By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

1987 in Big Spring was a year marred by violence.

It also was a year in which local residents joked bitterly about what they perceived as lenient sentences for those convicted of violent crimes.

"If you want to get away with murder, go to Big Spring, Texas," residents could be heard saying — referring to a remark by radio commentator Paul Harvey on his daily radio show.

In February, the 1985 death of a 19-year-old resident was recalled

'87 Year in review

during a trial in which Preston Crawford, 3606 Calvin Ave., was convicted of voluntary manslaughter.

The case involved 19-year-old Jimmy Yanez, 1009 W. Eighth St., who died Nov. 19, 1985 after being shot by Crawford during a struggle in Yanez' car.

Crawford was sentenced Feb. 26 to 10 year's probation and ordered to pay a $10,000 fine after he was found guilty by a Howard County jury.

The sentence was the first of three 10-year probated sentences to be handed down during 1987 for violent crimes.

In March, Pedro Cantu, whose last known address was 1511 Johnson St., was sentenced to 10 year's probation in connection with a Easter 1986 shooting at Comanche Trail Park.

Raymond Calderon was permanently blinded by a shotgun wound to his face and Enrique Calderon was shot in his right leg.

A Howard County jury reduced an attempted murder charge against Cantu to aggravated assault after deliberating about 7½ hours.

In May, a 15-year-old youth pleaded guilty in 118th District Court to voluntary manslaughter in Texas pops cork on new year '88

By The Associated Press
Many Texans welcomed in 1988 with a drink in hand and a horn to blow at midnight, but a few were thankful just to greet it with a full stomach.

In Dallas, a New Year's Eve dinner of beans, rice and sausage for the homeless that had been threatened with cancellation for lack of money was saved by last-minute donations of more than $2,000 from churches and individuals.

The dinner has been sponsored by Bigheart Ministries for eight years, but donations were half what they were in 1986.

But Wednesday, the ministry received pledges from several groups after a story about the canceled meal appeared in the Dallas Morning News.

As usual, this year's holiday included a full platter of sports.

In Houston, football fans headed for the Astrodome Thursday night to watch the University of Texas Longhorns battle Pittsburgh in the Bluebonnet Bowl. Officials predicted up to 40,000 would attend the game.

On New Year's Day, thousands of Dallasites were expected to attend the annual Cotton Bowl parade and football game, this year matching Texas A&M and Notre Dame.

Five years ago, Ken Couvillion began a parade tradition with his wife and two sons.

On New Year's Eve they gather blankets, umbrellas, doughnuts and thermos bottles and head for the parade site by 7 a.m.

"It's addictive. For me, it's one of the highlights of the year," Couvillion said.

In Wichita Falls, residents will be gathering up their dried out Christmas trees for the annual New Year's Day bonfire fueled by the trees.

And for the fifth year, a coalition of organizations joined to sponsor efforts to keep drunk drivers off Texas streets New Year's Eve.

"Thousands of hotels, motels and restaurants in Texas are participating in the designated driver program this holiday season," said Jerry Johns, president of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service.

Participating bars served free non-alcoholic drinks to the designated driver of a group.

Dallas police set up roadblocks at two locations and asked drunken celebrants to take advantage of free rides offered by some taxi companies and bars.

State bars, nightclubs and restaurants had to be extra careful about allowing people to overindulge because of a new law which clears the way for lawsuits to be filed against those who sell alcohol to intoxicated people involved in accidents caused by drunkenness.

Two-year area SSC effort ground to halt

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

A two-year effort to bring the $4.4 billion Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) to the Garden City area ground to a halt in Washington Dec. 29.

Republican Senator Phil Gramm announced on that date that the West Texas effort — a maverick bid sponsored by Big Spring and other area cities — didn't make the short list of candidates.

The decision brought to an end a two-year, $1 million effort to bring the SSC to the Glasscock County site. If accepted, the project would have created an estimated 12,600 temporary and permanent jobs, in addition to being worth $20 billion to the area and state.

'87 Year in review

Ralph McLaughlin, chairman of the Garden City SSC Commission, was disappointed by the decision, but said the effort wasn't in vain.

"We'd have been stupid if we hadn't tried," he said. "It's better to try and lose than not to try at all. There are no regrets over here."

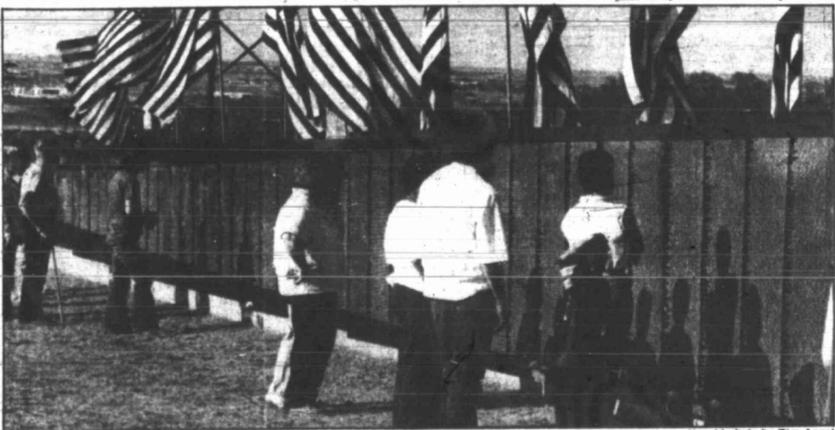

"It would have made a boomtown out of the four cities in the area (Big Spring, Midland, Odessa and San Angelo)," he added.

The area effort faced an uphill battle during the year, as commission members had to fight state rejection of the proposal as well as defections by San Angelo and Odessa, two sponsor cities.

The state panel responsible for selecting Texas' representatives in the SSC race rejected the Garden City bid in May. A subsequent appeal by the group was denied later that month.

The Moving Wall attracted thousands of visitors during its October stop in Big Spring.

Wall struck emotional chord

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Remembrance was the password in Big Spring the first week in October, as more than 40,000 visitors paid respect to the men and women who died during the Vietnam conflict.

The presentation of the Moving Wall — a half-scale replica of the Vietnam Veteran's Memorial in Washington — was the culmination of a year-long effort by a local committee headed by College Heights Christian Church minister Keith Gibbons.

Gibbons and 12 others interested in the project first met Nov. 19, 1986 to begin preparations for the Wall's visit. The major concern at first for the group was the community's acceptance of the project, he said.

"We were concerned about whether we would be accepted by the community as not being just a radical group trying to rehash junk from the '60s," Gibbons said. "That was accomplished ... the community rallied behind us."

For the next 11 months, the committee struggled with a multitude of logistical headaches connected with the visit — the first of which was selection of a site for the memorial.

Out of four possible locations, the group selected land at the base of Scenic Mountain on SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf property.

After site selection was completed, the committee busied itself with raising funds for the project. The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Convention/Visitors Bureau loaned the committee half of the $3,200 needed, and members raised the remainder.

After all of the details were settled, all that remained was the arrival of the Moving Wall, which occurred Sept. 29. Michael Letton, of Vietnam Combat

'Gentle people,' Arkansas slaying victims are buried

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Nine victims of one of America's worst mass slayings were buried Thursday, including four members of a young family remembered as gentle people whose faith helped ease the burdens of others.

Dennis McNulty, Sheila Simmons McNulty and her two children were found dead Monday at the home of her father, R. Gene Simmons Sr., where they had gone for a holiday visit.

Simmons is accused of killing 14 relatives and two other people in a rampage that apparently began at his Dover home before Christmas and ended in a 45-minute shooting spree in downtown Russellville.

Also eulogized Thursday was the first of the Russellville victims, 24-year-old Kathy Kendrick, who was said to have spurned the attentions of Simmons when they worked together a year ago.

Other funerals were held at Fordyce for the three-member William Simmons II family, and at Russellville for J.D. Chaffin, 33.

Simmons was in custody at the State Hospital in Little Rock, undergoing a court-ordered psychiatric examination.

He was charged Wednesday with attempted capital murder and capital murder in the Russellville shootings in which Ms. Kendrick and Chaffin died. Prosecutor John Bynum said he also plans to charge Simmons in the other deaths.

Investigators are looking into the possibility that the slayings were sparked by plans of some family members to leave because of sexual and physical abuse. Relatives have said they believe Simmons fathered Sheila's 6-year-old daughter.

At St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Conway, Deacon Joseph McCaf-

"One that bothers us a great deal is 'Why? Why did God let this happen?'" frey described Dennis and Sheila McNulty as loving parents who, as recently as Dec. 20, took their turn in charge of the Sunday nursery at their church.

Caskets containing the bodies of Dennis, 23, Sheila, 24, Sylvia, 6, and Michael, 20 months, were lined up in the center aisle of the church. About 300 people attended the funeral.

"If we're honest, we have to admit that we come here Thursday with questions. One that bothers us a great deal is 'Why? Why did God let this happen?'" McCaffrey said.

"We believe in a God who understands us completely, because this God became one of us.

And we believe that, in Jesus, God has overcome death and will bring us through death to new life."

He told the 27 family members who sat in the first four pews: "Violence for good and gentle people like Dennis, Sheila, Sylvia and little Michael? There was another about the same age as Dennis, named Jesus. In him we all pass through death to life."

In Russellville, the Rev. Kenny Jay said Ms. Kendrick was "a great person ... a joyful, delightful person," who always had "a sparkle in her eyes."

"The reason why she was taken we can question," Jay said. Pope County Chief Sheriff's Deputy Billy Baker told the Dallas Morning News there's a "good chance" that the killings may have been sparked by Becky Simmons' plans to leave her husband.

"It's a possibility we're going to explore," Baker said.

Police Chief Herb Johnston told the newspaper that investigators heard Mrs. Simmons had written a letter telling of her plans to leave. The chief said he had not seen the letter and did not know what it said.

Summer Mooney, a friend of Simmons' 17-year-old daughter, Loretta, said Loretta had told her that Mrs. Simmons had been thinking about taking the other children and leaving her husband because of his repressive and abusive behavior.

Ms. Mooney, also 17, said Loretta told her the only thing that kept Mrs. Simmons from leaving home were fears that she could not support the children.

Those who knew the victims told of constant threats by Simmons against family members.

