Two schools spend more per student

By STEVE REAGAN

A review of four area school systems' budget figures indicates that the two with the lowest student-teacher ratio are also the two with the highest per pupil cost.

A Herald survey of Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan school districts in Howard County and the Sands school district in Martin County revealed that the Forsan and Sands districts spend significantly more per student to deliver an education.

Based on the educational costs as provided by district officials, Forsan has the greatest per pupil cost of $5,265, while Sands expends $5,136 per student. Coahoma's per pupil cost is $3,535 this school year, officials said.

Big Spring, lowest among the four in per pupil cost, with a $3,228 average per student.

The Forsan Independent School District will spend approximately $5,265.00 per student this school year, Superintendent J. F. Poyner said. Forsan is second in the county in student-teacher ratio, having one instructor for every 14 students, based on 39 teachers and 539 students.

The district's total budget for 1986-87 is $3,489,826.

In addition to the highest per-pupil expenditure, Forsan also has the lowest tax rate of all the districts. Taxpayers in the district will pay 77 cents per thousand dollars of property valuation.

The Sands school district in Ackerly will spend approximately $5,136 dollars per student this year, according to James Blake, the school's superintendent. Sands' budget is in excess of $1.7 million, with property valuation of $92,504,900 in the district. Tax rate for district property owners is 94 cents per $1,000 valuation.

Sands has the lowest student-teacher ratio among the four reviewed, with one teacher for every 9 students, based on 25 instructors and 230 students.

Don Crockett, the assistant superintendent for business of the Big Spring Independent School District, pointed out that the district will expend $3,228 per pupil this year. The Big Spring budget will be in excess of $14 million this year.

Big Spring has the highest student-teacher ratio among the schools examined. The system has an average of one teacher for every 18 students, based on approximately 245 teachers and an average daily attendance of 4,300 students, Crockett said. The tax rate for Big Spring taxpayers is 88.2 cents per PUPIL COST page 2A

Hole in one

Workers make arrangements to tow a vehicle from the 11th and Goliad streets location of a street cave-in this morning. Rains Tuesday night were blamed for the street damage, which required a wrecker to pull a school bus and automobile from the holes. No one was injured in the incident that occurred between 7:30 and 8 a.m., and the school bus and car were able to drive away, Lt. Jerry Edwards said. The city is using bulldozers to repair the street and the 1200 block of 11th Street has been closed to traffic.

Help for aliens available

By KERRY HAGLUND

Staff Writer

Volunteers fluent in Spanish are needed to assist aliens in applying for permanent residence, secretary of Sacred Heart Church Teresa Rocha said today.

About 12 people from Big Spring's three Catholic churches have been asked to help, but anyone in the community is encouraged to attend Thursday's 7 p.m. meeting at Immaculate Heart of Mary School, Rocha said.

Volunteers will be available at the school every Thursday at 7 p.m. to assist aliens desiring to apply for legal residence under the U.S. Immigration and Reform Act of 1986, she said.

Official application forms aren't available, however, in the Big Spring area, Rocha said.

She said Big Spring Catholic churches have received registration forms from the Diocese of San Angelo Social Action Office located in Midland. The registration forms are not the same as the official application forms, she explained.

The registration forms are available for anyone who plans to seek assistance from the Social Action office in the completion of an application, said Sister Mary Jean ALIENS' HELP page 2A

Winns win water bill refund suit

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Big Spring City Council is expected to discuss appealing a jury's water bills refund decision at one or both of Council's meetings next week.

The city may appeal Tuesday's jury decision awarding $148 to Paul and Jerri Winn, 811 W. 18th St., for high water bills last summer.

City Attorney Hardy Wilkerson Tuesday submitted an oral notice of appeal to county court. He said, however, that City Council must make the appeal decision.

He said he will not recommend either way. Big Spring City Manager Mack Wofford said this morning the issue probably will be a topic at the Council's next work session Monday afternoon, or at its next meeting Tuesday evening. The Council is expected to enter closed session to discuss the matter.

If the case is appealed to Howard County Court, it will be retried as "a brand new case, as if this one never occurred," Wofford said.

After that, the case could be appealed further to the Court of Appeals in Eastland, which would determine the controlling law in the matter, Wofford said.

The Winns were granted a unanimous judgment by the five-woman, one-man jury in Justice of the Peace Bill Shankles' court Tuesday afternoon. The judgment came about 4:30, after two days of proceedings. The jury deliberated approximately 1 1/2 hours before delivering its verdict.

The $148 figure is the result of the $1.53 per 1,000 gallons water rate multiplied by 97,000 gallons the Winns said they didn't use, but were charged for.

The bills ranged from 13,000 gallons to 45,000 gallons per month. The Winns' original petition stated their usual average was 5,000 to 7,000 gallons per month.

Jerri Winn, in her closing statement, asked the jury to "go over (figures for) 1986, and see if I was justifiably charged."

However, she admitted, "I cannot prove what went on" to cause the high bills.

She asked the jury to disregard figures the city's attorney said indicate their water usage for 1986 did not significantly differ from that of 1983-85. Winn stated that their son lived at their home in earlier years, and that in 1986, the couple was away 139 days.

Wilkerson, in his closing statement, noted testimony by city employees who said the Winns' water meter was functioning correctly, and that the couple offered no evidence to the contrary.

He said it is not the city's responsibility to account for problems that evidently occurred on the Winns' property.

Wilkerson referred to city figures, which the Winns did not dispute, that indicate the couple's water usage for July and August amounted to 54,000 gallons, compared to 56,000 gallons for July and August 1985. He said figures from previous years are near those amounts.

Witnesses for Paul and Jerri Winn included Vera Winn, his mother, and Fae Hall, a neighbor, both of whom checked the house while the couple was away, and Jim Murphy, a plumber related to the Winns.

The Winns rested their case Tuesday morning, and witnesses for the city began testimony.

Defense witnesses included Manuel Jackson, who WINNS WIN page 2A

Council OKs beer sales at concert

The City Council approved a permit Tuesday night to allow the sale of beer at the Kris Kristofferson concert Friday, according to City Manager Mack Wofford.

The Council met at 5 p.m. Tuesday to discuss and act on matters relating to the concert.

Kristofferson will be the first to perform at the newly renovated amphitheater. The benefit concert begins at 8 p.m. Friday, and proceeds go toward the park renovation effort.

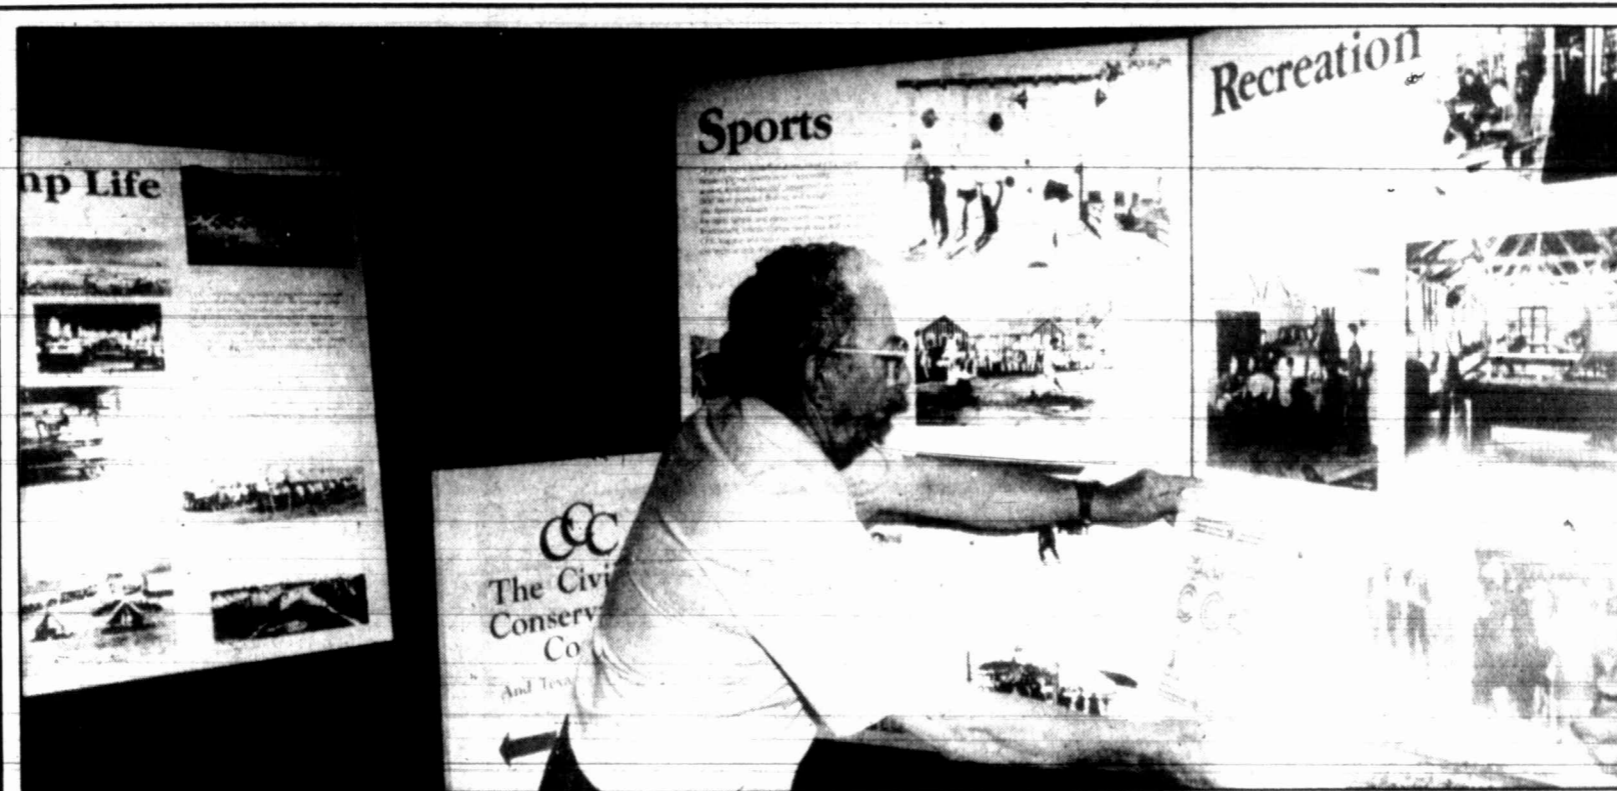

Comanche Trail Park will be closed at 5 p.m. to nonconcertgoers during the concert, the Council decided last week at a special meeting.

Councilman Johnny Rutherford, concert coordinator, said those already in the park will not be asked to leave. During the concert hours, however, no one without a ticket will be admitted.

Tickets will be sold at the park entrances and at the amphitheater, he said.

Tickets can be purchased in advance at Big Spring Athletics, the Record Shop, the Chamber of Commerce, Wonder World, A Little Extra boutique, Hester's Office Supply and at Endless Horizons in Midland.

The Whipkey Drive park entrance will be closed and the Wasson Road and Interstate 20 entrances will be manned with personnel checking tickets, Rutherford has said.

Clements: No conclusion on budget

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says there's no deal yet to solve the budget standoff between him and the Legislature.

"We are continuing to explore various options," Clements said during a brief interview in Houston Tuesday, following news reports that agreement had been reached.

"The negotiations are going on. All three sides are being flexible. There is some progress. There's some give and take going on. There is no deal," added Jay Rosser, Clements' deputy press secretary.

While saying no deal has yet been reached, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby voiced optimism that an end to the state budget dilemma may be in sight.

Hobby, who presides over the Senate, said he hopes the Legislature may be able to solve the months-long deadlock and wrap up all work — including a 1988-89 budget — by its scheduled June 1 adjournment date.

"I think there is progress being made on the budgetary front. I'm extremely hopeful, extremely optimistic. Certainly more optimistic than I have been at any time during this session," Hobby said.

"I'm very encouraged and hope that the various problems before BUDGET page 2A

Education spending called essential

AUSTIN (AP) — Saying more state spending on education is the key ingredient in making sure Texas continues to grow and prosper, a pro-education coalition is urging lawmakers to pass such a budget.

"We've got to have the finest in the world or nothing," said H. Ross Perot, Dallas computer magnate and the man who helped lead the battle for public school reforms in 1984.

Perot and others told a "Friends of Education" rally Tuesday that a strong commitment to education — both at the public school and higher education levels — is critical for Texas to remain competitive in the race for new businesses and in preparing for the 21st century. "This system belongs to us. We can refashion it any way we have to to keep the best and brightest. I think the whole atmosphere should be, across the nation, 'You better get to Texas quick because they're going to fill up all the slots,'" Perot said.

More than 1,000 people formed a standing-room-only crowd in an Austin hotel ballroom for the rally. Many of the participants, including civic leaders and educators, later met with legislators to urge funding of at least the level approved by the House.

The rally was organized by a coalition of education groups, spearheaded by Jess Hay, a Dallas businessman and chairman of University of Texas regents.

Hay said budget cuts suffered by Texas colleges and universities since 1985 have cost the state dearly.

"As a result of these huge and debilitating cuts, the national perception of Texas' commitment to education has been severely compromised and today is widely questioned within the nation's academic and economic communities," Hay said.

"Recruiting top scholars today clearly is more difficult than in 1985. Retention of our bright and mobile young faculty members today is less certain than in 1985. The morale of our current faculties clearly is declining."

Aliens' help

Audette from Midland.

"We have the actual applications simply because we are a qualified designated entity approved by the U.S. Department of Justice to assist aliens," she said.

The Social Action office is not an application distribution center, however, she said.

