

No Gregg Street decision as April 1 nears

By BILL FOSTER
Staff Writer

The question of widening Gregg Street has not been answered by State Highway Department officials — despite an anticipated April 1 deadline.

"No decision has been reached. The State Highway Department and Federal Highway Administration is still examining the design aspects of the project," Linda Smith, district design engineer for the State Department of Highways said Wednesday.

The proposal to widen Gregg Street from FM 700 to 10th by seven feet on both sides to construct a left-hand turn lane down the middle of the roadway has generated considerable community debate among those oppose or support the project.

Highway department officials say the project is needed to reduce accidents along the highway. Store owners along the highway fear the widening would cause a loss of business — or force them to close permanently.

Highway department officials said during a February 11 public meeting in Big Spring that a decision on the project was expected by April 1.

However, highway department officials are now uncertain when a decision will be reached.

"There will be a point when we have enough engineering information to make a decision. No time schedule has been set," Smith said.

Meanwhile, more than 500 written responses and comments about the widening from Big Spring residents have been received at the District 8 State Highway Department office in Abilene, according to Smith.

Those responses include 21 letters, 150 pre-printed post cards, two petitions, and more than 100 newspaper survey forms.

One of the petitions carries the names of 120 members of the Big Spring Government Employees Federal Credit Union. The credit union petition expresses opposition to the widening, Smith said.

The other petition — also opposing the Gregg Street expansion — contains the names of 43 business owners along the highway and 110 customers of those firms, according to Smith.

All of the letters, post cards, petitions and survey forms will be kept as permanent highway department records, she said.

However, only those comments suggesting alternatives to the proposed widening will be considered as part of project's decision-making process, Smith said.

Simple "yes" or "no" responses will have no influence on highway department officials decision to proceed with or cancel the project, she said.

One suggested alternative — conversion of both Scurry and Gregg Streets to one-way avenues to accommodate the north-south flow of traffic through the city — has been ruled out because of expense.

The highway department has estimated it would cost $3 million to convert both streets to carry one-way traffic, compared to $750,000 to widen Gregg Street.

"Widening Gregg Street is still being considered as the best possible solution to reducing accidents from an engineering standpoint," Smith said.

Improving traffic flow and reducing the number of accidents along the 18-block widening target area are the primary reasons the expansion should be accomplished, according to highway department and Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce officials.

Moss Lake water line considered

By BILL FOSTER
Staff Writer

Repair or replacement of a water line running from Moss Creek Lake to the city water treatment plant is being considered by Big Spring city officials.

The 14-inch line, which provides nine customers with water for livestock and domestic use, has become a liability to the city because of the expense involved to repair frequent breaks, according to Public Works Director Tom Decell.

Water sold to customers from the line generated $7,700 in revenues in 1987, while the city paid $8,000 out of the operation and maintenance budget to repair breaks in the line that year, Decell said. The city spent $9,200 to repair the line in 1982, he said.

"The water is under gravity pressure from the water treatment plant and there is an elevation change of one hundred-plus feet from the plant to the lake. We are constantly having breaks on the line," and extended failure of service, Decell said.

In some instances, breaks in the line have gone unrepaired for as long as 60 days, Decell said.

"This is caused because of higher priority work and inability to access the break area due to creek flooding and high saturations around the break," he explained.

One 10,000-foot segment of the water line has experienced between 30 and 35 breaks during the last seven years, according to Decell.

Replacement of the line with a four-inch plastic line has been ruled out.

"The four-inch has proven to be impractical because water pressure at the end of the line would be just a small drip," Decell said.

Two alternatives remain — installation of a six-inch plastic line beside the existing pipe, or inserting a plastic "fasline" lining inside the old water line, the public works director said.

Replacing the old water line with plastic pipe would cost $3.56 per linear foot, or $40,000 total, according to Decell.

Pushing the plastic lining into the existing water line would cost $2.20 per linear foot for the lining and $2 per linear foot installation charges, or $45,000 total, he said.

Although no action has been taken by City Council concerning the water line repairs, the matter is expected to be discussed during fiscal year 1988-89 budget preparation meetings.

Brenda Harwood, a postal clerk at the Big Spring Post Office, holds a sheet of the new 25-cent stamps for the first class rate increase effective Sunday.

Postage rates rising; 22-center part of past

STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Mailing first class letters for 22 cents will soon be nothing more than a fond memory of the "good ol' days."

The cost of sending a letter will increase to a quarter on Sunday.

The 14 percent increase in the price of first-class mail is less, however, than the 18 percent increase for mailing newspapers and magazines and the 25 percent increase for advertising mail.

The rate increases, proposed last May, are designed to avoid continuing losses by the Postal Service, officials said. The agency was more than $220 million in the red last year.

Some 6 billion "E" stamps have been distributed to post offices across the nation to fill the gap until new 25-cent stamps can be printed. The new stamps, without any price on them, are good only for use within the country.

The stamps are available from the Big Spring post office, according to Gail Teegarden, officer in charge.

The new stamps have no denomination because they had to be printed ahead of time, before officials knew what new rate would be approved by the independent Postal Rate Commission.

In other postal developments locally, Teegarden said this morning that the selection process for a new Big Spring postmaster is underway. She said an evaluation of the Big Spring office has been conducted and results were sent to Tucson. The local postmaster's position will be announced there first.

A new contract station is also in the works. Do-It Center, 1000 E.

FM 700, has made application to serve in that capacity, she said, and expects the paperwork to be complete within one month.

Do-It Center Manager Mark Sheedy said that the station in his store will provide postal users an alternative location for stamp purchases, as well as certified mail, money orders and other special services. Customers will be able to mail their correspondence from the location, although no bulk mail will be handled at the site, Teegarden said.

Sheedy said he expects the hours of his operation — 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1-5 p.m. Sundays — will provide greater flexibility for such a service.

Nationwide, the new 25-cent stamps also are being sold by mail and telephone. Phone orders, by credit card, can be made by calling 1-800-STAMP24. There is a $2 service charge.

Here are some examples of the new rates that become effective Sunday:

- First-class letters: First ounce, 25 cents; additional ounces 20 cents. Up from 22 cents and 17 cents.
- Presorted by ZIP code, 21 cents. Up from 18 cents.
- Presorted by carrier route, 19.5 cents. Up from 17 cents.
- First-class cards: Regular rate, 15 cents. Up from 14 cents.
- Presorted by ZIP code, 13 cents. Up from 12 cents.
- Presorted by carrier route, 11.5 cents. Up from 11 cents.
- Priority Mail: Range of $2.40 to $72.24, unchanged.

Federal grant will ensure RSVP operation

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

With the help of a $26,000 federal grant, the Big Spring Retired Senior Volunteer Program will be able to continue at past budgetary levels.

The local RSVP, one of 751 groups nationwide, will have a budget this year of $42,102, according to Joy Decker, project director.

The renewed budget ensures that RSVP's 330 volunteers will continue operating its 24 stations in Howard County, she noted.

The federal grant will come from ACTION, a federal agency that oversees operation of Older American Volunteer Programs, Decker said.

Funding breakdown for the local project is as follows:

- $26,000 from ACTION.
- $8,144 from the Texas Department of Aging.
- $5,360 from the City of Big Spring, both in cash and in-kind services.
- $1,000 from Howard County.
- $1,598 from the Advisory Council.

The final figure represents revenue that RSVP generated during the past year, Decker said.

The local RSVP was founded in the mid-1970s to provide Howard County residents, aged 60 or over, the opportunity to remain active in the community through volunteer service.

It originated under the auspices of the Big Spring State Hospital, with the city assuming sponsorship in July 1978.

Since October 1978, the number of volunteers has grown from 16 to 330, and the number of organizations helped from four to 24.

Added this year to the "stations" served is the Big Spring United Way drive, added this year, Decker said.

Other stations benefitting from the service include the state hospital, Scenic Mountain Medical Center, the VA hospital, Rape Crisis/Victim Assistance, Coahoma school district, Heritage Museum and Westside Day Care Center, Decker said.

Retired volunteers also provide income tax assistance, escort services.

Huge tumor removed

Woman urges others not to delay attention

FORT WORTH (AP) — Barbara Louise Jones says she feels much better now that she's had a 130-pound tumor removed, and she urges others not to wait as long as she did to seek medical help.

"I realize now how dangerous it can be and could have been for me," she said Wednesday.

Miss Jones, 55, said the tumor appeared gradually over the past three years and at first thought she was only putting on weight. Then when she realized something was wrong, she put off going to a doctor because she feared she would suffer the same type of painful death as her mother, who died of ovarian cancer in 1973.

Eventually, Miss Jones' weight doubled and the 5-foot-1½ woman was hardly able to move. She retired early from her job as a school district purchasing agent last March and by July was unable to drive a car or move about without tiring.

Now, she is almost completely recovered from the December operation to remove the ovarian tumor, said Fort Worth surgeon Dr. J.E. Way.