In 1981, while the family was living in Cloudcroft, N.M., Simmons was indicted on three charges stemming from his alleged incestuous relationship with Sheila, his oldest daughter. The charges were dropped after Simmons fled the state and could not be located.

New Mexico officials say they issued an alert to the Arkansas Human Services Department on Simmons. However, the El Paso Times said officials in Arkansas never responded.

Walt Patterson, who takes over the Arkansas Human Services Department on Friday, said that if Simmons was fleeing arrest police should have been contacted.

'Homebound' successful in Odessa

ODESSA (AP) — Jason Richardson's first year at Odessa High School was going great until he broke his leg Nov. 15 — right in the middle of the second six weeks of school.

The 16-year-old jockey was riding in a quarter horse race in Seminole when his horse threw him into a pole.

"The way the break was, they would have had to put me in a body cast or do surgery and pin me," he said. Either way, it meant Jason would be unable to attend regular classes.

Surgery was the option Jason's doctor thought best, but Jason would have to recuperate at home for at least six weeks before returning to OHS.

But while Jason was still in the hospital, he said, someone from OHS explained the homebound program to him and his parents.

"It's a drag," he said recently. "Staying home and doing all this work is boring, and I miss my friends."

Jason will return to school Jan. 4, after the Christmas holidays. But thanks to the help of his homebound teacher, Bobbie Duncan, Jason will be "almost completely caught up on his school work."

Ms. Duncan is one of three homebound teachers employed by the Ector County Independent School District.

Each of the teachers now is working with six students — the maximum number allowed by the state.

In the 13 years Ms. Duncan has been teaching homebound students, she said, she has taught in settings ranging from kitchen tables to a hospital room.

"As homebound teachers we go into the nicest homes and the most modest homes," Ms. Duncan said. "And we encounter all kinds of situations. I remember one of the first homes I ever taught in where I had to help chase honey bees out of the house."

Ms. Duncan said any student who has an illness or injury that will cause him to miss four weeks or more of school is eligible for the homebound program.

connection with the stabbing death of Marc Rutledge.

Rutledge died Feb. 13 after being stabbed once in the heart during an argument.

Michael Viera was arrested in connection with the stabbing and agreed to be certified as an adult in return for a 10-year probated sentence.

The agreement was reached after it was determined that a court-ruled adult certification probably wouldn't be obtained.

Violence erupted again in July when a man was shot to death at Town & Country Food Store, 1101 N. Lamesa Highway.

Roland Yanez Garcia, 401 N.E. 10th St., was charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Israel Pacheco, 24, 707 N. Douglas St., who was declared dead on arrival to Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

The case against Garcia is pending.

During the week of Jan. 5 a Howard County grand jury will consider this week indictments against eight Howard County residents arrested on capital murder charges in October.

An October house fire near Luther in which two charred bodies were found resulted in an investigation by the Howard County Sheriff's Office which resulted in arresting several people in connection with the deaths and also in the solving of another case.

Five people, Jeannie Hernandez Fonseca, Frankie Hernandez, Joe Hernandez, Arthur Islas Jr. and Pete Salazar Jr., all of Big Spring, were charged in connection with the death of Noe Perez, 39, of Grand Prairie.

Authorities believe Perez was slain in April in a Big Spring motel room and that the accused transported his body to Martin County, where it was burned and buried.

Fonseca also was charged with another capital murder offense in connection with the deaths of two men whose bodies were found in the debris of a house that was destroyed by fire Oct. 10.

The two were identified as Miguel Villarreal Calixto, 24, and Norberto Gurrola Hernandez, 22, both of Mexico.

In addition to Fonseca, Antonio (Tony) Aguilar, 1321 Utah St., Enrique (Ricky) Sabedra, of Knott, and Orlando Aguirre, of Knott were charged in connection with the two deaths.

Bouyed by area support and a Texas A & M University study that proclaimed Garden City as the best state site, the commission decided in June to submit a maverick bid to the Department of Energy, which will make final site selection.

The group suffered two setbacks that month, however.

The first occurred on June 8 when commission members voted 13-10 not to pursue the project further. Another vote on the matter was taken later that month, with support for the project renewed.

The next setback that month was the decision of San Angelo and Odessa not to support the independent bid.

The Garden City SSC Commission proposal was one of 36 submitted to Department of Energy officials and members were initially cheered when it survived the initial cut.

The optimism, however, turned to disappointment with the Dec. 28 announcement. There was good news for Texas, however, as the DOE announced that the Dallas site remains in the running. McLaughlin pledged his group's support for the Dallas entry.

Future plans are for the Garden City SSC Commission to be renamed to more accurately describe the multi-city area that supported the project, McLaughlin said.

Veterans, Ltd., San Jose, Calif. — sponsors of the memorial — arrived at the SWCID site with the Wall's panels.

Opening ceremonies were conducted the next day under a bright West Texas sky. With more than 100 U.S. flags flapping in the breeze, a large crowd listened to local dignitaries pay tribute to the more than 58,000 men and women who died during the conflict.

As expected, emotions ran high during the week. They ranged from grief over the death of a friend or loved one to a new-found pride on the part of veterans who served in the controversial war.

"People have a lot of different feelings and you have to allow them to experience those feelings," Letton said. "Everyone feels different, but everyone feels something."

"Until the Wall came, you couldn't have paid me to wear these," local veteran Don Boling said, pointing to a cap and belt buckle inscribed with the Vietnam Veterans of America logo.

"The wall's visit changed all that," he continued. "Now I can hold my head up."

A by-product of the Moving Wall's visit is an effort by Boling and other veterans to further honor the memory of Howard County residents who died in Vietnam with the construction of a permanent memorial at the SWCID site.

Mitchell OKs computer bid

COLORADO CITY — The Mitchell County Commissioners Court Tuesday approved the purchase of a new computer system for the two justices of the peace.

The court accepted the bid by Northeast Texas Data Corp. of Sulphur Springs in the amount of $14,290 plus annual maintenance contract of $1,342.

Although not the low bid, the commissioners preferred the Northeast Texas Data system because it utilizes the county's present IBM system 36 equipment and the software contains programs that could facilitate the addition of the county clerk's office in the future.

Justices Ruby Claxton and Joan Merket said they would also prefer the Northeast Texas Data system.

Other bids received were from Beggs Computer Service of Graham, $10,512 for two IBM PC installations; Hart Graphics of Austin, $6,470 for IBM 36 compatible equipment; Computer Consultants of Granbury, $21,390 for PC compatible equipment; and CPS Business Systems of Irving, $26,668 for a Texas Instruments installation.

New Hampshire slayer killed by police officers

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — A man with a history of drug charges went on a shooting rampage in two communities, killing three men and critically wounding two before police shot him dead, authorities said Thursday.

Three of the shootings occurred in a neighborhood where one resident said drugs are sold "all hours of the night."

Rafael Rodriguez, 38, was shot by an officer Wednesday night after shooting twice at the officer in a gasoline station parking lot, police said. Police said Rodriguez was putting gasoline in a car after driving from Nashua to Londonderry and back and shooting each of five men once in the head with a revolver.

Nashua Police Chief William Quigley said the shootings were apparently drug-related but he could not specify a motive.

"When someone does something like this, God only knows what's going through his mind," he said at a news conference Thursday.

Ken Lynch, acting police chief in Londonderry, said Rodriguez apparently was a distant relative of one of the men he killed in Londonderry, Nicanor Rodriguez, 59, a shipping supervisor at an apple orchard where two of the shootings occurred. Lynch and an orchard worker who declined to be identified said the gunman worked at the orchard more than five years ago and had visited since.

"He used to come around here, like, once a year, twice a year, pick up apples and say hello," the employee said. "He was always very friendly."

Nashua police Maj. Clifton Lary said Rodriguez was believed to have known some of the victims, but he said he could not be more specific.

Police could not say if Rodriguez had a job, and would say little about his record except that he had multiple brushes with the law, some involving drugs. Nashua Police Lt. Donald Hamel said Rodriguez was indicted twice in 1987 on cocaine-possession charges.

Police said that between 5 p.m. Wednesday and his death about three hours later, Rodriguez shot two men in the drug-ridden French Hill neighborhood of Nashua, drove 10 miles to Londonderry and shot two more, then drove back to the same Nashua neighborhood and claimed his fifth victim.

Hamel said there were witnesses to three of the shootings.

People interviewed in French Hill asked not to be identified for fear they might face reprisal.

A woman interviewed on a street by the Telegraph in Nashua said Rodriguez was married and had about six children, some by a previous marriage.

"I knew he was crazy," she said. "Nobody would mess with his kids. But I never thought it would get to the point where he would kill somebody. He wasn't the type to do that."

A store clerk in French Hill told The Associated Press that Rodriguez, a long-time Nashua resident, was born in Puerto Rico. She said he came into her store Wednesday morning to make a quick purchase and "looked very quiet."

Residents of French Hill, once Franco-American but now mainly Hispanic, said the gunplay was inevitable.

"They're selling (drugs) all hours of the night there," said one man. "I've seen people fight there. (The shooting spree) was only a matter of time with all the drugs and guns around."

A grocery store clerk who also asked to remain anonymous had a similar view.

"It's not like it's big news — people aren't that worked up about it," she told the Telegraph. "They've seen SWAT (police Special Weapons and Tactics) teams many times up here. People learn to live with it."

Nashua, a fast-growing city of about 70,000 on the Massachusetts border, is part of a southern New Hampshire area described by the state's top federal prosecutor as a drug warehouse for eastern Massachusetts.

Deaths

Mavis Hayes

Mavis Terrell Hayes, 74, Big Spring, died Wednesday, Dec. 30, in a local hospital following an extended illness.

Hayes' body was donated to Texas Tech University Health Science Center.

Arrangements were made by Myers and Smith Funeral Home.

Hayes was born Aug. 4, 1913 in Hill County, Texas. She had been a Big Spring resident since 1931 and graduated from Big Spring High School the same year.

She was a bookkeeper at Cunningham-Phillips Drug Store for many years, retiring in 1974.

Hayes also spent many years as a volunteer at the Big Spring Veterans' Hospital in the chaplain's office, and worked as a volunteer in local nursing homes.

