man inside and tried to keep me away from the ball. It was pretty physical. The difference is they have a lot of guys who can be physical. Indiana is at the top as far as being physical."

By withstanding the 3-point shooting of UNLV — the Rebels had 13 long-range baskets - the Hoosiers advanced to Monday night's title game against Syracuse, a 77-63 winner over Providence in the other semifinal.

Indiana was forced to go to its bench when starting forward Darvl Thomas, the club's second-leading scorer and rebounder, picked up three fouls in the first three minutes and sat out the rest of the opening half.

'I wanted to establish a good basketball game," Thomas said. "Our bench came in and completed the cast. (Joe) Hillman and (Steve) Eyl - they got us where we INDIANA page 2B Freshman Leigh Corsan shot in Burnsed's place on the Lady Steers number one team.

"It's going to hurt us to lose Tammy," said Finley. "She was one of our most consistent golfers. She was constantly in the low 90's and we were hoping she would shoot in the 80's.

Michelle Cox led the Lady Steers with a 92, which puts her tied for fourth place in the medalist race. Karen Brodie shot a 93 for sixth place and Heather Varley was eighth with an 95.

Lady Steers playing in the ony medalist competition were Kathy Kestimier, Ginny Daniels and Tara McCan. Kestimer shot a 114, prompting Finley to say she will play on the number one team in the next tournament.

Underdogs meet for women's title

AUSTIN (AP) - Louisiana Tech and Tennessee, a pair of underdogs expected to be ushered quickly to the exit, will meet for the sixth annual NCAA Women's Basketball Final Four championship Sunday.

Tech, refusing to be shaken by a partisan crowd on Texas' home court, sent the defending national champions packing Friday night with a 79-75 victory over the Lady Longhorns.

Earlier, the Lady Volunteers stunned run-and-gun Long Beach State 74-64, holding the Lady 49ers 32 points below their season's average.

Louisiana Tech, now 30-2, won the 192 title but Tennessee has never won a national championship.

Nora Lewis and Tori Harrison each scored 20 points and All-American guard Teresa Weatherspoon added 19 for Louisiana Tech as the Lady Techsters stunned a record crowd of 15.615. largest in NCAA history for a women's tournament game.

The loss snapped Texas' 25-game win streak. The Lady Longhorns finished the season 31 - 2

Louisiana Tech Leon Barmore said "It was a great night for women's basketball, a great crowd. This game was presented like no other ever before.'

Barmore said he wasn't that surprised by the result.

"I thought we could come here and beat Texas if we got balanced scoring and we did," Barmore said. "Stacy Davis did a great job on Andrea Lloyd and that was a big key for us.

"We match up pretty well with Tennessee. We've played them before and it's always been a pretty physical game.

Texas "Coach Jody Conradt said Tech deserved to win. "It was a tough game, a good game," she said. "The credit goes to Louisiana Tech. They played great.

"People said they weren't shooting well but you couldn't prove it by me. They worked us over good. We were dead tired at the the end of the game." All-American Lloyd only scored seven points for Texas

Syracuse

The victory was Syracuse's third this season over Providence and gave the Orangemen a 16-game winning streak over the Friars since the teams joined the Big East Conference in 1980.

Syracuse led 21-19 with 8:32 left when it went on an 11-3 run over the next six minutes, with Coleman scoring six of the points. That gave the Orangemen their largest lead of the half, 34-22, with 2:31 remaining when Seikaly scored his only field goal of the first half.

Syracuse broke from their 36-26 halftime lead with a 13-3 run that gave it a 49-29 lead with 15:19 remaining. Seikaly completed that run as well with a three-point play as he put in a rebound on the third consecutive Syracuse shot, and was fouled.

Providence scored the next 11 points, including a technical foul on Douglas following a brief scuffle.

Douglas and Brooks became entangled near the foul line and Coleman and Providence's David Kipfer joined the fracas, exchanging punches, but no fouls were called. Sixteen seconds later, Douglas was assessed a technical foul when Triche was called for an offensive foul. Donovan made the free throw to bring the Friars to within 49-32. Screen hit a 3-point field goal 10 seconds later and Brooks hit another 3-pointer with 12:10 left and a drive 17 seconds later to bring the Friars within 49-40 as Syracuse went 4:26 without scoring. But the Orangemen answered with a 9-4 run that restored the lead to 58-44 with 9:07 remaining on a layup by Steven Thompson.

