A. According to Encyclopedia Americana April Fool's Day began in 1564 in France, with the adoption of the reformed calendar. Those who resisted the change from April 1 to January 1, were victimized by pranksters and became known as "poisson d'avril" (April fish).

Official: Fiberflex jobs safe for now

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

The executive officer of Fiberflex Ltd. in Big Spring predicted this morning that a Chapter 11 bankruptcy filing will not be detrimental to the firm's work force.

The filing of papers March 25 in Southern District Court in pursuit of the firm's reorganization is not expected to result in layoffs, Chief Executive Officer Pete Sanger said in an interview from his Houston office.

The work force presently ranges between 82 and 85 employees, he said.

Referring to a March 26 letter sent to Fiberflex employees, Sanger explained that the company incurred major debts while trying to expand in an oil market that failed to grow in 1986.

By using the court's protection in an attempt to reorganize the company during the 120- to 180-day period, Sanger told his employees it is hoped the company will become profitable.

"We'll dispose of unneeded and unwanted assets during this period," Sanger said.

Under Chapter 11, a company obtains a federal court order that frees it from the threat of creditors' lawsuits until it can develop a plan to put its finances in order, according to the Associated Press.

While the reorganization proceeds, the activities of management must be approved by the court. The ultimate reorganization plan must be accepted by a majority of the creditors. It may involve various options, including a full or partial payment of debts, the Associated Press explained. Fiberflex incurred major debts in three areas, Sanger explained. Those are:

- Purchase of company shares in March 1985 with borrowed money.
 - Purchase of additional equipment in 1986 proved unprofitable.
 - Operating losses resulted when the oil economy deflated.

Utilities chief given bonus

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Retaining the city utilities superintendent's expertise during the water and sewer plant renovation, and the anticipated greater expense of replacing him, were the reasons a $5,000 relocation bonus is being given to the utilities chief, City Manager Mack Wofford said today.

Superintendent John Cochran told city officials two weeks ago that he needed to quit his city position to seek a job in Wichita Falls because he has been unable to sell his house there.

The failure to sell the house "has resulted in some severe hardships" on Cochran and his family, Public Works Director Tom Decell said in a memo to Wofford dated Monday and given to City Council members on Tuesday.

Cochran has been a city employee since Feb. 11, 1985.

The city has agreed to give him a $5,000 relocation allowance in return for Cochran's remaining in his position for six months, Decell said.

Wofford said the six months "would see us well along" in the wastewater treatment renovation project, but the project probably wouldn't be finished at that point.

In addition to the allowance, should Cochran successfully sell his house and remain a city employee, he would be considered at the Oct. 1 budget adjustment for a raise of two merit steps on the city's merit system. Decell said each step means a 5 percent salary increase.

Cochran's current salary is $1,048 bi-weekly, Decell said, adding that the raise would give him $1,156 bi-weekly.

Wofford said that while the City Council did not vote on the payment, individual Council members expressed their concurrence with the plan and "it would be an administrative matter at that point."

"The city is skating on thin ice with respect to our relationship with the Environmental Protection Agency and the Texas Water Commission," Decell said.

Because of the magnitude of the plant renovation's final phase, the city must maintain continuity of management, he said.

Wofford said money to finance the package will be generated by the utilities.

Airpark site definite for softball park

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

A new softball park will be located at the Big Spring Airpark near the Federal Prison Camp, the City Council decided at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The vote was 6-1, with Mayor Cotton Mize dissenting. Mize, an avid softball fan and player, indicated he would favor other locations above the one near the prison, including a second Airpark choice near the Freecom manufacturing firm.

Councilman Harold Hall said for monetary reasons he favors the site near the prison. "The utilities are all right there, parking is available, and the prison will help us build it," he said.

Mize said he prefers the site near Freecom because of its visibility.

Hall agreed about the visibility, but said the plot is "probably the highest priced land" and the best for industrial prospects.

Mize countered that no industrial prospect has shown interest in the site.

Citizens at the meeting expressed concern, however, over prisoners' access to the ballpark.

Rutherford assured them that an approximate one-

Tuesday was Kite Day at Hillcrest Christian School, with students bringing kites from home and flying them from the school parking lot. With nearly 20 kites in the air simultaneously, a few tangled lines were inevitable, but the students appeared to take it in stride. Clements drops debated plan

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN — Gov. Bill Clements is abandoning, at least temporarily, a controversial proposal to abolish the elected post of state agriculture commissioner.

Clements on Tuesday endorsed a series of economic development moves recommended by a blue-ribbon task force that he said are crucial for the state.

The proposals — ranging from creating a department of commerce to relieving small business of regulatory burdens — were recommended in January.

But Clements backed off from one of the most-discussed proposals from that group, a plan to convert the elected state agriculture commissioner's job to a post filled by gubernatorial appointment.

"After taking the pulse of various people, I find that is probably not a viable condition," Clements told his weekly news conference. "I don't think the task force has withdrawn its recommendation. I haven't changed my position either. But I don't think that's a viable suggestion."

The proposal, first offered with other economic development recommendations Jan. 23, pitted the state's only 20th century Republican governor against Democrat Jim Hightower, a self-proclaimed populist who has transformed a once-sleepy office into one with national visibility.

According to the authors of the original plan, allowing the governor to appoint the agriculture commissioner would make for better state-federal relations and allow efficient coordination of federal and state farm programs.

But Hightower, who was in Washington Tuesday, said his has been an independent, elective office for decades. Hightower's press secretary, Andy Welch, said the governor's decision came as no surprise to the commissioner.

"But I'm sure he appreciates the governor spending his time on more important subjects," Welch said. He said the two officials discussed the idea some time ago and had a "good talk."

Clements insisted he never intended to challenge Hightower.

District 1 candidates plan improvements

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Four candidates for the City Council district 1 seat responded to a set of questions posed by the Herald.

The candidates are Pat Deanda, Elaine Oliver, incumbent Henry Sanchez and Lee Young.

Citizens in districts 1 and 3 are to vote Saturday for Council and school board positions. Responses from district 3 candidates are to appear in Thursday's Herald.

What do you hope to accomplish in your district?

Deanda said she would like to provide straightforward answers to constituents. "That's the reason citizens are having so many problems — because everything's under the table," she said.

Oliver said she would emphasize community unity. "There's so much dissension," she said.

Sanchez said he would continue to work on improvements to streets and water lines, especially in Jones Valley, and work to prevent mosquito problems he anticipates for this summer.

He would like changes in the codes regarding weedy lots and delapidated buildings. "We're not making real good progress because of the codes," he said. "There's too much red tape."

Young said he would work toward street repairs and toward prevention of flooding on the west end of town, by cleaning rubble from Beals Creek

What do you hope to accomplish city wide?

Deanda said she wishes to discover why industries are not locating in Big Spring, and would work toward street repair.

Oliver said she would work toward improving city cleanliness, continue to support the downtown redevelopment, and seek a better understanding of the city budget.

Sanchez said he would work to finish improvements to the water and sewer plants, repairs of Goliad Street, and construction of water towers on South Mountain.

Young said he would like to "help get our budget and finances in good shape," support programs for street and water line repairs, seek to attract more business to the city, and work on long-term planning.

Study: Paper work burns out teachers

COMMERCIAL (AP) — Nearly 40 percent of Texas public school teachers are facing "burnout" due to excessive paper work and a feeling of loss of control, according to a year-long East Texas State University study.

Many teachers, in fact, chose not to respond to the survey because it represented more paper work to them, the researchers found.

The survey, "Paper work: Texas Teachers' Views," reveals teachers are still overloaded despite legislation to reduce paper work. It also shows that a recommendation to ease paper work through teacher aides could cost taxpayers more than $264 million.

Conducted by the ETSU Center for Policy

Studies and Research in Elementary and Secondary Education, the survey shows 28 percent of the teachers suffered burnout from the paper work alone.

Another 10 percent suffer due to a feeling of no control over their professional lives, said center director Dr. Frank W. Lutz, who conducted the survey with assistant center director Dr. James S. Maddirala.

"When burnout occurs, teachers go either into quitting behavior — they leave teaching — or more disastrous, they undergo entrapment," Lutz said. "Entrapment means they quit in the job; they continue to teach, but they don't care anymore."

Teachers blame their excessive paper work on education reform legislation in the form of House Bills 246 and 72, Lutz said. And House Bill 50, passed last summer by the legislature specifically to reduce teacher paper work, has not worked, according to the survey of teachers.

The center sent questionnaires to 3,000 teachers and received 700 responses — about 23 percent, Lutz said. A second questionnaire was sent to a number of these respondents, followed by a telephone survey. An additional sampling of the original 70 percent of non-respondents revealed they "were more burned-out than the respondents," Lutz said.

Legislative briefs

State not paying federal court fine

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas didn't pay an $800,500 federal court fine today over its prison system.

The fines, threatened to begin today by order of U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, are being delayed pending decisions in two federal courts, according to the Texas attorney general's office.

The state has filed several motions on which Justice must rule before fines could be levied, said Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Attorney General Jim Mattox.

In addition, Texas has appealed Justice's ruling to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, and no decision has yet been made there.