Survivors include two sisters, Lucille Merrick and Mrs. A.C. (Docia F.) Preston, both of Big Spring; and one brother, Ed Terrell, Brownwood.

Bellmon: Oklahoma not yet out of SSC running

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma may not be totally out of the running for a federal atom smasher project after all, Gov. Henry Bellmon said Thursday.

Bellmon said a letter from the Department of Energy indicates Oklahoma's chances for making the "best qualified list" for a federal atom smasher project are not "totally closed."

The letter, from Energy Undersecretary Joseph F. Salgado to Bellmon, said the DOE has begun "a comprehensive internal review and validation" of the process and analysis used by the National Academy of Sciences and the National Academy of Engineering in making their recommendations earlier this week.

Oklahoma was not on the list of eight states recommended by the two groups for the $4.4 billion super-conducting super collider project. Sites were recommended in Arizona, Colorado, Illinois, Michigan, New York, North Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

Salgado wrote Bellmon that the DOE's review process will include "a complete and full review by the department's SSC Site Task Force and Energy Systems Acquisition Advisory Board. This review and validation procedure also includes consultations with the NAS and NAE."

The energy official said the DOE "plans to announce the final unranked list of 'best qualified sites' on Jan. 12."

Salgado said the DOE will then brief states that are not on the final list.

"This letter confirms a conversation I had yesterday with Mr. A.C. Robison of Secretary John Herrington's office in Washington," Bellmon said. "During our conversation, I explained to Mr. Robison our continued emphasis in higher education and scientific research which will be included in my next budget to the Oklahoma Legislature."

"This letter should not be interpreted as any indication that Oklahoma will ultimately be on the best qualified list, but indicates our opportunities are not totally closed," the governor added.

Bellmon and other Oklahoma officials had expressed confidence Oklahoma would be on the list of finalists for the project, citing the technological advantages of the state's site.

Former workers sue employers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Twelve former employees of the bankrupt LTV Steel Corp. have filed a suit against the steelmaker's two top officers, claiming they are owed $78,243.92 in severance pay.

The 12 plaintiffs were among 50 former employees handpicked by management to close out LTV's Accounts Payable Department in Pittsburgh when the steelmaker was moving its corporate offices to Cleveland.

The suit, filed in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court, claims LTV President David H. Hoag and Chairman Raymond A. Hay are liable for the severance payments. The two executives were sued because LTV is protected from creditors' claims under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy law.

The 12 employees were terminated in June 1986 when the accounting office was closed. A month later, when LTV filed for federal bankruptcy protection, its assets were frozen and the former employees of the nation's second-largest steelmaker were unable to collect severance, vacation pay and health benefits.

Many of the workers are angry because LTV, while facing bankruptcy, made "large discretionary expenditures that shouldn't have been made."

Two more Dallas policemen fired

DALLAS (AP) — The firings of two policemen accused of recommending a lawyer and urging DWI suspects to refuse alcohol breath tests bring to 16 the number of police officers fired from the Dallas Police Department this year.

Police Chief Billy Prince on Wednesday fired William Shields, 44, who had been with the department for 16 years, and David Thibodeaux, 43, a four-year employee, from the department's driving-while-intoxicated unit.

Police, the district attorney's office and the State Bar of Texas also are investigating lawyer Randy Taylor, whose name was given to many of those arrested by the officers, Lt. Doug Kowalski said.

Messages left with Taylor's answering service Thursday were not immediately returned. The Shields and Thibodeaux firings are the latest in a string of dismissals that have drawn attention to the series of controversies involving the department, which has been under fire from citizens groups and some city officials. Before this week's firings, five employees were fired this month for charges that included physical abuse and using unnecessary force.

In 1986, 12 employees were fired. Eleven were fired in 1985 and 13 in 1984.

Police say they will continue to investigate possible criminal wrongdoing in the cases of Thibodeaux and Shields.

When contacted about the police investigation of the officers last month, Taylor said he had heard rumors that police had recommended his services to suspects they arrested.

But Taylor said he had no "understanding, tacit or otherwise, with the people on the task force about sending me any business."

Taylor said officers on the DWI-squad had a "financial stake" in arrests because they earn overtime pay for court appearances.

Kowalski said the officers received a "substantial amount of overtime pay" for court appearances connected with the arrests, but could not provide details because the matter is under criminal investigation.

The fired officers "offered no explanation other than they were trying to be helpful to the citizens involved," Kowalski said, adding that other members of the unit were investigated by internal affairs, but no other allegations were sustained.

Police said they began probing the allegations when several citizens arrested by the DWI squad complained to the department's internal affairs division.

Bridge officer fired after scuffle

EL PASO (AP) — A federal officer has been fired for scuffling with a wheelchair-bound newspaper vendor on an international bridge, officials said.

Esteban Lujan, an officer for the U.S. Federal Protective Service, was fired in October for the April 17 incident on the Bridge of the Americas, one of four international bridges linking El Paso and Ciudad Juarez, an official said Wednesday.

The firing was not reported publicly because such decisions are not routinely announced. Larry Hathaway, director of personnel for the General Services Administration's regional office in Fort Worth, told the El Paso Herald-Post.

The GSA employs the officers to guard federal property such as the bridge and its customs checkpoint.

Witnesses accused Lujan of striking the vendor, Alvarado Rojas-Torres, dumping the double-amputee from his wheelchair, restraining him with a choke hold and pulling a gun.

Several days after the incident, Armand Howard, district supervisor for Protective Services, said Lujan had forced the vendor's mouth open when Rojas-Torres bit Lujan's finger. Howard denied the guard used a choke hold.

Lujan and other federal agents were enforcing a federal rule forbidding vendors from selling wares on international bridges.

Production of explosive slated

KARNACK (AP) — Production of a powerful chemical explosive at the Longhorn Army Ammunition plant could begin early this year, U.S. Army and Morton-Thiokol officials said Thursday.

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, toured the plant Thursday, which he said may be one of those included in the on-site checks specified in the INF treaty signed by the United States and Soviet Union.

"We have agreed to about 13 years of Soviet on-site inspections of several military installations with the INF treaty we signed with the Soviets this month," Gramm said. "Since there is some talk that Longhorn will be included in those on-site checks, we may have to find a way to exclude the Russians from seeing this."

Gramm said the Longhorn plant could create between 150 and 500 full-time jobs and help the United States catch up militarily with the Soviets.

Holiday death toll stands at five

By The Associated Press
Five people have died on Texas highways since the state Department of Public Safety began its holiday traffic death count, the DPS said Thursday.

A Dallas man was killed in a hit-and-run accident early Thursday. Thomas R. Steward, 21, was walking along a city street at 2:20 a.m. when he was struck by an unknown vehicle that didn't stop, said DPS spokesman Mike Cox.

A Lubbock man, Gilberto Herrera, 32, was killed when the car he was driving ran off the road, struck a culvert and overturned at 5:50 a.m. Thursday on U.S. Hwy. 87 about a mile west of Vancouver in Tom Green County, Cox said.

Opinion

Free speech for cable television

Cable television won a First Amendment victory in federal court the other day.

For the second time in two years, a federal appeals court in Washington has invalidated a Federal Communications Commission rule that required cable companies to carry all local television stations. The court said the "must-carry" rule is "incompatible with the First Amendment."

The cable industry is protected by the same First Amendment rights as other communications media. Government officials cannot tell newspapers what they must print, nor can the FCC order broadcasters to air specific programs.

So why should the FCC have the right to tell cable companies what stations they must carry? It shouldn't.

Cable companies usually carry most, if not all, local stations. But in some markets, where there are too many local stations and not enough channels available, it should be the cable company and its customers, not the FCC, that determines which stations or cable services are provided.

It is in the best interest of a cable company to please the majority of its customers. If most customers want local stations, you can bet the cable company will provide them — without FCC coercion.

Not enough room at American Express trough

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — Those Scrooges at American Express Co. sure know how to wreck a Christmas. While you were out running up your credit cards in a holiday buying binge, American Express eliminated 7,000 jobs.

Jack Anderson

The layoffs came after an AMEX subsidiary, Shearson-Lehman Brothers, merged with one of the biggest brokerage houses on Wall Street, E.F. Hutton. According to one industry analyst, the layoffs were necessary because of overexpansion and the stock market tumble. The belt had to be tightened somewhere.

As usual, it was the little guy's belt that got cinched.

But the bad business climate that led to those layoffs has not halted the gravy train for AMEX executives. The people at the top continue to get goodies, modestly referred to as "incentives." The people at the bottom get a going-away party.

Why is it that American industry motivates its executives with money and its working stiffs with the threat of a pink slip?

Earlier this year, before the stock market crash, the AMEX board of directors voted to give 16 members of the board $78,500 each in stock options, reasoning that it would be an added "incentive."

The latest example of the plush fringe benefits available to corporate VIPs is a resort complex now under construction by Shearson-Lehman at the pricey Beaver Creek ski resort near Vail, Colo. Company officials refused to discuss the details of this incentive and have told others involved in the project not to discuss it either.

A Shearson-Lehman spokesman assured our reporter Frank Byrt that the luxury accommodations will be used primarily for business conferences. Presumably, it wouldn't look right for AMEX people to have those meetings in their own offices.

The resort complex will be available for private use by vacationing VIPs who don't have any business on the agenda, but only if they reimburse the company.

We thus predict the need for a lot more AMEX business meetings when the powder is fresh. Maybe some of the folks can even get AMEX to pick up the tab for a $32-a-day ski pass at Beaver Creek if they talk shop on the lift.

One company official, former President Gerald Ford, won't need to borrow the company condo. He lives just down the street from the Beaver Creek complex. Ford takes home about $200,000 a year as a part-time adviser and consultant to Shearson-Lehman.

$36,000 a year serving on the board, not including stock options.

But that isn't all. Some celebrity board members pork out at the AMEX trough in a variety of ways. Kissinger gets an additional $420,000 a year as a consultant and lecturer for AMEX and Shearson-Lehman.

Lewis was a top executive for the former AMEX subsidiary Warner Amex Cable for less than three years, and he collected $12.6 million via salary, stock options and bonuses. Lewis can't devote all his time to AMEX these days. His primary job is as president and chief executive officer of Union Pacific Railroad.

