Ackerly mayor to be sworn in

Israel Franco will be sworn in as mayor of Ackerly tonight after a week-long controversy whether anyone actually had a clear majority in the race.

The election judge declared Franco mayor after votes were counted this past Saturday, but some residents disputed that he hadn't received the required majority vote.

Franco received 21 votes to incumbent J.D. Hall's 18. Although a total of 42 votes were cast, only 39 votes were cast for the mayoral race, City Secretary Judy Staggs said.

Staggs reported that Tom Harris in the secretary of state's office said that a majority vote is required based on the number of votes cast in the specific race as opposed to the overall votes

The city had received earlier erroneous reports from the state that a runoff between the two candidates must be conducted,

Reports that two voters who recently moved to Ackerly from another county were ineligible to vote won't be investigated by

City Planner Robert Lima discusses Main Street Inc., Big Spring's downtown redevelopment project. About 50 people attended the presentation Friday afternoon in the Cactus Room at Howard College. The total cost of the 18 proposed projects is $6.3 million, Lima said.

Financing unveiled for redevelopment

By KERRY HAGLUND Staff Writer

About 70 percent of the proposed Big Spring downtown redevelopment can be completed for $600,000 City Planner Robert Lima said

It will take an estimated $6.3 million, however, to complete all 18 proposed renovation projects.

If the proposal is implemented as planned, 10 of the proposed projects will be completed within two years, he said.

Lima presented the three-fold redevelopment plan to about 50 people in the Cactus Room at Howard College Friday.

That plan included preliminary market studies of the area, architectural drawings and diagrams of the proposed projects, and funding options.

Lima said he thought Big Spring had many assets to help achieve the renovation project. He cited access of major highways and ample parking in the redevelopment area as two such advantages.

"I think its biggest asset is its cooperation of governmental Streets, also would provide im-bodies, businesses and civic

The goal of Main Street Inc., as the redevelopment project is called, is to provide incentive for entrepreneurs to invest in downtown Big Spring through a three-tiered incubator system, Lima said.

The incubators are retail carts, retail space and office space.

Lima proposed that the city lease push-carts to area residents to be used to sell arts and crafts or food. "They're cheap and they're inexpensive ... and they're colorful." Lima said.

He estimated that the carts would cost the city $600 each and would be rented for $50 a month. Under the proposal, carts would be located at Third and Main Streets, Second and Main Streets, and Second and Runnels Streets. Incubator retail space would be

Gould's Station, named after the man who brought the railroad to Big Spring, will consist of specialty shops and restaurants located inside of three railroad coach cars and a caboose, Lima said

The station is meant to be the terminus of the entire redevelopment plan and would provide a focal point for pedestrians, he said.

Lima said much of the project is designed to draw attention to Big Spring's historical and cultural attributes.

Incubator office space, the third phase of the incubator concept, will be made available in vacant downtown buildings. Several people renting office space within the same building would have access to conference rooms, a reproduction center to make Zerox copies, and a receptionist, Lima said. Four projects are slated to be completed within one year, according to the proposal. They are Gould's Station, Texas and Pacific Railroad access improvements,

Schools warned to prepare for reduced funds

Texas' public school system were warned Friday that classroom time may have to be cut, teachers salaries frozen and local taxes raised unless the current deadlock in the Legislature is broken.

"The fact that it continues to exist at this late date is pretty frightening for all of us,' Treasurer Ann Richards told the State Board of Education.

"We're not asking you to make a decision today but we want you to know you may have to make some tough decisions later," said Jon Brumley, board chairman.

Kirby stressed it would be up to the Legislature, not the board, to say is state school aid would be reduced. The board and the TEA would have to administer any changes ordered by the Legislature.

Board member Jack Strong suggested the board might make a "preliminary decision" to let the considering.

The new company starts with nine manufacturing plants in the United States and abroad, a worldwide work force of about 2,200 and projected annual sales of $300 million to $400 million, David Higbee, president and chief operating officer of National-Oilwell, said in the same statement

GOLDSBORO, N.C. - A teen-age homecoming queen who was expelled from a church school for modeling swimsuits can keep her title and go on working when she returns to school under a settlement reached

"If you really believe in something and just stick up for it, it will work out for the best," Machelle Outlaw, 17, said. The settlement restored her full privileges at Goldsboro Christian School.