"I went to the doctor Monday and my blood pressure is up a little, but other than that, I'm doing fine," Miss Jones said.

Miss Jones finally decided to seek medical attention in November and was referred to Way. Within two weeks, the tumor was removed.

Way said he had to cut a 4½-foot incision in Miss Jones' abdomen to remove the malignant tumor. He said most ovarian cysts are detected when they are 1-1½ inches.

"There's nothing typical about this," Way said. "You can find a lot of tumors that weigh 5 to 30 pounds, and those are horrendous tumors."

Way said the tumor was fixed to the walls of Miss Jones' abdomen.

New prison camp dorms built for 150

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Plans are in effect at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp to accommodate an increase of about 400 in the prison population, according to the camp's assistant superintendent.

Rudy Franco said today that the manufactured-type housing, which was brought to the camp in modules and erected here, will house about 150 inmates.

This is in accordance with plans to increase the population at the prison camp, Franco said, adding that with the extra unit, the camp will be able to accommodate up to 1,200 prisoners.

He noted, however, that he doesn't expect the prisoner count to exceed 1,100. The extra inmates should be in Big Spring by the end of this summer.

Meanwhile, construction on existing housing at the camp is continuing. It is uncertain whether the modular unit will be a permanent fixture at the facility, although Franco said it does have the capability to be moved.

In related developments, Franco announced:
• The new superintendent is scheduled to arrive at the camp April 25. Phil Spears, currently the associate warden at the Fort Worth

Federal Correctional Institution, will be introduced to local residents then, Franco noted. He replaces Joe Crabtree, who will be leaving in May to assume duties at the Washington office of the Bureau of Prisons.

• Construction to convert the old Webb Air Force Base bowling alley into a broom factory is about 70 percent complete. Total budget for the project is $300,000, of which $65,000 is being paid to local contractors, he said.

The project, which was moved to Big Spring after the Cuban inmate uprising at the Atlanta federal prison in November 1987, should be completed within 45 days, Franco said.

Still no funds from baby pageant

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Ronald McDonald House, the beneficiary of the recent Permian Basin Area Baby Pageant, still has not received any money, said Becky Cagle, house manager.

"It's (the money) still tied up in court. Everything is still being worked out," she added.

Although the Ronald McDonald House signed a contract with Steve Davis, coordinator of the pageant, for $5,000, Davis said he would not hold the House to the agreement. "He said he would give us $10,000," said Cagle.

According to Cagle, Davis made this offer before the pageant was investigated.

Pageant coordinators Stephen Davis, 32, William Clyde Burris, 26, and Donna Burris, 38, also known as Donna Dearing, were arrested March 14 after an Ector County grand jury returned four sealed indictments.

Dennis Alton Dearing, 33, surrendered to the Ector County Sheriff's Department March 17.

All four were indicted on charges of gambling promotion.

Odessa Police Lt. Barbara Gillis said Wednesday that the department is still gathering information, and that $11,645 has been deposited with the 70th District Court in Odessa.

"People have conflicting claims to the money — such as the State of Texas, Ronald McDonald House, and Stephen Davis," said Gillis.

Patient in hospital shoots self

ODESSA (AP) — A 78-year-old patient seriously wounded after apparently shooting himself in a hospital room underwent surgery Wednesday, hospital officials said.

Cal Theriot was being treated for a gunshot wound to the neck following the 6 a.m. incident on the fourth floor coronary care room at Medical Center Hospital, hospital spokesman Frank Beaman said.

Theriot, admitted to the hospital last Wednesday for treatment of vascular problems, was believed to have shot himself with a pistol he brought into the hospital concealed in a suitcase, Beaman said.

There were no witnesses to the shooting, Beaman said.

Hospital nurses heard the shot, entered the room and found Theriot lying on the floor between a wall and a bed, police reports show.

Office finds record of hay donation

HERALD STAFF REPORT

ALBANY — Officials today verified a record of an individual donation of 150,000 pounds — or about 75 tons — of hay from State Representative Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, for the relief effort following a range fire in Shackelford County.

"We did have a donation, very early after the fire, from a Mr. Shaw, a state representative," said Patti Fulton, Shackelford County range conservationist early today. "But our records show that donation as coming from Austin."

"I'm sure that it was recorded that way because he is a state representative and the call probably came from his Austin office," she said.

Her office had said Wednesday they had no record of Shaw's donation.

She said the U.S. Department of Agriculture, of which her office is a part, turned the hay drive project over to volunteers in Shackelford County Monday.

The four-day wildfire burned more than 100,000 acres of ranchland in a West Texas area estimated as 25 miles wide and 60 miles long extending through Shackelford and Callahan counties.

Ranchers in the affected area have received some 10 to 20 tons of the more than 1 million pounds, or about 500 tons, of hay donated so far, Fulton said Tuesday. Efforts to get the hay transported to the ranchers still in need are continuing.

"We have turned over a list of names, including Mr. Shaw's, to the hay drive so they can call these people back and ask if they have found a way to transport it," Fulton said.

Because the relief effort in its early phases was done by volunteers answering telephones that rang constantly, Fulton said, some donations were recorded on an individual basis and filed in one of two categories.

Hay that had been donated and was being transported made up one category, she explained, and the other donations were filed together as being donated without means of delivery.

Shaw's donation was recorded in the second category.

Body in Runnels County not identified

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Authorities have still not determined the identity of the partially-clad body of a young woman found in a field west of Ballinger Tuesday afternoon, Runnels County Sheriff's Deputy Keith Collom said this morning.

However, investigators believe the body may be that of a 49-year-old woman reported missing from Coleman, a community east of Ballinger, Collom said.

An autopsy of the body is being performed by the Baird County Medical Examiners office. Preliminary autopsy results are not being made public, Collom said. A final autopsy report is expected to be made public within six weeks, he said.

Foul play is suspected in the case, Collom said. "Any time you find a partially-nude body of a woman you have to be suspicious," he said.

The woman's body was found lying in a pasture of grass about one-fourth-mile north of Highway 158, six and one-half miles west of Ballinger, Collom said. The body was discovered by a man who owns livestock on the property. Authorities are not releasing the name of the individual who discovered the body.

Jessica helps raise money for ill boy

LANCASTER (AP) — The mother of two-year-old Jessica McClure says she couldn't resist a request to use the toddler's celebrity status to help raise funds for a boy with severe heart and lung problems.

"I just can't turn away a child," said Cissy McClure. "Mine wasn't turned away."

Jessica, whose rescue from a Midland well attracted international attention last fall, will participate in a balloon release at 6 p.m. today to benefit 5-year-old Brennan Bolin, who needs a heart-lung transplant.

Benefit coordinator Bonnie Arnold said Jessica became involved in the fundraiser because the families of the children are acquainted. Jessica and her mother flew to Lancaster by private plane Wednesday for a noon reception for the children.

Brennan has idiopathic pulmonary hemosiderosis, a rare condition in which bleeding occurs within the lungs' lining. Mrs. Arnold said the family hopes Brennan can receive a heart-lung transplant at the University of Minnesota this summer.

"They're hoping that unless anything goes wrong, he will be weaned from steroids for six weeks, as of June 1, and he will be relocating to Minnesota to await a donor," she said.

The surgery will cost $650,000 and all but $125,000 is covered by insurance, she said. Lancaster residents already have donated $15,000 for the operation.

Balloons will be sold during the day and released at 6 p.m. with Jessica letting go the first balloon, followed by children from Lancaster elementary schools, said Mrs. Arnold.

"These children will have each donated one dollar to Brennan's cause. Their name and a special message will be in each balloon," said Mrs. Arnold. "There will be a drawing among those children for two toys signed by Jessica."

Mrs. Arnold says the boy's grandmother, Sue Ellen Nall, lives in Midland, where Jessica fell into an abandoned water well last October. It took 58 hours for rescuers to get the toddler out.

A task force to help the Lancaster boy was organized by First United Methodist Church.

LANCASTER — Jessica McClure, who spent more than 50 hours trapped in an abandoned well, plays with a microphone as her mother speaks to reporters Tuesday. McClures are here to help a friend raise donations for a heart-lung transplant for a young boy.

Woman claims 20 raped her

SAN DIEGO, Texas (AP) — Nine men have been charged with raping a woman who told authorities that her attackers urged other men gathered at an illegal cockfight in Duval County to join in.

The 19-year-old woman said she was abducted as she walked on a street and taken to a rural South Texas area where as many as 20 men raped her in a parked car, according to assistant district attorney Rodolfo V. Gutierrez.

Warrants charging nine local men with sexual assault were issued, said Efrain Perez, chief investigator with the Duval County Sheriff's Department. Four were arrested as of Wednesday, and more arrests were expected, said Gutierrez. Charges of kidnapping could be added, he said.

Attempted murder trial date set

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — The trial of a Tennessee man accused of soliciting contract killings through Soldier of Fortune magazine has been moved here from Houston, officials said.