The nine top executives of AMEX and Shearson-Lehman took home an average of $1.3 million last year. The group gets a bundle of other perquisites to make life in the rich land bearable. One executive was transferred to Minnesota, where his welcome was warmed by a half-million-dollar mortgage loan at 5 percent interest.

Now we're beginning to understand why all those little folks had to be let go.

WHO PAYS? — Congress is looking for a way to extend health insurance benefits to more workers, but someone has to pay, and the lawmakers are running up against their own federal budget deficits.

About 37 million Americans have no health insurance at all, and the number just keeps going up.

The ranks of the uninsured are fed by small companies, most of them in retail and service industries, that are the least likely to provide health care benefits for their employees. Some of the uninsured are self-employed. The uninsured population comprises 17 percent of the people in this country under the age of 65.

Who will pay the bills if Congress mandates employee insurance coverage? Our sources say some members of Congress are looking for ways to hide the costs in legislation that deftly passes them along to business.

POSTAL COPS — The productivity statistics don't look good for the U.S. Postal Inspection Service. It employs more than 3,000 postal inspectors and uniformed postal police officers.

It has five crime labs with 100 scientists to do everything from handwriting analysis to crime-scene reconstruction. Its job is to enforce 85 federal laws, including armed robbery and assault on postal employees. Last fall, the postal cops bought 4,000 new guns.

Yet, with all that manpower and firepower, they arrested only 9,000 people last year. That's less than three arrests per officer. And 1,700 of those arrests were of other postal employees. The statistics show that the nation's oldest federal law enforcement agency is also, quite possibly, the least effective.

MINI-EDITORIAL — It's the gift for the country that has everything — the Stinger shoulder-launched anti-aircraft missile. Most of your serious armed rebels have them. Now the feisty sheikdom of Bahrain will have them, thanks to Ronald Reagan.

Bahrain promises it will keep its eye on the Stingers and store the launchers apart from the missiles. Since when will that stop a determined terrorist? It's only a matter of time before a madman gets his hands on one of these deadly toys and decides to use civilian airliners for target practice.

How Gary finally treated Hartburn

By LEWIS GRIZZARD
Gary Hart, or what was left of him, after it was discovered he'd been messing around in the wrong ballot box, was having lunch when an old friend from his wilder days happened to spot him.

Lewis Grizzard

"Hey, ol' buddy," said the friend. "I haven't seen you since the time we took those chicks..."

"Quiet," Hart whispered, looking around at the other tables to make certain nobody had a tape recorder or a notebook.

"I just can't be too careful anymore," he continued. "My wife gets one more thing on me and I'm history."

"I heard, pal," the friend went on. "But you know the old saying..."

"What old saying?" asked Hart. "You dance, you pay the fiddler."

"The fiddler!" Hart responded. "I've paid the entire Mormon Tabernacle Choir..."

"It's been tough, huh?"

"Tough?" said Hart. "Not only did I have to give up my shot at the White House and a chance to hustle honeys with Air Force One at my disposal, but my wife's got me on a leash this long," he went on, holding his fingers two inches apart.

"Can't get out of the house?"

"Are you kidding?" Hart replied. "She won't even let me watch 'The New Dating Game' on television. I tuned in 'Wheel of Fortune' the other night, for the lack of anything else to do, and she came at me with the Cuisinart, because she said I was lusting after Vanna White..."

"Were you?"

"Just because you put a dog in a pen," winked Hart, "it doesn't mean he still doesn't want to hunt..."

"What you need," said Hart's friend, "is a good excuse to get out of the house and back in the fast lane..."

"I've thought of everything," said Hart. "I told her I had to go out of town to address a Shriners' convention..."

"And?"

"She said, 'Cool it, Ali Baba, you've had your thousand and one nights...'"

"Then, I told her they were making my life story into a movie and I had to go to Hollywood..."

"What did she say to that?"

"She said, 'Forget it, Casanova, they've already done 'American Gigolo...'"

"I think I've got it," said Hart's friend. "Have you ever thought about getting back into the presidential race?"

"Next to girls, that's all I think about," said Hart.

"Then, that's it!" said Hart's friend. "Call a press conference, say you're back in the race and you're out of the cage and it will be like old times again..."

"But what if my wife won't let me..."

"Simple. Tell her if you're elected she can plan domestic policy. Women like a little power, too. Then, you send her to Alaska to campaign and you're a free man..."

Hart's eyes glazed over as he pondered the possibilities.

"Then you'll do it?" asked his friend.

"See those two blondes in the corner?" said Hart. "While I'm calling the press conference, go find out if they've ever been to New Hampshire..."

Quotes

"I'm broke." — Thomas Sheer, a 25-year FBI agent who cited the high cost of living in New York City as part of his reason for resigning as special-agent-in-charge of the nation's largest FBI agency and for the difficulty of recruiting agents to serve in the city.

"It is a setback. But at this point it does not appear to be a major one and we are thinking of a launch delay in terms of weeks." — NASA administrator James C. Fletcher, on the delay expected from the test failure of the shuttle's new booster rocket.

Humane Society thanks promoters

To the editor:

The Big Spring Humane Society is deeply indebted to the Big Spring Herald, and the news staff for the excellent publicity given to our organization by listing the twelve services our group provides the community.

These ads have been an excellent means of enlightenment and also have been instrumental in securing new memberships and in lending financial support.

The appealing photos in the ads were only some of the animals at our adoption center. These skillfully-done pictures were donated by Drew Kyle of Face to Face Studio and have prompted many adoptions.

We appreciate your help for without the full cooperation of the Herald and KBST we could not find appropriate homes for the many abused strays and homeless animals that are in our care.

Cold medicines recalled

WASHINGTON — Several brands of an over-the-counter cold medicine are being recalled because they may be mislabeled and might actually contain a potent tranquilizer, the Food and Drug Administration said Thursday.

The tranquilizer, haloperidol, could prove fatal — especially to children — if taken in the amounts normally associated with non-prescription cold medicines, FDA officials said.

Through mislabeling, some of the bottles sold as cold medicine are believed instead to contain haloperidol, a clear, odorless solution.

Industry outlook brighter

WASHINGTON — U.S. industry will enjoy better growth in 1988 than 1987, with a decade-high 82 percent of all manufacturing companies benefiting from rising demand, a government report said Thursday.

The Commerce Department, in its annual listing of expected winners and losers among U.S. industries, predicted that computer manufacturers would enjoy the biggest jump in demand in 1988 while industries connected to the construction industry will turn in the poorest performance.

If all, industrial output is expected to rise by 2.4 percent in 1988, the sixth consecutive year of increase and up from estimated growth of 2 percent in 1987.

FALN members guilty

CHICAGO — Four members of the Puerto Rican independence group FALN were convicted Thursday in a failed 1986 attempt to spring the group's leader from prison.

A U.S. District Court jury deliberated four days before returning the convictions against FALN leader Oscar Lopez and three other people.

After the verdicts were read, the packed courtroom erupted in shouting and singing by FALN supporters, some waving their fists in the air.

Prosecutors said the four defendants planned to use rockets, hand grenades and a helicopter to free Lopez from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., where he was serving a 55-year sentence for a 1981 conviction on seditious conspiracy charges.

Reagan OKs pay raise

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — President Reagan, secluded at a private estate for a New Year's celebration, signed an executive order Thursday that grants a 2 percent across-the-board pay increase to 4.3 million military and civilian federal employees.

Reagan issued the order and signed four other bills as he relaxed at the 205-acre retreat of multimillionaire publisher Walter Annenberg, the White House announced.

Iowa murders

Jealousy may have been motive

ALGONA, Iowa (AP) — A 40-year-old loner who apparently killed six relatives before turning the gun on himself may have been enraged by the holiday attention showered on his sister and her three children, family friends said Thursday.

"Here he was living with his parents, kind of being the center of attention all the time, and then Marilyn and the kids came home," said state Sen. Berl Priebe, a close friend of John and Agnes Dreesman. "Who knows, but that might have pushed Robert over the edge."

Authorities believe the Dreesmans were killed by their son Robert.

"With his sister's children home from Hawaii, Grandma-and Grandpa showered so much love on them. I think, maybe, Robert was sitting in the corner by himself and flipped out," said a friend of Robert Dreesman's, Algona chiropractor S.A. Mueller.

John Dreesman, 79; his wife, Agnes, 74; Robert; the Dreesmans' daughter, Marilyn Chuang, 48; and her three children — Jason, 12, Jennifer, 11, and Joshua, 8 — were found shot to death at the Dreesman home Wednesday.

Authorities said they had some indication Robert Dreesman had undergone counseling for mental problems, and said they found two weapons in the home.

"I would say this whole incident occurred in a matter of 15 to 30 seconds," said Ron Makin, a Division of Criminal Investigation agent in charge of the probe of the slayings in this north-central Iowa community.

"The evidence we found at the scene indicates he did the shooting and he died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound," Makin said.

Most of the bodies were in the dining room and Robert was in a hallway outside, said Don Courtney, assistant Kossuth County attorney.

The discovery of the bodies came just two days after a gunman killed two people in Russellville, Ark. After the arrest of R. Gene Simmons, police found the bodies of 14 relatives at his house near Dover, Ark.

In New Hampshire, a man with a history of drug charges killed three men and critically wounded two others in the towns of Nashua and Londonderry. Rafael Rodriguez shot at a policeman trying to arrest him as a suspect in the killings, and was himself killed by the officer, police said.

Aquino calls for unity

MANILA, Philippines — Suspected communist rebels shot and killed a pro-administration candidate Thursday and kidnapped another in a growing wave of violence before regional elections, according to military and police reports.

President Corazon Aquino made a New Year's call for Filipinos to unite in "the fulfillment of the cherished dreams of all our heroes."

Opposition Sen. Juan Ponce Enrile warned of a growing communist challenge facing the nation in 1988, and the rebels themselves predicted a "more intense struggle" and a year of "deeper crisis for the U.S.-Aquino regime."

Mediation halt warned

CATARINA, Nicaragua — Cardinal Miguel Obando y Bravo said Thursday he will quit trying to mediate an end to the 6-year-old war if the Sandinista government continues to oppose his meeting with Contra rebel leaders.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Managua said that at the request of the Contras he asked Guatemala's government Wednesday to allow him to meet in that country with leaders of the rebel umbrella organization known as the Nicaraguan Resistance.

