Brown wins; others to face again

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

The lack of a majority vote-getter among Precinct 3 Democrat county commissioner candidates will force a runoff April 12, while Precinct 1 incumbent O.L. "Louie" Brown came away from the Super Tuesday primary a strong winner.

The Howard County commissioner contest could be the only runoff on the April Democratic ballot, County Clerk Margaret Ray said today, reporting that she doesn't expect any statewide Democratic runoffs. Several statewide Republican runoffs are possible, however, she said.

Commissioner candidate Fay Reed garnered 46.02 percent of the vote, while her closest competitor, E.L. "Pete" Jenkins, gathered 28.45 percent. The two will face each other in the April runoff, which will determine who will run against Republican incumbent Bill Crooker. Crooker ran unopposed in the Republican primary.

Reed said she was pleased with the outcome and "glad to make the cut."
"I'm sorry we had to have a runoff, but we all expected it," Reed said.

"Now we just have to get out there and do it all over again."

Second place finisher Jenkins said he wishes he "would have gotten a few more votes," but added,

"it means we'll just have to work harder."

Jenkins said he plans to concentrate on one-on-one contact as part of his campaign strategy.

Both candidates said they were pleased with voter turnout.

About 100 more Howard County residents voted in this year's presidential primary compared to figures from the 1984 primary, but the total Democratic turnout was down by more than 700 votes.

Tuesday's Republican turnout, however, was 802 votes higher than 1984 Republican figures.

The Super Tuesday primary knocked Precinct 3 commissioner hopeful Jimmy Newsom from the race. Newsom had garnered 25.53 percent of the vote.

"With this vote of confidence and my experience, I think I can do a

Wilkerson vows to keep promises

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

Hardy Wilkerson said today he will work hard to uphold campaign promises made during his bid for Howard County attorney.

Wilkerson, Big Spring's former city attorney, captured more than 70 percent of the vote Tuesday to claim the county attorney race. A Democrat, he will run unopposed in the November general election.

Wilkerson ran against former county attorney Robert D. "Bob" Miller in a highly visible race that included radio, television and newspaper advertising.

He garnered 3,105 votes to Miller's 1,321. "I was certainly expecting a closer race," Wilkerson said.

"It's very gratifying for all the work we did." Wilkerson was the top spender among county candidates, and also received the most contributions, according to county clerk election filings.

He outspent his opponent by more than $1,500, according to reports of expenditures and contributions filed eight days before the election. Final reports have not been filed.

He also received $3,380 in contributions compared to Miller's $1,300, according to the reports.

Miller, who operates a private law office at 608 Scurry St., served as county attorney from 1981 to 1984, and said today he will continue to operate his Big Spring practice.

"Hardy made some strong commitments, which is the good that came out of the race," Miller said.

"I challenge him to be in the office six to eight hours a day," Miller said, referring to one of Wilkerson's campaign promises.

"I don't see how he can possibly have a significant private practice. The only way is to use the county of-

Fraser pleased to run against incumbent Shaw

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Republican Troy Fraser said today he is elated to be running against incumbent 69th District state Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, in November.

"My response to Shaw winning his primary," Fraser said, "is that we're excited to be running against Shaw. He's the person we want to remove from office."

Shaw, on the other hand, spoke strongly concerning the advantage of a legislator with seniority.

"We intend to keep on sending the same positive message," he said, "about the difference between having a representative with experience and seniority in the legislature and having to start all over with a freshman, and about our track record on a number of issues in this area."

Fraser said, "Shaw has been busy climbing the legislative ladder, but in the process he has sold out his votes to the big city liberals."

"Committee appointments mean nothing if you don't vote the conservative beliefs of this district," said Fraser. "West Texas is a long way from Austin, and Shaw has forgotten we are out here."

Record number of Texans give their opinion

STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans turned out in record numbers to Bush-whack the vice president's GOP rivals in Super Tuesday balloting and give the Rev. Jesse Jackson one of the biggest boosts of his presidential campaign.

Howard County voters, however, preferred Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis to Jackson. Dukakis garnered first place with 1,318 votes to Jackson's fourth-place total of 625.

An estimated 2.7 million voters crowded the state's polling places Tuesday to cast votes in dozens of races, eclipsing the 2.3 million record set in 1972, Secretary of State Jack Rains said today.

Besides bestowing the crown jewel of the state's 111 GOP delegates on Vice President George Bush, voters awarded Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis first place in the Democratic chase for the primary's largest prize — Texas.

But Jackson held tight on runner-up, with 24 percent of the vote to Dukakis' 33, and secured 42 Democratic delegates to Dukakis' 43 in the richest harvest yet of his outspoken campaign.

"I feel very good about it," Jackson said in Houston before leaving for Chicago today. "I think the No. 1 showings are obviously impressive. Here in Texas... that's a tremendous statement. We certainly ran a more cost-efficient campaign."

Bush, meanwhile, got a welcome home so strong it took him by surprise after fellow Texans gave him 65 percent of their votes. The vice president handily captured Howard County with a 51.36 percent total of 663 votes; his nearest rival here was Pat Robertson with 455, or 25.24 percent.

"This is a unique political happening... it has exceeded my fondest expectations," Bush told several hundred supporters crowding a ballroom at a Houston hotel soon after polls closed Tuesday night.

Uncle indicted in child's death

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A grand jury has returned a murder indictment against the uncle of an 8-month-old girl, who authorities said was the victim of her family's sadistic games.

Raymond Macias, 32, remained in the Bexar County Jail Tuesday in lieu of a $50,000 bond on a murder charge in connection with the death of Sarah Macias on Dec. 29. The child had been left in the care of Macias and his wife, Guadalupe.

An autopsy indicates the child died from a blow to the head, but authorities said she was bitten, pinched, hit with a tennis shoe, spun on the floor and was the subject of a game called "The Color Purple," in which her nose was held until she turned different colors.

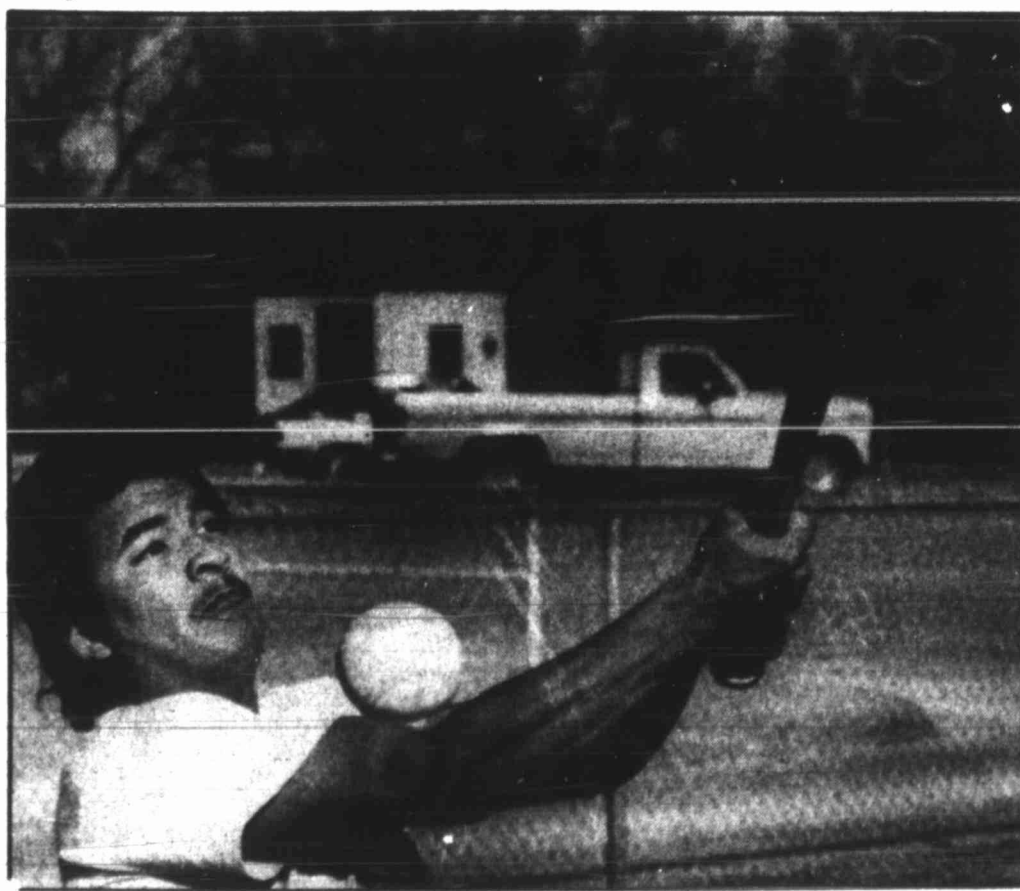

Medical records show that Macias, a paraplegic, has suicidal tendencies and a report by chief jail psychiatrist Dr. John Sparks says Macias is incompetent to stand trial.

Prosecutors, however, hope to bring him to trial at a future date.

"He needs to be evaluated for a complete prognosis as to when and if he can be competent to stand trial," said First Assistant District Attorney Dan Maeso. "Eventually he will be brought to trial."

If a jury finds Macias incompetent to stand trial, he will be transferred to a state hospital and it will be determined at a later date whether he can stand trial, Maeso said.

Macias has made two court appearances in the past two months, both times under heavy medication, which his attorney, Warren Wolf, claims has made him appear like a "zombie."

Park fee reductions given first approval

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

City Council gave preliminary approval to an ordinance amending certain parks and recreation fees during its regular meeting Tuesday at city hall.

Members also authorized the city to bid for materials to construct an industrial access road on the west side of McMahan-Wrinkle Airpark.

The amended rental fees pertain to the city auditorium, Comanche Trail Park amphitheatre, Dora Roberts Community Center and Moss Creek Lake.

Under the amended rates, persons who rent the auditorium for a rehearsal will pay a flat rate of $10 per night, plus $20 dollars an hour for technician fees.

For performances at the auditorium, rental will be $75 for the first three hours, then $20 for each subsequent hour. The technician rate and a non-refundable $200 clean-up deposit also will be required.

These fees are the same as under the old ordinance, with the exception that a weekend rate of $150 for the first three hours and $45 for subsequent hours is eliminated.

Persons renting the amphitheatre will be required to pay $50 per performance, but no fee will be charged for rehearsals. A $25 refundable clean-up deposit also will be charged.

This compares to the old rental fees of $50 for the first three hours and $15 dollars for subsequent hours.

Rental fees for Dora Roberts Community Center and Moss Creek Lake will remain the same under the new ordinance.

Persons renting DRCC will be required to pay the following deposits:

• Ballroom, without alcohol use — $150.

• Ballroom, with alcohol use — $250.

• Meeting room — $50.

• Entire building, without alcohol use — $250.

• Entire building, with alcohol use — $300.

Moss Creek Lake will charge the following admission fees:

- Daily permits — $1.50 per person.
- Annual permits — $35 per family.

The first reading of the new ordinance passed unanimously.

The bid authorization is for materials to construct an industrial access road from the service road of Interstate 20 to the west side of the Industrial Park, Public Works Director Tom Decell said.

Decell said that the new road will be a cooperative effort between the city and the county, with the city purchasing materials and the county performing the work. Once completed, the road will run at about the same spot as the old airport perimeter road, he added.

The major work will be to widen the road to 30 feet, and to straighten out the sharper turns on the road, which make its use difficult for industrial traffic, Decell said.

The cost estimate for construction is $35,000, and already is a budgeted item, he added.

In other business, council:

- Denied an application by Vera Hamill to place a mobile home at 208 Grant St. Hamill had requested the mobile home placement to allow her to be closer to medical facilities.

She lives outside the city limits, and a letter from her doctor, Pedro Montojo, stated that, because of her age and her medical condition, it would be hazardous for her to drive very far on a daily basis.

Councilman Johnny Rutherford said he was sympathetic to her plight, but stated that city ordinances allow mobile homes in city limits under three conditions:

- If the person is constructing a house and needs temporary shelter.
- If it is to quarter a caretaker or grounds foreman.
- Or for health reasons if it is adjacent to someone who will provide care to the person.

Since Hamill didn't designate that she would be living next to someone who will care for her, the council was powerless to act "short of amending the ordinance," Rutherford said.

Council unanimously denied the application.

- Approved the first reading of a resolution defining and classifying the use of a detention center.

Under the proposed resolution, persons wishing to construct a detention center must first obtain a special use permit from the planning and zoning commission, then get approval from council.

Council passed the first reading 5-0, with Rutherford abstaining.

Hit and run injures one

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A Big Spring man was treated and released from Scenic Mountain Medical Center after he was struck by an unknown vehicle Tuesday night.

Charlie Wayne Gamel, 30, 1506 A Sycamore St., was injured when the bicycle he was riding on Eleventh Place was struck by the vehicle at about 8 p.m., according to police records.

The vehicle, of which no description was available, failed to stop and then left the scene, the report added.

Gamel was taken to the hospital by private vehicle, and was released later that evening, according to a hospital spokesman.

"I'd like to thank my supporters and the voters. I appreciate every one of them."

His opponent, Emilio Rey Molina Sr., received 29.88 percent of the vote.

Molina said this morning he was up against some tough competition.

Molina, who has never before run for office, said "I think I did pretty good for the first time. It's worth trying."

He called Brown a "well-known man" who had a lot of experience behind him.

"He's still a good man — I don't have anything against him. I'm just glad it's over."

For the record

It was reported in the March 4 Big Spring Herald, that Big Spring residents will pay an additional 49 cents, Lomax customers will pay an extra 65 cents and Coahoma customers will pay an additional 35 cents per month when the 911 fee goes into effect.

Big Spring Fire Chief Carl Dorton said today that all Howard County residents will pay 50 cents extra, regardless of location.

County GOPs vote in record numbers

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Democratic Howard County voters didn't turn out as expected, but Republican party officials rejoiced at record numbers during Super Tuesday. A total of 6,117 Howard residents voted.

Democrats lost ground from previous years as 4,798 registered Democrats voted Tuesday. In 1984, 5,503 Democrats voted in the county's primary election and 4,800 Democrats voted in 1986.

According to M.H. Boatler, Democratic party chairman for Howard County, the turnout was considerably lower than expected.

Boatler said the party ordered 7,000 ballots for the county, expecting a turnout of 6,000 voters with the presidential election on the ticket. The Democratic turnout totaled 28.55 percent, according to election officials.

County clerk Margaret Ray checks the voter registration list to find the proper precinct for a caller Tuesday morning. There were 6,117 ballots cast in the Super Tuesday election in Howard County, and the phones were "ringing off the hook" from callers requesting voter information, she said.

County GOP chairman Spencer Wolfe called the 1,319 Republican voters a tremendous turnout. In 1984 the GOP drew 517 voters; in the 1986 primary, 677 Republican votes were cast in Howard County. Super Tuesday's total was nearly double that figure.

Wolfe said early today he had come prepared for as many as 3,000 voters, planning not to run out of ballots. "We're on the map now," Wolfe said.

Election officials posted the total Republican turnout at 7.85 percent of the county's approximately 16,800 registered voters, Wolfe said.

Wilkerson, however, said he had no qualms about committing six hours a day to the county post, while maintaining his private practice.

"It's something I have experience in doing," Wilkerson said, concerning the time commitment. He said he worked about four hours a day as city attorney, while maintaining a private practice.

The county attorney's job involves "structured time" such as scheduled hearings, Wilkerson said. "The time will come naturally."

Miller said today he expected a higher voter turnout and a closer race, adding that he ran for the of-

in which more than half the counties did not have a Republican Primary.

Shaw received 71.7 percent of the Democratic primary vote, with 14,213 total ballots, to defeat challenger Cecil Gilstrap, whose 5,599 votes totaled 28.3 percent of the turnout.

Shaw, contacted in his office early today, said, "We're just real grateful the voters gave us such a resounding victory. You know, you never know for sure. Your success depends on getting your message out to the voters, and then they have the power to decide."

"We've been emphasizing the message of our seniority and experience, compared to having a freshman representative, and the voters apparently feel the same way," he said. "We've really worked hard in this community to ensure that SWCID stayed open."

"And if you talk to the people at Howard College, they'll tell you that I've always had pretty tough battles to get the money for them."

"The state hospital is another important institution, and the widening of Highway 87 south of Big Spring, and we also worked to ensure that we got our fair share of the emergency funds when the dams broke," said Shaw.

Shaw mentioned the loss of several West Texas lawmakers through today's voting results and said Bill Sarpalius' decision to leave the legislature and seek a U.S. House of Representatives position had particularly weakened the West Texas delegation remaining in Austin.

"There are literally only five or six of us (state representatives) from West Texas left who are in key positions, and it makes our job really hard in a legislature dominated by the urban areas. It puts us at a very grave disadvantage."

"So our message is that it's important to keep as many representatives with experience and seniority from West Texas as possible," Shaw said, "rather than having to start over with a freshman."

He said that position had nothing to do with the personalities or qualifications of any of his opponents but stemmed from legislative regulations that prevent freshmen from obtaining major appointments or key posts on legislative committees.

"No matter who that (freshman) is, it takes years to develop the seniority and power for getting those key positions," Shaw said.

"We are very grateful to the people of Howard County for their support and for their hard work in this campaign for us," Shaw said.