Richard Michael Savage, 39, is set to face trial in Brownsville on Monday on charges he arranged a grenade attack on a Pasadena house after a woman hired him through an advertisement in the magazine.

Savage had been scheduled for trial earlier this month in Houston until U.S. District Judge James DeAnda ruled Savage could not get a fair trial there because of publicity in an unrelated civil case involving Soldier of Fortune.

Three officers fired in beating

HOUSTON (AP) — Three patrol officers fired from the Houston Police Department for allegedly beating a prisoner last year have appealed their dismissals.

The man who was alleged beaten, Jimmy Precella, 28, said Tuesday that the officers repeatedly struck him with nightsticks and flashlights and cursed him.

Royal's grandson arrested for Einstein theft

AUSTIN (AP) — A grandson of former University of Texas football coach Darrell Royal was arrested on a felony theft charge Tuesday night after a missing page of Albert Einstein's notes was found at the teen-ager's home, university police reported.

An investigator said the page of handwritten notes, owned by the university, was found Tuesday in a photo album in Samuel K. Royal's West Austin residence.

The book also contained photographs of Darrell Royal, said the affidavit and complaint filed by Lt. Alan Sanderson of the Travis County District Attorney's Office.

Royal, 18, was arrested at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday at an Austin apartment after police received information that he could be found there, university police Lt. Ronald Thomas said.

Thomas said Royal, who is not a student at the University of Texas, was taken to the Travis County where he will remain overnight pending an arraignment.

Asked if anyone else was being sought in connection with the theft, Thomas replied, "We think we have all we need."

The page was reported missing last week from a locked glass display case on the fourth floor of the Peter T. Flawn Academic Center on the university campus. It was among six pages on display from a series addressing Euclidean rotation.

According to the affidavit, a woman named Alissa Chambers, who also lives at the duplex where the page was discovered, said Samuel Royal "walked in and flashed some papers in front of my face and said, 'These are the writings of Albert Einstein.'"

Investigators from the district attorney's office and the UT police department recovered the manuscript late Tuesday evening, said District Attorney Ronald Earle. The investigators searched the duplex on a tip provided by Crime Stoppers, he said.

UT Police Sgt. Jimmy Moore said in an affidavit for a search warrant that he met with Mack Royal, who identified himself as Darrell Royal's son, Friday. Mack Royal, who is custodian for the fourth floor of the academic center, said his son was Sam Royal, Moore said.

Darrell Royal did not return a telephone call from The Associated Press to his Austin residence. He coached at UT from 1957 through 1976, was UT athletic director until 1979 and now is special assistant to the president of the university.

The missing page is part of an archive of 60 or 70 pages "upon which Einstein wrote the notes representing his thinking as he was trying to work out his theories near the end of his life," said John Chalmers, librarian for UT's Harry Ransom Humanities Research Center.

The university has owned the papers for 25 years. Einstein apparently wrote the notes in the early 1950s. He died in 1955.

It appears that the manuscript taken from the display suffered minor damage before it was recovered, Chalmers said.

"A small piece of it is torn away, and there is evidence of some water damage. I can't be positive, because I did not inspect this document before this unfortunate event," he said.

The display case was locked and the glass unbroken when the theft was discovered. It is unclear whether the person who took the document had a key to the case or was able to remove the document in some other way, Chalmers said.

The center's method of exhibiting items is being reviewed for security because of the incident, he said. For example, he said, all items that are exhibited will be photographed in the future. Only one line of the page that was missing had been photographed.

Although the page likely could have been sold for a couple of thousand dollars, Chalmers said, its value far exceeds that amount.

"For all of us, it's a piece of our heritage."

Opinion

Views of other Texas papers

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from across the state:

Jessica film called unfortunate

Jessica's rescue from a Midland well last fall was a dramatic, moving event. The tot, wedged tight for 58 hours, was the focus of hundreds of rescuers. She was on the front pages of newspapers. Her plight tugged at the hearts of Americans from coast to coast, and when she was pulled from the 22-foot-deep hole by grimy but triumphant men, people wept.

Now, art wants to imitate life — or improve on it. Rival television producers have rescuers and bystanders in Midland choosing sides, and a fractious squabble threatens to break out in the town that so proudly mounted and sustained the rescue effort.

The motives of Jessica's rescuers were pure last year; that seems virtually certain. No one could have foreseen the national attention soon to be focused on Midland. But the possibility of money and fame apparently has turned some people's heads.

Jessica's parents don't seem eager to have her story "docudramatized" all over the little screen. The docudrama, a fictionalized pseudo-real-life story that contributes nothing to history and very little to entertainment, is an unfortunate fact of life these days.

Dole's remark sitting on a fence

Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., has been citing his leadership ability in campaigning for the GOP presidential nomination.

But his response to the U.S. Senate vote to override President Reagan's veto of broad civil rights legislation says something else.

Dole, campaigning in Wisconsin, said on a radio show that if he were in Washington, D.C., he would vote to override the veto. But, he said, "If it were the deciding vote, I would side with the president."

Huh? Then came the clarification from Dole spokeswoman Dale Tate. Dole, said Tate, "opposes the president on this issue. (But) if his vote were needed to sustain the veto, he would. In principle he opposes the president."

Oh.

Big Mac attack comes to Yugoslavia

On the day that Yugoslavia's ruling body changed economic policy to favor more private enterprise, the first McDonald's opened in Belgrade. This is the first McDonald's in a communist country. It is operating under a joint agreement with a Yugoslav state-run enterprise.

Why is Yugoslavia changing its economic policy? Factories and farms are supposedly run by the workers, but the state and the Communist Party interfere, and the system isn't working. State influence in the economy is to be reduced in favor of business incentives.

Private enterprise works, as the crowds lined up at McDonald's to sample a Big Mac clearly demonstrated.

Houston Chronicle

Elections need non-partisan eye

Since the Texas secretary of state was made the state's chief elections officer in the 1970s, there has been a growing use of the office as a partisan platform for the occupant or the party he represents. It is time for the office to be returned to its original purpose and for a neutral or bipartisan commission to be formed to handle elections.

The state's elections should be overseen not by a partisan official but by a neutral or bipartisan commission, especially now that Texas is becoming a real two-party state. The Legislature should make the change at the next opportunity.

Austin American-Statesman

Turn up the gas on energy policy

State leaders in Texas are anxiously trying to draw attention to the need for national policies that strengthen energy industries and will give the nation a sense of security.

Recently it was Land Commissioner Garry Mauro promoting the greater use of natural gas, the clean-burning and low-cost fuel source that Texas has in abundance.

Now it is Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance, promoting an oil-import fee and other measures to provide stability in the oil industry at home. He also echoes the call to better exploit the nation's surplus of natural gas.

In promoting the oil-import fee, Hance points out, rightly, that oil industries are nationalized by the Soviet Union, OPEC countries and Mexico to the point that there is no such thing as a free market of oil. That leaves American producers victims of market monopolies.

All of the nation (except for the miners of coal) can agree on the merits of natural gas as a source of industrial power. It is a low-cost solution to the problem of acid rain. It is also an alternative to gasoline-powered vehicles.

Natural gas is meeting 25 percent of America's energy needs, but is just scraping the surface of its potential for use in industrial plants. Nonsensical restrictions on industrial use have been lifted. It's a new day for natural gas.

America has the resources to control its energy destiny. They should be given a chance to work.

Waco Tribune-Herald

Free-trade pact should be passed

President Reagan has little chance during his final year of achieving anything worthwhile that requires enactment by a Congress controlled by his opponents — with one exception: the free-trade agreement that the administration has negotiated with Canada.

We believe U.S. legislators who are serious about competitiveness and prosperity will vote for this proposal.

The agreement would phase out all tariffs between the two countries over a period of 10 years, turning the entire area between the Rio Grande and the Arctic into the world's largest free-trade zone.

Ending tariffs would lower retail prices on a wide range of items, and opening new markets to producers would stimulate investment, profit and payrolls.

Congressional leaders have agreed to seek a vote on this pact by June. If it is approved, it deserves to be placed alongside Reagan's 1981 tax cuts as one of the great economic reforms of the 1980s.

In a world tantalized by breathtaking revolutions in trading opportunities but threatened by short-sighted nationalism and protectionism, it would be a model for the 21st century.

Just one more war as farewell

By ART BUCHWALD

"Do you think Reagan wants to get us into a war?" Duvalle asked me.

"Why don't you ask him?" I said. "What good will it do? He can't hear me above the noise of his helicopter. Tell me why he sent 3,200 troops to Honduras."

"It's a training exercise for the 82nd Airborne," I assured him.

"Why can't they train in the United States?"

"We don't have enough land in the U.S. for a first-class training exercise."

"You know what I think?" Duvalle said. "The President doesn't want to leave office without getting us into one last good war."

"That's ridiculous. He had a war in Grenada. He doesn't need another to prove he's macho."

"Grenada wasn't a top-of-the-line war. People have forgotten about it already. They don't even remember it was fought during Reagan's administration. If he gets our troops fighting in Nicaragua, people will remember that war for years to come," Duvalle declared.