The Friars were able to get within nine at least twice, the last at 60-51 on two free throws by Lewis with 7:24 remaining, his first points of the game.

Syracuse made 26 of 44 freethrow attempts, while the Friars made 10-of-15.

Syracuse, which won the East Regional, is making its first Final Four appearance since 1975, when it was eliminated in the semifinals by Kentucky.

Its victory gives the Big East a team in the championship game for the fourth time since 1982. Georgetown was in the final three times, 1982, '84 and '85, when it lost to Villanova, another Big East member.

The Orangemen beat Florida and North Carolina to get to New Orleans are.'

Eyl made all three of his shots from the field and pulled down five rebounds in 20 minutes of play.

"I thought all year we got strong bench play," Knight said. "Steve Eyl just did a good job of moving the ball, handling the press."

Steve Alford, Indiana's career scoring leader who topped the Hoosiers with 33 points, said his teammates "did an awful good job of getting me the ball. I've got to be in constant movement, reading the screens. They really got it to me when I was open.'

Keith Smart, like Garrett a junior-college product, played in front of many relatives and friends. He played high school basketball at nearby Baton Rouge. "I wanted to have a good game, but I think I made more mistakes than I did contributions," said Smart, who fouled out after scoring 14 points. "I'm just glad I've got another opportunity to show what I can do. I think I'll be a lot more relaxed Monday.'

Doug Drabek, who the Pirates obtained from the New York Yankees for ace right-hander Rick Rhoden in an off-season deal, pitched four scoreless innings Saturday and allowed just one hit as Pittsburgh defeated the Minnesota Twins 7-2 in exhibition baseball.

In four starts this spring, Drabek is 2-0 and has just allowed seven hits and no runs in 16 innings.

Pittsburgh's Jim Morrison opened the scoring in the second inning with a two-run homer off Bert Blyleven after Bobby Bonilla walked. It was Morrison's fourth home run of the exhibition season.

Barry Bonds and Tony Pena opened the third inning with singles. After Sid Bream walked, Bonilla singled home Bonds and Pena.

The Pirates got another run in the bottom of the sixth on a solo home run by R.J. Reynolds, his third of the spring, off George Frazier.

Rangers 5, Yankees 4

In Fort Lauderdale, Larry Parrish's two-run single capped a four-run Texas eighth inning as the Rangers topped New York. Texas trailed 2-1 before Mike Armstrong ran into trouble in the eighth, yielding five walks in the inning and committing an error when he failed to catch a throw from first baseman Don Mattingly at first base. Armstrong issued bases-loaded walks to pinch-hitter Darrell Porter and Ruben Sierra before Parrish lined a single to center.

Phillies 4, Cardinals 4 In St. Petersburg, Mike LaValliere singled home

Andy Van Slyke from second base with two out in the ninth inning, giving St. Louis its tie with Philadelphia in a game called after 11 innings. Rick Schu's one-out homer given Philadelphia a 4-3 edge in the seventh inning. Van Slyke led off St. Louis' ninth with a single off Kent Tekulve and moved up Steve Lake's sacrifice preceding LaValliere's hit off the glove of Phillies shortstop Steve Jeltz.

Expos 6, Mets 5

In West Palm Beach, Billy Moore's run-scoring single in the bottom of the 11th inning scored pinchrunner Bob Simonson to lift Montreal over New York and reliever Roger McDowell. The game was attended by a record crowd of 7,294 at Municipal Stadium. To make room for more people, a temporary fence was set up in the outfield cutting the power-alley in left and right from 375 feet to less than 350 feet. The short distances led to four New York homers by Tim Teufel, Keith Hernandez, Mookie Wilson and Howard Johnson.

Astros 6, Dodgers 2

In Kissimmee, Mike Scott pitched six scoreless innings and allowed three hits for his second victory of the spring as Houston defeated Los Angeles. Scott has pitched three times against the Dodgers this spring, allowing four hits in 12 scoreless innings. He will be the opening day pitcher April 6 against Los Angeles. Kevin Bass broke a scoreless tie with a solo home run in the sixth inning. Glenn Davis added a run-scoring single in the seventh for the Astros, and Billy Hatcher had a two-run single in the eighth

Arkansas dumps Houston

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) -An eight-hit pitching performance by Arkansas' Spencer Wilkinson gave the Razorbacks a 10-3 Southwest Conference victory over the Houston Cougars in college baseball on Saturday.

