

VA Center plans more staff

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

A tentative 11 percent increase in the local VA Medical Center budget will translate into about six more staff members at the hospital, its director said.

Conrad Alexander said today the center is looking for qualified registered nurses, and is targeting the first week of October to reopen its surgical ward.

These actions will result from a tentative $222,000 increase in the facility's budget submitted by President Reagan to Congress earlier this year, Alexander said.

He stressed the tentativeness of the increase, and noted it could be two or three months from now before he knows if the center will receive the increase.

If Congress approves the budget, Alexander foresees two major additions to programs offered by the Big Spring center.

First will be the reopening of the hospital's surgical ward. Officials are hoping to have the ward operating by the first week of October.

The center is busy trying to secure staff for the program, and is working to have the ward's equipment needs ready by the target date, Alexander noted.

Another addition — if the increase is approved — will be the establishment of a veterans follow-up clinic in San Angelo, he said.

Similar to the clinic at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene, the San Angelo service will be available to veterans once every two weeks. It will provide a wide range of medical services, the director added.

Increased efficiency at the local center is at least partially responsible for the tentative increase, Alexander said.

The center has received tentative approval to hire six more staff members because of the increased workload and that increased efficiency, he explained.

The new employees will come predominantly from the Big Spring area, Alexander said. Most of the positions will be for registered nurses, he added.

"If a qualified nurse came through the door today, we wouldn't wait for the budget, we'd hire her," he said.

Labor of love

Spring board

How's That? Veterans

Q. I am a veteran and would like to start a small business. How can I obtain a Veterans Administration small business loan?

A. The VA does not have a small business loan program. The Small Business Administration (SBA) has programs to assist veterans in obtaining small business loans. There is a veterans' affairs officer in each SBA field office to assist veterans, according to the Veterans Administration Office of Public Affairs.

Calendar Library

SATURDAY
Howard County Library will be closed through Monday because of Labor Day observance.

SUNDAY
Regis Hairstylists, Big Spring Mall, will have a "Cut-A-Thon" from 6 to 10 p.m. Proceeds will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

MONDAY
Legal aid will not be available at the Northside Community Center because of Labor Day observance, but will be available Sept. 14.

Items for the Spring board calendar should be community-wide events and will be listed no more than one week in advance. Send such notices to: Spring board, Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring. Club notices will be printed in the "City Bits" section on page 3-A of the Herald.

Labor Day

Gas prices climb, closings planned

Herald staff report
Gasoline prices are climbing slowly upward but fuel will be plentiful for the Labor Day holiday Monday, according to the American Automobile Association.

Gasoline prices have increased two to six cents since the July 4 holiday, and have increased an average of 20 cents per gallon from a year ago, according to an association survey of 232 Texas gasoline stations.

Big Spring City Hall will be closed Monday, except for emergency services, and although trash will not be collected Monday, the balefill will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Normal operations and regular garbage collection schedules will resume at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

The Howard County Courthouse and annex will be closed Monday, except for the sheriff's office.

The Post Office also will close Monday.

The Howard County Library will be closed Saturday through Monday, said Martha Vierra, assistant circulation clerk.

Monday's Big Spring Herald will be an afternoon edition, as usual, but Herald offices will remain closed Monday. The circulation department will close at 5 p.m. Monday, instead of its usual time of 6:30 p.m.

Holiday plans of residents vary widely

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

As might be expected, some people are leaving town for the long Labor Day weekend, while others will stay home, opting for a cookout in the back yard.

For an unfortunate few, however, Labor day will be just another Monday on the job.

They revealed their plans as they visited the Big Spring Post Office Thursday.

"What am I doing? I'll be driving a Deere tractor," said Dee Earhart, of Stanton.

"I'd rather go to work than be bored," she said with a chuckle. "If we don't work we don't get paid."

William Addy, P.O. Box 165, is a bit luckier.

"I'm leaving town, going to Amarillo. My wife's folks live up there and my daughters live up close by," Addy said. He added that he doesn't need a holiday for an excuse to go out of town.

"I've only been in town three weekends this summer. I spend most of my time in Arlington — I'm a Rangers fan.

"I like baseball, man. My wife and I both really enjoy baseball. I'll have my radio on in the car and I'll watch it when I get up there," Addy reported.

T.P. Musgrave, of Sand Springs, said he recently visited the Hill Country, but plans to play it safe this weekend.

"I'm going to stay here and just take it easy. I might cook some hamburgers or hotdogs in the yard.

"It'll be dangerous on the road, anyhow. It'll be wild and woolly out there for a few days," Musgrave said.

One Big Spring citizen has a unique plan for her weekend. Marie Hall, 901 Main St., plans a quiet rebellion against federal paperwork by shredding papers.

"I'm going to spend the day shredding papers and forms on which are inscribed: 'The paper reduction act requires that you be told why you are receiving this,'" Hall said.

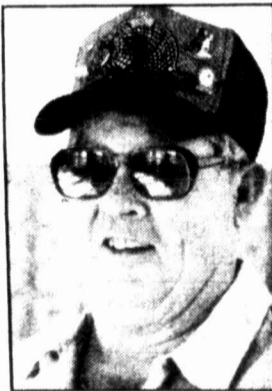

"That'll be fun," she added, looking a bit mischievous.

Joel Lane, 2110 Grace St., who works for Texaco, said he'll be on stand-by. That means he can go anywhere he wants, as long as he

Lost 2-year-old found in Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — Four months of torment for a mother who thought her 2-year-old kidnapped son was forever lost in Egypt ended with a tender bearhug at Houston's Intercontinental Airport.

"I never thought he'd be in Texas," Cheryl Gould said upon arriving at the airport Wednesday from her home in Waterford, N.Y. "I thought he'd be in Egypt, that my little boy might be speaking Arabic."

She paused, peered at Tarek Sallam, and asked "Do you remember Mommie?" He replied inaudibly — to all but one.

"I can't believe he said Mommy," Ms. Gould said, tears welling in her eyes.

Her ex-husband, Mohammed Sallam, 31, was being held by U.S. Marshals pending extradition to New York, authorities said. Sallam, an Egyptian national, is charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and with violating Ms. Gould's custody rights.

Houston police arrested Sallam after he became embroiled in a fracas with another man Tuesday outside an auto body shop. Officers S.R. Jett and L.W. Dopain then learned he was wanted in New York for the May 7 kidnapping of his son.

It was unclear why Sallam was in Houston. Sallam's ex-wife said he abducted the boy under the guise of taking him out for french fries. When he failed to return, Ms. Gould said she searched for her son in a mosque in Rutherford, N.J.

Cheryl Gould is reunited with her son Tarek Sallam at a Houston airport Wednesday, after the mother believed her ex-husband had taken the boy to Egypt. Taken May 7, the boy was found after his father was involved in a disturbance in Houston.

Sites submitted

Lord, moon drawn into SSC fray

DALLAS (AP) — To the surprise of many Texas officials, the Department of Energy's final list of contenders for the federal government's $4.4 billion supercollider included three maverick bids from Liberty County, east of Houston.

In addition, supporters of two of the 12 sites rejected in May, Garden City and El Paso, bolstered their site proposals and entered them into the federal competition, which involves 42 proposals from 25 states along with one independent suggestion to build the giant particle accelerator on the moon.

The Liberty County proposals were backed by seven members of a Liberty County church, the Ark Apostolic Revival Center in Nederland.

Rev. Phil Volk, the church's pastor and self-styled "spiritual leader" for the Liberty County proposals, said his group wasn't joking.

"I am a pastor, and the Lord told me about it," Volk said. "I have it on paper. The Lord told me there would be a major plant in this area with work."

"I'm not blowing steam," he said. "We put a bid in. We're legitimate."

The bid was offered under the auspices of Major Tom Enterprises Inc., which Volk said would be the project's chief contractor. When the company isn't bidding for atom smashers, it sells irrigation systems and sprinklers.

Volk said he first had the idea to bid for the scientific facility in 1977 — four years before scientists first proposed the idea of a supercollider.

He admits that it wasn't until 1985 that he first heard official word about the supercollider project, which would act like a giant "microscope" for scientists to probe the structure of the atom.

Liberty County bids is the 20 percent unemployment in the area. The scientific facility would offer 3,500 construction jobs, 2,500 permanent operational jobs and a $275 million operating budget.

"It will lift our economy out of depression," Volk said. "You think 20 percent unemployment don't do a number on an area? I think you can understand the havoc we went through."

This week, Texas submitted those Dallas and Amarillo sites as its official bids, backed by $500 million in state funds and a pledge of $500 million more if the voters approve a constitutional amendment on the Nov. 3 ballot.

The Liberty County proposals to the federal government weren't expected by observers.

"These are maverick squared! They've come as a complete shock to everybody," said William Black, a Houston engineer, of the bids.

Pep rally ends in tears, not cheers

McCAULLEY (AP) — A pep rally for the McCaulley High School football team ended with tears instead of cheers when students learned their alma mater is shutting down.

Superintendent Byron Shelley told the school's 23 students Thursday they will have to start attending school in Roby today because the school district can't afford to keep the high school open. McCaulley, in Fisher County, is located 25 miles northeast of Sweetwater.

