Law forbids grand juror subpoenas

"The grand jury and its secrecy is sacred."

So said District Attorney Rick Hamby this morning, explaining that two grand jurors subpoenaed for a parole violation hearing today are prohibited by law from testifying.

"There is no provision for grand jury testimony to be discussed or exposed in proceedings such as that," Hamby said.

District Parole Officer David Harman had subpoenaed the two after the grand jury on which they served failed to indict J.R. Turner, 36, Route 1 Box 452, in an October 1986, burglary case.

Sheriff's Deputies George Quintero and Jack Howard were scheduled to testify at today's hearing.

Arresting Deputy Jimmy Wallace allegedly found a pair of wire rim glasses and a pipe wrench in Turner's possession and was expected to testify, Harman said.

Wayne Davis, a neighbor to the burglarized house, testified that he saw Turner climbing out of a window of the house.

Heating Officer Tommy Blaxman said a decision on Turner's parole status wouldn't be made for about 30 days.

Services planned, school out for Easter

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

City and county offices will be closed Friday and public school students and employees receive a holiday, and several churches will observe Maundy Thursday and Good Friday with special services in celebration of Easter this weekend.

Big Spring public schools are to be dismissed early this afternoon, and will be closed Friday through Monday. Classes will resume at the usual time Tuesday.

Both the post office and Texas Employment Commission will be open Friday, although the latter will employ a mere skeleton crew, supervisor John Eckley said.

"Maundy Thursday is an observance of the last supper — Jesus' last meal with his disciples. It comes from the Latin term mandatum and it remembers Jesus' command 'love one another as I have loved you,'" says Victor Sedinger, minister at First Christian Church.

Foot washing is also a part of the Maundy Thursday activities because Jesus said "I your teacher and your master have washed your feet therefore you wash one another's," Sedinger said.

Local Maundy Thursday services will be at:

• St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 1001 Goliad, a foot washing and stripping of the altar at 7 p.m.

• First Presbyterian Church, 8th and Rannels streets, 7:30 p.m.

• First Christian Church, 911 Goliad, 7 p.m.

• St. Paul Lutheran Church, 810 Scurry St., a Passover Seder at 6 p.m. and worship service at 7:30.

• Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, 1009 Hearn St., Holy Thursday service will be at 8 p.m. — Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament — 9 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Several churches will conduct services for Good Friday, the Friday before Easter observed by Christians of the commemoration of the crucifixion of Jesus.

• St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Stations of the Cross will be observed at 12 noon and 7 p.m. and Holy Eucharist Good Friday liturgy will be at 5:30 p.m.

• First Presbyterian Church, 7:30 p.m.

• St. Paul Lutheran Church, 7:30 p.m.

• Immaculate Heart of Mary, Stations of the Cross at 3 p.m., Carrying of the Cross at Highland Mall at 7:30, Good Friday Liturgy, Reading of Passion, Veneration of Cross and Holy Communion at 8 p.m.

Sayin' thanks

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen chats with Big Spring City Manager Mack Wofford, Big Spring Herald publisher John Brown and Mayor Cotton Mize as the three stand in line for dinner Wednesday night at the Ector County Coliseum in Odessa. The dinner was sponsored by the Big Spring, Snyder and Odessa area Chambers of Commerce in appreciation of Bentsen's help on the Stacy Dam project. Bentsen said, "I figured at $4,600 per snake, we could get each one of them a condo in Colorado." A related picture is on page 2.

Chamber hears of new business

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

A Las Vegas telemarketing company is opening a branch in Big Spring, and will employ 20 to 25 sales people, owner Richard Clark said.

The announcement was made at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting at noon Wednesday, when the board heard numerous reports.

Clark, who was raised in Big Spring, said the business will open May 1 on the fifth floor of the Cosden building, 202 W. Second St.

In six months, he expects it will employ 50 to 60 workers, he said.

The company, R.C. Enterprises, sells executive gift items — "anything you can print a business name on," he said. The company has offices in Las Vegas, Nev., Ohio and Wyoming, he said.

Applicants for jobs with the company are to contact Manager J.W. Parmley Jr. at 263-2096 or 263-1010.

Employees will be paid by commission, Clark said.

In other business, the chamber board:

• Announced the Industrial Foundation has agreed to provide $600,000 to help purchase the 1,600 acres needed for the superconducting supercollider, which local officials are working to bring to a site near Garden City.

• Announced that, despite the poor economy, Chamber membership has increased dramatically through the efforts of the Membership Committee and Co-chairmen Dave Justice and Gail Earls.

A list of approximately 70 new members, dated March 31, was presented.

• Appointed Bill Crooker, Drew Mouton, Clyde McMahon Jr., Chamber President Troy Fraser and Johnnie Lou Avery as chairman of a committee to nominate officers for next year.

• Approved $3,000 for the CLEAN program to buy an additional pickup.

• Announced that April 25 is a statewide cleaning day for organizations that have adopted a two-mile section of highway through the Highway Department Adopt-A-Highway program.

• Announced the next community luncheon will be May 14, sponsored by Robinson Drilling

Co. and Howard College, both celebrating 40th anniversaries.

• Granted $3,000 to the National Physique Committee Bodybuilding Competition, scheduled Aug. 22 at the Big Spring High School auditorium.

• Voted to oppose amending the National Labor Relations Act. The amendment would prohibit dual shop operations and give pre-employment agreements the force of labor contracts, Governmental Affairs Committee Chairman Scott McLaughlin reported in a memo.

• Voted to oppose government mandating the comparable worth wage determination system.

• Voted to oppose House Bill 925, which McLaughlin said would require employers to provide four months unpaid leave to employees for birth, adoption or serious illness to a child, and provide 6 months disability leave to injured or ill workers.

• Voted to oppose a bill to require employers to provide basic health care insurance for all employees.

Just in time

Bruce Odum, of Gail Road, mails his tax return with two hours to spare at approximately 10 p.m. Wednesday at the Big Spring Post Office, as sons Jonathan, 8, and Ivan, 7, watch in the background. From 9:30 p.m. to 10:15 p.m., people coming into the building to mail tax forms averaged one per minute.

Two actions boost city's revitalization

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The downtown renovation effort received a boost Wednesday with two announcements at the Chamber of Commerce meeting.

The Downtown Steering Committee has agreed to buy property on the southwest corner of First and Main Streets to establish a railroad plaza, committee Chairman Charles Beil said.

Also announced at the meeting, Carter's furniture will be the first business to participate in the renovation, Chamber President Troy Fraser said.

Dorothy Carter said that when high winds tore away part of the blue metal trim on the store at 202 Scurry St., she decided to remodel the building's exterior.

Remodeling will include re-bricking the front, smaller windows and decorative doors, she said. Work is to begin April 27, she added.

T&P Credit Union, owners of the property at First and Main, agreed to a $16,000 price for the lot and building, Beil said.

Downtown Coordinator Teri Quinones said the price is $3,000 less than the property's appraised value — T&P's donation to the redevelopment effort.

Because the committee is not recognized as a legal entity, the land will be in the Chamber's name, but the committee will be financially responsible, she said.

The railroad plaza at First and Main Streets, named Gould's Station after Jay Gould, the first train master in Big Spring, will create a focal point for the downtown revitalization with three railroad coaches and a caboose, Quinones has said.

The cars are to be used for restaurants and specialized retail businesses — anything out of the ordinary that usually won't be

Judge visits handicapped prisoners

RICHMOND (AP) — It is likely to be at least 20 days before a federal judge issues a ruling on whether the state should pay up to $24 million per month in fines for failing to make improvements to the prison system, attorneys said.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice toured the Jester III Unit near Richmond in Fort Bend County Wednesday as a hearing on the contempt matter came to a close.

"I can't comment about my visit here," the judge told reporters following the two-hour tour.

On Dec. 31, the judge found the state in contempt of an agreement to improve prison conditions and gave the state until April 1 to comply or face fines of some $800,500 a day. The fines were delayed pending the outcome of this week's hearing.

The judge has ordered the state to complete reforms it agreed to as part of a landmark April 1981 decision in what has become known as the Ruiz case, named after former state inmate David Ruiz.

found at a mall, she explained. The cars will be ideal for new businesses because they are small and provide low overhead, she said.

Quinones said the project will cost an estimated $100,000.

The steering committee, composed of representatives from the city, county and Chamber, is to finance $50,000 of that. It has allocated $40,000 as a beginning, Quinones said.

A developer that would assume the role of leasing agent for the plaza is to finance the rest, she said.

Work on the railroad plaza is to begin after the nearby pocket park is finished. An architect is to present preliminary drawings for the park April 28, she said.

