tax rate two cents

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

Responding to an 11th-hour veto by Gov. Clements, the Howard College Board of Trustees raised the tax rate by two cents in approving the budget for the 1987-88 school The $6,020,425 budget will be financed through a tax rate of 20.85 cents per $100, an increase of one cent over the tentative budget agreed to at the board's previous Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf will have a budget of $1,648,564 next school year, financed primarily through state revenues, according to Howard College President Bob Riley.

The new tax rate represents a 2.9 cent increase over the 1986-1987 budget, Riley said. Under the new rate, an owner of a $50,000 home in Howard County will pay $104.25, as compared to $89.75 in 1986-87.

Harold Davis, head of the board's budget committee, said he first learned of the governor's action Aug. 7. The previous day, Gov. Clements announced he was vetoing $45 million in appropriations to pay for junior college's hospitalization insurance.

Of that amount, Riley figured the local college district would lose $240,000 — $175,000 for Howard College and $65,000 for SWCID.

What made the situation so bad, Davis said, was that the state legislature requires junior colleges to provide the insurance for all its current and retired employees.

"It was unfair for the governor to cut an item from the budget that is required by law," he said. "It makes his budget look good, but it all falls back on the local taxpayers.

Particularly galling to Riley is that junior colleges are the only upper-level schools affected by the

"The major universities got their money," the president said. "But we got the cuts.'

Faced with a $240,000 shortfall on one hand, and a state-mandated Aug. 20 budget deadline on the other, Davis and the other trustees decided upon a plan combining a $30,000 cut in capital outlays with a one-cent increase in the district's

He said the actual rate still will be below the effective tax rate of 20.96 cents per $100. The effective tax rate is the rate the district would have to levy to raise the same amount of tax revenue as the previous year.

Riley said the outlay cuts would come mainly in equipment purchases, and the additional $65,000 for SWCID will come from state revenue.

The college president added that the district would collect less tax revenue than last year, blaming a loss of $400 million in property valuations as the major reason.

Riley regarded the veto news as "a thunderbolt," and said he and other junior college presidents met with the governor last Friday in an

Water department plans line repair, installs new meter

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

City water department employees Tuesday installed a new water meter at the home of Susan Garrett, 112 Grant St., and are replacing a damaged water line under the street, Garrett said.

The water department also is going to adjust her water bill this month to reflect an average of the last four months' bills, she said. The bill that she received Monday was for $79, compared to her usual bill of about $39, she said. It was reported in Sunday's Herald that Garrett complained her water meter was located across the street from her house. When the water line developed a leak, she was told homeowners are responsible for repairs in lines leading from the meter to the Garrett suspected a leak when her water meter showed her family of three had used 10,000 gallons of water in six days.

Public Works Director Tom Decell told her the city intended to move the Garretts' meter onto their property, but "it's very, very low on our list of priorities, and it may be years before it gets done," Garrett said.

Because she could not afford to pay high water bills, and could not afford to hire a plumber to repair the leak under the street and in her yard, Garrett, 49, said she and her husband, Willie, 45, intended replace the damaged water line themselves.

Because she lives on a dead end street, the work would have blocked her neighbors from driving to and from their houses, and block mail delivery and trash collection,

SUSAN GARRETT

She anticipated she and Willie could finish the repairs in a week, working nights until dark.

When Garrett's neighbors called her, concerned about the blocking of the road, she advised them to complain to City Hall, she said.

One neighbor, Faye Johnson, 2705 Peach St., said she was concerned about elderly residents who must have periodic deliveries of medical supplies.

City water department officials arrived at Garrett's house Monday, apologized for the situation and promised to begin the work today, Garrett said.

In addition, "the phone never stopped ringing Sunday" with calls from local residents offering help, advice and encouragement, she agreed at Tuesday night's meeting to enforce a 1976 ordinance requiring land owners to clean their property, City Clerk Holly Best said.

Fire Chief Don Wilson told council members that high weeds in vacant lots were a fire hazard, particularly in the dry weather. Some council members also cited the dangers of rats and snakes in the high weeds, Best said.

According to the ordinance, when the city receives a complaint about an unattended lot, it will send a letter to the property owner asking the lot be cleared. If the work is not done within 10 days, then the city will do it at the owner's expense, Best said

"It's kind of a campaign to get everybody aware of the situation,' Best explained.

In other business, the council: Voted against creating the position of city marshal, at least until the next fiscal year. The position wasn't budgeted for, and the council wasn't convinced the city needed a marshal, Best said. The matter could be discussed again before the next fiscal year, which begins in April.

 Voted to purchase a auxiliary pump, motor and base for the sewer treatment plant. Council member David Elmore voted against the purchase. Voted not to replace the water line from the city water well to city park.

· Agreed to seek more information before making a decision to replace a 4-inch sewer line from the pumps to the cemetery across the Powell's property.

• Tabled consideration to purchase signs for water lines and

• Decided to work with other Coahoma organizations to replace old street signs.

ACKERLY - Sands Consolidated school board adopted a $1,642,046 budget for the 1987-88 school year, and received the state minimum skills test results from the 1986-87 year during its meeting Tues-

The budget will be financed primarily with a tax rate of $1.09 per $100 valuation, a 15.9 percent increase from the previous school year, according to district business manager Sherryll Johnson.

That means the owner of a $50,000 home in Ackerly will pay $545 in school taxes for the next year, an increase of $75 from 1986-87, Johnson said.

As bad as that may seem to some Ackerly property owners. Johnson said it could have been worse

Even with the increase, she explained the district will have a deficit of about $250,000. The board decided to use surplus funds for the shortfall, Johnson said. If the board had decided against tapping the surplus, the tax rate needed to balance the budget would have been 1.47 — an action the board quickly decided against, she added.

"If we did that, we'd have to drive around town in armored cars," board President Joe Barnes said.

The other alternative was to further trim the budget, which district Superintendent James Blake cautioned against.

"In my opinion, if we go any lower, we'll be hurting our programs," he said. Blake also argued against restructuring bond payments, which constitute a large portion of the

"The key is having our indebtedness paid for in four years," he said. "The interest we would accrue in stretching the payments would be unreasonable." While noting that without the bond payments, the tax rate would be about 75 cents, board member Eddy Herm agreed with Blake, adding, "Compared to a lot of other districts, we're not in that bad of shape."

In presenting the TEAMS test results for the previous school year, High School Principal Ricky Mantooth said he was proud of the results, which show that Sands students scored higher than the national averages in all areas.

Mantooth said all of last year's juniors who took the exit-level tests passed the exam. This means they will be allowed to receive their diplomas at the end of the school year - providing they pass their courses. Ninth-graders scored higher than the national verage in all areas of the test, he added.

He reported that 94 percent of the class passed the math portion, 83 percent the reading and 78 percent passed the writing. This compares to the national averages of 63, 59 and 66, respectively, Mantooth said. Ninety-five percent of the district's seventhgraders passed the math portion, 95 percent passed reading and 73 passed writing. This compares to 55, 58 and 73, respectively, at the national level.

About 25 police officers had to be called to quiet the ensuing uproar, and later, after the crowd began to dissipate, officials decided to let the 100 to 150 remaining outside to enter and all were taken care of Tuesday, he said.

"There was quite a mob. It was wild. It looked like a real riot was going to form," said immigration attorney J.C. Molina, who had gone with two clients to the center.

A recent cutback has left the center severely understaffed and unable to meet the steadily increasing demand for amnesty

The Houston office was granted overtime and extra staff earlier in the summer, but extra workers were withdrawn after the regional office decided they were no longer needed, said Houston INS director Ronald Parra.

After hearing of the near-riot, however, INS Regional Commissioner Stephen Martin approved all overtime and extra staff necessary to meet the demand for amnesty in Houston. About 10 temporary workers should join the center by Monday, Rios said.

Aliens unable to apply by Sept. 1 fear they will lose their jobs, immigration workers say. Starting on that date, employers may be fined for employing illegal aliens.

Suit filed against cattleman

AMARILLO - First National Bank of Amarillo officials have filed a lawsuit against prominent cattleman Jim Kassahn, claiming he acquired a $13 million loan using cattle he did not own as collateral.

Judge Jairl P. Dowell of 108th state District Court has granted First National a temporary restraining order and set a hearing on an injunction request at 1:30 p.m. Friday in 47th state District Court in Amarillo.

The suit filed last Wednesday claims that Kassahn, a director of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, misrepresented his ownership of 37,000 head of cattle.

First National, contending Kassahn did not abide by his loan requirements, declared the loan in default and is calling in the $12.75 million that remains due, court records show Kassahn sits on the board of directors at American State Bank in Lubbock. Calls made by The Associated Press to his home in Lubbock were unanswered Tuesday.

First National also is seeking to prevent sale of cattle the bank claims is collateral for Kassahn's loan.

The bank claims the loan was made after Kassahn claimed the firm he owns with his wife, Paula, J.P.'s Family Inc., owned the 37,000 head of cattle.

To verify ownership, a First National official visited the feedlot Aug. 11 and was told that Kassahn had an interest in only 16,000 head of cattle in his feedlot

The bank learned that the cattle in question were held jointly by a partnership of Kassahn and two other businessmen.

Kassahn attributed the reduction of 21,000 head to a legitimate, contracted sale, but First National company's business. claims that is not true, according to court documents

Sexual questions may be banned

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Insurance, working on problems caused by the AIDS outbreak, Tuesday proposed rules to bar insurance companies from asking about the sexual orientation of policy

The board last week voted to allow insurance companies to continue requiring AIDS tests for applicants. The rules proposed Tuesday include a provision mandating confidentiality of the test results.

Also included are several sections that say an applicant's sexual preference is none of an insurance

"Neither the marital status, the living arrangements, the occupation, the gender, the medical history, the beneficiary designation nor the ZIP code or other territorial classification of an applicant may be used to establish, or aid in establishing, the applicant's sexual orientation," the proposed rules say.

Specifically banned are any questions or investigations aimed at finding out an applicant's sexual

The board voted 3-0 to publish the rules fo a 30-day public comment period. A public hearing will be held after that period. If finally approved, the rules would go into effect Oct. 1.

'We are essentially establishing the parameters for what constitutes unfair discrimination," said Board Chairman Lyndon Olson Jr.

Billionaire finances search for body

DALLAS — Billionaire H. Ross Perot is financing private search efforts for the body of a 17-year-old boy who disappeared when his church bus was swept into raging Guadalupe River floodwaters, the teen-ager's mother said.

