Bike-a-thon scheduled

Herald staff report
A Bike-A-Thon to benefit St. Jude's Children's Hospital's cancer research efforts will be held Saturday at 8 a.m. in Comanche Trail Park, according to event organizers.

Area scout groups, local school children, churches and area merchants are encouraged to participate.

The event will benefit a local person in particular. Ben Garza Jr., 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Garza, Knott Rt., is currently suffering from leukemia, a form of cancer.

"Ben is struggling with his disease and is holding up quite well," said Bob Doring, an organizer of the event. "He was homebound last year from his school studies because of the disease. This year, however, he is attending Washington Elementary."

Trophies and prizes donated by local merchants will be given to participants. Prizes donated include a jam-box and pizza and movie rental certificates, Doring said.

Entries are available by calling the following telephone numbers: 399-4407, 267-1862, 267-5119, or 263-4295.

911 fee questions are unanswered

By BILL FOSTER
Staff Writer

Several questions concerning exactly how much Howard County telephone users will pay each month for the proposed 911 emergency system remain unanswered.

Members of the 911 emergency board grappled with those questions during a meeting at the Howard County Courthouse Thursday night.

A local option will be placed on the Nov. 3 ballot asking Howard County voters if they want to create an emergency communication district and authorize a 911 emergency service fee to be charged by the district.

Emergency board members are certain that Big Spring Southwestern Bell Telephone Company business and residential customers' monthly bills for basic service would be garnished as much as six percent — or about 50 cents each month — to pay the estimated $136,220 expense for installing the system.

However, board members are uncertain if that same 50 cent-per-month charge would apply to telephone customers in other county cities — such as Coahoma, Lomax, Luther and Forsan — and rural areas where basic monthly rates vary.

Big Spring Fire Chief and emergency board member Carl Dorton cited a State Attorney General ruling, during an interview in his office this morning, which may prohibit the district from assessing varying fees to telephone customers to cover the expense of the 911 system.

The opinion states: "The percentage rate adopted by the board from which the emergency service fee is calculated must be uniformly applied throughout the district, regardless of the base rate charged by the service."

Dorton said he intends to bring the attorney general's ruling to the attention of emergency board members.

Board members are also still pondering if Howard County telephone users would be assessed a monthly fee even if the 911 emergency system proposal is not approved by voters on Nov. 3.

"The way I read the law as it stands right now, if the citizens vote down the proposal they would not be charged on their monthly phone bills," said Tim Yeats, emergency board chairman.

However, Yeats noted that county telephone users might be charged a monthly fee later if the city council in their respective communities, or the Howard County Commissioners vote to make the county part of a larger regional emergency 911 system.

"I'm going to seek further clarification of these questions," Yeats said.

Efforts to educate the public about the proposed 911 system and placement of the measure on the Nov. 3 ballot were also discussed at Thursday night's meeting.

Board members are continuing presentations to local and area civic clubs concerning the proposed system, according to Dorton.

A contract with the Howard County Court Clerk's office for canvassing of the election returns is also being prepared, Yeats said.

The emergency number measure will be the only location option on the ballot, which will contain 25 constitutional amendments and two statewide referendums.

Yeats also noted that the emergency telephone system would not be go operation for at least two years, even if Howard County voters approve the proposal.

Monthly telephone bill garnishments would be collected and banked during the two-year time period. Those collections would then be used to cover the expense of installing the system, according to Yeats.

The 911 emergency board will hold its next meeting on Oct. 22, at 7 p.m. in the Courtroom.

Steers ablaze

Thursday evening was filled with hijinks and heat for Big Spring High School students during the traditional Homecoming Bonfire southeast of Memorial Stadium. "Fat Boys" Brian Mayfield, center, son of Gary and Sandy Mayfield, and Matt Burrow, son of Guy and Debbie Burrow, give their rendition of "Wipe-out" in the photo above with the help of "back-up vocal" Katrina Thompson, daughter of Dickie and Gladys Thompson. Once the bonfire was started, the heat drove the crowd back, but not before a bunny-hop line was formed — and performed.

Gulf attack

Weinberger defends U.S. action

By NORMAN BLACK
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said today that U.S. forces in the Persian Gulf acted correctly when they knocked out three Iranian boats after being fired on, in action the Pentagon called the first direct attack by Iran on American forces.

"Our men are not required to be hit before they respond," Weinberger told an international conference sponsored by the U.S. Information Agency.

No Americans were injured or killed in the Thursday night fighting, which began when a group of four Iranian gunboats opened fire without warning on a U.S. observation helicopter that Weinberger said was "on normal patrol" in the northern gulf.

The confrontation ended when Army attack helicopters strafed and disabled three of the Iranian boats, sinking one. The Navy rescued six Iranian crewmen from the gulf's waters, but two of them subsequently died. One of the survivors suffered serious injuries, Weinberger said.

The Pentagon initially said three boats were sunk, but Weinberger said at daybreak two were to be seen dead in the water, but still afloat.

"The visual sighting last night, to the extent that it could be done, indicated that three had been sunk... This morning we found the two... totally disabled and took them in tow, and have them under control. And we'll be examining them fairly closely," Weinberger said.

The confrontation marked the first time Iranian military forces had opened fire on a U.S. ship or aircraft. An American helicopter gunship on Sept. 21 disabled the minelayer Iran Ajr that later was scuttled by U.S. authorities. But that vessel was attacked after it was detected laying mines and it never fired at U.S. aircraft.

Weinberger denied assertions by Iran that U.S. forces had fired first in the latest incident, but acknowledged the United States could not prove that.

"We don't have the absolutely conclusive evidence that we did when (Iranian crew) men were seen pushing mines into the sea," he said, referring to mines found aboard the Iran Ajr and in nearby waters, and to testimony from crewmen.

In a separate incident, Weinberger said another U.S. military helicopter flying in the southern gulf on Thursday reported gunshots being fired from an Iranian oil rig. In that case, however, it was unclear whether the Iranians were firing at the Americans and the helicopter left the area without returning fire, he said.

Meanwhile, the Pentagon today denied an Iranian claim that its forces had shot down an American helicopter and damaged a Navy ship.

"We have no warships damaged and we have no helicopters missing," said Lt. Cmdr. Chris Baumann, a Pentagon spokesman.

Thursday's fighting left the Reagan administration bracing itself for new demands by Congress that it invoke the War Powers Act, a law that would allow Congress to decide whether the U.S. military presence in the gulf should be reduced.

"I think the president is making a very, very bad mistake by not bringing this thing up," said Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

"He would clearly get the vote in both houses of Congress to keep the forces there. I think it would strengthen his hand. I think it would send the right signal to Iran," Aspin said in an interview on NBC's "Today" show.

Weinberger said the administration still saw no need to invoke the act.

"At the moment, we don't believe the facts of the situation, the incidents, bring into play the War Powers Act," he said.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the administration would review the attack in terms of the act "but there are no preliminary judgments to make other than we will comply with the spirit of the resolution by giving full and detailed consultations to the Congress."

Lawmen hope for drug fight federal bucks

By BILL FOSTER
Staff Writer

Area lawmen are hopeful of obtaining big federal bucks to buckle down on illegal drug trade throughout the Permian Basin region.

Application has been made by the Permian Basin Regional Council of Governments (PBRGC) to the governor's office for $848,639 federal grant money.

If received, the funds would be spent to provide personnel and equipment necessary to operate a narcotics control task force within the 17-county region. The task force would have one objective — apprehension and prosecution of persons illegally producing, possessing, or transferring illegal drugs.

Big Spring Police Chief Joe Cook and Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard both say formation of the task force program is long overdue.

"Law enforcement agencies are beginning to realize they are not just dealing with the street dealer anymore in trying to control illegal drug trafficking," said Cook.

Cook represents Howard, Borden, Glasscock and Martin counties at Midland task force planning meetings.

Narcotics trafficking in West Texas has reached a "highly organized state of sophistication," and the task force is a vehicle lawmen could use to overcome the technical advantage held by illegal drug dealers, Cook said.

"We must become just as sophisticated in our own endeavors as they are in their's," he said.

Standard agrees with Cook concerning the need for law enforcement to become more advanced and better organized in curtailing drug trafficking.

"If drugs and crime are viewed as primary sicknesses affecting our society, then we should provide law enforcement with the best training and equipment possible to combat the problem," the sheriff said.

The task force concept of attacking illegal drug activities in the Permian Basin Region was initiated in response to an announcement from the governor's office of availability of $10 million federal funds earmarked specifically for narcotics intervention, according to Cook.

The funds are to be disbursed through the Governor's Criminal Justice Division, headed by Rider Scott.

School board meets Tuesday in cafeteria

Herald staff report

The Big Spring school board will present its nominations for directors of the Howard County Tax Appraisal District during its regular meeting Tuesday, at 5:15 p.m.

The meeting has been moved to the high school cafeteria because of renovation work to the board room, Superintendent Bill McQueary said.

A committee of board members will present its recommendations to the full board Tuesday, McQueary said, adding the names of those to be recommended are not known at this time.

In other business, the board will consider:

- Employments and student transfers.
- Policies on student transfers, capital outlays and teacher appraisals.
- A rental fee for use of district facilities and whether to require renters to provide liability insurance.

Gulf attack

The U.S. helicopter was on a routine patrol and did nothing provocative, but suddenly found itself under fire from the small boats, he said. The observation helicopter then called for help.

The spokesman said heavily armed helicopter gunships were flying nearby to protect the observation aircraft and immediately attacked the Iranian boats.

