Prison won't alter plans

An official from K mart head quarters in Troy, Mich. today said a proposal to build an additional prison in Big Spring would not alter plans to close the local K mart store.

"I know the real estate department is definitely closing the store," James McNerney director of customer relations said today from Troy.

The proposed 512-inmate prison is expected to provide approximately 150 local jobs.

A Target official from the store's Minnesota headquarters rebutted local rumors that the store would be sold or leased to Target after the scheduled July 18 K mart closing.

George Hite, vice president of public and consumer affairs said today Target, a department store chain, is not considering and has not considered opening a store in Big Spring.

Area SSC group will push its site

A proposal to lure the lucrative supercollider to West Texas has been revived with approval of two separate options to complete the site proposal with private funds.

Backers of the Garden City site voted Wednesday to pursue the privately funded options after several of the cities and chambers of commerce involved said they didn't want any more public money spent on the maverick bid.

One option was to accept an anonymous $50,000 contribution from an individual representing a Midland-area family. The money would be used to complete the site proposal

The second option was to investigate the offer by unnamed developers who sent a representative to tell Garden City project officials they would offer to build the project

The commission membership voted 39-34 to accept the $50,000, while investigating the second offer.

Commission Chairman Ralph McLaughlin said today the proposal will be submitted to the DOE — one way or the other.

"The offers of money we received were significant enough to change some people's minds on the vote," McLaughlin said. The commission could submit it, but it's possible private developers will take over the proposal, he said. McLaughlin said he expected to hear from the private developers today. The Commission is in recess until further information about the developers is obtained, he said McLaughlin said a man representing the told commissioners the company would present the supercollider data to the DOE.

Garden City Project Manager Thane Akins said the group proposed buying the necessary 16,000 acres of land, and building the multibillion-dollar project, after signing a lease-back agreement with the DOE.

Akins and McLaughlin said they consider it a serious offer.

Decisions on what to do with the proposal, which was bypassed in state selection and had been turned down by the Garden City commission earlier this month, came after a debate over voting rights in the commission,

Commission bylaws required the member cities of Big Spring, San Angelo, Midland and Odessa to pay 712 cents per capita to keep their votes. In San Angelo's case, that amounted to about $6,300

San Angelo and Odessa delegations already had agreed they wouldn't pay for the right to vote.

The commission decided to give each city 10 votes, each chamber of commerce one, and each industrial development corpora-

Both decisions have come as a tough economic situation faced by many area businesses during the past year or two, Brown explained:

"We're in business just like everyone else," he said.

"We had to make the tough decision between cutting services or increasing rates, and we chose to stop Saturday services rather than increase advertising or subscription rates," Brown explained.

He added that no employees will lose their jobs as a result of the actions, and nearly all of the special features provided by Saturday's paper will be moved to other days.

In addition, Herald carriers will earn the same amount even though the Saturday paper is being discontinued, Circulation Manager Chuck Benz said.

The cuts mostly will affect materials and overtime hours, Brown said.

Ending the Saturday paper has been under consideration at the Herald since the past winter, when the idea was discussed with the Herald's Advisory Board, Manag-

Moving the classified pages from the rear of Sunday's sports section in turn will provide for expanded Sunday sports coverage, Publisher Brown said.

The Mini Page will be shifted to a week day — Tuesday — to promote use in classrooms when schools reopen this fall, he added.

Brown also reported that relatively few newspapers the size of the Herald have been known to publish every day of the week. "Most newspapers this size usually lack enough revenues and resources for seven-day publication," he explained.

Prison overcrowding may increase hospital numbers

By KERRY HAGLUND Staff Writer

Big Spring State Hospital could see an increase in patients as a result of recent legislation to ease prison overcrowding. A bill passed during the recent regular session requires the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to lease and expand a maximum security unit at Rusk to Texas Department of Corrections to alleviate prison overcrowding.

As a result of the ruling, patients in the Rusk unit to be used by TDC will be transferred to Vernon State Hospital, and approximately 160 Vernon patients will be transferred to Wichita and Big Spring State Hospitals.

Although officials expect the increase at Big Spring to be minimal, one local official said the new legislation puts to rest rumors that the Big Spring State Hospital might close.

Kathy Higgins, public information officer and coordinator of volunteer services at Big Spring State Hospital, said the hospital received notice Tuesday of anticipated changes that could increase the number of patients and staff at the Big Spring Hospital. Higgins expressed doubt, however, that any additional staff will be added at Big Spring's hospital as a result. The legislation was prompted by overcrowding that halted admissions to the Texas Department of Corrections more than a dozen times in recent months. Tom Suehs, deputy commissioner of management and support at the Mental Health Department, said Tuesday the hospital system will work in conjunction with TDC by providing food, laundry and other necessary services for inmates housed at Rusk.