Video brings Wall memorial replica to life

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

When Keith Gibbons saw the video the whole idea of a portable Vietnam veterans memorial became quite clear.

Gibbons, Vietnam Wall steering committee chairman, saw the video for the third time Wednesday with nine first-time viewers at a wall steering committee meeting.

The committee plans to use the video to promote the Wall's Sept. 30-Oct. 6 Big Spring visit.

The 20-minute video consists of four separate segments that include commentary by NBC's Tom Brokaw and ABC's Peter Jennings. The video shows creator John Devitt and volunteers exhibiting the replica in various cities.

"It's really like a magnet, it draws you and doesn't let you go," Devitt, a Vietnam vet, says of the Wall.

"It's a brilliant thing born of pain," says one vet viewing the replica.

Parents and friends sob as they spot their loved ones' names among the more than 58,000 listed on the memorial.

Vietnam veterans came back with a story Americans didn't want to hear, says one veteran.

No matter what your political views are, Vietnam deserves to be remembered, Devitt says.

Devitt began touring the country with his one-half scale replica in 1984. The 250-foot-long traveling exhibit will be displayed at the base of Scenic Mountain during the exclusive West Texas visit.

Houston will have the replica May 20-29, Corpus Christi July 4-10 and Longview Sept. 21-27. The exhibit will also be in Albuquerque, N.M. Oct. 10-17.

Two Wall replicas actually are touring the country, Gibbons reported to the committee, explaining that a wall made for promotional reasons by Coors was turned over to the Vietnam Combat Veterans Ltd. Memorial Fund this year. Coors gave up the wall because Devitt's wall is copyrighted, Gibbons said.

Pleasant weather is in store for the Easter holiday weekend across all of Texas. The only possible problem may come in the form of some shower activity Sunday, forecasters say.

Most of the holiday period will have clear skies and warm temperatures.

A few high clouds dotted extreme South Texas early today, but the rest of the state had clear skies.

A few isolated showers or thunderstorms are possible tonight in extreme southeast portions of West Texas. Elsewhere it will be continued clear and mild with lows dipping only into the 40s and 50s by dawn Friday.

Texas banks lose most in nation

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas banks lost a combined $883.2 million in 1986, a bigger dollar loss than any other state in the nation, according to Sheshunoff & Co., an Austin-based bank research and consulting company.

The state's whopping loss represented a 182 percent decrease in earnings for the Texas banking industry, the firm told the Austin American-Statesman.

The 1986 report showed only five other states — Alaska, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Wyoming and Montana — posted banking losses last year.

The company said non-performing loans at Texas banks totalled $6.5 billion, up 46 percent from a year ago, and the third highest total in the nation.

Total loans at Texas banks were $119.7 billion, down 4.5 percent from 1985.

Texas banking assets totalled $207 billion at the end of the year, a drop of one percent from the year before.

Bank industry executives told the American-Statesman that 1987 offers little relief for Texas banks.

"The industry's overall earnings decline is a result of deepening problems in agriculture, energy and commercial real estate," said Alex

Sheshunoff, president of the Austin firm.

"Bank performances varied dramatically by region," he said.

"The New England states consistently ranked high in various performance categories, while in many Southwestern states a meaningful recovery is not expected for another five to 10 years.

"The major problems for many U.S. banks in the future will continue to be in the real estate sector. It is difficult for many banks to quantify their problems in this area due to the significant drop in real estate values," Sheshunoff said.

Senate passes supercollider bill

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill that would speed the process of planning a strategy to attract the superconducting supercollider to Texas has passed the Senate and was sent to the House.

The bill was approved 31-0 in the Senate Wednesday.

"We simply cannot delay the supercollider program," said Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville.

The measure allows the Texas National Research Commission to sidestep state rules and hire a private consulting business.

The firm would be needed to help the commission assemble a presentation for the Department of Engineering on why the project should be placed in Texas.

A giant atom-smasher, the supercollider is described as the world's costliest scientific instrument. It is to be a racetrack-shaped tube about 52 miles around buried 20 to 30 feet underground.

Nearly every state wants the project, which would mean thousands of construction jobs, long-term work for 2,500 scientists and technicians, and an annual budget of about $200 million.

Normally the commission would be required to inform the Legislative Budget Board and the governor's office of its intent to hire a private company, a procedure that could delay the hiring 30 to 40 days, Edwards said Tuesday.

The commission wants a consulting firm hired by April 23 and a site selected by May 11. The presentation must be to the DOE by Aug. 3.

The House is expected to consider the bill early next week.

District tax auditors named

Green & Fillingim PC were appointed to audit the tax district's 1987 records, Director Ruth Mitchell said.

Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District appointed the public accountants during Wednesday's 1 p.m. meeting of the review board.

The board also approved the purchase of two phone sets. Wiring and jacks for the phones already are in place, Mitchell said. The phones will be placed in the records office and appraiser's office, she said.

No other action was taken, Mitchell said.

Hinckley loses pass

WASHINGTON — Presidential assailant John W. Hinckley Jr. lost his chance to leave a mental hospital unescorted to spend Easter Sunday with his parents following an uproar over revelations that he corresponded last year with triple-murderer Theodore Bundy.

St. Elizabeths Hospital withdrew its request Wednesday for a 12-hour pass for Hinckley, who was committed to the mental hospital after his 1981 attempt to assassinate President Reagan.

The hospital said it wanted to take a detailed look at documents taken Tuesday night from Hinckley's room "to assess the clinical significance of writings and other materials belonging to Mr. Hinckley which were heretofore unexamined by the hospital staff."

Hospital officials gave no indication what the writings were, but they apparently are in addition to the correspondence with Bundy, who is awaiting execution on Florida's death row for the slayings of a 12-year-old girl and two sorority sisters.

Embassy 'unsound'

WASHINGTON — The uncompleted U.S. Embassy in Moscow, besides being riddled with Soviet listening devices, has important structural problems that must be fixed before it can be occupied, a federal study shows.

After a six-month congressionally mandated study of the building's structural soundness, the National Bureau of Standards concluded that the embassy probably could be suitably repaired in less than a year and without major reconstruction.

If the building were in the United States, repairs probably would cost about $1.5 million, the agency estimated, but costs could run substantially higher in Moscow.

Among the problems found by the agency's structural experts were joints and reinforced concrete columns and walls which were not completely filled with the concrete needed for them to reach their full design strength; cracked walls in several places; and the potential for "progressive collapse" in the floor system.

FCC considers hike

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission is considering raising a $2 monthly line charge paid by residential telephone subscribers to as much as $3.50 over the next two years.

The first increase would add 60 cents to customers' bills on July 1, another 60 cents in December 1988 and up to 30 cents in April 1989.

The proposal was approved last month by an advisory board of FCC members and state telephone regulators, who voted to begin the plan June 1.

FCC Chairman Mark S. Fowler today was expected to recommend delaying the first increment one month and the second until after the presidential election as a compromise with members of Congress who are skeptical of the need for the increases.

A rescue worker is held by another as he reaches into a culvert on Dry Branch Creek near Buchanan, Va., Wednesday in an effort to find Michael Crowder, 7, who was swept away by the current during a heavy rainstorm. The boy was discovered about 50 yards downstream. He was taken to a Roanoke hospital where he later died.

Dixie floods, twisters kill two

Rain-spawned floods that swept a North Carolina boy to his death threatened to spread through the Appalachians and to the mid-Atlantic region today as Floridians cleaned up from a tornado that killed a woman.

Violent storms that moved through North Carolina on Wednesday washed out roads, dropped hail as big as golf balls and knocked out power to at least 200 people.

Slow-moving showers and thundershowers fell today from the Tennessee Valley to North Carolina and the mid-Atlantic states, and floods were reported in North Carolina and Virginia, the National Weather Service said.

Flood or flash-flood watches were issued for sections of Tennessee, North Carolina, the Virginias and Maryland. More than 4 inches of rain have fallen in some areas since Wednesday morning.

Water was 2 feet deep across roads in Guilford County in north-central North Carolina, and many other creeks in the area overflowed their banks, the weather service said.

Michael Crowder, 7, fell Wednesday into the swirling, muddy waters of the rain-swollen Dry Branch Creek in Botetourt County in Appalachian Virginia. He was found after a frantic search by rescuers but died at a hospital later, officials said.

Michael was walking along the creek with his mother, Cheryl Crowder, 24, and social worker Tina Arthur when he fell into water up to his chest, said county Sheriff's Deputy G.W. Guiliams.

"From what the mother told me, the child was jumping back and forth across the creek and didn't make it," said Johnny Carson of the Buchanan Rescue Squad. Both women went into the creek after the boy, but the current was too strong and Michael slipped away from them.

