Bork confirmation battle seen

WASHINGTON — President Reagan nominated conservative appeals court judge Robert Bork to the Supreme Court Wednesday, setting the stage for an explosive confirmation fight in the Senate.

In announcing his selection, President Reagan lauded the bearded, bespectacled Bork as "a premier constitutional authority."

"His outstanding intellect and unrivaled scholarly credentials are reflected in his thoughtful examination of the broad, fundamental issues of our times," Reagan said. "We are fortunate to draw upon such an impressive legal mind."

Bork, a staunch conservative who serves on the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C., was nominated to replace retiring Justice Lewis Powell, a centrist who cast the swing vote on many sensitive issues, including affirmative action and abortion.

Legal experts said if Bork is confirmed, the result could be dramatic shifts to the right on sensitive issues such as abortion, affirmative action, civil rights, free speech, libel law and school prayer.

The prospect pleased conservatives and outraged liberals.

"I can't think of a better choice President Reagan could have made," said Howard Phillips of the Conservative Caucus. "It shows that the president still has the willingness to fight for what he strongly believes in."

But Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. was harshly critical: "Robert Bork's America is a land in which women would be forced into back-alley abortions, blacks would sit in segregated lunch counters, rogue police could break down citizens' doors in midnight raids, school children could not be taught about evolution, writers and artists could be censored at the whim of government, and the doors of the federal courts would be shut on the fingers of millions of citizens for whom the judiciary is ... protector of the individual rights."

Nancy Broff, executive director of the liberal Judicial Selection Project, denounced Bork as a conservative extremist and predicted the selection "will trigger the biggest battle that has ever been waged on a nomination."

"It will be an all-out fight," she said. "We consider this the most important vote for this year and probably for this decade."

Bork — an advocate of "judicial restraint" who was the runner-up last year when President Reagan nominated Antonin Scalia to the court — had been considered the heavy favorite on a White House list of about 10 nominees.

Among those also under consideration was Patrick E. Higginbotham of Dallas, a judge on the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

After discussing the nomination with Vice President George Bush, Reagan told Bork of his decision Wednesday in a 20-minute Oval Office meeting.

The announcement came just one day after Attorney General Edwin Meese called the selection process "wide open" and predicted a delay of up to two weeks in making a final choice.

Bork is considered a brilliant legal scholar and a consistent conservative, but he is best known for his role in the "Saturday Night Massacre" of 1973 when, as solicitor general, he obeyed Richard Nixon's order to fire Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox after Attorney General Elliot Richardson and his deputy, William French Smith, had refused and resigned.

How's that? Tractors

Q. Why aren't farmers ticketed for driving their tractors and equipment on public highways without license plates, clearance lights, mud flaps or inspection stickers?

A. Farm trailers and tractors are not required to be registered, therefore they do not require over-the-road equipment, said Fred Pace, patrol lieutenant at the Big Spring Police Department.

Obscene calls often disturb the receivers

By BERNARD GAVZER
For The Associated Press

There's a tendency to dismiss obscene and annoying or threatening telephone calls as the misguided work of weirdos. But if it ever happened to you, you know the impact can be very disturbing.

This description of the effect of an obscene call came from a communications company executive: "The relative calm of the daily routine of a housewife is abruptly shattered. Suddenly it starts — with just a ring of the telephone. An obscene telephone call.

"And whoever it is keeps on calling. Again and again the telephone rings, and each ring signals her increasing fear. The passage of time — from minute to minute, hour to hour — becomes a dreadful crawl from call to call, from terror to panic. Who is it? Where is he? How long will he keep calling? What else might he do? What can I do to stop him?"

There are some who think this description is overstated and somewhat hysterical. But when you're on the receiving end, there's nothing overstated about it.

"The first time it happened to me," recalls a Chicago advertising copywriter, "I wasn't aware of what was happening. Actually, nothing happened. No one talked. But then I heard breathing, heavy breathing, and I thought it was someone pulling some silly gag. "Then, there was this friendly voice. I thought it was someone I knew, and referred to Ted. That was dumb. He made me think it was Ted. And then he started saying things, like, well, really filthy suggestions. I was horrified.

"After that, he'd call at all kinds of odd hours. Three o'clock in the morning. It was really upsetting me. I began to wonder if this was someone I knew, or if it was some nut who was following me, or some sex sickie. It really frightened me. Finally, I had my phone changed to an unlisted number."

A secretary in a New York office says that she was getting such calls at about 2 a.m. and was usually in a deep sleep so she wouldn't immediately be aware of what was happening.

"I was becoming a nervous wreck. The telephone company arranged a trace and it turned out to be a married man in our office," she says. "There was some question about whether he'd remain with the firm and it was decided he could if he underwent psychiatric treatment."

Dr. Albert Ellis, director of the Institute of Rational Therapy, and an authority on sex behavior, has described such callers in this way:

"They are crazy or compulsive. I think they are essentially harmless and the sort of people who lack added. Estimated expenditures in 1986 for counties in the area were:

- Borden — $34,614.
- Dawson — $995,956.

- Martin — $301,788.
- Midland — $3.4 million.

Alexander said that the existence of the Medical Center in Big Spring encourages veterans to live here, and as a result, the area also profits economically from that.

Mize's comments were scheduled for the Incentive Awards ceremony, where outstanding employees of the medical center were honored. He was to present Alexander with a city proclamation expressing gratitude for the VA's contributions to Big Spring.

City officials recognizing VA's contribution to area

Herald staff report

The economic impact of the Veterans Administration Medical Center on Big Spring and Howard County was recognized by city officials today.

More than $24 million was expended in Howard County by the Veterans Administration in 1986, according to Conrad Alexander, director of the VA Medical Center.

Mayor Cotton Mize was scheduled to express appreciation to the VA's contributions to Big Spring during ceremonies today.

Alexander said Howard County received $20.6 million as a direct result of the VA Medical Center: $18.1 million in operating expenses and $2.3 million for construction.

Monthly pensions, compensation, vocational rehabilitation and G.I. insurance expenditures amounted to $3.7 million, he

Rural/Metro site chosen; director candidates seen

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

The former Colonial Acres office complex at 600 FM 700 will house Big Spring's ambulance service, and a local physician will be selected as the service's medical director within a week, Rural/Metro officials reported Wednesday.

EMS Manager Malcolm Swinney said the company obtained a six-month lease and will continue to search for a facility more centrally located.

The office has dormitory space and showers, but lacks enclosed parking, he said. It does provide covered parking, however, Swinney said.

Swinney and Division Manager Chris Black were in Big Spring Wednesday to decide where to locate the service. In addition to the Colonial Acres building, the two had considered the former Bidco building located at Gregg and Edwards streets.

Rural/Metro Corp. was selected by city and county officials last month to replace Lee Ambulance, which will cease operations July 15 because of financial difficulties.

Although Lee Ambulance has been housed at the Central Fire Station, Rural/Metro officials said city officials requested that the company locate elsewhere. City Manager Mack Wofford contends the company preferred a private facility to complement its image as a private provider.

Swinney said two local physicians were interviewed for the position of medical director and a third will be interviewed Wednesday when the firm expects to make a final decision.