I said, "The President doesn't want our boys to fight in Nicaragua. He wants the Contras to do the fighting for us. But Congress wouldn't give the freedom fighters anything to fight with, so the White House decided to go behind their backs and send our boys to Honduras to make sure the Contras get the support they need to fight the Sandinistas."

"How can Reagan give the Contras support if the U.S. Congress has forbidden it?" Duvalle asked.

"Well, has it ever occurred to you the U.S. Air Force will pull out and leave all their equipment behind in a field? Then as soon as they leave, the Contras will come in and grab all the stuff the 82nd forgot to take with them."

"But that sounds as if the President is going around Congress," Duvalle said.

"There is nothing wrong with that if the cause is just."

"Who said that?" Duvalle wanted to know.

"Ollie North and most everyone involved in the Contra scandal."

"Why is Elliot Abrams running the show in Central America?"

"Because that's his territory," I said.

"I thought he lied to Congress about what was going on in Nicaragua."

"He's a confessed liar. But that's no reason why he can't run a war."

"I still think someone should tell Ronald Reagan that history will remember him more fondly if he doesn't get American boys shot at," Duvalle said.

"Reagan would like to avoid it, but what would you do if you were President and Congress closed off the faucet?"

"Send troops to Honduras?" Duvalle asked.

"Of course. Presidents like to be tested. Besides, if Reagan gets us into a war with Nicaragua he won't have any problem pardoning North, Secord, Poindexter and Hakim."

Having a bear of a lunch

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

April Fool's arrived a few days early for me this year.

After a typical (read: busy) Tuesday morning, time for a well-deserved lunch break arrived. I decided to forego the noon meal, partially because my waist has been expanding mysteriously and partially because I wasn't hungry anyway.

Since I wasn't going to indulge in my favorite activity — eating — I decided to spend an hour engaged in my next-favorite practice: Life as a couch potato.

I had recently become the proud owner of a video cassette recorder and, for me, it was a match made in heaven. Watch all the TV you want, and tape everything else — what could be better?

So I left the Herald at noon in a relatively peaceful state of mind, figuring I'd go home, kick off the old shoes, recline, and finish watching that movie I didn't have time for last night.

Oh well, at least I got to go home.

Little did I know that fate was sitting in the wings, waiting to play another of its infamous tricks on me.

I got home, went inside, put down my newspaper, reached for the VCR control knob — and froze.

My toy was gone.

Now I pride myself in having a fairly deductive mind, but in those first few seconds, the only things that came to mind can't be reprinted in this column — not verbatim, anyway.

To say I was shocked would be an understatement; to say I was angry would be putting it mildly. And to say I wished an early, lingering, painful death of the perpetrators would be doing great injustice to the English language.

I was ticked.

A quick examination of my apartment revealed that nothing else was missing, nor was there any sign of forced entry. I must even admit to a brief, grudging respect for the professionalism the thieves displayed — low-life scum that they are.

After overcoming brief bouts of cursing, crying and various other emotional extremes — including the wholly ridiculous (but appealing) idea of personally tracking the criminals and hanging them with piano wire — I contacted the police.

Having sometimes covered the police beat for the paper, I was initially dubious of this line of action. Pick up almost any edition of the Herald, read Police Beat, and you will likely read of some poor soul whose VCR has been stolen.

Surely, I said to myself, those poor policemen have more important things to do than to find the 30th VCR stolen today.

Although there was little they could do to reassure me, I was impressed with the thoroughness displayed by the officers who investigated my loss. It was no mere cursory search of the premises for these guys.

They checked every lock and window; they dusted for fingerprints; they even checked the surrounding area. Although I don't recall their names, I thank them for their efforts.

Now, if only I had my VCR.

After the officers completed investigating, I was left alone with my thoughts. Although despondent about my loss, I still looked at the situation with a fairly magnanimous point of view.

Sure, I had lost my new toy, but it wasn't the end of the world, I told myself.

It was as if a band of crazed dopers had busted down the door and beat me to within an inch of my life, was it? It wasn't as if they had kidnapped my children or exposed me to radiation, right?

In other words, the world's still spinning, the sun's still shining and you still have your health, Reagan ol' sport, so quit moaning and get back to work.

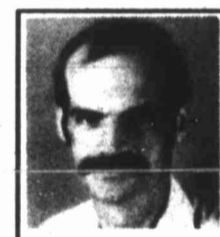

This was a fine and dandy thought until another random question struck home: What are you going to do when it's 3 a.m. and there's nothing to watch except a rerun of some volleyball tournament on ESPN?

I guess I'll miss my toy, after all.

As I trudged my lonely way back to the office that afternoon, I remembered a line from a movie that, ironically, I'd watched on the machine a few days before.

"Sometimes, you eat the bear," the character said, "and sometimes — the bear eats you."

Bon appetit.

Blasts alarm ordinance

To the editor:

It seems our Police Chief and our City Council have no desire to "protect and to serve" any more.

All one has to do is to read the "Police Beat" and the "Sheriff's Log" in the Big Spring Herald on any day throughout the year and count the number of break-ins and burglaries that occur.

I am a businessman. Now our City Council and Chief of Police want to penalize me and levy a fine on me for excessive (over three in a calendar month) false alarms, and it makes me wonder whose side they are on — certainly not the burglars and the criminal break-in artists.

Sure, I've had false alarms. Most of them due to faulty telephone line service between our store and the police department. Just give us a little bad weather, rain, wind, extremely hot weather and the phone line goes haywire, canceling out our expensive security system.

The ordinance further prohibits a business person from testing the equipment, without going through a bunch of bureaucratic red tape. Is this just or fair? How can we know if our equipment is working? Seems to me like someone in our police department is trying to get out of some work.

The city cops I've met in the past year or so are all terrific guys. When they alarm goes off — boy howdy, they are here in nothing flat, many times over the years in under three minutes. They are always courteous and polite.

Some are good friends and customers.

I have no complaint whatsoever with the best cops our city has ever had, only with the irrational proposals by our city authorities.

Under the ordinance, we won't even be able to purchase automatic dialing devices (the kind Radio Shack sells for a reasonable price) because they will also be prohibited.

This proposed ordinance will place a tremendous burden on the backs of honest business men and women, and those who would try to protect their homes and possessions from thieves and burglars.

I wholeheartedly disagree with our police chief when he says that they (the police) should not be expected to provide "private security." Why the heck not! Security is security, whether it is private or otherwise, and our police department and our city council is involved in the protection of its citizens.

The good chief cites the "high cost of city response" and other statistics, such as $31.59 to respond to an alarm. Well, things are, they tell me, "tough all over." What's our tax money for? Tell us all about it, Chief. Tell us how hard it is to make ends meet in this oil-crunch economy.

So he, and the city council, will now leave us naked and vulnerable to any and all thieves, burglars, and other criminals.

If anyone has been "lulled to complacency" it wasn't because of any false alarms. I was under the impression that our fine policemen are paid for "city response." Isn't that their job?

If this ordinance is passed, I may as well leave my front door wide open at night, because I cannot afford to pay a $150 fine on top of the high monthly rent on my security system.

Swaggart defying ban

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Television evangelist Jimmy Swaggart vows to return to the pulpit in defiance of church elders, saying preacher Oral Roberts has freed him of "demons with long fingernails" digging into his body.

Swaggart, accused of motel trysts with a prostitute, intends to return to the pulpit May 22, three months after stepping down, Bill Treeby, his lawyer and a board member of Jimmy Swaggart World Ministries, said Wednesday.

Swaggart said several weeks ago that he has undergone extensive prayer and counseling with Roberts, the Rev. Mike Evans of Euless, Texas, Swaggart's friend and a fellow TV evangelist, said in a television interview Wednesday.

"And he said to me that Oral Roberts called him up and told him that he saw demons with long fingernails digging their flesh into Jimmy Swaggart's body and that he cast those demon spirits out of Jimmy Swaggart," Evans said.

Senate dismisses charge

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gov. Evan Mecham is just days away from a Senate vote on whether to convict him of impeachment charges and remove him from office, but remains confident he will be exonerated.

"I've always been confident," Mecham, an auto dealer and perennial political outsider, told reporters Wednesday night, hours after the Senate dismissed the most serious of three impeachment charges against him.

The decision set the stage for a vote as early as Monday on two other charges against the first-term Republican, who also faces a May 17 recall election and an April 21 criminal trial.

Meese

Republicans join in criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican senator is calling for Attorney General Edwin Meese III to resign while another questions "whether the U.S. Department of Justice can function" with Meese in charge.

Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., planned to turn today's Senate Judiciary subcommittee hearing on antitrust matters into a discussion of why two top aides to Meese and four of their assistants rocked the Justice Department on Tuesday by handing in their resignations amid Meese's mounting legal difficulties.

Meese is the target of a broadening criminal investigation that shows no signs of ending anytime soon. Department sources have said the top officials quit because they felt Meese's legal problems were "poisoning" the Justice Department.

