Commissioners allocated $342,000 for the program's first year of operations and budgeted $360.311 for the 1987-88 fiscal year based on 1986 levies, she said.

Commissioners also budgeted $42,000 during the first year of operations for salaries and benefits and an additional $24,568 for salaries, benefits, office and medical suppl, creating a fiscal 1987-88 budget of $426,879.

"I'm pleased to note that an agreement in principle was reached to conclude an INF treaty," Reagan said in a nationally broadcast announcement from the White House.

The pact would impose a worldwide ban on U.S. and Soviet missiles with ranges from 315 miles to 3,125 miles.

The Soviets would scrap 462 rockets aimed at Western Europe and 221 targeted on China and Japan. On the U.S. side, 332 ballistic and ground-launched cruise missiles would be withdrawn from Britain, Italy, West Germany and Belgium.

He said the agreement now taking shape followed the formula he first proposed more than four years ago.

Rains cause tick trouble; dip planned

Herald staff report Recent rains have caused an

'epidemic' of ticks, and dog owners should watch their dogs for signs of resulting anemia, said local Humane Society president Margaret Lloyd.

To help curb the problem, the Humane Society is conducing a tick dip from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the First National Bank parking lot. Prices are $4 for small dogs and $6 for large dogs, Lloyd said.

She advised people to check their dogs for ticks by examining the dogs' gums for a tell-tale white or gray color. A sufficient number of ticks can kill a dog by sucking too much of its blood, said Dr. Scott Burt, veterinarian at Highland Animal

Rains have caused ticks to hatch in unusual numbers for this time of year, he said, adding that he has noticed a problem within the past

Many people don't recognize young ticks, which can be as small as the head of a pin, Burt said.

Burt has treated the average number of dogs for ticks this year, although the mild winter brought the pests early, he said.

He anticipates the first cold front will slow ticks' reproduction and the first freeze will end the problem this year.

Lloyd said she hopes this will be the last tick dip this year. She has been conducting them every three weeks - the approximate gestation period for ticks - since the end

State to proceed on Highway 87 plan

No one requested a public hearing conerning planned U.S. Highway 87 imrovements — as a result, the state will continue with its proposal, the resident engineer for the state Department of ligh vays said.

The Federal Highway Administration req re that the public be given the oppot unity to debate the issue at a public hearing, Engineer Michael Chetty said.

no one responded to two notices in the Big Spring Herald requesting that anyone interested in having a public hearing contact the highway department, he said.

Improvement of a 212 stretch of U.S. Highway 87 from Hearn Street to the Glasscock County line is scheduled to begin in July, Chetty said.

Construction will take about one year,

Plans call for the two-lane segment to be widened to four lanes, with a center turning lane

The estimated cost of the project is $2.2 million.

The state has agreed to pay for the construction costs, while Howard County has agreed to provide the right of way. Howard County Judge Milton Kirby said Wednesday he has yet to hear from the state on when the county can begin purchasing land for the project.

Chetty said he didn't know when the county would be notified about right of way purchases, but said it would be in the

TI drug bust nets 17

DALLAS - An undercover investigation begun at the request of Texas Instruments Inc. has netted 13 TI employees and four others on charges of selling drugs at the company's plant, police said.

TI contacted the police department," said Lt. Robert Owens of the narcotics squad. "More than anything else, they wanted to know how serious the problem was.

The arrests were made following a months-long undercover investigation in which narcotics agents were able to purchase marijuana and amphetamines at the plant, said Owens. Undercover agents made 29 purchases, which police characterized as relatively small. Owens described those arrested as "small dealers. Eight people were arrested at the plant Tuesday morning and six were arrested elsewhere later in the day, Owens said. Three still were being sought today

Former athlete indicted

DALLAS - Former Dallas Cowboy John Niland has been indicted for allegedly making false statements on a loan application to an Angleton savings association.

Niland, 43, allegedly lied about his residence on a loan application to the Continental Savings Association, according to the three-count indictment handed down by a federal grand jury in Dallas on Wednesday

The indictment alleges that Niland told the savings association that he lived in a condominium at 1057 High Hollows in Dallas and that he rented out a home at 4717 Miron Drive in Dallas. Niland allegedly listed the condominium as his homestead when he was living in the home on Miron, according to the indictment Niland, who faces up to 20 years in prison and a maximum fine of $250,000 if convicted, could not be reached for comment.

Child shoots baby sister

DALLAS - A year-old girl was critically wounded after being shot in the head Thursday by her 2-yearold brother, who was playing with a handgun he found in their mother's purse, police said.

Police said the shooting occurred about 1:15 p.m. as the girl, Ashley Leann Romans, her 2-year-old brother, Wesley Romans, and their 4-year-old brother, Richie Romans, were playing in the bedroom of their mother's apartment in the 2700 block of Grand Avenue. Their mother, Sherry Rodriquez, 21, and the children's grandmother. Inez Mayweather, 37, were in another part of the apartment at the time.

Sgt. G.S. Beck said the boys told police the 2-yearold Found a .45-caliber handgun in the mother's purse and was playing with it when the gun went off. The bullet struck the girl in the back of the head and exited near her right temple, Beck said.

