Akins says SSC report inaccurate

From staff and wire reports
Garden City is still in the running as a possible site for the supercollider project, despite reports to the contrary contained in a story published by an Austin newspaper, Thane Akins, project manager of the Garden City SSC Commission said this morning.

A Dallas-area site appears to be the Texas front-runner in the competition for the project, while two of the four proposed Texas sites appear to have been rejected, the Austin American-Statesman reported Thursday.

The Austin newspaper, quoting Texas authorities, said that the Texas locations no longer said to be under serious consideration are at Garden City and Hudspeth County in West Texas.

However, Akins disputes the story's credibility and said he is optimistic that the Garden City site has not been stricken from the list of 35 finalists.

"I don't know where that comes from," Akins said this morning about the newspaper report.

"I don't have any reason to believe that the Garden City site is not still on the finalist list," he said. "It may or may not be true... but if it were true, I feel certain that we would have been notified first."

Akins said procedures established for eventual selection of a supercollider location call for a list of the "best qualified" sites to be announced in early January.

Guidelines also require notification of all remaining applicants before the final list of sites is "leaked" to the press, Akins said.

"I question the credibility of anyone coming out with information any earlier," he said.

Akins said he attended an SSC seminar in Denver last week. No mention of the Garden City site being dropped from the list of finalists was made at that time, he said.

"If they were going to drop us from the list I think they would have said something then," Akins said.

An earlier list of SSC location finalists contained 36 sites before a New York site was eliminated because of environmental concerns, according to Akins. The New York site applicants were notified that their location was out of the running, before the story was given to the media, Akins said.

Meanwhile, the Austin newspaper's story said there are only two Texas sites remaining under consideration by a 20-member panel of the National Academies of Science and Engineering.

One of those sites is near Happy, not far from Amarillo, and the other is south of Dallas near Waxahachie. Both sites were proposed in September by the State's National Research Laboratory Commission.

The front-runner site in Texas is the Waxahachie location, Rep. Joe Barton, R-Texas, told the American-Statesman.

School board OKs asbestos suit payments

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring school district trustees emerged from a 40-minute executive session and approved a $56,419.17 settlement to a class-action suit filed against two asbestos suppliers.

Members voted unanimously to accept the proposal at the conclusion of their regular meeting at the newly-remodeled board room Thursday evening.

The suit had been filed against W.R. Grace Company and U.S. Gypsum by Big Spring and 82 other Texas school districts in an attempt to recoup expenses incurred by asbestos removal earlier this year, according to Assistant Superintendent Ron Plumlee.

Under terms of the agreement, Big Spring will recover roughly half of the $113,000 it spent for removal. Plumlee warned, however, that the settlement must be approved by all 83 districts before the payment will be made.

The settlement will be nullified if unanimous approval isn't gained, he added.

The settlement stipulates gross recovery by the district of $88,920.67, with attorney and litigation expenses of $32,501.52 subtracted from that amount.

Encapsulation expenses of $16,000 incurred by the district are not part of the agreement, Plumlee noted.

The settlement releases the two firms from liability for past expenses. They could be held liable, however, if any asbestos is found in the future or if any person suffers physical harm as a result of exposure to the material, he added.

The Environmental Protection Agency will conduct an inspection of district buildings early next year to determine whether any of the material remains. The EPA inspection will cost the district $15,000, Plumlee said.

After the meeting, he said he believed the settlement was adequate.

"I think it's fair," he said. "We originally didn't have any hopes of recovering any of the expenses." Plumlee added that there is not any Grace or Gypsum asbestos remaining in local school buildings.

In other business, the board:

• Approved an AIDS policy for district employees. The policy was discussed at the board's November meeting and include provisions for protecting the employee's confidentiality, while providing the public with information that an individual at the school has AIDS, McQuary said.

Affected personnel will be allowed to remain employed as long as they present no health risk to others at the school. Parents with children in the school will be notified of an AIDS case present, but

Dispute

Family claims it's being used to gain funds

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

A man who claims his family was used to encourage Salvation Army funds — at the same time he's being denied additional assistance — is unhappy with the practice.

The commander of the local Salvation Army declined specific comment that the agency is using them to raise funds while denying them financial aid.

Earl Stark, who says he's been unable to work because of health reasons since early this year, said that the Salvation Army has declined financial assistance to his family on three occasions. He added, however, that the agency has used his family's plight to solicit funds for its Christmas drive.

Stark said it was his family that was written about in a Dec. 8 Herald article headlined, "Family with disability, illness, needs aid." The story gave a sketch of two local families living on the same property — without identifying the families.

The article was one in the "Helping Hand" series that began Dec. 3 in the Herald. The paper, in cooperation with the Salvation Army, has published stories illustrating the plight of needy families who are seeking aid from the agency.

The articles also have instructed readers where they can contribute to the Army's annual Christmas drive, in addition to giving current totals from the campaign.

The Dec. 8 article described an elderly couple living in a house on the property, with their son and his family living in a trailer behind the house.

It described the son with a disability that prevented him from working and his wife, the story stated, cleaned houses when she could, but spent most of her time caring for her husband and their two children, based on information provided to the Herald by the Salvation Army.

The article also stated that the Salvation Army "..." is attempting to help them and have

Courtroom security questions in murder trial refuted

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

Despite questions to the contrary, local officials say security was adequate during Tuesday's examining trials involving four persons charged with capital murder. The trials were conducted in the County Courtroom on the second floor of the Howard County Courthouse.

Defendants Jeannie Hernandez Fonseca, Joe Hernandez, Frankie Hernandez and Arthur Islas Jr. were left unattended during a half hour court recess.

Justice of the Peace William Shankles said after the trial concluded that he "assumed" law enforcement officials were in the hallway during the trial and court recesses.

Spectator Elaine Oliver, however, said she was surprised that no law enforcement authorities were in the courtroom during the recess.

"It was a little strange; it made me uncomfortable that the defendants were left unguarded — and I looked around for a law enforcement official and there was none," Oliver said.

About 30 spectators attended Tuesday's trials, which ended about 4:15 p.m. with a ruling that the state had shown probable cause for evidence against the defendants to be considered by a grand jury.

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard, who was seated in the hallway during an afternoon court recess, said the judge had control over all activities in the courtroom, including security.

It's the judge's prerogative to run the courtroom as he sees fit, the sheriff said.

A recess was called about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday after the state made a motion to quash a subpoena request from defense attorney Luis Avila. Avila wanted to call sheriff dispatcher Bernice Nail to testify whether she properly notarized a statement given by his client, Arthur Islas Jr.

The statement incriminated all four defendants as being involved in the slaying of Noe Perez of Grand Prairie, whose body was exhumed from a shallow grave in Martin County.

Oliver said she thought it was unusual that during the recess family members entered the front section — normally barred to spectators — to embrace and talk with the defendants.

"We're not dealing with someone arrested for burglary, but with defendants that have been arrested for murder," she said.

Authorities "left a situation where many things could have happened," Oliver said.

The defendants were strip-searched before being returned to their cells, a process used to guard against an inmate seeking to smuggle something into a jail cell, Standard said.

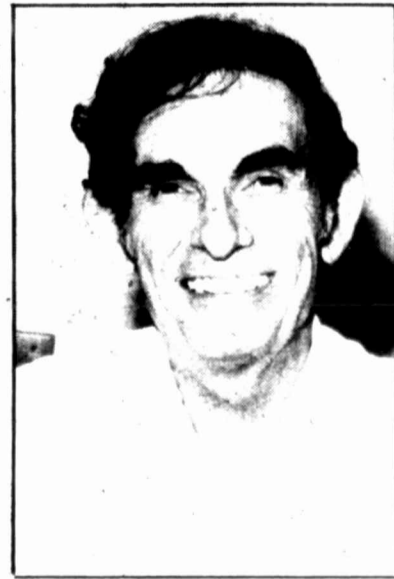

Jeannie Fonseca, a defendant in Tuesday's hearings, said she was thoroughly searched — including checking undergarments — by a woman deputy-before being returned to her cell.

Frankie Hernandez, another defendant in Tuesday's trials, said he wasn't searched.

"I haven't been searched since I was booked," he said. "I feel like the security was adequate," Standard said when asked again Wednesday about the situation.

A sheriff's office memo, which Standard said was posted Wednesday or Thursday, informs deputies that all inmates must be thoroughly searched.

"Anytime inmates are taken into custody or released from custody they will be searched," the memo said. "Also, at anytime prisoners are taken to the courts a bailiff will stay with them and they will be searched before being placed back into the jail," it stated.

Such reminders concerning office policies are commonly placed on the office bulletin board, Standard said today.

Dallas schools accept settlement

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Independent School District's share of a multimillion-dollar settlement from two manufacturers of building materials containing asbestos could be as much as $5 million, a school district lawyer says.

The Dallas school board has voted to accept the offer from U. S. Gypsum and W. R. Grace, which supplied asbestos-laden insulating and acoustical material to the district and 82 other Texas school systems.

The districts are seeking to recover the cost of removing the asbestos, which has been linked to cancer.

Other school boards are expected to vote on the offer this month, DISD lawyer Ben Niedecken said Wednesday. The total amount of the offer is being kept secret by order of a U. S. District Court in Beaumont, where the lawsuit was filed.

The school districts were dividing the settlement offer according to the districts' costs of removing the asbestos products, Niedecken said.

Spiritualist arrested for scamming British woman with stomach 'curse'

HOUSTON (AP) — A spiritual adviser accused of bilking $3,600 from a British woman who believed a curse caused her stomach pains was freed from custody Thursday after posting bail on a theft charge, police said.

The adviser, known as Sister Zulu, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of theft by deception, a third-degree felony, said Houston police officer J. Lee.

She was released after posting a $2,000 bond, said police spokesman Dan Turner. Lauretta Smith, 44, of Gloucestershire, England, said she had sought the woman's help in curing her stomach pains. She had read about the Houston woman in a magazine advertisement and then telephoned her.