Dusek said Tuesday that the state's lawyers are confident the fines won't be imposed.

Attorney General Mattox "said he is 90 percent sure the state will not have to pay any fines — either as a result of Judge Justice reversing his order or the 5th Circuit reversing the judge," Dusek said.

Justice on Dec. 31, 1986, found Texas in contempt of court for failing to carry out prison improvements as it had promised. He said that unless improvements were made by April 1, the fines that could total $24 million a month would begin.

Kirby last witness in school case

AUSTIN (AP) — Taking from the rich to help the poor would end up hurting all types of school districts in Texas, Education Commissioner William Kirby says.

"It would have a negative effect," Kirby said Tuesday in his first day as a witness in the long, complex court challenge to the way Texas distributes $5 billion in state school money.

He was scheduled to testify again today.

Kirby also said Tuesday he did not favor putting a cap on how much local money can be spent on schools.

"We need to continue to let local districts raise their school taxes if they want and spend it the way they want," said Kirby.

Kirby is expected to be the last witness for the state in a suit brought by 67 property-poor districts who contend the present system discriminates against them. The state, joined by 48 school districts, claims the current system is fair and adequate.

In previous testimony school finance experts have said the four largest districts in the state — Houston, Dallas, Austin and San Antonio — would lose $218 million a year under a $660 million redistribution plan proposed by the poor districts.

Clements threatens special session

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislative leaders say they aren't surprised by Gov. Bill Clements' threat to call a special session if they fail to approve civil justice reform and expand gubernatorial power over state spending.

"That's exactly what he told me I agree with it," said House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

"I hope we do both those things in the regular session," added Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Clements said Tuesday that tort reform is among his top priorities for this session, which adjourns June 1.

"We're going to have a special session if we don't have a responsible answer to this issue (tort reform)," Clements told his weekly news conference.

He said lawmakers also will be kept in session if they fail to give him so-called budget execution authority.

Senate passes two smoking bills

AUSTIN (AP) — Two smoking bills supported by lung, heart and cancer associations have cleared the Senate. One could restrict teenage smoking. The other would allow smoking indoors in public only in designated areas.

Sen. Cyndi Krier, sponsor of the bill to prohibit the sale of tobacco to anyone under 18, said Tuesday that health associations have banded together to try to achieve a "smoke-free" generation by the year 2000.

Ms. Krier, D-San Antonio, said a health expert had testified in committee that it only takes three packs of cigarettes to add some people to smoking.

Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, sponsored the measure restricting smoking in public places. It had been tentatively approved Monday.

The proposed Texas Smoke Free Indoor Act would make it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $200, to smoke in a prohibited area.

Bars, tobacco shops and restaurants with a capacity of 25 persons or less would be excluded in that they could designate their entire area as smoking areas.

block buffer zone will exist between the prison and the fields, and that prison officials wouldn't tolerate any problems from inmates.

Federal Aviation Administration officials indicated that the city may use Airpark land for the softball complex if the ballpark will produce revenues that match the fair market value of the land.

"You can save probably $100,000 in utilities and parking, and if the prison will provide the labor, save probably another $50,000" by using the site near the federal facility, Hall said.

Councilman Johnny Rutherford estimated that using prison inmate labor would save about half the building cost.

Convicted murderer Karl Hammond leaves the courtroom gagged after creating two disturbances escaped later Monday night from the Bexar County Jail. He escaped only hours after being found guilty of the slaying of FBI secretary Donna Lynn Vetter. Fiberflex was unable to respond in a timely enough fashion to the sudden oil price drop, Sanger said.

Company assets, reflected by sales figures, dwindled severely in 1986, he said.

Fiberflex began 1986 with monthly sales of $1 million to $1.2 million, before dropping to $300,000 to $350,000 in June and July, Sanger said.

The company had approximately 150 employees at the beginning of 1986.

Layoffs resulted in a workforce of approximately 60 persons by mid-summer, he added.

Sanger replaced Chris Christopher in August as Fiberflex's chief executive officer.

An expanded sales force is among Sanger's approach to increased profitability, he said, and that department of the firm has doubled recently.

The firm had attempted to distribute its sucker rod product in supply stores, but has now "added back to the direct sales force," Sanger said.

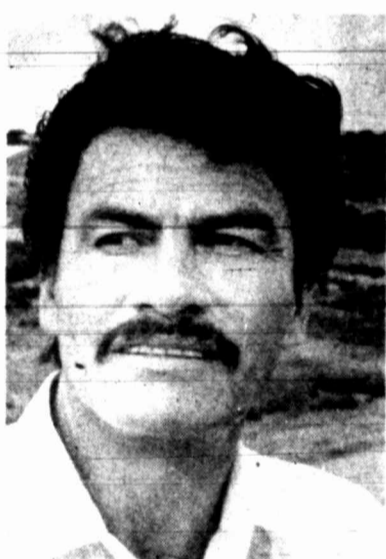

Fiberflex now penetrates 4 percent of the overall sucker rod market, he added.

• What do you intend to do about the water bills?

Deanda said she would regenerate the issue.

"I think the City Council made a mistake" in not refunding apparent overcharges, she said. "It was an attack on people's intelligence."

Oliver said she would research the matter, questioning why a specific cause for the problem couldn't be found.

Sanchez said he would try to prevent the problem from occurring again.

"We've done quite a bit of research," he said, and added that the city should respond more quickly and thoroughly to citizen complaints of water bill problems.

Young said that "if I had the final say in water bills, I'd find some way to pay these people back." He suggested giving people credit on their water bills, over a period of two or three months.

He added that he would work to avoid a recurrence of the problem by checking each meter monthly and replacing old, worn meters that could be faulty.

Approximately 50 citizens voted absentee in the Council election before the Tuesday afternoon deadline, Finance Director Tom Ferguson said. The votes will be counted with the rest of the ballots after the polls close Saturday evening, he said.

The number of absentee voters was too small to predict how many will vote in Saturday's election, Ferguson said. Usually, absentee votes equal about 10 percent of the election-day votes.

Some lawmakers refusing $12,100 raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A survey released Tuesday said at least 68 members of Congress report they will not accept the $12,100 annual pay raise that makes its first appearance in paychecks issued Wednesday.

Texas Reps. Charles Stenholm

and Ralph Hall, Democrats; and Larry Combest and Beau Boulter, Republicans, were among those listed in the survey as not accepting the pay raise.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader released the survey, saying 12 senators and 56 House members would donate the extra money to charity or return it to the U.S. Treasury.

"It's fitting that the first installment of this backhanded salary grab appears in congressional paychecks on April Fool's Day," Nader said. "Congress intentionally tried to fool the American taxpayer when it sidestepped the voting process to pocket this pay hike through the back door."

While appearing to vote against the pay raise, the House in February allowed congressional salaries to rise automatically from $77,400 to $89,500 a year.

The Senate has 100 senators and the House has 434 members as one House seat is vacant.

Juries to be selected

Juries will be selected Monday in 118th District Court to hear a burglary case and a suit on a promissory note.

Those cases were selected during Tuesday's docket call.

The criminal case involves a 24-year-old woman who was arrested Oct. 30, 1985 after confessing to two counts of burglary, according to police records.

Joy Diane Anderson, 24, 801 Creighton, was later indicted on a burglary of a building charge by a Howard County grand jury.

Anderson entered a building owned by Fran Green on Oct. 12, 1985 and committed a theft, according to the indictment.

Attorney Robert H. Moore will defend Anderson.

The civil trial involves a Big Spring bank suing a man who is claimed to have received promissory notes.

State National Bank filed a civil court petition May 31, 1985 against Bob Beck of Midland.

Third Marine arrested

WASHINGTON — A third Marine who was an embassy guard in Moscow was in custody today in a sex-and-spy case, while published reports said the spy ring let the Soviet Union intercept and read virtually all coded communications between the embassy and Washington for up to a year.

The sensitive documents were falling into Soviet hands during the October summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev in Iceland, the Los Angeles Times reported today, citing unidentified sources.

This week's Time magazine says U.S. negotiators in Reykjavik were disturbed by the Soviets' uncannily well-prepared responses to U.S. points.

The United States now realizes that throughout the summit, "we played poker with the Soviets, and they were looking at a mirror over our shoulders," Time quoted an unidentified State Department official as saying.

Staff Sgt. Robert Stanley Stufflebeam, who had commanded the other two Marines arrested in the case, was being held in the brig at Camp Pendleton, Calif., Pentagon spokesman Robert Sims said Tuesday.

Court blocks merger

SAN FRANCISCO — A federal appeals court Tuesday blocked the $860 million merger of Delta Air Lines and Western Airlines just hours before it was to go into effect.

The three-judge panel of the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the companies to submit a dispute over union representation to an arbitrator, saying the merger would be prohibited until the end of the arbitration.

At issue is a 1982 union contract with Los Angeles-based Western that stated Western employees would be governed by the pact in the event of a merger.

Union lawyers argue the contract must be honored, but attorneys for the airlines say that clause is unenforceable.

Reagan speaks on AIDS

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, saying he wants an "all-out campaign" against AIDS, is endorsing AIDS education in schools as long as it includes the teaching of sexual abstinence.