TDC will in turn hire approximately 600 staff members to care for inmates on a 24-hour basis. The Rusk unit will be expanded to house approximately 500 TDC inmates suffering from mental illnesses, according to Gary Miller, commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation in HOSPITAL page 2A

Rural/Metro seeking location, testing employees

Activities by three local organizations raised over $2,500 for the Saragosa Relief Fund, established at the State National Bank to aid victims of the May 22 tornado.

The Chicano Golf Club deposited $1,700 — the proceeds from a tounament they held June 13 - and Wonder World employees deposited $350 they raised by selling hot dogs and soft drinks at the Heart of the City Festival recently, according to Richard White, advertising manager of the Herald.

The congregation of Wesley Methodist Church also recently deposited $500.

As of the close of business Wednesday, $7,057.37 had been deposited at State National, according to officials. Of that figure, $3,000 already has been delivered to Sister Julietta Mendoza, director of Catholic Charities in the Saragosa area.

Sister Julietta said temporary mobile homes have arrived at Saragosa. Since some of the homes are not air-conditioned, the Relief Fund will purchase nine units. White disclosed that Do-It Center of Big Spring has agreed to sell the units for $250, which he said was a discount rate.

Arrests yield $5,200 for benefit

Herald staff report The March of Dimes Jail and Bail benefit collected $5,200 Wednedsday by arresting approximately 25 local residents, reported Vicki Slaton, a member of the organization's executive committee.

Among citizens arrested were Drew and Glenna Mouton, County Clerk Margeret Ray, Johnnie Lou Avery, Herald advertising manager Richard White, "about five doctors," and several local businessmen; Slaton said.

She said that the organization had "a full load" of arrests slated for today. People who should be on the lookout for the arrest squads are City Manager Mack Wofford, Convention and Visitor Bureau manager Liz Taylor, Herald city editor Robert Wernsman, and several area ministers

Slaton added that if the pace continues, the organization should collect approximately $15,000 before the benifit ends Friday

In addition to searching for a suitable location, Black was in Big Spring to administer strength and endurance tests to Lee ambulance employees applying for Rural/Metro positions Rural/Metro officials have stated they prefer to hire Lee ambulance employees because of their experience. Lee's six employees have all expressed interest in positions after earlier stating they would not apply because of a lower wage scale.

Barry Criswell, a Lee Ambulance paramedic, said he passed Wednesday's tests and has been tentatively accepted as a Rural/Metro employee pending drug and alcohol testing.

He wasn't aware if other employees had passed the tests. The tests involved performing cardiopulmonary resuscitation for 15 minutes and lifting people in various manners.

'86 cotton crop hits low

A combination of spring drought, summer flooding and early freeze dropped 1986 Howard County cotton production to 8,500 bales, down more than 64,000 bales from 1985 figures, according to the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service.

The figures indicate that 1986 was an off year for the High Plains in general, as production fell 709,650 bales from 1985 for the 25 counties surveyed — the lowest level in 35 years. The Statistics Service reported that of the 2,982,700 acres planted in 1986, 1,878,800 survived for harvest, an abandonment rate of 37 percent. That is the highest percentage of abandonment since figures were first reported in 1941

Howard County cotton farmers planted 85,000 acres in 1986, and 20.100 survived for harvest - a 76.3 percent abandonment rate, according to the figures. This compares to the 1985 rate of 0.01 percent. The Martin County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office disclosed that 125,000 acres were planted in 1986, 41,000 less than the year before. The Statistic Service stated that 41,000 acres in Martin County were harvested, a 67 percent abandonment rate.

The Borden County ASCS office stated that 24,000 acres were planted last year, with 14,203 acres harvested; an abandonment of 40.8

Those currently housed in the Rusk unit, approximately 300 criminally insane patients, will be transferred to Vernon State Hospital where the north wing will be converted into a maximum security unit, Suehs said.

The change will result in the transfer of an estimated 160 patients from Vernon to state hospitals in Big Spring and Wichita Falls, Higgins said.

Wichita Falls will receive the majority of the transfers, she said.

Under the plan, Big Spring will receive Vernon patients who are from the Plainview district, an eight-county area. Higgins said a review of records Monday indicated that would mean 14 additional patients.

The remaining 146 patients would be transferred to Wichita Falls State Hospital. The number of transfers from Vernon to the two hospitals is subject to change, however, Higgins said.

