Declaration to give aid to Saragosa

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ronald Reagan signed a declaration making the West Texas town of Saragosa eligible for some forms of federal aid because of the tornado that destroyed the community Friday night.

The declaration, signed Tuesday and requested on behalf of the town by Gov. Bill Clements, means low-interest home loans, temporary housing and grants up to $5,000 for those who qualify.

The tornado left few buildings standing in the poor Hispanic community 190 miles east of El Paso. Twenty-nine people, including six children, were killed, and 162 were injured.

Homeowners who are gainfully employed may receive low-interest loans, renters will be provided with housing aid and low-income residents may receive grants up to $5,000, said Jack DeVore, an aide to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

DeVore said the Federal Emergency Management Agency should have an application office set up by Friday or Saturday and staffed with representatives of 20 federal and state agencies. The office will be in Balmorhea High School.

FEMA will provide temporary housing for up to a year. But DeVore said it had not been decided whether that housing would be in mobile homes or in rental housing in nearby communities.

Residents who lost jobs because of the disaster are eligible for long-term unemployment benefits, he said.

DeVore said the application for disaster aid from Reeves County Judge W.O. "Bill" Pigman listed damages that included $1.07 million in public property; 70 homes and 10 mobile homes destroyed, 25 homes damaged and two mobile homes damaged, and four businesses destroyed.

A young woman is comforted during a mass funeral at the Saragosa, cemetery for the victims of last Friday's tornado that swept through the small West Texas community. The tornado killed 29 and injured 120 people. Please see the related story and photo on page 5A.

Coahoma acts may be illegal

COAHOMA — An emergency meeting May 18 by Coahoma City Council appears to have broken at least two laws, and the city's purchase of a $25,000 dump truck could be voided as a result.

The council's notice of the meeting that Monday, posted the minimum two hours before, did not convey a sense of emergency, and the dump truck purchase was not opened to bidding.

County Attorney Tim Yeats said both actions were in violation of state law.

"The public necessity is supposed to be in the notice," Yeats said. "I think there's no question that when they do have an emergency meeting like that, the notice should express the emergency or the urgent necessity."

The notice, on a piece of paper placed on the front door of City Hall, did not have the word emergency. It called for a "special meeting," and the agenda items included: Consideration of the purchase of a dump truck for the City; and, Consideration for sending Tony Torres to wastewater school.

Yeats said that state law requires that bids be taken on all city and county purchases above $5,000.

"If in fact they did purchase something without going through

Meeting tonight

The Coahoma City Council will have a specially called meeting today at 7 p.m. at the community center, reported City Clerk Karen Bell.

Bell said the council will discuss her resignation and her replacement. The council will also discuss the recent purchase of a fire truck, she said.

the bidding requirements, then the contract or procedure is void," Yeats said.

Mayor Eleanor Garrett said this morning that bids were not taken on the truck, and they did not want the public or press at the meeting.

She said the reason she told City Clerk Karen Bell not to report the meeting to the Big Spring Herald — which is Bell's normal procedure — was because "the council needed to discuss what we were going to do without a lot of interference."

"We didn't need a bunch of people there while we were discussing what we were going to do; but we definitely needed a truck," Garrett said.

Bell said Garrett came to City Hall at approximately 4 p.m. Monday to tell her about the meeting.

Frustration evident in ambulance history

The Herald has scheduled a number of stories examining the issues involved with ambulance service in Big Spring. This is the first in that series.

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

Lee Ambulance owner Charles Ginn was not the first to discover the frustrations — financial and otherwise — that seem to go with the operation of an ambulance service in Big Spring.

Since the mid-1960s, when local funeral homes relinquished ambulance service to private ambulance companies, the community has had seven different ambulance service owners.

Of the seven, only L.A. "Red"

Hiltbrunner lasted more than five years.

A check of city records also reveals that during the same period ambulance operators repeatedly asked the city and county for bigger subsidies.

Hiltbrunner bought Alert Ambulance from James Frazier in 1969 and operated the service with his wife Velta until 1978. Still a Big Spring resident, Hiltbrunner said he had to sell Alert after suffering his fifth heart attack.

"It's a stress job and a lot of times you go 30 or 40 hours without pulling off your clothes," Hiltbrunner remembered.

"If that won't take the lead out, nothing will," he added.

Despite the difficulty of the work,

AMBULANCE

Private or Public?

Hiltbrunner still thinks an ambulance service in Big Spring can make money.

"Oh yeah, it sure can be profitable. If I could get the help they're paying Ginn now from the county and city, you couldn't have run me out of it; but they didn't help us that way."

"We had a little problem getting paid, of course, but our rates aren't what they are now. They price themselves out of the business; that's what's happening," Hiltbrunner said.

City records show Hiltbrunner also requested more financial help. The records contain a 1971 letter from him to the city manager and council that indicates he needed increased subsidizing at least once.

Hiltbrunner wrote: "May I take this time to advise you that we will not be able to provide The City of Big Spring with adequate ambulance service after Oct. 1, 1971, with trained personnel and equipped vehicles... without the additional subsidy asked for in my proposal."

The records also reveal that the city responded by increasing Alert's monthly subsidy from $200 to $400 soon after that letter.

According to Ernest Welch, O.D. Majors operated the first ambulance-only service in Big Spring. Welch, the owner of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home, said that until the mid-60s, the only ambulance services in Big Spring were operated by the local funeral homes.

Judging from another letter in city records, it wasn't long before Majors realized he would need financial assistance from the city and county to continue his business.

On Aug. 31, 1966, Majors and his attorney met with Big Spring

City examines bids, schedules county meeting

The City Council received written reports on ambulance service bidders and agreed to meet with County Commissioners to discuss the matter at its regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Fire Chief Carl Dorton presented the information to Council members, and City Manager Mack Wofford commented on Rural Metro, the company whose proposal Ambulance Advisory Committee members favor.

Rural Metro is the largest ambulance service supplier in the U.S. and offers the best deal of the six bidders, in terms of cost, Wofford said.

Although Friday had been discussed as a meeting time for the committee, the Council and the Commission, Council members indicated Monday morning would be a more convenient time. Wofford agreed to discuss the meeting time with commissioners.

The Council also decided to purchase a $14,850 John Deere fairway lawnmower from Bowlin Tractor of Big Spring.

The company was the second highest of four bidders; however, the two lower bidders did not meet the specifications the city set, Purchasing Agent Leonard Hadley said.

He further said local service will help insure rapid repairs and parts for the mower.

Gerald Fox said the Toro mower suggested by the low bidder, Goldthwaites of Fort Worth, is a higher quality mower. He is the local Toro service dealer, he said.

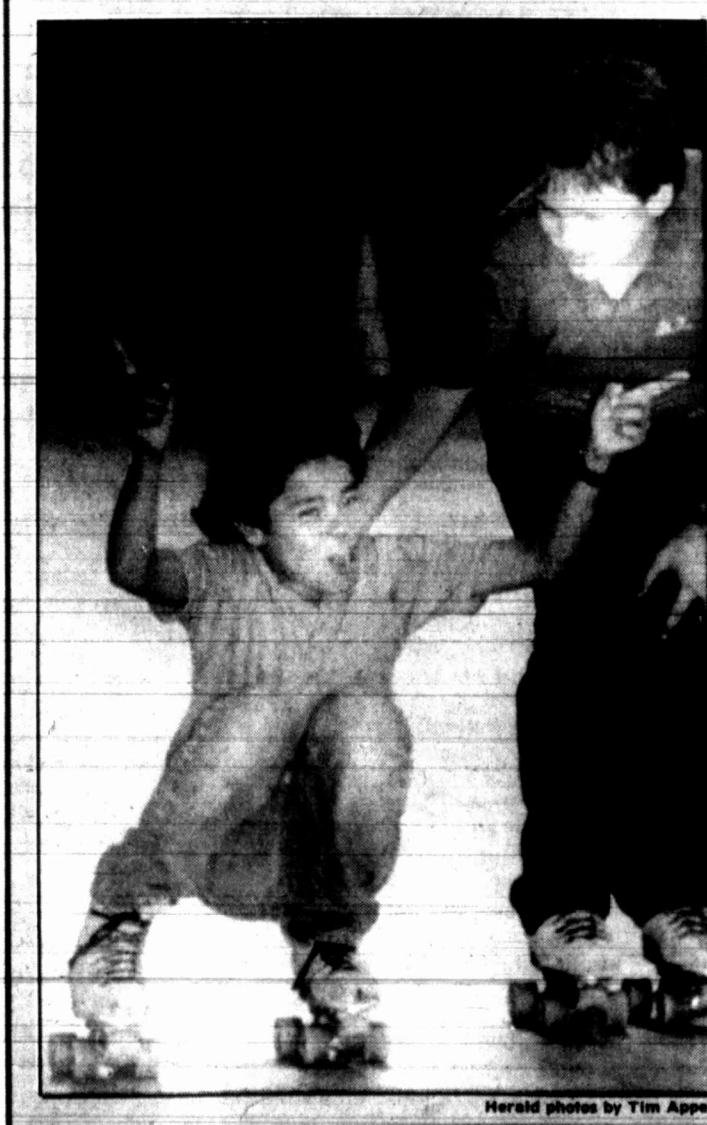

Councilman Johnny Rutherford replied that the Toro blades must be hand-sharpened, and the John Deere model will save money in the long run.

The Council also gave a temporary mobile home permit to Cynthia Clanton, 401 Westover Road, although three neighbors objected.

Clanton sought to install a travel trailer in her back yard to house her mother, who is ill and needs close supervision.

A letter from Dr. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. said without the supervision, Margaret Aken, who recently was hospitalized, would have to go to a nursing home — a step that "is really not necessary at this time if she

Downtown area to be focus of festival

Entertainment, events and booths will highlight the fourth annual Heart of the City Festival all day June 6, centered around the courthouse square downtown. The schedule begins with opening ceremonies at 9 a.m. and the senior citizens olympics at 10 a.m. on the south side of the square, according to Downtown Coordinator Teri Quinones. The Diaper Derby preschool-age children's events will begin at 10:30 a.m., she said. YMCA gymnastics performances are set for 11 a.m. The Godfather's Pizza-eating Contest will be at noon, she said. "Final Shoot-Out" Western melodrama will be at 1 p.m. Entertainment will be on a stage in front of the pocket park, next to the Courthouse Annex, Quinones said.

The Chamber of Commerce Christmas in June auction, with proceeds going to purchase Christmas decorations for display around the city, begins at 2 p.m. Marci Weaver of Big Spring will perform at 3:30 p.m. An outdoor drama for children begins at 4 p.m., and a jazz trio will perform at 5 p.m. The festival is designed to bring activity to the downtown area.

Courthouse may obtain new alarm

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

The Howard County Commissioners' Court will consider establishing an alarm system in the courthouse annex and repairing concrete blocks by the east entrance to the courthouse during Friday's meeting of the Court.

The 9 a.m. meeting in the Commissioners' Courtroom was switched from Monday to Friday because of Monday's Memorial Day holiday.

Bill Bradberry, a local electrician, is expected to install a security system in the courthouse annex that will sound an alarm at the sheriff's office when activated.

County Judge Milton Kirby said the system will cost $355 and may be installed over the weekend.

Commissioners will consider a $1,555 estimate from Joe Herrera of Big Spring to repair concrete blocks at the courthouse's east entrance, Kirby said.

County Treasurer Bonnie Franklin said she will seek the commissioners' support in aiding a state capitol's restoration project.

The Texas Association of Counties has asked every county in Texas to contribute $300 toward the restoration of two walkways on the capitol grounds, Franklin said.

The walkways will be resurfaced with diamond-shaped components with the names of county contributors etched into the surface, she said.