Despite limits glasnost good

Glasnost, the Soviet Union's avowed policy of openness, won mixed reviews the other day at the sixth biennial Moscow Book Fair

Although Soviet officials confiscated about 50 books from one U.S. publisher, they permitted Soviet and foreign publishers to display several previously banned works by such authors as Boris Pasternak and Anna Akhmatova.

Of course, many of the 3,000 publishers from 103 countries sought to avoid confrontation — and some said they selected the books for the fair before glasnost became official policy. Thus, the real test of glasnost may come at the 1989 book fair.

Openness is relative, of course. Glasnost notwithstanding, Soviet citizens do not enjoy freedom of speech or expression as we know it in the United States. Nor is such a policy ever likely. Nevertheless, it is heartening to see the Soviet government at least take a small step in that direction.

Woman raises Vietnam questions

To the editor

Why is America letting "our men" who fought in Vietnam still be Prisoners of War? They can put men on the moon, but they can't do anything about the men in Vietnam. That is really a shame.

They went to a war that they didn't understand and didn't want were left there. Then the United States lets Vietnam blackmail us for money and they send bones to us. We want

How can we sleep at night, knowing that our men may be alive in a prison camp, thinking about the people of the United States and how much they believe that we care about them and will get them home

Doesn't Vietnam know that they could have been wiped out within a year by the United States? Some one here in the United States didn't

This is not something that everyone can ignore. I think we office estimated last June that a should all make a try to get our men back to the United States where they belong.

Says Bible key in AIDS prevention

To the editor:

I started to school in 1920 shortly after the dreaded flu epidemic of 1918-1919. As a young student I contracted measles.

In those days, when we didn't have antibiotics and the truck gardening industry was in its infancy, measles often would produce an acquired immune deficiency that frequently was followed by fatal pneumonia

I was sent home from school, a big sign was put on my house and I was required to be quarantined.

My eyes were too sore for me to study, and I managed to be sick enough so that I didn't have to do my chores around the house. I enjoyed every minute of it.

My mother, always a stickler for good nutrition, insisted that I eat every bit of the well balanced diet she prepared for me, and I threw off an infection that might have in-

Mary Calderone, head madam of SIECUS, said the purpose of this program is to remove moral strictures from sexual behavior. In areas like San Francisco, where this program has been most successful, there now has been reported a 50 percent incidence of AIDS in the male population.

Parents who love their children should demand the total abolition of unconstitutional government schools, and the legalization of the Jewish system of education.

And fathers who love their sons should take them into the living room and read to them the 20th chapter of Leviticus and conclude by saying, "and this is the way it should be

Nuclear power companies lobby for limited liabilities

By JACK ANDERSON

and DALE VAN ATTA WASHINGTON - If a Chernobyl-style nuclear disaster occurs at one of America's nuclear power plants, victims and their families could suffer financially as well as physically, if Congress renews the existing limitedliability law.

The Price-Anderson Act, passed in 1957 and renewed in 1967 and 1977, limits a nuclear plant operator's liability to $700 million for a single accident

This ridiculously low sum wouldn't begin to cover the deaths, personal injuries and property damage that would result from a want that to happen. The question nuclear meltdown, especially at a plant located in the densely populated areas of the country.

In fact, the General Accounting catastrophic nuclear accident would cause $15 billion damage under average weather conditions. Heavy weather that spread radiation over a wider area could increase the damage to as much as $150 billion, the GAO figured.

Despite these appalling possibilities, Congress is considering a renewal of Price-Anderson that, although greatly increasing the cap on liability, still wouldn't come close to raising it to a realistic level.

The House passed a renewal bill July 30 that raises the singleaccident liability to $7.4 billion. The Senate is expected to resume debate soon.

How does the nuclear power industry manage to maintain such clout on Capitol Hill? We'll give you a hint: The crucial factor may be cold, hard and green. Nuclear power lobbyists outs pent their opponents by roughly 6 to 1 during the six-month period from last November to April. According to Ralph Nader's Public Citizen, nuclear industry lobbyists spent $356,797, while environmental and public-interest groups spent $61,667

During the same period, the industry fielded eight times as many lobbyists as Price-Anderson op-

Not surprisingly, both Johnston and McClure are members of the nuclear power industry's "$100,000 club." Since 1981, the two pronuclear senators have each received more than $100,000 in campaign contributions from industry PACs, according to the Public Interest Research Group.

Bacteria hits hospital

CHICAGO - A usually harmless bacterial strain has killed one patient, stricken at least 13 others and forced Cook County Hospital to close an entire surgical ward, officials said.

Doctors investigating whether the bacteria, clostridium difficili, was spread by a combination of housekeeping problems and the use of a drug that kills other bacteria in the body, said Dr. Stephen Hassl, chairman of the public hospital's division of occupational medicine.

'We're alerting other hospitals that they may be seeing the same phenomenon and that they should look closely at this," Hassl said. "It may be that this is not an isolated problem with Cook County Hospital."

UAW-Ford find accord

DETROIT — An official of the United Auto Workers union says the tentative contract with Ford Motor Co., which goes to a union council today, breaks a lot of new ground on job security.

Concerning job security, Harley Shaiken, a labor relations expert at the University of California at San Diego, agrees with Yokich. 'The agreement goes farther in the direction of job security than any recent major agreement," he said. "Its most innovative aspect is in fact providing some measure of predictability in job security for the work force that's currently employed."