An increase of 14 patients would not require additional staff, Higgins said, contrary to a statement by Commissioner Miller in a memo the Big Spring hospital received Miller's memo was sent to state hospitals because employees are concerned about losing their jobs when the unit is turned over to TDC, von Rosenberg said.

The memo assures all state hospital employees that an overall increase in the number of staff will result from the change, he said.

The Mental Health Department is scheduled to begin renovations at Vernon Hospital in September and have Rusk Hospital ready for TDC by March 1988, according to Miller's memo.

Arlington police find stolen cars

ARLINGTON — Police recovered 44 stolen vehicles and filed 32 felony cases against 13 suspects to end a six-month undercover investigation into area auto thefts, a spokesman said Wednesday.

Officers from the department's auto theft division posed as buyers and purchased the cars, which were valued at a total of $450,227, spokesman Dee Anderson said.

Rodeo support yields benefits

It's that time when all Crossroads area residents should be planning a visit to Big Spring's annual Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo to watch a professional sport — West Texas-style — at

The annual event once again has attracted some of the top professional competitors seeking a chunk of the $34,000-plus

One attitude about the rodeo, however, disturbs us.

It's that attitude of: Why support the rodeo? It just takes money out of the community.

Anyone with that attitude fails to recognize that rodeo visitors will spend many times more than the amounts that only a few of them will collect in prize money and stock pay.

Some of the other communities on the professional rodeo circuit, with populations no larger than Big Spring, are reporting millions of dollars in increased sales during rodeo

Rodeo towns also are citing higher bank clearances by 10 percent while merchants tell of retail sales increases as high as 700 percent during rodeo week.

And some rodeo communities have noted that as high as 70 percent of their rodeo audience came from out of town.

No similar local statistics were available, because apparently no one keeps them, according to Liz Taylor, manager of the Convention & Visitors Bureau of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Taylor added, however, that local motels and restaurants do report considerable increases in business during rodeo

That's because each of the visiting rodeo participants pay for lodging, patronize local restaurants and grocery stores, and will buy whatever supplies, equipment and clothing they need while here.

All of us benefit indirectly as the operators of businesses patronized by rodeo visitors recirculate that money throughout the community

That contrasts with the few who leave with purse prizes and stock pay

We know that the Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo provides major benifits to this community. And with that in mind, it should be so much easier for us to support and enjoy it. Let's go to the rodeo.

Hoover and FBI pursued original 'Untouchables'

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON - Producers of the movie "The Untouchables" had one distinct advantage over the people who turned out the popular television series almost 30 years ago: They didn't have J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI breathing down their necks

Hoover died in 1972, and the FBI says it no longer reviews movies or TV shows. But in the late 1950s, the old curmudgeon took an intense, personal interest in the original "Untouchables." He was not pleased with what he saw.

Hoover and his alter ego, Clyde Tolson, repeatedly and strenuously protested to Desi Arnaz, head of Desilu Productions, whenever they detected a slur against the good name of the FBI. They even considered going public with their criticism and denouncing the TV series as a fictionalized fraud.

Correspondence and FBI reviews of each "Untouchables" episode were obtained from FBI files by our associate Stewart Harris. The documents make clear not only that Hoover was outraged by the series, but that the "Untouchables" scriptwriter took such liberties with the facts that Hoover's outrage was largely

Falwell: No making up

FORT MILL, S.C. — The Rev. Jerry Falwell dismissed as theatrics Jim Bakker's call for a referendum by "the people" to end the PTL "holy war" and decide who should control the scandal-wracked evangelical empire.

The future of the 500,000-member ministry is in the hands of a bankruptcy judge, and any such discussion would be "a waste of everybody's time," said Falwell, who took over PTL in March after Bakker's downfall in a sex scandal.

"As far as I'm concerned, no reconciliation is needed because I never had a falling out with him," he said Wednesday.

Man held in shooting

TULSA, Okla. — A 60-year-old man was behind bars today in connection with the shooting of a teen-age violinist who was delivering newspapers to earn money for an orchestra trip abroad, authorities said.

Hubbard was being held in the city jail on bond of $100,000.

Dissident freed, meets with opposition

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The country's best-known dissident was freed from 11 weeks of house arrest today and met with the top opposition leader to discuss the next moves in the campaign to bring down President Chun Doo-hwan.

The release of dissident Kim Dae-jung was a key demand of the opposition, which is pressing for democratic reform of South Korea's authoritarian government. However, there was no sign the government and opposition were near any political compromise.

"President Chun must stop his unjust ambition to remain in power," Kim said today before his meeting with Kim Young-sam, head of the popposition Reunification Democratic Party.

Authorities have frequently confined Kim Dae-jung to his home — surrounding the house with policemen — since he returned in 1985 from two years of self-imposed exile in the United States.

