Kennedy's prompting less friction

ANTHONY M. KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anthony M. Kennedy, his Supreme Court nomination arousing none of the friction that befell President Reagan's two earlier court candidates, began a round of courtesy calls today on the senators who will pass judgment on his confirmation.

Kennedy's first stop was at the office of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, ranking Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee. Kennedy had little to say, but Thurmond predicted he would bring together "different elements" of the Senate and avoid the bitterness of the failed nominations of Robert H. Bork and Douglas H. Ginsburg.

Meanwhile, Judiciary Committee Chairman Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., and Thurmond arranged to meet this afternoon with Reagan after first seeing White House chief of staff Howard H. Baker Jr. to discuss the confirmation process. Biden said the White House wanted to "bury the hatchet."

Kennedy appears off to a far better start than his two predecessors, as senators from both parties say they like what they know about him so far.

In announcing his intention to nominate Kennedy, Reagan praised him Wednesday as a "courageous, tough but fair jurist."

Thurmond, after seeing the Senate deny one court nominee and watching another withdraw from consideration, said there was "a little more thoughtfulness and not as much partisanship" this time.

"If anyone has a chance to be confirmed, he does," Thurmond said.

Thurmond urged a confirmation vote by Christmas — an unlikely possibility.

He said he's unaware of anything in Ken-neddy's background that would surprise senators, but he added, "You never can tell."

The favorable but cautious reaction from both liberal and conservative senators suggested the 51-year-old judge from Sacramento, Calif., will not embarrass Reagan, as the president tries for the third time to fill a court vacancy more than four months old.

Bork, the first nominee for the seat, was defeated by the Senate, 58-42. Second choice Ginsburg withdrew from consideration when conservatives declined to back him after he admitted past marijuana use.

Bork's nomination generated negative comments right away. Ginsburg's inexperience — one year as a federal appeals judge — made senators uneasy from day one.

Ginsburg's surprise admission of past drug use was reported on page 2-A.

Bob Riley is honored

Dr. Bob E. Riley, president of the Howard County Junior College District, has been named an outstanding community college chief executive in Texas by the Community College Leadership Program at the University of Texas.

From more than 900 nominations, Riley emerged as a leader "who demonstrated the ability to influence and shape behavior consistent with increased staff and faculty commitment to the unique mission of the community college," said John E. Rouche, director of the Community College Leadership Program.

Riley is now invited to submit his nomination for further study in the national research project.

Members of the Veterans Administration Medical Center, in Big Spring, await the order to begin their traditional 21-gun salute. The commanding officer of Webb Air Force Base, speaks to the audience of honor persons, standing along the VA's avenue of flags, observes the ceremony.

Library has faced a year of changes

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

It's been a year of change for the Howard County public library. One year ago, the library established Circulation Plus, a bar code system of processing library loans via computer. The library also has added to its collections of videos and audiocassettes, established in 1986.

"I think the staff is friendlier now that we have the computer because they're not bogged down with clerical work," County Librarian Judith Gray said.

Processing overdue books, which at times took much of the working day, is accomplished by computer in a fraction of the time.

The system, which cost about $10,000, enables the staff to check out materials, register patrons, print reports and overdue notices, and record daily transactions.

When implemented in November 1986, the system was the first computerized public library system within a 200-mile radius of Big Spring, Gray said.

The entire library staff worked seven months to establish bar codes on the materials before they began using the system, she said.

People continue to be re-registered under the system in which each patron receives a plastic card with a bar code, Gray said, noting that the library has 6,674 registered patrons.

"I'd like to have 100 percent registration; I'd like to see every child have a library card."

The library loaned more than 1,600 books during the first day of the 1987 summer reading program — something it couldn't have handled manually, she said.

The library had an average of about 250 people in the building daily during the summer months, its busiest time.

The summer attendance figures contrast sharply with people patronizing the library during extended evening hours, instituted May 12.

Due to public demand, the library extended its Tuesday hours to 8 p.m., Gray said, but she told county commissioners Monday the library would resume its normal operating hours because of lack of business.

"Some nights we had nobody," she said.

Regular library hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Fridays and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays. Doors are locked 15

911 board will discuss system

A discussion of plans for implementing a 911 emergency telephone system in Howard County will be conducted when members of the Emergency Communications District Board meet at 5:15 p.m. today in the county courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

Howard County voters approved the 911 system by an 1,832 vote margin in the Nov. 3 general election. There were 3,082 ballots cast in favor of installing the system, while 1,250 votes were cast against the issue.

A 911 system allows citizens faster access to aid during an emergency. A caller dials only 911 during an emergency to gain immediate access to police, fire or ambulance services, eliminating use of independent seven-digit telephone numbers.

County Emergency Communications District Board members will also draw lots to determine if they will serve one or two-year terms, according to the agenda.

Installation of the 911 system will be funded by a six percent garnishment of phone customers' basic monthly bills.

The service will cost Big Spring residential telephone customers 49 cents each month; Coahoma customers 35 cents each month; and Lomax customers 65 cents each month.

Monthly assessments of business phones will vary, depending upon basic service charges.

Bank files suit against radio stations

Herald staff report
A lawsuit claiming default on a loan used to buy equipment and fixtures for local radio stations KBYG-AM and KUFO-FM has been filed in 118th District Court.

The suit was brought by Big Spring Savings Association against Albert Hajny, and Big Spring residents Jerry Worthy and Donna Fields.

The defendants executed a promissory note on June 10, 1986 with a principal amount of $262,931.49, according to the suit.

Giraffe Communications Inc., listed as borrower on the promissory note, consists of the two local stations.

The corporation filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in September.

Big Spring Savings notified defendants of default in payments in June and demanded payment of the delinquent amounts, but the defendants didn't pay, the suit alleges.

In October Big Spring Savings accelerated maturity of the note and demanded payment in full, according to the suit.

The defendants are liable for $255,187.13, plus interest from Nov. 10, the suit states.

Defendant Albert Hajny, of Milwaukee, Wis., said this morning during a telephone interview that he owns 24 percent of the company's stock.

Hajny, who works at a radio station in Milwaukee, said he met Dick and Donna Fields when the two lived in Wisconsin.

Giraffe Communications is the only corporation he owns stock in, he said.

"If it weren't for the oil, we'd be doing fine," he said.

"Mr. Fields thinks we can make it, that's why we filed Chapter 11 and not Chapter 7."

Under Chapter 11 bankruptcy, a company obtains a federal court order that frees it from the threat of creditors' lawsuits, allowing time to reorganize.

Under Chapter 7, a court appointed trustee oversees liquidation and distributes all non-exempt property.

Dick Fields, president of the corporation and majority stock holder, also signed the promissory note but isn't listed as a defendant in the suit.

Attorney Richard C. Milstead, representing Big Spring Savings, said he couldn't discuss his client's pending litigation, but said there was a legal reason for the omission.

KBYG has been in operation in Big Spring since 1949 and KUFO since 1977.

Jessica fund conference postponed

Herald staff report
MIDLAND — A press conference concerning the Jessica McClure Fund that had been tentatively scheduled for this week has been postponed, according to KMID-TV Comptroller Brenda McClain.

The reason for the delay is that Jessica's parents — Chip and Reba — wish to take part in the conference, but are out of town this week, McClain said.

The press conference has been rescheduled for next week at the earliest, and no details about the fund will be released until that time, the comptroller added.

The account — which KMID General Manager John Foster has described as "very generous" — will be held in trust for Jessica's health, maintenance, education and welfare until her 25th birthday, according to a recent report in the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

The paper went on to describe other details of the fund.

After her 25th birthday, Jessica will receive the remainder of the account's assets. If she dies before that time, the trust will be divided into three equal parts, the paper reported.

One-third would go the Midland Memorial Foundation, one-third would go to Midland College for the establishment of a Jessica McClure Scholarship, and the remaining third would go to the city of Midland to provide advanced emergency and disaster training, the paper reported.

Kennedy

use left senators wary of moving too quickly on Kennedy.

"I hope this nomination will provide no more surprises for the Congress or embarrassments for the White House," said Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., a member of the Judiciary Committee.

Biden said, "I suspect we'll have a new Supreme Court justice if all goes well immediately upon the reconvening of the Senate after the first of the year."

Among the meetings Kennedy will have with senators, few will be more important than his session with conservative Jesse Helms, R-N.C.

Two weeks ago, Helms said there was "no way, Jose" that he could back Kennedy, and there were hints of a filibuster by conservatives if he received the nomination instead of Ginsburg.

But Helms said Wednesday that Kennedy telephoned him within minutes of Reagan's announcement, and he expressed satisfaction with the conversation.

Helms added, "I hope I will be able to support his nomination with enthusiasm following my meeting with him and after he has appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee."

Biden said Kennedy "seems on the surface like a mainstream conservative justice whom I can support."

Sen. Patrick J. Leahy, D-Vt., a committee member, said, "The thing that struck me is that he at least has a lot of experience as a judge."

Conservative Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, called Kennedy "a capable, well-qualified jurist who would be a fine member of the Supreme Court."

But Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, a Judiciary Committee member who had criticized the administration's failure to muster early support for Bork, said Reagan apparently took the path of least resistance in naming Kennedy.

"I would rather have my president take the course of sticking to principle and maybe picking somebody who is a little more controversial and yet confirmable than the easy way out it appears to me he did in the case of Kennedy," Grassley said.

In his announcement, Reagan called Kennedy "popular with colleagues of all political persuasions. And I know that he seems to be popular with many senators of varying political persuasions as well."

Kennedy is considered to be a moderate conservative, less ideologically rigid than Reagan's two earlier nominees. He has a dozen years of experience on the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and has written more than 400 opinions — including some 335 in which he wrote for the majority.