The medical director will review ambulance calls for proper service and provide medical education programs, he said.

Black and Swinney also met with City Manager Mack Wofford Wednesday to discuss the firm's contract with the city.

"We are trying to standardize our contracts as much as possible," Swinney said, adding that the document will be similar to the Pampa Rural/Metro arrangement.

Swinney said the company requested a termination clause of 60 days in which either party can end the contract.

Lee Ambulance's contract requires a 90-day notice to end the contract — a time period to which Rural/Metro would agree if county commissioners and City Council members request it, Swinney said.

The firm also requested that the city police department continue ambulance dispatching.

Wofford said today City Council and County Commissioners' Court will conduct special meetings next week to approve the contract, a joint special meeting of the two groups could be conducted, he said. No date has been set.

SSC bid interest expressed

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

Representatives of a Chicago firm that has expressed interest in financing and building a superconducting supercollider in the Permian Basin may meet with local supporters Friday.

Garden City supercollider site supporters sent a copy of the proposal Wednesday to the firm, SSC Commission Project Manager Thane Akins said today.

He has spoken with the firm's representatives on a daily basis since it was announced last week that the company is interested in buying the necessary 16,000 acres of land and building the billion-dollar project, after securing a lease-back agreement with the U.S. Department of Energy, Akins said.

The Garden City site was eliminated as a state-sanctioned site during May meetings of the Texas National Research Commission, which selected Dallas and Amarillo sites.

Garden City supporters decided at a June 24 meeting to submit the maverick bid independently.

"If they're impressed with the report ... they may come visit us tomorrow," Akins said.

The firm's name will not be released until the company announces its decision whether to support the Garden City site, he said.

Garden City supporters have proceeded to secure an agreement with ICF Technologies of Washington, D.C. to improve the proposal, he said.

The commission will use $50,000 donated by an anonymous Midland-area family to enhance the proposal, which must be submitted to the DOE by Aug. 3, Akins said.

Taped statements ruled not viable

Dallas Times Herald Bureau
AUSTIN — In a victory for criminal defense attorneys, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals on Wednesday overturned a state law Wednesday that permitted prosecutors to present videotaped statements from children in the trials of child abuse cases.
The court, ruling 6-3 in a Dallas County case, reversed the conviction of James Edward Long who was sentenced to a 20-year prison term in connection with sexual abuse of his girlfriend's child. In a videotaped statement presented to the jury, the 12-year-old girl testified Long had abused her since she was 5.
The videotape had been obtained by the Dallas Rape Crisis Center at the request of prosecutors.
In 1983, the Legislature approved a law allowing videotaped statements from juvenile victims in child abuse trials, but only if the children were to be available for cross-examination.

The appeals court did not rule on the admissibility of videotaped testimony, but held the law unconstitutional because it denied the defense the right to confront an accuser at the time a tape is being made.
In Long's case, the child testified at the trial but was not cross-examined during the videotaping.
Judge M.P. Duncan III, writing for the majority in a 46-page opinion, said in reaching what is certain to be a controversial decision the court had concluded the rights of those accused of crimes must prevail even in such emotion-charged issues as child abuse.
"This area of the law is dominated by emotion, which is understandable in light of the interests society wants to protect — abused children," he wrote. "But... we cannot ever permit emotion-charged issues to erode our fundamental liberties."

'Mothership' in S&L salvation plan

Wednesday's House-Senate agreement to pump $8.5 billion into the thrift insurance fund bolsters regulators' plans to deploy Sunbelt Savings Association of Texas as a "mothership" — a key institution that will help regulators dispose of failing Texas S&Ls.
A House-Senate conference committee approved a bill that would provide $8.5 billion in extra funds for the technically insolvent Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp.
Officials at the Federal Home Loan Bank of Dallas have said they need a large portion of the insurance funds to close or merge at least a dozen "brain-dead" savings and loans in Texas.
After the president signs the bill and the money finally becomes available, sources say, the Dallas FHLB tentatively plans to gather a number of insolvent savings and loans under the Sunbelt umbrella in a program regulators call "The Mothership."

Under the pilot program — which is strictly in the developmental stage — Sunbelt will acquire a number of failing S&Ls as subsidiaries, sources say. The arrangement would allow Sunbelt to control the other thrifts but at the same time give regulators the flexibility to break off a particular institution if it returned to health, could be sold or merged, or had to be closed. If the program works here, sources say, regulators will use it at other troubled thrifts in the Southwest.
Sunbelt has been under the control of the Dallas FHLB since 1986, when former owner Edwin McBirney agreed to leave the company. FHLB appointee Thomas Wageman is the company's chairman, chief executive and president.

Taiwanese shopping Texas cotton

A 30-member Taiwan trade delegation will come to Dallas on Sunday with a shopping list for 380,000 bales of locally produced cotton.
Their transactions are expected to be valued at about $100 million, according to officials of the Ministry of Economic Affairs for the Republic of China.
In addition, on July 28, a separate transportation and telecommunications group from the Republic of China is scheduled to arrive in Dallas to buy 240 tour buses from the Eagle Bus Co. for $50 million.
The groups visiting the Dallas-Fort Worth area are part of a special procurement mission to the United States. The Taiwan government has said the mission intends to buy American industrial and agricultural goods totaling more than $2.31 billion.

The visits represent the ninth "Buy American" mission to Texas by the Taiwan traders since 1978.
In the past nine years, the Republic of China missions have spent $8.2 billion on American industrial, agricultural, technological and consumer goods.
The purchases are separate from trade agreements between the two countries. Taiwan officials said bilateral trading exceeded $24 billion last year.

Bodies of 18 aliens discovered

SIERRA BLANCA (AP) — The bodies of at least 18 illegal aliens were found early today inside a locked boxcar on a freight train, authorities said.
The aliens, who had boarded an eastbound Missouri Pacific freight train on the Texas-Mexico border, were found here about 90 miles east of El Paso when U.S. Border Patrol agents inspected boxcars.
One person was found alive, authorities said.
"They appear to have gotten excessively hot. Some appeared to have gone into convulsions, evidenced by nasal bleeding in their mouths, and they were dehydrated," said William Harrington, assistant chief patrol agent for the U.S. Border Patrol.
The bodies, discovered at about 8 a.m., had probably been inside the boxcar for 12 to 14 hours, said Harrington.

He said that government agents will probably never positively identify the bodies.
"They were, from their outward appearance, illegal aliens. But there is no way for us to be totally sure, because they don't carry any identification," said Harrington.
He said clothing was scattered around the boxcar, making the process of identification even harder.
The Hudspeth County sheriff's office, which was taking body bags to the site, will handle the investigation, he said.
Harrington said border patrol officers were questioning the survivor.
"Our agents do a routine check of all boxcars when the train officials signs for them," he said. "I am sure that once the survivor knew of anyone in the area, he would have started screaming and making noises."