Opposition leaders, who launched a campaign on June 10 to oust the government and force direct presidential elections, today finalized plans for huge "peace marches" Friday.

The two Kims met for more than two hours this morning at Kim Dae-jung's house. There was no immediate word on the specifics of their discussion, but they both have indicated the intention to proceed with the anti-government campaign.

In Seoul, riot police hurled tear gas grenades and charged a crowd of 1,000 workers, students and dissidents Wednesday when they tried to demonstrate peacefully. Hundreds of students later hurled firebombs and rocks at police in street clashes.

Marches and demonstrations were also reported in five other cities Wednesday.

Chun and Kim Young-sam met Wednesday for the first time in the president's seven years in power.

Bad table manners upset girlfriend

DEAR ABBY: The man I'm dating is a widower, mid-60s, who was married for 40 years. I'm 56. The problem is his table manners. He doesn't have any

He doesn't remove his hat in a restaurant, tucks his napkin into his collar under his chin and eats with both elbows on the table. When he eats steak, he holds his fork tightly in his fist with the handle vertical and cuts up all his meat at once. He eats so fast, he's finished before I'm halfway through. He carries toothpicks in his wallet and thinks nothing of picking his teeth at the table

On the plus side, he's generous, good-natured and fun to be with. He wants to marry me

Howard College bull rider R.D. Christon qualified for the final round in last weekend's College Rodeo Finals, but was bucked off just four-tenths of a second before the buzzer sounded in the third round.

Christon still finished sixth in the rodeo, and finished the season as the 14th ranked college bull rider in the nation.

Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association golfer Patsy Sharpnack is at her old winning ways again.

Last Thursday Sharpnack teamed with Erma Scott of Lamesa Plains to win the first flight at the Lakeridge Ladybug Tournament in Lubbock.

In Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association nine-hole play Monday, the team of Annie Ward, Dee Jenkins, Dana Cannon, Bobbie Patterson and Delores Hull came away winners. The group shot a two-under-par 35.

Finishing second with a one-over-par 38 was the team of Martha Saunders, Janie Ringener, Mary Malone and Sharpnack.

Finishing third with a 39 were Georgie Newsom, Jayne

Ortega, Donna Browning and Ina Stewart. In couples play Thursday, the winners were decided by a play off on the score cards. Both teams shot a 31. The winners were Sherill and Jane Farmer, and Noel Wayne and

Delores Hull. Finishing second were Nile Cole and Stewart, and Max and Betty-Ray Coffee. Jim and Annie Ward won first place in their flight in the Senor and Senorita Couples Tournament in Lamesa over the weekend.

Last Tuesday four members of the Big Spring Country Club Women's Golf Association participated in the Odessa Sunset Country Club Permian Basin Day.

Peggy Grimes won net in the Championship Flight. Mary Ruth Robertson won putts in the Championship Flight and Tammy McKinney won gross in the third flight. On July 4, the WGA will host its traditional Watermelon Open. Sign-up will be at the Country Club pro shop, or by calling Vickie Broadrick at 267-4030. Local semi-pro baseball team the Big Spring Red Sox took over first place in the Texas Central League by sweeping a double-header from the Ozona Royals last Sunday in Ozona. Milo Solis (4-1) was the winner in the Red Sox's 9-6 first game win. Beef Armendarz got the save. Adam Yanez collected three hits and Lupe Ontiveros and George Solis each got two hits. Adam Yanez (2-0) got the win in the Sox's 8-1 second game victory. Raymon Ontiveros, Ernie Garcia and Armendarz each got two hits.

The Red Sox are 12-4 for the season. They will play Mc-Camey Sunday in a double-header starting at 1 p.m.

The Black Panthers, a Big Spring division II United Girls Softball Association team, won the Coahoma tournament this past Saturday. The Black Panthers, managed by Debbie Conaway and coached by Allen Wright and Ronnie Cunningham, defeated the Colorado City Energizers 12-11.

The Panthers defeated the Colorado City Blazers 11-7 in the opening round of the tournament. Jenny Conaway was the winning pitcher and Debbie Cunningham, Jennifer Ornelas and Amanda Moncada all had two hits in the win.

The Panthers defeated the Coahoma Panthers in the second round by a 10-7 margin. Ornelas and Conaway combined for the win. Conaway led the hitting by socking a homer and driving in three runs.

The Panthers then defeated the Andrews Bad News Beauties 12-9. Conaway was again the winning hurler. Sandy Franco led the hitting with two doubles. Jennifer Ornelas hit three singles, and Cunningham and and Mary Ann Gonzales each hit two singles.