Miss Outlaw was expelled March 11 by the Rev. Tork Harper, pastor of Second Baptist church, after Harper learned she had been modeling swimsuits at a fashion show at Weil's department store.

The settlement read in Wayne County Superior Court said Miss Outlaw "will be given the opportunity to make up any work, tests or assignments she missed without any penalty whatsoever."

Bullies 'need discipline'

MINNEAPOLIS - A combination of intervention and "firm but friendly" discipline by teachers and parents is needed to help stop bullying, says a researcher whose survey of Scandinavian schools suggests incidents of bullying may be on the rise.

"The general attitude is for teachers and parents to abdicate their responsibilities as adults." said Dr. Dan Olweus, head of personality psychology at Bergen University in Norway and currently a fellow at Stanford University's Center for Advanced Study.

Olweus, who has studied the behavior of bullies for more than 10 years, is working on a follow-up study to an anti-bullying campaign in Norway, a campaign sparked in part by the suicides of three young bullying victims in

To document the problem, Olweus surveyed about 140,000 students from primary and junior high schools in Norway and about 17,000 students in three Swedish cities.

A woman tries to stop a Spanish riot police officer from hitting a striking transport worker Friday during a 24-hour air, rail and subway strike across Spain. The workers had marched to the Economy Ministry in downtown Madrid to protest the government's economic austerity policies.

Spain

Strikes bring delay pilgrimage

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Strikes by transport workers paralyzed traffic in and out of cities Friday, complicating the pilgrimage to ancestral villages for Easter Week that many Spaniards cherish.

Labor leaders promised more strikes next week in the labor campaign that began months ago against a government austerity program that includes pushing for a 5 percent ceiling on pay increases.

A brief clash between riot police and several thousand strikers who marched to the Economy Ministry was the only incident reported. Officials said two policemen and a worker were slightly injured.

The Workers Commissions, communist-oriented group and Spain's second-largest union, organized the action by transport workers. Union chief Marcelino Camacho said strikes would spread if the Socialist government of Prime Minister Felipe Gonzales sticks to its position on wage limits.

Members of the Socialist-led General Workers Union, the largest union, also stayed off the job, union leaders said.

An estimated 20 percent of Spain's 10 million workers belong to unions.

Nationwide 24-hour strikes by employees of the state-run airlines Iberia and Aviaco and the national railways coincided with a walkout by subway workers in Madrid and the third day of strikes by doctors of the national health service.

Thousands of cars created huge traffic jams in Madrid. Airlines canceled 350 flights and 100 trains stood idle in stations across the country

Frank and Marjella Snell, American residents of Miias in southern Spain, were caught when they arrived from New York early Friday to catch a connecting flight to Malaga.

'We had a fine time seeing friends, with no idea that this was awaiting us," Snell said, sitting on his luggage

Auto workers and farmers joined the action Friday. About 20,000 workers left their posts at Renault automobile assembly plants in Valladolid, Palencia and Seville. Several thousand farmers in northern Cantabria blocked roads with tractors to protest European Economic Community milk quotas.

Ukrainians meet Pope

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Immigrants from the Ukraine on Friday urged Pope John Paul II to go to their Soviet homeland to 'sweep away the darkness of atheism."

The pope, nearing the end of a fast-paced, two-week visit to Uruguay, Chile and Argentina, rose from his chair in front of the altar of the Ukrainian cathedral in Buenos Aires and embraced Monsignor Andres Sapelak, who made the plea on behalf of Argentina's 200,000

John Paul, whose native Poland borders the Ukraine, spoke in Ukrainian to the estimated 1,000 people crowded in the church after he sprinkled holy water and blessed a mosaic picture of the Virgin Mary and Christ child on the wall behind altar.

The pope said the Roman Catholic Church sympathizes with Ukrainians' "suffering and ecumenical vocation marked by the stigma of pain."

"We are sure, most Holy Father, that Ukrainian Christianity will shine again in the Slavic East, sweeping away the darkness of atheism," Sapelak said, as the pope sat and listened, his head bowed slightly and a finger to his lips.