There is no telephone listing with directory assistance for Sister Zulu and Lee would not release the adviser's real name.

Within a few weeks, Ms. Smith said she had sent the woman $3,600.

"She was so convincing. She kept saying, 'Look, you need help,'" Ms. Smith said of the adviser.

"She said, 'The spirits want you straight away,'" Ms. Smith said. Ms. Smith said she was told to come to Houston with $30,000 or she would die. So, she flew to Houston where she met the adviser Tuesday at a local motel.

Lee said Ms. Smith told the woman she did not have the $30,000 and demanded her $3,600 back. When the adviser refused, Ms. Smith contacted police.

Another meeting was set up and the spiritual adviser was arrested at the same motel Wednesday after Ms. Smith demanded her money and again was refused.

Ms. Smith said she plans to return to England soon.

Houston AIDS hospital closes today

HOUSTON (AP) — Crushed by financial losses, the nation's first private AIDS hospital officially closes its doors today.

The Institute for Immunological Disorders, which opened in September 1986, lost $8 million in its 14-month lifespan, more than $5 million of which was through treating indigent patients, officials said.

Heralded at its opening as a marketplace solution to a growing health problem, the institute now is an empty white building beside a busy city freeway.

All patients have been transferred to other facilities, and little or no ceremony will mark the closure, according to Anne Wheeler, spokesman for American Medical International Inc., the institute's parent company.

In its first few months, the institute handled about 1,000 patient visits per month, medical director Dr. Peter Mansell said. The hospital had 150 beds, but most people were treated as outpatients, and federal funds were used to test experimental therapies.

By March, the amount of care the institute gave to the indigent far outstripped the $250,000 set aside for that purpose in its first year.

The facility then stopped accepting new indigent patients and laid off 26 of its 175 workers. Despite the cost-cutting, losses continued to mount and in August, AMI announced it was phasing out the institute.

Cisneros gives Gorbachev advice

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mayor Henry Cisneros gave Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev advice on how to run his country and in turn was asked to adopt a sister city in the Soviet Union.

Cisneros, past president of the National League of Cities, was one of six Americans and the only mayor who talked to Gorbachev during a breakfast meeting Thursday at the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

Cisneros told the Soviets that the United States has progressed because of its ethnic groups and the decentralized governmental system.

Cisneros later welcomed an idea by Yuri Dubinin, the Soviet ambassador to the United States, to adopt a sister city in the Communist country.

"I feel it would be a very good thing to do," Cisneros said Thursday upon his return home. "It would be a contribution in the exchange of peace that currently is under way."

Cisneros told the Soviets about the role of local governments in the United States.

"I suggested to him that most of the big problems that confront the society, like transforming our educational system and dealing with our racial diversity, are going to be settled lower in the federal system," Cisneros said.

Texas sheriff indicted on 29 charges

LIBERTY (AP) — Sheriff E.W. "Sonny" Applebe was free on a $13,000 personal recognizance bond today after a Liberty County grand jury indicted him on a total of 29 felony and misdemeanor charges.

District Judge W.G. "Dub" Woods arraigned Applebe Wednesday on charges ranging from felony aggravated perjury to misdemeanor official misconduct.

The grand jury handed down 13 indictments, which included eight felony and 21 misdemeanors counts.

Applebe made no comment after the arraignment, referring all questions to his attorneys, state Sen. Carl Parker of Port Arthur and Harlan Friend of Liberty.

Friend was present at the arraignment, but declined to comment. A secretary in Parker's office told the Beaumont Enterprise the senator had not received copies of the indictments and would have no comment.

"Sen. Carl Parker is my attorney and I will let him do all the talking for me," Applebe said. "I have a lot to say, but he is a better spokesman than I am."

"The grand jury decided to investigate after allegations of improper actions by the sheriff were brought to them," District Attorney Michael Little said. "It would be improper for me to go into it any further than that."

The district attorney's office has no plans to attempt to remove Applebe from office, Little said, but his office does plan to prosecute the cases.

The grand jury, held over from this past April, initiated the investigation in September.

The Texas Department of Public Safety's intelligence office, the Texas Rangers and the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agency conducted the investigation, Little said.

November sales rise

WASHINGTON — Retail sales, in the first full month after the stock crash, rose 0.2 percent in November as the Christmas shopping season picked up steam, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said that retail establishments sold $125.9 billion worth of goods in November, up $210 million from October.

But the modestly strong November report was balanced by a sharp downward revision from earlier estimates for the two previous months. October sales were refigured at a 0.9 percent decline, instead of a 0.2 percent drop. The September estimate went from minus 1.1 percent to negative 1.7 percent.

November sales were 3.4 percent higher than a year earlier.

Violinist dies at 86

LOS ANGELES — Jascha Heifetz, a Russian child prodigy who became the world's highest paid violinist by age 18 and continued to grow in stature as he toured the world and taught his "perishable art," has died at age 86.

Heifetz died late Thursday at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, where he underwent neurosurgery, hospital spokesman Ron Wise said today. He had entered the hospital on Oct. 16 to be treated for complications arising from a fall, Wise said.

Isaac Stern, himself a renowned violinist, said today in London: "Since his (Heifetz's) debut in the United States, he was the most powerful force in violin playing in the world. He has been in the inner ear of every violinist since at least 1930."

Gifts put in wrong car

FAIRFIELD, Conn. — A woman, weary from four hours of Christmas shopping, lost all of her gifts when she mistakenly placed them in someone else's car.

Cecce Sheppard of Orange said the latch on the hatchback of the car she mistook for her own recently was broken "just like mine, so I had to jiggle it to get it open."

After placing the gifts in the car, Sheppard returned to the store to get some more packages. When she returned to the parking lot, the car and her gifts were gone, she said. "Hopefully, this person will recognize the Christmas spirit," Sheppard said.

PTL's Bakker ordained

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Former PTL leader Jim Bakker has told associates he was ordained four weeks ago by a Tulsa, Okla., church: the charismatic Faith Christian Fellowship International.

The Assemblies of God defrocked Bakker on May 6 after he left PTL in March amid a sex-and-money scandal. He has been meeting with officials of the Faith Christian church, said Bakker's agent, Jeff Franklin.

Summit

President updating Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is filling in congressional leaders today on his summit with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev and his plans to go to Moscow for Round IV next year to pursue an arms-destruction agreement going far beyond the treaty signed here. A U.S. official, who spoke on condition that he not be identified by name, said the three days of talks produced an understanding that a treaty for the destruction of strategic weapons would be verified with on-site and short-notice inspection, overcoming a potential barrier to agreement.

No great successes on other issues were claimed by Reagan or by Gorbachev. Reagan could report only "some very limited movement" on human rights and no deal for ending the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan.

Gorbachev, before flying off to meet with Soviet bloc leaders in East Berlin, promised to "work hard" to have a treaty ready for signing in Moscow next year to reduce sharply strategic weapons delivered by bombers, submarines or land-based intercontinental missiles.

Such a meeting would be the fourth Reagan-

Gorbachev summit and would come just before America went through the process of picking the candidates who will compete to become Reagan's successor.

Reagan sent Secretary of State George P. Shultz on a NATO swing to sell to allies the treaty calling for the destruction of all medium- and shorter-range missiles held by both sides.

Max Kampelman, chief U.S. arms control negotiator in Geneva, said on NBC-TV's "Today" show that "we really accomplished a great deal" this week in laying the groundwork for serious bargaining on a long-range missile treaty.

"We have now agreement on a number of the controversial issues that divided us a week ago," including Soviet agreement on a sub-limit of 4,900 ballistic missiles and on technical rules for counting missiles.

Reagan and the Soviet Communist Party general secretary both hailed the importance of the medium-range missile ban treaty they signed this week.

"I believe this treaty represents a landmark in post-war history," Reagan said in a nationally broadcast address Thursday night a few hours after winding up his talks with Gorbachev.

Both its abolition of an entire category of nuclear weapons — those with a range of 315 miles to 3,125 miles — and intrusive inspection arrangements are unprecedented.

Hostage may be released

BEIRUT, Lebanon — One of eight Americans held hostage in Lebanon will be released soon because he is gravely ill, the Beirut magazine Ash-Shiraa reported today.

The brief report did not name the ailing hostage. It said his condition has "deteriorated and he is facing the threat of death."

There was no way of verifying the 27-word report carried by the Arabic-language weekly, which gained international fame by breaking the story of secret U.S. arms sales to Iran in November 1986.

However, not all its recent reports on foreign hostages held in Lebanon have been accurate.

Israeli soldiers kill four

NABLUS, Occupied West Bank — Israeli soldiers today shot and killed at least three Arab protesters in a refugee camp in the occupied West Bank during a demonstration after Moslem prayers, Arab and Israeli news reports said.

The Arab-run Palestine Press Service, which monitors events in the occupied territories, said four Palestinians were shot and killed and scores wounded.

Israel radio reported troops shot and killed three Arab protesters.

The Israeli army confirmed there were casualties at the Balata refugee camp 45 miles north of Jerusalem, but said it did not know how many.

Opposition still divided

SEOUL, South Korea — The government today warned that it would not allow violence to wreck next week's presidential election, and opposition leaders again failed to agree on fielding a single candidate.

Opposition candidate Kim Young-sam also said today that if elected, he would make an "epoch-making proposal" to open the way for North Korea to take part in next year's Seoul Olympics. Kim did not elaborate on the proposal, but North Korea has vowed to organize a communist bloc boycott unless it is made a co-host of the games.

Iraq, Iran trade strikes

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Iraq bombed western and southwestern Iran on Thursday and claimed its warplanes raided an Iranian tanker in the Persian Gulf. Iran retaliated by shelling Iraqi cities.

The official Iraqi News Agency quoted a military spokesman as saying air force planes flew 75 combat missions on Iranian troop gatherings and economic targets.

Two sugar factories, one close to Bakhtaran in western Iran and another at the southwestern city of Dezful, were identified as being among the targets hit.