Franklin said she expects commissioners to make a decision whether they will support the project at Friday's meeting. Deadline for participation is June 15.

Tune named community education director

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

The Howard College Board of Trustees named Tommy Wayne Tune as the new Director of Community Education in executive session at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Tune, acting director of the department, was selected over two other candidates for the post.

The director oversees the Basic and Continuing Education classes at the college.

College president Bob Riley said that Tune's experience in the department was the determining factor in his selection. "Tommy just convinced us that he was the man for the job," he said.

Tune, a Big Spring native, graduated from Big Spring High School in 1972. After attending Howard College and Texas Tech University, he received his bachelor's degree from Southwest Texas State University in 1980.

He worked as a salesman and insurance agent in Odessa from 1980 through 1983, before becoming a field representative for Fiberflex.

He joined the college faculty as an instructor of Adult Education in August of 1986, becoming acting director of the Community Education department in February 1987.

Tune resides at 2609 Rebecca Dr. with his wife Donna, and their son.

In other action, the Board of Texas Utilities Electric Company, concerning placement of a light near the coliseum. After receiving complaints from students about lack of light in the area, college officials requested a light from the city, according to Terry Hanson, vice-president for fiscal affairs.

Hanson said there will be no installation cost to the college, except perhaps for the electrical lines to be buried.

- Accepted the resignation of Minnie Mae Wilding, Learning Assistance Center instructor at SWCID. Riley said that Ms. Wilding was resigning to work in the missionary field, and that the college will begin looking for a replacement soon.
- Heard a progress report from Riley on asbestos removal and remodeling of the SWCID dormitory.

Riley said the asbestos removal should be completed next week, and the remodeling should be finished in August.

Riley also reminded the Board that summer registration for the college begins Monday, June 1.

which was at 6 p.m. Bell said she had suspected there would be a meeting because, "the dump truck was here."

According to Garrett, council member Jerry Brockman called her the Sunday night before to tell her that John McCackin of West Texas Equipment Co. was bringing the dump truck to Coahoma the next day.

Brockman said Tuesday night that "nobody knew about it (the meeting) until about two hours before. We just all decided to have it."

Brockman said he believed the council would have had a meeting even if McCackin wasn't in town with his dump truck. He added that the city got a "real good buy" on the truck, which he said was worth "about $50,000."

Water Superintendent Robert Helms said McCackin called him that Monday morning to tell him he was bringing a truck.

Helms said the council had told him to look for a dump truck for the city, and that "I found this one."

"He (McCackin) had word from somebody that we were looking," Helms added.

Councilman David Elmore, who said he received a message about the meeting earlier in the day, said McCackin told the council he could not hold the 1978 Mack dump truck for them.

"We felt under the circumstances it satisfied the word emergency. It was on the market for anyone," Elmore said.

Councilman Charles Seals moved that the truck be purchased on an emergency basis, in order to complete renovation of the sewer plant. It was seconded by Brockman.

The motion carried 5-0. According to meeting records, $10,000 is to be paid from the revenue sharing fund. That included $7,500 originally budgeted for water department improvements while $2,500 had not been budgeted, the records state.

The council agreed to finance the remaining $15,000 at the Coahoma State Bank, with payments on that note to be made from the general fund.

Council also instructed Garrett to borrow the full $25,000 if possible, and if not to borrow the $15,000. That motion was made by Brockman, seconded by Pat Harrison and approved unanimously.

Water Superintendent Helms said the city needed a new dump truck because the city's two dump trucks are broken.

"We've had two old dump trucks and we've patched and patched and spent money on them. I don't know what's classified as an emergency, but we were completely down before this thing came along. We had no way to haul any dirt," Helms said.

Garrett and two council members said the state had mandated that Coahoma make improvements at the sewer plant, warning that the city could be penalized for failure to make those improvements. She said a dump truck was necessary to make the improvements.

Secretary Bell said a state Water Department inspector could come today. "They're kind of like the health inspectors — they just pop in on you."

Bell submitted her resignation last week, effective June 5. She admitted Tuesday that the way the meeting was handled prompted her resignation.

She said she didn't mind what happened at the meeting, but that she objected to the way the meeting was concealed from the public.

Garrett, when told the meeting violated state procedure, said: "I don't know whether we had much time to do anything on proper procedure — we needed that truck."

Garrett was asked if the emergency meeting was called as a result of an aggressive salesman making a pitch — to grab it now or it might not be available.

"Possibly a little on that order," Garrett said.

"He's an excellent salesman. We had gotten other equipment from him, and we pretty well trusted his judgment; and he seems to have been fair in his dealings," she said.

McCackin this morning said he had a policy of not "openly discussing" his business matters with customers. "We don't get into the running of the city. What they do is their business," he said.

Two parolees arrested for violations

Two parolees on six-year burglary sentences were accused of parole violation and arrested this week, said David Harman, district parole officer.

Juan Vasquez, 29, of Lamesa was arrested by Stanton police Sunday night on a warrant for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and an emergency parole violation warrant, Harman said.

Big Spring police transferred him here Tuesday.

He is accused of assaulting Henry Ortega of Big Spring with a knife in the 800 block of North Aylford Street April 11. Ortega reportedly suffered minor injuries.

Vasquez was released on parole in March 1985 after serving 18 months of a six-year sentence for burglary in Dawson and Howard Counties, Harman said.

Carlos Marquez, 26, 610 N.W. Eighth St., was arrested Tuesday night on a Lubbock parole violation warrant and a Martin County burglary warrant.

He is accused of two counts burglary of a habitation in Martin County.

Marquez was released on parole in March 1986 after serving 22 months of a six-year sentence for burglary of a habitation, Harman said.

Firefighters recall handling ambulance

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

If the Big Spring City Council decided to provide a city-operated ambulance service, there would be a precedent — of a sort.

In the past, the Fire Department has handled the ambulance service, but only at short intervals, and only when there was no one else to do it.

"We just filled in when they didn't have anybody," said Burr Crocker, who was with the fire department from 1926 to 1971 — the last 28 years as fire chief.

An example occurred in the early 1970's, when Alert Ambulance Service owner Red Hiltbrunner was sick. Hiltbrunner said the Fire Department handled the area's ambulance transfer needs for about two weeks.

"Generally, this has always happened at negotiation time — about every two or three years," said Fire Chief Carl Dorton, who has been with the Big Spring Fire Department since 1973.

"The longest I can remember going is 60 to 90 days, back in '78 or '79. We borrowed two ambulances from the Midland Fire Department and we also used an ambulance from (Webb) Air Force base," Dorton said.

At the time, the Big Spring Fire Department had 12 people trained as Emergency Medical Technicians, he said.

As the city again considers a new ambulance contract, Dorton indicated he's hoping his department doesn't have to operate ambulance services this time.

"I hope not. We don't have the same trained personnel we had seven or eight years ago. The time's not available for training," he said.

When the two- to three-month stretch ended in the '70's, Dorton was "exceptionally relieved."

"There were quite a few problems between the cross-change," he said, explaining that some of the firemen worked double shifts as ambulance personnel.

"They were housed together and they tended to get on each other's nerves. They (the ambulance crews) worked two days and got one day off, and that one day off just wasn't enough time to rest," Dorton said.

Dorton explained that firemen and ambulance personnel are different breeds, just as firemen and policemen are different. He said there is more "wear and tear" on ambulance personnel, who go on shorter but more frequent calls than firemen.

"Ambulance has its special problems. Some of the type problems are personnel — they're a special type person. They see that (death and injury) every day — we don't," he said.

Dorton has talked with Lee Ambulance owner Charles Ginn, and Ginn assured him that he will leave Big Spring high and dry.

"He's already told us, 'I'm not going to leave you without an ambulance service,'" Dorton said.

If the city doesn't have a new contract by July 15 — the date Ginn set for the termination of his contract — then Ginn would continue to operate the service "at cost" to the city, Dorton said.

"At this point, it's the cheapest way to go, but it's a council decision," he said.

City and county officials may make that decision within the next several days, when the Ambulance Advisory Committee is expected to recommend the low bidder be awarded the contract.

The committee opened six bids Thursday, when it was learned that Rural Metro of Scottsdale, Ariz., submitted the lowest bid of $101,149.

That bid is for the annual total subsidy to be received from the city and county — for emergency service only.

Mayor Arnold Marshall and other city employees to request help from the city. A signed record of the meeting states:

- "At the meeting it was brought out that unless some new arrangements could be made whereby the City and County shared in the cost of maintaining the present ambulance service, ... it would be impossible to continue it ... after Sept. 1, 1986."
- An item concerning Sandra Martinez in the Police Beat Saturday indicated she had suffered bruises and bite marks to her arms and legs. She reported Tuesday that she suffered no injuries to her arms.

Conrad L. Mezick, 22, 1908 Main St., was arrested at 18th and Gregg Streets on warrants for failure to appear in court and driving on the wrong side of the road.

Raymond Lopez, 18, 120 Airbase Road, was arrested on charges of using a volatile liquid and tampering with an identification number. Police reports indicate the ID was a serial number on a radio. He was transferred to the county jail and released on a total of $1,250 bond.

Eddie White, 18, Garden City Route Box 94, was charged with using a volatile chemical. He was transferred to the county jail and released on $500 bond.

According to the memo, the city agreed to temporarily pay Big Spring Ambulance Service 80 percent of all emergency calls within the city.

Soon after that meeting, however, Majors sold Big Spring Ambulance Service to James B. Frazier, who named the company Alert Ambulance Service.

Frazier subsequently sold Alert Ambulance in 1969 to Hiltbrunner, who operated the business until September 1978. Then it was sold to Larry and Sheryl Ann Kohlenburg.

The Kohlenburgs signed a contract in which the city agreed to pay them $15 per emergency call and the county promised $18.50 per call. Two months later, they apparently realized they'd made a mistake.

In a Nov. 8 letter to then City Manager Harry Nagel, the Kohlenburgs informed the city of their intention to stop their service.

In that letter, the Kohlenburgs said their accountant explained that the subsidy schedule was not capable of allowing the company to continue.

In February 1979, the city and county signed a new contract, this time with Gary and Debbie Shaffer of Shaffer Ambulance Service. But the next year the Shaffers sold their company to John Korrell.

Korrell operated the service until May of 1985, when it was sold to Charles Ginn, who renamed it Lee Ambulance Service.

Public Works Director Tom Decell said three of six neighbors objected to the mobile home because property values would decline.

Rutherford moved the permit be granted, stating as long as a doctor is willing to certify the step is necessary on an annual basis, "I have no problem with it." He noted the governing ordinance has a variance for this type situation.

In other business, the Council:

- Accepted $1,000 from the Big Spring Motorcycle Association, for the city park fund. Member Gerald Fox said the money is from the association's annual rally.
- Granted a livestock permit to Mical Morgan, 2909 Old Highway 80, for a horse.
- Re-appointed Mrs. Johnnye Marsalis STET to the Civil Service Commission, on a 4-2 vote, with Council members D.W. Overman and Pat Deanda voting no. Overman had nominated County Engineer Bill Mims, whom he said had asked for the position. Councilman D.D. Johnson was absent. Mayor Cotton Mize cast the deciding vote.

- Appointed Deanda to replace former Councilman Henry Sanchez on Audit Committee, to work with Rutherford as a liaison between the auditors and the Council.
- Authorized Mize to execute an annual contract concerning the low income housing assistance program.
- Heard from Decell, who reported the Texas Water Commission flood plane management program officials will present an informational seminar at 3 p.m. today at City Hall. The public is invited, he said.
- Heard from Mack Wofford, who noted a substantial water increase between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tuesday from Natural Dam Lake outflow. Property owners have been notified, he said.
- He commented the rains Saturday provided "a good chance to test our civil preparedness operation," which proved well.