On Wednesday, Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., said flatly that Meese should resign.

"You finally reach a place where there is a cloud of suspicion, a sufficient cloud of suspicion, that I think you owe it to the president to remove yourself," he said.

Specter declined to call for Meese's resignation, but said the attorney general owes the American people "a full public explanation as to why his deputies have left."

"There's no doubt in my mind that it is very harmful to the Republican Party and could hurt our nominee in the fall," Specter said. "But it is even more harmful to the country. I'm concerned as an American."

"What is on my mind is the very important issue of whether the U.S. Department of Justice can function at this time with Attorney General Edwin Meese in charge," Specter said.

Meese, meanwhile, said "there's no reason to resign" and President Reagan reiterated his support for his old friend, saying "he's been a friend for over 20 years. I have every confidence in him."

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater was asked Wednesday why Meese remained on the job when White House chief of staff Howard Baker, Vice President George Bush and Mrs. Reagan wanted him out.

"I don't think any of that is true," Fitzwater replied. Asked if he was denying it, he said, "I don't know. I've never heard it said. I've never heard anybody say that."

The Justice Department witness facing questioning by Specter's committee was Assistant Attorney General Charles Rule, head of the antitrust division. He said Wednesday night that he isn't the person to answer questions about the resignations.

"I was not involved," he said. "Frankly, I'm not going to get up and say dark days have descended on the Justice Department."

Taiwan replaces plant

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) — A government official today confirmed that Taiwan is replacing a research nuclear reactor. The United States long has worried the reactor could be used in an atomic weapons development program.

Liu Kuang-chi, secretary-general of the government Atomic Energy Council, said the United States was assisting in converting the reactor to a new system that would provide "less possibility to produce plutonium," a key component in the production of atomic weapons.

The comments were made one week after The New York Times reported the Reagan administration pressured Taiwan to close the reactor and to stop work on a secret installation that could have processed the reactor's spent fuel to extract plutonium.

Liu had earlier confirmed that the research reactor at Lung Tan, 25 miles southwest of Taipei, was closed in January but denied the move was made because of U.S. pressure.

Fewer obstacles found

MOSCOW (AP) — Jews are celebrating Passover with an abundance of matzoh, the ancient symbol of freedom that is more available in Moscow this year.

Other changes since last Passover include a modest expansion of Jewish culture, limited availability of some kosher foods and visits by Soviet Jews to relatives abroad.

Many of the capital's 200,000 Jews have been flocking to the main synagogue to buy the thin, cracker-like unleavened bread eaten during the eight-day commemoration of the freeing of the ancient Hebrews from slavery in Egypt.

Several Jewishsmaking purchases in the dark lobby of the Moscow Choral Synagogue said matzoh is not as difficult to obtain as it has been in the past.

Party pulls out of count

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The rightist Arena party has withdrawn from vote counting in the March 20 election, claiming others are trying to deprive it of victory, officials said Wednesday.

Election officials announced soon after the election that Arena, an abbreviation of Republican Nationalist Alliance, had defeated the Christian Democratic Party of President Jose Napoleon Duarte.

It appeared at the time that Arena would get at least 31 of the 60 National Assembly seats under the system of proportional representation, with about 22 being assigned to Christian Democrats.

U.S. fighter plane crashes; two killed

FORST, West Germany (AP) — A U.S. Air Force jet fighter plunged into the center of this small town today, killing the pilot and a resident, setting homes on fire and forcing the evacuation of about 60 people, police said.

Officials also said they were concerned that a toxic gas could leak from the demolished F-16 fighter plane.

At least one resident was killed and one injured when the jet slammed into a residential area of Forst, destroying three houses and extensively damaging two others, officials said. Witnesses said the F-16 smashed into the roof of one home, tore of the porch off another and set others on fire.

Emergency crews were evacuating more than 60 people from about 40 houses in the area, according to local police. The crash occurred about 10 a.m. (3 a.m. EST) in the middle of Forst, a town of 6,000 residents 60 miles south of Frankfurt, police said. The pilot was the only person aboard the plane, the Air Force said.

Norbert Scharer, spokesman for police in nearby Karlsruhe, said initial reports indicated the jet was carrying a canister of hydrazine, which is used to refire jet engines in case of engine failure. "But there is no evidence yet to suggest that toxic gases were released after the crash," Scharer said.

A spokesman for the U.S. Air Force Base at Ramstein confirmed the plane had been carrying hydrazine. But the spokesman, Lt. Col. Edward Neunherz, added:

"That gas disperses easily in the event of an accident." Hydrazine forms toxic gases when it comes into contact with water.

"We have an F-16 down. But I don't know any more than that right now," Doug Moore, another spokesman at the base said earlier. He said the F-16 that was missing had taken off from Hahn Air Force Base in the Eifel Mountains.

Neunherz told The Associated Press in a telephone interview that the F-16 was carrying just one person. He said the plane had been on a training mission, but he had no further details.

The Karlsruhe regional governor, Bernhard Ditteney, said the body of one victim was pulled from the rubble and rescue workers were looking for other possible victims.

The banana comes to America

Enthusiasm for planting indoors remains untamed

Anyone living in a large eastern city around the middle of the 19th century who had the money to spend on luxuries could have treated himself to an exotic delicacy — a banana.

Coming all the way from the West Indies by way of New Orleans, each precious banana was carefully wrapped in tinfoil before being rushed to the Eastern Seaboard.

According to Country Home magazine, a banana cost a dollar back then. It was a substantial sum in those days and still is a lot for one piece of fruit. Although 15 billion bananas are now eaten in this country each year, before the 1870s they were almost unknown.

The introduction of bananas in America could not have happened without two important developments: the construction of railroads and advances in refrigeration. Before these, bananas were extremely rare. In 1804, some bananas made it to New York due to favorable weather and their having been very green when picked, but subsequent shipments were sporadic. The date of the first successful planned shipment seems to have been 1830, but the time for bananas in this country was not yet ripe.

By the last quarter of the 19th century, the potential for profit had been realized and the necessary technology was ready. Boats built to carry nothing but bananas kept their cargo cool and fresh by means of a layer of charcoal sandwiched between an inner hull made of wood and an outer hull made of steel. Refrigerator cars used to transport meat were adapted for produce and, as the railroads spread over the country, bananas followed.

Despite limited space, Midwest gardeners' enthusiasm for planting seeds indoors in February and March remains untamed. Once again, sturdy seedlings in snow-white plastic foam cups crowd south window-sills.

Luckily, cold-hardy seedlings such as onions, cabbage and snapdragons tolerate an early move to an outdoor cold frame, leaving more sill room for tomatoes, peppers and other sunbathers.

Eager but novice gardeners anxious to see the first tender shoots rise from the earth may start their gardens off on the wrong foot. How many have filled an old dishpan that had no drainage holes with soil straight from the garden and planted the seeds much too close together? Later they are disappointed when the seedlings topple over one by one and die.

The tiny plants are commonly afflicted with "damping off," a fungus disease that attacks seedlings grown in unpasteurized or waterlogged soil. According to Midwest Living magazine, there are several easy ways to beat the problem.

Jiffy-7 peat pellets with soil and container packaged as a small disk offer a unique seed-starting method. Just drop the Jiffy-7s in warm water and watch each one grow into a small net pot filled with peat. An indentation on top of each pot marks the spot to sow the seed. Peat pellets are available from seed catalogs and at garden supply stores.

Seeds can also be started in containers filled with NoDampOff, an organic starter. Almost every seed sprouts and disease isn't a problem.

When seedlings outgrow their tiny pots, move each one into a plastic foam cup filled with potting soil. Buy high-quality soil. Hyponex and Fisons Sunshine are two good ones or make some with this recipe: one part peat, one part perlite or sand, and one part pasteurized garden soil. To pasteurize, fill a shallow pan with moist soil and bake it at 200 degrees for an hour. Don't skimp and buy inexpensive potting soils; they turn crusty when dry and that's hard on struggling young plants.

Poke a hole in the bottom of each cup to ensure good drainage, and line the cups up on newspapers stacked about one inch high. The newspapers absorb draining water and release welcome humidity.

Girl's tale beginning to sound like fact

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that's a bit stranger than most. I am a female freshman at a small accredited liberal arts college. I get good grades and have many friends, but somehow that's not enough. I must feel a need to gain special attention from my friends — also their pity. So I concocted this story that I had been raped when a child.

Dear Abby

It worked beautifully — my friends were supportive and especially kind because of my "terrible" childhood ordeal. I also used that story to get the attention of men. When I told them, they comforted me, and sometimes it led to a closer relationship.

Last fall, my friends encouraged me to go into counseling to resolve my feelings of "guilt and low self-esteem." Well, I went, and told my counselor the same story I had told my friends. So now I am lying to him, too. I tell the story about my "rape" so well that I am beginning to believe it myself.

I don't know why I'm writing to you about this. I'm not sure I want to change my ways. I guess I just want to tell someone, and there was no one else I could tell this to.