Agents take terrorist by surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) - American agents working overseas lured a suspected Lebanese Shiite hijacker into a boat, arrested him and brought him back to the United States in what U.S. officials described as a new phase in the battle against terrorism

"It's our intention to find terrorists and go after them wherever they are," a senior Justice Department official said Thursday in announcing the arrest of Fawaz Younis of Beirut. He is accused of masterminding the 1985 hijacking of a Jordanian jetliner with four Americans aboard.

In an investigation code-named Operation Goldenrod, Younis was spotted several weeks ago by U.S. intelligence agencies, placed under surveillance and finally, at an unspecified port on the Mediterranean Sea, lured aboard a small boat piloted by FBI agents. "Let's say we rented it (the boat) for awhile," one senior Justice Department official told reporters. After the boat motored into international waters, Younis was arrested and transferred to the U.S. aircraft carrier Saratoga in the Mediterranean near the island of Corsica.

He was flown to Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington on Thursday.

Responding to a question at the briefing, the official said "you bet" when asked whether U.S. authorities are actively trying to track other terrorists suspected of harming Americans overseas with the intention of arresting them and bringing them back to the United

When asked whether Younis might become part of a swap involving U.S. hostages being held in Lebanon, the official, speaking on condition of anonymity, emphasized that the U.S. government's intention is to put Younis on trial in U.S. courts.

"Any terrorist attack on American nationals or American property will be investigated and prosecuted whenever there is a basis to do so under U.S. law, provided that they are not effectively prosecuted and punished elsewhere," Attorney General Edwin Meese III told the press briefing.

DEAR ABBY: Last month I lost a member of my family. He was involved in an accident and pronounced brain dead several days later. I had never given much thought to organ donations until that day.

The earlier the better for first dental visit

 $\operatorname{CHICAGO}\left(\operatorname{AP}\right)$  — The ideal time to take a child for the first dental visit is when the child is an infant, reports a study on the Infant Oral Health Program at the University of Iowa; which was started in 1984. A major finding of the program, directed by pediatric dentist Dr. Stephen J. Decay of the primary teeth can lead to problems in permanent teeth, the report notes

Humorist serious about a sense of other gem I can't leave out." And in the words of the editor: "It's too long already.

Myers' first book was about Abraham Lincoln, a gifted storyteller and jokester. In 1963, along with his wife, Edith, and two other Springfield families, Myers restored the Abraham Lincoln Law Office building and formed a company to publish Lincoln works.

They sold the building 112 years later, and Myers eventually took sole ownership of Lincoln-Herdon Press Inc., with a mission to publish "American humor that reveals American history.

"Americans have brought the tall tale to an art form," says Myers

As a boy, he was "pretty humorless" but was always interested in Lincoln. The more he read about the 16th president, the more he realized what an integral part of his life humor was.

Myers likes to tell the story of how Sen. Stephen Douglas and Lincoln were traveling in the same train during the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates. Douglas' wife wanted to chat with Lincoln and left her private car to walk to

She failed to notice his stovepipe hat on the seat beside him and sat on it. Shocked and tongue-tied with embarrassment, she squirmed and wiggled. He let her suffer a little, then said, "Mrs. Douglas, let me advise you. No matter how hard you try, that darned thing will never fit you.

Myers laughs, though he has probably heard and told the story hundreds of times.

"He could take a seemingly tragic situation and make something wonderfully funny out of it so everyone could feel good about it," Myers says of Lincoln.

While others might seek retirement by his age, Myers keeps going at a feverish pace. He and his wife move back to the farm near Middletown every summer, and Myers spends the morning writing. "By night, I am too damned tired." he says.

"The trick is not to get discouraged," he says. They are too new at the business of publishing prairie humor to tell if it will be

Collecting flower seeds worthy harvest pastime

From FRIENDLY EXCHANGE When blooms begin to fade this fall, hunt for tiny treasures in the garden. Save a fistful of money and earn even more satisfaction by collecting seeds from plants.

Seeds gathered from petunias, snapdragons, ageratum, marigolds or zinnias produce flowers that will brighten any yard the following spring. These five annuals offer a variety of colors, shapes, heights and continuous

Here's how to gather the seeds, according to Friendly Exchange magazine

Petunias have star-shaped green leaves along the plant's stalk that hold seedpods in their centers. Usually the first thing to dry out and turn brown on a petunia, the pod will start to split open, resembling a small bird's beak. Pick and split open the pod to catch the cluster of tiny, dark-brown

When zinnia blooms dry and turn dark brown, they resemble bristly pinecones. Pinch, wiggle and pull out edges a few at a time. The seeds at the base look like small arrowheads. Depending on their dryness, colors range from light brown to almost black Snapdragons seeds can be gathered after the blooms dry and fall off. This flower reveals clusters of hard, brown seedpods along its stalk. As the pods dry, small holes appear on the top. When split open, gather pinheadsized black seeds.

Marigold seeds are by far the easiest to glean. When the blooms dry and fall off, pick the large, tan flower heads. Split them open to reveal the seeds that resemble slender spears - black on the bottom and beige on the top.

Marigolds and zinnias do very well planted right in the ground or started inside. Their varieties range from large, flowered to smaller, more compact blooms.

