New City Council member Pat Deanda was sworn in, the election results canvassed, and a runoff election set during the special Tuesday afternoon Council

The runoff election is scheduled for April 27, with absentee voting beginning Monday at the office of Tom Ferguson, the city finance director said. District 3 voters can cast ballots between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays, he said. The runoff is between D.D. Johnston and Councilman Harold Hall. Johnston received 49.1 percent of the vote, records indicate. A candidate must win 50 percent plus one vote to win, Ferguson said. Hall received 26.6 percent. Hall said Tuesday that he will not officially drop American Citizens, of which he is a member and past vice president. However, he said he intends to keep a low profile for a few months until he gets settled.

He hopes to get younger people involved in local affairs, he said.

An official of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store International Union, of which Gregg Street Safeway employees are members, said he is unsure yet what the union will do.

"we're going to do what we can for the members," but that he's not sure yet what that will entail.

He said store employees knew about Safeway closings before Safeway personnel who negotiate with the unions.

Grand jury to review 19 cases

Howard County grand jurors began hearing their second day of testimony this morning and District Attorney Rick Hamby said they are expected to hand down indictments this afternoon.

The grand jury is hearing testimony on three felony charges today. A total of 19 cases were scheduled to be heard during the two-day session that began Tuesday.

One case being heard today involved Holston Banks Jr., 21, 1106 N.W. Seventh St., aggravated robbery on Jan. 7. Other cases involve an investigation into an aggravated sexual assault that occurred in July 1986; and an investigation into a theft over $750 that occurred in 1985.

People involved in the following cases also face possible indictment by the jury.

West Texas SSC steering committee chairman Ralph McLaughlin, displaying a copy of the conceptual design of the superconducting supercollider, says West Texans likely won't participate in a Texas Panhandle SSC consortium. It is being organized by the mayor of

West Texans decline Panhandle SSC visit

From staff and wire reports

LUBBOCK - Although Lubbock's mayor says he will invite his counterparts in Amarillo and other area cities to discuss combining resources on attracting the superconducting supercollider project to the Panhandle, West Texans likely will not participate.

The SSC steering committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, promoting the Garden City site, isn't interested in combining forces, Chairman Ralph McLaughlin said

The Garden City site proposal has already been submitted to the state Legislature, McLaughlin

A supercollider task force appointed by Lubbock Mayor B.C. 'Peck'' McMinn agreed to approach Amarillo about joining the Panhandle consortium. The cities would submit the location with the best technical qualifications to the Lubbock officials are considering a proposed site west of Reese Air Force Base.

Dr. Mason Somerville, Texas Tech dean of engineering, said Lubbock could go alone with the Reese site, join with groups promoting sites near Garden City.

Fort Stockton-Pecos or El Paso, or unite with Amarillo and other Panhandle cities to study the Reese

Lubbock has only until May 15 to do topographical surveys and other studies to prove the site's viability, McLaughlin said.

'They haven't spent $200,000 yet when they do that they'll be in the same ballpark," he said, referring to the amount of money spent promoting the Garden City site.

Somerville said the consortium would also have to resolve how to finance the purchase of 16,000 acres that would have to be donated to the federal government for the multi-billion dollar atomsmasher project. The SSC steering committee of West Texas is forming a separate entity to purchase the land, McLaughlin said. "Anyone who has 16,000 acres of land can make a bid," he said. "All they have in Lubbock is dirt and sky," said McLaughlin, explaining that the Garden City site meets all specifications for a superconducting supercollider.

State law as written would preclude a dozen or so cities bidding on the collider to offer land in other counties, McMinn said.

AUSTIN (AP) — If it reaches his desk, Gov. Bill Cleents says he "probably" would veto legislation that would allow Texans to carry concealed handguns.

"I think we shoot enough of each other already. I can't see where this business of being able to carry concealed handguns would serve any useful purpose whatsoever," Clements said

Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, has introduced the measure, which recently won the support of House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, who said it would clear up confusion about the state's gun laws

The bill would allow law-abiding citizens "of sound mind" to get the permits and carry handguns anywhere except school grounds, polling places, government offices, places that sell alcohol or in a motor vehicle while a person is

Wilson told the House Public Safety Committee the bill is needed because "particularly in Houston it seems the only people that are carrying guns are the criminals."

Several police groups have opposed the measure, which is pending before the full

Clements told his weekly news conference that he doubts the measure ever will pass both the House and Senate so he would be in a position to exercise his veto power. "I don't think it will ever get to me. I think it's a big to-do about nothing," he said.

House debating development package

AUSTIN (AP) - A Housebacked economic development plan could turn into state help for small businessmen on the path to the poorhouse, a Corsicana lawmaker says.

Despite Rep. Tom Waldrop's objections, the House on Tuesday approved three proposed constitutional amendments and several bills that are part of Speaker Gib Lewis' economic development

The package includes the issuance of bonds to raise money that could be used to help small businesses get started. Sponsor Rep. Paul Colbert, D-Houston, called it a "get-yourself-on-your-feet program" for entrepreneurs long on initiative but short on money and technical help.

"I think what it will do is send a message out that Texas is diversifying its economy, that we are moving away from dependence on oil and gas," Lewis said.

Colbert's proposed constitutional amendment was approved 199-26 and sent to the Senate, where approval would send it to the November general election ballot.

The measure would allow the issuance of $50 million in bonds for various forms of business start-up aid. Included is $10 million for a Texas Small Business Incubator Fund to help new small businesses. 'What we're talking about is setting up an environment in which small business just starting out in Texas can be provided with technical assistance and shared facilities and resources to enable them to move out into the community," Colbert said.

But Waldrop said it could give money to businessmen with little chance of succeeding. He cited statistics showing that 80 to 90 percent of small businesses go broke within five years.

"Bear in mind that that was in the best of times, and it was involving people who had nurtured hopes and dreams and had accumulated a large amount of dedication to the enterprises they proposed to establish, and that had saved long what some people would consider to create jobs.

Allies oppose dollar fall

WASHINGTON — The United States is getting a strong message from its key economic allies: the dollar has fallen enough and efforts to weaken it further to ease the U.S. trade deficit will be resisted.

A six-nation agreement reached last February in Paris to stabilize the dollar was expected to be reaffirmed at a closed-door session today among finance officials of the world's major industrialized democracies.