FOREVER LYING
DEAR LYING: Obviously you really want to change your ways because you feel guilty.

You are not alone. Many people spin some wild yarns in order to gain attention — and garner pity. The danger lies in becoming such an accomplished liar, they confuse reality with fantasy. I suggest that you tell your counselor the truth. You need professional help to overcome this destructive habit.

DEAR ABBY: You said you have never heard from readers who said they were glad they quit music lessons. May I be the first?

When I was in elementary school in Brooklyn, my mother made me take saxophone and clarinet lessons. When I enrolled in New York University (1988), I was sent to a more advanced music teacher in Manhattan. I still hated it. After three years of lessons with him, he said, "Please stop wasting my time and your money — you will never be able to make a living playing either saxophone or clarinet." I believed him. I sold my sax and clarinet to help pay my tuition in medical school (George Washington University).

I wound up retiring in 1983 with the rank of professor of neurology, Mayo Medical School, Rochester, Minn.

I'm glad I quit. At best I would have made a mediocre musician — instead I was a pretty savvy neurologist.

NORMAN GOLDSTEIN, M.D. (RETIRED)

DEAR DR. GOLDSTEIN: I must have received at least 300 letters from readers who wanted to be "the first" to tell me they had quit taking music lessons and never regretted it.

Some related horror stories of how their mothers made them practice an extra half-hour as "punishment." Others said their piano teachers would whack them on the hands if they didn't hold their hands "right." Conclusion: There are many people who have quit, with no regrets.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the telephone bill of 1 cent, I'd like to bring you up to date. It would seem ridiculous, as you say, if the bill had been sent by a human being. Today these matters are handled by computers. Computers have many fine qualities, but common sense is not one of them.

A friend of ours, on returning from vacation, received a bill for $0.00. When he ignored it, he received a letter threatening to cut off his utilities if the bill was not paid immediately. He sent a check for $0.00. The computer was satisfied.

BERTHA PIERCEY, COOLIDGE, ARIZ.

Rebekah Lodge installs officers

Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284 met March 22, with Geertje Karwedsky, noble grand, presiding. Emily Ray, deputy, assisted by Deputy Marshall Frances Loftis, installed the remaining officers. Mary Cole was installed as left support to the noble grand, and Lucille Brown was installed as right support to the vice grand.

Couple to celebrate anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. O.W. Scudday, Forsan, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday at a reception, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Forsan Baptist Church Fellowship Hall. The couple invites all their friends and relatives to attend this special event. "Your friendship is a treasured gift and we respectfully request no other," said the couple.

Lioness Club elects new officers

The Howard County Lioness Club elected its 1988-1989 officers at its monthly meeting March 21 at the Wesley Methodist Church.

Officers elected are as follows: Madeline Boadle — president; Kay Clark — first vice president; Betty Schoenfeld — second vice president; Leta Kirby — treasurer; Connie Ramirez — secretary; Marguerite Thompson — lion tamer;

Pat Dupree — tail twister; Rose VanHassell — second year director; and Betty Franklin — second year director.

Minerva Lewis, from Country Flowers, demonstrated how to make a fresh floral arrangement using flowers found at home.

Club members sold a record number of roses. Mary Leatham, who sold the most, received a gift certificate for dinner for two.

Money from the rose sale will benefit the scholarship fund, The Texas Lions Camp for handicapped children, and other charitable causes.

Members volunteered to help with the Christmas in April program, by helping with the work or providing food for the workers.

Oscar surprises likely

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the 60th Academy Awards are presented on April 11, the evening is likely to produce at least one magical moment that will last in the memories of those who watch Hollywood's annual salute to itself.

That has happened throughout Oscar's fabled history: one unscripted, unexpected and spontaneous moment that electrified the audience. Rarely have the awards failed to produce such an event.

Everyone has his or her own favorite, and here are just a few:

● Sacheen Littlefeather. In 1973, there was speculation that Marlon Brando, nominated as best actor for "The Godfather," might pull a surprise. He did.

When Roger Moore announced that Brando had won, a woman in a Native American costume came onstage and brushed away Roger Moore as he tried to hand her the Oscar statuette. She said her name was Sacheen Littlefeather, that she was Apache and president of the National Native American Affirmative Image Committee.

"Marlon Brando ... very regrettably cannot accept this very generous award. And the reasons for this being are the treatment of American Indians today by the film industry." The audience was stunned as she left the stage.

● The Naked Stranger. In 1974, David Niven's introduction of Elizabeth Taylor was suddenly interrupted by screams and laughter from the audience. Niven turned around just as a naked man flashing a peace sign raced past him. Striking was the year's fad on college campuses and elsewhere.

Henry Mancini had the orchestra play "Sunny Side Up," and the imperturbable Niven commented: "Just think, the only laugh that man will probably ever get is for stripping and showing off his Sashim Littlefeather holds up a speech sent by Marlon Brando as she explains why Brando would not accept his Oscar at the Academy Awards ceremony in Hollywood in 1973. She said that Brando, who was chosen as best actor for his role in "The Godfather," was protesting how Hollywood had portrayed native Americans.

shortcomings." Miss Taylor came on stage and said, "That's a pretty tough act to follow."

● The Tramp's Farewell. In 1972, the Academy voted Charlie Chaplin a special award. The event was packed with drama because it was Chaplin's first return to Hollywood since his self-exile 20 years before. The furor over his politics was forgotten. More important was the "incalculable effect he has had in making motion pictures the art form of the century."

When Chaplin appeared onstage at the end of the ceremonies, the ovation was thunderous. Frail and overwhelmed, he did a little flipping trick with the black derby that was his trademark.

● Last of the Duke. In 1979, John Wayne was scheduled to appear at the awards despite his desperate fight with lung cancer. A trailer was parked outside the Los Angeles Music Center so he could rest before his entrance.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, Mr. John Wayne," announced Johnny Carson. When the cheers finally subsided, the Duke cracked, "That's just about the only medicine a fella'd ever need." Within three months he was dead.

Ex-Chaps make marks

MIDLAND (AP) — Three former Midland College Chaparral teammates, who played in the junior college version of the Final Four, will now compete in the real thing.

Oklahoma's backcourt duo, Ricky Grace and Mookie Blaylock, and Kansas guard Lincoln Minor all transferred from Midland College, one of the nation's top JUCO programs.

The program that also produced the Atlanta Hawks' Spud Webb is a happy hunting ground for Division I scouts.

Midland Coach Reggie Franklin, who coached Grace, Blaylock and Minor as an assistant to former head coach Jerry Stone, said he urges his players to transfer to schools where they can make an immediate contribution.

"When you come from a junior college, you don't have time to sit on the bench. You need to go right in and start," said Franklin.

"They (Blaylock and Grace) just got on a great team with Oklahoma and have been able to contribute more than has Lincoln," who is often the first player off the Kansas bench.

In his second year playing for Sooners Coach Billy Tubbs, Grace is averaging 14.8 points per game and pulling down 3.6 rebounds.

The 6-foot-2 guard, who attended Dallas' Wilmer-Hutchins High School, sees more than 34 minutes of playing time per game and has 265 assists for the season.

Grace dished off a school-record 363 assists in his final year at Midland, breaking Webb's record.

Blaylock averages 16.7 points and 4.1 rebounds and also plays more than 34 minutes a game.

This season the 6-foot-1 Blaylock set an OU record with 141 steals, equalling his record-setting mark at Midland. He is just two shy of the NCAA season steals record, and his 13 steals against Centenary set an NCAA for most in a game.

Franklin said he knew Blaylock would be a top collegian the first time he saw him play at Garland High School.

"I guess you could say he's been a thief all his life," he said. "Now he's just getting more publicity for it."

Minor, averaging 4.9 points and 1.5 rebounds, has started 12 games for the Jayhawks. The 6-foot-3 product of Houston's Westfield High School averages 15.6 minutes of playing time.

Grace played on the 1984-85 Chaparral squad that finished fourth in the National Junior College Athletic Association tournament.

Minor and Blaylock led last season's team, which ended its 32-4 season with a 69-68 loss to Southern Idaho in the NJCAA final.

In 1985-86, the year the three played together, the Chaps had 33 victories without a loss until falling to eventual NJCAA champion San Jacinto College in the tournament's first round.

Area hoopsters garner more postseason honors

By SARAH LUMAN

Katrina Thompson and Brian Mayfield just keep stacking up the basketball honors. Both have been named to the first team All-South Plains Basketball 4A squads by The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Lamesa's Cedric Mason and Dwight Mason joined Mayfield on the honor squad, which included Gym Bice of Andrews and Scott Moore along with Terry Garza of Snyder and Dustin Miller. Snyder's coach Larry Scott earned coach of the year honors, while the A-J named Cedric Mason the player of the year.