TV portrayal of women unchanged

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) - Little change has occurred in the portrayals of women on television, according to a University of Georgia survey

Dr. Donald Davis, a professor in the School of Journalism and Mass Communication, says his survey shows that overall, female characters on television today are very much like those in the 1950s: They tend to be young and pretty, mothers and married, single and sensuous, not as smart as men, and always in need of help.

He studied 48 hours of prime time television and 82 characters.

Davis said one explanation of why the portrayal of female characters has not improved "may be that creative control is still wielded by men in the television industry who write, produce and direct what they understand best the male point of view.

He calls television "the greatest socializer of our time" because it tells "boys and girls how they are supposed to act." Since today's portrayal of women "fosters negative self-concepts for females," it is important that women be portrayed in a more accurate and positive way, he said.

The unprecedented global cooperation against pollution was hailed by Canadian Environment Minister Tom McMillan as a "law of the air.

Lee Thomas, administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, said "it feels great" as he got up from the table after signing the first worldwide treaty on reducing pollutants by set amounts.

The Montreal Protocol, which calls for nations to reduce ozonedepleting chemicals by 50 percent before the end of the century, is a "milestone" that could set an example for worldwide collaboration on other environmental challenges, Thomas said.

Negotiations in the past week were arduous and results at times in doubt, but the United States succeeded in obtaining the strong treaty it sought, Thomas said.

Once ratified, the protocol will control consumption and production of two groups of manmade chemicals — chlorofluorocarbons and halons — that are destroying the blanket of ozone protecting the Earth from the sun's harmful ultraviolet rays.

'Without this treaty, we were on a crash course for disaster," said meteorologist Peter Usher of the United Nations Environment Program, the sponsor of the conference. "Life on Earth was at risk within a century.

Participants agreed earlier this year on a scientific consensus that 3 to 7 percent of the ozone layer has been depleted, and each additional 1 percent loss could result in a 5-percent increase in skin cancer.

A hole the size of the continental United States has been discovered in the ozone umbrella over the Antarctic.

The treaty will force manufacturers to find substitute chemicals that don't damage ozone.

It does not directly control the products using chlorofluorocarbons. These range from foam cups and padded furniture to refrigerator coolants and car air conditioners, home insulation, solvents and computer chip

When the United States took the first major step against chlorofluorocarbons in 1978 by banning them from aerosol cans, manufacturers substituted carbon dioxide, propane and butane.

Those gases are too flammable for other uses, but DuPont, Britain's ICI and other companies are looking at safer, new chlorofluorocarbon compounds and other chemicals as

Friends of the Earth, hailing the treaty as an important first step, announced Wednesday that

McDonald's, Wendy's, Burger King and Kentucky Fried Chicken franchises in the United States and some other countries have agreed to abandon chlorofluorocarbonfilled foam packaging for safer

"It's the tip of the iceberg, but a visible one," said the group's inter- EEC alone account for 60 percent national director, Geoffrey Webb. The European Economic Community signed separately after establishing a legal precedent by entering the protocol as an economic entity responsible for controlling consumption within the 12-nation EEC

Ten of the EEC nations signed separately and the other two, Greece and Spain, whose delegates had to leave early, will sign later. Nearly half the countries that took part in the talks signed the export the chemicals to developing protocol, from Egypt and Ghana to Japan and Switzerland. The treaty requires ratification by at least 11 nations representing two-thirds of 1986 global consumption of chlorofluorocarbons. If all the signers ratify, that figure is guaranteed. The United States and of consumption and 75 percent of Target dates call for a freeze in chlorofluorocarbon consumption at 1986 levels starting on July 1, 1990. Their use would be reduced by 20 percent by June 30, 1994, and another 30 percent by June 30, 1999. Production cuts would be similar, except manufacturers could expand output by 10 percent in the two initial phases and a total of 15 percent by 1999, provided they

Developing countries would have a 10-year grace period under the pact, and the Soviet Union would be allowed to expand production by opening plants it cannot cancel under its centrally planned economy

The Soviets and the Japanese each produce about 10 percent of the world's chlorofluorocarbons.

The treaty theoretically would enable China to boost its production from 18,000 tons a year currently to 300,000 tons because of its 1 billion population.

That would negate much of the impact of the treaty.

Chinese delegate Wang Zhijia said that scenario was impossible. however, because China lacked the economic infrastructure for such a major increase.

Earlier, the hearings were marked by Kennedy's recounting of issues that he said demonstrated Bork support for presidential authority to wage war unchecked by Congress, to spy on American dissenters and to block independent investigation of alleged wrongdoing by the executive

"The founding fathers didn't intend there be an all-powerful president," said Kennedy, Bork's harshest critic on the committee.

For the most part, Bork responded evenly and in some detail to each of Kennedy's accusations.

For example, Bork said he has reservations about a 1978 law requiring federal law enforcement agents to get warrants from a special court before using wiretaps on people suspected of being spies for foreign governments.

BORK-KENNEDY

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., described Bork as an advocate of unbridled presidential power who would give the president a "blank check" to carry out covert foreign actions, domestic spying and other controversial policies. Bork called that characterization unfair. Kennedy replied, "The points I made were taken from Mr. Bork's own words.

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said Bork's view of antitrust law would stifle competition and thereby harm American consumers. Bork said the Supreme Court has since adopted some of his views on antitrust.