Illegal aliens who want to apply for permanent residence must obtain an application from a legalization center if they don't plan to use the Social Action office's services, Audette said.

People seeking the Midland Social Action office's aid in applying for legalization can expect to pay approximately $100 for each application, she said.

The office in Midland cannot charge more than $75 to complete an application or more than $25 for fingerprints, according to a ruling of the Justice Department.

Audette said the Midland Diocese will conduct an informational meeting in Big Spring in two or three weeks.

Naturalization and Immigration Service officers from Marfa, this area's border patrol headquarters, conducted an informational meeting April 30 at the Howard County Courthouse to explain three main portions of the Act.

Anyone desiring to assist the Diocese with its application process should call Big Spring Catholic churches for more information, Audette said.

C-City nursing home rate hike OK'd

COLORADO CITY — The Mitchell County Hospital District board of directors has approved a rate increase for Valley Fair Lodge, the hospital district-owned nursing home.

Nursing home Administrator Marsha Rickard said that the state had already approved a 1.68 percent increase for the 27 patients who receive state aid.

She said the state recommended a 3.25 percent increase for the 22 private pay patients. The new rates, which will take effect in 30 days, will bring $15,125 in additional revenues for the year. The last increase was in February of 1986 when a 5.17 percent increase was approved.

During a recent board meeting, the oath of office was given to Preston Morris, Gus Armstrong, Marion Bassham and Jay Craddock, who were re-elected to two-year terms in April.

Morris was later re-elected president of the board while Armstrong was re-elected vice president and Jane McCarley was re-elected secretary.

In other business, the board authorized hospital Administrator Ray Mason to advertise for bids for a depository for the hospital district.

thousand, out of a gross property valuation of $780.8 million.

Jerry Doyle, Superintendent for Coahoma schools, disclosed that his district will spend approximately $3,535 per student this year. Coahoma's budget this year is $4,637,000, although Doyle points out that the budget will be pared by more than $400,000 next year.

Coahoma school district has the highest tax rate — $1.32 per thousand dollars of valuation — among the four. Its property valuation for the current school year is $170 million.

Coahoma, facing cutbacks in all areas of the school budget, will be losing five of its 75 teachers next year, along with two of six administrators. Their student-teacher ratio stands at 13 pupils per instructor, with 70 teachers and 950 students.

Coahoma expends $652,138.00 annually to pay off their bond debt, the most in the county. The other school districts, in order of their debt payments, are Forsan ($652,138), Big Spring ($476,392), and Sands ($360,000).

A state judge ruled last week that the state's system of funding public schools was unconstitutional.

Texas Education Commissioner William Kirby said, "There are some discrepancies between the very poorest and the very wealthiest school districts in the state. For the vast majority, however, equity exists. The few districts that comprise the extremes of the wealth and the poverty should not cause the entire system of school finance to be deemed unconstitutional."

The ruling capped a bitter trial that began on Jan. 20 after a lawsuit was filed in 1985 against the state by 67 property-poor school districts who argued that the current division of state school funds is discriminatory, according to a report in the Herald.

Budget — Winns win

the Legislature can be resolved by June 1," Hobby added.

The House and Senate have passed budgets in excess of $39 billion. A conference committee will work out differences in the two plans.

Gov. Bill Clements had proposed a $36.9 billion budget that would require $2.9 billion to be raised by extending sales and motor fuel tax hikes scheduled to expire Aug. 31. He repeatedly has vowed to veto any larger tax increase.

But on Tuesday, the Dallas Times Herald reported that a "tenuous agreement" had been negotiated to avoid sharp cuts in vital state services by revamping the sales tax to raise extra money.

heads the city's meter quality assurance program.

He testified that he tested the Winns' water meter in September, the last of the seven months in dispute. Those tests indicated the meter was operating 2 percent slow — in the Winns' favor, but within the accepted range, he said.

He had no indication air had passed through and registered as water on the meter, he said, adding that air will burst the meter's insides, and air passing through pipes will cause breaks.

"You'd know you have a problem," if that were the case, because noises would so indicate, he said.

David Blackshear, city water meter reader, testified about the city's procedures for reading and recording meter information.

He said he and another employee take turns monthly reading particular meters — he would read a meter one month, and the other employee would read it the next month.

He showed a small hand-held computer used to record meter readings. The information in the hand-held computers is entered electronically into the office computer daily, he said.

He said the hand-held computers do not contain information from the previous month, and the readers have no access to that information.

The hand-held computer beeps an alarm if numbers entered into it amount to more than 8,000 gallons, he said.

Blackshear said older meters, such as the one the Winns had at the time in question, are more difficult to read, but he added that if he is unable to read a meter, that information is recorded in the computer.

Permit requests decline

The number of building permits issued in Big Spring in April dropped 37 percent from March, and the number for the year to date is 42 percent lower than at this time in 1986, according to city records.

The largest project recorded for April was a $112,500 renovation of the brick front at Carter's Furniture, 202 S. Scurry St.

Chamber of Commerce President Troy Fraser has said Carter's is the first business to participate in the downtown revitalization project by renovating its building.

The city granted 22 permits in April, compared to 35 last year, and has granted 90 permits so far this year, compared to 155 last year to date.

Hillcrest Baptist Church, 2000 W. FM 700, applied for a permit for a $90,000 project to add 12 classrooms.

The largest projects for April 1986 were a $175,000 construction of Highland Lanes bowling alley at Highland Mall and a $34,000 construction of a gymnastics center at the YMCA, 801 Owens St.

Permit fees collected amount to $452.50 for April, compared to $758.50 last year, and $2,232 for the year to date, compared to $5,101.75 last year to date.

Construction costs amounted to $146,129 for April, compared to $278,853 last year, and $799,952 for the year to date, compared to $2,020,363.63 for last year to date.

The city performed 33 inspections in April, compared to 41 last year, and 150 for the year to date, compared to 296 last year to date.

RICHMOND, Va. — Former Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos and his wife today lost an appeal of a contempt order for refusing to produce documents for a grand jury investigating alleged corruption on arms contracts.

A three-judge panel of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, without dissent, ruled that Marcos and his wife, Imelda, were not entitled to head-of-state immunity and were not shielded by the privilege against self-incrimination.

Teen pleads guilty

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont. — A teen-ager charged in the shooting deaths of the parents of actor Patrick Duffy has pleaded guilty to charges of deliberate homicide, robbery and assault.

Sean Wentz entered his plea Tuesday before District Judge Frank Davis, who scheduled a pre-sentencing investigation but did not set a sentencing date.

The 19-year-old Helena man was accused along with Kenneth Miller, also 19 and of Helena, with killing Terrence and Marie Duffy during a holdup attempt at their bar in Boulder on Nov. 18.

Wentz pleaded guilty to two counts of deliberate homicide in connection with a robbery.

Shuttle widow sues

WASHINGTON — Alleging a "conspiracy of silence and deceit," in the building of space shuttle rocket boosters, the widow of Challenger pilot Michael J. Smith filed a $1.5 billion lawsuit today that demands Morton Thiokol Inc. be barred from further work on the shuttle program.

The suit, filed in federal district court in Orlando, Fla., asks $500 million in actual damages from three defendants and $1 billion in punitive damages from Morton Thiokol for "reckless disregard for human life."

The complaint, filed by William F. Maready of Winston-Salem, N.C., said Morton Thiokol ignored a history of problems with the rocket joints and warnings by its own engineers "for the sole purpose of protecting its monopoly in the supply of SRB's (solid rocket boosters) to NASA and its very lucrative SRB contract with NASA, a business interest which was worth billions of dollars to Thiokol."

Victim refuses to testify

NEW YORK — One of the four youths shot by Bernhard Goetz on a subway two years ago refused to testify at Goetz's attempted murder trial because he was angry with "the system" after being convicted of rape, his lawyer said.

James Ramseur, who is serving a prison term of 8 and one-third to 25 years for rape, pulled his hand away from a Bible held by a court officer on Tuesday, shook his head and said, "I refuse to take the stand."

Former director praised by CIA

WASHINGTON — The death of CIA Director William Casey means his role in the Iran-Contra episode may never be fully known, the former vice chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee said today.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., said Casey "probably knew the most of anybody — with the possible exception of Oliver North — and of course that we'll never know, because he didn't really tell us much about it."

Leahy said congressional investigators had anticipated they would never have testimony from Casey after he underwent surgery for brain cancer last December. "I think ... the investigation's gone along with that in mind," Leahy said.

Casey, 74, died in a Long Island hospital early today. He resigned as CIA director in February because of his health problems.

At the White House, President Reagan was informed of the death of his old friend and onetime campaign manager, a spokesman said.

The Central Intelligence Agency praised Casey, who led the spy agency through most of the Reagan years.

"We have benefitted from his leadership and we shall miss him," said George Lauder, a CIA public affairs officer who read a statement issued by the agency.

"He strove vigorously and successfully to enhance the quality and quantity of information provided to policymakers and in that process brought a high degree of collegiality and openness to his dealings with the other members of the intelligence community," the statement said.

"His biggest contribution would be the fact that he greatly expanded the ability of the CIA to carry out its job," said Leahy.

Former CIA director William J. Casey, a wartime spymaster who rose to become the nation's intelligence chief, died early Wednesday at Glen Cove Community Hospital, New York, at the age of 74, according to his son-in-law. His part in the Iran-Contra affair may never be known now, said officials.

Lee Hart says Gary 'did nothing'

Presidential hopeful Gary Hart makes a point during a speech at a meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association in New York Tuesday. Hart defended his actions and declared that he "absolutely did not" do anything immoral.

DENVER (AP) — The wife of Democratic presidential front-runner Gary Hart said today that she's not disturbed by his association with a young actress and doesn't think anyone else should be.

"Gary said 'I did nothing,' and I know he did nothing," Lee Hart said in an interview before flying to join her husband in New Hampshire. "And in all honesty, if it (Hart spending time with Donna Rice) doesn't bother me, I don't think it ought to bother anyone else."

Asked whether she thought Hart showed poor judgment in having a relationship with Rice, Mrs. Hart said, "If I could have planned his weekend schedule, I think I would have scheduled it differently."

"But I don't think one should misconstrue something that may be a bad political judgment with the kind of character assassination that has been going on."

The Miami Herald reported Sunday that the 50-year-old candidate and Rice, 29-year-old actress, model and pharmaceutical saleswoman, spent Friday night and most of Saturday together at his farmhouse while Mrs. Hart was in Denver.

The Herald had assigned reporters to stake out Hart's house Friday and Saturday after an anonymous tip, but admitted Monday that entrances were unwatched for up to five hours.

The former Colorado senator, in a speech Tuesday before the nation's newspaper publishers, denounced the report as "false and misleading."

Hart traveled to New Hampshire today, but canceled appearances set for Thursday and Friday so that he could return to Denver and see his family.

By Associated Press Rebels kill 13 in plane

KHARTOUM, Sudan — A small commercial plane crashed in southern Sudan, killing all 13 people aboard, officials said, and rebels active in the area today claimed they shot it down.

The dead included the plane's two-man Dutch crew, a Dutch Embassy spokesman said.

Government sources said Sudan's minister of state for defense, Maj. Gen. Fadlallah Burmah Nasir, met in emergency session with officials of the civil aviation department and of the Sudanese Aeronautical Services Co., a private passenger and cargo charter company that owned the twin-engine Cessna.

A spokesman for the rebel Sudan People's Liberation Army said the plane was shot down Tuesday because the Sudanese government used commercial aircraft for military purposes.

Methods challenged

JERUSALEM — A defense attorney in the John Demjanjuk Nazi war crimes trial charged today that an expert witness who testified a photograph on an SS identity card is Demjanjuk used distorted methods of analysis.

The witness, anthropologist Patricia Smith, has told the court the picture on a Trawniki card shows the defendant.

Ms. Smith has said she compared the Trawniki picture to photographs of Demjanjuk by measuring facial features.

Whites elect leaders

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Whites vote today in a parliamentary election condemned by the black majority as racist and irrelevant.

More than 3 million whites are eligible to cast ballots for candidates for seats in the dominant white chamber of the tricameral Parliament. Seats in the chambers representing people of mixed race and those of Indian descent will not be contested until 1989.

More than half a million black workers and students stayed home Tuesday in the first of two days of nationwide protests called by black labor unions and anti-apartheid groups to express opposition to the election and the nearly 11-month-old state of emergency.

Soviets conduct test

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union today conducted its seventh underground atomic explosion since late February, when it ended a 19-month unilateral moratorium on nuclear tests.

The Tass news agency said today's explosion at the Semipalatinsk range in Soviet Kazakhstan had a yield of under 20 kilotons, or the equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

Tass said the detonation "was staged to check the findings of research into the physics of a nuclear blast." It was not clear if the test was conducted for military or economic purposes.

Test exchange is a good idea

Of all the American-Soviet exchange programs over the years, Moscow's proposal that each superpower conduct an underground nuclear test in the other's country has to be among the most radical ever suggested. It is also a good idea.

For several years, the Reagan administration has charged that the Soviets are violating the signed but still unratified 1974 Nuclear Threshold Test Ban Treaty.