It was the last pep rally for the high school's sports teams, and "nobody was really pepped up," said Lori Jeffrey, one of the West Texas school's six seniors.

"They were heartbroken, but they knew it had to happen,"

Shelley said. "It was, surprisingly enough, a good pep rally — it was real emotional."

In a meeting Thursday, the McCaulley Independent School District board voted unanimously to move the high school students to the Roby Independent School District, said board president Jerry Jeffrey.

"It was something we couldn't avoid," he said.

No employees will be laid off, Shelley said. Several teachers will work for the Roby school district, and the district will keep its two coaches, although all of the high school sports teams will be disbanded.

Declining enrollment in the district about 30 miles northwest of Abilene forced the move.

can hear his phone ring.

"I'll probably just be hanging around the house," Lane said. "I can't leave the phone or go anywhere. I'll probably do some yard work, maybe pick the garden."

How about a cookout?

"I might do that. It might be a good way to end the summer, come to think of it," he said.

Anthony Arista, 814 NW Sixth St., didn't need any prodding.

"I'm going to visit with relatives and cook out. The Cowboys are playing, and I'll probably watch that," he said.

Arista, however, might have to alter his plans. The Cowboys do play — against the Oilers — but they play Saturday night, and it's not being televised.

"I'm going to stay home," said Cliffa Slate, 1600 Vines St.

"My husband's playing in a golf tournament and I'll play a little bridge and have a little get together," she said, smiling, and looking altogether pleased with her plans.

Al Garcia, 4205 Parkway St., also smiled, but it must have been because he likes his job.

"I'm going to work. It's just another regular day," he said.

Angela Williams, 1005 E. 14th St., has the day off and said she's going to Dallas.

"My little boy and I are going to visit my aunt," she said, adding that she was looking forward to the trip.

Lupe Ochoa, Gail Route, isn't employed and her husband will have the day off.

Aren't you excited about having an extra day with your husband?

"I don't know," she said. "I guess. It'll be all right."

Louise Teague, 508 Benton St., doesn't have any extravagant plans, but it's a good bet she'll enjoy her Labor Day.

"I didn't have anything in mind because I just got out of the hospital. I had a heart attack," she said, adding that she "feels fine."

"I thought I was a goner. I just thank the Lord I'm still living. You can jot that down if you like."

Sheriff's log

Herald staff report

A Plainview man was arrested near Big Spring Thursday on charges of bigamy.

Donnie Wayne Duffel, 52, Plainview, was arrested four miles north of Big Spring on Interstate 20 near Salem Church after the sheriff's office received a call reporting a suspicious vehicle. Duffel was arrested on a warrant for bigamy stemming from a Plainview grand jury indictment. A $2,500 bond has been set. Duffel remains in custody in the Howard County jail.

- Barry Bowen Park, 34, Austin, was arrested at 10:35 p.m. Thursday 1 1/2 miles north of Big Spring on Highway 350 on charges of driving while intoxicated. He was released on a $1,000 bond.
- Terry Joe Conway, 26, 2001 Morrison Drive, was arrested at 7:14 p.m. Thursday on Highway 176, 1 1/2 miles west of Big Spring on charges of DWI. He was released on a $1,000 bond.
- Terri Hulme, 25, Colorado City, was arrested by the Mitchell County Sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant on charges of issuance of bad checks. Hulme was released via Mitchell County on a $200 bond.
- Becky Williams, 91, Snyder, was arrested by the Scurry County Sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant charging her with issuance of bad checks. Williams was released via Scurry County on a $200 bond.
- John Henry Zant, 22, Ackery, is in custody in the Howard County jail after being transferred Thursday from the police department. He was arrested Aug. 28 on charges of forgery.
- Jesse Rodriguez Lopez, 19, Route 1 Box 371-A, was transferred from the police department on charges of burglary of a habitation. Lopez was released on a $2,000 bond.

Second wrongful death suit filed

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

A wrongful death lawsuit has been filed in 118th District Court against a Big Spring resident for the death of a man in Kimbell County.

The lawsuit is the second wrongful death case to be filed this week in district court.

On Monday, a lawsuit was filed against property owner Herman W. Shifflett, Coahoma, for the death of Nicholas Nolan Richardson. The 13-month-old child died Sept. 17, 1986 after the Big Spring home his family rented from Shifflett caught fire.

In the second suit, several Ector and McCulloch county residents have filed a suit against Bruce Helsley, 2200 Alabama St., for the May 29 death of Elton Wayne Land in Junction.

Plaintiffs in the case are Ector County residents Janelle and Bernice Land and McCulloch County residents Denise Carson, David Land, Diane Hardeman, individually, and Mabel Ruth Land as next friend of Dustin Land, a minor.

The suit was filed to recover wrongful death and survival damages, the petition states.

The plaintiffs allege that on or about May 29, Bruce Helsley negligently injured and killed Elton Wayne Land while employed by Andrews Transport Co., now known as Andrews Transportation Inc., the lawsuit states.

Helsley was unavailable for comment today, but a family friend said this morning the death resulted from a motor vehicle accident in which the car Land was driving struck the rear of Helsley's truck, which then jack-knifed. A police report absolved Bruce, but apparently that information was not given to the deceased man's widow, the friend said.

They are seeking punitive and exemplary damages, pre-judgment interest, cost of court and other relief to which they may show themselves justly entitled, the suit states.

Police beat

Stabbing victim in good condition

A Big Spring man stabbed in the abdomen is in good condition at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, a hospital spokeswoman said this morning.

Mark Pattin, 25, 401 Young St., told police that someone he knows stabbed him at his house between 12:30 and 1 a.m. today.

A six-year-old Big Spring girl was bitten by a mouse when she tried to rescue the creature from a cat Wednesday night, Lt. Troy Hogue said.

Brook Daylong, 1509 Avion St., was bitten on the thumb at 8:28 p.m. Wednesday outside her house when she tried to rescue the mouse from the cat's mouth, Hogue said. He added that Daylong was received medical treatment for the minor bite.

Police arrested two Hemmet, Calif., residents on forgery charges and warrants at the Travel Inn, 3500 W. Highway 80, Thursday.

Police beat

Detective Sgt. Pam Jordan said the two are accused of passing a forged check.

Tommy Lyndon Barnhill, 31, also was arrested on three warrants for forgery by checks, and on warrants for forgery by passing, felony forgery and felony theft of a motor vehicle, Jordan said.

Janet Amos Gibbs, 29, in addition to the local forgery charge, was arrested on five forgery warrants and a warrant for parole violation, Jordan said.

Big Spring residents should be wary of someone attempting to alter $1 bills to appear as $10 bills, Lt. Hogue said, adding that this case is not related to the two forgery arrests.

Someone taped two corners of a $10 bill onto a $1 and passed the altered currency at the 401 Johnson St. 7-Eleven store, police reports said. The crime occurred between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 5 a.m. Thursday, store Manager Betty Barnett told police.

- Barrett Land Bloomer, 20, 800 W. Marcy Drive Apt. 34, was arrested at 901 S. Goliad St. Thursday afternoon on a warrant for burglary of a habitation, police reports said.
- Dale Robert Vela, 29, 120 Airbase Road Building 7 Apt. 6, was arrested there early this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct, police reports said.
- Brenda Kay Thompson, 32, of Thrifty Lodge, was arrested at Wonder World department store Thursday afternoon on a charge of criminal trespass, police reports said. She was transferred to the county jail and released on $1,000 bond.
- Lula Green Boyd, 33, of Colorado City was arrested at Wonder World Thursday afternoon on a charge of theft over $20. She was transferred to the county jail and released on $500 bond.

Gramm hopes to speed trade zone

MIDLAND (AP) — The Permian Basin needs the economic diversification that an international trade zone would bring, Sen. Phil Gramm says.

The Republican senator said at a Thursday news conference he will try to speed Midland Regional Airport's application for international trade zone status.

"This has been a successful concept elsewhere," Gramm said. "A new job base for the Permian Basin is vitally important."

In July, U.S. Customs granted the airport status as an international port of entry. That status allows passengers and cargo to enter the country through the airport.

International trade zone status would allow industries to ship goods in and out of the country through the airport. Cargo and passengers must check into a trade zone port when leaving the country. The closest such port to Midland-Odessa is at Lubbock International Airport, about 150 miles north.

Port of entry status is the first step toward trade zone status. Gramm said approval for the trade zone could take a year to 18 months. He said he would do what he can to expedite the application.

"This concept has been successful in this state and around the country. There's no doubt world trade is bound to grow and we need to compete in that market," he said.

The trade zone is a necessity, Odessa Mayor Don Carter said.

The Permian Basin, whose economy has been based on its huge oil reserves, was hit hard by the drop in petroleum prices and decreased production.

Council discusses transfer

The industrial prospect has not been revealed because officials fear the property value would skyrocket, he said. An announce-

State

Temperatures were warm and skies mostly clear across Texas Thursday, except for a few fair-weather clouds that showed up in the Panhandle, West Texas and along the coast.

The high-pressure ridge situated over the state began to move slowly eastward, allowing winds to shift to the south and southeast. Speeds were light, ranging from 5 to 16 mph, according to the National Weather Service.