BORK-INDIVIDUALS

Bork directly challenged one organization's published report that he almost always votes for the government and big business, and against individuals. Bork's nomination has set off a ferocious lobbying struggle between liberals opposed to his confirmation and conservatives who favor it. The 60-year-old appeals court judge has sought to reassure his critics that he would not try to use his tenure on the court to roll back several decades of expansive Supreme Court rulings on individual rights and liberties. Even so, one undecided senator said Thursday he is not yet satisifed that Bork deserves to be confirmed. "I'm still not clear" on the rationale that Bork would rely on in deciding sex discrimination cases, as opposed to race discrimination, said Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., shortly before the nationally televised hearings resumed.

DeConcini said that mail to his Senate office is still running heavily in favor of Bork's confirmation, but less so than before the hearings began Tuesday. He said the mail is now about 2-1 in support of Bork, compared to 3-1 or 4-1 earlier. Bork chatted amiably with committee members

Judge stops escaping defendant

DALLAS (AP) — Extending the long arm of the law took on a personal meaning for a state district judge who tackled an ashtraywielding defendant he had just sentenced to life in prison.

Seconds after Judge Tom Price sentenced Robert Edward Richardson, 27, to life in prison for burglarizing a habitation, the 5-foot-6 defendant grabbed an ashtray from the witness stand and ran for the back of the courtroom toward Price's bench and back

"We had the cuffs out ready to cuff him when he went crazy,' bailiff Cathy Poulos said. "I've been a bailiff for seven or eight years and this is the first time I've ever had to wrestle with one."

Richardson shoved aside two bailiffs and a table before grabbing the oversized glass ashtray and slinging it across the courtroom, denting the wall but hitting no one. Poulos said.

"He was just flailing it like there was no tomorrow," Coppell police officer Greg Porter said. "The judge came right off the bench and tried to subdue him.

Price headed off the defendant as he rounded the witness stand, as Assistant District Attorneys Toby Shook and Dennis Jones, two police officers and observers soon joined in the fray.

Before he could be subdued Wednesday, Richardson managed to strike the judge and a bailiff and bite Jones on the finger, Poulos

Richardson, who is facing his third trip to state prison, told Price before he was sentenced that the 'judge better give him life because if he didn't he'd get out and kill (the detective who arrested him),' Porter said.

Housing declining for fifth time

WASHINGTON (AP) - Housing construction edged down 1.5 percent in August, the fifth decline in the last six months, the government reported today.

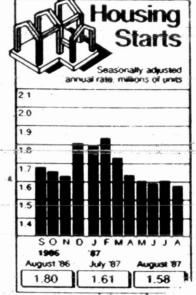

The Commerce Department said that new homes and apartments were built at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.58 million units last month, the slowest pace in more than four years.

The August decline followed a small increase of 1.3 percent in July. That gain, however, had followed four consecutive monthly declines.

The weakness in housing construction this year has been blamed on a sharp jump in mortgage interest rates. Fixed-rate mortgages, which had fallen to a nineyear low of 9 percent in late March, have risen by almost 2 percentage points and stood last week at 10.9

During the first eight months of the year, housing construction has declined by 11.2 percent compared to the same period in 1986.

Before the year began, analysts had forecast a big drop in apartment construction because of the adverse effects of the new tax law on real estate investment and also because of high vacancy rates around the country.

This was up 6.1 percent from the July rate but 21.9 percent below the level of activity a year ago, showing how steeply

SA Lake View (1-1) at Big Spring (1-1)

Last year the Steers won their first ever District 2-4A game in San Angelo, and they had a surprisingly easy time of it, romping to a 33-13 win. That was the first step towards a spotless district record and a district championship.

The Steers dug themselves a hole with their loss in El Paso, but they more than climbed out of it with the win over Estacado. Neither of those games, however, mean half as much as this one

Like last year, the Chiefs are small, but quick and explosive. They destroyed 5A Lubbock High last week, but Lubbock High is one of the worst 5A teams you'll find anywhere.

The Steers' offense will flex its muscles and get a boost of confidence. The defense will swallow the Chiefs' offense, though Lake View will score twice on big plays. That won't be enough.

BIG SPRING 35, LAKE VIEW 14

Forsan (2-0) at Coahoma (1-1)

The host Coahoma Bulldogs must return to first-game form if they are to have a chance to beat the always-powerful Buffaloes. Last week two Buffaloes — John Roman and Stacey Munoz — learned how to stampede after spending most of last year blocking for Wayne Wright, one of the baddest Buffaloes ever.

The Bulldogs' big threat, Matt Rowell, will need better blocking if he's to run for 193 yards again, as he did in the opener against Seminole. The Bulldogs defense, though they were pushed around a bit at Stanton, has only allowed one touchdown in two games.

The Buffaloes' defense is a concern for Coach Jan East. Last week Plains ran for 246 yards against Forsan.

There will be lots of yards gained in Howard County Bowl II, but not that many points. And it will be closer than most Buffaloes' partisans expect. It will also be a very fun game to watch. FORSAN 21, COAHOMA 15

Highland (0-2) at Grady (0-2)

Coach Mike Mathis' Grady Wildcats have had a rough two-year period. After making the state playoffs in '85, the Wildcats have lost

Last season Mathis, in his first year as head coach at Grady, inherited a bunch of freshmen. Naturally, Grady got beat up pretty badly last season.

This season the sophomore-filled Wildcats are holding their own although they haven't won yet.