India spending millions to clean Ganges

BENARAS, India (AP) — The Indian government is spending more than $200 million to clean up the sacred Ganges River, the Hindus' revered cleanser of the soul that has become a 1,560-mile sewage line.

The Ganges begins its journey at a crystal-clear glacier in the Himalayas but ends in a filthy, muddy torrent in the Bay of Bengal.

An estimated 2 million people bathe every day in the Ganga, the Hindi name for the river, to wash away their sins. On major Hindu festivals, the number rises to 6 million or 10 million faithful who fill its waters with religious powders, flower petals, oils and soap suds.

But each day more than 237,000 gallons of industrial and other waste also are discharged into the river as it courses through the heartland of India, an area where more than 300 million people live.

Industrial pollutants, municipal sewage, partially cremated bodies and animal carcasses — the Ganges absorbs them all. Only 16 of the 98 cities and towns along the river have anything resembling a sewage treatment system.

Jawaharlal Nehru, India's first prime minister, called the Ganges "the river of India, beloved of her people, round which are intertwined her racial memories, her hopes and fears, her songs of triumph, her victories and her defeats."

Nehru's grandson, Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi, more recently said: "The Ganga is the source of our poetry and legend, the sustainer of millions. Today it is one of the most polluted rivers. We must restore the pristine purity of the Ganga."

Summit seen as fitting tribute to Samantha Smith legacy

READFIELD, Maine (AP) — Former classmates of Samantha Smith, who traveled to the Soviet Union on a peace mission in 1983, hailed the latest U.S.-Soviet summit as a fitting tribute to the Maine schoolgirl.

Samantha was "the first people link" in an era of improved superpower relations, Jessica Cail, a 10th-grader at Samantha's former school, Maranacook Community School, said Thursday.

"She was something that the people of both countries knew and really loved," added Debbie Hastings, 17. "She was sort of a bond between us."

Eight-year-old Samantha won international headlines when she visited the Soviet Union in 1983 at the invitation of then-leader Yuri Andropov. She died in a plane crash when she was 13.

Speaking with The Associated Press at an after-school session as the summit concluded in Washington, the students recounted their own visits to the Soviet Union and this summer's exchange tour by a Soviet group. They agreed that people-to-people diplomacy can help ease tensions between the two nations.

Mark Bates, 16, said his involvement with the school's Project SAME, for the Soviet American Memorial Exchange, persuaded him that promoting peace is "something we're obligated to do."

"Maybe not have it be our (whole) life ...," he added, "but have it be part of our life, where we let people know that ... the Soviets are good people and that we can get along with them and can achieve peace."

Five NATO members sign similar arms agreement

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Five NATO members prepared to sign a pact today with the United States binding them to some of the provisions in the new U.S.-Soviet treaty banning America's intermediate-range missiles from Europe.

The pact will allow Soviet inspectors to visit bases in Britain, West Germany, Belgium, Italy and the Netherlands over a 13-year period to verify U.S. compliance with the treaty.

to allow U.S. inspection of their sites.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz flew to Brussels today to brief the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the treaty. President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev signed Tuesday in Washington and other talks the two leaders held during the summit.

The pacts stress the sovereignty of the basing countries and force Soviet and U.S. inspectors to obey national laws.

Shultz and the foreign ministers from the five nations where U.S. cruise and Pershing 2 missiles are based were to sign the pact at a separate ceremony at NATO headquarters.

The superpower treaty provides for a system of on-site inspection granting U.S. and Soviet inspectors unprecedented access to each other's military sites. During a three-year period, after ratification, the treaty allows 20 inspection visits yearly, with a maximum of 10 in any one country. Fifteen annual visits can be made during the next five years and 10 a year in the last five years.

The U.S.-Soviet treaty commits the Europeans to accept the conditions Washington negotiated with Moscow, allowing Soviet inspectors to make checks in their countries under anti-cheating provisions.

The treaty provides for the destruction of 2,441 shorter- and medium-range nuclear missiles. Also, the United States is to remove the nuclear warheads on 170 Pershing 1A missiles deployed in West Germany.

Later, the five European basing nations are expected to sign separate bilateral accords with the Soviet Union on the same verification issue.

To date, NATO has deployed 429 medium-range cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in Belgium, Britain, West Germany and Italy. The Soviet have deployed 470 missiles of the same category.

Likewise, the United States is to sign similar pacts with Czechoslovakia and East Germany, which host Soviet missiles,

Before the arms treaty was signed, NATO planned to deploy an additional 260 missiles and Moscow another 356.

Lifestyle

Woman needs advice on her job history

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary in a "one-girl office," working with two gentlemen. After two years, I am getting ready to quit my job because one of the men has become impossible to get along with. I dread coming to work and can't wait to leave. Consequently it is affecting my work.

Dear Abby

This is not the first time this has happened to me. Although I generally get along with people, there always seems to be that one individual at every job who gets on my nerves.

I am 33 years old and have had five jobs in the last 10 years. I always leave after two years. I am not good at faking my feelings, and after two years I find myself fed up with one person where I work. I envy people who have stayed in one job for years and say they "love" it. I'm competent, have never been fired and have no trouble getting a job, but I'm beginning to wonder if maybe something isn't the matter with me. Is there a support group for Job Quitters Anonymous?

I.M. SERIOUS IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

DEAR SERIOUS: You are very insightful to wonder if perhaps the problem isn't you. You need to find out why you've established this pattern of quitting after two years. Can it be that you don't really want to succeed, so you set yourself up to fail?

I've never heard of a "Job Quitters Anonymous," but I do know that with counseling you could probably find out why every job goes sour after two years. It's worth a try. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: As the Christmas season approaches, school teachers everywhere brace themselves for the annual deluge of expensive plaques, ceramic apples, refrigerator magnets, pins and ornaments, all inscribed "No. 1 Teacher."

Abby, no teacher would display such self-proclaiming objects in his/her home or classroom. After simulated delight at receiving each "unique" gift, the useless gimcracks are stored with more of the same from years past.

A handmade card would be much more appreciated. I would prefer that the child spend the money on something for the family's holiday. If a gift is considered necessary, one that would be truly enjoyed would be a small gift certificate for a meal out. Sign me...

RELUCTANT GIFT COLLECTOR

DEAR RELUCTANT COLLECTOR: Your letter was a first. Teachers everywhere will bless you for your candor. Now, let's hope the would-be buyers of those "No. 1 Teacher" items will read Dear Abby and take your sensible suggestion.

DEAR ABBY: "Douglas" and I have recently divorced. Our daughter, "Diane," is 9. Douglas has two older children from a previous marriage. He did not tell Diane about them, and he asked me not to tell her, so she doesn't know they exist.

Abby, doesn't Diane have the right to know that she has two half-siblings somewhere? I don't think it's fair to keep it from her. Also, I'm afraid if I don't tell her, she may find out from someone else and end up resenting me one day for not telling her.

Is it my responsibility as the custodial parent to let her know that she has half-siblings? I know where they are living.

ON MY MIND

DEAR ON: I think Diane should be made aware of her half-siblings. Tell Douglas that if he doesn't tell her, you will. If the half-siblings are adults, contact them and find out how they feel about meeting Diane. If they are minors, get in touch with their mother and find out if they want to be "found."

DEAR ABBY: "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send a check or money order for $2.00 and a long, stamped (20 cents) self-addressed envelope to Dear Abby Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 117, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.

Lunchroom lady

Has fed thousands of schoolchildren

AUSTIN (AP) — Her name is Novel Lee Clark, but to many of the thousands of Austin schoolchildren who have eaten the meals she's cooked, she's known only as the "Lunchroom Lady."

Clark, the cafeteria supervisor at Webb Elementary School in North Austin, has been preparing lunches for Austin Independent School District students for 35 years.

Before starting at Webb 11 years ago, Clark worked at Highland Park Elementary, the defunct University Junior High, Wooldridge Elementary, Kealing Junior High School and Blackshear Elementary.

Some of the students she served at Blackshear now teach at Webb. "I can't go to the mall or store or almost anywhere without running into kids I've had over the 35 years," said Clark, 60. "They remember me, and I get embarrassed because sometimes I can't think of their names. There have just been so many of them."

Clark is one of about 690 people who work in the school district's 85 kitchens.

Vivian Bauhof, the school district's director of food services, said more than 5.7 million lunches were served to students during the 1986-87 school year. That works out to nearly 33,000 a day. Another 1.8 million breakfasts were served last year to students. Adult district employees ate more than 343,000 meals.

If all of the hamburger patties served by the district last year were lined up next to each other, they would stretch over 59 miles. Last year, the district also dished out more than 615,000 slices of pizza, served more than 7.6 million half-pint containers of milk and mixed 385,950 pounds of white flour — about the same weight as 23 full-size school buses.

Bauhof and Clark said there has been a gradual trend over the years to serve meals that can compete with fast-food restaurants but still be nutritious.

"35 years ago we didn't have powdered stuff like we have now," Clark said. "We all had to make it all from scratch. If we had potatoes, we'd peel potatoes with a potato peeler. Now we use the instant."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Hollywood and History: Costume Design in Film" will be on view at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art Dec. 20, 1987-March 6, 1988.

The exhibition will feature 50 film costumes, several hundred designers' sketches, movie stills and publicity photographs.

The museum says it organized the show "to demonstrate how Hollywood costume designers, drawing on historical sources but often unconsciously influenced by contemporary aesthetics, helped to create the popular view of history for the film-viewing public."

NEW YORK (AP) — The family tree of Great Britain's Queen Victoria and her consort, Prince Albert, has a lot of branches.

Some seven generations have produced more than 670 descendants of the queen, who died in 1901, and all of them are in "Queen Victoria's Descendants" by Marlene Eilers, an American librarian and genealogist.

The book, published by Atlantic International Publications, is a catalog of offspring ranging from the queen's first-born, a daughter, Victoria, in 1840, to the monarch's first great-great-great-great-grandchild, Felicitas Catharina Malina Johanna von Reiche, born last year in West Germany.

