

Five arrested on capital murder charges

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

Five Big Spring residents have been arrested on suspicion of capital murder in connection with three Howard County deaths, Sheriff A.N. Standard said today.

The five are suspects in the deaths of two Mexican nationals whose burned bodies were found in the debris of an Oct. 10 fire near Luther and the alleged April murder of another man whose body was recovered Saturday in Martin County, Standard said.

The deaths are believed to be drug-related, he said.

Sheriff's deputies arrested brothers Joe Hernandez, 20, and Frankie Salazar Hernandez, 27, at 1:50 p.m. Tuesday outside the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry St., on warrants for capital murder. The two are employed in the Herald mailroom.

Jeannie Hernandez Fonseca, 29, sister of the two men, was arrested on a capital murder warrant at 4:20 p.m. Tuesday at her place of employment on the Snyder Highway.

All three are listed as living at 606 11th Place.

Two other suspects were taken into custody the previous week on a writ of attachment as principal witnesses in the case, the sheriff said.

Pete Salazar Jr., 23, 411 N.W. 10th St., also a Herald employee, was arrested at 6:15 p.m. Oct. 16 in the Big Spring High School parking lot and Arthur Islas Jr., 20, 1306 Mesa Ave., a former employee of the paper, was taken into custody at the sheriff's office Oct. 16, according to sheriff's records.

Bond was denied on Salazar and Islas who were arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Shankles Monday.

The two men have been moved to another jail for protection, said Standard, who declined to say where the two are held.

Bail was set at $125,000 each for Jeannie Hernandez Fonseca, Frankie Salazar Hernandez and Joe Hernandez Tuesday afternoon. The three are in custody in the Howard County jail.

Capital murder is punishable by death, life imprisonment or five to 99 years imprisonment, Assistant District Attorney William Dupree said.

It is the only murder charge in which the death penalty can be invoked, he said.

A grand jury is tentatively scheduled to hear evidence in the case in November, Dupree said.

He said it takes an average of six months to a year before a case is brought to trial. However, the process is often accelerated if defendants cannot post bond, Dupree said.

Deputies have two written confessions and two oral confessions in connection with the alleged murder of the man whose body was found in Martin County, Standard said.

An investigation began after the Howard County Sheriff's office received a call at 5:55 a.m. Oct. 10 of a house fire near Luther, approximately 15 miles northeast of Big Spring. Upon arrival, deputies found the house, located on Farm-to-Market Road 846, about two miles east of Luther, destroyed.

Two bodies were found in the debris, according to sheriff's reports.

The skull of one of the bodies appears to have two small caliber bullet holes in it, Deputy George Quintero, one of three men investigating the case, said today.

Assistant Fire Chief Burr Lea Settles was called to investigate the possibility of arson, and Chief Deputy Robert Puentes and Deputy Jack Howard, along with Quintero, were assigned to the case, the sheriff said.

Investigation of the two bodies found at the fire led authorities to the body in Martin County, officials said.

"There is no doubt in my mind that it is arson," Standard said, of the Luther house fire, adding that Settles would concur. Settles could not be reached for comment early this afternoon.

Dr. Robert Rember, a Scenic Mountain Medical Center staff member, was ordered by Justice of the Peace William Shankles to perform autopsies on the two bodies. And anthropologist Clyde Snow, of Norman, Okla., arrived in Big Spring Sunday to assist with the examination of the remains.

The doctors could not be reached at press time, but positive identification and a cause of death had not been determined as of Tuesday. ARRESTED page 2-A

Steer band is battling

The Big Spring High School Steer Marching Band will be competing in the UIL District VI Marching Contest Saturday at 3:15 p.m. in Ratliff Stadium in Odessa.

The competition will follow a "clash of titans" on Friday night, says band Director Ricky Mitchell.

This Friday's halftime of the Big Spring game against Pecos will feature the two bands that won the District VI Marching Contest, as well as the Region B Marching Contest. Both the Big Spring Steer and the Pecos Eagle Band competed in the state marching contest last year in Austin.

On Saturday, the 145-member Steer Band is the first to perform in Class AAAA. It will be followed by Andrews, Pecos, Monohans, and Ft. Stockton. There are five AAAA bands in District VI, Mitchell said.

The top two AAAA bands will be selected to perform in the Region B Marching Contest to be held October 31 in Lubbock's Jones Stadium.

The Steer Band will perform four selections during the nine-minute performance, based on the theme "Songs of the South."

The selections are: "The Tennessee Waltz," "Doo Dah," "The Arkansas Traveler," and "I Can't Help Falling in Love With You."

The Big Spring Band Boosters will lead a car caravan to Ratliff Stadium, he said. Persons interested in following the Booster caravan should meet at the west parking lot of Big Spring High School at 11:30 a.m.

Hispanic leaders issuing national 'call for action'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Hispanic leaders is issuing a "call for action" to presidential candidates, urging them to make the concerns of Hispanics part of the 1988 campaign.

The National Hispanic Agenda '88 Unity Task Force, headed by San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros, on Tuesday adopted an agenda of issues and called on the nation's Hispanics to unite behind it.

The coalition said it will urge presidential candidates to make the issues part of the national debate. It advocates appointment of Hispanics to the president's Cabinet and the Supreme Court, opposes efforts to make English the official U.S. language, and wants changes in immigration and election policies affecting Hispanics.

"We hope the issues of concern to Hispanics will become part of the national debate and presidential candidates will realize this is a significant constituency to be noted and incorporated into the American process," said Aida Alvarez, vice president of a principal conference sponsor, Bear Stearns and Co. of New York.

Cisneros, in a statement on the conference, said the Hispanic agenda is "a call for action by the presidential candidates, to seek solutions to the nation's most pressing problems."

Goals in the group's agenda include

- Defeat of the English-only movement, which many Hispanics see as a threat to them in voting rights, criminal proceedings and education.
- Changes in naturalization rules to allow more Hispanics to apply for citizenship.
- Standardization of voter registration; establishment of a Justice Department enforcement office specifically to protect voting rights of Hispanics; and legislation to prevent gerrymandering that

- diminishes ethnic voting clout.
- Establishment of state political party affirmative action plans to increase Hispanic participation, and consideration of the Hispanic agenda for endorsement by the state parties.
- Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif. told the conference that the potential political power of Hispanics, "if used in the right way, can advance the economic and social aspiration of people who, until recently, have

Council gets no comment on grant

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

The first of two public hearings concerning a Texas Community Development Program grant for Coahoma topped the agenda at the City Council meeting Tuesday night. The council also opened bids for a new diesel fuel service contract.

City Clerk Holly Best said the council received no comments from the public concerning the grant, which Coahoma is seeking to fund water line improvements.

"We told what we're trying to do," she said. "We don't know yet how much (grant money) we will be eligible for, but we should know by the next hearing."

Best said the next hearing is tentatively set for Nov. 10.

Bids were opened for a new contract to provide diesel fuel delivered to the city. Best said the council wants all bids submitted before Nov. 10 so that a decision can be made during that council meeting.

Bids should include an invoice price plus delivery, Best said, for a period from the date of the council meeting through March 1989 to cover the fiscal year.

No decision was reached concerning whether the city will contract with NTS Communications for long distance service, she said. The council has not been approached by any other companies interested in offering service to the city, said Best.

The council will continue to study the information NTS Communications provided, she said, at least until the next meeting before deciding whether to contract with the company.

A change in the water rate adjustment for customers whose bills showed obvious problems with water line leakage was discussed, but the council decided not to change the current rate, said Best.

"The adjustment rate will still be $1 per 1,000 gallons. We will continue to give an adjustment on the bill if they have a leak, like if the bill doubles in one month, for instance, or is way over average one month, we'll give an adjustment on the water bill," she said.

Best said the council voted to continue gathering information concerning a problem with unpaid sewer bills. "By the next meeting they hope to have enough information available on what should be done, and what we can do, to make a decision."

IRS says Dallas largest

DALLAS (AP) — Federal tax officials who launched a nationwide campaign on the latest reform act said the Dallas district of the Internal Revenue Service this month became the nation's largest.

IRS officials said on Tuesday that the district office has a staff of nearly 3,000 employees.

The district's staff increases are partly in preparation for the upcoming tax season and anticipated problems connected with the Tax Reform Act of 1986, said officials.

The district includes 13 offices in North Texas from the state's border with New Mexico to its border with Louisiana.

The Dallas district has been expanding training for employees so "we will be prepared," said IRS spokeswoman Marlene Gaysek.

She said the district's efforts are part of a nationwide campaign in which the IRS mailed information on the new tax laws to 90 million taxpayers across the country.

New York Gov. Mario Cuomo blasted the movement to make English the official U.S. language. He also called for more federal spending on prenatal and day care programs, a nationwide child-immunization program, more effective anti-drug programs, extended preschool and child nutrition programs, and more housing assistance for the poor and homeless.

"You have many allies in this country, of every race and creed and color, who recognize — as you do — that these Hispanic issues are actually American issues, and that all citizens will benefit by the reforms you propose," he told the group.

Census Bureau figures show that nearly 19 million Hispanics — including those of Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Central and South American descent — live in the United States. The figure reflects an increase of 30 percent between 1980 and 1987, the Census statistics showed.

Testing

However, Howard College began basic skills testing of students this year and SWCID has had a testing program for several years, she said.

In addition, Earnst said both schools also offer development classes to help students improve reading, writing and math skills.

Earnst stressed the need for such basic skills tests and instruction by citing findings of a 1986 report to the Texas Select Committee on Higher Education.

The report found that at least 30,000 of the 110,000 college freshman each year can't read or communicate at levels necessary to successfully complete college level courses.

Earnst also noted that a report conducted by Ohio State University in 1987 found that three of every 10 fifth grade students leave school before graduating from high school and 13 percent of all 17-year-olds can't read or write at a level necessary to cope with the demands of daily life.

The OSU report also found that an estimated 800,000 to 1 million students drop out of public schools each year without the basic skills necessary to hold jobs, Earnst said.

Basic skills testing and classes at Howard College and SWCID are not intended to attach a stigma to students who participate in the programs, but are an attempt to keep students in class and help them reach higher levels of achievement, Earnst said.

School bus barn is without water

Herald staff report

Water service to the Big Spring School District bus barn on Midway Road near FM 700 has been disrupted for the second time in the past two months without advance notification from city officials, according to Gary Richardson, school district director of transportation.

Richardson said this morning that the bus barn has been without water since Monday.

Lack of water at the barn has inconvenienced school district employees at the facility, preventing them from flushing toilets or obtaining drinking water, according to Richardson.

School Superintendent Bill McQueary disputes Richardson's claim that prior notification of the water cutoff at the bus barn was not issued by city officials.

"We have no problem with the city," McQueary said.

Meanwhile, City Public Works Director Tom

Decell said he thought school officials were given advance notification of the water cutoff.

"I was unaware that school officials didn't know," Decell said this morning.

Water to the barn was shut off Monday to allow work on a nearby 12-inch water line that supplies the facility, according to Decell.

A pressure check on the line should be completed by this afternoon and water service restored to the bus barn by early Thursday, the public works director said.

McQueary also said lack of water service at the bus barn is not causing any problems for school employees stationed there.

Richardson maintains that water service to the bus barn also was disrupted by the city for about four days in September without advance warning.

He said he was notified of the September cutoff two hours after it occurred.

Russian dancer granted asylum

DALLAS (AP) — A Soviet dancer who deserted the Moscow Ballet last week during its U.S. tour has been granted political asylum in the United States, immigration officials said today.

Andrei Ustinov, 32, "has requested asylum and it has been granted. He will be staying in the United States," said Ronald Chandler, director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service's Dallas office.

Philip Semark, executive director of the Dallas Ballet Association, said Ustinov has agreed to perform with the Dallas Ballet in a three-month contract that runs through year's end.

Asked about his wife and 21-year-old daughter who are still in the Soviet Union, Ustinov said through an interpreter that the couple had wanted to get a divorce, but that such a move was difficult in the Soviet Union.

He said, however, he would try to bring his daughter to the United States.

Chandler said Soviet officials requested and were granted an interview with the dancer earlier in the week.

Ustinov said those officials tried to persuade him to rejoin the Moscow Ballet and promised him that he would not be punished after returning home. He said he turned them down.

Asked what political reasons prompted him to defect, interpreter Natalie Krassovska said. "He says he just wanted to have a change, and he always heard so much about the United States. He is an artistic person, not a political person."

Chandler said Ustinov is a Russian Orthodox and has expressed fear of religious persecution, and had been told he could not make the sign of the cross before a performance.

Ustinov requested political asylum while under protective custody of the State Department, federal authorities said Tuesday.

The 33-member Moscow Ballet was in Dallas last week for a three-day performance as part of a nationwide 21-city tour.

afternoon.

An expert from Austin may be called to assist with a process by which collapsed finger prints can be raised by injecting a fluid into the fingers, thus allowing for fingerprints to be obtained from at least two of the bodies, the sheriff said this morning.

Sheriff's officials, however, have tentatively identified the two bodies found in the fire as those of Miguel Villarreal Calixto, 24, and Norberto Gurrola Hernandez, 22, both of Mexico.

A third body, uncovered from a shallow grave in northeastern Martin County Saturday, is believed to be that of Noe Perez, 40, of Grand Prairie, Quintero said.

Perez had been reported last seen in Grand Prairie March 30 and was reportedly seen by family members in San Angelo April 3, he said.

"There is no doubt in my mind ... I have no problem with the identity of these people," Standard said of the deceased.

One of the suspects, Pete Salazar Jr., led Quintero to the third body Saturday morning, according to a complaint filed in Justice of the Peace Precinct 1 Place No. 2. The complaint was signed by Quintero and 118th District Attorney Rick Hamby.

Digging by law enforcement officials revealed the remains of a human body that had been burned.

Earlier media reports that the body was discovered by a hunter were incorrect, Standard said Tuesday.

The sheriff and deputies were accompanied to the site by members of the Big Spring Police Department and Dr. Rember, he said.

Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders also was notified and was present when the body was unearthed, Standard said.

The man's death allegedly occurred in a Big Spring motel room and the body was taken to Martin County where it was burned and buried, the sheriff said.

The Big Spring Police department has relinquished authority of the case to the sheriff's office, which will investigate the alleged murder believed to have occurred in Big Spring because of its possible relationship to the two fire deaths near Luther, Standard said.

The sheriff said he thought the department would "clinch information on the Martin County death today and then work on the fire deaths."

"We still have a long way to go," said Deputy Jack Howard.

The deputies declined comment on whether they suspect others were involved in the fire deaths or if they suspected any other bodies to be found.