Reagan said Tuesday instructing children about AIDS is all right "if you say it's not how you do it but that you don't do it."

The president, who plans his first formal statement on AIDS today at a medical society seminar in Philadelphia, responded to reporters' questions Tuesday night at a state dinner for French Prime Minister Jacques Chirac. The two earlier announced an agreement ending a dispute between French and American researchers over patents for AIDS screening tests.

"We want an all-out campaign," Reagan said.

William Stern, shown in a happy pose with his daughter, "Baby M," in this January 16 photo from files, was awarded custody of the child by a New Jersey court Tuesday. The judge who ruled in the case also said the surrogate contract under which the girl was born is valid and enforceable.

Judge awards infant to father

HACKENSACK, N.J. — An unprecedented ruling upholding a surrogate mother contract and awarding custody of the infant to her father will give Baby M her only real chance to grow up healthy and secure, the father's lawyer said today.

Superior Court Judge Harvey R. Sorkow on Tuesday upheld the legality of the surrogate arrangement, denied the biological mother, Mary Beth Whitehead, the right to see her child again and granted custody to William Stern, whose sperm was used to artificially inseminate Mrs. Whitehead.

Minutes after the 121-page ruling was read, Stern's wife, Elizabeth, adopted the year-old baby and Mrs. Whitehead's lawyer requested a stay of the decision.

The appeal is expected to go directly to the state Supreme Court. Mrs. Whitehead has asked Sorkow that pending the appeal she be allowed to continue seeing the child she called Sara, but who is now Melissa Elizabeth Stern.

Gary N. Skoloff, the attorney for the Sterns, said on NBC's "Today" show today that what Sorkow "really concluded is the only chance that Melissa has to grow up as a healthy, secure child, was what all of the mental health experts said on all sides. 'You've got to end the publicity; you've got to end the warfare.'"

"And the judge absolutely read right that in this case there would be no way the Sterns and the Whiteheads could ever raise that child with any connection with each other," Skoloff said. "He took the very strong step of building the wall to give the child the only chance that she has to make it in this world. One set of parents. One home. Period."

The judge ruled that surrogate childbearing is not the same as baby-selling because the father "cannot purchase what is already his." He said states should regulate the practice but that it is legal because just as there is a law allowing abortion, "the same law may be used to create and celebrate life."

Just as men have the constitutional right to sell their sperm, women can do what they want with their wombs, Sorkow said, and "a woman with her husband has the right to procreate and rear a family."

New constitution OKd

PARAMARIBO, Suriname — The National Assembly on Tuesday approved a new constitution designed to pave the way for elections to replace the regime of Lt. Col. Desi Bouterse, who seized power in a 1980 coup.

The Suriname News Agency also said Bouterse's nine-member Cabinet resigned Monday, but it added that most ministers were expected to return to their same jobs soon.

Bouterse had been scheduled to name a new cabinet Tuesday, but he delayed the appointments because of the Topberaad, a council that sets policies implemented by the Cabinet, had been busy reviewing the draft constitution. Bouterse is chairman of the Topberaad.

The National Assembly, which was appointed by Bouterse, approved the constitution after 5½ hours of debate, the news agency said.

The constitution is to be submitted to referendum within six months. If it is approved, elections for a president, vice president and new National Assembly are to be conducted six months later.

Soldiers begin recovery

EL PARAISO, El Salvador — Dazed and disoriented soldiers loaded the charred remains of their friends into plastic bags near smoldering rubble left behind from a rebel attack on a key military garrison.

The air around the hill-top base was thick with smoke and the acrid smell of burning flesh.

Soldiers carrying M-16 rifles clustered around the bodies of eight guerrillas lying in the scorching midday sun. The hands of some soldiers were blood-stained.

The leftist rebels early Tuesday attacked the 4th Infantry Brigade at El Paraiso, about 40 miles north of the capital of San Salvador.

Killed in the assault were at least 43 soldiers and a U.S. military adviser, Staff Sgt. Gregory A. Fronius, 27, of Greensburg, Pa. He was the U.S. first military adviser to die in battle in the nation's 7-year-old civil war.

Fronius' body was flown to Panama where his wife and child live, according to the U.S. Embassy.

Pope hopes for Chile

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — Pope John Paul II said he hopes to bring a new spirit of human rights to military-ruled Chile during his visit there beginning today, but cautioned he is "not the evangelizer of democracy."

"We are now going to encounter a system which is dictatorial, but this system by its definition is transitory," the pope said.

By contrast, he said, in his native Poland and other Soviet bloc countries, "there are no elements of hope that the authoritarian rule will soon end."

A Vatican official later said that by "transitory" the pope referred to the trend in South America for military governments to turn power over to elected governments.

PACs cover all political bases

Political action committees, as fickle as fortune itself, know how to back a winner.

According to a study released recently by the public-interest lobby Common Cause, dozens of PACs involved in last year's U.S. Senate elections covered both sides.

In each of the seven Senate races in which a Democratic challenger defeated a Republican incumbent, PACs backed the Republican incumbent during the campaign, then contributed to the winning Democratic challenger shortly after the election.

At the risk of sounding cynical, one might suggest that some PACs aren't particularly committed to a candidate's aims, ideology or political party. They seem interested, above all else, in buying influence with a U.S. congressman.

In North Dakota, for example, 39 PACs that contributed to the unsuccessful re-election campaign of Republican Sen. Mark Andrews switched sides and gave to Kent Conrad, the newly elected Democrat, after the election.

The 39 PACs included the National Association of Letter Carriers, the National Rifle Association, the Tobacco Institute Inc. and the American Bankers Association.

The bankers group, which gave $10,000 to Andrews before the election and $10,000 to Conrad afterwards, switched sides in four of the seven Senate races.

The only bright spot in this cynical little exercise in democracy is that six of the seven winning challengers favor fundamental changes in the current campaign-financing system. They are co-sponsoring Senate Bill 2, the Senatorial Election Campaign Act, which would limit the total amount of PAC funds congressional candidates can accept.

The bill, which now has 36 co-sponsors, also would limit campaign spending as part of a voluntary system of partial public financing in Senate general elections.

PAC publicists argue that PAC-giving represents citizen participation in the political system. Citizens, however, don't vote for both candidates — once before the election and a second time after the winner has been chosen. If we're really interested in citizen participation, we'll emasculate the PACS.

Resident dislikes profanity in paper

To the editor:

I am writing this letter as a complaint — regarding one of the articles that was printed in the Big Spring Herald on March 21.

The article, titled "Caring about product leads to business success," by Tom Peters, contained words of profanity that I believe should not be used in a daily newspaper.

I feel this article could have been edited and these words printed in a different way that would have been much more acceptable for reading on the business page of the Big Spring Herald. I feel that the usage of these profane words are a bad reflection on the newspaper.

Modern Revere declares war on lawyers with tort reforms

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — America has become overpopulated with lawyers, who endlessly complicate their procedures and increase their fees while justice languishes.

In a real sense, the legal profession has transformed the American system into a government of the lawyers, by the lawyers and for the lawyers. They now control the judicial branch, dominate the legislative branch and intimidate the executive branch.

What America needs is another revolution to free the people from the tyranny of the lawyers. They abound like Lilliputians who have entangled the American giant in red tape and legal snares until he can't move without consulting an attorney.

This has led to an explosion of litigation, which has burdened the paying public with billions in legal bills. These are paid by all the people in the form of higher costs, higher prices and lower productivity.

Meanwhile, the courts are hopelessly clogged with cases; the verdicts are erratic and unpredictable; insurance is unavailable or unaffordable. Entrepreneurs have been driven out of business, doctors have abandoned their practices, journalists have stopped exposing wrongdoing, manufacturers have shut down plants, local governments have cut off services — all because they can no longer afford the high cost of defending lawsuits.

But Paul Revere rides again. Dashing into this legal nightmare on his charger is James K. Coyne, a modern Revere in pinstripes, who heads the American Tort Reform Association. Though not a lawyer, he has, in various public forums, out-argued, out-shouted and out-manuevered some of the nation's best trial lawyers.

Jack Anderson

During one debate, a prominent trial lawyer lost his decorum and slugged Coyne in the face. Coyne resisted the temptation to sue; he believes the legal profession already has so many Americans suing one another that the whole civil liability system has gone berserk.

Recently, the American Bar Association pulled back a bit from their no-compromise position and endorsed some legal reforms. The attorneys refused, though, to limit pain-and-suffering awards, which would reduce their own contingency fees.

The few reforms that were adopted, snorted Coyne, left "loopholes big enough to drive a trial lawyer's Mercedes through."

In Coyne's revolution to win the country away from the lawyers and give it back to the people, the new Bunker Hill will be Capitol Hill. Coyne is preparing for the battle, but he needs the support of some modern revolutionaries.

If you are in favor of reforming the legal system, you can obtain information from the American Tort Reform Association, Seventh Floor, 1250 Connecticut Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C., 20036.