Bill Dear buffalo more than gimmick; part of the family

DE SOTO — For Bill Dear, the two buffalo he kept corralled in front of his Buffalo Bill's Western World store in DeSoto for five years were more than an advertising gimmick. They were part of the family and a symbol of the American West.
Wednesday, Dear mourned the death of one of the two American bison and tried to sort out his feelings about whomever had shot fireworks at the animals Sunday night, causing Huffy and Buffy to jump the corral fence and run away.
"Both of those things were the sweetest animals," said Dear, a nationally renowned private detective whose work has included hundreds of missing children cases. "The people apparently wanted to see how buffalo would run. ... It breaks my heart."
Many of the store's patrons apparently felt the same way, because about 100 of them called to offer condolences for Buffy's death Tuesday during attempts to recapture her and to tell Dear and his employees how much they enjoyed visiting the shaggy, 2,000-pound creatures.

Dear, who had been trying to decide what to do with Buffy's body and whether to bring Huffy back from a nearby pasture or find her a new home, said the calls helped convince him to have Buffy's hide stuffed and mounted for display in the store and to begin looking for two buffalo calves as corral mates for Huffy.
"It's a part of Texas history, that's one of the reasons we had them out here," said Dear, whose fascination with the beasts takes him on a photo safari to Yellowstone National Park each winter. "Just like people that collect owls and other things, I collect buffalo."

JOHN KEVIN HILL ... completes journey

Texan completes flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following seven days of flying over mountains, plains and valleys in all kinds of weather, a blonde-haired, 11-year-old Texas boy became the youngest known pilot to traverse the United States.
John Kevin Hill was scooped into his father's arms after climbing from the single-engine Cessna 210 at Washington's National Airport just after 3 p.m. Wednesday upon completion of the final leg of his journey.
"I'm glad to be back on solid ground," said the boy, who lives with his parents in Arlington.
"I never let go of the controls. I'd get tired but I'd just stick with it," said the youngster. "Sometimes it was just like a roller coaster."
A throng of reporters, television cameras and photographers overwhelmed well-wishers who had gathered to greet him.
Moments after giving up his pilot's seat — which was padded with three extra pillows to raise him to window level — John Kevin was greeted by Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot, who happened to be flying out of the private aviation terminal at National Airport.

"I think it's great. My son flew a helicopter around the world," Perot said, congratulating the boy. "I'm just really impressed by it."
When informed by John Kevin's mother, Patsy, that her son plans to attempt an around-the-world flight when he's a little older, Perot said: "Tell him I'm glad he's going to give it a few years rest."
At the airport, John Kevin was presented with a congressional certificate of appreciation and a deck of playing cards from Air Force II by Rep. Dick Army, R-Texas, along with several other awards.
The youngster's trip began in Los Angeles on June 24 and included stops in Cedar City, Utah; Denver, St. Louis and Cincinnati. He was accompanied by his flight instructor, a newspaper reporter and a National Geographic photographer.

The boy must be accompanied by his instructor, Michael Fields, when he flies because he is too young to obtain a pilot's license. John Kevin is allowed to fly only under visual flight rules, which means the weather must allow for extended visibility.
John Kevin said he attempted the transcontinental flight to set a world's record, but he had no assurance of meeting that goal. Officials for the Guinness Book of World Records said no statistics are available for transcontinental flights by youths.
Johnny Hill, the boy's father, said he hoped the Guinness book would create a new category for his son.

Board, FAA investigating Texans' fatal air crash

CODY, Wyo. (AP) — National Transportation Safety Board and Federal Aviation Administration officials were expected to visit a rugged section of northwestern Wyoming's backcountry today to begin their investigation of an airplane crash that claimed the lives of four prominent Texans.
Park County officials said NTSB officials from Denver were to arrive in Cody today to begin their investigation of the crash site about 14 miles northwest of Cody with the FAA.
Discovery of the wreckage of the twin-engine Cessna on Wednesday ended a search that began Sunday for the plane and its occupants, George L. Clark, 49, chairman and chief executive officer of MBank Dallas; pilot Hugo W.

Schoellkopf III, 43; Dr. Trevor E. Mabery, 51, a Dallas surgeon; and the Rev. V. Creath Davis, executive director of the Christian Concern Foundation.
Park County Coroner Don Easton said all four men were found dead at the scene of the crash late Wednesday afternoon.
Biff Beck, a spokesman for Park County's search and rescue team, said an initial examination of the crash site in the steep mountainsides of the Shoshone National Forest's Sunlight Basin indicated the crash may have occurred as the plane's pilot tried to fly out of the basin.
"It looks like they were flying at or toward Dead Indian Peak and it looks like they were trying to make a left bank to get out of the bowl," he said.

Dozens of civilian and military planes had been searching southern Montana and northern Wyoming for the Cessna 421, which had left White Sulphur Springs, Mont., early Sunday.
The plane was en route to Addison, a suburb of Dallas, on a flight plan through Livingston, Mont., and the Wyoming cities of Cody, Worland, Casper and Cheyenne.
A rescue plane spotted the wreckage at an elevation of about 11,400 feet early Wednesday afternoon, but because of the area's terrain, authorities called in a helicopter to reach the scene.

Jury indicts LaRouche

WASHINGTON — Political extremist and self-proclaimed presidential candidate Lyndon H. LaRouche was indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice, according to court documents released today.

The indictment, handed up by a grand jury in Boston on Tuesday, accused LaRouche of ordering subordinates in his political organization to stall the grand jury's investigation of alleged fraud by his followers and of plotting to "fix" and "quash" the grand jury.

LaRouche himself, who testified before the grand jury last Monday, left the country after his testimony and now is in West Germany, according to prosecutors. They said his attorney, Odin T. Anderson, has told the government LaRouche will surrender to federal authorities early next week.

Fiance bilks woman

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Kathy Turberville went to the courthouse with her fiance and a marriage license. She left minus him, her purse and $471.

According to police, Ms. Turberville, 33, said she and her 19-year-old fiance, Richard Robinson, were waiting Wednesday outside the chambers of the municipal judge who was to marry them when Robinson said he had to go to the bathroom.

He didn't return and Ms. Turberville, who has been divorced twice, then noticed her purse was gone. She said it contained $471 in cash and money orders she had purchased to pay her rent, utility bills and an installment on her television set.

The purse also contained two wedding rings that she'd bought earlier in the day at a pawn shop, she said.

Ms. Turberville filed petty theft charges with the city prosecutor's office.

Florida wins bug title

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. — A big bug found belly up on a beach has been named the Biggest Cockroach in America.

Laine Snyder, 12, of Hollywood, won $1,000 when his entry beat out 2,000 submitted from around the nation to the Great American Roach-Off, sponsored by American Cyanamid, the manufacturer of Combat pesticide.

Laine was in Washington on Wednesday when the 53-millimeter, or slightly more than 2 inches, cockroach was crowned.

The cockroach will be enshrined in the Smithsonian Institution's insect zoo in Washington.

The seventh-grader had been working on a class project on cockroaches.

Military crash

Five die in runway exercise

By JODY TAYLOR
Associated Press Writer

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — A cargo plane on a tank-dropping maneuver 5 feet above a dirt airstrip came in "hard and steep" before it crashed and burned, killing five servicemen and showering 4,000 horrified spectators with soot, witnesses said.

Two servicemen were seriously injured in the C-130 crash Wednesday morning during a military exercise open to the public.