The arrests were not related to a nationwide drug raid, referred to as the Jamaican drug raid, in which more than 100 people were arrested Tuesday — including 55 in Dallas — on drug charges.

Bankers say show must go on

Dallas Times Herald Bureau
DALLAS — To say that the normally serendipitous atmosphere of the American Bankers Association convention had taken on an air of gloom Tuesday was to say, well, that the biggest stock market nose dive in American history was a correction.

Not that the bankers didn't try to keep a stiff upper lip.
 "The solution for panic is patience," Charles W. Riedd, an executive from Anderson Banking Co. of Anderson, Ind., said calmly as he boarded a tourbus at the Dallas Convention Center. "Sure I was ruffled, but what can you do?" Worry, apparently.

All across the convention floor, asking about the Dow was as commonplace as asking for the time of day. And sessions touching on economic forecasting — normally hot topics under any circumstances — had crowds clogging the hallway and clustered around remote speakers.

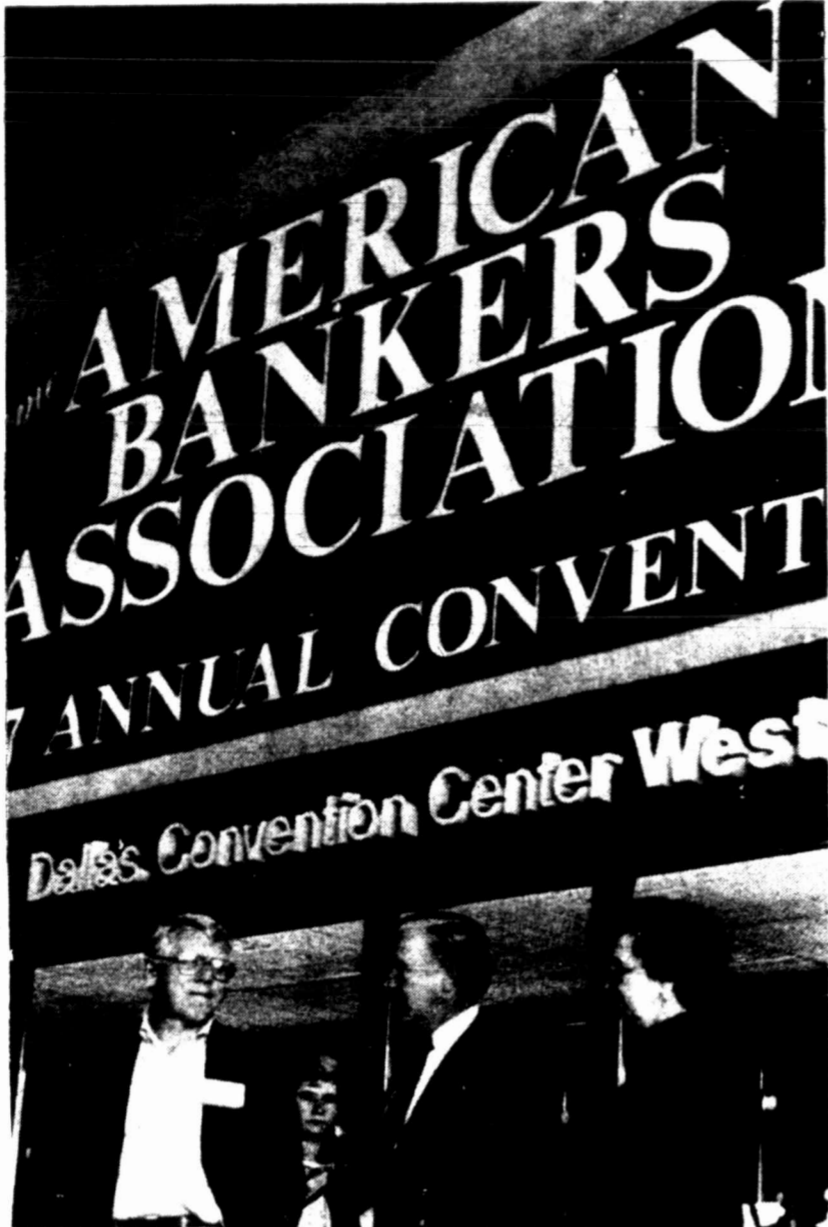

The crash had the nation's financial officers fuming over cursed computer-generated sell frenzies, wondering if the government was doing its job, and shrugging. Lots of shrugging.

"The mood is somber," allowed Bill Gibson, formerly senior vice president and chief economist at Dallas-based RepublicBank Corp. before its acquisition of InterFirst and emergence as First Republic Bank Corp. and now executive vice president for Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago, after he and two other panelists finished a session titled simply, "Economic Outlook."

Many conventioners said they took delight in seeing the Dow go up 102 following Monday's record plummet of 508 points. Nobody mentioned the other markets, which still drifted downward.

Roger Watson, an FDIC researcher, said the stock crash "doesn't make that much difference to banks" because the money from stock buying and selling crosses their thresholds somewhere.

However, he said, certain institutions whose trust departments were heavily invested in stocks, and others that wanted to raise capital through their own bank stock, Black Monday hurt.

Riedd, of Andersons Banking Co., said while the economy might not be utterly contorted by Monday's crash, it should still engender some soul-searching within the system.

Dallas police arrest 55

Dallas Times Herald Bureau
DALLAS — Federal authorities and police in 15 cities have arrested 140 of more than 240 people being sought on drugs- and weapons-trafficking charges in connection with a nationwide crackdown on violent Jamaican-run cocaine networks, authorities said Tuesday.

In Dallas, where the arrest total climbed Tuesday to 55, Police Chief Billy Prince said he hoped the arrests would help stem the city's spiraling crime rate. Nationwide, 85 arrests were made Tuesday in 14 other cities during raids that began Monday, said Richard Garner, special agent in charge of the Dallas office of the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Agents across the country were seeking about 240 Jamaicans suspected of drug and weapons trafficking, he said.

The groups, 27 of which were identified in Dallas during an 11-month undercover investigation, deal marijuana, powdered cocaine and crack — cocaine purified for smoking, authorities said. The groups are responsible for 44 slayings in Dallas and 600 killings nationwide since 1984, officials said.

Perot backs amendment

Dallas Times Herald Bureau
AUSTIN — With public opinion running against him, Dallas computer magnate H. Ross Perot has launched a million-dollar campaign to persuade Texas voters to support the appointed State Board of Education.

Perot, who headed a blue-ribbon committee that proposed sweeping education changes in 1984 and masterminded the grass-roots campaign that helped persuade lawmakers to adopt the nation's most comprehensive package of school reforms, again is using his personal fortune to promote a public issue.

Through direct mail, radio ads and television commercials that feature San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros and former Houston Congresswoman Barbara Jordan, Perot is urging voters to back the Nov. 3 proposition he says is critical to continued improvements in Texas public schools.

"We want to make sure everybody understands the importance of this and the merits of it," Perot said Tuesday. "That's what this campaign is all about."

Senator claims prejudice

Dallas Times Herald Bureau
AUSTIN — A powerful black leader threatened Tuesday to withdraw her support in an unprecedented $2 billion bond election, saying that favoritism in the awarding of lucrative state bond business has excluded minorities.

Sen. Eddie Bernice Johnson, D-Dallas, told the Bond Review Board that the state agency hiring legal help for the bulk of the bond sale, in anticipation of voter approval, had all but ignored a low bid from a black company and decided to retain its current lawyer.

"My question is whether the good-old-boy system should continue its routine course as a high-speed rail train against fairness," Johnson said. "I'm told that this is an emergency and we must move rapidly. But emergencies can be brought to a screeching halt when the remedy is attempted in a very unfair way."

The five bond propositions on next month's ballot include $500 million for court-ordered improvements to prison, mental health and youth facilities; $500 million to lure the federal superconductor supercollider project to Texas; $125 million to spur private business development; $400 million for water projects; and $400 million for local public works projects.

Johnson said the Public Finance Authority, which conducts bond sales for state agencies that lack the expertise to do so, had determined its selection of bond counsel when it recently invited a slate of lawyers to bid on the job.

Concert backs betting bill

Dallas Times Herald Bureau
DALLAS — Thousands of country music fans and racing advocates gathered inside Reunion Arena on Tuesday to spend an evening with music stars Willie Nelson and George Strait in a concert designed to raise money and support for a statewide referendum to legalize gambling on dog and horse racing in Texas.

The show was preceded by a backstage barbecue and news conference in which sponsors highlighted the economic benefits they claim wagering would provide the state.

"I'm happy that this has gotten to the point it has," said jockey Willie Shoemaker, 56, a Texas native and four-time Kentucky Derby winner. "I hope you get it through because I've never ridden a race in my home state. I'd love to have it here. It's going to mean a lot."

Day care center unregistered

MIDLAND (AP) — The day care center where Jessica McClure tumbled into an abandoned well was unregistered, but state officials say the toddler's aunt who ran the home has suffered enough and probably won't be penalized.

Eighteen-month-old Jessica was wedged in the narrow shaft for 58 hours before her rescue Friday night.

Jessica's aunt, Jamie Moore, is cooperating with state officials to make the home legal, said David Beard, a policy specialist with the Texas Department of Human Services.

Texas law contains both civil and criminal penalties for day-care violations, Beard said.

Families say firefighters need support

To the editor:

A group of volunteers that received nice, thorough coverage recently in the Herald deserves additional praise and help.

Last week we had a large grass fire, whipped by high winds, which threatened a barn and an entire pasture of knee-high dry grass.

The Howard County volunteer firemen responded with four trucks, all fully manned. The fire was quickly controlled and only 60 to 80 acres burned. This, despite a truck which wouldn't start, another with a bad water leak and other mechanical problems.

This group of volunteers deserves our praise and support by voicing concern for better equipment to match the dedication of these volunteers.

Mexican president makes good successor choice

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid has exercised his unwritten prerogative and anointed a successor: Carlos Salinas de Gortari, the lackluster but highly intelligent and pragmatic budget director.

As the duly designated nominee of the Institutional Revolutionary Party, or PRI, which has not lost a national election in 58 years, the 39-year-old Salinas is assured a six-year term as Mexico's all-powerful chief executive starting in December 1988.

For more than a year we have had hints from sources in Mexico City and Washington that Salinas was the man de la Madrid would eventually tap. In July 1986, for example, we wrote:

"The man who could become the next president of Mexico is the kind of quiet revolutionay who bears close scrutiny north of the border. Carlos Salinas de Gortari seems to aim at nothing less than weaning his country away from a pervasively socialist economy to a dynamic partnership between government and free enterprise.

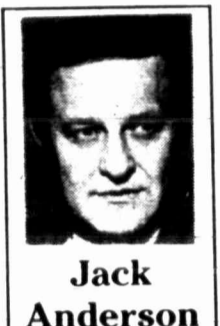

"If he succeeds in winning the presidency... it could have enormous consequences for the United States."

Salinas, an economist by training, has been the chief architect of de la Madrid's attempt to rescue the Mexican economy from its enormous foreign debt and other serious problems.

He discussed some of the most urgent concerns in an interview with Dale Van Atta in May 1986. Salinas' wit, intelligence and almost total recall of facts and figures were impressive — and become significant now with his virtual assurance of becoming president.

Showing the loyalty that is expected of a possible successor, Salinas wouldn't talk about his presidential hopes, and credited de la Madrid with programs that he himself had not only implemented but had undoubtedly originated.

Salinas spoke of the "very drastic crisis" that faced the de la Madrid administration in 1982, and the desperate need to cut down on unemployment and "regain the capacity to grow."

Jack Anderson

To engineer this rescue mission, Salinas said, he had submitted "very tight budgets" as a means of bolstering the private sector. He and de la Madrid had identified excessive government employment and investment as the chief causes of the economic crisis and inflation that gripped Mexico then.

"Let me tell you that public investment, which represent 11 percent of the gross domestic product in 1981, this year (1986) will represent 3 percent only," Salinas said. "That's a tremendous reduction in public investment. Public-sector subsidies in bread and tortillas have been reduced 70 percent in real terms in this administration."

No previous administration had dared to cut the subsidies on essential foodstuffs for fear of touching off riots, if not outright revolution. But Salinas and de la Madrid pulled it off.

"We have been upsetting many, many dogmas," Salinas said, adding: "At the same time, we decided to (sell off) public enterprises. When this administration began, we received 1,150 public-sector entities.

"And we have been selling, liquidating — that's another dogma, or old rule, that we have broken. Never in this country has a public-sector enterprise been sold in the past. This administration (now has less than) 690 out of 1,150."

Salinas also criticized "excessive protectionism," which brought higher prices for consumers, and retaliation that crippled Mexican exports. Salinas eliminated 90 percent of the import-license requirements that had been stifling trade.

Unemployment is still a terrible problem, Salinas acknowledged. "Every year, 1 million additional Mexicans enter the labor market," he said. "There are 40 countries in the world with less population than the additional Mexicans we have to provide with employment opportunities each year."

Salinas and de la Madrid have attacked the problem by encouraging the private sector to create more labor-intensive industries.

As president, Salinas can be counted on to continue the pragmatic economic measures that he was so largely responsible for in the de la Madrid administration.

AIDS & 1988 — The AIDS issue, which a year ago was barely a blip on public opinion polls, has now become the second-most important concern of voters, according to White House surveys.

The economy is still regarded as the No. 1 worry, but AIDS has replaced the issue of war and peace as No. 2. (Unemployment came in fourth.)

Republican conservatives are determined to make AIDS a major issue in the 1988 campaign, and they are convinced that they can't lose on it no matter how tough a stand they take.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., is thinking of introducing legislation to "quarantine" victims of the fatal disease, a policy adopted by some foreign countries but sure to meet great resistance here.

MINI-EDITORIAL — Hot diggity dogski! Just when the ennui-laden trend setters of American culture seemed about to run out of inspiration, they have been rescued by an unlikely gent named Vyacheslav Zaitsev, the Soviet Union's top fashion designer.

Don't cut funds fighting disease

In its zeal to the cut the deficit, the Reagan administration has unwisely proposed cutting federal grants to states to fight sexually transmitted diseases other than AIDS at a time when there has been a dramatic increase in syphilis and gonorrhea nationwide.

The 1988 Regan budget request calls for $46 million instead of the $50 million that was spent in 1987 on such grants to combat venereal diseases. This despite ominous evidence of a 35 percent increase in syphilis during the last 12 months and increases in a virulent strain of gonorrhea that is resistant to penicillin.

According to the Federal Centers for Disease Control, 25,514 cases of syphilis were reported through Sept. 26 of this year, compared with 18,886 for the corresponding period last year.

The rise in penicillin-resistant gonorrhea has health officials particularly worried. The number of these cases nationwide has doubled during each of the last two years.