Weinberger said that the Iranian patrol consisted of four boats, a 170-foot vessel he described as a corvette, a Swedish-built Boughammer patrol boat, about 42 feet long, and two were smaller boats similar to Boston Whalers.

The corvette sped away when the shooting started, Weinberger said. And at dawn, U.S. forces found that Bohammer had been sunk, the two smaller boats disabled and the larger Iranian warship had left the area.

Four burglaries and three thefts were reported to Big Spring police Thursday.

• Leonard Weihert, 3304 West Highway 80, No. 35, reported that someone entered his residence and stole $3.50 and a television set valued at $400.

• Zandie Winters, 309 Northwest Ninth St., reported the theft of a microwave oven valued at $350. The oven was taken during a burglary at the residence, according to police reports.

• Michelle Darden, 2519 Dow Drive, told police someone broke into her vehicle and stole a radio and six cassette tapes. The items were valued at $460.

• Three cases of motor oil and a jar of peanuts were reported stolen during a burglary at Fina Associates, 513 East First St. The items were valued at $42.

• Loraine Dooley, 905 Northwest Fifth St., told police that someone removed a door from her residence. The door was valued at $69.

• Theft of eight hair ribbons, five T-shirts, three pairs of jeans and a Halloween makeup kit was reported at Wonder World, 501 Birdwell Lane. The items were valued at $65.

A security officer saw a suspect conceal the merchandise inside a gray diaper bag and leave the store without paying, according to police reports.

• A $100 bill was reported stolen from Wendy's Restaurant, 208 South Gregg St.

• Police also made three arrests Thursday. Billy Joe Mitchell, 49 of Odessa, was arrested on suspicion of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Mitchell was initially arrested by Midland police for parole violation and was transferred to the Big Spring City jail where he is being held without bond.

Bonnie Lopez, 18, 1002 North Main St., Apt. 8, was arrested on suspicion of theft under $200. Lopez was transferred to the Howard County Jail and released on $500 bond.

Cande Marie Baker, 29, 1224 West Third St., was arrested on suspicion of DWI and DWLS. Baker was transferred to the Howard County Jail and released on bonds totalling $2,500.

has developed, according to Cook. Ninety applications totalling $26.1 million had been submitted to the governor's office as of Sept. 28, Cook said.

"We would like to be optimistic about receiving the full amount of grant funds requested in our application... but realistically that is not likely to happen because of the large number of requests for funding," the police chief said.

The Howard County Sheriff's Department has submitted an in-demand application for a $100,000 share of the federal narcotics control monies, Sandard said.

The sheriff said the separate application was not an attempt to compete with the PBRGC for available funds.

"Our application was made to give the sheriff's department two-shot at obtaining drug enforcement program funding... I'll be happy to use any money my department receives to assist other county law enforcement agencies in illegal drug investigations," Sandard said.

The PBRGC's application calls for $295,000 grant money to be used to pay salaries of a task force coordinator, a secretary, five narcotics officers, a drug analyst and a special prosecutor.

Another $71,590 of the grant funds would be used to purchase body armor, weapons, camera and lenses and other equipment to outfit the five narcotics agents.

Other expenses outlined in the grant application include:

- Radios and surveillance equipment, $166,511.
- Car and airplane travel, $75,000.
- Supplies, building and telephone lease and other operations, $231,000.

"In return for the projected expenditures, we hope to initially establish a repository of narcotics intelligence, which will enable the task force and other participating agencies to target major narcotics elements," Cook explained.

"The task force concept would provide a mobility within the Permian Basin to concentrate resources at a level presently being overlooked by state and federal agencies because of priorities," Cook said.

Virtually all the sheriff and police departments in the region have shown support by pledging a total of $25,000 in matching funds, he said.

Additionally, city and county officials have endorsed the task force by signing and submitting resolutions with the grant application.

Cook said authorities have not "high-balled" the request for funds.

"We need the $870,000 to establish this much-needed entity to match the sophistication of the narcotics traffickers," he said.

The governor's office is expected to announce allocation of the federal narcotics control funds sometime this month, according to Midland County Sheriff Gary Painter, who helped prepare the PBRGC application.

If received, the grant funds would be used to operate a year-long narcotics control program in the Permian Basin Region starting Nov. 1.

Man arrested on suspicion

Daniel Ortiz Gonzales, 25, Abilene, was arrested by Department of Public Safety troopers Thursday on suspicion of felony driving while intoxicated, driving while license suspended and failure to maintain financial responsibility. He was released on bonds totaling $2,200.

• Sylvester Rose, 57, Loraine, was arrested by the Mitchell County Sheriff's Office on a Howard County warrant charging issuance of a bad check. He was released on bond through the Mitchell County office.

Officials investigating death

The Howard County Sheriff's office and Justice of the Peace Bill Shankles is investigating an apparent hanging that occurred north of Big Spring early today.

Deputies found the body of Nickie Curtis Billingsley, 40, at her Williams Road residence at 4:55 a.m., according to a police report. Shankles said today he is withholding a ruling as to cause of death pending results of an autopsy. He added the results may be available later today.

County Sheriff A.N. Standard said deputies are interviewing people in connection with the case, but added further action awaits the autopsy result and Shankles' ruling.

Sessions due tests on bleeding

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — FBI Director designate William S. Sessions was due for more tests today after an earlier examination showed no signs of cancer or other possible causes of bleeding that put him back in the hospital earlier this week.

Sessions, the chief U.S. district judge for the Western District of Texas, today was to undergo two tests that were postponed Thursday, Dr. Richard M. Rubio said.

The procedures, which will examine the stomach and small intestine, will determine if the only possible source of bleeding was a mild abrasion in his digestive tract, described by Washington physicians as a beginning peptic ulcer.

Still indefinitely delayed is Sessions' swearing-in ceremony as FBI director.

"We postponed the upper GI (gastrointestinal) and the small bowel X-ray in order to let him start eating," he said.

Anson surviving legal dancing

ANSON (AP) — There were no lightning bolts and the earth did not rend asunder, but there was plenty of legal two-stepping when this tiny West Texas town celebrated an end to a 54-year-old ban on public dancing.

Thursday night's victory dance was sponsored by the Footloose Club, which engineered the defeat of the city ordinance that drew international attention.

"It's nice to come to a dance and not have to shut it down," Assistant Police Chief Ralph Simpson said outside Pioneer Hall as it was filling up Thursday night. "People are having a good time, and they earned it. They worked hard for this."

Residents say the ordinance, on the books until April, was passed 54 years ago. But old-timers say the ban on dancing may date back 76 years.

In April, the Anson City Council, responding to pressure, passed a law that allowed dances, but only under strict conditions that prevented all but a few dances to be held in the city.

In August, however, the council passed a less restrictive ordinance that the city's dance advocates said finally made regular dances possible.

A rodeo dance was held 10 days later, followed two months later by Thursday's victory celebration.

"This means we can finally have fun," said Maggie Jimenez, 14. Her friend, Becky Brewer, 16, added, "That's right. Normally, what we can do in Anson is nothing. Now, we can have a prom, just like everyone else."

J. V. Masters, 80, brought his date, Lucille McDuff. The Anson couple said they have danced for many years, but never in their hometown.

Clifton Terry, Sweetwater, and Kelly Head, Roby, were the first couple out on the dance floor Thursday at the Anson victory dance, commemorating the repeal of a city ordinance prohibiting dancing — a ban that had been on the books since 1910.

Tests: Agent Orange not to blame

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The second part of an ongoing 20-year Air Force study concludes there isn't enough evidence to show that exposure to the defoliant Agent Orange is related to health problems.

The study was released Thursday at Brooks Air Force Base by the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine epidemiology division.

Legislation has been introduced in both houses of Congress in the past month to compensate veterans exposed to Agent Orange in Vietnam who now suffer with health problems they claim were caused by the chemical.

Seven companies who made Agent Orange have put $180 million — now $220 million because of accrued interest — in trust for the 180,000 veterans who have filed claims.

The national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta also conducted a study, but tested soldiers who were exposed to the chemical by spraying. The test results were comparable to the Air Force study, the San Antonio Light reported today.

The Air Force study involves 2,309 participants — 1,016 airmen who were heavily exposed to the herbicide in Vietnam and 1,293 who had no exposure.

Three arrested in youth sex case

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Three people, including a woman, have been arrested on charges of sexual assault on a child, including an allegation that the woman forced a young girl to perform acts of prostitution, authorities say.

Those arrested Thursday include Deborah Blackwood, 27, Steve Robinson, 39, and Herman Rose, 39.

Blackwood faces two counts of compelling prostitution, three counts of aggravated sexual assault of a child, and one count of indecency with a child by exposure.

Robinson, a resident of a local nursing home, was charged with two counts of aggravated sexual assault of a child and two counts of indecency with a child by exposure.

Rose was charged with aggravated sexual assault of a child and indecency with a child by exposure.

Grand jurors, who returned the indictments Wednesday, said Rose is a habitual offender, meaning he has at least two prior felony convictions.

The indictments allege Blackwood arranged for the girl to have sex with Robinson on Sept. 5 and Sept. 12. Blackwood kept a portion of Robinson's payment, according to the indictments.

The woman helped Rose sexually assault the girl July 15, while Rose exposed himself to the girl Aug. 30, the indictments say.

The girl, who is under 14 years of age, will have to testify at the trial under Texas law, Alcalá said.

Near-loser steers to big victory

ANGLETON (AP) — A steer that almost wasn't allowed to compete in the Brazoria County Fair brought $6,000 to its owner after being named grand champion steer.