Under other governments, those who sue, if they should lose, are required to pay all the legal expenses of the winners. But under the American system, anyone can sue you without risk. All he needs is an attorney who is willing to accept his case for a contingency fee. And the country is crawling with lawyers who are drumming up contingency cases.

If you should get hit by one of these lawsuits, it doesn't cost the plaintiff a dime. He doesn't have to pay his attorney unless he wins. The attorney invests only his time, plus incidental expenses. Sometimes he can generate publicity that repays him in free advertising.

The only one who will lose is you, the hapless defendant. If the verdict comes up tails against you, you lose heavily. If the verdict comes up heads in your favor, you still lose. For the case will cost you time, legal expenses and lawyers' fees.

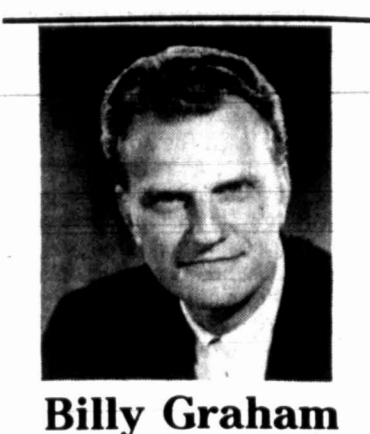

Of course, some provision must be made for the poor, who are entitled to recourse to the courts if they are injured. But the real victim in America has become the defendant who loses even when he wins.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Forgetfulness is sweeping the Reagan administration. The latest to take a cue from his selectively amnesiac leader is Vice President Bush's security adviser, Donald Gregg.

Bush assured "60 Minutes" that Gregg wasn't lying when he denied having discussed the Nicaraguan contras' situation with a key player in their secret supply network. He just forgot about the discussion, Bush said.

Years ago, comedian Steve Martin recommended "I forgot!" as an alibi to use for failure to pay one's income taxes. Surely Martin hasn't been signed on as a White House consultant ... has he?

Jesus was emotional but brave

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I was always brought up with the idea that a man ought to be strong and not show emotion or cry or anything. My wife says that hurts her because she thinks I should be more open in expressing my love to her and to our little children. I guess that is right, but I just have a hard time expressing my feelings. Am I wrong to be this way? — R.S.

DEAR R.S.: Don't let some false image of what a man is "supposed to be" keep you from being a real man — by which I mean the kind of man God wants you to be. God gave you emotions, and He did not intend for them to be bottled up inside you.

Yes, for the sake of those you love — as well as for your own sake — don't be afraid of expressing your feelings. They are not a sign of weakness but of strength.

Let Christ be your example. Sometimes Christ is pictured as a weak, unmanly sort of person — but the opposite was the case. It took physical courage and strength, for instance, to drive the money changers out of the Temple with a whip (see John 2:13-17).

It took courage to face the hostility of those who sought to kill Him, and to go to Jerusalem when He knew He would be put to death on a cruel cross. And yet Christ did not hesitate to show his emotions. He wept when a widow had lost her only son. We read that "his heart went out to her" — and He raised the young man to life again (Luke 7:13). Over and over we read of Jesus' compassion for others.

Ask God to help you learn to love others as you should — and then to express that love by both your actions and your words. This should especially be true in your family.

There are many pressures on the family today, and only a Christ-like love can help us resist them.

Israel shouldn't get off 'scot-free'

By STEPHEN CHAPMAN

Americans believe that in foreign relations, firmness is a virtue. This applies to friends as well as enemies. When NATO allies refuse to spend enough on defense, we threaten them with troop withdrawals.

When our trading partners undercut our industries, we extract "voluntary" limits on their sales here. When a state getting our economic aid consistently abuses human rights, we cut off its funds. When the government of Israel pays an American citizen to steal U.S. intelligence secrets, we ... do nothing.

Everyone agrees that the Jonathan Pollard affair was regrettable. Everyone also agrees that Israel will pay no real price for betraying the nation that effectively guarantees its security.

Angry members of Congress have alternated between expressions of disapproval and assurances that Israel will keep getting its $3 billion a year in U.S. aid. In fact, it would be a surprise if someone so much as proposes a reduction.

The Reagan administration, which has complained loudly about Israel's conduct, has likewise declined to contemplate any meaningful penalty. Secretary of State George Shultz said the dispute should be "managed so it doesn't wind up with us shooting ourselves in the foot."

But the wounds are already open, and they weren't self-inflicted. If the U.S. stoically bears this injury, it will deserve the contempt the Israeli government has shown throughout this episode.

And contempt is the only word for it. Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir dismissed the whole matter as "not important." Only after Pollard was sentenced, and after weeks of pressure, did the government agree to appoint an investigative committee — which conveniently lacks subpoena power.

Jerusalem has characterized the affair as an unauthorized "rogue operation." But two of the Israelis implicated in it have been promoted.

Pollard's defenders in Israel and America have portrayed the secrets he passed as insignificant, posing no danger to U.S. security.

But this is no routine case of friends spying on friends, something that goes on all the time, within accepted limits, between the U.S. and other allies.

Pollard stole a huge volume of documents over 18 months, enough to fill a small room from floor to ceiling. Prosecutor Joseph diGenova said the harm is "beyond calculation." He also said some of the material may have ended up in the hands of other governments.

Said Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, "It would be difficult for me ... to conceive of a greater harm to national security than that caused by the defendant in view of the breadth, the critical importance to the U.S. and the high sensitivity of the information he sold to Israel." The extent of the damage may never be known, since Israel refuses to return the documents so Washington can assess their importance.

This can't be written off as an escapade carried out by Israeli Oliver Norths, acting without the knowledge or approval of elected officials. If it were, Israel should have been eager to air all the facts, thus clearing its name.

diGenova says "it's clear it was authorized by some high authority because of the extensive amount of information and the distribution of that information."

Senior Israeli officials getting stacks of sensitive, secret material couldn't have been ignorant of its source — unless they wanted to be. And if the Israeli principals were abusing their position, why did the government reward them for it?

There is also reason to suspect that Israel has other Pollards at work. The Washington Post reports that several government sources say Pollard told investigators that his handlers showed him copies of other secret documents. When the Justice Department asked Jerusalem how it got those secrets, the Israelis declined to answer. Thanks to Jerusalem's stonewalling, the U.S. may never plug the leaks.

This is the sort of conduct we expect from enemies. It is not what we have a right to expect from a nation to whom we have provided consistent help, and whose safety we have counted important enough to risk a war with the Soviet Union, as we did during the 1973 Arab-Israeli war. Israel can survive without any other friends, but not without the commitment of the U.S.

Apparently the only way to impress that reality upon Israel, and to deter future espionage, is to make an appreciable cut in our aid, to be restored only when it has atoned for the Pollard affair — by fully cooperating in our investigation, by exposing the full reach of the operation in the Israeli government, and by punishing those Israelis involved. Jonathan Pollard got life in jail for what he did. Israel shouldn't get off scot-free.

Boys with their toys cause tragedies

DEAR ABBY: It was a beautiful spring day in Ellisville, so I went for a walk in my neighborhood park. Through the trees I saw three boys with several pellet guns intently tracking something. There was a flutter of feathers, several barely aimed shots, then some peals of laughter.

I was so angry and upset that by the time I found the badly injured bird, I was speechless. When those boys saw the tears in my eyes as I picked up the dying creature to humanely put it out of its misery, I think they knew.

So, if you are looking for the first robin of spring in my neighborhood — it's dead. I buried it down by the creek.

KAREN KRUMREY, ELLISVILLE, MO.

DEAR KAREN: Your letter moved me to tears. Those three cruel, misguided boys in Ellisville may not see this, but it will be seen by the parents of an untold number of children whose toys include pellet guns that could conceivably injure a family pet, blind a child, or kill the first robin of spring.

It is the responsibility of parents to raise moral children to have reverence for life and to respect all living creatures. And why must children "play" with guns, anyway?

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I'd like for you to settle an argument between my husband and me. We will abide by your decision. I am a housewife with three children. My husband is a judge.

Monday: He took a class (for enjoyment mostly) and was gone from breakfast until bedtime.

Tuesday: I played volleyball for one hour.

Wednesday: He went to a college basketball game. Again he was gone from breakfast until bedtime.

Thursday: We both stayed home.

Friday: He went to a professional basketball game with our 4-year-old son. (I could have gone, but was home ill.) Saturday: His high school friends called and wanted him to play poker.

This is when the argument occurred. I felt that he had been away from his family too much during the week and I said so. Awaiting your decision...

COUNTRY HOUSEWIFE

DEAR HOUSEWIFE: I'll do what the judge does — base my decision on the evidence. If the week you cite is a typical week, I vote in favor of the plaintiff (you.)

Pititary tumor has varied effects

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been diagnosed as having a small pituitary gland tumor. I would like to know more about these, particularly the need for surgery. — Mrs. N.C.A.

The pituitary lies under the brain at about the bridge-of-nose level. At this well-protected point it performs its master gland duties, releasing many hormones whose chemical messages regulate the activity of several other distant glands. It is not enough to know just that there is a tumor there. You must also know its size and which of the hormones that tumor is producing. Presume for the moment this tumor produces prolactin. That hormone affects the breast's milk-producing glands. Inappropriate lactation would result. The same hormone affects the ovaries. Periods might be diminished or stop. Infertility could result. The pituitary also produces a hormone that prods the thyroid gland into activity. Others act on the adrenals and in males on the testes.