Rosie Bankston said the search financed by Perot would include helicopters and a team of dogs. She said it was expected to last through the week.

"I believe the efforts began on Sunday," she said Tuesday. "My husband is down there with Mr.

Perot's people and equipment." The father of John Bankston Jr. on Aug. 9 called off his personal search for the varsity football player who disappeared after helping others to safety July 17.

Nine teen-agers drowned in the river when their bus, from the Balch Springs Christian Academy in suburban Dallas, stalled at a low water crossing and was overcome by the flood-swollen river. Thirtythree others were rescued, including some who were plucked from trees by helicopters.

Bowman: Resignation voluntary

DALLAS - Texas Savings and office. Loan Commissioner L. Linton Bowman III on Tuesday acknowledged that he would leave the post but said Gov. Bill Clements had not asked for his resignation.

"In a conference with the governor several weeks ago, I told him in the office by the end of the year,"

Bowman, 58, confirmed that he plans to leave his $77,250 post by the end of the year. But he said he was surprised that Clements had announced his departure.

"This was a matter that I had communicated to my staff back in confidence of my intention to leave January of this year," said Bowman, chief regulator of Texas Bowman said from his Austin thrifts since 1983.

Time to get rid of windfall tax

Congress soon will have a great opportunity to help the battered domestic oil industry and the nation as well. When the summer recess is over, a conference committee will consider trade legislation that includes, in the Senate version, repeal of the windfall profits tax.

For the good of the nation, the House conferees should accept the repeal and fashion the trade measure in such a way that it will be acceptable to President Reagan.

Now is a good time to expunge this unfair, unwise excise levy. With the oil price decline, the tax is not generating enough revenues to cover even the costs of administration estimated at $100 million a year.

Oil companies are required to produce a mountain of paper-work in relation to the tax, and "the reporting mechanism goes on whether any tax dollars are being generated or not," according to Ray Been, assistant treasurer of Dallas-based American Petrofina Inc.

Texas has been tagged for more than half the revenues since the tax went into effect in 1980. The Southwest, still in a recession, has provided the vast majority of the revenues, which totaled $80 billion through 1986. That money could have been used to find additional domestic oil and reduce our growing dependency on foreign energy.

The oil industry must have incentives to find new reserves. The explosive situation in the Persian Gulf underscores the dangers of relying on others to fuel our engines and industries. An import fee on foreign oil also is needed, but for now Congress should concentrate on repealing the windfall profits tax. Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen will head the Senate conferees on the trade bill, and can be counted on to push hard for retaining the tax repeal. House Speaker Jim Wright of Fort Worth should see that the House conferees do the same.

Clara's comment turned catchword

Three booming words in 1984 were a boon to the Wendy's fast-food hamburger chain, a bust for Gary Hart's first presidential bid, and a blessing for diminutive Clara Peller, who died the other day at 86.

When the 4-foot-10, gruff-talking Peller uttered "Where's the beef?" in two television commercials, she succeeded in Moscow. striking the nation's funny bone and helping boost Wendy's revenues by 31 percent.

But one woman's meat was another man's poison.

In becoming an overnight sensation, the Russian immigrant crackdown on C. Itoh, the sale of and former beautician also managed, indirectly, to splatter some of the high-tech machinery political grease on the presidential aspirations of then-Sen.

Taking a cue from veteran joke-stealer Henny Youngman, tee, a special CIA bureau created Walter Mondale used the Peller line to suggest that Hart's during the Reagan administration presidential bid shouldn't be taken seriously.

Joe Sedelmaier, who produced the Wendy's commemrcials, even has claimed that Mondale would be president today if he could have said the words the way Peller did.

That political assessment may be just a bit much to is still classified "Secret/Noforn," swallow. The price of hamburger, if you will, was too good for meaning "no foreign disseminamost voters to pass on seconds of the Reagan presidency in tion," even to U.S. allies.

Peller did prove you're never too old to make an impact and have some fun and make some money in the process. That Van Atta and our associate should be an inspiration to the ham - pardon - in all of us.

CIA knew about Japanese trading with Soviet Union

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — In a highly sensitive report seen by only a few U.S. leaders, the CIA three years ago identified five Japanese trading companies it suspected of engaging in illegal sales of Western high technology to the Soviet

Among the five was C. Itoh & Co., the giant trading firm that helped arrange the illegal sale by Toshiba of sophisticated propellermanufacturing machinery to

This enabled Soviet submarines to run more quietly and thus be more difficult to detect. If the CIA's 1084 warning had brought a might have been prevented

The CIA report was produced by the Technology Transfer Committo monitor the legal and illegal flow of Western technology to the Soviet bloc. The report on Japan was one of a series focusing on various countries that sell to the Soviets. It

We reviewed the secret report as part of a lengthy investigation in Tokyo and Washington by Dale Michael Binstein that began in

"In practiced, some Japanese trading companies will resort to illegal practices and some will not," the CIA report observed. It then went on to identify five Japanese companies, large and small, that the CIA had reason to believe were making at least questionable - if not outright illegal - sales of high technology to the Soviets.

In addition to C. Itoh, the

Jack Anderson

Japanese companies named by the CIA were Mitsubishi, Mitsui, other Japanese firms have used a C. Itoh from exporting machine tech items to the Soviets without incurring the scrutiny of the Japanese National Police, according to the report.

A favorite device, the report says, has been to set up subsidiaries in Singapore and Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, to make the actual sales.

The secret 1984 report provided a remarkably prescient description of the skullduggery unmasked three years later in the Toshiba scandal

"Various methods have been used within the context of illegal trade to facilitate the transport of embargoed goods to end users in Russia," the report noted

It explained that to circumvent restrictions imposed by COCOM. the coordinating committee of the Western allies and Japan that sets export rules, "Japanese firms often establish small, expendable dummy organizations to act as their intermediaries with Soviet and East European clients.

"The dummy firm is expendable the deal falls through for whatever reason. The Japanese parent is able to distance itself in a legal context from financial losses or possibly illegal activiites of its surrogate.

This is similar to what Toshiba tried to do, pinning all blame on an "independent" subsidiary. But Congress didn't buy this transparent effort to avoid responsibility, since Toshiba owned 51 percent of the subsidiary. Toshiba had to accept the blame, and both its chairman and president resigned as a result.

A surprising aspect of the Toshiba scandal is that C. Itoh has escaped with a slap on the wrist. Marubeni and Tairiku. These and The Japanese government banned variety of stratagems to sell high- tools to communist countries for incredibly - three months.

> Meanwhile, Japanese authorities plan to prosecute Toshiba, and the U.S. Congress has been drafting punitive measures against the company. The $17 million transaction may eventually cost American taxpayers billions of dollars as the Pentagon tries to overcome the advantage the Soviets gained in evading U.S. undersea detection technology.

Summer heat is getting too hot to handle

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

I pulled into one of those miniservice stations that double as convenience stores on the south side of Atlanta for gasoline and something cold to drink

The heat. The heat has been much the same practically all over

"I was in Chicago," a man said to me, "and it was 96.

That's Chicago. Unbearably cold in the winter. But when the Hawk goes back to Canada for the short summer season, you miss the big chill. I'm glad I don't live in Chicago anymore.

I spotted them outside the service station. The hood was up on their car, an older model something or other. I quit keeping up with models and makes of cars in the late '50s or whenever it was Fireball Roberts got killed.

The wife sat on the curb drenched in perspiration. Her little boy sat next to her, occasionally pulling on a large bottle of Coke. He was shirtless and shoeless

The husband had half his body under the hood of the car. He had taken off his shirt, too. There were Alabama license plates on the car.

I watched the man work in the awful heat. Obviously, his car had overheated. He was pulling hoses out and putting hoses back in. He had a towel around his neck. He used it to wipe off the sweat that was pouring from his face.

He suddenly pulled his hand back from under the hood. Something had burned his hand. He flung the towel down in anger and cursed the car, the heat, and the hell-hot asphalt on which he stood. I hadn't mentioned the humidity. It just hung there. I swear you could see it, almost touch it.

I am naturally nosy. I asked the woman what had happened.

"We're moving to Tennessee," she said. "Lonnie's got a job welding. This old car started running hot.

'The air conditioner don't work neither," said the little boy.

I would have offered the man help, but my knowledge about matters automotive ends with which way to turn the key in order to effect cranking.

I drove on north toward the city and began thinking about what I had just seen. Imagine driving from state to state in this heat without air conditioning, I thought to myself.

Imagine the wife complaining and the kid crying and the sweat pouring off you in torrents.

I thought back to the VW I had when I was first married. We had no air conditioning neither (sic) and once we had a flat tire on the outskirts of Macon, the hottest place on earth. My wife had to change the tire. I fanned with a folded road map

As I drove on, I turned my air conditioner to full blast. The comfort of that brought me the discomfort of at least a tinge of guilt. I'm tooling down the road as cool as can be and poor Lonnie and his family are baking next to their heap in the Georgia sun.

I at least said a prayer for them. God help them to make it to the new job in Tennessee, and if that old crate breaks down again at least let it be near a shade tree.

PHILADELPHIA TODAY Today was clear and pleasant. Jacob Hiltzheimer "went with my wife and daughter Hannah to Germantown to Mr. Stoneburner's. Mr. and Mrs. Barge went with William Rush and his wife in his wagon. The Rev. Mr. Pilmore came there from Whitemarsh Church, when we all dined."

tion's progress In the past two weeks, the Convention had worked through the composition, qualification and method of election of the members of the legislature and its procedural requirments; it was well along in determining the powers to be granted to Congress. Some impatience may have resulted from the thoroughness with which the Convention was reviewing and reworking the report of the Committee of Detail.

QUANTICO, Va. - Marine Sgt. Clayton Lonetree wept when testimony in his espionage court-martial convinced the former Moscow Embassy guard that his Soviet girlfriend used him for the KGB.

"He mumbled something about, 'She doesn't love me,'" defense lawyer William Kunstler said Tuesday after Lonetree broke down during testimony by prosecution witness John Barron, a Soviet affairs expert and author.

The 25-year-old Marine from St. Paul, Minn., is accused of letting his love for a former embassy translator, Violetta, turn him into a spy

"I think he thought until today that she loved him," Kunstler said. Barron testified that the Soviets often use sex as bait to ensnare Americans into turning over information valuable to the KGB.