The steer's owner, Shannon Gupton, 18, was disqualified from participating in the fair in January after fair officials accused her of cursing during last year's livestock auction.

Officials said the teen cursed at the price paid for her reserve grand champion steer because the final bid failed to meet her expectations. The bid was $2.50 per pound, compared to $6 per pound paid for the grand champion.

Ms. Gupton's 1,324-pound steer, Strait, named after country-western singer George Strait, was purchased for $4.53 per pound during an auction Thursday evening. Last year's champion steer sold for $7,200.

Ms. Gupton testified that she never cursed but may have appeared angry because she was tired and suffered a concussion after being kicked by a steer a few days before last year's fair opened.

Woodward book prompts queries

For the first time in his celebrated career, Washington Post super sleuth Bob Woodward finds himself on the wrong side of a credibility issue.

Woodward, who earned his spurs in the Watergate mess, asserts in his latest book that William Casey, the late CIA director, confided to him in what amounts to a deathbed confession that he knew about the diversion of profits to the Contras from the sales of arms to Iran.

These accusations and others are based on what Woodward describes as four dozen conversations he had with Casey between the time the CIA chief was hospitalized in January with a brain tumor until he died on May 6.

The Washington Post, of which Woodward is an assistant managing editor, and Newsweek published excerpts of the book's sensational charges, thereby bestowing on them the mantle of respectability.

However, a lot of people aren't buying the story, chief among them Casey's widow, Sophia. Not one to mince words, she called Woodward a liar.

Mrs. Casey said that she and her daughter maintained a vigil at Mr. Casey's side throughout his ordeal. It was impossible, she said, for Woodward to slip into the room once, much less 48 times, as he maintains.

The Post says it is standing behind Woodward. Fine. But one wonders why Woodward did not first offer the story to The Post when the Iran-Contra hearings were on the front burner and Casey was still alive.

And if he did, why wasn't it published? Perhaps The Post's editors weren't comfortable with the idea of publishing the answers to loaded questions asked of a dying man who could barely speak and was infrequently lucid.

Autumn sensations rouse fond memories

By ALISHA GOLDMAN
Copy Editor

I love October. I enjoy Indian Summer — not too hot, not too cold. Just right for a cup of coffee on the front porch in the evening.

It's my birthday month, so I supposedly am guided by the stars of the Halloween season.

October is also a birthday month for several of my friends and relatives, so I have lots of fun selecting and giving almost as many gifts as a Christmas.

Around the rim

One friend's birthday falls on Halloween and she is a lover of October, too.

Every fall I abandon myself to the season, more than other. I decorate my house with colorful Indian corn and squash, and usually hang chili ristras on the doorknob.

I'm not a football fan, but I feel comforted by the sounds of the games on the television. The announcers' voices, the roar of the crowd, the shouts of the cheerleaders, remind of being at home with my aunts and grandmother gossiping in the kitchen while my dad and uncles drowsily observe a game, coming to life with a shout and waiting breathlessly for a replay.

And, of course, local football games are irreplaceable. The smells of hot chocolate and coffee poured from a thermos secured beneath a plaid blanket or the taste of a warm hot dog while your nose is freezing are October.

The sound of the high school band rehearsing on the field inspires memories of early fall mornings.

Columbus Day is the signal of a visit to the New Mexican mountains. I don't like to ski — I loathe snow. I go to behold the changing colors of the leaves.

Nothing is quite like the silver aspen leaves when they are transformed into medallions of gold glittering in a mountain breeze. I'm convinced heaven smells of pine and pinon on an autumn day.

I take lots of pictures of the pine sea intermittently bursting into orange, red and gold.

And, of course, there's Halloween.

I love reading the lore of how it came to be a part of our culture. Even though it has become a spoof of the supernatural, everyone finds it deliciously fun to believe themselves part of a supernatural world for one day.

A jack-o-lantern burns in my window every year. I always enjoy attending a local school carnival and trying my chances at the cake walk or having a balloon pop. Since my 12th birthday I have annually given a Halloween party of some kind, though not really a birthday party. It's a gift to myself to celebrate Halloween with friends.

In fact, Halloween parties became a tradition at my home in Hobbs, N.M. even after I left for college. For ten years my parents were the hosts of the functions — organizing haunted houses, hayrides, and telling ghost stories. It seems my fascination with Halloween also infected my younger siblings.

One year we buried my football-playing uncle in a gorilla suit beneath our dead garden — with a small hole for air, of course — before the party.

My dad then told a horror story he had created, just a typical Frankenstein/mad scientist type.

About 50 of us kids were seated in a half-moon arrangement on bales of hay, enthralled with the story.

The tension mounted as the scientist killed and buried his monster, only to notice that the gravesite was growing in size.

It grew and grew. He became obsessed with the grave and one day as he stood, fearing the worst...

My uncle popped out of the makeshift grave with a roar, and in a matter of seconds there was no one within half a mile of the garden.

After I left home the parties seemed to grow themselves, and one year they even rigged a flying saucer, complete with aliens, that landed before their very eyes.

The parties finally ended when my brother left for college and my parents' sighed with relief to abandon the fiasco.

Later in the month, winter will officially begin and the cold will be here to stay. The oranges and reds will turn to gray and white, even as we change our clocks to match the darkening days.

The departure of the colors and fun-filled atmosphere is bittersweet — they are all the more special because they seem to last only as long as my special month.

A drive through suburbs of hell

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — Our associate Barbara Newman has just returned from the terrorist stronghold of Baalbek, deep in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley. Intelligence experts describe Baalbek starkly as the most dangerous city on earth. She calls it the "suburbs of hell."

Newman is perhaps the first Western reporter to venture into this forbidden valley since Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini sent a detachment of his revolutionary guards to eastern Lebanon in 1979.

They recruited and trained fanatical Shiite Muslims as terrorists. Today an invisible terrorist army, sworn to die for Khomeini, holds the valley in its grip and the populace in dread.

Our associate was escorted by Lebanese bodyguards and Syrian commandos. They drove at top speeds through terrorist territory, with automatic weapons bristling out of car windows.

At the town limits of Baalbek, they refused to enter. Instead, they hid their cars and led Newman to a ridge overlooking the town.

She ducked into a pit, out of sight, where she was allowed five minutes to photograph the terrorist stronghold. She asked a bodyguard to take some pictures, but his hands trembled so violently that he couldn't focus the camera. "I can't believe I'm in Baalbek," he said.

Newman's escorts pointed out the terrorist headquarters, a former Lebanese army outpost still called the Sheikh Abdullah barracks, on the opposite hillside. The terrorists reportedly hold most of the hostages there in barren basement rooms. All Newman could do was scrutinize the terrorist compound through field glasses.

She arranged for a Shiite surrogate, a woman who would be safe there, to go into Baalbek in our behalf and speak to the terrorist operations chief, a 44-year-old former schoolteacher named Hussein Musawi. He laughed when he was told Newman was afraid to enter his lair.

He sent back a statement that the terrorists would retaliate against Americans because of their intervention in the Persian Gulf, that all Jews are Israelis and "should be stamped on like microbes," that Western hostility toward Islam had made it necessary to "kidnap and hurt" innocent hostages.

Syrian soldiers man the checkpoints in the Bekaa valley, and the villages are populated with Lebanese. Yet this is Khomeini country. His evil presence is felt throughout the valley. His scowling image glares at the populace constantly from wall posters, wall murals and tall roadside signs.

The road to Baalbek is emblazoned with Khomeini's inflammatory words. One mural shows a fist smashing through an American flag. Another calls for the elimination of Israel from the face of the earth. Everywhere banners and posters proclaim: "Death to Jews," "We Follow Our Leader," "Death to Americans."

Khomeini's call to revolution also waits forth from tinny loudspeakers strung high on village mosques. And his flags flutter in the drifting breezes — Islamic flags, revolutionary flags, terrorist flags, red and black triangular flags (red for blood, black for mourning).

The people on the road to Baalbek sulk in their walled enclaves, staring sullenly at outsiders who dare to invade their private corner of hell. The wailing of the mullahs echoes through the shabby streets; their amplified chants have a chilling effect.

The air in the villages is saturated with the sweet-and-sour stench of decaying garbage. Occasionally a burst of gunfire or a bomb blast also leaves a hint of sulphur in the air.

Newman's military caravan sped over narrow, winding roads through lush, green wheat and hashish fields. Then there it was: Baalbek, rising out of the hashish fields and slumping quickly back into them.

Footnote: Our associate was an eyewitness to an "Arabian Nights" drama that is unfolding in the terrorists' bastion. We will publish more of her reports from Bekaa valley in future columns.

KREMLIN WATCH — The Soviets used to get all the information they wanted on the U.S. Navy. Thanks to John Walker and his fellow traitors, the Kremlin had the secret codes and information that told them where the Navy's ships were, what they were up to and what their skippers were saying to each other.

No more, apparently. The CIA is pretty sure there is no remaining Soviet mole passing on Navy secrets. The evidence? The Soviets have sent up a whole galaxy of new satellites to increase their oversight of the world's oceans.

In fact, there are 18 new satellites that have been sent up specifically to keep track of U.S. warships. They're replacing older ones, some of which have been skyping for 15 years.

MINI-EDITORIAL — Strange, isn't it, that Bob Woodward gets so much heat for writing that the late CIA director, William Casey, in a deathbed confession, admitted knowing about the diversion of Iran arms sales profits to the Contras?