"We could feel the heat where we were sitting," said Ron Diehl, a spectator. "Smoke came over us and particles of soot landed on everybody. At that point, the crowd started to panic. People started running away, crying, screaming."

Four of six Air Force crewmen on the plane were killed along with an Army soldier on the ground, said Capt. Brian Irving of Pope Air Force Base, where the huge four-engine turboprop was based.

The C-130 passed within feet of the bleachers at about 150 mph before it crashed and skidded 1,000 feet into woods, destroying three military vehicles, scattering debris behind it and exploding into flames 100 yards from the stands.

A board of officers was being convened to determine the cause of the crash, said Col. Richard Heinzman, commander at Pope Air Force Base, which is next to Fort Bragg.

"There were people crying when they realized what happened," said Neil Vanstory, a spectator at the annual exercise. "We were just horrified. We saw five young paratroopers and they were crying too."

Some people put their heads in their laps. Others hugged people around them. Military authorities pleaded for calm as smoke and debris wafted through the air.

"It's one thing to see it on the news, on television and another to be there, to feel the effect," Vanstory said. "It was horrible."

The accident occurred as the plane was dropping a 17-ton Sheridan tank in a routine maneuver in which the craft flies low, the heavy load is dragged out the rear door by parachute and the plane regains altitude.

Army Lt. Col. Jim Hopson said he and another officer saw the accident coming. "Both of us were saying 'Get it up, get it up,'" he said. "I'm no expert, but it looked like it was just coming in too hard and too steep."

"I don't know whether something busted loose, but it looked like he lost control," Diehl said. "I knew he was fighting for control to keep from going into the crowd."

"Then he slid past us, behind the trucks, toward the tree line. I saw the tail stay down. It appeared that the plane was folding at the middle and at the wings. There was a tremendous amount of debris, then an explosion."

John Bishop, vice president of WFCT-TV and a pilot, said the plane "seemed to be coming in too fast and steep."

"My stomach tightened when I saw that," he said. "Normally he would level off at 5 feet above ground. He began to level off, but he was much closer than 5 feet, it appeared to me."

"That's when the bottom of the plane hit the ground. It appeared to me the plane actually fractured. It looked like the rear door fell off in front of the stands. From there, it skidded and went out of control."

Ancient cheese found

TIPPERARY, Ireland — A hundred-pound lump of cheese discovered by workmen digging in a bog may still be edible some 1,400 years after it was buried, an archaeologist says.

Tony Candon said the cheese was discovered under five feet of bog on farmland in County Tipperary by workers Paddy Coughlan and Dan O'Connor as they were digging peat on Monday.

He said the lump was either cheese or butter, weighed "about one hundredweight (100 pounds)" and was preserved by the moist conditions.

"We think it would still be edible but we're not keen on trying it as it seems from the depth at which it was found to have been buried in the 5th or 6th century A.D.," he said.

Coughlan and O'Connor unearthed the find at Glenahilly, near Cloughjordan.

The discovery's wrapping is more important than the food itself because of what it can tell about ancient crafts, he said: "We don't know for sure what the wrapping is, but it looks like some kind of wickerwork."

Panamanians protest

PANAMA CITY, Panama — Panamanians staged violent demonstrations for and against the military-controlled government one day after a state of emergency was lifted. The opposition said it would call a general strike.

Windows and equipment were smashed and fires set Wednesday at the headquarters of the main government party and that of an opposition party.

The opposition newspaper La Prensa reported that three bystanders were wounded by gunfire when men shot at anti-government protesters in different parts of the city. The men who fired wore civilian clothes, but the paper said reporters at the scene of one incident recognized them as members of the Presidential Guard.

Army commander Gen. Manuel Noriega, the power behind the administration of President Eric Delvalle, accused the United States of helping to foment unrest in an effort to undermine the Panama Canal treaties.

Log jam kills rafters

SQUAMISH, British Columbia — Three whitewater rafters died and two more were missing after an inflatable raft hit a log jam and overturned in the bone-chilling rapids of the Elaho River.

The search for the two missing women, called off Wednesday night as darkness fell, resumed today at daybreak. Police would not identify the dead rafters — two men and a woman — or the missing women until families were notified.

Twenty-seven people, including three guides, most believed from the Vancouver area, were in three five-meter rafts.

Faithfuls lead in Abby's national fidelity survey

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I sent a postcard in response to your survey asking, "Have you ever cheated on your mate?" Please tell us how that survey is coming.

BOTH FAITHFUL IN JUNEAU, ALASKA

DEAR FAITHFUL: The response has been overwhelming! So far the results show that not everybody is cheating. Far from it! The scales are tipped in favor of the "faithfuls." Most "faithfuls" are over 40, and have been together for 25 years or longer. The eldest couple has been married for 72 years. He's 91 and she's 88. The youngest have been married 3 months. He's 21, she's 19.

More men than women admitted to cheating. (I've been asked, "Can it be that the women are lying and the men are bragging?" To which I respond: It's doubtful; there's no reason to lie in an anonymous voluntary survey.)

Last chance for those who would like to be a part of this survey. Send a letter or postcard to Abby's Survey, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Please indicate whether you are male or female, your age, and how long you've been together. You need not sign your name.

DEAR ABBY: Back in 1942, when I was 18 years old, I had an affair. He was 21. It lasted two years. World War II was raging. He went to war and we went our separate ways.

I never forgot him. I married someone else and had two children. He married and had four. Although we lived in the same town, we never saw each other until three years ago when we met by chance in a drugstore. We spoke briefly about what we had been doing in the past, said goodbye and never saw each other again, until nine months ago when out of the blue he called me and asked to see me again.

We met in a parking lot. That night, sitting in his car, he took me in his arms and we both knew that old feeling was still there. I know I still love him, and he said he still loves me. This has been going on for nine months — at least once a month. (No sex involved.) I've never done anything like this before and he said he never had either. We can't believe this is happening to us after 45 years. We've both been married for 41 years. I would never leave my husband for him and he would never leave his wife! All we want to do is meet occasionally and hold each other in our arms and experience that old feeling again. I am 63 and he is 66.

TRUE STORY, KEEP ME NAMELESS

DEAR TRUE STORY: Write again in a year and let me know if you're still in a "holding pattern." Personally, I think you're heading for trouble. But since you asked for no advice, I shall offer none.

DEAR ABBY: I have kept a diary — never missed a day — since Jan. 1, 1933. I'll be 69 this year and have been sorting my belongings and dividing them for my three children.

My problem is what to do with all these diaries. There are some things I wrote that could hurt some feelings, but it is also a record of my thoughts and the activities of my life and the lives of family members. Much of it could even be boring to them.

Should I burn them all? Or give them to my eldest? I am still writing every day — it's a habit. Now, what should be done with more than 50 diaries?

MRS. G. IN ST. JOSEPH, MO.

DEAR MRS. G.: Don't burn them! Regardless of what they contain, they are a part of history. But why should the eldest inherit them all? Perhaps the youngest or middle child would have more interest in them. Discuss it with all your children, and then decide.