PHARMACIST ROBERT HELDFOND is shown above in his pharmacy in Portland, Oregon where he first developed his wrinkle cream, EBS.

PHARMACIST'S WRINKLE CREAM GREAT SUCCESS ACROSS NATION

It's a dream come true for an Oregon pharmacist! Robert Helfond visualized in pharmacy school of creating a beauty cream which would help skin look younger.

Apparently he succeeded, for his wrinkle cream, EBS, which he worked on for so many years and believed in, is now being sold in over 2,000 department stores in the United States and Canada.

When asked why EBS is so successful, Pharmacist Helfond replies, "Because it really works."

Research lab tests show that EBS helps facial lines appear smoother when used twice daily. Satisfied customers also love the way EBS leaves their skin feeling soft and velvety and younger-looking. You will be so pleased to find that EBS is 5 creams in one jar... EBS is a wrinkle cream, moisturizer, night cream, day cream, and makeup base... all in one.

Discover for yourself. If you are concerned about your skin appearing to be aging too quickly, try Helfond Formula EBS Cream.

Note: EBS Cream is available at JCPenney in the Big Spring Mall. Sold with a money-back guarantee (Complete details available in store.)

LET US REMEMBER THAT HOLIDAY JOY IS SOMETIMES DENIED

It is regrettable to intrude upon this season of happiness with anything unpleasant, and yet this may be the best time to do it. While we who are fortunate enough to live in a land of freedom are making our joyful preparations for the upcoming holidays, we must remember those in other parts of the world who are not blessed. Among other tragedies of their barren lives, they are denied the right to observe the teachings of their faith or to display its symbols. In fact, they are more likely to be persecuted for their beliefs, or at least forbidden to leave the country. This modern version of the intolerance which has caused mankind to suffer all through history is sad indeed. Let us pause during this holiday season to pray for these tormented souls, and to resolve never to rest until the day when they may share the blessings of freedom with us.

Wherever there is a human being, I see... their cry came up to God by reason of their bondage.

MENANGALE, Australia (AP) — Australia's Anglican bishops say there is a "fundamental moral issue" behind the AIDS epidemic. At their annual conference, the bishops called promiscuity the principal cause of the spread of acquired immune deficiency syndrome, and said that in recent years people have tended to regard promiscuity as acceptable and without social costs. They said AIDS is not only a medical-social problem but an important moral issue, and that any campaign based solely or primarily on "safe sex" or "prevention" fails to address the fundamental moral issue. "Casual sexual relationships have consequences that are destructive, not only to health through sexually transmitted diseases but also to stable and fulfilling human relationships and social life," the bishops said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "dedication of so much of the national budget to military purposes has greatly reduced our ability to deal with the social and economic needs of the nation, especially the growing needs of the poor," says Monsignor Daniel F. Hoye, general secretary of the U.S. Catholic Conference.

CHICAGO (AP) — Egypt's ambassador to the United States says "the collective will of the Arab world is clearly in favor of peace with Israel." Abdel Raouf El Reedy told the Association of Reform Zionists of America, meeting in conjunction with a convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, that the mood in the Arab world was "enough is enough."

The mood is that "it is time to leave the past behind us and strike a historic compromise that would end the status quo of hostility and establish a new relationship between the Arabs and the Israelis," he said.

Priests organize town hall meetings

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Roman Catholic priests on Corpus Christi's Westside say they want more for their neighborhoods and are organizing town hall meetings in order to be heard by its officials.

"We're not forming a political action group," said the Rev. Lawrence White, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church. "We're not politicians," he said.

Town hall meetings, the first of which will be conducted late in January, will be "a forum of discussion for ways to better lives on the Westside. We cannot force the mayor or the City Council to respond," White said.

Representatives of five Roman Catholic parish churches met Nov. 11 with Mayor Betty Turner during a regular monthly meeting of the Westside Deanery of the Diocese of Corpus Christi.

The priests say they are acting on their own, "as a deanery," and that what they're doing doesn't require permission from the Most Rev. Rene Gracida, Bishop of Corpus Christi.

"It went very well," said White, who is dean of the Westside churches. "The mayor was very open, very receptive."

The issues were of the bread-and-butter variety: Street lighting, police protection, sanitation services.

The priests also wanted to know what the city could do about decrepit rental property owned by absentee landlords, and the proliferation of nightspots near residential areas.

"It's a predominantly Spanish-speaking, high-poverty area," said the Rev. Peter McNamara, for nine years pastor of Our Lady of the Pillar Church, in the heart of the Molina neighborhood.

"We're not wanting it to develop into a slum," McNamara said. "I don't know what the rules are, but the mayor said she would check into things and get back to us."

District 3 City Councilman Leo Guerrero, in whose district two of the Westside congregations are located, said the clergymen also should be in touch with "neighborhood activists" who keep the city councilman aware of the needs of his district.

"This is the first time I've

The Rev. Lawrence White of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church in Corpus Christi along with other Roman Catholic priests are organizing town hall meetings in order to be heard by city officials. Town hall meetings, the first of which will be conducted in late January, will be a "forum of discussion for ways to better lives on the Westside," White said.

heard of it," Guerrero said of the priests' meeting with Turner last month. "The priests never call me, and in this case neither has Betty."

In fact, said Guerrero, McNamara recently served on a committee that approached the city to rename and improve Laguana Park with better lighting, more benches and a memorial dedicated to eight Molina men killed in the Vietnam War.

McNamara agrees that the park project worked well. "But there's always some more that can be done, isn't there?"

That's true, says David Noyola, one of Guerrero's touchstones in Molina, and grass-roots politics is how it works.

"I've lived here all my life," Noyola said. "And I spend a lot of time getting things done for people in my neighborhood. Molina has come a very long way from what it used to be."

"But it would be hard for me to do what I do if I moved to the Southside," he said. "You have to have some kind of organization, and you have to try to get the people involved, people from the neighborhood, meeting once a month to deal with the problems of neighborhood."

District 1 Councilman Frank Mendez, who says he would "love to sit down and talk" with the Roman Catholic pastors, also says they are about to encounter the calculations, if not the action, of politics.

"A year ago, the city went into census tracts 4 and 5 and condemned 300 properties to get the landlords to make improvements," Mendez said.

"But when you do that, you run the risk that the landlord will decide just to tear the house down, and that will force people out of their homes," he said.

"Or the improvements will be made, and the landlord will raise the rent $100 a month. We could do something like that on the Westside," said Mendez, "but you have to be careful when you start doing that."

The priests resist the notion that they are organizing for political action.

"Is it political," asked White, "for a family to come together to make family life better? We have to deal with politicians, and department heads who are employees of the city..."

"We just want people to hear our voice," he said.

"This is not like COPS," said the Rev. Herman Defler, pastor of St. Joseph Church. "That's where you blast away," he said of Communities Organized for Public Service, a combative San Antonio group rooted in the political theory of the late Saul Alinsky of Chicago, Ill.

"They got results, but almost by terrorist tactics," Defler said of infamous public "accountability sessions" staged by COPS and feared by San Antonio politicians and even state officials in Austin.

"Rome was not built in a day," Defler said. "Some evils are not going to go away from some time... I am very encouraged by the mayor's attitude" at the November meeting.

At least two parishioners of Our Lady of the Pillar say there's not much the church can do that isn't already being done by activists like Noyola.

"The church does not have the funds to do it," said Jesus Alaniz. "The only thing the church can do is help the poor," to some extent, he said.

At Our Lady of the Pillar, said Alaniz "We're poor, but we make projects and raise funds for the Vincent De Paul Society to help people in need."

Henry Pantoja, also a parishioner of Our Lady of the Pillar, says the church should get involved with neighborhood problems but that it will be joining a process that is already active.

"If anybody can help," he said of Noyola and other activists in Molina, "It's those people right here."

Godliness with contentment is great gain

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I'm concerned about my husband, because he's letting worries about our money problems eat him up. He let someone talk him into putting most of our life savings into an investment that was not good, and now we've lost almost everything. Now my husband blames himself and is very anxious about our future, since he's only a few years away from retirement. How can I help him? — Mrs. E.J.

DEAR MRS. E.J.: Your husband is probably being "eaten up" by several worries and emotions right now, and you need to realize these and do what you can to help him deal with them. For example, he's probably feeling very defeated and even angry at himself because he made a wrong investment decision — in other words, his pride has been hurt. Also, he's undoubtedly worried about the future.

First, let your husband know that you love and respect him. Don't criticize him for the decisions he made about investments; any investment can go wrong, and anyway all of that is in the past. And he needs to know that you will love him and be with him in the future, even if you have to change your lifestyle to some degree. Perhaps it would be helpful to watch expenditures more closely, and curtail your own spending in any way possible.

Billy Graham

More than that, however, I would encourage both you and your husband to see what the Bible has to say about money, and how we are to trust God and not our money. That isn't to say money is unimportant, for it isn't. But when we look to our money for security instead of to God, we have made money an idol. The Bible says, "But godliness with contentment is great gain. For we brought nothing into the world, and we can take nothing out of it. But if we have food and clothing, we will be content with that" (1 Timothy 6:6-8). If you have never given your lives to Christ, turn to Him and trust Him for the future. When you realize you're in God's loving hands, you can face the future with trust and hope.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you have to become a missionary or a preacher to serve God? I'm still in school and trying to decide what I want to do in the way of a career, and I want God to use my life in some way. I don't think I could ever be a preacher, however, because I'm scared of speaking to groups of people. — D.T.

DEAR D.T.: God can use all kinds of people, in all kinds of situations. Yes, God calls some people to be preachers and missionaries — and He may call you to be one also. But God also calls people into many other careers. Wherever He sends you, He can use you, if you're willing. Recently, I met several stewardesses on an airplane who were committed Christians. They told me how they knew God had called them to that position, and how He was using them as witnesses for Jesus Christ right where they are. The same could be said for almost any position. Remember that Jesus was a carpenter for years before His public ministry began.