Although a weaker dollar can improve this nation's trade balance by making imports more expensive and U.S. goods cheaper abroad, top financial leaders - including those in the United States - appear united in their support for renewed efforts to break the dollar's fall

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Elderly residents who say they once lived behind unlocked doors have armed themselves as police hunt for a killer blamed for the rapes and slayings of three elderly widows during the past five months.

"I'm not scared, but I suppose that could change real quick. I've got a gun and I'm not afraid to use it," Frances Fratherree, a 78-year-old widow, said

Police have increased patrols in the central-city neighborhoods where the three widows were slain. The most recent victim, Addie Reid, 80, was strangled and beaten last week in her home. Police said she had been

'My son was all for moving me out the day after this happened. But I said there was no sense in doing that," said Mrs. Fratherree, a close friend and neighbor of Mrs. Reid. "I still think this is a good neighborhood. I don't want to leave.

Other residents agreed, saying they have no intention of moving from the homes they've lived in for years, but they have bought guns for protection.

"I'm not going to wait for him to get in. I'll shoot him right when I see him," said one 80-year-old widow who, like many others interviewed, asked not to be identified out of fear

Another elderly widow said she's afraid to go outside for the morning paper.

"I look around three or four times to make sure no one's around," she said. "The police don't want us to stay locked up inside. They want us to go out and look around to see if we see anyone snooping around. But I'm not going to do that. When it starts getting dark, I lock myself up inside."

Police Chief L.C. Smith said the theory that the crimes were committed by the same man is based on similarities in the slayings and evidence obtained from the victim of a March 25 rape. That victim survived an attempted strangulation, probably because the attacker left thinking her dead.

By the types of injuries and how the people are being killed, I have no doubt in my mind that we're dealing with one individual," said Dr. Rodrigo Galvez, a pathologist and psychiatrist who developed a psychological profile of the suspect.

He declined to discuss his findings further, saying to do so would jeopardize the investigation. Police say all four elderly white women were alone when attacked, and the victims were raped, beaten and strangled. The first, Mary Dewitt, 81, was found strangled Nov. 21 at her home. The body of Bertha Tanner, 83, was discovered at her home Dec. 21 with a telephone cord wrapped loosely around her neck. A belt was used to strangle Mrs. Reid, investigators said.

"We have never had this type of thing before," Public Safety Director Jim Black said. "This is the city's first serial killer as far as I can remember, and I have been with the police department more than 30

The surviving victim gave a description of her attacker, but Black said police aren't sure how accurate it was because the man knocked off the woman's glasses as he forced his way through her door

Divers recover bodies

ZEEBRUGGE, Belgium - Divers today recovered 63 corpses from the upper decks of a partially submerged British ferry and searched for an estimated 71 more bodies believed still trapped in the debris-strewn hulk.

Salvage crews on Tuesday used floating cranes and giant barges to right the 7,951-ton Herald of Free Enterprise, allowing divers to

The vessel sat on its keel in 30 feet of water about 1,000 yards from shore, where it capsized March 6 with 543 passengers after water rushed through its bow loading doors. Sixtyone bodies were recovered in the days immediately after the accident.

Paul Ellis, a spokesman for Townsend Thoresen Co., the ferry's owner, said today that 63 more bodies were recovered by Belgian and British navy divers early today.

Pope protests divorce

CORDOBA, Argentina — Pope John Paul II condemned divorce briefly in advance of his special Mass today for the family, asking how Argentina could remain peaceful if it approves a pending bill to legalize "the disintegration of marriage.

The pope, as head of the world's 840 million Roman Catholics, has criticized divorced people for taking the "easy way out" of their marriages and splintering families.

Opposition party splits

SEOUL, South Korea - The nation's two leading dissidents and 74 lawmakers today split from what had been the main opposition party and said they were forming a new party to oppose President Chun Doo-hwan.

Kim Young-sam and Kim Dae-jung said in a prepared statement that the new party will be active by early May.

The split left the New Korea Democratic Party, formerly the largest opposition party, with only 16 seats in the legislature.

"We are taking this course because we need a strong, clear-cut opposition party to attain democratization of our country, which is the ardent desire of an absolute majority of people," Kim Young-sam told a news conference.

Kim Dae-jung, who is planning a key role in the new party along with Kim Young-sam, could not attend the news conference because he was under house arrest.

Iran arms deal thorn for Bush

If you want to be president of the United States, being vice president can be awkward. That is the situation George Bush finds himself in these days, and he may be thinking of some predecessors

Vice President Hubert Humphrey lost to Richard Nixon in 1968 because he could not criticize President Lyndon Johnson on the Vietnam War issue. He was damned if he did and damned if he didn't.

Former Vice President Walter Mondale undoubtedly lost votes to Ronald Reagan in 1984 because he was tarred with President Jimmy Carter's administration.

And now Bush is in political trouble because he cannot disassociate himself from Reagan's Iran-Contra arms deal. Bush tried timidly to distance himself by saying that he had reservations about the arms sales. But he was not convincing.

Then the president said that Bush had supported the arms sale plan. And Bush had no choice but to say that Reagan was telling "the truth."

If he wants the president's political support, Bush must go down the line with his leader. If he does this, however, he ties himself to a failed and unpopular policy.

Unfortunately for Bush, the debate will not go away before the primaries. And if he is to have credibility as a candidate, he will have to speak out candidly and tell the American people just what his role was.

toast retiring postmaster

By ROBERT WERNSMAN Hang around long enough, as was the case of Frank Hardesty, and you can acquire a treasure chest full of friends Then, when you give them a little incentive as happened at Saturday's roast and toast, they can produce a career's worth of memories - some of which the occupant of the hotseat may have wished had been forgotten.

More than 200 friends and postal co-workers gathered in the Big Spring Country Club to give the 22-year postmaster a royal sendoff. Among them was Bob

"Tumbleweed Smith" Lewis, who admitted having some concern about the challenge he faced. Lewis, who has made a children writing and storytelling talents, who has made a career of said that in most instances it's far 'easier to toast than to roast.' No worry, however.

Lewis and the other nine roasters did their best to bring a bright shade of pink to Hardesty's face as they recounted both real and imaginary past incidents in their good-natured ribbing.

Hardesty's size was referred to, as Mayor Cotton Mize recalled sharing space on the basketball court with the postmaster. "He was not a good ballplayer, but he took up a lot of room," said Mize.

The mayor also confided that he never forgot the pushing and shoving Hardesty participated in under the basket. "It was 1940, but I said I'd get even — now I adjust his tion of that from Frank, who called it a "game of fractions." And, Hart said, he immediately wanted to know if "Notre Dame by 61/2" was good. The former sports and managing editor noted that "Frank is a selfmade man, which gives us all reason for a sigh of relief - he's more of a warning than an example.'