Anti-smoking bills clear Senate

AUSTIN — The Senate unanimously approved a bill to ban students from smoking at public schools and at school-sponsored events. Teachers' lounges would be excluded from the bill, which was amended to make clear that the bill applied only to students. Before the House-approved bill was returned to the House Tuesday on a 30-0 vote, it also was amended to make it a misdemeanor for a person to sell or distribute a cigarette or other tobacco product to a youth under 18 years of age.

Senate committee OKs abortion bill

AUSTIN — A bill that would ban third-trimester abortions is heading to the Senate floor for debate, but at least one senator predicts that a filibuster will clog the proceedings.

Houston, said he will filibuster against the measure if it reaches the Senate floor. "I don't think the state has any business being involved in that at all," Washington said.

The Senate Health and Human Services committee approved a bill regulating late-term abortions by a 5-3 vote Tuesday, the second time it approved such a measure this session.

But Lyon said the threat won't stop him from pushing the bill forward. He said he has 27 or 28 votes for an abortion regulation bill, and "if somebody wants to do it (filibuster), let them do it."

A Senate bill, sponsored by Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, earlier passed the committee, but remains pending in the Senate.

Under the bill, the Texas Board of Medical Examiners could revoke, cancel or suspend the license of a physician who performs a third-trimester abortion. Such abortions could only be performed if the mother's mental or physical health is endangered or the fetus has a significant abnormality.

With less than a week remaining in the legislative session, the chances of passage for the bill approved Tuesday appeared slim, lawmakers said. Sen. Craig Washington, D-

Houston, said he will filibuster against the measure if it reaches the Senate floor. "I don't think the state has any business being involved in that at all," Washington said.

House backs pre-marital AIDS tests

AUSTIN — A bitter House debate has produced tentative approval of a bill that would mandate AIDS tests before getting married or going to prison.

But opponents said the provision could discourage people from getting married because the results would become part of public records at county courthouses and the tests could be costly.

The tests were added as amendments to a bill that makes AIDS a reportable disease and allows health officials to ask judges to quarantine AIDS patients who become a public health threat.

The bill won tentative approval in a House vote. It faces another vote that would send it to the Senate.

Rep. Jim McWilliams, D-Hallsville, won approval Tuesday for the AIDS test provisions.

McWilliams also pushed the amendment requiring acquired immune deficiency syndrome and AIDS virus tests for new inmates at the Texas Department of Corrections. AIDS can be sexually transmitted and destroys the body's ability to fight disease.

"It allows the individual who is getting married to know who they are marrying and what diseases they have," he said of the pre-marital tests.

House rejects anti-apartheid move

AUSTIN — A Houston lawmaker has again failed to win House approval for a proposal to limit state investment in entities that do business with South Africa.

Africa while the apartheid regime is in place. "This is a vote of conscience," Evans, D-Houston, to the House.

Rep. Larry Evans' latest effort came Tuesday on a proposed constitutional amendment that would set up a Texas Growth Fund to use state money to promote economic development.

He needed 100 votes to gain House approval for the Senate amendment. The vote was 71-71.

The Senate approved an amendment barring the investment of money from the fund in companies that do business with South Africa. Evans, a black lawmaker, believes state money should not back companies that do business with South

Rep. Bill Ceverha, R-Dallas, said he opposes apartheid, but believes it is an international matter that cannot be effectively addressed by the Legislature. He reminded House members that they had voted against Evans' anti-South Africa amendments to the general appropriations bill. "They've had a day in court. The House has spoken," Ceverha said.

AIDS death inferences protested

HOUSTON — Suggestions that retired United Methodist Church Bishop Finis Crutchfield contracted AIDS through casual contact could provide ammunition for those seeking to segregate AIDS victims from society, a spokesman for a homosexual group says.

Houston's Gay Political Caucus. Following his funeral Saturday, Crutchfield's family released a statement confirming the 70-year-old church figure died of AIDS, but said he did not contract the disease through a homosexual or extramarital relationship.

"This misinformation could put hundreds if not thousands of people who are sick at the risk of being shunned," said Joe Thornton, a member of the executive board of

Dr. James Houghton, Houston health department director, said that if Crutchfield contracted AIDS through casual contact, he'd be the first such case on record.

Three killed as platform blown from skyscraper

HOUSTON (AP) — Lunch-hour pedestrians watched in horror as gusty winds ripped a thousand-pound window-washing platform from near the top of a downtown skyscraper and hurled it to the street below, killing two men aboard it and a woman on the street.

move. I couldn't see. I didn't have time to move. This person to my left was just knocked out flat. It's just a miracle. You're never prepared for these things. You're just so damn lucky you're alive."

"All I could see was a border of black coming down," a shaken witness, Dick Dentley, said after the Tuesday incident. "It was horrible. I was thinking, 'My God, people, get out of the way!' But you can't."

Ms. Comeau suffered cuts and bruises and underwent foot surgery Tuesday.

"Even if I had hollered, it was too late. By that time I was speechless."

The woman standing next to her, Emily Perry, 37, was killed immediately, authorities said. Also killed instantly were the two window washers, identified as Baudilio Argueta, 23, and Efraim Ribas, 47, both of Houston and both five-year employees of the window-washing firm.

The platform was near the top of the 36-floor Pennzoil Building, possibly the 31st floor, and hit the street shortly after noon, striking two female pedestrians at a busy intersection.

"They rode it down. They were locked into it," Deputy Fire Chief L.O. Martin said. "These men were dead on impact and so was the lady. There was no help for them."

"I was just standing on the corner, waiting for the light to change," Julia Comeau, 35, said. Someone yelled the scaffolding was coming down.

Four bolts anchoring the window-washing platform to a permanent track at the top of the building gave way as stiff winds blew the scaffolding sideways, Martin said.

Diet Pill System Sweeping U.S. Pd. Adv.
Super Dream Pill
Guaranteed Weight Loss

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH — According to a review of customers' files, here's what people are saying about the amazing, vastly improved "new version" of the world famous Dream Pill System for fast, guaranteed weight loss featuring Super Lite Dreams tablets:

"I lost 25 lbs. with a 30 day supply." Mrs. J.N.S., Ft. Payne, AL.
"Losing 1 lb. per day." Mr. J.G., Pineville, KY.
"I've lost 34 lbs. and I'm still losing." Mrs. J.K., Garden Grove, CA.
"I have been on Dream Pill for one month and feel great... have lost 27 lbs." Mr. A.D., Anadarko, OK.

The System's Dream Pill combines two natural substances called L-arginine and L-ornithine which can stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Diet researchers believe that growth hormone may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail.

Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-ornithine make the body 'think' it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat as much as they want — and still be thin and wiry.

Life Extension Authors Confirm Results
Durr Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life Extension. Much to her amazement, while taking L-arginine for its healing effects on a broken foot, Sandy lost 25 pounds of fat and put on 5 pounds of firm-toned muscle in six weeks. According to Durr's calculations, the pill caused Sandy to lose 400 times as much fat as she would otherwise have lost — without dieting!

Opinion

Ambulance bid must fill needs

In less than 21 years, this community has had seven different private ambulance services. Only one of them lasted longer than five years, but all suffered from financial problems. We think it's about time the city and county officials put an end to that situation.

But we're also wondering if city and county officials aren't moving too fast to do that. Have the necessary data been collected? And have all the factors been given appropriate consideration? We think not.

In a joint meeting, originally scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday in the Howard County Courthouse, Big Spring City Council and county commissioners are expected to act on the recommendation of the Ambulance Operations Advisory Committee. And the committee is expected to recommend the low bidder.

That meeting, however, may be delayed until Monday or Tuesday, city council members suggested last night.

The lowest of six bids opened May 21 called for a total annual subsidy of $101,149.

Charles Ginn, owner-operator of Lee Ambulance — the community's current service, submitted a bid of $360,000. Only the city's bid was higher — at $467,000, with an alternate of $344,835.

The disparity between those figures puzzles us. And we wonder: How can a for-profit organization from Arizona provide as good a service as Lee Ambulance for less than one-third the amounts bid by Lee and the city?

The community already has suffered through 21 years of seven different ambulance services and their financial woes. If the city and county continue to undersubsidize whoever provides the service, will we simply have the same problems? An eighth verse of the same tune?

Let's examine some of the unresolved issues and unanswered questions.

City Manager Mack Wofford has suggested the low bidder can provide the service for less money because those who use the ambulance service will pay higher fees.

He said the base rate will be $175 — the amount that will be charged before the ambulance even travels one mile, and before fees for use of equipment and supplies are added.

Perhaps that's fair. But it raises some ethical and philosophical questions.

All of us pay for a firefighting service, whether we use it or not — just so it's available when we need it. But what if the majority of its cost were put on only those who used it?

That's exactly what we're talking about with the ambulance service.

The next issue: Should one or two ambulances be available at all times?

The ambulance bid specifications call for "two active and one backup units" to be provided.

Wofford reported, however, that the low bidder will provide only one staffed ambulance on duty at a time — manned by a driver and paramedic. The staff for the second ambulance wouldn't be called until immediately after the first ambulance is dispatched.

That raises another question: Will the response time on the second of two back-to-back calls be quick enough to save lives?

One of the bidders has claimed that at least two of the bids were based on two "ready-to-roll" units with four staff members on duty round the clock.

That leads us to wonder whether all the bidders received the same advice on how to meet the bid specifications.

Another issue: How can ambulance service bidders submit meaningful costs when the city and county aren't even sure how many emergency calls and non-emergency calls are made each month?

City Manager Wofford admitted on Tuesday that the city and county have been unable to get complete statistical data from Lee Ambulance Service.

"We don't get much information from Ginn," he said. "We don't know for sure how many emergency calls and how many transfers he's making. The information he provides is mostly of a financial nature; it's not very detailed," Wofford added.

He also reported that the low bidder has based its service on a 65 percent collection rate. But he said that Ginn's collection rate apparently is only about 47 percent, "as near as we can tell."

Next, we're concerned that the contract, when awarded, lists specific reporting requirements, so that the community is not caught again with its pants down — without specific data or appropriate yardsticks.

Shouldn't it be specified, before the contract is awarded, that the service provide complete monthly reports on all calls answered, both emergency and non-emergency?

And shouldn't that report include response times on all calls, both inside the city and outside the city?

How can the community judge the effectiveness of an ambulance service unless response times are reported?

We're not saying that the low bidder won't provide such reports. But we're asking: Shouldn't that be specified in the contract — before it's awarded?

Certainly these are not all of the questions that need answers. Others would concern training, ambulance equipment, and insurance — both for the ambulance service and the families who use it.

And then there's the question about willingness to roll without first getting a commitment on who will pay. That question was raised by at least three incidents during the past year.

We ask these questions not because we want to make the job of our elected officials more difficult. We ask them because we don't want to repeat the mistakes of the past. We want to see it done right after seven verses of jumping at whatever's available at the lowest cost.

And we raise these issues because of the most important question of all: What is saving lives in this community worth?

Is it worth quick action at the lowest bid? Or is it worth a more thorough examination of what this community needs and deserves?

The low bid might still be the appropriate answer. But let's be sure, and let's spell out contract details before it's awarded.

Delayed discussion shows effort targeted successor

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — President Reagan has finally released us from our pledge to keep secret what he told us more than a year ago about the Iran arms sale. We can now disclose the only known taped comments of the president on the matter before he came under fire eight months later.

Reagan's observations in February 1986 confirm his claim that he was pursuing a strategic opening aimed at potential successors to the Ayatollah Khomeini as much as he was working for release of American hostages.