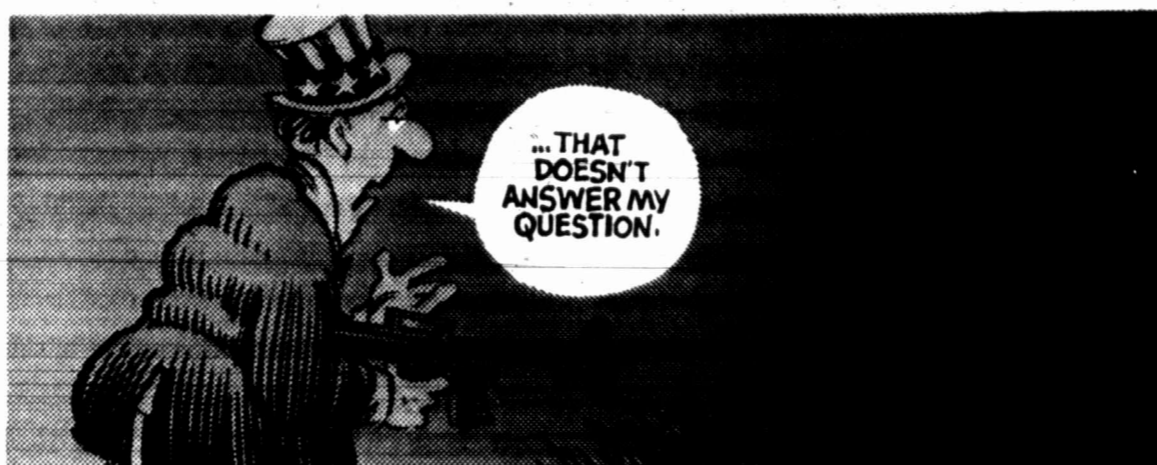

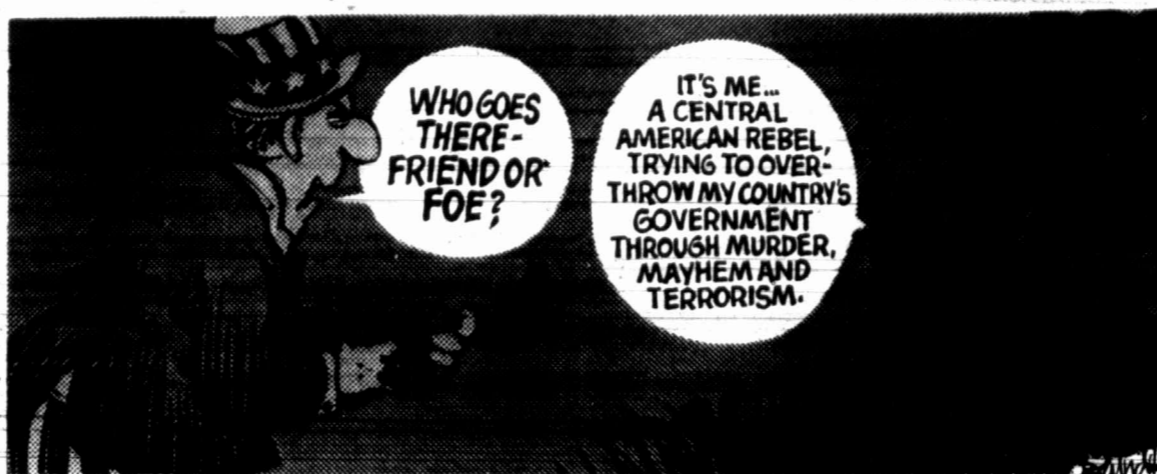

The agreement limits all underground nuclear tests to a maximum yield of 150 kilotons (equal to 150,000 tons of TNT.) The administration argues that Moscow has been regularly conducting tests over that limit. The Soviets deny the charge.

The administration's evidence of Soviet cheating is anything but ironclad. American geological experts inside and outside the government argue that the geological conditions at the two Soviet test sites are very different from the America test site in Nevada, and that could make the seismic signatures of the Soviet tests stronger than the American tests.

In other words, this could create the impression that the Soviets were cheating.

With each side conducting underground nuclear blasts at the other's test site and monitoring the seismic results, Moscow and Washington would be in a far better position to judge the accuracy of their own seismic verification equipment and the other side's nuclear test yields generally.

Moreover, the proposal also could open the door to more on-site inspections. It is encouraging that the initial reaction on the U.S. side was favorable.

Citizen writes epitaph for friend

To the editor:
Today — May 2, 1987 — a rich man died. He took with him all that mattered most. At age ninety-four and a half, Krishna S. Narayan Rao breathed his last breath. His soul, directed by the Spirit of Truth, departed his weakened body and went where beautiful, good souls go.

He was my "Babu-Garu." That means father-like teacher. He taught me the spiritual insights of his Hindu faith. We shared our faiths one with the other. I found that his and mine did not quarrel with each other.

Until a few weeks ago, he stayed informed about local and world events. He had every reason to feel pride in his children who have chosen service professions.

As he sat in his chair at Golden Plains Care Center, unable to walk, he was patient and courteous with those who helped him. He was a man of peace who looked for solutions.

Our best times together were in the early mornings when we shared our prayers. In Ancient Sanskrit and English, he prayed for peace on earth, for peace in the heavens, and he named each portion of the Creator's Creation. He asked for peace in the air, in the water, in the fire, in plants, in animals and in mankind. The model prayer, given by Jesus, was a favorite of his, and he liked for us to pray it with him.

Each Sunday morning, as Mr. and Mrs. Bilbro came to Golden Plains for services, they would see to it that he was wheeled out to the living room to participate in the singing and Bible study. He always was respectful of the faith of others.

A part of his personal prayer was that he might realize himself as the Light Divine. He wanted to be one with God as Jesus prayed that we might be. As he breathed his last, we were sharing prayers. "As a drop of water returns to the ocean, so returns our soul to its Creator."

Principal lauds concerned parents

To the editor:
Saturday night, Big Spring High School had its annual Spring Junior-Senior Prom. It was, as usual, a very enjoyable evening for juniors, seniors, and their dates. There were many handsome guys and beautiful girls out for a fun-filled night on the town.

After a good dinner, the couples went to the country club for four hours of having fun. The hours passed, and it appeared that everyone had a great time. Unlike past years, the organized fun was not over.

Thanks to two parents in particular, Guy and Debbie Burrow, and approximately seventy-plus parents in general, the students were given an alternative to after-the-prom lake parties or private parties in town that could have possibly ended in tragedy.

What was initially a good idea turned into a reality Sunday morning from midnight to 6 a.m. on two basketball courts that were turned into entertainment centers at Big Spring High School. Approximately 300 students tried the alternative offered and found themselves having a great time. They played games of chance with official "Steer currency" to be used at the 5 a.m. auction. They also enjoyed dancing to the local disc jockey J.J. Capasso's music, eating, watching movies, and drinking soft drinks.

The key to this success was very easy to see that night. The parents made it happen. What was once an idea became a reality because so many parents cared about and loved not only their own children, but their children's classmates.

A concentrated effort, organized by Guy and Debbie, allowed a safe, substance-free environment that the students truly enjoyed until the Sunday morning sunrise. And the students appreciated the parents adding to their "very special night."

The parents are to be commended for their efforts. Seventy-plus parents lost a night of sleep, but gained 300 "thanks yous." As principal of Big Spring High School, I say "thank you," too.

Let's do it again!

CIA botches arms deliveries

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — For those who are sick and tired of the Iran/contras arms scandal, here's fair warning: That fiasco should soon be dwarfed by the CIA's incredible mismanagement of the hundreds of millions of dollars Congress has appropriated for Afghanistan's freedom fighters since the Soviet invasion seven years ago.

Our own investigation reveals that the Afghan mujaheddin are lucky if they received even 40 percent of the covert funds intended for them. Counting matching money from Saudi Arabia, we estimate that the CIA has spent a total of $3 billion for arms aid to the anti-Soviet guerrillas.

But at least $1.2 billion of that has been stolen — skimmed off by rapacious arms dealers, crooked CIA agents and corrupt officials along the weapons trail in Egypt, Pakistan and the People's Republic of China. In secret testimony on Capitol Hill, the CIA has claimed that 80 percent of the arms purchased reached the Afghan rebels.

This is preposterous, and the CIA knows it. After we heard of the monumental mismanagement from CIA sources and others, Dale Van Atta flew to Pakistan to investigate. He drove to Peshawar, once a sleepy British colonial outpost on the northwest frontier, now a sprawling city teeming with Afghan refugees.

It is the headquarters of all the mujaheddin organizations and where virtually all the CIA's weapons are supposed to be delivered to the guerrilla recipients.

But Van Atta made an astounding discovery. There is no CIA official in Peshawar to check what the freedom fighters actually receive. And from interviews with mujaheddin sources, it became clear that less than half the weapons bought by the CIA ever make it as far as Peshawar.

Pakistani officials insisted that they would allow closer CIA contact with the mujaheddin, particularly to check on the arms supply line. But they said the CIA has never taken them up on this offer.

In fact, our sources said that CIA officials in Islamabad, the Pakistani capital, are forbidden by their superiors to ask the mujaheddin about arms deliveries. The only existing direct contact between the CIA and the mujaheddin fighters in Pakistan is through former Army personnel hired by the CIA to train the Afghans in the use of American Stinger anti-aircraft missiles.

Our investigation has revealed that the CIA's Afghan arms supply line is riddled with graft and waste from start to finish, on a scale not seen since the agency's covert programs in Vietnam. The opportunity for corruption is enormous, and the evidence of abuse includes reports of kickbacks made to CIA agents by Pakistanis who have shared in the boodle themselves.

The Afghan arms scandal has been years in the making. Yet the Reagan administration has made no effort to track the supply line back from Peshawar to the CIA paymaster in Langley, Va.

Now, at long last, Rep. William Gray, D-Pa., chairman of the Budget Committee, has asked the General Accounting Office to follow the CIA's money trail. Gray's action was prompted by a shoestring lobbying outfit, the Federation for American Afghan Action, headed by Andrew Eiva.

Eiva and the FAAA have close contacts with the mujaheddin groups, and they estimate only 30 percent of the money Congress appropriated for arms from fiscal 1980 through 1984 reached the freedom fighters in the field.

The CIA's ridiculous claim that 80 percent of the arms bought and paid for were delivered to the mujaheddin is a bare-faced lie. The fact is that the CIA has no way of knowing what was actually delivered — because they have no one on the scene on Peshawar to check the receipts against what was purchased in Langley.

It's not that such information is unavailable. Our associate Stewart Harris obtained manifests of weapons received by at least two of the seven main mujaheddin groups.

"The CIA does not have the manifests because they don't want them," one disgusted source said.

"That's why the CIA has no idea of how much is getting through. They have only half the information: what they bought."

Birdies get the best of golf game

By LEWIS GRIZZARD
HILTON HEAD, S.C. — Recall that on the sudden-death playoff of the Masters golf tournament (on April 12), Larry Mize chipped in a birdie from off the green to win the tournament from Greg Norman, who is the best golfer on the planet.

Norman had no recourse but to move on to the next tournament, the Heritage Classic at the Harbour Town Golf Links here at Hilton Head, where something else happened to him that was traumatic. He had to play in the Pro-Am with me as one of his partners.

Since I have no grandchildren let me tell you about my golf game. I began playing golf when I was 16 at a lovely course near my native Moreland, Ga.

The course had a number of interesting touches. You teed off next to a barn, you often had to shoot over cows grazing on the course/pasture, and if your ball landed in a substance cows are famous for (besides milk) you got a free drop.

I played golf until I was 22, and then I quit due to a lack of talent and took up tennis.

I played tennis every day for the next 16 years. About a year ago, however, I awakened one morning and was no longer able to brush my teeth with my right hand because my shoulder was hurting so badly from playing tennis everyday for 16 years.

So, fool that I am, I started playing golf again. I presently carry a 17 handicap, hook the ball miserably and recently missed a 3-inch putt.

Back to Greg Norman. What a nice man. He signed about 3,000 autographs and posed for at least that many pictures during our round.

As I watched him smile his way through all that, I thought of a young sportswriter trying to interview baseball's Darryl Strawberry of the Mets during spring training. The kid asked Strawberry a simple question.

"Out of my face," is how Strawberry answered him.

Norman had a bad round in the Pro-Am, he shot 5 over par. I lost control of my game and birdied the fifth hole.

On number six, I chipped in from off the green for another birdie.

"I've seen that shot before," said Norman, referring to Mize's winning chip against him in Augusta.

"And it was going the same speed," he added, referring to the fact that both Mize's shot and my shot would still be rolling had they not gone into the hole.

Playing golf with Greg Norman and making back-to-back birdies is one of the highlights of my life.

And who would have thought such a thing would happen to me years ago back home when a cow once mooed during my backswing and I hit my shot into the pippen, where a large hog promptly ate my ball.

Today

Today is Wednesday, May 6, the 126th day of 1987. There are 239 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On May 6, 1937, the hydrogen-filled German dirigible Hindenburg exploded on landing in Lakehurst, N.J., killing 36 of the 97 people on board.

On this date:

In 1840, England introduced the first postage stamp.

In 1910, Britain's King Edward VII died.

In 1915, Babe Ruth hit his first major-league home run as a player for the Boston Red Sox.

In 1935, the Works Progress Administration began operation.

In 1942, in World War II, U.S. forces under Gen. Jonathan Wainwright surrendered Corregidor to the Japanese.

In 1954, medical student Roger Bannister broke the four-minute mile during a track meet in Oxford, England. He did it in 3 minutes, 59.4 seconds.

Constitution Daybook

PHILADELPHIA TODAY
Assemblyman Jacob Hiltzheimer attended church in the afternoon. The text was Psalm 40, Verse 3:

"And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God: many shall see it, and fear, and shall trust in the Lord."

"Poor Will's Almanac" reminded readers it was time to sow seed for red peppers, okra, tomatoes, and endive. It was now safe to transplant celery plants and sow more seed for the late crop.

CONFEDERATION TODAY
It being Sunday, Congress was not in session.