The Panthers were handed their first loss of the double elimination tourney by the C-City Energizers, a 7-5

Conaway was the losing hurler, setting up the championship game against the Colorado City team.

This time Conaway and Ornelas combined for the win. Rachael Ortega singled and tripled in the contest. Cunningham and Marcia Ornelas each had two singles, and Franco and Rose Mary Marquez each doubled.

There will be jackpot barrel racing June 28 at 10 a.m. This will be followed by a Tex-Mex approved jackpot with all novice classes. Entry fee is $13 and entries will be from 8 a.m. until 9 a.m. on the day of the races. This is a fund raiser to make money for the Howard County barrel racing buckles to be given away at the county fair.

Bulls, pokes end in draw

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

Quail Dobbs detonated his car, took pot shots at Oliver North and Ross Perot, to name a few, and lit up the crowd with his crazy antics as the world of rodeo returned to Big Spring last night.

Big Spring Rodeo Board of Directors Treasurer Jimmy Taylor said approximately 2,500 attended the opening night of the 54th Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo. He said that was a little bigger than last year's opening crowd. He expects to have big crowds throughout the rodeo, especially on Friday and Saturday nights, which are traditionally the busiest nights. Many in the big crowd arrived early to enjoy the shootout by the Sulfur Draw Gang, and most were still there when the second goround of the bull riders finished at 11:15 p.m. That second group of bull riders didn't disappoint.

Both of last night's leaders and some of the best action of the night came in that last group, with the top two rides coming one after Granbury cowboy Jay Cochrane got atop Road Warrior, and the two went at it. Cochrane made it clear he wasn't going anywhere, and when the buzzer finally sounded, Cochrane still wasn't going anywhere — his hand got stuck.

Cochrane stuggled near the rails and almost met heads with Road Warrior, which is a battle he would have lost. Cochrane managed to shake his hand loose and save himself from further damage. Though he looked a bit shook up, a score of 78 was all the medicine he of the glory. A Touch of Bad Com- an accordion, and had to feel proud to move the reigns.

That was good enough for the first round lead. Cochrane's 78, however, was good enough for Wednesday night's title, and a lead in the overall bull riding standings. One of the highlights of the night was the Big Spring debut of master horse rider and trick roper Jerry Diaz enthralled the crowd with his magical riding and roping. He rode three horses, though he made it look more like dancing than riding. On his first horse, a black stallion, Diaz went forward, Though some other riders survivarena dirt. Once that was finished, backward, sideways, and around

Diaz sent that horse back to the stables and showed off his roping skills. With little flicks of his wrist, Diaz guided his lasso in circles around him, and stepped in and out of the giant lasso. But it was when he combined his roping with his riding that he really excited the crowd

Diaz rode his next horse, a grey stallion, into the middle of the arena, and stood atop the horse while performing rope tricks. Most of all, it was Diaz's superb control of his horses that gained the crowd's respect and cheers.

The smooth throwing 12-year-old pitched a perfect game in leading the Red Sox to a 9-0 victory over the International League Panthers, thus eliminating the Panthers from tournament play.

It was the fourth no-hit performance in the four days of the tourney. Jeromaine Gonzales of the American League Astros, Tom Blankenship of the American League Pirates and Michael Oliva of the Texas League Tigers also have no-hitters to their credit.

The right-handed Garza faced the minimum number of batters in the six inning game - 18 batters up, 18 down. He was never in jeopardy of walking a batter and fanned 11 along the way

His pitching, backed by good defense, and an 11-hit Red Sox attack, was simply too much for the Panthers to overcome.

The only time it looked like Garza might lose his perfect game came in the fifth inning, but right fielder Donald Vandervill saved

It came with Freddy Olivarez at the plate. Olivarez hit a line shot to right center that looked like a sure hit when it left the bat. But the swift Vandervill made a running one-handed catch. It was the only hard contact the Panthers made against Garza.

While Garza was sitting the Panthers down in order, his teammates, led by Oscar Valancia, Sluggo Martinez and David Ybarra, were paving the way to victory with their bats. In all, the trio combined for eight hits, six runs and six RBI's.

Ybarra had the best game of all, going three-for-three at the plate, including a solo homer against the wind in the third inning. He and Martinez drove in three runs each. Martinez had three singles in three trips to the plate. Valancia went two-for-four and scored three the fifth when Franco doubled and scored on an error by the first baseman. Garza finished his perfect effort

John Kennedy went the distance while picking up the win and Tom Blankenship took the loss, despite striking out nine.

The Colts' big inning came when Michael Jones singled, and Kennedy followed suit. Trey Terraz's single scored Jones. Kennedy and Terraz scored when Timmy Rigdon reached base on an error. Rigdon scored when Roland Allen reached base via error.

