How's That? AIDS

Q. Does the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp test its inmates for AIDS?

A. Yes. All new non-transferred inmates are tested for AIDS when they arrive, and all inmates are tested before they leave, said Joe Crabtree, superintendent.

Shaw plans discussion of session

State Representative Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, will conduct a town hall meeting Thursday in Big Spring to review the outcome of the 70th Legislative Session.

The meeting is planned for 4:30 p.m. at the District Courtroom, third floor, Howard County Courthouse. The public is invited and urged to attend.

"The main reason for the meeting," Shaw explained, "is to give the people of Big Spring a wrap-up of the session and to answer questions on issues that are of concern to them. We will keep the meeting open and informal, and I hope that anyone interested will take the time to drop by."

New Life Academy relocated

In addition to the four private schools operating in Big Spring as reported in Thursday's Herald, another has relocated and will remain open.

New Life Christian Academy, formerly at the air base park, has moved to 1108 E. Sixth St.

"The prison wanted to expand out there by our buildings," said Greg Taylor, school administrator.

Classes will begin Sept. 1. Enrollment is expected to be about 25 to 30 — the same as last year, Taylor said.

Registration fee is $65 and monthly tuition is $85 for the first child, $40 for the second child and $10 for other children in a family.

Linda Wright is supervisor of the school.

The Herald incorrectly reported Thursday that the school had been closed after repeated telephone calls brought no response and checks with utilities revealed service had been discontinued with no forwarding address.

AIDS policy allows confidentiality

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring school board has adopted a student AIDS policy designed to provide confidentiality and protect students from getting the disease, Superintendent Bill McQueary said.

The district's Board of Trustees approved the policy during its regular meeting Thursday evening.

McQueary advised board members that he is unaware of any student in the district afflicted with AIDS, after he was asked that question by member Ford Farris.

In Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, the virus attacks the body's immune system, leaving victims susceptible to a wide variety of infections and cancers.

After careful review of medical information, McQueary said the board concluded a student with AIDS or AIDS-related conditions shouldn't be considered a health risk to other students or staff members.

He said the evidence states that no risk of transmission exists in casual contact, but procedures are needed to limit contact with a child's body fluids — a potential method of transmission.

A child with AIDS will be allowed to attend school as usual with McQueary's approval, based on recommendations from an advisory committee. He said the committee will consist of the child's physician, the district's medical advisor, an assistant superintendent, and the director of secondary or elementary education.

The nurse at the student's school will be designated as the child's advocate, and will be a liaison with his or her physician. The nurse also will serve as coordinator of services provided by other district staff members, McQueary added.

The superintendent added the district will do all it can to protect the student's privacy, whose identity will be known to a restricted number of district personnel — those with a direct need to know.

McQueary noted that would include the child's teacher, principal and school nurse, who will be provided with precautionary information and confidentiality requirements.

Although the child's identity won't be disclosed, the public will be notified that a case exists at a particular school, McQueary said. He added that staff members and parents of students in that school will be notified in writing.

If a danger to other students exists, the district has adopted a procedure for the child to be removed

Texas ranks low on women's rights

DALLAS (AP) — Texas ranks far below most other states in protecting the rights of women on abortion, employment, domestic matters and other areas, a National Organization for Women attorney says.

Texas ranks 40th of the 50 states and the District of Columbia in a women's legal rights index compiled by the NOW Legal Defense and Education Fund. It published "The State-by-State Guide to Women's Legal Rights" this year.

"Everywhere, women's legal status has improved in the last decade," Roxanne Barton Conlin, the NOW fund's president, said Thursday. "In Texas, there are still many gaps" despite the Equal Rights Amendment provision in the state constitution.

Ms. Conlin, of Des Moines, Iowa, was in Dallas for several appearances on women's rights issues.

For example, a spouse may charge his or her partner with rape in Texas only when they reside separately or a divorce action is pending between them.

"In the domestic-violence situations involving battery, rape is also common,"

Ms. Conlin said. "Most states provide a lot more protection for women."

The organization ranks Washington first in protecting women's rights. South Carolina is last on the list, which uses statutory protections as criteria. Texas is tied with Oklahoma and Virginia for No. 40.

The Texas Legislature recently passed legislation providing battered spouses new remedies, including protective orders, temporary custody and support payments.

Drugs

Officials to strike area wave

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Law enforcement officials in the Permian Basin are banding together to fight illegal drugs.

Big Spring Police Chief Joe Cook serves on the board of directors of the Permian Basin Drug Task Force, in which the local police department is to participate, he said.

The City Council approved police participation at its meeting Tuesday night.

The task force is being designed to combine the resources of various law enforcement agencies to reduce narcotics activities, according to Gary Painter, Midland County Sheriff.

Gathering and disseminating information on narcotics trafficking and organized criminal activity in the Permian Basin is a primary goal, he said in a letter.

"It is common knowledge that major narcotics offenders have their own intelligence network designed to identify undercover officers," Painter said. "After a short period of time, those charged with undercover responsibilities on a permanent basis and confined to one area may be rendered ineffective."

The task force will address this problem by rotating personnel within the area, greatly enhancing undercover capabilities within each county, he said.

The Midland-Odessa area has become a key location in drug distribution because of its location and size, since the Texas-Mexico border has become a main area of narcotics entering the country, he theorized.

An increased effort to curtail drug smuggling into Florida recently caused smugglers to turn instead to Texas, Painter said.

Cook said that if that theory is true, Big Spring, the third largest city in a 17-county area, could also be a major area target of drug dealers.

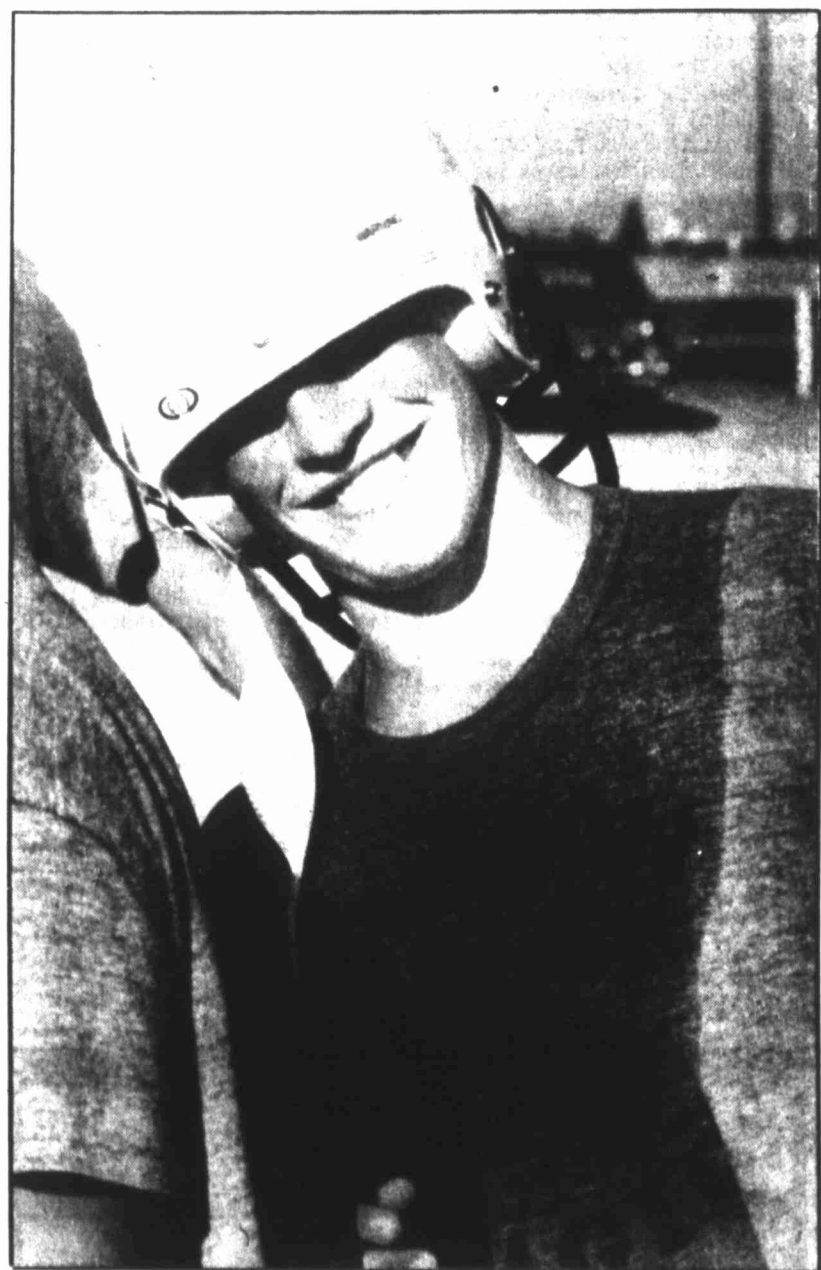

Although Big Spring has drug problems, as does any town, Cook said, he has no evidence to indicate that "we're a thriving mecca for drugs."

Cook is not yet sure how extensively Big Spring will participate in the program — whether it will supply manpower and equipment, or merely information.

Directors hope to have the program established and self-supporting within a year, he said, adding that it will begin with a state grant. Directors are not sure how much the grant will be, he said.

The board is to meet next week to discuss the grant application, budget and strategy, he said.

Painter said the task force's expenses have been estimated at about $883,000 for the first year.

Wall committee within $1,200 of goal

By John Haseelmeier

Citizens involved with bringing the Vietnam Wall replica to Big Spring next month report they are within less than $1,200 of their $3,200 goal.

However, more important than the funds, one official says, is the support of the community of other aspects of the project.

A replica of the Vietnam Wall is scheduled to be displayed Sept. 30 through Oct. 6 at the base of scenic Mountain on the campus of Southwest Collegiate Institute of the Deaf.

Keith Gibbons, chairman of the steering committee for the Wall, credited the community for the success of the committee's efforts.

"What made this work from day one has been the overwhelming support of the community," Gibbons said. "The money is going well, but what's been more important than the money is the people. They've really been supportive."

Plans for a fund-raising bowling tournament at Highland Lanes Sept. 12-13 were finalized at a committee meeting Wednesday night.

Teri Quinones, secretary/treasurer of the committee, reported that $2,058.37 has been raised — $1,141.63 short of the goal.

Opening ceremonies, including a ribbon-cutting and an official welcome to Big Spring and West Texas were discussed. A wreath-laying ceremony, featuring Truett and Kathryn Thomas, 1608 Osage, whose son Coy was killed in Vietnam, is planned.

Gibbons said the committee is awaiting word on its request of Dyess Air Force Base to provide a 21-gun salute and a fly-over by the Honor Guard for an Oct. 4 memorial service.

The Midland Veterans' Center will provide counseling for those who are emotionally moved by the Wall, it was reported at the Wednesday meeting. The Center will also assist in answering school children's questions.

Judge holds MHMR in contempt of court

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge held Texas mental health officials in contempt of court, saying school officials failed to live up to a 1983 agreement to make improvements in conditions at the Fort Worth State School.

U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders issued the opinion Thursday in the long-running Leisz case, a class-action lawsuit brought against the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Sanders said the school's unacceptable conditions violate client's constitutional rights.

The opinion concluded that lack of funding is at the core of the school's inadequacies. "By defendants' own admission, Texas ranks '51st out of 50' states in financial commitment to its mentally retarded citizens," the opinion states, quoting testimony from department Commissioner Gary Miller.

"A generally caring and concerned staff cannot make up for that deficiency," the opinion stated. Sanders did not elaborate on the opinion.

Both sides have 60 days to suggest remedies for improving conditions at the school.

Although the order is interlocutory, meaning technically it can't be appealed, state officials said they would try to overthrow the ruling.

"All I can say today is that we're disappointed, that we're evaluating the court's opinion and that we will undoubtedly appeal," said Scott McCown, an assistant attorney general who has worked on the case.