Tumbleweed Smith took his turn, explaining that "Hardesty's the only guy I know who would plan his own retirement party charge admission.

Representing Congressman Charles Stenholm, Dale King kissed Hardesty's receding hairline and explained: "That was from Cindy Stenholm. She's sweet, but I wish she delivered her own messages.

Remarks from Colorado City radio owner Jim Baum included best wishes for Hardesty's retirement. "I hope," he said, "you don't expect to get your retirement check by mail." Baum earlier claimed, with a smile, that he had only that day received his invitation via the postal service.

Family members also took part, as his nephew, Ed Hardesty, informed the audience of a family secret — his uncle had once earned the coveted title of National Poster Child for Irregularity

Jack Hardesty entertained the crowd with tidbits on how old his brother is. He wouldn't tell, but he pointed out that Frank had attend-

Billy Graham

Ask God for help deciding

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I will be graduating from college soon, and I'm in a panic because I don't know what I'll be doing afterward. I have several opportunities, but I'm so afraid of making the wrong decision that I'm probably going to delay and lose all my opportunities. How can I make the right decision? — B.T.

DEAR B.T.: Many years ago a wise friend pointed me to a passage in the Bible that has meant a great deal to me whenever I have faced decisions. You will find it in Proverbs 3:5-6.

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight."

God knows what decision is right for you — because He loves you, and He has a plan for your life. Are you honestly looking to Him to guide you, and are you willing to do whatever He wants you to do?

If you have never committed your life to Christ, take that step of commitment today by asking Him to come into your life. Then ask Him to guide you as you make your decision. He makes no mistakes, and if He leads you, then you can rest in the knowledge that your decision is right.

How will He guide you?

He will guide you as you evaluate the abilities and interests He has given you (perhaps with the help of others who know you and your abilities). He will guide you by giving you a quiet assurance that 'a certain way is right as you trust Him. God often guides us also by opening doors of opportunity for us often when we least expect

Above all, God guides us by His Word, the Bible — showing us what is really important in life.

Today, many people in your situation are concerned only about getting ahead and being paid a good salary. But when you know Christ and His Word, you know there is more to life than that. Trust Him and He will guide you.

Syrian complicity in tragedy

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON - Syrian complicity in the kidnapping, detention and eventual murder of American hostage Peter Kilburn was established beyond doubt by intercepted telephone conversations, we have learned.

The phone interceptions by the National Security Agency were part of a bizarre — and almost successful — plan by the U.S. government to ransom Kilburn with millions of dollars in greenbacks that would self-destruct within three to five days after delivery to the kidnappers.

The ransom deal fell apart with the U.S. air strike on Libya on April 14, 1986. Kilburn's body was found three days later on the outskirts of Beirut.

Kilburn, 60, was a pro-Arab librarian at the American University in Beirut when he was abducted on Dec. 3, 1984. We reported part of the Kilburn tragedy last November, writing: "The frustration and ultimate futility of trying to ransom American hostages with arms or money was tragically demonstrated last spring (when Kilburn's captors grew) tired of waiting for the $3 million the Reagan administration was (raising).

Now we have learned the whole incredible story:

In 1985, a Canadian of Armenian background contacted the FBI and offered to act as intermediary with Kilburn's kidnappers, a Lebanese criminal gang. The Canadian established his good faith by producing a Kilburn identity card.

The FBI took charge of the negotiations, assisted by the CIA, the Pentagon and Lt. Col. Oliver North of the National Security Council staff. The first step was to monitor all of th Canadian's international telephone calls, when he was in Europe as well as in Canada. Thus at every stage the Americans knew the other side's negotiating tactics.

The Syrian government's involvement quickly became clear. Most of the Canadian's phone calls were to people in Damascus, at least one of whom was a Syrian government official.

By late 1985 the initial American ransom offer had been tendered: $500,000. According to one source, the Canadian intermediary was almost laughing scornfully as he relayed the offer to Damascus, and assured his cohorts that the Americans could be "held up" for a lot more. At this point, the FBI decided it would go after the Canadian for criminal prosecution once Kilburn was safely home.

The price finally agreed on in March 1986 was more than $3 million. To get around the U.S. policy of not paying ransom for kidnapped Americans, the decision was made to use money that would disintegrate in a matter of days. It was vital, of course, that the money not deteriorate too rapidly, in case there was a slight delay between payment and Kilburn's release. A slow-acting solution was developed that would give three day's grace. The bills, in small denominations, would be taken from stockpiles of old money scheduled for burning.

The final technical problem was how to treat such a huge quantity of small bills all at once. One proposal was to fill a swimming pool with the self-destruct solution and dump the money in.

By late March the negotiations were so close to fruition that Kilburn's relatives were advised of his imminent release, at least one U.S. warship was dispatched to stand by off the Lebanese coast to pick the hostage up.

But the deal began to unravel and was shattered irrevocably by the U.S. raid on Libya. Kilburn and two British hostages were shot in reprisal. The Canadian escaped. North, distraught at the tragic outcome, wrote a note to former National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane on April 21: "The Kilburn tragedy has us very concerned because there appears to be some possibility of Syrian complicity in Kilburn's death and the same could happen to our other hostages if the Syrians are able to put their hands on them.'

The report by the Columbia, Md.-based Institute for Resource Development says, "A child born in one of the high-mortality African and Asian countries today is on average 20 times more likely to die before reaching age 5 than a child born in the United States, Japan or Sweden.'

In addition, child deaths vary widely even among countries within regions, not just between developed and developing nations, said Alene Gelbard, the Institute's deputy director of population studies.

"This is just really unjust," she commented in an interview. But the differences also offer a glimmer of hope, because if one nation in an area has fewer child deaths, the reasons for its success can be learned and applied elsewhere, she

The Institute, a research division of the Westinghouse Electric Co., published the report Monday. The report looks at infant deaths in more than 100 developing nations, and compared them with three developed nations, Sweden, Japan and the United States.

The United Nations estimates that about 2 billion babies will be born during the 15 years, 1.8 billion of them in the so-called developing world. Of the 244.6 billion under-5 children who will die at current Respiratory infections such as pneumonia claim another 4 million young lives annually, outranking diarrhea in some areas, the study adds. Malaria remains another of the major killers of children, perhaps contributing to as many as 1.5 million deaths.