Wilkinson came within one out of throwing a complete game and had only one earned run.

Arkansas senior catcher Andy Skeels hit his ninth and 10th homers of the year while going three-for-six with six RBI.

Arkansas, ranked No. 17, improved to 21-7-1 on the season and 4-1 in the SWC. Houston fell to 21-13-1 and 2-3. The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was postponed because of rain.

Arkansas' hitters faced six different Houston pitchers during the game, which included a 24-minute rain delay. The seven-inning game last nearly 31/2 hours.

In the first inning, Arkansas advanced to a 3-0 lead when Scott Pose and Randy Bobb each walked and scored on Skeels' first homer of the day. A passed ball by Houston catcher Fred Hinojosa allowed Rod Moore to score after a single in the second and Skeels' hit his second homer in the third to put Arkansas on top 5-0.

Arkansas scored two more runs in the fourth on RBI efforts by Skeels to score Dan Campbell and by Troy Eklund to score Bobb.

Houston scored for the first time in the fifth when Mitch Gaspard singled and took second on a Omar Brewer walk. A single by Brett Simpson brought Gaspard home to make it 7-1.

Arkansas scored three runs in the sixth and Houston posted two in the seventh when Gaspard scored on a John Fertitta single and Omar Brewer scored on a Billy Drapela single to left.

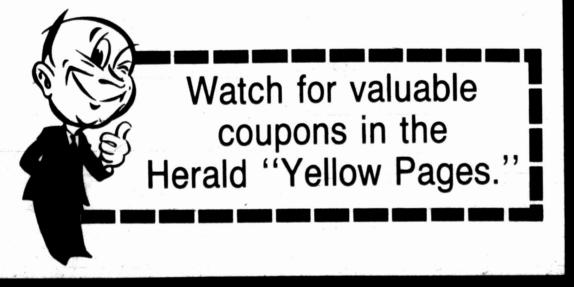

Wilkinson struck out eight to claim the win and improve to 4-1 on the season and 1-0 in SWC play. Houston starter Kyle Atkinson lasted only two innings and took the loss, dropping him to to 3-2 on the season and 1-1 in the SWÇ.

Carter: Arabs back peace effort By MARY SEDOR Associated Press Writer

BETHLEHEM, Occupied West Bank (AP) -Former President Jimmy Carter said Saturday the leaders of Egypt, Jordan and Syria support the idea of an international Middle East peace conference.

Carter met with leaders of the three countries on his Middle East tour before arriving in Israel on Thursday.

He also said anew that the Palestine Liberation Organization should participate in any such conference.

Carter commented during a tour of the Israelioccupied West Bank city of Bethlehem, where he met with Mayor Elias Freij.

"The Arab leaders in Syria, Jordan and Egypt are quite ready now to be full partners in the peace process, under the framework of an international conference," Carter said.

He said such a conference would provide "adequate opportunity for direct negotiations over matters concerning Lebanon, the Golan Heights, the West Bank, the Gaza (Strip) and Palestinian rights.

Syria is the main power broker in Lebanon and Israel's most formidable Arab enemy. Israel captured the Golan from Syria in 1967 and annexed the strategic heights in 1981.

Asked if the PLO should be a participant in an international conference, Carter said: "I would hope so, ves." He said the "PLO and other Palestinian representatives" should be included in any peace negotiations.

Israel considers the PLO to be a terrorist organization and refuses to negotiate with it. The Jewish state has also said Soviet participation in any eventual international conference depends upon the resumption of diplomatic ties with Moscow.

Moscow cut ties with Israel after the 1967 Middle East war.

On Friday, Carter was quoted as telling Palestinian journalists at a meeting in Israeli-annexed east Jerusalem that the U.S. government should "move to correct longstanding ommissions" in dealing with the Palestinian question.

The Palestine Press Service quoted Carter as saying the U.S. government should advocate "an international conference within which either PLO representatives themselves or their designates should speak for the Palestinian people.'