Academia

Jose Humberto Hernandez Jr., son of Humberto and Betty Hernandez of Eagle Pass and the grandson of Hijinio and Chavela Moreno, and Felipe Dominguez of Big Spring and the late Vidala Dominguez, recently graduated from Eagle Pass High School in Eagle Pass.

Hernandez, who graduated in the top ten percent of his class, was the recipient of the Texas Achievement Award (TAA), and received $10,000 and an additional $1,000 from the Honors Colloquium Award from the University of Texas at Austin.

JOSE HERNANDEZ
Both awards are given based on academic excellence in high school, SAT scores and recommendations by school officials.

He was a member of the National Honor Society and lettered in golf the past two years. He also participated in the University of Texas' "Minority Introduction to Engineering (MITE)" in 1986.

Hernandez also attended the Lorenzo de Zavala's Youth Legislative Session at Southwestern University in Georgetown in 1985.

ABILENE — Two students from the Big Spring area are among 689 Abilene Christian University students listed on the Dean's Honor Roll for the spring 1987 semester. They are Patrick Blaine McCormick, son of Mr. Keith McCormick of Lamesa, and Leslye De Overman, daughter of Jane Overman.

ACU is the fourth largest private university in the Southwest, offering degrees in more than 80 fields through its five undergraduate colleges, Graduate School and School of Nursing.

It is the largest university associated with the Churches of Christ, enrolling some 4,500 students.

Todd A. Engel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Engel of Coahoma, has been named Collegiate All-American by the United States Achievement Academy.

He was nominated by Dr. Lorenzo Penafiel, a professor in the accounting department at Angelo State University.

The academy recognized Engel as a United States National Collegiate Award winner in the field of accounting.

The USAA established the award program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in academic discipline.

Award winners must earn a 3.3 grade average or better. Engel, a senior at Angelo State University received a 4.0 grade point average for the spring semester. He is a graduate of Coahoma High School.

SAN MARCOS — Ronald L. McDonald Jr., of 611 Runnels, was among the 1,516 students whose 1987 spring semester grades earned them places on the Dean's List at Southwest Texas State University.

To qualify for the academic honors listing, an undergraduate student must have earned a grade point average of at least 3.5 during the semester while taking at least 12 semester hours of course work.

Texas Tech Day to feature Dykes, Tech coaching staff

Texas Tech Athletic Director T. Jones, head football coach Spike Dykes and a group of his assistants will be in Big Spring next Tuesday for Texas Tech Day at the Big Spring Country Club.

The schedule of events begins at 2 p.m. with a shotgun start, scramble format golf tournament. A hamburger buffet will follow at 6 p.m. The fee for the golf is $25, and there's a $10 charge for the meal.

Last year over 60 golfers and 100 diners participated, and John Arrick, who's helping to organize the event, said he's hoping to match that Tuesday. He said the day is by no means limited to Tech alumni — you need only be interested in the school and in Red Raider athletics.

Arrick said Jones and Dykes will make speeches, and there will certainly be a lot of football talk. If you want the scoop on Dykes' first Red Raider team, the Country Club on Tuesday will be the place to get it.

For more information, call Arrick at 267-2531; or Steve Fraser at 263-7613. Fraser said to call him or Arrick by Sunday to reserve a spot for the meal.

Big Spring tennis player Rocky Tubb got some good news and some bad news over the weekend. The good news: Tubb and partner Mitesch Patel teamed to win the doubles at the Highway 80 tournament in Lubbock last weekend.

The bad news: Tubb had to withdraw from the singles when he aggravated an already pulled muscle in his leg. Tubb's doctor said no tennis for three weeks. That's too bad, because the Big Spring netter is fighting for a high state ranking, and can't afford to spend too much time on the injured list.

Big Spring High basketball coach Boyce Paxton attended the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches Camp last week, and he's hoping to take some kids from Big Spring with him next year.

Paxton said over 280 kids attended the camp, and that next year the camp would probably be divided into two sessions to handle the large numbers. The camp director this year was ex-Howard College coach Larry Brown, and ex-Hawks' assistant Scott Horstman was one of the 28 coaches from around the state who attended.

Paxton said the counselors at the camp included some of the top high school seniors and college players in the state. Dallas Mavericks' center Bill Wennington and Chicago Bulls forward Gene Banks were among the speakers.

The Steers' coach said it was an excellent instructional camp. Next year he said he'll try to take some Big Spring kids and some counselors from next year's Steers' basketball team.

*****

The first Big Spring Julyfest Softball Tournament will be July 17-19 at Cotton Mize Softball Field at Comanche Trail Park.

Entry fee is $100 per team. Team trophies will be awarded to the top five teams, and the top three teams will get individual trophies. Trophies will also be awarded to the all-tournament team and the MVP.

Entry deadline is July 16, and the fee is $100 per team. There is a 15-man roster limit, due at the end of the first game. For more information, call Jeff at 267-4315; or Phil at 263-3846.

*****

The 1987 Texas League All-Star Game has been scheduled for next Tuesday at Angel Stadium in Midland.

The game starts at 7 p.m. For more information, call the Angels at 683-4251.

The Reds and Bears came down to the last inning of the season, and the Bears won the inning 2-0 to capture the city 13-year old league championship.

The Reds, led by winning pitcher Joey Conaway and good play from Kevin Rodgers and Brant Elmore, won the first game 4-1. The two teams had battled to an 8-8 tie earlier in the year, so they started their deciding game already in extra innings.

Coach Paul Petterson's Bears won that inning 2-0 for the championship. The winning pitcher in the last game was Cort Petterson. The coach credited Gerald Cobos and Patrick Nichols with good defense in the win.

*****

The West Texas Boxing Association had their annual meeting Saturday, and elected officers for the 1987-88 season.

Officers elected were: Jose V. Martinez — Big Spring Boxing Club, president; Margarito Hernandez — Seminole, vice president; Len Perkins — Odessa, secretary-treasurer; and Helen Martinez — Big Spring Boxing Club, registration chairman.

*****

The Big Spring Country Club golf course will be the site for the Watermelon Open, this Saturday starting at 9 p.m.

Members and their guests will play 18 holes in a couples, scramble, and Scotch foursome format. The fee is $10 per couple.

*****

The Big Spring Bowl-A-Rama will host a No-Tap Singles Tournament Saturday and Sunday. Squad times are 1, 3, and 5 p.m. on Saturday, and 1 and 3 p.m. on Sunday, with the semi-finals and finals following the last squad on Sunday.

This will be a handicapped tournament. The entry fee is $25.

Ogle saves day for Astros

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

If the American League Astros and the Texas League Tigers had been playing in Fenway Park with the names Mets and Red Sox on their jerseys, then Wednesday night's game at Texas League Park would have earned a tag like "one of the greatest games in World Series history."

As it was, it will have to settle for "one of the greatest games in Big Spring Little League city tournament history."

After six lead changes, Astros' catcher Jason Ogle came to the plate with two outs in the bottom of the eighth inning, with men on second and third and two outs. The Astros trailed by one, and were one pitch from finishing second place in the city championship. The Tigers were one pitch from the championship.