The key is to put Christ and His will first in your life. Have you committed your life to Christ, and are you seeking to walk with Him every day? If not, ask Him to come into your heart by faith, and then ask Him to guide you as you face the future — not just about your career, but about every decision you're making.

Comeback Hawks nip WTC

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

SNYDER — Just when it seemed like the Western Texas College Westerners had nailed the Howard College Hawks' coffin door shut, the Hawks came back to life.

Howard's resurrection act capped a splendid 81-77 win over WTC Thursday night, evening Howard's conference record at 2-2. It was the Westerners' first league game of the season. Howard is now 7-9 for the year; WTC falls to 3-13.

To gain the win, Howard overcame a 70-57 deficit with 7:49 remaining in the contest. The Hawks did it with a relentless trapping press, which forced six Western Texas turnovers in the last five minutes of the game.

A happy Howard coach Jerry Kassin agreed defense keyed the win.

"It was a great game. We were 13 down and came back. We came up here expecting to be pressed, and we pressed. All the kids pulled together," said Kassin.

Keying the press were guards Larry Pettigrew and Chris Miller, but the entire Howard team played tough defense. Pettigrew and Miller got three steals each.

Both players also had good offensive outings. Pettigrew hit a team-leading 20 points, and Miller followed with 16.

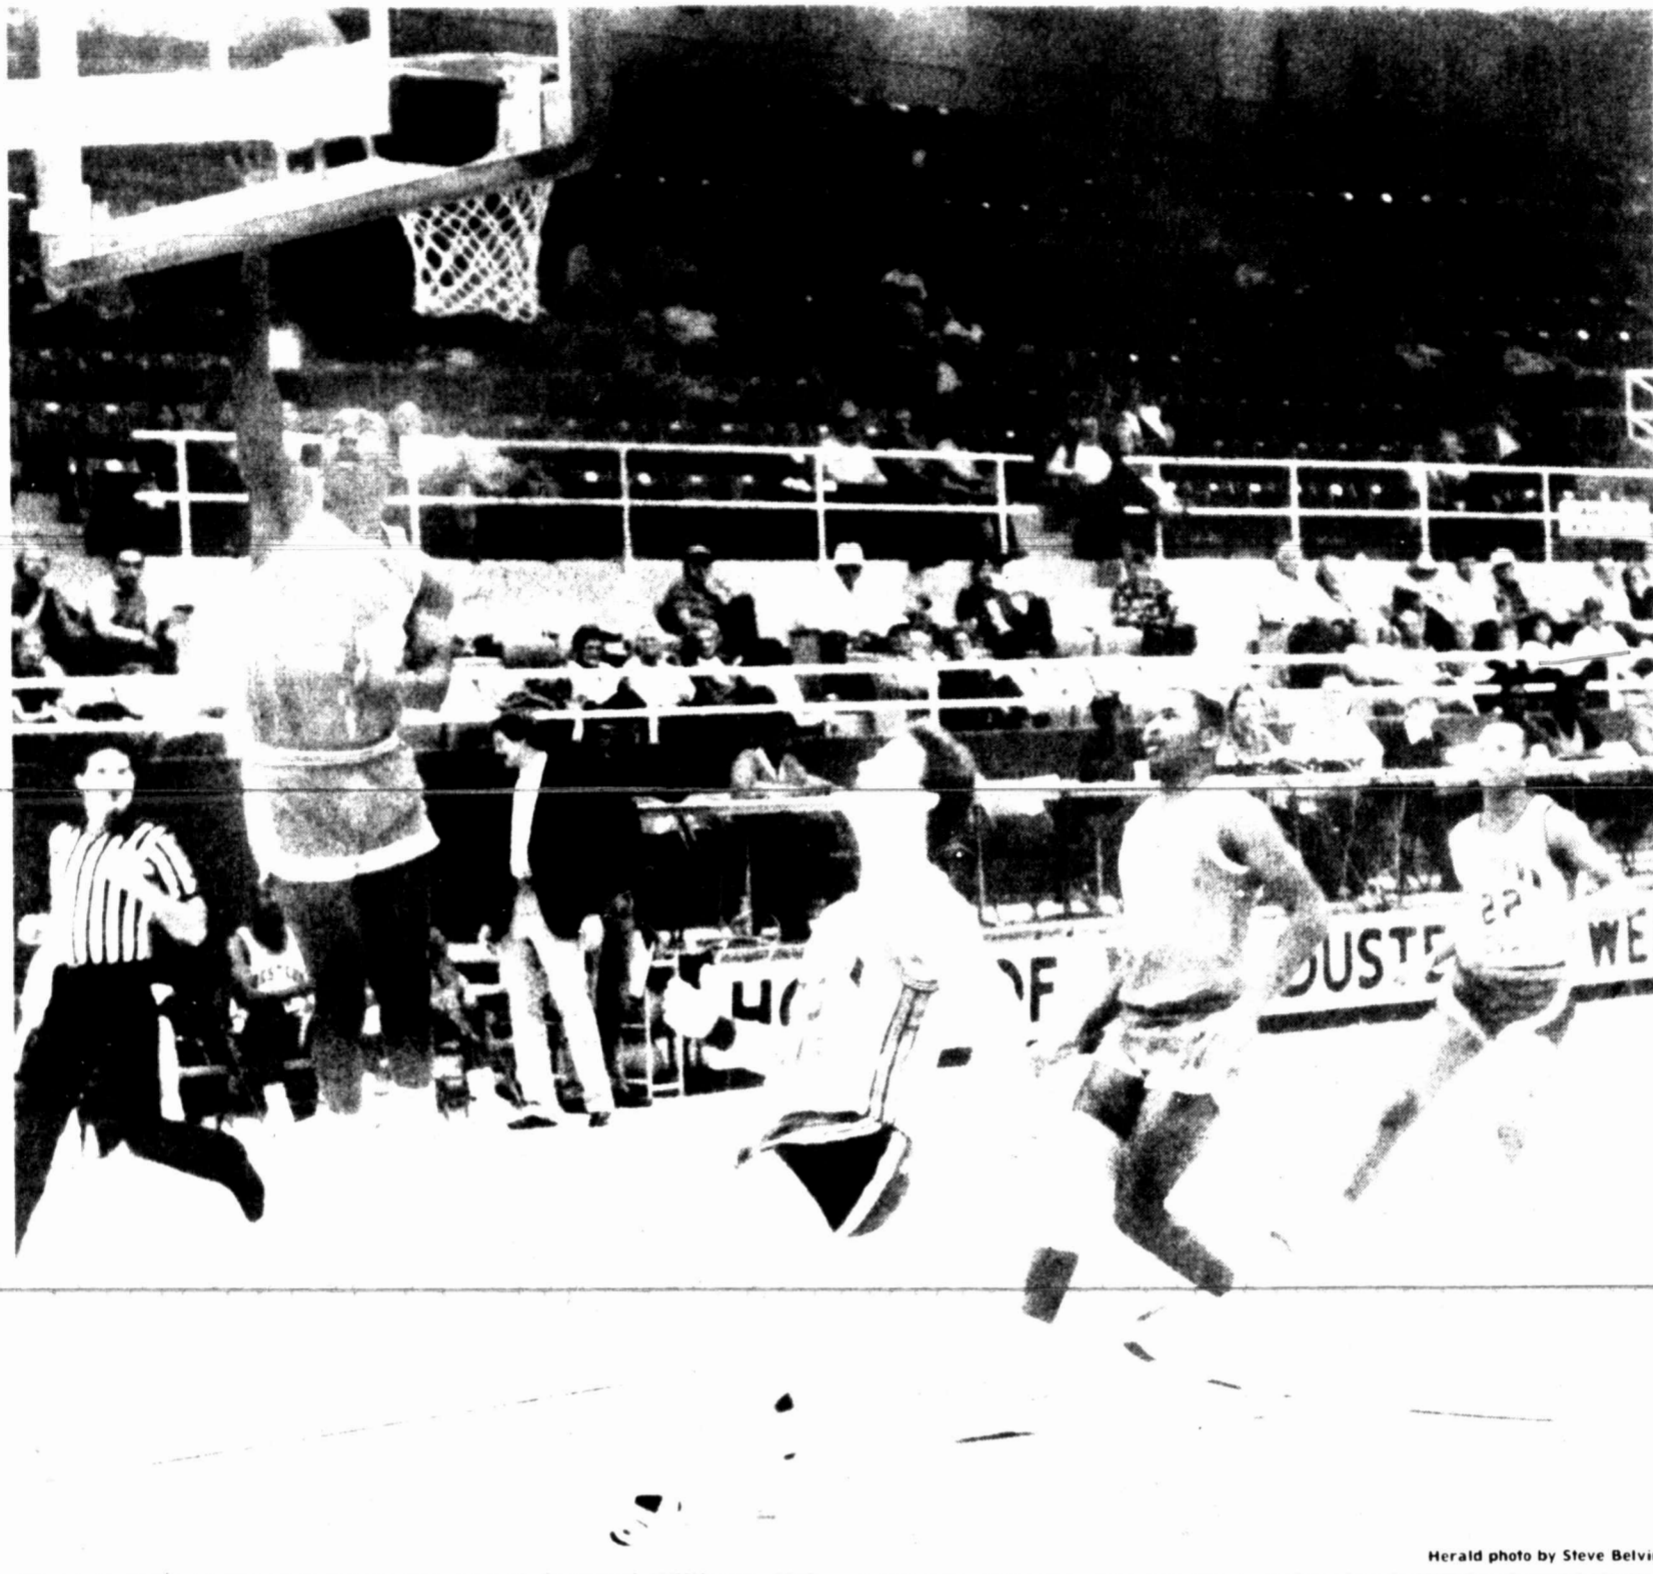

Howard got into the 13-point hole because of cold second half shooting. The surprising Westerners held a 40-37 halftime lead and took advantage of Howard's cold shooting to pad it.