ROMULUS, Mich. — Controllers had switched Northwest Flight 255 to another runway to avoid potentially dangerous wind shears, and pilots reported the jet climbed at an unusually steep angle before crashing, an investigator says.

Elderly fugitive

Pardoned 41 years after escape

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An escapee who led a crimefree life here for nearly three decades knowing "someday the boom was going to be lowered" will sleep easier now that he's been pardoned.

Virginia Gov. Gerald L. Baliles pardoned 62-year-old Vincent Pelliccia on fugitive charges only moments before his extradition hearing was to begin here Tuesday. Pelliccia had escaped from a Virginia prison Pelliccia, who was held in jail for two weeks pending extradition, said he looked forward to "a nice dinner as he walked out of the courtroom.

"The most precious thing that we have is our freedom," he said. "The right to get up and do what we want to do when we want to do it.

The pardon, conditional on 91/2 more years of good behavior, was the last obstacle to his release. works a companies a stand by the Toshiba scandal is that C. Itoh has pouring from his lace.

smiling Municipal Judge Glenette Blackwell told him. The retired movie studio electrician was arrested

Aug. 4 after Los Angeles police investigating an acquaintance found records revealing Pelliccia had escaped from a prison camp near South Hill, Va., 41

He had served a few months of a 10-year sentence for burglarizing a store in Norfolk.

Pelliccia said he never discussed his past with his children and did not often think of the possibility of being caught. He said he even traveled through Virginia last year without fear.

But, he said, "somewhere back in my subconscious I knew someday the boom was going to be lowered." "I bet he'll sleep easier now," said his brother, Man-ny Pelliccia of Alta Loma. Relatives in the courtroom broke into sobs as Pelliccia's release was announced.

By Associated Press Ozone hole eases

LONGYEARBYEN, Spitsbergen - A Norwegian scientist who detected an ozone "hole" last year over this remote Arctic region says the atmosphere apparently has recovered

But the physicist, Soeren H.H. Larsen, and other atmospheric specialists say the Arctic skies must be watched more closely for the possible onset of a severe ozone depletion, like the one that has developed in Antarctica.

Spurred by the ozone problem at the South Pole, representatives of 31 nations meet Sept. 14 in Montreal to seek final agreement on cutting back production of chlorofluorocarbons, industrial chemicals that can deplete ozone in the stratosphere.

The upper-atmosphere layer of ozone, an unstable form of oxygen, is essential to life on Earth, since it absorbs much of the sun's harmful ultraviolet light. Each 1 percent decrease in ozone at high altitudes means 200,000 additional cases of skin cancer worldwide every year, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has estimated.

Nicaragua short of oil

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Nicaragua will run out of oil before year's end unless it receives immediate help, and the fuel crisis could diminish chances for peace in Central America, Vice President Sergio Ramirez

Ramirez' announcement came on the eve of today's scheduled meeting of five Central American foreign ministers, who are charged with implementation of a new regional peace agreement.

The ministers planned to meet this evening in San Salvador to discuss the plan approved Aug. 7 by the presidents of Nicaragua, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala and

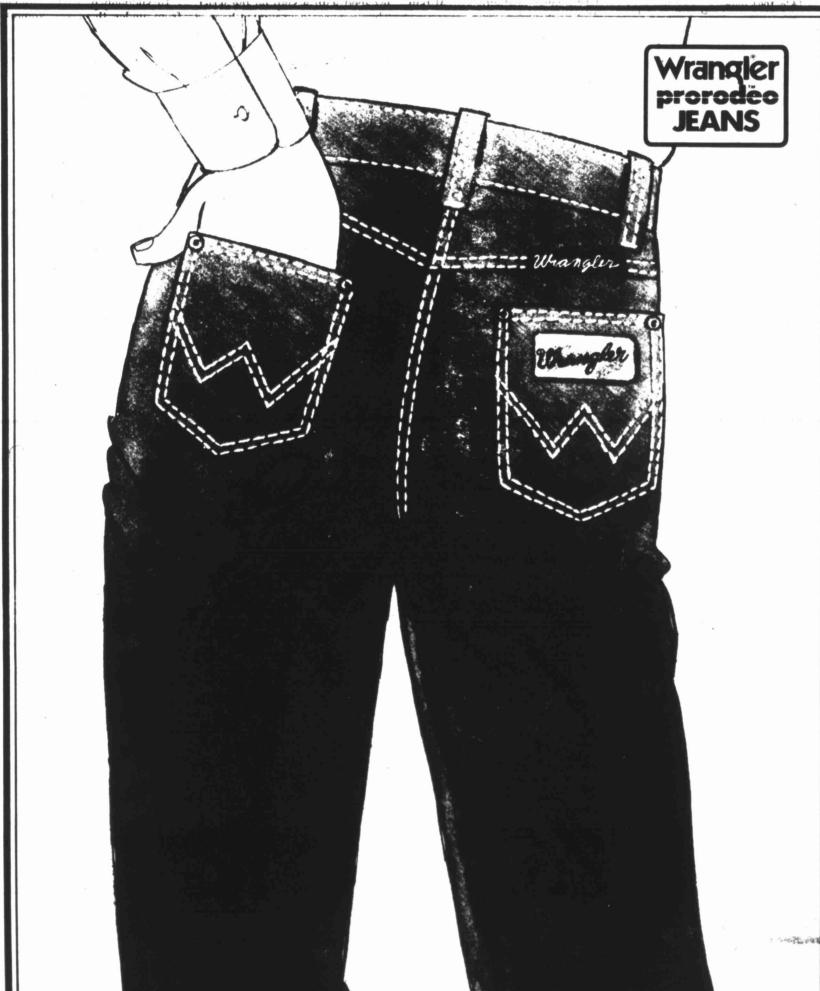

Tankers head for Gulf

MANAMA, Bahrain — U.S. warships, relying on deception and speed, today steered the third convoy of reflagged Kuwaiti tankers through the narrow Strait of Hormuz and into the Persian Gulf, sources said.

The convoy set sail before dawn in a move that caught shipping sources by surprise. Washington had given no indication when the convoy might begin its journey.

Sources at Lamnalco, the Dubai-based agent for the Kuwaiti ships, said the American flags for the convoy were still in its

"Even the flags are still with us. We do not know what happened," said one source at the agent's office.

Add pizazz to eggs for delicious family-pleasing dishes

BY LYNN HAYES

The basic four food groups have long been the standard used for determining a balanced diet. Physicians and nutritionists recommed a well-balanced diet composed of foods from each of these groups.

Eggs are found in the meat group, and two servings per day are recommended from the meat group. Two eggs are considered one serving.

Texas eggs are locally produced usually within just a few miles of sale and are rushed to the supermarket quickly insuring a fresher egg when purchased - one that will remain fresh longer.

Texas eggs are the most versatile of all foods and are said to have a thousand uses. Not only are they served every day in a variety of ways, but they perform important functions in the preparation of many other food dishes

Texas eggs are highly nutritious providing an excellent food source for vitamins, minerals, and protein, yet are low in calories.

In this week's Recipe Exchange I've included recipes designed to show the wide versatility and the highly nutritious value of Texas eggs as well as to show the appealing egg food dishes possible.

SPINACH QUICHE 1 (10 oz.) pkg. frozen chopped

1 (9-inch) frozen deep-dish pie shell, thawed 5 beaten eggs

1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese 1 can (2-21/2 oz.) drained, sliced mushrooms

3/4 cup light cream 1/8 tsp. pepper

Cook spinach according to package directions and drain, pressing out excess water. Set aside. Brush the inside of the pie shell with a small amount of the beaten eggs. Prick bottom and sides with fork. Bake shell in preheated 425 degree F. oven 5 minutes or until golden brown. Set pie shell aside, Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees F. Stir together spinach, cheese and mushrooms. Turn into pie shell. To the beaten eggs, add remaining gredients. Beat until well blended.

Pour over spinach mixture. Bake in preheated oven 45 to 50 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Makes 4-6 servings.

SPINACH SALAD 1 (10 oz.) pkg. fresh spinach

6 hard-boiled eggs 1 sliced purple onion

1 tomato, cut into wedges

1 tbs. salad oil 1 tsp. vinegar

2 tbs. mayonnaise

Wash and tear spinach and pour into large salad bowl. Peel and halve eggs and add to spinach along with onion and tomato. Mix salad oil, vinegar and mayonnaise together, and dress the salad just before serving.

Makes 6 servings.

BAKED CUSTARD

4 slightly beaten eggs 1/2 cup sugar

1/4 tsp. salt 3 cups milk

11/2 tsp. vanilla Nutmeg

Beat together eggs, sugar and salt until well blended. Heat milk until very warm but not boiling. Gradually stir hot milk into egg mixture. Blend in vanilla. Pour into 6 6-ounce custard cups a 11/2 quart casserole.

Sprinkle with nutmeg. Set custard cups or casserole in large baking pan, then put pan on rack in oven. Pour very hot water into pan within 1/2-inch of top of custart cups. Bake in preheated 350 degree F. oven until a knife inserted near center comes out clean; 25 to 30 minutes for custard cups or 35 to 40 minutes for casserole.

Remove immediately from hot water. Serve warm or chilled. Variation: If desired 1 tbs. raisins, fruit preserves, drained fruit cocktail, flaked coconut or chopped nuts may be placed in each custard cup before adding custard mixture.

Fire and Ice Eggs feature a palate-pleasing flavor and texture contrasts so typical of Tex-Mex favorites. The "fire" of the sauce and the "ice" of the sour cream blend in true San Antonio style for an easy-to-prepare, hearty main dish casserole.

8 eggs 3/4 cup Hollandaise Sauce

16 slices Canadian-style bacon Split, toast and butter English muffins, poach eggs, and broil or pan fry bacon. Top each English muffin half with 2 slices bacon, 1 poached egg, and about 1 tbs. hot Hollandaise Sauce. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE 3 egg yolks

2 tbs. lemon juice 4 tsp. salt 1/8 tsp. paprika

Dash cayenne pepper 1/2 cup butter (1 stick), divided

In saucepan beat together egg yolks, lemon juice and seasonings. Add half the butter. Cook over low heat, stirring rapidly, until butter melts. Add remaining butter, stirring constantly, until butter melts and sauce thickens. Cover and refrigerate if not using immediately. Yields 3/4 cup

To prepare in blender: Measure all ingredients except butter into blender container. Melt butter and add to other ingredients. Blend at low speed until sauce thickens, 15 to 20 seconds

PEANUT BUTTER PUDDING TREAT 3/4 cup quick-cooking rolled oats 1/3 cup and 1/2 cup packed brown sugar, divided 1/4 cup chopped peanuts 3 tbs. melted butter or margarine

1/4 cup all-purpose flour 3 cups milk 3 beaten egg yolks

3/3 cup creamy peanut butter 1/2 tsp. vanilla sugar, peanuts and butter or margarine. Spread mixture in bottom of 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees F. for 15 minutes, stirring occasional ly. Cool; crumble. In saucepan, combine the remaining 1/2 cup brown sugar and the flour. Blend in milk and egg yolks. Cook and stir until bubbly. Cook and stir 1 minute more Remove from heat. Stir in peanut butter and vanilla.