Abigail Adams, wife of the minister to Great Britain, wrote to her son, John Quincy:

"I wish most sincerely that the meeting of our convention which is to take place this month may reform, reconcile parties, give energy to government and stability to the states, but I sometimes fear we must experience more our revolutions before we sit under our vines in peace."

John Quincy Adams was expected to graduate Harvard College next month.

DELEGATES TODAY
Gov. Edmund Randolph of Virginia arrived in Philadelphia to attend the Convention.

LOOKING BACK
Where Are You, John Hancock? John Hancock, Patrick Henry, Sam Adams, and Richard Henry Lee were all absent from the Convention in Philadelphia.

Hancock, as president of the Second Continental Congress on July

Constitution and, in June 1776, was elected governor. In 1779 he resigned and was replaced by Thomas Jefferson. Henry became governor again in 1784. He did not publicly oppose Virginia's participation in the Convention but did lead the opposition to Virginia's ratification of the new Constitution. In 1788 he returned to his law practice and refused all offices; Washington asked him to succeed John Jay as chief justice.

Adams sparked the Boston Tea Party, attended the First Continental Congress and served in the Second Continental Congress until 1781. Adams helped draft the new Massachusetts Constitution in 1779-80 and served as a senator but his influence ebbed thereafter. He did, however, support Massachusetts' ratification of the new Constitution, unlike fellow Revolutionary Patrick Henry.

Lee, in the Second Continental Congress, on June 7, 1776, resolved that "these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States." In 1779, Lee resigned but returned to Congress in 1784 and served as its president. Chosen a delegate to the Convention, Lee declined as he believed it was a conflict to attend while in Congress. During ratification, Lee opposed the adoption of the Constitution. Nonetheless, he was elected to the United States Senate. Lee was a strong advocate for the Bill of Rights, the lack of which was one reason for his opposition to the new Constitution.

Amnesty: College now possible

HARLINGEN (AP) — Leticia Mendez was born in Matamoros, Mexico, but went through her entire schooling in Texas, where she became an honors graduate at Weslaco High School.

Miss Mendez, 18, said amnesty will make it possible for her to go to college.

"I've already tried to enroll at Pan Am and couldn't, because I didn't have a Social Security number," she said Tuesday at the legalization center where she had come with hundreds of others seeking to become U.S. citizens.

Her aunt, Carmen Rocha, said the family has been saving to pay the application fee for Ms. Mendez.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service office was organized to serve the entire Rio Grande Valley, a primarily agricultural area in the southern-most tip of Texas. It is among 107 legalization offices in the United States and nine in Texas.

Officials estimate as many as 50,000 illegal aliens in the Valley may be eligible for amnesty by proving continuous U.S. residence since before 1982.

By the end of the day, the office had seen 1,300 aliens, but only four had completed amnesty applications and paid the fee of $185 for adults and $50 for each child (to a maximum of $420 per family.)

Maria Sanchez and her four children spent the pre-dawn hours Tuesday in a parked car, waiting to apply.

She was first in line when the doors opened at 8 a.m.

"I've been here since midnight, because I thought there would be a lot of people," said the 28-year-old Nuevo Leon, Mexico, native who said she has lived in Mission for the past six years.

empty by the end of the day.

Most applicants were from Mexico, whose border is about 35 miles south of here. The majority were only seeking application forms, said Charles Perez, chief INS legalization officer in Harlingen.

Perez said he expected the crowds to peak around August. Some immigrants in this country illegally distrust the INS, which in the past has primarily been an agency that could deport them.

"It's hard to convince people that we really and truly mean what we say," Perez said. "We are committed to the program and want everybody to have his say before the examiner."

Graciela Sanchez, 28, said in Spanish that she and her husband who moved to Roma, Texas, from Monterrey in 1978, are applying for amnesty "because we have a lot of years here, a whole lifetime, and two children born here. That seems like enough to be able to stay."

MHMR asks for probe

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has asked a federal judge to appoint a task force to investigate accusations of neglect and abuse within the agency.

The department filed the request Tuesday with U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders, asking him to appoint a three-member task force of superintendents of non-Texas state schools for the mentally retarded.

The agency is a defendant in a 13-year-old lawsuit on conditions in the state's 13 schools for the mentally retarded.

The state reported 47 deaths in those schools during the last 90-day reporting period. Plaintiffs in the lawsuit said the deaths are indicative of a pattern of abuse and neglect.

PUBLIC INVITED

Nine and a half years after the Colorado River Municipal Water District filed an application for the Stacy dam, the beginning of construction will be marked with groundbreaking ceremonies May 16 at the construction site 25 miles southeast of Ballinger.

Chambers of Commerce in Ballinger, Coleman and Eden are joining with the CRMWD to host a barbecue at 12 noon followed by the District's recognition program at 1:30 p.m. Senator Phil Gramm and Congressman Charles Stenholm, both longtime supporters of the reservoir, will speak at the ceremony. Both U.S. Senators, several U.S. representatives, the governor and former governors, state senators and representatives (representing this area) and various other state officials have been invited.

Tickets for the lunch, to be catered by the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang, will be available in Chambers of Commerce at member cities of Big Spring, Snyder, and Odessa, and the contract cities of San Angelo, Abilene and Midland, as well as the Chambers of Commerce of the Cities of Ballinger, Coleman, and Eden, and the County Judge's office in the Concho County Courthouse at Paint Rock. The West Central Texas Municipal Water District, contract participant in the Stacy Project on behalf of the City of Abilene, will also have tickets for the general public. Only those with tickets will be served lunch, and tickets must be picked up before noon on Monday, May 11, in order to establish a head count. Those who wish to come only for the program are welcome to do so.

The site is accessible via a lateral road off FM 2134, just north of the Colorado River crossing at Leaday or from the east by a road off of FM 503. Look for signs. Festivities will be at the north end of the dam location, and there will be facilities for first aid and sanitation.

Son wants to open closet after lover dies of AIDS

DEAR ABBY: Our son's lover recently died of AIDS. He and "John" had been together for more than 10 years. Our son is devastated, and plans to visit us for a family reunion soon.

Here's the problem: We never wanted to let the rest of our family know that John is gay. John says that he is not about to sit down with his family and pretend that life is just beautiful after having gone through the most painful and tragic year of his life, and if he can't be open and honest with his own family, he refuses to come home.

Abby, we love our son, but don't want the embarrassment and hysteria that this situation could bring. What do we do?

EMOTIONALLY TORN
DEAR TORN: Tell John that you want him to come home — that you don't expect him to pretend that "life is beautiful" considering the pain he has endured the last year. But you see no good purpose served by his coming out of the closet to the rest of the family who, until now, didn't know that he was gay.

The decision, of course, is John's. For him to insist that the entire family be informed that he is gay, even though it may cause his immediate family members "embarrassment and hysteria," is insensitive and inconsiderate. But make him welcome anyway.

Dear Abby

sitive and inconsiderate. But make him welcome anyway.

DEAR ABBY: My wife, who is approaching 40 and in reasonably good health, has recently announced that she has no more interest in sex, and we have stopped all sexual relations. Obviously I am not very pleased with this situation and have conveyed that to her in no uncertain terms. However, she has indicated that that's the way it is — and I had better learn to live with it.

I don't believe my wife is seeing anyone else; she's just decided that she can live without sex. However,

I can't, and I would like to know whether this is normal for a woman her age, and what do you recommend I do? I would appreciate an early response, as I am...

FRUSTRATED
IN DOWNERS GROVE

DEAR FRUSTRATED: If ever a couple needed a therapist, you do. It is not normal. Why did your wife decide that there would be no more sexual relations? Has she lost the desire? Or is she punishing you for something? Knowing that you are not pleased with the situation but announcing that you had better learn to live with it indicates a less than loving attitude.

DEAR ABBY: In apologizing to "Dentist's Wife in Utica," you still haven't gotten it right. You said, "One day I may be in Utica and require the services of a first-class dentist to extract my foot from my mouth." In the case you have just mentioned, your need would be not for a dentist, but a podiatrist — a doctor of podiatric medicine and surgery.

Just trying to get your doctors straightened out.

Outpatient surgery helps cut costs

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

Do you ever get hospital phobia?

If you do, there's good news. You may not have to feel anxious about staying in the hospital again.

Texas Surgery — a new outpatient surgery center at Malone and Hogan Clinic will open this month, says Donna Fields, director of nursing.

"The new center will provide our community with the best available surgical care, at the same time avoiding the inconveniences and anxiety of hospitalization."

By providing surgery on a one-day, outpatient basis, disruption of family life is minimized. Family and friends of the patient are recognized as an important factor in the patient's well-being, she explained.

"Our aim is to reduce the stress and psychological trauma associated with the surgical experience — particularly in children with stream-lined, pre-registration, personalized care and attention and preparation for before, during and after home recovery."

Fields says the outpatient surgery is cost saving because it eliminates the cost of hospitalization.

"Also by reducing the amount of time the patient spends away from family or job, one-day surgery is cost effective."

Fields received her education at St. Mary's School of Nursing in Rochester, Minn.; a bachelor of science in nursing at Alverno College in Milwaukee, Wisc.; and completed her graduate work at University of Texas at El Paso.

She was an operating room supervisor at the University of Wisconsin in Madison and was an intensive care unit nurse at the Veteran's Administration Medical Center.

This week is Texas Nurses Week. Watch for another local nurse to be highlighted in this section tomorrow.

Students honor employers at banquet

More than 50 HECE employers, representative of the 35 local business, were honored by their student-workers May 5 with an annual appreciation banquet at the Howard College Cactus Room.

The lagging economy has not hurt the Big Spring High School Home Economics Cooperative Education program, said Billye Gresham, teacher/coordinator of the program.

The student-worker enrollment has maintained a higher enrollment this year than in the past, she added.

Possibly accountable for this is the national trend toward increases in the service-type industries, such as food service, child care, nursing care and custodial services. These industries and businesses seem to be growing in spite of the current economic woes, she explained.

Employers were given framed certificates and long-stemmed flowers by their student employers in appreciation for their support of the high school job-training program.

The students with long-term employment records were honored with awards.

Six students received awards for having two years or more of job training in the same job area and/or place of employment. They were Lititia Baucham, Tonyia Booth, Scott Greenfield, Yolanda Green, Elisa Hilario and Cindy Regalado.

More than half of the students have been employed in the same business for the duration of the school year or longer, Gresham said.

Major goals of the HECE program are to teach job perseverance and positive work skills, she added.

Denise Sherman, Priscilla Banks, Cindy Regalado and Yolanda Green explained the benefits of HECE in their job skills and in human relation skills. Their speeches reflected the theme of the banquet "Facing the Adult World."

Vocational administrator Loren Spencer informed the group of current educational trends and concerns. He said that as a result of HB72 more emphasis is being placed on reading, writing and calculating skills.

Vocational education has always stressed these skills, but is now placing a high priority on them, he explained.

Vocational educators share with the business community the importance of students keeping up with the new and emergency technologies.

Spencer stressed that with the schools and businesses working together on these important work skills, the student employee becomes a winner and the business community profits from increased productivity.

LOS ANGELES — Game-show host and animal rights activist Bob Barker will receive the top award of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Barker, whose threat to walk out as host of the 1987 Miss USA Pageant forced organizers to use fake furs during the telecast, will receive the ASPCA Board of Directors Award of Excellence on May 14, the society announced Tuesday.

ASPCA president John Fullberg said Barker's threat alerted millions of people to "the cruelty inherent in fur farming and trapping."

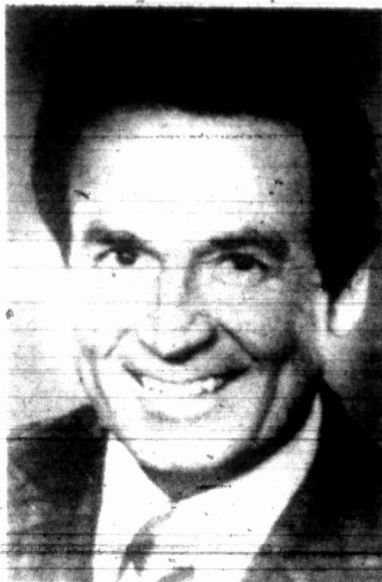

NEW YORK — Willem de Kooning's "Pink Lady" fetched $3.63 million at auction, tying the record for a contemporary painting and for a work by a living artist.

The 1944 work, a large, abstract expressionist oil and charcoal on panel in pinks, red, bright green and yellow, was sold at Sotheby's auction house Monday night. The buyer was not identified.

Los Angeles artist Betty Warner Sheinbaum and her husband, economist Stanley K. Sheinbaum, had owned the painting.

Also sold at the auction were two works owned by Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner, who received $2.53 million for de Kooning's "Woman" and $2.57 million for "November 26, 1950" by Jackson Pollock.

tour to raise money for charity and let more blacks see the show, which draws heavily on South African music.

The second leg of the tour, nine concerts in eight U.S. cities, will begin June 15 in Atlanta and end July 2 in New York. Nearly all ticket money will be given to charity, said Simon.

Simon, who is the only white musician on stage during the concert, said that in Los Angeles, the show was sold out by the time the black community heard about it.

One third of the proceeds will go to a charity created by South African anti-apartheid leader Allan Boesak to help children in South African detention camps, Simon said Monday.

Another third will go to the United Negro College Fund and a third to a municipal charity in each concert city, Simon said. He said he expects each concert to raise about $150,000.

ATLANTA — City Councilman Hosea Williams and civil rights activist Dick Gregory have embarked on a two-week prayer pilgrimage to fight drug abuse and seek peace in southern Africa.