Obando y Bravo indicated the leftist Sandinista government has been trying to foil such a meeting with the Contras.

Subway crash injures 32

ATHENS, Greece — A subway train slammed into another train at a suburban station Thursday, injuring 32 people, police said. Most of the injuries were minor.

The first three cars of a train heading downtown derailed in the collision at Perissos station at 2:55 p.m., a police spokesman said.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said no one was seriously hurt. He said most of the injured passengers suffered cuts and bruises.

An investigation into the crash was under way.

Seal hunting banned

TORONTO — Canada has banned all off-shore commercial hunting of white-coated baby harp seals and blueback hooded seals, following European threats of trade reprisals and reduced demand for seal pelts.

The decision, announced Wednesday night, pleased environmental groups and angered fishermen in Newfoundland who depend on the annual spring hunt.

Inuit Eskimos living off the land and other coastal hunters were exempted from the ban, but were asked to hunt older seals.

Fisheries Minister Tom Siddon said a research program will determine what long-term measures may be required in the future to keep the seal population under control.

Take smalltown curiosity as a compliment

DEAR ABBY: I had a face-lift two weeks ago. My face is still slightly swollen, but my doctor says that is normal and I can get my hair done next week. My problem is I know everyone in this small town who has had a face-lift because my hairdresser has a big mouth. She's an excellent hairstylist, but I am reluctant to go back to her for that reason.

Any suggestions on how to handle this — as well as some of the comments and questions I am sure to encounter — will be appreciated. Please withhold my name and location.

LONGTIME ABBY FAN

DEAR FAN: Living in a small town where some women have had cosmetic surgery, did you really think you could keep yours a secret?

Dear Abby

Go back to your regular beauty parlor, where you will surely be told how "wonderful, young and/or well rested" you look. Some may ask you flatout, "Did you have something done?" Don't lie. Say, "Yes, I had a few tucks here and there. And thanks for noticing." (If nobody noticed the difference, it wouldn't have been worth the money, time and inconvenience.)

DEAR ABBY: I agree that "printing the cause of death in obituaries often serve no useful purpose and can be painful for those who are suffering from the same disease."

But when the deceased was a longtime smoker who died of lung cancer or emphysema, cause of death should be printed so that those who are still smoking can be reminded that if they continue to smoke and torment non-smokers with their offensive secondhand smoke they (the smoker and the non-smoker) may be next.

You have my permission to use my name, address and occupation.

CHARLES A. WRIGHT JR., ATTORNEY AT LAW, CHICAGO

DEAR MR. WRIGHT (What a great name for a lawyer!): You're Wright. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: So you want to eliminate the cause of death in obituaries?

Why not eliminate age, lest the elderly be offended?

Why not eliminate first names, lest sex be disadvantaged?

Why not eliminate the hometown, lest it be considered unwholesome?

Why not eliminate religion, lest it appear that faith is fruitless?

Why not eliminate obituaries, so that ignorance will gleefully lead us to believe that we'll live forever?

Why not?

C. HARVEY GARDINER, ZEPHYRHILLS, FLA.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, I wandered into a small cafe in Santa Fe, N.M. They asked me if I was alone. I was. They then asked me if I wanted to sit at the "maverick table."

I didn't know what that was, so they explained. It was a large table where those who came in alone could sit — and perhaps visit with others who were also alone.

Abby, I sat there and met some of the nicest people — and I didn't have to eat alone.

I think this is such a wonderful idea, but I've never seen it done at any other restaurant. Since so many people are alone and lonely these days, perhaps if you printed this, some cafe owners would consider it.

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Eddie Murphy plans to perform in a "real drama" for the first time when he appears in the movie version of August Wilson's Pulitzer Prize-winning drama "Fences," associates say.

Murphy will appear as the son in the story of a former Negro Leagues baseball player and his family, Murphy's manager, Robert Wachs, said Wednesday.

"It's a project that Eddie loves and that is in development," said Wachs. Eddie Murphy Productions bought the rights to the play, and Paramount Pictures Corp. will probably distribute the film, according to a Paramount Pictures Corp. spokeswoman.

"The movie is far away," Wachs said. "It's not as if it's around the corner."

James Earl Jones won this year's Tony award as best actor for his portrayal of the father.

Murphy's lawyer, John Breglio, said the comedian "sees this as the opportunity to do a real drama for the first time, as well as a chance to act with James Earl Jones."

FALMOUTH, Maine (AP) — Actor of NBC's "L.A. Law," Richard Dysart shares the spotlight with a broken-winged, one-eyed owl named Samy in a pair of public service announcements for the Maine Audubon Society.

Samy, a barred owl that was nursed back to health after being hit by a truck and makes its home at Audubon headquarters, stole the show when he winked at a stuffed fox displayed in the background. "I was upstaged by a one-eyed owl. What are you gonna do?" said Dysart, who volunteered to participate in the Audubon project while on a Christmas visit to family members in his native Maine.

At a news conference following the taping Wednesday, Dysart said he has been an Audubon member for five years and was pleased to help the society promote its environmental education program directed at children.

Dysart, 58, plays senior partner Leland McKenzie in the popular TV show.

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Roberta Flack lost a round in a fight with the Internal Revenue Service when a federal judge refused to quash a summons of her bank records.

U.S. District Judge Kevin T. Duffy said in a court order disclosed Wednesday that evidence did not support Ms. Flack's claims of harassment by government investigators and that there were no grounds for restraining the investigation.

The IRS claims Roberta Flack Enterprises Ltd. owes about $1.4 million in corporate back taxes for June 1973 through March 1982.

FORT WASHINGTON, Md. (AP) — The occupants of a pickup truck that Watergate figure G. Gordon Liddy says hit him when he broke its taillight for trespassing outside his home are goners, the tough-talking felon says.

Liddy was hospitalized for five days with a broken arm, knee, rib and ruptured kidney after the Christmas Eve altercation, which he says outraged the friends he made in prison.

"They apparently have taken great offense at this and they tell me those two are gone now," Liddy said Wednesday, referring to the trespassers. "That doesn't mean they are already dead. It just means for practical purposes they are, or will be," unless police find the assailants first.

Monterey halts Lady Steers' streak

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

LUBBOCK — "I can't emphasize enough how proud I am of my players," said Big Spring Lady Steers coach C.E. Carmichael after the 17-game winning streak of the Big Spring Lady Steers came to an end.

The Lady Steers finished second in the Caprock Tournament, losing 61-49 to the Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen.

"It would have been extremely hard for anybody to beat Monterey the way they shot tonight.

"That made a very big difference in the ballgame," said Carmichael.

The Lady Steers led the ballgame until the closing seconds of the first half. With 16 seconds left in the half, a walking call took the ball away from the Lady Steers. Lubbock Monterey's April Simpson took the ball all the way to the basket, but the Lady Steers' defense held up, forcing Simpson to take the ball back outside.

Simpson then hit a three-pointer as the half ended, making the score 29-28 Monterey.

To open the second half Monterey scored with 7:25 left in the third quarter. The Plainsmen scored again at the 7:03 mark, making it 33-28 Monterey. The Lady Steers trailed the remainder of the game.

Tami Wise scored two points with 5:14 left in the third period. It was the first Big Spring score of the half. Simpson took the ball and sunk another three-pointer seven seconds later.

"I am extremely frustrated over the fact that I knew that going into the game, the difference would be whether or not they (officials) would let Monterey ride us, foul us and hack us on their press all night.

"When you allow a team to hand-check, press and all that, and that was never called throughout the game, plus the fact that they were so hot from the outside, was the difference in the ballgame," Carmichael said.

The Lady Steers got to the championship game by defeating Midland Greenwood, Lubbock Coronado and Shallowater.

"I never expected to go all the way through the season undefeated," Carmichael said.

"But when you have won 17-in-a-row, it's tough on the girls to lose one."

The Lady Steers will resume district play Saturday when they host Fort Stockton at Steer Gym at 7:30. Freshmen action begins at 4:30, followed by junior varsity play at 6.

It's time for the Big Four

Tradition rich teams shooting for top 10

DALLAS (AP) — Notre Dame makes its fifth Cotton Bowl appearance on New Year's Day with hopes of salvaging a promising season destroyed by Miami.

The 12th-ranked Fighting Irish, 8-3, and 13th-rated Texas A&M, 9-2, meet for the first time despite their long football traditions. Notre Dame has played football 100 years and Texas A&M 93.

Only a possible Top Ten finish is on the line in the 52nd Cotton Bowl Classic.

However, Notre Dame wants to make up for a 24-0 crushing by Miami in the final game of the regular season.

"We have something to prove to ourselves as well as the rest of the country," Irish Coach Lou Holtz said. "Miami whipped us like a yard dog. A&M is capable of doing the same thing."

For the third time in four years, the Heisman winner will display his talents in the Cotton Bowl. This time, it's a hometown hero.

Tim Brown, who played high school football at Dallas Woodrow Wilson, leads the Irish.

Texas A&M safety Gary Jones will draw the job of shadowing Brown. Jones inherits the responsibilities of Chet Brooks, who broke a leg in A&M's final game of the season.

The Aggies are in their third straight Cotton Bowl and sixth overall. Texas A&M lost to Ohio State 28-12 last year and defeated Auburn and Heisman winner Bo Jackson 36-16 in 1986.

Notre Dame's last Cotton Bowl was in 1979 when Joe Montana threw a scoring pass on the last play of the game to defeat Houston 35-34.

In other Cotton Bowl classics, Notre Dame downed Texas 38-10 in 1978, beat Texas again 24-11 in 1971 and lost to Texas 21-17 in 1970 when the Longhorns won the national title.

The game will feature a freshman starting quarterback for Texas A&M, Bucky Richardson, and a senior quarterback for Notre Dame, Terry Andrysiak. Both coaches waited until this week to name their starters.

A capacity crowd of 72,032 was assured with 600 folding chairs to be put along the sidelines.

Besides Brown and Jackson, the other Heisman Trophy winner to play in the Cotton Bowl in the 1980s is Doug Flutie of Boston College.