Cover surface with waxed paper or plastic wrap to prevent skin from forming. Chill. In parfait glasses, alternate layers of pudding and oatmeal crunch mixture. Makes 5-6 servings.

Harriet suggested that if more consumers would stand up for their rights, another field of consumer exploitation will fall. And you, Dear Abby, said, "Count me in as a charter member.

Abby, may I offer a plumbing serviceman's view of "consumer exploitation"?

It is not uncommon for a serviceman to schedule five or six service calls a day. A normal service call usually can be handled in about an hour, barring "unforeseen complications.

Here are a few "unforeseen complications" that may alter his schedule:

1. Homeowner not home to unlock door.

2. Homeowner late for appointment: serviceman waits

3. Homeowner asks for three or four additional "repairs" that were initially not mentioned. ("While you're here, will you please look at the faucet in the powder room it's been dripping for a month.")

4. While on a routine maintenance call, serviceman gets an emergency call: "Water is running down on Mrs. Jones — five miles away. Please rush over before everything is ruined!" (Emergency calls always get priority.)

5. Truck flat tires, traffic delays,

Abby, please remember that we are bringing our truck, tools, personnel and our entire business to your home, instead of asking you to bring your toilet to our shop.

In conclusion, throughout all of these above mentioned variables, it is still an indescribable feeling when at 6:30 p.m. you finally complete your last call that was scheduled for 3:30 p.m. (after missing your evening meal with your family, or a ballgame with your son) and you present the invoice with a note: "No overtime charged" and the customer will say those two magic words, doubt, offer a tip.

Former teacher opens specialty shop

By Jenny Narkiewicz Beaumont Enterprise BEAUMONT (AP) -- As a teacher in Wisconsin, Jackie Guillory always knew where she could find supplies for her elementary school classes.

Family exults over Glass escape

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (AP) — Joyous relatives of Charles M. Glass exulted at news that the former ABC correspondent kidnapped two months ago in Lebanon had made his way to freedom today.

captors slept, seeking refuge at a west Beirut hotel. He then was escorted to Damascus, Syria, under the protection of Syrian troops. His 66-year-old father, an attorney, said he would wait to get solid information and then travel to join his son.

'We will go wherever he is," the elder Glass said, adding that he was willing to go to Damascus if necessary.

"I just think it's great," said Cathleen Mc-Claskey, a younger sister who lives in Cardiff in San Diego County.

"I can't wait to see him," Ms. McClaskey said. "There's no way we're going to be separated any longer.'

Glass, a former correspondent for ABC, was abducted June 17 at the suburban district of Ouzai by 14 gunmen who beat him with rifle butts and stuffed him into the trunk of a car. A group believed to be made up of Shiite Moslem extremists later accused Glass of being a spy Ali Osseiran, son of Lebanon's defense minister, was kidnapped with Glass but released a week later.

Glass, who grew up in Los Angeles, had been researching a book on the Middle East when he was seized. He lives in London with his wife, Fiona, and five children. Mrs. Glass was reported to be traveling in England when word of her husband's release came and could not immediately be reached for comment.

Roone Arledge, president of ABC News, called Glass' freedom "a matter of immense joy and relief to the people at ABC News."

"We are enormously happy that Charlie will soon be reunited with his family and friends, but we are also mindful that many others are still being held," Arledge said. "Our thoughts and prayers are with them and their families."

The elder Glass said the family felt certain that the journalist would be released. "It was just wishful thinking, but we were thinking it would be the middle of August," he said. "I don't know why." The feeling got stronger Monday, he said, and "I was convinced that the next time I heard something about him it would be something

In an interview a few days after his son's abduction, Glass said that his son understood the danger of working in Lebanon, but loved the country and "loved being a reporter."

"Before the war started, he used to tell me what a beautiful place it was," the elder Glass had said, adding that he believed his son's love for the region came from his late mother, whose parents were Lebanese. She died when her son was 16.

Stepsister Kate Aschbrenner said the family heard the news from Glass' wife, who called from England.

Ms. Aschbrenner said: "We're Catholic and this weekend it was the Feast of the Assumption. We said extra prayers. Plus with the harmonic convergence ... we were hoping something would happen because we have faith and hope. It paid off. "

Oldest active farmer of Illinois honored

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) -Ninety-seven-year-old Merritt Heaton, who began farming with a team of horses in 1913 and still drives his tractor and combine over 235 acres, was honored Tuesday as Illinois' oldest active farmer.

Merritt Heaton, selected by the state Department of Agriculture from among nearly 100 nominees, attributed his longevity to "clean living, hard work and faith in God.'

He was given a commemorative plaque at ceremonies at the Illinois State

Heaton lives alone on his farm in Toulon in northeastern Illinois and operates it with his 78-year-old son, Hayden Heaton, who lives 11/2 miles away.

"I started with three horses on my plow. Now you've got 200 horses under the lid of that tractor — horsepower, that is," said Heaton. "You've got air conditioning and a radio in the cab. What more could you want?"

Heaton, who gets out of bed at about 5 a.m., said he still enjoys preparing his fields for planting, cultivating, harvesting grain and hauling it to the local elevator.

Heaton's wife died in 1972. He said he enjoys going to Southern California in the winter to watch horse races. The rest of the year, "when I'm not working, I get in the car and go into town to the coffee shop.'

"That's where farmers go to settle all the troubles," said Heaton. "President Reagan could learn a lot if came out to one of these farm gatherings."

Heaton said he was considering a slower pace on the farm in the future.

"I might retire but I won't quit working," he said. "In the spring you'd get uneasy and restless. There's no better place to be than on the farm to see nature - new life.

Heaton grew up about eight miles away on his father's farm. He said he never really considered any other occupation.

"You have to have the interest and delight in farming," said Heaton. "I love the challenge."

The Agriculture Department asked early this summer for nominations for the state's oldest active farmer.

Drilling rig activity hits high of 998

DALLAS — The number of active drilling rigs in the United States climbed to 998 this week, the highest level in 18 months and further evidence of an increase in optimism by the nation's oil producers, industry observers say.

The weekly rig count, which is considered a benchmark of oil industry health, gained 15 rigs in posting its seventh weekly gain in the last eight weeks. Observers said the improvement provides more evidence that rig activity will meet industry projections of 1,300 or more by year-end.

"We think it could end up between 1,200 and 1,300 by December before going into a seasonal decline," said Ike Kerridge, vice president of Baker-Hughes Co. in

Kerridge said the oil-services company would release its 1988 rig forecast at the Independent Producers Association meeting in Monday's rig count figure compiled by Baker-Hughes was the highest since February 1986, when the barometer of oil industry activity hit 1,034. A year ago the rig count was 738. The domestic rig count total peaked at 4,530 in December 1981 during the height of the last drilling boom Although the number of active rigs in Texas was down this week by two to 294, California gained 10 and Louisiana was up by six. The net gain in Louisiana was due primarily to gains in offshore drilling in the Gulf of Mexico, Kerridge said

He said he expects to see increased drilling activity in the gulf because of the large number of offshore lease contracts that will expire by the end of 1988 and thus lost by leaseholders if drilling doesn't begin by the end of next year.

Another area where increased drilling activity is expected is in the gas-rich Hugoton Basin of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Infill drilling — the drilling of additional production wells — in the proven Hugoton Field has been approved by the Kansas Corporation Commission

The level of seismic activity, which is the onshore and offshore tests of geologic structures for oilbearing formations, also has been increasing in recent months.

The number of seismic crews working in the United States climbed to 183 in July, a 16 percent increase from a year ago, according to the Society of Exploratory Geophysicists in Tulsa.

The July figure was the highest for the year and the fourth monthly increase this year.

Seismic crew activities fell to a record low of 150 in March. The alltime high was achieved in September 1981 when 744 seismic crews were operating in the United States.

Herald staff report

L.G. Nix softball team of Big Spring is hoping the third time is the charm.

The team has high expectations as the members prepare for the Class C regional slow-pitch classic, scheduled Friday through Sunday at Corpus

L.G. Nix qualified for the regional after placing fourth at the state tournament in Midland earlier this month. The first five teams of the 102-team field, qualified to regional.

"We finished seventh out of 32 teams last summer," said manager Bill Battle of his team at the regional tournament. Two years ago, the team won its first game before being eliminated, he added.

"We are hoping for something better this time around. We are hoping to finish in the top two. The top two teams go to nationals at Dallas,"

"We feel we have a pretty good chance if the heat don't kill us," he

Good defense is the team's pride and joy, Battle noted.

"Good defense has kept us in a lot of ballgames this season. We have turned more double plays than any other team that I've seen," he said.

Two of the L.G. Nix sluggers have been named to the all-state team, their manager reported. Second baseman Roger Battle, a .700 hitter, has earned that recognition in both the slow and fast pitch softball ranks. Roger is Bill's oldest son.

Third baseman Phil Barber, a .500 hitter this season, also made the allstate roster.

Other team members who plan to bring a regional title to Big Spring are Wes Overton, John Weeks, Rory Neihues, Terry Kelly, Gary Halfman, Doug Hurt, Johnny Palmer, Scotty Halfman, Bobby Beall and Dick Battle - Bill's youngest son.

"There are some pretty good softball players in the area. Not many teams have won on a more consistent basis than we have during the past three seasons," manager Battle said.

"You have to have dedication. We go to win whenever we go to the ballpark," he added.

Wait and see

For Jay Pirkle, the start of the '87 football season could be termed 'The Waiting Game.'

That's because Pirkle, a junior linebacker at Eastern New Mexico University, really doesn't know if he'll get to strap on the pads this season or not.