We don't recall any thunder from the right when Ollie North made the same claim even more emphatically at the Iran/Contra hearings. Maybe it embarrasses the radicals to have their hero's testimony confirmed by an — ugh! — investigative reporter. To be logical, of course, they should start turning out T-shirts saying "Bob Woodward for Vice President."

Glutton for punishment back in paradise

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

Hamilton, Bermuda — A few months ago, I visited Bermuda and did not have a very good time.

A starter at a local private golf course made some rather crude remarks concerning my shorts being too short. I got into a shouting match with a hotel doorman because I called to a taxi without consulting him first, and a hotel bartender threatened to punch me out when I mentioned 15 minutes was a long time to wait for a drink.

I wrote a column about my bad experiences here and received mixed reactions.

Several readers wrote to tell me how they also have been treated rudely in Bermuda.

Others, including the Bermuda tourist agency, suggested I be thrashed by irate cricket players for my remarks.

The Hamilton newspaper even ran a story and headlined it, "Negative writer returns to island" — which is the subject for today's effort.

I have indeed returned to Bermuda to make a speech, for which I shall receive a check. Otherwise, I wouldn't have returned to

Lewis Grizzard

Bermuda. I wasn't sure what to expect, so I got off my plane at the Bermuda airport dressed in a disguise. I wore socks.

I got to my hotel, the Southampton Princess, without incident. I checked into my room and bolted the door and remained there until the next morning.

It was then I ventured out of my room for the first time and went down for breakfast, which was no longer being served.

I asked for lunch.

"Lunch isn't served until 11:30," I was told. "Then, I'll just have a Coke," I said. "No Coke," I was told. "The bar doesn't open until 11."

I went into a news shop to buy a paper. "All we have are yesterday's papers," the clerk said.

"When do today's papers come in?" I asked.

"Late tomorrow," was the answer.

I went back to my room. Later I ventured out again to play golf. This time I went to a public course and nobody made fun of the way I was dressed, except my playing partners, who thought my shorts, which came to just above my ankles, was overdoing it a bit.

The next morning, after breakfast, there wasn't any coffee on my table, but I spotted a pot on a nearby counter.

I attempted to pour myself a cup, but a waiter snatched the pot away from me and told me to sit down, he'd bring me the coffee.

I did, and he did, and in a few hours I'll be on a plane out of here.

In conclusion, may I say I have not experienced half the hassles in Bermuda as I experienced before, and that may or may not be directly related to the fact I have spent a lot of time in my room, have never complained about a single thing, and have sat down and shut up whenever anybody told me to.

Had I had the same attitude any of the three times I've been married, one of them just might have worked out.

Today is Friday, Oct. 9, the 282nd day of 1987. There are 83 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Oct. 9, 1975, dissident Soviet scientist Andrei Sakharov won the Nobel Peace Prize. He was cited for his "personal and fearless effort" in the cause of peace and his "fight against violence and brutality."

On this date:

In 1635, religious dissident Roger Williams was sentenced to banishment from the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

In 1701, the Collegiate School of Connecticut, later Yale University, was chartered in New Haven.

In 1776, a group of Spanish missionaries settled in present-day San Francisco.

In 1855, Joshua C. Stoddard of Worcester, Mass., received a patent for the first callopie.

In 1888, the public was first admitted to the Washington Monument.

In 1930, Laura Ingalls became the first woman to fly across the United States as she completed a nine-stop journey from Roosevelt Field, N.Y., to Glendale, Calif.

In 1936, the first generator at Boulder (later Hoover) Dam began transmitting electricity to Los Angeles.

In 1958, Pope Pius XII died, 19 years after he was elevated to the papacy.

Ten years ago, Pope Paul VI canonized Sharbel Makhoul, a Lebanese monk, in a high mass at St. Peter's Basilica. The new saint was the first from the Middle East to be canonized by the Roman Catholic church since popes began to proclaim saints in 1973.

Five missing after fire

HOBOKEN, N.J. — Fire raced through a tenement early today, collapsing three floors and injuring at least eight people. Five people were missing, officials said.

Officials were bringing in a construction crane to search for the tenants believed to have been inside the five-story brick building when the floors gave way around 2 a.m., said Deputy Fire Chief Richard Tremietidi. Only the front wall of the building was intact.

"If anyone was in there, it's 99.9 percent sure they didn't survive," he said.

Residents of the 10-family building told firefighters and police that five people, including a 4-month-old child, were inside when it fell in, Tremietidi said.

Firefighters who arrived after the alarm was sounded around 1:30 a.m. could not enter the first floor because of intense flames, he said. "About five minutes after the alarm, the building was an inferno," he said.

Lincoln papers found

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A cache of documents discovered during restoration of Abraham Lincoln's home apparently dates from his days as a congressman in the 1840s, a historian said.

Among the documents, found in a kitchen wall, were part of an envelope addressed and signed by Lincoln, four letters to Lincoln and a printed anti-slavery speech. They may eventually be displayed at the home, which is undergoing a $1.7 million renovation due to be completed next spring.

"It's not all that often that original Lincoln documents pop up out of the woodwork, literally," said Francis Krupka, historical architect on the project.

Robertson hits media

LANCASTER, Pa. — Republican presidential hopeful Pat Robertson, stung by disclosures on his background and inaccuracies in his resume, condemned the news media's intense scrutiny of his personal life.

Robertson, a former minister and television evangelist, dealt with reporters' questions Thursday about his marriage, education and war record at stops in Philadelphia and Lancaster on ABC-TV's "Nightline" news program.

Robertson told reporters at the Lancaster Airport that the public can pass judgment on his past, but that news reports were moving "beyond the bounds of ethical behavior."

On Tuesday, The Wall Street Journal reported Robertson and his wife, Dede, were legally married just 10 weeks before their first child was born. He has since acknowledged the report was accurate.

Jim and Tammy

Ready to 'restore our baby'

FORT MILL, S.C. (AP) — PTL founders Jim and Tammy Bakker say they would welcome an invitation to return and "restore our baby," the evangelical empire, now that the Rev. Jerry Falwell has quit as chairman and taken his board of directors with him.

"I think if a child had a need, I would call the father and mother to help with that need," Bakker said Thursday.

Falwell, who took over PTL after Bakker's downfall in a sex and hush-money scandal, announced Thursday that he and the nine other board members could not stay as long as there was a chance Bakker might return and make the TV ministry "what it was — the greatest scab and cancer on the face of Christianity in 2,000 years."

The resignations were prompted by a bankruptcy court ruling Wednesday allowing PTL creditors and contributors to file a competing plan for reorganizing the ministry, which is more than $60 million in debt, Falwell said.

That ruling, it was felt, left the door open to a comeback by Bakker.

Falwell predicted after his resignation that within six months, "barring a miracle of God," Bakker would be back in control of the empire he founded and lost.

Bakker said during a news conference with his wife at their mountaintop retreat near Gatlinburg, Tenn., that he would return if invited by PTL's creditors. "We want to help in any way to restore our baby," he said.

Bakker said he thought Falwell was resigning to avoid testifying under oath in bankruptcy court.

"If they tell the truth they will have to reveal that they plotted to steal PTL," said Bakker, who contends he gave Falwell only temporary safekeeping of PTL in March after admitting a 1980 sexual encounter with church secretary Jessica Hahn.

Falwell, who in resigning called the PTL scandal "the Watergate of evangelical Christianity," asked PTL's 1,200 employees to stay on and said its main TV program, the "PTL Club," will remain on the air at least three weeks.

Deposed PTL evangelists Jim and Tammy Bakker conduct a press conference outside their Gatlinburg home Thursday after Jerry Falwell announced his resignation from PTL.

Later, he said he will meet with creditors' attorneys or his successor to allow an orderly transition, but he ruled out any return, saying he and the board, in resigning, weren't "issuing any ultimatum or putting on dramatics."

The resignations are subject to the approval of U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Rufus Reynolds, who has overseen the reorganization since June. Falwell said the resignations will be submitted to Reynolds as soon as possible.

Reynolds on Thursday would not say what would happen next in the PTL case, but noted that a trustee could be appointed to oversee the ministry.

The board's last act, Falwell said, was to return a clause to the ministry's bylaws giving the Assemblies of God church the authority to name a new board. The measure is subject to approval from Reynolds.

Falwell said the board wanted to avoid having the religious organization put in the hands of a layman trustee.

In Springfield, Mo., Assemblies of God spokeswoman Juleen Turnage said the church had no idea the board was going to propose giving the church such authority.

No missiles for Saudis

WASHINGTON — President Reagan will eliminate 1,600 Maverick air-to-ground missiles from a proposed weapons package to Saudi Arabia to ensure smooth sailing for the billion-dollar deal in the Senate.

The deal does, however, include 12 new F-15 fighters. But the jets would be stored in the United States and shipped to Saudi Arabia only as needed to replace lost or worn-out units currently in the Saudi air force.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., predicted Reagan would have no problem winning approval of the package after removing the missiles, which had brought the deal to a standstill because of congressional concern about their potential threat to Israel.

Substance might kill

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Ten people who touched and tasted a "beautiful" glittering substance are now fighting for their lives in what a U.S. physician called the West's worst radiation accident.

The victims were flown to Rio last week after coming into contact with cesium-137, a radioactive isotope used in the treatment of cancer patients. Five were not expected to live and the other five had an even chance of surviving, specialists said.

Among those not expected to live was a 6-year-old girl, Leide Das Neves Ferreira, who rubbed the radioactive material over her body and even tasted it.

Only the Chernobyl nuclear reactor accident in April 1986 in the Soviet Union was worse, said Dr. Gerald Hanson, a U.S. doctor with the World Health Organization.