We first learned about the arms-for-hostages deal in early December 1985 — several months before money was diverted to the Nicaraguan contras. Because printing the story would endanger the hostages' lives, we sat on it.

Wondering whether the president knew about the arms deal, or whether it was a rogue operation by middle-level officials, Dale Van Atta asked for an interview with Reagan. He was ushered into the Oval Office on the afternoon of Feb. 24, 1986 — within hours of Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos' flight into exile.

The president had been told that we were holding off on the story and that we wanted to know if he was aware of the arms deal. At the last minute, White House spokesman Larry Speakes sat in. Since Speakes didn't know what we knew about the secret arms deal Van Atta — and the president — did not refer explicitly to weapons during the interview. But Reagan still managed to confirm our story circumspetly.

Here's the interchange:

VAN ATTA: "This is on Iran. For six years now, they've been waging a terrorist war against us and there are at least 264 American bodies that they can count as being responsible for, including, as we reported, (CIA official) William Buckley last year, whom they tortured mercilessly. (The president nodded his head, 'Yes,' to confirm both the 264 figure and Buckley's torture-induced death.)

"I know there are still four hostages there now and that may preclude you from saying anything. If that does, and I were to agree not to run any statement that you would make until after the hostages were home safely, what I would like is just your gut feeling on what we need to do about Iran — or what we should do about Iran."

THE PRESIDENT: "Well, as you've pointed out, I..."

VAN ATTA: "I can hold this until after the hostages are home."

THE PRESIDENT: "All right, yes, you hold it; because unlike some of the — and I can understand their families' impatience and thinking nothing is going on because they don't see it out in front, we're doing..."

VAN ATTA: "No, I'm aware you're doing a lot on it."

THE PRESIDENT: "Yes. We've been working every hour..."

VAN ATTA: "Very close at different times, too."

THE PRESIDENT: "Yes — and investigating every possible opportunity to get them back. So I can't comment very much. But, again, with your protection that this won't be done while they're there..."

VAN ATTA: "What you say now you will not read until after the hostages come home."

THE PRESIDENT: "All right. The Iranian situation — we have to remember that we had a pretty solid relationship with Iran during the term of the Shah. We have to realize also that that was a very key ally in that particular area in preventing the Soviets from reaching their age-old goal of the warm-water ports and so forth.

And now, with the takeover by the president ruler (Khomeini), we have to believe that there must be elements present in Iran that, when nature takes its eventual course (the ailing Khomeini dies), may want to return to a different relationship.

"So our conduct must be motivated on — while we have to oppose what they're doing and what's going on — we, at the same time, must recognize we do not want to make enemies of those who today..."

VAN ATTA: "The Soviets are making their enemies there."

THE PRESIDENT: "... Yes... could be friends."

EYE ON THE PENTAGON: Small may be beautiful in many areas, but it's obviously suspect at the Pentagon. Consider Nebraska Aluminum Castings, of Hastings, Neb. It submitted the lowest bid on a $2 million contract to make compasses for the Army. The Small Business Administration certified that the company could do the job. Under Pentagon contract guidelines intended to encourage small bidders, that should have done the trick. But the Army disqualified the company because it had asked for too much of the money in the first phase of the contract. The company next in line for the contract just happens to be a favorite Army contractor.

MINI-EDITORIAL: The congressional inquiry into the Iran-contras mess has, as expected, opened up a fantastic world of international intrigue populated by many strange characters. But surely no member of The Gang That Couldn't Spook Straight was as bizarre as that Swiss businessman who woke up one day and found $10 million from the sultan of Brunei in his bank account. He claims he thought nothing about the sudden infusion of moolah — which had been deposited by error to the wrong numbered account — and prudently invested it in certificates of deposit. Would he, we wonder, have been equally lighthearted if $10 million had mistakenly been withdrawn?

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Funeral talk best left to very honest

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

A minister in England got into trouble recently for preaching a funeral and saying the departed was mean, never did any good, and "won't be missed."

Most ministers wouldn't say anything like that at a funeral for a mass murderer.

The tradition at funerals is to go soft on the guest of honor although he or she might have been a terrible scoundrel in life.

But why is that? Why should we pretend a person who has just died was not the rascal he or she was if that happens to be the case?

I remember when Loot Starkins died back home. He was a miserable old tightwad who beat his dogs, growled at small children, wouldn't go to church because he despised people.

On top of all that, he was a Republican.

Struggling to find a few kind words to say about Loot at his funeral, the minister offered, "We should all remember we can find some good in everybody."

A man stood up in the back of the church and replied, "Loot Starkins didn't have a good bone in his body. He owed me a hundred bucks and I know damn well the old fool died just to get out of paying me."

There also is the matter of the minister comforting the family by saying the loved one has gone on to a better life in heaven.

The preacher back home used that technique for Virgil Crabtree's funeral, but everybody knew Virgil Crabtree couldn't have gone to heaven.

He made and ran bad moonshine, got into a fight every Saturday night at the moose club, cursed on Sunday and refused to bathe regularly.

The preacher might as well have been honest about it and told the family what they already knew anyway, that Virgil couldn't have gotten through the Pearly Gates with a gold American Express card and written recommendations from three of the original disciples.

There's an old story that allegedly is true and it tells us that honesty is the best policy at a funeral.

Some years ago, the radio announcer for the Chattanooga Lookouts, a minor league baseball team, had some time to kill before broadcasting a game in Memphis so he rented a car and began driving around the countryside.

He came upon a white-frame church where a funeral was in progress. The announcer, fortified with a few beers, went into the church and took a seat in the first pew.

Several of the deceased's friends were called to the pulpit to say a few words of remembrance. The preacher, figuring anybody in the front row obviously was close to the casket, called the announcer forward.

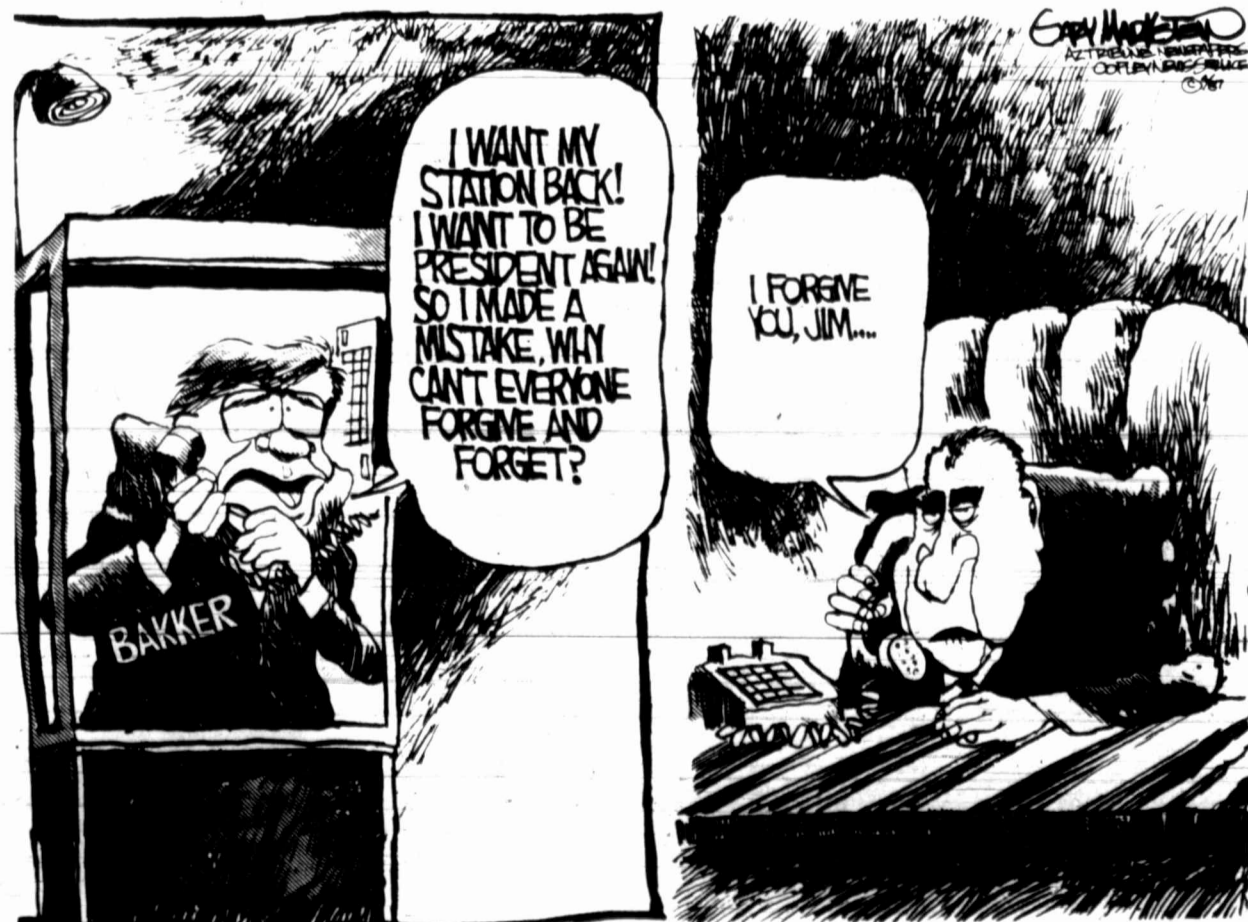

"I must be truthful," the announcer began, "I didn't know the gentleman you are remembering here today, but judging from what I've heard so far, he must have been a well-respected and loved individual.

"Obviously," he went on, "I can add nothing to what already has been said, but as long as I'm up here I'd like to say a few words on behalf of the Chattanooga Lookouts."

Tell it all, brother. Tell it all.

Col. Dutton testifies

WASHINGTON — The retired Air Force colonel who managed a private air resupply network for the Nicaraguan rebels testified today that White House aide Oliver L. North "indicated that we were working for the president of the United States."

Col. Robert C. Dutton, a former combat pilot in the Vietnam War, told Congress' Iran-Contra hearings that his mission in running the supply operation for the Contra guerrillas was similar to his work under President Carter in carrying out an abortive attempt to rescue American hostages held in Iran.

Asked about his understanding of President Reagan's role in the Contra resupply operation, Dutton replied that North, a Marine lieutenant colonel, was in charge of policy for the mission but "he indicated we were working for the president of the United States."

Woman caught in bus

CHICAGO — A woman who asked a bus driver for route information said he closed the doors on her arm and drove away, forcing her to run beside the vehicle for a half block, screaming for him to stop.

"It was either run along with the bus or lose my arm," said MaryAnn Golden, a 31-year-old nurse.

The Chicago Transit Authority said Tuesday it was investigating the incident, and identified the driver as Marvin Jefferson, a 17-year veteran.

"At this point, I don't know anything about it," CTA spokesman Bill Baxa said. "They will call in the driver and get his side of the story. Depending on what he says, disciplinary action could be taken."

The driver appeared to know the woman was stuck in the door, according to one passenger.

"He just stared straight ahead like she wasn't there," said Steve Zwick, 24. "He looked at her like he hated her, like she was a mosquito on his arm."

Archbishop reinstated

SEATTLE — Roman Catholic Archbishop Raymond G. Hunthausen is getting his full powers restored eight months after the Vatican generated discontent in the U.S. church by limiting the authority of the liberal cleric.

While being returned to full status, however, Hunthausen will be forced to accept an assistant, or coadjutor, who would eventually succeed him, according to a panel of three bishops assigned to consider the situation.

Getty denies agreement

LOS ANGELES — Thirteen former Getty Oil Co. directors said they never agreed to sell the company to Pennzoil Co., whose $10.35 billion judgment against Texaco Inc. for alleged merger interference has forced it to seek bankruptcy protection.