It quoted Carter as saying the 1979 Camp David accords between Israel and Egypt, which he mediated and which provide for Palestinian representation by either Jordan or Egypt, are "obviously not adequate for the future."

Earlier Saturday, Carter toured the West Bank city of Hebron, accompanied by his wife Rosalynn and Morris Draper, the U.S. consul-general in Jerusalem. Carter also met with a Palestinian family in their one-room house in Beit Omar village in the occupied West Bank.

A diplomatic official, demanding anonymity, said Carter "wanted to meet an average Palestinian family,# and discussed how their son, who has a congenital spinal disorder, was being helped by a U.S.-financed medical aid program.

Assemblies will discuss arrangement

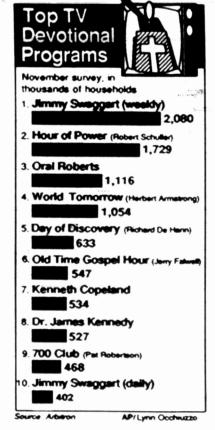

By Associated Press Assemblies of God officials who are investigating TV preacher Jim Bakker plan to meet this week with his successor, who has come under fire for arranging a settlement for a woman who had a sexual encounter with Bakker. The Rev. Richard Dortch, who became president of the PTL ministry after Bakker resigned March 19, reportedly was a principal in negotiating a $265,000 settlement for Jessica Hahn.

Bakker has described the money as "blackmail.{' The Rev. Jimmy Swaggart, a severe critic of Bakker, has called it part of a cover-up and said Dortch should resign.

"Today, the most filthy, the most rotten, the most diabolical, the most hellish of sin is covered with 'Praise the Lord,'" thundered the Louisiana evangelist, opening a three-day crusade in Los Angeles on Friday night.

"God deliver us from these pompadour boys, hair done, nails done, fresh from the beauty shop, preaching the gospel," said Swaggart.

Carter has dedicated the last two days to meeting with Palestinian leaders and visiting the occupied West Bank

The Rev. Jerry Falwell, who stepped in at Bakker's request to chair the PTL board, said a criminal investigation was possible if Ms. Hahn was paid to keep quiet.

"When you get to paying extortion money, that's real close to the edge, especially if it's not your money," Falwell was quoted as saying in Saturday's combined editions of The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Constitution.

Bakker and Dortch both resigned from the Assemblies of God`on March 19, but the Pentecostal denomination has the option of dismissing a minister rather than accepting a resignation.

"We will meet next week, and have requested (Dortch) to apthe Rev. Tom Whidden, pear," assistant superintendent of the North Carolina District Council of the Assemblies of God, said Friday. "The reason we're looking at him is because he has submitted his resignation.

"Because of all the publicity, I feel like we're just being nice to Brother Dortch," Whidden said. "We're saying to him, 'You have requested this resignation. We're going to be discussing it. You can be there."

Dortch did not return numerous phone calls requesting comment, and has been unavailble to reporters at PTL headquarters in Fort Mill, S.C.

Celebrity Auction

Items that have been donated to the American Cancer Society are varied. Books, hats, pennants, pictures and wine are just a few of the items that will be auctioned April 2 at the Big Spring Country Club.

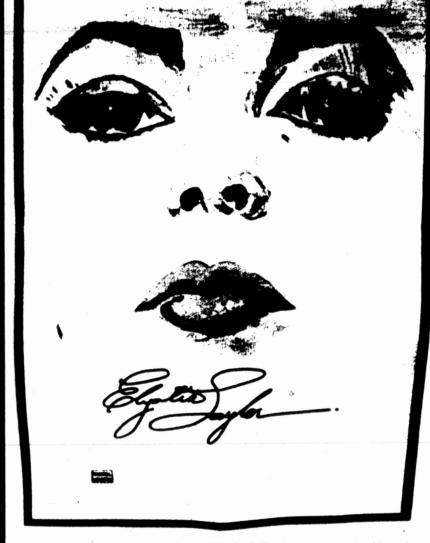

Paula Talbott, left, and Katie Grimes hang the American flag to be on display at the high hopes. Last year's gong show proved to be an entertaining event, the women said, ad-Highland Mall. The American Cancer Society hopes to match or surpass last year's fund raiser total — $12,000. Even though the economy is depressed, the women say they have

*Larry Hagman signed episode 23 of the night time soap opera "Dallas" for Howard County buyers to bid on. He also threw in a picture of himself.