Thirty-one people have died from the accident, in which a reactor at the Chernobyl plant exploded and sent a cloud of radiation that eventually circled the world.

Loch Ness search is on DRUMNADROCHIT, Scotland — Twenty boats carrying the latest sonar equipment swept the choppy waters of Loch Ness today in the biggest-ever scientific hunt for the legendary monster lurking in its depths.

"I'm certainly not going to haul a Jurassic reptile out kicking and screaming for you," said organizer Adrian Shine, referring to prehistoric creatures.

"I am looking possibly for a very large fish," he said.

Shine, a 38-year-old London salesman who has studied the 754-foot deep loch for 14 years, heads the expedition, code-named Operation Deepscan, to find the Loch Ness Monster. Loch is the Scottish word for lake.

"I would be delighted with a 20-foot eel or sturgeon or something like that," he told a news conference Thursday night.

Nominee, president stop push

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Robert H. Bork decides whether his doomed Supreme Court nomination is still worth a fight, President Reagan and the nominee himself have apparently stopped their lobbying efforts in the Senate.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Thursday that Bork has given President Reagan no indication he's ready to withdraw, even though a majority of the Senate has declared against him.

Reagan made clear Thursday that Bork must decide his own fate. "He has a decision to make. I have made mine. I will support him all the way," the president said.

Fitzwater said Bork also can request a meeting with the president today if he wants one, and added that the White House is "playing it by ear."

The Washington Post, quoting unnamed sources, said Bork planned to make a statement today. Leonard Garment, a Washington lawyer and confidant of Bork, told The Associated Press he was unaware of any such plans.

DISCOVER A NEW WORLD OF HAPPINESS THROUGH YOUR FAITH

The explorers of old, so intrepid and bold
In their quest for some faraway shore,
Inadvertently found that our planet was round,
As a few had suspected before.
Yet this globular earth, for whatever it's worth,
Couldn't promise that they would survive,
So instead, for a guide, they had simply relied
On their faith that would keep them alive.
In our travels we learn that if ever we yearn
For true happiness as our reward,
Let's remember to pray on the next Sabbath day,
And discover the love of the Lord.

—Gloria Nowak

The greatest obstacle to discovering the shape of the earth — was not ignorance but the illusion of knowledge.

Our Lady of Fatima to be celebrated

Sacred Heart Catholic Church, 508 N. Aylford St., will celebrate "Our Lady of Fatima" Saturday, with recital of the rosary at 4:45 p.m., said Eva Mendoza, of the Sacred Heart Parish.

Celebration of the "Miracle of the Sun" will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the church, with Father James P. Delaney, officiating, said Mendoza.

Bishop Pfeiffer from San Angelo will direct the ceremony Saturday, and bless the badges to be presented to the new members of the Blue Army, she added.

The title is based on appearances to three shepherd children near Fatima, Portugal in 1917. On the 13th day of six consecutive months (May to October) in that year she appeared to Lucy dos Santos, 10, and to her two cousins, Jacinta and Francis Martos, seven and nine, said Mendoza.

Our Lady asked for prayers, particularly the daily recitation of the rosary, penance and acts of sacrifice for the conversion of sinners, conversion of Russia, and in atonement for sin, said Mendoza.

A promise of a miracle so great that all would believe her predictions and promises was made during the July apparition, according to Mendoza.

That was the "Miracle of the Sun," the unnatural rotation of the sun in the heavens for about 10 minutes. At the same time the children witnessed a tableau consisting of the Holy Family, Our Lady with her Divine Son, who blessed the crowd, Our Lady of Sorrows, and Our Lady of Mount Carmel, said Mendoza.

The Bishop of Leiria declared the apparitions worthy of belief in 1930 and authorized devotion to Our Lady of Fatima, said Mendoza.

On May 13, 1982 Pope John Paul II, in a spiritual union with all the bishops of the world, consecrated all the people of the world — especially Russia — to the Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Children aren't too young to learn about God

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Our son is 10 years old. Is he too young to learn about God? How can we teach him, or should we leave that to Sunday school or something? We want him to know something about religion, although we're not very active ourselves in a church. — Mrs. A.R.

Billy Graham

DEAR MRS. A.R.: No, he certainly isn't too young to learn about God and His love for him. In fact, it would have been helpful if you had started teaching him about God when he was much younger.

Children may be not able to understand as much as adults — but you'll be surprised how much they can learn and how personal their trust and faith in Christ can become. Jesus said, "Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these" (Matthew 19:14).

How can you teach him about God? Certainly it would be good for him to attend Sunday school, where he'll learn about the Bible and what it means to have faith in Christ. Your local Christian bookstore also can suggest Bible storybooks and other resources.

But let me encourage you not only to teach him about God, but also to learn about God yourself. Frankly, your son is not going to take your attempts very seriously if he senses you don't take God very seriously. God loves you, and more than anything else He wants to come into your lives and become the foundation for your family. The only barrier between you and God is sin — and God has done everything possible to forgive you of your sins, by sending His only Son to die on the cross for you.

By a simple prayer of faith invite Jesus Christ to come into your lives. Then together as a family learn more about Him and His will for you.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Please pray for our son. He was always active in church before he went off to college, but now he shows no interest and says he thinks God is not important. We want him to be committed to Christ, but what can we do for him? — Mrs. C.I.

DEAR MRS. C.I.: The first thing you can do is pray that God will give him a hunger for spiritual truth that can only be satisfied by Christ. Only God can open his eyes to his spiritual need. Pray also that God will bring across his path other college students who know Christ, and who can share with him what Christ means to them.

Then be sure to let him know you love him and accept him, even if he doesn't share your commitment to Christ. In addition, ask God to help you show by your lives that Christ makes a difference to you. You can't force him to believe, but you can demonstrate God's reality by the way you live.

Skit presented at meeting

The women of First Church of God met Oct. 5 for their monthly meeting.

Betty Reagan directed the second study of the Church of God Missions in Bangladesh, which began in 1920 by F.W. Heinly and family, missionaries.

One objective of the lesson is to better understand the challenges the church faces in sharing the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

A skit presented by Nelda Reagan, Donna Lee and Marilyn Taylor depicted just what is taking place in Bangladesh today.

Meals on Wheels, Kenneth Williams and Billy Cotton both of Big Spring, placed first, The Brother-In-Laws placed second, and Elbow Junction placed

The results are as follows: First place in the goat cook-off went to The Brother-In-Laws team, Wayne and Ike Lowe of Big Spring. In the brisket cook-off, Elbow Junction team, the Danny Kennemur Family of Elbow took first place, and The Brother-In-Laws placed second.

The Brother-In-Laws team placed first, and the Elbow Junction team placed second in the red bean cook-off.

third in the blackeyed pea competition, said Kenneth Williams, president.

Animal control officer tries to capture human attention

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, you had a letter in your column that began: "I am your animal control officer..." Please run it again with your answer. It would be a timely reminder about the proper love and care of animals entrusted to our care.

MILTON BENOIT, TIMBERVILLE, VA.

DEAR MILTON: That letter went up on the bulletin boards of many schools. Thanks for asking. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I am your animal control officer. I am not the dreaded "dogcatcher" or the "murderer" you call me.

Dear Abby

It is not I who allows your pet to roam the streets, to contract diseases from other free-roaming animals, to be hit by passing motorists or poisoned by rotting garbage. I am the one who must look into those sick, pain-glazed eyes, try to remove the animal without causing it further pain, and then humanely "put it to sleep" to put an end to its suffering.

It is not I who allows your pets to breed, then dumps the unwanted puppies and kittens on roadsides and in shelters. I'm the one who must find the tiny animals before they die of starvation, exposure or disease, and as an act of mercy, exterminate them. It hurts me to be forced to kill hundreds of thousands of animals each year, but because of your irresponsibility, I have no choice.

It is not I who abandons unwanted animals on farm roads, telling myself some friendly farmer will surely take them in and give them a good home. But I am the one who must pick up the frightened animal who waits in vain for its beloved master, wondering why it has been abandoned. I am the one who must help that friendly farmer trap, tran-quilize or kill that animal because it has begun to roam in packs with other abandoned hungry animals, killing livestock, fowl and game.

I am not the one who breeds and fights dogs in the name of "sport." But I'm the one who fights the breeders and participants, and must pick up the dead and dying animals that have been left behind.

It is not I who keeps a pet confined in an area too small — without food, water, shelter or exercise. But I must deal with the irresponsible owner who does.

It is not I who refuses to spend the time and money to keep up regular inoculations that all pets require. But I am the one who must pick up the sick animal that is dying of a preventable disease.

So remember, the next time your child is bitten by a stray dog, your trash is dumped and scattered, your pet is lost, stolen, poisoned or hit by a car, it is the animal control officer you call — not the "dogcatcher." The next time your pet is picked up, or you are cited for neglecting or abusing it, remember, I am only trying to get you to fulfill your responsibility to your pet, your neighbor and yourself.

Do not scorn me. Respect me, for I am the product of your irresponsibility. I love animals, and I care.