Howard managed just four of 18 field goals in the first 10 minutes of the second half and Western took a 59-49 lead.

Three minutes later it had grown to 13, and both teams went to their trapping presses. But Howard's got the most results.

Pettigrew started things by turning in a three-point play off a slam. Later he made two free throws, cutting the margin to 72-66 with 4:36 remaining.

The lead was 76-73 when Tyrone Greer scored a basket at the 3:25 mark. After a WTC free throw, Pettigrew scored on a lay-in, cutting the margin to 77-75 with 2:15 left. The HC press caused two consecutive WTC turnovers, and Howard converted on the second one. Myron Wright heaved a fullcourt pass to Greer, who slammed, tying the game at 77 apiece with 1:25 left.

Howard College Hawks' freshman guard Bernard Williams (24) scores on a layup during second half-action Thursday night in Snyder against the Western Texas Westerners. Williams had gotten

A few seconds later, Pettigrew made the play of the game. He picked a WTC player's pocket, and scored a layup at the other end. This gave HC a 79-77 lead over a stunned WTC squad with 40 seconds left.

Western missed a free throw, Greer rebounded and Howard stalled 20 seconds off the clock before Pettigrew was fouled with two seconds left. He sank both shots, ending a great Howard comeback.

"We played 14 out of the 15 players and we pressed them hard. I think our press finally wore them down," said Kassin.

Greer and Jemal Ross played strong games underneath for Howard. Greer scored 14 points and pulled down a game-high 13 rebounds. Ross scored 10 points and grabbed five rebounds.

Western Texas was led in scoring by forward Darrell Nelson, the conference's leading scorer. Nelson scored 22 points, nine below his average.

Post player Walter Martin played the best all-around game for the Westerners. The freshman from Snook scored 20 points and grabbed nine rebounds.

Howard will be off for Christmas break and won't play again until Jan. 7 when they compete in the Trinity Valley tournament in Henderson.

Lady Steers travel to Andrews

The Big Spring Lady Steers will go after their 13th win in-a-row tonight when they battle the Andrews Mustangs at 7:30 in Andrews. Coach C.E. Carmichael's dy silteers won their district opener Tuesday, a 50-30 decision over Sweetwater. In that game sophomore guard Peggy Smith scored 16 points and senior forward Michelle LeGrand added 11 points.

Freshman action gets underway at 4:30 p.m. and junior varsity play follows at 6.

Junior varsity tourney slated

The Big Spring Steers' junior varsity is hosting a tournament at Steer Gym this weekend.

The JV Steers, 1-4 for the season, will play Lamesa tonight at 7:30. The first game today will pit Midland Lee against San Angelo Lake View at 4:30 p.m. The Big Spring sophomores will play Snyder at 6 p.m. Odessa High drew a bye.

Action begins at 9 a.m. Saturday. The championship game is slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Benefit shoot set for Dec. 20

The Comanche Trail Muzzleloaders' Club will host a benefit black powder gun and archery shoot for the youth group of the Coahoma Church of Christ and the youth of Coahoma at 1 p.m. Dec. 20.

The shoot will be located at the club's range, in the caliche pit east of the Cameo mobile home factory on 11th Place extension.

Quail Dobbis, nationally-known Pro Rodeo clown, will be assisting with the event. Entry fees for black powder marksmen are $5 and entry fees for archers are $3.

Queens fall short against Dusters

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

This time, the Howard College Hawk-Queens almost had it all — really. But in their Thursday night game against Western Texas College in Scurry County Coliseum, two fouls cost the Queens their second conference win before Christmas. The Lady Dusters won 63-59.

In the first of the two crucial fouls, which came with less than 1:30 left to play, Karen Mitchell went to the free throw line to sink two — but the basket she'd made as she was hit did not count. Instead of tied at 59, the score stood at 59-57 after her foul shots.

The second foul came with less than five seconds left in the game. Trying desperately for a game-saving steal, Callie Cooley missed. She was cited for the infraction and the Dusters' Kayla Thompson had two free shots with four seconds on the clock.

Thompson sank both her free throws, delighting the sparse but vocal Snyder crowd — and nailing the Queens to the wall, 63-59. The Dusters' margin held through the final buzzer.

"I thought the strength of our game was our zone defense," Coach Don Stevens said following the game. Stevens departed Big Spring for a recruiting trip late Thursday night.

"We played a good game. We had a good defense and we played hard," he said. "There were just a few little flurries that eventually cost us the game."

Stefanie Massie had a game-high score of 37 points, more than doubling Western Texas' leader, Thompson, who had 18 for the night. Renee Crooks had 10 points for the Queens, and WTC had 11 points from Carolyn Colbert and 10 from Julie Roewe to round out the double-figure scoring.

Renee Crooks sank the first points of the game for the Howard women with 19:36 left. The Queens built steadily on that lead throughout the period, leading by as many as six points.

Stevens' squad held off Western Texas' last charge to carry a two-point margin into the locker room at the half, 36-34.

After intermission, nobody scored for almost three minutes, until Cindy Johnson committed her fourth foul of the night, sending Thompson to the free throw line.

The Duster sank both shots to tie the score at 36 with 18:24 left in the game. For the rest of the outing, nip and tuck it was, indeed.

HC's Mitchell's crosscourt pass went awry and Coach Stevens called for a timeout to talk to his squad.

When the action resumed, Johnson and Massie tied for a rebound off a wild WTC shot. At the far end of the court they fed the ball to Crooks, open more often now that Stevens has all but abandoned his cherished double-post.

Unfortunately she missed. Roewe then sailed downcourt to produce a basket, giving WTC its first lead, 38-36, with 17:33 left.

Seconds later Stefanie Massie answered with the tying bucket to make it 38-all with 17:09 to play. The ballgame seesawed back and forth; at 14:43 to go, the Queens led 42-38, but WTC came back to knot the game at 42 with 13 minutes left.

Bad passes plagued the Queens all night. Johnson, who played a tenacious defense and had the Howard women's sole three-pointer, saw the ball swatted away time after time during her passes, many meant for Mitchell.

Mitchell, too, was victimized by the Lady Dusters' banditry, losing half a dozen passes to the tip and run efforts of Nicky Allen, Nancy Bals and Stephanie McKnight.

Roewe and Colbert hit from outside all night long, but it was McKnight who contributed all three of the Western Texas three-point field goals.

For the game, WTC had nine total fouls; Howard had 13. No one fouled out for either side.

The Queens, 3-10 for the season and 1-3 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference games, have begun their Christmas break. They will return to practice Jan. 3 and to play Jan. 6-8 in the South Plains College Tournament in Levelland.

WESTERN TEXAS COLLEGE (63) — Thompson 24 4 8; Smith 21 4 5; McKnight 3 0 9; Roewe 5 0 10; Colbert 4 3 4 11; Bals 1 0 2; Houston 8 2 2 11; Totals 25 10 14 63. Fouled out: none. Three point goals: McKnight 10.

Winter meeting comes to end

DALLAS (AP) — The name of the game at baseball's winter meetings is trades, and some of the game's biggest names — Dave Parker, Lee Smith, Floyd Bannister, Phil Bradley — traded teams.

But the biggest news at the five-day, swap-and-shop meet was the big names that almost moved on to new towns, names such as Pedro Guerrero, Dave Winfield, Kirk Gibson, Brook Jacoby and Bob Welch. The winter meetings are regarded by some as a no-longer-necessary holdover from the days when baseball general managers sat around hotel lobbies from breakfast 'til bedtime, talking trade with anyone who would listen. The interleague trading deadline coincided with the end of the meetings and as many as 50 to 60 players switched uniforms in a single week.

Baseball

"You were afraid to go to bed because somebody else might make a deal for someone you wanted," Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog said. "Now there's no trading deadline — you can make a trade 365 days a year — and you might as well hold the winter meetings the week before spring training."

But the 86th winter meetings at a sprawling Texas resort hotel were anything but dull or uneventful. There were only eight trades involving 22 players, but as Pittsburgh General Manager Syd Thrift said, "Sometimes you lay the foundation in December for the trades you make in April."

The last deal, and the only one swung Thursday, saw Kansas City obtain 16-game winner Floyd Bannister and minor-league infielder Dave Cochrane from the Chicago White Sox for young pitchers John Davis, Melido Perez, Chuck Mount and Greg Hibbard.

The Royals have wanted another starter since trading Danny Jackson to Cincinnati for pitcher Ted Power and infielder Kurt Stillwell, and Bannister was one of the most-sought players at the meetings. The Yankees and Milwaukee Brewers also made bids for the left-hander with a 117-128 career record.

"Combined with our recent trade, we think this puts us in a strong position to contend for the AL West title again in 1988," John Schuerholz, the Royals general manager, said.

Other major trades saw Cincinnati deal Parker, the two-time NL batting champion, to Oakland for promising pitchers Jose Rijo and Tim Lincecum; Philadelphia got the fleet Bradley from Seattle for run-producing outfielder Glenn Wilson and two other players, and Boston got its long-sought bullpen closer, Smith, from the Chicago Cubs for pitchers Al Nipper and Calvin Schiraldi.

The meetings officially ended Wednesday, but many club executives stayed around Thursday, and not to visit the Southfork Ranch.

"You don't like to leave because you lose the momentum you had here," Toronto GM Pat Gillick said. "There were times when we were talking to four or five teams."

Littlefield upsets Steers

DENVER CITY — Upsets were the name of the game in the opening round of the 28th Annual Mustang Invitational Thursday, and the Big Spring Steers were one of the casualties, losing 69-60 to the 3-A Littlefield Wildcats.

The loss puts Big Spring in the loser's bracket of the eight-team tournament against Frenship, a 64-62 upset loser to Seminole. The other tourney upset was Lubbock Coronado JV's 68-60 win over Denver City. In other tourney action, Hereford downed Snyder 60-50.

Big Spring will play Frenship at 4 p.m. today.