Also joining them Tuesday was the Rev. Maurice Dawkins of Washington. They plan to visit Zaire, Angola, Kenya, England, Switzerland, Italy and Portugal.

WASHINGTON — Linda Lavin, a star of Neil Simon's hit play "Broadway Bound," and Pat Carroll of "Romeo and Juliet" were among the winners of Helen Hayes Awards for achievements in the Washington theater.

Sixteen winners were selected from among 85 nominees, 195 plays and 28 theaters. The awards are named in honor of the Washington-born actress.

James Earl Jones, starring in "Fences" on Broadway, was honored at the Kennedy Center affair Monday night with a new award, the American Express Tribute, for performers who got their start or big break in Washington.

Jones said his big break was the 1967 Arena Stage production of "The Great White Hope."

Miss Lavin won as best lead actress in a non-resident show, a category for productions running outside Washington. "Broadway Bound," the final play in a trilogy that includes "Brighton Beach Memoirs" and "Biloxi Blues," is on Broadway.

Miss Carroll was honored as best supporting actress in a Washington production.

Hospital to help teens cope with problems

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — The pressures working on adolescents around the nation are also at work in Decatur, and a psychiatrist says they can drive some young people into alcoholism or suicide.

Those pressures include single-parent families, the intense competition to get into a good college and the struggle to find a job after school.

Dr. Ira Brent, director of psychiatry at St. Mary's Hospital, says more young people nationwide — and in Decatur — are seeking psychiatric help than ever before. To help meet the growing need, St. Mary's plans to open an eight-room unit devoted exclusively to treating youth with mental illnesses.

The adolescent unit, to open in a few months off a hallway near the present psychiatric ward, will have its own recreation area, and possibly a classroom where teachers from the Decatur School District can work with groups of students.

Brent and other local experts have an arsenal of statistics to justify the need for the unit.

"Adolescents have their own special needs which make it difficult for them to be mixed in with adults," Brent said. "There's a higher rate of divorce, more single families. There's a breakdown in the nuclear family. There's more mobility, more transiency.

"Kids struggle with problems these days ... that their parents never had to face. Kids are killing themselves over the issue of taking the ACT (American College Test) to get into college," he said.

Mike Bach, who works with adolescents at Decatur Mental Health Center, said the center last year sent an average of one youth per week to local psychiatric care centers — primarily St. Mary's Hospital. Twenty-five youths were admitted to Adolf Meyer Mental Health Center last year.

"There are a lot of pressures with being a kid ... drug use, drinking, sexual activity. Kids see themselves as less in control. Parents see them as out of control," Bach said.

Authorities say that having a "school" on the proposed adolescent psychiatric unit would help teen-agers ease back into the routine of everyday life.

Several attend Moore's 25th annual reunion

Former residents, teachers and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Zarah Bednar to the 25th annual Moore Reunion recently, which was hosted at Garrett Hall of the First United Methodist Church.

Former Moore teachers attending the reunion were Twila Lomax, Anna Smith and Ted Phillips.

Bednar played a taped interview, by a local radio station, with Rev. Wayne Cook and Truett Thomas, both pioneer residents of the Moore Community.

The men told stories about early history and explained what made Moore a closely knit community.

An historical marker is being erected and will be placed at the location of the former Moore School.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Robinett and Rev. Wayne Cook of Lubbock traveled the farthest distance to the reunion. The J.W. Phillips family had the most family members present — six. Mrs. Viola Burchett was the oldest person attending the reunion.

Ted Phillips gave the invocation and group singing was led by Truett Thomas, accompanied by Mrs. Betty Reagan.

Anna Smith presented the new state of offices for the forthcoming year.

Mrs. Zarah Bednar presented the memorial service and Mr. Oran Nichols gave the memorial prayer.

The meeting was concluded with the group singing "The More We Get Together," led by Truett Thomas.

State Sen. Hugh Parmer, D-Fort Worth, left, and Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, share a laugh as the senate meets as a committee of the whole Tuesday in Austin. Senators were laying the groundwork for Wednesday's debate on tort reform.

Senate ready for tort reform debate

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators have been told the tort reform package offered them was a good compromise but not perfect.

"This is a very far-reaching piece of legislation, done carefully and deliberately," Houston attorney Joe Jamail told a Senate briefing session Tuesday. "It is a compromise, but it is not perfect."

Numerous proposed amendments were expected for the scheduled debate today.

The package of measures to make changes in civil justice and insurance laws was negotiated by Sens. John Montford, Kent Caperton and O.H. "Ike" Harris, with the help of several prominent lawyers.

Mike Gallagher of Houston represented plaintiff attorneys in the compromise talks, and Morris Atlas of McAllen represented defense attorneys.

"This is a very reasonable bill, and I highly recommend it to you," said Harris, R-Dallas, chairman of the Senate Economic Development Committee, which held hearings on the measure.

Negotiations began after a year-long study by a Senate-House committee of the so-called crisis in liability insurance. Some blame inflated premiums on big court settlements in personal injury cases, while others claim insurance firms are greedy.

Also to be considered is a measure by Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple, that would put tighter regulations on liability insurance companies.

Abortion bill in House

AUSTIN — The state should be prepared to support severely handicapped children that will be born if a bill banning late-term abortions becomes law, a state lawmaker says.

The bill was approved Monday night by the House State Affairs Committee in a 9-3 vote, sending it to the House floor. The measure sponsored by Rep. Mike Millsap, D-Fort Worth, would make it a Class A misdemeanor for a physician to abort a fetus that could survive outside the womb.

Committee member Lena Guerrero, D-Austin, voted against the bill, complaining it could scare physicians out of performing abortions, even in cases involving fetuses that would be severely deformed. Ms. Guerrero, who is 15 weeks pregnant, called the measure "the worst bill I've ever seen."

The Senate version makes violation of the measure a second degree felony, punishable by up to 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Bikers back training bill

AUSTIN — Advocates and opponents disputed each other's testimony throughout a committee hearing on a mandatory helmet law, but the two sides agreed better training of riders would be a good step toward improving motorcycle safety.

Dozens of bikers attended a House Transportation Committee meeting Tuesday with the majority opposing a bill that would require them to wear a helmet when riding a motorcycle.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Ted Eyon, D-Rockwall, is being carried in the House by Rep. Mike McKinney, McKinney, D-Center, is the only physician in the Legislature.

Despite the vehement opposition, both sides enthusiastically endorsed a bill sponsored by Rep. Weldon Betts, D-Houston, that would improve Department of Public Safety motorcycle rider training programs required of 15- to 18-year-old motorcycle license seekers.

Lawyer hired for minister

DALLAS — The United Methodist bishop in the Dallas-Fort Worth area on Tuesday granted a leave of absence to the Rev. Walker Bailey, who was hospitalized after his wife was almost choked to death last month.

Bishop John Russell and Ralph Shannon, chairman of the First United Methodist Church's pastor-parish relations committee, have asked the associate pastor of the church, Gordon Casad, to act as administrative pastor, church officials said.

Bailey's friends have hired an attorney to be on hand when police question the minister about his account of his wife's near-fatal attack, officials said.

Bailey's condition has been upgraded to satisfactory, and police say they expect to be able to question him soon about the April 21 strangling attempt on his wife, Margaret, in their home.

Horse racing track opens

NACOGDOCHES — Supporters and opponents of horse racing disagree over whether the opening of a 1-mile track for quarter horses will bring prosperity or problems.

Pineywood Downs opened Sunday with a race carrying a $150,000 purse. According to part-owner Don Essary, races will be held throughout the year at the 2,500-seat track, with annual purses of more than $1 million.

On Nov. 3, Texans will vote on a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow local-option, pari-mutuel referendums.

Essary says the track will create jobs in the area, and bring in outside money. Opponents of gambling, mostly those associated with conservative Christian churches in the area, say the track will bring trouble.

Officials probe accident

BEAUMONT — Using tape measures and paint markings, investigators began examining the site of a highway bus and truck collision that killed six people and injured 19.

The officials of the National Transportation Safety Board planned to spend three to five days reviewing the scene and the wreckage of the Trailways bus and tractor-trailer rig, officials said Tuesday.

The Trailways bus was headed west on Interstate 10 and the tractor-trailer headed east when the rig crossed over the grass median area, and the two vehicles collided head on, witnesses said.

The truck driver was released Tuesday from Beaumont Medical Surgical Hospital, and was expected to be interviewed by investigators.

Gephardt: Scrutiny expected

AUSTIN — U.S. Rep. Richard Gephardt says presidential candidates can expect to be under close scrutiny of the people and the press.

"Obviously the American people look at us and scrutinize us very closely," Gephardt told a news conference Tuesday.

"I think scrutiny comes with the territory, and I have no problems with that," he said.

However, Gephardt said he had no comment on published reports that Gary Hart, another Democratic presidential candidate, had spent Friday night and part of Saturday with a 29-year-old model and actress at his Washington townhouse, while his wife was in Denver.

Toddler shot by dealer

HOUSTON — A 3-year-old boy playing outside an apartment complex was shot to death after two men allegedly argued about drugs, police say.

Christopher Liggins was shot once in the chest shortly after noon Tuesday by a bullet police believe was meant for an alleged drug dealer, police spokesman Dan Turner said. The boy died about an hour later after being rushed to Ben Taub Hospital.

Police were continuing to look for a man who witnesses said had fired a shot as he drove away from the complex.

House rejects anti-apartheid proposal

AUSTIN — The House has rejected a black lawmaker's proposal to ban the investment of state pension funds in institutions that do business in South Africa.

"I don't know how much more blood has to be shed. I don't know how many more people have to die. I don't know how many more people have to suffer second-class citizenship before we in this body act with courage and with conscience on this very important and critical issue," Rep. Larry Evans told his colleagues.

Representatives voted down both amendments Evans tried to attach to the appropriations bill that won final House approval Tuesday.

The Houston lawmaker has been a leading advocate against South Africa's racist apartheid policies.

"Texas is still a racist state, and it reflects in that vote," he said.

Region track fun

The Region I-AA track meet at Blankenship Field last weekend, as usual, showcased some remarkable athletes. In fact, this may have been the best group of athletes to participate in the three seasons Big Spring has hosted the meet.

It wasn't surprising to see the Haskell boys win the team championship, but it was somewhat startling to see the Albany girls walk away with their team title.

The Haskell win brought back pleasant memories — I recall reading about Haskell track coach Jimmy Lisle when he was running the sprints for Rule High School in the early 70s. Now Lisle has his own stable of runners, who would have given him all he wanted during his prep days.

What makes Haskell's success even more amazing is the fact the Indians are doing so well without the benefit of a track to prepare for meets. Lisle usually has to send his troops to nearby Aspermont or Munday to workout on the specialty events, handoffs and practicing coming out of the blocks.

For runners like 800-meter runner Mark Young and sprinters Fred Shaw and Stephon Brockington however, it probably doesn't matter where they practice — these guys are talented.

The key elements to Haskell's title was winning the 400 and 1600 meter relays. Young won the 800 and Shaw and Brockington ran second in the sprints.

Haskell's 42.19 400 relay and 3:21.70 1600 relay times would have held their own in the Region I-AAAA meet, where the Big Spring Steers competed. In fact, Region I-AA boys had four marks that were better than the Region I-AAAA boys.

None stood as tall as the 6-10 high jump effort of Joe Brown of White Deer. Brown, who stands 5-11, started at 5-8 and didn't miss until he got to seven-foot. And the way he was jumping it seemed like the 7-0 barrier would fall for this athlete. Ironically, on his jumps at 6-8 and 6-10, he would have cleared 7-0 easily.

Another performer who can hold his own in any class was Coleman's Darrell Warrick, winner of the 100 and 200 meters. Warrick ran 10.68 and 21.75, establishing new meet records. He later admitted he wasn't running hard, because he didn't want to aggravate a pulled muscle.

Warrick also ran a 47.0 on his anchor leg in the 1600 relay. His speed was deceptive, made even more so by the fact that he took the baton at least 80 meters behind the leaders.

Albany distance runner Brad Patterson, headed to Texas on a track scholarship, cruised to wins in the 1600 and 3200 meters. After setting the meet record of 9:45.06 in the 3200, he was nearly beaten by Lockney's Eddie Garza in the 1600.

Just when it seemed like Garza had beaten Patterson down the final backstretch, the Albany senior methodically came back and overtook Garza at the line.

Forsan 400 runner Lee Morris got the Crossroads Country on the map when he ran a gutsy 50.01. Morris went out fast and made the others try to catch him — which they couldn't. It wouldn't surprise me for Morris pass by the 49s and run a 48 at the state meet.

To be complete, it seems, every meet must have its big heartbreak or upset. In this case, it was Goldthwaite pole vaulter Scotty Miller. The (senior had a 16-5 mark to his credit, the best among vaulters in the meet. To his disappointment, Miller no-heighted.

The Albany girls' victory reminded me of Hamlin's victory of a year ago.

Coach Nema Westmoland's Lioness had a few good sprinters and therefore put all of her stock in the relays. Led by the speedy duo of Gina Chapman and Brande Pate, Albany won the sprint relay and finished third in the 800 relay to fuel the win. Of course, you can't dismiss lightly the 32 points they scored in the field events.

The meet provided a valuable learning experience for both Forsan 400 runner Robin and Stanton sprinter Kody Newman. Newman, who won the 100 last year, learned it doesn't get any easier the second time around. She finished fourth in a super close 100 race, and fifth in the 200.

Soles, changing from a sprinter to a quartermiler, learned that she has what it takes to compete with the best. Soles ran a 61.77 and finished fourth. Both Newman and Soles will be back next year.