Rescue workers found Michael about 25 minutes later under a branch about 200 yards downstream. A helicopter flew him to Roanoke Memorial Hospital, where he died at 6:30 p.m.

Ms. Crowder was released from the hospital after treatment for minor injuries. Ms. Arthur was not injured, Guiliams said.

Three tornadoes tore through Florida on Wednesday, including a twister that ripped a mobile home from its foundations and tossed Charlotte Staples, 68, to her death. Seven other people were injured.

The killer tornado struck the Southern Aire mobile home park east of Mount Dora in central Florida around 11:15 a.m.

"When the tornado hit it (Mrs. Staples' home), it just sucked it right up just like it was a vapor," said neighbor Ed Hershon. "There's nothing there, just the foundation and her car."

Mrs. Staples was found about 50 yards away, and died about three hours later, said Waterman Medical Center spokeswoman Judy Paul in Eustis.

Others injured included a teen-ager trapped in a car for two hours by a fallen tree.

The twister damaged at least 58 mobile homes and 18 industrial sites in Mount Dora and the rest of Lake County, the weather service said.

Tornadoes hit two other parts of Lake County and the Bevilles Corner area of neighboring Sumter County, but no injuries were reported there.

Progress welcomed

BRUSSELS, Belgium — NATO foreign ministers today said Secretary of State George Shultz's talks in Moscow produced welcome progress toward eliminating nuclear missiles from Europe.

The ministers from 10 North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries were briefed by Shultz on his three-day visit to Moscow. Shultz then left for California to meet with President Reagan, who is on vacation at his ranch near Santa Barbara.

The allies said they would need to study the latest developments but expressed optimism an accord is near.

Britain's foreign secretary, Sir Geoffrey Howe, said "significant progress has been made in several directions by United States and Soviet negotiators."

"That is good news for all of us in East and West."

Titanic relics for sale

LONDON — A postcard from a passenger on the Titanic saying he was having "a jolly time" was among poignant relics sold at an auction on the 75th anniversary of the luxury liner's sinking.

The Ulster Folk and Transport Museum in Belfast, where the Titanic was built by Harland and Wolff, paid 2,200 pounds, or $3,586, for the card Wednesday. It was mailed four days before the ship went down after striking an iceberg on its maiden voyage.

About 300 people, mostly dealers and collectors, attended the sale in the ballroom of the Park Lane Hotel. It was organized by the auction house Onslow's.

The postcard showed the Titanic and a White Star Co. sister ship, the Olympic. It was postmarked April 11, 1912 and was mailed from Queenstown, Ireland, now called Cobh, the Titanic's last port of call.

The sender was Robert Phillips, who died the night of April 14-15, 1912, along with 1,489 others on the Titanic. His wife, Alice, was among the 711 survivors.

Phillips wrote on the postcard: "Dear Bill, Just a line to let you know we are all right up to now and having a jolly time."

Foreign debt refinanced

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Argentina reached agreement with its foreign creditors on refinancing $32.8 billion of its $52 billion debt, government officials announced.

The accord "specifically relieves the cloud the debt held over the nationally economy and by implication notes the beginning of a new economic stage," Economy Minister Juan V. Sourrouille said Wednesday at a news conference announcing the agreement.

Argentina, which has the third-largest foreign debt in the developing world, after Brazil and Mexico, threatened in February to follow Brazil's example and withhold payments unless it received new credit.

Views of papers across the U.S.

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from around the nation.

Recommends diplomacy, not war

With our military advisers getting more deeply involved in (El Salvador), we risk taking another step into the quagmire. The best hope for peace and reconciliation in El Salvador still lies, not in military victory, but in renewed negotiations between the government and the armed opposition.

It has happened before, as most Americans are well aware.

Pros, cons of anti-smoking laws

When does one person's right to draw poisonous smoke into his own lungs infringe upon another person's right not to?

From an economic standpoint, anti-smoking ordinances have pros and cons. The pros include lower group health rates for companies that encourage employees not to smoke. ... On the con side, public and private institutions have incurred construction and remodeling costs after banning smoking from certain areas.

Says worth it to destroy embassy

The revelation that Marine guards in Moscow and Leningrad may be spying for the Soviet Union is an embarrassment. ... But as regrettable as the Marine spy story is, there may be a silver lining to it. Publicity around the case has spurred the United States to examine what's being called a serious breach of security at the U.S. Embassy under construction in Moscow.

James Schlesinger, the former defense secretary and CIA chief, is investigating allegations that the new U.S. Embassy is laced with electronic equipment that could not be removed. ... Even if the embassy must be demolished, it would be worth the $191 million cost of the building.

Tariff sends 'overdue message'

We don't think much of protective trade measures. Protective tariffs tend to hurt consumers and protect business inefficiencies. Tariffs also hurt farmers trying to find new foreign markets. ... But an exception in that free-trade belief is called for in regard to President Reagan's decision to impose tariffs against Japan for apparently violating a semiconductor trade agreement.

Contending that Japan reneged on a trade agreement with the United States, the Reagan administration plans to impose stiff penalties on an assortment of Japanese electronic products. ... Meanwhile, the tariff plan is sending an overdue message around the world: The United States is no longer tolerating unfair trade practices.

Senator voted three ways on bill

Pork, party loyalty and a 65-mph speed limit carried the day when the Senate voted to override President Reagan's veto of the bloated highway-mass transit construction bill. It was hardly the Senate's finest hour, and certainly not freshman Sen. Terry Sanford's.

but on three sides. Initially, the North Carolina Democrat voted "present," which indicated he couldn't make up his mind; then he voted to uphold the president's veto, as he had promised; and later, after having his arm twisted by Democratic Party leaders, he voted to override.

Divorce rate is 'sign of stability'

In this era of social dissolution, any sign of stability in human institutions is welcome. The U.S. Census Bureau thinks it has found one.

The bureau reported ... that the divorce rate in the United States appears to have peaked in the late 1970s and, although showing no measurable decline, has at least stopped its upward spiral. ... If nothing else, this statistical finding proves that changes in social attitudes are not irreversible, that the society that greets distressing trends by throwing up its hands and saying they are inevitable may be giving up on itself too early.

Says lawmakers should 'flip-flop'

No longer is the biggest mystery in the Minnesota Legislature the question of whether our taxes will be raised or whether the governor's bonding bill will pass.

We're different up here. To be different, once they get around to the speed legislation, Minnesota's legislators ought to do a flip-flop on the speed limit: make it 65 mph in urban areas and keep the status quo in rural areas.

Indications are that the legislators, bogged down with a host of other issues, will not get to the speed limit change. ...

Latkes may replace the dollar

By ART BUCHWALD

I was walking down the street when I saw my friend Alan Guimond coming toward me with a wheelbarrow.

"What are you doing, Alan?" "I'm buying up every wheelbarrow I can get my hands on. With the dollar soaring the way it is everyone will need a wheelbarrow to go to the store."

"You're joking, Alan. The dollar has never looked better."

"I don't joke about wheelbarrows," he replied. "The tip-off came to me when the Van Gogh painting was sold at auction last week for $39.9 million. I said to myself, 'Alan, if that's what they're paying for sunflowers, you better get into something more comfortable.'"

"What is really going on?" I asked.

Alan replied, "There are too many dollars bouncing around, and not enough things to buy with them. The guy who bought the Van Gogh decided he'd rather have one picture of yellow sunflowers than 39.9 million pictures of George Washington. He has made it impossible for anyone to buy a Van Gogh for $5 million again. That is why you're going to need a wheelbarrow to go to the supermarket."

"It doesn't make any monetary sense."

"It was all a game," said Alan. "We printed billions and billions of Eurodollars and petrodollars and just plain old-fashioned American dollars, and kited them into the air. As long as they stayed up there no one paid attention."

"Well, they're starting to float down and people want something besides a pretty Treasury bond to hang on their walls. And while they're looking for something to purchase with their money they are going to have to buy a wheelbarrow."

"How many people can afford Van Goghs?"

"No matter," Alan said. "Everything else is out of sight as well. Have you seen the houses they are buying these days? Improved lean-tos go for a half million, and remodeled outhouses for a quarter of a million. When a $50,000 house now sells for $90,000 you know there is going to be a big demand for wheelbarrows. Look, I'm not making much of a profit on them. I have put money where my mouth is. I'm selling a $150 wheelbarrow for $800."

"Is that reasonable?"

"It's more reasonable than paying $39.9 million for a painting by a guy with a chewed-up ear."

"What is the answer?" I asked. "We have to find something to substitute for dollars."

"What do you suggest?"