When more is known about the tumor, then treatment can be initiated. For example, the drug bromocriptine will suppress prolactin production. Surgery, your chief concern, is an option. Today, with better visualizing instruments and advances in microsurgery, this little gland is more accessible. The tumor part of the gland can be removed selectively. And we have a special form of radiation therapy utilizing the proton beam.

If you'll tell me a bit more about your tumor, I might be more helpful. (See next item).

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

In this week's recipe exchange, I have included a collection of simple, but sophisticated recipes from the Canned Food Information Council.

These side dishes and salads are designed to fit your busy lifestyle — for when you want to serve appealing and attractive food, but don't have time to fuss.

The recipes are fast, easy and elegant — as appropriate for entertaining as for a quick meal at home.

The secret is being prepared for anything. With just a few items in the pantry, you can whip up a meal in minutes. The focus is on convenience and nothing is more convenient than canned foods. So stock up for a quick and carefree cuisine.

GREEN BEANS POLONAISE

1 can (16-oz.) cut or whole green beans
1 clove garlic
3 tbsp. unsalted butter
2 tbsp. instant minced onion
3 tbsp. fine dry bread crumbs
Few drops lemon juice

Drain beans, reserve juice for another use. Cut garlic clove in half, rub inside of 1½-quart microwave-safe casserole with cut surface. Heat butter, garlic and onion in microwave 2 minutes, discard garlic. Add drained green beans and lemon juice; sprinkle over bread crumbs. Microwave on high 3 minutes, tossing once.

Conventional method: Heat green beans in saucepan. Rub skillet with garlic, melt butter over low heat and saute onion until soft. Add bread crumbs and lemon juice. Cook until browned, being careful not to burn crumbs. Drain beans, keep warm. Top with buttered bread crumbs.

*Asparagus, carrots or corn also may be used.

Watch the Black and Gold trek to the winner's stand

Here's fair warning, sports fans: Don't miss Saturday's A.B.C. Relays at Blankenship Field. If you do, there are several things you are going to miss:

- You will be missing a big party for the Big Spring High School track teams.
- You will miss a horde of track talent;
- And even more, you'll miss seeing the Big Spring team members standing on the winner's platform — a lot. And that's something local track fans haven't seen in a long time.

There is little doubt: Coach Randy Britton's Steers and Coach Mike Randle's Lady Steers will be making their share of trips to the winner's circle. And it will be so good to see these athletes shine in front of the home folks.

And it will be a shame if those stands aren't packed to see Big Spring youngsters do well because this is it fans, the time you've all been waiting for. At this meet you won't have cheer for locals to finish fourth, fifth or sixth. This time they'll be battling for first, second and third places.

I'm not one to predict the future. However, if you've paid attention to the progress of Big Spring in 4A track competition, you know Big Spring will do well in the meet.

And others share the opinion, it's not just because Big Spring dropped a class from 5A. These athletes are talented, especially Britton's boys. Coach Randle's girls, because of their youth, have benefitted more from the drop to a new classification.

Randle's girls are gradually coming along. They have consistently scored points in all of the field events, as well as the 400 meters, 200 meters and distance races. Don't be surprised to see them finish among the top three at the meet.

But Britton's boys truly compose a strong track team. Judging from the performances turned in by the Steers, they could beat most 5A teams — and that's no April Fool's Day joke.

How many 5A teams have two strong relays, above-average weight people, a great high jumper, a one-two punch in the distances and enough foot speed to consistently score in the sprints, 400 and 800 meters?

This isn't something that happened just this season.

The process began some time ago and has been in the works over the past couple of seasons. Two years ago the Steers weren't slouches. They just didn't have enough quality people to score a lot of points.

The Steers were competitive last year, winning their first track meet in eight years. But the story of their season was: they always finished inches or a couple of tenths of a second away from that elusive brass ring.

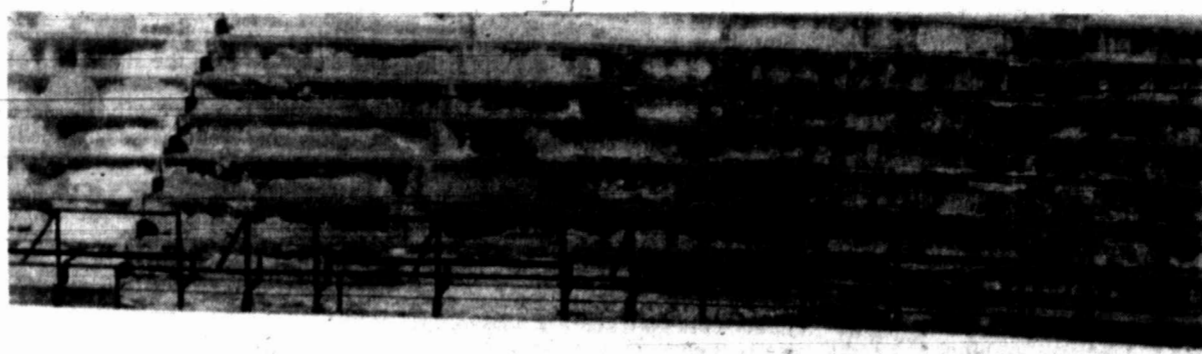

Speaking bluntly, they have been awesome this season in 4A. Their whopping 96-point victory margin in the prestigious San Angelo Relays, one of the biggest West Texas meets, is indicative of their potential.

Big Spring's times and distances were comparable to those marks in the 5A division.

That brings me to the point of teams coming to the A.B.C. Relays. That's not to say that Andrews, Lamesa, Levelland, San Angelo Lake View, Snyder and Sweetwater aren't worthy track opponents, but I want to see Big Spring keep inviting good 5A track teams like the ones the Steers have been used to competing against.

This is Big Spring's year to rub their noses in the dirt. But, since no 5A schools will be competing in the meet, I'll just have to settle for the 4A schools getting their faces smudged.

See you there.

Howard College cowgirl Jerri Lynch, a sophomore from Kyle, gets some practice in Tuesday afternoon at the Big Spring Rodeo Bowl in preparation for the Howard College-South Plains rodeo. Lynch will compete in the barrel racing.

It's rodeo time!

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Howard College cowboys will try to keep their momentum going and the HC cowgirls will be trying to break out of a slump when Howard College hosts the Howard College-South Plains National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association Rodeo Thursday-Sunday at the Big Spring Rodeo Bowl.

This will be the fifth rodeo on the 10 rodeo Southwest Region tour. Each team tabulates its top six rodeo performances for the team standings in the 18-team region.

Howard College rodeo coach Dusty Johnston is hoping for more improvement from his cowboys, who currently rank sixth in the region. Tarleton State University and Odessa College are currently leading the standings. Sul Ross State University, last year's rodeo champion, will be back to defend its men's title.

The Howard College cowboys are led by R.D. Christon, a sophomore bull rider from New Braunfels. Christon is currently ranked second in the region and fifth nationally. In the region he trails Odessa College's Jim Sharp, who's one of the best bull riders in the nation.

Last year Sharp won $70,000 competing on the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association tour, and he also won the saddle bronc competition at the Howard College rodeo. Needless to say he and Christon will be two of the featured performers in this year's rodeo.

At 5-10, 150 pounds Christon doesn't fit the mold of a bull rider. Most bull riders are shorter and weigh less. "He's a super good bull rider," said Johnston of his top point scorer. "He's lankier than most bull riders but he's very strong. He's got a lot of heart and concentration. The main thing is that he just doesn't buck off."

Other Howard cowboy hopefuls are sophomore team roper Jody Hollingsworth, a sophomore from Del Rio. Hollingsworth has been placing high at recent rodeos. He either ropes with Jas Green or Richie Bain.

Other possible point scorers are Bill Berry and Casey Strange. Berry is a sophomore bareback rider from Carlsbad, N.M. while Strange is a transfer from McNeese State in Louisiana. Strange will also compete in the bareback riding competition.

On the other hand, the Howard cowgirls have been struggling this season, as they are currently in 10th place in the region. The cowgirls have a hard act to follow from last year when they placed second in the region and sent five competitors to the national finals rodeo in Bozeman, Mont.

Johnston has three members returning from last year's national finals team. They are barrel racers Karen Snodgrass and Johnna Puckett and breakaway roper Shannon Garrison.

Puckett, who hails from Sweetwater, won the region last year. She also won the barrel race at the HC rodeo last season.

A pleasant surprise for Johnston has been the performance of freshman Kim Rankin. The Van Ormy native (located south of San Antonio) has placed high several times in breakaway roping.

"I'm not disappointed in the girls, I'm anticipating, waiting for something good to happen," said Johnston of his struggling girls team. "I know something good is going to happen sooner or later. We've had a lot of rough breaks. Maybe a barrel horse won't run like it's supposed to or we'll draw a real bad calf. But we know one day our luck is going to change."