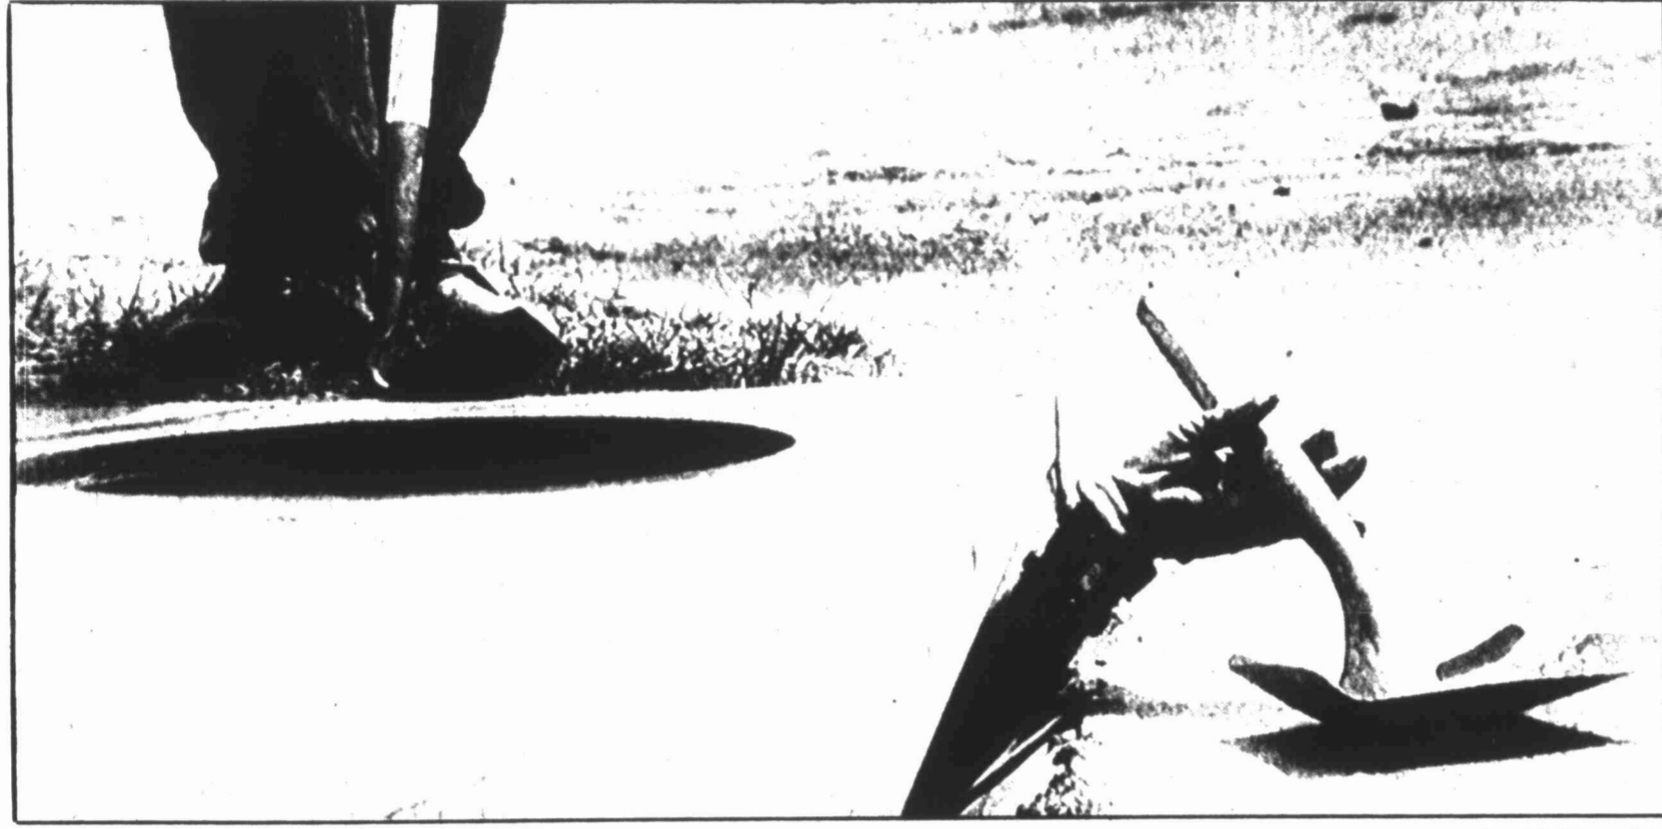

David Ferleger, who represents the plaintiffs, hailed the opinion as a vindication.

"I'm delighted that the court has agreed that conditions of the institution are inhumane and intolerable," he said in a telephone interview from his Philadelphia office.

"I'm glad that it's no longer my word against the state's," he said.

The plaintiffs had asked for an evidentiary hearing on whether the state was complying with a 1983 settlement to the Leisz case which mandated improvements at the school. The hearing was held from June 29 to July 7.

A summary of the 93-page opinion said that state officials violated the federal constitutional rights of clients at FWSS by failing to provide constitutionally adequate medical care, safety, training and treatment, and freedom from undue restraint.

Quinones said that 3,243 Texans died in Vietnam and another 161 were listed as missing in action. The names of these individuals will be divided over the seven nights of the Wall's visit and read at sundown. The flag will be lowered and taps will be played after each day's reading.

Traffic flow, security and emergency route plans were also discussed at the meeting.

Another meeting is scheduled Aug. 26 at 8 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce. Specifics for the display will probably compose the main topic, Quinones said.

A volunteer information workshop has been tentatively set for Sept. 11. Quinones said that volunteers will be needed 24 hours a day for the seven days the Wall will be in Big Spring.

She also said this will be the Wall's first visit to West Texas and — if the response in Wichita, Kan., is indicative — there should be a sizeable crowd.

"When it was displayed there, 80,000 people visited it," Quinones said. "It should draw a good crowd. It has never been west of San Antonio."

Five copies of a video telling about the Wall are available.

from class, he noted.

If the child lacks toilet training, has open sores that can't be covered, or demonstrates behavior that could transmit the virus, the child's physician, the school nurse, and the school medical advisor will determine if a risk exists, McQueary said.

Only then will the student be removed from the classroom, he said.

That removal would be considered temporary and reviewed monthly, and if the medical advisor determines the danger has abated, the child will be allowed to return to class, McQueary said.

If the child can't return, McQueary said an alternative education program can be established. Or in the case of temporary removal, the homebound instruction policy will apply, he said.

The student also may be removed from class for his or her own protection, he said.

When cases of measles, chicken pox, or other contagious diseases occur in the school, the removal decision could be made by the child's physician and parent in consultation with school authorities, McQueary concluded.

Justice. They will meet informally with board members during the next two weeks before the appointment is made, he said.

Board member Dan Wise was selected to replace Voorhies as board secretary, McQueary added.

Accepted the following resignations: Annette Boyd, Washington Elementary, moving from Big Spring; Shirley Bradshaw, Washington, family considerations; Ruth Ann Budke, Bauer Elementary, accepting another teaching position; Terry Denton, high school, personal reasons; Sharon Starr Dolan, Anderson Kindergarten, incomplete certification requirements; and Kari Eggleston, Runnels Junior High, accepting another position.

Hired the following persons: Joy L. Armstrong, Washington; Arita Calley, high school; Lois Cunningham, Runnels; Carrie Dunnam, Kentwood Elementary; Kit Kevin Foshee, high school; Jo Lynn McGhghy, Marcy Elementary; Deehona Minton, high school; and Lorna Simmons, elementary dyslexia program.

Assistant Superintendent for Personnel and Instruction Murray Murphy said, with the new hirings, the district is in need of two more elementary teachers for the next school year. He expressed confidence that the district would find the replacements by the start of the school year.

Agreed to a policy revision concerning prior review of student publications.

McQueary said the changes deal with principal's approval of submitted material and appeal by the student to the superintendent. The principal shall now approve or disapprove the material without the 24-hour time limit set in the previous policy.

A three-day limit set for the superintendent to act on the student's appeal was similarly deleted, he added.

Approved the following early dismissal days for the 1987-88 school year: Oct. 16, for the Ft. Stockton football game; Nov. 25, Thanksgiving holiday; Dec. 18, Christmas holidays; Jan. 17, 1988, end of first semester; March 25, spring break; and May 27, last day of school.

McQueary said that students intending to travel to the El Paso Riverside football game Sept. 4 will be able to use one of their allowed days for extra-curricular activities to miss school that day.

He added that parental permission and prior approval from the district will be needed before the student is allowed to miss classes.

Approved the transfer of three students into the district.

Officials track origin of barrel

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Authorities are tracking the origin of a padlocked barrel that was found to contain a human body, tentatively identified as that of an adult male, officials say.

Results of a preliminary autopsy showed the man died from a gunshot wound to the head, Montague Sheriff Glen Whatley said.

The body was found Wednesday in a barrel floating at the edge of Amon G. Carter Lake near Bowie, Montague Sheriff Glen Whatley said.

Whatley said the body appears to be a white male between the age of 25 and 30.

"We haven't any people reported missing at this time," Whatley said.

A fisherman discovered the drum, with a combination lock on its side, Tuesday lying on its side a dozen feet from shore, authorities said.

Labels on the barrel read "flamable" and "dangerous when wet" and indicated the contents were a hazardous chemical called calcium carbide.

The barrel's manufacturer, Airco Carbide, of Louisville, Ky., is assisting officials in determining the barrel's origin.

"We're in the process of determining the age of the barrel and compiling a list of our customers for the Montague County Sheriff's Department," company representative Kurt Chapman said.

"From the physical condition of the barrel," Chapman said, "I would say it's been in the water less than a month."

Whatley called Airco Carbide and was advised not to move the barrel until a company representative could be present. Authorities sealed off a small area at the lake until Chapman arrived in Bowie the next day.

Chapman examined the barrel with a meter explosive reader, similar to a Geiger counter, before authorities removed it from the lake.

AIDS report questioned

MARLIN — Medical authorities are unsure that an insurance salesman suspected of infecting 25 to 30 boys with AIDS actually had the fatal virus, officials say.

And authorities also said Thursday they believe few, if any, of the boys the salesman, Jimmy Glenn Etheridge, is believed to have had sex with are likely to have been infected with the deadly disorder.

Etheridge, 37, of Marlin was found shot to death June 30, and an autopsy revealed he carried the AIDS virus.

But the autopsy's results have been called into question because of the use of an experimental test.

Authorities believe that if he did carry the virus, Etheridge had done so for less than a month.

A federal health official said authorities do not believe Etheridge could have transmitted the disease to anyone he had sexual contact with before June 1, The Dallas Morning News reported today.

Also, Etheridge's computer files contained fewer names than originally reported, a Texas Department of Health official said.

The two were arrested after 40 illegal aliens from Mexico were discovered jammed inside the rental truck late Tuesday on an East Texas highway near Garrison.

D.A. resigns over system

PECOS — District Attorney Jack McGowen is resigning next month and says part of the reason is that he's tired of sending defendants to prison, only to see them released before the ink is dry on their convictions.

"I have a hard time looking the people of the community in the eye when I send a drug dealer up for 12 years and then he is released in a year," said McGowen, whose resignation is effective Sept. 1.

"I just think the public is being deceived into thinking that we are rehabilitating or punishing them, when in reality, we are processing papers and turning them loose at a ridiculous rate," he said recently.

Labor convention opens

AUSTIN — The first of three Democratic presidential contenders to address the Texas AFL-CIO convention says that after the Ronald Reagan administration, Americans will not stand for another hands-off presidency.

"When Ronald Reagan came into office, the United States had a trade surplus, one of the largest in the history of the world. We're now running the largest trade deficit the world has ever known," Sen. Albert Gore Jr., D-Tenn., said Thursday.

"We've exported millions of jobs and billions in IOUs, yet the administration still thinks that forgetting the problem will make it go away," he said. "I'm here to tell you we'll not tolerate another 'Look ma, no hands' presidency. We need leadership."