Officials crack down on bribery

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — "La Mordida," the Mexican tradition of bribes to police or government officials, has come to an end in this border city across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Texas, according to authorities.

Jose Arturo Ramos, director of the newly combined Juarez transit and city police departments, announced that police officers who try to extract bribes — and people who offer them — will be jailed.

La mordida means "the bite" in Spanish.

'We have a bad image and we are going to change it," said Ramos. "We want people who live in El Paso to know that it is safe to travel in Juarez. We want people to come to us for help, not run away.

El Paso tourism officials complained last summer to their Juarez counterparts that reports of police demanding bribes from tourists were at their highest. Last summer, Juarez was shaken by political unrest as the main opposition political party staged rallies, demonstrations and the blockading of bridges connecting the two cities.

Visiting motorists said police officers stopped them for imaginary traffic violations. Tourists would pay bribes rather than go to jail or to avoid having their vehicle's license plates removed until a fine was paid. Since a new administration took over city hall,

Texaco wins temporary reprieve

HOUSTON - Texaco Inc., seeking relief from a multibillion-dollar bond it is required to post to continue its legal battle against Pennzoil Co., won a temporary reprieve from a state appeals court.

The 1st Texas Court of Appeals in Houston on Tuesday agreed to hear arguments concerning a state law that would require Texaco to post a staggering $11 billion bond if it wants to pursue its appeal.

Oral arguments are scheduled for Monday at 9 a.m. in the Houston court. For Texaco, the appeals court decision was a welcome victory in a series of defeats.

On Monday, the U.S. Supreme Court handed Texaco a setback when it revived an order that the company post an $11 billion bond during the appeals process. The justices voted 9-0 to throw out a federal judge's ruling that had reduced the bond to $1 billion in security.

The high court said U.S. District Judge Charles Brieant in White Plains, N.Y. - where Texaco is based - should have abstained from the ruling. But the decision left the way open for Texaco to pursue a challenge to the bond issue in Texas courts.

Texaco responded quickly, filing a 25-page petition in the appeals court Tuesday seeking relief from the full bond and lien requirements under Texas law

Police chief suspect in drug ring

MARLIN - Police Chief Ross Mortimer has been indicted on charges of official misconduct and participation in organized criminal activity stemming from an amphetamine drug lab raid.

Also indicted Tuesday were four people arrested at an amphetamine lab March 18 where authorities found a police machine gun and six handguns from the police evidence room.

The Falls County grand jury was to reconvene today to continue its investigation of drug activities, said District Attorney Thomas Mortimer faces up to 99 years in prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted of the organized crime charge. He could get up to 10 years in jail and a $5,000 fine if convicted for official misconduct.

Students credited with illegal calls

LUBBOCK — As many as 2,000 students at Texas Tech University may have made up to $1 million worth of long-distance calls using code numbers belonging to MCI Telecommunications Corp. customers, police say University Police Det. Jay Parchman said investigators have found that at least six different codes were being used illegally, including the personal code number of Lubbock County Justice of the Peace L.J. Blalack.

MCI is giving students a twoweek grace period in which to turn themselves in and make restitution, spokesman Scott Schreibstein said. He said the illegal calls could total as much as $1 million.

"We're going to ask students who have used codes that are MCI codes to come forward and agree to make restitution for those calls," he said 'If they do that, we will not press any charges. However, we do want to be firm in that we will use the full measure of the law for people who don't cooperate.

Schreibstein said a similar situation occurred at North Texas State University in Denton earlier this year, and the company made the same offer to NTSU students. So far, about 1,150 NTSU students have come forward to answer for $365,000 worth of telephone calls,

Workers suspended for endorsement

SAN ANGELO - Nineteen caseworkers were suspended without pay two weeks after writing a letter endorsing the appointment of District Attorney Dick Alcala as state district judge.

Ray L. Dunavant, administrator of Region 4 of the Texas Department of Human Services, said department policy by identifying themselves in the letter as DHS employees

Most of the personnel were suspended without pay for two days beginning Tuesday and one was suspended for three days. The suspended employees constitute all the Children's Protective Services staff in Tom Green County except the program director, three supervisors and a clerk Dunavant said program director Linda Flippin told him that four workers from other parts of the region were called in Tuesday to handle her staff's cases.

Flippin said she could not comment

Dunavant cited a state statute Tuesday the workers violated that prohibits state employees from using "official authority or influence...(to) affect the result of an election or nomination of a candidate, or to achieve any other political purpose.'

> Alcala, a state prosecutor, said he believed the endorsement does not violate the statute. The letter did not say Alcala was endorsed by DHS, but by staff members of Children's Protective Services.

Governor endorses prison tax vote

AUSTIN (AP) — If the Legislature decides to allow Texans to vote on whether they want to pay more taxes for more prisons, that's OK with Gov. Bill Clements.

"Putting it to the people and letting them decide on this particular (prison) issue is a form of referendum which I heartily endorse,' Clements said Tuesday.

The governor said opinion polls repeatedly have shown Texans willing to pay higher taxes if it would mean expanding the currently overcrowded prison system.

Clements also said he wouldn't object to shifting the statewide horse racing referendum from November to this summer — if a special election is going to be held at that time on the prison tax and a state lottery.

"I don't see anything wrong with it," Clements told his weekly news conference.

Struggling with Clements' refusal to approve more than $2.9 billion in new taxes for the 1988-89 budget period, some legislators have suggested placing before voters a proposed constitutional amendment that would dedicate some additional tax money to fund prison construction.

Although he says such a plan probably would be acceptable. Clements also said lawmakers who want to spend more money than he will approve "are not facing up to reality with the

'They keep talking about greatly increased programs. I'm not going to agree to those increased programs. I've tried to make that very clear to everyone," he said.

The Legislature last year placed on this November's ballot the question of legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse and dog races.

Lawmakers currently are considering a proposal to create a state lottery if voters approve.

House Speaker Gib Lewis said one possible solution being discussed is a proposal to put all three questions before voters this summer. But he said it is only an idea right now.

'They're strictly in the embryo stage of just talking about it. We haven't made any conclusions on anything," Lewis said.

The speaker said that if voters rejected a tax increase for prisons, they should be prepared for the consequences

"If they (the tax proposals) go to the voters and get defeated, that's a sure indication they don't want any new taxes and they'll have to realize those cuts (in programs) will be com-

Family of slain officer sues city officials

DALLAS (AP) — A suit filed by state District Judge Joe Burnett's the family of an Addison policeman who was killed by a Dallas officer during a joint drug raid seeks $10 million in damages from the city of Dallas and the officer who shot him

Suzanne Cox, the widow of Ronnie Cox, 46, and their daughters, Carrie and Courtney, filed suit in court on Tuesday.