All-hearing cast prompts boycott call

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Hearing-impaired theatergoers are calling for a boycott of a stage production of "Children of a Lesser God" because only actors who can hear were cast, says an interpreter for the deaf.

"A hearing person who pretends to be deaf is not going to look right, and it's not going to be presented properly," Kellie Perkins, who also has a hearing problem, said Tuesday.

Director Mark Bacus disagreed, and said he tried unsuccessfully to cast hearing-impaired actors for the Piasaw Players' amateur production.

The play, about the relationship between a deaf woman and a man who can hear, won Tony awards in 1980. Marlee Matlin, who is deaf, won an Oscar for her portrayal of the woman in the 1986 film version.

The drama was written specifically for deaf people, to show their concerns to society, said Ms. Perkins, an interpreter at Impact Inc., a center that helps the handicapped in this southern Illinois community.

"What bothers me is that a hearing person cannot understand what a deaf person feels," she said.

The lead actress will be unable to learn all the required sign language by showtime, Ms. Perkins said. Bacus said the actors will learn enough signing to handle their parts well.

"All theater has to exaggerate to provide illusion," he said. "If I do a show that has a French character, must I find somebody that knows all French?"

School board to consider ratios

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Big Spring school trustees will consider housing arrangements for the district to conform to state-mandated student/teacher ratios at their regular meeting, scheduled for 5:15 Thursday at the high school board room.

Board members will be looking at several ways to meet the required 22 to one ratio, kindergarten through 4, according to Assistant Superintendent Murray Murphy.

The district already is conforming to the ratio for grades K through 2, and will expand it to include grades three and four, he noted.

"The board will do whatever is most cost effective for the 1988-89 school year," Murphy said. Possible actions the board will consider include:

- School boundary changes.
- Temporary buildings.
- Adding additional teachers.
- Additional busing changes.

In other business, the board will consider:

- Approval of a new teacher appraiser.
- The local textbook committee report.
- Chapters I and II budget amendments.
- Election of directors for the Educational Service Center, Region 18.
- Approval of honors courses at Big Spring High School.
- Resignations of seven district employees.
- Recommendations for teacher contract extensions.

Four deaths, robbery may be related

FARMERSVILLE (AP) — Authorities searched for two men who are suspected in a two-state shooting spree that left at least three dead, including a father and son in Texas.

Four people were found dead Monday and Tuesday, three in Texas and one in Arkansas, but only three of the killings appear to be definitely linked, authorities said.

Officials said they were investigating the possibility that the killings may have been linked a Monday morning bank robbery in Oklahoma.

The hunt for the men Tuesday night centered around Marietta, Okla., where one of the victim's stolen car was found submerged in a stock pond and the two men are believed to have fled on foot about noon Tuesday.

Earlier in the day, police searched for the men in the North Texas area with helicopters.

The men were described as two 18-to-20-year-old white men, one weighing about 190 pounds, with blond, curly hair, and another with stocky build and long, black hair.

Monday, authorities thought they were close to capturing the men in Arkansas.

"We thought we had them (Monday) night," said Hempstead County Sheriff's Deputy Tom

Witt. "We were in the area they were in but apparently, somehow or another, we didn't spot them."

Two of the victims, Cecil Floyd Morrison, 85, and his son, Cecil Leonard Morrison, 62, were found dead in their Collin County home Monday night after Arkansas officials found their pickup truck partially submerged in an Arkansas lake.

Ammunition, and a check stub with the Morrison's address were found inside the truck, and Arkansas officials alerted Texas about the find.

"They had been struck in the head several times with a tire iron or tire tool and wooden club," said Sgt. Anthony Hancock of the Collin County sheriff's office. The men had also been shot in the face, authorities said.

Collin County borders Dallas County. Farmersville is about 35 miles northeast of Dallas.

The two men suspected in the Morrison deaths are also being sought in connection with the death of Kenneth Olden, 34, of Arkansas, whose body was found about 9 a.m. Tuesday, authorities said. He was found on a rural road, outside Saratoga, near Hope and had been shot three times, said Worthy.

Officials say they were shocked by the brutality of the crimes.

"I have never dealt with anybody that seems to be this cold-blooded," Worthy said.

Deana Andrews Woodard, 23, was found dead in her Gainesville home Monday afternoon.

"Olden and those two (in Texas) we feel are connected but we haven't gotten a link to the woman and the robbery," Witt said.

Monday morning, three gunmen robbed The First National Bank of Seminole in Oklahoma, authorities said.

The gunmen forced four employees and one customer into a restroom while one suspect took money from the bank's vault, said FBI spokesman Dan Vogel.

The FBI recovered most of the stolen cash in Muskogee, Okla.

Vogel said photographs of the bank robbery suspects have been sent to Texas authorities, but he could not confirm there was a link between the crimes.

Seminole police believe at least two of the three fled to the south, while the third is believed to have fled alone, the Texarkana Gazette reported.

Stifling satire not very funny

How would you characterize a magazine parody of a liquor ad in which a preacher declares he had his first sexual encounter with his mother in an outhouse? Outrageous. Tasteless. Dumb. Disgusting. To those adjectives, the U.S. Supreme Court has added another description: constitutionally protected.

The Supreme Court, in a unanimous ruling, made it clear that the First Amendment protects the rights of a cartoonist or satirist to lampoon public figures.

Television evangelist Jerry Falwell, upset over Hustler magazine's parody of him engaged in outhouse incest, had filed a libel lawsuit against publisher Larry Flynt. A Virginia jury had awarded Falwell $200,000 for his embarrassment and distress.

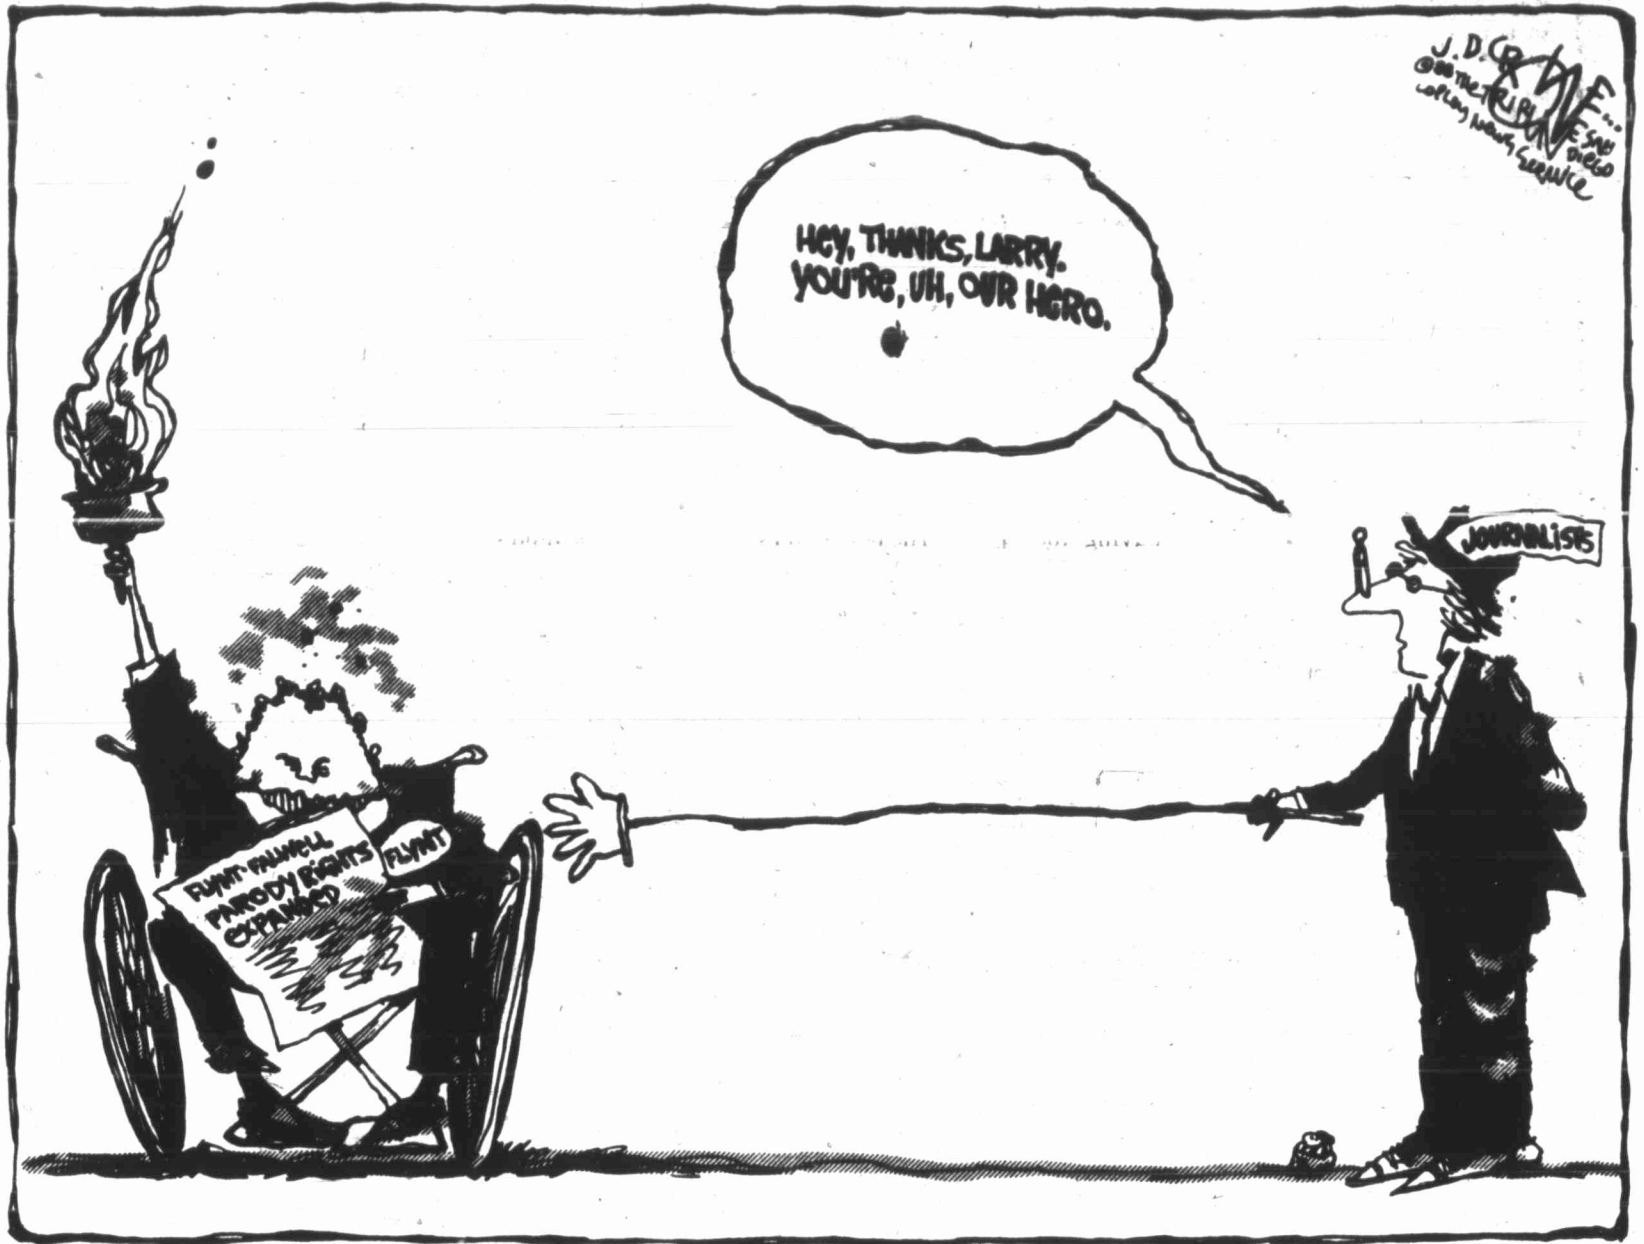

But high court justices wisely nullified the judgment. No less a conservative than Chief Justice William Rehnquist recounted the long history of American political satire, dating back to the days of George Washington.

And while the Hustler satire was "at best a distant cousin" of political cartoons, Rehnquist said, it deserved the same protection.

As he correctly argued, it's hard to draw the line between good satire and bad, between outrageously funny and just plain awful. And even the object of an excellent cartoon may feel embarrassed and distressed by it.

No one knows that better than Rehnquist and his colleagues, who have often seen less-than-flattering caricatures of themselves in syndicated cartoons.

What would happen if public figures, be they politicians or preachers, went to court and collected big libel damages when they felt offended by their appearance in a cartoon? The likenesses of powerful people, no doubt, would vanish from cartoons. We see no humor in that.

Al Gore is not a pig in a poke

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

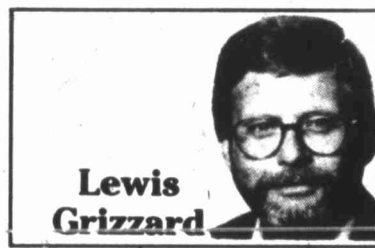

The Democrat Al Gore staked his bid for the presidential nomination on how well he did in the Deep South Super Tuesday primaries. But, the skeptics have been asking, is this man really a Southerner?

Tennessee is his home, of course, but the facts are he is a Harvard man, he doesn't exactly sound like Gomer Pyle when he speaks and there is some doubt as to whether or not he has ever ridden in a pickup truck in the mountains at Rocky Top.

Garry Trudeau's Doonesbury has taken to calling him "Prince Albert," and other cartoonists have characterized him as a three-piece-suiter trying to woo the overalls crowd.

I consider myself an expert on what is Southern. Here's some examples that are pure:

- Hemingway Stadium, Oxford,

Lewis Grizzard

Mississippi.

- George Jones.
- Randy Travis.
- The Darlington 500 automobile race.
- The Luckie Street Grill, Atlanta.
- Using the word "tacky," to describe people from the North and their odd ways.
- Saying "fixing" as a substitute for "preparing."
- Anything that's got to do with the Baptist Church.
- Hand-held funeral-home fans.
- Gnats.

- Shooting holes in road signs.
- The sixteenth hole on the last day of the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta National.
- Pork pig barbecue.

I put pork pig barbecue on my list because it is, of course, a Southern thing and it can, in fact, define a Southerner.

Somebody who thinks barbecue is beef is not a Southerner. Texans think barbecue is beef.

Somebody who thinks that barbecue in terms of ribs only is not a Southerner, either. This person is probably from the Midwest and wears rubbers on his or her shoes.

But somebody who knows damn well barbecue is pork and the best way to eat it is sliced or chopped and put inside two pieces of bread is damn well a Southerner.

The point here: It was two summers ago in Memphis. I was attending the International Barbecue Cookoff — the second biggest event in town. Elvis's birthday is number 1.

There were hundreds of people cooking barbecue on the banks of the Mississippi, and one of those people, believe it or not, was Al Gore.

I saw the man cooking his pig. I saw him wearing a stained apron. I saw the sweat dripping from his face.

I also met him, chatted with him (and ate some of his pig barbecue) and ate some of his pig barbecue.

Al Gore's barbecue didn't win any prizes that I know of, but it certainly was passable.

Al Gore probably isn't going to win the Democratic nomination either, but I would like to come to his defense and say: Yes, he has been Easternized to a degree, but the man does know how to barbecue a pig, and that's proof enough to me, suh, that he's blood.

Dislikes skateboard park proposal

To the editor:

If the people from Midland would like the skateboard park torn down re: March 2 letter to the editor, tell them to move to Big Spring and start paying taxes here. What they probably don't like is the sound of children playing and having a good time.

I certainly hope that this city does not tear it down because it gives a lot of children something to do after school and on weekends. Why is it that we always want to tear down the things children enjoy and then never replace it with something else for children?

Maybe it's because we know that the kids are the future and that they also have a very small voice in our society. Leave it here for the kids!

Quotes

"I'm going to be the next president of the United States." — Vice President George Bush, who took command of the Republican presidential race with a 16-state sweep in the Super Tuesday primaries.

"Something phenomenal is happening in our nation. Just this week 23 years ago we were in the trauma of having tried to march from Selma to Montgomery (Ala.). The marchers were beaten back with horses and state troopers and cattle prods. ... And now ... we're marching to our local precinct polls and thus there's a new politics in the South." — Jesse Jackson, who split the Deep South with Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., in Democratic primaries on Super Tuesday.

"I'm just miserable. I'll vote for Bush in November." — Mary Fishburne, a 101-year-old registered Democrat from Shreveport, La., who couldn't vote for her favorite in Tuesday's Louisiana primary because crossover voting wasn't allowed. Miss Fishburne hasn't missed voting since 1921, after women won the right to vote.

The numbers are adding up for Bush and Dukakis

By WALTER R. MEARS
An AP News Analysis

Suddenly, maneuver and momentum, strategic plays and comeback vows count for little in the campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. It is a contest of plain numbers now, and they add up to Vice President George Bush.

It isn't over, but it isn't open, and won't be unless a weakened, shrinking field finds a way to stop Bush.

After his Super Tuesday primary election sweep, on the biggest election day of a political lifetime, Bush needs little more than one-third of the Republican national convention delegates yet to be chosen in order to gain a nominating majority.