How about your own personal script of 'Dallas'' signed by Larry Hagman, or a hat worn by Willie Nelson while golfing in Big Spring?

The American Cancer Society can turn these dreams into a reality at its 7:30 p.m. Celebrity Auction April 2 at the Big Spring Country Club.

Planning for the Cancer Society fundraiser began a year ago.

"We made a list of more than 100 celebrities and got their addresses from the library. We sent a letter to each of them explaining why we needed their items something uniquely thhem explaining why we needed their items - something uniquely theirs," explained Katie Grimes, American Cancer Society board member. Celebrities of interest to people in Howard County were the focus in determining who to contact, Grimes said. As a result, the group has received more than 50 items and more are arriving daily.

"We even have stuff coming from NASA," Grimes said.

"We also tried to get tickets to Dollywood, but we haven't heard anything yet," Paula Talbott, board member said in reference to the Dolly Parton amusement park

Organizers are expecting a good turnout. "People really turn out because cancer are touched by cancer," she added.

"We'll have different people in the community dress as the celebrities to present the items for auction," Talbot said.

So far, Pat Boone, Red Duke, Lady Bird Johnson, Natalie Schaefer, The Judds and President and Nancy Reagan will be represented among those "making" appearances.

Both silent and live auctions will be conducted during the event.

"Whichever items won't be presented by imitated celebrites will be auctioned off silently," Grimes explained.

Some of the celebrity items for auction are: a hard back book of the 1981 Inaugural donated by Ronald and Nancy Reagan; Vice President George Bush's fountain pen; B.J. Thomas' gold club; 12th man jersey from Texas A&M; Dr. Red Duke's scrub suit; a glove and picture given by Arnold Palmer; a graphic of LBJ's ranch house given by Lady Bird Johnson; a Redskins shirt given by Sam Bough.

Also a Dallas Cowboy pennant signed by Herschel Walker and Tony Dorsett; a case of wine donated by Oberhellmann Stanley Marcus; and a scarf from Natalie Schafer.

"It should be a fun night," she added. "We've put a year of hard work into it." A wine and cheese reception is planned from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Although the women have no idea how much money will be raised, they have hopes of matching or surpassing last year's $12,000 total.

"I guess we'll have $8,000 to $10,000 just at the door. The economy is off, but we're still optimistic," Grimes said.

The money is spent for research, education, transportation and bandages, said Joyce Phillips, local chapter president.

"All of the money is sent to the regional chapter in Midland and is forwarded to the state headquarters, she said.

The local organization has three major events each year: the Great American Smokeout, an educational walk and a fund-This is the raiser first year the group has had a celebrity auction as the annual fund-raiser. Last year's effort featured a gong show. The organizers hope the atmosphere at the event will be similar to a premiere night in Hollywood.

"We're going to have footprints leading into the auction (like Graumann's Chinese Theater) and a marquee," Talbott said.

A Texas Rangers baseball signed by each team member is a keepsake most Texans wouldn't mind having for show and tell.

Weeds can be controlled in home lawns

By DON RICHARDSON County Extension Agent My yard has suddenly just become overgrown with weeds. How can I get rid of them.

This year's abundant moisture and warm weather has stimulated an abundant crop of weeds. Fortunately, most of these are cool season annuals and will soon mature and leave us to other problems!

Pre-emergent herbicides applied last fall would have eleminated the problem now, but unfortunately, most home-owners fail to do this, and with favorable conditions, week crops develop in the spring like we are now experiencing. Many yards are infested with cool-season grasses like Rescue grass and "Wild Rye." These grasses can be controlled by treating them with MSMA. Broadleaf weeds can be controlled with most broad spectum herbicides that do not contain any form of dicamba. This chemical is hard on trees and shrubs. As with any chemical, be sure and read and follow to the letter all directions on the label. A good fertility program often is the best weed control program a home-owner can enlist.