Kennedy has written opinions upholding capital punishment, the legality of paying women less than men in comparable jobs and the Navy's policy of discharging sailors who engage in homosexual conduct.

minutes prior to posted closing time and materials must be checked out 15 minutes before closing.

While Circulation Plus has meant noticeable changes at the library, two collections added last year aren't seen by the average patron but are growing steadily.

Located in a back room out of public view are more than 100 videos and several dozen audiocassettes.

The video program was instituted in November 1986 by the Friends of the Library with 37 titles and a video player.

The collection has grown steadily and includes academy award winning films, classics, drama, mystery, exercise, educational and children's videos.

Patrons must be at least 18 years old to check out the materials, which are loaned on a first-come, first-serve basis, Gray said.

A collection of audiocassettes, commonly referred to as books on tape, was established by the Downtown Lion's Club in 1986, she said.

The adult collection, which the library has added to, includes best sellers, westerns, self help, business and mysteries.

With continual additions to the library's collections, lack of space is becoming more of a problem, Gray said.

A new building is needed, but not possible under current economic conditions, she said.

Establishing library branches is one option that could also alleviate the space crunch, but one in which cost is a major factor, Gray said.

Despite the shortage of space, Gray is pleased with the overall operation.

"We can't please everybody, but I think we give a lot back to the community," she said.

"Any way you color it, America's greatest bargain is the library."

Austin EMS drug probe continues

AUSTIN (AP) — Fifty current or former Austin Emergency Medical Services employees are suspected of involvement with illegal drugs while either on or off duty, according to a police memorandum.

The Austin American-Statesman reported today that the memo was prepared by Lt. Pete Taylor of the narcotics division after a six-week investigation. The report was forwarded to Chief Jim Everett, the newspaper said.

The investigation led to the arrest last month of three EMS employees on drug charges. EMS officials said then that they did not think there was a widespread drug problem in the department.

The 50 employees the memo said were involved with drugs represent about 41 percent of the 122 medical personnel in the department, which in 1984 was named the outstanding EMS agency in the nation.

Fourteen of the 50 people named in the memo are suspected of using drugs while on duty, and 10 are suspected of selling illegal drugs.

One EMS employee sold drugs to an undercover officer while on duty, according to the memo.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, hugs his wife, B.A., after telling supporters outside the State Capitol Wednesday that he would seek a fourth term. In announcing his candidacy, Bentsen said the nation needs capable leaders.

GOP doesn't expect to defeat Bentsen

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican leaders say there are several good issues to use as campaign ammunition against Democratic U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, but they still don't expect to defeat him next year.

Bentsen announced Wednesday he would seek a fourth term. He talked about the nation's problems and how he could help solve them as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

"There are 100 members of the U.S. Senate, but there is only one chairman of the Finance Committee and that position provides an avenue of opportunity for leadership," Bentsen told supporters at a Capitol rally Wednesday.

John Weaver, the Texas GOP's executive director, said Bentsen's opposition to Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork, failure to get a federal income tax deduction for state sales taxes and votes on spending make good political fodder for an opponent.

"Senator Bentsen, like a lot of Texas Democrats in Washington, espouse one line in Texas, that of a pro-business, conservative candidate, then when they get to Washington they become part of the national Democratic Party, which is pro-tax and anti-military spending," Weaver said.

But Weaver and other Republicans acknowledge knocking Bentsen off would be a big-time shocker.

"I've offered to throw the victory celebration if we do beat him," Strake said. "I think my chances of having to do that are slim, but possible."

"He's got unlimited personal wealth, unlimited (political action committee) support. He's got this image within the business community that he is the friend of business, yet labor thinks he is their friend, too. No question about it. He is extremely tough to beat. But miracles do happen," Strake said.

Bentsen indicated he does not expect to be defeated on the issues mentioned by the Republicans.

On the Bork issue, he said, "That's a no-winner, that kind of a controversy. I well understand that, but you evaluate it and you decide what's right and you do it and you take the consequences. That's what you hired out for."

Air show, ceremonies salute Texas veterans

By The Associated Press
Veterans Day activities took to the sky in San Antonio when the Confederate Air Force recreated air battles of World War II, one of many salutes to war heroes in Texas.

Brooks Air Force Base transformed into a small city with 45,000 attending the hour-long show. An announcer dramatically described the events of the war as vintage aircraft flew overhead, performing stunts that re-created the bombing of Pearl Harbor, the battle of Midway and the Normandy invasion.

The aerial extravaganza by the Harlingen-based CAF was one of the largest events commemorating Veterans Day in Texas Wednesday.

San Antonio, with a large population of retired military personnel, was the site of many Veterans Day events.

Alton S. Newell, guest speaker at Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery, praised veterans before an audience of approximately 400 who attended the Veterans Day Memorial Service.

"Veterans, you are America," said Newell, chief executive officer of Newell Recycling. "Without you we would not have a country. You knew that freedom is not free, and you put your lives on the line to pay for that freedom."

An afternoon ceremony at the smaller and older San Antonio National Cemetery honored two Medal of Honor winners, Simon Suhler and Charles Kitchen, both veterans of the Indian Wars of the 1860s to 1890.

Cited nearly a century ago with the nation's highest award for valor, the two were recognized officially by the Army only this year for their part in the Army's costly war against Apaches and Comanches in the Southwest.

Scattered throughout the cemetery are the graves of seven other Medal of Honor recipients.

In Dallas, about 200 people joined veterans and schoolchildren in remembering soldiers of war during a brief ceremony at Fair Park.

"The reason we have Armistice Day is to honor the memory of all those who have sacrificed their lives in all U.S. wars so that we could enjoy our freedom," said E.J. Niedermair, who served during World War I with the U.S. Army construction engineering corps in Montierchaume, France.

Ruling allows deaf-blind woman to fly

AUSTIN (AP) — No airline will be able to require deaf-and-blind passengers to have a traveling companion now that a federal agency said such a policy at Southwest Airlines is illegal, an attorney in the case says.

"Since the Department of Transportation found that Southwest's blanket exclusionary policy was discriminatory, certainly no other airlines will be able to defend a policy like that," Diane Shisk, an attorney for Advocacy Inc., said at a Wednesday news conference.

"We for the first time have the U.S. Department of Transportation finding that there was discrimination against a handicapped person in air travel, so it was a very important decision for us," she said.

Advocacy Inc., which works for the rights of disabled Texans, filed a federal complaint three years ago on behalf of Rosaleen Perea, a deaf and blind Lubbock woman who in 1984 was not allowed to fly to Lubbock from San Antonio on Southwest without an attendant.

Ms. Perea — who has since left a job at the Southwest Center for the Hearing Impaired in San Antonio and is studying to be a minister — said her first unescorted flight on Southwest Wednesday "was great."

"The people who worked at the airline were very nice. They gave me very good service, and I was really very appreciative of that," she said.

Ron Ricks, vice-president for government affairs at Southwest, said the policy affecting deaf-blind people was developed years ago because of concerns about communication problems in case of an emergency.

Southwest estimated in 1985 that there are 10,000 deaf-blind people in the United States, but Ricks said Ms. Perea is the only one who has complained about Southwest's policy.

Rosaleen Perea, left, talks about her first flight on Southwest Airlines since the U.S. Dept. of Transportation ruled that the airline's refusal to fly people who are both deaf and blind is discriminatory and violates federal law.

"We receive compliments on the manner in which we handle handicapped passengers and passengers with special needs," he said.

Ms. Perea, deaf since birth, said she has flown unescorted on other airlines about 70 times since diabetes blinded her seven years ago. She can communicate through methods including sign language, Braille and hand signals.

Deaf-blind people are allowed to fly without a companion on many airlines, Ms. Shisk said, but she said some small and "no-frills" airlines have policies similar to the one that existed at Southwest.

When flying, Ms. Perea usually arrives at the airport with an interpreter who helps her board and explains safety procedures, Ms. Shisk said. She also counts the rows from her seat to the nearest emergency exit, and asks flight attendants to inform her of an emergency by tracing an "X" on her body.

Ms. Perea said she travels with a set of Braille and English cards printed with common messages used in air travel. The federal agency's ruling said Southwest's policy was too broad, because it did not distinguish between deaf-blind people who can understand general safety instructions and those who cannot.

Ms. Shisk said a lawsuit also is pending in San Antonio state district court to recover attorney's fees and damages for Ms. Perea, including money she has spent for attendants' tickets when flying on Southwest and the cost of flying on more expensive airlines.

Baptists look to convention

FORT WORTH (AP) — Moderate Texas Baptists said victories over fundamentalists in state-level skirmishes this week could set the stage for a showdown in San Antonio when the national Southern Baptist Convention meets in June.

The Baptist General Convention of Texas ended its two-day meeting Wednesday after electing an independent, the Rev. Joel Gregory of Fort Worth, as president and two moderates as vice presidents.

Meanwhile, moderates made substantial gains in other state conventions, which was viewed by some as a sign the campaign was ready to go national.

"What has happened this week is that laymen, Baptist laymen, have risen up and said, 'Enough is enough,'" said Neil Rodgers, executive director of the moderate group Layity for the Baptist Faith and Message.

But fundamentalists said moderate victories might not last. Traditionally moderates have maintained control at the state level, but fundamentalists are entrenched in the SBC's hierarchy.

"The SBC has been so different from the state conventions, it's almost like two different worlds," said the Rev. James Draper of Euless who is aligned with fundamentalist factions.

Views of other Texas papers

Here is a sampling of editorial opinions from around the state.

Editor's note: Excerpts of opinion from editorial pages around the state will be printed in the Thursday editions of the Herald beginning today due to logistics of the Associated Press. Editorials from throughout the nation will be printed in the Monday editions.