The Pirates' big inning came in the second, when they scored three runs. Chris Copeland reached base on an error and James Steihl singled. Drew McEwen loaded up the bases by reaching on a fielder's choice. Copeland scored on a sacrifice fly by Todd Parish. Then Blankenship doubled, scoring Stehil and McEwen.

AL Astros 7, NL Rangers 3 Jeromaine Gonzales continued his pitching mastery as he fired a three-hitter, leading the American League Astros to a 7-3 victory over the National League Rangers.

Gonzales, who fanned the first nine batters he faced, ended the game with 14 strikeouts. This gives him 32 strikeouts in 12 innings in the tourney. He had a no-hitter until the sixth inning, when the Rangers scored all of their runs.

Staff Writer The National League Yankees hosted their rival National League Cardinals Wednesday night at the National League field. And just as the Yankees finished ahead of the Cards in the league race, the Yanks finished ahead in this game, by an 11-5 margin.

It was a fairly easy top of the first for the Cardinals, as pitcher Brian Martinez got all three outs with strike outs.

In the Yankees' half though it was a different story as Greg Roman was hit by a pitch, Matthew Cave followed with a walk, and Tony Taylor did the same to load the bases. Lonnie Jackson, who was injured later in the game, took a 1-0 pitch and slapped it into right field, good enough for two RBI's.

A couple of strike outs later, Martinez singled to left for two more runs, giving the Yanks a 4-0 advantage.

In the top of the second Chris Alexander walked and took second as Jason Roberts grounded to third. With one out Alexander stole third and scored on a bad throw by catcher Jeremy Joy, cutting the Yanks lead to 4-1.

In the bottom of the inning the Yankees added a run to pad their lead to 5-1.

In the top of the third, the Cardinals made their most impressive rally of the game.

Johnny Rodriguez singled and took second on a misplay by the Yanks' second baseman. Rodriguez attempted to take third, but the was thrown out. Fiero followed with a single and was tripled in by Chris Lewis, who also scored when Yankee catcher Joy let the relay throw get by hips.

Chris Martinez walked and Roberts reached base on a error by the shortstop. Alexander also walked to load the bases. Martinez then stole home and a passed ball allowed the remaining base runners to move into scoring position.

Jason Roberts lifted a fly ball deep to left that was caught by the left fielder, Jason's brother. Ross tagged at third and scored to tie the game

But the Yanks came back in the bottom of the third when David Balew hit an RBI single to give them a 6-5 lead.

The Cards went quietly in the top of the

The bottom of the fourth brought a fright to the coaches and fans. With one out and a runner at first, Lonnie Jackson hit a slow roller to second. Second baseman Chris Hamby's errant throw hit Jackson in the face, went into the outfield, bringing the runner around to score.

Jackson was taken off the field. The throw had shatterd his glasses and cut him around the right eye.

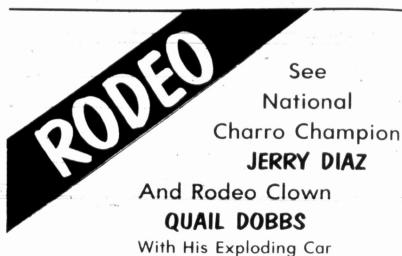

The Cards went down one-two-three in fifth, and the Yanks scored four more runs to take an insurmountable 11-5 lead.

In the Cards' last at-bat, Alexander doubled, but Brian Martinez retired the next three batters as Roger Fiero popped to the catcher to end the game, with the Yankees taking a 11-5 victory

The loss eliminates the Cards from the tourney. The Yankees will play the National League Ponies tonight.

Graf wins first round at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Grass courts were supposed to be the ultimate test of Steffi Graf's ability to continue winning.

Judging by her first match at Wimbledon this year, the lush green surface could be a potent weapon as Graf goes for a second successive Grand Slam title.

"I felt more comfortable today than I did in Paris," Graf said after beating Argentina's Adriana Villagran 6-0, 6-2 in the first round Wednesday.

The 18-year-old West German earlier this month became the youngest women's champion of the French Open, which is played on Her perennial rival, American Chris Evert, was almost as dominant in beating Britain's Sara Gomer by the same score.

Also winning were fourth-seeded Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia, No. 5 Pam Shriver of the United States, ninth-seeded Bettina Bunge of West Germany, No. 11 Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden, No. 12 Wendy Turnbull of Australia, No. 15 Raffaella Reggi of Italy, and No. 16 Sylvia Hanika of West Germany.