To prevent it, Sen. Bob Dole would have to score a succession of shutouts and capture more than three-quarters of the delegates left to be won. Dole says he will storm back in the Illinois primary next week. But even if Dole does win there, Bush surely will add significantly to his delegate count.

And just now, the shutout belongs to Bush: 16 victories, only two of them even close, and both of those on the borders of Dole's Kansas home.

Among Democrats, Sen. Albert Gore Jr. has proven himself a strong regional candidate in the South, and now must prove that's not what he is. Gore waged his campaign on a southern strategy that defied conventional campaign guideposts, and made it work.

Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis won big, too, at home and away. Jesse Jackson was a winner as well.

The Democrats' big three divided 15 states evenly among them. Dukakis won his home state, and captured two of the biggest prizes in the south, Texas and Florida. That translated into more than 350 delegates for Dukakis, with Jackson and Gore close behind.

Rep. Richard Gephardt managed to win only in his Missouri home, losing in regional competition he once thought was structured to his advantage.

Gore bypassed the Iowa and New Hampshire contests after early forays showed his chances there were negligible. While Gephardt and Dukakis were splitting those contests, Gore concentrated his time and, more important, his money on his southern base.

It worked, and he won front-rank status for the next set of contests. Now he must compete in the industrial north, beginning next week in Illinois. That will be a difficult test.

The political terrain there is promising for the liberal Dukakis. Jackson's black vote is solid and his base is Chicago. Illinois

Sen. Paul Simon returns to the campaign, at least for a week, as a favorite son. And while Gephardt is battered, he isn't finished.

Gore boasts of his caucus showings in some states outside the South as evidence that he's more than a regional figure. But he says realistically that he must prove himself in places like Illinois, Michigan and Ohio.

Add New York and Pennsylvania to that lineup, and the schedule seems made-to-order for Dukakis.

While the Massachusetts governor is the Democrat to beat, Bush's GOP rivals will have to become political magicians to find a way to stop him.

Bush's triumph came exactly one month after the Iowa caucuses in which he ran an embarrassing third, behind Dole and Pat Robertson, the former television evangelist. Bush then won the New Hampshire primary, and said that reports of his death had been greatly exaggerated.

Dole and Robertson were left to try to fend off the obituaries this time. Rep. Jack Kemp wasn't even trying that. Kemp, who once saw the South as a prime target for his conservative campaign, ran far behind the field, effectively ending his quest.

As state after state went to Bush, Dole, in Chicago, pronounced the Illinois primary next Tuesday "more and more important."

"This is going to be Bob Dole's recovery state," he said, "it's going to be the turnaround state."

If it isn't, Illinois could be the farewell state.

Robertson, whose evangelical supporters are dedicated and formidable in caucus states, salvaged one victory Tuesday, in the Washington state caucuses. "Coming out of Illinois, it's very possible that it will be a two-man race — Bush and Robertson," said Robertson.

By way of evidence, he said only that he has the financing to go all the way to the Republican convention next summer.

Girl Scouts share easy-to-prepare dessert recipes

Recipe exchange

By LYNN HAYES
Staff Writer

Sunday was the beginning of Girl Scout Week and also the day when girls re-committed themselves to Girl Scouting through their promise: "On my honor, I will try: To serve God and my country, to help people at all times, and to live by the Girl Scout Law."

This year's celebration focuses on the theme, "Take the Lead," emphasizing an important objective of Girl Scouting — to prepare young women to become tomorrow's leaders.

Throughout the week, troops and service units will be involved in activities that remind them that for 75 years, girls have been having fun and gaining solid learning experiences and enriching their worlds through Girl Scouting, said Nadene Handley, publicity director for the West Texas Girl Scout Council.

Local Girl Scouts will clean the highway on FM 700 between the Snyder Highway and I-20 Saturday, from 2 to 4 p.m. They will then meet for a friendship supper at Comanche Trail Park at 5 p.m., said Debbie Burrow, senior advisor for Troop 36.

The girls will help prepare their version of Hobo Stew. "Each girl brings their own can of vegetables and adds it to a meat broth," said Burrow.

Soften ice cream. Chop cookies coarsely. Fold cookies into ice cream and refreeze.

CHOCOLATE CHIP PIE

Crust:
One package Girl Scout Chocolate Chip Cookies, chopped
2 tbs. margarine, melted

Filling:
1 - 8 oz. non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
1 - 8 oz. package cream cheese, softened
1 cup confectioner sugar
1 - 4 1/2 oz. package chocolate instant pudding and pie filling
2 cups milk

Empty chopped cookies into bowl. Add melted margarine to cookie mixture and mix well. Press firmly into bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Cool thoroughly. Combine one cup of whipped topping, cream cheese and sugar; mix with electric mixer on medium speed until mixture is smooth.

Spread this mixture evenly over crust. Combine pudding and milk in blender and blend on low speed until thickened and smooth. Spread this mixture evenly over the cream cheese mixture.

Spread the remaining whipped topping over the pudding. Cover and chill overnight. Make a 9-inch pie.

Refrigerate several hours or overnight. The longer this dessert stands, the better it gets. To serve, spoon some of the roll onto a dessert plate. May be topped with more whipped cream and crushed cookies. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

South gives Bush lead, Democrats split in trio

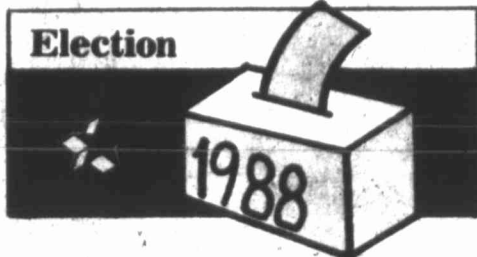

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
AP Political Writer

Vice President George Bush stood with each of the Republican presidential nomination today after a clean sweep of Super Tuesday primaries. Albert Gore Jr. led a Southern dynamic to the Democratic race, splitting a rich harvest of delegates with Michael Dukakis and Jesse Jackson.

"It exceeded my fondest expectations," exulted Bush as he surveyed his 16-0 shutout Tuesday and looked ahead to an Illinois showdown next Tuesday, where another victory over Kansas Sen. Bob Dole would give his nomination an aura of inevitability.

Super Tuesday spelled disaster for Dole, fellow Republican Pat Robertson, and Democrat Richard Gephardt, all three entering on the verge of elimination after rejection in state after state.

Almost certain to pack it in — perhaps today — was Republican Jack Kemp, who was meeting with advisers to see if there was any point in continuing. He got no better than 7 percent of the vote in any of Tuesday's primaries.

Dole acknowledged he took a whipping but looked ahead to Illinois. "This is going to be Bob Dole's recovery state," he said. "It's going to be the turnaround state."

The delegate total dramatically spelled out how Bush dominated the day. With 712 Republican convention delegates at stake, Bush won 578, giving him 705 when combined with the delegates he won in earlier contests. Dole had 98, for a total of 163. Robertson gained 9 delegates for a total of 17. Kemp picked up four for a total of 39. The remainder will be apportioned as the final few votes are counted. It takes 1,139 to gain the Republican nomination at the party convention in New Orleans in August.

On the Democratic side, with 1,307 national convention delegates at stake in 21 contests, the race looked like this:

Dukakis won 374 for a total of 443.5; Jackson picked up 358, giving him a total of 385.55; and Gore took 325 for a total of 346.8. Gephardt picked up 93 delegates for a total of 143, while Gary Hart gained just one — his first of the entire campaign.

It takes 2,082 to gain the Democratic nomination at the party convention in Atlanta this summer.

Super Tuesday was designed by Southern Democrats hoping for a more conservative candidate that they believed could avoid the disasters which have befallen the Democrats in four of the last five presidential elections.

But the massive schedule — 20 Democratic and 17 Republican contests — appeared to offer an advantage to the best financed candidates or, in the case of Jackson, the one who had the most solid base in the region.

While Jackson was far outspent by his rivals, he received more than 90 percent of the black vote in the South, according to exit polls, which said he won as much as 10 percent of the white vote — more than twice as much as his 1984 showing among whites.

With 96 percent of precincts reporting, the popular vote from the Democratic primaries was Jackson 2,493,700, Dukakis 2,439,856, Gore 2,431,306, Gephardt 1,204,585, Hart 276,594, and Illinois Sen. Paul Simon 179,580.

With 93 percent of the Republican precincts reporting, the totals were Bush 2,584,238, Dole 1,095,419, Robertson 582,730, and Kemp 218,136.

While Bush towered over his Republican rivals after the biggest day in primary election history, the Democrats still were a party in search of a clear leader.

Super Tuesday gave them three and left Gephardt on shaky ground. Democrats will hold caucuses on Saturday in South Carolina, where Gephardt, Jackson and Gore are the principal contenders, and then move on to Illinois for next Tuesday's primary.

Gephardt, already hurting for money, said he will concentrate scarce resources on Michigan rather than Illinois, where favorite son Simon is making a last stand. Michigan's Democratic caucuses will take place March 26.

"I never told you it was going to be easy," Gephardt told supporters in St. Louis. He said the 20-state Super Tuesday landscape was just too broad for his financially pressed campaign.

Jackson carried Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Virginia.

English first proposal wins large support

DALLAS (AP) — Opponents argued that making English the state's official language was a divisive measure, but Republicans spoke with almost one voice on the issue.

In one of the most lopsided decisions in the Texas Super Tuesday elections, more than nine in 10 GOP primary voters endorsed a non-binding referendum to make English the official language of Texas and the United States.

"We were hoping for approval between 75 and 80 percent, so the higher the percentage goes above that the happier we are with the results," said Lou Zaeske, chairman of the Bryan-based American Ethnic Coalition.

"We feel the results authenticate or give credibility to a statewide poll that was done in June of last year in which 81.19 percent of people calling themselves Republicans said they were in favor of this issue," Zaeske said.

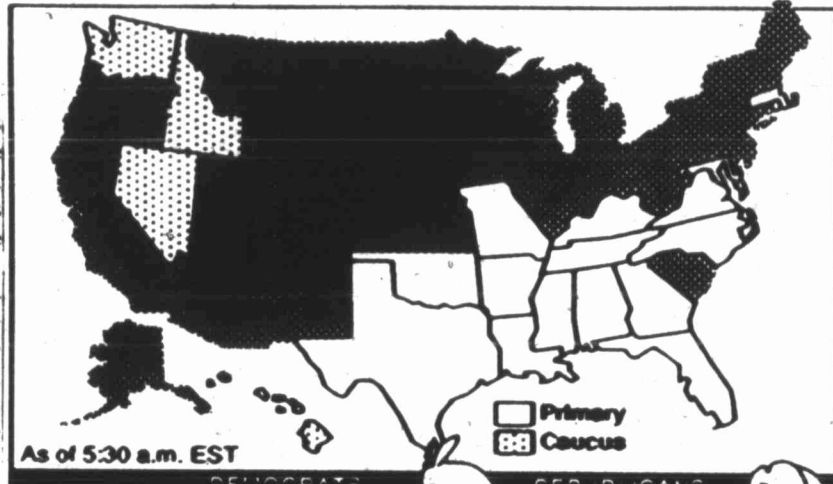

But Texas Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle criticized the measure, saying it would be more "politically courageous" to do what is right than to capitalize on what all polls show to be a popular notion.

"I think it is terribly divisive, and I think it causes Mexican Americans who already know they must speak English in order to advance in this society to feel they are being picked on," Slagle said.

"It's the same principle, in a way, that some school districts in South Texas used 20 years ago when they would require children to wear a yellow star if they lapsed into Spanish in the classroom or on the playground," Slagle said.

Zaeske said the June poll showed

*The shaded does not necessarily win all the delegates that are at stake. No Republican delegates for Virginia or Washington are allocated at this stage.

George Bush was the clear winner in the Republican primary yesterday. Michael Dukakis was ahead in delegates but Jesse Jackson was ahead in votes with Albert Gore in third place.

70 percent of the Democrats surveyed said they favor the idea of establishing English as the official language of the state, and 75.4 percent of independents approved of the proposal. The higher numbers among Republican voters Tuesday suggest to Zaeske that approval among other groups has grown.

Super Tuesday

gressman who is co-chairman of Bush's Texas campaign, gave the vice president a T-shirt emblazoned with "Bush in '88 — Texas Victory — Super Tuesday," while the crowd cheered and waved U.S. flags. "It's a wonderful evening, I'll tell you," Bush said.

Dukakis, in a televised interview from Chicago, was equally effusive about his showing in the Lone Star state: "I feel very good about the South. I feel good about tonight (Tuesday), obviously."

With nearly all the Texas Democratic presidential primary vote counted, Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore was in third place with about 20 percent and Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt was running fourth at 14 percent.

Howard County Democrats gave Gephardt second place with 1,084 votes, 24.5 percent of the total cast, and bestowed 18.15 percent on David E. Duke. Twenty-two Howard County voters picked Lyndon LaRouche, Jr. as their Presidential choice; fifth place went to former Colorado Sen. Gary Hart, with 6.73 percent at 284 votes.

Former Colorado Sen. Gary Hart had 5 percent statewide. With barely 1 percent each were Illinois Sen. Paul Simon, who didn't contest the Super Tuesday states, and former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt, who withdrew from the race but remained on the ballot.

In the Republican race, former television evangelist Pat Robertson had 15 percent, Kansas Sen. Robert Dole 14 percent and New York Rep. Jack Kemp 5 percent. Former Delaware Gov. Pete du Pont and Alexander Haig received less than one percent each across Texas.

Pete du Pont received two votes locally and Haig garnered one, putting both of them behind the total of uncommitted delegates, of which Howard County will send three to the state convention.

Howard County voters gave Dole 10.38 percent with 134 votes; Jack Kemp pulled 33 votes from local GOP members.

In other races, Democratic U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen easily won renomination in his bid for a fourth term. Top Republican challengers Beau Boulter, who gave up his congressional seat for the Senate race, and Wes Gilbreath, a Houston investor making his first race for a political office, will meet in a runoff.

Gilbreath edged Boulter by 334 votes to 296 in Howard County.

The winner squares off against Bentsen in November. Meanwhile, veteran state Sen. Grant Jones, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and one of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's lieutenants, lost his bid Tuesday for renomination to Sweetwater lawyer Temple Dickson.

On the Supreme Court level, Lloyd Doggett, a Democrat who lost a 1986 race for U.S. Senate, made a political comeback by winning his party's nomination for a seat on the state's highest civil court. Justice Raul Gonzalez also won the Democratic Party nomination for the court, and Justice William Kilgarlin appeared headed for victory as well.

Locally, Howard Republicans preferred Kilgarlin's opponent, Carol R. Haberman, by 2,044 votes to 1,504; Doggett handily defeated Marsha Anthony by 2,643 to 1,192 in local returns and in the Democratic race Art Vega overshadowed Gonzales, 1,872 to 1,610. Jack Hightower received 100 percent of Howard's votes for the unexpired term he seeks at 3,366.

The local GOP gave its unanimous support to Charles Ben Howell and Barbara G. Culver for the Supreme Court and also backed David A. Berchmann, Jr. for Presiding Judge in the Court of Criminal Appeals and Tom Rickhoff for Place 2 in the same court without dissent.

And Republican voters who made it to the end of a lengthy primary ballot supported enforcement of English as the state's official language, while Democratic voters endorsed the continued election of judges. Both issues were on non-binding referendums.

Local voters followed these trends: Howard County Republicans endorsed English as the official tongue by 970 votes to 55. Democrats cast 3,777 votes for continuing to elect judges, while 440 voted against the practice.

In West Texas, state Sen. Bill Sarpius defeated two Democratic primary opponents in District 13 after campaigning with his jaw wired shut, thrusting himself into Texas' only congressional race in November that has no incumbent.

Democrat Mickey Leland, the only incumbent in Texas congressional races to face a primary challenger.

"It's very clear Super Tuesday has been super for Texas," Rains said. "There is absolutely no doubt that Super Tuesday has focused attention on the primary process. Bentsen walloped challenger Joe Sullivan in Democratic totals locally, outdrawing his opponent by 3,739 votes to 624 as the United States Senate candidate Howard County preferred.

Unanimous support in the Democratic races was given Hightower and Clint Hackney, who seeks to fill an unexpired term on the Texas Railroad Commission.

In other RRC post races, James E. (Jim) Nugent won the Democratic primary with 2,887 votes. John Thomas Henderson received 503 and Jerry J. Langdon pulled 571 votes in Howard County.

The Democrats also unanimously backed Charles W. Stenholm to return to Washington as the District 17 House Representative.

Local GOP voters backed Kent Hance unanimously in his bid for the unexpired term to which he was appointed on the Texas Railroad Commission with 1,004 votes; Ralph E. Hoelscher narrowly defeated P.S. (Sam) Ervin, 392-312, in Howard County. Ed Emmett finished third with 123 votes and Dale W. Steffes pulled 69 votes for fourth place.

Both parties nominate supreme court candidates

AUSTIN (AP) — "So sweet, fantastic," shouted elated Texas Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez after it was apparent his lead over challenger Art Vega for the Democratic nomination was safe. Gonzalez, celebrating at a downtown cafe, was joined by former state Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin and Justice William Kilgarlin as Democratic winners in contested primaries.