Six Heisman Trophy winners have played in the Cotton Bowl the year they won the award, Doak Walker (1949), Roger Staubach (1964), Earl Campbell (1978), plus Flutie, Jackson and Brown.

Texas A&M will have a Heisman Trophy representative at the game, Athletic Director John David Crow, the 1957 winner.

It's the first Cotton Bowl for Holtz, who has been to the other major bowls as either a player, head coach, or assistant coach.

The weather may not be. A gusty north wind and only a high of 36 degrees was forecast for the 1:30 p.m. EST kickoff. No precipitation was predicted.

Holtz is 5-4-2 in postseason play. Texas A&M's Jackie Sherrill is 5-2 in bowl games.

Winner of this one will be numero uno

MIAMI (AP) — Oklahoma and Miami are not novices when it comes to a shootout between No. 1 and No. 2, but Friday night's national championship battle in the Orange Bowl could be the biggest one yet.

"I've never been involved in a bowl game between No. 1 and No. 2," Coach Barry Switzer of top-ranked Oklahoma said Thursday at a joint news conference with Miami's Jimmy Johnson, during which they reiterated most of the same things they have been saying all week.

"I've been involved in No. 1 vs. No. 2 during the regular season, but this one obviously has the most glitter. It's old hat for him."

Friday night's showdown is the 23rd time No. 1 has played No. 2 in the 52-year history of the Associated Press poll. It's the fourth such game in the last two years and the third for both Oklahoma and second-ranked Miami.

Switzer's Sooners were No. 1 when they dropped a 28-16 decision to No. 2 Miami during the 1986 regular season. Last month, they were No. 2 and beat No. 1 Nebraska 17-7 to win the Big Eight crown.

After defeating Oklahoma for the second year in a row in 1986 and vaulting over the Sooners to the No. 1 ranking, Miami lost the national championship Fiesta Bowl game to No. 2 Penn State 14-10.

Both teams have had dominating offenses all season. Oklahoma led the nation in scoring (43.5 points a game), total offense (499.7 yards) and rushing (428.8). Miami was fifth in scoring (35.6).

But Oklahoma also led in scoring defense (7.5 points), total defense (208.1 yards) and passing defense (102.4).

The Sooners are a running team. They rushed 730 times this season for 4,717 yards and threw only 99 passes, completing just 34. It would be "fairly accurate," Switzer said, to call Oklahoma a one-dimensional offensive team. "We'll throw the football," he said. "I just can't remember the last time we threw it a lot."

Johnson said he doesn't see the Sooners as one-dimensional. "It's not that they throw the football a lot, but they have the capability to throw it," he said. "And when they throw it, it's not for a first down but for a touchdown (the 34 completions produced 780 yards and nine touchdowns). If we don't guard against (tight end) Keith Jackson and — who's the wide receiver, uh, Carl Cabbiness, we'll give up easy points."

"He knows 10 players on my team," Switzer joked. "I know your wide receivers."

He called the Hurricanes "a great offensive team, a two-dimensional team."

Although Miami's passing game gets most of the headlines with Steve Walsh throwing to wideouts Michael Irvin and Brian Blades and running backs Warren Williams and Melvin Bratton, the Hurricanes scored more touchdowns on the ground (24) than in the air (21) for the first time since their 1983 national championship season.

Thompson, a redshirt freshman, started Oklahoma's last two games against Missouri and Nebraska after wishbone magician Jamelle Hollaway suffered a season-ending knee injury.

Odds favor Trojans over Michigan State

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Michigan State Spartans try to buck trend and tradition Friday when they meet the Southern Cal Trojans in the 74th Rose Bowl, the nation's oldest bowl game.

The eighth-ranked Spartans, their 8-2-1 regular-season record including an opening 27-13 victory over Southern Cal, will be making their fourth New Year's Day appearance in Pasadena, their first in 22 years.

The No. 16 Trojans, 8-3, have an impressive Rose Bowl tradition. Their 24 appearances are the most in the game, and they've lost just six times.

Led by versatile quarterback Rodney Peete, the Trojans hope to build on that tradition when they face the Spartans, who feature tailback Lorenzo White and a formidable defense, in the 5 p.m. EST matchup.

Although they were beaten by Michigan State in East Lansing, the Trojans, losers just twice in their last 26 regular and postseason games against Big Ten teams, are favored by three points.

Southern Cal is on a five-game winning streak in the Rose Bowl, with the most recent triumph a 20-17 victory over Ohio State in 1985.

The Trojan string is part of a trend that has seen the Pacific-10 champions dominate the Big Ten champions in Pasadena in recent years. The annual visitors from the Midwest haven't won a Rose Bowl since 1981, and that 23-6 victory by Michigan over Washington is the Big Ten's only win over the last 13 games.

Not surprising is the fact that Michigan State Coach George Perles has downplayed tradition, and that Larry Smith, in his first year as the Trojans' coach, has emphasized his school's past glories.

"Our tradition and history are a big part of why we're here," said Smith, whose debut with the Trojans was spoiled by the nationally televised loss to the Spartans on Labor Day.

"These young people expected to be fighting for the Pac-10 championship and Rose Bowl. They wanted to add an extra page to that tradition."

Orangemen trying for unblemished season

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Fourth-ranked Syracuse makes its last pitch for college football's national championship on Friday when the unbeaten Orangemen tangle with No. 6 Auburn in the 54th Sugar Bowl game.

"There have been a number of times in history that an undefeated team has not been the national champion," Syracuse fullback Daryl Johnston said Wednesday.

"If we go 12-0, in our minds we'll be the national champion," Johnston said. "We've done more than was expected of us and that's given the team satisfaction. We're the best team in the country if nobody beats us during the course of the year."

Even if the Orangemen beat Auburn, a slight favorite, their odds of finishing No. 1 in The Associated Press poll aren't that good.

The national crown is expected to go to the winner of the Orange Bowl game Friday night where the nation's only other teams with 11-0 records — top-ranked Oklahoma and No. 2 Miami — collide.

A sellout crowd of 75,000 is expected in the Louisiana Superdome for the 3:30 p.m. EST clash to see if Syracuse's explosive offense can puncture Auburn's highly touted defense. Don McPherson, the All-American quarterback who was this year's Heisman Trophy runner-up to Notre Dame's Tim Brown, is the key figure in Syracuse's big-play offense.

All-American linebacker Kurt Crain and outside linebacker Aundray Bruce are the keys to an Auburn defense that led the Tigers, 9-1-1, to the Southeastern Conference championship and the host berth in the Sugar Bowl.

McPherson completed 129 of 229 passes for 2,341 yards and 22 touchdowns. He also has the ability to scramble for yardage and a knack for turning in the big play.

His prime target has been Tommy Kane, a hockey star during his youth in Montreal. Kane caught 44 passes for 968 yards and a nation-leading 14 touchdowns.

The Orangemen also got production from their running game. Robert Drummond led

New Orleans Saints head coach Jim Mora talks with Stan Brock at the Saints practice Thursday in the Superdome in New Orleans. The Saints are preparing to meet the Minnesota Vikings in the playoffs Sunday. Mora was named NFL Coach of the Year.

Saints mentor tabbed NFL Coach of the Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Mora, who coached the New Orleans Saints to their first winning season and first playoff berth ever, was named today the NFL Coach of the Year by The Associated Press.

Mora, whose Saints finished 12-3 for the second-best record in the league, was a run-away winner in the voting by three sports writers and sportscasters representing each of the 28 NFL teams. He got 76 of the 84 votes.

Bill Walsh of San Francisco got four votes, Ron Meyer of Indianapolis got three and Marv Levy of Buffalo with one got the other votes.

Mora, who won two of the USFL's three championships as coach of the Philadelphia-Baltimore Stars, took over the Saints last year after having his choice of all four head coaching positions vacant that year. He chose New Orleans largely because of its new general manager, Jim Finks.

After going 7-9 last season, New Orleans won its last nine regular-season games this year, and will host the NFC wild-card game Sunday. The Saints would have won any other division in the league with their record, but had the misfortune of playing in the NFC West, where San Francisco finished with an NFL-best mark of 13-2. Mora earned the reputation as a no-nonsense coach in the USFL and he kept it with New Orleans.

"Coach Mora lays down the rules and they're the same way for everybody," backup quarterback Dave Wilson said. "There are no favorites at all."

He also runs a no-nonsense team, based on a strong defense and a running attack keyed to second-year man Rueben Mayes.

The no-nonsense approach even runs to Mora. He was embarrassed earlier this year by a newspaper article in which a historian compared him with great American generals and concluded that he most resembled Dwight Eisenhower because of his ability to bring people together.

Football people have compared him more to Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins and Bill Parcells, who coached the New York Giants to a Super Bowl victory last year. Each is a hard worker with a blue-collar image.

"He's just a damned good person who happens to be a football coach," Finks said. "He's organized, he's consistent, he's intelligent. I see both sides. I see the way he responds to the media and I see the 'real' Jim Mora. What you see is what you get. He's the same man. He's consistent. He doesn't operate with two sets of rules but that doesn't mean he's inflexible."

Mora himself is more modest.

'Minister of Defense' top defensive player

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I just thank God for the opportunity," Philadelphia Eagles defensive end Reggie White said after The Associated Press named him the NFL defensive player of the year.

The 290-pound White, a part-time Baptist minister when not sacking quarterbacks and stopping runners — he is sometimes called "the Minister of Defense" — admitted he wasn't too surprised Wednesday night when the honor was announced.

"My coaches and my teammates all thought I would make it," he said. But he insisted it would never have happened without God's support.

"Without him, I wouldn't have been able to accomplish what I've accomplished. I am glad that I accomplished this because I strive to be a role model for young people, and I think what pushes me more is knowing my responsibilities to my family, to young people and most of all to my God," White said in a telephone interview from his Sewell, N.J., home.

"My teammates were a great help also," he added. "And my coaches."

White, who was just one shy of tying the National Football League record of 22 quarterback sacks despite only playing 12 games in the strike-shortened season, was a runaway winner of the award, receiving 63 votes from sportscasters and broadcasters.

Runner-up was defensive end Bruce Smith of the Buffalo Bills, who got 10 votes.