Ginsburg nomination scars Teflon

President Reagan, stung by the impending rejection of his then-Supreme Court nominee, Robert Bork, promised to find a replacement the Senate liberals would dislike just as much as Bork. Ironically, he found a replacement who had trouble with ... the conservative senators, not the liberals.

Douglas H. Ginsburg, the new nominee, revealed that he has smoked marijuana. The president found himself in the position of defending someone who admits using an illegal drug, and Nancy Reagan was in the position of having to give a forced smile about a nominee who didn't take her program's advice: "Just Say No."

It was too much, and on Saturday, Ginsburg withdrew his name from consideration. ... It is a pretty sad commentary on the competence of the president and his administration.

The Teflon is wearing off this president and his staff and it is not a pretty sight. It can only be hoped that now that the Ginsburg nomination has gone the way of the Bork nomination, (at least Ginsburg avoided the full embarrassment of Senate rejection) that the White House has made an actual effort at looking into the background of Kennedy before sending his name over to the Senate.

Urges reform of Texas judiciary

The Texas Supreme Court has upheld a lower court ruling on the internationally infamous case of Texaco vs. Pennzoil. And it did so without hearing oral arguments from Texaco. ... The Texas Supreme Court would have done itself and the state a favor had it at least listened to the arguments.

Clearly, the astonishing size of the punitive damages awarded Pennzoil were seemingly out of proportion. And the fact that both sides have made large contributions to judges involved, including those presently sitting on the Supreme Court, makes the Texas judicial system look like it is for hire.

Maybe the Texas courts have properly applied New York law. ... But with judges vacuuming up money from the lawyers appearing before them, no one can be sure.

... It is time for Texans to think long and hard about the quality of their judiciary and the wisdom of forcing their judges to run for office like common politicians. If Texas is to offer a standard of judicial excellence, a new system of selecting judges must be adopted.

Performances justify the hoopla

With all the attention given to the opening of Houston's new Wortham Theater Center, it seemed that the reality could not conceivably live up to the advanced billing. Guess again.

The theater itself has been controversial. Professional critics and audiences have expressed opinions that tended toward the extremes of love or hate.

However, there can be little doubt about the building's permanent tenants — Houston Grand Opera and Houston Ballet. Both companies have attracted critics and patrons from around the world with performances that have been well-attended — sometimes sold out — and very well-received.

Houston Grand Opera and Houston Ballet's performances so far this season justify all the hoopla, effort and expense.

New Japan leader seems favorable

Noburo Takeshita isn't the leader U.S. leaders would have picked for Japan. But if the new Japanese prime minister's friendly overtures so far are any indication, the United States may look toward satisfactory relationships with that country. He was confirmed as prime minister Friday.

Takeshita, former Finance Minister of Japan, doesn't have much international experience. But he has wisely put some of that strength in his government.

For example, the appointment of Shintaro Abe as Liberal Democratic Party president not only brings Abe's experience as two-term foreign minister but also helps ensure party unity. ...

Takeshita also has announced he intends to visit Washington in January. He will discuss promoting economic growth in Japan and opening Japanese markets, both of which the United States encourages.

Gone are the days of the first-name basis President Reagan and Nakasone enjoyed when working out differences between the two countries. But with a firm alliance of party factions and the new prime minister's seeming willingness to work for economic reform, U.S.-Japanese relations could continue to improve.

Sees puzzling candidate syndrome

Just what is it with the Republican Party presidential contenders and the United Auto Workers, anyway?

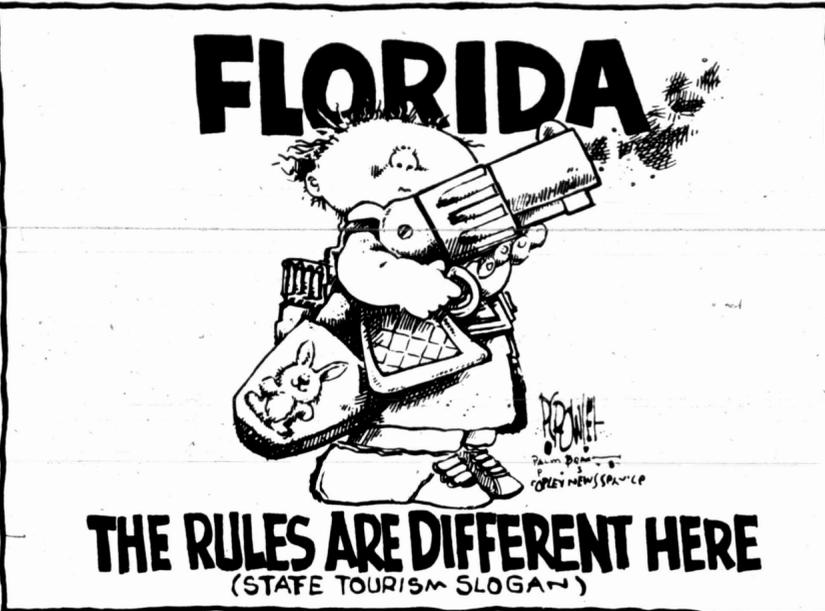

You really have to wonder. Last month, Vice President George Bush brought the wrath of the UAW down upon his head when during a swing through Europe he tossed off a remark to the effect that a few skilled Soviet tank mechanics might be just the ticket for helping Detroit out of its doldrums.

The UAW reacted apoplectically; Bush issued a fervent apology; and that, you might have thought, would have been that.

But no: Last week another GOP hopeful, former televangelist Pat Robertson, suggested in the course of a campaign trip to Michigan that one in four auto assembly line workers is a drug user. Robertson subsequently said that he wasn't singling out auto workers for criticism but was instead addressing the problem of drugs in society generally.

... If nothing else, all of this would seem to suggest that the Democrats aren't the only ones capable of pulling pratfalls on the campaign trail.

NRA wins another campaign

On certain days everything comes up roses. It happened to me two weeks ago when it was revealed that the National Rifle Association managed to lobby the Justice Department into withdrawing legislation that would bar plastic handguns.

This was a gift from the blue because up until then Justice was supporting bans on plastic handguns.

I know what you're asking. How could the American people have been so lucky? It was not luck but common sense that forced the Justice Department attorneys into bed with the NRA.

Bigotry towards AIDS victims seen in transportation industry

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — Last year Delta Airlines promised to educate its employees about AIDS and the ways the deadly disease is transmitted. The company sought advice from recognized experts, and twice distributed AIDS information to airline personnel.

But a recent incident aboard a Delta plane suggests that the company's educational effort still has a few gaps. Here's what our reporter Jennifer Smith has learned:

Jim Leahy and John Schauer were flying Delta from Washington, D.C., to Orlando, Fla. on the morning of Oct. 12 after a business trip to the capital. They noticed that several passengers were wearing gay-rights badges from the weekend march on Washington, but thought no more about it.

Then, after a snack was served, Leahy pointed out to his companion that the flight attendant had put on disposable plastic gloves to retrieve the plates and leftovers from the passengers. Schauer, a frequent flyer, said he had never seen that before.

When they changed planes in Atlanta, they noticed that no gloves were worn by attendants on the other Delta plane. The two men are heterosexuals.

Delta spokesman Jim Lundy said he didn't know why a flight attendant would wear gloves while picking up refuse, but said he guessed it was up to each attendant's discretion.

Jim Brown, a spokesman for the Health and Human Service Department, said wearing gloves for such a cleanup chore is not necessary to avoid AIDS contagion. "AIDS is not, I'll repeat, is not a casually transmitted disease," Brown said.

Delta's history of insensitivity to AIDS victims started at the top. In early 1985, the airline amended its contract of carriage to exclude passengers with AIDS. Ten days later, it rescinded the provision, after protests and a threat of legal action from gay rights organizations.

In August 1986, AIDS victim Mark Sigers flew Delta from San Francisco to Atlanta to visit his family. When Sigers boarded Delta to return to San Francisco, a flight attendant recognized him and claimed that he had required continual care by his companions on the first flight and had needed oxygen. He was then taken off the plane without explanation — while his painkillers and other medication in his suitcase were flown to San Francisco.

Sigers' companions, his brother and sister-in-law, said the flight attendant had lied. They said Sigers had been no trouble, sleeping most of the way, and had never used oxygen.

After being contacted by the California-based Mobilization Against AIDS, Delta apologized to the group and assured them it welcomed AIDS patients as passengers and that information on AIDS would be given to all Delta personnel who dealt with the public.

Three months later, though, Delta's insurance lawyers calculated the compensation for passengers killed in a crash and argued that since one victim was known to be homosexual, he probably had AIDS and soon would have died anyway. Therefore, they explained, compensation, based on expected lifetime earnings, should be less.

The Mobilization Against AIDS threatened to call a nationwide boycott of Delta, and the airline agreed to adopt a policy that it would not discriminate against passengers with AIDS. It also reiterated its promise to educate its employees about AIDS.

"Because of Delta's past history and what they said they would do in educating their staff, I find this (most recent) incident to be truly puzzling," said Ken McPherson, co-chairman of Mobilization Against AIDS. He added that "this form of bigotry is what we are seeing in all the food, lodging and transportation industries."

THREAT FROM CUBA — A highly classified Pentagon report warns that the Cuban Air Force has been vastly improved and now has the capability to strike swiftly and successfully anywhere in the Caribbean.

"Cuban forces could have great military impact within the Caribbean area," the report states.

"Under optimum conditions, and using all aircraft in the commercial and air force inventories, Havana could move 5,000 lightly armed troops in a single airlift to most countries in the Caribbean Basin in one day."