The Dallas County district attorney's office is investigating the shooting and a grand jury is expected to hear testimony about the case later this month.

Police in Dallas and the suburb of Addison disagree whether physical evidence conflicts with the Dallas police account of the actions of officer Darren Coleman. The lawsuit alleges that the Dallas Police Department's deadly force policy caused Cox' death.

City officials "should have known that its police officers were likely to kill without proper justification and without restraint" because of department policies, according to the suit.

Coleman fired at Cox during a December raid at a Dallas apartment because the Addison officer was mistaken for an armed suspect in a threatening position, Dallas police officials have said.

Dallas police decided to hire an outside consultant to review the city's deadly force policy following a series of controversial shootings

Dr. Donohue

Arthritic needs new medicine

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 61-year-old woman and quite active. I enjoy bike-riding and long walks and still work 40 hours a week. But now, arthritis is bothering me again. While I was on aspirin it helped. But now I have an ulcer and can't take them. Is there anything I can take that will help the arthritis and not interfere with the healing of my ulcer? - W.R.M.

Yours is a problem faced by lots of arthritis sufferers, for many of the drugs used to control the pain and inflammation are irritating to the delicate digestive lining.

As you know, aspirin chemically is acetylsalicylic acid. It can be obtained with the acetyl part removed for people like you. The result is less irritation.

And there are other arthritis drugs, non-salicylates, which are sometimes used for arthritis. They are more potent and they may have other kinds of side effects. For you, their advantage would be the lack of stomach irritation. They are, in most instances, reserved for more serious cases of arthritis, but in your special situation they might be considered. Gold is an example. Another is hydroxychloroquine.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My condition has been diagnosed as torticollis, or wry neck. Please explain causes. It is very painful and would like to find some relief. -

Torticollis comes from two Latin words, tortus and collumn, literally twisted neck. The immediate cause is a spasm of neck muscles. The contraction causes the head to turn involuntarily to one side.

The known causes beyond the spasm itself are few. Some cases result from a slippage of neck vertebrae, the discs separating sections of the spine. For most wry neck patients we have to file causes under "unknown."

There is a really impressive list of medicines tried over the years to end or relieve this very troublesome condition. Haloperidol, baclofen, and carbamazepine are among them. No guarantees.

Prolonged and pronounced torticollis can disrupt life. If yours reaches the point where it is impeding social or working life, then surgery can be considered. Cutting nerves serving certain neck muscles often relieves severe torticollis. I'm reminded also of a treatment idea mailed in to me by a reader after my last torticollis item appeared. This reader said she was helped greatly by the implantation of a spinal cord stimulator, a little like a heart

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Yesterday I went to the eye doctor for an eye examination.

For the first time in my life I had drops put in my eyes to dilate the pupils, then I had a devil of a time driving home. (I turned the wrong way on a one-way street!) No one warned me in advance that I wouldn't be able to see well enough to drive home.

I believe that people who make an appointment with an eye doctor ought to be told on the phone if they will not be able to drive home, so they can have someone go along to drive home. I could have had a serious accident and killed myself or somebody else. Please print

Designer creates paper wedding gown for brides on tight budget

NEW YORK (AP) — The style may look traditional, but don't be fooled: from its pearl-trimmed peplum to its sweetly puffed sleeves, this wedding dress is made of paper.

Pressed by budget-conscious customers to find an alternative to high-priced new gowns and lessthan-fresh rentals, California designer Susan Lane stumbled onto something

Working up patterns with inexpensive, paper interfacing, she noticed that "on the dummy, it looked like taffeta — it was just

The result: a $140 paper version of her $550 taffeta design.

"People cannot believe it," she said. "First, they see the design and say, "That's what I want." Then they go up and touch it and say, 'My God, it's paper!'

The disposable dresses can be handpainted or signed by guests at the ceremony. Afterward, sentimental brides can snip off a piece and frame it, fashion paper roses from the skirt, or scissor the hem to street length.

Since its introduction last spring, about 100 copies have been sold.

'We shipped one to Milan,' Ms Lane said in a telephone interview from her Country Elegance salon in Toluca Lake, Calif. "One fellow came in and said he was getting married in Switzerland. He bought one, packed it in a suitcase and took it with him.

The dress is limited to a traditional design — a gored skirt and fitted bodice in printed white on white — because of "the way the fabric hangs," she said. "It's the same stuff you put in your drier for softener. There's a design problem to keep it from looking like a rag. You cannot gather it — it's not a relaxed piece of fabric.

The designer added such details as flat, satin bows at the shoulders because "interfacing has no sheen to it. You want to give it as much interest as you can.

But the paper fabric does offer certain advantages.

During a showing, she recalled, "One of the elbows ripped. I just taped it from the inside. Somebody poured wine on it and we sponged it woven, so you can just cut the hem off. It's very practical," she added. "It wrinkles less than our cottons or silks. It has a lot of body. It doesn't need a slip.

Instead of a zipper, the back is closed with Velcro.

Ms. Lane's line also features another adventure into the avantgarde: a tea-length, Art Deco-style wedding dress in black silk charmeuse: especially popular among West Coast artists and "I had women calling me asking ed. Interfacing is pressed, not ask and get them to look as good as in California possible." Her first customer was a size 14 or 16 who looked thinner in "A lot of people think it's rather strange," she said. "But my look lends itself well to black because it's very romantic, with a handkerchief hemline and lace. It's more like a costume. But, of course, I think a bridal dress is a costume,

"Really, more than anything else, it's all about women wanting to wear what they feel they look the best in," said Ms. Lane. "They're me for it (a black dress)," she ex- not afraid any more to break with plained. "My job is to do what they tradition — especially the women

TORTILLA ROLL-UPS By Debbie Wegman

1/2 dozen flour tortillas 8 oz. cream cheese

1 small can green chilies

1/4 cup chopped green onions 1/4 tsp. garlic powder

Mix green chilies, onions and garlic powder into softened cream cheese (food processor works well). Spread mixture onto flour tortillas. Roll tortillas, then wrap in wax paper. Refrigerate at least 2 hours (overnight works best). Just before serving, slice tortillas in approximately 1/4-inch slices.