"Latkes. I am advocating we get off dollars and go on the latke standard."

"What are latkes?"

"They're potato pancakes that have ethnic significance. The reason they are better than dollars is if you can't find anything to buy, you can eat them. But the strongest case for the latke is the Japanese hate them."

"What is to prevent the latke from becoming as weak as the dollars?"

"The people's faith in it. As Americans lose confidence in the dollar they have to turn to something. Why not a potato pancake, which goes especially well with pot roasts?"

"You couldn't have come along at a better time. I was going to use my life savings to go to a Broadway show. Now I'm going to put them in latkes. One more question. If inflation is getting so bad why didn't the President tell us about it?"

"He forgot."

Contra fund-raising network evident in youth commission

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — Did Lt. Col. Oliver North try to set up a secret Caribbean fund-raising network for the Nicaraguan contras from his vantage point on the National Security Council staff? This is a key question for investigators probing for illegal activity in the Iran/contras arms affair.

As we've reported, a hand-drawn organizational chart found in North's White House safe appears to designate a White House-supported international youth commission as part of a contra-funding network. In fact, a box on the chart labeled "Intl Youth Comm" was the only one with a direct line drawn to the contras.

International Youth Year Commission officials say they believe the reference on North's organizational chart was to a Jamaica-based affiliate set up by U.S. officials to host a 1985 youth conference in Kingston. Officials from the White House, the State Department and the NSC were the behind-the-scenes managers of the conference, according to IYYC officials.

Our reporters Bill Montague and Corky Johnson have found interesting connections between North and those involved in the 1985 youth conference. For example:

The man behind the conference was Roy Godson, an NSC consultant and a director of the conservative National Strategy Information Center. North and Godson were seen together at the think-tank's foreign-policy seminars starting in 1984.

"North talked to Godson all the time," said a participant in several seminars. Godson's spokesman would not comment on any ties to North. Significantly, Godson was an aide to former CIA Director William Casey on the 1980 Reagan transition team. As we've reported, Casey and North were the principal instigators of the Iran/contras scheme.

Robert Reilly, a White House aide and leader of the administration's campaign to win public support for the contras, worked earlier in the U.S. Information Agency office that gave Godson and the National Security Information Center a grant in 1981 to study the concept of an international youth conference in 1985. Reilly could not be reached for comment.

Walter Raymond, the National Security Council's director of international communications, was involved in the conference, youth officials said, and this is confirmed in an internal State Department memorandum. The White House said Raymond would not be available for comment.

Rafael Flores, who was at the 1985 conference working closely with several Central American youth groups, went to work soon after for a public-relations firm which was part of the North-contras network. Flores now works for Carl "Spitz" Channell, who was North's chief fund-raiser for the contras.

A donation to the conference was made by someone in Channell's organization, but a spokesman could not say who it was, or if the donation was made on Channell's behalf. Flores did not return our calls.

David Finzer, an associate of Flores, served on the board of the International Youth Year Commission. In 1985, Finzer and Flores founded the World Freedom League, an affiliate of the World Anti-Communist League, headed by retired Army Gen. John Singlaub.

Singlaub has made no secret of his fund-raising efforts for the contras, and has acknowledged that he worked with North to ship arms to them. Attempts to reach Finzer were unsuccessful.

Eddy Sang, a field commander for anti-Sandinista guerrilla leader Eden Pastora, posed as a "Nigaragan delegate" to the Kingston youth conference, according to press accounts published at the time.

According to IYYC officials, the cast of Reagan administration officials involved in the Jamaica conference didn't constitute mere window-dressing. They ran the show through their control of the money, the youth officials said.

But when IYYC executive director Floyd Brown complained about the heavyhanded interference, he said Reilly called him from the White House and told him not to "do anything to damage the conference, because the White House and the NSC wanted the conference to proceed as planned."

PHILADELPHIA TODAY

The Court of Oyer and Terminer convened today at the State House. A grand jury was impaneled. Then, the Court of Admiralty session opened, with Chief Justice McKean, Judges Atlee, Bryan, Hopkinson, and Rush on the bench.

The newly consecrated bishop of Pennsylvania, the Rev. William White today laid the cornerstone for the new Episcopal Academy, at Chestnut above Sixth Street.

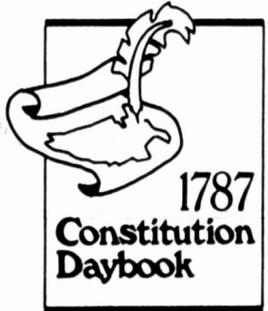

CONFEDERATION TODAY

Congress assembled, but as only three states are fully represented, it adjourned.

James Madison, taking advantage of Congress' recess, wrote a long letter to George Washington outlining his theory of government:

"Conceiving that an individual independence of the States is utterly irreconcilable with their aggregate sovereignty; and that a consolidation of the whole into one simple republic would be as inexpedient as it is unattainable, I have sought for some middle ground, which may at once support a due supremacy of the national authority, and not exclude the local authorities wherever they can be subordinately useful.

"I would propose as the groundwork that a change be made in the principle of representation. According to the present form of the Union in which the intervention of the States is in all great cases necessary to effectuate the measures of Congress, an equality of suffrage, does not destroy the inequality of importance, in the several members.

"I would propose next that in addition to the present federal powers, the national government should be armed with positive and compleat authority in all cases which require uniformity; such as the regulation of trade, including the right of taxing both exports & imports, the fixing the terms and forms of naturalization, &c &c.

"The national supremacy ought also be extended as I conceive to the Judiciary departments. If those who are to expound & apply the laws, are connected by their interests & their oaths with the particular States wholly, and not with the Union the participation of the Union in the making of the laws may be possibly rendered unavailing.

"A national Executive must also be provided. I have scarcely ventured as yet to form my own opinion either of the manner in which it ought to be constituted or of the authorities with which it ought to be clothed.

"To give a new System its proper validity and energy, a ratification must be obtained from the people, and not merely from the ordinary authority of the Legislatures.

DELEGATES TODAY

Gov. Edmund Randolph of Virginia was growing concerned that Madison had not contacted him on attendance at the Convention:

"I have thrice done myself the pleasure of informing and reminding you officially of your appointment to the Convention at Philadelphia next month. But my letters have, I am afraid, miscarried through some accident or other; although they were sent by the mail free of postage. I have now only to repeat my earnest solicitude and entreaty, that you would become a member of that body; and to inform me, through what Channel I can convey the money allotted for your expences."

"What is the answer?" I asked. "We have to find something to substitute for dollars."

"What do you suggest?"

"Latkes. I am advocating we get off dollars and go on the latke standard."

"What are latkes?"

"They're potato pancakes that have ethnic significance. The reason they are better than dollars is if you can't find anything to buy, you can eat them. But the strongest case for the latke is the Japanese hate them."

"What is to prevent the latke from becoming as weak as the dollars?"

Senate, Clements headed for showdown

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate's approval of a $39.97 billion state budget has senators and Gov. Bill Clements swapping charges.

Senators voted 28-3 Wednesday to pass a spending plan that is about $3 billion higher than Clements has said he would approve. The lawmakers said Clements' proposal is too stingy. Clements blasted the lawmakers as "budget busters."

"Senate action in passing a $39.9 billion budget is a giant step in the wrong direction... Such a tax increase will hurt, not help, our state's economy," Clements said.

The Senate plan calls for spending about $2 billion more in 1988-89, an increase of 5.4 percent over current state spending levels. It would exceed the $36.9 billion, two-year budget Clements proposed, a plan that already would require a $2.9 billion tax increase to fund.

Clements has vowed to veto any spending bill that exceeds his "bottom line," and on Wednesday the governor said the Senate bill would require a $6 billion tax hike that voters don't want.

"The average working men and women of our state are saying no to that tax increase. The budget busters prevailed today in the Senate. But I am confident the people of Texas ultimately will prevail," Clements said.

"We will keep spending under control, adequately fund essential services and turn our efforts to what the people of Texas really want — jobs, jobs and more jobs," the governor said.

Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple, the bill's sponsor, began the debate by acknowledging that the plan exceeds the governor's limit. But Jones argued, "The proposals the governor is making for spending will not adequately meet the needs of Texas."

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, the Democratic leader of the Senate, said that despite exceeding the governor's spending limit, the Senate-passed budget still had shortcomings. But it is about all that can be expected, given the state's current economic problems, he said.

"What's bad about it is it doesn't adequately address human services or education," Hobby said. "It's the best that can be done under adverse economic conditions."

Some lawmakers suggested that passage of the bill put the Senate on a collision course with the House and the governor.