Justice Ted Robertson, who trailed most of Tuesday night, eased ahead of Dallas lawyer John Humphreys with 99 percent of the precincts reporting in the Democratic race for chief justice and was an apparent winner with 595,699 votes to 572,292 for Humphreys.

The winner will take on Chief Justice Tom Phillips, a Republican appointed to the court by GOP Gov. Bill Clements, in the November general election. Phillips had no opponent in the primary. Former Democratic congressman Jack Hightower was unopposed and will be matched in November against another Clements appointee, Barbara Culver.

With five of the nine justices on the Supreme Court up for election this year, it will be the first time since Reconstruction that a majority of the court will be voted on.

Dallas appeals judge Charles Ben Howell had no Republican opposition for Gonzalez's seat and automatically advanced to the general election. In a contested GOP race, Houston appeals judge Paul Murphy defeated Dallas lawyer George Barbary for a shot at Doggett, who lost a U.S. Senate race in 1986.

"I think in November ... the voting public will have a very clear choice," Murphy said of his upcoming race with Doggett.

Murphy said he is disturbed that candidates "with no judicial experience appear to make the court a training ground for judges."

Kilgarlin. "Four down, one to go," said Gonzalez, whose primary victory over San Antonio lawyer Vega was his fourth in two years.

The other contested Republican race was headed for an April runoff, with Dallas appeals judge Nathan Hecht leading two other candidates. Houston attorney Ronald Block was running second over Houston appeals judge D. Camille Dunn. The winner will face

Two education board incumbents win race

DALLAS (AP) — Two incumbent Texas Board of Education members challenged in the Super Tuesday primary were among the winners as voters again took charge of the board's selection.

The two incumbents, Democrats Mary Helen Berlanga in District 2 and Carolyn Hornea Crawford in District 7, made strong showings in returns just after midnight.

The other incumbent challenged in a primary, Volly Bastine, was losing by a substantial margin to Ray Alexander in the Democratic District 4.

Three other incumbent board members, from the panel that was appointed after the Legislature approved the 1984 education reform package, were unopposed in the primary.

For the first time in six years, Texas voters began electing the state Board of Education, making decisions on 55 candidates in 18 primary contests.

Texans voted in November to make the positions elective again. The Democratic race in District 1, which stretches virtually the length of the Rio Grande, resulted in a run-off between James M. Jordan of Fort Stockton and Rene Nunez of El Paso. With nearly 40 percent of the precincts counted, the two men were within four-tenths of a percentage point of each other.

In other races that were decided early, Donald Ray Dorsett of Stephenville won the District 14 Republican primary. With 62 percent of the vote in, Dorsett had 70.8 percent, compared to 28.9 percent for Peter Micale of San Angelo.

In District 11 GOP primary, which included part of the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Jane Nelson of Lewisville was leading Elaine Klos of Fort Worth by a 3-to-1 margin with 42 percent of the vote in.

With 49 percent of the vote in, Ms. Berlanga of Corpus Christi led Walter "Kelly" Lange of Mission 49.3 to 32.5 percent.

Esteban Sosa of San Antonio defeated David Plylar of San Antonio in the District 3 Democratic race.

In District 7, Ms. Crawford of Beaumont appeared to be nominated, leading Ben Rhodes of Baytown 63.2 to 36.8 percent with nearly one-fourth of the ballots counted.

HOUSTON — Vice President George Bush holds a Texas Victory shirt as his wife, Barbara, watches Tuesday night during his victory celebration in Houston. Bush won overwhelming in the Super Tuesday primaries.

101-year-old woman hasn't missed one chance to vote

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Mary Fishbyrne, a 101-year-old political activist who hasn't missed voting since women were given that right, fumed because she couldn't vote for the man of her choice.

"Why can't I vote for Bush?" a snippish voice said from behind the voting machine curtain on Super Tuesday.

"Because you're registered as a Democrat, Miss Mary," precinct commissioner Betty Shelton said apologetically. "Crossover voting isn't allowed in presidential primaries."

"I'm just miserable," came back the curtained voice. "I'll vote for Bush in November."

"She's kind of independent," Shelton explained.

If anything, Mary Fishbyrne is independent, brought up that way by her father on a South Dakota farm before that state was admitted to the union.

"He raised us that way," she said. "He had six daughters and was mad because we couldn't vote. He named my youngest sister after Susan B. Anthony — you know she gave us the vote."

Miss Fishbyrne's first vote came in 1921 near the Virginia farm her father purchased when she was 12.

"I remember I didn't vote for Hoover. He was the worst. He told us to mix our corn meal with flour to make it last. I never did know what he wanted to last the longest — the corn meal or the flour. I'd rather have just a little of both."

Her favorite president was Franklin Roosevelt. "He must have been, he had the most terms."

Miss Fishbyrne, who was born Aug. 18, 1886, was a seamstress and tailor for most of her adult life. Since reaching age 65, she has been living with various relatives throughout the United States.

She moved to Shreveport in 1961 to live with a niece and they mostly vote Republican, she said.

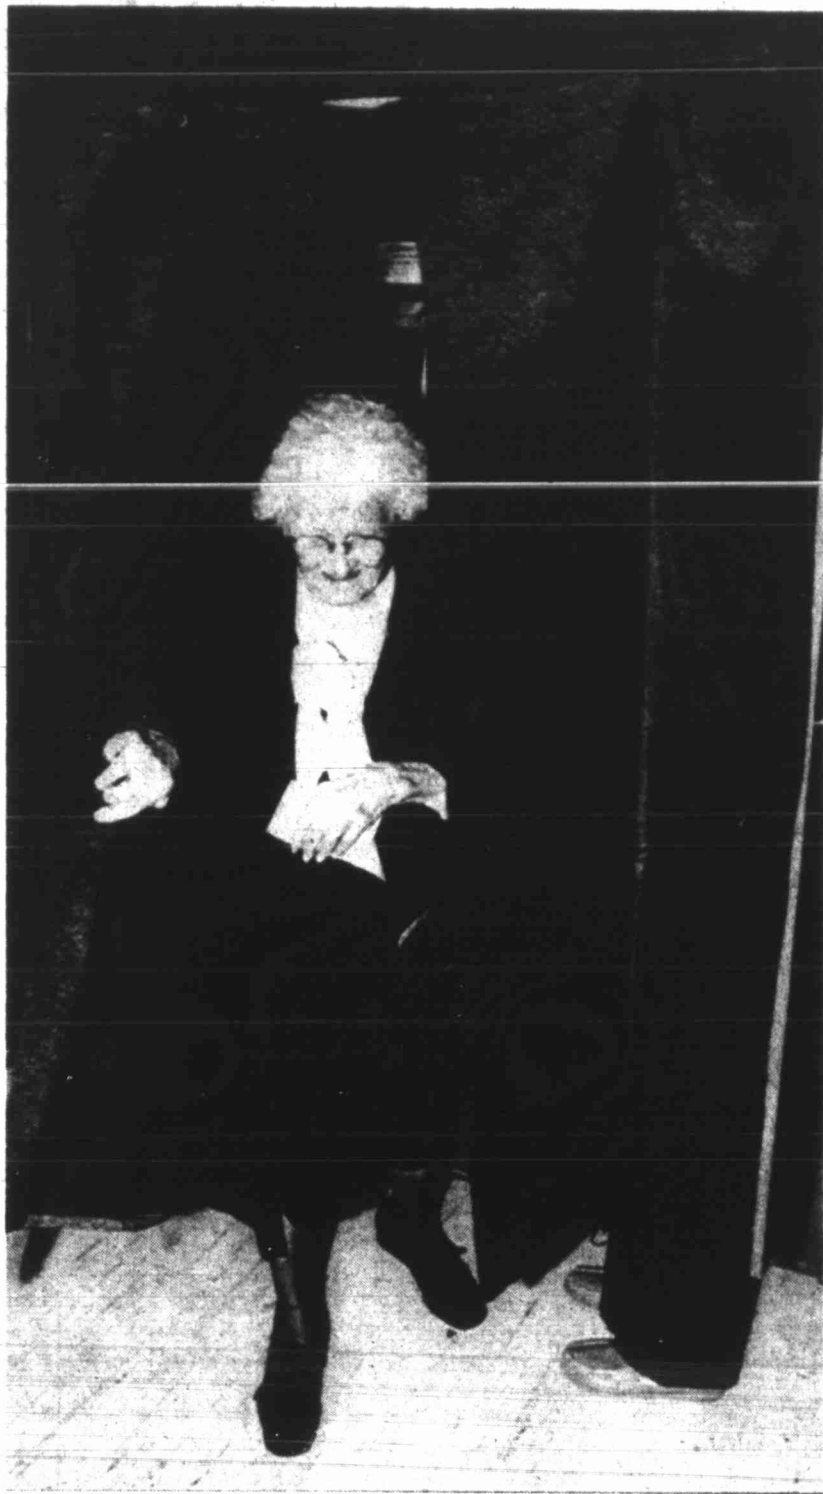

"We voted for Reagan. I think Bush will be pretty good."

She said she can't understand why people don't get out and vote.

"I was 35 before I was allowed to vote and I know what it's like when you can't. It's a privilege some people don't appreciate."

She never married because her fiancé died shortly after her father was killed in a fall from a wagon.

"Dad was so proud when my sisters and I went to vote. I'm the only one left. I'll vote as long as I have legs to walk."

"Well, you've never missed an election here and we're going to have another one in April before the November election," Shelton told her favorite voter.

"I'll be here," Miss Mary promised.

Democrats Dukakis, Jackson big winners

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The beauty contest went to Michael Dukakis in Texas' Democratic presidential primary, but the race within a race — for party delegates — was a virtual dead heat between the Massachusetts governor and the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

Jackson left Houston this morning with 42 Texas delegates firmly in his flock — the most he has gained in any state so far — after a Super Tuesday boost that put him second behind Dukakis among Democratic contenders.

Dukakis took 43 delegates in one of two phases of Democratic delegate selection in the state, as well as winning the popular vote by with 33 percent to Jackson's 24 percent. Nationally, Dukakis has 378 delegates to Jackson's 366.

Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore, who staked his campaign on a Southern strategy that concentrated on the 20-state Super Tuesday race, finished third with 20 percent. Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt had 14 percent.

"I feel very good about it," Jackson said in Houston before leaving for Chicago today. "I think the No. 1 showings are obviously impressive. Here in Texas... that's a tremendous statement. We certainly ran a more cost-efficient campaign."

Tom Cosgrove, who coordinated the Texas campaign for Dukakis, called it "was a strong win everywhere" for his candidate. "We won votes across this state."

But in that "other" race — for delegates — Jackson did nearly as well as Dukakis, and his campaign called that a triumph.

"Particularly on the delegate count, that's a far stronger showing than anyone was predicting, even a week ago," said Steve Cobble, Jackson's press secretary.

HOUSTON — Jesse Jackson holds up the hand of his wife, Jackie, Tuesday night as he talks to his supporters. Jackson made an impressive showing in the Super Tuesday primaries.

Among other candidates, Gore was headed for an estimated 25 delegates, while Gephardt was positioned to have nine.

Under the complicated Democratic Party system, 119 of the state's 197 delegates were up for grabs in the primary.

Another 64 will be apportioned based on support the candidates received during precinct caucuses held Tuesday night, but results of those contests weren't immediately known, party officials said.

The final 14 delegate spots are reserved for party officials. Dukakis and Jackson each had two supporters among officials.

Need a break? try name game

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

This week's column is set aside for the name game. You know, I rattle off some names, and you see if you know the whereabouts of these athletes. I'll drop a few names and see if I drum up a few memories.

Remember Michael Porter, a flashy guard from Hattiesburg, Miss. who played on the Howard College Hawks basketball team four years ago?

Porter was a freshman on the HC team that went 27-3 in 1984. That team then lost to Western Texas College 58-55 in the finals of the Region V Tournament.

Well, Porter is now in his senior year at the University of New Orleans. Last year Porter was academically ineligible. This year he bounced back to become an important cog in the Privateers' quest for an American South Conference title.

The Privateers tied with Louisiana Tech for the conference crown with a 7-3 record. The two ended up playing in the conference tournament finals, which was televised live by ESPN Sunday.

Although New Orleans dropped a three-point decision, Porter was fantastic. He carried UNO down the stretch with his outside shooting, ending the game with 24 points, 18 points over his average.

Maybe the Privateers' 22-10 record will be good enough to get an NCAA tourney bid.

While on the subject of ex-Howard hoop players, another former Hawk, Robert Barley, just won himself a Lone Star Conference championship ring at Angelo State University.

Barley, who played on the Hawks last year, is a reserve guard for ASU. He's averaging five points and one rebound per game.

ASU won the conference tournament Saturday by defeating West Texas State 94-73. ASU, 22-9 for the season, received a bid to the NCAA II tournament.

Leading ASU's win over West Texas State was former Lamesa hoopster Chris Mason. Mason and brother Jerry led Lamesa to the 4A state finals three years ago. Lamesa lost by one to Bay City that year.

Anyway, Chris went berserk in the conference championship game against West Texas State, scoring 21 points in a seven-minute span. He finished with a game-high 28 points.

Chris, who's started every game for the Rams, is averaging 14 points and five rebounds per game.

Brother Jerry Mason is a part-time starter for the Texas Tech Red Raiders. Jerry is averaging 10 points and two rebounds per game. He had a season-high 32 points against Texas A&M.

Tech finished regular season play with a 9-18 season record and 4-12 conference mark. The Red Raiders will play Baylor Friday at 2 p.m. in Dallas in the opening round of the conference tournament.

Now back to Angelo State University where former Howard College Hawk-Queens' point guard Leslie Gooch took her services. Last year Gooch was helping the Queens get into the regional tournament.

This season, Gooch started all games and averaged 10 points and five rebounds per game. She shot 51 percent from the field and 62 percent from the line.

Also starting on the team was former Sweetwater hoopster Cheryl Owens, an all-state forward last year while leading the Lady Mustangs to the state playoffs. This season Owens averaged 12 points and five rebounds. She shot 45 percent from the floor and 80 percent from the line.

Freshman Karshena Blueford is another Sweetwater-ex on the team. Blueford averaged two points and two rebounds per game.

ASU finished the season with an 18-10 mark.

Last year Paige Clawson was running the Big Spring Lady Steers' offense and her dad Doyle was watching from the sidelines as Big Spring reached the state playoffs, finishing the season with a 25-5 mark.

For Paige's senior year, the Clawsons moved to Novice because Doyle got the head basketball coach's job for both boys and girls.

Coach Clawson's teams both won District 24-A championships, and were eliminated in the regional tournament. The girls were defeated 69-67 by Lipan in a game which saw Lipan shoot a blistering 63 percent from the field.

Paige had an all-state season, averaging 15 points, 13 assists, eight rebounds and five steals per game. According to her father, she's been contacted by 30 colleges who want her services.

The Novice girls finished with a 26-4 record. Fielding only six players on his entire team, coach Clawson led the Novice boys to a 25-8 record. Ironically, this was Clawson's first year to serve as head basketball coach. His other previous experience was assistant coach at May.

Enough of basketball. Let me drop a couple of baseball names on you.

Joel Chimelis is making a big splash in major college baseball. Chimelis was a hard-hitting, good fielding shortstop for the Howard College Hawks last year. This year he's doing the same thing for the University of Texas Longhorns, the number-three ranked team in the nation.

Chimelis has won himself a starting job at shortstop where he's batting .381 with 10 RBI's in 18 games played. He's also stolen seven of eight bases.

Freshman David Tollison is also doing well for the Longhorns. Tollison made life miserable for 4-5A opponents, and the Big Spring Steers, for four years. The Abilene Cooper ex is the starting center fielder. He's batting .313 with 19 RBI's, and swiped four of five bases.

And that's the end of the name game.

Cubs down Steers, 4-2

BROWNFIELD — "We were our own worst enemy," said Big Spring Steers baseball coach John Velasquez after the Steers dropped a 4-2 decision to the Brownfield Cubs Tuesday afternoon.

The Steers committed two errors and walked eight to add to their downfall.

The Steers scored in the top of the first after Mike Hilario walked and scored on a throwing error by the pitcher. Brownfield came up with three runs in the bottom of the first after an error by David Kilgore and two bobbled balls by Hilario and Jason Phillips on a relay. This chased starter Chris Crownover out of the game, bringing in Tim Guterrez. Brownfield got one more run in the third off a single by John Madrigal and a sacrifice fly by Felix Cortez.

Big Spring tallied its last run in the sixth. Aaron Allen singled, but was forced out at third base on a fielder's choice by Matt Burrow. Burrow then stole third base and scored on a base hit by Felix Rodriguez.

Big Spring had a good scoring chance in the second inning. Kilgore walked to lead off the inning. Guterrez then got a bunt single. But the threat quickly ended when Kilgore was thrown out trying to steal third, Steve Gill was called out on strikes and Danny Ward was thrown out trying to steal second base.

"Until we play consistent defense, we won't win consistently," said Velasquez.

The Steers fall to 4-6 for the season while Brownfield raises its record to 3-1. The Steers will take on Lubbock High Saturday at Steer Field in a doubleheader starting at 1 p.m.

JV'S DOWN LAKE VIEW
Coming off a doubleheader sweep of Pecos Saturday, the Big Spring junior varsity Steers continued their winning ways by defeating San Angelo Lake View 9-3 Tuesday afternoon at Steer Field.