For over two hours, approximately 300 Texas and American League fans — adults in the stands, kids hugging the fence, and a mixture of the two sitting on their cars in the outfield — alternated between moaning, clapping, cheering, sighing and chattering. But when Ogle came to the plate, the big crowd went silent.

Ogle, who had struck out his last two times at bat, blasted relief pitcher Orlando Leos' pitch deep into right field, and when Chris Yanez couldn't make the play, the American League fans parted while the Texas League group moaned. After the seventh and final lead change, the score stood: Astros 8, Tigers 7.

"Who'd have thought, he's come around and started hitting," said a jubilant Chuck Ogle, Jason's dad and the Astros' coach. Then Ogle grabbed a friend, shook him, and yelled, "That was my kid, that was my kid!"

Ogle's hit may have done more than just won the game — if the Astros win the series, that hit will be the one the Tigers remember. The Texas League team had beaten the Astros 7-6 a week ago, and were undefeated until last night.

Tonight, the series moves to a neutral field — the National League Park — where the Astros will send Jeromaine Gonzales against the Tigers' Michael Oliva. Gonzales, the Astros' version of Superman, has a 3-0 record in the tournament, including an 18 strike out, no-hit performance. Oliva, however, is 2-0 with a no-hitter. His other win was the 7-6 decision over the Astros.

Moments before Ogle's shot, it looked like the Astros wouldn't need his heroics. Though they trailed by one, Brandon Rodgers had led off the inning with a walk, and had moved to third when the Tigers' center fielder missed a mile-high wallop from Jeromaine Gonzales that landed on the grass.

With men on second and third and no outs, the Astros appeared a sure shot to at least tie the game. But Leos struck out the next batter,

American League Astros' baserunner Jeromaine Gonzales slides safely into third as Texas League Tigers' shortstop John Oliva successfully backs up third baseman Rodger Eddington in the first inning of Wednesday night's 8-7 win by the Astros at Texas League Park. The Astros scored two runs in the inning, but Gonzales was forced out at home for the third out.

bringing Adrian Calvio to the plate. Calvio crushed the ball high into right, and with many a breath held, Yanez snagged the ball and held the runners. That set the stage for Ogle, who hit the ball almost in the same spot as Calvio.

The teams battled to a 6-6 tie in regulation, when the Astros lifted starting pitcher Ricky Gonzales. Gonzales struck out nine, walked four, and gave up eight hits. He did not figure in the decision. Astros' pitcher Clark Fields, who went the distance, struck out 12, walked eight and surrendered eight hits. Leos, who struck out four and walked one, took the loss for the Astros.

The Tigers, batting first, opened the scoring when Michael Oliva hit a deep sacrifice fly to score Leos, who had walked and advanced on a wild pitch. The Astros rallied for two runs in the bottom of the first on two hits and two Tigers' errors. Rodgers crushed a ball through the first baseman's legs that scored both runs.

The Tigers tied the game in the second after they loaded the bases on two walks and an error, and Ricky Gonzales hit the ball to third

Lendl, Connors advance to semis

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Ivan Lendl is getting closer to the two things in tennis he craves so much: respect and a Wimbledon championship.

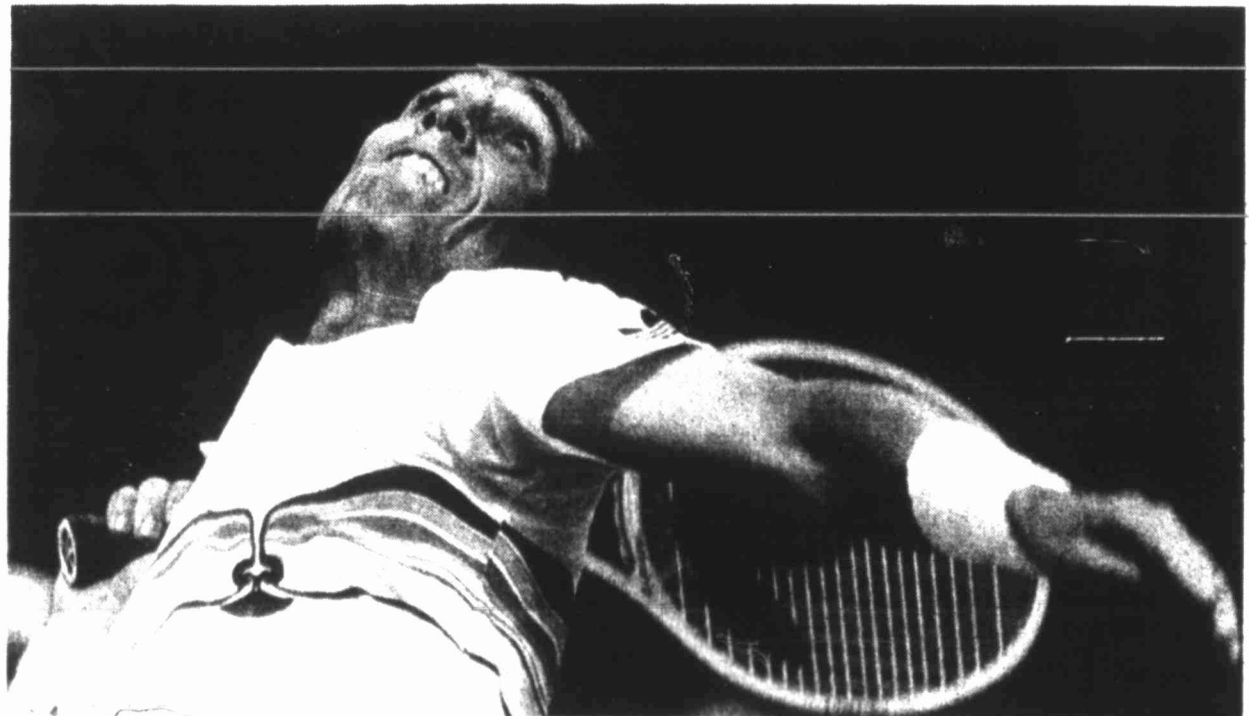

Among those trying to keep him from the latter is Jimmy Connors, almost 35, who has attained both of Lendl's goals and is still going for more.

Lendl, the hungry Czechoslovak, and Connors, the American street-fighter, both advanced to the semifinals of the world's most prestigious grass-court tournament Wednesday.

Lendl, serving and volleying like a seasoned grass-courter, overpowered Henri Leconte of France, 7-6, 6-3, 7-6.

"That match is maybe the best I have ever played here," Lendl said. "I am a player who plays solid tennis without the spotlight on him, but I get the job done."

Most of the spotlight was on Connors, without a tournament title for almost three years, who withstood 25 aces from Slobodan Zivojinovic of Yugoslavia before prevailing 7-6, 7-5, 6-3 to reach the semifinals for the 11th time.

Ivan Lendl looks skyward as he prepares to serve to France's Henri Leconte, during their men's singles quarter-final match on Centre Court at Wimbledon Wednesday.