But Diaz's horses weren't the onty trick show animals to put on an exhibition Wednesday night. Quail's dog Phyllis, little as she overall lead after two rounds with a a 17.14 second run. But Winston, tonight's show, which again begins may be, jumped over hula hoops and jump roped with her master. Meanwhile, her boss was poking fun at the likes of Aggies and exercise guru Richard Simmons, and getting howls from the crowd.

Most of the animals, however, weren't as gentle as Diaz's horses and Phyllis. Broncing horse Dynamite gave Blue Ridge cowboy Wes Ward a wild, wild ride that got dangerous when Dynamite looked ready to jump in the stands. Ward survived until the buzzer, and his 76 score won last night's go-round and put him in the overall lead for the bareback bronc riding title.

Two cowboys from nearby had good rides in the saddle bronc riding, and finished second and third. Big Lake rider Joe Dean Weatherby had a 69, the third best score of the night, on Country Time. Andrews cowboy James Stewart finished second with a 70 for his efforts atop Classic Lifestyle. Jerry Daniels, from Kemp, won on Miss Kitty with a 72. He also has the overall lead in the event.

One Big Spring cowboy competed last night, and that was Bill Stockton in the calf roping. Stockton had roped his calf in 11.6 seconds in Tuesday's go-round, but his loop didn't catch Wednesday night and he didn't score.

Valley View cowboy John Mitchell won the event with a time of 10.1 seconds. Lamesa roper Kent

Most of the barrel racers might have been excused for wondering if last night's barrels weren't a touch on the light side. The slightest nudge was sending them down, and five-second penalties were in abundance.

Cathy Felts, attacking the barrels low and seemingly sliding around them, managed to avoid tight in 7.8 seconds to win last knocking them over and finished with the top run of the night's show, N.M. cowgirl Trudy Freeman, at 8:30 p.m

riding in the slack after the show, just nudged Felts with a 17.13 run to win last night's go-round.

In the steer wrestling, 1974 world champion Tommy Puryear heard the count in 4.6 seconds, the low time of the show. But Sonora cowboy Houston Powers brought his steer down in 3.9 in the slack to win the night. Puryear, though, leads the overall chase with a combined score of 9.5 seconds.

Gleason, 'The Great One,' dead at 71

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) Jackie Gleason, the hard-living 'Great One'' who gilded television's Golden Age with "The Honeymooners," capturing humor in a blustering bus driver's endless quest for the American Dream, has died of cancer at age 71:

The rotund comedian, who earned an Oscar nomination for his serious role as pool player Minnesota Fats in the 1961 film "The Hustler" but never won an Emmy for television despite his popularity as bus driver Ralph Kramden, died Wednesday at his home in this Fort Lauderdale suburb.

He had been released from a Fort Lauderdale hospital last Thursday after a month of treatment for what spokesman said were complications from medicine taken for his diabetes.

"He was feeling in good spirits Monday and Tuesday. He quietly, comfortably passed away," said his wife, Marilyn.

Gleason, whose Falstaffian appetite for food, drink and cigarettes was legendary, was one of television's biggest draws from the 1950s to the 1970s, creating such characters as the Poor Soul, Reggie van Gleason III and Joe the Bartender.

As Ralph Kramden, he won laughs when he blew his stack at nitwit neighbor Ed Norton or turned to his wife, threatening, "Bang, zoom!" "To the moon, Alice" or 'One of these days, Alice.

In later years, he had a recurring role as Sheriff Buford T. Justice in the "Smokey and the Bandit" movies and co-starred last year with Tom Hanks in the movie "Nothing in Common.

"I'm devastated," Audrey Meadows, who played caustic Alice Kramden on "The Honeymooners," said at the news of his death. "I feel terribly sad because he was a very close friend and brilliant performer.

Jackie Gleason is shown demonstrating his famous "And away he goes!" step, made famous on the television show "The Honeymooners" in which he starred. Gleason, 71, died Wednesday at his home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., according to his wife, Marilyn.

Jackie was indestructable, that he would be with us for a long, long time," she said today on the "CBS Morning News." And of course, he will, through the legacy of his work. .

"He was bigger than life, larger than life. (A) kind, fun, very sensitive man, a dear man, and I shall miss him terribly. And my heart goes out to Marilyn," Meadows Jane Kean, who first worked with Gleason in vaudeville and briefly played Norton's wife, Trixie, said Gleason "was a joy to work with.

"If anything at all happened wrong, if a line was skipped, he always covered for you. He didn't want to go back and tape again. His theory was that an audience would never laugh twice at the same joke.