UN trucks take food

BEIRUT, Lebanon — U.N. relief trucks rolled into a besieged Palestinian refugee camp Friday with tons of food and the first medicine allowed through Shiite Moslem militia lines.

Syrian soldiers took up positions at the Chatilla refugee camp Wednesday and let women to go outside the shantytown for food, but Shiite gunmen had confiscated any medicine the shoppers tried to take in.

"Today, I ate fresh meat for the first time in five months," said Walid, a 12-year-old Palestinian boy in Chatilla, which was about 90 percent destroyed during the siege. "I have been eating cat meat before. I hate it."

Police foil terrorist plot

ANKARA, Turkey — A terrorist plot to kidnap Americans and Israelis living in Turkey and attack U.S. targets was foiled by police, authorities said Friday.

Police said they took into custody one Iranian, one Lebanese and two Turks - all alleged members of the Moslem extremist organization Islamic Jihad - and seized a cache of explosives in Hatay province near the Syrian border.

Bulent Orakoglu, a police official in Hatay, said the group's initial aim was to kidnap Americans and Israelis in Izmir on the Aegean coast and hold them in exchange for 200 Islamic Jihad militants they believed were jailed by Israel.

The Lebanese in police custody told authorities the group also planned to bomb several Turkish energy and industrial installations, the U.S. and Israeli embassies in Ankara and the NATO air base at Incirlik near the southern city of Adana, Orakoglu

Etta's still 'tearing up the place'

Legendary soul singer Etta James packs an emotional wallop

By FRED T. SHUSTER Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rhythm and blues singer Etta James keeps finding records she never knew she

With more than 30 years in the record business and 35 legitimate albums, the R&B artist says it's difficult keeping track of what bootleggers release in her name.

"How do you stop them? The government can't get them, so how can I?" Miss James said. "Sometimes I see albums of mine that I've never seen in my life and I just go, 'Oh, no, another one.'

Miss James, 49, is acknowledged as one of the great soul singers, along with Aretha Franklin, Otis Redding, Al Green, Irma Thomas, Ann Peebles, Esther Phillips and Wilson Pickett.

Her power, as witnessed on the recently televised Grammy Awards salute to the blues, shows no sign of diminishing.

"She reads the audience in a way I've never seen another performer do," said Peter Guralnick, author of "Sweet Soul Music" and other books on American music. "She's about as commanding a performer as I can imagine. She just tears up the place.

As well as performing on the show, Miss James was nominated for a Grammy Award for best female jazz performance for her "Blues in the Night" album. That record, recorded live at a Los Angeles nightclub, has been in the upper regions of the Billboard jazz charts for almost two months

She also will be seen on a Diana Ross television special in May. Etta James, originally from San Francisco, was discovered by bandleader Johnny Otis in 1955.

"A couple of girlfriends and I had a group that used to sing on the street corners. At the time Hank Ballard and the Midnighters had a hit with 'Work With Me, Annie' and we decided to do an answer. We didn't think we would get in show business, we were just running around making up answers to songs," Miss James said in a recent interview

When Otis came to the Bay Area Otis' revue through the mid-1950s.

Hollywood recently. Miss James, acknowledged as one of the great and heard the group, "he said to get permission from my mom to go to Los Angeles to record. I went home and wrote the note myself. I told him I was 18 when I was really only 15.

Their answer song, "Roll With Me, Henry," hit No. 2 on the R&B charts in 1955 under the title "The 'At that time you weren't allowed to say 'roll' because it was considered vulgar. So when Georgia Gibbs did her version, she renamed it 'Dance With Me, Henry' and it went to No. 1 on the pop charts."

Miss James toured as part of sometimes earning as little as $10 a

But soon after signing with Chess Records in 1959, she had a string of hits including, "At Last," "Trust In Me," "Something's Got a Hold On Me," "Sunday Kind of Love" and "All I Could Do Was Cry."

"During those days they had shows called the Top Ten Revue. All the Top Ten artists including Bobby Vinton, Little Richard, Fats Domino. Gene Vincent, Jerry Lee Lewis and the Everly Brothers would be on the tour," Miss James said. "We would travel on four buses to all the big auditoriums. 'And we had a lot of fun.'