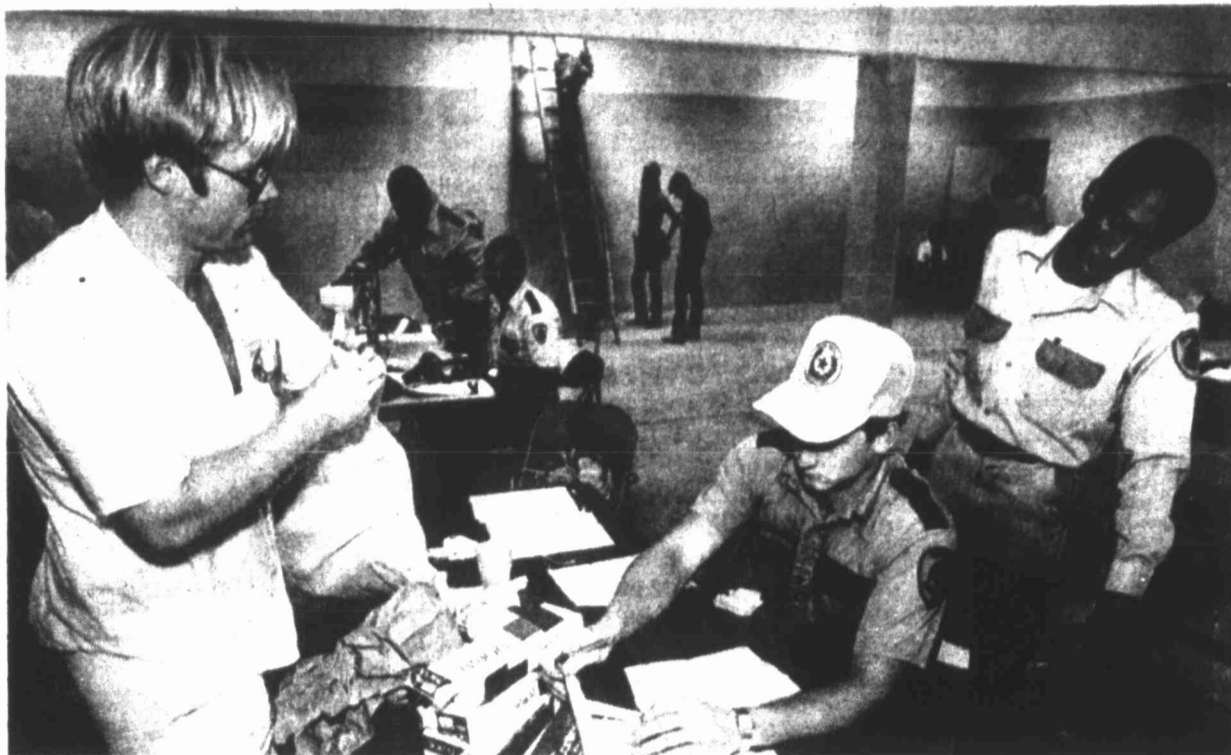

Boy slayer gets probation

HOUSTON — A 10-year-old boy who received a year's probation for fatally shooting his father and wounding his mother now wants to put the episode behind him, his attorney says.

"He's very relieved that everything is over with. He wants to get back to being a 10-year-old again," attorney Warren Cole said Thursday. "I don't think he poses any threat to society."

On Mother's Day, Michael Simon pulled the family's loaded .38-caliber handgun from its hiding place in the cushions of a living room loveseat and started firing after being told he could not play outside, police said.

The boy's father, Edward Simon Sr., 45, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Checking in

An inmate from the Texas Department of Corrections places his belongings on a table inside the Michael Unit Wednesday morning at the new prison facility in Tennessee Colony. The inmate was one of the first to be processed in the new unit built to ease overcrowding in the Texas prisons. In the background, workers take care of some last minute details.

Officials net eight arrests

BROWNSVILLE — A drug-related sweep of alleged weapons violators along the Texas-Mexico border has netted eight arrests so far and more are expected as the roundup continues, officials say.

Eight of 16 people indicted this week on weapons charges were arrested Thursday by Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents in an Operation Alliance crackdown.

The arrests are the first to result from a six-month investigation, said Christ Heart, resident agent-in-charge of ATF's Brownsville office.

He said the crackdown is an enforcement of a recent amendment to the Gun Control Act of 1968, providing for stiff penalties for drug traffickers using firearms.

"Traditionally, narcotics traffickers are very well armed because of the amounts of money they handle," Heart said.

Two held in alien case

HOUSTON — Two men were ordered held without bond pending arraignment next week on charges that they transported 40 illegal aliens across Texas crammed inside the back of a rental truck, attorneys say.

The two men, themselves illegal aliens, appeared briefly Thursday before U.S. Magistrate Earl Hines in Beaumont, said U.S. Attorney Bob Wortham.

During the 20-minute appearance, both men appeared nervous, and one was assisted to a nearby

Thrift officials say fallout minimal

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements' doubts that the federal government would fully back deposits in troubled savings and loans have not sent customers scurrying to withdraw their money, say thrift officials.

Most institutions had routine business activity, with a few reporting increased deposits. Some concerned customers made phone calls to their thrifts and there were isolated cases of unusual withdrawals, officials said.

"I believe the situation has been defused," Todd Miller, president of Southwest Savings Association of Dallas, said Wednesday. "What the governor said was so patently incorrect."

The Federal Home Loan Bank of Dallas reported no unusual developments after checks with institutions Wednesday. On Tuesday, the federal bank had reported some higher-than-normal withdrawals in Amarillo-area thrifts.

"The only negative we've seen is concern and worry among elderly people," said Marvin Kelfer, president of Travis Savings & Loan Association in San Antonio.

Clements meanwhile defended his comments, published Tuesday in the Amarillo Globe-News.

The governor said the financially ailing Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. might eventually pay only 30 cents on the dollar in cash to depositors at failed thrifts and pay the balance in a note or bond.

Federal officials hastily rebutted the claim at news conferences Tuesday afternoon in Washington and Dallas. The FSLIC insures deposits of up to $100,000 at member thrifts.

Clements maintains that the federal government is making a mistake by allowing insolvent thrifts in Texas to stay open.

"Instead of advertising for new deposits, they should be closed. That's my whole point," he said in an interview Wednesday.

Dallas businessman H.R. "Bum" Bright, principal owner of Bright Banc Savings Association, said the governor's remarks were "deliberate duplicity or simply the result of failing mentality."

But he said the remarks had a minimal effect.

"The current savings and loan industry with the U.S. federal government insurance program has considerably more credibility than the current governor's office," Bright said.

Opinion

Clement vetoes could be worse

It's obvious that anything faintly resembling fat should be trimmed from the state budget.

Gov. Bill Clements' line-item vetoes of $167 million worth of expenditures in the record $38.3 billion appropriations bill for 1988-89 will cause some pain, but, blessedly, he did no gross injury to the state's ability to deliver vital services.

Undoubtedly, departments such as the attorney general's office and the state comptroller's office, which lose their state airplanes, will suffer some inconvenience.

Undoubtedly, some underfinanced school districts will miss the $52 million in subsidies that had been passed to help adjust for losses from property devaluations. And some universities will miss the administrative appropriations the governor knifed.

But these are not incapacitating slashes. State officeholders still will be able to rent planes from the State Aircraft Pooling Board, or fly commercial.

Local school districts and state-supported colleges and universities shouldn't complain. They would have suffered a crippling financial setback had Gov. Clements not changed his mind and finally accepted the largest tax increase in the state's history — $5.7 billion.

Some of Clements' vetoes did appear to be mean-spirited. Trimming an additional $1 million for Attorney General Jim Mattox's child-support program, $11.6 million in administrative funds for the Department of Human Services' child and neglect program and $4.6 million for administration of family planning, employment assistance and medical and dental screening for the poor, appeared to target children and others least able to take care of themselves.

But overall, state agencies should be able to live with the cuts.

Gov. Clements had to assert himself in some manner after breaking his campaign pledge of no new taxes. Better to lose a private airplane than vital services. Texans should count themselves lucky after all.

Delta attempts explaining recent mishaps, collisions

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

Delta Air Lines has appointed a special committee to investigate all the problems it's been having lately with things like near mid-air collisions and landing at wrong airports.

I've been a loyal Delta patron for many years, and, quite frankly, I believe Delta has been getting a raw deal in the press.

Because of this, I decided to launch my own investigation of Delta's recent misfortunes. I called one of my many sources with the airline and he explained what really happened with the celebrated incidents of the past few weeks.

I promised not to use the source's name if he would be completely frank with me, an old journalistic tool that is often necessary to use when getting at the truth, or getting at somebody.

I asked about the fact a Delta pilot landed in Frankfort, Ky., when he was supposed to land at Lexington.

"Picky, picky, picky," began my source.

"At least we got the right state. Plus, it was night and the crew couldn't look out the window and find the K-Mart where they're supposed to hang a right when they're landing in Lexington."

That explained that, so I asked about the near collision over Newfoundland that was caused when a Delta jet went 60 miles off course into the airspace of a Continental airliner.

"I have talked to the pilots and they said they were trying to dodge Halley's Comet," my source explained.

I was somewhat skeptical of this due to the fact that Halley's Comet only comes around about once in every lifetime. My source would not budge, however.

"In the immortal words of Ollie North, 'It's our story, and we're sticking to it,'" he said.

Then I wanted to know what happened when a Delta pilot cut off the engine during takeoff from San Diego and nearly dumped the plane into the Pacific Ocean.

Lewis Grizzard

"The pilot is a real cut-up and he was just having a little fun with the passengers," my source continued.

"At least he doesn't put a lampshade on his head while flying anymore. And what's the big deal here? The seat cushions could have been used as flotation, and everybody could have paddled back to shore if he hadn't got the engines to start up again."

A Delta jet also landed on the wrong runway at the Boston airport.

"Runways all look alike," my source said. "They're long and narrow with a bunch of numbers on them. What, you've never turned up a one-way street before?"

There was one more thing I wanted to ask, and that was about the Delta jet that took off without clearance.

"We didn't take off without clearance," my source said. "We took off without Clarence. Clarence Elrod, the navigator, who got lost on the way to the airport."

Completely satisfied that all the incidents were not anything to be concerned about, I thanked my source for his time and honesty, and I think I can say without hesitation that Delta still gets you there.

With or without Clarence.

Coin dealers cash in on U.S. Eagles

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — Thanks to a decision by U.S. Mint officials, buyers last fall paid exorbitant prices for American Eagle gold coins while a chosen few distributors raked in handsome profits.

This is the scathing conclusion recently reached by investigators for the House Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs and Coinage, chaired by Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill.

The closed system of sales, through authorized dealers, led to a bizarre situation where American coin collectors paid more for the Eagle coins than customers overseas did.

That's because the authorized distributors can charge whatever the traffic will bear — and sales of the American Eagles have nosedived in the foreign markets, where they must compete with the Canadian Maple Leaf, South African Kruggerand, and bullion coins from a growing number of other nations.

But Mint director Donna Pope rejected the congressional findings, saying that pent-up demand caused high prices after the coin was released Oct. 20. Since then, she said, the premiums charged by most distributors have fallen.

She rejected as too costly the suggestion that the Mint establish its own distribution system to sell bullion coins directly to the public, as it has done in the past with commemorative coins.

The distribution network frowned on by Annunzio's investigators was modeled after those adopted by other successful bullion coin-producing nations, she said.

The investigators spent months studying the Eagle distribution system, and suggested that there was "profiteering" on the retail price of the coins.

Our associate Stewart Harris obtained a copy of their unpublished report, which blasts the Mint for setting up a system that in some cases made buyers pay premiums of 40 percent or more for small denominations of the Eagle coins.

Not all 25 dealers cooperated with Annunzio's investigators. But one who did had bought half-ounce Eagles from the Mint for $205.22 last Nov. 22, and resold them at $234.53 — a 14 percent markup — before he had even removed them from the Mint loading dock.

During that same early sale period, another dealer required his customers to pick up their coins at the Mint's bullion depository in West Point, N.Y. — and still charged them a whopping 15 percent premium, even though he did not transport, store or insure the coins. After the initial gold rush by eager collectors, the dealer lowered his premiums.

One of the authorized distributors charged buyers in this country as much as 9 percent more for their Eagle coins than he charged overseas customers. This case was cited by the investigators as "a textbook example of the harm caused by the Mint limiting its dealings to a selected cartel of distributors."

They added this blistering comment on the dealer's price differential: "Such a pricing scheme is contrary to any notion of cost, and appears solely to be profiteering to cash in on American demand for fractional coins." Eagles are sold in one-tenth ounce, quarter-ounce and half-ounce denominations, as well as in the one-ounce size.

Even though several dealers offered Eagles at lower prices abroad, premiums on the Eagles in many cases remain higher than those on Canadian and South African gold coins, according to the congressional report.