Gregg Street work delayed

Herald staff report

Improvements to the drainage system that have caused a blockage of 10th Street between Gregg and Lancaster Streets should continue about another 30 days.

Public Works Director Tom Decell said a portion of the work has been done, but tapping into a 16-inch water line that supplies a great portion of the city has lengthened the project by 1 1/2 weeks.

Water will be off from 3 to 7 p.m. today around 10th and Runnels and 10th and Lancaster Streets to allow water line work.

The extra work will not increase the cost of the $60,000 contract for the work, Decell said. He added that it may increase maintenance costs, but exact figures will not be available until the project is complete.

Deaths

Dorothy Solomon

Mrs. Robert Ross (Dorothy) Solomon, 72, 1603 Johnson St., died Thursday, Sept. 3, 1987 at Scenic Mountain Medical Center after an extended illness.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel, with Rev. Pat Bullock, Baptist minister from Corpus Christi, and R.L. Brown, pastor at Airport Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be at Mount Olive Memorial Park.

She was born Jan. 20, 1915 in Barber, Ark. She married Robert Ross Solomon on June 16, 1933 in Big Spring.

She was a member of the Baptist church.

During her 54-year marriage she and her husband lived in Delano, Calif., Midland, Big Spring, Sand Springs and Lake Colorado City, returning to Big Spring in 1971.

She is survived by her husband, Bob Solomon, Big Spring; two sons, Robert Richmond and James Ross, both Odessa; four daughters, Mrs. Carl (Bonnie) Chambers, Odessa; Betty Wyatt, San Angelo; Mrs. Leo (Beartha) Rackley, Corpus Christi and R.D. (Beverly) Hall, Big Spring; six sisters, Gertie Nunnelee, Tulsa, Okla.; Rue McDaniels, Atascadero, Calif.; Mrs. R.W. (Bea) Dolan and Mrs. A.G. (Eula) Albert both Big Spring; Addie Lee Carroll, Pasa Robles, Calif.; and Viola Bailey, Colorado City; 12 grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Burt; two brothers, Joe and George Burt; and one infant son, Frank Solomon.

Pallbearers will be Ricky Solomon, Charlie Solomon, Rex Solomon, Rusty Whatley, David Johnson, James Wyatt, Douglas Wyatt and Daniel Rackley.

The family suggests memorials to the American Cancer Society, c/o Mrs. Merle Stewart, Box 2121, Big Spring 79720.

Can recycle effort to save battleship

LA PORTE (AP) — The rusting Battleship Texas could be saved through a statewide aluminum-can recycling drive, according to a coalition of businesses sponsoring the effort.

"This is the only ship left from the 1906-1920 battleship era," Strafford Morss, project manager for the restoration, said Thursday. "Texas is a steward of history. Once this is gone, there's nothing like it left anywhere."

The 73-year-old battleship is berthed in about 12 feet of mud at the San Jacinto Battleground State Historical Park near Houston.

While the battleship is among the state's most popular tourist attractions — drawing more than 1 million visitors since 1983 — it is rusting badly on its bottom and suffers extensive leaks.

The vessel is managed by the state Parks and Wildlife Department.

Alcoa Recycling Co. Inc.; the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Houston, North Texas, Austin, San Antonio and McAllen; Reynolds Metals Co.; Stroh Brewery Co. and Texaco Inc. are among companies sponsoring the 90-day can recycling effort.

All of the money raised during the campaign will go to the restoration.

"Our goal, ideally, would be to totally restore the ship," said Alcoa area manager Larry Emard. He said, however, it was uncertain how much would be raised during the three-month push.

Aluminum is bringing about 34 cents a pound. Containers at some 1,000 recycling points around Texas typically will hold about 10 pounds of cans, or $3.40 each time they are filled.

Alcoa estimates 1.6 billion aluminum cans will be used in Texas during the next 90 days.

"If just 10 percent of those used cans were donated to save the battleship, nearly $2 million could be raised," Alcoa Recycling President George Cobb said.

Officials working on the restoration say they hope to be able to move the battleship, which saw action in both world wars, to a shipyard next spring.

School children wait their turn to deliver aluminum cans for recycling, with the money going to help save the Battleship Texas. The 73-year-old battleship, berthed near Houston at the San Jacinto Battleground State Historical Park, is mired in 12 feet of mud. The hope is to restore the ship to its 1945 fighting status.

Briefs

LULAC group adds women

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A League of United Latin American Citizens council that has had an all-male membership since 1929 admitted its first female members.

Seven women were admitted to LULAC Council No. 1 Thursday following a closed door meeting and vote on several applications.

The women accepted into the council include Nueces County Court-At-Law No. 3 Judge Hilda Tagle; Janey Berlanga Castillo, an advertising executive; Eva Rodriguez, a real estate agent; Elizabeth De Los Santos, an insurance agent; Amada Gorham, a teacher; Alice Gonzales, a nurse; and Celeste Boyd, a lawyer.

AIDS case prompts lawsuit

BEAUMONT (AP) — A former lab technician claims in a lawsuit she contracted AIDS at the hospital where she worked and has spread the incurable disease to her family.

Dana Brooks says in the lawsuit she contracted the fatal disease while working at the Baptist Hospital of Southeast Texas in 1980.

The lawsuit alleges that Baptist hospital failed to "institute proper protocols for dealing with blood in the laboratory and in the hospital," and "provide laboratory technicians including Dana Brooks with proper protective equipment."

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome cripples the body's ability to fight disease.

Ms. Brooks claims she spread the disease to her husband George and her unborn child, Dera Brooks, who is now a year old. She is seeking unspecified damages.

Man held for papal threat

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Psychiatric tests have been ordered for a beachcomber who claims he received instructions from Satan to kill the pope during his Sept. 13 visit to San Antonio, federal agents say.

U.S. Magistrate Eduardo de Ases remanded Eddie Serrato Vasquez to the Nueces county jail, pending a mental evaluation to be scheduled later.

He was charged Thursday with threatening a foreign guest of the United States, authorities said.

Vasquez, 27, told FBI and Secret Service agents he decided to assassinate the pope after talking to the devil in a dream. Agents also said they recovered a letter in which Vasquez threatened the pontiff.

During a brief court appearance, Vasquez said he was unemployed and lives on the beach. His said his father lives in Corpus Christi.

Secret Service agent Floyd Lee said federal agents were tipped by Corpus Christi police that Vasquez was making verbal threats against the pontiff. Later, they also recovered a letter he had written, Lee said.

"The letter was sent to a friend, who apparently became concerned," he said.

Store's robber found dead

CACTUS (AP) — A man was found dead inside a grocery store after he tried to rob it, took four hostages, shot at police and then set the store on fire, authorities say.

"This is the worst thing that's ever happened in Cactus in my 11 years as city secretary and probably since we were founded back in 1969," Glennis Ruby said after the Thursday incident in this Panhandle town about 30 miles east of Dalhart.

Authorities said the as-yet unidentified Hispanic male entered the Cactus Service Co. in this town of about 1,000 shortly before 10 a.m., fired several shots and ordered the clerk to give him the store's money.

Mrs. Ruby, who works at City Hall, told the Borger News-Herald she got a phone call about 10 a.m. from store clerk Maria Herrera, 23, after convincing the man that someone at City Hall could open the safe.

Ms. Herrera said the man had a gun, a pocketful of bullets and a large knife and was extremely upset, according to Mrs. Ruby.

Sugar quotas self-defeating

Every day, the Soviet Union buys $6 million worth of Cuban sugar and pays $10 million for it. That's how Fidel Castro's sick socialist economy creeps by.

Unfortunately, the United States treats its own neighbors and allies in the Caribbean with much greater disdain — not to mention its own consumers.

To protect inefficient U.S. sugar growers, we artificially limit sugar imports from other countries. This drives the U.S. price up to 22 cents a pound, while it drives the world price down to 6 cents.

Under a law passed in 1981, the United States has cut its import quotas by 82 percent, and in the process practically wiped out what's left of the economies of the Dominican Republic — which has lost more than $240 million a year in precious exports — plus Haiti and Jamaica. One of the most recent converts to democracy, the Philippines, also has been hurt.

On top of this, our apparel and textile quotas make it virtually impossible for these nations to ship any significant amounts to the United States, even if they buy and use U.S. fabrics.

This makes a mockery of the liberal arguments that we should spread democracy in Central America and the Caribbean Basin by "peaceful means" instead of through Contra aid.

Most of those who oppose aid to the anti-communist resistance in Nicaragua also were among those who voted to gut President Reagan's 1983 Caribbean Basin Initiative by taking away all of its freer trade provisions to protect their own special interests.

Now, a couple of very sensible free-trade Democrats, Reps. Sam Gibbons of Florida and "Jake" Pickle of Texas, have teamed to write and promote a piece of legislation that would allow duty-free imports of clothing made from U.S. fabrics in Caribbean countries, and to more than triple the sugar quotas for 12 Caribbean countries. In effect, this would restore the Caribbean Basin Initiative plan to its original concept.