The star of the meet and the darling of the crowd was Heather Murrell of Spearman. She caught my eye last year when she won the 400 as a freshman, running a 60.04. This year she won me over with a remarkable performance.

All this sophomore did in two days was run four quarters in 56.5, 57.3, 58.4 and 56.0. She saved the best for last, catching two runners and turning a 40-meter deficit into a 10-meter win in the 1600 relay.

There's one female high school trackster who could run a faster quarter than Murrell and that's Hamlin's Cynthia Titus. Titus, a senior, competed in the meet this year, but she wasn't nearly up to par compared to last year.

Titus was awesome a year ago while leading Hamlin to the title. She won the long jump, triple jump, 200 — all while anchoring Hamlin to firsts in the 400 and 800 relays. Titus had bests of a 24.00 200 and a 55.0 in the 400.

But the track gods weren't smiling on Titus this year. Despite suffering muscle pulls in both legs, she managed to make it to regionals. She almost looked like the Titus of old while making up 20 meters in the sprint relay, only to get nipped for second by a lean. She came back, however, and hobbled to a 26.10 winning time in the 200.

That's what make this regional meet so great. You get to see the old stars like Titus go out and new stars like Murrell come on the scene.

Monahans dims playoff hopes

Steers flush chances

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

After Tuesday's 9-6 loss to Monahans, Big Spring Steers coach John Velasquez told his dejected squad to "start praying."

Prayers might have been what they needed most early Tuesday evening, but that may have changed. The Steers need a miracle now, though they still have a mathematical chance for the playoffs.

Last night, the district's top two teams, Andrews and Pecos, squared off, and the Steers were rooting for first place Andrews. An Andrews win would have dropped Pecos to within a game's reach of the Steers, with two games remaining.

But the Eagles weren't cooperating. They beat Andrews 6-1, and those two teams are now tied for first with 8-2 records. The Steers are 6-4. It's in their favor that their two remaining games are against Pecos and Andrews. To make the playoffs, they must win both those games, and hope either Pecos or Andrews falters in its other game.

"There's a glimmer of hope, but the way we're playing, it doesn't look good," Velasquez said after Tuesday's loss.

The Steers' downfall was errors — five of them, and the runs allowed in the third inning — six of them.

After two innings, the teams were tied 1-1, and Steers' starter James Thompson looked good, having struck out the side in the second.

The Lobos opened the third with a triple, two walks, a one-run single, a two-run double and no outs. Velasquez replaced Thompson with Timmy Gutierrez, but the Lobos were scorching. After two singles and two runs, the Steers finally got their first out, but a Monahans runner crossed the plate on an error after the out.

Gutierrez struck out the next batter and got the third out on an in-field grounder, but the damage was done — five hits, one error, six runs.

The Steers spent the rest of the afternoon whittling away at that lead, and they did make a game of it. In the third, Matt Garrett led off by reaching first on a Lobos error, and Matt Burrow advanced Garrett with a double down the third base line.

Garrett was called out at home plate on a fielder's choice by Aaron Allen, but Chad Wash smashed a stand-up double to center field that scored two. Of the Steers' six runs, Wash would knock in five.

Despite three Lobos' singles, Gutierrez survived the fourth without allowing a run. John Olsen, starting at third base for the first time this year, made a diving grab that turned a possible triple into a single. Without that snag, the Lobos would surely have done some damage.

Despite a triple by Olsen in the fourth, the Steers didn't score. In the Lobos' half of the fifth, the Steers stalled further damage by turning a double play as a Lobos runner crossed the plate. Because it was the third out, the score remained 7-3 going into the bottom of the fifth.

Sonics take 2-0 lead on Rockets

By The Associated Press

How surprising have the Seattle SuperSonics been in the NBA playoffs? Enough to have stunned even themselves.

The Sonics have made everyone take notice with their romp through two of the league's Texas teams. After upsetting the Dallas Mavericks in the first round, Seattle grabbed a 2-0 lead in a Western Conference semifinal series with Houston by beating the Rockets 99-97 Tuesday night.

"It was unlikely for us to even be in the playoffs, much less beat the Rockets twice at home," guard Dale Ellis said after his 30 points, including two crucial baskets down the stretch, lifted Seattle to its fifth consecutive playoff victory. The Sonics were 39-43 during the season.

"We had just hoped to come down here and steal one game," said Tom Chambers, whose free throw with eight seconds to go provided the final margin. "If I were a betting man, I wouldn't say we would come in here and win two straight. Both games were close and could have gone either way."

But just about everything has gone Seattle's way in these playoffs, which resume for the Sonics and Houston on Thursday night in Seattle. Game 4 will be there Saturday afternoon.

The only recent setback for the team came when Ellis and team-

Houston Rockets' Rodney McCray and Seattle SuperSonics' Danny Young scramble for control of the ball in first half quarter action of the NBA playoffs Tuesday night at the Summit.

mate Kevin Williams were arrested early Sunday following an altercation at a night club. Ellis said he expected more jeering from Houston fans. "I was disappointed," Ellis said. "I expected more. There are some real comedians here."

In other games, the Los Angeles Lakers set an NBA record with 49 points in the third quarter in a 125-116 victory over Golden State; Boston whipped Milwaukee 111-98, and Atlanta downed Detroit 115-102.

The Bucks and Celtics play Game 2 of their series tonight.

SuperSonics 99, Rockets 97

The Rockets came back from a four-point halftime deficit, outscoring the Sonics 31-18 in the third period. But Ellis, who had 20 points at halftime and has 160 points in the Sonics' five-game winning streak, Xavier McDaniel and Eddie Johnson led them back. McDaniel finished with 22 points.

The Rockets went scoreless in the final 2:05 of the game after a layup by Allen Leavell gave them a 97-94 lead.

Only one team has ever climbed out of the kind of hole the Rockets find themselves in — the 1969 Lakers.

"We are putting dirt in our own faces. We're either through or just starting," Houston Coach Bill Fitch said.

"We have a lot of guys that nobody wanted and they've been winning as a group," Seattle Coach Bernie Bickerstaff said. "Dale is playing great, we all know that. But the other guys are setting screens for him to get him open."

Special investigation planned on athlete's death

EL PASO (AP) — New information connected with the death of University of Texas-El Paso basketball star Hernel "Jeep" Jackson has sparked an investigation by a special team of the police department, the chief of police says.

Jackson, 23, a first-team All-Western Athletic Conference player, died Saturday during a charity basketball game. A preliminary autopsy Sunday was inconclusive.

"There is an investigation on," El Paso police Chief John Scagno said Tuesday.

The probe by the police Special Investigative Group, or SIG, began Monday "because of information the department received ... concerning the situation," Scagno said.

SIG includes officers from intelligence, vice, narcotics and other specialized units of the police department. Scagno said he did not know when the investigation would conclude.

Jackson had joined Houston Oilers football players for a game Saturday afternoon at the Fort Bliss military reservation on the outskirts of El Paso. He had been playing for five minutes in the second half, sat on the bench and collapsed shortly before 3 p.m. Jackson was declared dead at Beaumont Army Medical Center at 4:09 p.m.

Scagno would not comment on whether the information police received involved drugs.

"I can't go into this right now," Scagno said. "This is all very preliminary stuff."

There were "no visible signs of damage to the heart that could be seen with the naked eye," said Manuel Diaz, chief investigator for the El Paso County medical examiner's office.

Samples of blood, urine and tissue were being processed, but results of those tests were not expected for a week.

Diaz, UTEP officials and Jackson's father, Mason Jackson of Carson, Calif., have said the young man was in perfect health. A memorial service was held at the Special Events Center on the university campus Tuesday. Jackson's body was to have been flown later to California for burial there.

District Attorney Steve Simmons did not return a call from The Associated Press.

Orioles rookie has no-hit bid spoiled in last inning

By The Associated Press
Baltimore rookie Eric Bell lost his no-hitter in the ninth inning. At least he didn't lose the game.

Bell took a five-run lead into the final inning, but Tom Nieto's bloop single started a four-run rally and it took five Orioles pitchers to hold off the Minnesota Twins 5-4 Tuesday night.

"I came out for the ninth inning and I felt real comfortable," the 23-year-old left-hander said. "Later in the dugout, all I could think of was win, win, win."

In other American League games it was California 2, Milwaukee 0; Chicago 2, New York 0; Boston 6, Oakland 0; Seattle 7, Detroit 5; Kansas City 6, Toronto 4, and Texas 6, Cleveland 5 in 10 innings.

Bell, 3-1, had allowed only one baserunner in eight innings, a fourth-inning walk to Steve Lombardozzi, and was trying to become the first rookie to pitch a no-hitter since Oakland's Mike Warren against Chicago on Sept. 29, 1983, and the first pitcher to throw a no-hitter at the Minnesota's Metrodome, a hitters' paradise.

Instead, Bell became the ninth Baltimore pitcher to lose a no-hitter in the ninth inning.

Greg Gagne led off the ninth by reaching on shortstop Cal Ripken Jr.'s error and Nieto followed with a bloop single to left field. Ken Gerhart got a late break on the ball and had to play it on the short hop.

"We were playing the guy (Nieto) to go the other way, and then he hit the ball off the end of the bat," Gerhart said. "I thought I had a shot at it. After the game, I said (to Bell), 'I'm sorry,' but he said, 'There wasn't anything you could do about it.'"

Said Bell: "I had a feeling it was going to drop in. If he caught it, it would have been a real good catch."

One out after Nieto's hit, Lombardozzi got an RBI single through the middle. That finished Bell, who struck out seven, and brought on Dave Schmidt. Kirby Puckett hit a three-run homer off Schmidt that made it 5-4 and Gary Gaetti followed with a single.

Reliever Mike Kinnunen yielded a single to Kent Hrbek and Mark Williamson got the second out before intentionally walking pinch-hitter Randy Bush to load the bases. Ken Dixon then retired pinch-hitter Roy Smalley on a foul pop for his first save.

Jim Dwyer put Baltimore ahead with a two-run homer in the third off Mike Smithson, 3-2. Eddie Murray hit a solo homer and Terry Kennedy had an RBI double in the sixth, and John Shelby singled home a run in the ninth.

Murray, batting just .180 entering the game, hit a homer, double and single in five at-bats as the Orioles ended a four-game losing streak.

Angels 2, Brewers 0
Don Sutton pitched two-hit ball for seven innings and moved into 14th place on the all-time win list with his 312th victory as California beat Milwaukee.

Brian Downing and Jack Howell homered in handing the Brewers their first loss at home in 10 games this season. Milwaukee, which has lost two straight games for the first time this year, leads the major leagues with a 20-5 record.

Sutton, 2-3, moved past Tom Seaver and Mickey Welch on the all-time victory list and is one behind Phil Niekro. Donnie Moore finished with two-hit relief for his fourth save.

Bill Wegman, 2-2, lost despite pitching a three-hitter.

White Sox 2, Yankees 0
Bill Long, stuck in the minor leagues since August 1985, pitched a two-hitter in outdueling Joe Niekro as Chicago beat visiting New York.

Long allowed a pair of singles to Dan Pasqua. Long struck out five, walked none and retired 17 straight batters at one stretch.

Niekro, 1-2, also pitched a two-hitter. He gave up RBI singles to Gary Redus and Ron Hassey in the third inning.

Red Sox 6, Athletics 0
Bruce Hurst pitched a five-hitter and struck out a career-high 14, leading Boston over Oakland.

Hurst, 3-3, ended his three-game losing streak. He walked two.

Mike Greenwell hit an RBI double during a two-run third against Dave Stewart, 3-3. Greenwell doubled again in a four-run fifth.

Royals 6, Blue Jays 4
Danny Tartabull drove in three runs and Kansas City ended Toronto's six-game winning string.

Charlie Leibrandt, 4-1, got the victory and Jerry Don Gleaton picked up his first save.

The host Royals scored five times in the second inning against Joe Johnson, 1-3. Tartabull hit a two-run single and Steve Balboni and Angel Salazar had RBI singles. Balboni's hit ended an 0-for-31 slump.

Mariners 7, Tigers 5
Rey Quinones hit a two-run homer off Detroit reliever Willie Hernandez in the ninth inning, giving Baltimore Orioles pitcher Eric Bell watched from the dugout after being pulled in the ninth inning after giving up two hits following eight innings of no-hit baseball Tuesday night.

Seattle its victory over Detroit.

Jeff Robinson, 1-2, walked Jim Presley to start the ninth. Hernandez, making his first appearance since going on the disabled list April 9, retired two batters before Quinones connected.

Rangers 6, Indians 5
Curtis Wilkerson singled home the winning run in the 10th inning as Texas beat visiting Cleveland.

The Rangers scored four runs in the ninth for a 5-5 tie, and then won it in the 10th when Wilkerson singled after Frank Wills, 0-1, walked Pete Incaviglia and Larry Parrish. It was the first RBI of the season for Wilkerson, who has been replaced by Scott Fletcher as Texas' shortstop.

Indians starter Greg Swindell took a 5-1 lead into the ninth but walked Incaviglia and threw two balls to Ruben Sierra. Ernie Camacho gave up a triple to Sierra and an RBI single to Parrish, who homered earlier. Jerry Browne's two-run single off Steve Carlton tied it.

Mitch Williams, 3-2, got the victory as Texas ended a three-game losing string.

The Shriner's Pro-Am Golf Tournament, scheduled for June 1-2, has been "postponed until next year," said said Shriner Pro-Am Committee member Charlie Wash this morning.

Idaho QB to sign with Cowboys

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Former University of Idaho quarterback Scott Linehan has agreed to terms with the Dallas Cowboys and is expected to sign a free-agent contract within the next few days, UI sports information director Dave Cook said.