It is indeed ironic that when so much public attention is directed toward dealing with the deadly AIDS epidemic that syphilis and gonorrhea are making a comeback.

Clearly, there should be an increase in federal funding to combat these debilitating diseases. State and local public-health resources already are stretched so thin that doctors are finding it difficult to keep pace with the growing demand for services.

The Reagan administration should be strengthening — not diminishing — the nation's financing commitment to stop the spread of all venereal diseases. And Congress ought to make sure that sufficient federal funds are made available to head off this menace.

Who's weak? Women's tears ultimate weapon

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

We are facing one of the most important political questions of the day:

Because Rep. Pat Schroeder, who is a woman, cried when she announced she would not seek the presidency, does this mean women are too weak to hold that office?

I would like to offer my opinion on that subject, but first I'd like to say I am not attempting to stereotype the entire female population.

My opinion is based strictly on my personal experience in dealing with women.

Although I've been married on a number of occasions (July 17, 1966; April 8, 1973; February 10, 1980), I haven't married even half of the entire female population despite the fact I often felt I had while writing out alimony checks.

If the women I have dealt with over the years can be used as examples, I would say then that when women cry, it certainly doesn't mean they are weak.

It means they are cunning and know how to get exactly what they want.

Crying has been the ultimate weapon women have used against me in an effort to get their way.

I can't handle a crying woman. There is something deep inside of me, likely put there by my mother, or a girl in my third-grade class who cried until I agreed to share my grape popsicle with her, that causes me to turn weak and lily-livered the moment a woman begins to cry in my presence.

All my ex-wives were outstanding criers. They could summon tears in a heartbeat and render me helpless.

"It's time you got dressed," would be her opening line.

"Dressed for what?" I would reply.

"We're going to dinner at mother's."

"I'm not going to your mother's for dinner. She always serves that green soup that looks like pond scum and asks me how much life insurance I have."

"You promised you would go."

"I promised I'd go if hell froze over."

Breaking into tears now, "You don't love me."

Beginning to weaken now, "Of course I love you. I just don't like green soup."

Sobbing now, "How could you be so cruel to my mother?"

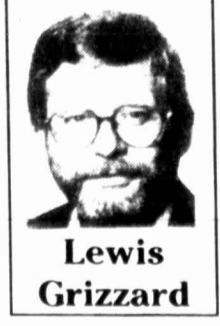

Defeated, I give in. "OK, I'll go to your mother's but I'm going to hide in the bathroom during the soup course."

The tears dry up immediately and the next thing I know, I've got pond scum soup in my mouth discussing with my mother-in-law how much insurance I would get if one of my arms got cut off.

If any of my ex-wives became president, she could get Jane Fonda confirmed for the Supreme Court with a bit of timely bawling.

But don't worry. None of my ex-wives will ever occupy the Oval Office. Two are busy with careers far outside of politics and the other is a liberal Democrat who cried when I refused to vote for George McGovern.

(Actually I finally did tell her I would vote for McGovern if she stopped crying. I lied. The secret ballot is an essential foundation of democracy.)

Okie's stock market viewpoint is no bull

By BILL FOSTER
Staff Writer

Monday's stock market debacle wasn't real big news — from a poor man's perspective.

To those of us whose financial investment realm is limited to raking together enough cash to make next month's car payment, the world of Wall Street is too confusing to be interesting.

Born an Okie farm boy, my personal knowledge of stock markets is limited to the Midwest version — a Saturday afternoon cattle auction.

There wasn't any horse trading going on at those auctions, just good solid beef. The buyers were more tame, too. They kept their seats and weren't shoving a fistful of papers in someone's face or yelling in a telephone at the top of the lungs.

The media have been inundated with news about the market slump. There have been detailed reports filled with facts, figures and speculation about the decline's impact on the economy — but the news I've enjoyed reading most is the reaction from the common folks.

The Associated Press carried some quotes of people worth mentioning.

"If I bought a turkey farm, they'd outlaw Thanksgiving," chuckled Jim Ward, a government worker who, like other small investors, said he wasn't hurt financially Monday because he had switched from the stock market for safer ventures.

"Maybe they'll all be as poor as the rest of us," Ward said of big New York-based traders, investors and brokers.

Another excerpt from the same Associated Press story said that just one month ago, Mobil Oil Co. employee Tim Griffin listened to a stock broker's elaborate sales presentation, complete with charts showing the Dow's climb.

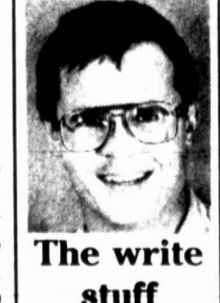

"It was going up, up, up, and they were trying to persuade me that it would keep going up. It looked to me like it had gone beyond where it was supposed to drop," said Griffin, who decided not to invest.

"It's kind of funny that I thought that, and all of a sudden here it comes," he said proudly.

On the serious side, the stock market tumble might be exactly the financial awakening this country needs.

It has certainly sent politicians scrambling to find ways to reduce the federal deficit. President Reagan has even agreed to sit down with Congress and talk about tax increases as a possible means of reducing the deficit.

That's much bigger news to us poor folks than the markets dropping a few points.

Bird hits charter plane

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — A bird smashed into the windshield of a charter plane about to land, and at least two people were injured by broken glass, officials said.

The pilot, whose name was not released, suffered numerous cuts to the face and upper body, said Rob Hancik, manager of Springfield Regional Airport.

Hancik said the co-pilot of the Pro Flight Air plane suffered minor cuts to his face but landed the twin-engine plane Tuesday without further problems.

The pilot and co-pilot were taken to a hospital. Their conditions were not immediately available.

States close forests

Loggers and sportsmen have been barred from more than 19 million acres of federal, state and private land in drought-stricken Washington and Oregon in an extraordinary bid to prevent more fires in the tinder-dry forest.

More than 1,000 firefighters battled blazes that have blackened more than 94,000 acres in Oregon, while fire crews in Washington today hoped to contain a 500-acre blaze believed started accidentally by a hunter on private timberland.

Circus performer falls

PHILADELPHIA — A circus performer was in serious condition this morning after falling 50 feet from a high wire during a performance, authorities said.

The accident occurred Tuesday night under a big-top tent in front of the Philadelphia Art Museum where the Big Apple Circus was performing.

Phil Beder, 35, of New York City, lost his balance and tumbled to the ground, police Officer Frank Carpino said.

Beder was listed in serious condition at the Regional Spinal Cord Injury Center of the Delaware Valley at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital.

First Lady appears

WASHINGTON — Nancy Reagan, reporting she feels fine following breast cancer surgery, waved and smiled from a hospital window on Tuesday and predicted she'd be home soon.

Joined by a grinning President Reagan, the first lady came to a third-floor window at Bethesda Naval Medical Center attired in a ruffled pale pink robe. She waved to reporters and photographers gathered below, telling them she felt "fine."

Earlier, aides had predicted the first lady would leave the hospital by week's end.

Jet crash

Witness: Pilot waited to last minute

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An Air Force pilot said he tried to guide his failing jet fighter towards an empty field and a witness said he bailed out just before the plane crashed into a crowded hotel, killing nine people in a fiery explosion.

"The (ejection) seat popped up and the plane hit, just like that," said Jim Brywczyński of Cleveland, who saw Tuesday morning's crash near Indianapolis International Airport. "I think from what we saw he probably stayed in it as long as he possibly could."

The A-7D Corsair jet, after its lone engine failed, scraped the top of a bank building, skipped across a road and plowed nose-first into the Ramada Inn Airport hotel, hitting just above the lobby entrance and exploding.

"We were sitting in the lobby just a few minutes before," said Dr. Elie Ackawi, 39, of Montreal, who saw the plane approaching as he sat in the hotel restaurant and escaped through a back door.

A fireball engulfed the front of the hotel as fuel exploded in the aircraft and parked cars. "It was like a napalm bomb," said a witness, John Mentzer. "The heat, the flames. It collapsed the whole front of the building."

The pilot, Maj. Bruce L. Teagarden, was to be questioned today, said Brig. Gen. Thomas Hall of Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nev., where the plane was heading from Pittsburgh.

Fire Capt. Gary Campbell said the charred bodies of the dead were found in the lobby and an adjacent first-floor meeting room at the seven-story inn, one mile east of the Indianapolis International Airport.

Seven people were injured, not including the pilot, Campbell said.

Four of those killed were identified Tuesday night as Ramada Inn employees Beth L. Goldberg, 30, Brenda J. Henry, 26, and Emma J. Brownlee, 37, all of Indianapolis, and Allen Mantor, 18, of Amo.

Efforts to identify the bodies of two men and three women continued. Authorities originally said Tuesday that 14 people died in the crash, but later revised that figure.

Teagarden, 35, of Las Vegas, was not hurt seriously after ejecting from the aircraft less than 800 feet above ground and parachuting into the parking lot of Ace Supply Co. Inc., authorities said. "His first call was to his wife," said Linda K. Schwartzkopf, a clerk at the supply company. He then called a superior officer. He told Schwartzkopf he had wanted to guide the plane "into the field behind us and that he wanted to miss the Ramada but he just could not control the plane," she said.

Firefighters work on top of the Ramada Inn entrance in Indianapolis Tuesday where an Air Force A7 attack fighters plane crashed killing nine people. The pilot of the plane bailed out safely before the fighter bounced off a bank building and into the hotel. The wing of the aircraft is at the firefighters' feet.

Iraq claims attack

MANAMA, Bahrain — A loud explosion was heard in the Persian Gulf this morning near a Kuwaiti port and sources said it may have occurred at an electric plant. Hours earlier, Iraq said its jet fighters attacked a ship off Iran's coast.

Shipping and business sources said there were reports of widespread power failures in the area of a coastal Kuwaiti oil-fired electric plant where the blast was believed to have occurred.

Meanwhile, the latest convoy of U.S.-flagged Kuwaiti tankers resumed its voyage out of the gulf after an overnight stop north of Bahrain, gulf-based shipping sources said.

Rebels take American

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Contra rebels kidnaped an American member of the Witness for Peace group who was investigating reports that they had attacked civilians, a spokesman for the organization said Tuesday.

Paul Alan Fisher, 41, was abducted Saturday near La Libertad in Chontales province, 103 miles southeast of the capital, said Ed Griffin Nolan, the group's local director. Fisher is from Mill Valley, Calif., and his mother Celia, a widow, lives in Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

Police raid Sikh shrine

AMRITSAR, India — Police raided the complex around the Sikhs' holiest shrine today and arrested 250 people to block a scheduled rally by militant Sikh separatists.

Meanwhile, in New Delhi, a police alert was declared after suspected Sikh extremists shot and killed 11 civilians in overnight attacks in the capital.

Police and troops entered the complex surrounding the Golden Temple in Amritsar early this morning and searched guest houses and offices, a police spokesman said. Police and troops did not enter the temple itself, he said.

Shultz goes to Moscow

HELSINKI, Finland — Secretary of State George P. Shultz, heading for a fog-bound Moscow on a special train, said today he was confident of making progress on arms control in talks with Soviet officials, but did not guarantee he could set a date for the next superpower summit meeting.

Shultz, agreeing with the Soviet position, said summits should "produce substantive results." But he said he and his team of experts were bound for Moscow in "a very serious frame of mind."

American wins economic prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — American Robert M. Solow today won the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences for creating a model that shows how different factors affect economic growth.

Solow, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was cited for publishing a mathematical formula in 1956 "describing how increased capital stock generates greater per capita production."

The 63-year-old Solow, who has been a member of the U.S. President's Council of Economic Advisers, was the 15th American to win the prize since it was created by the Bank of Sweden in 1968.

Contacted this morning, Solow said he didn't think Monday's stock market fall, which saw the Dow-Jones average drop more than 500 points, signaled a serious economic problem.

"This is a country that's kind of been built on its own success, on the fact that you can always look ahead to a brighter future," he said. "And the rate at which that happens will slow down for a while."

Solow was critical of America's budget deficit and the Reagan administration's opposition to a tax increase.

ROBERT M. SOLOW

"We're going to be a number of years digging ourselves out of a hole that we dug for ourselves over the past six or seven years," he said.

Last year, James M. Buchanan of George Mason University in Fairfax, Va., received the prize for basic work on the theory of decision-making.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences, which awarded the prize, said Solow "created a theoretical framework which can be used in discussing the factors which lie behind economic growth in both quantitative and theoretical terms."

It said Solow's framework could be used to measure the contributions of various production factors to growth.

According to the formula Solow devised, the academy said, national economies eventually reach a stage of development after which growth "will be exclusively determined by technological progress."

Nobel committee president Assar Lindbeck told reporters Solow's work convinced industrialized countries to devote more resources to universities and to scientific research, which spearhead such progress.

The World Bank and many countries use his theories to determine national growth.

The formula takes into account the injection of capital from savings and the supply of labor, the academy's statement said.

Man's abuse weighs heavily on wife who knows she's fat

DEAR ABBY I need someone to talk to. I love my husband, but he makes me feel awfully sad. I'm fat (185 pounds, 5 feet 6 inches). He is mean to me and calls me names for being fat. I've gone to weight-loss clinics and groups, and when I start to lose weight, he gets meaner. He accuses me of flirting and cheating behind his back. I would never think of doing anything like that. He never takes me out. He says he's ashamed to be seen with me. When I look bad, he's mean, but if I look good, he's meaner.

Dear Abby

It put on some decent clothes, he says, "Who are you getting dressed up for?" Our daughter is 6 years old and she is plump, too, so he's getting mean with her about her weight. I'm a grown woman, but she's just a child and doesn't understand it. I just re-read this letter. Just seeing what I have written has made me realize that my husband doesn't really love me. He doesn't even like me. I am going to file for divorce. I love him, but I'll get over it. Many years ago I loved a man who dumped me and left me brokenhearted. It was the pits, but I got over it, and I can get over this, too. Wish me luck, Abby.

FRANNIE IN SEATTLE I would discourage a woman from filing for divorce while she still "loves" her husband, regardless of whether he deserves her love. (From what you say, yours does not.) Offer him the chance to get into family counseling. If he refuses, go alone. And when you are able to put your emotions aside and make a rational decision, if you think you and your child would be better off without him, file for divorce.

DEAR ABBY: I, too, wish there had been a booklet like "What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know" when my children were growing up. My daughter married (for the first time) at 16. It was a bad mistake. My son got his girlfriend pregnant, and faced up to his responsibility and married her. They were both barely 17 at the time.

By the way, I also want to thank you for your answer to that reader who asked if it was too late to fulfill his lifelong dream to become a lawyer at 70. You said, "It's too late to fulfill your dream only if you think it is."