A reoccuring neck injury has put his season in jeopardy. His teammates are already going through two-a-day workouts in Portales, N.M., but Pirkle doesn't have the okay from his doctor to play yet. It's a wait-and-see

But the former Big Spring Steers all-district performer is taking his ill fate well. Especially so when you consider this was the first season he would have been a full-time starter at the position he always wanted to play — middle linebacker.

"I'll go down next week. I'll miss two-a-days and that's all right with me," Pirkle joked. "Five doctors looked at me and four said I shouldn't play this season. One said I might have a chance. If it heals by conference I'll play. If not, I'll get red-shirted."

Pirkle first suffered the injury in practice last fall. Playing his defensive end position, he took on pulling tackle Earl "House" Jones, a 6-5, 320-pound bruiser.

Former Big Spring Steers player Jay Pirkle was supposed to be the starting middle linebacker for the Eastern New Mexico University Greyhounds this season. Because of a injury last year, Pirkle may have to miss the entire season.

"The collision took us both out and I really didn't realize I was hurt until later. Then I re-injured it in the Abilene Christian game. It hurt, but I thought the pain would go away after the season, but it didn't."

Pirkle's injury was diagnosed as a vertebrae rubbing against a nerve. Pirkle saw action on specialty teams his freshman season and started part-time last season at defensive end. His play impressed coaches so much that he was the defensive line's top scorer on a defensive grading system. That kind of play earned him a starting role in the middle this season. "This was to be my year. I was sitting pretty. We had a new defense geared around the middle linebacker. I loved it. You get to take on the big and little guys and play the pass and run. I think it's my natural position. I should have been there in high school but they needed my speed in the secondary." Pirkle has come a long way from his playing days at Big Spring High School. When he graduated from Big Spring he was 6-1, 185-pounds. Now he's an inch taller, packed firmly on a 215-pound frame.

He has developed into one of the strongest players on the team. He's now bench pressing 430 pounds and fullsquatting 495 pounds. And he hasn't lost any quickness. He was timed at 4.69 in the 40-yard dash in the spring.

And while he has all the tools of doing a good job in the middle, it might all have to wait. But he's already focusing on the positive things that could happen if he doesn't get to play this season.

"It could be a good thing sitting out this season. I'll get fully healed, keep on working out, put on about 15 more pounds and maybe really dominate this conference next

"I'll still go to practices and help the team any way I can. And maybe if I get to play....'

Only time will tell.

Drugs big topic at games

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Boxers, boaters and ballplayers took a back seat to drugs, a coach's departure and a threatened Cuban boycott at the Pan American Games.

One day after announcing six disqualifications for failed dope tests, officials said Tuesday at least two athletes were using a drug that can prevent steroids from being detected.

Pan Am officials, meanwhile, scrambled to deal with Cuba's threatened boycott of Sunday's closing ceremonies, and Alabama-Birmingham's Gene Bartow, coach of Puerto Rico's men's basketball team, left the squad.

Lost in the shuffle were a trio of victories for U.S. boxers, six gold medals for the U.S. yachting crew, and 17-year-old Michele Granger's second one-hit softball pitching performance in as many nights.

Pan Am officials introduced the word "probenecid" to the games' lexicon, and said what bothered them most was that they couldn't do much about the drug, often prescribed for gout. It's not one of the 3,700 substances banned in international competition.

"This is new. ... It is alarming," said Mario Vazquez Rana, president of the Pan American Sports Organization. "We don't even know the harm this drug does, but it erases the other drugs that have been taken."

Armbenders come to West Texas

By STEVE BELVIN

Sports Editor
HOUSTON — Thanks to Gary L. Ray and friends, arm-wrestling has come a long way in Texas since the start of the 80s.

Now the sport has shifted from a bar-room atmosphere to more athletic surroundings. Instead of winning pitchers of beer, the winner may take home an elegant trophy or a check for $1,000.

Ray is founder of Texas Armbenders Association, an organization that hosts arm-wrestling competition throughout the state.

The Armbenders will sponsor the first-ever arm-wrestling competition in Big Spring this Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Big Spring High School auditorium. It is in conjunction with the Spring City Bodybuilding Championships.

The organization began in 1980 and was established in Ray's hometown of Houston. Ray and members of his family took the first step. Now the group has grown and Ray and Jim Shipman are partners. "My brothers and myself are arm-wrestlers, so we had to travel out of Texas to get some national competition," said Ray. "We wanted to establish something in Texas with quality competition. That's why we started the organization.

back in the boom days of Houston.

'I was real fortunate to start it

There were all types of people moving in and arm-wrestlers ranged from construction workers to computer technicians. Now it's more stagnated. More athletes are competing.

Ray isn't just any competitor. He's one of the best in the nation. Two months ago he got he finished fourth in the World Arm-wrestling Championships in Las Vegas, Nev. The competition will be aired next month along with the NFL Pro Arm-wrestling Championships.

Arm-wrestling has even landed Ray a small spot in the movies. He appeared briefly in 'Over the Top,' which starred Sylvester Stallone.

The movie attracted thousands of arm-wrestlers from all over the country. Competitions were held in 20 major cities and different competitions were filmed for 'Over the Over $100,000 in prize money was given away, including the 18-wheeler Stallone drove off in at the end of the movie. Ray says it was the "largest tie-in a sport ever had with a movie.

Ray won his share of money during the competition. This included championships in Los Angeles and New York, a second place finish in Houston and a third place finish in St. Louis.

But he paid the price for all his earnings in the competition and the movie. While competing he snapped a muscle in his forearm usually a career-ending injury for an arm-wrestler.

He didn't compete again until the World Arm-wrestling Championships in June.

"I didn't compete until Vegas. I was thinking about retiring," said Ray. "The competition there was the turning point. Now I think I'll keep competing.

Ray thinks the competition will be refreshing to West Texas.

"It's not as big there (West Texas) as it is here (East Texas), but I think it will catch on. I know some guys from Abilene and Lubbock who will be competing. Hopefully we'll get some new faces. I think we'll have a pretty

Midland taxidermist preserves memories

By JOSIE GIBSON

The Odessa American MIDLAND (AP) — The bear, rearing on its hind legs, glares through the plate glass windows of Western Taxidermy at the passing

Midland traffic. Across a room redolent with the grandfather's smell of old leather armchairs, a mountain cat freezes as it senses some far-off prey. One day, perhaps, it will cast a haughty shadow across someone's living

Until then the denizens of the animal kingdom are destined to snarl and stare unblinkingly at the occasional customer in Karl Brosig's spacious showroom.

"It's kind of like a picture," Brosig says, explaining the desire of many hunters to have their catches preserved for posterity. "You take it and it reminds you of the fun you had when you went hunting." Muses Midland hunter Ben Dusak: "When you look back at it you can remember.

It might be fish, fowl — or javelinas baring a gruesome set of dentures —that people send to Western Taxidermy for preservation.

Don Uzzell, owner of Firepower a sporting goods store in Midland, agrees that memories are a major reason for taxidermy, 'memories of that trip or that hunt or whatever you did.

His wife, Cathy, is the business' resident taxidermist and handles some exotic prey — from a Bengal tiger to a northern pike flown in from Alaska's icy reaches

Thanks to modern methods, today's taxidermists can produce much greater detail and longevity in their mounts, according to

Yet he says there's no big secret to what's involved: "You skin the animal, tan the skin and put the skin back on a mount. It is, of course, more complicated than that.

After hunters ship in their fresh or frozen catches, the bodies are skinned and the hides soaked in a 'secret mixture' tanning solution Brosig buys pre-mixed from Maine.

Then they are laid out to dry a day or so before a tanning oil is applied, soaking in to keep them pliable.

From there the skins get tossed into a big box-like tumbler for up to an hour, and then dropped into water spiked with a chemical insect repellent. In this region, Brosig explains, domestic beetles humidity pose the biggest and

By The Associated Press Dave Stieb said it was the kind of game that could lift the spirits of the Toronto Blue Jays for days. For Tom Henke, it was just another victory. Stieb and Henke, along with slug-ger George Bell, played key roles Tuesday night as the Blue Jays rallied for a 2-1 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

Toronto took a half-game lead in the American League East into the day's play, but the Blue Jays already knew that second-place Detroit had won its game before they took the field on the West Coast.

American

League

"There was some scoreboard watching," said Henke, who pitched the final inning for his club-record 28th save. "We couldn't miss that (Detroit) score. It was right out there in front of us.

"But no one was saying that and Tom Brookens a two-run shot since the Tigers won, we HAD to win. It's too early for that."

Stieb, 13-5, pitched a three-hitter for eight innings for his seventh straight victory. He trailed 1-0 until Bell hit a two-run homer with two outs in the eighth, giving him 37 homers and 102 RBI for the season.

"Winning a game like that, at this point, is very important," Stieb said. "It's good for a club, can carry a club for a while.

In other AL games, it was Cleveland 9, Milwaukee 8 in 12 innings as the Brewers' Paul Molitor hit in his 33rd straight game; Detroit 11, Minnesota 2; Boston 14, Chicago 8; Texas 3, Kansas City 1; Baltimore 4, California 1, and New York 4, Seattle 3.

Bell homered off Dennis Eckersley, 6-6, the A's most dependable reliever this season.

Tigers 11, Twins 2

Detroit snapped Minnesota's four-game winning streak as Larry Herndon drove in five runs with two homers and Jack Morris pitched a three-hitter for seven innings. Herndon hit a three-run homer to highlight a six-run first inning for the Tigers. Herndon, who was 3-for-3, had a two-run homer, his eighth, in Detroit's four-run fourth inning.

Morris, 14-6, struck out seven and walked one, improving his career record to 18-5 against the Twins, who still lead the AL West by five games. Randy Bush and Roy Smalley hot solo homers

Minnesota Steve Carlton, 6-12, was the loser, allowing nine runs on 11 hits in three-plus innings.

Indians 9, Brewers 8

Cleveland's Pat Tabler, 29-for-53 in his career with the bases loaded, knocked in three runs with two bases-loaded singles.

Paul Molitor extended his hitting streak to 33 games for Milwaukee by going 2-for-6. He can tie the longest streak in the AL since 1949 with a hit tonight.

Tabler broke won the game with a two-out single in the bottom of the 12th inning after his two-run single helped the Indians score seven runs in the sixth to erase a 7-1 ed out of the glove of diving right fielder Glenn Braggs, allowing Carmen Castillo to score from third.

John Farrell, 1-0, got the victory in his major-league debut, allowing two hits in the 12th.