"Jackie, who named himself 'The Great One,' truly was 'The Great One," said comedian Milton

"He was great on improvisation, impromptu and ad-libbing. He could run the gamut. He did everything. All I can tell you is that the world is going to be less happier, more sorrowful with Jackie gone.

Gleason's capacity for enjoying life was reflected in his trademark lines "How sweet it is!" and "And away we go!" He drove himself hard on and off the set, once breaking a leg on the air.

Gleason was born Herbert John Gleason on Feb. 26, 1916, in a coldwater Brooklyn flat, the son of an insurance auditor who vanished one night on the way home from work when Gleason was a child.

"The Honeymooners" began as a skit within a show and became a series from 1955 to 1956, with Art Carney as sewer worker Norton and Joyce Randolph as Trixie, the Kramdens' neighbors in a rundown tenement in Brooklyn.

"I always felt that somehow VA opposes mandatory AIDS testing

WASHINGTON (AP) gress can further AIDS education and coordinate programs, but the government should not impose a strict national plan to deal with the deadly disease, a Senate panel was

Dr. John A. Gronvall, chief medical director for the Veterans Administration, also told the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee on Wednesday that mandatory AIDS testing for everyone seeking care at VA facilities could cost more than $17 million annually.

"I think that the Congress should do everything it can to ensure that there is accurate information available," Gronvall said, adding that the government could play a key role in coordinating programs dealing with the disease.

However, he said he would oppose a national plan "that mandates everything that is to be done."ther mandatory testing is necessary at the VA's 172 hospitals.

"Our view is that testing should be focused on those groups of veterans where there is reasonable likelihood of a payoff in testing," Gronvall said.

The tests should be offered to veterans in groups at greatest risk of contracting AIDS, including homosexual men and intravenous drug users, he said.

Gronvall confirmed that VA physicians sent a confidential memorandum to the White House opposing mandatory testing for acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

The doctors said mandatory testing "raises serious legal questions with regard to authority, informed consent and patients rights." However, they did support expanded voluntary testing of patients who think they could have the disease.

Committee Chairman Alan Cranston, D-Calif., an opponent of mandatory testing, said Gronvall showed "strength of character" by challenging a proposal supported by administration leaders.

Gronvall told the committee he believes the Veterans Administration lacks legal authority to withhold treatment from veterans who refuse to submit to AIDS tests.

IMMACULATE HEART OF MARY CHURCH BIG SPRING, TEXAS 79720 Big Spring's work for Saragosa still goes on! Forty years is a long time to await the repetition of a I arrived in New Guinea in 1947 just as the Pacific War ended. Many missionaries had been killed. However, those who survived were experiencing anguish. As they led us around the various areas tears often came to their eyes as they pointed out an area, now fully returned to jungle. This was a beautiful station before the war. The Church here, the hospital away over there, the school on This was a beautiful station before the war. The Church here, the hospital away over there, the top of the hill. There was a nicely built native village away down the valley. The bombers blew Those scenes returned to my mind when I visited Saragosa last week. Vacant space replaced the Church, the Center, the Store, the Homes. Weeds and scrub had not, as yet, had time to take over. They will. I am telling a long painful, hard working story very briefly when I stated Papua-New Guinea was ready for Independence in 30 years. Cities, Plantations, Government Out-Posts, Mission Headquarters were rebuilt. Mission Stations once again reclaimed their sites from the Jungle. Education, Economic Development and Political Development made giant strides. All kinds of new institutions sprung up. As one who lived through that era, I am often asked the question: "How did it all happen?" The answer -The Australian Government welcomed and integrated into the overall plan the efforts and contributions of the Christian Missions, Foundations and world wide charitable organizations. Tradesmen and professionals When I visited and studied the situation at Saragosa, I saw a similar procedure falling into place. The Commissioners Court has incorporated Government subsidies, Church money and services - all donations. It has formed working Committees representing all concerned parties including representatives of the people. Plans for a completely new town-ship are on the drawing board. Those plans not only bear on material rebuilding for a compresely new lown-snip are on the arawing board. Mose plans not only bear on material re-building but psychological, social and economic as well. "BREAK THE CKLE OF POVERTY" is the Big Spring, as a community, has put its shoulder to the wheel. Let us keep it there by our continuous inlerest in the Fund, already over $7,000.00. Great! We are a struggling community right now. Many marvelous accomplishments have been wrought by the pennies of the poor as well as the millions of those more blessed. "Everything helps. Let us pitch in. Make your donation to Saragosa Relief Jund at God bless you S. White M.S.C. Please help by giving your dollars to SARAGOSA RELIEF FUND established at State National Bank, 901 Main St., Big Spring. Contributions may be mailed to P.O. Box 1271, Big Spring, Texas 79721.