As Gibbons said, increased trade is preferable to guns as a way to help "these nations work their way out of the present economic morass" they are in, and to "create business certainty and provide a long-term investment climate ... so that economic prosperity will ensure political stability."

Under the Pickle and Gibbons bill, Caribbean nations would have their sugar export quotas raised from 340,000 tons a year to 1.124 million tons annually, the level that existed in 1984.

This also would help American consumers by lowering U.S. sugar prices by 5-10 cents a pound — but don't expect the fat-cat sugar and textile lobbies to go along with it.

The textile industry, which has enjoyed an 838 percent increase in the price of its publicly traded stocks since 1982, is determined to get still more protection. It likes the idea of a government-assisted sugar cartel.

At the same time, the sugar lobby, bolstered by the profitable corn sugar crowd, desperately wants to shut out cheap Caribbean sugar.

So, the Cubans will go on selling their sugar to Moscow at subsidized prices, while their Caribbean colleagues go on losing their markets and revenues to U.S. protectionism.

It's a stupid, self-defeating policy that is sure to drive more of these countries into the Marxist morass. But that's the way Congress is these days — all posture and little policy.

Reader responds to Smith column

To the editor:
As one of the growing Big Spring Peace Fellowship, I was pleased that Tumbleweed Smith is participating with his family in Harmonic Convergence.

Actually, everyone is a part of what is happening now on our planet. Conscious people are aware of their part in the future of mankind.

Jerry Simonek's letter of response to Tumbleweed's column also is appreciated. Many of us were concerned that this endeavor to bring more peace into our world should be considered part of the doomsday prophet's "end of the world."

Far from it! Harmonic Convergence is a part of the continuing process of bringing the peace of our Creator to this planet. And so we pray, "Thy Kingdom Come. They will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven." So be it!

Visitor thanks community, police

To the editor:
During our recent visit with my parents in your town, we had car problems. Although my parents and their friends were concerned about leaving our car in a mail parking lot until it was repaired, we trusted your good citizens and police department to protect our vehicle.

When I called your police department and asked to have our car watched for two nights, I received a courteous and reassuring response. The car was not vandalized or abused.

Thank you, Big Spring, for your hospitality and friendship.

What he said is not what you thought

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

What I would like to be just once is the person who comes on television after the president makes a speech and tells you what you probably thought you just heard the president say but apparently didn't.

You know how that goes: "And now with an analysis of the president's remarks here is our political expert, Sandra Van Okra."

I listened to President Reagan when he talked about Irancon and thought what I might say if I had been called upon to analyze his televised speech.

"And now, with an analysis of the president's remarks here is our political expert, Lewis Grizzard."

"Thank you, Peter. I didn't think the president made a great speech tonight, but it certainly was a good speech."

"He didn't have to excuse himself to go to the restroom a single time and he didn't doze off, either, which is quite extraordinary for a man two years older than Arizona."

"I mean, the president has access to the button that would start World War III, and my uncle Barney is only 66 and Aunt Mattie won't leave him in a room alone with the Cuisinart."

"As an aside, Peter, the president was in a good mood before the speech and did his old 'We begin bombing (the Russians) in five minutes,' routine again."

"Just before the live broadcast began, the president remarked, 'Wouldn't Sam Donaldson make a great journalist in space when NASA flies another Challenger?'"

"That got a great laugh from everybody, except Sam, of course, who stuck out his tongue at the president and sulked during the entire speech."

"But, Peter, I think what may be most important here is not what the president said — which was 'How can you be mad at an ol' buckstopper like me?' — but what the president didn't say."

"He didn't say anything about the Falkland Islands, banana yogurt or the Regis Philbin Show. He also didn't say anything about Ollie, but in all fairness, he didn't say anything about Kukla or Fran, either."

"Now at one point in his speech, in regard to how he felt when he learned of the diverted funds, the president said, 'I was mad as a hornet.'"

"There are a number of reasons he used the term 'hornet.' He was afraid to say 'I was mad as a wasp,' because he didn't want to offend any minority groups, such as people who watch the Regis Philbin Show."

"He also could have said, 'I was mad as an old wet hen,' but that would have gotten him into hot water with the feminists, not to mention the poultry industry and Dinah Shore."

"The president also could have said, 'I was so mad I could have squashed a grape,' but he's in enough trouble with the gay community as it is."

"What the Democrats will be saying about the president's speech, of course, is he should have said he was 'mad as a hatter.'"

"All in all, Peter, I think the president accomplished what he wanted to accomplish with tonight's speech and that was to prove to the nation he still could stay up past 9 o'clock."

Sandra Van Okra couldn't have done it any better.

Tribe turns history tables working for former enemy

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — The head-hunting tribes of the island of Borneo have finally been subdued. It is a unique irony of this century that their indirect conquerors are the Japanese — whose heads they last hunted a little over four decades ago.

Young Iban tribesmen, weaned on heroic tales of yesteryear, now work on offshore rigs, drilling oil that goes mostly to Japan. They buy Japanese cars, televisions and stereos — even as the blackened, smoked skulls of the invading Japanese of World War II still hang in rattan nets in their tribal villages, swaying in the breeze.

The story of the evolution of the fierce Ibans unfolded as Dale Van Atta recently took a trip back in time, traveling up the brown, jungled Belait River of the tiny nation of Brunei to the Iban villages of today — and a house of skulls hidden along the edge of the river.

The Ibans, also known as the Sea Dayaks, are a brown-skinned people of medium build who were relative latecomers to the Moslem sultanate of Brunei, following the likes of Sinbad the Sailor and Marco Polo, and did what Kubla Khan could not: They vanquished the indigenous tribes of the islands.

In the process, it became apparent that the Ibans began a grisly practice of collecting heads based on their belief that the immortal spirit of the enemy resided in the head. To own skulls was to possess great power — for the individual warrior or the village.

The ritual became a rite of passage. Each young Iban male was required to acquire an enemy skull to prove his manhood. The more he acquired, the more he became the envy of his companions and a virile hero to the girls of the village.

It degenerated over the centuries to even uglier deaths. Instead of taking heads in battle, Iban men soon considered any pate fair game. Children who strayed too far from their villages ran a great risk, as did elderly women gathering berries.

If live heads proved too difficult to collect, Ibans were not above grave robbery. One British governor of a nearby island was forced to secretly bury his wife for fear her corpse would be beheaded by a plundering Iban.

The practice slowly faded during a century-long reign of Britain's "white rajahs" beginning in 1841. The first, James Brooke, was a British adventurer who ended Iban piracy and then ruled the area with wisdom and fair force.

When necessary, Brooke didn't hesitate to unleash the head-hunting Ibans to enforce his rule.

But when the Japanese successfully invaded in December 1941, the British once again encouraged the Ibans to become head-hunters. Hundreds of Japanese, possibly thousands, fell to Iban jungle knives.

Though the older Ibans continue to farm and hunt, the young men prefer working for the national oil company in the oil town of Seria, or for the government, which is primarily funded through Japanese contracts.

Few of them seem to grasp the historical irony that the modern-day Tokyo has had such a direct hand in civilizing and subduing a once-fierce tribe, which the mighty Imperial Japan had so feared.

As this farewell day arrives, writer confronting emotions

By CARLEEN EVERETT-HALEY

Lifestyle Editor

I thought today would never arrive — and now I wish it would never end.

Although leaving is never easy, I never suspected my rush of emotions this departure is prompting. I'll know better next time.

It was just two years ago that Big Spring became a part of my life. My husband Bee moved here to work with a friend in the oil fields and I made frequent trips from L.A. to visit.

He soon joined the Heart of Texas Band to play music and sing — returning to his professional love.

How I enjoyed visiting this quaint community and dreamed of the day I'd join Bee. I looked forward to a slower pace of life and a friendly, small town where I could really get to know the people.

Within four months of his arrival, I became a Big Spring resident. I made the big move in December 1985. I never figured the first move from my parents would take me 1,000 miles away.

I soon accepted a job at the Herald as a lifestyle writer and religion editor and a month later was promoted to lifestyle editor.

The past year and nine months have slipped by very quickly.

Big Spring was a joy because of the difference in environment from where I had lived. Although there were things I liked about the change, there were many aspects of California life I missed.

There were days when I yearned to be back on the West Coast with family and friends. I especially missed the wonderful restaurants, the variety of entertainment and a breath-taking coastline. Of course, I easily learned to love the absence of traffic jams and polluted skies — I've even come to accept the dust storms.

Around the rim

As I settled into the West Texas way of life, I learned to love a lot of things about Big Spring.

The people, mostly. As we pack our belongings and begin our venture to Nashville, I can't avoid being sentimental about closing this chapter of our lives.

It's nearly impossible to imagine not living here and seeing many familiar faces daily.

Although I'm excited about the new challenges ahead, there's a part of me that can't bear leaving.

There are many aspects of Big Spring I'm genuinely going to miss.

• My wonderful colleagues at the Herald. We've become a real team in the past year and are putting out one heck of a product. We've grown to take pride in what we do as we do our best. I can't thank my supervisors enough for improving my reporting, writing and editing. I'll miss each of you — for your friendships mean more than words can say.