House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said the Senate's budget probably was too high to win approval in his chamber.

"I just think it's in excess of what we need. And I think it's a great deal higher than will be passed here in the House," Lewis said.

House Appropriations Committee members said they hoped to complete work on their spending plan before the weekend, and Lewis said he has discussed the budget fight with the governor.

"He (Clements) said again, 'I will veto any tax bill beyond the $2.9 billion.' I believe him," Lewis reported.

Bob Davis, Clements' budget director, said the governor's plan still is the only one that will balance.

"We laid out our budget on Feb. 4, and told you then it was the only one that balances. It's still the only one that balances," Davis said.

Only three senators, all Republicans, voted against the Senate spending plan.

During the debate, Democrat after Democrat criticized Clements, saying the governor's budget would cripple many state services.

"Instead of more rhetoric out of the governor's office... I would like to see a little more leadership" on public safety spending, said Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston.

Senate approves open records revision

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators approved 31-0 Wednesday a bill aimed at closing loop holes in the Texas Open Meetings Act.

"It's not as strong as originally introduced but most important it was agreed to by all concerned," said Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, author of the measure.

The bill, backed by Texas Media, a coalition of seven print and broadcast groups in the state, goes to the House.

Efforts have been made since 1977 to tighten provisions of the act supporting the public's right to know what goes on at state and local sessions where public business is conducted.

There was little discussion and no opposition during the brief debate.

Caperton said the final opposition came from associations representing school boards, county commissioners and city councils. He said changes in his bill "have now met the consensus of those three groups."

One of the most stubborn controversies has been over recording of closed door sessions of official bodies.

The Senate-approved bill would allow proceedings in an executive session either to be tape recorded or reported as "certified agenda."

"All the presiding officer has to do is certify that this was the subject matter talked about in the executive session," Caperton said.

In the past, local governments, particularly school boards and commissioners courts, have balked at making any kind of public records of their closed-door discussions.

Sen. Bill Salpalius, D-Amarillo, asked how a county commissioners' court would be protected by matters of personnel discussed in a closed meeting. Caperton said his bill calls for the records to be sealed unless a district judge decides there is sufficient reason for them to be made public.

Ex-convict speaks on crime bills

AUSTIN (AP) — House approval of an anti-crime package requiring more prisons came shortly after members heard from a former presidential aide and ex-convict who said prisons have little to do with fighting crime.

Charles Colson, a former aide in the Nixon White House, was a guest speaker in the House. He served seven months in federal prison for releasing derogatory information about Daniel Ellsberg, who was awaiting trial for theft of classified documents.

"Most of them were sitting around getting bitter, mad, angry and couldn't wait to get out and get even with society," he said of the men he knew in prison.

Colson now leads a prison ministry program.

"If prisons stopped crime one would have to ask why we continue to have the highest crime rate in the world," he said, adding that the United States trails only the Soviet Union and South Africa in incarceration rate per capita.

The anti-crime package, backed by Speaker Gib Lewis, includes a bill that would make it more difficult for inmates to gather "good time" credit toward early release. Rep. Dan Morales, D-San Antonio and sponsor of that bill, said it would cost up to $255 million to build the prisons needed to implement the legislation.

The legislation would not take effect until more prison space was available.

Colson's theories were rejected by Lewis.

"I'm afraid I will respectfully have to disagree with Mr. Colson on some of his proposals. Some of them were good and some of them have merit, but overall... I have a hard time following what he is saying," the speaker said.

Gov. Bill Clements praised the House for approving the bills.

Woman wonders if lover belongs to her

DEAR ABBY: I've been having an affair with the husband of a friend of mine. It's been going on for over two years. We get together about three times a month. There are times when I feel guilty, but not very often.

We meet in the daytime at a motel — nothing fancy. We spend about three hours together (in bed). We can't go out in public because everybody knows him. He rarely calls because he's busy with business. He only calls to ask me to meet him. He has never said he loves me — only that he "needs" me. When I tell him I love him, he keeps telling me how much he "needs" me. (What is that supposed to mean?)

He has never bought me a gift, and he has plenty of money. I'm not a gold digger, but a little gift would be nice to show he's thinking of me. I wanted to buy him a birthday present and he told me not to because his wife would wonder where it came from.

Abby, can you figure this relationship out? I can't. What do you call it, and where is it going?

FUNNY FACE

Dear Abby

(HIS NAME FOR ME)

DEAR FUNNY FACE: I would call it an accommodation for him (strictly physical). When he says he "needs" you, that's what he means. He needs the sex you provide. He doesn't tell you he "loves" you because he wants no involvement on an emotional level. The relationship is going nowhere, and if you're smart you will put an end to it before you get caught or become addicted to him — whichever comes first.

DEAR ABBY: Some years ago you wrote something quite beautiful about people who love deeply never growing old. What was it?

RUTH COMSTOCK..

SAN DIEGO

DEAR RUTH: "Those who love deeply never grow old; they may die of old age, but they die young." And thanks for asking because I'm one of those people.

Club notes

Buying quality clothes club's topic

The Center Point Extension Club met April 14 at the home of Zella Lindley with Ozie Sumrull as hostess.

Roll call was answered by eight members and two visitors — "Something I would like to do and never have the time."

Linnus Couch presented the council report.

National Homemakers Week will be May 4-9.

Betty Cordes and Ireba Griffith showed a slide on "Quality Clothing, Your Best Buy."

Keys to selecting the best merchandise for the amount of money spent are price and quality, construction, fabric, care labels, stain-resistant and American-made.

Next meeting will be April 28 at the KOA Center with Linnus Couch and Betty Cordes as hostess.

Florist speaks to Hyperion Club

Q.T. Coats from Added Touch Florist presented a program on bluebonnets at the 1970 Hyperion Club's April meeting.

The group met at the home of Dene Sheppard. Guests were Joyce Alexander, Heidi Holmes, Helen Holmes and Teresa Sheppard.

Coats arranged an Easter centerpiece and gave tips on flower arranging.

Wildflowers and garden flowers should be hardened before using in an indoor arrangement, he said. This is done by cutting at a slant with a knife, cleaning with warm water and after setting for an hour, storing over night in the refrigerator.

During the hardening process, pennies placed in the storage water are helpful for bulb flowers — sugar isn't good for cut flowers.

The yearly project was discussed and the club voted to donate money for a loan trunk for the Heritage Museum. The theme will be Early Texas Life. The trunks are educational items that are loaned to schools and other groups.

Officers for 1988-'89 were elected. They are Shirley Johnson, president; Cindy Marshall, vice president; Jane Cox, secretary; Carolyn Freeman, treasurer; Gloria Petterson, historian; Theda Brooks, reporter; and Londa Henry, parliamentarian. Hyperion Council Representative is Shirley Johnson.

The May luncheon will be hosted at the home of Londa Henry. Members are to dress for "Early Texas" picture to be placed in the time capsule at the Heritage Museum.

Food Service elects new officers

The Big Spring School Food Service Association elected officers for the 1987-'88 school year at its April 10th meeting at Runnels cafeteria.

New officers are Joy Wood, president-elect; Kim Crawley, treasurer; and Adella Hernandez, secretary. They will be installed at the May 14th meeting.

Carolyn McIntire, president, called the meeting to order and asked Nell Wright to give the invocation. Eighteen members were present.

Marcey School has 100 percent membership for the year.

Dorothy Carter won the door prize. Refreshments were served.

Art Association to meet April 21

Big Spring Art Association will meet April 21 at 7 p.m. at the Howard College Art Building.

Demonstrators will be Quinn Martin, designer matting, and Wilson Money, wood artists.

The group will elect new officers. New members are invited to join.

Alzheimers Support Group to meet

The monthly meeting of the Alzheimers Support Group will be at the Veterans Administration Medical Center April 17 at 11 a.m. in room 212.

A film, "The Care Giver's Dilemma" will be shown and Dr. Santa-Ana, medical consultant, will be available for questions.

Virginia Garrett is the chairperson.

Business says 'sorry' for others

CINCINNATI (AP) — For customers of Kathryn Warman's telephone apology service, love means never having to say you're sorry.

"My service is to help you get it done, and save a friendship or a relationship," she says.

She said her home-based business had evolved from experience in jobs where she had to use the telephone frequently. She decided there was a need for a service through which people who felt they had wronged a friend, lover or family member, but who could not bring themselves to personally apologize, could hire her to make the apology.

Ms. Warman, 53, is a former telephone operator from Memphis, Tenn., with a soothing voice and a pronounced Southern accent. She is no stranger to telephone work. Her other jobs have included work as a receptionist, conducting business on the telephone for a television rental service, and taking reservations by phone as a hotel desk clerk.