This season the Hornets are down. It's time for the payback. Grady is hungry. Quarterback Scott Glaze and receiver Scott Terrell will make sure the Wildcats get a well-deserved victory in front of the home crowd.

GRADY 48, HIGHLAND 40

Ira (1-1) at Klondike (1-1)

Last year these two teams played a barn-burner that Klondike won 33-32 on a last minute touchdown by Cisco Arrendondo.

Arrendondo is gone but the Cougars have an abundance of returnees to take up the slack, whereas the Bulldogs lost three allstate players from last year's team.

The Klondike passing combination of Kirt Tidwell and Wesley O'Brien will make sure this game isn't as close as last year. KLONDIKE 45, IRA 32

Sands (1-1) at Blackwell (2-0)

The Sands Mustangs, few in numbers, have a solid football team. The Blackwell Hornets will be trying to keep their record perfect in front of the home folks.

The Mustangs have numerous offensive weapons, ranging from Jay Fryar to Chad Nichols to Paul Martin.

Blackwell is led by running back Shawn Murphy, who gained 140 yards rushing last week. But the Mustangs also have a mean defense, led by Fryar at linebacker, and interception specialist Damien

Blackwell's win streak will end at two.

The Borden County Coyotes have been playing this six-man game a long time, whereas the Loraine Bulldogs are just in their second year of six-man play. Give the edge to coach Joe Bond and the Coyotes, because of experience.

Loraine usually has some speedy athletes, but whether or not they can outfox the crafty Coyotes remains to be seen.

Borden County has all-purpose running back Shannon Bond and a bend-but-not-break defense. Combine that with the home field advantage and you've got a Borden County win.

Last year Post clobbered Colorado City by a 35-6 count, and the Harris Poll thinks the Antelopes will whip the Wolves by at least 15 points tonight

One must take into account, however, that the Harris Poll predicts every game in the state of Texas, and they're either picking with a computer or an overworked little man who has never heard of Beau

Rees is the Wolves' new running sensation. Perhaps as important as his plus-100-yard efforts is the fact that he and the Wolves are holding on to the ball. They didn't do that last year.

The Harris Poll was wrong about the margin, but probably right about the winner

POST 24, COLORADO CITY 18

Stanton (2-0) at Greenwood (0-2)

The Buffalos looked great in last week's win over Coahoma, and they should look great again tonight against the Rangers Last year the Buffalos won this game 18-7 to go 3-0, and the Rangers lost to fall to 0-3.

This year, it's the same old thing. STANTON 18, GREENWOOD 7

Garden City (1-1) at Irion County (0-2)

Last year Irion County beat the Bearkats 19-6, but the statistics were closer than the score. Also last year, Grandfalls beat the Bearkats 20-7

Nakajima ties course record at 62

FRANKLIN, Wis. (AP) -Two-time U.S. Open champion Andy North was among the amazed after Tommy Nakajima shot an opening-round, 10-underpar 62 to tie the course record in the Greater Milwaukee Open.

"He had two bogeys and he's still 10 under," said North, who shot a first-round 66 Thursday. "That's hilarious.

Nakajima, Hubert Green, second with a 64, and North were among those who were able to complete their round before thunderstorms finally halted play with only half the 156-man field having played 18 holes.

The first round was to be completed this morning and secondround play was scheduled for this afternoon and Saturday morning, weather permitting.

"I'm a big name in Japan but not in the United States," said the 32-year-old Nakajima, whose previous low round since joining the PGA Tour in 1983 was a 9-under 63 at the 1984 San Diego

Nakajima hopes to make it big in the United States, as well.

"It's just my dream," he said. "I need the money, but the dream is first.'

Nakajima, playing in his first GMO, tied Jim Thorpe's two year-old course record.

He started play over the 7,030-yard Tuckaway Country Club on No. 10 and had three birdies and a bogey in the first six holes. But on the 16th, a 550-yard par-5, he chipped in from 20 feet for an eagle. He then finished the back nine with his fourth birdie.

On the front side he had six birdies with putts ranging from 12 to 25 feet and took just 24 putts in the round.

"My iron shots were perfect and my putting was completely perfect. I also had much luck on a couple of holes," Nakajima

Eighteen players had rounds below 70 and 45 were below par before rain stopped play.

"It's set up for good play," Green, who skipped a family reunion to play in the tournament, said of the course. "It's like throwing darts out there.

"I'm doing a lot of things a lot better," said Green, who hasn't won a tournament since the 1985

Green says no one should be surprised by Nakajima's Success

"I've been playing with him for eight or nine years. If I can shoot what I shot, he can shoot what he shot. He's a very great golfer," Green said.

Bears tabbed big favorites

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Football Writer

It's time for Battle of the Titans II in Chicago.

Fresh from reasserting their dominance by thrashing the Giants, the Bears are faced by a new challenge - the Tampa Bay Bucs, 1987 champions of the Atlanta-Tampa corridor after thrashing the Falcons 48-10.

Actually, Tampa Bay's big win may be the best thing that could have happened to the Bears. Normally, the Bucs would arrive at Soldier Field the week after a big Chicago win and the flattened-out Bears would snooze through by something like 20-10.

The oddsmakers still think this is a typical Tampa team — the Bears are favored by 1412. But the five touchdown passes by Steve DeBerg gives Mike Ditka something to rant about at his team and provides just the smallest incentive.