Johnston is very excited about the rodeo and is hoping for a big crowd. "I know we don't have a tradition for having big crowds at our rodeos but I sure would like to have a big crowd. It's going to be a good rodeo, as good as any one around."

Pistons lose heartbreaker at line

By The Associated Press
Isiah Thomas suspected that foul play prevented the Detroit Pistons from making up ground on Atlanta in the NBA's hot Central Division race.

A foul called against Thomas enabled Portland's Terry Porter to hit two free throws with two seconds left Tuesday night, giving the Trail Blazers a 113-111 victory over the Pistons.

Thomas, who led Detroit with 26 points, wasn't certain the call was a bad one, but he was certain that if it was a good call, he should have spent a lot more time at the free-throw line.

"If that was a foul, and I'm not saying if it was or it wasn't, then I should be shooting free throws all night because I get pushed like that every time down the court," Thomas said of referee Bill Oakes' call. "That's a terrible way to lose a game."

Vinnie Johnson scored 23 points and Adrian Dantley added 19 for the Pistons, who were playing their seventh road game in 11 days.

Lakers 111, Rockets 96
Magic Johnson had 21 points, 13 assists and 10 rebounds for Los Angeles against Houston, which still clinched a Western Conference playoff berth because of the loss by Phoenix.

Houston, behind 60-48 at halftime, scored the first eight points of the third quarter to get within four, and the Rockets later got as close as 77-72 with 3:04 left in the third quarter.

The Lakers, who got 20 points from Byron Scott, started the final period with a 14-6 spurt for a 102-86 margin with six minutes to play.

Houston, which was led by Robert Reid and Jim Petersen with 16 points each, didn't threaten again.

Bulls 101, Bullets 75
Chicago clinched a playoff berth as Michael Jordan scored 36 points against visiting Washington.

76ers 116, Cavaliers 105
Charles Barkley had 34 points and 12 rebounds and Steve Colter added 20 points for Philadelphia in Julius Erving's last visit to the Richfield Coliseum, which drew a crowd of 17,641 despite a 20-inch snowfall.

Ron Harper led Cleveland with 27 points.

Knicks 128, Celtics 120
Louis Orr tied his career high with 28 points and Gerald Wilkins scored 16 of his 28 in the fourth quarter as New York snapped a five-game losing streak with a victory over visiting Boston.

Mavericks 118, Clippers 102
Dallas won for the ninth time in 10 games as Mark Aguirre scored 36 points against Los Angeles.

The Mavericks, returning home after an Eastern road trip that saw them win four of five games, never trailed after grabbing a 28-27 lead early in the second quarter. But they didn't pull away until a 21-10 spurt in the final 5:43 of the third quarter put them ahead 91-77.

The Clippers, with the worst record in the NBA, have now lost 15 of their last 17 games and are 3-34 on the road. They were led by Mike Woodson with 22 points.

Sonics 132, Kings 129
Tom Chambers scored seven of his 36 points in the final three minutes, including the game-winning shot with 47 seconds remaining, lifting Seattle over visiting Sacramento.

Chambers hit a four-foot bank shot to give the Sonics the lead to stay, 130-129, then added a free throw to give Seattle a two-point lead with 19 seconds left.

Sacramento, which rallied from a 12-point deficit to tie the score at 120-120 with 3:01 left, was led by Otis Thorpe with a career-high 34 points and Eddie Johnson with 30. Dale Ellis added 34 points for the Sonics, and Nate McMillan contributed 21 assists.

Jazz 110, Suns 95
Darrell Griffith scored 27 points, including three 3-point goals, as Utah beat Phoenix for the first time in four tries this season.

The host Jazz, who got 14 points, 12 rebounds and four blocked shots from Mark Eaton, led 85-77 after three quarters, then sealed the victory by holding the Suns to 18 points in the fourth period.

Walter Davis led Phoenix with 23 points and Larry Nance added 20.

Nuggets 111, Spurs 106
Bill Hanzlik had five points during a 9-2 spurt that put Denver in front for good late in the first period against San Antonio.

The run gave the host Nuggets a 29-23 advantage, and they went on to lead 92-76 after three quarters and by as many as 24 points in the fourth period before the Spurs rallied, trimming the final margin to five with a flurry of 3-pointers by Johnny Moore, who had 21 points, and Johnny Dawkins.

Denver's scoring was evenly distributed as Alex English had 18 points, Darrell Walker 17 and Lafayette Lever and Hanzlik 15 each.

Steers rally by Lamesa

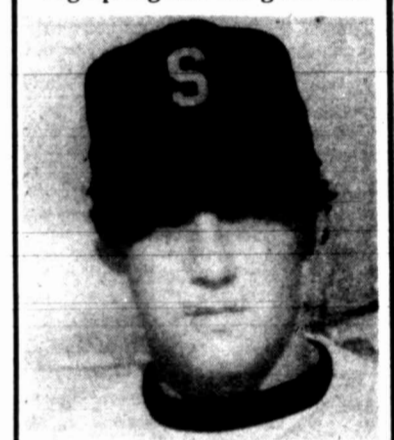

LAMESA — The Big Spring Steers toyed with the Lamesa Tornados for the first six innings of play, and then erupted for 14 runs in the seventh inning to take a 18-9 win in District 2-4A baseball action Tuesday night.

Big Spring's play over the first six innings was less than spectacular, to say the least, according to Steers coach John Velasquez. Big Spring trailed 8-4 going into their last at bat and had committed five errors which led to six unearned runs.

Pitcher Aaron Allen was the victim of Big Spring's faulty defensive play. Allen pitched five and-a-third innings, allowed three hits, struck out nine and walked seven. James Thompson, who got the win, pitched the remainder of the game.

Big Spring chased Lamesa starter Tim Berry out of the contest in the seventh. Lamesa used two other pitchers in the inning. The first six Steers reached base in the inning and Big Spring eventually batted around twice. Byron McElreath got two of his three hits in the inning.

Big Spring tied the game and

...successful squeeze play took the lead on back-to-back squeeze plays. Chad Wash and Charley Ogle bunted in Eric Thompson and Allen.

Allen also had three hits in the game and Raymond Ontiveros got two hits. Matt Garrett doubled and Ogle singled for other Steers hits.

"I wasn't happy with our performance until we got after it in the seventh inning," said Velasquez. "Until then we didn't play very well. We made the easy plays look hard plus we walked too many people. If we ever quit making errors and stop walking people, we can play with anybody."

The win gives Big Spring a 2-0 district mark and 6-9 season slate. Lamesa falls to 1-1 in league play and 3-6 overall.

The Steers will play Odessa Permian Friday in a non-district game at 4 p.m. at Steer Field.

White tired of surgery

DALLAS (AP) — Unless he is unable to throw at the season's start, Dallas Cowboys quarterback Danny White has ruled out further surgery on the right wrist that was broken playing against the New York Giants.

"I'm very confident now in my decision not to have surgery," White said. "I don't think there's any question I'll be ready when the season begins. Doctors say it might not ever be the same and that I might eventually need surgery. But it will get better before the season begins."

White's slow-healing wrist was broken on Nov. 2 by the Giants' Carl Banks.

NCAA champs get warm welcome from fans

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Although the plane bringing Indiana's newly crowned NCAA basketball champions home from New Orleans was late, fans waiting to greet the team didn't really care.

"Hoo-siers, Hoo-siers," about 15,000 fans chanted Tuesday afternoon as they waited for Indiana's 74-73 winners over Syracuse.

Inside Assembly Hall were draped with four giant red banners proclaiming Indiana's previous NCAA basketball titles. A fifth — the third for Coach Bob Knight in 16 years at Indiana — will go next to the others.

"I've had a chance to coach a lot of players and a lot of teams," Knight told the crowd. "There's never been a team I've taken greater pride in for what it has accomplished."

In five of the Hoosiers' six tournament victories, they had to battle from behind. Twice, they won by one point on baskets in the closing seconds, including Monday night's comeback from eight points down that was won on tourney MVP Keith Smart's jumper with five seconds to go.

"Hopefully, this team will show you when you've got problems of your own, when things aren't going well for you, each of you can find a Keith Smart if you look around a little bit to help you," Knight said.

The screaming fans, many of whom had been waiting more than three hours, gave heroes' welcomes to the team.

"Weren't there any classes today?" joked reserve forward Todd Meier, one of the team's three seniors. Then he pointed across the vast arena to the four NCAA banners and said, "I'm really proud because we came back here and put another banner down there."

Meier and senior starters Steve Alford and Daryl Thomas presented the NCAA trophy to retiring Indiana President John Ryan, who also spoke briefly.

"Think a minute," Ryan said to the crowd of mostly students.

"You're gathering here in history. You're gathering here in the presence of five national championships. Let anybody ask why we have Hoosier pride around this university."

Each player took his turn to speak. The biggest cheers were for Smart, because he got the winning basket, and for Alford, a two-time All-American who finished his career with a school-record 2,438 points.

The 6-foot-1 Smart, one of two junior college transfers new to the team this year, said the national championship was a "dream come true."

"During a visit here, I saw how you come together as a family. That sold me on Indiana," he said.