"Most of my jobs required a certain amount of telephone work. At my age, I wanted to start an in-home business," said Ms. Warman. "The more I thought about it, I thought an apology service would be good. I thought it was needed."

Charging $6 per telephoned apology, she works out of her home in the Felicity community, about 25 miles southeast of Cincinnati. She calls her business An Apology Service.

Since beginning the business in late October, Ms. Warman says she has most often been asked to make apologies in situations that were not overly serious. But in some cases she has been hired to apologize to an affronted lover or aggrieved spouse. The responses vary.

"Usually, they sound pleased. Sometimes they ask, 'Who is this?'" she said.

She got just such a startled reaction from a woman whose husband had hired Ms. Warman for an over-the-wire apology.

"At first, she wanted to know who was calling, who her husband had told about their problem. Then, when I told her, she seemed amused. She laughed through the rest of the call," Ms. Warman said. "She finally said, 'You can tell him I accept his apology.'"

She says she asks customers if they want to specify how the apology should be given, or whether they want to leave the method up to her.

Jesus Christ did not come to the earth to change social customs, to change the form of government, to raise the cultural level of men or to raise the standard of material prosperity. Jesus came to show mankind God and to die for the guilt and deserved punishment of sin because of all who violated God's law. He came to save us from sin (The changes brought about in the social, cultural and economic standard of a people is indirect and secondary to His primary goal.) And the Bible makes no mistake at all in presenting what He did or what we are to do in response to what Jesus did and said. A person can be certain about how to be saved, which church to be a member of, can be certain how to worship and what work they are to do for God. And all people can be certain where they will be in eternity as their final destiny. Any person can know how to be a Christian, and to please God no person has to be anything more than a Christian (a "Christian" by Biblical definition). Jesus said "The Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost." (Luke 19:10)

Senate OKs phone bill to provide regulations

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate has sent to the House a bill designed to help the Public Utility Commission deal with problems resulting from new telephone technology and the breakup of the Bell system.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said his bill deals primarily with competitive services such as individual phone systems set up by companies within their buildings.

It does not affect PUC regulation of basic phone rates offered by Southwestern Bell, General Telephone and others.

Farabee said the bill "directs the PUC to establish regulations ... so that there is not an erosion or a further erosion of the local rate base, which would put greater parts of the expense to be carried on the residential phone payer."

The measure, sent to the House on voice vote Wednesday, would establish a "life-line fund," with a 65-percent reduction in monthly basic service billings for people over 65 who are also poor and disabled and the head of a household.

An amendment that would have made qualification less restrictive — 65 or older with a household income below the poverty level — was rejected 19-12.

The bill requires the PUC to adopt rules for local exchange companies to establish a special fund to maintain reasonable rates in sparsely populated areas and to reimburse revenues lost from the "tel-assistance," or life-line program.

The universal service fund would guarantee "that across the state of Texas, which is a giant geographic area ... we will have a universal system where none of the rates will be way out of touch," Farabee said.

Rate procedures for smaller phone companies, which are identified as those with fewer than 5,000 access lines, would be streamlined.

Those companies could raise their rates by an amount equal to 2.5 percent of total local gross revenue without PUC approval.

The 185-day period for PUC to reach a decision on phone rate requests would be left in place, Farabee said. If after that time the PUC granted a rate increase, it would be retroactive and the company could levy a surcharge.

An amendment provided that the surcharge would have to be spread over at least three months.

Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, said his proposal to open up the life-line program would cost no more than 26 cents a month even if divided only among Southwestern Bell's 4.5 million customers.

Farabee said the program as approved would cost $8 million and apply to 140,000 people.

The bill also gives the PUC final approval for rates of new or experimental services within a city. As originally introduced, the city would have had the final say.

In other action Wednesday, the Senate approved a resolution for a special three-member Senate committee to study "the potential for defaults among county municipal utility districts."

Sen. Tati Santiesteban, D-El Paso, said more than 200 such districts had had problems, mostly in Harris County.

"This is going to help us in the long run if we check into this," Santiesteban said.

The Senate amended and returned to the House a bill that would provide compensation for local governments if the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority decided to locate a waste dump on state land in their area.

Other Senate action:

The Senate approved and sent to the House bills that would:

- Require tax appraisal boards to issue written notices to property owners telling them of their right to appeal board decisions to state district court.
- Allow an individual or city attorney to sue to enjoin and abate a common nuisance, which is defined as a place where people habitually engage in prostitution or gambling.
- Change the name of North Texas State University to the University of North Texas. It would be the sixth name change for the school, which was created in 1890 as Texas Normal College and Teachers Training Institute.
- Set out penalties for failure to report incidents of abuse of the elderly or disabled.
- Allow "crack houses," where drugs are sold and used, to be classed as a common nuisance and closed by police.
- Clarify conflicts of interest involving executives in public agencies. Public employees and legislators are covered under present law.

Hoops and SWCID Fest coming

It may not be the Final Four, but the Hawk Club Invitational Basketball Tournament should feature some good basketball.

Hawks' Assistant Coach Scott Horstman is organizing the tournament, and it will be run similarly to the tournament he had in the fall. That tournament was won by a team from San Angelo.

The tournament is scheduled for May 1-3, and will be played in both Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and the "Poverty Pavillion" at Howard College. The entry deadline for teams is April 28, and there's a $100 per team fee. Team trophies will be awarded to the first four teams, and the top two teams will receive individual trophies.

A ten player all-tourney team and an MVP will also be chosen. For more information, call Horstman at 267-6311 (ext. 259) before 5 p.m., and at 263-4202 at night.

A fan for all seasons

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

Some people just can't say no. If you ask one of these people for a favor, they say yes, regardless of the inconvenience.

Don Davis is one such person. But for Davis, it's not so much that he can't say no, but that he has a compulsion to say yes.

If there was a Fan of the Year Award, no one would be more deserving than Davis. He's always in the stands or on the sidelines at Big Spring sporting events.

There's Davis with his radio headset working a Steers' football game for KBYG. There's Davis with his red sweater on at the Howard College Hawks' games, be the game in Odessa or Big Spring.

Again, there's Davis at poolside, pulling the trigger on the starting gun for the Steers' swim team. And there's Davis with a stopwatch in hand, getting the times at the Optimist Club track meet.

There's more — much more that this veritable bundle of energy does. A simple list of Davis' activities would threaten to take up the entire page, and if anything, the list will get bigger. Davis is tireless.

But can he say no?

"It's to the point sometimes of being a problem, I guess, but I don't say no easily. But I've really got a thing about community involvement and volunteerism," Davis said Tuesday in his office at Caine Electrical Supply.

"I have a real strong feeling that everyone in the community should do volunteer work, whether it's in some sort of social agency or civic club, because, quite frankly, in so doing, one gains an appreciation for the community, as well as meets a need for volunteerism."

"It's a real cheap price to pay for living in a community," he said.

"And I guess because sports and athletics have been such a major part of my life, I was attracted towards sports as my volunteer work."

Of course, those would be just words if Davis didn't back them up with action. Davis is also president of the Hawk Club, the Howard College sports booster club; he chaired the track and field committee for the Big Spring High School Booster Club; and is a past president of the Big Spring YMCA.

He remains active at the YMCA, on both a local and national level.

Don Davis, triathlete and super-fan, hovers above the Big Spring YMCA pool while spinning the roundball. Davis wears many hats: he broadcasts Steer football games on KBYG; he's on the executive board of the national YMCA board of directors; and he's president of the Hawk Club. And there's more.

Davis has a seat on the 50 person National Board of Directors of the YMCA, and from that board was elected on the 15-man executive committee.

"I feel it's really been quite an honor to sit up there with the judges and chairmen of the the boards.

"We had a meeting in Chicago, the national headquarters, and of the 15, 13 were there, and I was the only one flying commercial. That kind of put it in perspective."

"It's been quite an experience just meeting people and rubbing elbows with those kinds of people, and as a result I've made some good friends. And I can candidly say there are a helluva lot of people who know where Big Spring, Texas is."

Davis was also instrumental in getting soccer off the ground in Big Spring. When Davis and other soccer enthusiasts started the youth soccer program in 1979, about 40 kids played. "Barely enough to fill four teams." This year, Davis said the number was more like 300.

"I really feel like that has caught on and done well, and I'm really high on soccer," Davis said.

And somehow, Davis finds time to be more — more than just an athletic supporter.

Davis, we discover, is a triathlete, one of those crazy people who enjoy consecutive mini-marathons in swimming, running and bicycling. Davis started his regimen of punishment in 1985, and last year competed in 15 races, including three marathons (the 26-mile run variety.)