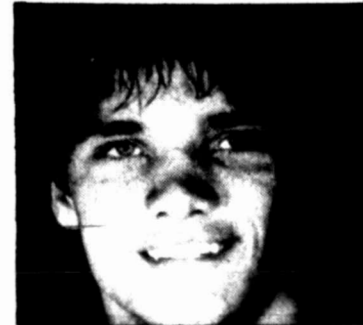

Littlefield led 33-29 at the half and really took control of the game in the third quarter, outscoring Big Spring 19-10 in the period. The Wildcats took a commanding 52-39 lead going into the final eight minutes of play.

Led by reserve guard Tony Spears, the Steers narrowed the Littlefield lead to four late in the game. But could get no closer than that. Spears scored eight points in the final quarter.

"Immaturity beat us," said a dejected Steers coach Boyce Paxton. "We're on a see-saw right now, up and down. We're trying to find that consistency. Littlefield wasn't an awesome looking team and we just took them for granted."

"I'm getting where I don't want to play 3-A teams anymore. I'd just as soon play all 5-A teams. This was another lesson in humility. I'm getting tired of those lessons. I thought the kids felt they've had enough of 'em."

Senior forward Brian Mayfield led Big Spring in scoring with 25 points. He was the only Steer in double figures. Mayfield and Thane

Texas Tech bops UTA

LUBBOCK (AP) — Wes Lowe came off the bench to score a career-high 25 points and ignite sluggish Texas Tech to an 81-70 win over Texas-Arlington in college basketball play.

The Red Raiders improved to 2-3, while the Mavericks fell to 2-2.

Lowe entered the game with 5:30 remaining in the first half and dropped in 13 points to propel the Red Raiders from a 20-18 lead to a 36-31 advantage at halftime.

Lowe and junior guard Todd Duncan, who scored all 15 of his points in the second half, fueled a 27-12 spurt in the first 10:30 in the 16th-ranked Sooners' 89-87 victory Thursday night over Florida State. "They had us on the ropes, but we bowed up and made the defensive plays."

Down 84-80 with less than three minutes to play, Oklahoma, 5-0, scored nine consecutive points before Florida State's Aubrey Boyd hit a 45-foot shot at the buzzer. Mookie Blaylock's steal and layup with 38 seconds remaining snapped an 84-84 tie and gave the Sooners the lead for good.

"The true test of a club is getting out there and winning on the road against a good team," Tubbs said. "Florida State is a good team."

In other games involving Top Twenty teams Thursday night, No. 11 Temple defeated St. Joseph's 83-62, No. 15 Michigan downed Austin Peay 88-67 and No. 19 Notre Dame stopped Prairie View 89-52.

Oklahoma twice opened up 16-point leads before Florida State, 3-1, rallied late in the game.

"We did a great job of coming back, but exhaustion and our youthfulness hurt us at the end," said Florida State Coach Pat Kennedy, who has just one senior on the team.

Florida State was led by George McCloud's 20 points. Tony Dawson and Tat Hunter added 17 points apiece and Tharon Mayes had 15. Hunter's 16 rebounds helped Florida State to 52-34 rebounding advantage.

Ricky Grace scored 25 points, Stacey King added 24, Harvey Grant 16 and Blaylock 13 for Oklahoma, which hit on 34 of 67 shots, including eight of 16 from 3-point range.

No. 11 Temple 83, St. Joseph's 62

Mark Macon scored 22 points — matching his average — and helped key a 12-0 first-half surge as Temple, 3-0, defeated crosstown rival St. Joseph's in an Atlantic 10 game. Howard Evans added 18 points for the Owls.

Rodney Blake paced St. Joseph's with 22 points.

St. Joseph's put four players in a zone and had one man follow Macon, a defense the freshman saw for the first time in college but faced often in high school.

It didn't work. Macon said he was happy passing the ball in that situation.

No. 15 Michigan 88, Austin Peay 67 Gary Grant scored 28 points as Michigan, 6-1, took control of the game early in the second half and went on to defeat Austin Peay.

The Wolverines put together a 10-point run that gave them a 58-41 lead with 13:44 to play. Austin Peay couldn't get closer than 13 points the rest of the way.

Andre Harris had 21 points to lead Austin Peay, 2-3.

No. 19 Notre Dame 89, Prairie View 52

Keith Robinson scored 18 points and grabbed 17 rebounds as Notre Dame overwhelmed Prairie View. David Rivers added 17 points for the Irish, including six during an early decisive streak.

Prairie View, 0-4, committed 18 fouls in the opening 20 minutes, and the Irish responded with 17 points from the free throw line en route to improving their record to 3-1.

Notre Dame had a 19-4 scoring streak after Reginald Jones hit the first of three 3-point field goals to give the Panthers their last lead at 10-8.

Jones led the Panthers with 19 points.

Other Games

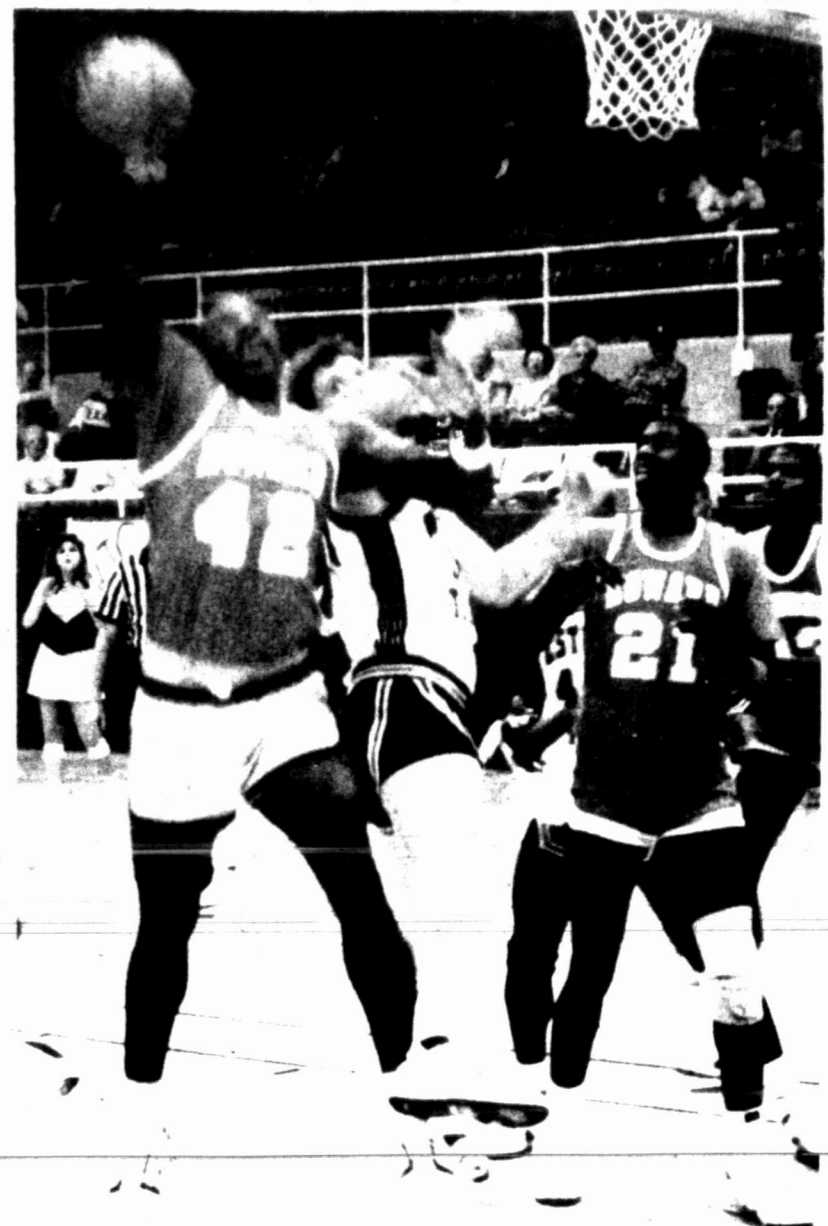

Robert Smith's short bank shot with 12 seconds remaining gave Oklahoma State a 66-65 victory over Tulsa. Smith, called for goaltending moments earlier, grabbed the rebound and laid the shot off the backboard after Richard Dumas missed a short jumper. Tulsa, working without a timeout, got a jumper from Rod Parker with three seconds remaining, but it bounced off the rim and Dumas grabbed the rebound as time expired.

Oklahoma State, 2-3, was playing its first game in newly renovated Gallagher-Iba Arena. Tulsa dropped to 2-3.

At Providence, R.I., Delray Brooks scored 22 points, including the last eight, as Providence College held off Boston College 85-82 in the Big East basketball opener for both teams. Brooks tied the game 80-80 with a 3-pointer with 2:02 left to play, put Providence ahead for good at 83-80 on another 3-pointer with 43 seconds remaining and sealed the victory with two free throws with 19 seconds left.

At Madison, Wis., Danny Jones scored 18 points and Wisconsin hit 11 straight free throws down the stretch for a 66-55 victory over intrastate rival Marquette. The victory was only the second for Wisconsin Coach Steve Yoder in his five meetings with Marquette.

At College Park, Md., freshman Brian Williams scored eight of his career-high 24 points as Maryland ran off a 14-0 spurt early in the second half en route to an 81-77 victory over East Carolina.

Rebound Howard College Hawks' forward Tyrone Greer (42) pulls down a rebound over Western Texas' Gerald Wells while Howard forward Jerrod Elliot (21) looks on. Howard won the game 81-77.

second period that allowed Tech to open a 63-43 advantage with 9:16 left.

The closest the Mavericks could come after that was 10 points on several occasions. Willie Brand paced UTA with 19 points, while Ike Mitchell added 16, and Rodney Ford had 14, 12 of them on 3-point goals.

Joining Lowe and Duncan in double figures for Tech were ex-Lamesa standout Jerry Mason with 10 and Greg Crowe with 11.