I am a widow, age 73, and have a burning desire to become a poet. I wrote many poems but have never had enough courage to send any of them to a publisher. Now, I think I will, thanks to you.

GREAT-GRANDMOTHER IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR GREAT-GRANDMOTHER: You already are a poet, but as yet, an unpublished one.

Continue to write, and send your poetry to the editors of the publications that contain your kind of poetry. And don't be discouraged by rejection. If you knock on enough doors, one is bound to open eventually. Good luck.

(To get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.)

Woman wins awards at convention

Robert and Cynthia Boodle, Big Spring, attended the Stanley Home Products convention in San Antonio Oct. 24 at the Hilton Palacio del Rio.

Cynthia won awards for hiring several dealers, wholesale cash in awards and retail order-outs.

Nearly 500 dealers attended and many received awards.

They come from Arkansas, Tennessee, Massachusetts, and the interior of Mexico.

Robert and Cynthia were invited to sit with Robert Burns, president, and his wife, for a banquet dinner, where Cynthia was awarded a gift for being one of seven of the highest dealers in sales.

Stanley Home Products is a division of Stanhome Inc., with direct selling groups conducting business around the world and selling high quality household cleaning products, health and personal care items, and designed giftware.

Member presents program to club

Planters Garden Club met Oct. 7 at the home of Adele Tibbs, president. Each member answered roll call by naming the most successful plant she had all summer.

Business session was conducted by Adele Tibbs.

Christmas gifts were brought to be taken to the State Hospital.

The program "Nature Did it First," was presented by Mrs. Nadine Hodnett. She stated that man may think he invented various things first — but consider this example:

The airplane was invented to fly, but birds, which inspired men to try, had always done it.

The next meeting will be Nov. 4.

Halloween treats

Recipes for party goodies and trick-or-treater's snacks

By LYNN HAYES
Staff writer

Halloween is just around the corner and that means children dressed in their favorite costumes will appear at your door looking for Halloween treats.

Recipe Exchange

The ancient Celts took Oct. 31 seriously. To them it was the eve of Samhain, start of a new year and one of their two main seasons. By the Middle Ages, Christianity had turned the observance into All Hallows Eve, the night preceding All Saints' Day, a church holy day.

In the north of England, Halloween is known as Nutcrack Night. Customs became frivolous but not entirely without meaning. It was believed Halloween was a favorable time to forecast marriage, health and fortune.

It was also believed if a person who was bobbing for apples could retrieve an apple without using his or her teeth, he or she would have a year of good luck.

Halloween today means dressing in costumes and trick-or-treating for young children, and parties for adults.

This week's Recipe Exchange features easy to make treats for your party or for those little witches, ghosts or goblins that are sure to make their way to your door this Halloween.

WITCHES BREW

Fruit punch
Ginger ale
Pineapple slices
Sliced oranges (with peel)
Maraschino cherries
Combine equal parts of your favorite flavor fruit punch and ginger ale; add fruit to taste.

GLAZED APPLES

2 cups sugar
1 to 1½ cups boiling water
½ tsp. cream of tartar
Few drops of red vegetable coloring
5 to 10 washed, uncooked apples (insert skewers or ice cream sticks)
Combine sugar, water and cream of tartar and bring to boiling point. Cover and cook without stirring for about 3 minutes. When candy thermometer reads 300 degrees, remove pan from heat and place over hot water in double boiler; add vegetable coloring. If syrup hardens it may be reheated over hot water once. Working quickly, dip skewered apples and place on a well-buttered surface.

CARAMEL APPLES

2 lbs. caramels
4 tbs. water
10 washed, uncooked apples (insert skewers or ice cream sticks)
Combine caramels and water in the top of a double boiler; heat and stir until they melt into a smooth coating. Dip skewered apples into sauce, twirling them until completely coated. Place on a well-buttered surface.

TAFFY APPLES

2 cups granulated sugar
2 cups brown sugar
1 cup vinegar
1 cup water
10 washed, uncooked apples (insert skewers or ice cream sticks)
Mix ingredients, except apples, and cook until candy thermometer registers 300 degrees. Dip skewered apples in syrup until well-coated. Place on wax paper to harden.

Set the mood for a haunting happening with Hallmark's new Halloween spider partyware. Cover the table with black and orange paper tablecovers. Add a centerpiece of balloons and candles, accessorize with "creepy cobwebs" and plush spiders.

Scholarship recipe contest offered

College students can win thousands of dollars in scholarship money by creating a healthful recipe that uses Sweet 'N Low and can be prepared without a conventional kitchen, according to a news release.

The "Sweet 'N Low Grade 'A' Recipe Contest" features a grand prize of $5,000, first prize of $2,000, and second prize of $1,000, according to the release.

University, college or culinary school employees who are members of The National Association of College & University Food Services are also eligible to win $2,000 in scholarship money for their schools to be used for education or training, according to the release.

The recipes must be suitable for preparation in a residence-hall room using only small appliances such as a toaster oven, blender, wok, compact microwave or small refrigerator, according to the release.

Recipes will be judged on the basis of healthfulness, taste, originality, ease of preparation and appearance, according to the release.

Posters with entry forms and complete rules are being sent to food service directors at more than 600 colleges that are members of The National Association of College & University Food Services, according to the release.

Entry forms are also available by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope by Dec. 15 to Sweet 'N Low Entry Form, P.O. Box 1901, New York, N.Y. 10116.

Entries must be postmarked by Dec. 31 and received by Jan. 10.

Recipes

 1/2-inch thick. In shallow dish, whisk together eggs, egg whites, granulated sugar, salt, orange zest and vanilla.

Stir in fresh orange juice. Dip bread slices into juice mixture, turning them once or twice, until they are thoroughly soaked. Transfer slices to large plate or baking sheet as you work. After slices are soaked, drizzle with remaining liquid. Heat large well-greased griddle or skillet over medium heat. Cook slices, turning once to lightly brown each side.

Transfer to clean baking sheet. Bake until cooked through, about 10 minutes. While the toast is baking, make Orange Syrup. To serve, sprinkle toasted pecans over the French toast. Pass the syrup separately. Makes 8 servings.

Orange syrup

1 cup water
 1 cup light brown sugar
 6 oz. frozen orange juice concentrate

Pour water into a small saucepan and stir in the brown sugar; bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium-low and simmer to dissolve sugar, about 1 minute. Add orange juice concentrate and cook, stirring, until hot, about 1 minute more. Pour syrup into pitcher.

NOISY NIBBLES

1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1/4 cup chunky peanut butter
 2 cups peanuts
 2 cups bite-size shredded corn squares
 2 cups bite-size shredded wheat squares
 1 cup round toasted oat cereal
 1 cup small twisted pretzels

In large microwave-safe mixing bowl, micro-cook butter and peanut butter on HIGH about 1 1/2 minutes or until butter is melted and peanut butter is soft; mix well. Add remaining ingredients, tossing to coat. Cook, uncovered, 6 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes. Spread mix in a large shallow pan; cool. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 7 1/2 cups.

CHOCOLATE PECAN SQUARES

4 (1 oz.) squares semi-sweet chocolate
 1 (14 oz.) can sweetened condensed milk
 2 cups crushed vanilla wafers
 1 cup chopped pecans
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1 cup powdered sugar

Place chocolate in 2-quart casserole and microwave on HIGH 1 1/2 minutes or until melted. Add milk; stirring until thick. Stir in vanilla wafers, pecans and vanilla. Pour into greased 8-inch pan. When cooled, cut into small squares. Coat or roll in powdered sugar. Makes approximately 3 dozen.

MICROWAVE PECAN BROWNIES

1 cup sugar
 2/3 cup butter or margarine
 2 eggs
 1/2 tsp. vanilla
 1/2 cup cocoa
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 1/2 tsp. baking powder

Local readers give views on NFL strike

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Now that the NFL strike is over, let's see how local fans felt about the strike and replacement football.

In a poll conducted by the Herald advertising department, in conjunction with Diamond Shamrock, a questionnaire was sent out to local readers.

Here are a few comments among the answers sent in:

- "Let the strike last all year."
- "Very good games, the players were good."
- "The announcers belittled the players from start to finish."

• "In reasonable due time, the owners should not permit strikers to play again."

• "Most NFL players are overpaid. I would like to see some of the scabs make the regular team."

• "I think the scab players will improve, and they are more dedicated."

• "The players and Gene Upshaw don't care a bit about the fans. The fans are the ones who pay their high salaries. The players should return or be fired."

• "Why couldn't the negotiations take place and be resolved in the off-season, instead of the regular season where it disrupts the games?"

• "It's time to put a stop to overpaid athletes spending our money on booze and cocaine. The owners should keep their present rosters (replacement players) permanently."

• "I think the players are pros and should not be called scabs. They played very well and I enjoyed watching them. I hope the Dallas Cowboys replacement team keep on with their high sprits and emotion, so Tom Landry and the real Cowboys can take notes."

• "The announcers Monday night were very unprofessional. In fact, they were not in the game at all. The Dallas announcers were okay."

• "The NFL owners should give the regular players an ultimatum - if not back by a given date - they're fired."

• "Coverage of Monday night football was very bad. Did not talk or show the game. Al Michaels was not fair. It was unjust for the players."

• "I hope the NFL players end up like the air traffic controllers. I think the Monday night announcers owe the players and fans an apology for their so-called announcing."

• "The announcers were okay, but some commentators on NFL Today and such shows were biased for the union."

• "I feel the players have an obligation to fulfill their contracts for signing them."

• "If the players don't like the way things are, let them get out and get another job, and let someone play who wants to."

• "Keep the present Cowboy team! It is refreshing to watch a team who shows emotion. The scabs are the strikers, who are a bunch of robots."

• "We love the scabs. The strikers shouldn't complain. If the regulars don't like the pay of a job, they should get another job."

• "This is America. A person crossing a picket line should never be called a scab. Striking is not always the only way. It kills freedom of thought."

• "Who makes the most in big corporations? It's certainly not the peon who does most of the work. It's upper management and owners. Football players know the pros and cons of playing professional ball before they started. If they don't like the physical and money problem, they should change professions."

• "The strikers are the ones who should be fired. The fans are the ones who pay their high salaries. The owners should keep their present rosters (replacement players) permanently."

A sliding St. Louis Cardinals Vince Coleman dives safely into third base in the seventh inning of action in St. Louis Tuesday as Minnesota Twins third baseman Gary Gaetti reaches with the ball in an attempt to tag the runner. National League umpire Terry Tata called Coleman safe.

Cardinals win at home

ST. LOUIS (AP) — As the World Series moved to a National League venue, DH took on new meaning. To the St. Louis Cardinals, it meant "Do Hit." To the Minnesota Twins, it meant don't.

"Today told us we were capable of beating these guys," Cardinals center fielder Willie McGee said. "We already knew they were capable of beating us."

Facing a must-win situation, John Tudor and Todd Worrell combined to halt a dominating Minnesota offense, and Vince Coleman drove in two runs with a double as the Cardinals defeated the Twins 3-1 Tuesday night in Game 3 of the World Series.

The victory snapped a five-game losing streak by St. Louis in the World Series. The Cardinals lost the final three games to Kansas City in 1985.

The Twins had won the first two games in their home park, the Metrodome, 10-1 and 8-4, but the Cardinals returned home for Game 3 to the friendly, unconfining expanses of Busch Stadium, where homers turn into fly balls.

Minnesota had homered 12 times and at least once in each of its first seven postseason games this year until traveling to Busch Stadium, which literally provided a cold reception for the Twins.

On a night that began at 49 degrees and progressively cooled off, Tudor held the Twins to just one run on four hits through the first seven innings. Worrell allowed one hit the rest of the way. That was five hits in all for the Twins, who had 21 hits in the first two games of the Series and had scored five or more runs in seven straight postseason games — an historical first.

The Twins had won four in a row, including the final two games of the American League playoffs, by a total score of 32-13.

With the World Series in St. Louis, the Twins played Game 3 without the designated hitter.

which they had used all year long. The no-DH rule probably cost the Twins at least one run, maybe two, and it forced Twins Manager Tom Kelly to make a decision — maybe a wrong one. Kelly took his starting pitcher, rookie Les Straker, out of a game when he was pitching a shutout.

Straker led 1-0, and there were two out and none on in the seventh inning when his spot in the batting order came up. Kelly chose to go with pinch-hitter Gene Larkin, who grounded out in a useless at-bat.

What came next was not so beautiful, from a Twins standpoint.

Straker, 8-10 for the Twins this year after 10 seasons in the minors, had given up just four hits and walked two. Juan Berenguer came on to pitch the seventh and gave up three St. Louis runs before he was lifted.

Jose Quendo and Tony Pena started the Cards.

Fuzzy outshoots them all

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Fuzzy Zoeller has a bit of a jump on the rest of the field in the Tucson Open Golf Tournament. A $90,000 jump.

That's the amount he picked up Tuesday in the season finals of the Merrill Lynch Shootout, a $250,000 affair that attracted 10 of golf's leading players.

The shootout has a nine-hole format, with 10 men starting out and one man being eliminated on each hole. If there is no clear loser on a hole, a chip-off is held, with the man the greatest distance from the cup being eliminated.

"I think I've found my game — nine holes," Zoeller said.

But he had to survive two chipoffs and a one-putt bogey before he ran in a 25-foot birdie putt on the final hole to eliminate Masters champion Larry Mize.

The Shootout will be televised nationally by ABC on Nov. 8.

Zoeller was involved in a three-way chip-off on the fifth hole which eliminated Ben Crenshaw, and again on the eighth after Zoeller, Mize and Payne Stewart all made birdie 4. Stewart was eliminated.

But Zoeller's biggest break came on the treacherous little par-3 third, where he and two others missed the green in a lateral hazard, took a penalty drop and one-putted for bogey 4. That, however, was good enough to advance when Tom Watson four-putted from about 60 feet. His first putt failed to make it over the ridge to the upper level of the green, and he had a 40-foot second putt, which he left 10 feet short. Then Watson missed that one.

Lanny Wadkins made double bogey and was eliminated on the first hole at the Ventana Golf and Racquet Club.

"Maybe Fuzzy is the winner, but there are no winners in something like this," Azinger said. Mize collected $40,000 for second with prizes ranging down to $10,000 for Wadkins.

Eldorado Eagles quarterback Bradley Bass (12) gets ready to let loose with a pass as Stanton Buffaloes defenders Reggie Franklin (72) and George Reyna (70) put on a heavy pass rush. The action occurred in 6-AA play last week.

Oilers getting close to making decision

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers may announce as early as today that they are staying in Houston and not moving to Jacksonville, Fla., a broadcast report said.