Obscenity in eye of beholder

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

If you read Sunday's Herald, the article headlined "Pornography group travels statute path" likely caught your attention. It dealt with the efforts of the Howard County Chapter of the National Federation of Decency to bring about a local obscenity ordinance.

The group is using several methods to try to curtail the sale and distribution of pornographic material locally. Included in the group's list of "obscene" material are magazines such as Playboy and Penthouse, and unspecified video material.

Members want to curtail this material because they say it leads to rape, child abuse and organized crime. To substantiate their claims, they cite the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography — headed by Edwin Meese.

You remember Meese, don't you? He's the man who believes we ought to do away with reading criminal suspects their rights, and who was quoted as saying that people who were in food lines are too lazy to get a job.

That Edwin Meese. The same Edwin Meese who President Reagan entrusted to find what detrimental effects — if any — pornographic materials have on people like you and me.

The same Meese, and the same commission report that civil libertarians have denounced for its one-sidedness. That is the report on which the local decency group is basing its claims.

Please don't get the idea that I'm in a Meese-bashing mood; he's too easy a target. What I'm upset about is that these good people are passing themselves off as experts on pornography's effects.

Beyond the realm

One comment was particularly galling. One of the chapter members said, "The nature of pornography is such that it's like drugs — you get a little and you're fine for awhile, then you want more, then you want violence."

The image of a shabbily-dressed porn addict stumbling into Poncho's Newstand and shouting "Give me a Playboy or I'll slug you," immediately comes to mind.

Not only is the image ludicrous, but it's insulting to the millions of Americans who perseuse such material on a regular basis — like me, for example.

I have been an avid Playboy reader for several years and, to the best of my knowledge, I'm neither addicted to the sight of a female body or prone to violence.

The simple fact of the matter is that there are millions of Americans who buy or rent adult material regularly. These people are neither perverts or wife-beaters. They are normal folks, much like you or me.

Why do these people buy such material?

One reason is they like the stuff, and who is to say they're weird? Just because some might find the material offensive doesn't mean it's harmful.

One principal of this country's founding was tolerance for different points of view — a concept I'm hopeful we continue to support. One thing that burns Americans is someone else trying to tell them how to live.

This is what upsets me the most about the various "decency" groups that have formed around the country. They are promoting their particular definition of the word without tolerance to differing views.

One of the unfortunate constants of our history is that there have always been persons interested in making their sense of morality into the law of the land — witness prohibition.

On the other hand, thankfully, most of our legislators have realized that the majority of Americans can be left to their own devices, and don't need someone peeking through their bedroom windows.

If there are people incapable of reading such material without committing acts of violence, by all means, put them away. But to ban the sale of pornography because someone might act irresponsibly makes as much sense as banning automobiles because some drunk might be tempted to drive.

In other words, trust us to act as adults until we prove otherwise. In return, we promise not to try to enact a law replacing church hymnals with copies of Penthouse.

Is it a deal?

So what does the NRA hope to get out of allowing plastic weapons to appear on the market? The answer is absolutely nothing. The NRA always involves itself in good causes, provided they have something to do with the biggest bang for the buck.

It doesn't matter if it's an automatic pistol or a Chinese Silkworm missile, the people have a right to bear arms. Frankly, the plastic gun is not the issue. The issue is if the plastic gun is banned today, what gun will be embargoed tomorrow?

As a gun lover, you may be asking what you can do to make sure they don't take our plastic weapons away. First write to Ed Meese and thank him for stopping the bill. Send money to the NRA to support congressional and senatorial candidates who support all of us. There are a lot of votes for sale on Capitol Hill for pro-gun legislation.

This is one of the most important battles we have to wage because there is nothing the other side won't do to stop our plastic weapons from being sold over the counter or in the airline terminal novelty store.

Art sale makes record

NEW YORK — Vincent van Gogh's "Iris," the masterpiece the artist painted in the garden of his insane asylum, has been auctioned off for a record $53.9 million, a sale the auctioneer said shows "the art world is alive and well."

The buyer, whose bids were entered by phone through a European agent, chose not to be identified, said John L. Marion, chairman of Sotheby's North America, where Wednesday night's auction was held.

The previous record for a painting was set by another van Gogh masterpiece, "Sunflowers," which sold for $39.9 million earlier this year to a Japanese insurance company.

Mother was deceived

MINEOLA, N.Y. — The woman who gave up Elizabeth Steinberg for adoption believed her daughter was in an ideal situation with a loving family and had no idea of the truth, her lawyer says.

Michelle Launders, who was given the right to bury her daughter Wednesday, planned a combined Catholic-Jewish funeral today, a week after the 6-year-old girl died from a severe beating.

Authorities have charged the couple taking care of Elizabeth with murder and endangering the welfare of a child. Lawyer Joel Steinberg, 46, was paid $500 to arrange Elizabeth's adoption, but instead kept the girl with him and his live-in companion, Hedda Nussbaum, according to court testimony.

50 injured in collision

BOSTON — A commuter train rammed into the back of another train letting off passengers at the large Back Bay Station during the morning rush-hour, injuring dozens of riders, officials said.

About 50 people were injured, and "about seven were rather serious," said Leo Stapleton, the city's fire commissioner.

One train was discharging passengers at the platform when the other plowed into it at about 8:30 a.m., he said. Most of the injured passengers were aboard the first train, he added.

Trade deficit narrows

WASHINGTON — The nation's trade deficit, a report that last month helped trigger the stock market crash, narrowed from $15.7 billion to $14.1 billion in September, the government said today.

Analysts suggested in advance of today's Commerce Department report that a September deficit figure of $15 billion or less would be well received in financial markets.

Town in despair after shooting

PITTSFIELD, N.H. (AP) — This small New England town struggled with despair after learning that a 9-year-old boy had been shot to death and one of his friends stood accused of murder.

A tip led police to Jason Elliott's body Monday night, more than two days after hundreds of residents and police using a helicopter and bloodhounds searched unsuccessfully for him.

Police Chief Steven Byers, who uncovered the body, recalled Wednesday that he had "a sick feeling" and turned away repeatedly as an investigator's camera recorded the evidence.

Jason's mother, a school nurse, asked that the students in the town of 3,600 be given counseling and a chance to attend a memorial service today.

Byers said he kept seeing his 7-year-old son's face as he crouched in the dark and uncovered the body buried under leaves about 200 yards from Jason's home.

"My immediate reaction was, 'where was Wesley, my son?'" Byers recalled, adding that the death of a child "just never affected me until I had my own."

Rebels killed soldiers

MANILA, Philippines — Communist rebels killed three Americans outside Clark Air Base last month in retaliation for first aid that U.S. soldiers gave wounded Filipino policemen, a top security official announced today.

The announcement by Philippine Constabulary chief Lt. Gen. Renato de Villa that authorities have cracked the case came a day after police said they had arrested three suspects in the Oct. 28 killings.

Two active and one retired U.S. servicemen were slain in separate attacks. A Filipino of American descent was also killed.

Iran rejects cease-fire

MANAMA, Bahrain — Iran's prime minister today rejected an Arab League call for a cease-fire and vowed that the war against Iraq would go on until "the complete suppression of the aggressor," an official report said.

Iraq said its planes attacked another ship in the Persian Gulf off Iran, the sixth vessel Iraq has claimed to have attacked this week. Shipping sources confirmed that one tanker was hit Wednesday night.

Iraq's state-controlled newspapers, meanwhile, termed the Arab League summit in Amman, Jordan, "historic, successful and great."

UNITA claims victory

JAMBA, Angola — Rebel leader Jonas Savimbi said today that his forces had won the biggest victory of their 12-year insurgency, routing a Soviet- and Cuban-backed offensive without South African ground troops or air power.

However, South African Defense Minister Magnus Malan told a Johannesburg news conference that if South African forces had not fought on the side of Savimbi, his guerrilla movement would have been defeated.

Military sources in South-West Africa said a South African-led battalion of black Angolans had suffered heavy losses in the fighting.

25 killed by landmine

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka — A landmine planted by Tamil rebels blew up a bus in northwestern Sri Lanka today, killing all 25 people aboard, a military official said. All the victims were Tamils.

"The landmine was so powerful, it blew the vehicle and its passengers to pieces," said the official, who cannot be identified under briefing rules.

"We feel it was meant to hit an armored vehicle or a tank of the Indian troops," the official said.

The bus was blown up between the villages of Chettikulam and Parayanankulam.

Accuracy rate overstated by officials

WASHINGTON — Congressional auditors say the Social Security Administration's claim of 99.5 percent accuracy in paying benefits doesn't hold up under close scrutiny.

The General Accounting Office said Social Security overstated its accuracy rate by not counting any underpayments, overpayments of $5 a month or less, and errors that occurred over four years ago.

The Social Security Administration has told Congress that it had a payment accuracy rate of 99.5 percent for 1981-86. That means that of every $100 paid out in benefits to retirees and their families, only 50 cents was paid in error.

However, the GAO report said that when underpayments and other mistakes were counted, the dollar error rates doubled to almost 1 percent.

"A dollar error rate of 1 percent seems low, but currently this rate amounts to $1.5 billion in erroneous benefits each year," the GAO said.

By Social Security's count, there were errors in fewer than 6 percent of all cases. But the GAO said when it counted "all detected errors for 1986."