Linehan, of Sunnyside, Wash., will report to Dallas for a four-day rookie minicamp May 13. He will also return to the NFL team's training complex in late May and spend most of June working out with rookies and veterans, then report to regular pre-season camp on July 17.

Braves acquire free agent pitcher

ATLANTA (AP) — Free agent pitcher Doyle Alexander has agreed to terms with the Atlanta Braves and Manager Chuck Tanner said that when the right-hander is ready, he will be inserted into the starting rotation.

General Manager Bobby Cox said Tuesday the Braves have an option to sign the 36-year-old Alexander to a second year. Terms were not disclosed, but Alexander reportedly will receive a base salary of $500,000 with incentives of $250,000. Terms of the second year would be the same.

"It's a guaranteed contract with incentives that will give him a pretty good salary," Cox said.

Cox said Alexander, who was 6-6 with a 3.84 earned run average with the Braves last season, would be in Atlanta Thursday to officially sign the contract. He will then go Friday to the Braves' extended spring training club in Sarasota, Fla.

Cox said Alexander would have two or three starts there, then be called up by the Braves in about two weeks.

"I know he can pitch. He'll help us win. We need him," said Tanner, who had Alexander slated to pitch the season-opener before he became a free agent and failed to sign with the Braves by the Jan. 8 deadline. The Braves could not re-negotiate with Alexander until May 1.

When Alexander returns to the Braves, Tanner said he would go to a five-man starting rotation with Alexander the fifth starter.

"I won't do it until I know he's ready," said Tanner. "But he's a battler and I know he can help us. I'm happy he agreed to come back — for himself and for the ball club."

Alexander has a 160-135 lifetime record in 16 previous major league seasons. He has pitched with Baltimore, the New York Yankees, Texas and Toronto in the American League and with Los Angeles, San Francisco and Atlanta twice in the National League.

"We're thrilled to have him back," said Cox. "We're happy and Doyle's happy. He'll make us a better club."

Expos Raines on Braves

By The Associated Press
 Tim Raines doesn't consider himself a true home run hitter and Danny Darwin isn't much of a hitter at all. But Raines hit another game-winning home run and Darwin went 3-for-3 to help their teams win.

Raines continued his storybook return after missing spring training and the first month of the season. His third home run in four games was a tie-breaking shot leading off the seventh inning. It led the Montreal Expos to a 6-4 victory Tuesday night over the Atlanta Braves.

NL

"I don't like to say I'm a home run hitter, but I've always felt that I had home run power," said Raines, who led the National League with a .334 average last year but has never hit more than 11 homers in a season. "I'm just making good contact and getting the ball up in the air."

In four games, Raines is batting .438 (7-for-16) with a double, triple, three homers and seven RBI. All his homers have been game-winners. His first, a 10th-inning grand slam, beat the New York Mets 11-7 on Saturday. He led off the next day with a homer in a 2-0 victory over the Mets.

Darwin came into Houston's game against Philadelphia batting .100 for the season (1-for-10) and .077 for his career (2-for-26), with 20 strikeouts, including his previous seven trips to the plate. He promptly doubled, singled and snapped a tie with a two-run triple in the seventh inning. He also held the Phillies to one run and five hits in seven innings as the Astros won 5-1.

"I really don't know what happened," Darwin said. "(Coach) Denis Menke told me to put my hands lower because I was up-percutting. Other than that, I have no idea how I got three hits."

The world champion New York Mets could have used Darwin's bat. They were blanked for the second game in a row, losing to Cincinnati 2-0. In other National League games it was,

Los Angeles 3, Chicago 1; San Francisco 10, St. Louis 6, and Pittsburgh 10, San Diego 8.

Raines homered off Rick Mahler after the Expos tied the score 4-4 in the sixth inning on an infield hit by Casey Candaele. Montreal added a run off Gene Garber in the ninth when Candaele was safe on shortstop Rafael Ramirez's error, took second on a groundout and scored when third baseman Ken Oberkfell fielded Tim Wallach's grounder and threw wildly past first.

Andy McGaffigan, who has not allowed a run in 20 innings, pitched the final three innings for his fifth save.

The Braves, who trailed 3-0 before they came to bat, took a 4-3 lead off Jay Tibbs with four runs in the third, two on a double by Gerald Perry and two more on an error by third baseman Wallach. Montreal scored its first-inning runs on a two-run single by Wallach and Vance Law's infield hit.

Astros 5, Phillies 1
 With the score tied 1-1, Alan Ashby and Bert Pena singled with two out in the Houston seventh off Shane Rawley. Darwin then lined his triple over the head of center fielder Milt Thompson. The Astros added two runs off Kent Tekulve in the ninth when the Kevin Bass and Jose Cruz singled and Alan Ashby doubled them home.

Darwin had an infield hit in the sixth and scored the tying run on Billy Hatcher's sacrifice fly.

It was the second game in a row in which the opposing pitcher was 3-for-3 against Philadelphia. Cincinnati's Bill Gullickson had two singles and a home run on Sunday.

Reds 2, Mets 0
 Ted Power allowed six hits in 8 1-3 innings and struck out a career-high nine batters for his ninth consecutive victory.

Power was relieved by John Franco after Kevin McReynolds singled with one out in the bottom of the ninth. Franco, who hasn't allowed a hit in 9 2-3 innings this season, earned his fifth save. He has retired 28 of the 29 batters to face him. One reached on an error.

Dave Parker doubled home

the first run in the third inning after Kurt Stillwell was hit by a pitch from Sid Fernandez with two out.

Eric Davis, the Reds' slugging center fielder, managed only an infield hit in three at-bats but robbed Darryl Strawberry of a home run in the sixth with a leaping catch. In the eighth, Davis walked with two out, stole his third base of the game and scored on a single by Buddy Bell.

Dodgers 3, Cubs 1
 Bob Welch scattered seven hits and struck out nine, but saw his shutout streak stopped at 23 1-3 innings. The Cubs' run came in the eighth when Shawn Dunston led off with a triple and pinch hitter Jerry Mumphy singled, ending a string of 36 innings over five starts in which Welch hadn't allowed an earned run.

Giants 10, Cardinals 6
 Chris Speier hit his first grand slam in 15 years, capping a six-run rally in the sixth inning. Speier hit the first pitch thrown by reliever Ray Soff over the left-field fence for his third homer of the season. Soff relieved loser Greg Mathews after the Cardinals' starter fell behind 2-0 on the count.

The Giants trailed 2-1 after five innings. With two out, Chili Davis started the rally with his fifth home run of the year and doubles by Jeffrey Leonard and Candy Maldonado gave the Giants a 3-2 lead. Mathews then walked Bob Melvin and Mike Aldrete to load the bases and set the stage for Speier's second career grand slam.

The Giants added three runs in the eighth, which featured RBI doubles by Maldonado and Aldrete. Winner Scott Garretts relieved in the sixth and shut out the Cardinals the rest of the way on three hits.

Pirates 10, Padres 8
 Rafael Belliard hit his first major-league home run, a three-run shot, to cap a five-run second inning that gave Pittsburgh a 5-0 lead. Belliard, who became the Pirates' regular shortstop midway through last season, had gone 404 at-bats without a home run until he drove a pitch from Eric Show over the fence in left-center.

Seaver nearing end of line

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Seaver, the symbol of the New York Mets' rise from laughing stock to a world champion, may formally announce within the next week what is already a foregone conclusion — his retirement from baseball.

Matt Merola, who represents Seaver in a variety of ventures, said the 42-year-old pitcher hasn't received any offers from major league teams since his contract with the Boston Red Sox expired at the end of last season.

"If we don't hear anything in a week, we'll probably make it official," said Merola. He added that Seaver was keeping in shape by playing racketball but hasn't been throwing.

Seaver, with a career record of 311-205, a 2.86 earned-run average and 3,640 strikeouts to rank third on the all-time list, had a combined 7-13 record last year with the Chicago White Sox and Boston. The three-time National League Cy Young Award winner would become eligible for election to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1991 if he retires this season. Seaver wasn't available for comment and Merola said his client is declining all requests for interviews.

Like other Class A free agents who didn't sign with another team, Seaver was eligible to rejoin the Red Sox on May 1.

"He's made it clear he wants to play in New York or Boston and I don't think that's going to happen," Merola said of Seaver, who lives in Greenwich, Conn.

"I don't even discuss it with him. I assume he has retired," the agent said. "I think he's very content to let it go. He's essentially retired."

Steers

Ramon Ontiveros led off with a single, and Matt Burrow and Aaron Allen loaded the bases after a walk and the Lobos' second error. With no outs, the hot-hitting Wash slapped a two-run single to close the Steers within two runs.

Lobos' catcher Ronnie Molina replaced Tony Jimenez on the mound, and walked Eric Kinman to again load the bases, and put the tying run on second. But Felix Rodriguez hit into a double play and Olsen grounded out to end the threat.

In the sixth, Monahans added their last two runs on two hits and an error.

The Steers went down one-two-three in the bottom of the sixth. The Steers turned their second double play to end the top of the sixth and kept the score at 9-5 with one at-bat left.

Burrow led off with his second double of the game. After a pop-out by Allen, Wash batted Burrow home with a triple, his third hit of the game. But Kinman and Rodriguez grounded out to end the contest.

"It's the same song," Velasquez told his team. "Five errors, and with four of them we gave them six runs. All you got to do is start praying. Before this, everything was in our hands."

Wash led the Steers with three hits and five runs batted in. Olsen, who played well in his initial start at third, also had a good day at the plate, with two hits in three at-bats, including a triple and an RBI. Burrow had a perfect day, with two doubles and two walks.

The Steers, who defeated Monahans 4-1 in their earlier meeting, dropped to 10-13 overall. Monahans is 9-10 overall and 5-5 in district.

The Steers' next game is Friday against Andrews at Steer Field at 4 p.m. Velasquez said Allen would probably start the game.

Sonics

with 27 points, including 20 in the second half. Ralph Sampson finished with 25 points and both he and Olajuwon had 13 rebounds.
Lakers 125, Warriors 116
Trailing by seven points at halftime, Los Angeles had what Coach Pat Riley called "one of the best quarters for 12 minutes of sustained action that we've ever had with the Lakers."
With their transition game in high gear, the Lakers scored 29 points over the final 6:06 of the period and broke the game open.
The 49 points was the most ever scored in the third quarter of an NBA playoff game, breaking the mark of 47 set by Milwaukee in 1970 and matched by the Lakers in 1984.

In the quarter, James Worthy scored 18 of his 28 points, with Michael Cooper adding 13, including three three-point baskets. Magic Johnson added 11 points in the period and had 25 points, 14 assists and 12 rebounds overall.
The Lakers made 17-of-21 shots from the field (80.9 percent) in the record quarter.
"It's hard for any team to stop us when we're playing like that," Magic Johnson said. "We were on top of our game at that point."

"That was the most beautiful basketball I've ever seen," Golden State Coach George Karl said. "I really don't think we lost our composure. They were just playing so well."
Joe Barry Carroll, who had 20 points at halftime, finished with 22 to lead the Warriors.
Celtics 111, Bucks 98
Larry Bird scored 40 points, making up for the absence of All-Star forward Kevin McHale, who is out with an ankle injury.
It was a season-high eighth straight victory for Boston, which never trailed. The Celtics' 13th consecutive home playoff victory moved them within one of the league record set by the 1949-51 Minneapolis Lakers.

Bird got help from Robert Parish with 22 points and Dennis Johnson with 20.
Milwaukee, which was swept by Boston in last year's Eastern Conference final, was led by Terry Cummings with 28 points.
"Larry Bird is the best basketball player there is," Celtics center Bill Walton said. "No matter what they do against him, he responds."
Hawks 115, Pistons 102

Not wanting to meet the same fate as the Rockets, the Hawks used 34 points by Randy Wittman and a third-quarter burst to subdue the Pistons, who won the opener of the series 112-111.
Dominique Wilkins added 23 points and Kevin Willis had 19 points and 10 rebounds for the Hawks. Bill Laimbeer and Isiah Thomas each scored 20 for the Pistons.

I would like to express my appreciation to all of you that supported and voted for me in the last city council election and run off.

Red Wings surprise Oilers

EDMONTON Alberta (AP) — There seemed to be no logical reason for Detroit Red Wings Coach Jacques Demers to start goaltender Greg Stefan against the Edmonton Oilers in Game 1 of their Stanley Cup semifinal series.

But Demers started Stefan anyway, and the Red Wings came away with a 3-1 victory Tuesday night to put Edmonton into a tough situation when the Campbell Conference final series resumes Thursday night.

Stefan was the star of the game, kicking out 31 shots. But why was he even given the opportunity? After all, he was winless against the Oilers in six tries. In fact, including the Canadian juniors, he had never beaten a team on which Wayne Gretzky played. Compounding the situation, Detroit had lost 13 straight games to Edmonton dating back to Jan. 9, 1983.

In addition, Demers had feuded publicly with Stefan after benching the goalie for the final five games of the quarterfinal series against Toronto.

And then there's the fact that Glen Hanlon — a respectable 3-4-3 against Edmonton in his career — had been spectacular as Detroit rallied from a 3-1 series deficit to top Toronto and carry the Red Wings into the Campbell Conference final.

So, again, why Stefan? Demers' answer: "Because I thought we could win with Greg Stefan."

Simple enough. Chalk one up to instincts.

"After we pulled him out against Toronto, we said we're going to use him in the third round," Demers said. "We had confidence we could go on to the third round and I specifically said that Stefan would play the third round."