Shannon Cotts got the win for the Steers. He went five innings, allowed two hits and fanned seven. Bobby Chrane and Dimas Morales went one inning each.

Aaron Salazar paced the Steers collecting two hits, including a double, and driving in four runs. Cotts added a double in the winning cause. The Steers got 12 hits in the game.

Big Spring is now 4-3 for the season. The Steers will play Snyder 4:30 p.m. Friday at Steer Field.

Bucks batter Spurs

By the Associated Press
Milwaukee Bucks center Randy Breuer has a raccoon-like black eye to prove life under the basket in the NBA can be an eye-closing experience.

Bruised ribs that cramped his style for a couple of months have healed nicely and now he is ready for the last month of the regular season with an eye — be it black or not — on the playoffs.

Breuer had more trouble finding the basket than he did the basketball Tuesday night in helping Milwaukee to a 119-101 victory over the San Antonio Spurs, the Bucks' ninth win in their last 12 games.

Breuer missed 13 of 21 field goal attempts but he was persistent. He grabbed 16 rebounds, including 12 on the offensive end, and those put-backs helped him score 23 points.

Breuer and his teammates had trouble shooting in the first quarter when they missed 21 of their first 26 shots and eventually fell behind by 13 points in the second quarter.

But Breuer had six straight points in a span of 21 seconds in the third quarter as the Bucks broke a 63-63 tie and never trailed again.

Terry Cummings led the Bucks with 27 points while Paul Pressey added 18 and Ricky Pierce 17.

Alvin Robertson scored 23 for San Antonio and Mike Mitchell 21.

The Spurs are 4-22 on the road this season.

Milwaukee's 32 offensive rebounds were a season high.

The Spurs, trying to stay alive for one of the remaining playoff spots, lost forward David Greenwood for an undetermined period of time. Greenwood slipped in the second quarter and tore his left achilles tendon.

Milwaukee plays in Cleveland tonight and for the second straight game will be without starting guard Sidney Moncrief, who has a sore shoulder and neck. Rockets 113, Nuggets 103.

The Denver Nuggets were tired, and the Houston Rockets had Sleepy.

Sleepy Floyd, who lost his starting job recently, came off the bench Tuesday night to fire up the Rockets and lead them to a 113-to-103 victory over the sluggish Nuggets.

Floyd's follow shot with seven minutes remaining broke an 89-89 tie and sparked a 9-1 spurt that put Houston ahead 98-90. The cold-shooting Nuggets couldn't get closer than five points the rest of the way.

"That was the best Sleepy has played since being back," said Rockets Coach Bill Fitch.

Hersey leads way as Braves pluck 'Birds'

By The Associated Press
When you lead the nation in scoring, you can feel invincible about your game. Hersey Hawkins does.

When your team is peaking heading into the NCAA tournament, you can feel just as unbeatable. Hersey Hawkins does.

Hawkins, Bradley's sharpshooter, scored 29 points Tuesday night as the 12th-ranked Braves beat archrival Illinois State 83-59. That gave Bradley the Missouri Valley tournament championship after winning the regular season title. The Braves, 26-4, also avenged their only home loss this season, to the Redbirds in the opening conference game.

"We were determined to win this game, against our biggest rival," Hawkins said. "We dedicated the game to the seniors on the team. We wanted it bad."

They got it with a 9-0 start and a relentless trapping defense.

"It was a special night," Hawkins said. "We knew we had to win the game to get a better seed in the NCAA's. This was our game and we weren't going to lose it."

In the only other conference final Tuesday, it was Lehigh over Towson State 84-78 for the East Coast crown.

Top-ranked Temple advanced to the final of the Atlantic 10 tournament with a 79-67 decision over St. Joseph's.

Tournament Finals
Bradley received a scare and lost some of its early momentum when

Hawkins collided with a defender and crumpled on the floor at 16:45. But he soon limped off the court and returned to action after a short breather.

Hawkins says the Braves won't be allowing any breathers as they go after the national title.

"When the NCAA's come around, we'll be ready," he said. "We feel we can play with anyone in the country. We want to let teams worry about us. They'll probably focus on stopping me and then we can really hurt them. We have a lot of other weapons."

"It doesn't matter where we go or who we play."

At Towson, Md., Lehigh made the NCAA festival for the second time in three years. The last time the Engineers went, they were 12-18 but won the ECC playoffs.

This time, they are 21-9 and more comfortable with their standing.

"It's a much better feeling going into the tournament with 21 wins," said Mike Polaha, who scored 83 points in three games and was named the tournament's most valuable player. He won the same award in 1985.

Daren Queenan, who scored 37 points Tuesday and 79 in the three games, increased his career total to 2,682 points, 12th on the NCAA Division I career scoring list.

Other Tournaments
Temple won its 14th consecutive game as Howard Evans and freshman Mark Macon led a 28-6 run during the first 11 minutes of the second half. That erased a 34-30 lead St. Joseph's held at halftime and helped give Temple its 27th

Steelers interested in Dorsett

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett says he is surprised that the Pittsburgh Steelers are interested in him if Dallas decides to honor his trade request.

Dorsett, relegated to a backup role with the acquisition of Herschel Walker, has said he would like to be traded. Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry has said he would honor the request if Dallas can get something worthwhile in return for the former University of Pittsburgh star.

"I'm kind of surprised the Steelers are interested," Dorsett said. "I wish they had been interested 11 years ago. I won the Dapper Dan Award back then and at the end of my speech I sent a message to (Steelers owner) Dan Rooney."

"Don't let me go," Dorsett said he told Rooney. "But I understood they had Franco (Harris) and they couldn't do anything," he said. "That where my roots are, and I've always been a Steelers fan."

Rooney told the Pittsburgh Post Gazette Tuesday, "We would definitely talk to them about Dorsett."

"I think that Tony has always liked Pittsburgh, and he has a good relationship here," Rooney said. "I think he likes our people and things like that."

Dorsett says his first choice for a trade would be to Los Angeles because he would like to start an acting career, but he said returning to Pittsburgh would not be a bad second choice.

Continued from page 1-B victory in 28 games. The Owls were behind at halftime for just the sixth game this season. But they never lost their focus.

"I keep telling them, 'Stay in touch. Stay in touch,'" Coach John Chaney said. "If you stay in communication for a long period of time, it's like getting a student to have a longer span of attention for his teacher."

The Owls meet Rhode Island, 26-5, in Wednesday's title game. Rhode Island defeated host West Virginia 65-63 on Kenny Green's dunk with 1:42 left.

Carlton Owens had 25 points for the Rams, who approached the partisan West Virginia crowd and taunted them with yells and raised arms after the game. The student section responded by tossing cups, ice and paper at the squad and Rhode Island Coach Tom Penders was led off the floor by three state troopers.

"When we came down here last year and got beat pretty bad in the playoffs, they had a chant going, 'U-R-I, N-I-T,' saying that we weren't good enough to go to the NCAA tournament," Tom Garrick said. "Well, we came down and watched a tape of last year's game, and you could hear that chant."

"So after the game, we went over to our fans and chanted, 'W-V-U, N-I-T.'" In the MAC, second-place Central Michigan, No. 3 Ohio and sixth-seeded Western Michigan won opening-round games.

Junior center Steve Riikonen hit the first 3-point basket of his career as Western Michigan surprised Ball State 80-79. Western Michigan opposes regular-season champion Eastern Michigan on Friday at Toledo.

Rick Hall's 15-foot jumper gave Ball State a 79-77 lead with five seconds remaining. Western Michigan appeared to squander its last chance when the inbounds pass went out of bounds.

Ball State, however, returned the favor, giving Western Michigan possession at midcourt.

Riikonen, who scored 22 points, took the inbounds pass on the right side and heaved a desperation shot that won it.

Dan Majerle's 25 points paced Central Michigan, which next plays Ohio. The Bobcats got 23 points by Dave Jamerson and all 20 of Snoopy Graham's points in the second half as they took Bowling Green 79-73.

In the ECAC North Atlantic tournament at Hartford, Conn., top-seeded Siena was stunned by New Hampshire 70-63. Derek Counts scored 26 points for New Hampshire, which lost by 17 and 29 points to the Indians this season.

Anthony Moyer got 21 of his 23 points in the second half as Hartford defeated Maine 73-61. Jeff Timberlake scored a career-high 22 points to lead Boston University to a 64-55 victory over Canisius. Juan Neal came off the bench to score 24 points and help Niagara to a 70-57 victory over Northeastern.

Former LSU cage star dies

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A deputy coroner says a heart attack "most likely" killed Don Redden, the former Louisiana State University basketball star who died at the age of 24.

"The most likely thing is a cardiac-related death. Either he died in his sleep or got up and collapsed," said Chuck Smith, deputy coroner of East Baton Rouge Parish.

Authorities said Redden was taken to the hospital from his girlfriend's apartment by ambulance after she found he wasn't breathing Tuesday morning. Redden was dead on arrival at 7:57 a.m. hospital officials said.

As a tribute to Redden, coach Dale Brown said his team will wear black patches on their uniforms during the Southeastern Conference postseason tournament, which begins Thursday at the LSU Assembly Center.

The patches are similar to the ones now worn in honor of LSU basketball great Pete Maravich, who died Jan. 5 during a pickup basketball game in Pasadena, Calif. An autopsy showed that Maravich, 40, died from an undetected heart defect.

Redden, a key member of LSU's Final Four team of 1985-86, will be buried next to Maravich at Resthaven Garden of Memory in Baton Rouge.

Let's Celebrate NIE Week Reporting the Facts

How to Write a News Story

1. PREWRITE

A SCIENTIST DISCOVERED DINOSAUR BONES NEARBY. I'LL COVER THAT STORY.

Meet with the staff to discuss what's happening. Out of this meeting comes your story idea.

3. RESEARCH

DR. SMITH, HOW DID YOU IDENTIFY THE BONE?

Read about the subject. Interview to find out more information.

2. THINK

I ALREADY KNOW A LOT ABOUT DINOSAURS.

Think about what you know. Make a list of what you want to find out.

4. DRAFT

THESE GO FIRST:

Write down your facts and organize your information.

6. REVISE

I'LL CHANGE THIS SPELLING AND PUNCTUATION.

Revise your story and read for correct form.

Reading Newspapers to Learn About Writing

To celebrate Newspaper Education Week, held each March, students at White Oaks School in Fairfax County, Va., are reading newspapers. They are using the papers as a guide for better writing.

Many teachers think that newspapers offer examples of good informational writing. Children read newspapers to learn how they are written.

from The Mini Page by Betty Debnam © 1988 Universal Press Syndicate

Teachers are helping students sharpen their writing skills by studying the newspaper in class.

Newspaper in Education

Here are some ways you can sharpen your skills.

1. Have someone read an article. See if you can recall who did what where and when. (Even beginning readers can learn from newspapers.)
2. Find an article on the sports page. Circle the subject's name each time it appears.
3. Select a headline. Which of the questions does it answer?

NIE Week is sponsored by the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the International Reading Association.

Many kids read newspapers as good examples of informational writing.

Tale-telling stories

Most stories that tell a tale are written in this style or form. This is called the story pyramid.

An example of the story beginning: "Once upon a time there lived a beautiful young girl who..."

Newspaper stories

Rather than try to build up suspense, newspaper stories put important facts first.

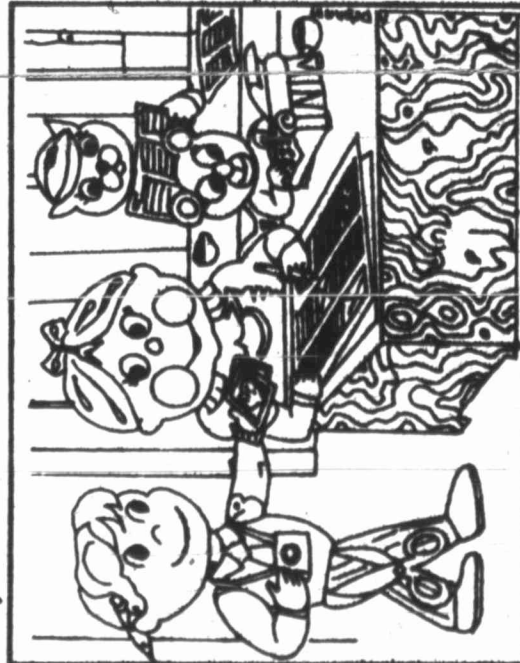

An example of a newspaper story beginning: "Cinderella and the Prince will marry on Sunday morning at the palace. The romance began..."

A student reporter interviews her teacher.

The week of March 7 through 11 is Newspaper in Education Week.

To celebrate this week, many students will be publishing their own school newspapers.

To become better writers, many are studying what a reporter does. While they might not grow up to be reporters on city newspapers, they are learning how to gather and put the facts down on paper.

They are also learning special steps to help them along the way. These steps are called the "writing process."

The Mini Page would like to thank Dr. Carole L. Riggs, Ed.D., resource teacher, Fairfax, Va., County Schools, for help with this story.

Protection for children also can protect family

DEAR ABBY: This concerns your reply to "Worried Grandma," whose teen-aged unwed daughter had left her baby alone. You were right to suggest that the child should be removed from the young mother's care. It would be a kindness for all concerned.

Abby, please tell your readers that there is help for parents who are having difficulty caring for their children. Child protective service agencies exist in every state, but, unfortunately, many who could use our help do not call us out of fear that their children will be taken away. Neighbors and relatives, as well, often allow a child to continue to suffer or to remain at risk for the same reason.

In most cases, children are neglected or abused because of a problem in the home that is correctable, such as a young, inexperienced parent who shows poor judgment, or a family under financial stress with no friends or relatives nearby to help. Punishing people does not make them better parents. We look for the source of the problem and provide a wide variety of services to correct it, including counseling, parenting education, respite day care and many others. Only in drastic cases do we immediately seek custody of children, and even then we try to reunite the family as soon as the child's safety can be assured.

Early intervention on our part can keep many homes intact, but we depend on the community to contact us.

MELINDA PAYNE, PROTECTIVE SERVICE WORKER, W. VA. DEPT. OF HUMAN SERVICES

DEAR MS. PAYNE: Your helpful letter explaining what the child protective agencies do — and do not do — will make it easier for many more people who need your services to contact you. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I live in Phoenix, and when I travel out of state, I get questions like: "How do you get from place to place?" "Do you go on horseback on dirt roads?" And, "Do you live in an adobe?"

I find such ignorant questions annoying. Phoenix is a very modern city — and one of the fastest growing cities in the United States! I travel by automobile on paved streets and highways and I live in a house!

Why do so many people have the wrong idea about Phoenix?

FED-UP PHOENICIAN
DEAR FED UP: Perhaps Phoenix needs a public relations phace-lift?

DEAR ABBY: Recently you published a letter from a woman who said that while she was contemporary in her thinking and happily married, she was concerned about the fact that sex therapists recommend fantasizing to add spice to a long marriage suffering from creeping boredom — and yet, "somewhere in the Bible it says that thinking lustful thoughts is as great a sin as actually committing the sin." She signed herself, "Afraid to Fantasize."

Abby, the point that some religions try to make about sexuality in marriage is not that it is fulfilled by perfect people who are lustless. Rather, the point is that two fallible people with enough mutual forgiveness and humor can discover enough grace from God to be lovingly sexual with each other for a lifetime. Certainly, fantasy as well as lust will be present, and, hopefully, be handled creatively for the oneness of the couple. Instead of demanding an instant answer from Matthew 5, I would encourage the lady to talk with her ordained minister about the spirit and the letter of Scriptures' moral injunction, and talk with her sex therapist as well as a marriage counselor. And she might even talk to her husband.

THE REV. WILLIAM E. SWING, BISHOP, EPISCOPAL DIOCESE OF CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: After reading the article about the churchgoing woman whose minister asked her (loudly) every Sunday morning, "Where is your husband today?" I was reminded of the following:

My mother-in-law was also a churchgoing woman, but my father-in-law seldom accompanied her. One day the minister visited their home, and "Pop" couldn't hide fast enough. Sure enough, the minister cornered him and asked, "Why don't you ever come to church?"

Pop replied, "Because the seats are too hard and you talk too long!" That's the last time the minister mentioned Pop's absence. This is a true story.

LILLIAN LANG, CHICAGO
DEAR LILLIAN: Pop was a righteous man. ("He that speaketh truth sheweth forth righteousness." Proverbs 12:17.) Your father-in-law rates an "A" for honesty, but he flunked diplomacy.

Area brief

Bride-elect is honored

Karen Jo Woolverton, Abilene, formerly of Sand Springs, was honored March 5 at a lingerie shower at the home of Geneva Dunagan, 804 Edwards Blvd.

Karen is the bride-elect of Brent Beakley, Abilene. The couple will wed April 30 at the Southern Hills Church of Christ, Abilene.

Special guests were Eva Woolverton, mother of the bride-elect, Alice; Kathy Rupard, sister of the bride-elect, McAllen; and Jenele Beakley, mother of the prospective bridegroom, Brownwood.

Also hosting the event were Loyce Denton, Carmen Ritchey, Mary Ann Holman and Doris Banks.