Ask the agent

Now is a good time to apply fertilizer to hom lawns. In Howard County, we recommend about 3 applications per yar of a nitrogen per year. This is about 5-10 lbs. per 1,000 square feet applied in April, June and September. When do we need to spray out pecan trees for casebearer? We have been working with Charles Allen, our extension entomologist, for the past several years in demonstration work through a Pecan Nut Casebearer Prediction Model. This model accurately predicted the date of first the county and it provided them the opportunity to check their trees and apply insecticides if needed.

Pecan nut casebearer is the most important pest of pecans in Texas an annually causes substantial losses to pecan producers.

Entomologists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service have recently developed and implemented a technique with predicts when pecan nut casebearer should become a problem in any area of the state. Since insects are cold blooded animals, their rate of development is tied closely to the temperatures to which they are exposed.

The prediction technique used for pecan nut casebearer takes advantage of the relationship between temperature and rate of development in this insect. It predicts when the first larvae hatch and begin to enter nuts.

Maximum and minimum temperatures are collected during March, April and into May in the county. From a calculated starting significant nut entry for Howard date an average temperature is County 1986. This information was calculated for each day. Since no delivered to the pecan growers in development occurs in this insect below 38° is subtracted from each average daily temperature.

> The number arrived at in this manner is the pecan nut casebearer heat unit accumulation for that day. Repeating this process for the days for which data is available and adding up the heat units accumulated forms the basis for the prediction. This is done from late March until early May.

In early May, a prediction is made. Actual accumulated heat units are used for as many days as they are available. For the remaining days in May, 30-year average weather data is used to calculate accumulated heat units.

Daily high and low tempertures as recorded at the USDA Experiment Station in Big Spring are now being monitored and the optimum spray date in 1987 for the Pecan Nut Casebearer will be determined. We encourage you to please follow this column for the release of this date, which is expected to be somewhere near the latter part of May.

Alcohol called a poor solution for shy folks

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) Shy people who reach for alcohol to help them in social situations could actually be making themselves more anxious and tongue-tied, says a researcher at State University of New York at Binghamton.

In an experiment with men who admitted they were shy, Stephen A. Lisman, associate professor of psychology, found, contrary to popular belief, two drinks can produce marked impairment in social ability; four drinks will seriously restrict conversational ability.

However, the shy drinkers tested misjudged their own effectiveness and believed alcohol had indeed made them better socializers.

The men who volunteered for the study averaged 22 years of age, had had approximately three dates in the previous year, and were considered pleasant looking or even handsome.

Shared housing an alternate lifestyle

By NAOMI HUNT County Extension Agent

Televison's "Kate and Allie" and their children - do it. Young professionals do it, and so do retirees on Social Security. The "it", of course, is sharing housing. Shared housing was once almost the exclusive domain of college students and young singles, but has become more appealing to single, divorced and widowed people of all ages and socioeconomic levels.

For some, shared housing is an economic decision that allows them better housing than they could afford on their own. For others, it's lifestyle choice that provides companionship, friendship, social opportunities, an extended family or security.

Sharing a home with someone can be a great experience or a disaster. If you are considering such an arrangement, think about your lifestyle and what type of a person would be compatible.

Whether you plan to share a house or apartment with a close friend, a relative or someone you met through a newspaper ad, there are some important issues that should be resolved first.

Don't agree to share a dwelling with another person until all the parties involved have considered the following:

• Finances. Whose name(s) will be on the lease and other bills. How and when will expenses be paid?

• The suitability of ages, personalities, backgrounds and attitudes toward privacy. Social and recreational values, such as types of music and volume, television habits, parties and late hours

• The division of household work, including cooking, cleaning and shopping.

 Standards of cleanliness, especially if children or pet are involved.

• General values concerning liquor, drugs, smoking, overnight guests and the frequency of guests. • Comparable standards of living, including the ability and desire to spend on food, furnishings, and household maintenance.

• The compatibility of occupations, such as study habits or working hours.

• Agreeable temperatures for heating and air conditioning. Philosophy. Do you see shared housing as a living arrangement or a form of family living? How important is friendship, independence and individuality?

People who plan to share housing should also decide on a way to terminate the arrangement. Planning ahead will prevent hurt feelings. It is also good protection against being left with overdue rent, utility bills, or a lease you can't afford. Shared housing can be a supportive, economical and fulfilling lifestyle. But like any successful living arrangement, it takes planning and commitment.