• Another very special group is the terrific Mary Kay ladies in town. When I've felt all alone and often friendless, they were always there to pick me up. I thank God for giving me such wonderful business associates and lifetime friends.

• Of course there's another special group that has become like family to Bee and me — The Heart of Texas Band.

Where do I begin? You and your families shared what otherwise would have been lonesome holidays and weekends. I have many fond memories of our times together — but especially the Sunday barbecues and occasional nights at the Brass Nail.

We went through hard times, but had plenty of good ones, too. Bee and I will never forget any of you. We love you.

• The friends and acquaintances are too many to name, but you all know who you are — and you'll be missed immensely.

As the tears well in my eyes and the lump in my throat grows thicker, I complete my last column and say good-bye — to the people of Big Spring.

Although the town may not seem rich today, richness does exist — in the hearts of the loving people who live here. Truly, that will be missed.

Bee and I will think of you as we open a new chapter of our lives together and we'll cherish our memories of Big Spring.

May God bless you all.

Families given priority

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, applying a new yardstick for evaluating welfare, housing and education programs, says federal policies must be judged in terms of how they will affect families and parents' supervision of their children.

Reagan, at his vacation home in California, signed an executive order Thursday that will require a review of existing and proposed regulations and policies in terms of their impact on families.

"If we would have had this in place a number of years ago, we could have stopped the unintended consequences of some of these well-meaning efforts to help poor families," Gary Bauer, the president's assistant for policy development, said in an interview in Washington.

Jobs total sets record

WASHINGTON — The number of Americans working swelled by more than a third of a million last month to a record 113 million, but the unemployment rate held steady at 6 percent as a result of a nearly identical rise in the labor force, the government said today.

Some 354,000 more Americans took home a paycheck in August than in July, but the civilian labor force — those either working or actively looking for jobs — grew by 350,000, the Labor Department said.

The number of jobless workers fell last month to 7,221,000, a decrease of 3,000 from July, when it had reached the lowest level it had been since April 1980, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Viet vets at high risk

WASHINGTON — A government study has found increased deaths resulting from lung cancer and certain lymph cancers among Vietnam veteran Marines, providing what a veterans' group called "the first very clear scientific data" implicating Agent Orange.

The Veterans Administration study, the largest ever conducted among Vietnam veterans, found 58 percent more lung cancer among Vietnam Marines veterans than among Marines who did not go into the war.

Interest rates may rise

WASHINGTON — The Federal Reserve, signaling a tough stance against inflation under new Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan, announced today it was increasing its discount rate, the interest it charges on loans to U.S. financial institutions, from 5.5 percent to 6 percent.

The increase, the first in more than three years, is effective immediately.

In a brief statement, the Fed said its decision "reflects the intent of the Federal Reserve to deal effectively and in a timely way with potential inflationary pressures."

The last increase in the discount rate came on April 9, 1984, when it moved from 8.5 percent to 9 percent.

Copter crash kills four

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. — Four Marines were killed when a military helicopter crashed during night training, said military officials at the Camp Pendleton Marine Corps Base.

The identities of the victims in Thursday night's crash were withheld pending notification of relatives, said Maj. Tom Mitchell, a spokesman at the base in Northern San Diego County.

Pilot on holiday after hanging outside of plane

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — A pilot who hung upside down thousands of feet above ground from an aircraft door that had opened mid-flight has decided to take a couple of days off to recuperate, a spokesman for Eastern Express airlines says.

Henry Dempsey, 46, declined all interviews Thursday, but said through the company he was "thrilled to see the sunrise" and still was stunned by the "harrowing experience."

Dempsey suffered minor cuts and bruises after clinging to the door railings and hanging partially out of a Beechcraft 99 turboprop as the plane traveled at 190 mph about 4,000 feet above ground.

Meanwhile, co-pilot Paul Boucher of Lynn, Mass., who believed Dempsey had been sucked out into the Atlantic, landed the plane safely at the Portland International Jetport Wednesday night.

Steven Mason, sales manager of Eastern Express, told a news conference Thursday that a preliminary investigation revealed no mechanical fault with the door, and the plane promptly was returned to service.

Lisa McElroy, custodian at the Meigs County Courthouse in Decatur, Tenn., wipes blood off the courtroom walls after a riot erupted Thursday. The riot came after Jerry Allen, a 27-year-old charged with first-degree murder and assault in a tavern shooting, was found innocent. Allen, his family and jurors all were receiving police protection today.

Court riot

Defendant, jurors go into hiding

By MARGARET HABERMAN
Associated Press Writer

DECATUR, Tenn. (AP) — A man acquitted in a bar-room slaying and some of the jurors at his trial remained in hiding for their safety Thursday, a day after a bloody courtroom rampage erupted at the verdict's pronouncement.

Authorities extended through Monday a curfew imposed after Wednesday night's melee at the Meigs County Courthouse, in an effort to avoid more disturbances, said Sheriff R.L. McKenzie.

"Cool heads will have to prevail or there'll be more bloodshed," said McKenzie, who has canceled days off for his staff and called in the Highway Patrol to keep peace in this normally sleepy river town.

Jerry Allen, 27, who was found innocent Wednesday on one count of first-degree murder and two counts of assault, was under police protection at an undisclosed site outside of town, as were his family members, and will remain so indefinitely, McKenzie said.

The 12 jurors at his trial also were under guard either at home or at other places, he said.

About 200 people, including relatives of Allen and the dead man, had gathered in the second-floor courtroom to wait for the verdict, and went on a rampage when it was read. Chairs were thrown, benches overturned and windows shattered as the mob tried to grab Allen and members of the jury, witnesses said.

Another 200 people who had been milling around outside also began shouting and cursing, they said.

"The jury came back with the verdict and the murmuring started. It then escalated to people shouting, people jumping other people and it degenerated from that point," said Frank Harvey, assistant district attorney.

At least two people were treated at a hospital in the aftermath, but no charges have been filed, officials said.

The bitter passions that surfaced during the three-day trial apparently were stirred by a long-standing feud between Allen and the man he was charged with killing, Eddie Lee Anderson, 25, officials said. Allen and Anderson had fought at a party about five years ago and had since been enemies, authorities said.

18,000 flee forest fires in seven states

By PETE BROWN
Associated Press Writer

Wildfires raged on 682 square miles in seven Western states today, threatening valuable timberlands, closing campgrounds to Labor Day vacationers and scorching giant California redwoods in one of the worst forest fire outbreaks in decades.

The fires in northern California, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Wyoming, Arizona and Washington have destroyed at least 42 homes and injured more than 50 people while consuming nearly 480,000 acres of tinder-dry brush and timber.

Nearly 18,000 people in California and Oregon have been evacuated, authorities said, and the fires are costing the government $3 million to $5 million a day to fight.

"This is perhaps the worst fire situation we have ever had at one time," said George Dunlop, assistant U.S. secretary of agriculture, at the Boise (Idaho) Interagency Fire Center, which coordinates federal firefighting nationwide.

Most of the blazes are believed to have been touched off by lightning.

More than 18,000 firefighters, some from as far away as the Northeast and Deep South, battled countless hotspots but were so short-handed that some blazes were allowed to burn unchecked.

"We don't have as many firefighters as we've asked for and we're not going to get them, we're told," said Ron DeHart of the Oregon Unified Coordination Group, which is overseeing the fire fighting in that state.

"It just means we'll have to be very careful with the people we have," he said.

Forecasts of stronger east winds today could cause trouble on fire lines in the state's southwest corner, a National Weather Service spokesman said.

Lightning over California on Thursday touched off still more fires, and scorching summer temperatures and steady winds fanned the flames.

"They will be fighting some of them until the snow flies," said George Leonard, associate chief of the U.S. Forest Service, said in Boise.

Smoke hung heavy over parts of the West. At Yosemite National Park, motorists were advised to drive with their headlights on in daylight. Oregon officials issued an air pollution health alert for the state's southwest valleys.

Soviets convict pilot

MOSCOW — The Soviet Supreme Court today convicted Mathias Rust on all charges stemming from his dramatic flight to Red Square and sentenced the West German teenager to four years in a labor camp.

Judge Robert Tikhomirnov said the 19-year-old pilot's unauthorized flight across more than 500 miles of Soviet territory in May was motivated by "adventurism" and "self-advertisement."

The judge said Rust would be sent to a labor colony, but gave no other indication of where he would serve his sentence.

Rust, who earlier today had appealed for leniency, reddened slightly when the judge read out the verdict at the end of a three-day trial. His mother Monika's face appeared to stiffen as the sentence was read.

Iran gets last chance

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration is giving Iran one last chance to accept a cease-fire in the tense Persian Gulf region while gathering all the ammunition it may need to slap an arms embargo on Tehran.

Today was supposed to be the deadline. Unless Iran gave an unqualified "yes" to the cease-fire resolution adopted unanimously July 20 by the U.N. Security Council, the United States would move next week for sanctions.

The Iranians countered with an invitation to U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar to visit.

Police arrest strikers

SEOUL, South Korea — Thousands of riot police stormed the nation's largest shipyard and a major auto assembly plant today, arresting hundreds of striking workers in the first government crackdown on recent labor unrest.