Hamill discusses missed opportunities

The Business & Professional Women's Club met recently at Days Inn, formerly Park Inn. President Doris Meyer announced that the Individual Development Program will have its speak-off March 28 at 6:30 p.m. at Days Inn. Winners will be named and guests are welcome.

Bertha Hamill, accountant technician at the Veterans Administration Medical Center, spoke on "Missed Opportunities." She used herself as an example, noting that she had won a college scholarship but did not take advantage of it.

Hamill pointed out several opportunities she had missed to improve her chances for better jobs and promotions mostly because of lack of self-confidence.

She urges women to take advantage of every opportunity to expand their business knowledge and education. This will open many business doors and expand opportunities in many fields.

Lifestyle guidelines

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this. The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcement. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper.

MYTH #1: "IT'LL NEVER HAPPEN TO ME!"

Many Americans feel violent crime is something terrible that happens to someone else...somewhere far from their neighborhoods and homes. The alarming truth is one out of four American families will be touched by crime this year alone!

Violent crime crosses the lines of age, race, religion, and sexual preference. It's a threat to each and every one of us!

So next time you think "it'll never happen to me," think again!

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

03/08/88

GENERAL TENDENCIES:
This is a good day to communicate with those at a distance to you and revive friendships which, due to distance or absence, have become dormant. Don't seek favors from any acquaintances today.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try to be more understanding of opinions which differ from your own. You can greatly improve your position in life with a little research.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Show your mate that you are thoughtful and understanding. A kind word is more valuable than gold at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen more carefully to the views of a partner so you can have a meeting of minds. Be sure you know the potential of a new venture.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) If you are more cooperative with co-workers, everyone will get better results. Try to get your wardrobe in better shape.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Plan some entertainment with good friends, but count the cost well and stay within your budget. Be careful in any kind of communication.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan some long-needed improvements to your home, and get estimates before making any commitment. Pay special attention to your health.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Try to get your ideas across to others, but do so in a friendly, non-pushy manner. Use your natural cleverness, and get good results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You will have an opportunity to add to your present assets, and also increase your income, so be sure to "seize the bull by the horns."

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Stop to think about how you are going to go about attaining a personal goal. Take the time to improve your health this evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do something thoughtful for your mate which will ease a tense situation between you. Be sure to stand by any promises you have made.

Opportunity for rural teens

West Texas Rural Health Education Center is planning a unique career exploration opportunity for Permian Basin teenagers June 5-11, 1988. High-school students will explore America's number one growing industry through tours, lectures, demonstrations and hands-on techniques.

This program is designed to benefit students who have shown a special interest in health care as a career and the exceptional science student who might develop such an interest. Students from twenty counties have been invited to participate in this week-long event.

The goals of the program include:

1. To provide experiences that will increase the likelihood that qualified minorities will enter health career programs.

2. To encourage mentor relationships between the student and preceptors which could be supportive of future interest in health care.

3. To increase the learning skills and knowledge base of the participating students.

Participants will reside in dormitory housing on the campus of Midland College throughout the week. Hospitals, clinics, schools and private facilities in Midland and Odessa, as well as surrounding communities, will be utilized as classrooms giving students a first hand view of the health care field. Highlights of the week include demonstrations of state-of-the-art equipment, visits to a dialysis center, neonatal intensive care unit and funeral home; and the opportunity to talk with health professionals currently working in their fields. Each participant will develop his or her own health career plan of action as a follow-up to the event.

Program costs for all participants will be paid by West Texas Rural Health Education Center. Participants will be responsible for their own transportation to and from Midland College.

Selection criteria for the event requires students to be entering grades 10 through 12 in the fall, 1988; to possess an acceptable grade point average, and have the desire and motivation to pursue a career in the health field. A limited number of spaces for the event remain unfilled. Interested students should contact their school counselor or West Texas Rural Health Education Center (Telephone: 915/332-6851) for applications and further information.

West Texas Rural Health Education Center is a cooperative program of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center Area Health Education Center Program funded through the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. It is designed to provide community based education opportunities in a primary care environment, introduce college bound students to health career exploration opportunities, and improve health care distribution and quality in urban underserved and rural remote areas of West Texas.

The West Texas Center serves a 34 county area in the Permian Basin and a 48 county area in the South Plains region of West Texas.

Circus is coming to Stanton April 11

The chamber will be sponsoring the appearance of Carson and Barnes Circus in Stanton on April 11.

Steve Herm, chamber president, said, "We feel that this could be a good money raiser for our organization and will give local people a chance to see a fine circus. "When Carson and Barnes appeared here five years ago, the show was well received.

"The secret of our financial success on this show will be our advance ticket sales.

"Not only do the advance sales help us, but it represents a saving for those attending the circus."

Rep. Shaw appointed to ag committees

State Rep. Dudley Harrison, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture and Livestock, has appointed State Rep. Larry Don Shaw to the following interim study subcommittees:

The subcommittee on the Texas Wine Industry, the subcommittee on Kenaf, the subcommittee on Agricultural Enterprise Zones, and the subcommittee on Agricultural Transportation Costs.

Shaw serves as chairman of the subcommittee on Budget and Oversight of the Committee on Agriculture and Livestock, which entails representing the interests of 11 agricultural agencies from his seat on the powerful Appropriations Committee.

The subcommittee on Budget and Oversight continually monitors the budget activities of these agencies.

Shaw will serve as vice chairman of the subcommittee on the Texas

Wine Industry. This growing industry could greatly benefit the Texas economy. In one form or another, almost all Texas wine produced is sold.

According to the Texas Department of Agriculture, various Texas wines have already won awards here and out of state. In addition to the revenue generated by wine sales, the 22 Texas wineries attract many tourists from in and out of the state.

Tourists spend money on lodging, restaurants, and so forth, bringing money in from other states and, in the case of Texans touring the wineries, keeping Texas money at home. The purpose of the subcommittee would be to submit statutory modifications to the 71st Legislature which would promote the growth and marketing of Texas wines.

Shaw will also serve on the subcommittee on Kenaf. Kenaf is a fiber crop used chiefly for the production of newsprint. The subcommittee will study the options and economic opportunities to produce an alternative crop for Texas.

A public hearing was held in Weslaco last month to give subcommittee members the opportunity to study the plant first hand.

The members were able to examine actual Kenaf plants and to hear testimony from various experts in this field.

At this time, nearly 60 percent of the U.S. demand for newsprint is imported. "The possibilities of reducing the rate of imported newsprint, preserving our timber land, and boosting Texas agriculture deserve an in-depth study," Chairman Harrison stated.

During the regular session of the 70th Legislature, House Resolution 373 by Larry Evans was passed directing the House Committee on Agriculture and Livestock to study, during the interim, the feasibility of creating rural or agricultural enterprise zones in Texas.

Enterprise zones would be designated areas of the state where poverty, unemployment, and economic distress are at high levels.

The state could provide appropriate investments, tax benefits, and regulatory relief to encourage the business community to commit its financial participation to develop productive business enterprises.

Other states have incorporated the use of enterprise zones with encouraging results.

Nearly 4,000 new jobs were created in Missouri's enterprise zones during the first three years of that state program. The purpose of the subcommittee on Agricultural Enterprise Zones would be to determine if similar programs can be of benefit to Texas' rural economy.

The subcommittee on Agricultural Transportation Costs, on which Shaw will also serve, has been created to determine what action, if any, is needed to assure ranchers and farmers that they will be able to conduct their business without additional burdens.

The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Act of 1984 ordered every state to comply with federal laws concerning "commercial" trucking by Oct. 1, 1989.

During the 70th Legislature, laws were passed to follow the federal requirements, however, farmers and ranchers were subject to the tough standards. Efforts were made to exempt the farmers and ranchers from the proposed regulations of the Railroad Commission and Department of Public Safety, and some success was reached. The Department of Public Safety will not enforce rules until October, 1989, giving the 71st Legislature time to look at the federal regulations and the Railroad Commission will not enforce their rules until April, 1988.

The scope of this subcommittee could also include the effects of further deregulation in the trucking industry and its effect on the agricultural industry.

In announcing the appointments, Chairman Harrison stated, "Representative Shaw did an excellent job of protecting our agricultural agencies from the drastic budget cuts of the 70th Legislature.

He understands the importance of the agricultural industry to the Texas economy.

I know that he will bring this same vision and dedication to these important subcommittees."

Chamber Chatter

Boy, this week started off with a Bang! Like, I mean, the car cratered more than 200 miles from home — in a town where we knew practically knew no one, especially a transmission mechanic. Now you're familiar with "hurry up and wait"; of course few repair men work on cars on Sunday, hence we got home 24 hours later and few dollars shorter than planned.

That sour auto incident put us in a good mood to notice other aggravating situations. Like, why do people — young or old — who live right here in good ole Martin County, throw their trash in our planter barrels downtown? I know and you know the barrels need replanting but without plants and without trash they are not unattractive.

Maybe we can enlist our school children to police the barrels and stop some of the littering...

This might be a good time to ask — do you have some plants you'd like to donate to go into the barrels? If you do please call the Chamber office and we'll tell you when to bring them to town or tell you when someone will come dig them up and transplant them to the downtown barrels. We will be enlisting clubs or groups to assist with this transplanting chore in late March or early April.

Well, with that gripe behind me let me ask you — have you ever seen such a place of traffic confusion as getting into and away from the front of our post office during busy times? Let me make perfectly clear that I know our local PO officials are not at fault here — it's good ole Uncle Sam. If we had a one-way in and one-way out that would help. The only problem is Uncle Sam would have to say which way, signs put up, etc., oh well, we can dream.

Let me tell you of a nice jolly couple who came by the Old Jail recently. They are Mr. and Mrs. H.T. Spillar of Hobbs, N.M. Mrs. Spillar was a SHS teacher here during the early 1950s. The first question was "how far is it to Hadacol?" A few years have passed since the Spillars have visited Stanton. I believe he said he was employed by Humble Oil Co. around Midkiff — and Hadacol. We are having a good number of out-of-town visitors in the Old Jail; if you have some company wishing to see some history bring them by for a tour of the Old Jail. We are also getting in some brochures of vacation areas around Texas — Six Flags, Kerrville, Fredericksburg, Lake LBJ, Ruidoso — and others. Come by and see us.

What is this we hear about an ALL-MALE Style Show?! Where? When? Sounds like great fun. Let's all go to see that.!

Weather mixed

Last week Martin County experienced a little bit of everything in the way of weather.

Tuesday saw the temperature go up to 82, with hail, lightning and thunderstorms hitting on Tuesday night.

Reported rainfall amounts varied from .3 to close to an inch in parts of northern Martin County.

Wednesday afternoon brought high winds and sand, with snow falling on Thursday morning.

ON YOUR FEET

Dr. CARLOS DIMIDJIAN — Podiatrist

FOOT THERAPY

If your feet have been giving you problems for years, it will take time for foot therapy to get rid of the aches and pains. But it's worth it for the new comfort and structural improvement.

The new orthotic devices, much superior to the old arch supports, will help. And there are other kinds of treatment your podiatrist may prescribe to increase comfort and stability. It may be a series of physiotherapy treatments to improve muscle tone and strength. Or maybe a stretching and flexibility program is needed. Sometimes this is done in combination with manipulation and other adjustments to strengthen your feet and correct the structural defects.

It's human to be impatient with a course of treatment. You want things to improve faster. But years of walking and moving on structurally imperfect feet can cause a lot of problems that won't go away overnight. The benefits of treatment will build gradually. But once you start, you're on your way to new foot comfort, without the pain problems that poor foot and leg function can bring.

Light bulb sales very good, Tollison reports

Noon Lions Club met March 1 Don Tollison, Chairman of Light Bulb Committee, reported on the sales, which have been very good, but some are still available, if interested contact one of the members. The Broom Sale will be in about two months.

Dan Saunders introduced Joe Slaughter, who was the speaker. He is a state supervisor for Jail Inspection. The committee has been active since 1977 and has retained the same three members. The laws are given by the state and not the county. He was most complimentary of the Martin County Jail. He said there are 16 bunks, but averaged about half capacity. Slaughter overlooks 88 counties some of these have too many inmates that they have to transport to other counties; some many miles away. He also said it is 70 days before a hearing can be held, in which time a prisoner has to be fed and kept.

Homework tackled

A Stanton Junior High Campus Planning meeting was held Friday morning, Feb. 19, to discuss possible solutions to the pertinent problem areas of this particular campus. The objective focused primarily on during this meeting was to improve the percentage of homework completed and turned in on time. Several strategies were suggested by the committee members, such as mandatory detention, positive reinforcers for high achievers, daily/weekly reports to parents, and teaching more organizational skills in the classroom. However, community input will continue to be needed and appreciated. A plan of action was decided on to gain necessary data for this objective. Mr. Canada will construct a data-collecting chart for teachers to keep records on the percent of homework completed and turned in during the first 3-week period of the next six weeks.

Results of the data collection on homework delinquency will be discussed at the next campus planning meeting, Friday, March 25, at 9:15 a.m.

No danger of epidemics

Several years ago, when I was a working newspaperman — covering the El Paso County courthouse, there was a sign posted in the archaic elevator reading "Courtesy is Contagious."

Some smart aleck had taken his pen in hand and added one of the great truths of our time:

"There ain't no danger of no epidemic around here."

A NEWSBOY and I were comparing notes Thursday. He rides a bicycle in his work.

I recently completed a rather lengthy period without a car, and did a lot of walking.

Both of us had alarming narrow escapes because motorists apparently think anyone afoot or on a bicycle is a low form of life unworthy of consideration.

Put economic pressure on Noriega

Gen. Manuel Noriega, Panama's drug-running strongman, seems still to be in control of his troubled nation.

Washington has been trying for months to figure out a way to depose Noriega, who recently was indicted in Miami on charges of drug trafficking. Obviously, the U.S. government was involved in President Eric Arturo Delvalle's attempt to dismiss Noriega from command of Panama's defense force.

The maneuver may eventually contribute to an erosion of support for Noriega among the country's military officer corps. But so far, most of those in the echelons below Noriega either are in cahoots with the general or too afraid to buck him.

Noriega also faces strong opposition from the public, many of whom rioted last summer because of the country's declining economy and reports of corruption at the top.

Noriega has got to go, and the United States should do all it can to hasten that event. This should include an economic squeeze, by Washington and other capitals, that could cause increased resentment against the general.

Defense budget needs definite plan

When a secretary of the Navy jumps ship or walks the plank, it is fitting that he made a big splash.

James E. Webb has done just that by unleashing a petulant attack on Defense Secretary Frank C. Carlucci, a veteran public servant who has taken on the tough, thankless job of bringing Pentagon spending and planning into the realm of reality.

In the end, Carlucci ordered the scrapping of 16 aging frigates as part of a $12 billion cut in fiscal 1989 Navy spending. This was a sensible decision, in keeping with plans for a lean but tough defense establishment.

Webb's spectacular manner of departure may have one beneficial effect. It could trigger a defense debate that most Washington politicians would prefer to put off until the November elections.

The next president and the next Congress need to avoid sharp peaks and valleys in military spending and to devise a defense strategy that is compatible with the nation's resources, commitments and priorities.

Tells evangelicals to clean up act

A repentant Jimmy Swaggart has confessed and apologized publicly for sins of sexual misconduct.

With this latest scandal, the tendency among much of the public may be to condemn all radio and television religious ministries.

That would be understandable, but it also would be a mistake. Some of these programs, a few dating back for 40 years or more, have a clean record of service and financial accountability. Nevertheless, they often are smeared with the same broad brush.

Swaggart, (Jim) Bakker and other dimming stars of the glitzy world of television evangelism need our compassion, but they also need to clean up their lives and their organizations.

Salem (Ore.) Statesman-Journal

Plays politics with appointments

Ohio's Democratic Sen. Howard Metzenbaum has gotten himself all twisted out of shape over the Justice Department's refusal to release certain of its files to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The files relate to the department's investigation of reports that former U.S. Ambassador to Switzerland Faith Ryan Whittlesey mishandled some entertainment funds.

She was said to have entertained American friends with privately donated money that was intended to be used to fete foreign officials. The Justice Department said there was no evidence to produce a "viable criminal case."

That wasn't good enough for Metzenbaum. He wants to come up with something politically damaging to the Reagan administration.

Metzenbaum is holding up Senate confirmation of four Reagan appointees to federal court judgeships.

This isn't just playing politics. It's hostage-taking, and it ill becomes a senator of the United States.

The Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel

Robertson statements a discredit

Republican presidential hopeful Pat Robertson has a problem with making outrageous statements that he can't back up with facts.

He labeled Planned Parenthood supporters as people trying to create a master race just because birth control pioneer Margaret Sanger dabbled in eugenics back around the turn of the century.

He warned us that there are nuclear missiles in Cuba and offered as proof that "no one can prove there aren't missiles there."

Now he has the gall to suggest, though he admits he has no proof, that the George Bush campaign is behind TV preacher Jimmy Swaggart's fall from grace in an attempt to discredit Robertson, a former TV evangelist trying hard to distance himself from that past.

Robertson doesn't need anyone to discredit him. He appears to be doing a fine job of it himself.

The New Ulm (Minn.) Journal

Parody case isn't cut-and-dried

When the U.S. Supreme Court hands down a unanimous decision, you might figure it was a cut-and-dried case. Not so with last week's decision upholding Hustler magazine's disgusting parody of the Rev. Jerry Falwell.