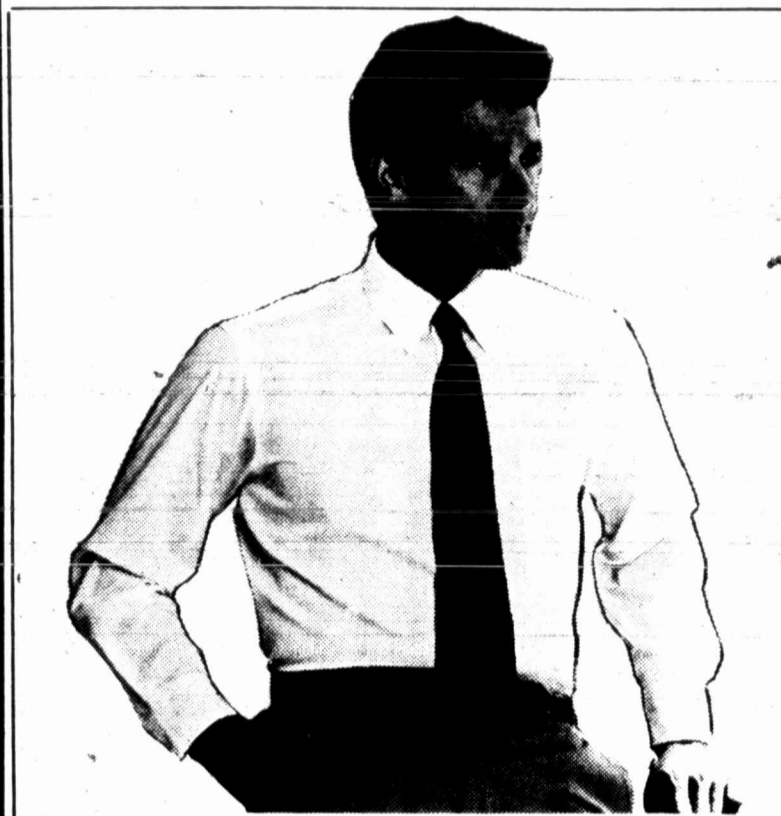

ANIMAL CONTROL OFFICER DEAR OFFICER: Thank you for a powerful message that needs to be repeated often.

No pet should be allowed to breed indiscriminately. Please, please have your pet spayed or neutered. And if you have a dollar or two to spare, please send it to your local S.P.C.A. so it can feed and care for all those kittens and puppies a little longer — instead of exterminating them immediately for lack of funds.

I love animals, and I care, too.

Friday Football Forecast

Compiled by Herald Sports Staff

Lamesa (2-3) at Big Spring (2-2)

After an open date, the Steers should be primed and ready to impress a large homecoming crowd.

The Steers and Golden Tornadoes have one big factor in common. Both played their last games against Sweetwater. Judging from Sweetwater's margin of victory over the two, (39-18 over Big Spring, 43-12 over Lamesa) this game should be a tough battle.

But there's one glaring fact that should be considered in those games. Big Spring fumbled the ball 10 times against Sweetwater, Lamesa didn't fumble once.

When push comes to shove, the Steers definitely have more size and talent than Lamesa. The Tors have more speed, which should make the game interesting, but the Steers simply have too much TNT for the Tors.

Led by linebacker Kenneth Banks, the Steers' defense will control Lamesa's speed merchants. Quarterback Shawn Shellman will get the Steer offense in gear, and RB Charles White and WR Buddy Everett will treat the fans to some big plays. The Steers will get back on the winning track and it's party time in the Spring City.

BIG SPRING 35, LAMESA 16

Forsan (4-1) at Ozona (1-4)

The Forsan Buffaloes are getting better and better each week. Their defense is getting ornery and the offense is showing the balance it takes to win a championship.

The Ozona Lions have had a rough year so far. They face a tough task in their district-opener. Coach Jim Green has a young crew, and he's building for next year. The Lions will get a valuable learning experience from this whipping from a championship-style team.

The score could be worse, but the Buffs might just be looking ahead to Reagan County next week.

FORSAN 27, OZONA 6

Eldorado (2-3) at Stanton (2-3)

District opener for both teams and the Stanton Buffalos are trying to snap a three-game losing streak. But Stanton coach Dale Ruth isn't worried about non-district wins — this is what counts.

Which is why Ruth held out his two starting offensive halfbacks in last week's 14-0 loss to Crane.

This week Steve Scurlark and Robert Jones will be back, and they'll show Seagraves just how healthy they are. The Buffaloes will get back on the winning track.

STANTON 30, ELDORADO 17

Colorado City (3-2) at Brady (3-2)

Last year when these two teams met, Colorado City gave the game away. The Wolves led 12-6 at the half, but turned the ball over four times in the second half, leading to four Brady TD's in a five-minute span.

This year the Wolves have learned to take better care of the football and Brady has been having turnover problems of late, indicated by seven give-aways to Abilene Wylie last week.

The old adage "What goes around, comes around," applies here.

COLORADO CITY 20, BRADY 14

Eden (4-0) at Garden City (2-3)

The schedule doesn't get any better for the Garden City Bearkats. Last week the battled tough Menard. This week they get pre-district favorite Eden.

Eden has a big, physical team. A squad that will come at the Bearkats full steam ahead. But the feisty Bearkats don't back down from anybody. They'll put up a game fight and pull a few surprises, but it won't be enough.

EDEN 27, GARDEN CITY 12

Dawson (2-3) at Grady (1-4)

Although they've won just once, the Grady Wildcats are improving every game, that is, with the exception of last week's dismal performance against Midland Christian.

Dawson, like Grady, returns a young team, but the Dragons have shown they are capable of playing good ball.

Coach Mike Mathis will have Grady fired up for this game, especially after last week's performance. The Wildcats will win a thriller in front of the home crowd.

GRADY 48, DAWSON 46

Mid. Christian (5-0) at Klondike (3-2)

This is a very interesting matchup. The Klondike Cougars are coming off a heart-breaking 25-24 loss to pre-district favorite Wellman, a game which the Coogs missed four conversion kicks. Now all the Cougars have to do is rebound with a homecoming victory against a tough Midland Christian team, a team that beat Wellman 69-14.

The Cougars will perform better than it did against Wellman, but the intensity won't be there just because it isn't a district game. Good thing for the Cougars.

MIDLAND CHRISTIAN 44, KLONDIKE 34

Clyde (2-3) at Coahoma (2-3)

For the past two weeks Coahoma has played well enough to win. Last quarter breakdowns have prevented them from doing it though. Coahoma has learned its lesson. The Red and White won't falter in the last 12 minutes this time. Matt Rowell, Curtis Hudson, Anthony Hernandez and the rest of the gang will come through this time.

COAHOMA 16, CLYDE 14

Wellman (3-2) at Sands (3-2)

This is the game of the week. The winner of this game could be in the driver's seat for the zone championship.

The contest will showcase two of the top running back in six-man football, Jay Fryar of Sands, and Jay Roughton of Wellman.