Football strike tabbed year's top sport story

NEW YORK (AP) — The 24-day NFL players' strike, which caused what many considered a lackluster and meaningless season, is the overwhelming choice as The Associated Press Story of the Year for 1987.

The strike received 282 points in voting by AP member sports editors. Dennis Conner's America's Cup victory was next with 191 points. Points were awarded on a 10-through-1 basis.

Bo Jackson's sidetrip into professional football after already beginning a major-league baseball career was third with 174 points, and Sugar Ray Leonard's upset victory over Marvelous Marvin Hagler for the World Boxing Council middleweight title was fourth with 169 points.

At Campanis' remarks the blacks "lacked the necessities" to manage major league baseball teams was fifth with 163 points, and Paul Molitor's 39-game hitting streak was sixth with 50 points.

The rest of the Top 10 were: Minnesota's seven-game victory over St. Louis in the first indoor World Series, Earle Bruce's firing by Ohio State, Ben Johnson's setting a record in the 100-meter dash and Mike Tyson's unification of the heavyweight boxing title.

Ten through 15 were: the Los Angeles Lakers' seven-game win over Boston Celtics for the NBA championship, Bob Knight's leading Indiana to the NCAA basketball championship, the 3-point goal being put into college basketball, arbitrator Thomas Roberts' ruling that baseball owners conspired against signing 1985 free agents and Dwight Gooden's undergoing cocaine rehabilitation.

Rounding out the top 20 were Edwin Moses, Eric Dickerson, the New York Giants' Super Bowl victory over the Denver Broncos, Steffi Graf and David Robinson.

Last year, the first that the AP named a Story of the Year, Drugs was the winner, spotlighted by the drug-related deaths of Len Bias and Don Rogers.

The NFL players walked out on Sept. 22 after 20 negotiating sessions between labor and management failed to produce an agreement on any of the 38 articles in the contract.

Gene Upshaw, the executive director of the MFL player's association, said the strike was over free agency.

But some of his constituents didn't believe him.

"I'm not sure what the real reason is that we're striking," Buffalo quarterback Jim Kelly said. "I'm not sure what the issues are. When they come out and tell us what the real issues are, then I'll tell the rest of the players."

Before the strike collapsed during massive player defections, the players lost an average of $60,000 each.

The three weeks of games with replacement players were condemned and a majority of fans stayed away.

When the regular players came back Oct. 25, some strange things happened.

An 0-5 team, the New York Giants, was made a 10-point favorite against St. Louis.

The No. 2 story involved Conner's three-year, singleminded task — recapturing the Cup he lost off Newport, R.I., in 1983.

Conner led Stars & Stripes to a four-race sweep over a New Zealand boat, Kookaburra III.

All during January, a song blared from Conner's compound in Australia.

"There ain't no doubt it. We won't leave Perth without it." He didn't.

The No. 3 story involved a somewhat less single-minded personality.

"I'm thinking about adding another hobby to my off-season curriculum and that's all that it would be," the baseball player Jackson said on July 12.

And he did, joining the Los Angeles Raiders football team after the Kansas City Royals finished their season.

Jackson batted .235 with 22 homers and 53 runs batted in, and gained 554 yards in 81 carries, a 6.8-yard average, with four touchdowns.

Leonard's 12-round split-decision over Hagler after a 2½-year layoff was "the greatest accomplishment of my life," Leonard said.

Hagler had gone into the match with tremendous confidence from 37 consecutive fights without a loss.

Ohio State had an opening for football coach at the end of the season — the school fired Bruce, who had nine successful seasons, apparently because he lost three consecutive games.

Ohio State's decision to fire Bruce was not the quickest sports event of the year. That was done by Johnson, who took a tenth of a second off the world record, running 100 meters in 9.83 seconds.

He wasn't satisfied, though.

"That first meter off the blocks, I nearly fell down," Johnson said. "I got so much of the power off the blocks and lost a couple of tenths.

Steers fall in consolation

LUBBOCK — The Big Spring Steers failed in their bid to win the consolation trophy in the Caprock Tournament as they dropped a 76-64 decision to the Dimmitt Bobcats Thursday afternoon.

IAN WALKER ...three, three-pointers

The loss gave Big Spring a 2-2 record in the tournament and dropped its season record to 12-6. The Steers also lost to Lubbock Monterey, which played in the finals against Lamesa. Big Spring defeated Levelland and Seminole in the tournament.

One key to the Bobcats' victory was their constant trek to the free throw line. Dimmitt went to the free throw line 38 times, and made 24. Whereas Big Spring went to the line only eight times, making five.

Steers coach Boyce Paxton, who was whistled for two technicals in the contest, was anything but happy with the officiating.

"The officiating was less-than-desireable," said Paxton. "But we have to play in spite of that. Wednesday morning against Monterey we didn't play a lick. We played better against Dimmitt, but we still didn't play that well. We need some intensity and leadership. Those are the things we've got to have."

Junior guard Abner Shellman led Big Spring in scoring with 16 points. He was followed by Brian Mayfield with 14. Mayfield was the top rebounder with eight. Guard Ian Walker followed with six.

Paxton praised the play of Bruce Jones, who came off the bench and did a good job in the fourth quarter.

Paxton also said that reserve forward Fred Reid hustled throughout the tournament. "When Fred Reid came off the bench, something positive would happen for us," said Paxton.

"Playing in this tournament against this good competition is a good experience for us," said the Big Spring coach. "But I'm sitting at home tonight (Thursday night) instead of playing Lamesa in the finals. We had just as much talent as anybody in the tournament."

The Steers will resume District 2-4A play Saturday when they travel to play the Fort Stockton Panthers at 7:30 p.m. Junior varsity action begins at 6.

BIG SPRING (64) — Abner Shellman 7 0 16; Ian Walker 3 0 9; Doug Young 4 0 8; Phane Russey 2 0 4; Brian Mayfield 6 2 14; Fred Reid 3 2 8; Bruce Jones 1 1 3; Brandon Burnett 1 0 2; totals 27 5 64.

Elway NFL's top performer

NEW YORK (AP) — John Elway of the Denver Broncos, who carried the injury-decimated Denver Broncos to the best record in the AFC, was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player by The Associated Press on Thursday.

Elway was one of only three players to receive votes for the award, beating out wide receiver Jerry Rice of San Francisco, who was named the AP's offensive player, and 49ers quarterback Joe Montana.

Elway was beaten out by Montana for the first-team quarterback spot on the AP's All-Pro team.

"It's very flattering," Elway said in Denver. "But without the team behind you, you don't have a chance to win an award like this. A quarterback tends to get more credit than he deserves sometimes."

Of 84 votes cast — by three broadcasters and sports writers from each NFL city — Elway received 36 votes to 30 for Rice, Montana got 18 votes.

Elway carried the Broncos to a 10-4-1 record this season, good enough for the home-field advantage throughout the playoffs, even after losing to injury such stars as running backs Gerald Willhite and Steve Sewell, safety Dennis Smith, wide receiver Steve Watson and center Billy Bryan. Also, five defensive players from the team that went to the Super Bowl last season retired.

Elway entered the league as the first choice in the 1983 draft, but got off to a shaky start, thrown in as the savior of the Denver franchise.

Still, in his last four years, the Broncos have been 44-17-1 with him as the starter.

"It makes me feel like I've come a long way in five years," Elway said. "As a rookie, I hit rock bottom. When you start down-and-out and then come back to this level, it makes all the hard work seem worthwhile. That makes this award seem even more special."

How far he has come was evident during a four-game stretch in mid-season when he carried the Broncos to four straight victories after a loss in Buffalo that dropped the Broncos to 4-3-1. He threw for 341 yards and three touchdowns in a 31-29 win over the Bears and 347 and two TDs in a key 31-17 victory in San Diego.

"Since he's been here he's played an awful lot of good games," Coach Dan Reeves said after the San Diego game. "But I don't know that he's been as consistent as he's been in these past three."

With his running backs hurt, Elway relied principally on three fast wide receivers — Vance Johnson, Mark Jackson and rookie Ricky Nattiel, who were nicknamed "The Three Amigos." He finished with 224 completions in 410 attempts and 19 touchdowns.

He also finished as the team's second leading rusher behind Sammy Winder, carrying 66 times for 304 yards, a 4.6 average. On numerous occasions, he scrambled his way to first downs on third down situations and ran for four touchdowns.

Against San Diego, for example, he carried six times for 40 yards and against the Bears, he was five for 35.

Elway succeeds New York Giants linebacker Lawrence Taylor as league MVP.

Perles, in his fifth year as the Spartans coach, is more interested in the present.

He said Pac-10 domination "is not my problem. We're not going to get involved with how many years it's been since the Big Ten has won or lost."

"We're going to be our own team, do everything we can to prepare ourselves for one game. Our attitude is this is a new year, this is a new team. We haven't been out here for 22 years," Perles said.

That 1966 Rose Bowl game also was a rematch of a regular-season contest. Michigan State beat UCLA 13-3 in the regular season, but the Bruins upset the Spartans in the Rose Bowl.

In the other three Rose Bowls that were rematches of regular-season games, Iowa State beat Oregon State twice, first 14-13 then 35-19 in the 1957 Rose Bowl; Ohio State beat UCLA 41-10 in the 1975 regular season but lost 23-10 to the Bruins in Pasadena, and UCLA topped Michigan twice, 31-27 during the regular season and 24-14 in 1983.

Smith said both his team and the Spartans are much different than they were when they met earlier.

"I was discouraged (with that loss) because of the football we played," Smith said. "Going into the first game, our players and coaches didn't really know each other. I think as a team, we've gotten to know each other and mature. "I think it's rare that you start and end with the same team. I think both have changed a lot since the first game."

Dave Cadigan, Southern Cal's All-American offensive tackle, said mistakes obviously hurt the Trojans in the loss at Michigan State, but he added that he thought his team played fairly well considering it was the first game under a new coaching staff.

"I definitely think it's a great opportunity being able to play them again," he added.

The Spartans' White gained 111 yards and scored twice against the Trojans, but he said that has no bearing on what might happen in the Rose Bowl.

Orangemen

the team with 747 yards, Johnston, known primarily for his blocking, contributed 564 and Drummond's backup at tailback, Michael Owens, added 531.