Molitor, whose streak is the longest in the AL since Dom Dimaggio hit in 34 straight games for Boston in 1949, was 0-for-3 against Cleveland starter Darrel Akerfelds, then beat out a hit between third and shortstop off reliever Jamie Easterly in the Yankees 4, Mariners 3 New York won for only the third time in 11 games and handed Seattle its fifth straight loss.

Mike Pagliarulo's leadoff home run, off Bill Wilkinson, 2-3, broke a 2-2 tie in the ninth and Don Mattingly added a run-scoring single.

Ken Dixon and John Habyan combined on a four-hitter and Terry Kennedy drove in two runs with his 15th homer and a single for Baltimore.

Dixon, 6-8, allowed three hits for five innings before leaving with a stiff shoulder. Habyan pitched the last four innings for his first majorleague save.

The only hit Habyan allowed was Doug DeCinces' 14th homer, in the eighth inning.

Kirk McCaskill, 3-5, surrendered eight hits and all four Baltimore runs in 4 1-3 innings and remained winless at Anaheim Stadium since last Sept. 25.

Rangers 3, Royals 1

Kansas City's Mark Gubicza took a three-hit shutout into the ninth inning before Pete O'Brien tied the score with a double and Larry Par-2 1-3 innings before Dave Righetti rish won it for Texas with a two-run homer with one out.

Parrish's 26th homer made a winner of Charlie Hough, who allowed five hits and struck out a career-high 13 batters. He improved his record to 13-8 with his eighth complete game of the season, while Gubicza fell to 9-13.

Kevin Seitzer's 12th homer gave the Royals a 1-0 lead in the sixth inning.

Red Sox 14, White Sox 8 Boston pounded Chicago for 20 hits, including four each by Spike Owen and Marty Barrett and three apiece by Ellis Burks and Dwight Evans.

The offensive outburst made a winner of Al Nipper, 8-10, who broke a personal four-game losing streak although he gave up five runs and eight hits in five innings.

The White Sox scored an unearned run in the first and Evans tied it in the second with his 28th homer. Chicago took a 2-1 lead in the second inning when Kenny Williams, who had four hits, scored on a single by Steve Lyons.

But the Red Sox went ahead to stay in the third on a two-run single by Don Baylor. Todd Benzinger and Owen singled in the fourth before Burks tripled in two runs and scored on a single by Barrett.

Tough-luck Ryan

By The Associated Press Nolan Ryan may be the best pitcher in the National League this season. And he finally got a victory to prove it. Ryan ended his eight-game losing streak Tuesday night by combining on a three-hitter with Dave Smith as the Houston Astros beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0.

Ryan, 5-13, won for the first time since June 12, a span that included three no-decisions and matched the Tim Raines tripled and scored on Mitch Webster's seventh-inning single, leading Montreal past Los Angeles for its fifth straight victory. The host Expos moved within three games of St. Louis, the closest Montreal has been to first place since May 12.

Reliever Tim Burke, 4-0, got the victory and Bob McClure pitched the final inning for his third save. The Dodgers have scored one run in their last 30 innings.

Orel Hershiser, 12-12, held Montreal to four hits before Raines opened the seventh with his triple. Webster followed with a ground single to right.

Mets 7, Giants 2

Dwight Gooden won his 10th game with home-run support from Howard Johnson, Tim Teufel and Kevin McReynolds as New York beat San Francisco.

Gooden, 10-4, gave up two runs, one of them earned, on six hits in seven innings. He also had an RBI single in the second inning that made it 2-2. Gooden raised his career record to 50-13 at night,

In Palo Alto, Calif., the lawyer for banned U.S. hammer thrower Bill Green said he was working on an appeal.

"We're looking at what the laws are and we're trying to save his Olympic eligibility for next year," Paul McCloskey said.

Bartow said he resigned as coach of the Puerto Rican team for health reasons. However, a spokesman for the Puerto Rican delegation said Bartow's tleparture could be considered a "firing." He will be replaced by assistant coach Armando Torres.

"I just don't feel good," Bartow said from Birmingham. "I've had a touch of the flu. I told them that Sunday and I had told them that after the Brazil game and they told me just get through the week."

Bartow's hiring was criticized by some Puerto Rican coaches who thought a native of that country should have been named coach. Bartow led Puerto Rico to a 4-1 record and said he wasn't aware of any criticism of his coaching.

"Our only loss was to Brazil and that was by one point with a controversial ending," he said. BOXING Americans Frank Lyles, Todd Foster and Michael Collin all won to assure themselves at least a bronze medal.

Three U.S. boxers superheavyweight Riddick Bowe, light heavyweight Andrew Maynard and 106-pound contender Michael Carabajal — will try to advance to the finals tonight against Cubans. Welterweight Kenneth Gould and 125-pound Kelcie Banks will fight Puerto Ricans in their divisions.

"One thing that lies in the back of every American boxer's mind is stopping the Cubans," Liles said. "Not fighting and beating the Cubans, but fighting and stopping the Cubans. YACHTING

The United States battled back from mistakes and bad breaks to win six gold medals. It had to share one with Canada.

Race officials disqualified Canada's first-place finish in the 22-foot Star class after skipper Vince Brun of San Diego claimed Canada's Donald B. MacDonald bumped into his boat.

But even though Canada was disqualified the scoring system used in Olympic yachting still gave it enough points for a gold

"We raced well and we beat some good people," said Rowland "Major" Hall Jr., an assistant manager for the U.S.

BASEBALL

U.S. Coach Ron Fraser is thinking ahead to this weekend's medal round. After getting three perfect innings from one-handed pitcher Jim Abbott against Aruba, he replaced his ace with Joe Slusarski.

Slusarski also pitched three innings and was credited with the victory as the United States won 15-2 in seven innings. "We aren't thinking about a perfect game, only the medal round," said Abbott, who struck out four. "I looked at it as a workout to try and get loose and to get ready for the weekend."

Larry Gonzales, Tino Martinez and Don Guillot all hit home runs to help the Americans improve to 6-0. The United States will play its final preliminary round game against Puerto Rico tonight. SOFTBALL Granger, of Placentia, Calif., gave up a last-inning single to Puerto Rico's Clara Vasquez and struck out 14 to lead the U.S. women's team into the gold medal game with a 4-0 victory.

"I wasn't on top on my game," said Granger, who walked one. "I was walking on the edge the entire time." It was the third consecutive one-hitter, and second in as many nights, for Granger.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Use tact and diplomacy in dealings with your family and show them how much they mean to you. Today is good for attending to problems connected with property.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Avoid an argument with a family friend which could bring dire results. Plan some home repair projects; get estimates.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be cautious when dealing with business associates today. Remain calm at all times and don't lose your temper.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't argue about the cost of an article with someone in business. Someone who is eyeing your assets should be avoided.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Drive with the utmost care today and tonight. Try to put yourself into your opponent's shoes.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You can catch more flies with honey than you can with vinegar, so use your charm to settle disputes which may arise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Visit with friends this afternoon, but don't stay too late. Spend the evening with your mate and talk things over.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Talk over your social plans with an influential friend. If you handle a civic matter wisely, you can gain prestige.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Taking a short trip right now would yield much information, but be extremely cautious when driving or walking.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to gain the approval of your mate before you get into any new financial ventures which are risky.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle business quickly so that you'll have time for romance tonight. A little gift of flowers would be great. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be sure to settle any disputes with business associates before leaving work for the day. Keep your temper.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Try not to disappoint someone who is relying on you. Use your creative talents to finish your work quite quickly.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be cautious and will alway want to know the facts before getting into new situations. Your progeny will be one of those people who will always finish projects successfully and conscientiously once starting them. Your son or daughter will be very romantic.

Local teen having good summer on PGA Junior Tour

By STEVE BELVIN

Sports Editor Chris Sims is making quite a name for himself on the links.

The 16-year-old ranks as one of the top golfers on the Professional Golfers Association Junior Tour this summer. And the Big Spring High School junior will get a chance to prove how good he is when he competes in the state junior tournament in Garland Aug.

Sims earned the right to compete in the tournament by finishing second in the West Texas PGA Tournament of Champions in Amarillo this past weekend.

Sims earlier had to earn his right to compete in Amarillo.

He played through the West Texas Chapter, one of several regions in Junior Golf Association play. To qualify for the Amarillo Tournament of Champions, Sims had to finish first or second in a tournament earlier this summer.

That was no problem for Sims. He won two and placed in six of eight summer tourneys.

At the champions tourney this past weekend, he shot a 75-74 for a 36-hole total of 149.

"I was a little nervous the second day because I was tied for the lead the first day," said Sims.

Canyon's Chris Ray finished two strokes ahead of Sims to win. According to Sims' dad, Sammy, Chris had the making of a golf buff right from the start.

'At the age of three we cut a two wood off so he could use it. We had to do something, he was beating his mamma's fly swatter to death," the elder Sims said while Chris says he learned to love the game from the company he kept.

"I always tagged along with my Dad on the golf course. I was always watching and following him. I've liked the game as long as I can remember," Chris said.

All of the Sims family are golfers. While Chris and his father have been at it for years, 13-yearold John is a golfer and tennis player and their mother, Voncille just started the game.

Mr. Sims definitely is his sons' biggest supporter. He makes sure

LOS ANGELES - Comedianactor Jim Belushi must stand trial Nov. 2 on charges he attacked a man as part of a traffic dispute, a judge ruled.

Belushi, 34, brother of the late comedian John Belushi, and actor in the movies "Salvador" and "The Man With One Red Shoe," has pleaded innocent to assault and battery charge. Judge Sherman

Smith Jr. on Thursday set the trial. The charges stem from a fight in the trendy Westwood district on Jan. 2. Police say Belushi attacked Bobby Ray Henson, 43, a Santa Monica accountant, after Henson spit on his car at an intersection.

Belushi allegedly knocked Henson down from behind and jumped on him. Henson suffered scratches and damage to his teeth.

NEW YORK - Gov. Mario Cuomo, Mayor Edward Koch and other officials toasted each other with milk in a Manhattan supermarket as the governor signed into law a bill deregulating milk licensing in New York state.

The Milk Control and Milk Producer Security Reform Act eliminates regional licenses, allowing milk dealers to compete on a statewide basis, lowering the cost to consumers, Cuomo said at Thursday's signing ceremony.