Basketball and track tales

Here's the word for readers wondering how Jerald Wrightsil and Ed Sparling finished out their basketball

As you'll recall, Sparling was the Howard Hawks basketball coach last season. This season he coached the Lincoln Trail Statesmen, a junior college team in Illinois.

Meanwhile, Wrightsil, a the former Big Spring Steers' great, was in his final year at the University of Hawaii.

Wrightsil finished a good two year stint in sunny Hawaii. The 6-4 point guard was one of few bright spots in an otherwise gloomy UH basketball season. The Rainbows finished with a 7-21 overall record, including a 2-14 Western Athletic Conference mark.

Wrightsil was one of only two players to start all 28 games for the Rainbows. His best scoring effort was a 23-point performance against San Diego St. He averaged 10 points and three rebounds per game. He led the team in assists, averaging five per game. He was also second in steals with 32.

His two year total of 228 assists puts him seventh on the all-time Hawaii assists list.

According to personell in the UH sports information department, there's a good chance he will win the team's Best Defensive Player Award, for the second straight year.

Then there's the tale of coach Sparling.

İΧ

Sparling made lots of folks in Illinois happy when he led Lincoln Trail College to its first playoff berth in 10 seasons. Playing an independent schedule, the Statesmen fielded a 18-13 record.

Lincoln Trail won the sectionals and advanced to the region playoffs. There the Statesmen missed out on a trip to the national junior college tournament by losing to Washbash Valley, Ill. region finals Valley, Ill. 83-73. Washbash finished sixth at the national tournament in Hut-

Sparling said his team was hampered by the loss of its shooting guard, who sprained his ankle and missed the last two regional games. Also, Sparling had to dismiss his leading rebounder, who was averaging 12 boards a game, a month before the playoff because of disciplinary

'We had a great year and I think we'll be very tough next year," said Sparling in a telephone interview. "I've got my point guard and power forward coming back. They are both All-Region players. Plus I've got a good guard from Kentucky and reshirts Mike McCall (former Howard torward) and a 6-8 player.

So a word of warning: don't be surprised to see Lincoln Trails College in the national tournament next season.

Last week's ABC Relays at Blankenship went pretty much as everyone expected. The Steers made shambles of the boys division and the speedy Sweetwater Mustangs came away with the team title in a competitive girls field.

If there had been a meet MVP, Brian Mayfield would have certainly received his share of votes. The talented junior won the high jump, long jump, 300 meter hurdles, ran on the winning 1600 relay team and finished second in the 110 highs. That comes to 43 points.

Another Steer that turned in a good day's work was Ben Gonzales. The sophomore distance runner ran the 800 for the first time this season and won in a time of 2:00.69 That's probably a 1:58 or better on a good day, instead of a cold windy night. Gonzales then came back and won his specialty, the 1600 meters, by 40 meters.

It's hard to believe that only seven weeks ago this guy was playing guard on the Steers' junior varsity basketball

Although he didn't win a single gold medal, Charles White also had an outstanding performance. White was second in the 100, 200 and ran on the second place 400 relay team. He did zip to a wind-aided 10.40 in the prelims of the Phillip Mathews was another one of Big Spring's top point scorers in the meet. The speedy senior won second places in the long jump and 400 relay. He finished out his day by winning the 200.

Sean Jackson put on a gutsy performance. The junior finished second in the 800, fourth in the 400 (an event he normally doesn't run), and ran on the winning 1600 relay. Added up, Mayfield, Gonzales, White, Mathews and Jackson combined for 122 points. That alone was good enough to win the meet by 30 points.

Sweetwater won the girls division on the strength of long jumper-triple jumper Cherly Owens and shot putter-discus thrower Tara Lemons in the field events, and by winning all three relays.

The Mustangs aren't that strong overall, but coach Barry Huey is putting all his stock in the relays, which makes sense when you can get 60 points from using eight girls on three relays.

Big Spring salvaged two wins in the meet. In one, freshman Yvette Regalado made her prediction come true. Regalado had never won a gold medal going into the meet, but forcasted two days before the meet she would win one.

Not only did she win the 3200, she came back and finished a strong second in the 1600.

Other sparkling performances was a 17-3 first place long jump leap by Teresa Pruitt and a third place finish by sophomore Angie Dees in the 200.

Robin Soles of Forsan raced to an unchallenged 12.64 in the 100. No telling how fast she would have run if she had run in the varsity division, where somebody would have pushed her.

Allen pitches gem

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

Though he had to be told afterwards, Aaron Allen got himself a no-hitter Tuesday

After mastering the Snyder Tigers for a 10-0 win, Allen accepted many congratulations, and then the news of his no-hitter.

"I thought it was a one-hitter," he said, with surprising calmness. Of the six innings he pitched before the game was stopped on the 10-run rule, five had been three-up, three-down innings for the struggling Tigers

In the fourth inning, however, two batters walked and another reached on an error, and Allen must have just assumed an error hadn't been called. He couldn't have asked anyone, because they would have surely told him it was an error. The ball was an easy grounder to the Chad Wash at second base, and he bobbled it for the only Steers' mishap of the game.

Other than that inning, Allen and the Steers were perfect. He struck out four of the first five Tiger batters, and finished with eight K's With some fans talking perfect game, Allen walked the lead batter in the fourth, thus paving the way for the play of the game.

Tigers' second baseman Man Echols smashed a grounder right back at Allen, who stabbed the ball at his ankles, wheeled to his left, and whipped the ball to second base. Steers' shortstop Ramon Ontiveros caught the ball, stepped on the plate, and fired to first. Double

After the error and the other walk, Allen escaped the inning, and returned to perfection for the remainder of the contest.

"Sometimes before a game you can feel when you're going to do good," Allen said, "And I think we came out here today and everybody was feeling good.

Big Spring Steers pitcher Aaron Allen, shown here in a previous game, was the star in Big Spring's 10-0 District 2-4A win over the Snyder Tigers. Allen pitched a no-hitter shile raising his record to 3-4

I went out cold and that's when they got two men on base," Allen said, referring to the unseasonably cold weather that had many Steer

The Steers exploded in the third. Thompson led off with a ground out, but Allen blasted a triple that would've been an inside the park homer if not for a good play by the Snyder third baseman.

Netters ready for district play

By STEVE BELVIN

Sports Editor The Big Spring High School tennis teams will put it all on the line when they compete in the District 2-4A meet Thursday through Saturday at the Odessa College tennis

BSHS coach John Strahl is hoping he can get a few of his players to the regional meet. The top two singles and doubles winners advance to regional play, as well as the winning teams in the boys and girls division.