Said Stefan: "After the week I had, with all the controversy, this feels great. It's a big win, for the team, obviously, and for me."

Stefan said he was surprised how prepared the Wings were, considering that they just wrapped up the hard-fought Toronto series last Sunday.

"I honestly didn't think we'd play that well. I thought we'd be tired," he said. "Instead, the Oilers looked a little rusty, like they were just a little off."

The Oilers also lost the first game at home in their first-round Smythe Division series against Los Angeles then won four straight before sweeping Winnipeg in the second round for eight consecutive playoff victories. Edmonton hadn't played since April 27.

"The easy thing to do is stand here and make an excuse ... about the eight-day layoff between series," Oilers Coach Glen Sather said. "But Detroit's on a roll and has the momentum. They checked us and we made a lot of mistakes." Sather was critical of referee Bob Myers, who called 25 penalties for 78 minutes — including 17 for 50 minutes in the first period — but let Detroit get away with "hooking and interfering on the blue line."

"The biggest problem that we had was breaking free to get in to forecheck," Sather said. "We just weren't able to get any kind of thrust into their end." Which was exactly the game plan, said Steve Yzerman, who scored Detroit's first goal and assisted on Gerard Gallant's insurance tally in the third period.

"We just wanted to bottle them up because they're so explosive," Yzerman said. "The Oilers are real quick and we didn't want to let them make us look like fools."

Instead, it was Stefan and the Detroit defense that made Edmonton look bad, as the less-than-capacity crowd of 16,874 at the Northlands Coliseum boomed the home team.

Stefan allowed only a power-play goal by Kent Nilsson in the first period, which was sandwiched by goals by Yzerman and Joe Kocur as the Wings led 2-1 after one.

The Detroit goalie then blanked Edmonton, which won more games and scored more goals than any other team in the league this year, for the game's final 49:24.

"The guys played so well in front of me," Stefan said. "I just can't give them enough credit."

How well did Detroit's defense play in front of Stefan? Consider that the line of Gretzky, Jari Kurri and Esa Tikkanen — perhaps the finest unit in the NHL — was held to three shots.

"Things didn't seem to be clicking for them," Yzerman said. "But they'll come back a lot stronger Thursday. We are not getting carried away. Wayne Gretzky is still awfully dangerous out there. They're still the Edmonton Oilers."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have an unusually good day to get into all the details connected with the goals set firmly in your mind. Perfect these conditions for efficient expression.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get your work planned so that it will be a breeze to handle properly. Come to an agreement with a co-worker.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make plans for the amusements you desire to have with congenials. Take time to make repairs at home.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If your home needs repair, plan to do this now. Make sure that you get more than one estimate.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You can easily express yourself, either orally or in writing, but be careful of what you state.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Study all your bills and find a better system for handling your money. See if your property needs repair.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are a perfectionist and should now express this in both your home and personal life.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Find the right way to spruce up your appearance. Be a bit happier and bring your mate closer to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you are more precise in stating what it is you want from others, there's a better chance of getting it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have many outside tasks to handle and should get right at them. Be more efficient at the office.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are inspired toward progressive ideas. Watch for a letter from a distance that can be enlightening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study the promises you've made and handle the practical ones first. Try to do what your mate requests.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Long conversations with an inquiring partner can bring you support. Stop procrastinating on some public affair.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be very capable at making plans, designs and blueprints for whatever is of interest and then carry them out to a successful conclusion. Plan an education along such lines and there can be much success here. Sports must not be neglected.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

New business opening May 18

R.C. Enterprises, a Las Vegas, Nev., telemarketing firm has set an opening day for its Big Spring branch at 7 a.m. May 18, according to LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Delays in telephone installation prevented the business from opening by the beginning of May, as was planned, he said.

Owner Richard Clark said the business on the fifth floor of the Cosden Building, 202 W. Second St., will employ 20 to 25. In six months, he expects it will employ 50 to 60, he said.

The company sells executive gift items — "anything you can print a business name on," he said.

Job applicants can contact Manager J.W. Parmley Jr. at 263-2096 or 263-1010, or apply at the office May 18.

Honorable man

Dr. Douglas J. Burke was honored Saturday morning by a lobby full of SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf students, alumni, faculty and friends. The first director and founding visionary of the two-year institute for the hearing impaired delivered an emotional speech thanking the group. His portrait, at left in the photo, will be mounted in Burke Hall, a dormitory renamed in his honor. Burke's daughter, Theresa Light of Bealeton, Va., center, provided the signing for her father's speech. She was one of several family members who heard Burke discuss his love for the institution and his vision for its future indicating a growing need for the unique mission of the school. Addressing the group also were Wilma Evans, SWCID art instructor and Jerry Hassell, past president of the Texas Association of the Deaf. Hassell worked with Burke during SWCID's founding. Julio Diaz, a SWCID student from Puerto Rico and president of the student government, provided the students' perspective of Dr. Burke's contribution. Howard College, which represents the legal governing board for SWCID, took the action honoring Burke earlier.

Local citizen begins K mart petition drive

Bill Birrell is fighting for Big Spring. "I think it's good to let the world know the people of Big Spring are used to fighting for what they have," said Birrell, who has started a petition drive to keep the Big Spring K mart store open.

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce also has jumped into the ring.

The Chamber is aiding Birrell's drive by printing copies of the petition, said LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the Chamber.

"I'm really not optimistic that it'll change their minds, but it can't hurt to show that they'll be missed," he said.

Birrell said four petitions—with approximately 100 signatures have been completed and about 40 more are circulating in the community. Some employees "from K mart took a bunch" and people have come by his home asking for them, Birrell said, adding that he also keeps the petitions in his car to hand out to people.

Officials at K mart's Southwest regional office in Euless declined to comment on the petition drive.

Assistant K mart manager Roger Rivera said he wasn't aware of the petitions circulating at the K mart store and declined further comment.

Birrell said he expects K mart officials to be in Big Spring this week to discuss the planned July closing, and he hopes to speak with them about the petition.

"I hope to let them know what's going on," he said.

Monahans woman wins at real Monopoly

The new Monahans McDonald's had been open just two days when Monahans resident Linda Jean Heard won $10,000 in the national chain's Monopoly game.

Also in the game, a Monahans couple won $1,000 at an Odessa McDonald's.

Heard was handed the $10,000 winning Monopoly piece April 21 when she bought a Coke through the drive-through window for her son.

"I didn't know what to do. I'd never won anything like this in my life," she said.

There's never a bad time to win $10,000, but that was a particularly good time for the Heards.

"My husband was laid off for about eight months last year. There are some bills I want to pay off and a vacation I've been waiting 20 years to take," Heard said.

She said she plans to travel to Wisconsin to visit her sister.

McDonald's owner/operator Kevin Byrne said "bringing McDonald's to the Monahans area has been great in itself, and now we've been able to put $10,000 directly back into the community. We'll have to work pretty hard to top that."

Rose Mary and Javier Orlando Lyles of Monahans are $1,000 richer after playing Monopoly at an Odessa McDonald's.

Javier Lyles, a self-employed machinist, said the money came just at the right time.

"I plan to give half the money to my mother for eye surgery, and the other half will be used for the baby that's on the way," he said.

Terry Boone, owner/operator of that McDonald's, said that in addition, "we've had scores of winners of cash, prizes and McDonald's food gift certificates."

The $40 million Monopoly game is being conducted in 7,100 participating McDonald's restaurants in the U.S., in cooperation with the Parker Brothers, manufacturers of the original Monopoly game.

McDonald's serves 20 million people a day in more than 9,400 restaurants in 46 countries. 75 percent of the establishments are owned and operated by independent entrepreneurs. McDonald's is one of 30 companies that compose the Dow Jones Industrial Average.

Hostesses are Cathy Carter, Birdie Barron, Aleene Hood, Darlene Holik, Denise Redder, Nancy Franks, Nita Branam and Laura Boubek.

Ford was born in Cranfills Gap on March 12, 1908. Mrs. Ford, the former Juanita Linville, was born in Lorena on June 11, 1918.

The couple met at a country dance in Cedar Hill and were married May 8, 1937 at the county courthouse in Meridian with Karl Lovelady, county judge, officiating.

During their marriage, the couple has lived in Fairy, Evant, Lohm, Salt Gap, Stanton, Goldthwaite, Gatesville and Big Spring. They've lived in Big Spring for 24 years.

They are members of the Methodist church.

When asked to comment about their marriage, they said, "We married during the end of the depression, so money was hard to come by. Most of our disagreements were over money. Teachers made $85 to $125 per month for nine months out of the year. Secretaries made $85 to $125. Even though shows were from 25 cents to 50 cents, we did not go to many. We entertained our friends at home with meals, popcorn and candy. We enjoy our home, our friends and when we worked. We enjoy church, too."

Ford likes to read historical books and listen to big band and western music. Mrs. Ford enjoys reading autobiographies, listening to big band music and doing handwork.

In addition, Texas Dairy Queens will donate 50 cents for every Blizzard ice cream treat sold during the telethon week May 25-31.

Dairy Queen national corporation, which raised $1.6 million for children's hospitals last year, is the telethon's largest national corporate sponsor. Texas Dairy Queen operators have set a goal to collect $350,000 this year, a 25 percent increase over 1986.

In Texas, the telethon will be broadcast live to television stations in Amarillo, Austin, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Tyler, Waco and Temple, and on a limited basis to stations in Abilene, Beaumont, Dallas/Fort Worth and Midland/Odessa.

BUY A NEW HEATING AND COOLING SYSTEM AT OUR EXPENSE.

It's not often a company encourages you to use less of its product.

But if you buy Energy Action-approved heating and cooling equipment, you'll get more than encouragement. Because we'll pay you a cash rebate based on the efficiency rating of the unit you buy.

You see, high efficiency, Energy Action-approved central and room air conditioning systems, heat pumps and assist devices for electric water heaters help reduce the demand on our generating systems. And the need to build new generating plants.

Which not only means we save money, but you'll save, too, with lower monthly electric bills.

To find out more about the rebates and the savings, contact a recognized Energy Action contractor/dealer. Or call us for more information.

Energy Action saves money. And that's the best deal for both of us.

Family atmosphere stressed at Bowl-A-Rama Bowling Center

Employees at Bowl-A-Rama stress the family atmosphere at the Center. Here is what they say:

"We pride ourselves on having a friendly staff."

"We're like a big family here. When newcomers come in, we introduce them around and make them feel at home."

"We take pride in keeping our place clean. We mop, dust and clean every day."

"And we have the best hamburgers in town at our snack bar!"

The 24-lane center, located on the south feeder of Interstate 20 East, features fully automatic AMF Magic Scores automatic scorekeepers, video machines and pool tables, nursery service for ages 6 and under (during league bowling) and a full service snack bar.

They take party reservations for birthday and other occasions. For large parties, the lanes can be booked after-hours.

Bowl-A-Rama has a pro shop, stocking balls and bags; they'll order shoes and other equipment. And because bowling and bowlers are important to them, they teach bowling to beginners, and they'll help experienced bowlers locate a spot in a league if you want to bowl regularly. Summer leagues are forming now.

Bowl-A-Rama is owned by Janie and J. M. Ringener. J. M. bought the snack bar in 1965 and operated it until he purchased the center in 1973. The pair also operated Webb Lanes for a time.

Others on the staff are Barbara Vieira, desk clerk; Mark Dobek, parttime desk clerk; Eloisa Gonzales, snack bar manager; Sam Gonzales, mechanic; Joe Rodriguez, janitor; Walter Little, mechanic.

Also Lupe Martinez, Delia Mendez, Barbara Grant and Joann Gomez, snack bar attendants; Tom Cruz, pin chaser; and Lanora Hauser and Josie Cruz, nursery attendants.

A total of 18 leagues, many of them longtime, bowl at the center, including Ladies Majors, Pin Poppers, Men's Majors, Men's Industrial, Mixed Leagues, Tuesday Couples, VA League and Guys & Dolls (seniors).

Junior Bowlers (7-18) come on Saturdays. There's Casino Colored Pins bowling on Saturdays, Scotch Doubles on Sundays. On Sundays from 10:30 to 1 p.m. bowlers can Rent-A-Lane and the party can bowl for two hours for $10.

Besides the famous hamburgers, the snack bars offers steak sandwiches, shrimp, hot roast beef sandwiches and a variety of other sandwiches. They serve beer (including beer on tap) and wine.

Bowl-A-Rama is open from 8 a.m. to 12 midnight 7 days a week for league and open bowling.

For added gift impact, tuck your plant into one of Green Acres' collection of unusual baskets.

In Green Acres country gift shop you'll find other ideas: colorful silk flowers, stone critters, painted wooden flower boxes and hearts, grapevine wreaths, calico animals and other unique gifts.

Or make your own hanging plant gift: select basket, potting mix and then pick from the many bedding plants to create your own individual expression of love.

A new shipment of bedding plants, onion plants, and tomato plants has just arrived, just as the spring planting season moves into full swing. Sweet William, stock, moss rose, assylum, impatiens, periwinkle, marigolds, verbena and many more will add instant color to your yard.

Green Acres is a full-service nursery, providing a complete stock of trees, shrubs and plants. You'll find a complete line of soil conditioners, fertilizers, insecticides, herbicides, and other supplies.

Green Acres yard maintenance and landscaping service is handy for people who don't have time or energy to perform the task. They have professional tree trimmers on staff.

The staff at Green Acres provides personal, friendly service. Delivery service is offered throughout the year.

The nursery is now open seven days a week, 9 to 5:30.

It's located at 700 E. 17th Street, three blocks east of Goliad. "We're in an out-of-the-way place," says Debra, "but it's worth the trip."