Koch, who is under doctor's orders to lose weight after suffering a mild stroke last week, quaffed a glass of skim milk.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Actor Russ Tamblyn was left holding the bag twice in one day after a thief stole his prized 1966 Mustang from a market parking lot.

Tamblyn, who portrayed the street-smart gang leader Riff in the 1960 musical "West Side Story," was left holding a bag of ice in the parking lot after he left his keys in the car Monday.

Then he went home, got his second car and drove up and down main streets and side streets. Less than 15 minutes later, he had located his car, called police and staked out the car himself.

But then, he said, a young man loaded a duffel bag into the car and drove off. He followed the other driver to Venice Beach; parked 20 feet away and when the driver joined some friends, called police.

He grabbed the duffel out of the Mustang and was holding the bag for evidence, he said, when the driver returned to the car. "You had better stay away from that car, it's mine and it's been stolen, and the police are on the way!" Tamblyn yelled.

Mitchum, in a telephone interview earlier this week, joked that the "con job" got him to replace Huston in a leading role of the movie, which is being filmed in Newport, R.I., with Huston as coauthor and executive producer.

Spell-Herndon

MIDLAND - Kirsten Spell and sister of the bride, of Big Spring. E. Forrest Herndon, both of Midland, exchanged wedding vows Aug. 15 at 2 p.m. at the Golf Course Road Church of Christ in Midland with Tom Vermillion, singles minister, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Spell, formerly of Coahoma, now of Midland. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Eldon F. Herndon of Midland.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with an arch of candles and greenery, flanked by two spiral candelabras entwined with greenery.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal white organza gown with a fitted bodice, scooped neck and a back covered in French alencon lace with pearls and sequins. The sleeves were Victorian style of organza and French netting with appliques of French alencon lace. The full flowing skirt of organza fell to a cathedral-length train.

She carried a colonial nosegay of white roses and baby's breath with white streamers.

Matron of honor was Olga Garza of Austin. Bridesmaid was Melissa Herndon, sister of the bridegroom, of Midland. Flower girl was Mandy Smith of Tyler. Best man was Eldon F. Herndon.

Groomsmen was David Krazer and Keith Bracewell of Midland.

Ushers were Dan Hockenbrough of Navasota and Andy Spell of Evergreen, Col.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at the fellowship hall of the Church of Christ. Lack of water can kill pecan trees

By DON RICHARDSON Howard County Extension Agent My young pecan tree's leaves are turning black and dropping off. What could be causing this?

Your problem is widespread. It's occurring around the county the past couple of weeks. The main cause is stress from lack of sufficient water. Such trees are often called "Welfare Trees". They do well until times get hard. This problem occurs when most true owners believe they are watering thin trees enough but they are not getting enough volumn of soil watered for the tree. They need to wet a larger area with more water.

Be sure the outer 1/3 of the drip line and beyond is watered well. Pecan trees must receive adequate water during the growing season! Water applied to lawn and turf grass is not sufficient to to maintain pecan trees. A slow steady trickle form the hose for long periods of time (24-36 hrs.) is more beneficial to the tree than filling a shallow basin dug around the trunk of the tree. Weekly waterings to a depth of at least 3 feet may be necessary for larger trees.

pecan trees in West Texas is as Winter irrigation is needed every follows: In July and August water one-year-old trees 28 gallons per week and in September, 14 gallons. A two-year-old tree needs 56 gallons per week in July and August and 28 gallons in September. A four-year-old tree needs 240 gallons per week in July and August and 56 gallons in September. Reduce irrigation significantly in Mid-August to facilitate the onset of dormancy. Freeze injury can occur in December if the water is not reduced in August. So water only twice in A rule of thumb for watering August and once in September.

Ask the agent

root death from drying out.

Excessive moisture can be dangerous. If water is not draining internally, reduce the rate of discontinue irrigation for one ing off." If water application is week. When water forces oxygen out of the root zone, absorbtion is reduced, roots begin to die and tree growth stops.

Productive trees need a minimum of 48 inches of water per season if they are on good soil. Large trees may use over 200 gallons per day in July and August. Bearing trees should not be stressed. Early spring, when growth begins, mid-summer, when the nut develops, and early fall, as the kernel develops, are very important irriation periods for bearing pecan trees.

Another important consideration in planning efficient irrigation of pecans is the termination of water at the latter part of the growing season. The reduction of applied water is very important when considering a plant which will shed it's leaves in the fall and go into a dormat (no growth) state. The last application of water should occur from mid to late September. By this period, the soil will retain a crop of pecans.

45 days if no rain occurs to prevent proper moisture level for proper development of nuts and will condition the plant to the cold weather of the winter months ahead.

This process is known a "hardencontinued through October and November, the tree will remain in a succulent state and will be extremely susceptible to winter[injury.

If the tree has been properly fertilized and watered during the growing season, the leaves should not fall until the first frost.

If the trees have flood irrigated, they should receive an application water during the month of December to keep the roots in a moist condition. If trees are watered by trickle irrigation, the system should be shut down in September and turned back on in December. The amount of water applied should be sufficient to keep the root system moist. This will also aid in monitoring the system for problems which can be solved before next year's growing season.

Remember that proper conditioning of the plant for the winter making the last application during months could be the difference in a Mother of the prospective bridegroom is Mrs. Nancy Lee Robbins of Odessa. The couple will wed Aug. 29 at Midway Baptist Church with Larry Ashlock, minister at Midway Baptist Church, officiating.

World of parents, children collide

By NAOMI HUNT County Extension Agent Today's working parents and their children often seem set on collision courses

Children cry when their parents take them to daycare, and they don't want to leave daycare when their parents take them home.

This collision of worlds is com-•mon for the working parents and also for the parent who travels and is gone gone for a long period of time.

When parents leave for the day, they often enjoy the chance to get away from family routines and into a world of adults. Children enjoy going somewhere outside the home to play with other children and getting away from their parents.

Yet, both parents and children and loss when they're apart for long periods of time.

Parents often react by feeling missing any fun. guilty, while children, who don't often understand their feelings, get angry, and a collision occurs.

Understanding these attitudes and events is a good first step toward easing parents and children back into each others' worlds.

Parents may want to try spending more time with their children as they are dropped off and picked up. Giving children a little extra attention and understanding may help. Special games or treats also may ease the children in and out of davcare. Daycare centers also can help ease the transitions. Planning calm tend to feel a sense of separation may help children adjust to leaving, especially if they aren't leaving in the middle of anything and

When the work day is through, a large transition occurs in many people on their way home. The civility, the business manners, and the patience are often left at the office, and an active volcano goes

There are ways to keep this volcano from erupting all over the family. Try setting aside a buffer time for establishing calm. This time may be needed to decompress and reestablish bearings. Arrange a standing agreement with the family that everything that is not critical will wait until the time to unwind is over. Do something activities for the end of the day relaxing during this time and attain a sense of composure to carry through the evening.

Try reserving a peaceful and quiet place to unwind that is off limits to the rest of the family. This can signify that a little more consideration is needed and also gives a grouch a place to be a grouch by themselves.

Establishing a non-combat zone for the family is another alternative. Designate a room in the house where a permanent truce is in effect, and all arguments must be taken elsewhere. This can provide a setting for family interaction in a relatively tranquil atmosphere.

Thinking of something pleasant often helps relieve the tension, as does a show of affection.

Several Jaycee members insist the original roof of the structure was not tin, but wooden shake shingles. That is what will be used to re-roof the convent.

Hutto of Big Spring, the beginnings of the monastery are described:

In 1880, John Konz, a German immigrant from the state of Kansas, while in search of a location W.H. Abrams, land age and Pacific railway in Fort Worth. He was told by Mr. Abrams of the rich, unoccupied and untilled lands that lay along the line of the railway which was being constructed to connect El Paso, the gateway to the West, with the eastern borders of Texas, almost a thousand miles distant. The new field seemingly offered every prospect anticipated by Konz.

As a result of this visit, and later plans, there arrived at the Station Grelton, now Stanton, on August the 15th, 1881, five men: Rev. P.A. Peters; Rev. Albert Wagner and with Rev. William Fuhrwerk, fellow monks of Rev. P.A. Peters. together with a laybrother, Anton Keber and Adam Konz. The purpose of the newcomers was mainly twofold: to establish the German Catholic colony and to found a

When the company arrived at the desolate outpost, there were few conveniences and only a station for a Catholic colony in Texas, met house and telegraph office operated by the rails shelter, the priests erected two tents, 12 feet by 14 feet, serving as both sleeping quarters and a place of worship.

> According to Hutto's history, one of the first tasks of the group was to change the area's name from Grelton to Marienfeld, translating "field of Mary" in honor of the Holy Virgin.

> Relying on supply trains, the group awaited the first rail car of lumber which arrived Oct. 2, 1881 and immediately began construction on the permanent structure which would serve as home for the priests as well as the area's first church built on the land now occupied by Stanton's St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

ed to close the school in 1890 because it was not a selfsupporting institution.

Records secured from the Catholic Archives, including a history written by the late Most Rev. Simon Weeg, detail the work of the mission and its priests.

"The entire northern part of the diocese of San Antonio is taken care of by Marienfeld, namely, west of the Colorado River, Mitchell County up to San Martinez, where El Paso County begins, a distance of 210 English miles; this includes the following counties: Ector, Winkler, Ward, Reeves and Loving Counties. There are two priests and a brother stationed in Fort Davis which takes care of the following five counties: Jefferson Davis, Pecos, Presidio, Brewster and Buchel.'

The transcript goes on to explain that the courageous priests would ride circuits throughout the surrounding area, extending often into New Mexico, establishing churches in major settlements and ministering to the small clusters of settlers and ranchers along the way. It was further reported that by 1896, there were only 12 Catholic families in Marienfeld although it was hoped that the population would broaden, due to the opening of a new school adjacent to the monestery which was claimed as the only Catholic School between Fort Worth and El

In that same year, the adobe monastery building was purchased from the Carmelite fathers, who had tried to maintain a seminary for the training of young priests for a number of years in the area. However, the historic drouth of 1886-87, coupled with the settlement's loss of its German-Catholic identity, caused the priests to be recalled from the area, leaving the new owners of the buildings, the Sisters of Mercy, to carve out further history for the Catholic faith. The establishment of the convent and school, housed within the abode structures on the hill came about through the efforts of Mother M. Berchmans Kast and several nuns sent from the Mother House in San Francisco. In 1894, a day school and boarding school was opened for the education of Catholic children living in the surrounding region. The Convent was chartered April 23, 1897 as the Sisters of Mercy Educational Society of Texas.