Besides, this could be for the NFC Central title. If it turns out to be a two-game season, a 2-0 record would do it

Strike would devastate bookies

Glantz needed only one word to sum up the effect of an NFL strike on the Nevada's legal sports books. "Devastating," said Glantz, manager of the Palace Station sports book. "Just devastating." In an industry that depends on professional football for nearly half of its annual revenue, oddsmakers and book managers are watching the NFL player contract talks with nervous apprehension, most hoping against a strike on Sept. 22.

'We're not going to die, but the NFL is our bread and butter, Glantz said. "Especially this year. when the interest in pro football is up more than any other year I can remember.

More than $1 billion was bet in the state's sports books during the fiscal year that ended in June, and bookmakers say anywhere from 40 percent to 50 percent of that was bet on NFL games. Some of the larger books take in more than $2

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Keith million a week in bets on the NFL.

"It's the meat and potatoes of the sports book industry," said Lenny Del Genio, manager of the Frontier Hotel sports book. "Without football, we're down to the gourmet foods, the U.S. Opens and things like that. Pro football is critical to the successful operation of a sports book.

Most of the sports books have made contingency plans to boost the number of college games offered bettors in case of a strike. They also plan to offer bets if the NFL goes ahead with the season with non-strikers and castoffs.

"As long as there's people out there to bet it, we'll put a line up, said Terry Cox, sports book manager at Harrah's Reno. "I think you could make a reasonable spread. It would just be like preseason. You'd make the home team a three-point favorite and go from there

Pirates to retire No. 4

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ralph Kiner, one of the top power hitters in baseball history and the biggest drawing card to ever wear a Pittsburgh uniform, will have his No. 4 Denver (minus 912) 34, GREEN retired by the Pirates in ceremonies Saturday night.

> The only player to win or share the National League home run title in his first seven major-league seasons, Kiner "was the greatest home run hitter of his day," according to former Philadelphia Phillies pitcher Robin Roberts. Although Kiner's career was > delayed by World War II and was cut short after 10 years by a back injury, he still averaged 42 homers a season during his seven full seasons with the Pirates from 1946-52. His one home run every 14.1 at-bats is second all-time only to Babe Ruth's one every 11.8 at-

"The worst day of my life was when the Pirates traded me to the Cubs (in 1953), but this day makes up for it," said Kiner, now a New York Mets' television broadcaster.

Kiner, who finished his career with 369 homers, hit as many as 54 in a season although he played on some of the worst teams in Pirates "I was his teammate for only two drew only 749,962 in 1946. But with Kiner hitting 51 homers in 1947, attendance jumped to 1,283,531 although the team again finished seventh. The Pirates drew 1,517,021 in 1948 and 1,499,435 in 1949, figures that wouldn't be surpassed until they won the World Series in 1960. When I was called up to the

I was sure I could sell it myself without a real estate agent!

It may seem like a good idea to try to sell your own house. But there are many potential pinfalls: Improper price (too high or too low); guessing where to place the ads; showing your house to people who may or may not be interested; and finally, knowing who may or may not be qualified to buy. See your professional real estate agent.

Religion roundup

WHEATON, III. (AP) -Evangelicals, generally aloof from ecumenical associations with Roman Catholicism, have praised Pope John Paul II for his opposition to abortion, euthanasia and homosexuality activity.

The National Association of Evangelicals, in an unusual statement, also applauded his efforts to promote political and religious freedom, and commended "the new spirit of freedom in reedom in the Roman Catholic Church.

ed "the new spirit of freedom in the Roman Catholic Church."

But the oganization, including 71 mostly smaller, conservative denominations, said the pope, "like his predecessors, stands for all the teachings that have historically divided a biblically rooted evangelical Christianity from Roman Catholicism.

Among differences cited were the 16th-century Protestant Reformation mottos, "Scripture alone, faith alone, grace alone.

Nevertheless, the NAE said it shared a "common Judeo-Christian value system" with Roman Catholicism and called for "continued cooperation in forging a moral leadership that will advance the cause of righteousness in our nation and around the world.'

RICHMOND, VA. (AP) - A United Methodist Congress of the Deaf has urged the denomination's 1988 governing conference to create a church-wide task force to coordinate ministries with hearingimpaired people.

NEW YORK (AP) — Statistics of the Lutheran Church in America show that of its 510 ordained women clergy, two-thirds of them, work full time as parish pastors. The figures indicated a change from an earlier study finding that women clergy had difficulty finding parish positions and so mainly took work as college or hospital chaplains or in other specialized ministries.

Pope brought calm to San Antonio gathering

By EDDIE CURRAN Staff Writer

The potential for disaster becomes a near likelihood when more than 300,000 people congregate - especially when the heat hovers near 90 degrees.

What's needed in a situation like that is good preparation by authorities and a calming influence.

The city of San Antonio provided the preparation Sunday, and Pope John Paul II provided the calming influence during his first visit to

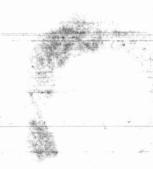

"Oh, it was something. It was fantastic. There was something in the air," said Teresa Rocha, 607 N.W. 8th St

"You didn't know if you wanted to laugh or cry with happiness. It was an unforgettable event; once in a lifetime. We didn't even feel the heat almost until the end." she Ofelia Alcantar, 502 N. Runnels, stayed at her daughter's home one mile from the site of the Mass. Her group of friends and relatives left the house at 4:30 a.m. in order to get a good spot for the 11 a.m.