 * SOMEONE ASK: "What will be the eternal condition of a child that dies in infancy?"
 * A child does not have the guilt of it's parents, Ezekiel 18:19,20. One who is mentally incapable of comprehending the will of God has no sin, according to Jesus, John 9:39-41. Sin is a transgression of the law of God, 1 John 3:4 - a child cannot do so, and all unrighteousness is sin, 1 John 5:17 - a child cannot do unrighteousness. Only a sinner is "blotted out" of God's book, Exodus 32:33 - a child is then secure. The Bible never mentions any kind of method to eliminate any supposed "guilt" from a child (because there is none), nor of baptizing, sprinkling or pouring water on a child for any reason. Mark 16:16 reads, "He that believes and is baptized shall be saved," an infant can neither believe or be baptized, nor does the Bible mention any value in doing so for a child. The Bible does not say a child has "some kind of" "inherited sin". In the final judgment everyone shall be judged by their works (Revelation 20:12-15) - a child has none.
 * CONCLUSION; A child is totally pure before God and therefore shall be where all the sinlessly pure are...heaven. Any other doctrine is of man not God. Billy Patton

Fall foliage

East Texas ablaze with color

The display of colorful fall foliage is at its peak in the hardwood-pine forest area of East Texas, according to Howard Rosser, tourism director of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. Rosser says the peak display will last through midmonth with worthwhile viewing through Thanksgiving weekend.

He recommends a stop at one of several East Texas syrup mills. Call for directions and operating hours. They are:

THE REGIONAL BREAST CARE CENTER'S BREAST CANCER DETECTION UNIT AVAILABLE TO AREA WOMEN

CALL 267-6311 FOR APPOINTMENT

Saturday, Nov. 14, 1987
at The Big Spring Mall

A Service Of
Howard College

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of eleven women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97 percent five year survival rate and a 90 percent 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Appointments can be made by calling 267-6311.

The mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Big Spring at the Big Spring Mall on Saturday, November 14.

The American Cancer Society has established guidelines for mammography in asymptomatic women (Women who have no symptoms of disease). Those guidelines have been adopted by the American Academy of Family Physicians, American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and The American College of Radiology. Those guidelines are:

- I 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram
- II 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor
- III 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.
- IV Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $50.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, Mastercard and American Express.

For more information or to make an appointment call 267-6311.

What was once little more than a riverbed has been transformed into a monumental construction project — and in 1989 will finally be the long-awaited Stacy Dam. This portion of the project is located at the southwest end of the dam site.

A lone worker creates an imagery of small vs. huge, as he enters the mouth of a tunnel that will eventually run the length of the Stacy Dam structure — 1,330 feet. After the failure of a modern, electronic drilling rig, the operation's contractors decided to return to a more conventional method of tunnel work: dynamite.

Flowing along as smoothly as a Concho water snake, the Stacy Dam project adds to its appearance as a major construction site month by month.

And a major construction site it is. With a $2 million concrete batching plant, and a $1 million rock crushing unit preparing to feed the batching plant's voluminous appetite, there appears to be something going on at every turn.

A Tuesday media tour at the site, located about 25 miles southeast of Ballinger, provided opportunities for Colorado River Municipal Water District officials and contractors Brown & Root USA, Inc. to explain recent transformations.

Among the developments has been the departure from use of a modern, electrical English core trencher. It caused Project Manager Ron Hayes and his crews enough problems and long distance calls to England for the Dosco Roadheader to be sent home.

Crews have returned to conventional drill and blasting of the 1,330-foot tunnel deep beneath the dam.

The blasting operation has been turned over to the father-son team of Al and Rick Depew. Hayes said Al is a 25-year veteran of blasting work for the Houston-based contracting firm.

Construction of a batching plant to formulate the proper recipe to create high grade concrete is well underway and will provide "a prodigious capacity."

The equipment, adapted from what officials described as a "horizontal shaft, twin screw German design," will have the capability to produce 5 1/2 yards of concrete every 20 seconds at its maximum — about twice as fast as conventional equipment at its normal speed.

Employment at the site has risen to 150 people, about 70 percent of whom Hayes estimates as being local residents. They represent all but 75 to 80 of the anticipated 225 or 230 peak employment level.

Hayes, whose figures indicate that just under nine percent of the "construction critical path" has been completed, says "Overall, we are not ahead or behind. It's about what we want."

The blasting of the core trench, deep beneath the surface of the earth at the projected dam site, moves along at approximate nine-foot intervals. When all goes right, Hayes said, each shift can successfully detonate two rounds. All does not go right often, he added.

Completion of the tunnel is expected near the first of the year.

Hayes explained that "no two dams are alike," saying that dam construction is dictated by the material at hand. "Dams are designed on the basis of what we have here."

The CRMWD staff biologist's search for Concho water snakes has been successful, according to Joe Pickle, CRMWD secretary/treasurer. The biologist has "found more than we believed existed" and will spend the next several months analyzing the data compiled.

Other facts and figures coming from Tuesday's media day include:

- Brown & Root USA, Inc. currently has $4 billion in projects underway around the world;
- Equipment used for construction at the Stacy Dam project will consume two million gallons of fuel — some earth scrapers consume 20 gallons of fuel every hour of operation;
- More than half of the 21,000 acres of land CRMWD must acquire for the project — 11,750 — has been purchased;
- Nearly 371,000 cubic yards of general excavation has been completed — in addition to 72,824 cubic yards of rock;
- In excess of $14 million has been expended to date on the project: $2,736,860 on construction and $11,471,095 on other aspects of the project.

It looks like simple sand on the left and rock on the right, and appearances aren't deceiving in this case. However, this configuration is being carefully placed at the face of the dam — from extreme top to bottom — and compacted with impervious clay to create a damming effect.

It may look like a simple bit of equipment, but Stacy Dam project manager Ron Hayes is pointing to a $1 million concrete batching plant that will supply the needs for the project. No concrete has been produced, but by Jan. 1 Hayes expects concrete to begin pouring — in enormous quantities.

Looking from east to west across the length of the dam, large earthmoving equipment is dwarfed by the magnitude of the project being undertaken. The 9,000-foot earthen embankment will contain 4.3 million cubic yards of fill — underlain by the 20-foot wide core trench.

By Robert Wernsman

Concho water snake controversy still has disbelievers

Dallas Times Herald Bureau
In the West Texas town of Ballinger, people still wear T-shirts bearing the inscription, "Don't Give a Dam for a Snake."

It's a reference to the Stacy Dam-Concho water snake controversy, a classic development vs. ecology showdown that pitted the needs of half a million people against a reptile facing extinction.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District, based in Big Spring, decided in 1977 that a 19,000-acre reservoir was needed at the confluence of the Colorado and Concho rivers to serve San Angelo, Midland, Abilene and smaller communities such as Ballinger.

The district received a construction permit from the Texas Water Commission in 1979 and was about to begin work on the $70 million Stacy Dam when the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service raised a red flag: The endangered Concho water snake, the agency said, would lose up to 70 percent of its habitat and could become extinct if the dam was built.

Thus began a squabble that wasn't resolved until last spring, when work on the dam finally began.

O.H. Ivie, general manager of the water district, said the snake issue actually delayed construction only about a year; most of the delay, he said, stemmed from a lawsuit questioning whether there was enough water in the Colorado River basin to meet the project's requirements.

But the snake will cost the water district — and, ultimately, its customers — a considerable sum of money. After bickering with the Fish and Wildlife Service, the district agreed to spend $3.7 million to relocate the snake from what will be the reservoir bottom and build an artificial habitat for it.

Ivie and many other West Texans still have trouble grasping the notion that a snake could cause such a stir.

"The citizens of our area have just never accepted it as fact," Ivie said. "It's so far-fetched for the vast majority of people."

Don Bethan, manager of the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce, said he'd "probably be speaking for 99 percent of West Texas in saying that it's a ridiculous matter. Any time you put the life of another species, like the snake, over people it's ridiculous. No one here can understand the logic in it."

The logic, said Fish and Wildlife Service spokesman Tom Smylie of Albuquerque, is that Congress has instructed the agency to halt any federally funded or authorized project that might affect an endangered species until an accord can be reached.

"You can protect the critter, but if you don't protect the habitat it isn't any good," Smylie said. "Some people say, 'Well, I don't care if there's another snake alive,' but we've got to look at it as a total biological community. If we didn't solve these questions we would be remiss in our responsibility."

The flap over Stacy Dam has been the Texas version of the highly-publicized snail darter brouhaha in Tennessee in the late 1970s. The Tennessee Valley Authority's $136 million Tellico Dam was three-quarters built when it was discovered that the snail darter, a small, endangered fish, might be wiped out by the project.

Construction stopped for more than two years until scientists discovered the fish could be relocated.

In West Texas, a staff biologist with the water district will spend the next several years transferring the Concho water snake to new locations upstream and downstream from Stacy Dam. The new habitat will include artificial riffles — reefs, over which shallow water flows — where young snakes feed.

"These conflicts occur a lot, and most of them are settled," Smylie said. "But as we demand more and more space for people, we're going to take more and more space away from wildlife, and we're gonna have more animals in trouble."

Scoffed Bethany: "A snake is a snake."

Mom upset by photos hanging in bathroom

DEAR ABBY: Here's a new one for you. My daughter-in-law has my wedding picture hanging directly over the toilet in her bathroom. She has "honored" her parents' wedding picture in this fashion by hanging it right next to ours.

This must be a new fad because my daughter hung the wedding picture of her grandparents (my beloved mother and father) over the "throne" in her bathroom!

I'm tempted to ask for those pictures back. I would rather see them destroyed than hanging there. They should be in an album. I treasure those pictures and wanted my family to have them after I'm gone. I am 82.

HURT IN ARIZONA

DEAR HURT: Please don't judge your daughter and daughter-in-law too harshly. I'm sure they meant no offense. Many contemporary decorators suggest hanging heirloom pictures in the bathroom, powder room or dressing area.

Though the idea may not appeal to you, the pictures will be enjoyed far more where they are seen every day, rather than placed in an album that's seldom opened.