The Eagle's international market also suffered when it was discovered — incredibly — that many of the smaller denominations contained less gold than they are supposed to. At the time, the Mint guaranteed only that the average weight of the coins in a bulk shipment would be correct. Now the Mint insists that every coin contains at least the minimum amount of gold.

Annunzio's investigators suggested that the Mint's distribution system may be not only unfair but illegal. They noted that Congress directed the Mint to sell the coins "to the public."

The Mint argues that the law should have said "directly to the public" if Congress didn't want them sold through authorized distributors. But when a coin dealer who wasn't among the 25 authorized dealers threatened suit, the Mint made him an official distributor rather than fight him in court, according to the report.

Footnote: Although the foreign market for Eagles has softened, Pope maintained it had more to do with Annunzio's probe than with the distribution system. She said several distributors were intimidated by the investigation.

BOUNCING BUREAUCRAT — Matthew Novick, who resigned as inspector general of the Environmental Protection Agency amid allegations of wrongdoing, has rebounded once again: Next week he will take over as western regional audit manager for the Interior Department's inspector general. He worked for Interior before his controversial tenure at the EPA.

Novick resigned as EPA's inspector general in February 1983, "without prejudice" but with the encouragement of the White House.

At the time he left the EPA, the agency was in the midst of a raging controversy involving accusations of mismanagement, conflicts of interest and political manipulation of the Superfund hazardous-waste cleanup program.

Shortly after Novick's resignation, the General Accounting Office conducted an investigation of his activities at the EPA. Our reporter Gary Clouser reviewed the report.

The GAO auditors faulted Novick on one score, cleared him on another and offered no opinion on a third. They found that he had indeed violated one of Washington officialdom's most sacred rules — using a government vehicle and chauffeur when cheaper transportation was available.

They made no judgment on an allegation that he used his secretary to type a term paper for his son on government time, which the secretary supported and Novick denied.

On the most serious accusation, the auditors concluded that Novick had not ordered investigations and provided protective services to influence the hiring of a friend by the EPA.

Cars don't die, they just get exhausted

By ALISHA GOLDMAN
Copy Editor

I remember the day the Buick Skylark arrived.

It looked new and shiny — and fancy, for a family that had driven station wagons for years.

We thought it was the most beautiful car we had ever owned.

And it was practically new, driven only by my grandmother to buy groceries or visit us from the Texas golf coast.

When she decided to get a new car, we bought her Skylark at a very decent price — practically free.

It was a 1972 model and we got in 1975. I learned to drive at 15 in 1976, and began driving it to school in 1977.

It's been considered "Alisha's car" ever since.

Its years of service are noted by all of the high school and college parking permits that decorate the back window.

There were a few years I didn't drive it. My freshman year in college I tried living without a car, but when I moved off campus I had to have it. Then, when I was in South America, my sister learned to drive in it (that's how it earned the dent in the right front fender).

But other than that, it was

Around the rim

always there, for innumerable football games and use afterward with friends who didn't have cars. We went to drive-in movies in it (remember those?).

I began my travels in the Skylark — 50,000 miles worth. At first, it was an occasional trip to Lubbock to shop, and later to visit friends. Then, the trips during college shuttling from Abilene to Hobbs (via Big Spring) with a trunkful of laundry.

Every spring there was the annual spring break trip to the coast to see my benevolent grandmother, and every winter a trip to the New Mexico mountains.

In March this year I took a trip to Fort Worth and then to Hobbs. It was to be the last one, and I could tell.

She was falling apart.

This companion — who never had a name — was with me throughout my young adult life.

Those times when I just couldn't handle life anymore, I would drive out of town and sit on the hood under the stars. I remember watching softball games from the hood, too. And hiding Christmas presents in the trunk.

And all the water fights with my brother as we washed her.

My scrapbook is full of pictures with the Skylark. In one she's covered in a foot of snow, with me in a heavy coat and girlfriends throwing snowballs. Another in front of our home in Hobbs.

I recall hours of intimate talks with a friend in that car. There's something about a car that makes it easier to sit and talk. And it was my own private space during years of living with as many as five other women.

For ten years and 136,000 miles she was there.

She was waiting for me when I returned from a two-year tour in South America. I missed her many times as I rode the stuffy, crowded buses and subways in Chile.

A decade of hit songs have played on her radio — until it died last year.

Friends everywhere, especially in Hobbs, recognized me by the car. Good ol' BNH 754. The New Mexico plates became so faded I had been stopped three times in the past three years for suspicion of driving a stolen vehicle.

She began showing signs of her passing when I moved here a year ago. During the winter I learned the taxi service number by heart.

When summer arrived, the air conditioner went out. In West Texas, that tells you the end is in sight.

An era of my life seemed to end as she was taken away to the scrap pile last week. I looked at all the dents and scratches and knew the number of miles she had rolled across. Those 136,000 miles were my miles — and some of the scratches and dents, too.

Now, my friends will have to get used to seeing me in a 1981 Buick Regal of metallic gold. This time I'm an established Texan with the plates to prove it.

In a 136,000 miles, I'll probably have a few memories attached to it, too. But I know it won't be the same as saying adios to my first car.

One body identified

PHILADELPHIA — Authorities identified the first of seven decomposed bodies found in a trash-strewn apartment building as a mother of five, while the suspect's brother pleaded that he surrender.

The body, with small bones in the neck crushed in an apparent strangling, was identified Thursday as Mary Jeter Mathis, Detective William Blackburn said. A welfare card, fingerprints and a T-shirt with a rose on it allowed authorities to identify the 36-year-old woman, who was a drug addict, said Sgt. Robert Snyder.

Stark sailor charged

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — A sailor who was aboard the USS Stark the day it was hit by an Iraqi missile has been charged with murder in the bludgeoning death of another sailor's wife and daughter, investigators said.

Seaman Walter Thomas Taylor Jr., 21, is being held at the Duval County Jail on two counts of second-degree murder, said Sgt. Steven Richardson of the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office. A bond hearing was scheduled today.

Richardson said evidence later will be presented to the grand jury and state attorney's office.

Two rappel 26 stories

ATLANTA — Two firefighters rappelled 26 floors down the side of the Atlanta Hilton Hotel to rescue two window washers stranded on their platform 23 stories above the street.

Anthony Mitchell, 26, and his brother, Eddie, were stranded Thursday when the motor on their lift platform burned out, Department of Public Safety spokesman Keith Forier said.

Firefighters Robert Webber and Rudy Handspike slid down ropes three stories to the platform. Each strapped one of the brothers to him, and rappelled down the remaining 23 floors to the ground, Forier said.

The spokesman said he did not know how long the two were stranded.

Trade deficit worsens

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. trade deficit widened to $15.71 billion in June, possibly the worst shortfall ever, the government reported today.

The increase in the Commerce Department's merchandise trade deficit figure, from $14.04 billion in May, was led by a $2 billion surge in petroleum and other imports.

The widening of the trade gap came even though the government, with this report, began using new calculations showing smaller deficits with Canada.

The small plane allegedly involved in a near collision with President Reagan's helicopter Thursday sits on the runway under guard by Orange County Sheriff's Deputies early Friday morning at John Wayne Airport near Santa Ana, Calif. The Piper Archer aircraft apparently was flown over restricted airspace near the Western White House.

Near miss

Pilot released after incident

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The pilot of a small airplane that came dangerously close to President Reagan's helicopter was released today after the Secret Service determined he had no criminal intent, a spokesman said.

The pilot of the president's helicopter, carrying Reagan to his ranch north of here in the Santa Ynez mountains, was forced to take evasive action Thursday afternoon when the two aircraft came within several hundred feet of each other.

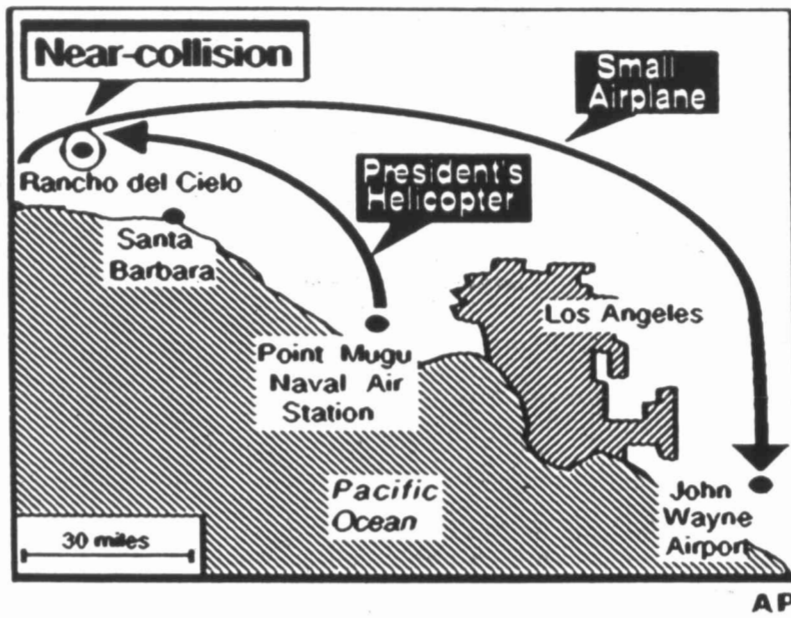

Secret Service interviews "showed there was no criminal intent on the part of the pilot or the passenger and subsequently no arrests were made," said Rich Adams, an agency spokesman in Washington.

Because no charges were anticipated, Adams declined to identify either person aboard the small plane. He also refused to disclose the pilot's explanation for how the incident occurred.

Reagan and aides with him did not notice the Piper Archer aircraft flying in restricted airspace over the president's Rancho del Cielo at about 3:35 p.m. PDT.

First lady Nancy Reagan, planning to join the president later to begin their 25-day California vacation, was not aboard.

At its closest point, the plane was about 200 to 300 feet in front of the helicopter and about 150 feet lower — within the distance classified as a near-collision by the Federal Aviation Administration, presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said.

Adams said the airplane's pilot and a passenger were detained for questioning after they landed at John Wayne Airport in Orange County, about 100 miles south of here.

The airplane pilot, according to CBS-TV, told investigators that he was tired, had taken out his contact lenses and handed them to the passenger, who dropped them.

The plane inadvertently strayed into restricted air space over the president's ranch as the two searched the floor of the aircraft for the lenses, CBS said, citing an unidentified FAA official who termed the story "cockamamie."

Adams said he would not confirm the account. Spokesmen for the Orange County Sheriff's Department and the FAA in Washington and Los Angeles said they were unaware of the pilot's statement.

Fitzwater said the incident did not interrupt the president's landing at the ranch and Reagan did not know about it until after he was on the ground.

Ships avoid mine area

MANAMA, Bahrain — Ships avoided a busy anchorage just south of the Persian Gulf today despite assurances it has been cleared of floating mines, shipping executives said.

The newspaper al-Khaleej meanwhile quoted a United Arab Emirates official as warning there may be small "booby-trapped" boats operated by remote control in the same waters outside the Strait of Hormuz.

The Emirates' Ministry of Agriculture warned fishermen and swimmers Thursday not to approach "suspicious objects and small boats on the eastern coast of the country," said the paper, based in Sharjah.

Botha defers election

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Liberal and far-right white opposition leaders today criticized President P.W. Botha's decision to postpone for three years a white election scheduled for 1989.

Botha told Parliament on Thursday that he would introduce legislation to allow the government elected in May to serve a full five-year term.

He had called that election two years ahead of schedule to seek a mandate for his policy of slight relaxation in apartheid.

Building collapse kills

BELEM, Brazil — Rescuers tore frantically through twisted steel and concrete today in search of victims buried when a building under construction collapsed, taking part of a nearby church with it. At least 10 people died.

"It's hard to imagine it was once a building," said Police Chief Joao Damasceno, hours after the Thursday evening disaster in this remote Amazon city of 1 million, which lies 2,277 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro.

Three neighboring houses and a Protestant church were damaged by the falling, 13-story building. Police said 21 laborers were missing in the rubble of the construction site, and an undetermined number of people were believed trapped in the church.

Hiroshima protests

TOKYO — Hiroshima today protested the latest U.S. nuclear test in Nevada, carried out less than a week after the city observed the 42nd anniversary of its destruction by an American atomic bomb.