Auburn's offense was geared to the control-type passing game of Jeff Burger, who threw for 2,066 yards and 13 touchdowns in completing 178 of 267 passes.

Redshirt freshman Stacy Danley led the Tigers in rushing with 474 yards, most of that in the final four games when the Tigers showed improvement in moving the ball on the ground.

Duke Donaldson led Auburn in receiving with 43 catches for 398 yards, but the big-play receiver is Lawyer Tillman, who galloped for 600 yards and six touchdowns on his 32 receptions.

"I think time of possession will be a big factor and turnovers will be a big factor," Burger said. "We have to keep our defense fresh to have the advantage."

Syracuse's defense is expected to get a boost with the return of nose guard Ted Gregory, sidelined with a knee injury in the fourth game.

Auburn's defense will have to overcome the loss of stellar defensive tackle Tracy Rocker, who missed the last two games with a knee injury, and cornerback Kevin Porter, ruled ineligible after signing with an agent.

"It should be a great football game, one that should have great national importance," Auburn Coach Pat Dye said. "Realistically I don't think we can win the national championship, but we would like to finish in the top three or four."

LSU routs South Carolina

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Tom Hodson threw three touchdown passes to Wendell Davis, and David Brownlyke added three field goals as seventh-ranked Louisiana State beat South Carolina 30-13 Thursday in the 43rd annual Gator Bowl.

Gator

Bowl

Carolina 30-13 Thursday in the 43rd annual Gator Bowl. Davis, who is LSU's all-time leading receiver, scored on pass plays covering 39, 12 and 26 yards while Brownlyke booted field goals of 27, 18 and 23 yards. Hodson's first two scoring passes to Davis came in the first five minutes of the game as the Tigers, who finished 10-1-1, jumped to a 14-0 lead.

Louisiana State opened a 27-6 lead before ninth-ranked South Carolina, 8-4, scored its only touchdown on a 10-yard run by Harold Green at the start of the fourth quarter.

South Carolina quarterback Todd Ellis threw four interceptions and was sacked seven times for losses totaling 62 yards.

Under first-year coach Mike Archer, LSU posted its first 10-victory season since 1961 and snapped a string of four straight bowl losses. South Carolina is winless in seven bowl appearances.

The Tigers took a 7-0 lead when Davis caught a sideline pass and eluded three tacklers on the 39-yard scoring play. That scoring drive was set up when LSU's Tommy Clapp sacked Ellis for a 20-yard loss, forcing the Gamecocks to punt from their own 16.

On South Carolina's next offensive series, LSU's Greg Jackson picked off an Ellis pass and returned it 48 yards to set up Hodson's second scoring pass.

Davis, who caught nine passes for 132 yards, caught a perfectly-thrown ball by Hodson in the corner of the end zone with 9:59 left in the opening quarter to make it 14-0.

South Carolina then took advantage of LSU's first turnover, a fumble by Davis at his own 32, to set up a 44-yard field goal by Collin Mackie.

LSU's Brownlyke sandwiched field goals of 27 and 18 yards around a 39-yard field goal as Mackie in the second period as LSU took a 20-6 halftime lead.

The Tigers took a 27-6 lead when Davis pulled in Hodson's 26-yard scoring pass to climax their opening drive of the second half.

Ex-ASU coach goes to Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Shortly after he was introduced Thursday as Ohio State's 21st head football coach, John Cooper began trying to make up for six missed weeks of recruiting high school players — a job he called his top priority.

"The important thing now is to get our staff here and get on with recruiting. We recognize that we probably are behind in recruiting, but we're going to catch up in a hurry," Cooper said.

"Recruiting is the name of the game. You win with talent," Cooper said. "We will start right here with primarily Ohio players and then go wherever else we need to go. We'll get the 25 best student-athletes we can to compete in the Big Ten Conference."

Cooper was introduced as the next Buckeyes coach one day after he coached Arizona State to a 33-28 victory over Air Force in the Freedom Bowl and a 7-1 season record. His record in three years at Arizona State was 25-9-2.

Cooper, 50, replaces Earle

Bruce, who was fired on Nov. 16, five days before the Buckeyes ended their season with a 6-4-1 record by beating Michigan.

Although Cooper left a news conference with a list of 25 players he said he planned to contact immediately, his five-year contract does not take effect until Monday, when the Ohio State Board of Trustees formally votes to approve it.

Under terms of the contract, Cooper will receive a $96,000 salary in his first year. His agreement also guarantees $240,000 annually from radio and television contracts for a total package of $336,000. However, that does not include possible revenue from a shoe contract, coaches camps or speeches.

Ohio State Athletic Director James L. Jones said that he and associate athletic director Bill Myles narrowed the list of candidates who expressed an interest in the job from about 48 to seven finalists.

Jones refused to reveal the names of the other finalists but acknowledged that Ohio State officials had asked UCLA Coach Terry Donahue and Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne if they were interested in the job. Both said no.

Cooper said he began serious negotiations with Ohio State about two weeks ago when he met with Jones and Myles in Dallas.

Cooper, a native of Powell, Tenn., said he told his players Wednesday night after their Freedom Bowl victory that he was leaving Arizona State and that he boarded a plane shortly afterward for Columbus, where he appeared with his wife, Helen.

"It's been a rough last couple of days for me," said Cooper, who dressed in the school colors — scarlet and gray — during the noon news conference. "One of the things I hope to do this afternoon is get some rest."

Cooper, a 1962 graduate of Iowa State, began his coaching career in 1962 as a freshman coach for the Cyclones. He was an assistant coach under Tommy Prothro at Oregon State from 1963-65 and followed Prothro to UCLA. He coached at Kansas under Coach Pepper Rodgers in 1967 and left in 1972 to join Coach Fran Curci at Kentucky. His got his first head coaching job in 1977 in Tulsa, where he compiled a 51-37 record in eight years.

Former assistant coaches to Bruce who expressed an interest in staying at Ohio State would be allowed to interview for jobs on the new staff, Cooper said. He said he had not yet talked to his Arizona State assistants about following him to Ohio State.

Cooper said he would spend more time dealing with coaches, talking to the media and participating in community events than many coaches.

"I don't spend a lot of time coaching players, I spend more time coaching coaches," Cooper said. "Coaches have to get involved in community affairs, public relations and charity events, and I do a lot of that."

STATED MEETING

College president to speak

Austin College President Harry E. Smith will be guest speaker for the 11 a.m. services Sunday, Jan. 10, at the First Presbyterian Church in Big Spring.

Dr. Smith's sermon, entitled "Faith and Learning," will be based on Job 28:12-28 and First Corinthians 1:21-2:16. The public is invited to attend.

"Dr. Smith takes the covenant between Austin College and the Presbyterian Church (USA) very seriously," says Richard Hardie, director of church relations to the college. "It is important to him to maintain close relationships with the churches of the Synod of the Sun."

"As a minister, Dr. Smith believes that his role as a college president reaches far beyond campus administration. He enjoys preaching, and welcomes the chance to travel to churches throughout the area."

Smith, a native Texan, is the 13th president of the 138-year-old liberal arts college in Sherman. He holds a doctorate in philosophy from Drew University, a bachelor of divinity degree from Yale Divinity School, and a bachelor's degree from the University of Texas.

Prior to coming to Austin College, Smith was executive director of the Society for Values in Higher Education and an associate professor of religion at Yale.

Smith began his career as Presbyterian campus chaplain at the University of North Carolina from 1954-1960 and 1962-1967. He became special assistant to the chancellor there in 1968.

Active in professional organizations, Smith is a member of the Policy Planning Commission, National Institute of Independent Colleges and Universities, and the board of trustees of the Society for Values in Higher Education.

Also, the board of trustees of the Association of Texas Colleges and Universities, the Council of Presidents of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, and a member of the Executive Council and Commission of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

RESOLUTIONS

ALONG WITH A NEW YEAR, IT'S TIME TO START A NEW LIFE. Get out the paper hats and the noisemakers, to welcome the new year! Put on your finest attire and get together with friends and relatives to await the turning of the calendar at midnight, which could also ring in a new way of life for you. However, if you would experience that good feeling of a fresh start, be careful not to overdo the celebration. If you have this tendency, it is hoped that a sincere desire to overcome it will be included on the list of resolutions that you plan to follow; unlike those previous years in which all your good intentions had evaporated by the middle of January, as you will recall by looking back over your record of performance. Of course, that list should also provide for regular attendance at your House of Worship; and if you will just abide by this one item, all the rest of them could prove to be quite unnecessary.

Every man regards his own life as the New Year's Eve of time.
"Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me."

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE

From the Carroll Righter Institute

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JANUARY 2, 1988

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There is a great deal of tension and strain connected with today's activities, and unless you make a special effort to remain calm, you'll get absolutely nothing accomplished all day today.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may get a message from afar today which could confuse you, but study it well and it might just be an opportunity to advance.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) This is not a good day to make any radical changes in business or your routines, especially in the morning. Don't trust your usual advisers.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A partner could be annoying today, but don't let this keep you from getting your work done. This evening is a good time for new contracts.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Stay calm at work today, and you'll find a way to advance your ambitions. This evening should be spent with your mate.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Don't be extravagant where pleasure is concerned; safeguard your assets. Any marketing should be done in the afternoon or evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try not to argue at home this morning, or you'll ruin that harmonious atmosphere. Get out with your mate and paint the town red tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Contact those individuals who can be of great assistance to you, but make sure any conversations are short and to the point.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show that you value your relationship with your mate, and don't do anything which could cause strife. Don't argue over any bills.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A partner may be a bit flighty today, but be sure you keep your feet planted firmly on the ground. Handle community affairs wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can easily turn unfavorable conditions into constructive ones at this time. Be sure you are extremely careful while driving tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't allow a nervous associate to prevent you from enjoying a recreation you had planned. Try to spend more time with your mate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Find out what your kin desire, and try to fit it into your busy schedule. This is not a good day to invite guests in, but use tact if you do.

If Your Child Is Born Today He or she will be highly restless, and should be guided to place his or her energies in constructive and positive channels. Don't try to force your progeny into a college education; after experiencing the manual side of life, your child will make this decision independently.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