"It was exciting to see all those people — it was more people than I've ever seen. Everybody had chairs and food and sleeping bags and little televisions. There were lots of people from here, and I talked with people from Midland, Lubbock, Mexico — everywhere," she

TERESA ROCHA

Alcantar said it was cloudy until 10:30, when the sun came out, after which it became "very hot."

"People were hollering and waving flags and crying. I will always remember it," she said.

Did you cry? "Yes," she said, laughing. "It was a very exciting thing for the Catholic church. If he comes again, I want all of my family to see him.

Gene Pereira, 2101 Allendale Road, was impressed with the city's preparation for the OFELIA ALCANTAR

"I was really impressed by the security and police. They were everywhere. The ushers were wonderful — they went around with jugs of water.

When you have 300,000 people at the same time on a paved road, it gets hot, but everybody was congenial," he said.

Pereira said the pope was "quite

VIRGINIA LUJAN

"He's very fatherly, very kind," said Maurice "Smitty" Smith, 4037

"He spoke very good English. He didn't sound like a Texan, but there was no problem understanding him," he said.

ing we've had in Texas. Willie Nelson might have had a bigger gathering — I don't know," Smith said with a chuckle.

"I'd do it again — not this a chance like that," he said

Smith's wife Mary called it the "next best thing to going to Rome." "I would say it was a terrific spiritual experience," she said. 'People were so nice. I really enjoyed being with them. And it was much better organized than I thought it would be.

Sunday marked the third time Father Stephen White has seen a pope. Perhaps because of that, White's observations on the pope's visit took on a broader scope.

"I not only perceived that this was the pope, but also a man who still had a lot of pressures on him," White said, describing the pope as not a completely free man as a result.

The Immaculate Heart of Mary Church priest explained that many Americans are calling on the pope to make drastic changes in longstanding Catholic doctrines — for instance, allowing women to be priests, and dropping celibacy as a requirement for priests. White said that while such changes may be supported by the majority of American Catholics. the consensus of Catholics worldwide is different.

for any drastic changes in the faith and moral teaching of the Catholic church

We may have a percentage of Catholics in America who want change, but not necessarily in the whole world. That's something that's not always taken into account," he said. Despite these controversies. White is convinced that the pope's visit has been successful

"It is very evident that not just American Catholics, but all Americans, are respecting this man and what he stands for

Anna Hattenbach, 1806 E. 15th. was able to see the pope in a much more intimate setting. Because of her Polish heritage, she was invited to a gathering of 800 Poles Sunday night.

The pope spoke in Polish, and told them he'd heard of Texas as a boy and always hoped to visit.

'He's just like you see on TV .He's just as easy-going and sure of himself as he can be," she said.

Virginia Lujan, of 1015 Nolan St. said Pope John Paul II looked like "a very happy man. He had a friendly, glowing look.

"It was just unbelievable. I can't "This being so, the pope's visit to even describe it. It was the trip of America is not the time and place my lifetime," she said.

Rural revitalization topic at conference

COLLEGE STATION — Rural revitalization of Texas will be the major thrust for discussions at the 42nd Annual Town and Country Church Conference at Texas A&M University Oct. 5-6, according to a news release.

Clergy and church lay leaders from across Texas will participate in the educational conference conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Also assisting will be Texas A&M's departments of agricultural economics and rural sociology.

Dr. Dave Ruesink, Extension sociologist and conference chairman, says the conference will focus on helping communities that have been experiencing economic difficulties.

"Many Texas communities have been hit hard by the downturn in the oil and agricultural industries, and often the church can play a key role in helping such communities through difficult times," Ruesink said. Ruesink said the conference is designed to provide information to help clergy and church lay leaders be more effective in dealing with com-

'Revitalization of rural communities is one of 12 key issues that were identified by a broad sector of Texas citizens last year, and those issues are being addressed by the Extension Service," notes Ruesink. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. Oct. 5 at the Rudder Conference Center and the program will begin at 1 p.m. Discussions will deal with basic strategies and lessons in rural revitalization, models of churches and communities involved in rural revitalization, and implications of rural revitalization for the church. Ministers will moderate the sessions which will feature key resource people from a broad range of subject matter disciplines. Special workshops will deal with increasing economic competitiveness and economic development, income diversification possibilities, adjusting to family and community needs, and involving volunteers in com-

A special feature of the conference will be the presentation of the Texas Rural Minister of the Year at a banquet Oct. 5. This project is in cooperation with Progressive Farmer magazine.

Relationships to be strengthened

NEW YORK (AP) — The leader of Reform Judaism says recent sessions with Pope John Paul II will strengthen and broaden Catholic-Jewish relationships.

Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, referred both to the pope's unprecedented dialogue with Jewish leaders in Italy Sept. 1 and meeting with them in Miami Sept. 11

In Miami, Schidler says the pope's viewing of a UAHCsponsored exhibit of ancient, illuminated Jewish manuscripts from the Vatican library also would "serve as a catalyst" in Catholic-Jewish dialogue.

"It will prove to be, we believe, an invaluable tool that will help Catholics and Jews explore the past we share and to create, together, a new and better future, Schindler said