Rhythm-and-blues singer Etta James performs at the Vine St. Bar & Grill soul singers, shows no signs that her power is diminishing. She performed on the recently televised Grammy Awards salute to the blues.

> In 1967, she went to the distinctive Fame Studios in Muscle Shoals, Ala., to cut one of the most highly regarded soul albums of all time, "Tell Mama.

> Fame, where Aretha Franklin recorded many of her classics, was known for its loose, atmospheric 'Southern'' sound.

> "I got a different feeling than I had in other studios. It was very relaxed, the guys walked around like little country bumpkins," Miss James explained. "Once I got there I knew there was something magic

"Tell Mama" is an earthy fusion of rock and gospel music featuring blistering horn arrangements, funky rhythms and a churchy chorus. The original Chess release changes hands among collectors for up to $75. In a recent sold-out club engagement at the intimate Vine St. Bar & Grill in Hollywood, Miss James had the crowd gasping at her compelling readings of such bittersweet ballads as "Sugar On the Floor" and "I'd Rather Go Blind."

"I think everybody should be able to relate at some time in their life to what I sing about," she said.

Burt's back in 'Heat'

By BOB THOMAS Associated Press Writer

Burt Reynolds is back on the screen after a self-imposed absence, returning in the kind of role that established him as a top

In "Heat" he plays Mex, a Las Vegas hired hand who is scant with words and swift of action. The film may not be top-drawer Reynolds, but it is superior to most of today's action films.

The filmmakers chose Las Vegas at Christmastime. The juxtaposition of the tawdry events and celebration of Jesus' birth adds a nice note of irony. Reynolds is a partner with Howard Hesseman in a detective agency. He is a man with a clouded, violent past, and notorious for use of his hands as deadly weapons. He gazes wistfully at posters of Venice, where he hopes to escape but can't — he gambles with irrational compulsion.

Reynolds takes on two jobs - one for friendship, the other for pay. A hooker friend (Karen Young) has been brutalized by the son (Neill Barry) of a Mafia don. He reluctantly agrees to help her get revenge.

On a lighter note, a wimpy tourist (Peter MacNicol) enlists him as guide to an evening in Las Vegas. MacNicol, it turns out, is a computer millionaire and he becomes involved in Reynolds' deadly doings.

"Heat" evidences the chaotic conditions of its filming: Reynolds bopped director Dick Richards on the set, and two or three other directors completed the film. Transitions are jerky, and the plot doesn't always proceed with logic. But William Goldman ("Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid") is skilled at creating offbeat characters and situations, and his script offers enough surprises to sustain attention.

Reynolds looks fit, and he plays Mex with corrosive humor and swift movement. MacNicol, the narrator of "Sophie's Choice," proves again he is one of the best young actors around — he should be seen more. Karen Young is fine as the vengeful call girl, and Diane Scarwid is terrific as the blackjack dealer who tries to prevent Reynolds from blowing his ticket to Neill Barry, surrounded by fearsome bodyguards, is marvelously evil as the mobster's son.

It appears that Las Vegas cooperated with the filming of 'Heat." One wonders why, since the city has been striving for years to shed its gangland image

Keith Rotman and George Pappas produced the New CenturyVista Film release. The rating is R for language, violence and sexual content. Running time: 101

Movers left the big network bucks to stay busy

By KATHRYN BAKER AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Moyers left his high-priced job at CBS for the scrimp-and-save world of public television at the end of 1986, after producing only four hours of documentary television for the network that year.

This year he is producing more than 24 hours for PBS. His first project is a 10-hour series, "In Search of the Constitution," that begins April 16. The 10 one-hour programs will include interviews with historians, judges and ordinary citizens whose cases set constitutional precedents.

CBS, I was exceedingly busy," Moyers said in an interview in his office at Channel 13. "I did two or did one hour. In 1986, I did four Network economics had changed, documentaries didn't make money, and Moyers wasn't getting on the air enough. For Moyers, the dilemma was created not by ego, but by a passionate desire to use television to inform the public.