Police raided the Daewoo Co. car plant, site of a weeklong occupation, and the Hyundai Heavy Industries Co. shipyard, occupied by workers after they damaged company buildings and set fire to vehicles on Wednesday and Thursday.

Junta takes command

NAIROBI, Kenya — Burundi President Jean-Baptiste Bagaza arrived here today seeking a way home to his central African nation, where mutinous soldiers said they had ousted him and installed a military junta.

Bagaza was in Canada on Thursday when Radio Burundi broadcast a communique from the Burundi army supreme office declaring army Maj. Pierre Buyoya the new leader of a junta called the Military Committee for National Redemption.

OUR WAY OF LIFE WAS BORN OF OUR WORK AND OUR PRAYERS

The life we live has come to be A model for the world to see: It didn't happen just by chance That our great nation could advance, In ways we asked the Lord to bless; We carved it from the wilderness, By working hard without complaint And using with enough restraint Each resource, so we'll still provide For future needs to be supplied. Our House of Worship thus commands The efforts of our brains and hands. So learn the lessons of your creed, Which say the Lord fulfills each need While teaching us to work and pray; Then let's enjoy the Labor Day.

Microwave cakes and cookies

From STEP-BY-STEP MICROWAVE COOK BOOK

Microwave cakes and cookies fit today's hectic life-styles, because they cook up fast and still have great flavor and quality.

Microwave cakes cook in one third to one-fourth the time of conventionally cooked cakes. But because two cake layers won't fit into a microwave oven at once, one-layer cakes are simpler. To serve a layered cake, just split the one layer in half (either crosswise or horizontally) and stack-with the frosting or filling.

Cook cakes on 50 percent power (medium) to assure a delicate texture. (If medium power in the microwave oven is greater than 50 percent, cook on medium but follow the low-wattage timings.) Cakes finish with one to two minutes on high to dry the surfaces. Cupcakes, because they're small, cook on high.

Turn cakes and cookies during cooking so no spots overcook.

Working together Church members rebuild local house

By CARLEEN EVERETT-
HALEY
Lifestyle Editor

Having suffered $10,000 in flood damages a year ago, the future of Gary Don and Paula Hull seemed dim.

After one year of living out of three rooms in the house, at 1307 Colby, that future has brightened considerably, thanks to the efforts of members of a local church.

The couple was evacuated from their home on Aug. 30, 1986 because of the danger of the Comanche Trail Dam breaking. "At 9 p.m. the police came and told us to leave. We went back two hours later and our house was filled with at least a foot of water."

The damage, primarily caused by the mud the water brought in, has been estimated at about $10,000, in addition to the loss of personal property, the 28-year-old said.

Several months of living out of two bedrooms and the kitchen of the seven-room house have ended and their living quarters have returned to normal, thanks to assistance provided by members of College Baptist Church.

"It's wonderful to have your Christian brothers help you," Hull said. "They came in and did a lot of work (to repair) the flood damage. They put in carpeting, sheet rock, acoustic on the ceiling, textured the walls and put up new walls. We also did a little bit of remodeling. We paid for the materials, but all the labor was free."

College Baptist Church members have become known for their rebuilding projects. The group constructed a church in Sweetwater last year, he said, and the previous year they landscaped the grounds of a church in Colorado.

Lloyd Claxton, left, and Allen McGee are two of the many members of College Baptist Church who helped rebuild the home of Gary Don and Paula Hull. Their home, 1307 Colby, was filled with a foot of water from the Aug. 30 flooding when Comanche Trail Dam broke.

Tim Blackshear, 2604 Carol, chairman of the project, said members decided to dedicate their efforts this year to helping someone locally. The group began work on the Hull home Aug. 24 and completed their efforts five days later, with the help of about 40 men and women.

The women served a home-cooked meal daily, while others assisted with painting, textoning the walls and installing the sheet rock, said Mrs. Hull, 26. She was among those assisting with the project.

"We pounded nails, matted and taped. I wasn't the only woman who helped with the construction work. Terry Blackshear, Shanna McGee and Debbie Anderson helped, too."

Helping each other is what it was all about.

"We felt real good about helpin' those kids out. He (Hull) didn't have the money or the time to fix it. They lived in about a third of their house. The couple is sweet — they don't ask for anything," said H.C. Blackshear, H.C. Rt. Box T-15.

He noted that helpers of the project came in all ages.

"One little boy, about 6, was runnin' around with an apron on helpin' and I'm 73. The women had paint all over them. They were havin' a ball."

The group worked from the afternoon until night, Blackshear said.

"There was anywhere from about seven to 17 workin' each night. Everyone pitched in, but Lloyd (Claxton) did all the skill work."

Claxton, 2400 Marcy Dr. said he enjoyed helping the couple. He and his wife, Virginia, planned to go to Saragosa to help rebuild the town, but will be unable to go.

A place to sleep and facilities will be available at Leon Springs, outside of San Antonio. The group will park at Leon Springs and ride buses to the Mass.

Circus-loving priest's parish is the big top

FORT WORTH, Texas — Tigers and grizzly bears rolled by in cages, and elephants moved within crushing distance of the Rev. Jack Toner backstage at the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus.

The longtime Catholic priest didn't budge an inch.

He smiled and waved at a showgirl atop one of the elephants. Circus music played and a clown winked and said, "Hi, Father Jack," just before the nation's largest circus began a recent performance at the Tarrant County Convention Center on its current tour of Texas.

"They say this is the greatest show on Earth, but I say these are the greatest people on Earth," Toner said.

Toner is a circus priest. He travels everywhere with the circuses, counseling employees and conducting church services while wearing vestments decorated with a clown on one side and a circus ring on the other.

Each day, he prays that trapeze artists, animal trainers and others performing dangerous acts will come through safely.

He's had to conduct one funeral for an aerialist who was killed in a fall.

"I love the circus," said the gray-haired 73-year-old priest as he watched the performers parade. "I never get tired of it. I've seen this same performance at least 500 times, but I always find some little detail I've missed."

Toner's appointment to be National Chaplain to Circuses in America, in 1983, was the culmination of a lifelong dream.

"I became enamoured with the circus when I was 9 years old," he said.

He would play hooky from school in New Britain, Conn., his hometown, to see any nearby circus.

"My father never chastised me for skipping school, because it was he who instilled in me the great love for the circus," Toner said. "When it came time in my life to make a decision, I chose the church, but I've never stopped loving the circus."

Even after being ordained as a priest in 1944, Toner attended circuses and made friends with owners and performers, he said.

For 14 years, he taught Greek, Latin and theology at LaSalette Seminary, in Hartford, Conn. In 1958, he began working with the church's foreign mission board.

During that time, Toner kept up his circus connections. Another circus chaplain, the Rev. David Hennessey, died during a circus performance in 1982, ap-

By the Associated Press
NEW ORLEANS — Contrary to popular belief, Thomas Jefferson believed in government support of Roman Catholic parochial schools, says New Orleans Archbishop Philip M. Hannan.

He related, in a recent address to the Knights of Columbus, that a nun wrote Jefferson after purchase of the Louisiana territory about the status of her school, and received this 1804 reply from then-President Jefferson:

"Whatever diversity of shade may appear in the religious opinions of our fellow citizens, the charitable objects of your institution cannot be indifferent to any, and its furtherance of the wholesome purposes of society, by training up its younger members in the way they should go, cannot fail to ensure it the patronage of the government it is under."

NEW YORK — The American Jewish Congress has cautioned against the presumption that U.S.

Jews are a "single-issue" community whose only concern is the survival and security of Israel.

Saying this notion must be "counteracted and dispelled," the Congress said such a limited view of Jewish concerns "is a misperception shared even by some good friends of Israel and the Jewish people."

AMARILLO — Barring a change in the Southern Baptist Convention, now dominated by fundamentalists, a leading Southern Baptist says all its agencies will be controlled in two years by "a mindset" with which he can't agree.

The Rev. Winfred Moore, former denominational vice president and member of a peace committee from which he resigned because it called for screening of staffs about their beliefs, said he shared its doctrinal position, but added:

"I'm not willing to use it as a hammer on the heads of any other people who have a little different interpretation of the word of God."

Tall men don't measure up to woman's high standards

DEAR ABBY: Just yesterday, my father pulled a clipping of your column out of his wallet and asked me to write to you and find out how old it is. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Too Tall," women in the know go for small men. That's why so many women go wild over Latin Americans and fight over jockeys. The big, tall men tend to fall apart earlier. They get potbellies and double chins, and succumb to heart attacks in their mid-40s, while the little wiry men are still going strong.

The next time you go to a dance, notice that the best dancers on the floor are the smaller men. Half the women married to tall, dark, handsome men would love to trade them for this little runt they wouldn't go out with before they got married.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

Dear Abby

Thanks, Abby.
BARBARA SAGLIMBENI,
SCHENECTADY, N.Y.
P.S. My father is 5 foot 3.
DEAR BARBARA: Your father has been carrying that clipping in his wallet since 1968. Hug him for me, Barbara.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to ask you two questions:

1. Will "kids" ever be "children" again?

2. Will electronic toys ever replace parents as storytellers?

NEIL M. ANDERSON,
MALDEN, MASS.