Hiroshima Mayor Takeshi Araki, in a telegram to U.S. Ambassador Mike Mansfield, said Thursday's testing "tramples" on the efforts of those pursuing nuclear disarmament and appealed for a nuclear-free world, said a city spokeswoman, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Lindsey Buckingham to leave Fleetwood Mac

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES — Guitarist and singer Lindsey Buckingham, considered the creative force behind rock group Fleetwood Mac, plans to leave the band, its publicist says.

Two new members will "add very excitingly to the Fleetwood Mac sound" before the 20-year-old band embarks on a tour this fall, Mitch Schneider said Tuesday. He did not name the new members.

Buckingham and vocalist Stevie Nicks joined Fleetwood Mac in 1975 and heavily influenced its 1977 LP, "Rumours," which won a Grammy as album of the year.

Fleetwood Mac has had numerous incarnations since it was formed in 1967 by former members of John Mayall's Blues Breakers, bassist John McVie and drummer Mick Fleetwood. Its first album in five years, "Tango," is No. 20 on the Billboard charts.

MEXICO CITY — Actress Jane Fonda began production work this week on a Columbia Pictures film version of "The Old Gringo," a novel by Mexican author Carlos Fuentes, an actors' union spokesman said.

It had not been confirmed yet if Miss Fonda also would act in the movie, Ernesto Gomez Cruz said Wednesday.

There have been reports that Miss Fonda will play the part of the teacher who becomes involved in the meeting of Ambrose Bierce and Pancho Villa during the Mexican revolution.

"We don't know yet who will play the leading roles in the movie," Gomez Cruz said in a phone interview.

The director will be Luis Puenzo of Argentina, whose "The Official Story" won an Academy Award two years ago as the best foreign language film, Gomez Cruz said.

LOS ANGELES — Actress Sandy Duncan will replace Valerie Harper in television's "Valerie," but the show will keep its name, says Lorimar-Telepictures, which dropped Miss Harper in a salary dispute.

"She's off the show," Lorimar spokesman Barry Stagg said Wednesday of Miss Harper. "We thought we had resolved our differences, but we were unable to work things out."

Also gone from the NBC-TV show is Miss Harper's husband, co-executive producer Tony Cacciotti, said Stagg.

Miss Harper has refused comment during the dispute.

Stagg earlier had characterized her pay as one of the highest in television. That would indicate it was in excess of $100,000 a week.

The revised show will feature Miss Duncan portraying Sandy Hogan, the sister of pilot Mike Hogan, who moves into the Hogan household to take over the care of her three nephews. The other characters will remain the same, with Mike Hogan played by Josh Taylor and the boys by Jason Bateman, Danny Ponce, and Jeremy Licht.

Shooting will resume Aug. 31, said Stagg.

Miss Duncan has starred in motion pictures, on television and Broadway, including Tony-nominated performances in "The Boy Friend," "Peter Pan" and "The Canterbury Tales."

She received Emmy nominations for her TV work in "Funny Face" and "Roots."

KINSTON, N.C. — Little Eva's doing a brand new dance now.

"I don't locomote no more," said Eva Boyd as she wiped the counter at Hanzies Grill, a soul food restaurant here.

It's been 25 years since Ms. Boyd, as teen-aged Little Eva, hit the top of the charts with Carole King's and Gerry Goffin's "The Locomotion."

"I ain't into singing over chicken," the 43-year-old Ms. Boyd said in a recent interview. She still sings with a gospel group from her church and is considering making a record.

"She sounds beautiful," said waitress Loraine Jackson. "If you listen to her sing, it sounds like Little Eva."

"Just older," Ms. Boyd said.

One-way ticket is a puzzling gift from son

DEAR ABBY: You've had so much in your column lately about gifts, I want to tell you what happened to me. First of all, I'm a widow, past 60, with grown children, and I know I'm hard to buy for, but last Christmas my son and daughter-in-law gave me a gift certificate for a one-way ticket to Phoenix!

Abby, my home is in Ohio, and I have been to Phoenix, and don't care to make any more trips. They said I could go anywhere in the United States and they would pay for it — but it had to be one way. I told them there was no place in the U.S. I wanted to go — and stay — so they said, "Either take a one-way ticket, or you're out of luck!"

What is your opinion of this?
LIKES OHIO
DEAR LIKES OHIO: If this was supposed to be a joke, I don't think it's funny. If your son and daughter-in-law were encouraging you to travel, there are kinder ways to get their point across.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Our son, I'll call him Derrick, is 18 and lives with a woman who has two small children and is 10 years older than he is. He is planning to marry her when she gets her divorce. Derrick seems happy living the way he is although he was raised in a Christian home. In this state, he can get married at 18 without parental consent.

Derrick is a big, strong, healthy kid, but he doesn't like to work, so he seldom holds a job for very long. He has obligations at the bank for a car and is looking for his mother and me to bail him out. Should we help him financially, or let him sink or swim?
DERRICK'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A young man who is old enough to marry without parental consent is old enough to pay his own bills. When he knows he has to hold down a job, he will.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who needs your help to settle a dispute between my mom and me.

My mom will not allow me to wear men's boxer shorts and a tank top in public. I am trying to tell her there is nothing wrong with it — it's the style. Lots of girls are wearing them.

Mom says it's gross for girls to wear boys' underwear in public. I would like to hear your opinion. Sign this...
THE BOXER REBELLION

DEAR BOXER REBELLION: Boxer shorts and tank tops are a summer fad that will probably fall out of favor when the first chill of autumn arrives. Gross? Not really. Unfeminine, perhaps, but not offensive.

P.S. I like your signature. With that kind of creativity, you could write an advice column one day.

Parents can help children cope with sibling rivalry

By NYU MEDICAL CENTER
Parents can temper sibling rivalry by helping their older children cope with rather than cover up their feelings of anger and jealousy, specialists at New York University Medical Center say.

"Parents have always been told sibling rivalry is a natural stage that has to run its course," said Dr. Richard A. Oberfield, clinical associate professor of psychiatry at the center.

"However, children need their parents' active intervention to help them cope with their stormy feelings about the new family member. This is especially true for children who adapt poorly to change and who are more likely than easy-going children to experience intense feelings of jealousy and anger and vent those feelings on their new sibling."

According to Oberfield, parents can mitigate sibling rivalry by giving their older children extra emotional support and a means to express their anxiety, jealousy and anger.

"Most parents know to enlist the child's aid in caring for the new baby so the older sibling does not feel excluded, but they should be warned against overplaying sibling loyalty," he said.

"If the older child shows his anger by pulling out a pacifier, for instance, parents should not lecture him about the need to be more loving. The child needs to explore the angry or hurt feelings behind the deed rather than cover them up. Children need a vent for those feelings."

One of the most meaningful ways to assuage an older child's anger and sense of loss is to make sure he has time by himself with one or both parents.

Elections

Texans to vote on record 25 amendments

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans will decide the fate of 25 proposed constitutional amendments in this November's election, along with the question of legalizing gambling on horse racing.

Secretary of State Jack Rains, drawing slips of paper out of a cowboy hat, Wednesday determined the order in which the amendments will be placed before voters on Nov. 3.

For the first time, Rains said, two statewide referenda also will go to voters. By law, those follow the constitutional questions, he said.

Gov. Bill Clements on Wednesday issued a proclamation designating the order for the two referenda which had been sent to voters by the Legislature.

The question of whether to maintain the State Board of Education as an appointed — rather than elected — body will be listed ahead of the pari-mutuel gambling referendum. Currently, the school board is scheduled to return to an elected group in 1989. The gambling issue was sent to the ballot by legislators in 1986.

Local issues, if any, will follow the statewide questions. At least four counties already have decided to place local-option horse-racing elections before their voters Nov. 3.

"There are 25 amendments before the voters, which is the highest number in Texas history. It is the first time in Texas history that statewide referenda will come before the voters," Rains said before conducting the drawing.

"The top of the ballot will be the state elections. The ballot is constitutional amendments, referenda and whatever your local issues trail after that," he said.

Rains' drawing established the November constitutional amendment ballot order as follows:

- HJR104: To provide for the surety of a grain warehouse fund to be established by the grain industry for the protection of farmers and depositors of grain in public warehouse facilities.
- HJR60: To raise the maximum property tax rate that may be adopted by certain rural fire prevention districts.
- HJR48: To limit school tax increases on the residence of the surviving spouse of an elderly person if the spouse is at least 55 years old.
- HJR5: To authorize the Legislature to provide assistance for encouraging economic development.
- HJR65: To authorize agreements between the state highway department and the turnpike authority and counties of more than 400,000, adjoining counties and cities to aid turnpikes, toll roads and toll bridges by guaranteeing bonds.

- HJR4: To allow the Legislature to provide for state financing of the development of Texas products and businesses.
- SJR55: To provide for the issuance of general obligation bonds to finance local public facilities.
- SJR56: To authorize issuance of general obligation bonds for projects relating to corrections institutions and mental health facilities.
- SJR9: To allow legislators to be elected or appointed to other state offices but not receive any increase in pay granted to that office during his legislative term.
- SJR12: To allow the Legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxation certain personal property not used for producing income.
- SJR12, Part II: To provide for exemption from ad valorem taxes of certain property located in the state temporarily.

- SJR35: To permit spouses to hold community property with right of survivorship.
- SJR27: To allow for creation of special districts for emergency services.
- SJR34: To give the state a limited right to appeal in criminal cases.
- HJR35: To abolish office of county treasurer in Gregg, Fayette and Nueces counties.
- SJR6: To allow more than one justice of the peace court in certain precincts.
- SJR26: To allow the Legislature to define for all purposes the governmental and proprietary functions of a municipality.
- HJR18: To allow creation of jail districts.
- HJR88: To authorize issuing general obligation bonds for a "super collider" research facility.

- HJR96: To allow the Legislature to grant ad valorem tax relief for certain unused offshore drilling equipment.
- SJR17: To permit the Legislature to include the speaker of the House or speaker's appointee in membership of an executive agency or committee.
- SJR53: To allow Legislature to limit authority of governor to fill vacancies in state offices at the end of a term in which the governor wasn't re-elected.
- SJR54: To authorize issuing $400 million more in water development bonds.
- HJR83: To permit county to perform work, without compensation, for other governmental bodies.
- SJR5: To authorize the Legislature to permit the Amarillo Hospital District to serve certain residents of Randall County.

Millionaire takes reunion on cruise

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — A local boy who made good wanted to do a little something for his high school classmates at their 35th-year reunion this weekend. So he's taking them to the Bahamas.

Delbert Dumire, former bank robber and currently a Kansas City, Mo., millionaire, has invited members of Punxsutawney High School's Class of '52 to join him on a four-day cruise. For free. For real. And they can bring guests.

"It's something I always wanted to do, something I dreamed of," Dumire, 53, said earlier this week from his Missouri home. "It goes way back to my origins, saying if I ever make it big I'll come back and do something for my hometown."

"He's like a kid in a candy store," his wife, Debbie, 30, said, laughing. "He's having a wonderful time planning this."

His classmates, all in their early 50s, and their spouses are just as thrilled.

"It's like you've been on TV and won this big prize. It's unbelievable. It really is," said Mary Ann Ferko, whose husband, Bill, is a member of what's jokingly referred to around town as "the right gang."

"People at the office, friends, nobody can quite believe it. They're asking, 'Who is this character and what's he doing?'" said Class President Carl VanDyke, a St. Louis, Mo., businessman who's going on the cruise with his wife, Debbie.

For months, it's been the main topic of conversation in this western Pennsylvania town of about 8,000 people, best known for its famous, weather-predicting groundhog, Punxsutawney Phil.

"Our biggest claim to fame is the groundhog," Mrs. Ferko said. "Now something else is getting some fame."

Dumire has hired eight buses to take the class from Punxsutawney to Pittsburgh early Friday morning, a procession he plans to lead in his red Rolls-Royce. The group will board a chartered jet and fly to Miami, then be whisked to the ship and set sail for Nassau. They return home Monday.

In addition to 192 classmates and their guests, Dumire is taking along executives of Growth Industries Inc., an airplane parts manufacturing company he founded 20 years ago.