Oklahoma 89, Florida St. 87 After watching his team score nine straight points to come from behind and remain unbeaten, Oklahoma Coach Billy Tubbs raved about the Sooners' defense.

"We made the defensive plays down the stretch and then converted them," Tubbs said of the

Knicks blast weary Nuggets

By The Associated Press

The New York Knicks caught the Denver Nuggets at the right time — right after one of their biggest victories.

"They looked fatigued," said New York's Sidney Green, who scored nine points and grabbed a team-high 11 rebounds in the Knicks' 113-97 victory over Denver on Thursday night. "We just took advantage of the opportunity."

The Nuggets defeated the Boston Celtics on Wednesday night at Boston Garden — the first time a points for only the third time in 18 games this season.

Eleswhere, it was Indiana 108, New Jersey 91; Chicago 111, Milwaukee 105; Houston 98, Utah 93, and the Los Angeles Clippers 113, Seattle 96.

Knicks 113, Nuggets 97

Patrick Ewing scored 24 points and Bill Cartwright came off the bench to match his season-high with 23 points in New York's victory. Rookie guard Mark Jackson had 16 points and 16 assists.

"If I get my minutes, I'll do what I've always done," Cartwright, the Knicks' backup center, said. "I'm just trying to do what I can while I'm in there. Tonight I was just in good scoring positions."

Cartwright, with a three-point play and a baseline jumper, capped a 21-5 New York run in the fourth quarter that broke the game open.

"We beat a very good team tonight," Jackson said. "It was a matter of getting the ball down low to the big guys at crunch time. They either got the hoop or kicked it out to the open man."

Pacers 108, Nets 91 Chuck Person scored 18 points and Indiana limited New Jersey to four points in a six-minute second-half stretch as the Pacers spoiled Bob MacKinnon's debut as the Nets' interim head coach.

The loss was the 10th straight and 14th in 16 games this season for the Nets, who fired Coach Dave Wohl on Wednesday and put MacKinnon in charge for the second time in six years.

Mike Gminski led New Jersey with 24 points and 14 rebounds.

Clippers 113, SuperSonics 96 Mike Woodson scored 27 points as defense-minded Los Angeles defeated Seattle and extended its club record of not allowing 100 points by an opponent to six consecutive games.

The Clippers, fifth in the NBA in team defense after finishing last a year ago, held Sonics' scoring leader Dale Ellis to a team high 20 points.

Trailing by 15 points early in the fourth quarter, the Sonics cut the deficit to 86-77. But Los Angeles responded with a 12-3 run, capped by rookie Ken Norman's 20-footer and layin, to take a 98-80 cushion with 6:48 left. Norman had a career-high 14 points.

Rockets 98, Jazz 93 In Houston, Allen Leavell scored 20 points, had eight assists and got four of his five steals in the second half to lead Houston over Utah. The Rockets, who had trailed since late in the second quarter, outscored Utah 10-2 in the fourth quarter and took an 87-86 lead with 5:13 left in the game on a pair of free throws by Purvis Short.

Leavell, who had four points at the half, led the second half surge. Akem Olajuwon scored 19 points and grabbed 14 rebounds and Jim Petersen had 14 points and 11 rebounds.

Karl Malone paced Utah with 21 points, while Thurl Bailey had 18 points and eight rebounds.

Bulls 111, Bucks 105 Chicago backup center Dave Corzine broke a 101-101 deadlock with 1:48 left on a driving layup and rookie guard Scottie Pippen followed with a 10-foot jumper to give the Bulls their triumph over the Milwaukee Bucks.

Michael Jordan scored 32 points for the Bulls. His five consecutive points on two baskets and a free throw in the span of 1:09 helped Chicago take a 101-97 lead. But a pair of free throws by Paul Pressey and a Craig Hodges jumper tied the score with 2:28 left, setting the stage for Corzine and Pippen.

Terry Cummings led the Bucks with 27 points.

Manster may not start

IRVING (AP) — Dallas Cowboy Randy White may not start in Sunday's game against Washington because of a pinched nerve and his role with the team could be reduced next year if injuries continue to plague the defensive tackle, a coach says.

"My projection for Randy the year after (this) probably would be to be a situational type of player," defensive coordinator Ernie Stautner said Thursday.

He said the team would use Danny Noonan in the run area and White more in passing.

Should White not start Sunday, Noonan, the Cowboys first round draft pick from Nebraska, could get the call, his first start with the team.

White suffered the pinched nerve earlier this season and aggravated it on the first play in Sunday's 21-10 loss to Atlanta.

NBA

Midwest Division team had won on Boston's home court since Houston accomplished the feat on Nov. 18, 1981.

"We played hard, but we just didn't have it," Denver Coach Doug Moe said. "It was one of those games when the other team did everything right. It's also tough physically to play back-to-back games and tough emotionally to stay where we were last night. The only thing that kept up in the game was our hustle. I'm proud of that."

The Nuggets, the NBA's top-scoring team at almost 119 points per game, were held to under 100

YOUR HOROSCOPE

From the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Be sure you are very precise and exacting in what you say or write, especially where any contracts are concerned. Use your resourcefulness to improve the conditions in your place of employment.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be enthusiastic about the activities ahead of you, since you can handle them very nicely now. Don't do anything to upset a co-worker.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Bring out your greatest charm and magnetism during the day, but be sure you don't overspend at an entertainment tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do whatever you can to make your home more clean and functional. It is important that you get plenty of rest and relaxation tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Keep busy at your correspondence during the day. Use much care when driving, and don't make any casual visits tonight.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be careful in the spending of money today. You'll get good advice during the day, but not tonight, so be alert and don't make snap decisions.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Exercise great care in asking any favors tonight, since someone close to you may be in an ill humor and could react very badly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Confide only in those friends whom you know you can trust. Enjoy a hobby by privately tonight. Avoid any arguments with your mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Friends of good character have been busy furthering your interests without being asked to. Let these people know you appreciate them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Attend to those puzzling problems which have been bothering you and clear them up easily. If you need a favor, just ask.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are intent on planning a trip, be sure to consider every detail. If you want to begin some new activities, now is the time to do so.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make a list of your liabilities and assets so you will know just where you stand financially. Avoid having a quarrel with your mate tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Have a talk with business associates and decide how you can all work together more efficiently. Stay at home this evening.

If Your Child Is Born Today
He or she will always want everything to be in good order, but may tend to be a bit fussy, so try to encourage a more easy-going attitude. Fields such as engineering, architecture or electronics would suit your progeny well, so make sure a good education is provided.

Plane crash

Note found in wreckage promised no mercy

CAYUCOS, Calif. (AP) — A fired airline employee scribbled a vengeful note on an airsickness bag informing his ex-supervisor that he would get no mercy aboard a doomed Pacific Southwest Airlines flight, authorities said.

"Hi Ray, I think it's sort of ironical that we end up like this," read the unsigned message, which authorities said Thursday was written by David Burke to Raymond Thomson. "I asked for some leniency for my family, remember. Well I got none and you'll get none."

Investigators found the message amid the debris on a central California hillside where Pacific Southwest Airlines Flight 1771 crashed Monday, said Richard Bretzing, special agent in charge of the FBI in Los Angeles.

A .44-caliber Magnum pistol found Wednesday at the crash site was linked on Thursday to Burke. "We have arrived at the point where we have the suspect we believe is responsible," Bretzing said. "Were he still alive we have more than sufficient evidence to charge him."

Officials also said evidence indicates an explosion as well as gunfire may have destroyed the plane as it crashed while bound from Los Angeles to San Francisco, killing all 43 aboard.

He also said a part of Burke's body had been located and had been identified through a fingerprint check.

Burke, 35, worked 14 years for USAir, parent company of PSA. But he was fired as a Los Angeles customer service agent on Nov. 19 after a hidden camera filmed him allegedly stealing less than $100 from flight cocktail sales.

In a visit to San Francisco on an unspecified November date, Burke borrowed a .44-caliber Magnum Smith and Wesson handgun and 12 rounds of ammunition from Joseph Drabik, a friend and fellow USAir worker, said an FBI affidavit filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles.

The affidavit says Burke and Thomson met at 12:30 p.m. the day of the crash, and that after the meeting, Burke bought a one-way ticket for the PSA flight.

Thomson, 48, died in the crash. Also Thursday, CBS News quoted sources as saying the cockpit voice recording for the doomed PSA flight quoted a flight attendant as saying, "We've got a problem here."

Another voice then responded,

Investigator closely examines debris from the ill-fated PSA jetliner Thursday at the crash site near Cayucos, Calif. More investigators were brought in to help with piecing together the evidence. The jetliner crashed Monday killing all 43 people aboard.

"I'm the problem," the network said.

The exchange occurred after pilot Gregg N. Lindamood reported gunshots in the passenger compartment to air traffic controllers, the Los Angeles Times reported.

The newspaper, citing sources familiar with the tape, said sounds of a tremendous scuffle ensued, including "a groan and a gasp" from a man believed to be the pilot, as the plane plunged nose-first from 22,000 feet.

The FBI has determined that all six bullets had been fired from the gun.

Experts have said it was unlikely a handgun could cause enough damage to bring down the airliner unless the crew were disabled.

The FBI affidavit said that while the exact cause of the crash is not known, Don Llorente of the National Transportation Safety Board had told the bureau.

"On the basis of the dispersal of charred documents from PSA Flight 1771 spread over a seven-mile swath, the probability exists that the aircraft came apart at a higher altitude due to possible explosion, which would not have originated from a bullet."

"There is no evidence that there were any problems with the plane or the engines," NTSB spokeswoman Rachel Halterman said Thursday.

The FBI affidavit said Burke "had been allowed to bypass security screening as a familiar airline employee and therefore was not screened for weapons or destructive devices."

An inventory list filed Thursday in federal court stated that agents seized two wills from Burke's home, including one dated Dec. 2, and an insurance beneficiary designation dated Nov. 30. The FBI did not identify the designee.