DEAR MR. ANDERSON:
1. What difference does it make what children (or kids) are called? Labels are meaningless. Feelings speak volumes.

2. Electronic toys will never replace parents as storytellers because electronic toys cannot answer questions, nor do they kiss the kids goodnight.

DEAR ABBY: Our 20-year-old unmarried daughter brought her one-month-old baby girl to us and said, "Here, keep her; she's yours!"

My wife worked days and I worked the night shift so one of us would always be with that beautiful child we called "Sweetie." We cared for her for five years. We were the only mother and daddy she knew. Our daughter, Sweetie's real mother, would run in and run out. She paid not one penny for the support of her child. Meanwhile Sweetie had become a truly remarkable little person, bright, beautiful and well-mannered. Everyone who saw her fell in love with her.

Then one day, our daughter came and took Sweetie, saying she would be right back. Well, she didn't return. She kidnapped the child. We found a note in our car telling us that she was married now and could take care for her daughter. When we went to see Sweetie, she sobbed her heart out, begging us to take her with us. We went to a lawyer and tried to get Sweetie back, but to no avail. It's been nearly a year, and my wife is still on tranquilizers. We are not even permitted to see the child. Our hearts are broken, Abby, please warn other parents never to agree to raise a grandchild unless they get a legal adoption! Every time I see a little girl, I think of Sweetie.

Generic drugs cheaper, effective

By NYU MEDICAL CENTER
There are a few, well-defined instances when brand-name medications, rather than generics, may be needed to assure the proper clinical dosages.

However, the vast majority of generics have the same clinical effects as brand-name drugs, and are usually less expensive, report physicians at New York University Medical Center.

"The Food and Drug Administration, which regulates all medications, reports that the 5,000 generic products available are therapeutically equivalent to the brand-name preparations," said Dr. Edwin C. Weiss, chairman of the pharmacy and therapeutics committee at the center. "However, there are a few specific circumstances in which prescribing brand-name medications may be necessary.

"Under federal regulations, both versions must have the same active ingredients, but may have different fillers and binders," said Weiss. Generics must be absorbed into the body at a rate within 25 percent of the brand-name version, he noted. "At this rate, there generally is no clinical difference between the two." Fillers and binders are inactive substances, such as cornstarch, that hold the active ingredients of the medication together in liquid or tablet form.

Generics are usually better consumer choices because of the difference in price. Brand-name medications, which are usually marketed by the manufacturer who first developed and patented them, subsume in the price the cost of research, development and advertising, as well as profit.

Generics, marketed under a different name and often by another manufacturer after the brand-name patent has expired, are usually less expensive because these costs are not included.

"A wise consumer will comparison shop," said John Otchy, manager of the Faculty Practice Pharmacy at the center, noting that, as with other items, some pharmacies charge higher prices for generics than do others.

"Some states, including New York, require pharmacies to post a list of commonly prescribed brand-name medications, the generic versions, and their costs, so a comparison should be easy," he added.

"Consumers who want generics should ask their physician to write the prescription so that generic substitution is permissible."

"Differences in the tablet preparation and inactive ingredients may influence absorption rates. In certain instances where critical blood levels of a drug are important, switching between generics and brand-names could lead to important under- or over-dosages."

Medications in this category include phenytoin, used for epilepsy; digoxin, procainamide and quinidine, heart medications; amitriptyline and imipramine, both antidepressants; levothyroxine, used for thyroid disorders; and oral anticoagulants such as warfarin.

Friday Football Forecast

Compiled by Herald Sports Staff

Big Spring (0-0) at EP Riverside (0-0)

The Steers pulled out of town at six this morning, and hopefully enjoyed a restful bus ride, with little chatter and much shut-eye. Last year Riverside had to make the trip, so fair is fair.

The Steers' strength should be defense and running the ball. They have three quarterbacks, all untested, which means they won't pass unless they have to. It also means the Steers defensive secondary probably didn't get the kind of practice against the pass that would have helped against the Rangers, who promise to be pass-happy.

It doesn't help that Chris Cole, a sophomore running back who may have started, is out with a bum leg. But if the Steers could afford a loss, it's in the running back department. Charles White has a chance to be great this year, and the Steers have some other horses in that department.

The Steers will win, because they'll control the ball offensively and play tough defensively. The Rangers will pass a lot, and passing attacks don't jell in the first game of the season.

Big Spring 16, Riverside 7

Seminole (0-0) at Coahoma (0-0)

The bad news is that Coahoma has lost 17 straight games, and returns just four offensive and four defensive starters from last year's 0-10 team. The good news is that the Bulldogs whipped Greenwood 4-1 in their last scrimmage, and new coach Steve Park has been a winner everywhere he's coached.

The Bulldogs also have a new player, Matt Rowell, who is a coach's son and a two-way starter.

Last year, Coahoma lost a close one at Seminole. This year the Bulldogs will bark, and afterwards they'll enjoy a long overdue victory celebration.

Coahoma 13, Seminole 8

Forsan (0-0) at Roscoe (0-0)

Last year, when things got tough, the Buffaloes could pretty much rely on Wayne Wright to rise to the occasion. He's not around any more, but Jan East has seven starters returning on each side of the line, and they're all in the habit of winning.

Roscoe returns 18 lettermen from the team that fell to Forsan 20-6. Look for Forsan's experienced duo of quarterback Brant Nichols and receiver Brandy Bryan to hook up on some bombs. And look for Forsan to win easy.

Forsan 28, Roscoe 12

Slaton (0-0) at Colorado City (0-0)

Wolves fans won't have to ask "Where's the Beef?" this year. That's because it's on the line — the Wolves have 200 pounders all over the place.

Both these teams finished with 1-8-1 marks last year, with the tie coming in their opening season game. This year the beer and the home field advantage will get the Wolves off to a good start.

Colorado City 14, Slaton 10

Stanton (0-0) at Seagraves (0-0)

Stanton returns 15 lettermen and the starting quarterback from last year's 7-3 team that battled for the 6-2A championship. The Buffaloes stomped Seagraves 26-6 last year, and the Eagles return just four starters each on offense and defense.

Put two and two together, and you wind up with an impressive win for the Buffs.

Stanton 20, Seagraves 6

Garden City (0-0) at Paducah (0-0)

Garden City has a new coach, some new players and a lot of returning starters, but Paducah returns seven two-way starters, and Paducah beat Garden City 50-0 last year.

The Bearkats finished at 1-9 last year, and scored just 79 points along the way. New coach Sam Scott brought twin sons with him, and coach's sons always seem to be quality players. The Bearkats also have some tough returnees, including running backs Mike Kenyon and Weldon Hillger. Things should be much better this year.

Still, it's hard to see how the Bearkats could win this one, but it's a good bet they'll make a fight of it.

Paducah 28, Garden City 10

Trent (0-0) at Grady (0-0)

Last year when Grady played, they did so with a team made up almost entirely of freshmen. It really wasn't fair. This year, naturally, the Wildcats will be full of sophomores, with not a senior on the team.

Trent beat Grady 52-6 on the way to an 8-3-1 playoff season, and they return a running back who accounted for over 3,000 total yards last year. That means the Wildcats will probably have to wait at least a week longer for their first win, but be on the look-out for the day this group gets to be seniors.

Trent 48, Grady 26

Jayton has established itself as one of the top six-man teams in the state, year in and year out. They return two all-state players from last year's 12-1 team, and this year they should vie for the state title again.

Sands and all-everything offensive and defensive stalwart Jay Fryar are everyone's choice to win District 4A Six-Man West Zone. And, lest we forget, Fryar's not the only Mustang of note — receivers Paul Martin and Chad Nichols combined for 23 touchdowns last year, and they're both back.

Yes, the Mustangs will win a lot of games this year. But probably not this one.

Jayton 48, Sands 42

N.L.C.A. (0-0) at Borden County (0-0)

The Coyotes had been scheduled to play McCaulley, but McCaulley no longer has a school, so New Life Christian Academy of Lubbock was made a last minute replacement.

The Coyotes will count heavily on running back Shannon Bond, and he'll run through, over and around New Life Christian Academy.

Borden County 42, N.L.C.A. 26

Amherst (0-0) at Klondike (0-0)

The Cougars return 14 lettermen, and in six man, that's called being loaded. Last year they destroyed Amherst 52-30, and this year, at home, it should be even worse.

Klondike 58, Amherst 22

Tolliver could miss Tech opener

It's time for college football

By The Associated Press

The Miami Hurricanes start a new era under quarterback Steve Walsh and end a long rivalry with Florida.

The schools have played every year since 1938, with the exception of 1943 when Florida didn't field a team. The 49th meeting Saturday figures to be the last between the No. 10 Hurricanes and the 20th-ranked Gators until 1992 because of a Southeastern Conference decision to accept a seven-game league schedule next season.

Miami, 11-1 with a second-place finish in the final Associated Press poll last season, won 23-15 in 1986.

The decision to discontinue the series on an annual basis was not well received in Miami, where the game is one of the Hurricanes' biggest money-makers and Athletic Director Sam Jankovich fought to keep the game going.