In a statement issued Tuesday though attorney Steve Feinson, the 13 said they authorized management to enter into talks with Pennzoil only on condition that whatever came from those discussions must be brought back to the board for further consideration.

"The truth is that Pennzoil tried to acquire control of Getty Oil by forcing through a transaction at an unfair price (that) was far from adequate. Texaco simply outbid Pennzoil," the directors said.

Two women are overcome with emotion during Tuesday's funeral Mass at the Saragosa cemetery for victims of the tornado that destroyed most of the West Texas farm community last Friday. The tornado killed 29 and left 120 injured.

Tornado

Survivors look to uncertain future

SARAGOSA (AP) — Isidro Casillas wept softly as he threw a fistful of dirt onto caskets in the tornado-ravaged land that residents have vowed not to relinquish.

Casillas, who was in nearby Balmorhea when the tornado robbed him of his wife and two of six children, watched as others followed suit Tuesday, kicking and tossing soil into the pit until a fine layer of dust covered both caskets.

"Today we bid farewell to men and women who loved Jesus and his church and who loved their family and would die for their children... they will be missed," said Bishop Raymond Pena of the El Paso diocese, who said a funeral Mass from the back of a trailer.

Thousands of people joined with the residents of this little town as they buried 17 of the 29 people killed when a tornado swept through last Friday. The wind's fury decimated about 70 percent of the town and left 162 people injured.

Scores of pallbearers carried 16 caskets, one holding the bodies of a mother and her baby, and put them in two neat rows for the funeral Mass as the crowd pressed in for a better view.

One by one, 12 caskets were lowered into the ground in the Saragosa cemetery. Four were buried later in Balmorhea.

Pena, standing near a statue of Jesus that had withstood the storm's winds, reminded the mourners that while their church had been destroyed in the storm, its foundation was intact.

"The foundation of your faith is equally intact," Pena said. "On that we will build the new community of Saragosa."

Many said they would rebuild and start over with the help of federal aid — President Reagan declared the town a federal disaster area Tuesday — but it was too early for others to decide what lies ahead for them.

"Right now I don't have too many plans at all. I haven't thought about it," said Manuel Mondragon, whose house was demolished and brother killed when the twister struck.

"You see all these people?" asked Ramon Olgin, Mondragon's cousin. "Most of them are family. That's where the strength will come from... Even though you see death and destruction, you find a lot of determination to rebuild."

Mondragon agreed. "It's worth it," he said. "It's our land."

An American Red Cross spokeswoman said the disaster had prompted pledges of $470,000 from 12,700 people through the Red Cross' toll-free phone number.

Also, Gov. Bill Clements came to town announced that Reagan had declared Saragosa a disaster area, clearing the way for low-interest home loans, temporary housing and grants of up to $5,000 for those who qualify.

Saragosa resident Phillip Lopez, however, told Clements "people are ticked off" by delays in aid and officials' neglect in not dispatching National Guardsmen to secure the area from looting Friday night.

The tornado, which left more than 150 people homeless, caused an estimated $1.4 million in damage, said Reeves County Sheriff Raul Florez. Clements, however, said that dollar amounts shouldn't be considered in money or property when rebuilding the town.

"This is not a dollar problem," the governor said. "This is a people problem."

Gorbachev speaks

BUCHAREST, Romania — Kremlin leader Mikhail Gorbachev gave Romanians their first detailed explanation of Soviet reform — changes they are unlikely to see because of resistance by Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu.

The Soviet leader is to travel today to Berlin for a Warsaw Pact summit during which he is expected to make a new disarmament proposal regarding conventional forces.

Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Yuri Gremitskikh said in Moscow that the leaders from the seven Warsaw Pact countries would discuss "defusing tension in Europe" and "measures of nuclear disarmament."

Barbie attends trial

LYON, France — A former Resistance fighter called Klaus Barbie a coward to his face after a French judge required the accused war criminal to present himself before some of the people he allegedly tortured.

A defiant Barbie, former Gestapo chief of Lyon, was returned to the courtroom against his will Tuesday to face five of his alleged victims. He looked directly at each of his accusers, but refused to respond as they identified him as the man who tormented them, then sent them to concentration camps more than 40 years ago.

Female equality urged

TOKYO — Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone says Japanese society should commit itself to achieving substantial advances toward equality for women by the year 2000.

Nakasone, speaking Tuesday at a women's conference, said Japan has enacted an Equal Employment Opportunities Law and ratified a United Nations convention calling for an end to all forms of discrimination against women.

"The past 10 years have been a time to cement the foundations for equal treatment of women in society," he said. "In the next 10-odd years until the year 2000, we must build on past results to promote improvement of women's status, not only in principle but also in practice."

American plane held

MEXICO CITY — The mother-in-law of "Peanuts" cartoonist Charles Schulz planned today to leave Mexico after U.S. authorities conceded her single-engine plane should not have been included on a list of suspected drug-smuggling aircraft.

Pam Vanderlinden, 74, of Fallbrook, Calif., had her four-seat Bellanca Viking held Saturday at the Puerto Vallarta airport. She and copilot Kay Brick, 77, arrived at the Pacific beach resort on May 9 for a two-week vacation.

NATO issues statement

BRUSSELS, Belgium — NATO defense ministers today welcomed the possibility of an East-West accord to remove medium- and short-range missiles from Europe but warned it would require NATO to beef up its conventional defenses.

The ministers, ending two days of talks, issued a communique saying the April 14 offer by Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev to remove hundreds of short- and medium-range nuclear missiles from Europe suggested "the possibility for real progress in relations between East and West."

The batter for these muffins stays fresh up to six weeks in the refrigerator.

Muffins make a meal special

Muffins are becoming one of the most popular items at bakeries across the country. Homey and delicious, freshly baked muffins do seem to make a snack or a meal a little special.

With this updated recipe, found in grandmother's files, muffin batter stays fresh in the refrigerator up to six weeks. It allows even the busiest of us to have hot home-made muffins on the table in half an hour.

Simply keep this mixture in an airtight plastic container in the coolest part of the refrigerator. Then you can bake up a batch with no effort at all.

SPUR OF THE MOMENT BRAN MUFFINS
 2 cups boiling water
 6 cups bran cereal
 1 cup butter
 2 1/2 cups sugar
 4 eggs
 1 qt. buttermilk
 5 cups flour
 5 tsp. baking soda
 1 tsp. salt
 2 cups chopped Mission figs

Pour boiling water over 2 cups bran cereal; let stand. Cream butter, sugar and eggs. Blend in bran mixture and buttermilk. Stir flour with baking soda and salt; add to creamed mixture with remaining bran. Stir in figs. Pour into covered airtight container. Refrigerate for 12 hours before using. Will keep up to six weeks.

To bake, place batter in paper-lined or greased muffin pans in 400 F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes.
 Makes 6 dozen muffins.

Wife wants dental work that bites budget

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 70 and recently retired. I am 65. We live comfortably and are in relatively good health. I'm a nice-looking woman, but my teeth are ugly, and I want to have them fixed. I'm talking about extensive dental work — crowns, bridgework and beautification. My dentist says the job would run me about $9,500. My husband says we can't afford it — that I'm better off having all my teeth pulled and getting dentures, which would be cheaper and just as pretty. He's had dentures for years and says they're fine. Dentures would run about $1,500.

Dear Abby

We own $200,000 in certificates of deposit, bonds and short-term savings and checking accounts. Our home is valued at $160,000 and we have made provisions (trusts) for our three grandchildren when they reach 18 years of age. We give generously to our church and local charities and, of course, we both get Social Security checks every month. Can we afford a $9,500 dental bill?

I'LL NEVER SMILE AGAIN

DEAR I'LL: You certainly can! Do not consider having all your teeth extracted and getting dentures. Keep your natural teeth as long as you can, and tell your husband to put his money where your mouth is. Besides, it's your money, too, so get your teeth fixed, and may your smile brighten the rest of your days.

***
CONFIDENTIAL TO HURT AND DISAPPOINTED: When people snoop around in the drawers of others and read diaries and letters that were not meant for their eyes, whatever are they looking for? I'm not sure, but invariably they find something that will hurt and disappoint them.

 To get Abby's booklet, "How to Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old," send a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.

Bird plucks one away from Pistons

BOSTON (AP) — "I was right there," Boston's Jerry Sichting said. "I saw how it happened."

Years from now, similar words undoubtedly will be uttered by some of the 14,890 spectators who witnessed another amazing play by Larry Bird.

It was a play that saved the game and, very likely, the NBA season for the Celtics. It was a play that not even Bird's teammates expected. It was a play that Detroit certainly didn't anticipate.

"I'll put that on top of everything Larry's ever done," Boston assistant coach Chris Ford said.

Trailing by a point, Bird stole Isiah Thomas' inbound pass with five seconds left and fed Dennis Johnson for the winning layup with one second to go Tuesday night. The basket gave Boston a 108-107 victory and a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven NBA Eastern Conference final.

"We had the game won," said Thomas, who added that he didn't see Bird race to the ball.

"It looked bleak," said Sichting, who was guarding Thomas and forced him to throw the ball from the sidelines backward to Bill Laimbeer under Boston's basket. "You don't expect things like that to happen. Larry was going to the ball before Isiah threw it."

"It happened so quick, you don't have time to think about it," Bird said. "It was just a reaction. I was going to foul Laimbeer. I stuck my hand in there and then I knew I had it stolen. He (Thomas) didn't throw a good pass. He just lobbed it in the air."

"As soon as I got it I was going to shoot. I was counting four seconds in my head and then I turned around and saw D.J. cutting down the lane."

Despite being guarded closely by Joe Dumars, Johnson put the ball up with his right hand from the left side of the basket. It rolled around the rim and dropped through.

"We have a very good sense for each other," Johnson said of himself and Bird. "I'm really becoming a believer in the Boston Garden mystique."

The victory was Boston's 35th in its last 36 games in the Garden and 17th straight there over Detroit. But now the Celtics must play Game 6 Thursday night in Pontiac, Mich., where they lost by 18 points Saturday and 26 Sunday.

"Yogi (Berra) said it first," Boston forward Kevin McHale said. "It ain't over 'til it's over."

Then Larry said it. And, sometimes, it's still not over."

If Bird didn't steal the ball or if Johnson missed the shot, the season would have been just about over for the defending champion Celtics. To stay alive in the playoffs, they would have had to win Thursday night on the road, possibly without center Robert Parish.