The road will be rough for this young Big Spring squad, which doesn't have a senior on the entire team. This half of the season Big Spring has competed in eight dual matches and six tournaments. Strahl terms his team's peformance a "middle of the road

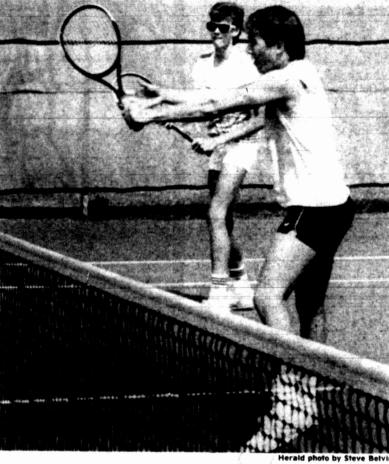

"At the tournaments we've placed about the middle of the pack,' he said. "We just don't quite have the experience to go all the way. But the kids are shaping up and they have been making progress.'

Strahl says Big Spring ranks in the middle of the district race also. He says Monahans is the favorite with Sweetwater a close second. "Lake View should be the third ranked team and us and Snyder are about even. Then there's Andrews, Pecos, Ft. Stockton and Lamesa.

Strahl has a pretty good idea of what the opening round will be like at the district tourney. "Most of our kids will win their first round matches. Then half of them will make it to the third round and a few more will advance to the next round. "We've been getting a lot of third and fourth places, but that won't get them to regional. We've got to move up some."

All of Strahl's top players are young. His top two singles seeds are sophomores. Troy Simnoek is number one and Eli Stovall is number two. "They will going up against the big guns, but they are still in their learning years," said Strahl of his top two singles ing off a good tournament players. "The lack of experience will hurt them, but the experience will help them in the long run.

Big Spring High School tennis players Taff Wennick (right) and Binky Tubb work on their net play in preparation for the District 2-4A tennis tournament this weekend in Odessa.

Quade Weaver and Taff Wennick, a pair of juniors, is the number one doubles team. "They are very consistent," said Strahl. "Right now they're batting about 500. They consistently get third or fourth place. But anything they happen at district. If they play good tennis, they could reach the finals.

Sophomores Binky Tubbb and Danny Whitehead are the number two doubles team. "They are com-(Monahans) where they beat the number one team from Carlsbad, N.M.. They have been doing a good job. In another year they'll be pretty saltý.

Strahl is resting his hopes on the girls doubles team of Angie Wilson and Kendra Madry, a pair of juniors. He says his number two team of Lara Cunningham and Stacey Parks, also juniors, are not far behind. "Both teams are competitive. There's not much difference between our number one and two teams.

Marcos Ramos walked and Charlie Ogle reached on an error to load the bases. Matt Burrow drew another walk, scoring Wash, and Byron McElreath, batting ninth, came to the plate.

Though McElreath entered the game batting .295, Steers' coach John Velasquez put him in the ninth spot for to add strength to the bottom of the lineup. Velasquez looked good when McElreath powered a fastball deep to right field for a three-run triple. He scored when Garrett sacrificed him home.

The six run inning gave the Steers a 9-0 lead, and put them within one run of the 10-run automatic stoppage. The Steers were unable to hit the double digit mark in innings four and five, thus giving Allen's no-hitter that much more credibility.

Finally, in the sixth inning, a wild pitch with the bases loaded scored Garrett, and Allen's nohitter was official.

Braves whitewash Phillies

By The Associated Press

A heavy dose of spring raining work is Atlanta Manager Chuck Tanner's prescription for Rick Mahler's spectacular opening-day

"Last spring and this spring he pitched about 40 innings," Tanner said after Mahler pitched a threehitter to extend his scoreless string in season openers to 34 innings with a 6-0 victory over Philadelphia on Tuesday night. "Most pitchers only pitch between 20 and 25. That makes him ready right out of the

"Whatever it is, I hope I can keep it up," said Mahler, whose third nine-inning shutout tied a National League record. "I felt good my last three outings in spring training. I felt if I kept the ball down and changed speeds I could let the guys behind me do the job. It worked."

Mahler was aided by four double plays and helped his own cause with a two-run double in the Braves' four-run eighth inning. Ken Oberkfell had three hits and broke a scoreless tie in the sixth with a two-run double.

In four season-opening starts, Mahler has not allowed a run. He tossed a five-hit shutout in a 6-0 victory over Montreal in the 1986 opener, allowed only three hits in seven innings in a 6-0 triumph over Philadelphia in 1985 and pitched a two-hit shutout in a 1-0 victory over San Diego in 1982.

Chris Short and Rip Sewell also had three NL season-opening shutouts. Walter Johnson had seven in the American League.

Mahler allowed two infield singles to Milt Thompson, in the first and ninth, and Mike Easler singled in the second. Mahler walked four and struck out two.

The Phillies never got a runner past first until Von Hayes walked in the seventh and moved to second Astros 6, Dodgers 5 Houston, after Manager Hal Lanier was nearly beaned by a warmup pitch by Fernando Valenzuela, rallied for four runs in the eighth inning against Los Angeles.

Lanier, Valenzuela and Dodgers Manager Tommy Lasorda exchanged angry words during the incident, which started after Lanier went to the plate to check on an injury to Alan Ashby in the seventh

The Dodgers led 4-2 at the time, but reliever Ken Howell yielded singles to Craig Reynolds and

Terry Puhl to start the eighth. Matt Young then allowed Reynolds and Puhl to score on wild pitches, tying the score

Kevin Bass' single knocked in Billy Hatcher and Bill Doran, both of whom walked.

Franklin Stubbs homered off Charlie Kerfeld in the ninth, making it 6-5, before Dave Smith got his second save in two nights, making a winner of Larry Andersen. Giants 4, Padres 3

Bob Melvin, who had a pinch-hit single during a winning 12th-inning rally on Monday, hit two homers as San Francisco overcame a 3-2

The Giants led 2-1 on Jeffrey Leonard's two-run double in the bottom of the first inning. But the Padres tied it 2-2 in the second on rookie catcher Benito Santiago's homer and took a 3-2 lead with an unearned run in the fourth, when infielders Chris Brown and Jose Uribe made errors.

Melvin tied the game with his first homer in the fourth and homered again in the seventh to complete the scoring.