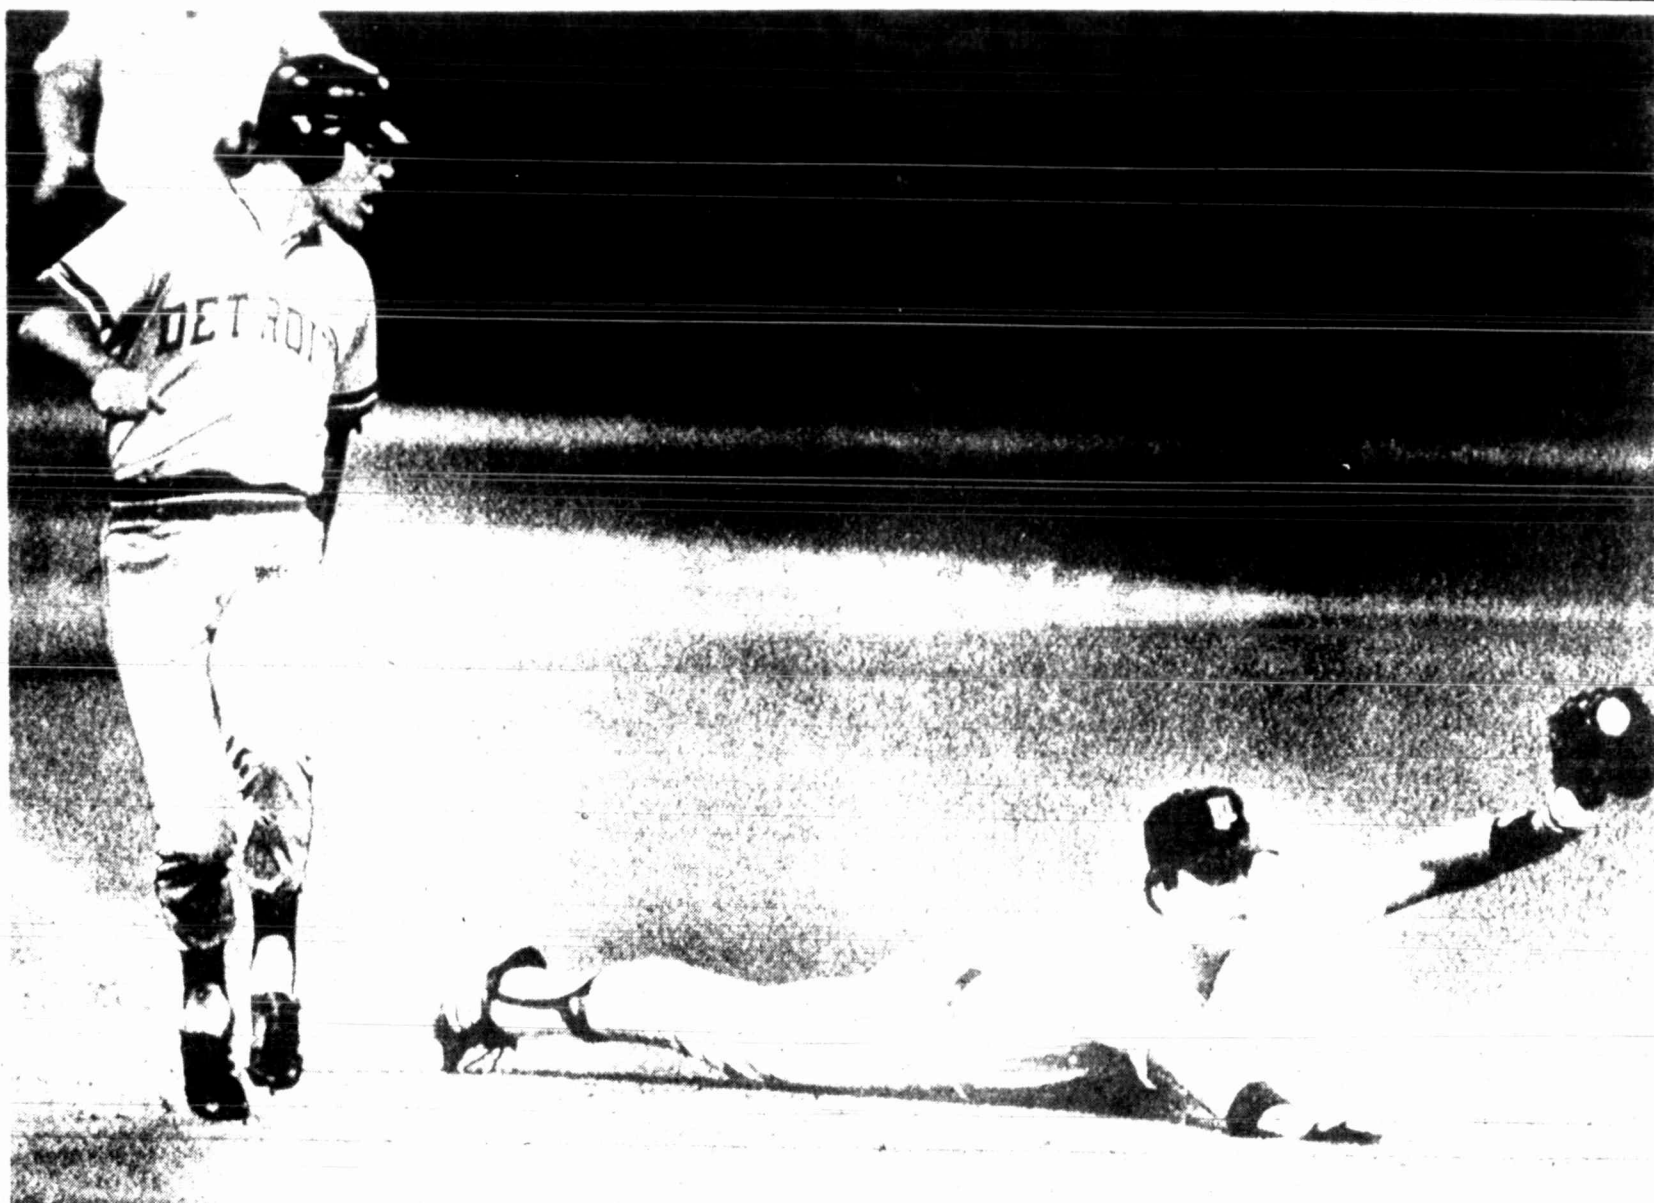

Both will put on a show but Sands will win because Fryar has a better supporting cast and the home field advantage.

SANDS 44, WELLMAN 28

Borden County (1-4) at Loop (2-1-1)

With running back Shannon Bond, the Borden County Coyotes are a good team, without him, its tough times in Coyoteland. For the third consecutive week the Coyotes will be without their star runner and defensive back. And for the third consecutive week, the Coyotes will falter.

LOOP 50, BORDEN COUNTY 24

John Grubb in eighth inning action Friday night in Minneapolis.

Twins take 2-0 advantage

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jack Morris had never lost to the Twins in Minnesota. And during this American League season, Doyle Alexander had not lost to anyone, anywhere.

But both Detroit right-handers met their demise in the American League playoffs with the Twins taking a 2-0 lead over the Tigers in the best-of-seven series.

"We definitely feel good about what happened the last two days," said Minnesota's Tom Brunansky, whose second-inning RBI double broke the ice against Morris in Thursday night's 6-3 victory in Game 2.

"We beat two of the best in Doyle Alexander and Jack Morris," said

Dan Gladden, whose two-out, two-run single in the fourth put the Twins up 5-2. "I think that shows a little bit of the character of the Minnesota Twins."

Alexander, Wednesday's 8-5 loser, was 9-0 in the regular season after the Tigers acquired him Aug. 12 from Atlanta. He was 2-0 against the Twins, as was Morris — the winningest pitcher of the 1980s, who had been 11-0 in Minnesota including 8-0 in the Metrodome.

On paper, it had seemed the Tigers were favored and the Twins were in trouble.

The AL East champion Tigers are counting on their prowess at Tiger Stadium — a 54-27 home record that was second only to the Twins' major-league leading 56-25 home mark — and Minnesota's shabby road record. At 29-52, the AL West champion Twins had the worst road showing of any division winner in big-league history.

Next game
Saturday
noon

Laudner, a .191 hitter during the season who was 0-for-3 with two strikeouts Wednesday, lined a two-run double to left field, putting the Twins ahead for good at 3-2.

The rest of Laudner's contribution came on defense, where he caught Blyleven and guided the curveballer through a rocky start. Blyleven, who led the majors in homers-allowed with 46, had put the Twins in a 2-0 hole by yielding Chet Lemon's two-run homer in the top of the second.

After Kent Hrbek's solo homer in the fifth put Minnesota up 6-2, Blyleven surrendered Lou Whitaker's line-drive homer in the eighth. He then gave up a single to Darrell Evans and was removed to a standing ovation from the largest crowd ever to watch a baseball game in the state of Minnesota, 55,245.

Hard-throwing Juan Berenguer came on in relief and retired the final five Tigers, striking out four.

Cards limp into San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, already limping without slugger Jack Clark in their lineup, may also be minus a second cog for Game 3 of the National League's playoffs.

Third baseman Terry Pendleton sprained his left ankle while working out Thursday at Candlestick Park. X-rays were taken at a hospital, and Pendleton's availability for today's game against the San Francisco Giants was in doubt.

Almost moreso than with Clark, particularly on defense, the injury dealt St. Louis a crippling blow.

The 27-year-old Pendleton, a switch-hitter, started 156 of the Cardinals' first 159 games. He batted .286 with 12 home runs and a career-high 96 runs batted in. Jose Oquendo was St. Louis' only other starter at third until the Cardinals clinched the NL East title.

Manager Whitey Herzog announced earlier Thursday that right-hander Danny Cox would be unable to pitch Game 3 as previously scheduled.

"He hasn't pitched since last Thursday," Herzog said of Cox, 11-9, who is recovering from a stiff neck. Cox originally was to have pitched Game 1. His place will be taken today by Joe Magrane, 9-7, a rookie left-hander.

In the continued absence of Clark, who hit 35 home runs and totaled 106 RBI before sidelined a month ago by an ankle injury, Jim Lindeman and Tony Pena are St. Louis' only everyday players who bat from the right side.

Pendleton is one of six St. Louis switch-hitters. Pena, the team's regular catcher, also played some at first base. If Pena shifts there and Lindeman moves from first to right field, the switch-hitting Oquendo would be at third and Steve Lake, a right-handed hitter, would spell Pena as catcher.

Herzog, before being hit by the latest in a season-long siege of Cardinals injuries, expressed guarded optimism.

"I don't think this park's that tough," he said of Candlestick, where St. Louis was swept by San Francisco in a four-game July series. "We've played good here at times; we've played bad here at times."

Herzog had been scraping for productive hitting from the right side to face left-hander Atlee Hamaker, 10-10, the Giants' Game 3 starter.

"Every day he gets a little bit better, but that's still not good enough," Herzog said of Clark, who has been undergoing daily treatment for his ankle injury. "I could use him to pinch hit. That's as far as I'd go with him."

Tonight
Channel 13

Cox will definitely pitch on Saturday for the Cardinals, Herzog said.

Even before Pendleton was hurt, San Francisco renewed its verbal jabs against a St. Louis team that has been stopped on the basepaths while dividing the best-of-seven playoffs' first two games at home.

"We're definitely the intimidator in this," Giants catcher Bob Brenley said of San Francisco, which is matching its brawn against St. Louis' speed. "Who would you rather see in an alley, someone with a big stick or someone who runs fast?"

So far, the Giants have hit three home runs — two of them by Jeffrey Leonard — and have frozen the Cardinals' running game.

Herzog tried to downplay the absence of a single stolen base in the Cardinals' 5-3 victory of Game 1 and 5-0 loss in Game 2, however.

"Yesterday (Wednesday), the bunt sign was on and Pena thought it was a hit-and-run," Herzog said. San Francisco Manager Roger Craig hinted that Leonard's two home runs, both accompanied by slow trots around the bases, may have damaged St. Louis' psyche.

"If I was on the other side, I'd have some thoughts going through my mind," Craig said. "But Leonard's the type of guy who can back up his actions."

Magrane said his attention was being directed toward the game rather than words being exchanged.

"If I am feeling nervous, it wouldn't hit me now," he said at Thursday's workout. "We're just in a relaxed atmosphere. This is the way the team has played all year."

NFLPA labor charge leveled at Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — An unfair labor charge has been filed against the Dallas Cowboys by the National Football League Players Association, accusing the team of making "threats" against three striking players to get them to cross the picket lines.