Only 24 hours earlier, Connors had rallied from the brink of elimination to beat Mikael Pernfors of Sweden in five sets. In his semifinal on Friday, Conners will play Australia's Pat Cash, aiming for his first Grand Slam title. He beat Mats Wilander, last month's beaten French Open finalist, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4, and has dropped only one set in the tournament. Lendl takes on Sweden's Stefan Edberg, the No. 4 seed, who was a 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3 winner over com-

Golden Bear chasing elusive championship

OAKVILLE, Ontario (AP) — The Canadian Open Golf Championship is the one big blank spot in Jack Nicklaus' unmatched record.

The 47-year-old Nicklaus, holder of a record 18 major professional titles (six Masters, five PGAs, four U.S. Opens and three British Opens), has yet to win this national championship.

He's won almost everything else of significance the game has to offer: eight money-winning titles, six Australian Opens, the World Match Play, three TPCs, four World Series of Golf and two U.S. Amateur titles. But the Canadian Open has eluded him.

"He's come close. He's been runner-up seven times, once losing in a playoff, and missed a playoff by one shot on two other occasions. Three of those second-place finishes, in 1981, 1984, and 1985, were on the Glen Abbey Golf Club course Nicklaus designed as a permanent home for the Canadian Open.

"Let's just say it's a tournament I'd very much like to win," Nicklaus said Wednesday as he prepared for today's scheduled first round of the tournament that offers $600,000 in prize money.

Nicklaus, who now lists himself as "semi-retired," has played in eight tournaments this year with his best finish a tie for seventh in the Masters.

Other leading contenders include former Canadian Open winners Lee Trevino, Bruce Lietzke, Curtis Strange and John Cook.

Hoyt gets another chance

CHICAGO (AP) — LaMarr Hoyt, plagued by a series of drug problems in recent years, will return to the scene of his glory days with the Chicago White Sox.

Hoyt, 32, and winner of the Cy Young Award in 1983 when he helped pitch the White Sox to the American League West title, agreed in principal on Wednesday to terms of a new contract with his former team after clearing waivers following his release from the San Diego Padres.

The announcement of Hoyt's return to the White Sox was made by General Manager Larry Himes. Terms of the contract will be formalized this weekend when Hoyt will meet with White Sox officials. But Hoyt will be paid mainly through his $2.8 million contract with the Padres, which runs through 1989.

Himes indicated Hoyt would not pitch for the White Sox this season. "Hoyt's path to regain control of his life and career will not be easy, and the end result will be the sole responsibility of LaMarr Hoyt," Himes said. "He will report to Daytona, and there is no intention of bringing him back this season." Hoyt will be assigned to the White Sox's Class A affiliate at Daytona Beach, and he is expected to work his way back through the minor-league system.

Hoyt became a free agent after being released by the Padres following a series of drug-related problems. He cleared waivers Friday.

The Padres' release of Hoyt was in keeping with the team's no second-chance policy for players to the United States. Hoyt was suspended for the 1987 season by Commissioner Peter Ueberroth, but arbitrator George Nicolau termed the punishment excessive and ruled the suspension should be cut to 60 days.

Hoyt reportedly has not pitched since last October. That's one of the reasons the White Sox do not expect him to pitch at the major-league level this season.

"It was open season on Hoyt," Himes said. "There was no compensation involved, and there was a chance to give him a chance to do something."

"I have no idea of what his condition is," Himes said. "I'm hoping he sees a challenge and accepts that challenge. We don't want to put any pressure on him. We want him to go to the minor leagues, do his job, and then we'll make the decisions."

with drug problems. Hoyt recently spent 30 days in jail because of a misdemeanor drug conviction.

Originally, the Padres dropped Hoyt last January in an effort to nullify his contract. But an arbitrator ordered him restored to the roster and ruled that the Padres were liable for his contract through 1989.

Hoyt, who had a 24-10 record when he won the Cy Young in 1983, fell to 13-18 in 1984 and was traded to the Padres along with pitchers Todd Simmons and Kevin Kristan for infielders Ozzie Guillen and Luis Salazar and pitchers Bill Long and Tim Lollar.

Hoyt was 16-8 with the Padres in 1985 and fell to 8-11 last season. He was in trouble over drugs three times in 1986. And last October, he pleaded guilty to smuggling about 500 pills of Valium and various painkillers from Mexico in-

Cyclist recovering from near death

FOUNTAIN VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Greg LeMond, the only American ever to win the Tour de France, was thinking about reaching new heights in his cycling career. And yet here he was bleeding to death.

It was the Monday after Easter and LeMond had just been hit by a spray of shotgun pellets accidentally fired his way by his brother-in-law.

LeMond's thoughts flashed to his wife and family, of never racing again, of losing the security he expected his success to bring him. "I said, 'That's it, it's over. Hunting accident, boom, I'm over, done with.' I was ready to die."

The 25-year-old cyclist, now 10 weeks removed and almost recovered from the near-fatal mishap, is riding again. He's going gingerly, only a few easy miles at a time, not yet pushing himself.

"I'm on my bike a month or two earlier than anybody expected," LeMond said. "They thought I could ride, but not seriously train."

The first step back to racing was a one-hour ride that showed just how much work remains. "I'm 95 percent away," LeMond said. "But that's not so bad, because a couple of months ago I was minus 95 percent."

The hunting accident could have been much worse. As it was, LeMond had to wait almost an hour before being transported to a hospital. He lost before three-quarters of his blood supply. Doctors told him another half-hour would have killed him.

"I was ready to die right there," LeMond said. "The first 10 minutes, I was so freaked out. I was saying, 'Oh my God, I'll never see my wife, my family.'"

The blast broke two ribs and pellets lodged in his intestine, liver, diaphragm, back, leg, foot and hand. Even after surgery, he still has 25-30 pellets in his body.

Recovery has provided a bonus of sorts. "I hate to say it, but I had been racing since 1976. Twelve years of racing, seven as a professional, with no break, ever."

He plans to ride in a race at Mammoth, Calif., beginning July 22 and then in the International Bicycle Classic later this summer. His goal is to win a major race by October.

"That's 3 1/2 months from now. I could be in pretty good shape by then."

LeMond's contract with the La Vie Claire team is up at the end of 1987. He has the option of returning in 1988, but hasn't yet made up his mind.

"I've had a couple of good offers from Holland and Italy," LeMond said. "I'm seriously considering the offer from Holland. But I want to talk to my team and see if they want to keep me."

If not for the accident, LeMond would be defending his title in the Tour de France, the four-week, 2,550-mile Super Bowl of cycling that began Wednesday. He's not sure how he feels about missing the race.

"It depends on who wins it," LeMond said. "If it's a good rider who wins it, then it's no problem. But if it's a guy who lucks out winning the Tour ..."

LeMond says any of 10 riders could win, but he has his favorites.

"Stephen Roche, he won the Tour of Italy. And Laurent Fignon, somehow I believe he is going to be there."

With LeMond out, Andy Hampsten of Boulder, Colo., is the top American challenger.

"Andy won the Tour of Switzerland. I consider him a good favorite and I think physically he's capable of doing really well on the Tour," LeMond said. "There are 10 riders capable of winning it and it's going to come down to the guy who has the best team, and that's what Andy lacks. He has a good team, but I don't think it's as strong as Stephen Roche's or Fignon's."

This is the first Tour in many years without either LeMond or his former teammate, Bernard Hinault, a five-time winner of the race who has retired.