DEAR ABBY: Please comment on a relatively trivial annoyance that I and other mothers agree is not so trivial after it's happened 30 or 40 times. I refer to strangers who strike up a conversation with your child in a park or checkout line or wherever with such comments as: "What's a big girl like you doing with a pacifier in your mouth?"

My daughter is big for her age and her dentist has told me it's all right to let her use a pacifier. I try very hard not to "shame" her out of using it, but it's difficult when so many strangers try to do it for me. (One woman actually reached out and removed the pacifier from my daughter's mouth!)

I'm not asking you to suggest an insulting comeback, but I hope you will print this so those people will know how rude they are. Thanks for the pressure valve, Abby.

MOTHER OF A CUTE L'L SUCKER

DEAR MOTHER: If your professional advisers (dentist and pediatrician) approve of your daughter's sucking on a pacifier at her age, it's all right with me. But I am concerned about your daughter's feelings. She must feel confused when you encourage her to suck on a pacifier in public, and strangers humiliate her for doing so.

When strangers make these rude comments, tell them politely but firmly that you are able to handle the situation, so kindly back off.

***

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter about the lady who had a headstone put up before her death with all the information on it except her death date.

That's not unusual in the small town in Arkansas where I grew up.

There were two unmarried sisters who put up a double tombstone in the Czech cemetery many years ago. One of them died a few years ago and, the last I heard, the other one is still living.

None of us thought it was strange. The idea behind it was that since they had no children, they wanted to be sure they had a nice tombstone when they died. Their parents came from Czechoslovakia as mine did, so that may be the reason we do not think it is strange. The Czechs took great pride in having nice tombstones.

Former Big Spring gymnast to Olympic Training Center

Former Big Spring gymnast Will Rutherford, now living in Waco, is still making big gains in the world of gymnastics.

Rutherford recently attended a regional testing program hosted by the United States Gymnastics Federation at Metroplex Gym in Dallas.

The 14-year-old Rutherford was one of four young men in his age division picked to represent the region in the national testing program Dec. 26-28 in Colorado Springs, Colo. at the Olympic Training Center.

If Rutherford does well in Colorado, he will be picked to the national junior team.

Rutherford is presently working out under the supervision of coach Lance King.

While on the subject of Bulldog Stadium, we'll get this cleared up about the name of the stadium where Coahoma plays.

In recent game reports we've called the stadium Bill Easterling Memorial Stadium. That is not correct. The correct name is Bulldog Stadium.

According to Coahoma Independent School District superintendent's secretary Judy Park, at one time there was a request to change the name from Bulldog Stadium to Bill Easterling Memorial Stadium.

The late Bill Easterling had been a CHS coach prior to his death. A vote was taken, and it was decided to leave the name as Bulldog Stadium, said Park. A monument was built in front of the stadium in memory of Easterling.

So that's the story behind Coahoma Bulldog Stadium.

Steers in season finale

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Listening to Andrews' coach W.T. Stapler, one would never believe that last week his team was gunning for a possible playoff berth.

The Mustangs' hopes came to a halt in last week's 38-7 loss to Sweetwater. But talking to Stapler, the former Sweetwater coach who led the Mustangs to the state championship in 1985, one would think Andrews had not won a game, instead of earning the 4-4-1 record it brings into the season finale against the Big Spring Steers.

"We're dead last in the district in total offense. We've used four different quarterbacks and now we've got a sophomore starting," said Stapler. "We don't have enough size to block anybody and we have no speed to get around them."

"But we could easily be 0-9, or have two more wins than we have. We tied Pecos and lost to Fort Stockton by two. The defense is the only thing that has kept us from being annihilated. We bend but don't break."

While Stapler may be pouring out a sob story, this year really has been a drastic one for the Mustangs.

One big blow against this year's squad was the fact that Stapler and his staff took over a squad that graduated 28 seniors last year. The next big blow was that eight players moved away. One was a two-way starter last season and five had been penciled in as starters.

The third crushing blow was when 26 players quit during two-a-day workouts. The fourth and final blow came at the end of the first six weeks when three senior starters flunked out.

"We had to cancel our junior varsity schedule. I suited up all of my sophomores, juniors and seniors against Sweetwater and that came to 39 players," said Stapler.

Meanwhile the Big Spring Steers will be trying to close out the season with a winning record. A win against the Mustangs will give the Steers a 6-4 record. A loss would mean a .500 season.

Steers' coach Quinn Eudy isn't taking out his crying towel for the Mustangs.

"They're the most improved ballclub in the district," said Eudy. "Stapler has turned them into a good ballclub. Defensively they're very aggressive and come after you. Offensively they have a solid wishbone attack and run a lot of unbalanced stuff and trick plays. I expect them to do anything they can to score."

Last week the Steers went to their bread-and-butter on offense — senior running back Charles White. The 6-1, 198-pounder was practically all of the Steer offense, carrying 49 times for 267 yards and scoring two TD's.

For his effort White was named to the Associated Press High School Honor Roll.

"I don't blame them. If I had a running back of Charles White's caliber, I'd use him too," said Stapler.

The way things have been going this season for both teams, it might be a battle of turnovers. Both teams come into the game leading the district in that department.

Big Spring has lost 32 fumbles and thrown eight interceptions. Andrews has lost 19 fumbles and thrown 20 interceptions.

Stapler says he's worried about Big Spring bursting loose against his team.

"Big Spring has so much talent but they've been snakebit this year. That's what worries me. You know they're due to put it all together. I don't know; we might get blitzed Friday night," said Stapler.

Eudy is looking for his players to end the season in a blaze of glory.

"I expect the kids to play hard. They played pretty hard last week and I don't see any reason for them to change. This game means a lot because the seniors want to go out looking good and a few of them have a chance to get scholarships."

Local hoopster inks with SMU

Herald staff report

According to Big Spring High School basketball head coach Boyce Paxton, senior Brian Mayfield has signed a letter of intent to play basketball for Southern Methodist University.

The 6-6 post-forward accepted a full, four-year basketball scholarship from the Mustangs on national signing day Wednesday, Paxton said. SMU coach Dave Bliss landed the Steer standout after what Paxton called a long recruiting battle with many interested schools.

"Brian has received inquiries from 50 to 60 major Division I (National Collegiate Athletic Association) colleges throughout the nation," Paxton said, "many east and west coast schools and most of the Southwest Conference schools."

"Mayfield earlier narrowed his top choices to the Air Force Academy, Texas Tech, Baylor, Texas, SMU and TCU," Paxton said.

The recruiting battle narrowed to a final decision between Texas Tech's Red Raiders under Gerald Myers and the Bliss-coached Mustang squad in Dallas.

"Bliss sees Brian in the 3-position or small forward in his offensive scheme," Paxton said.

As a junior in 1986-87, Brian averaged 19.5 points, 11.1 rebounds and 4.1 blocked shots per game, Paxton said. The Steers as a team racked up an 18-13 season to finish third in the district.

This year Big Spring's roundball squad is an early favorite for the 2-4A crown, Paxton said. Rated fifth in the region and picked to finish 19th in the state, the Steers

SWC signs key players on first day

By The Associated Press

High school basketball players began signing letters of intent to play for Southwest Conference schools with Rice, Baylor and Texas Christian gaining some height, and Arkansas, Houston and Southern Methodist building some speed.

The schools announced their new recruits Wednesday, which was the first day of a week-long early signing period.

Texas Christian Coach Moe Iba said his team's biggest catches were 6-9, 235-pound center Reggie Smith of Leland High School in San Jose, Calif., and 6-5, 185-pound forward Arthur Hurst of Duncannon.

Smith, who declined scholarship offers from Washington and Pepperdine, averaged 15 points and nine rebounds per game. Hurst, who also considered Rice, California and New Mexico, averaged 16 points and 11 rebounds per game for Duncannon as a junior.

At Baylor, 6-8, 190-pound Matt Hankinson of San Antonio MacArthur, and 6-8, 190-pound Kelvin Chalmers of Spruce signed letters of intent, Coach Gene Iba said.

Hankinson averaged 12.8 points and eight rebounds during his junior season, shooting 52 percent from the field.

Chalmers averaged 12.3 points and nine rebounds as a junior, hitting 63 percent of his shots from the field and 87 percent from the free throw line.

First-year Rice coach Scott Thompson said he believes the three players who signed with the Owls Wednesday can make an immediate impact on the team.

For the frontcourt, Rice signed 6-9 Kenneth Rourke of Tulsa, Okla., and 6-10 Greg Price of Littleton, Colo.

Rourke averaged 22 points and 12 rebounds during his junior year at Tulsa's Nathan Hale High. Price averaged 11 points and seven rebounds per game as a junior.

Rice's third commitment was from Greg Johnson of Round Rock Westwood. Johnson was an all-city, all-district and all-CenTex player after his junior season in which he averaged 15 points, eight assists and seven rebounds a game.

Three high school recruits expected by the University of Arkansas committed to the Razorbacks.

Todd Day, a 6-7 swingman from Memphis, who verbally committed last summer, signed his letter Wednesday morning. He averaged 18.1 points per game as a junior.

Lee Mayberry, a 6-2 guard from Tulsa, Okla., also signed with the Razorbacks. He averaged 18 points, six rebounds and five assists last season at Tulsa Rogers.

The Razorbacks landed another Tulsa recruit in Michael Hogue, a 6-8 forward from Metro Christian Academy.

SMU will try to maintain an up-tempo style with two Texas signees, Coach Dave Bliss said. The Mustangs did not officially announce any signings, but Troy Valentino of Houston Clear Lake and Brian Mayfield of Big Spring told the Dallas Morning News they were mailing in their letters of intent to SMU.

Area gridgers make AP Honor Roll

Herald staff report

A pair of Crossroads Country running backs were selected to The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Honor Roll for their performances in Friday's games.