The players mentioned in the charge were Tony Dorsett, Ed "Too Tall" Jones and Everson Walls.

Walls chose not to cross, but Dorsett and Jones said they feared they would lose contractual annuities if they did not return to work and that was the reason they returned to the team.

"It's because of reports the players have been offered various inducements," Dick Berthelsen, legal counsel for the NFLPA, said of the charge filed with the National Labor Relations Board Thursday.

Cowboys president Tex Schramm said he is not concerned about the charge.

"There were no threats," he said. "The NFLPA is long on unfair-labor charges and short on negotiations."

Tim English, staff counsel for the union, said the players also could go to court to seek punitive damages or even awards of free agency because of the "threats."

"Federal law prohibits an employer from withholding or threatening to withhold compensation," English said.

Dorsett said the Cowboys told him in a letter that he could lose almost half of his $6.4 million annuity by staying out.

Buff tackle will be out

by Sarah Luman
Special to the Herald

FORSAN — Senior Mike Averette, starting tackle for the Forsan Buffaloes, suffered a knee injury in last week's game that will keep him out of tonight's district-opener and could sideline him for next week's game as well.

Coach Jan East said the extent of Averette's injury is yet to be determined.

"He went to the doctor Wednesday and will have to go back next week," East said. "We don't know yet whether he hurt the ligaments or the cartilage."

Averette spent time in an ice-filled whirlpool Thursday.

"I've never missed two games in a row before," the 6-2, 270-lb. tackle said. Chafing visibly at the prospect of missing tonight's game with Ozona, Averette said the injury could bring his season to an early close. "If I have to have surgery I'll be out for four weeks."

The Buffaloes' regular-season schedule closes four weeks down the road with the Rankin game. Next week Forsan faces Big Lake. Coach East and key players already are thinking about the upcoming game.

"We need him (Averette) back next week for sure," East said. "We can get by without him for this game, but we'd be hurt without him against Big Lake. That's probably going to be our toughest game this year."

Stacy Munoz said of Ozona, "If we go in there with our minds ready to play, we can beat them. But if you start thinking you've already got it won, you can get in trouble. You have to remember that anybody you play can possibly beat you easily and approach each game as it comes."

Winning football way of life at Wink

WINK (AP) — When Danny Carroll, Tony Roach and Jeffrey Jones were kids, they would go back behind the stands during Wink High School football games and toss a ball around.

The three pretended to be their football heroes. But instead of imagining they were Tony Dorsett or Roger Staubach or Earl Campbell, they made believe they were stars for the Wink Wildcats.

Now the three seniors start for the Wildcats, one of the winningest squads in West Texas and a perennial Top 10 team. In their football-mad part of the state, attendance at Friday night games is often higher than attendance at Sunday morning church.

"It's something you look forward to from the first time you walk in through the door," Jones said of playing for the varsity.

Wink is an oil-dependent town of 1,182 about 10 miles south of New Mexico's southeast corner.

"There's not much to do in Wink," said James Northcutt, whose son Brandon plays for the junior varsity. "There's no drive-ing. No picture shows." The high school, which shares its building with the junior high school, has 126 students in grades nine through 12. For seven years, students tread halls carpeted in orange, sit at orange-and-black desks, store their books in orange lockers and wear orange shirts on game days.

An orange-and-black water tower dominates the town, and the only restaurant is called The Wildcat (Den).

"The kids are winners," Superintendent John W. Sollis Jr. said. "They work hard. They know what it's like to win. They're brought up in it."

Wink won the state championship in 1952. From 1981-84, Wink compiled a 56-4 record. The only losses were in the playoffs.

Probably the most crushing defeat was in the 1981 Class A state championship game against Bremond in which Wink lost 12-9 on the final play.

"It was something that haunts us all still," Coach David Burnett said with a slight smile of regret.

Now after two seasons of rebuilding, Burnett said he hopes he has assembled a team that can play "December football." The state quarterfinals are in the first week of that month.

Texas schools are classified in six sizes, 5A the largest and B the smallest. Class B schools play six-man football. Wink belongs to Class A, the smallest schools that field 11-man teams.

Going into its fifth game, against Class 2A Marfa, Wink had earned a 4-0 record, all against 2A schools. The week before, against Iraan, Wink had won its 400th game since it began playing football in 1928. The Wildcats were ranked fifth in The Associated Press poll going into Marfa's homecoming game.

"People want to beat you when you're ranked," Burnett said. "There's been times when we felt like if a team could beat us, that would be a successful season for them."

Wink's success probably can be attributed to the coaches and the facilities. The town thrived when the price of oil was high and the school district could collect more taxes than it really needed.

It hired several assistant football coaches, furnished the weight room with fine equipment and built a sprinkler system so the football field is green even in the desert summer.

But money can't buy a victory.

In Marfa, the Wildcats came up against a bigger team with a stout defense and a good running game. Wink was forced to punt on most fourth downs; in its first two games of the season, Wink never punted. Despite two safeties and a 25-yard scoring run by Bryan Kenyon, Wink lost 17-10. Four days later, Wink dropped in the AP poll from fifth to ninth.

Following the loss, the Wildcats walked out on the field and gathered in a circle around Burnett. Some of the players were crying; none spoke.

"Don't get down on yourself anymore than you already are," Burnett said softly. "It ought to hurt this bad, folks. We've got to go out and get better."

OU expects 'test' from Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Even though Oklahoma is a five-touchdown favorite, Coach Barry Switzer thinks Saturday's date with Texas is just what his No. 1-ranked team needs after hardly breaking a sweat in rolling over its first four opponents by a combined score of 218-17.

"I don't care what people say, Texas is still Texas," says Switzer, who gets more uptight for this annual Red River range war than for any other game.

"The only way we will get better is to play good people, and believe me we will get a test this Saturday. They have some good athletes and seem to be playing defense better than they did a year ago."

"I also believe they are improving their offense at a rapid pace. They are definitely the best team we have played to date."

That, of course, is a left-handed compliment. The closest game Oklahoma has played was a 28-0 pasting of North Carolina, one of the Atlantic Coast Conference's better teams. North Texas State fell 69-14, Tulsa 65-0, Iowa State 56-3.

Oklahoma leads the nation in scoring offense (54.5 points a game) and defense (4.3), total offense (544.2 yards), rushing (442.3), total defense (150.0) and passing defense (89.8).

But they are only second in rushing defense (60.3 to Clemson's 57.8), so perhaps Texas, which is 15th in rushing with a 242.5-yard average, can take advantage of that flaw.

"We are still in the process of improving ourselves, and we cannot afford to make some of the mistakes we have been making," Switzer says. "The kicking game has always been an integral part of this battle, and that concerns me, as I don't feel we are executing in that area like we must."

"OU-Texas is a great rivalry, and no one I have ever known who is part of it has ever gone into the game without a lot of butterflies. Nothing changes. It's the same story every year when we walk down that ramp."

Only Darrell Royal, who was involved in 23 Oklahoma-Texas games — three as a player for Oklahoma and 20 as Texas' head coach — has participated in this rivalry more than Switzer, who will take that walk for the 22nd time, 15th as head coach (he is 7-5-2).

It will be the 20th meeting with Oklahoma for Texas' David McWilliams, but his first as head coach of the Longhorns. He was 3-0 against the Sooners as a player from 1961-63 and 6-8-2 as an assistant coach from 1970-85.

Texas is 2-2, having trounced Oregon State and Rice after losing to Auburn and Brigham Young.

Portland after biggest Tower

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Houston Rockets center Ralph Sampson has been offered a six-year deal by the Portland Trail Blazers that would pay him in excess of $2 million annually.

Blazers President Harry Glickman said Thursday the proposal would make Sampson "one of the highest-paid players in the NBA." The 7-foot-4 Sampson spent the day with his agent, Gene Perry, to discuss the deal, Glickman said.

The Blazers are among several teams that have expressed interest in acquiring Sampson, who averaged 15.6 points per game last season, his fourth in the NBA.

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE

From the Carroll Richter Institute

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This morning is an excellent time for dealing with repairs and other problems which can't be done during the week. Social affairs this evening can bring you many benefits if you are alert.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If a newcomer comes into your life, be prepared to listen to new ideas, but reject those which you don't feel are plausible or desirable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) See some old friends today during your spare time, but don't neglect your urgent duties. Try to be more efficient in your routines.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be helpful and affectionate to your mate, and watch your budget carefully. Take it easy and get plenty of rest tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Handle all of your practical affairs during the day, but reserve the evening for your loved one. Be sure to drive carefully.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Handle civic matters this morning, and the evening will be fine for more intimate matters. Watch your financial situation carefully.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) See an important person who can give you the assistance you need — both monetary and moral — to get a new project under way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Try to be pleasing to your mate this morning. Contact an old friend you haven't seen for some time this evening. Drive carefully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A usually stubborn associate will see things your way for a change. Tonight is a perfect time for romance with your mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This morning is a fine time for running errands and handling correspondence. Spend the evening socializing with friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can get much accomplished with an associate for the coming week. Plan a recreation for your close friends and yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Work on getting your home in order this morning. Tonight talk over future plans with your family and entertain some guests.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can communicate well with others this morning and will have an easy time getting your desk cleared. Be cautious in making investments.

If Your Child Is Born Today He or she will have a very practical nature, but will be inclined to deliberate entirely too long before reaching any decisions. Your progeny will not be very active physically as a child, but as an adult will be quite lively and will accomplish a great deal.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