Smart will be one of three returning starters next year, along with 6-10 center Dean Garrett — the other junior college transfer — and 6-6 forward Rick Calloway.

"We've worked awfully hard for this. Let's savor this for awhile before you start talking about next year," Alford said.

Even in triumph, Alford couldn't resist a jab at Indiana's fierce rival, Purdue, which shared the Big Ten title with the Hoosiers but lost in the tourney's second round.

"Something that really inspired us after the (regular-season) loss up at West Lafayette, was a sign. 'So long, Bobby, Keady's Kids will be in New Orleans,'" said Alford.

"Well, it was Bobby's Boys who brought a banner back to Assembly Hall."

Knight also took a swipe, his at the mayor of Louisville, Ky.

After Louisville won the national championship a year ago, Mayor Jerry Abramson, an IU grad, had a big sign showing a picture of a Cardinal and saying, "Louisville 1986 NCAA champions" posted on a bridge leading to Louisville from southern Indiana. Abramson said at the time, "Now, when those Hoosiers come over the river, the first thing they're going to see is this."

Redistribution plan called negative

AUSTIN (AP) — Taking from the rich to help the poor would end up hurting all types of school districts in Texas, Education Commissioner William Kirby says.

"It would have a negative effect," Kirby said Tuesday in his first day as a witness in the long, complex court challenge to the way Texas distributes $5 billion in state school money.

Kirby was scheduled to testify again today. Kirby also said Tuesday he did not favor putting a cap on how much local money can be spent on schools. "We need to continue to let local districts raise their school taxes if they want and spend it the way they want," said Kirby.

Kirby is expected to be the last witness for the state in a suit brought by 67 property-poor districts who contend the present system discriminates against them. The state, joined by 48 school districts, claims the current system is fair and adequate.

In previous testimony school finance experts have said the four largest districts in the state — Houston, Dallas, Austin and San Antonio — would lose $218 million a year under a $660 million redistribution plan proposed by the poor districts.

"I think it would have a negative effect," Kirby said Tuesday when asked about the proposal. "The problem with that is if you take large numbers of school districts out of receiving state aid, then you are going to lose their advocacy for continuing to improve or increase state aid.

"If they become budget-balanced districts, that means they will be getting virtually all their tax sources from other than the state. They will not be down here helping us argue for funds. They'll be spending their efforts at home," Kirby said.

He also said these same districts have a majority of minority students now or will have soon as minority school populations increase.

Kirby said the Texas Education Agency had asked the current Legislature for an additional $438 million just to keep schools at current levels with increasing student populations. He said the TEA had asked for $2 billion more if there are revenues available to enhance the current system.

Earlier, during cross examination of Victoria Bergin, a deputy TEA commissioner, attorneys for poor districts sought to point out inequities in the present financing system.

Rick Gray, representing a group of the districts, got Ms. Bergin to agree that of 43 districts with accreditation problems, 77 percent of them were in low property wealth areas. TEA figures show 90 percent of the students involved were in poor property schools.

The trial, which began Jan. 20, resumed Monday after a two-week recess.

BIG SPRING SKIPPER TRAVEL TRAVEL TALK

STAYING AFLOAT

Twenty years ago, the passenger steamship business had all but died from its battle with the jet. How times have changed! In the past decade, the number of cruise lines has more than doubled. Since the dawn of the 80's, almost $3 billion has been spent doubling the world's fleet with the construction of new cruise ships and reconstruction of old ones. The most impressive numbers, however, pertain to the passengers themselves. According to recent studies, the number of people taking cruise vacations has doubled in six years, from approximately 1.2 million in 1980 to over 2.5 million this year. Are you among them? This season, 31 cruise lines will be sailing in the Caribbean.

It's time to ... shape up ... and ship out. Ship ahoy and come on over to Big Spring Skipper Travel, 812 S. Gregg, and make your choice of the seven seas and many cruise options available. Let our professional travel staff help you set sail for a vacation dream that will long be remembered. At BIG SPRING SKIPPER TRAVEL we will put the wind in your sails and place you on the magic carpet of vacation dreams. Tel. 263-0225 or 263-7837. Open 8:30-5:30 Mon.-Fri.

The winner

Carvel Nguyen will represent this region at the national Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C. May 25, because he remembered how to spell the word "startle" Saturday afternoon. The Howard County Spelling Bee champion won the regional competition "after 80 to 90 rounds of spelling" among 13 contestants, he said.

His final round opponent, Frank Garcia, representing Mitchell County, failed to correctly spell "pneumonia." Upon Carvel's correct spelling of the word, he successfully tackled the final and winning challenge to his hopes and earned the championship.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Tra Nguyen, Big Spring, Carvel represented Howard County for the second consecutive year. He admitted being "a little nervous." He said his father will accompany him to Washington, D.C. His regional competition was sponsored by the Big Spring Herald.

A very tough decision

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

The tough decisions are the ones that may hurt or disappoint others. It's probably true that the more talented you are, the more tough decisions you'll have to make. People expect a lot from talented people.

Brian Mayfield is immensely talented, of that there's no question. Recently he made a tough decision.

Make that a very tough decision. Mayfield, an all-state punter and defensive back, will not play football next season. Instead, he'll concentrate his efforts on basketball and track, two sports he does very well in.

"It was a real tough decision, but I want to play college basketball, so I thought I might get in the gym and get the little things down. I talked it over with my parents, and they said they would back me in whatever I did," Mayfield said this Tuesday.

Mayfield's explanation makes good sense.

Basketball is and always has been his favorite sport. In his sophomore year, he dominated district 4-5A basketball. This year, however, after a long football season that lasted far into November, Mayfield started slowly on the basketball court. The Steers had a new coach in Boyce Paxton, and subsequently a new system. Mayfield, after having spent every afternoon since August on the football field, joined the team after they'd already played a few games.

By his own admission, Mayfield was not the player who won the 4-5A sophomore of the year award a year earlier. He was out of sync with his teammates, his shot felt funny, and at times he looked confused on the court.

And it's important that he be in stride next year. It could determine his future.

Mayfield is 6-5, which is taller than most high school players. His height allows him to rebound and score over post players shorter than he'll find in college ball.

Since he wants to play college basketball, that means he's going to have to make changes in his game. Rather than playing center or big forward, Mayfield will be a guard or small forward in college. To play those positions, he must improve his ball handling and shooting skills.

That takes time. If he were to play football, he could forget making improvements in August, September, October and November.

Maybe, like this season, he wouldn't start playing his best until the last two weeks of the season. Maybe by then the scouts would have long since started ignoring him. Maybe he wouldn't have played at all, because maybe a running back would have wiped out his knee.

Most likely, though, he would have played football, then played basketball well enough to warrant several basketball scholarship offers. But the scholarships might be to junior colleges or Division II schools.

Mayfield, understandably, wants to play for a good Division I program. To do that, he's got to be his best next year. Therefore, the decision.

"I'll miss football — there's no doubt about it. It'll be tough, but this is what I want to do in college. I'll be sitting in the stands, but I'll be up there supporting them," the Big Spring junior said.

Downtown Lions give money for children's camp

"Difficult economic times have thrown the Lions League of Texas behind in support of its Crippled Children's Camp," said Glenn Crawford at the Downtown Lions Club meeting March 25.

The annual two-week camp, hosted in Kerrville, is funded by the Lions Clubs without any expense to the children or their families.

Royce Clay, president, and the local Downtown Lions Club helped the financial matters of the Lions League by presenting Crawford with a $1,500 check, according to a release from the club.

Doug Morris, chairman of camp applications, urges parents with children with physical disabilities to contact him at the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Local journalist honored by Press Women

Carole Fry Owen, 9 Coachman Circle, a freelance journalist, won the Texas Press Women sweepstakes as the winner of 10 journalist awards.

Owen was to receive the award at the TPW 95th annual convention banquet in Houston Saturday.

According to her husband, Dr. Ray Owen, a Malone and Hogan Clinic pediatrician, Carole Owen graduated from Kansas State University with a bachelor of science degree in technical journalism.

She published a quarterly medical and technical magazine, "Texas Reports on Biology and Medicine" from 1962-72 in Galveston, he said.

The couple moved to Big Spring in 1972, and Owen began freelance work three or four years ago, mostly for fun, he said.

She writes articles on a variety of topics, including agriculture, business and dogs, he said, and she has written a number of articles for the "Business Journal of the Permian Basin."

Owen's awards at the TPW convention are: first place in news reporting for a non-daily newspaper of at least 5,000 circulation; first place in news reporting publication for general or specialized circulation; first place for feature story in publication for general or specialized circulation;

First place for special articles on agriculture and agribusiness; first place for photography in a newspaper other than a daily — a picture story in color; first place for photography in a newspaper other than a daily — photo essay in color; first place in photography in publication other than a newspaper — picture story in color; first place in photography in publication other than a newspaper — photo essay in color; second place for personality profile publication for general or specialized circulation; and third place for special article series of three sports stories.

All first place winning entries are forwarded to the National Federation of Press Women Communications contest, winners of which are to be announced this summer at the convention in Williamsburg, Va.