The Oilers have been wooed by Jacksonville city officials who offered the team $125.8 million package to make the Gator Bowl their home.

But KTRK-TV reported Tuesday night that Oilers Owner Bud Adams may announce as early as today or as late as Monday that the team will stay in Houston.

Harris County Judge Jon Lindsay told KHOU-TV that the Oilers and the Houston Sports Association, who manage the Astrodome, had come to an agreement on lower rent at the Astrodome, a share of advertising revenues and concessions revenues and increased parking spaces.

"Things are looking very promising," Lindsay said. "I'm very optimistic."

KPRC-TV also said the Oilers and the HSA had reached a new lease agreement. The current lease expires at the end of this season.

Oilers General Manager Ladd Herzog and HSA President Bob Hartner met Tuesday afternoon with Lindsay sitting in on the meeting. From his vantage point, Lindsay said all the major differences had been put to rest.

Herzog would not comment on the meeting. He met with Adams Tuesday evening at the Oilers offices.

Hartner has an unlisted telephone number and could not be reached for comment by The Associated Press.

Adams originally said he would announce his decision Oct. 15.

Talks between Oilers officials and HSA resumed Tuesday after almost a monthlong impasse. The two groups broke off talks last month after a busy five-day period in which the Oilers rejected four HSA proposals and the HSA turned down one offer from the Oilers.

Adams and his family were wooed and dined by Jacksonville civic and business leaders last week during a 26-hour visit of the North Florida city.

Jacksonville Mayor Tommy Hazouri said last week he was optimistic about the Oilers moving to his city.

Jacksonville officials had said they need to know by Nov. 1 whether Adams plans to move his team so 56 additional skyboxes can be built at the Gator Bowl by next fall.

The Jacksonville package would guarantee the Oilers the equivalent of selling out the Gator Bowl's 80,000 seats every game for 10 years.

The Astrodome is currently undergoing a $7 million facelift to install new artificial playing surfaces for football and baseball.

The new turfs are part of a projected $60 million Astrodome expansion and improvement plan

Lobettes drop Lady Steers

MONAHANS — The Big Spring Lady Steers are still in search of a District 2-4A volleyball win. Tuesday night the Monahans Lobettes made the Lady Steers continue their elusive search, defeating Big Spring 15-13, 15-12.

The loss was Big Spring's 13th league setback without a win. It drops their overall record to 4-18. The Lady Steers have district games remaining with Lamesa, Sweetwater and Andrews. They play Lamesa Saturday in Lamesa, and then end the season at home against Sweetwater and Andrews.

Lady Steers coach Elaine Stone said her team was at a disadvantage because some of the players were playing out of position. Starting hitter Melissa Martinez was ill and did not make the trip. Therefore some changes had to be made.

"The girls played rattled because some of them were playing out of position with Melissa gone," said Stone. "We're still hoping to get that district win though."

Tracy Schaffner was Big Spring's leading server in the first game, scoring five points. Lisa Alvarez served eight points in the second game.

Cary Brooks was Big Spring's top spiker, downing five kills in the first game, and six kills in the second game.

In sub varsity action, the Lady Steers trashed won in two straight games, and the junior varsity lost.

Honor Roll

Sands running back, Coahoma linebacker top area players

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

A linebacker who almost led his team to victory and a running back who did lead his team to victory are the week's top players in week seven of Crossroads Country football action.

Although he and his Coahoma teammates went into last Friday's game against Sonora as heavy underdogs, linebacker Anthony Hernandez and the Bulldogs barely came up short, losing 8-7.

But Hernandez was all over the field. The 5-10, 165-pound senior made a career-high 21 tackles, drawing the marvel of his coach Steve Park. "I'll tell you what, he had their fullback talking to his linemen," said Park.

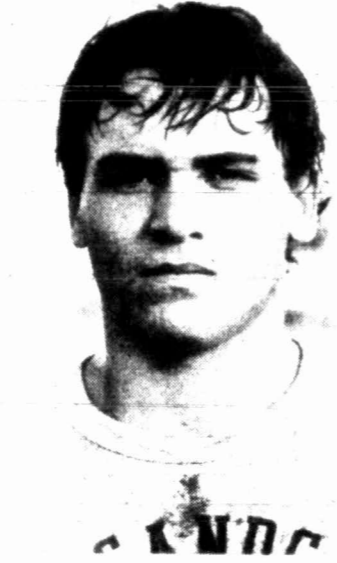

For his efforts, Hernandez is named Defensive Player of the Week.

Sands running back Jay Fryar has been a force in six-man play for the past three seasons. This year he is leading the Mustangs to a possible playoff berth.

Last Friday the Mustangs were tested by a tough Klondike squad and Fryar and Co. handled the challenge well in Sands' 55-22 win.

Fryar, a 6-2, 185-pound senior, was the catalyst in the victory, scoring four touchdowns while rushing for 216 yards in 18 carries. He also found time to complete four of six passes for 110 yards.

For his efforts, he receives Offensive Player of the Week honors for the second time this season. Fryar just nosed out Colorado City's Beau Rees. The C-City junior scored three TD's while rushing for 220 yards in 34 carries as he lead the Wolves to a 27-7 upset win over Merkel.

Rees got ample help from sophomore running back Pat Tillis, who rushed for 85 yards in 14 carries.

Another player bidding for offensive player of the week honors was Coahoma senior running back Matt Rowell. Rowell rushed for 184 yards in 27 carries. He also caught a 19-yard scoring pass. Other running backs who had good outings were Garden City's Mike Kenyon, who rushed for 114 yards in 23 carries in a loss to Bronte, and Borden County running backs Patrick Herridge and Chris Kilmer. Herridge rushed for 97 yards in 18 tries, and Kilmer added 82 yards in 12 attempts.

The Coyotes snapped a five-game losing streak with a win over Grady.

Other running backs who turned in strong performances were Forsan's John Roman and Stanton's

Robert Jones. Playing with an injured shoulder, Roman rushed for 83 yards in 22 carries in a loss to Reagan County.

In one half of play, Jones rushed for 52 yards in six carries and scored on runs of 24 and 15 yards in a loss to Rankin. He left the game after suffering a concussion late in the first half and did not return.

In the passing department, Garden City's Codie Scott and Stanton's Skip Hopkins performed well.

Scott blitzed the Bronte defense, completing 10 of 22 attempts for 166 yards. He connected with his twin brother Jodie five times for 113 yards.

Against Rankin, Hopkins completed 15 of 35 attempts for 193 yards. He also had two TD passes dropped. Val Flores led Hopkins' receivers by snagging five passes for 67 yards.

Rounding out the receivers was Klondike's Corbett Foster, who caught three passes for 97 yards, including TD catches of 50 and 25 yards.

Against Klondike, the Sands' secondary of cornerbacks Sam Rodriguez and Albert Franco, and safety Damien Zarate, make the honor roll. The trio held a dangerous Klondike passing attack, which had been averaging 200 yards per game, to nine completions for 68 yards.

Coahoma safety Rowell also had a good game. The versatile senior intercepted two passes and made 13 tackles.

Colorado City free safety Mark Russell also had a big game against Merkel. Russell made 12 tackles and intercepted a pass in the Colorado City end zone as Merkel was driving for the tying score in the third quarter.

Garden City's Codie Scott also played well on the other side of the ball. The quarterback-strong safety intercepted one pass and made 16 tackles.

Two area linemen also turned in fine performances. Forsan's Mike Averette, playing with an injured knee, made 10 tackles and sacked the quarterback twice against Reagan County.

Klondike end Jason Sutton made 12 tackles against Sands.

Linebackers stealing the spotlight were: Stanton's Hector Ramirez and Kevin Barnes, and Borden County's Will Phinizy.

Ramirez' 14 tackles was followed by Barnes' 12 stops.

Phinizy was Borden County's leading tackler in the Coyotes win over Grady with 14 stops.

Replacements enjoyed action while it lasted

By The Associated Press

For hundreds of replacement players, the end of their NFL careers coincided with the end of the three-week strike of regulars.

"We expected it," said safety Harvey Allen, one of 43 replacement players released Tuesday by Seattle. "I've been playing football since the eighth grade, but I think it's pretty much over. At least that's how I feel today."

"I didn't expect to stay," replacement linebacker Julio Cortes said. "I just came to have fun."

"They told us thanks. I wish there had been something more long term, but it was fun," departing tight end Mark Keel said. "When I came in, I thought I might have a chance to stay, but obviously I was wrong. At least I got a chance to play in three games for the Seahawks."

The Seahawks kept quarterback Bruce Mathison, wide receiver Jimmy Teal and seven-year Seattle veteran Eric Lane, who had been released by the team in their last cut before the season began.

The St. Louis Cardinals decided to retain nine replacement players, including quarterback Sammy Garza, while dropping 27.

As the replacement players left, following a team photo, St. Louis Coach Gene Stallings said, "I told all of them I appreciated them being here and helping us out. It (the strike) was hard on everyone."

One player, Pittsburgh backup quarterback Bobby Brister, returned to the Steelers and said his demotion from second string to third string was a result of his refusal to play during the three-week player strike.

After being listed behind starter Mark Malone and replacement quarterback Steve Bono on the Steelers' depth chart, Brister said, "I'm the third-string quarterback and we don't even have a third team in practice."

"I always thought the guy with the most talent was supposed to play, but that's not the way it is around here. Maybe they're trying to make an example out of me. I know they're making examples out of guys on a few teams."

"It was quite obvious I beat him (Bono) out in training camp and I'll beat him out again," Brister said. "It wasn't any contest."

The Buffalo Bills retained 15 players, including quarterback Brian McClure, who helped beat the Super Bowl champion New York Giants 6-3 in overtime last Sunday.

The Miami Dolphins released three replacement players — wide receivers Eddie Chavis and Dameron Riley and nose tackle Ike Readon.

The Kansas City Chiefs kept seven replacement players, including quarterbacks Doug Hudson and Matt Stevens.

There were no apparent hard feelings between the Chiefs who had remained on the picket line and the one defector, cornerback Kevin Ross, who broke ranks with the union during the fourth week of the strike.

"He's still my friend, still my teammate, still the same Kevin I've known for four years," safety Lloyd Burruss said.

Defensive lineman Stafford Mays, 29, who had been cut by Minnesota during training camp and had played seven seasons with St. Louis, was the only replacement player retained by the Vikings.

When Mays joined the returning regulars on the practice field for the first time Tuesday, he was the victim of some good-natured kidding.

"Everyone said hello ... 'Hello, Scab,'" said Mays, who had six sacks in the Vikings' last two replacement games.

As Mays headed into the Vikings' interview room, he was followed by defensive lineman Tim Newton, who quipped, "I can see it now — 'Scab makes the Vikings.'"

The Washington Redskins said quarterback Ed Rubbert and running back Lionel Vital would be among 17 replacement players retained by the club. But quarterback Tony Robinson, who replaced Rubbert in the first quarter of Monday night's game and led the Redskins over the Dallas Cowboys, was released.

"I didn't feel like this was a good place for him because of our quarterback situation," Washington Coach Joe Gibbs said of Robinson. "We're pretty solid at quarterback."

Rubbert will be placed on injured reserve with three other players, while Vital, who gained 136 yards against the Cowboys, is the NFC's leading rusher with 346 yards.

The New England Patriots waived 17 replacement players and two players who had been on the club's injured reserve list — fullback Cletis Jones of Florida State and linebacker Phil Mulcahy of the University of Rhode Island.

This football team really has problems with grades

AUSTIN (AP) — Crockett High School has been forced to cancel its remaining junior varsity football schedule after losing half of its team to the no-pass, no-play law, now in its third year.

Crockett, 6-1 overall and 5-0 in District 27-5A, lost 11 of its 22-man junior varsity squad and canceled its last three games.

Under a 1984 law, students must make a minimum grade of 70 in each class to remain eligible for extracurricular activities.

Cards

dinals' rally with consecutive singles off the hard-throwing Panamanian, who had allowed just one hit and one run in six innings' work during Minnesota's five-game American League playoff victory over Detroit.

Terry Pendleton, pinch-hitting for Tudor, sacrificed the runners ahead, and Coleman hit an 0-2 pitch down the left-field line for a double, driving in the tying and go-ahead runs. Coleman then stole third and scored on a single by Smith.

Coleman stole two bases in the game and has three stolen bases in the World Series, compared with just one in St. Louis' seven-game National League playoff victory over San Francisco. For the Cards to be successful, they have to steal bases, Coleman said, especially with their only real home run hitter, Jack Clark, sidelined by injury.

After Coleman scored, Kelly had seen enough. He pulled the right-hander Berenguer and brought in left-hander Dan Schatzeder, who retired the side on two ground balls, then pitched a scoreless eighth.

Straker cost his team a run in the third inning when he failed to bunt, and the Twins may have been able to come up with another run in the fifth, had Straker not been hitting. As it was, the only run the Twins got was in the sixth on Brunansky's RBI single after a pair of walks by Tudor.

In the third, Tim Laudner led off with a single. Steve Lombardozzi struck out, and Straker came up. Straker missed a bunt for strike one, took a swinging miss for strike two, then missed another bunt attempt for strike three, failing to advance Laudner. The next batter, Dan Gladden, singled.

Laudner doubled with one out in the fifth, went to third on a groundout and stayed there when Straker struck out weakly batting in the No. 9 spot that Laudner occupies when the Twins can use the DH.

In the sixth inning, the Twins took advantage of a brief lapse by Tudor to score their only run. With one out, Tudor walked Greg Gagne and Kirby Puckett in succession. Gary Gaetti fouled out to the catcher, Pena making the grab on the top step of the Cardinals' dugout before stumbling in.

Tudor had a 2-2 count on Brunansky when the Twins right fielder hit a soft single into right field, scoring Gagne. Smith went into the hole at shortstop to field a grounder by Kent Hrbek and made a strong throw to get the final out of the inning.

Stanton resident helps rescue Jessica

By WALT FINLEY

A Stanton war veteran of Vietnam and Green Beret with underground mining experience was one of the "heroes" who helped rescue 18-month-old Jessica McClure from an abandoned well shaft in Midland.

Ron "Tex" Houston, a native of Martin County, tunneled at the site from Thursday morning until Friday night when Jessica was pulled to safety after spending 58 hours jammed in the hole.

Houston, is coughing today as a result of inhaling rock dust, one of the hazards of chipping stone underground.

He described chipping through solid rock as creating tremendous mental pressure and physical pain.

"I hurt all over," he said. "I'm bruised and my legs are cramping. I feel just like an old, old man."

"But it was all worth it," said Houston. "When she topped the shaft with Paramedic Steven Forbes' arms wrapped around the little girl there was not a dry eye in the crowd.