To train for the triathlons, Davis swims three miles a week (at 6 a.m. sessions in the YMCA pool), runs 30-35 miles, and bikes about 70 miles. This doesn't include a few racquetball matches, and an occasional pick-up basketball game.

"I enjoy the competition, I really do. A lot of people run for the fitness and pleasure of it, but I do it purely for the competition," said Davis, who finished in the top three in his age division in six of his races last year, and who swam on the Texas Tech swim team in his college days.

Though he says he'd rather compete than watch, he does watch a lot. He's an interested, opinionated, and optimistic fan of Big Spring sports.

"Just sitting here excites me, thinking about all the success the high school and college teams have had. I think the future looks great, I really do. And frankly, I think the success has come at a good time for the town."

"It's nice to have something to rally around. It might sound corny to think that a town can rally around a college or high school athletic team, but I think it can," he said.

"And I feel like Big Spring is very fortunate to have the caliber and quality of coaches that we have in our athletic programs, and I'm

Hawks sweep LCC

By STEVE BELVIN

The Howard College Hawks got their sleeping bats to awaken and finally showed the Lubbock Christian College Chaparrals junior varsity what was in store for them the rest of the double-header.

The end result? The Hawks swept the two non-region games 11-7, 15-1.

In the first game the Hawks didn't unleash their hitting power until the fifth inning. Normally, coach Bill Griffin's crew gets off to a fast start on the home turf at Jack Barber Field. But for four innings LCC right hander Chuck King held the Hawks' bats under wraps.

Going into the bottom of the fifth, King had allowed only four hits and LCC led 5-4.

But Howard, which had won nine in-a-row, changed things in a hurry against the team that had handed them their last defeat. LCC beat Howard 5-4 in the second game of a doubleheader in Lubbock April 8.

The Hawks made sure that wasn't going to happen again as they exploded for seven runs on eight hits while sending 12 men to the plate. King only surrendered two of the hits. Reliever Shannon Hays received most of the damage.

After Chad Baker and Jeff Shults

Howard College second baseman Chad Baker flips the ball to the umpire after taking the throw from catcher Randy Deal and tagging out Lubbock Christian College's Blake Tacker as he tried to steal second base in the second inning on the first game of a double-header at Jack Barber Field. The Hawks won both games, raising their record to 31-6.

singled to open the inning, King was replaced by Hays. Frank Medina greeted Hays with a single that scored Baker and tied the game at 5-5. Leadoff hitter Ernesto Castro then displayed his power hitting by nailing an opposite field homer to left field, giving Howard an 8-5 lead.

Joe Camarillo kept things going with a bloop double and Joel Chimelis followed suit with another double, scoring Camarillo. Randy Deal doubled and Juan Rodriguez's sacrifice fly scored Chimelis with run number 10. Howard took a 11-5 lead into the top of the sixth when Albert Lopez's single scored Thad Webber, the designated runner for Deal.

From then on Howard Landry completed the good game HC pitcher John Medrick started. Despite getting touched for homers by Brock Marshall and Darren Hays in the first, Medrick settled down and pitched a fine game. In five innings work he allowed five runs and six hits while striking out three

Queens have fun in exhibition win

FORT STOCKTON — Coach Don Stevens had absolutely no idea what he was getting his Howard College Hawk-Queens into Wednesday night.

The Queens hadn't played since the season ended over a month ago, and they were scheduled to play an all-star team from West Germany.

Evidently, the layoff didn't hurt and the difference between American and European basketball is still quite significant. The Queens blew out an 18-2 lead, settled back into a zone, and cruised to an easy 75-44 win over the German girls.

"It was a mismatch from the word go," Stevens said. "They just didn't have the physical talent."

"I didn't know what we were getting into, but it sure was fun. We played extremely well considering our long layoff. They (the Queens) were real loose; they shot the ball extremely well," he said.

Stevens said the game was played in Fort Stockton because Fort Stockton and Strasburg, West Germany are sister cities. He said several exchange students from Strasburg have attended Fort Stockton High School.

The fans at Fort Stockton gym rooted for their sister city, but they treated the Queens well, he said.

Afterwards, both teams ate at Pizza Hut, and Stevens said the Queens "really enjoyed" talking to the German girls.

Cowboys boot Septien

IRVING (AP) — Dallas Cowboys officials say they had no choice but to drop veteran placekicker Rafael Septien after he pleaded guilty to a charge of indecency with a 10-year-old girl.

The team waived Septien Wednesday, one week after he pleaded guilty to the charge and was placed on 10 years probation. "I knew we would receive adverse public reaction when we did not take this action immediately, but we wanted to investigate all the ramifications of our decision," Cowboys President Tex Schramm said.

He called the decision "a sad episode for everyone, but Rafael is no longer a member of the Dallas Cowboys."

By Wednesday afternoon, Septien's nameplate had been removed from its place above his locker at the Cowboys' practice facility at Valley Ranch.

Wrestler's body found near lake

DALLAS (AP) — The body of professional wrestler Mike Von Erich was discovered today in thick underbrush about 600 yards from where his car was discovered abandoned near Lewisville Lake, Denton County Sheriff Joel Dalton said.

A dog from the Grand Prairie canine corps found the body about 9:20 a.m., sheriff's department officials said.

The body was clothed in jeans and a short sleeve shirt, officials said. A jacket that the 23-year-old Von Erich wore to wrestling matches was found in his vehicle, of-officials said. There was no indication of foul play.

His family had reported him missing on Monday. He had been last reported seen Saturday afternoon, when he posted bond on drug and alcohol charges.

His car was found beside the lake Wednesday afternoon, and officials said a note was found that began, "I am in a better place."

Von Erich's 1986 gray Mercury Marquis was found on a dirt side road near the entrance to Pilot Knoll Park. A resident called authorities about the car Wednesday afternoon, saying it had been there several days.

"As soon as we ran the license number, we knew what we had," Denton County sheriff's Capt. Allen Lewis said.

Von Erich was the youngest of three wrestling Von Erich brothers, sons of Jack and Doris Adkisson. The father once wrestled as Fritz Von Erich. The brothers grew up in the Denton County community of Lake Dallas.

The wrestling Von Erichs have a large following, especially among young women who flock to their matches. The other wrestling brothers are Kevin and Kerry.

Von Erich, whose real name was Michael Adkisson, was arrested about 12:30 a.m. Saturday by Argyle police, who stopped him for suspicion of driving while intoxicated, Lewis said.

He was held at Denton County jail for investigation of driving while intoxicated, possession of a controlled substance and possession of less than two ounces of marijuana until Dallas attorney Ralph Pulley arranged the $3,500 bail.

Pitcher hurls no-hitter

BALTIORRE (AP) — After pitching the first no-hitter in Brewers history, 22-year-old Juan Nieves said he was going to try to relax on the plane back to Milwaukee with a good Spanish novel.

But while Nieves and his teammates relax and enjoy their club-record 9-0 start, the rest of the American League is probably wondering when the Brewers amazing start will end.

The Brewers equalled the third best start in American League history Wednesday night with a 7-0 victory over Baltimore, a no-hitter that was capped by a brilliant diving catch for the final out by Milwaukee centerfielder Robin Yount.

"People think this start is a joke," said Nieves, who became the youngest pitcher in 15 years to hurl a no-hitter. "But we are for real and this is just a taste of what is to come. We are in a tough division and we're going to go out and go after people."

Burt Hooton threw a no-hitter for the Chicago Cubs against Philadelphia on April 16, 1972 at the age of 22 years, 2 months, 9 days. Nieves is 22 years, 3 months, 10 days. The youngest pitcher to hurl a no-hitter was Nick Maddox of Pittsburgh who did it against Brooklyn on Sept. 20, 1907 at the age of 20 years, 10 months, 11 days.

Hawks

Landry, normally a starter, came on and struck out the first five men he faced. But on the final out he ran into a little bit of a road block. Darren Hays, who relieved his brother Shannon on the mound in the sixth, hit his second homer of the game. This was followed by another blast by Tony Pena. Then Landry ended the game by getting Jimmy Webster to fly out.

Howard got its first four runs of the game on hits by Chimelis and Rodriguez. Rodriguez crushed a two-run homer in the third, his 13th of the season, and Chimelis drove in two runs with a single in the fourth.

"We were sleep walking out there for a while," said Griffin of the Hawks slow start. "Medrick pitched well after the first inning. He's young and he's learning. It took awhile for us to explode but I knew we would. I just wanted Landry to get in two innings work."

talking about high school and college both. I sure want to stress that. Collectively, we've got as good a bunch of people working with these kids as I've ever seen.