Traveling to the dusty West Texas desert with Mother Berchmans was Sister Angela Hostetter, who later became head of the school. Soon after the charter was secured two additional building were erected, through the help of Mexican laborers and townspeople from Stanton. The school soon took on a horseshoe shape, with dormitory facilities, music rooms, parlors, separate dining accommodations for boys and girls and 36 classrooms. Numerous outbuildings were also built to house a dairy barn, a laundry, chicken coops, and storage facilities.

Life at the school followed a rigid routine, according to Mrs. Villa Wilkinson, a Stanton native, who attended The Sisters of Mercy Academy beginning in 1907.

"We lived on a ranch near Tarzan, but moved into town when we kids started school as "day scholars," the 87-year-old grandmother and great-grandmother recalls. "But when my father had to return to the ranch for round-up, we stayed in the school's dormitory as boarding students.'

Mrs. Wilkinson recalls, also, the strict discipline demanded by the nuns who ran the school. "When a student failed to complete assignments or broke a school rule. the nuns usually made them hold out their hands for spats with a ruler, or, for lesser offenses, would hold the guilty student after class

Each day began for Mrs. Wilkinson and her classmates with Mi at 7 a.m. "The sisters attended Mass much earlier so they would have their prayers completed before rousting us from bed. Then, after our Mass, we would file into the dining room for breakfast at long tables covered with red cloths."

The petite, white-haired woman remembers that after each meal, students had to wash their silverware and wrap it in napkins to be returned to the drawers built into the dining tables.

'My favorite meal was served each Sunday morning," says the former student. "The nuns prepared all the food, and on Sunday's for breakfast, we had some of the most delicious baked beans I've ever tasted. I don't know how they were prepared, but I can still remember smelling the wonderful aroma of those beans as we marched into the dining room on

Classes were held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and resumed after lunch at 1 p.m. By 4 p.m., books and papers were put away, and students returned to homes or dormitory rooms for studying until dinner at 6

During the school term, the nuns took great care to keep boy and girl students from intermingling. Mrs. Wilkinson remembers that the girls would participate in Saturday afternoon debates, one of her favorite activities, music lessons taught by Sister Angela, plays and dances on Friday evenings, where girls would dance with other girls. At recess, games of "Wolf Over the River," "Ring-Around the Rosie," and ball were played under the supervision of the nuns who occasionally joined in the competition

Apparently, the nuns who built the Academy into an educational center in West Texas, with peak enrollment recorded at 110, were of a hardy stock. Clothed in floorlength black habits, with glistening white Mantles framing their faces and covered with black veils, the nuns not only held classes, but prepared meals, tended chickens, worked in the laundry, and tilled a large garden. Through tireless hours of hard work, the Academy became self-sustaining throughout

The dormitory was housed on the second floor of one of the buildings and consisted of a long room, partitioned with curtains hanging on iron rods. Each cubicle contained an iron bed and a wash stand. Older students were allowed private rooms.

"Each Saturday morning, we all took our turn in the bathroom, which had running water. After bathing, the sisters would make us each take a dose of epsom salts so that we would be healthy," Mrs. Wilkinson remembers. "None of us looked forward to that," she adds with a grin. Late, on afternoon in June, 1938, shortly after graduation, a high wind began howling around the buildings of the academy. Soon, the landscape was swathed in total blackness, and within minutes, an ominous black cloud twisted throught the school, destroying all today. Within a few months, a tour was made of the ruins by the Provincial of the Sisters of Mercy who, after seeing the debris-strewn grounds, decided to close the school. The remaining nuns were transferred to Slaton to continue their work at a school and hospital

"The building was occupied by the publisher of the Stanton newspaper and his wife until the 1960's," says Mrs. June Reid, former curator of the Museum of Martin County, "and, with a few alterations, the home was then handed down to their daughter, who lived there until the early 1970's."

Until restoration of the old academy occurs or a new owner steps in, the stately brick building with its majestic columns and boarded windows will stand, deserted, slowly giving way to the deterioration of time. To the north, the old convent cemetary centered by a statue of Jesus. To the south, a rickety iron gate, chained and padlocked against vandals and other intruders

Yet, a visit to the old landmark leaves one with the feeling that the spirits of Mother Berchmans, Sister Angela and others who battled the fierce elements of the West Texas sun and winds remain, carefully guarding the Academy which once echoed with the sound of children's voices, music, and

The hurtful lie

Child custody battles have always been difficult and sometimes ugly. But recently they have taken an even nastier turn. Many parents involved in custody fights in West Texas are using the allegation of sexual molestation of a child as a weapon to gain custody of children.

It is estimated that 10 percent of child custody cases that go to trial in West Texas involve sexual abuse charges. And officials of the Department of Human Services say many of the sexual abuse complaints they investigate are connected with

There are several reasons for the phenomenon. There is greater public awareness of sexual abuse; there are mandatory reporting laws requiring all adults, particularly doctors, nurses and teachers, to report suspected cases and there have been changes in divorce laws that give fathers more of an equal chance at custody.

Men have become more involved in child-rearing and in some cases have won custody of their children. Some mothers and fathers are so fearful of losing custody that they sometimes fabricate stories of sexual abuse.

Of course, not all allegations are false. And there are no guarantees that truth will out — especially with a lack of physical evidence and no confession from the accused party. Unfortunately, the flood of accusations — particularly unwarranted ones — can only hurt the outcome of legitimate cases.

The use of false accusations in divorce-custody cases is not new. Allegations range from charges of alcoholism to child beating. After all, divorce cases have one of the highest rates of perjury. But can there be a more damaging charge than sexual abuse of one's own child?

When all the accusing, bickering, lying and back-biting is done one parent will win and the other lose.

But, in the end, the real losers are the children.

Arias plan promotes needed peace

The peace plan for Nicaragua which President Reagan floated last week may never attain full realization, but already it has achieved something of value. It almost certainly nudged the five Central American presidents meeting in Guatemala City to igree on a regional peace plan.

Enjoys Stanton Herald

I just had to write and let you know Mr. Finley and staff how much I have enjoyed your paper the "Stanton Herald."

I don't know how you and your staff do it, but you are doing a real good job of reporting news in Martin County.

Your paper brings the Martin County people right into my living room once every week. As I was reading the articles (and I've read every thing from front to back) it reminded me of the program on TV (The Eyes of Texas)

Your articles and stories really let us see what is happening in our own community, as well as the communities all over Martin

I love to read how Stanton, Grady, Tarzan, Lenorah and every other town in Martin County were built. How the people worked for everyone of us, so things could be better in our time, than it was in their time.

I've been in Stanton over 30 years. There have been many improvements in 30 years, for our benefit.

I do appreciate everything that has been made to happen to improve our way of living a better so much better. My two children, two grandchildren got as good of an education in Stanton, as in any other school

I could say a lot about the people in Stanton. But the main reason for writing to you is to say, I love your newspaper. Keep up the good reporting.

Again, I really have enjoyed the "Stanton Herald" so very much. So keep up the good work FAE HOPPER

The attached NEWS RELEASE announces the FCC's decision to allow any qualified person to build a new broadcasting facility in Stanton, TX

If you have a reader in your area interested in this broadcasting opportunity, it is almost certain that there is no one locally who can assist them with the engineering and application services necessary for filing an FCC application. You are the ONLY local source available to tell them where to go for assistance. Regarding where to turn for assistance, your reader has only three options. These are:

1) Contact the FCC direct. The life. Our schools have grown to be FCC will suggest that they seek the services of a professional.

2) Contact a Washington, DC law firm which normally practices before the FCC and charges higher

3) Contact a full service communications consultant; we know of less than fifty nationwide.

We are one of those consulting firms and probably the only one to take the time to inform you of the new broadcasting frequency for Stanton, TX.

Our commitment is "to put local people" into this broadcasting opportunity. If you will, share our name with your readers in this news release so that they can receive more information and become involved. We do not charge a fee for this information.

Thank you for your consideration. Sincerely yours,

The General Accounting Office now tells us what South Texas narcotics authorities have known for a long time: The amount of drugs entering the United States from Mexico has skyrocketed.

The GAO found that, despite increased spending on drug enforcement and eradication programs, the amount of Mexican heroin entering the United States has increased since 1980 by at least 200 percent, and the flow of marijuana is up by 600 percent.

Dryland, or totally rainfed, crop production is riskier but its acreage is increasing due to irrigation pumping costs. Key components of water management on dryland farms include reduced soil evaporation by consevation tillage and narrower row spacings for soil shading; weed control to reduce way to carry out the 4-H mission.

evapotranspination; reduced runoff and increased soil moisture storage by conservation tillage; land leveling, level terraces, deep chiseling and furrow diking; and selecting crops, varieties and planting dates to coincide with rainfall ing precipitation effectiveness, limiting irrigation and maximizing water use efficiency (crop yield per unit volume of water use).

Conservation Tillage Improves Soil Moisture

For example, conservation tillage, which involves maintaining crop residues on the soil surface, has increased soil moisture by 2.1-2.8 inches per fallow season following irrigated wheat as compared to conventional tillage, according to agricultural engineers and soil scientists with the USDA's strategies are focused on maximiz- Agricultural Research Service based near Amarillo. Increased storage of rainfall results from increased infiltration and reduced evaporation.

Furrow diking, in which soil dams are mechanically placed every few feet along furrow, prevents runoff from most rainfall. Researchers have reported that dryland grain sorghum yields more than doubled using furrow dikes as compared to open furrows, which lost more than 3 inches of runoff, Furrow diking increased cotton yields by 25 percent at Lubbock. Other tests have shown benefit-cost ratios for furrow diking usually exceeded 10 to 1.

> Surge Flow Reduces Water Loss

In center pivot systems, which are labor efficient, low pressure spray nozzles operated at 25-30 psi just above the crop canopy have largely replaced higher pressure nozzles. Low pressure nozzles reduce evaporation losses but tend to increase runolff, which can be virtually eliminated through consevation tillage, soil chiseling, and furrow diking.

LEPA System Pays Off

Drip (or trickle) irrigation systems have been used in vineyards, orchards and nurseries in Texas for many years where high valued crops can justify the additional capital cost. Drip irrigation systems also have been used in West Texas cotton demonstration projects, where increased yields were usually obtained. High capital costs and the need for high quality management means that investments in trickle systems for row crops such as cotton are difficult to justify economically at this CALV