"When I saw blonde haired Jessica and her big blue eyes I cried like everyone else. I'm sure I could see her grin."

Houston gained his first mining experience in the Superstition Mountains east of Phoenix near Apache Junction under the tutelage of well-known recluse and prospector Al Morrow, who died in a cave-in doing what he loved best. An aspiring novelist, Houston has written of his adventures with Morrow.

When stationed in France, Houston spent hours spelunking.

National media personnel were very demanding and when asked about the working conditions and progress of the rescue efforts "we declined comment, rather than have erroneous information reported to the public."

"We were equipped with a miner's hard hat with a lamp attached, a full-face breathing mask with an emergency five-minute supply bottle of oxygen which all was sacrificed later in the operation to speed up work process in the narrow confines of the rescue tunnel," Houston explained.

A geologist on the scene described the rock as "prehistoric concrete." "It was the hardest rock I've ever seen. Normally when you are excavating rock, underground and above ground, explosives are packed into the bore holes, drilled by pneumatic tools and the rock is blasted. In this instance every single inch of rock had to be chipped by pneumatic rock hammers."

Houston was sitting in camp on the Houston Ranch when he heard a news report of Jessica's plight and the urgent need for people with underground mining experience.

"I caught a ride to Stanton and Sheriff Dan Saunders rushed me to the scene in Midland, was introduced to Midland County Sheriff Gary Painter and went to work with many others.

"There were a lot of good people who pooled their talents and resources who worked together as a team," he added. "The word failure was not in their vocabulary."

After the climatic rescue, Houston dirty and tired was transported to the Martin County line where Sheriff Saunders picked him up and brought him to the county courthouse.

Martin County Judge Bob Deavenport greeted Ron with an offer of hospitality of the Deavenport household. "The amenities included suitable liquid refreshments, a shower, a warm bed and a pair of the judge's oversized pajamas, plus shaving gear."

"Ron was tired, and dirty, but happy," Judge Deavenport said. "I've sentenced cleaner men to jail on vagrancy charges."

Three days later, Houston still has a lot of emotion inside as a result of the miraculous rescue of tiny Jessica.

Housing exec born on reservation

Josephine Jones, executive director of the Housing Authority of Stanton, was born Josephine Calf Looking in Two Medicine Valley on the Blackfoot Reservation, Montana.

She is a registered member of the Blackfoot Indian Tribe.

The Indian name bestowed on her by her grandmother was "Apa Kee," which means Weasel Woman. Josephine grew up in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains near Glacier National Park bordering the United States and Canada.

Her Childhood days were filled with bareback horse rides through beautiful grass-covered valleys and swimming and fishing in trout filled streams. A main staple of her diet: Elk, Moose and Deer were plentiful on the Reservation.

Josephine has eight brothers who kept her entertained. Josephine's brothers are tall men all over six feet in height. Since she had no sisters, they had no one to compare with her and nicknamed her "Tiny" for her small stature in comparison to theirs. In Browning, Montana she is still called "Tiny" by friends and family.

Josephine never set foot off the Reservation until she was sent to high school in Flandreau, South Dakota. She graduated valedictorian of her class.

While attending college in Great Falls, Montana, she met and married Donnie L. Jones who was stationed at Malstrom Air Force Base.

Then her lifelong dream to live in Texas came true. Donnie and she moved to East Texas, his home, and where their first two children were born.

Employed with Civil Service, Donnie moved his family to West Texas with two added members to their family. All four children grew up in Martin County and all graduated from Stanton High School. Donnie also farmed; until his death in May 1981.

Josephine began employment at the Housing Authority of the City of Stanton in July 1967. She was selected executive director when Mrs. Floyd Smith retired February 28, 1969.

When Mrs. Jones' youngest daughter, Jackie began college, Josephine returned to college; first at Howard College in Big Spring and then Midland College, Midland. She graduated with an applied associates' degree in Business Administration.

Mrs. Jones is currently president of the Stanton Study Club and is very active in her church, St. Stephens in Midland. She lives in and Tex-190-002 with 78 units. Fifteen more units were built and ready for occupancy in August of 1980, making 123 units in management.

The Housing Authority has a modern office building with two office spaces, a meeting room for the Board of Commissioners and a small shop and storage.

In addition the Housing Authority has a large playground near the apartment complexes built on the Midland with her daughter, Jackie; son-in-law, Earl and the newest grandbaby, 4-month old Jessica Ann Phelps.

She enjoys bowling, square dancing, swimming, fishing and reading (preferably science fiction or mystery stories).

Mrs. Jones is a member of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials; the Public Housing Authorities Directors Association; Southwest NAHRO; and the Texas Housing Association.

During her tenure as executive director, Josephine has been through four modernization programs — the first at a cost of $5,000.00 and the present program at a cost of $622,830. The Housing Authority is a separate entity from the City of Stanton; operating

Campers on Mission renovating Circle Six Ranch near Stanton

Campers On Mission (COM) is a national fellowship of Christian campers whose primary purpose is to share their faith and witness with others they may meet while traveling individually or as a group.

COM is sponsored by the Special Ministries Department of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Membership is open to Christian campers of all denominations. There are no membership fees or dues, only a willingness to join with other campers in fellowship and service.

The Texas chapter of COM was established in 1977 and celebrated its 10th anniversary at a Fall Rally held at Circle Six Ranch Baptist Camp, near Stanton, which set an all time record attendance. Members of Texas COM came from all over Texas — from Harlingen to Perryton and El Paso to Texarkana.

In 1984, Texas COM started a sub-ministry of building and remodeling at churches and Baptist camps. Participation in this ministry is on a volunteer basis. COM of Texas holds two rallies during the year, one in the spring and one in the fall. These are usually followed by a two week building program.

At other times during the year a few members get together in their own areas and do volunteer work on church buildings or remodeling projects.

Thirty-eight couples stayed to work at Circle Six Ranch Baptist Camp following the Fall Rally. The work schedule has included an extensive remodeling of the serving line area in the dining room, paneling and painting 4 dorms, building porches on two dorms, and installing built-in beds in some dorms.

Working together for God's glory, COM participants enjoy a wonderful fellowship.

The evenings are filled with singing favorite hymns, devotionals, prayer time and playing games.

Anyone who likes camping, good Christian fellowship, have a desire to witness to others and are interested in becoming a member of COM, should write to Campers On Mission, Baptist General Convention of Texas, 511 N. Akard, Dallas, Texas, 75201.

ALL RALLY HELD AT CIRCLE SIX RANCH BAPTIST CAMP — Campers On Mission celebrated its 10th anniversary six miles north of Stanton. Chamber Chatter

By GERRY YARDLEY
Say, do you feel that nip in the air?? But won't cooler weather make that FCA stew taste good before the Buffs football game with the Buffs of Forsan? Looking forward to that. That happens This Coming Friday nite, October 23 — BE THERE.

We are still hearing good things about our County Fair. Some people liked the later date because the weather was cooler; some liked the short day Friday; some felt we should have not closed early Friday; some felt the August date would have been better; many said we should hold any more pep rallies outside from the Exhibit booths area — I can agree with that. Wildcat meaning to crowds sometime push and shove and can damage displays and booths contents.

Have you made your Christmas shopping list? We are receiving calls in the office wanting us to buy street and pole decorations for the Christmas season? Oh where does the time go?

Y'all keep remembering Jo Ann Peugh, one of our directors. She is at home now recovering from an automobile accident that occurred the night our Fair closed. And remember the Co-in Op Laundry and Kool Korner — Allen and Carlene Murray have hot foods for lunch, snacks, etc., in case the weather gets too cool for those great ice cream and snow cones.

We welcome Virginia James and H.D. Howard into our membership fold. If we can help please let us know and we're glad you're here!

Absentee voting starts in county

Absentee voting for the Nov. 3 election is underway in Martin County.

Residents can vote at the County Clerk's office through Oct. 30, County Clerk Virginia James said today.

Changes in the election code during the 70th Legislature allows any qualified voter to vote absentee by personal appearance.

Before the changes, voting by absentee ballot was allowed only if the voter was 65 or older, physically unable to go to the polls or if the person expected to be absent from the county on election day, James said.

Stipulations still apply for residents voting absentee by mail, however.

The Nov. 3 ballot contains 25 constitutional amendments and two statewide referendums.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, was in Big Spring Tuesday, Oct. 13, urging voters in his 17th district to vote for one of the amendments, Proposition 19.

The proposition, if approved, will authorize the issuance of $500 million in general obligation bonds to prepare for the superconducting super collider if Texas is chosen for the national project.

The bonds would pay for roads, land, utilities, buildings and other site improvements.

Referendums ask voters if they support legalization of pari-mutual betting and if the state Board of Education should be composed of members appointed from districts instead of elected members with equal representation from throughout the state of Texas.

Lenorah News

By MRS. HERMAN LANDER
Lettie Fleming had a nice day Sunday. Her son, Jack, of Midkiff, and her grandson, Alan and his wife, Melanie of Midland spent the day with her. Mr. and Mrs. Slater Johnson of Patricia also dropped in for a visit. Also, on Monday, Hazel Hamm came by and then did some shopping for Lettie.

The Grady Home Extension Club met last Thursday and discussed their plans and duties at the Martin County Fair. There were five members present for a short business meeting. Those present were Mildred Haggard, Lori Hurt, Becky Williams, Hazel Hamm and Laverne Taylor. Their next meeting will be November 12.

Becky and Alton Williams entertained guests in their home this weekend. Their visitors were Jody and Debby Lynch of Big Spring and Chuck and Lynn Patrick of San Antonio. They all attended the Martin County Fair in Stanton.

Merle and Mercedine Mitchell were in San Angelo over the weekend to meet their sons at the home of Julie Johnson. Their son Michael was in San Angelo from San Marcos where he is attending college. Jimmy Mitchell and his wife Leah and baby son Cole came from Menard. Grandpa and Grandma were just thrilled to be with their kids and especially that grandson, Cole.

Visiting with Sterling and Lora Tunnell were Albert and Viola Anderson of Flower Grove Community and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller of Stanton and Wendy Creech and son Bryan. After attending church on Sunday, Sterling and Lora went to Coahoma to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Rich and Nellie. They helped Nellie celebrate her 46th birthday.

This is a correction from last week's edition. Mr. Grover Springer was honored for his 50 YEARS as Scout Master for the Grady Boy Scout Troop, not 15! Thanks again, Grover, your interest will always be appreciated by citizens of this community.

Thursday Stanton JV's traveled to Big Lake. Big Lake recorded a victory over our Battlin Buffs with a score of 27 to 6.

The only touchdown was by Randy Nevarez, a 15 yard run. We only got one interception and that was made by Brad Holland.

The Buffs threw three interceptions and had three fumbles during the night.

They will play Thursday against Forsan there.

Stanton Masonic Lodge presents pin to Rogers

The Stanton Masonic Lodge honored R.K. Rogers, of Fort Worth, with a Special Recognition and a 50-year Service pin, on Tuesday, Oct. 13, at the Stanton Masonic Lodge Hall.

He had been a continuous member in good standing of Stanton Lodge #951 since May 1937.

Stanton White, Past Worshipful Master, escorted Brother Rogers and his wife, Vivian, to the altar for the presentation by P.M. Bristow Past District Deputy, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas.

Bristow also told the audience of the presentation of the Alter Bible, to the Lodge, by Mrs. Fannie Arnett Rogers, Rogers' Mother in 1956, the year the building was completed, in honor of her father Dick Arnett, who was a lifetime member of the Stanton Lodge.

R.K.'s grandfather Rogers was also a Master Mason. His brother, Jimmy Rogers, and his wife, Doris, of Littlefield, were also present for the special occasion. Jimmy is a member of the local lodge, also.

A delicious barbecue and salad supper was served to about 5 members, their families and guests.

Indians say it was never lost

"Mother, I'm fine."
 "What's the matter?"
 "We've just had an earthquake."
 Stacy Payne was under a bed when she called from her residence in Los Angeles to her mother, Ruby Payne, in Stanton seconds after the quake rocked sections of Los Angeles recently.
 Ruby, curator of the Martin County Historical Museum, has spent the past week in the LA area just making sure everything is "fine."
 Angie Awtrey, good with the figures, says:
 "The death penalty might not stop crime, but it sure cuts down on the repeaters."
 The experts are still arguing about who found America — Columbus or the Norsemen. And the Indians say it was never lost.
 People are perverse: Now that many of us don't have to wear denim, some of us want to wear denim, points out Stanton Herald ad-visor, Becky Lou Arana.

 Several Texas papers recently carried some recipes for making beef jerky, and "Shrimp Man," Charlie McKaskle suggests there is still one other way to make beef jerky:
 "Stick them with an electric rod," he says.
 At your own risk, of course.

 Ex-Quannah quiller Troy Bryant has submitted this bumper sticker slogan for your consideration: "When hand bombs are outlawed, only outlaws will have hand bombs."
 My wife, Velma, handed me the following poem:
 Sometime, when you're feeling important,
 Sometime, when your ego's in bloom,
 Sometime, when you take it for granted,
 You're the best qualified in the room,
 Sometime, when you feel that your going,
 Would leave an unfillable hole,
 Just follow these simple instructions,
 And see how it humbles your soul.
 Take a bucket and fill it with water,
 Put your hand in it, up to your

 Pull it out, and the hole that's remaining,
 Is a measure of how you'll be missed.

 That it looks quite the same as before.
 The moral of this quaint example is, do just the best that you can;
 Be proud of yourself, but remember,

Every car owner should keep some in trunk

A little ingenuity and manure

By TUMBLEWEED SMITH
 A couple of years ago, Thurman Yancey of Laredo and three other men went elk hunting in Wyoming. To get around in the mountains, they took four burros with them. The animals, imported from Mexico, were loaded onto a trailer and sent ahead by two men who worked on Yancey's ranch.
 Thurman had just bought a new Chrysler for his wife and wanted to see how it drove. He and his son took the new car while the other two hunters rode in another vehicle. Yancey didn't know his brand new Chrysler hadn't been fully serviced.
 The Yanceys made it to the camp site without a problem. As the other two men arrived, they hit a rock and damaged the underside of their car, causing it to lose all its oil. But they put their car problems behind them and concentrated on hunting elk.
 The first day of the hunt was fine — the weather was perfect, and Yancey's burro even calmed down after throwing off his rider a few times. Everybody got an elk except Yancey.