Hinault remains an obvious sore spot for the otherwise upbeat LeMond.

After LeMond willingly sacrificed his own chances in order to help Hinault win a record-breaking fifth Tour in 1985, the Frenchman promised to return the favor last year.

But by the time the 1986 race rolled around, Hinault had changed his mind, and challenged LeMond through most of the race before the American prevailed.

"He made a promise he was going to work for me and help me win because he would not have won his fifth Tour de France if I wasn't there," LeMond said. "I could've won in 1985."

"I felt betrayed because everybody was saying, 'He was going for his sixth victory, Greg. You should let him try and win.'"

"But he would never have been going for his sixth victory had I not let him win his fifth."

Oilers will retire Campbell's jersey

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers announced Wednesday they are retiring the No. 34 jersey worn by former running back Earl Campbell, the team's all-time leading rusher and three-time All-Pro selection.

Campbell, the 1977 Heisman Trophy winner at the University of Texas, led the Oilers in rushing in each of his first six seasons with the Oilers before he was traded to the New Orleans Saints Oct. 9, 1984.

Campbell's jersey will be officially retired in ceremonies Aug. 13 in the Astrodome when the Oilers meet the Kansas City Chiefs in a preseason game.

"It's a tremendous honor but it wouldn't have been possible without all the guys I played with in Houston," said Campbell, now special assistant to the vice president at Texas.

"I was fortunate to get the opportunity to play with a great group of guys who did every thing they could to help me and our football team."

"We were just one big happy family."

Campbell, 32, retired last August, completing his NFL career with 9,407 rushing yards, seventh highest total in NFL history. Campbell was eighth in league history with 74 touchdowns.

valuable player and rookie of the year honors in his first season. Campbell rushed over 1,000 yards and was an all-pro selection in each of his first three years with the Oilers.

Campbell was an All-American running back at the University of Texas. He finished his collegiate career with 4,444 yards overall and 21 100-yard games.

"We've never really had that many super stars around here but Earl Campbell certainly was one," Oilers owner Bud Adams said. "I have a real special place in my heart for what Earl has done for the Oilers, the city of Houston and the State of Texas."

Campbell is the third Oiler to have his jersey retired in the 27-year history of the franchise. The others were punter Jim Norton, 1960-68 and defensive end Elvin Bethea, 1968-83.

HAPPY 200TH BIRTHDAY

This year the Constitution is 200 years old. The Constitution, the law of the land, declares our Freedom. In Honor of this event the Herald sponsored a July 4th American Contest We asked you to tell us what Freedom means. Below are the 1, 2 & 3rd place winners, plus 7 Honorable Mentions

FREEDOM

Freedom means... the privilege of the church of my choice...and being able to worship there. the privilege of the voice...and being able to choose from more than one candidate. the privilege of "speaking out"...and being able to have no fear. the privilege of a courtroom...and being able to stand before a jury of my peers. the privilege of an education...and being able to pursue the vocation of my choice. the privilege of being a citizen...and being able to go "first class". Others may advertise the same privileges, but freedom means the "being able".

1st Place Dottie Jones

What Freedom Means To Me

Freedom means independence for the people that make up our country and our nation. Freedom should be cherished because some day it could be all taken away. Freedom is the men and women that protect the freedom that we are so lucky to have. Without freedom, no one would own anything, the government would own it all. As long as we have that red, white and blue flag flying high over our nation, the great bald eagle flying free, voting for our president and living by the Constitution, we will always have freedom. This is what freedom means to me, a nation made up of people like you and me.

2nd Place Tanya Bridges

What Freedom Means?

It means opportunity, to try, succeed or fail. It means opportunity to worship in any manner you choose. It means you can, or not, vote on any issue of for any reason. It means you can speak your mind on any subject or issue. It means all people have these rights and the many others we enjoy. But, most of all, it means having the responsibility to defend these rights, at whatever cost; and to support, as vigorously, the rights of others. Thank God for the Constitution, The Bill of Rights, and those who framed it.

3rd Place John Taylor

Honorable Mentions

I am free because I had the good fortune to be born in America. I am free because my forefathers had the foresight and common sense to fight for what they believed — "freedom of press," "speech," "trial by jury," "religion" and my right to be "free and independent" as declared by the "Declaration of Independence." My independence was not cheap! Many wars were fought, many lives were lost! Because people believed in their independence, and in making this a strong nation, than I am able to enjoy my lifestyle where "free and equal" are taken for granted. "Peace is nothing without freedom."

Virginia Langston

FREEDOM
Freedom, O Freedom, It shines inside of me. Freedom, O, Freedom, It means equality. The Constitution says All people are the same. No matter where they come from their sex or their name. As a kid freedom means The choice of my life. I can be a singer, a lawyer, Or a housewife. Freedom, O, Freedom, Will keep America strong. Freedom, O, Freedom, May it last for so long.

Jaylon Davis

WHAT FREEDOM MEANS
Freedom To speak openly without fear of being arrested To choose what to do with my life To worship God according to my conscience Freedom means the right of choice Freedom To vote in fair elections for whomever I choose To participate in local government activities To pay my taxes, but not to suffer taxation without representation Freedom means responsibility. Freedom To remember those who have died to preserve our liberty To love our country and to cherish its honor To help those in need as they pursue their dreams Freedom means caring for others. Freedom means America!

Colleen G. Slaughter

WHAT FREEDOM MEANS
John Parker fought beside Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson under General George Washington in the Revolutionary War. British Rule was abolished and religious freedom was established. John's sons, Daniel and Isaac served with Sam Houston in the War of 1812. After a 20 year migration, walking and riding horseback 3,000 miles, John and his family arrived in Texas to establish Fort Parker. They fought the Indians and gave their lives for the freedom to live in Texas. John Parker's descendants were religious, political and agricultural pioneers. With spirit and courage, they fought the wars and blazed the trails. To these, my forefathers, I owe my freedom to enjoy our wonderful Texas, America.

Sherry Rose

FREEDOM
Free to decide on what we want and what we don't want. Read, speak, hear, watch, and see what our country wants. Experience what we want to experience. Explore and express what America wishes to. Decide on religion or personal things on our own. Operate and order what the people of the United States wish to. Make our own laws by voting, instead of having them made for us.

Shawna Tate

Wholly Free
There's freedom of politics, and freedom of mind, But of all freedoms, This is the best kind. Freer than the morning air, freer than the night, Freer than yellow, red, brown, black or white. Freer than nature's own, freer than the breeze, Freer than flying birds, or falling leaves. This freedom that is expressed, comes only from above, Showing perfection in all things, with the greatest love. For those who do partake, can call today his own, With unfettered heart, to never be alone. This freedom has a gift, that will always be, Forgiveness of guilty heart, and life eternally.

Dee Jon Douglass

FREEDOM
Freedom means many things to me I'm free to be who I want to be. I can worship when and where I please, I can write or speak without apologies. I have a choice in where I live, I can choose to take or choose to give. Freedom means I must not forget The ones whose lives have paid my debt. My innocence assured until proven guilty, By the laws of freedom and equality. But the most important fact, dear friend, is my freedom ends where yours begins.