At PBS, Moyers says, he will make about one-tenth the money he would have made had he stayed at CBS, but he will have 10 times the air time.

"I can go out on a limb more often than if I'm just doing two or three or four hours at CBS News, where each one is looked upon as sort of a World Series of documentaries. You have to win every time. You don't here," he said.

At CBS, however, once a project was approved, the money was

Advice for organizational revolution

By TOM PETERS

Our organization structures are in need of drastic overhaul. They are carry-overs from an era of stability — mass production, long runs of single products, infrequent introduction of new products.

These principles, each at odds with conventional wisdom, form the basis for a survivor's structure:

1. Slash the layers. "Flattening the structure" is becoming commonplace, but most moves aren't radical enough.

Ken Iverson, chairman of profitable steelmaker Nucor Corporation, is unequivocal about the role played by excessive layers: "The most important thing American industry needs to do is reduce the number of management layers. ... We have four ... we have a foreman, and the foreman goes directly to a department head, and the department head goes directly to the general manager, and he goes directly to this office."

My advice: No more than four or five layers of structure, regardless of firm size.

2. Bash debilitating functional barriers. The desired result: Cross-functional skid greasing will replace turfguarding. This must occur to cut order lead time and new product-development cycles by the 90 percent required for survival in most industries.

In the book "Attaining Manufacturing Excellence," Robert Hall boldly proclaims, "Management excellence cannot come from fragmented contributions by various functional staff ... The most difficult job is integrative thinking."

The Japanese have been successful at integrating design, engineering and manufacturing at the lowest levels in their firms. Speed and high quality result.

Consultant Masaaki Imai states, "Cross-functional management is the major organizational tool for realizing Total Quality Control improvement goals ... In Japan this is considered simple common sense, but that is not always the case in the United States."

A notable exception is Chaparral Steel chief Gordon Forward, who explains, "Our largest challenge is to cut the time it takes to get technology out of the lab and into operations. ... We've tried to bring research right into the factory and make it a line function. ... The plant is really a laboratory - even though it is one of the most productive steel mills in the world. ... If you put a production fellow and a maintenance fellow and an engineer together, you're gonna find pretty quickly whether something has a chance of getting Schonberger adds, "The biggest change for manufacturing engineering is getting used to the idea that the best way to make a contribution is on the factory floor, not in the equipment manufacturers' catalogues.'

The staff experts must, then, 'report'' to the front-line operation in the brave new world.

Runnels has'em home grown

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

What happens when two locals get their degrees and return to their roots in the coaching profession? At Runnels Middle School, it's simple: you win and and you win and you win some more.

That's the case with the Runnels Yearlings' eighth grade girls athletic program and coaches Kari Eggleston and Peggy Calhoun. Eggleston and Calhoun are both Howard County products and both played basketball for the Howard College Hawk-Queens.

Eggleston, a graduate of Lub-bock Christian College, is a Coahoma native in her first coaching season. Calhoun, a Big Spring native who graduated from Angelo State, is in her fourth year of coaching.

The teams they have coached this season have dominated. It is a group, no doubt, that has the high school coaches licking their chops.

The Runnels' girls ended their competitive season last Saturday by winning the Snyder track meet. something they made a habit of doing. The Yearlings saved their best for last, winning all five of their track meets.

They also rolled up quite a volleyball record, with the A and B teams combining for a 15-7 record. In basketball, the A team was 11-5. Three of the losses were by one or two points.

Calhoun says the 40 girls in the program is "by far the best group of athletes I've had since I've been here. It all started last season in the seventh grade. They were successful then and I was waiting all summer to get them," said the A team volleyball coach and B team basketball coach.

"The other coaches had said we were going to have some talent this said Eggelston. "During volleyball season coach Calhoun and I could see the girls had a whole lot of talent.

The success is a big difference from last year's team, she said. "We'd like to say it was our great coaching that made these girls so successful," she joked. "Last year

Eggleston said one obstacle that this year's team cleared was beating Snyder. "They had never been able to beat Snyder and for some reason they were real scared of them. In volleyball they had a six-foot girl and she intimidated them," said the A team basketball coach and B team volleyball coach.