Big Spring senior Charles White and Colorado City junior Beau Rees were selected to the elite group which is selected by AP sports writers every week.

Big Spring's White had a very busy evening, rushing 49 times for 267 yards and two touchdowns in a 22-14 victory over Snyder.

Colorado City's Rees gained 229 yards on 24 carries and scored on runs of 65, 5 and 4 yards in a 34-7 victory over Sonora.

Valley's Brandon Stark was on the sidelines for three plays in last week's 40-0 victory over Chillicothe.

Apparently, that's all the rest he needed to rush 54 times for 250 yards, score five touchdowns and make 17 tackles at his nose guard position on defense.

Stark, a 5-7, 155 junior, scored on runs of 1, 1, 10, 25 and 7 yards and earned the spotlight in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Honor Roll.

"I wasn't that tired, I was so excited," Stark said. "I was getting hit a lot and running and having a good time."

Stark's 54 carries was the fifth highest in recorded state history.

"I think I wore down the cornerbacks and safeties," Stark said. "I think I had them intimidated by the third quarter."

Odessa Permian's Shawn Crow set a school record 305 yards rushing on 24 carries and scored on runs of 4 and 79 yards in the Panther's 35-3 victory over San Angelo.

Crow left the game early in the fourth quarter.

Refugio's Willie Mack Garza went over the 2,000-yard rushing plateau in a 78-0 victory over Riviera, rushed 182 yards on 21 carries. He now has 2,081 yards for the season.

Tulia running back Merwyn Parker became the first player to rush over 100 yards this season against Littlefield, leading his team to a 14-0 victory.

Parker gained 108 yards on 24 carries, caught two passes for 23 yards and had 9 tackles.

Brenham's Chip Matejowsky completed a five touchdown passes, four to Jahn Finke, in a 53-23 victory over Magnolia. Mate-

Sleepy wakes up to score 37

By The Associated Press
When Sleepy Floyd really gets going, scoring 20 of his 37 points in the third quarter and leading Golden State to a 130-115 National Basketball Association victory over Phoenix, his teammates know just what to do.

"When Sleepy gets going like that, we just get out of his way and let him work," said Warriors forward Ben McDonald, who had 13 points and 14 rebounds in Wednesday night's game.

Floyd, who also had 12 assists, is averaging 28.8 points and eight assists through four games, but the victory over the Suns was Golden State's first.

"I hope I don't have to work this hard every time we win a game," Floyd said. "But if that's what it takes, that's what it takes."

Golden State led 66-59 at halftime, but the Warriors extended the margin to 104-85 after three quarters thanks to Floyd's outburst.

Chris Mullin scored 26 points for the Warriors, while the Suns, who won their first game when they beat Golden State 123-109 in Phoenix on Tuesday, were led by James Edwards with 26 points and Walter Davis with 21 points.

In other NBA games, it was Boston 120, Indiana 106; Chicago 105, New Jersey 96; Atlanta 94, New York 93; Utah 121, Dallas 92; and Milwaukee 109, Cleveland 101. The Philadelphia-Washington game at Landover, Md., was postponed because of snow.

Celtics 120, Pacers 106
Boston beat Indiana for the 22nd consecutive time at Boston Garden as Larry Bird had 42 points and 20 rebounds.

Bird and Fred Roberts scored 10 points apiece in the third period as the Celtics opened a 94-83 lead. The Pacers closed to seven points in the fourth quarter, but Bird scored nine points of an 11-2 spurt that made it 105-89 with 8½ minutes left.

John Long had 24 points and Reggie Miller 24 for Indiana. Robert Parish added 24 points for the Celtics.

Bucks 109, Cavaliers 101
Jack Sikma scored 26 points for Milwaukee, and his two free throws and two rebounds stifled a Cleveland rally in the fourth quarter.

The Cavaliers scored seven consecutive points to cut an 88-78 Bucks lead to three before Sikma's foul shots with 7:17 left. He then rebounded Cleveland's next two shots, and the Cavaliers got no closer than four points the rest of the way.

Brad Daugherty led Cleveland with 24 points.

Bulls 105, Nets 96

game as Michael Jordan scored 31 points at New Jersey, including 13 of the Bulls' first 15 in the fourth quarter.

Jordan sparked a 15-10 spurt at the start of the final period, giving the Bulls a 95-80 lead with 4:52 left. The Nets had gotten as close as four points in the third quarter.

Charles Oakley had 15 points and 12 rebounds for Chicago, and Ben Coleman and Dallas Comegys led New Jersey with 14 points each.

Hawks 94, Knicks 93
Atlanta handed New York its fourth consecutive loss as Dominique Wilkins scored 33 points and Spud Webb hit a tiebreaking jumper with 24 seconds left.

After Webb's shot broke an 88-88 tie, the Hawks hit four straight free throws in the final nine seconds, offsetting a basket by Sidney Green and a buzzer-beating 3-point goal by Mark Jackson.

Patrick Ewing had 26 points and 11 rebounds for the Knicks. Jazz 121, Mavericks 92
Utah, which lost to the Los Angeles Clippers on Tuesday, came back strong against Dallas as Karl Malone had 32 points and 10 rebounds. Malone, who was 13-for-17 from the field, scored 22 points in the first half as the Jazz took a 53-39 lead. A 25-13 spurt in the first quarter put them ahead to stay.

Mark Aguirre led the Mavericks with 21 points, but Utah held high-scoring guard Rolando Blackman to 11.

Walker hints about leaving Cowboys

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Herschel Walker wants to run, not get the runaround.

Upset about being used as a wide receiver and uncertain of his role with the Dallas Cowboys, he said Wednesday he might be better off with another NFL team.

"I think what is so frustrating about it is I don't know my role," Walker said. "It's very hard for me to prepare for a team when I don't know what I'm going to be playing."

The Dallas running back spoke on a telephone hookup with New England writers. The Cowboys visit the Patriots Sunday.

In last Sunday's 27-17 loss to Detroit, Walker ran 13 times for 65 yards. He also played wide receiver and caught five passes for 55 yards. He was on the field for every Dallas offensive play.

In Dallas' five games this season with regular players, Walker has been the Cowboys' leading rusher in four of them and top receiver in three. He is sixth in the NFC in receptions and 13th in rushing.

But Walker, who has expressed his frustration before, still isn't happy sharing the running duties with Tony Dorsett.

"I must not be the type of runner the Cowboys are looking for," he said. "If that's true, I'd rather they let me play somewhere else where I am that type of runner."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said Wednesday it was difficult finding enough playing time for Walker and Dorsett.

"Therefore," he said, "both of them are usually unhappy."

Injuries to wide receivers led to Walker's use at that position.

"It's very frustrating because I'm not a wide receiver," he said. "I like to do the things I do best. They've taken that away from me and it doesn't seem like anyone really cares except me and my family."

"I don't have a feel for just what the Cowboys have me here for," he added. "I'm used 75 percent as a decoy (at wide receiver). That's sort of bad."

Last season, his first with Dallas, Walker caught 76 passes and rushed for 737 yards.

He said he didn't know how long he could cope with the current situation.

"I want to help any team that wants to win ballgames," he said. "That's the reason God has put me on this earth, to go out and give my very best."

He said he could be satisfied if he ended his NFL career without reaching goals expected of him after a brilliant college career at Georgia and success in his three years with New Jersey of the United States Football League.

"Everyone is saying I'm in my prime," said Walker, 25, "but I've played five years of pro football. I've always said once I start getting bored with something, it's time for me to give it up."

Why would he be bored with the Cowboys?

"Just doing the things I'm doing," he said. "I'm not really playing. I'm being used as a decoy."

Asked what he might do outside football, he said he had business interests with former New Jersey owner Donald Trump and might consider returning to track competition, perhaps in the Olympics.

Frustrated Bean leading

KAPALUA, Hawaii (AP) — Andy Bean could only sigh when asked about his 1987 season on the PGA Tour.

"It's been a bummer," the big, red-haired guy finally said.

"It's been frustrating sitting at home, watching the other guys play," said Bean, who "messed up" early this year and has played only sparingly for six months.

"I didn't even go fishing," Bean said. "And when I don't go fishing, you know something's got to be wrong."

Bean, however, took a major step on Wednesday toward putting a positive finish to his worst season in a decade.

He birdied the final hole to complete a bogey-free 6-under-par 66 that left him one shot back of leader Sandy Lyle after one round of the $600,000 Kapalua International, an unofficial event sanctioned by the PGA Tour that offers a $150,000 first prize.

British Open champion Nick Faldo of England had a chance to tie Bean for second when darkness ended his round on Wednesday.

Faldo was facing a putt of about seven feet on the 18th green when play was suspended. He was to return today with a chance to complete a round of 66.

"The arm is coming around,"

Bean said. "I was playing good. The game is getting to be fun again. I'm having a good time again."

Bean, the defending champion of this tournament, has cashed only two checks since the Masters in April. He finished the official season with earnings of only $73,625, his poorest showing since his rookie year of 1976.

"It's the kind of year you just want to forget about," he said.

"But there's two months left," Bean added. "I've just got to make the most of it, make a lot of money in the next two months."

Lyle, a former British Open champion and the 1984 Kapalua winner with a record score of 266, continued his impressive play here. He birdied each of the par-5's despite precipitation ranging from drizzle to shower, didn't have a "5" on his card and was never in danger of making a bogey.

"It's nice when it all comes together," Lyle said. "There are good days and bad days. This was one of the good ones."

Lanny Wadkins and Payne Stewart were two shots off the lead at 67. They were followed by Ian Woosnam of Wales and Bruce Lietzke at 68.

Jack Nicklaus was well back at 73, one over par.