Dumire will pay for everything except for drinks, from land excursions to entertainment to tips. He expects the entire tab for the group of approximately 420 people to run more than $420,000.

DELBERT DUMIRE

Air Force. Desperate to pay off gambling debts, he robbed a bank in the mid-1950s in Abilene, Kan., and was sentenced to prison. He was paroled after two years.

Determined to turn around his life, he borrowed $3,000 in the 1960s to start Growth Industries, which flourished in 1979 and nearly went bankrupt. He paid off the company's debts the following year, however, and business has been booming ever since.

"He's been successful, but he doesn't go around waving his own flag," said Ferko, a biology teacher in Punxsutawney. "He's just a nice guy. He's a philanthropist, let's face it."

Soon after the offer became public, the reunion committee was swamped with applications for the trip.

One woman, for instance, explained that she dropped out of school before graduating, but would have been in the Class of '52 if she had.

Wanting everything to go perfectly, Dumire handled all the arrangements himself. He and his wife even took the same cruise last weekend to ensure there would be no snags and scheduled a pre-cruise "bash" Thursday night in Punxsutawney so everyone could get over the formalities of introductions.

"When you go to a reunion, it's almost like you're 18 for that night. You're a cocoon for a night," Dumire said.

McDonald's heir gives democrats $1 million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joan B. Kroc, widow of the McDonald's fast-food magnate, is telling Democrats "you deserve a break today." She announced Thursday she has given them $1 million, the biggest single contribution in party history.

Mrs. Kroc, a registered independent and an advocate of nuclear disarmament, said the contribution was motivated by concern about the direction the nation has taken during the Reagan administration.

She said she is looking to the Democrats "for the positive, principled leadership we must have to restore America to its proper place as the foremost champion of peace and justice in the world."

"For the last six years ... I have grown increasingly concerned that we may be losing sight of our goals as a nation. In the name of 'national security,' we have accelerated the buildup of weapons. We have diverted our bountiful resources from improving our lives and our environment to an unwarranted and excessive increase of our military weapons," she said.

She said she was also concerned "over the use of military force as the first priority in carrying out U.S. policy abroad."

In an interview from California, Mrs. Kroc said "the gift speaks for itself," as a reflection of her feelings about the national political scene.

She said she has also given the maximum $1,000 to each of the Democratic presidential contenders who has a campaign committee in place, and she expects to line up behind one of them before the party's national nominating convention next summer.

"This is the largest contribution in the 139-year history of the Democratic National Committee," said DNC spokesman Terry Michael.

He said it came about when Kirk telephoned Mrs. Kroc, who lives in La Jolla, Calif., near San Diego, to seek her support for the party.

"I said to Paul, 'Well, of course, I'd like to help ... I said put me down for a million dollars,'" she said.

"I hope we can get some other well-heeled Democrats" to help out as well, she said, adding that she intends to try to influence her associates to give to the party.

Since there is a $25,000 election law limit on the amount an individual can give toward federal campaigns, the money will go into the Democrats' accounts that are oriented to state elections, the DNC said.

Missing babies found dead

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Two infants left in a car by their mothers died after being abandoned along a highway by a man who told police he stole the car to buy drugs and was bothered by the babies' crying, authorities said Thursday.

David Stanley Eskridge, 26, was held on two counts of first-degree murder, two counts of kidnapping and auto larceny in the case, said Deputy Police Chief Don O. Lewis.

Lewis said Eskridge stole the car from an alley off a Memphis street of abandoned and ramshackle houses as the infants' mothers, 16-year-old Tracy Coach and 18-year-old Sharon McNeil, visited an apartment there Tuesday night.

The car's motor was running, and Eskridge told police he needed the auto to reach an area of the city where he could buy drugs, said Lewis.

"He was under the influence of drugs" when taken into custody, Lewis said. No drug charges were filed against him, however, the police chief said.

Police Lt. James Bolden said Eskridge drove around with the children for about two hours before abandoning them.

"He said he went on a spree of buying drugs ... and the children had begun crying and he merely put them out of the car," Bolden said.

Lewis said 10-month-old Japhus Coach and 2-month-old Sheena McNeil apparently died of exposure after being left for more than 24 hours in a grassy ditch near Interstate 240, on the outskirts of downtown.

Their bodies were found shortly before midnight Wednesday after Eskridge told police where he had left them, Lewis said.

Howard recruits come from all over

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

This summer the Howard College baseball coaches have been busy recruiting a class they hope can keep Howard baseball at last year's level — namely, a playoff spot and a sparkling 36-13 record.

Assistant Coach Frank Anderson said 18 players from seven states, including five Texas players, have signed to attend Howard next year. They'll join nine returning sophomores, some of whom had fantastic years last year.

The top returnees will be outfielder Ernesto Castro, who batted .442 with 59 runs batted; catcher Randy Deal, who batted .418 and set a school record for RBIs with 78; Juan Rodriguez, who led the team in homers and average, with numbers of 16 and .444; and top pitcher Ted Hebert, who compiled a 13-3 record with a glittering ERA of 2.62.

Other returnees include infielder Joe Camarillo and pitchers Derrick Matlock and John Medrick.

"We've got four real good kids to build on — Castro, Rodriguez, Deal and Hebert — those are four pretty good players right there," Anderson said.

"The recruits look good, but you never know until you get 'em here. The potential is there, but that's a big word," he said.

One of the recruits, outfielder-first baseman David Perez, led the nation in hitting his junior season with a .607 average. Perez, from El Paso, tallied off last year to .396, but was a three-time all-city player and a one-time city player of the year.

Darren Glen, also from El Paso, was an all-city infielder last year. He batted .401 and hit six home runs.

Anderson said one of the Hawks' top recruits is second baseman-shortstop Richard Baker from Houston. Baker is a switch-hitter who batted .375 last year and was a two-time all-district selection. Anderson said Baker is an excellent fielder who reminds him of Joel Chimelis, last year's Hawks' shortstop who will play for Texas this year.

William Banfield, a two-time all-city and all-district selection from San Antonio, knocked in 11 runs in one game last year. The catcher finished with 24 RBIs and a .450 average.

The other Texas recruit is big Morris Moss from Dallas. The pitcher-first baseman is 6-3, 225, and was a three-time All-Metro selection. From his freshman to his junior year, Moss struck out 309 and compiled a 31-12 record with a 2.17 ERA.

Kenny Frederick, from Youngsville, La., is another big prospect. The first baseman-outfielder is 6-2, 220, and batted .453 with 26 RBIs and eight homers last year. He was an all-state selection his senior year.

Anderson said Howard signed four players from Michigan. Jay Williams, an all-state shortstop from Essexville, hit .380 and stole 25 bases last year.

Paul Spyhalski, a switch-hitting center fielder from Bay City, Mich., was second team all-state, and hit .423 with 27 RBIs and 24 stolen bases.

Aaron Watrous, from Midland, Mich., hit .411 with 32 RBIs, which are big numbers for a second baseman. Watrous was a two-time all-area selection and a one-time all-district choice.

The other Michigan recruit is 6-2, 200-pound pitcher-catcher Mike Monville from Essexville. He was region MVP his senior year, when he hit .402 with 27 RBIs, six homers and 12 steals. On the mound, he had a 6-0 record, and struck out 62 in 34 innings. He had an ERA of 1.24.

Howard signed two players from Colorado. Mike Bard, an all-league infielder from Denver, hit .418 with 18 RBIs last season.

Ronald Christensen, who played in the Colorado all-star game, hit .395 last year. The 5-10, 150-pound infielder is from Loveland, Colo.

Garth Buresh comes from the far-away land of South Dakota. Buresh, a left-handed pitcher from

Two former Hawks going to national contender

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

The Howard College Hawks baseball team put some impressive statistics on the board in going 36-13 last year, and major college scouts evidently took notice.

Two Hawks, shortstop Joel Chimelis and center fielder Jeff Shults, will suit up as Texas Longhorns next year. By doing so, they will automatically have a good chance to be on a national championship team — Texas is always among the nation's best baseball teams.

Chimelis, who was drafted in the 16th round by the Atlanta Braves, batted .351 last year, with 48 RBIs and seven home runs. Chimelis' strength, however, is probably his defensive play.

Shults, a speedster who batted .324 and drew 40 walks, was described by Hawks' assistant coach Frank Anderson as an outstanding defensive player.

Another Hawk, first baseman-outfielder John Wiles, will play for Texas A&M.

Four Hawks will play for Southwest Louisiana. Pitcher Howard Landry, drafted in the 25th round by the Oakland A's, had an 11-3 record and 102 strikeouts last season, and will go to Southwest Louisiana.

Others going there are pitchers Thad Weber and Mark Hutchinson and outfielder Perry Schock.

Glen Donnelly saw very little action last year because starting catcher Randy Deal had such a good year. Nevertheless, Donnelly will attend Pan American University in Edinburg, which has a strong baseball program. Anderson said Donnelly is an excellent defensive catcher with a great arm.

Second baseman Chad Baker, who batted .335 with 36 RBIs, will attend Southwest Texas University in San Marcos, as will catcher-outfielder Freddie Lopez.

Third baseman Frank Medina will play for St. Mary's University, an NAIA school in San Antonio; and first baseman Al Lopez will play for Incarnate Word, also in San Antonio.

Joyner ties world long jump mark

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Americans ran away from the Cubans in the medals race at the Pan Am Games. Jackie Joyner-Kersey jumped away with hers.

After four days, only 69 medals separated the United States from Cuba — traditional 1-2 rivals at these games. But the United States was on a roll Thursday, picking up medals from swimming to shooting.

By the end of the night the Americans had a pile of 40 more medals, 17 of them gold, while the Cubans added only a handful — five for the day.

The U.S. treasure chest now has 198 medals, 104 more than Cuba.

The most treasured of the night was won at the Indiana University track where Joyner-Kersey sailed 24 feet, 5 1/2 inches into the air and landed with a piece world record in the long jump.

Earlier in the day she saw a picture of East German Heike Drechsler jumping and thought, "That's what I need to do, get in that position."

She did, holding her knees up as long as possible, and now it's Drechsler's record that she shares.

In gymnastics, a hobbled U.S. team still managed to win gold, but it didn't seem fair to at least one Cuban competitor.

"All the judges were partial for the North American team," Casimiro Suarez said. "I believe we competed a lot better than they did."

It was a good day for Americans even when medals weren't at stake.

U.S. boxers Andrew Maynard and Kelcie Banks won convincingly over two Argentinians in their opening bouts and meet the Cubans next.

"A lot of people expect the Cubans to dominate," said Banks, of Chicago. "It's going to be a great competition, but I think the U.S. has a good chance, too."

The U.S. basketball team won its fourth straight in a rout, as usual, beating Venezuela 109-74. The Americans now advance to Sunday's quarterfinals.

U.S. women's softball team pitchers now have two no-hitters and two one-hitters. Michele Granger, who no-hit El Salvador on Sunday, one-hit Belize on Thursday for a 6-0 victory. The one hit was a chopper tip the middle that deflected off Granger's glove.

And the U.S. men's volleyball team — the defending Olympic and world champions — recouped from its Wednesday night loss to Brazil with a three-game sweep of the Dominican Republic.

TRACK AND FIELD

Joyner-Kersey, of East St. Louis, Ill., tied the record on her sixth and final jump.

"I realized on the fifth jump I did something wrong, so I hit myself on the side of the head and talked about it and got it together and prayed to God and just tried to put it all together on the last jump," she said.

The biggest upset, though, came in the men's 400 meters, where American Raymond Pierre came from behind in the final 80 meters to win the gold medal over 1983 world champion Bert Cameron of Jamaica.

Pierre, who attends Baylor, was sixth in this year's NCAA championships. The only U.S. entrant in the event, he won in a lifetime best 44.60 seconds. Cameron was second in 44.72.

American Coleen Sommer, of

Chandler, Ariz., continued her comeback from an auto accident last year, winning the high jump at 6-5 and breaking the Pan Am record. LaVonna Martin, the collegiate record holder from Tennessee, set another Pan Am record in a semifinal heat of the women's 100-meter high hurdles in 13.02.

Mike Gonzales came from a distant second to defeat U.S. teammate Keith Robinson of Provo, Utah, in the decathlon. Gonzales overcame a 227-point deficit with three events left to edge Robinson by 76 points. Gonzales' 7,649 total points was the lowest winning score in the 10-event Pan Am competition since 1971.