Canyon's Tammy Williams walked off with player of the year honors from the A-J while Levelland's coach Dean Weese was named coach of the year. Joining Williams on the honors roster were teammate Missy Kraai and Levellanders Carol Bailey, Josephine Longoria and Rachel Hesse. Pampa's Yolanda Brown completes the roll.

The Abilene Reporter-News named Mayfield to its All-Area Basketball Team, which includes Cody Crouch, Terry Garza, Jeff Wood, Lynn Hays and Chris Piel, along with Mark Young, Ernest Stewart, Carter Edmondson, Matt Motley, Jeff Burton and John Morrow.

The girls' team features Thompson at guard on the first team with Yolanda Phillips, Player of the Year from Stephenville; Marian Shelton, Kamie Wyndham, Robbin Westmoreland, Tracy Corn, Melissa Boyland, Coahoma's Shonna Drewrey, Joy McKeever, Paige Clawson, the one-time Big Spring standout now from Novice, Mira Richburg, and Kayla Cooley.

Named to the honorable mention squad by the Reporter-News was Tami Wise, Big Spring's 6-0 junior post player.

Off the roundball court onto another shiny hardwood floor: Joycee Davis of Big Spring teamed with Nancy Kuznieski of Austin in the doubles portion of the Texas Women's Bowling Association state tournament in San Antonio's Astro Bowl Saturday.

The pair took the lead in Open Class Doubles behind Davis' series of 546 and a 266-657 effort from Kuznieski.

Davis is the defending state champion in singles bowling. She carded a 208-254-228 set for a 690 series, giving her the lead in the Open Class and missing the tourney record by just five pins. San Antonio bowler Myrt De Filey set the 695 mark in 1971.

Davis' teammate Kuznieski posted the tournament's top game with a 288.

From Colorado City comes word of the United Girls' Softball Association Second Annual Men's Slow-Pitch Tournament April 29-May 1 at Hertenberger Field.

Blue dot balls only are allowed in the event which demands a $100-per-team entry fee and promises team trophies for first through fourth places, along with individual trophies for the top three teams. Ten all-tourney players, a tournament most valuable player will be chosen, and a sportsmanship trophy also awarded.

American Softball Association rules will be strictly observed and the entry deadline is April 27. Teams are limited to 15 players, same roster throughout the tournament. For further information call Darlene Hudgins in Colorado City at 728-5236.

The latest Hunter Safety Class graduates are David Parker, Glynn Mouton, Donnie Jones, Andrew Warner, Casey Jones, Mike Gonzales, Gary Morrison, Jimmy Shanks, John Guitar, Miguel Gonzales, Peter Dehlinger, Davy Jones, Joshua Furnell and Peter Warner, according to instructor Boyce Hale.

Hunter safety courses are now required by the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife. To obtain information about the next scheduled class contact Hale at 267-6957.

Coahoma Bullrider Wacey Cathey is leading the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association's unofficial world standings this week with $17,985 in total winnings. Kermit bullrider Jim Sharp is close behind with $17,966.

Big Spring's Softball Association will meet at the Highland Lanes' large meeting room at 8 p.m. Monday. All men and women interested in forming a softball team in men's or ladies' industrial League competition or church league.

Entry fees will be discussed and the Triple Crown Softball Tournament will be discussed also, according to president Bill Bailey. For further information call him after 6 p.m. at 267-3709.

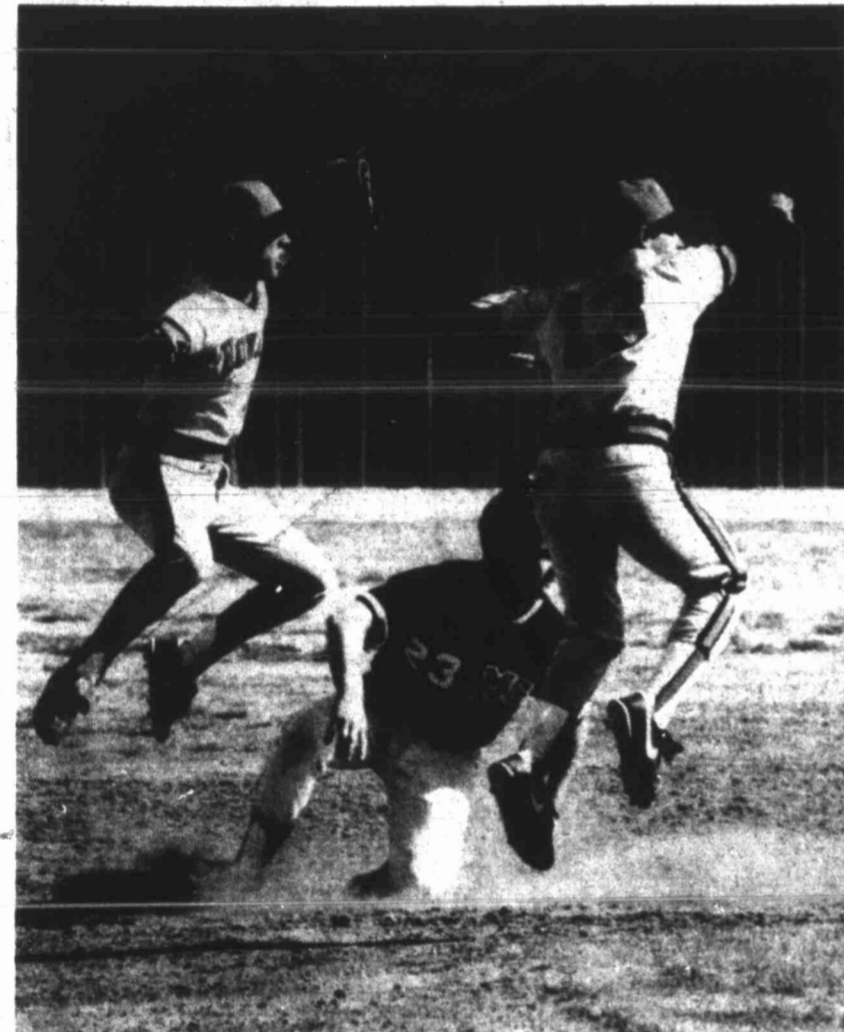

The Second Annual Blocker Oil 3-2 Men's Slowpitch Softball Tournament will be Friday and Saturday at the Stanton softball field.

Entry fee is $85 per team and entry deadline is this afternoon. The first five teams will receive team trophies and the top two teams will also receive individual trophies. There will also be awards for all-tournament and sportsmanship. The MVP and golden glove winner will receive jackets.

For more information call Rocky Viera at 267-7773 or Kendall Blocker at 756-2053, after 6 p.m. or at 756-2808.

The Colorado City Wolves will have some gridders playing on the collegiate level next season.

Recently three of the Wolves' offensive linemen signed agreements with colleges. Center Derrick Taylor will play at Howard Payne University while guard Cory Flanagan and All-State tackle Derek Ramsey will play for Ranger Junior College.

Attention getter

All eyes seem to be on action somewhere else in this photo of the Howard College-McLennan Community series last week. Howard shortstop Joey Camarillo (13) and second baseman Richard Baker look towards first base as does MCC runner Mark Bland (23).

Camarillo fielded a grounder and Baker was covering second to force out Bland. But Baker ended up on the runner's back. Howard plays Hill Junior College today in Hillsboro at 2.

Hazzard axed at Westwood

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sometime soon, UCLA will hire its sixth head basketball coach since the legendary John Wooden retired 13 years ago after guiding the Bruins to their 10th NCAA championship in 12 years.

Wait Hazzard, who helped UCLA win its first NCAA title 24 years ago, was fired Wednesday, less than three weeks after completing his fourth season as the Bruins' head coach.

Hazzard, who turns 46 next month, guided the Bruins to a 16-14 record this season, well below expectations for a team coming off a Pacific-10 Conference championship in 1986-87.

The Bruins finished in a tie for second in the Pac-10, but were upset by Washington State 73-71 in a first-round game of the conference tournament on March 11.

Hazzard, the Pac-10 Coach of the Year, was named to the Westwood page 2-B.

UConn NIT champion

NEW YORK (AP) — Connecticut's prospects were bleak early in the second half of the National Invitation Tournament final against Ohio State, but were no worse than they were in January and February.

The Huskies, who had two four-game losing streaks against Big East foes and ultimately finished last in the conference, trailed 36-30 with 15:21 left and leading scorer Cliff Robinson on the bench with four fouls. But Connecticut scored 29 of the next 41 points and went on to defeat Ohio State 72-67 Wednesday night for the NIT title.

"I was scared to death," Connecticut Coach Jim Calhoun said of the 6-foot-11 Robinson's departure. "Cliff has been our leader this season. Even when he's not scoring, he's a factor with rebounding and blocking shots. I didn't know whether to go as big as possible or as quick as possible. We went quick, with three forwards."

"We always look inside to Cliff, but when he left we didn't put our heads down," said Phil Gamble, who led the Huskies with 25 points. "We just kept executing."

Robinson, who scored 29 points in Connecticut's semifinal victory over Boston College, fouled out with 2:51 left and finished with five points.