While the court seemed to grant almost absolute protection to speech that is intended as satire, it left blurred the line that distinguishes fact from fiction, parody from portrayal.

At issue was a 1983 takeoff of a well-known liquor advertisement in which famous people describe the "first time" they tasted the product. In Hustler's version, Falwell was depicted as having sex with his mother in an outhouse.

Outraged, the televangelist and founder of the Moral Majority sued publisher Larry Flynt for $45 million for libel, invasion of privacy and infliction of emotional distress.

A lower court had no trouble discerning that the parody was fiction. Thus Falwell did not have a case for libel. ... But it awarded him $200,000 for emotional distress.

It took the Supreme Court to rule that awards for emotional distress require ... (proof of) factual falsehood, the standard for libel. ... And now the court rules draw a distinction between satire, which is absolutely free, and seriousness, which is not.

Free speech should mean just that. ... In the marketplace of ideas and public opinion, truth almost always will win out.

Chides lawmaker for Senate arrest

We had thought that House Speaker Jim Wright had sunk to the bottom depths in congressional decorum a couple of months ago when he had the effrontery to make time stand still in order to gain passage of a bill he wanted.

But after Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd's actions (last) week, Wright is barely running a close second.

We have often thought that Congress resembled a circus more than it resembles the world's greatest deliberative body, but Byrd made it complete with Keystone Kops ... when he ordered the arrest of Republican Bob Packwood in order to get a quorum.

We hope, of course, that Byrd's tactic ... was worth such despicable conduct, because Byrd has certainly degraded both himself and the Senate.

Somehow we can't help but doubt that it was.

Classifieds were around when the Constitution was written.

The first newspaper ads were small listings very much like today's Classifieds. They were effective 200 years ago and they are even more effective today. Classified advertising has been an integral part of newspapers for hundreds of years.

The ad you see reproduced above was never actually published, but it could have appeared. As we observe the Constitution's Bicentennial Year, we salute those who wrote this great "living document".

Industrial Foundation meet due

The Martin County Industrial Foundation was formed several years ago with the purpose of encouraging industry in Martin County. They have not been active for the past several years. A meeting has been scheduled for Monday, March 21, 7:30 p.m. at the T.U. Electric Reddy Room. Chuck Elmore is to be commended for keeping the charter current. However, funds have been diminished and the foundation must be received or the charter will be lost. Anyone wishing to work with the foundation is welcome to attend the meeting. The Extension Program Council has approved the formation of an Extension Community Development Committee. The purpose of this committee will be to promote community enrichment projects. Suggested projects include development of a county promotional flyer; a customer relations workshop for local business employees has also been suggested; along with the promotion of the development of a recreational vehicle park.

Since the interest of these two groups are similar in nature, consideration has been given to forming a single group that could work on both projects goals.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Severe weather spotting program presented

Forty-one Martin County residents attended a three hour session Tuesday night, Feb. 23, on Severe Weather Spotting. The program was presented by John V. Wright, Jr., Meteorologist-in-charge of the National Weather Service Station at Terminal. He was assisted by Gary Woodall, Meteorological Intern.

Agencies represented included: Ackerly Fire Dept., Cap Rock Electric, DPS, EMS, Highway Dept., Martin Co. Hospital, Martin Co. Road and Bridge, Stanton Fire Dept., Stanton Police, Stanton Schools, TST, TU Electric, and Wes-Tex Telephone.

The session concentrated on identifying potential dangerous clouds and tornado safety. Along with films and slides on identification techniques, films were shown of the Wichita Falls and Saragosa storms.

The course will be offered in Stanton again in 1990.

'Week of Champions held here

The Stanton Fellowship of Christian Athletes, along with area churches, is sponsoring a "Week of Champions" on March 7-8-9. Outstanding Christians, from around the country, are coming to share and present Christ through music and testimonies.

The New Mexico State "Coach of the Year" and coach of the State runner up team in 86, Dwain York, will speak on Monday.

"SONSHINE", an incredible and exciting youth entertainer will be featured Tuesday.

The key note speaker for Wednesday will be Mike Ulmer, a professional football veteran of 9 yrs. who played for the Chicago Bears and Philadelphia Eagles.

Special music will be presented each night. All Jr. High and High School youth are invited to the Stanton High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. each night and have a great time with the Lord.

Sports fans in Stanton to travel

Stanton sport fans will burn lots of gas during the 1988-89 football season after the University Interscholastic League on Monday turned down the Buffaloes' appeal to be switched to another district.

Class 2A Stanton, which for the past two years has competed in District 6-2A in both basketball and football, next season will remain in the 6-2A basketball district but will switch to 5-2A for football.

In football, the Buffaloes are faced with 1-way trips of 287 miles to Presidio, 227 miles to Marfa and 200 miles to Van Horn. Stanton's closest 1-way football trips are approximately 95 miles to both Iraan and McCamey. Stanton's basketball traveling situation is better, as the Buffaloes will compete against Reagan County, Eldorado, Forsan, Ozona and McCamey.

Stanton football coach Dale Ruth can only hope the Buffaloes' district alignment will be altered in 1990 when the UIL makes its 2 year changes. "There's not much we can do about it," Ruth said in a Tuesday afternoon telephone interview. "Our superintendent Wayne Mitchell went down there (to Austin) with the idea of trying to change it. We tried to let them know how much it would affect our kids and fans."

Ruth was not surprised at the UIL's decision. "I didn't expect any changes at all," he said. "I just felt like they already had their minds made up. We just have to go with what they do."

"I know they're working hard down there, and we just have to accept it and try to make them understand what we're going through," Ruth added. "Hopefully in two years, they'll make some changes."

Ruth is dreading the bus ride to Presidio. "We'll leave here at 9 or 10 (a.m.) and travel all day and get there about 4 (p.m.)," he said. "We'll make stops here or there and let them (players) work off their soreness."

Six candidates seek election unopposed

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Sheriff A.N. Standard, a 28-year veteran of the Howard County Sheriff's Office, is running unopposed in the Howard County sheriff race.

Standard, 59, 504 E. 15th St., said his position involves addressing drug and criminal elements in Howard County, as well as providing public service to the community.

"There must be a greater effort between agencies as well as public support. I will work to that end."

Standard, a 45-year Howard County resident, said he's enjoyed his nearly three decades of service at the sheriff's department.

"Even though I do not have an announced opponent in the upcoming election, I am just as interested."

Standard served 10 years with the police department before accepting a position with the county.

Dorothy Moore, a 24-year veteran of the Howard County tax office, is seeking another term as county tax assessor/collector. Moore, 58, said she will operate the "tax collection procedure effectively and efficiently to benefit all taxpayers."

Moore is running unopposed for the position. Services at the tax office, located in the courthouse annex, 315 Main St., include collection of ad valorem taxes, voter registration and automobile registration.

Glenda Brasel is seeking the unexpired term of 118th District Clerk.

Brasel was appointed district clerk in January 1987 after the death of former clerk Peggy Crittenden. Before being appointed to the position, Brasel had served as deputy since October 1988.

She has been an employee in the district clerk's office for more than 19 years.

"I feel like I know the position and what is expected of me, and I enjoy the work."

Brasel is running unopposed for the position.

Incumbent Rick Hamby, seeking his fourth term, is running unopposed for the 118th District Attorney race.

Hamby ran a successful race in 1984 against challenger Robert D. "Bob" Miller, who is running for county attorney in Tuesday's election. The 118th District Court includes Martin and Glasscock counties.

Justice of the Peace China Long is seeking a second term as Justice of the Peace Precinct 1.

A former broadcast reporter for Big Spring's KBST radio, Long is running unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

She won the 1984 race in a runoff election against Doyle Lamb.

Incumbent J.B. Hall is running unopposed for the position of constable.

April 30 promises to be a musical day to remember

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce members were treated to a rapid-fire presentation of forthcoming events in the community at the chamber's quarterly community luncheon Wednesday in the East Room of Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The busiest single day of the quarter — and the most musical — will be April 30. On that date, the Big Spring symphony guild and association will sponsor a "Night of the Stars" gala and debutante ball beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets are $100 per couple for sponsors, $40 per couple to attend. Sponsors' tickets include a wine and cheese party before the ball.

The U.S. Army Band and Field Chorus will perform at the Municipal Auditorium at 7:30 p.m., sponsored by the chamber and The Big Spring Herald. Admission is free but tickets are required and may be obtained at the Herald offices, 710 Scurry St., or at the chamber office, 215 W. 3rd St.

The same day, Highland Mall will play host to the Crossroads Fiddlers Contest beginning at noon, with $1,500 in prize money to be awarded the best fiddlers. The contest is sanctioned by the Texas Old-Time Fiddlers Association, and competition will be divided into three groups by age.

April 30 also is the backup date for Christmas in April, in case the workday April 23 weather turns adverse.

Christmas in April needs volunteers. Corporations such as Texas Electric, which has signed up 40 volunteers, are being solicited for the project's workforce now, according to Bob Noyes.

Meanwhile, the Big Spring Gem and Mineral Club's annual show is scheduled for March 6-7 at the Dora Roberts Fair Building.

The Howard College/SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf combined theatre production of "The Robber Bridegroom" will begin auditions Monday at 7 p.m., according to Liz Wolter of SWCID.

Gail Earls announced that the estate planning seminar sponsored through the Howard County extension service has been postponed from its March 7-8 date; the service's scheduled adult sitter training seminar will take place as planned and the training will cost $7 per student. The service also has planned a March 15 home maintenance workshop.

On March 18 the Big Spring Kiwanis will provide a pancake supper. Tickets admit two persons for $6 and the event closes at 8 p.m., according to Gene Grissom of the Kiwanians.

Charity events this month include the Comanche Trail Muzzleloaders' benefit blackpowder and bow shooting events March 26 at the club's gun range. Entry fees are $5 per gun and $3 per bow and proceeds go to the Coahoma Girls' United Softball program, according to Muzzleloaders' president Bob Lieb.

American Business Clubs representative Dub Day also told the chamber members that the AMBUCS-sponsored Rattlesnake Roundup to benefit Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center will be March 25-27. Local candidates for various offices had an opportunity to be introduced to chamber members at the luncheon. Hardy Wilkerson, running for Howard County attorney, was present; Troy Fraser, running for the state legislature, said "I'm a candidate to represent the community in Austin simply because we haven't had one for the past eight years."

His statement drew applause, as did Al Valdez's explanation of his campaign for the school board: "I'm running because they raised the salaries and it pays twice as much now."

Pete Jackson was introduced as a candidate for county commissioner, place three, and Gail Earls was introduced as a candidate for the at-large place on the city council.

Scott McLaughlin explained the new emphasis for the United Way campaign, saying the campaign would be better organized and confined entirely to the month of September.

He said training sessions will be instituted for volunteers and this year's fundraisers would keep records of their methods to be reused "so we don't have to keep reinventing the wheel every year."

Southwestern Bell's Community Relations team is sponsoring a community Easter egg hunt at the Birdwell Park April 2. Tickets are $1 and donations for prizes are being sought, according to Diana Ferguson.

Terry Hansen described a slate of University Interscholastic League events and tournaments set for Howard College through the end of the school term including boys' basketball this weekend, tennis and golf tournaments in April and a regional academic contest.

In addition, Hansen said the three junior colleges in Texas Senator John Montford's district — Howard, South Plains and Odessa — have joined to sponsor a John Montford Appreciation Day and dinner April 5.

Ron Brasel told the group SWCIDfest has been moved from its customary first weekend in May to April 15-17 this year. A bowling tournament and casino night are planned, as is an open house.

Bob Noyes attends to his paperwork at Bob's Custom Woodwork with the support of his part-Siamese, Chevi Kit. The desk-top is the cat's favorite place to sleep.

Mabee, a tortoise shell-colored cat, stands among the supplies in the stockroom at Hester's Supply, watching the customers in the store. According to the owner, there are a lot of places for a cat to hide in an office supply store.

Quiet: Cat at work

The working cat has been on the job for nearly 10,000 years. Many centuries before the Christian era, the Egyptian, Cretan and Phoenician merchants founded trading posts on the shores of the Mediterranean Sea and undoubtedly took along their friendly and faithful mousers to protect their goods.

Cats were sacred in ancient Egypt and their presence was believed to ward off evil. The ancients chiseled the cat's lucky likeness on the walls of tombs, and even gave one of their gods a cat's head.

It's probable that felines migrated to the New World with the earliest settlers, keeping the mice under control in the holds of the ships.

At the turn of the century, every country store could boast of having a cat to keep the mice out of the cracker barrel.

The good news is, the working cat is still very much a part of the scene. Their jobs with Big Spring businesses is part mouser, part customer service and part employee relations — a far wider display of skills than their forefelines knew.

Jumping Jack Flash does guard duty at Country Flowers & Gifts at night, sitting in the window, "checking out traffic," says Minerva Lewis.

The frisky black male cat just appeared on the scene about three months ago. "We tried to give him away at first, but now we couldn't make it without him," says Minerva.

When the staff is busy making floral arrangements, Jack will often slip by, steal a flower and run off with it. "And I'm afraid he has destroyed at least one full arrangement," Minerva laments.

His favorite place to sit is on his owner's desk by the telephone and adding machine — where the action is. And he likes to chew on cinnamon rolls at break time.

Jack gets a special toy every so often — artificial birds made from real feathers. "We have to give him a new one when he pulls all the feathers out," said Lea Lewis.

"It's so comforting to see him when we get to work every morning," the staff agrees.

"Customers sometimes stop in especially to see Hoon," says Phyllis Graumann at Graumann Oilfield Pump & Engine Repair.

Hoon was a starving kitten eight years ago when she arrived at the Graumann's business, too weak to eat or meow. Now the long-haired yellow and white cat presides over the reception area most of the time. When a visitor arrives, Hoon gets up and walks to the door, greeting them with a constant chatter.

"If you sit down, Hoon gets into your lap immediately. Although we brush her long hair every day, we do offer the use of our shop air hose to get rid of any hair left on dark suits," says Phyllis with a laugh.

Phyllis remembers one time when Hoon had kittens in the ceiling near a trap door; personnel moved the youngsters to a safer place — two or three times, in fact — but Hoon kept taking them back to the ceiling, climbing the ladder and carrying the kittens one by one. "I don't see how she did it," said Phyllis.

"Hoon had three litters of beautiful kittens — some Calicos — and we were always successful in finding homes for them. People still call to ask about kittens, but we've had Hoon spayed."

When not greeting customers, Hoon sits on Phyllis' desk or hides in the file cabinet drawers.

George, a husky yellow-orange tabby, has been on the payroll at Western Hills Animal Clinic for about four years.

"He's the neatest cat," says Betty Thompson. "He doesn't ever get upset when people bring in their pets."

Anxious owners, howling cats, barking dogs — nothing bothers him, according to Betty, no matter what's going on in the clinic.

George remains cool, sitting or napping in the in-basket at the reception desk. If you walk by without petting him, expect to feel a paw reach out and remind you.

George was a stray, brought in for rabies observation.

"He was so sweet and loving, we decided to keep him," Betty says. "We've had several clinic cats before, but George is the best."

He's a good mouser too, an important job because of the abundance of pet food on hand.

"The customers love George. Sometimes, owners of dogs that are antagonistic to cats will call ahead and warn me they're coming, so they can be certain George is safely out of the way."

Bob Noyes didn't know a thing about cats when he spotted a tiny kitten along Wasson Road, stopping his truck to retrieve the cat.

The kitten was so young he couldn't eat, so Jan Noyes prepared a formula of oatmeal and cream of wheat and fed it with a doll bottle.

Chevi Kit — "a kitten picked up by a Chevy," explains Bob — is part Siamese, grey and white with tan ears.

The Noyes family are "dog people," says Jan; they never had a cat before. But Bob, Jan and the whole crew at Bob's Custom Woodwork quickly took to him. Bob built him a custom-designed scratching post from shop scraps.

Jumping Jack Flash finds the baskets at Country Flowers and Gifts the perfect place to sleep. Twylia Roberts pets the black feline in one of his favorite baskets.

In memory of Mr. Peevers

Mr. Peevers no longer hassles the mice in the area of Benton and Second streets.

The yellow-striped cat was run over by a car the day after New Year's, according to Wesley Deats, owner of the John Davis Feed Store.

"I didn't know I liked cats," Wesley said. "I was a dog person."

But when the kitten adopted the feed store as his new home about 14 months ago, Wesley took a liking to him. Or as he puts it, "He got inside my gizzard."

"I'd always come down on Sunday just to see him. All my customers liked him and asked about him."

Mr. Peevers is buried outside the door where he used to sit and watch the traffic go by.

"I have a photo of him," says Wesley. "I had it framed and put it up so the customers could see it and remember him."

I haven't gotten over losing him yet. He was mycat."

Deats says he'll definitely get another cat for his feed store, "but not just yet."

Editor's Note: A few days after this interview, a friend of Wesley's came by the store and sympathetically offered him a kitten from a recent litter. Wesley picked out a little yellow-striped kitten, much like Mr. Peevers.

"His name is T. C.," Wesley said. "That could stand for Tom Cat. Or Tycoon — because I guess he'll be running the business."