"When basketball season rolled around we had been preaching to them they could beat Snyder, and they finally did, in the championship game of our tournament. It had to be the highlight of the

Now that the season is over the athletes are going through preseason volleyball drills. Calhoun and Eggleston make sure the girls are going through the same type of program the high school coaches

"I definitely want to be a varsity coach," said Eggleston. "I don't think I'd want to stay in Big Spring the rest of my life. I want to go on to bigger and better things.

And they both have high hopes for what will soon be their former athletes. "I can't wait to see them grow up and mature because they will excell in all sports," Eggleston

"I told the girls I'll being seeing them play in the state tournament four or five years from now," concluded Calhoun.

Add '88 season to SMU casualty list

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist will scrap its limited 1988 football season in the wake of NCAA sanctions against the school for improper payments to athletes, officials announced

SMU interim president William B. Stallcup Jr. said in a statement the school should be able to return to full participation in the Southwest Conference in 1989

In the harshest penalty ever against a football program, the NCAA on Feb. 25 banned football for 1987 and restricted the 1988 schedule to seven road

Stallcup had said more than a week ago he was considering dropping football for 1988.

'The cancellation of the 1988 season in itself does not have a significant bearing on the longer term future of SMU football and intercollegiate athletics," Stallcup in the statement.

"It is our understanding with the Southwest Conference that we will be able to return to full participation in the Conference

The NCAA penalties stemmed from $61,000 in payments to 13 SMU football players from a booster slush fund.

"The challenge before our university is one of reconsideration and reform, and we have no intention of simply removing ourselves from the intercollegiate athletics scene,' Stallcup said.

Southwest Conference Commissioner Fred Jacoby called SMU's decision a wise one.

"From my vantage point, I think it's a prudent decision based on the numbers of athletes available," Jacoby said. "The numbers wouldn't be there and there would be a safety problem.

"It would have been embarrassing for SMU to play in 1988 from a competitiveness standpoint. It was also too late to put actaff together. SMU still needs an athletic director."

Stallcup said he discussed the 1988 season during past weeks with a variety of university constituencies before making his

"The prospect of such a cancellation has been present since we became aware of our NCAA penalties in February,' he said.

"We could attempt to field a squad in 1988 - consisting of walk-ons and only a handful of scholarship athletes and continuing players," said Stallcup.

"There is no question, however, that such a team would be uncompetitive, and an undue risk of serious injury to our student athletes would be incurred, and that the limited schedule of games, all of which would be played away, would be of little benefit either to SMU or to its intercollegiate competitors.

He said canceling the 1988 season will give SMU a greater opportunity to consider more carefully its future in athletics.

He said SMU will mount no immediate search for a head football coach to replace coach Bobby Collins who resigned along with Athletic Director Bob Hitch last December. An interim athletic director has been appointed.

"Many of our scholarship football players have or will be transferring to other institutions and programs," said Stallcup. "Others who wish to continue their studies at SMU will be permitted to do so, without loss of the scholarship support to which they are entitled.

The university is completing plans for homecoming and other traditional activities, centering on campus student and athletics events other than football, said

Steers' boys lead district track

ANDREWS - Phillip Mathews won the district 2-4A long jump title with a 22'4 jump, and the Big Spring Steers finished the first day with 33 points, nine more than second place Monahans.

In other finals, Paul Decker's season best pole vault of 13 feet was tied for the best vault of the day, but he finished second on more misses. James Weaver, Pete Buske and Mark Gomez finished third, fifth and sixth respectively in the discus, and Brian Mayfield was third in the long jump.

In Friday's qualifying heats, the Steers put themselves in good position to pile up more points. Rodney Bailey had Friday's top time in the 400 meters, and Sean Jackson and Cedric Banks also qualified. The Steers 1600 meter relay team also had the day's fastest time. Others that qualified included: Mayfield and Derek Watts in the 110 meter high hurdles; Charles White, Danny Williams and Mathews in the 100 meters; Mayfield in the 300 meter hurdles; and Williams, Mathews and White in the 200 meters. The shot put, high jump, mile run, and the 800 and 3200 meter run finals will also be today.