 The next morning the thermometer showed 31 degrees below zero. The hunters were confident the new Chrysler would get them back to Laredo when they wanted to leave. They gave no thought to checking to see if the car had antifreeze.
 Folks in Laredo don't worry too much about antifreeze — people in Wyoming do.
 Two days later the campsite was snowed in. The hunters decided they had about all the fun they could stand, so they got into the Chrysler, ready to return home.
 It wouldn't start.
 An examination under the hood revealed a cracked block — no anti-freeze. The engine had simply frozen to death in the extreme cold. The engine had freeze plugs which act as safety valves in case something like this should happen. The freeze plugs had popped out and couldn't be found.
 While they were sitting in the mountains trying to figure out what to do next, Yancey recalled that when he was younger, men would put Prince Albert tobacco in the radiator to stop leaks. In fact, Yancey had even put horse manure in the radiator on some occasions. The horses had eaten hay, so the texture of the manure wasn't too different from the tobacco.

Yancey, his son and the two hunters decided to take drastic measures to get off the frozen mountain. They drove small branches into the places on the engine where freeze plugs usually go.
 They melted snow and poured a little bit of water into the radiator. Then they filled it with burro droppings. The car started.
 Yancey carried a five-gallon can of water as a precaution. They decided to leave the car at the nearest town and have the motor replaced. After driving ten miles, they stopped and put about a gallon of water in the radiator. They drove another ten miles and stopped to check: No water needed. Same thing when they arrived in town.
 They decided to see if they could make it back to Laredo, well over a thousand miles away. They arrived home in 24 hours, with the tree branches protruding from the engine and a radiator filled with burro manure.

 Yancey took the car back to the dealer where he had bought it two weeks before. The man who owns the dealership couldn't believe the engine was running with the wooden stobs sticking out of it. He jerked the motor out and put in a new one.
 Yancey swears what happens next is the truth.
 He was driving the car home from the dealership when the new engine began making a knocking sound and finally stopped running. Seems the dealer forgot to put oil in the car.
 Yancey called the dealer, who came and towed in the vehicle. He installed another engine, this time checking the oil, anti-freeze and everything else.
 Yancey had no more problems with the car, but he has become a proponent of burro manure. He says every car owner ought to keep some in the trunk.

Says candidates deserve scrutiny

Harry Truman said it best: "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen." Thus, if Republican presidential hopeful Pat Robertson objects to close press scrutiny of his past, there's one sure way to stop it — drop out.
 The plain fact is Robertson and all the other candidates of both parties are going to be subjected to microscopic examination because they should be.
 They want to be elevated to the most important job in the world, and the people deserve to know just what sort of person they are being asked to put in that position.

 Robertson's whining about the revelation that he and his wife were legally married just 10 weeks before their first child was born, and — more important — about inaccuracies in his personal resume, just doesn't deserve much sympathy.
 He knew, or should have known, that when he put himself forward as a moral leader, a man of God, then as a great moral political leader, he was asking to be put to the test....

Cruz fan says retire his number

Even though Jose Cruz has taken the field for the last time for the Houston Astros, he will never be forgotten by this area's truly devoted baseball fans. Jose has been a fixture not only in left field but as a model Houstonian and family man.
 The man called "Cheo" holds numerous team records and was chosen the most popular player in franchise history in a poll done by The Post. He should be given appropriate recognition of his 13 years of success and popularity. We suggest that the mayor give him a key to the city and that the Astros retire his No. 25. Good luck, Jose!

Supports grain elevator insurance

Grain elevator failures are rare occurrences in Texas, but approval of Amendment No. 1 on the Nov. 3 ballot would help the state's farmers rest easier at night.
 The proposed amendment to the Texas Constitution would authorize state funds to be used as surety for a self-insurance fund to be established for the benefit of farmers who store their grain in public warehouses. The state's guarantee would be limited to $5 million.
 The grain industry has provided assurance the self-insurance fund will be readily subscribed by the grain-buying and grain-storage industry. The $5 million fund is considered adequate to protect farmers without posing a threat to the state.

 Texas farmers would benefit by obtaining grain storage at cheaper rates. Insurance coverage required by the state and federal government has become more expensive or unavailable because of losses caused by failures of grain elevators elsewhere in the nation.
 Farmers who cannot afford grain storage pose a greater risk to the state than the state guarantee of an insurance pool established by an industry that is basically sound.

Calls Jackson serious candidate

The pros don't give the Rev. Jesse Jackson much chance of becoming the 41st president of the United States, but they have been wrong before.
 Besides being the frontrunner, Jackson is the only Democrat making a second national bid. Of the Simons and Gores and Gephardts, only Jackson has overwhelming name recognition and a solid base of national support.
 Jesse Jackson is a serious, bona fide candidate and should be treated as one. He was not in 1984, when his campaign was not subjected to the critical attention given other candidates.

It should be different this time and indications are that it will be. It was reported last week, for example, that Jackson signed a personal contract to work as a spokesman for a national chain of vocational schools.
 Jackson discounted rumors that stories were imminent that would portray him as a womanizer. A Jackson backer, Mayor Gary Hatcher of Gary, Ind., warned supporters that "The winds of controversy will swirl around the head of our candidate. We must not let anyone tell us who Jesse Jackson is. We know who he is."
 But does the country?

Reagan should condemn China

Liberal Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I. and conservative Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., rarely agree on foreign policy. But this unlikely pair recently convinced the Senate to pass — unanimously — an amendment condemning China's violations of human rights in Tibet. Unfortunately, the State Department and the Reagan administration chose to take the other side.
 The Senate amendment rebukes Peking for its violent crackdown against Tibetan protesters, including the shooting of at least six unarmed demonstrators by Chinese police last month.
 It calls on Reagan to meet with the Dalai Lama, Tibet's national and religious leader, who has lived in exile for nearly three decades. It also requires the president to certify that the Chinese are making progress on human-rights issues before making any new sales of U.S. weapons.

 Americans are so enthusiastic about Peking's economic reforms, which have brought free-market practices to China's peasants, that we fail to pay as much attention as we should to other forms of liberty.
 The Chinese continue to regard human rights as an unacceptable distraction from more important subjects.
 The U.S. Senate disagrees. The White House should, too.

BE SURE YOUR CHILDREN'S VOCABULARY INCLUDES THE WORD "NO"

It's time to send your children off to school again, to prepare them for the world they must one day confront. The school will do a good job of this, but your cooperation is also needed in order to make sure that they don't learn the wrong things. As everyone knows, we are living in an era where drug abuse is rampant, and the children are being lured into this trap at a shockingly early age. Don't fail to warn them about this, as a part of their preparation for the new school year, for it can be vastly more important than their clothes or books. Moreover, you can reinforce your efforts by enrolling them in the Sunday school at your House of Worship. With all this, you can rest assured that the vocabulary your children develop in school will include the proper use of the word "NO", as the password to a happier, healthier and longer life.

LIONS SPONSORED FOOTBALL — Fourth, fifth and sixth graders compete each Saturday morning at Stanton Buffalo Stadium before proud parents, grandparents, pals and fans. The Chargers, coached by Herb Sorley, meet the Falcons at 10 a.m. Saturday for first place.

Owls rip Buffaloes' hides

It looked as though the Forsan Buffaloes fielded two different teams against Reagan County.

In the first half they were as cool as the north wind that stiffened the flags at Forsan stadium.

In the second half they came alive with a display of character that warmed the heart of head coach Jan East.

The Buffaloes battled back from a lopsided 35-0 halftime deficit and played the visiting Owls on even terms during the remainder of the game.

"We went out in the second half and shut them down ... our kids showed a lot of character by coming back against a good football team like they did," East said.

Most observers expected the Buffalo-Owl matchup to be closer than the 35-8 final score.

Both teams went into the game undefeated in District 6-2A and with one blimish on their overall season won-loss record.

However, Reagan County seemed intent on avenging last year's 13-13 tie with the Buffaloes.

The Owls struck early and hard on 23-yard and 68-yard touchdown runs by James West, making the score 14-0 at the end of the first quarter.

West added another TD on an eight-yard run with 8:13 remaining until half, and Owl kicker Roland Saldibar added the extra point to extend the Reagan County lead to 21-0.

Then Reagan County quarterback Scott Lipsey connected with split end Danny Bingham on a pair of scoring passes that looked as though they were traced atop one another on the same chalk board.

Lipsey used the stiff wind behind his back to rifle a 41-yard strike to Bingham who slipped down the far sideline behind the Buffalo defense. Bingham caught the ball over his shoulder with 6:53 remaining in the half and Saldibar added the extra point kick to make the score 28-0.

Rankin bedevils Stanton, 27-12

Buffalos battle Buffaloes

The Stanton Buffalos will combine emotion and hard hitting when they battle the Forsan Buffaloes at 8 p.m. Friday in the Stanton Stadium.

It will be for pride and bragging rights in District 6-2A for the next 12 months.

Stanton will be trying to bounce back from a 27-12 defeat slapped on by Rankin Red Devils Friday night in Rankin.

Reagan County tamed Buffaloes' hides at Forsan Stadium, 35-8, in Forsan Friday night.

The game plan was right on target for the Stanton Buffalos in their effort to go 2-0 in District 6-2A football action Friday night in Rankin, but execution at critical times failed SHS. The result was a 27-12 loss.

Trailing 14-12 late in the third quarter, Stanton senior quarterback Skip Hopkins hit receiver Randy Esparza on a fly pattern for 58 yards and a first down on the Red Devils 31-yard line.

The Buffs chipped away at the remaining yardage early in the fourth, until they had a third-and-goal at the RHS six.

On a sweep right, Hopkins pitch-back glanced off of running back Joshua Vidal. Hopkins recovered the ball, but the play lost 14 yards and the drive stalled.

The SHS defense then held on Rankins ensuing possession, and the offense drove the ball back to Rankin's 44. The Red Devils then used one of 5 interceptions to stop the drive. "We more or less couldn't get anything going here," Stanton Coach Dale Ruth said after the game. "We were ready to play, we just didn't execute. We missed some good pass receptions and that's what we had been worrying on all wee."

The Red Devils need just two plays to salt the game away after the last interception.

Rankin fullback George Abalos did the honors, busting up the middle for a 30 yard run to give RHS a 20-12 lead.

An angry Stanton team then helped the Rankin cause in the extra-point attempt. The Buffalos were penalized for roughing the kicker and another personal foul.

Leading 21-12, Rankin successfully attempted an on-sides kick from the SHS 30 after the penalties were assessed.

Five plays later, Rankin quarterback Dough Braden scored on a 2-yard sneer with 2:29 left to close the scoring at 27-12.

Braden finished the game with 21 carries for 114 yards and two touchdowns. The Red Devils are now 5-2 for the season and 1-1 in district.

Robert Jones led the attack for Rankin with touchdown runs of 24 and 15 yards in the first half. Jones finished with 53 yards on six carries. The 3-4 Buffalos are now 1-1 in District 6-2A as they prepare to host Forsan at 8 p.m. Friday.

"You can go to the playoffs with one loss," Ruth said. "I told the kids that we're going to hang in there. I felt like we learned something against Rankin."

Mary Hernandez wins Stanton Herald contest

Mary Hernandez, pretty, personable Stanton Drug Store employee, won first place in the Stanton Herald Football Contest this week. She won $25.

She missed only one game, the Syracuse upset of Penn State. She guessed the point spread of the Arkansas-Texas battle by 40 points. Texas edged Arkansas, 16-14, on the final play of the contest.

Marilyn Carr only missed one game. She picked Rice to defeat Texas Tech. Her point spread guess totaled 12. She collects $15.

Franky Barnhill missed one game, but his tie breaker totaled 45. He gains $10.

Wanda Duke missed one game. Her tie breaker estimate totaled 48.

Four other persons missed a total of one. Three people missed two and eight missed three.

Did you notice all the winners were on the right hand side of the contest this week? Mrs. Carr marked all the games on the right side.

Eighty-nine entries were received at the Herald office in the seventh week's contest.

Keeping bugs out in cold

RICHARD MINZENMAYER
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Midland, Martin & Howard Counties

As the weather turns cooler, insects seek a place that provides food and warmth for the winter. All too often, the place is your place! But with a simple application of spray to your home's foundation, you can help keep bugs out of your home all winter long.

Foundation spraying is so effective because bugs must cross the outside foundation on their way in to or out of your house. The foundation spray provides a chemical barrier that insects cannot cross.

Ants, crickets, waterbugs, and spiders are familiar intruders. Ants build nests in the soil along the foundation or in the yard. They forage in the house for food and carry it across the foundation to their nests. Crickets migrate from the lawn to the foundation and into the house during cooler weather.

Waterbugs enter homes in a variety of ways, usually, they scurry back and forth from the storm drains to the house crossing the foundation as they do. Spiders will enter and leave your home readily. But an application of foundation spray in the fall stops these bugs before they enter your home.

To apply a foundation spray, walk around the house slowly, spraying the foundation three to four inches above the ground. Spray the foundation just to the point of runoff, spraying all the way around the house. Also, be sure to spray a two to four inch band on soil along the foundation and behind concrete steps and concrete slabs abutting the foundation.

Pay particular attention to corner, door and basement window moldings, and visible cracks in the foundation. A medium coarse spray provides the most effective coverage for foundations.

The compressed air sprayer is an ideal applicator for foundation spraying. It allows precise control over the amount and direction of the spray. This means accurate application with no wasteful drenching.

Tank capacities for compression sprayers range from one to four gallons. The average house will need 4 to 6 gallons of spray to cover the foundation. Compression sprayers are portable and provide easy access to hard-to-reach areas under porches and outside stairs.

NEW POSITIONS — Steve Walton, right, and Tamala Smith, head the billing department at Cap Rock Electric. The two were recently named to new positions. Walton is the billing supervisor and Smith is the billing coordinator for the department.

Changes made in Cap Rock Electric's billing unit

Steve Walton was named billing supervisor for Cap Rock Electric late in September. Walton replaced Doris Oldaker, who has been named administrative assistant under the direction of Office Manager Nolan Simpson.

Walton, 25, has been employed by Cap Rock Electric for seven years. He has worked as assistant warehouseman, groundman and apprentice lineman. He was involved in an accident Aug. 3, when he fell from a service pole. During his recuperation period, he worked in the billing department and applied for the supervisory post when it became vacant.

Walton is a 1980 graduate of Stanton High School. His father, Raymond, is vice president of First National Bank of Stanton. His mother, Janice, is receptionist for WestTex Telephone Cooperative. He is married to the former Georgann Herzog, and they have one child, Stephanie, who is two and a half.

Named billing coordinator and assistant to Walton is Tamala Smith. Tamala is a 1978 graduate of Stanton High School. Her father, Bill Allred, has been employed by Cap Rock Electric for 28 years. He is a service lineman for the cooperative. Tamala's mother, Bonnie, is a housewife.