There are plans aplenty for Public School Week

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Howard County schools will be rolling out the red carpet for parents and family members this week in observance of Texas Public School Week, with activities ranging from open houses to a free band concert.

March 7-11 has been designated Texas Public Schools Week, and will mark the 134th anniversary of the state public school system, according to information released by Helen Gladden, elementary curriculum coordinator for the Big Spring school district.

As part of the week's activities, all local schools will conduct open houses, Gladden said.

Local activities will begin at 7 a.m. Monday with a breakfast for area educators, hosted by the Staked Plains Masonic Lodge No. 598 and Big Spring Masonic Lodge No. 1340.

Big Spring High School will host an open house for parents and students at 7 p.m. Monday, followed by a free concert presented by the high school band at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The concert will feature Goliad Middle School Band Director Pat Daniel as featured tuba soloist, High School director Ricky Mitchell said.

In connection with the concert, the band boosters will be giving away a videocassette recorder. Tickets for the drawing may be purchased for $1 at the door, or can be obtained by contacting any booster or by calling 267-7463, Mitchell noted.

Runnels Junior High faculty and students will host an open house from noon to 1 p.m., with a concert by the band and choir scheduled for noon at the boy's gym, Gladden said.

Goliad's observance will begin with a band and choir concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the school gym. After the concert, all school teachers will be in their classes for parents to visit, she said.

Anderson Kindergarten Center will conduct an open house beginning at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. A PTA meeting will be held, followed by a student program. Parents then can visit classrooms until 8 p.m., Gladden said.

Parents are requested to call in advance for an appointment with their child's teacher, she added.

For local elementary schools, the following events are scheduled, Gladden noted:

• Bauer Magnet School — The school PTA will host an open house from 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday, at which time City Cultural Arts winners will be announced.

• During the week, parents will be invited to eat lunch with their children at the school cafeteria. On Monday, first-graders will host their parents, with second-graders doing the honors Tuesday, third-graders on Wednesday, fourth-graders on Thursday, and fifth-graders hosting their parents on Friday.

• College Heights — Open house for the school will be held from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. Children's work will be on display, and refreshments will be served in the cafeteria. In addition, the public is invited to a PTA meeting from 5:30 to 6 p.m. in the cafeteria.

• From 7:30 to 9 a.m. Thursday, coffee and donuts will be served in the cafeteria, and parents will have a chance to visit with the principal and teachers.

• Kentwood — The school's PTA will hold a regular meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, with entertainment provided by the combined music and physical education classes. After the meeting, parents are encouraged to visit their children's classrooms.

Throughout the week, Kentwood will have its annual Book Fair. Books may be purchased before and after school, and during open house Tuesday evening.

• Marcy — Open house will be 7 p.m. Tuesday, following the PTA meeting at 6:30 p.m. Parents are encouraged to attend.

In addition, Marcy will host "Pastries for Parents" at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday. Parents are invited to have pastries with their children at the school library.

A Teachers' Baby Beautiful Contest will be featured Thursday. Students will vote on the prettiest baby picture, with the winning teacher receiving a prize.

• Moss — Open house will follow the PTA meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The school will conduct a Book Fair similar to Kentwood, and parents are to attend Moss' Spelling Bee, to be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

• Washington — PTA will host the annual open house at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. Class visitation will be held until 7:45 p.m. "Sounds of Texas," which was presented by the fourth-graders at an earlier PTA meeting, will be repeated during the open house.

Parents may eat lunch with their children at the cafeteria, under the following schedule: Fifth grade, Monday; second grade, Tuesday; third grade, Wednesday; fourth grade, Thursday; and first grade, Friday.

In Coahoma, the elementary school will conduct a Book Fair throughout the week. Books may be purchased before and after school, Principal Mike Turner said.

Elementary students will host a variety show at 8 p.m. Thursday, Turner added.

Coahoma will host several activities Thursday, starting with a pancake supper at 5:30 p.m. in the elementary cafeteria, High School Principal Dennis Ward said.

Other activities that night will include elementary open house from 7 to 8 p.m., junior high open house and science fair from 7 to 8 p.m., and the high school will conduct a Mini Class schedule

In a battle for Region I-AA basketball supremacy, the Haskell Indians trounced the Coleman Bluecats 59-48 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Saturday afternoon.

Haskell controlled the opening tipoff, but both teams starting cold as the jitters hit with the gust of a West Texas winds until Brad Bevel scored to put the opening points to give the Indians a 2-0 lead.

After a Coleman turnover, Chan Guess hit a three-pointer, and the Haskell massacre was on.

Ernest Stewart kept the Bluecats in the game with a bucket, and was fouled in the process. The charity stripe shot went astray, however, and Haskell led 5-2 with 3:43 left in the first quarter.

Guess rebounded three missed shots and a missed layup by Stewart in the opening quarter while leading the Redmen in rebounding, and Bevel scored again from the paint for Haskell.

With the closing of the first quarter, Coleman gained the lead with six unanswered points to leave the Indians in a temporary daze with a one point deficit.

At the start of the second stanza, however, Coleman turned the ball over on a three-second violation, and Mark Young and Guess hit three-pointers, changing the perspective of the game.

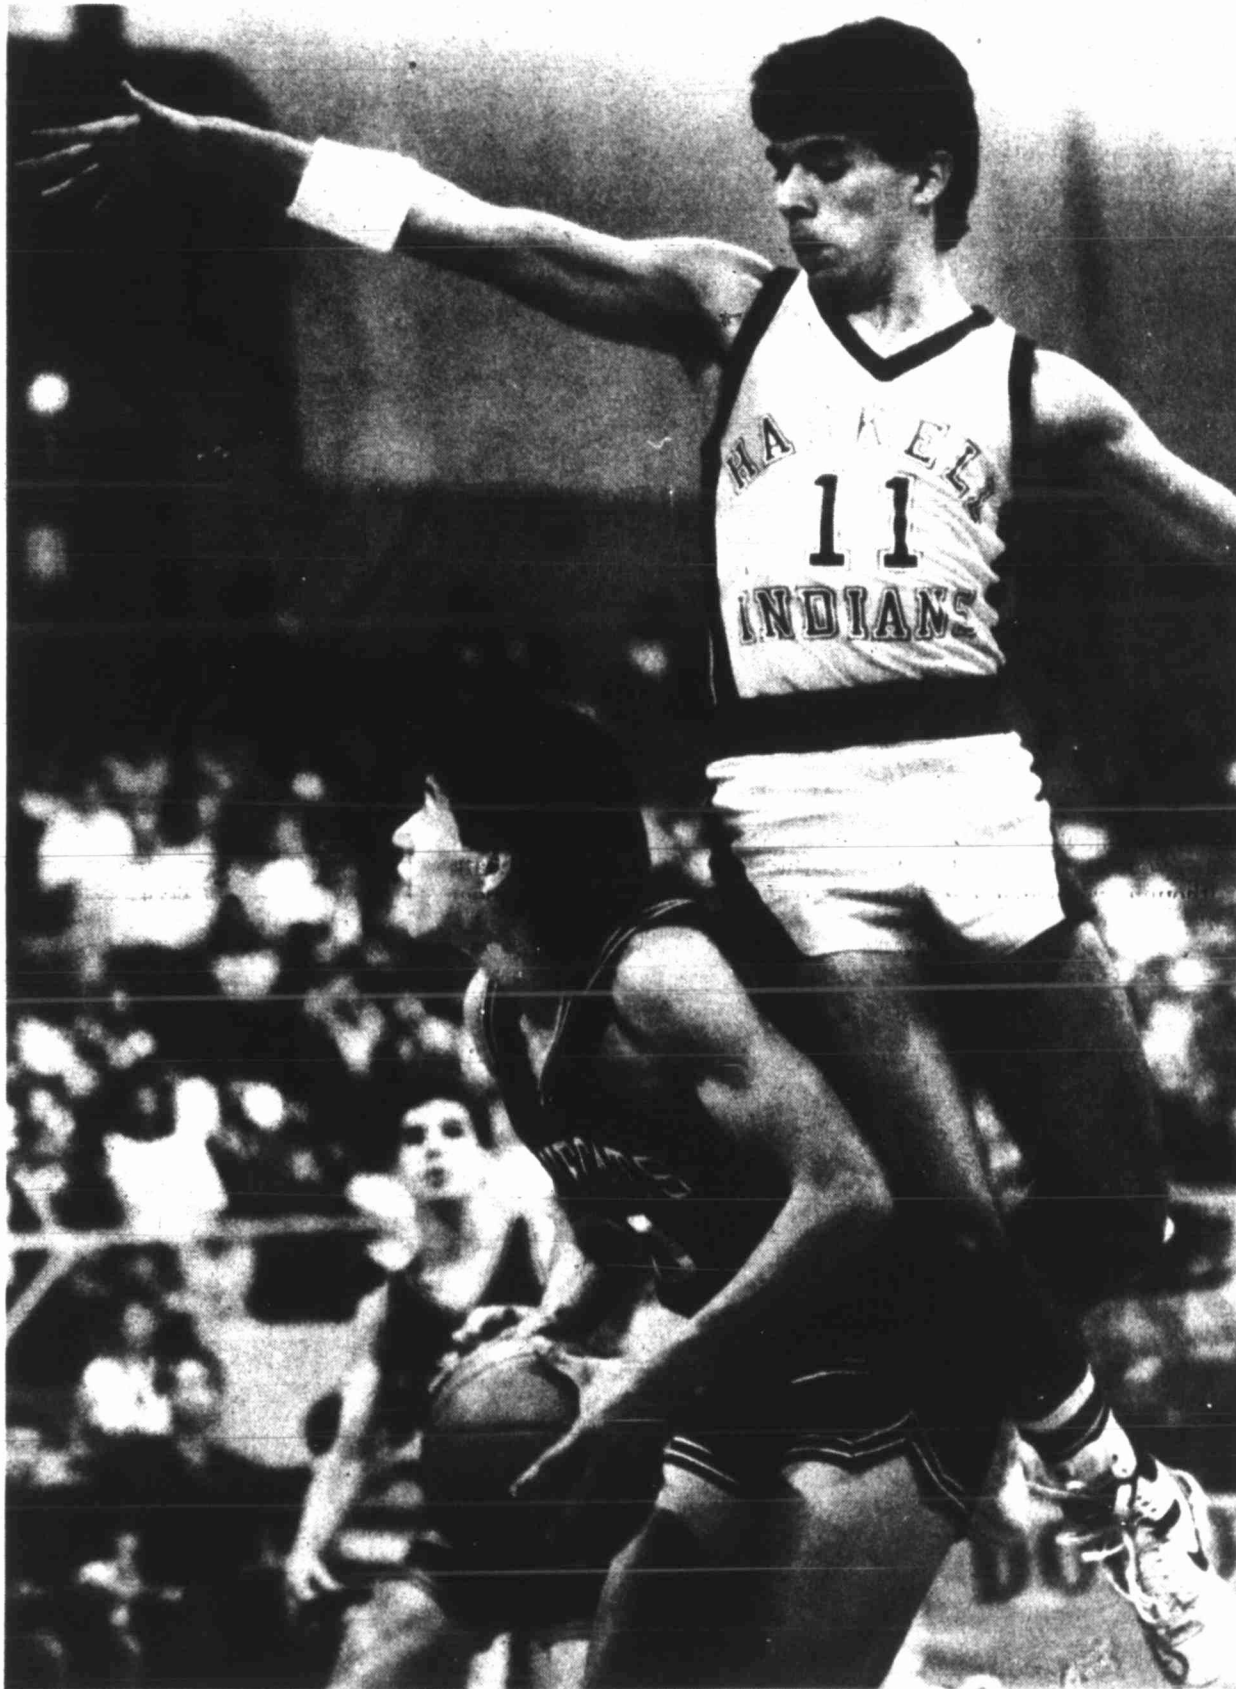

As both teams played the second quarter in a run-gun style, the sconds ticked off and the halftime buzzer sounded with the Haskell Indians leading 28-22.

During the third quarter, no one seemed to want to control the game early, but Haskell kept putting on the pressure, shooting three-pointers and making 100 percent from the floor to shut the door on the visiting team.

When the third quarter came to a close, Haskell's lead was up to 47-34.

With eight minutes to play, Haskell had the game under control with fine ball handling by their point guards and keeping the ball away from the Bluecats. The Indians kept the ball away so well from Coleman that the Bluecats had a hard time fouling the Indians to stop the clock.

Hawks make sweep of Vernon College

HERALD STAFF REPORT

VERNON — Designated hitter DARRIN Glenn swatted two home runs — his fourth and fifth in two days — to lead the Howard College Hawks to a doubleheader sweep of the Vernon Chaparrals here Saturday afternoon.

Glenn's homer heroics were especially dramatic in the first game, as his last-inning dinger provided the margin of victory in an 8-7 Hawk decision.

In addition to Glenn, Ernesto Castro homered for the Hawks. Frederick was impressive from the plate, also, driving in three runs on two hits.

Hawk starter Jody Allen blanked the Chaparrals for the first two innings, but control problems — evidenced by eight walks — allowed Vernon to score their seven runs over the next three innings.

In gathering the victory, Kroeger allowed one run on three hits, walk-

Howard College Hawks' shortstop Jay Williams fires a throw to first base during a recent game. Saturday the Hawks swept a doubleheader from Vernon College.

Gregg Kroeger pitched two-and-two-thirds innings of one-run relief to earn his fifth victory of the year against one defeat.

The big inning for the Hawks was the third, when they collected four runs. With one out, Geraldo Camara walked with the bases loaded to bring in the first run. Kenneth Frederick then singled, driving in Glenn and Joey Camarillo.

The next batter, Paul Spyhalski doubled, bringing Camara home. Frederick attempted to score from first, but was thrown out at the plate to end the threat for the inning.

SECOND GAME

The Hawks erupted for six runs in the second inning, and pitcher Garth Buresh shut Vernon out on three hits, as the Hawks cruised to a 6-0 win.

Assistant Coach Greg Henry was particularly happy with Buresh's performance. In gathering his second victory against no defeats, the freshman from Sioux Falls, S.D. struck out nine Chap batters while not allowing a walk.

New play celebrates influence of university's namesake

By TUMBLEWEED SMITH

A hundred years ago, Sul Ross was governor of Texas. Then he became President of Texas A&M, which was nearly broke at the time.

Because Sul Ross had such a good reputation, the men he commanded during the Civil War sent their sons to A&M, confident they would get a good education from this statesman and leader. Much of the success of A&M is credited to Sul Ross.

Now a stage play about this great Texan is making the rounds in theaters. It is called Knight of the Lone Star: the Life and Texas of Sul Ross.

Appropriately enough, the play was written by Dr. Ron Hubbard, who heads up the theater department at Sul Ross State University in Alpine. "I came here three years ago and read in the university catalogue about the man this place is named for," says Ron.

"I saw all the things he had done. He was a Texas Ranger, Confederate General, Sheriff of McLennan County, a State Senator, Governor of Texas and President of Texas A&M. I thought he would be a good subject for a play."

Like Sul Ross, Ron Hubbard was not born in Texas, but he loves it. "I think the state and its people have incredible energy," explains Ron. "I've never seen another place like it. It's unique in all the world. I put a lot of my feeling for the state in this play."

"A lot of us never did anything before we got to Texas. But if you recall, only six of the men fighting for Texas at the Alamo were born here. The rest were from places like Mexico and Tennessee. Texas is a place where if you have what it takes, you can come here and do it."

Tumbleweed Smith

Lawrence Sullivan Ross was born in the Iowa territory in 1838. His father, Shapley Ross came to Texas seeking opportunity. He had met a man who had been to Texas. The man spoke so gloriously to Shapley about the place that Shapley had to come and see for himself. He settled in Waco, became the city's first postmaster and built the city's first hotel.

Sul Ross attended Baylor and in 1859 Sam Houston appointed him Captain of a Ranger company to assist in protecting the frontier of the state.

Ross joined the Confederate Army as a private in 1861 and served four years, rising to the rank of Brigadier General. He led Ross's Brigade in 135 engagements.

After the war he farmed, then became sheriff of McLennan County. He was a state senator and was inaugurated as governor on January 18, 1887. He was the first governor to occupy the new capitol building.

On his retirement from office in 1891, he was elected President of A&M. Sul Ross died in 1898.

The play covers 80 years (1840 to 1920) of Texas history as influenced by Sullivan Ross. In spite of all his accomplishments, he is best remembered as the man who led the raid on the Comanches when Cynthia Ann Parker was rescued and brought back to civilization.

The chamber's Athletic Committee, chaired by Don Davis, has again been busy with playoff games; six basketball playoff games have been hosted in the past two weeks.

Approximately 3,500 people have come to Big Spring as a result of these games. Also, Howard College has been busy hosting boys' and girls' regional tournaments, events that bring many visitors to the community.

***
The tour bus business is beginning to hop again in Big Spring. The Days Inn has reported a baker's dozen buses have confirmed bookings for the 1988 season.

These are tour companies that will be traveling through our area throughout the year and staying overnight in Big Spring. The chamber's Convention and Visitors Bureau and a group of Hospitality Hostesses make a point to meet and greet these buses and wish them an enjoyable stay in our city.

We look forward to these buses, since each busload of travelers can leave an average of $3,000 per night in our community.