Lady Longhorns hoop team lose one, sign two

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Lady Longhorns, NCAA semifinalists last season after winning the national women's basketball title in 1986, have lost one player but signed two recruits for next year.

Aaron Farris, a redshirt freshman, has quit the team for personal reasons, according to Coach Jody Conradt.

Farris, 5-foot-11, averaged 31.3 points a game as a senior at Fort Worth Arlington Heights but hurt her knee as a freshman and was unable to practice for two months.

Signing with the Lady Longhorns were two Texas high school seniors — 5-8 Johnna Pointer of Shallowater and 5-9 Yolanda Phillips of Stephenville.

Pointer averaged 20.4 points a game last season. Phillips averaged 17.7 points and 13.7 rebounds, and also won the Class 4A long jump and triple jump competition in the spring.

have been drawing favor in 4A Outlook Pre-season polling.

Paxton said Brian Mayfield will play a major role in the roundball squad's efforts this year.

Brian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mayfield of Big Spring. In his junior year, he sat out five games with injuries, played in 26 contests and gave up varsity football to pursue his first love, basketball.

Credited with 71 assists last season, Brian shot a blistering combination percentage of 50 percent from the floor and 59 percent from the free-throw line. He was unanimously selected to the all-district 2-4A first team.

He totaled 507 points, 290 rebounds and 107 blocked shots in his junior season for the black-and-gold. In district play he turned in more impressive shooting: 166 of 313 tries from the field, he shot 61 percent from the charity stripe in league play.

Paxton describes Brian Mayfield as an all-around standout.

"He was all South-Plains Region first team, all Region-1 Texas Association of Basketball Coaches second team and the team leader in scoring, rebounding and blocked shots," Paxton said. "He was the team's most valuable player."

"Brian is an excellent athlete, student, and a person of the highest character," according to his coach, who also credits Mayfield with excellent citizenship and a B-plus academic average.

"He's very coachable," Paxton said. "He has excellent athletic abilities and skills, good speed and quickness and leadership

Chance to see Olympics

Big Spring Boxing Club coach J.V. Martinez recently attended a Olympic American Boxing Federation Convention in Tulsa, Okla.

The federation is embarking upon a program which involves a lottery in which the winner will win a ten-day trip for two to the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, Korea. All expenses will be paid including airfare and hotel, plus $500 for personal expenses.

Martinez still has some tickets for the drawing. A total of 2,500 tickets have been printed, and the cost is $20 per ticket, which must be paid prior to the drawing.

The date of the drawing is Aug. 1, 1988, from the New York Pick 4 Lottery. The USA Today newspaper, which is distributed throughout the country, publishes the winning number daily.

Anyone interested in trying to win this 10-day trip can call J.V. Martinez at 267-4365, or write to him at 2509 Gunter, Big Spring, Tx., 79720.

Turkey shoot Sunday

The Comanche Trail Muzzleloaders Club is sponsoring a turkey shoot Sunday beginning at 12 noon.

The target shooting competition features a division for muzzleloaders and one for bowhunters. Prizes for the best target shooters will be frozen Thanksgiving birds, according to Kay Porter, a member of the group.

The location, Porter said, will be on the 11th Place extension — a road running east of 11th Place past the Cameo Mobile Home factory and the Big Spring Schools Bus Barn. Porter said the turkey shoot will take place in the first caliche pit on the right past the bus barn.

Steers in scrimmage

The Big Spring High School Steers will scrimmage the San Angelo Central High School basketball squads in the Big Spring Steer Gym and the Big Spring High School Physical Education Gym Saturday.

Play begins at noon and concludes at 4 p.m., according to head basketball coach Boyce Paxton. The varsity and junior varsity boys' squads will play four 15-minute quarters, Paxton said, per team under game conditions.

Last week the Steers scrimmaged the Odessa High School and Lubbock High School basketball varsity and junior varsity squads in the first of the series of Saturday workout tilts.

Two in a row Clemens repeats Cy Young win

By RUTH RENDON
Associated Press Writer

KATY (AP) — Boston Red Sox pitcher Roger Clemens not only broke the Cy Young jinx, but also managed to win the American League's top pitching award for a second consecutive year.

"It was a little more anticipation this year," a smiling Clemens said Wednesday outside his home in this suburb of Houston. "Last year I just waited around to find out how much I won by. This year it was going to be a little closer. I think I did all right."

"I like the award, and my wife is already talking about the third one in a row now," he said. "It's gratifying that it puts me in a class with people I looked up to. I guess I'll try to beat the jinx again."

Clemens wasn't home when the call came that he had won the award. He was stuck in traffic, but officials called him on his newly-installed car phone.

"I think it's been the most exciting moment for me that I've been caught in Houston traffic," he said.

Clemens drove up to his home in a black Porsche with the license plate "Super K" and "MVP 1986" etched into the bumper. He said he had taken his 1986 Cy Young trophy to be cleaned "for good luck."

Clemens had a 20-9 record with 256 strikeouts in 281 2/3 innings this year. He received 21 of 28 first-place votes and 124 points in balloting by a panel of Baseball Writers Association of America members.

Jimmy Key of Toronto, 17-8 with a league-leading earned run average of 2.76, had four first-place votes and 64 points to finish a distant second. Dave Stewart of Oakland, at 20-13 the only other 20-game winner in the AL, was third with two first-place votes and 32 points.

Doyle Alexander, who went 9-0 for Detroit after coming to the Tigers from Atlanta on Aug. 12, got the remaining first-place vote and totaled eight points to finish fourth in the balloting.

"Whether I won or not, I felt I beat the Cy Young jinx and that's what I set out to do, to try and overcome that which is more prevalent in the American League," Clemens said. "A lot of guys have gone to the wayside after they've had a good year. I was looking for consistency and I got it."

Winning the award, however, was not the best news for Clemens.

"The best news is that a week ago we just found out that Debra (his wife) is pregnant again, so I guess these awards bring babies. She wants me to win my third in a row, but I don't know if she wants another little one that quick."

The Clemens already have an 11-month-old son, Kody.

Clemens, the game's dominant pitcher in 1986 with a 24-4 record, 2.48 ERA and 238 strikeouts, was written off early this year to repeat as the Cy Young winner.

After holding out in a salary dispute, he rejoined the Red Sox a week before the season started. He started 4-6 with a 3.51 ERA in his first 13 appearances going into mid-June.

Many felt he would not be the overpowering pitcher he was in 1986, when he started 14-0 and set a major-league record with 20 strikeouts in a game against Seattle.

After starting with a 4-0 shutout at Cleveland on June 17, Clemens went on a spree. He finished the season 16-3 with a 2.66 ERA in his final 23 startings. He capped the year with a 4-0, 12-strikeout victory over Milwaukee in Boston.

Except for his won-lost record and ERA, Clemens had a better year than in 1986 despite pitching for a poorer team. He led the majors with 18 complete games and seven shutouts, compared with 10 complete games and one shutout in 1986, when Boston won the pennant before losing a seven-game World Series to the New York Mets.

His 256 strikeouts last season were second in the league to Seattle's Mark Langston's 262, and only Charlie Hough of Texas pitched more innings, 285 1/3. He also had the league's third-best ERA of 2.97.

Steve Bedrosian, a reliever for the Philadelphia Phillies, won the National League Cy Young award Tuesday.

The last American League pitcher to win consecutive Cy Youngs was Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles in 1975-76. Denny McLain won the AL Cy Young in 1968 and shared it with Baltimore's Mike Cuellar the following year.

Clemens became only the third American League pitcher to win a Cy Young for a team placed as low as fifth. Dean Chance with the 1964 California Angels and Gaylord Perry with the 1972 Cleveland Indians also got the award with fifth-place teams.

Clemens earned $150,000 for winning the Cy Young. In addition, $150,000 will be tacked onto his 1988 salary of $1.2 million as a result of his contract negotiated last April.

Others receiving votes were Langston, Ted Higuera of Milwaukee, Frank Viola of Minnesota, Jeff Reardon of Minnesota, and Jack Morris of Detroit.

Balloting is done by a panel comprised of two BBWAA members from each league city. They are asked to name their top three candidates with five points awarded for a first-place vote, three for second and one for third.

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE

From the Carroll Righter Institute

RECAST FOR FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't allow persons with superstitious natures to cast a gloomy shadow on your day — it's just another Friday. This is a good day to ask favors of others, but only later in the day.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get your priorities straight early in the day, and follow through with them. Friends, associates, and relatives will all be helpful today.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't become involved in an argument between a family friend and a stranger. It's none of your business who is at fault.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan a short, romantic trip for yourself and your mate. Be sure you cover all details of this, including the necessary wardrobe.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Running off on a pleasure-seeking tangent could ruin some fine chances you will have in business, so think first.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) That problem at home will work itself out, so concentrate on business. Be wary of reckless drivers on the highway today and tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Postpone making any phone calls this morning. Focus your attention on your relationship to an associate which has been a little strained.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A recreational activity need not be expensive to be relaxing and fun. Don't let anyone talk you into anything extravagant tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may feel discontent about current situations, but put your grumbles aside and work on promoting more harmony at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be succinct and accurate in conversations today. Beating around the bush will only cause misunderstandings and anger.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't permit anyone to set your pace today. You'll have a rare opportunity to build up your bank balance today, so be alert.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't get involved in any arguments which don't concern you. Go after your personal goals which are easily attainable now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) If you smile too much your face could stick that way, so give it a try. Your mate is in an irritating situation, and needs your help and support.

If Your Child Is Born Today
He or she will need more rest and care than most during childhood, but will later become very healthy and resilient. Your progeny will also have a very sharp intellect, so make a strong education available. Rough-and-tumble sports will burn off that excess energy.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