Tamala is married to Todd Smith, who is in the construction department of WestTex Telephone Cooperative. They have two children, Ty, 4, and Tasha, 5 months. Tamala has been a Cap Rock billing clerk for seven years.

Besides Walton and Smith, the billing department employs three billing clerks: Mary Ornelas, Denise White and Leatrice Adams. The department is responsible for issuing accurate billing to members and handling billing inquiries from members.

The Cap Rock Connection

By PEGGY LUXTON
Member Information Advisor

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative happens to be one of those places of employment where many of the occupations are dangerous or hazardous. But any occupation can be dangerous or hazardous if the employee does not follow good safety rules.

When are you most likely to have an accident on the job? Well, one likely time is when you're just learning it. Why? Because when you're unfamiliar with a job, you're unfamiliar with its hazards.

Softball League tourney set

The Stanton Noon Lions Club met for their weekly meeting in the Community Center with Paul Kosh presiding. Announcement was made of the Club's participation with the Evening Lions Club, in cleaning up the yard at the Convent Oct. 17.

The Club will sponsor a Softball League Oct. 23-24. Anyone interested in playing should contact Deral McWhirter.

So be on your guard when learning a new job or work procedure. Take all the advised safety precautions and wear the necessary protective gear. Get in the habit of doing the job safely from the start.

Some rules to remember to always stay on the safe side are:

1. Never take unsafe shortcuts to make the job easier or quicker to do. Follow job instructions to the letter for best results. Doing the job right means doing it safely.
2. When you're responsible for training someone else, emphasize the importance of doing the job safely. Place safety above even accuracy and speed. And be sure to set a good example yourself.
3. Probably the most important rule of all is: Once you learn to do the job safely, don't let down your guard. Continue to "Think Safety." Why? Because another likely time to have an accident is when you grow too confident (and thus careless) on the job.

R.C. Vest introduced a Grady Lion Myrl D. Mitchell of Lenorah, who is president of "Plains Cotton Growers" of Lubbock. He spoke about the cotton prospects and the efforts to irradiate the boll weevil in Texas.

Tarzan News

By MRS. HERMAN LANDER
Mrs. Norma Royall was honored with a Sunday dinner following church services held by Reverend Caffey at the Tarzan Baptist Church. Members and guests brought covered dishes of delicious food and there was a lot of visiting. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Harrell, Youth Directors of the Tarzan Baptist Church, held a "lock-in" at the church on Saturday night. Fifteen young people were there for the entire night, having a great time. Then on Sunday morning during church services, the kids, Gary and June served as the choir. They did a great job.

Richard and Bernie Gibson and sons, Bradley, Aaron and Gregory were visited by Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Gibson of Toyah. The boys always enjoy their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson, A.L. and Virginia, were at Grady School for Homecoming. We all know A.L. and Virginia very well by their long and constant attendance at the Wildcats' football games, far and near.

J.L. and Betty Wetsel were in Wingate, Texas over the weekend. They visited the old home place where Betty lived when she was 12 years old. They also visited Mr. Wetsel's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wetsel.

Visitors in the home of Mrs. Mary Badgett and Anna Stanfield were Elaxes Davis and children and Aleta Grandy and her daughter, all from Midland. Also, Bernell and Anita Howard, who are doing some remodeling on Mrs. Badgett's home.

Richard and Mary Fran Wagner of El Paso and Steve Powell of Seoul, Korea were guests of Charles and Paye Wagner over the weekend. Richard, Mary Fran and Steve attended the Martin County Fair, the shrimp farms in the area and did some hunting. Steve was fascinated by "Tarzan, Texas."

Would you believe he did not find or see a rattlesnake? This was a shame, since he wanted a skin badly to take back to Korea where they fetch $400 each.

Shelly Tunnell, Shelli Terrell and a friend, Brad Stegall, all students at West Texas State attended the Homecoming festivities at Grady School. They also visited Shelly's parents, Malcolm and Glynda Tunnell, and Mrs. Thomas Terrell, parents of Shelli. It's always nice to see our kids return home and be with the gang.

Junior Lander and Rocky Pylant spent the evening with Herman and Alma Lander on Wednesday. Marshall and Sonya Connel of Big Spring, attended Grady's homecoming and then visited with Sonya's parents, Ronnie and Josie Deatherage and grandparents, Herman and Alma Lander.

Borden County holds Wildcats

By TERRY DEATHERAGE
The Grady Wildcats lost a big game Friday night in 6-man action. Borden County was able to hold the Wildcat's offense in the last two minutes of the game to hold the 40-36 victory over Grady.

Both teams exchanged possession several times before the Coyotes hit it big with a Chris Kilmer 14 yard touchdown run. Randall Hollis kicked the ball for two points making the score 8-0 with 3:57 left in the first quarter.

The Wildcats didn't waste any time getting on the scoreboard. Jullian Valle took Hollis' kick and was off to the races for a 68 yard touchdown. The extra point was blocked leaving the score a 8-6 with a 3:40 left in the first quarter.

The next score came with Borden County's Kerry Fryar taking a Brian Bond pass six yards for the touchdown. The kick by Hollis was good, putting the Coyotes ahead 16-6.

Going into the second quarter, both teams battled back and forth with out being able to score. Then, with 1:07 left in the first half, and facing fourth and nine, Grady's Scott Glaze connected with Scott Terrell for a 41 yard touchdown reception. David White's kick was good, bringing the Cats within two points. The Wildcats weren't ready for the first half to end just yet. On the ensuing kick off, Grady's Tim Stone stripped the ball from a Coyote runner and made his way to the Borden County 17 yard line, before getting tackled. Glaze then found center, David White open in the end zone for the Wildcat touchdown with :51 left in the first half. White's kick was good, making the score until half, Grady — 22, Borden County — 16.

With the game making its way into the third quarter, Borden County was the first to score with Patrick Herredge running 4 yards for a Coyote touchdown. The kick by Hollis was again good, making the score 24-22 and leaving 5:18 on the clock.

Grady was scoreless until 2:45 was left in the third quarter. Grady's Tim Stone pulled a Coyote pass out of the air and ran it back 27 yards for a Wildcat touchdown. White's kick was good, putting the Cats ahead once again, 30-24.

Borden County made a come back as Herridge ran another touchdown from 11 yards out. The kick by Hollis was good, putting the Coyotes back in the lead 32-30 in the fourth quarter.

The Wildcats last score came with 5:16 showing on the clock. Jullian Valle took the ball 49 yards down the field for the touchdown. The point after was no good, putting the score at 36-32.

With 3:28 remaining in the game. Borden County's Brian Bond connected with Jimmy Rios for a six yard touchdown. Hollis' kick was good making the score 40-36.

The Cats were still battling it out with 2:00 left in the game. Unfortunately, Grady didn't make the yardage they needed for a first down. Borden County took the ball over in their own territory and ran out the remaining time.

Grady's leading rusher for the night was Jullian Valle with 125 yards of 21 carries, and two touchdowns. Clay Black was next on carries with 6 for 37 yards.

Scott Terrell had 1 catch for 47 yards and a touchdown while David White was 2 for 29 and one touchdown.

Jullian Valle lead the Wildcats defense attack with 10 tackles. The rest of the defense had a good night as Chad Wells had 7 tackles, Danny Valle 6, Tim Stone 5, Kenneth Garza 4, Scott Glaze 2, and Baldamor Cortez, David White, and Martin Quilimaco all had one tackle each.

Quilimaco will be playing at home this week against the Welman Wildcats. The game will be at 7:30 on M.W. Tunnell Field. The Freshman class will be serving bar-b-cue before and after the game, in the cafeteria.

Regulations for deer hunters

Landowners and hunters are reminded that no antlerless deer permit issued by the Texas Parks and Wildlife department will be required for taking antlerless deer in Howard County, south of Interstate 20, for the regular deer season for 1987-88.

Antlerless deer in Howard County will only require being tagged with the appropriate tag from the hunter's valid hunting license.

The regular gun white-tailed deer season for 87-88 is November 14 through January 3, with a bag limit of four deer, no more than two bucks in Howard County.

Landowners in Glasscock County are reminded that a mail-out system for issuing antlerless deer permits was initiated for the 87-88 regular deer hunting season.

Landowners or their agents that received antlerless deer permits last year were automatically mailed a renewal notice and antlerless deer permits will be mailed directly to them.

Landowners that did not receive their permits or were not on the mailing list last year, may apply for antlerless deer permits by completing an application card. Application cards may be obtained from local wildlife biologist, game wardens, and Department offices throughout the Possum Kingdom Regulatory District.

Department personnel will be available to landowners in Glasscock County on Nov. 2 between 8 a.m. and noon, and 1-5 p.m. at the courthouse in Garden City.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

New 'Fat Magnet' Diet Pill Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose fat by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

No Dieting—Eat Normally
Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You will start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

There has never been anything like it before. It is a totally new major medical breakthrough for weight loss (worldwide patent pending).

Flushes Fat Out of Body
The new pill is appropriately called the "fat magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like atoms magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in fat particles. Then, all that trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body because it cannot be digested.

Within 2 days you will notice a change in the color of your stool as the fat particles are being eliminated.

'Pills Do All the Work'
According to the doctors, the fat magnet pills do all the work while you quickly lose fat with no starvation diet menus to follow, no calorie counting, no exercising, and no hunger pangs. It is 100% safe. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

The fat magnet pills have just been offered to the American public and are already sweeping the country with record sales and reports of dramatic weight loss. It's the "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public
If you need to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these new highly successful fat-magnet pills (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer, by mail or phone order only) by sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to: Fat Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. Lady Steers drop close match to Fort Stockton

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Time is running out for the Big Spring Lady Steers. Just like they have so many times this season, the Lady Steers faltered in the third game, dropping a 9-15, 15-12, 10-15 volleyball match decision to the Fort Stockton Prowlers Saturday afternoon in Steer Gym.

It was the 12th consecutive district loss for the Lady Steers. They face the infamous distinction of going through the season without a league volleyball win. The Lady Steers have four games remaining in the season. Just like they did in Tuesday's loss to Snyder, Big Spring held a lead in the third game, and watched it fade down the stretch.

After winning the second game 15-12, to force the "rubber match", the Lady Steers played exceptionally well at the start of the third game.

Big Spring fell behind 3-1, but rallied when Lisa Alvarez served a point. Melanie Payne served three points and Michelle LeGrand served two more tallies, taking a 7-4 lead.

But the Prowlers, now 8-5 in district play, quickly tied the game at 8-8. Then behind the spiking of Teri Webber and Kim Payne, outscored Big Spring 7-2 to take their 12th win of the season in 21 attempts.

Webber, Payne and Nelda Sanchez were the main offensive weapons for the Prowlers throughout the match. The trio combined to kill 31 of 65 spike attempts against a very aggressive Big Spring defense. Webber, who had three kills and a block down the stretch in the third game, finished the match with 10 of 17 kills. Sanchez was 11 of 22 and Payne was 10 of 26. The spikes didn't come easy for the Prowlers. Lady Steers' LeGrand, Cary Brooks, Melissa Martinez and Dorothy Viasana made sure of that.

LeGrand and Brooks played strong defensive games at the net, combining for 18 blocks. Brooks had a game-high 10 blocks. Martinez and sophomore Viasana were all over the court making great saves.

"Our downfall wasn't emotional or anything," said Lady Steers head coach Elaine Stone, concerning her team faltering down the stretch. "The mental errors were the only things that hurt us. Like when we should have been going for the good hits, the girls were going for the kills."

"Our defense was good. Our blocking was tremendous. Michelle (LeGrand) and Cary (Brooks) did excellent jobs. Also Dorothy Viasana ployed a good game. She moved up from the junior varsity and is really getting her confidence now," said Stone.

Fort Stockton won the first game behind the strength of Sanchez's net play. The 5-10 sophomore killed seven of nine attempts in Fort Stockton's 15-9 win.

But in the second game the Big Spring defense was at its best, as Sanchez and Co. converted only five of 12 kills in the game. Brooks led the way with five blocks and LeGrand downed three of four kill attempts in the 15-12 Big Spring win.

LeGrand and Brooks were both offensive forces throughout the match as the Lady Steers downed 29 of 64 kill attempts for 45 percent. Meanwhile the Prowlers were 38 of 90 kills for 42 percent.

Brooks killed nine of 19 attempts while LeGrand was a hot 12 of 18. Martinez and Viasana got three kills each.

The loss leaves the Lady Steers with a 4-17 record.

JV'S LOSE ALSO
In junior varsity action, Fort Stockton beat Big Spring 15-7, 13-15, 6-15.

Michelle New led Big Spring in scoring, serving seven points in the first game, and three in the third game. Veronica Viera scored six points in the second game.

The Lady Steers freshmen will play Monahans there at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. Junior varsity follows at 6:30 and varsity action concludes things at 7:30.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Edited by Lea Whitehead

The Guy Next Door is store for all ages

"What we sell is a 'look,'" says Tom Guess, owner of The Guy Next Door in Highland Mall, "and it's for men of all ages." His "look" is fashionable sportswear or "fun clothes," Tom likes to call them. There's a certain sophistication about these clothes that go golfing, fishing, dancing, vacationing or any other fun activity. The man who wears these outfits could be "in his twenties or in his sixties and he'd still look just right," says Tom. Tom orders his stock in matchables direct from the manufacturer. In other words, slacks, shirts, T's, ties, socks, sweaters are available in coordinated patterns and colors. Tom, his own best advertisement for The Guy Next Door's "look," takes all the problems out of assembling clothes — you'll see them displayed together in the store. The layered looks shows no sign of waning, Tom says, especially with winter coming on. The days are gone when a man just grabs any old sweater to put on when he goes out. A well-dressed man will wear sweaters that coordinate with his shirt.

Pleated pants are extremely popular, especially with side tabs so you can wear them with suspenders. "One of my customers bought them in every color I had." Suspenders continue to be a trend, and Tom is expecting a shipment of extra wide 1 1/2" suspenders. Mickey Mouse ties and boxer shorts have been a very popular item. "If you think this is just a young man's style, you're wrong," said Tom. "One of my 50'ish customers complained that there weren't enough Mickey's on the tie!" Other popular items are brightly colored long john shirts, knit tops, novelty T's, Rugby shirts, sweats. (Many women have discovered his T's, sweats and long john shirts.) The store stocks sizes small, medium, large and extra large. Extra-extra large sizes will be available soon. Tom offers fast personal service on rentals of men's formal wear. Look for Christmas gift packs for men, coming in soon.

A MAN'S PLACE — Tom Guess, owner of The Guy Next Door in Highland Mall, believes that style and good looks have no age limit. The layered look is still good this fall, as Tom demonstrates in a store display he has assembled.

Wise buy.