W-4 OR W-4A?

(You must file one or the other)

Employees, you now have a choice. You can file either the new fourpage W-4 tax withholding for m or the new two-page W-4A form. The shorter withholding form was designed by the IRS after the Service was widely criticized for the length and complexity of the four-page W-4. The simpler W-4A forms should be received by employers sometime in April.

If you've already filed the longer W-4 with your employer, you've fulfilled your obligation. If you haven't, you have until October 1, 1987, to file one or the other of the new W-4s.

How do you decide which form to use? The IRS indicates that if your affairs are simple, you can use the W-4A. However, the form's simplici ty is likely to result in overwithholding. (The excess will be refunded to you when you file your 1987 tax return.)

If your affairs are more complex, you will get your withholding closer to your actual liability by filling out the longer W-4. That includes working couples, taxpayers with substantial non-wage income, and those with many deductions and credits.

Though the deadline is in October, you should complete a W-4 or W-4A as soon as possible to adjust your withholding to bring it in line with requirements of the new tax law. Waiting until later in the year could result in underwithholding which might expose you to underpayment penalties. Under the 1986 Tax Reform Act, you are required to prepay at least 90% of your current year tax liability or 100% of your prior year's tax liability.

Embarrassed by the furor created by the four-page W-4, the IRS has indicated that it will not assess interest penalties on taxpayers who make a "good faith" attempt to accurately complete their W-4s (or W-4As) and submit them by June 1, 1987. You should keep the completed worksheet that is a part of the form to demonstrate your "good faith" attempt if you end up being underwithheld and subject to a penalty.

Tanking on colas doesn't help runner DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I like to pain. My injury healed in spite of wherever. There's a name for this keep tanked up when running. My choice is cola. It keeps me from running dry and I like the taste. You say water is best. What's so bad about cola? - J.N.

Is it really helping you not run dry? I don't think so.

Cola and any of the popular soft drinks aren't the best for tanking up. What wears you out and dries you out in exercise are depletion of carbohydrate stores and dehydration. The high sugar content of soft drinks makes them stay in the stomach too long before they pass into the small intestines, where absorption occurs.

For rehydratison, water is best. It doesn't slosh around in your stomach quite so long. Its only drawback, of course, is that there's no carbohydrate in water, so you only answer half of your problem - rehydration. I should also mention that many of the so-called "sports" drinks on the market don't do the job well, either.

There's an exception. Some newer "athletic" drinks may have solved the problem of delayed stomach emptying. They're called glucose polymers. They leave the stomach almost as fast as does water, so you get the carbohydrate for energy along with the water. I know of three – Exceed, MAX, and Bodyfuel 450. But if it's just rehydration you want, water is a pretty good replenisher.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I read your column regularly, also anything else I can get my hands on concerning running in particular. I never thought I'd be able to add some information, but I want to share this with your readers.

While nursing a leg injury, I was going bananas, watching all my conditioning go down the drain from inactivity. I started running backwards. I never felt a twinge of my running and I found later that my forward running seemed to improve when I returned to it. How about that? - R.S.H.

Let's call it retro running. That's what the experts do. You can congratulate yourself on learning this technique independently, though.

Retro running calls into play a completely different set of muscles than forward running. The foot strikes the ground differently, so that the shock wave transmitted up the leg spares the knee and hip.

Your observation about improvement in your forward running is interesting. Many professional runners retrorun (with healthy legs) to get total leg muscle development. Your idea won't work for all leg injuries. I'm glad it did for you.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My son's wrestling coach won't let him participate because of a cold sore on his lip. He feels well. What's the deal? - D.D.

The coach is using good judgment. You can transfer the cold sore virus (that's what causes them) to other wrestlers during close body contact and they will get infected. The infection can be transferred to any body location -

f m of herpes infection. It's herpes gladiatorum. (And another wrestling query):

know they were doing drug testing for wrestlers in high school. My youngster has to submit urine for testing at weigh-ins. Isn't this going a bit far? - W.O.

I'm sure the test is just to measure the specific gravity of the urine. If it's high it means the wrestler has been dehydrating himself to make weight, a dangerous practice. A dehydrated body is more prone to fatigue and