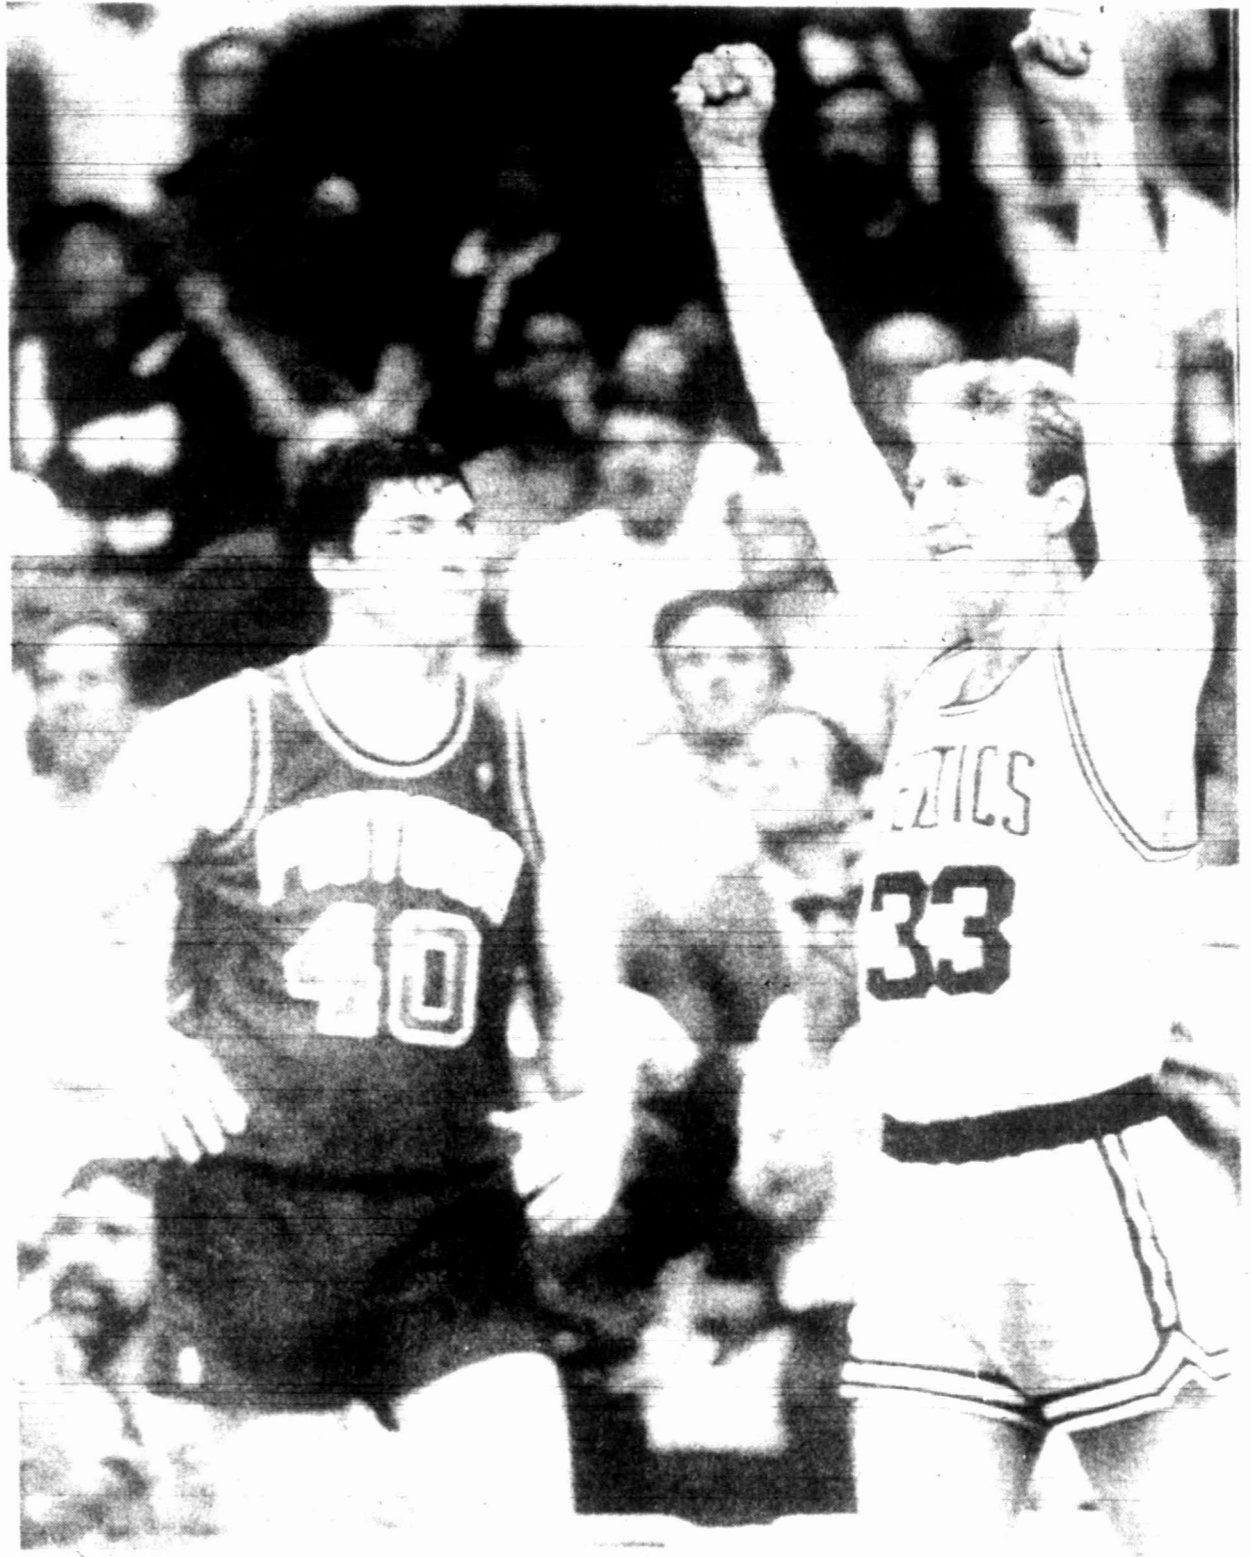

Now if they lose the next game, they'll return home for Game 7 Saturday to determine who will play the Los Angeles Lakers in the championship series.

Parish was helped off the floor with 7:19 remaining when he re-injured his sprained left ankle. He returned to the game 58 seconds later only to leave for good with 3:41 left when he fell and couldn't stand without help.

"I wasn't concerned with Parish leaving the game," Detroit Coach Chuck Daly said. "I was concerned with what happened with five seconds left."

Bird led the Celtics with 36 points, McHale added 20 and Dennis Johnson 18. Detroit was paced by Adrian Dantley with 25, Vinnie Johnson with 20 and Thomas with 20.

It's a very physical series

BOSTON (AP) — Robert Parish of the Boston Celtics punched Detroit's Bill Laimbeer before a capacity crowd at Boston Garden Tuesday night. But Parish wasn't punished because, the officials said, they didn't see the blows.

"I didn't see any punches," referee Jess Kersey said after the Celtics' 108-107 victory in Game 5 of the NBA Eastern Conference final.

"Obviously, we aren't going to allow anyone to throw a punch and get away with it," Jack Madden, the other referee, said. "I saw Laimbeer fall but I don't know how he fell."

"No comment," Laimbeer said when asked about Parish being allowed to stay in the game. He said red marks just below his neck were a result of Parish's punches.

The incident between the two centers occurred with 23 seconds left in the first half of the Celtics' victory that gave Boston a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Laimbeer had inside position for a rebound and appeared to hit Parish, who was behind him, with his arm in the chest or throat. Laimbeer grabbed the rebound, then Parish punched him with a left hook and a right to the head and Laimbeer fell down.

Asked why he didn't retaliate, Laimbeer said, "I assumed he was already ejected at that point so why would it make any sense for me to get ejected on top of that?"

"I walked over to one ref and said, 'You ejected him, right?' He said he didn't see it," Laimbeer added. "They're the Boston Celtics. That's the way it goes."

On Monday, Laimbeer was fined $5,000 and Boston's Larry Bird $2,000 for an incident in Game 3 Saturday. Laimbeer knocked Bird to the court with a hard foul under the basket and Bird punched him and then threw the ball at him.

For the second straight game Tuesday night, Bird refused Laimbeer's offer to shake hands as the teams assembled for the jump ball to start the game.

Parish did leave the game for good with 3:41 remaining when he re-injured his sprained left ankle. It was not known if he would play Thursday night in Pontiac, Mich.

Flyers stay alive

EDMONTON Alberta (AP) — The citizens of Edmonton had a parade planned in the event of a Stanley Cup victory by their beloved Oilers. But the Philadelphia Flyers rained on it, thanks to a hail of assists by Brian Propp.

"Brian has really developed into a fine playoff performer and he's demonstrating that this year," Flyers Coach Mike Keenan said after watching his gritty left wing set up all four goals in Tuesday night's 4-3 victory in the Stanley Cup final.

Propp's four points gave him a team-leading 27 in the playoffs on 11 goals and 16 assists. His four assists also tied a Flyers playoff record shared by three others.

On the brink of elimination, the Flyers battled back twice from two-goal deficits to pull this one out and send the series back to Philadelphia for Game 6 Thursday night.

Holding a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series, the Oilers still need only one victory to win their third Stanley Cup title in the last four years. But they'll have to play better than they did in Game 5, when they blew leads of 2-0 and 3-1.

Just about all the Flyers' scoring came from the makeshift line of Propp, Tocchet and Pelle Eklund. The latter had a goal and two assists. The contest was almost a replica of Game 3 of the series, when the Oilers dominated early and took a 3-0 lead. This time, they led 2-0, thanks to Jari Kurri's playoff-leading 14th goal and the first of two by Marty McSorley.

It looked like a safe lead for the Oilers until Tocchet scored with just 50 seconds left in the first period off a perfect feed from Propp.

"Our biggest goal was that goal at the end of the first period," Flyers defenseman Mark Howe said.

Sugar Ray says he won't return to ring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sugar Ray Leonard, saying he no longer has the "stimulus to continue his boxing career," announced his retirement as a fighter today.

"There's no one out there to give me that motivation," Leonard, the World Boxing Council middleweight champion, said at a press conference. "I'm going to try to retire, to give it a shot."

It is the fourth time since 1976 that Leonard has announced his retirement.

Leonard's latest return to boxing lasted for one fight — a spectacular upset to dethrone middleweight champion Marvelous Marvin Hagler on April 6.

The fight was only the second in five years for Leonard, who had undergone surgery in 1982 to repair a detached retina. He attributed his comeback for that bout to his desire to fight Hagler.

Well-off financially, Leonard said that fighting Hagler was "something I had to do."

Leonard closes his career 34-1. His only loss came at the hands of Roberto Duran. He won titles in three different weight classes since he began his pro-career Feb. 5, 1977, with a decision over Luis Vega.

In announcing his latest retirement, Leonard said, "For me to perform, it takes a stimulus. I have to be motivated."

"That burning desire has been taken care of," Leonard said, referring to his victory over Hagler.

But Leonard left open the possibility that he might return.

"You guys know me, I don't fool anyone," Leonard, 31, turned professional after winning the gold medal in the welterweight division during the 1976 Olympics.

He underwent retinal surgery in May 1982, three months after beating Bruce Finch to retain the undisputed world welterweight title. And he announced his retirement in November 1982.

Leonard announced in December of 1983 that he was coming back, and he fought Kevin Howard in May 1984, but quit again after a lackluster victory in which he suffered the only knockdown of his career.

Cubs give Reds a gift win

CINCINNATI (AP) — It took all of Dave Parker's power, and a little luck, for the Cincinnati Reds to beat the Chicago Cubs.

Parker, who admitted he was swinging for a homer, led off the ninth with deep fly to center field that popped out of Bob Dernier's glove and over the fence to give Cincinnati a 3-2 victory over Chicago.

Cubs reliever Lee Smith, 1-3, threw Parker a 2-1 slider low and inside. Parker swung as hard as he could, sending the ball toward the 404-foot sign.

pitching six plus innings, striking out six and walking none. Jim Acker allowed one hit over the final three innings for his fifth save.

Astros 10, Pirates 3

HOUSTON (AP) — Kevin Bass hit a three-run double to highlight seven-run seventh inning, leading Houston over Pittsburgh.

Dave Meads, 4-1, was the winner, pitching three innings of scoreless relief. Hipolito Pena, 0-2, allowed three runs on two hits in 1-3 innings.

Bill Doran and Alan Ashby both had two RBIs.

Expos 8, Dodgers 3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Andres Galarraga drove in three runs with two hits and Herm Winningham added a two-run homer as Montreal won its fourth straight game, beating the Los Angeles.

Phillies 3, Padres 1

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Glenn Wilson hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning to break 1-1 tie and Shane Rawley and Steve Bedrosian combined on a six-hitter as Philadelphia beat San Diego.