Girls in third after first day

ANDREWS - Teresa Pruitt finished third in the triple jump and qualified for today's finals in the 400 meter run, and the Big Spring Steers' girls finished the first day in third place with 10 points. Sweetwater leads with 18 points and Andrews has 16.

The Lady Steers' 400, 800 and 1600 meter relay teams qualified for the finals, as did Angie Dees in the 200 meters. Cary Brooks finished fourth in the high jump.

Steer netters close season

ODESSA - The Big Spring Steers' tennis team started Friday's District 2-4A tournament with a bang, winning five of their eight opening round matches. However, all five winners lost in the second round, and the Steers will not play in today's finals.

Eli Stovall, Amber Logback, Bree Daniels and two doubles teams won their first round matches. For complete results, see Scoreboard,

Stewarts win scramble play

The Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association had nine hole scramble play Monday and Ina and Vickie Stewart was the championship team. Finishing second was Ramona Harris and Bobbie Patterson. Any ladies interested in playing on Mondays should call the Comanche Trail Pro Shop at 267-7271.

Despite five bogeys, Strange leads Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Curtis Strange survived five bogeys and, with the field collapsing around him, shot a wildly erratic 2-underpar 70 Friday to take a one-stroke lead over four golfers after two rounds of the 51st Masters.

Strange's round at Augusta National was hardly a thing of beauty, comprising five bogeys, five birdies and an eagle-2, but it was effective. It got him through two rounds in 141, three shots under

But it was not solely due to Strange's efforts.

Larry Mize, Corey Pavin and Tom Watson all contributed, unwillingly, to Strange's lead. Watson, for example, 4-putted the eighth hole. Give him the regulation two stroke on the green there, and he is tied for the lead. Pavin needed to play the last seven holes in par to take a 2-shot lead. He played them three over. And Mize, steadily plugging away, moved to three under par through 17 holes and, with everyone else backing up, had a Pavin, the leading money-winner on the PGA Tour this year, finished with a 71. Mize matched par 72. And Cook came back from a string of four consecutive bogeys to complete a 73.

Watson, twice the winner of this title and a five-time British Open champion, was another shot back

He was tied at that figure, one under par, with T.C. Chen of Taiwan and Bernhard Langer of West Germany.

Chen, winner of the Los Angeles Open earlier this year, shot 69 in the warm weather. Langer, the man who made the most of Strange's mistakes in the 1985 Masters, matched par 72.

Watson, attempting to struggle out of a long slump, also had a 72 despite his putting problems.

The group at par 144 included Andy Bean, Joey Sindelar, Seve Ballesteros of Spain and Jay Haas. Bean had a 69, Sindelar 70 and Ballesteros, a two-time winner of this coveted title, had a 71.

Good pitching, Allen's homer pace Steers

MONAHANS - Aaron Allen cleared the bases with a three-run homer in the first inning, and Timmy Gutierrez and James Thompson combined for a four-hitter as the Big Spring Steers beat Monahans 4-1 in district play last night in Monahans.

The Steers improved to a spotless 4-0 mark in district action, and are now 8-10 overall. Monahans is 2-2 in district.

Matt Garrett and Ramon Ontiveros opened the top of the first by reaching base on errors, and

Allen made it 3-0 with his blast. The Steers threatened to turn the game into a rout, but the Monahans' right fielder made a spectacular catch for the third out with the bases

The Steers scored their other run in the fourth, when Matt Burrow singled home Chad Wash, who had tripled. Wash finished with a single and a triple, and Burrow had two singles

Steers' coach John Velasquez was particularly pleased with catcher Charlie Ogle, who nabbed all four runners who attempted to steal

"He was great. He was kicking their butt," Velasquez said.

'We played real well other than our three errors. I needed some good output from these young pitchers, and they came through. Timmy would have probably finished the game if he hadn't been hit," he said. For the last out in the fifth inning. Gutierrez was struck by a line drive but made the play at first. Thompson finished the game and LP - Jimenez, Monal earned the save. Each pitchers struck out five and walked two. The Steers got some more good news when Velasquez learned that Cary Fraser, who was supposed to be one of the top two pitchers, will probably pitch within two weeks. Fraser's knee has healed, and he is beginning workouts. The Steers next game is Tuesday at Andrews.