Mike LaCoss of the Giants won with five-hit pitching through 7 1-3 innings, and Jeff Robinson finished up for a save after winning the opener on Monday. The Giants had only four hits off loser Ed Whitson in seven innings

Mets 3, Pirates 2

New York won for the 16th time in its last 18 opening-day games and successfully opened defense of its World Series championship by beating Pittsburgh.

Darryl Strawberry hit a threerun homer in the first inning and the Mets withstood a bases-loaded, one-out jam in the ninth.

Cardinals 9, Cubs 3

St. Louis rallied from a 3-0 deficit with a five-run third inning that saw rookie Jim Lindeman and pitcher John Tudor single home two runs apieca.

Tudor, with the help of a double play in each of the first three innings, survived the rocky start to get the victory despite allowing eight hits and three walks in five innings.

The Cardinals added four runs in the seventh, with the key blows a run-scoring single by Tito Landrum and a two-run double by Oz-

"That pitch was the key for me," he said. "It was supposed to be a cut fastball and I tried to bust him in. But it was up and it didn't come in like it was supposed to.'

The Mariners made three errors in the game, which Manager Dick Williams attributed to inexperience.

'I'm not disappointed with our effort, errors are part of the game," Williams said. "We had some youngsters out there, but that

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today is particularly good for finding better ways to express your special aptitudes. Tonight you find an argumentative aspect in effect, so keep cool and calm.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have fine new ways of putting your talents across. Don't lose your temper after a day of accomplishments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep the promises made to your family. It's not a good evening to invite guests into your abode.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get in touch with individuals who are nearby and those you have recently met. Arrange to get to know them better. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You have clever ideas for making more money. Put them into motion with advice from respected advisers. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You are highly inspired with conditions from the past and new ideas. Get in touch with people who can help you now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are full of good ideas on how to get ahead faster, but don't confide in others until you have started them. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You may be overly confined at home when you should be out seeing loyal friends who can help you now. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get out early in the world of action and be ambitiously occupied so that you can get ahead faster. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try a new approach at gaining your ambitions. After a fine day of activity, relax tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Old contacts and new ones can be helpful to you today. Discuss your ambitions with your mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be with those of fine character and great ambition and you are truly inspired again. Make life more satisfying.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make your environment lovely today. Add articles of beauty and charm. Inspire those around you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he, or she, will have a great imagination and be able to attain a great deal both in standard activities and in more modern ones. Know your progeny's potentials and slant the education along lines that will fit him, or her, for governmental connections.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you! 1987, McNaught Synd.

Head Start Center plans development program

The Lakeview Head Start Center is participating in the Head Start Measures Battery (HSMB) Developmental Assessment and Planning Program for the 1986-87 program year.

The system is designed to help promote children's development in šix areas: language, early math, perception, pre-reading and help, and nature and science, a spokesperson said.

It is designed to be sensitive to each child's unique abilities, providing opportunities for one-on-one and continuous observation for each child to express his capabilities.

The information obtained from each child is used by the teacher to plan learning activities.

Planning for the child is then updated, based on his progress, allowing him to learn at his own

The HSMB has been designed to encourage cooperation among children, rather than competition.

The planning component gives the teacher the tools necessary for creating activity groups in which children can learn from each other, in which leadership, understanding, consideration, and cooperation are encouraged, and in which children with different abilities can work together to the benefit of all.

Big Spring's retiring postmaster Frank Hardesty visits with guests at his Friday retirement roast and toast. Daisy Hardesty is at left, as the Hardestys visit with Ron and Eva Nell O'Connor. Ron has been the postmaster at Littlefield since 1979. Approximately 200 friends and fellow postal employees heard a dozen speakers visit the podium to roast and salute Hardesty, who has been postmaster in Big Spring since 1965.

Offroad race big success

The first driving race of the year in Big Spring was a big success as the Baja 150 Offroad race was concluded Saturday afternoon.

"I think we had a very good turnout considering the weather,' said Dottie Leffler, Office Manager of Sunstar Raceways Inc. "This race outdrew the one in El Paso which is pretty good considering how many more people live in El Paso.

The race was the second stop on the 1987 Midwest Offroad Challenge Series. This is the first year for the series, which has eight races. Another race in the series will be in Big Spring later on.

David Tucker of Oklahoma City was the winner in the Class 10 division. Robert Gayton of Albquerque, N.M. won the Class 1 division and Corpus Christi's Alllen Englebert won the Class 5 division. The winner in the Sportsman Class division was Jesse Velarde of Albquerque.

Leffler said there were 16 final entries in the race. She said more cars entered but some blew their engines in the practice rounds.

The drivers said this is ne of the better tracks and that the people here in Big Spring are all very nice. They all want to come back," she

Extension offices change location

By DON RICHARDSON County Extension Agent Where are the local Extensions offices now located? The Howard County Extension Offices are no longer an underground organization!

Thanks to the new county courthouse addition which enabled most of the county offices locate to more accessible locations, our offices are now located on the first floor of the county courthouse in the former tax offices across the hall from the sheriff's office.

We apologize for the inconveniences caused to some of you while we have been involved in the moving process but we expect to have everything settled down in a few days and pretty well back to normal. We invite everyone to come by and see our new facilities. We are very proud of them.

How badly did the recent freeze affect our crops and fruit?

It is a little too early for us to accurately access the extent of this damage but we expect it to be substantial to fruit crops, especially. Of course, all the tender young growth that had put out is definitely lost. This in effect actually results in a form of pruning of the plants. In most instances, the majority of these plants will not be harmed in a substantial way.

We, in all liklihood, will continue well into next summer. Some of our each individual steer trees and shrubs that had a lot of new growth occurring in the younger limbs and twigs may see some additional damage occurring as the hotter and drier summertime temperatures arrive which will dry out the freeze damaged growth cutting off food supplies to the surviving leaf crops which will result in further losses to the plants. Fertilization with nitrogen heavy fertilization plus adequate waterings will help stimulate plants to recovery

Where can I pay my dues to participate in the county's pest management program?

Contact Kelly Gaskins in Knott. Kelly is the treasurer for this organization. The deadline to participate in the program is April 10. Rick Minzenmeyer, our county entolologist can also be contacted for additional information

Is there a deadline to purchase 4-H beef cattle projects in the

Yes. The state extension offices have made July 1 the day for all 4-H steers to be placed on feed. Each county establishes a county validation day on or very close to the deadline of July 1, at which time all steers in the county are brought in and ear tagged with special state validation numbers and noseprinted and photographed. to see some effects of this freeze The information is recorded on