GYMNASTICS

U.S. Coach Abie Grossfeld disagreed with Suarez's assessment that the judges were partial to the Americans.

Four of the six U.S. gymnasts were battling injuries, but the U.S. team still broke the Pan Am record by five points in edging Cuba, 577.05 to 574.10. Brazil won the bronze, defeating Mexico.

Lowery's six field goals sink Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers were literally kicked into submission by Kansas City's Nick Lowery in their NFL exhibition opener.

Lowery kicked six field goals, including a go-ahead 22-yarder with 7:58 to play Thursday night, leading the Chiefs to a 32-20 victory.

"There were no bombs out there, just routine field goals," Lowery

Exhibition

said. "You have to give the offense credit for getting us in position."

"Every year it's like learning to kick over again under pressure. I've never made six field goals before, but I did make five against the (Los Angeles) Raiders in regular season.

Lowery hit field goals of 39 and 38 yards in the first half when the Chiefs took a 13-10 intermission lead.

He added kicks of 28, 19, 22 and 42 yards in the second half. Herman Heard ran 1-yard for a touchdown in the first quarter and Bill Kenney hit Darrell Colbert with a 40-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Tony Zendejas had field goals of 23 and 30 yards for the Oilers and Warren Moon hit Drew Hill with a 19-yard touchdown pass and Hubert Oliver ran 1-yard for another Oiler touchdown.

The Oilers played the game without starting running back Mike Rozier, who said he overslept and missed pre-game warmups.

Oiler Coach Jerry Glanville said it was a private matter between him and Rozier. "I came late to dress out, that's it," Rozier said. "I don't know if he (Glanville) wasn't going to play me or if it was because I was late."

"He asked me where I'd been and I told him. There was no big scene. I told him I'd overslept. It happens. I'm human just like you."

Glanville said he wanted to see as many players as possible.

"When we had good people out there, good things happened," Glanville said. "(quarterback) Cody Carlson looked good and so did (running back) Ira Valentine."

Kansas City Coach Frank Gansz said he was pleased with rookies Christian Okoye and Colbert.

"They both looked like two fine offensive players," Gansz said. "They're showing skills and poise beyond their experience."

Lowery's fifth field goal came after eighth round draft choice Michael Clemens returned a punt 51 yards to the Oiler 10-yard line. The 22-yarder put the Chiefs ahead for good.

Sherman Cocroft returned an interception by Houston quarterback John Witkowski five yards, setting up Kenney's touchdown bomb to Colbert.

Lowery, who kicked five field goals in a regular season game against Pittsburgh in 1980, added a 42-yarder with 1:46 to play for his sixth of the game.

Kansas City is 1-1 in exhibition play, losing their opener 20-7 to San Francisco in the Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio. Houston is 0-1.

Everett paces Rams

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Jim Everett completed eight of 11 passes, and Eric Dickerson rushed for 77 yards as the Los Angeles Rams built a 20-7 halftime lead en route to a 23-14 preseason victory over the Seattle Seahawks on Thursday night.

Seattle quarterback Dave Krieg was intercepted four times in the opening half, three times in the second quarter as the Rams collected two touchdowns and a pair of field goals.

The victory was the second of the preseason for the Rams, who defeated the Denver Broncos 28-27 in London last Sunday.

The Seahawks were making their preseason debut, after closing out 1986 with five consecutive victories.

Everett, beginning his second pre season, threw for 102 yards while playing the first half, including a 46-yard touchdown pass to Ron Brown.

Dickerson played just the first quarter and the opening series of the second, but averaged 9.63 yards per carry on his eight calls, including a 40-yard run.

The Rams' other second-quarter scoring came on a 1-yard touchdown run by Mike Guman, and Mike Lansford field goals of 24 and 41 yards.

Seattle took a 7-0 lead midway through the first quarter on 37-yard touchdown pass from Krieg to Steve Largent.

Seattle's Jeff Kemp, a former Ram, threw an 8-yard scoring pass to Ray Butler to make the score 20-14 early in the final period, but Tim Lasher's 18-yard field goal with 3:41 remaining gave the Rams a nine-point pad.

Kansas City Chiefs running back Paul Palmer is brought down by Houston Oilers tackle Doug Smith after a three yard gain in second quarter action Thursday night in Houston.

Morris too much for Royals

By The Associated Press
The Kansas City Royals didn't have much of a chance to extend their four-game winning streak since Jack Morris found out he was in control of all of his pitches.

"I just felt like if I kept throwing good I would win," Morris said after he pitched a five-hitter and struck out 11 as the Detroit Tigers beat the Royals 4-1 Thursday night. "It's the first time in a long time that I've thrown all four of my pitches and had a pretty good idea of where they were going. It was just a good night for me."

Morris, 33-6, who walked only one, retired 16 consecutive batters from the second to the seventh inning. He gave up a solo homer to Jim Eisenreich in the eighth, then retired the Royals in order in the ninth to pull the Tigers within a half-game of first place Toronto in the American League East.

Pat Sheridan, who had three hits, including an RBI triple, said the Tigers had focused recently on the New York Yankees, whom Detroit beat in three out of four games last weekend. Now that the Tigers have completed the season series with New York, the focus is changing to Toronto.

Matt Nokes drove in Detroit's first run with an infield out after Royals starter Mark Gubicza issued two walks and hit Alan Trammell with a pitch in the first inning. In the third, Trammell singled and scored on Nokes' double.

Gubicza, 9-12, issued his sixth walk, to Dave Bergman, leading off the sixth and Sheridan tripled to put the Tigers ahead 3-0. Lou Whitaker followed with a sacrifice fly.

White Sox 10, Blue Jays 3
A sellout crowd of 45,152 at Exhibition Stadium went home disappointed as Chicago left-hander Floyd Bannister outdueled Phil Niekro in his Toronto debut.

Minnesota Twins catcher Tim Laudner bobbles the ball as California Angels Mark Lemore scores on Doug DeCinces' hit in third inning action Thursday afternoon. Angels' on-deck batter George Hendrick tells Lemore to slide.

Bannister, 8-9, pitched a six-hitter and Niekro, 7-12, had five shutout innings before allowing a three-run homer to Donnie Hill in the sixth. Then the White Sox routed two relievers with seven runs in the eighth inning.

Juan Beniquez's fourth-inning homer put the Blue Jays ahead 1-0, but Hill's homer in the sixth gave the White Sox a 3-1 lead.

Angels 10, Twins 1
California cut Minnesota's lead to 2½ games in the West as the Twins failed to deliver in the clutch, stranding 10 baserunners in the first six innings off Mike Witt.

Witt, 14-8, allowed nine hits in the first six innings, but he and DeWayne Buice, who pitched the ninth, gave up no hits over the final three.

Doug DeCinces drove in two California runs with a homer and a single. Dick Schofield, making his first appearance since separating his left shoulder July 12, had three hits and drove in a run, helping the Angels beat Steve Carlton, 6-11.

Orioles 5, Brewers 4
Paul Molitor extended his hitting streak to 28 games by hitting a homer with two outs in the ninth, but Milwaukee wasn't able to overcome Fred Lynn's sixth career grand slam.

Mike Boddicker and Tom Niedenfuer combined on a six-hitter, with Boddicker allowing four hits in 7 1-3 innings. Niedenfuer got the last five outs for his eighth save, despite allowing an RBI single to Ernest Riles and Molitor's homer.

Molitor said he wasn't sure he'd get another chance to bat after grounding out in the seventh, but noted: "The advantage of leading off, as far as the streak is concerned, played a very important part."

Molitor, who is hitting .422 during the longest hitting streak in the majors this season, grounded out twice, struck out and walked before hitting his 10th homer.

Lynn's grand slam off Chris Bosio, 7-5, came in the fourth inning and Mike Young added a solo homer in the sixth.

Phillies deck Cards in 13th inning

By The Associated Press
Rick Schu's two-run double with two out in the 13th inning Thursday gave Philadelphia a 4-2 victory over St. Louis — the Phillies' fifth straight — and improved their record to 59-55, 10 games behind by shortstop Buddy Biancalana as San Francisco outlasted Houston at Candlestick Park.

Biancalana fielded a grounder by Kevin Mitchell, who was awarded an infield single, and threw the ball into the dirt, past first base, allowing Thompson to score the winning run. The error made a winner of reliever Craig Lefferts, 3-4.

Mitchell went 4-for-6 for the Giants and drove in four runs, three with his 15th homer of the year.

The victory was the seventh in eight games for the Giants, who remained tied with Cincinnati for the NL West lead. The defending champion Astros lost for the sixth time in seven games and dropped four games out of first.

Reds 5, Dodgers 2
Kal Daniels sparked a five-run eighth inning with a leadoff home run and pinch-hitter Tracy Jones singled in the tying and winning runs, helping the Cincinnati beat Los Angeles in a rare weekday Dodger Stadium day game.

Cubs 7, Mets 5
Jody Davis' two-run single off the glove of right fielder Darryl Strawberry snapped an eighth-inning tie and gave Chicago a come-from-behind victory over New York at Wrigley Field.

The Mets led 5-0 after two innings but pitching ace Dwight Gooden was unable to hold it and was chased after five. It was the first time Gooden failed to protect a five-run lead in his four-year career.

Padres 5, Braves 3
Chris Brown hit a three-run double in the sixth inning to tie the score and Garry Templeton singled him home with the winning run as host San Diego beat Atlanta.

Randy Ready drove in the Padres' fifth run in the sixth with a pinch double.

Mark Grant, 3-6, pitched six innings, allowing seven hits, for the victory and got relief help from Keith Comstock and Lance McCullers.

It was the Padres' eighth victory in their last nine games.

Expos 9, Pirates 7
Tim Wallach drove in five runs and Tim Raines equaled his club record by scoring five times as Montreal defeated visiting Pittsburgh. Raines also homered and stole his 500th career base.

the first-place Cardinals.
St. Louis remained 4½ games ahead of the New York Mets.
Schu's line drive to left field off reliever Ken Dayley, 7-3, scored Luis Aguayo, who had singled, and Milt Thompson, who walked.

Games, the record in the 200-meter breaststroke fell, this time to Jeff Kubiak of Davis, Calif., who finished in 2:17.62 for a gold medal.

The United States picked up four gold and three silvers in the pool.
The golds came in the men's 400 freestyle and 400 free relay and in the women's 100 butterfly.
Canada's Keltie Duggan prevented a U.S. sweep by winning the women's 100 breaststroke.

Paul Robinson of Richardson, Texas, earned his second and third gold medals of the games, winning the 400 free and joining Jim Born, Scott McCadem and Todd Dudley in the victorious 400 free relay team.

BOXING
Maynard, a powerful puncher, knocked down Oscar Gonzales while Banks, the 125-pound world champion, beat another Argentinian, Marcos Cristafalo.

Banks will meet Arnaldo Mesa on Sunday and Maynard will fight two-time world champion Pablo Romero on Wednesday. The Cubans have had the world's most powerful amateur boxing team since 1974.

WEIGHTLIFTING
Olympic silver medalist Mario Martinez gave the United States its first gold medal in weightlifting and set three Pan Am records in sweeping the super heavyweight class. It was the last day of weightlifting competition.

TEAM SPORTS
In basketball, Rex Chapman of Kentucky and David Robinson of Navy each scored 17 points in the victory over Venezuela — the first game in which the Americans didn't start slow and finish fast.

In women's softball, Granger, a 17-year-old lefty from Placentia, Calif., had 14 strikeouts against Belize. JoAnn Ferrieri, of Orange, N.J., Josie Carter, of College Station, Texas, and Sheila Cornell, of Glendale, Calif., each had two hits.

In men's softball, Mike Combs of Tulsa, Okla., overcame control problems in the third inning to go the route in a 10-4 victory over Colombia. Dale Clark, of Lebanon, Pa., led a 15-hit attack with three hits and five runs batted in. The victory gave the United States a 5-0 record.

Like the men's volleyball team, the women also won Thursday, taking their opener against Canada 3-1 on bench strength.

Religion roundup

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Several Roman Catholic bishops, including Archbishop John R. Roach of St. Paul-Minneapolis, meet with superiors of religious orders Aug. 9-13 at Duquesne University to consider ways to strengthen collaboration of bishops with sisters and priests in orders.