Mets 3, Giants 2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Scott Garrelts threw two eighth-inning wild pitches that scored Keith Hernandez and Darryl Strawberry, enabling New York to rally past San Francisco.

Royals 5, White Sox 4

The Kansas City Royals, even with George Brett absent, are looking like the class of the American League West.

Willie Wilson opened Tuesday night's game with a home run and Danny Jackson struck out a career-high 12 as the Royals beat the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

Kansas City won for the third straight time and has won 11 of its last 13, opening up a five-game lead in the AL West.

In other AL games, Detroit downed Texas 8-7 in 11 innings, Boston held off Cleveland 6-5 and Minnesota beat Milwaukee 4-2.

Jackson, 2-6, walked only one and gave up eight hits, including Greg Walker's two-run homer with one out in the ninth inning. Dan Quisenberry recorded the final two outs for his sixth save.

"He pitched great tonight," Royals Manager Billy Gardner said of Jackson. "He has lost a lot of close games but for the first time we got him a lead and he got in a good groove."

Jackson, with his nasty slider working, retired 13 straight batters at one stretch. He struck out Harold Baines four times.

Wilson hit his first home run of the season opening the game against Bill Long, 1-1.

"Hitting home runs is not my game," said Wilson, who had three hits. "My game is getting on base and making things happen."

Wilson hit a two-out double in the seventh after a single by Jamie Quirk, setting up a two-run single by Kevin Seitzer that made it 4-1.

Tigers 8, Rangers 7

Kirk Gibson hit a two-out, two-run double in the bottom of the 11th inning to give Detroit its victory over Texas.

Gibson, who homered earlier in the game, doubled to left-center off Dale Mohorcic, 3-2, after one-out singles by Dave Bergman and Lou Whitaker. Pete O'Brien had led off the Texas 11th with a home run off winner Mike Henneman, 2-0.

The host Tigers won their third straight game and have won 11 of their last 13.

Ruben Sierra hit two homers and drove in four runs for the Rangers.

SMU may file charges

DALLAS (AP) — A United Methodist Church official says administrative, civil and legal options are being considered against a former Southern Methodist University student who falsely told reporters that football players had engaged in academic cheating and female students had been involved in prostitution.

Bishop John Russell said Tuesday that the options are being considered against Kevin L. Lerner, who has admitted spreading what he termed "disinformation" about activities at SMU.

Lerner's widely publicized reports came on the heels of a football recruiting scandal that resulted in the National Collegiate Athletic Association suspending SMU's football program for the 1987 season for illegally continuing to play players while on probation for earlier similar offenses.

Baseball

got the victory despite allowing the Cubs to tie the game 2-2 in the ninth on Andre Dawson's run-scoring infield single.

The Reds took a 2-0 lead in the seventh on an RBI single by Buddy Bell and a sacrifice fly by Nick Esasky.

The Cubs scored their first run in eighth when Leon Durham doubled with two out and scored on Jody Davis' single.

Braves 5, Cardinals 4

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Griffey homered to lead off the sixth inning, snapping a 4-4 tie and leading Atlanta over St. Louis.

Doyle Alexander, making his 1987 debut, earned the victory pitching six plus innings, striking out six and walking none. Jim Acker allowed one hit over the final three innings for his fifth save.

Astros 10, Pirates 3

HOUSTON (AP) — Kevin Bass hit a three-run double to highlight seven-run seventh inning, leading Houston over Pittsburgh.

Dave Meads, 4-1, was the winner, pitching three innings of scoreless relief. Hipolito Pena, 0-2, allowed three runs on two hits in 1-3 innings.

Bill Doran and Alan Ashby both had two RBIs.

Expos 8, Dodgers 3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Andres Galarraga drove in three runs with two hits and Herm Winningham added a two-run homer as Montreal won its fourth straight game, beating the Los Angeles.

Phillies 3, Padres 1

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Glenn Wilson hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning to break 1-1 tie and Shane Rawley and Steve Bedrosian combined on a six-hitter as Philadelphia beat San Diego.

Mets 3, Giants 2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Scott Garrelts threw two eighth-inning wild pitches that scored Keith Hernandez and Darryl Strawberry, enabling New York to rally past San Francisco.

Royals 5, White Sox 4

The Kansas City Royals, even with George Brett absent, are looking like the class of the American League West.

Willie Wilson opened Tuesday night's game with a home run and Danny Jackson struck out a career-high 12 as the Royals beat the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

Kansas City won for the third straight time and has won 11 of its last 13, opening up a five-game lead in the AL West.

In other AL games, Detroit downed Texas 8-7 in 11 innings, Boston held off Cleveland 6-5 and Minnesota beat Milwaukee 4-2.

Jackson, 2-6, walked only one and gave up eight hits, including Greg Walker's two-run homer with one out in the ninth inning. Dan Quisenberry recorded the final two outs for his sixth save.

LITTLE LEAGUE Majors

Lions 17, Yankees 3

In action at the National League field, the Lions rolled with an easy win over the Yankees behind the pitching of Oscar Cervantes and a 14-hit attack.

Brian Martinez was losing pitcher for the Yankees.

Leading hitters for the Lions were Cervantes, Dennis Paulette and Ryan Williams; all hit a double and single. Joe Dan Whitaker hit two doubles and Brian Burchett added two singles.

Martinez paced the Yankees with two singles. Tony Taylor tripled and Lonnie Jackson singled.

Lions 6, Rangers 4

The Lions made it two-in-a-row by escaping with a narrow win over the Rangers. Cervantes and Ricky Hamby combined for the win, allowing only two hits and striking out 15 batters. Danny Wilson was losing pitcher for the Rangers.

William Franks and Leslie Atkins all singled.

UGSA
Division I

Blue Diamonds 15, Blue Jays 14

Mandy Morrow came in relief and got the win for the Diamonds. She struck out five of the six batters she faced. Delores Garcia was losing pitcher for the Jays.

Stephanie Lewis led the Diamonds by hitting a double and single. Melissa Rodriguez hit two singles, including driving in the winning run in the last inning. Heather James and Erica Land-sperry doubled and Jennifer Cobos singled.

The Blue Diamonds are 5-1 for the season.

Division II

Fighting Dragons 32, Orange Jammers 18

Hurler Amber Fannin got strong hitting from her team as the Dragons romped. Melinda Machado was losing pitcher for the Jammers.

Fannin, Shandle Casey and Sara Cranford all homered for the Dragons.

Bird

The Celtics' only deficit in the first half was 2-0 and they led 58-56 at intermission. They let a 69-58 advantage drop three minutes into the third quarter drop to 86-85 entering the fourth.

Thirty-six seconds after Parish left, Vinnie Johnson's jumper put Detroit on top 99-95 with 3:05 to play. But Darren Daye had the first five points in an 11-4 Celtics' run that gave them a 106-103 lead with 53 seconds left.

Laimbeer hit a jumper from just beyond the foul line with 46 seconds remaining. Bird missed a short shot with 28 seconds to go and Thomas connected from the foul line, giving Detroit a 107-106 lead with 17 seconds to play.

Then Dennis Rodman blocked Bird's shot with seven seconds remaining and the ball went out of bounds off Sichting.

"I thought we had it," Rodman said. "I thought it was our game."

Then Bird changed his and the other Pistons' minds.

"They thought they had us, but you can't blame them," Bird said. "We would have thought that we had it."

Thomas said he didn't see Bird until after Bird stole the ball. Daly said he wanted to call a timeout before the pass was made. After Johnson scored, Detroit did call one.

When play resumed, Dantley's inbounds pass from midcourt went off Laimbeer's hands and out of bounds as the game ended.

K.C. Jones coached the Celtics despite the death Monday of his mother, Eula Jones. He is expected to miss Thursday night's game to attend her funeral Friday in San Francisco.

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After some delays you find that all kinds of interesting new ideas and plans of action come into play. You will be able to put more spark and enthusiasm in your activities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have all kinds of ways to get rid of conditions that do not please you. Replace them with those you like.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An expert in finance can be of great assistance to you. Make contact with this person soon.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid a partner who depresses you. Go after what you desire with the utmost of confidence.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) It's a good day to contact those who have the information you have been seeking.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) It's time to see friends who have fine progressive ideas. You can make new contacts that will improve your social life, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be sure to get out into the active world and accomplish a great deal. Staying at home will accomplish nothing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take time from regular routines so that you can plan how to handle important affairs more wisely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It's a good time to have a talk with one in business. Be of assistance to your mate for fine results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be with a young and clever person and make yourself more cheerful. Be tactful in relationships.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle that old duty and then you know just how to be more productive in your regular activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Meet the expectations of a good friend. You understand how to make your special talents work better.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know what kin desire the most and get at it. This can bring fine results provided you're charming.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he, or she, will need to work harder than others to learn lessons at school, but once the habit is formed your progeny can become more alive, alert and enthused than all the rest. Whether male or female, this child will do well in sales. There is no limit to the success.

Language: Adios to Spanish

EDITOR'S NOTE — The battle between opponents and supporters of declaring English the official language has heightened, but some say the issue isn't really language. In the third installment of a six-part series, The Associated Press examines the problem.

ROBERTO VILLARREAL
... issue is power struggle

By DORALISA PILARTE
Associated Press Writer
EL PASO (AP) — A comedian at an El Paso club tells the audience he's glad Texas became part of the United States. Otherwise, he says, everybody in the state today would be speaking Spanish.

The joke draws belly laughs in Texas, where a bill has been introduced in the Legislature to make English the official state language, but some people don't see what's so funny.

A lobbying group called English First is backing a proposal for a constitutional amendment declaring English the official language of the United States. Based in Virginia, the group claims 300,000 members nationwide.

"There's no problem in having a second language, and we encourage it," said English First spokesman Craig Markva. "But because we're so diverse, one of the unifying factors we have is one language."

Opponents call the English First movement racist, bigoted and a thinly veiled attack against Hispanics and other minorities.

Roberto Villarreal, director of the Chicano Studies program at the University of Texas-El Paso, sees the conflict between the two camps as natural.

"The issue is not language. The issue is a power struggle," Villarreal said. "The dominant system has been a certain culture. There's a level of invasion. These people are ... trying to protect those values."

Although other immigrant groups, such as Vietnamese in California and Haitians in Miami, have formed enclaves where only their language is spoken, the controversy centers on Spanish-language Americans because Spanish is more widely promoted.

"When my grandfathers emigrated from Czechoslovakia ... they had their own languages, but the language they were going to prosper in was English," said Markva. "Now there are people coming in and saying, 'We want to have a bilingual nation.'"

The strong influence of Hispanics is seen every day in some parts of the country. Automatic tellers ask bank customers whether they want to conduct their transactions in English or Spanish. The Yellow Pages are crammed with businesses that advertise "Se Habla Espanol," or "Spanish Is Spoken Here." Ballots are printed in Spanish and English.

But lack of fluency in English can cost money. University of Florida economics professor Walter McManus studied 1980 census figures to determine the effects of Hispanic immigration on the U.S. labor market. He wanted to see if there was any correlation between knowledge of English and income.

"It costs the Hispanic who knows no English $4,000 a year," McManus concluded.

On average, he found, there was a $4,000 gap in salary between the Hispanics who said they were fluent in English and those who said they spoke no English.

"Those who don't speak English are mostly new arrivals," McManus said. "With Hispanics who arrived very young, their English proficiency rises very rapidly. Second-language acquisition is a problem for adults."

Markva said other immigrants learned English "because they wanted to become Americans."

"As it stands now, if you become a citizen of the United States, you're supposed to know English," he said. "It's part of the naturalization test."