In other Top 20 games Saturday, it will be North Texas State at No. 4 Oklahoma, Utah State at No. 2 Nebraska, San Diego State at No. 3 UCLA, Texas at No. 5 Auburn, No. 6 Louisiana State at No. 15 Texas

A&M, Texas Tech at No. 8 Florida State, Western Carolina at No. 9 Clemson, Bowling Green at No. 11 Penn State, Stanford at No. 13 Washington, and Colorado State at No. 17 Tennessee.

The 1 p.m. EDT game marks Florida's return to live television after a two-year absence because of NCAA probation. Miami is favored despite losing five players, among them Heisman Trophy winner Vinny Testaverde, who were selected in the first two rounds of this year's NFL draft.

Texas Tech may be without quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver when the Red Raiders visit Florida State.

Tolliver, a junior who passed for 1,602 yards and seven touchdowns last season, broke a small bone in his left foot during an agility drill in practice Wednesday. Sports Information Director Joe Hornaday said Tolliver would be fully recovered in three weeks but is doubtful for the opener.

If Tolliver isn't available, new Coach Spike Dykes will turn to little-used Scott Toman, a 5-foot-9, 180-pound senior, to handle the quarterback assignment. Toman transferred to Tech two years ago after playing two seasons at North Texas State.

In Coach Jackie Sherrill's five seasons at Texas A&M, home openers and road openers alike have produced little in the way of excitement.

In Sherrill's 1982 debut, Doug Flutie led Boston College to a 38-16 victory in College Station. The next year, California came to town and nipped the Aggies 19-17. In 1984, Texas A&M eked out a 20-17 triumph at home over lowly Texas-El Paso when the a last-gasp field-goal attempt by the losers hit the upright.

Two years ago, Alabama, Sherrill's alma mater, embarrassed the Aggies 23-10 in Birmingham, and last year LSU hammered them 35-17 in Baton Rouge.

In opener No. 6, Sherrill's 15th-ranked Texas A&M entertains No. 6 LSU in 34-year-old Mike Archer's first game as head coach of the Tigers.

No. 5 Auburn provides the opposition for Texas' first-year Coach David McWilliams. McWilliams had a 7-4 record last season as coach of Texas Tech before that, he was an assistant at Texas.

Tigers start impressive Jeff Burger at quarterback and running back Curtis Steward is being touted as the next Bo Jackson.

The top-ranked Sooners will have to guard against letting down against a heavy underdog.

"Any time two teams line up, one can be a decided underdog. But those kinds of game still have to be decided on the field," North Texas Coach Corky Nelson said. "But if you're talking realistically, man for man, obviously we're a decided underdog in every department."

Oklahoma was scheduled to play Southern Methodist this Saturday, but the Mustangs' program was banned this season by the NCAA for rules violations. North Texas State was the only team the Sooners could find to fill the void.

Mac advances without getting nasty

NEW YORK (AP) — Has John McEnroe really mellowed? Or is his mind so preoccupied with personal matters that he can't be bothered with on-court confrontations?

McEnroe, who already has had more success at the 1987 U.S. Open than he has managed in any Grand Slam tournament since 1985, moved into the third round Thursday night with a 7-6, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Richey Reneberg. The four-time Open winner didn't let an incident with a fan late in the third set hurt him.

After the eighth-seeded McEnroe double-faulted, a fan at court-side applauded. McEnroe went over and smashed his racket against the railing in front of the stands. McEnroe said something to the fan, who then tossed an object at McEnroe.

"I'm not sure what he threw at me," McEnroe said. "It was something he sat on. It's happened to me before. It's just the way it goes. It's not beneficial for me to talk about it."

But McEnroe used that incident to raise the level of his game. He served out the set, then eased to the win in the fourth set.

"It's the first time in a long while I've gotten pumped up from something like that," said McEnroe, whose wife, actress Tatum O'Neal, is expecting the couple's second child any day. "It felt good I responded from it. Distractions usually have hurt me lately."

Top seeds Steffi Graf and Ivan Lendl also won Thursday, as did 12 other seeds.

Advancing to the third round in women's play were No. 2 Martina Navratilova; No. 4 Hana Mandlikova and No. 6 Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia; No. 8 Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina; No. 9 Claudia Kohde-Kilsch and No. 12 Bettina Bunge of West Germany; and No. 14 Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden.

The seeded men who won were No. 4 Boris Becker of West Germany; No. 6 Jimmy Connors; No. 9 Andres Gomez of Ecuador; No. 11 Henri Leconte of France; No. 13 Brad Gilbert; and No. 16 Anders Jarryd of Sweden.

John McEnroe bites his tongue as he returns a shot to Richey Reneberg during their U.S. Open match Thursday night at the National Tennis Center.

Graf, playing her first Grand Slam tournament as a No. 1 seed, overcame a succession of moon balls by Petra Huber of Austria for a 6-2, 6-3 win.

"It would have helped if I was five feet taller," Graf said. "It wasn't easy. You have to learn to play all those high balls with her."

Third-seeded Chris Evert and No. 5 Pam Shriver were the featured players this afternoon. Evert met Nieve Dias of Brazil and Shriver took on Iwona Kuczynska of Poland.

Miloslav Mecir of Czechoslovakia, the men's fifth seed, played John Fitzgerald of Australia and Joakim Nystrom of Sweden, seeded 10th, met Ramesh Krishnan of India.

Lendl, playing on the grandstand court in midday, fought off the elements and Jean Fleurian of France for a 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 victory.

Becker, who rallied from a two-set deficit to win for the first time as a pro in the opening round against Tim Wilkison, had that match on his mind when he played Jonathan Canter.

"I'm kind of a happy man," he said after his 6-4, 6-2, 7-6 victory.

Sports Briefs

Strike looms as negotiations stall

NEW YORK (AP) — The NFL labor talks stalled because of an impasse over protection for player representatives, although both sides agreed they would continue to work on avoiding the second player strike in the last five years.

After meeting for 4½ hours on Wednesday in Washington, the two chief negotiators — Gene Upshaw for the NFL Players Association and Jack Donlan for the league's Management Council — spoke by telephone for an hour and a half.

Hatcher draws 10 day suspension

NEW YORK (AP) — National League president Bart Giamatti suspended Billy Hatcher of the Houston Astros for 10 days for using an illegal bat and fined Astros Manager Hal Lanier an undisclosed sum.

The suspension means that Hatcher, Houston's regular center fielder, will miss eight games, including a crucial National League West series against San Francisco starting Monday.

Sindelar leads B.C. golf

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Hometown favorite Joey Sindelar played the final 10 holes in seven under par and finished with a 6-under-par 65 to take a one-stroke lead after the first round of the $400,000 B.C. Open golf tournament.

Georgian leads U.S. Bass tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Doug Youngblood caught only one fish, but it was a 9.79 pound trophy and gave him the first-round lead in the $150,000 U.S. BASS World Championship tournament.

YOUR DAILY Horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a slow start at getting your usual Saturday chores finished, you will have a great day for amusements. This is a good day to contact some friends you haven't seen lately.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Put aside unimportant chores and work on your personal wishes. Drive with great care to avoid a serious accident.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Stop worrying about a new project and handle personal problems. Get your marketing done early today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be more sure of yourself in business matters. A little trip to a new place can be tremendously profitable today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Concentrate on handling important business matters, and don't be annoyed if an associate is delayed.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Postpone a dull job until this evening. Meet with partners today and accomplish a great deal. Drive with the utmost care.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Rather than seeking out pleasures today, direct your energies toward profitable business activities. Enjoy the home scene.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Meet with friends early and get into mutually pleasing recreations. Don't let anyone undermine your efforts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Forget dull business tasks and concentrate on making your home more attractive and comfortable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Accurate communication with others is extremely important today. Be understanding when it comes to family.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't get upset over a secret worry which you can do nothing about at this time. Listen to expert advice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid a depressing person this morning. Seek out cheerful persons who will excite your lively mood.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are inspired to do something unique which will be good for you and your family. Be pleasing to your mate.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she may be reared, to a degree, by an older person who might not have a clear understanding of children. Make sure that your progeny attends schools with modern teaching techniques. An exceptionally brilliant mind is indicated. Active sports are a must here.

THE FAR SIDE

WIZARD OF ID

YOU COMING TO THE HANGING TODAY?

IN FRANCE WE FIND THE GUILLOTINE MUCH MORE HUMANE.

AREN'T YOU THE ONES THAT BURNED JOAN OF ARC?

WE GOT A LOT OF BAD PRESS ON THAT ONE.

HI & LOIS

MANY KIDS IN YOUR CLASS SMOKE YET, CHIP?

YEAH, SOME DO, ESPECIALLY THE GIRLS.

WHY DO THEY DO IT, DO YOU THINK?

JUST TO LOOK SOPHISTICATED.

SOPHISTICATED?!

BLONDIE

I PROMISE NOT TO TELL A SOUL.

WAIT'LL YOU HEAR ABOUT BOB AND KIM.

WAIT A MINUTE.

I HEARD YOU PROMISE YOU'RE NOT TO TELL.

SILLY! WHEN YOU'RE SPREADING GOSSIP!