NEW YORK — The Women's League for Conservative Judaism has issued a 1987-88 Jewish Calendar Diary, containing prayers for various occasions, including one for travelers that says in part: "Deliver us from every enemy, ambush and hurt on the way, and from all afflictions that visit and trouble the world..."

DEKALB, Ill. — A survey finds 67 percent of Americans read astrology reports often or sometimes and 36 percent believe them to be scientific, but only 7 percent ever change plans because of signs in the planets.

The poll of 2,000 adults by the Public Opinion Laboratory of Northern Illinois University also found Americans split about 50-50 on belief in evolutionary theory.

Forty-seven percent accept the theory that human beings developed from earlier species of animals, while 46 percent do not and 7 percent were undecided.

APPLY THE LESSONS OF THE SABBATH ALL THE REST OF THE WEEK

At the place where you worship the sermons compel That you contemplate mending your ways; After which you are told to remember this well, For the week has another six days. You consider that service an hour well-spent, Where the guidance of God will abound; And with all good intentions you try to repent, For temptations are always around. But those wonderful lessons you're apt to ignore For the rest of the week, as we know; So just carry them with you right out of the door. And apply them wherever you go.

—Gloria Nowak

Real religion is a way of life, not a white cloak to be wrapped around us on the Sabbath and then cast aside into the six-day closet of unconcern.

—William A. Ward

New Age

Believers say the dawning is here

By CARLEEN EVERETT-HALEY
Lifestyle Editor
The New Age is dawning.
So declares Jerry Simonek of Big Spring.

"There's going to be an awakening of consciousness — a transition of the earth and stars. The alignment of the stars are coordinating with this change, causing a shift in humanity."

As many as one million people in North America alone believe the transition will begin, he added. And it all will begin with the Harmonic Convergence on Aug. 16 and 17.

The calendar of the Mayans, the prophecies of the Hopi Indians, the teachings of the Aztec god Quetzalcoatl and the paths of the planets all focus on those dates as key turning points in the history of Earth, according to an article in the Dallas Times Herald.

One age will end and the New Age will begin, Simonek says.

"It will be an age of world cooperation, world unity and world harmony — a time of love and a time of peace."

Jerry and other believers agree that the change won't happen overnight.

"It's going to take about 25 years for the transition to occur," Jerry added.

"This 25-year period we enter into represents a major shift in the whole consciousness of the human race," said Jose Arguelles in a recent Dallas Times Herald interview.

Arguelles is an author credited with coining the term Harmonic

Convergence in his recent book "The Mayan Factor."

Those spiritually in tune with the awakening of higher consciousness are asked to meet at sacred sites around the globe on Aug. 16 and 17. The sites, many of them locations of ancient ruins, range from the Black Hills of South Dakota to the fabled Inca high city of Machu Picchu, Peru.

The locations will serve as acupuncture points (energy centers) where believers will meditate, pray and dance for two days. The energy released by the new universal force will pass through the believers and be anchored to the Earth, the article stated.

Jerry and his wife, Sharon, along with other Texas believers will participate in Austin this weekend with ceremonies and rituals being conducted at Enchanted Park.

Nancy Patrick of Big Spring will observe the two days on Scenic Mountain by "sitting quietly and meditating — and maybe even singing."

"The goal of the New Age is to help move humanity to greater heights," Nancy said.

All it takes is 144,000 people. As predicted by the Hopi Indians, 144,000 Rainbow Sun Dancers will awaken in their dream bodies and the rainbow lights will be seen all over the world and those dream bodies will awaken the rest of the world, according to the Times Herald article.

"It's a key number. What it means is that if enough of us start believing in good, brotherhood and unity, then it will raise our consciousness and then millions will believe in the same principles. Then the seed of the New Age will be planted," Jerry explained.

"After the 25 years, we'll always be happy. Otherwise, we'll be blown to hell. It goes with the Book of Revelations (where) John says we can change our future. Our destiny is in our hands," Jerry said.

"Even Billy Graham says we don't have to have Armageddon," Nancy added.

The two agree — signs of the transition to the New Age are already evident. Live Aid, Hands Across America and the Dec. 31 World Healing Day are examples.

"The people behind this want to shift the destiny of mankind into something that is beautiful and positive and away from what is destructive and negative," Nancy said.

"There will be a change in our economy and technology. The approach to business will change from competition to cooperation," Jerry explained.

There will be a special attunement for man to link minds with the God mind. By the year 2012 we will possibly be into an age of peace, a time where there will be no wars, no negativity, no lying, no cheating and no con artistry. It will be a world of peace, the Times Herald stated.

Christian film makers shoot for a high profit

DALLAS (AP) — When Frank and Darryl Kuntz, two Dallas film makers, release their first-ever theatrical feature film, it undoubtedly will receive a G rating — for general audience, guts and God.

Kuntz Bros. Inc. is in the midst of becoming the first company in the small but recently profitable Christian film industry to make an offering to the giant billion-dollar major motion picture market.

"It's always been in the back of our minds to do a feature film," said youngest brother Darryl, 41, explaining the company's unprecedented decision to produce the $1.1 million "Dakota in Texas" for the secular movie market.

"And with the industry the way it is right now — with video and foreign markets — there's a good possibility it can be real profitable."

Kuntz Bros. recently completed principal shooting near Roanoke on the film, made in Texas with an all-Texas cast and crew and scheduled for release next year.

Not everyone, of course, in this heretofore hidden niche in the film industry is as optimistic about the Kuntz Bros.' experiment.

"I'm skeptical about them doing that, especially if they keep to their Christian values," said Harry Brinost, owner of Christian Cinema Inc. in Ambler, Pa., and one of the pioneers of the evangelical film industry. "The commercial field has never been acceptable to this kind of thing."

The Christian movie industry, however, has experienced a popularity boom of sorts that has translated into profits. And Kuntz Bros., which has been a part of that, is gambling that the time is ripe to take its wholesome, family-oriented dramas into the general motion picture market.

Kuntz Bros., a family-owned company that includes Darryl's wife, Lynn, as script writer and Frank's wife, Sandy, as publicist and business manager, is among more than 80 evangelical film production companies in the United States, according to the loosely organized Christian Film Distributors Association, based in Oak Park, Ill.

Bristow, who co-founded the association in 1973, said Christian film producers make between 30 and 40 films annually, including about a dozen short feature films.

The films are distributed through a network of more than 80 domestic and 30 foreign evangelical film libraries that have access to more than 3,000 titles. The libraries rent the films to churches and other religious groups for anywhere from $35 to $150, according to the association.

"It's not a very large market," said Michael Korpi, a Baylor University professor of telecommunications who is studying the Christian film industry. "It's maybe $20 million a year in ren-als. And probably the top five titles account for 40 to 50 percent of the market."

The association reported that many of the producers, like Kuntz Bros., are based in Texas, including the largest, Waco-based Word Inc.

In 1980, Word Inc., a subsidiary of media conglomerate Capital Cities-ABC Inc., produced a series of films featuring lectures by a popular California evangelist, the Rev. James Dobson. Korpi estimated the series has grossed about $20 million.

The Kuntz brothers, who started their company in 1980, also have realized success in what has become a highly competitive industry. They entered the fray after producing Channel 39's "The Good Time Gang," a 30-minute children's show, between 1976 and 1980.

"We saw there was a crying need for good children's films," said Frank Kuntz, 49. "And we felt the TV situation was about to dry up on the local level, but we wanted to continue what we were doing. So producing that show evolved into making films."

Like many start-up small businesses or independent film companies, Kuntz Bros. did not have the capital to support its venture. But the brothers' background as a music and comedy duo gave them an idea of how to raise financing.

Women perform skit at meeting

Nelda Reagan, Donna Lee and Renae Loy performed a skit "Restore the Joy" at the Monday meeting of the Women of the First Church of God. Loy, spiritual life coordinator, directed the program "Restore the Joy," written by Val Mullens who is a member of the National Spiritual Life Committee.

Her objectives were to examine the Christian concept of joy and to show how negative emotions and feelings can mar our lives and dull our joy in Christ using Psalm 51:7-13.

Next meeting will be Sept. 7 at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary. The group will attend the West Texas District Prayer Retreat in Snyder at the Willa Park Motel Aug. 22 from 8:30 to 3 p.m.

Ed Welsh to visit local church

Brother Ed Welsh of Sherman, the first minister at Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, will return to Big Spring to join it the 35th anniversary celebration of Phillips Memorial.

Brother Sherman, now pastor at North Park Baptist Church in Sherman, was the pastor at the local church from 1952 to 1955 and taught the Bible course at Big Spring High School.

Phillips Memorial, 408 State St., will celebrate the anniversary Aug. 15 and 16. An informal fellowship and snack supper will be hosted Saturday in the fellowship hall.

On Sunday morning at 9, a continental breakfast will be served and Brother Welsh will speak at the morning service at 10. Dinner on the grounds will be served after the morning service, followed with singing and sharing.

All former pastors, music directors, interim pastors, staff members and church members are invited to attend. For more information, contact David Harp, 267-7512 or 267-2447.

Catholic charismatics meet Aug. 16

The area Deanery Catholic Charismatic Renewal Service Committee will sponsor an afternoon renewal Aug. 16 at 2 p.m. at the school cafeteria of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, 1009 Hearn.

Speaker for the day will be Sr. Carrie Miller, S.L.W., of San Angelo. She will discuss "Woman at the Well." She has ministered in various parishes throughout the Diocese and at the retreat center in San Angelo.

Roland Sherer from the San Angelo Deanery will present a puppet show.

Marchos Rocha of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Prayer Group is chairman for the day.

Registration fee is $1 per person or family and a love offering will be taken.

The Immaculate Heart of Mary Prayer Group is the host parish. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish for fellowship meal after the meeting. For more information, contact Pat Hull, deanery coordinator, at 267-6728.

Church to dedicate new building

A dedication service will be Aug. 16 at 6 p.m. for the newly completed Mary Hollis Annex of the Memorial Hall at Wesley Methodist Church, 12th and Owens streets.

The dedication service will celebrate the church's continued membership and attendance growth as the building is dedicated in memory of Mary Hollis, a faithful member who died this year.

Services will be led by Dr. Milton Chester, Big Spring district superintendent, and Rev. Johnny Robertson, pastor at the church.

Refreshments will be served after the service. Wesley will begin Vacation Bible School Aug. 21 from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. for children three years through fifth grade. The theme for the week is "Jesus is King."

There will be crafts, Bible stories, lessons, a musical production and recreation.

Harmonic Convergence discussed

Jerry and Sharon Simonek will discuss their participation in the Harmonic Convergence at Enchanted Rock on Aug. 19.

The couple will share their experiences and ask questions dealing with the event at 2911 Navajo at 7:30 p.m. For additional information, call 263-3831.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is an important day to use care and caution where practical and financial matters are concerned. Get organized for future efficiency. Be quite exacting today.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't make any important decisions today, as your judgment may be faulty. A trusted adviser may be off the mark today.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Attempting to use force to gain your wishes will not work — use tact. Not a day to be sociable or to try anything new.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Solve pressing problems accurately or they'll just pop up again. Don't look for help if this happens, handle it yourself.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Money matters may seem to be the major problem you face, but look beneath the surface and see the truth.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) An important person may be a bit rude to you today, but chalk it up to irritability as a result of fatigue.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Put your future plans in order, but don't set them in motion yet, as you may be interrupted. Use care while in motion.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't let a new acquaintance waste your time with mindless jabber. Be sure to handle that situation with your mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be sure you arrange all of the details of a contract carefully before acting. Someone may be trying to fleece you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Taking the time to have a discussion with a fellow worker will help to increase your productivity later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Let your mate know which friends have been helpful to you and why you appreciate them. This will calm the mood.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get your home in order for entertaining — possibly tomorrow. Rest up tonight and enjoy the domestic scene.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Forget boring chores and concentrate on some new and exciting activities. Show loyalty to a friend who needs support.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be quite alluring, but will find it hard to reach decisions. Teach your child that "the early bird catches the worm," and to stop being so hesitant. Encourage your progeny to keep an open mind and listen to the ideas of others. Sports would be an excellent idea.