At the state convention Saturday, 259 awards were presented to 87 contest winners. 110 members from around the state submitted a total of 486 entries in newspaper and magazine writing, radio and television broadcasting and advertising and public relations.

Parking for handicapped enforced

The Big Spring Police Department wants to remind residents that it is enforcing parking for the handicapped on a daily basis, Lt. Troy Hogue said Friday.

Anyone without a permit displayed on the left side of the car windshield or a handicapped sticker on the license plate will be ticketed if parked in an area designated for the handicapped, he said.

People whose vehicle blocks access curb ramps or architectural improvements designed to aid the handicapped, or park a vehicle displaying a handicapped permit when they aren't authorized or aren't transporting a disabled person will also be ticketed, Hogue said.

Residents air concerns at forum

By KERRY HAGLAND
Staff Writer

Residents concerned about flooding, street conditions, taxes and other city issues attended a public forum Friday night that introduced city council candidates.

About 20 people attended the forum, sponsored by the Fire Fighters Association, at the International Union of Operating Engineers Union Hall at Cosden Refinery. Only five of the seven candidates running for District 1 and 3 attended the forum.

Elaine Oliver, running for District 1, and Harold Hall, running for re-election in District 3 were absent. Councilman Henry Sanchez, Pat Deanda, and Lee Young running for District 1, and D.D. Johnston and Patsy Cawthon running for District 3 attended the forum.

Each candidate gave a short introduction. After all introductions were given, the audience was allowed to address questions to one or more candidates.

"I'm sensitive to the working man; times are hard," Pat Deanda said. Lawmakers need to talk in laymen's terms to help residents understand city issues, Deanda said.

Audience members criticized current and past councils for lack of communication with their constituents.

"Everyone's intentions have been real good — while they're running for office," Nolan Beall, 1731 Yale Ave., said, complaining that council members don't discuss issues often enough with their constituents.

A council member only has so much time to devote to the part-time position, candidate

Lee Young said. Because he is retired, he can devote more time than others who must work, he said.

Attending meetings are important, Deanda said, but it's a council member's job to make residents aware of what is being addressed at those meetings.

Henry Sanchez, seeking re-election in District 1, said he would like to see the industrial area by the airport developed and would also like to develop the quality of streets and city water plants.

D.D. Johnston stressed his involvement in community service organizations and said citizen's will have to compromise on a lot of things because of economic hardships. "We can't throw up our hands and quit," he said.

Both Sanchez and Young said raising taxes might be unavoidable. Cawthon said cuts should be made to avoid raising taxes. She recommended shutting down businesses with delinquent taxes as one method to avoid an increase.

Each candidate said repairing city streets was also a top priority.

Cosden blood donors give 235 units

Blood donors contributed 44 units at a Fina blood drive Wednesday, according to drive coordinator Robyn Drinkard.

The effort was a replacement drive for Arden Drinkard, Robyn Drinkard's brother-in-law. Before his death of cancer in late January, 51 units of platelets were used in his battle with the disease.

Fina was awarded a community service appreciation award for the 191 units of blood donated at Fina drives in 1986, Robyn Drinkard said. The award is on display in the refinery lunchroom and will soon be placed in its permanent location in the conference room.

San Angelo United Blood Services representatives have been frequenting the refinery since July of 1986. The first blood drive netted 55 units. Every contributing employee received a coffee mug from the UBS.

A second drive was conducted in September as a replacement drive for the family of James Baird, operator tester in the control lab, whose daughter Sherrie was killed in an automobile accident.

The drive netted 81 units. UBS provided a baseball cap to each employee who donated and a sun shade screen for a drawing after the drive. Cosden Employees Credit Union offered a $50 cash prize in a drawing for donors. David McWherter won the sun shade screen, and Kenny Hart won the $50.

A Christmas drive, conducted Dec. 11, netted 55 units. In keeping with the season, the credit union and Fina offered a trip to Dallas in a drawing for donors.

The credit union provided two round-trip airline tickets, two admission tickets to the Dallas Cowboy-Chicago Bears football game and one night's lodging at the Holiday Inn in Dallas.

Lady Steer golfers in third place

Hampered by the loss of Tammy Burnsed, the Big Spring Lady Steers finished in third place in the first District 2-4A golf tournament at Comanche Trail Golf Course Saturday.

The Lady Steers shot a 386, behind Andrews' 361 and Fort Stockton's 383. Coach Mickey Finley's Lady Steers were without Burnsed, who will be out for the season. Burnsed, a junior, suffered broken ribs in a car accident Tuesday, said Finley.

Freshman Leigh Corsan shot in Burnsed's place on the Lady Steers number one team.

Hawks stop

Ranger, 4-1

RANGER — The Howard College Hawks banged out 11 hits, while Ted Hebert allowed only one run as the Hawks defeated Ranger Jr. College 4-1 here Saturday.

The Hawks opened the scoring in the second inning. With one out, Juan Rodriguez singled to right field. Shortstop Joel Chimelis followed with a single to left. One out later, Joey Camarillo walked to load the bases, and the next batter, Frank Medina also walked, forcing in Rodriguez.

After a solo home run by Ernesto Castro in the third inning, the Hawks got going again in the sixth. Camarillo reached base on an error by the Ranger shortstop.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Shop services all makes lawn mowers

It's time to get your lawn equipment in tip-top shape, says Gerold Cox, owner of Hall Aircooled Engine, 508 Gregg. Hall Aircooled Engine is a family-operated business that sells and services equipment with small gas-powered engines. "We service anything with a small gas engine on it," Cox says. The shop services all makes of lawn mowers, and sells Toro lawn equipment, Stihl chain saws, generators, pumps and weed trimmers. To kick off the yard and garden season, Hall is featuring special prices on all Toro walking and riding mowers. The factory-trained service staff has recently participated in annual update seminars, including Briggs & Stratton and Kohler seminars in Midland-Odessa, plus Tecumseh and Toro seminars in Fort Worth. The firm carries a full line of parts and supplies for lawn and garden equipment for all these brands. Gerold Cox owns and operates the business and works as a mechanic and parts man. He has 28 years experience in the repair of small engines. He has sold auto parts and worked on small engines here since the 1950's. In 1982 he bought Hall Aircooled Engine, a longtime established firm. Since that time he has expanded the business in services offered and in total inventory. Other members of Cox's family employed by the business include his wife, Betty, office manager; the couple's daughter, Debra Casey, who operates the parts department; and their son-in-law Jerry Farmer, who is a mechanic.

Ten poster contest winners named

Ten first place winners in the recent Lions Club drug awareness poster contest have been named. Five area clubs, the Big Spring Evening Lions Club, the Big Spring Downtown Lions Club, the Webb Spring Lions Club and the Coahoma Lions Club, will sponsor winners. Each club chose two first-place winners, one from the third or fourth grade and one from the fifth or sixth grade. Winners are Kirk Klatt, a fourth grader at Bauer Elementary School; Cornia Ramos, a fifth grader at Bauer; Keri Cotton, a sixth grader at Kentwood Elementary School; and Enrique Calderon, a fourth grader at Marcy Elementary School. The others are Cassie Underwood, a sixth grader at Goliad Middle School; Julia Gonzalez, a sixth grader at Goliad; Kelly Elliot, a third grader at Marcy; Renea Osborn, a sixth grader at Goliad; Michael Oliva, a fifth grader at College Heights; and Heather Hernandez, a third grader at Marcy. The clubs also awarded 10 second places, 10 third places and 20 honorable mentions. They received 232 posters.

Clerk attends conference

Howard County Clerk Margaret Ray was among 450 officials who attended the 15th annual County and District Clerk's Seminar earlier this month. "The responsibilities of our office are quite extensive and that was reflected in the seminar program," Ray said. "A variety of workshops, roundtable discussions and presentations were offered in all, some 35 sessions involving about 75 speakers," she added. Major topics included local option elections, probate law, criminal and civil appeals process, child support enforcement and family law, management of court records, computerization and personnel management.

Charity telethon to be April 4

KMID-TV plans to host a live telethon at Odessa's Permian Mall April 4 to benefit the Ronald McDonald House of the Permian Basin. Local television anchors and radio personalities are to provide entertainment at the mall and door prizes will be awarded. Ronald McDonald Houses provide seriously ill children and their families a place to stay while they undergo medical treatment away from their homes.

Journalist wins award

Sigma Delta Chi, the Society of Professional Journalists, has presented the "Service to Journalism" award to Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta for their role in breaking the Iran scandal story through their syndicated column. In a series of articles beginning April 28, 1986, Anderson and Van Atta reported the Reagan administration was engaged in "behind-the-scenes negotiations with Iran over the American hostages held by pro-Iranian terrorists." The "Service to Journalism" award, presented to the columnists earlier this month, was created by Western Region 9 of the Society of Professional Journalists to honor outstanding reporters from the West. Both Anderson and Van Atta began their newspaper careers in Utah. Their Washington Merry-Go-Round column is distributed to more than 900 newspapers, including the Big Spring Herald, by United Feature Syndicate. Anderson won the Pulitzer Prize in Journalism in 1972 and has been responsible for uncovering major news stories well ahead of the competition throughout his career as an investigative reporter.