"But the athletics in Big Spring may be the best kept secret in town. I can't understand why the coliseum isn't full (at basketball games). The high school and college sports certainly need to be better attended," he said.

The third inning was the big inning for Howard in the second game. Howard sent 13 batters to the plate while banging out six hits and scoring nine runs.

The big blow in the inning was a three run homer by Randy Deal, his 12th of the season. Castro hit his second homer of the day, a solo shot that gives him 11 for the season. Shults drove in two runs with a single.

Howard added four more runs in the fourth thanks to a two-run scoring double by Baker. Freddie Lopez hit his second homer of the season in the second inning.

Ted Hebert ran his record to 11-0 while going four innings and fanning six. Mark Hutchinson pitched the last inning for Howard.

The Hawks winning streak is now 11 games and they push their overall mark to 31-6. Howard's next games will be double-headers Monday and Tuesday against Vernon in Vernon. Both days' games begin at 1 p.m.

Dancing legalized in town

ANSON (AP) — Dancing is legal now, but there won't be any dancing in the streets over the change. The Anson City Council, meeting in emergency session, passed the ordinance legalizing public dancing for the first time since 1933, Mayor Gene Rodgers said.

Rodgers said the ordinance replaced an outdated, discriminatory one, which allowed certain dances but not others.

But members of Footloose, a group of students who support allowing supervised dancing for parents, are upset about restrictions placed on dances and the way the ordinance was passed Tuesday.

The six-page ordinance, which passed unanimously, sets up guidelines for dances, the mayor said. Restrictions include a stipulation that no dances be conducted within a certain distance of a church, he said, and that no one dance after 12:01 a.m.

And no dancing is allowed on city property, including the streets, in the West Texas town north of Abilene.

"You've got to have guidelines," he said, "You've got to protect the people."

Footloose president Mercy Torres said, "I think it (the ordinance) is worse than the one we had before. There are too many restrictions, too many 'don'ts' and not enough 'dos.'"

Paul Davidson, a musician and Footloose member, said he disagreed with some provisions in the new ordinance.

Banning dancing on city property limits the facilities available for dances, he said.

Ray gets two life terms

HOUSTON — A woman convicted of persuading her former boyfriend to murder her parents has been sentenced to two concurrent life prison terms.

Cynthia Campbell Ray, 30, was convicted of two counts of murder for convincing David Duval West to kill her parents in their Houston home on June 19, 1982.

After hearing statements from the defense and prosecution, jurors Wednesday took about three hours to recommend the two life sentences. Ms. Ray was then sentenced by Judge A.D. Azios, who presided over the trial.

"I'm not surprised by the verdict, as far as the punishment," said defense attorney Peter Justin. "I had hoped it would be a lot less."

The sentence concluded Ms. Ray's second trial in the case. The first one ended in a mistrial when a jury could not reach a verdict after several days of deliberations.

IRS sends $1.5 million bill

EL PASO — Two El Paso businesswomen say they didn't know whether to laugh or cry when they received a bill for $1.5 million from the Internal Revenue Service with a payment due date of today.

Trish Miller and Denise Quintana, owners of Envision Productions, were shocked that they owed anything for filing past deadline in 1984. But $1.5 million, they thought, was ridiculous.

Their accountant said it appears to be an IRS computer error.

"We're going to split it down the middle," Quintana joked. "We could go bankrupt, or we could ask all our friends and relatives to send donations."

Bob Branson, public information officer for the IRS in Austin, suggested the women contact the IRS if they think the bill is in error.

"Obviously with an organization that handles 90 million to 100 million tax returns per year, yes, we're going to make errors," he said.

The women started their company, which produces educational films and documentaries, in 1984 and did $20,000 in business that year. But they said they didn't make a profit that year.

But now they've grown to doing a profitable $70,000 worth of business in 1986.

Accountant Kenny Croucher said the bill is simply a computer error "that will take forever to straighten out." "There will probably be even more demanding letters before it's all done," he said.

Texas man killed in crash

NEW MILFORD, Conn. — The former owner of an airfield said he watched as two friends, including a Texas man, took off in their small plane and then crashed moments later and perished in flames.

Police identified the two victims as Randall Brown, of Danbury, believed to be 38 years old and Bill Stroker, 40, of Houston, Texas.

Police Commander Robert Edwards said they were the only two in the plane that crashed Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. at Candlelight Farms Inn and airport.

Roger Dunham, the former owner of the airfield, said the plane turned abruptly to the right after takeoff and then crashed.

"Of course I'm very upset about this. They were good friends of mine," he said.

His wife Belinda said her brother-in-law now owns the unit, grassy airfield on top of Candlewood Mountain.

Seconds after the plane crashed on a grassy spot about 100 yards off the runway, a small fire erupted. It spread quickly and eventually sent a wall of blue, orange and red flames 30 feet into the air, according to witnesses.

It took about 25 firefighters from New Milford and Sherman using special foam nearly an hour to put out the fire, local officials said.

Reporter yields evidence

FORT WORTH — A Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter has surrendered two tape-recorded interviews made on Texas' death row with a man who faces a second trial in the slaying of five people in 1982.

Karen Hastings, of the newspaper's Austin bureau, had been threatened with contempt of court and possible jailing if the tapes were not surrendered.

The tapes were made last summer during two prison interviews with Larry Keith Robison, who faced execution at the time.

Robison's death sentence was subsequently overturned and he is scheduled for retrial.

Prosecutors contend the tapes may contain the only admissible confession in the publicized case.

Hastings surrendered the tapes Wednesday following a two-hour hearing before District Judge Earl Bates.

In the interview, published last April 1, Robison detailed the killings for the first time.

Robison, 29, was convicted in 1983 and sentenced to death by injection.

The conviction was overturned because of an error in jury selection.

Robison is scheduled to be tried again in the Aug. 10, 1982 death of Bruce Gardner, one of five people Robison is accused of slaying the Lake Worth area.

Hastings said she decided to surrender the tapes because she had not promised Robison anonymity or confidentiality during the interview. She said it had nothing to do with the possible contempt charge.

"I'm a newspaper reporter," Hastings said. "I'm not an investigator for the defense or prosecution."

Prominent banker dies

EL PASO — Sam Young Sr., a prominent El Paso banker for more than 60 years, has died following a long battle with cancer. He was 90.

Young died at his home Wednesday.

The Woodville native founded El Paso National Bank in 1925. He served as the bank's president from 1944 to 1964 and was chairman of the board from 1952 to 1982.

After El Paso National merged with Texas Commerce Bancshares in 1982, he was named chairman emeritus of Texas Commerce Bank-El Paso, said Richard Hickson, chairman of Texas Commerce Bank-El Paso.

Young became the first El Paso resident named to the Texas Business Hall of Fame in 1984.

Richards warns of 'shut down' effects

AUSTIN (AP) — Treasurer Ann Richards gave legislators an idea Wednesday what would happen if Texas does not have a balanced budget by Sept. 1, the end of the state's business period.

"Under current law, if there is a valid appropriation, the comptroller is required to continue issuing general revenue fund warrants — even when there is no money in the fund," the treasurer said in a regular report on the state's cash flow.

"But when there is no money, the treasury cannot redeem those warrants when they are presented for payment by banks, state employees, vendors, contractors or others who receive state checks," the bulletin said.

If the treasury should be shut down, she said, the treasurer would maintain a list of "hot warrants" in the serial order they were issued.

Texas banks would be notified that general revenue warrants issued after a specific number would not be honored except when called for payment by the treasurer.

Ms. Richards also said Texas banks probably would not be able to cash general revenue warrants until the treasury could redeem them.

"Therefore, a state employee, contractor, vendor or recipient of any state check might have to wait as long as seven to 10 days to cash the check," she said.

House OKs school smoking ban

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Jim McWilliams, who as a junior high school student started a 36-year smoking habit, has won preliminary House approval of his bill to ban students from smoking at school.

The measure, which faces another House vote that could send it to the Senate, also forbids students to smoke at school-sanctioned events.

"Smoking kills 17,000 Texans annually," Jim McWilliams, D-Hallsville, told the House Wednesday before his bill was tentatively approved on a non-record vote. There was no floor opposition in the House.

Rep. Jerry Beauchamp, D-San Antonio, added an amendment extending the ban to snuff, which he said is popular among students in his district. The habit causes lip and gum cancer, he said.

McWilliams said in an interview that the ban could help prevent some students from getting involved with tobacco. Peer pressure to smoke is difficult to overcome, he said, recalling why he began a smoking habit that lasted for 36 years until he quit two years ago.

"I felt like I was tougher and smarter and bigger than everybody else because I smoked," McWilliams said.