In Tornillo, a farming community of 1,100 residents about 40 miles from El Paso, school officials tried to make children learn English more quickly to improve their performance on standardized tests.

Most of the 370 children in Tornillo's schools are Mexican-American, and about 40 percent speak only Spanish, as do 60 percent of their parents, said superintendent Francis Brooks.

The school board approved sending a letter in mid-April in which parents were asked to punish their children for speaking Spanish at school, and teachers were told to speak to students only in English. But the board backed down after warnings from the Texas Education Agency and the U.S. Justice Department that it could mean civil rights violations.

In the border city of El Paso, every Catholic Church offers masses in Spanish and English.

"Usually, the youth know more English than Spanish and the old people know more Spanish than English," the Rev. Ezequiel Morales said of his 9,000 parishioners at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, located in a working-class neighborhood.

"We need both languages," Morales said. "There's still some old people who've been in the states years and years and know just a few phrases in English."

A recent Texas Poll showed 74 percent of the Texans surveyed support legislation that would make English the official language of the state, but the proposed constitutional amendment that would do so has not made it out of a legislative committee.

"It certainly didn't take a constitutional amendment to make me learn English," said one of its opponents, Rep. Lena Guerrero, an Austin Democrat.

Ms. Guerrero wondered whether enforcement of such an amendment would take the form of "language patrols."

"Would people run up to you and give you a ticket for speaking in a language other than English?" she asked. "What about the city of San Antonio? Would they change the name? I looked at the back of a dollar bill ... Would we have to change (the words in Latin)?"

Methodists seek unity in election

DALLAS (AP) — United Methodists in North Texas will have a black minister lead their delegation to the denomination's national conference for the first time.

The Rev. Zan W. Holmes Jr. received 195 out of a possible 278 clergy votes Monday when the North Texas annual conference selected 12 representatives for the quadrennial conference.

Holmes, a former member of the Texas House of Representatives, was the only candidate elected on the first ballot.

"The size of the vote shows the strength of his leadership," said the Rev. Spurgeon Dunnam, editor of the weekly United Methodist Reporter. "There's a virtual certainty he will be named a bishop by 1992."

The North Texas Conference represents 152,000 churchgoers in a 21-county area.

Holmes will lead five other ministers and six lay delegates to the St. Louis conference in April 1988, where church law and policy will be made. He also will attend the Jurisdictional Conference in July 1988 in New Orleans, where the primary function is to elect bishops.

Local pastor honored at 'This is Your Life' roast

Things got pretty hot for Dr. Victor Sedinger on May 17 during a "This is Your Life" roast.

Sedinger, minister at First Christian Church, was honored with a surprise celebration for his newly achieved doctorate degree in ministry. He completed his work at Brite Divinity School at Texas Christian University.

More than 100 attended the occasion and fellow colleagues joined in the fun and roasted the honoree. Roasters were the Rev. Keith Gibbons of College Heights Christian Church, Father Stephen White of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, and the Rev. Keith Wiseman of First Methodist Church.

Also present were Cecelia McKenzie of Rape Crisis/Victim Services, Marion Staller from the Rainbow Project and Russ and Laura McEwen.

Petitions fail to sway K mart

Bill Birrell concedes defeat.

Birrell launched a campaign in April in hopes of keeping the Big Spring K mart store open — accumulating more than 1,100 signatures on petitions he sent to K mart headquarters in Troy, Mich.

K mart officials announced April 23 the store would close July 18.

This week Birrell received a letter from K mart headquarters, and the message was no surprise, Birrell said.

"Mr. Birrell, the decision of closing our Big Spring K mart store was not an easy one to make," James McNeerney, director of customer relations, said in the letter.

Since the store's 1978 opening, the projected sales volume needed to make the Big Spring store a profitable or near-profitable store did not materialize, the letter said.

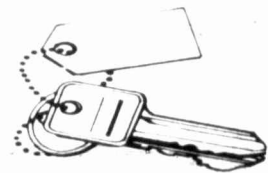

K mart's store operating committee analyzed the last five years of operation at the store and studied future sales and profit projections before deciding to close the store, McNeerney said.

Even though the store was refurbished in 1982, the expected results did not materialize, he said.

"Mr. Birrell, please thank the shoppers in Big Spring who supported our K mart store," McNeerney said.

McNeerney made no comment in the letter about Birrell's mention of the Big Spring Wonder World store, also owned by K mart.

"A lot of people have complained about the store," Birrell said, in reference to the Wonder World store. In Birrell's opinion, sales clerks are rarely available and items are difficult to find in the store.

UNDERWATER FUN
While most visitors to the Hawaiian Islands spend a lengthy part of their trip on Oahu, few know about Hanauma Bay. Located just outside of Honolulu, this easily-accessible cove is a swimmer's paradise. Forget the images of ten-foot waves and pounding surf for which Hawaii is known. Hanauma Bay offers a tranquil stretch of ocean that is a delight for children and first-time snorkelers. Gear can be rented inexpensively. Because Hanauma Bay is a fish preserve, snorkelers will be surrounded by delightfully colored schools of fish in these clear coral waters. Hanauma Bay is a must-see and must-do for the slightly adventurous traveler who is not yet quite ready to risk life and limb on a surfboard.

For the "must-see and must-do" vacations of a lifetime you "must come" to BIG SPRING SKIPPER TRAVEL, 608 Scurry. Tell us of your dreams and let us turn them into reality. From around the corner to around the world, we will create the travel plans you have only been dreaming about. Once you pass through our doors you will be on the magic carpet taking you to destinations filled with fun and memories. Tel. 263-0225. Open 8:30-5:30 Mon.-Fri.

Chamber liability insurance jumps 800 percent

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The liability insurance premium for Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce officials has risen approximately 800 percent since last year, President Troy Fraser revealed.

Fraser spoke at the Chamber board of directors meeting Wednesday noon.

The premium has been $300 a year for the past three years, but has risen to $2,400, he said. The insurance covers liability of board members, staff and volunteers.

No one else was interested in bidding for insurance coverage, at any cost, he added.

The board of directors voted to continue with its insurance policy at the new rate.

The board also appointed two new committee chairmen and approved the hiring of a bookkeeper. Craig Bailey was appointed the 1987-88 Leadership Big Spring chairman, replacing this year's chairman Bob Coletrane. Bill Cleveland was appointed co-chairman of the Business Committee.

The Chamber hired Betty Schoenfeld as a bookkeeper, replacing Alene Olsen, who died May 4. Members announced the Chamber's plans to send a letter to Olsen's husband, expressing appreciation of her services.

It voted to support Senate Bill 75, which calls for automatic budget cuts when Congress fails to meet Gramm-Rudman requirements.

It also voted to support Senate Bill 402, which would give the President the power of line-item veto.

Both bills would help reduce the federal budget deficit, said Scott McLaughlin, chairman of the Governmental Affairs Committee. Board members voted to oppose bills that would require duplicative worker notification of occupational hazards and restricting plant closings, relocations and layoffs.

Fraser announced that Chamber membership is at an all-time high, and congratulated Membership Committee chairmen Steve Fraser and Gail Earls.

Johnny Lou Avery, chairman of the re-accreditation effort, reported membership has risen from 650 in 1982 to 812 presently, while the town's population has declined from 27,000 to 22,000.

In other business, the board announced:

- The Chamber newsletter, Focus, has won an award of excellence in the typeset newsletter category in competition.

- The Athletic Committee is attempting to raise money to install billboards at Big Spring entrances, noting the championship teams in football, basketball, track and other sports.

The committee also is working with local restaurants to develop a "Taste of Big Spring" program for local athletes.

Fraser said the committee's efforts in local sports tournaments contribute to the economy by bringing out-of-towners into Big Spring.

- The Belt Buckle Committee is working on a longhorn steer belt buckle design available about mid-August.

- The Cultural Affairs Committee is developing plans for this year's ArtsFest, a month-long celebration of the arts Oct. 15-Nov. 15.

- The Education Committee presented certificates and copies of a thesaurus to the valedictorian and salutatorian from each of the county's high schools and colleges.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

City Finance makes small loans

Money to pay doctor bills... take a vacation... pay for car repairs... buy new school clothes... these are some of the reasons people come to City Finance, according to Debbie Walling, manager.

"We fill a real community need," Debbie says. "Many people only need to borrow a small amount, smaller loans than banks can handle profitably."

City Finance makes loans of $10 to $300. All that is required is for the customer to fill out an application, have a permanent job, and pass credit approval.

"We are state regulated," says Pat Cypert, adding that the State of Texas sets the interest rate and payment schedule, and specifies that the borrower must have the means to pay back the loan. State auditors check the firm's books annually.

One of the most important uses of a small loan is to establish credit. For example, a customer will bring in a son or daughter and co-sign their loan. The youth then makes regular payments and establishes a credit rating.

"Our customers are from all walks of life," says Debbie, "and many of them have been clients for years."

Looking back over their files, Debbie and Pat recall a customer who has been a regular borrower since 1963, another who has taken out 130 different loans. There are many customers who have borrowed off and on for over 20 years. And the records list a number of senior citizens, who pay back their loans when they get their monthly retirement check. The busiest month for borrowing, of course, is December, when many customers need extra money for Christmas gifts, vacations or even an extra special family Christmas dinner.

"Almost everybody needs a little extra cash once in awhile," says Debbie.

One couple borrowed annually to spend a summer vacation with parents, then paid back the money over the following year.

Both Pat and Debbie stress the confidentiality of their operation. Often a husband and wife will both have loans at City Finance, but the staff remains quietly discreet.

The women try to establish an atmosphere of friendliness and efficiency that will make their clients comfortable.

Located at 206½ Main, City Finance is owned by Hazel Duggan of Big Spring and J.E. Duggan of San Angelo. Debbie has been with the firm eight years and Pat went from part-time to full-time three years ago.

Business hours are 8:30 to 5:30 Monday (including lunch hour) and 8:30 to 12 noon Saturday.

A LOAN FOR ALL REASONS — In business in Big Spring for over 20 years, City Finance specializes in small loans up to $300. The friendly staff consists of (left) Debbie Walling, manager, and Pat Cypert.

Jack & Mattie's Cafe now open til 9 p.m.

There's good news at Jack & Mattie's Cafe.

For one thing the popular dining spot is now open for dinner because of popular demand.

And for another thing, they're still serving at 1982 prices!

Of course, the food is still the same good old fashioned home cooking, with everything cooked to order. And anything on the menu can be ordered to go.

They start serving breakfast at 6 a.m., including homemade butter-milk biscuits, giant homemade cinnamon rolls, eggs with choice of meat, hash browns and gravy.

The daily luncheon includes soup, salad, homemade rolls, vegetables, choice of as many as six entrees, drink and dessert.

At dinner, choose fried chicken, chicken fried steak or breaded veal cutlets with baked potato and salad. Or old fashioned Mexican food. Dinner is served until 9 p.m.

Jack has been in the cafe business since 1946. He started out at the old Crawford Hotel Coffee Shop in Colorado City. Mattie began her restaurant career hopping cars at the Dixie Pig Stand in Abilene in 1949. They both have been in this business "most of our lives," Mattie says.

The pair met and married in Abilene while they both worked for Casey's Drive In.

Jack was working for Associated Foods in Abilene in 1960 when he was transferred to Big Spring. He later took a job with the old 66 Truck Stop and at the Holiday Inn as chef. During this time Mattie was working at the Golden Nuggett from 1962-68.

Together the Taylors put their culinary arts to work at the popular Permian Building Snack Bar from 1973 until 1981.

In November of 1981 the Taylors opened Jack & Mattie's Cafe at 901 West Third Street — and their prices haven't changed any since they opened.

The location and the menu and the homey atmosphere have caught on.