"I was glad to see Robinson leave, but our lead didn't last long after he left," Ohio State Coach Gary Williams said. "They tied it so quickly and then just kept going from there."

Gamble, the tournament's Most Valuable Player, hit five 3-pointers and combined with Tate George to score eight points each during the 29-12 surge that gave Connecticut a 59-48 lead with 4:55 left.

"We told Phil last summer that we made a mistake when we ignored the 3-point line," Calhoun said. "He struggled at first with his shooting, but he came back to make the starting lineup and wound up averaging 15 points for us."

"Coach told me to practice from the NBA distance and that would make it easier to shoot from the college distance," Gamble said. "In the preseason games, I couldn't get a shot to fall, but I kept trying and finally became a starter."

The Huskies, 20-14, had never before made the semifinals in six previous NIT trips. Ohio State, 20-13, won the NIT title in 1986, and the Buckeyes were making their third trip to the Final Four in four appearances.

Calhoun said Connecticut, which was 14-1 this season against opponents outside the Big East, did not play like a last-place team.

"The league was so close from top to bottom, there was a lot of parity," Calhoun said. "The Big East prepared us to play in the NIT."

"We lost a lot of games in the Big East and had reasons to quit. But we hung in there and believed in ourselves. We were afraid the season was over after the Big East tournament, but we got the NIT in-itation and kept working." "This puts us on the map," Gamble said. "We lost to some good teams. People said we didn't belong in the tournament, but we didn't listen and we proved we belong."

Three-pointers by Tony White and James Bradley in the final minute got Ohio State as close as 68-65 with 37 seconds left. But Steve Pikiell, whose 3-pointer with 7:38 left put Connecticut ahead to stay, and Murray Williams hit two free throws each.

Jay Burson led Ohio State with 16 points and White and Curtis Wilson had 13 each. George scored 14 points and Williams 13 for Connecticut.

Westwood

 Year last season, had received a two-year extension on his contract last summer, meaning he was under contract through the 1989-90 season.
 The school said Athletic Director Peter Dalis is screening candidates for a successor to Hazzard and "hopes to name a replacement as soon as possible."
 Among names being mentioned, according to a source close to the school who asked not to be identified, are former UCLA Coach Larry Brown, now the head coach at Kansas, and Arizona Coach Lute Olson.
 Both Kansas and Arizona are among the Final Four who will compete in Kansas City this weekend — Kansas faces Duke and Arizona meets Oklahoma in Saturday's NCAA semifinals, with the winners squaring off Monday night for the championship.
 Another possible candidate is Jim Harrick, head coach at Pepperdine, whose teams have gone 167-97 in nine seasons. He spent the two previous seasons as an assistant coach at UCLA under Gary Cunningham.
 Reached in Kansas City on Wednesday night, Harrick, 49, said the firing of Hazzard was a complete surprise to him.
 Gene Bartow succeeded Wooden, but lasted only two years as UCLA's head coach. Bartow was followed by Cunningham and Brown, each of whom also lasted two years, and Larry Farmer, who lasted three years. Hazzard succeeded Farmer before the 1984-85 season.
 Dalis said that assistant coach Kris Jason will have responsibility for managing the day-to-day operation of the UCLA program until a new staff is in place.

 A UCLA spokesman said assistant coaches Jack Hirsch, Ernie Carr and Sidney Wicks have also been relieved of their duties.
 Hazzard, reached by telephone, told The Associated Press, "I have nothing to say at this point. I will issue a statement."
 UCLA was 21-12 in 1984-85, Hazzard's first season; 15-14 the following year and 25-7 in 1986-87 for a total of 77-47.
 Hazzard played under Wooden for three seasons at UCLA starting with the 1961-62 campaign. As a senior, he led the Bruins to a 30-0 record and their first NCAA championship. His career scoring average in 87 games for the Bruins was 16.1 points.

Sweetwater nips JV Steers, 6-5

The Big Spring Steers junior varsity dropped a 6-5 decision to the Sweetwater Mustangs Tuesday afternoon at Steer Field.
 Freshman Shannon Coots was the losing pitcher. He pitched all seven innings.

Third baseman Robert Perez led the Big Spring hitting with a four-for-four performance, including two doubles. Junior left fielder Mike White, the team's leading hitter, got two hits.
 The junior varsity Steers fall to 7-9 for the season.

Church softball league to meet

The Big Spring Church Softball League will meet Tuesday, April 5 at 7 p.m. at McCutcheon Oil located at 100 Gollard.
 All area churches interested in forming a team need to attend. Total season fee per team is $300. League play starts May 2.
 For more information call 267-1040 or 263-8824.

Howard rodeo begins tonight

The Howard College-Frank Phillips Rodeo will begin tonight and conclude Sunday at the Big Spring Rodeo Bowl.
 Nightly performances Thursday, Friday and Saturday begin at 7:30. Sunday action starts at 1 p.m.
 Admission is $3 per person, with children under six-years old getting in free.

Tony D skips minicamp

IRVING (AP) — Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett refused to take part in team drills during the last day of minicamp, telling teammate Darryl Clack to take his place because he didn't expect to be with the team much longer.
 "I just didn't feel like it," Dorsett said after the three-day minicamp ended Wednesday. "I felt mentally sick. I just had a slight mental problem."
 Dorsett worked in position drill with the running backs before practice and did the 880-yard run, but when he was scheduled to practice in the second-team backfield when the Cowboys were running plays, he told Clack to take his place.
 "I told Clack, 'Go get some work.' I don't plan on being here, so why should I go in?" Dorsett said. "I didn't take a turn. Mentally, I didn't feel like doing it. I'm not trying to make anybody mad. But I don't see any sense in doing it."

Tyson-Spinks

bout scheduled

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Tyson says, "There's nobody on this planet who can beat me."
 So far, nobody has. Neither has anyone beaten Michael Spinks.
 "We're the heavyweight champion of the world and we're going to prove it," Butch Lewis, who manages Spinks, said during a news conference Wednesday to formally announce the June 27 bout for Tyson's title at Atlantic City, N.J.
 Tyson, who will turn 22 three days after the fight, is unbeaten in 34 bouts and holds the World Boxing Association, World Boxing Council and International Boxing Federation crowns.
 Spinks, 31, is a winner of 31 fights, but he was stripped of the IBF crown because he dropped out of HBO's heavyweight unification series to fight Gerry Cooney.

Read what consumers says...

... newspapers are best for local and election news, service and advertising. Major criticism of ads is that they're too illicit ... no basic integrity, especially on TV and sometimes on radio. Newspapers aren't as bad as either of the others...
Tom Taylor
 Crosbyton, Texas

... ads in newspapers are fair. TV ads tend to be silly...
Charlotte Yodow
 Burnet, Texas

... like ads best that are part of the newspaper. We often throw away mailed circulars ... dislike junk mail ... hate inserts in magazines; can't turn the pages for them...
Charles and Ethel Smith
 Lindale, Texas

... like advertising only in newspapers ... too many circulars at my door and too much advertising on TV ... advertising in circulars and on TV are forced on me...
G.N. Bogel
 Houston, Texas

... newspaper ads are more in-depth ... on radio, if you aren't listening at the right time, then that's too bad. TV ads are inane, unrealistic and pornographic. Radio advertising is fleeting. Newspaper ads can be saved, used and clipped at any time...
M. Simmons
 Odessa, Texas

... no complaints about advertising in newspapers. But I don't like those commercials being used over and over by TV and radio...
Ms. A.R. Anderson
 San Juan, Texas

... newspapers are reliable. I dislike telephone surveys. I take the Karnes City Citation, the Victoria Advocate and the Beeville Bee-Picayune...
Helen Blackwell
 Beeville, Texas

... prefer newspaper ads saying, "it costs less" instead of saying "I'm saving money ... spending money isn't saving. Banks, Savings and Loans and Credit Unions are for saving money. Not retail stores..."
Jess Richardson
 Ore City, Texas

... in newspapers, you can read what you want. On TV, advertising makes you sick - one minute of program and then five minutes of advertising...
Mrs. Alfred Lee
 New Braunfels, Texas

... some newspapers don't carry enough coupons. Too many newspapers are folksy, and deal only with local bickering and politics. As for TV and radio, their commercials are so tasteless they reek with stupidity...
Jan Schurs
 Alvin, Texas

... like ads best that are printed in the paper. ... Newspapers provide the most information about elections! ... subscribe to three Valley papers. TV commercials are obnoxious, geared to lower mentality ... insults our intelligence...
Andrew M. Gibson, III
 Alamo, Texas

... prefer retail ads in the newspaper so that you can show it to the store ... Clerks in the stores are not aware of advertised merchandise, and you have to 'prove' you saw it. So written evidence is essential...
Juanita Gregory
 Ft. Worth, Texas

... local information being reported on TV goes by too fast ... in the newspaper, I have time to study it. I also resent TV ads for intimate products. Can't they print them in papers and magazines, instead of blaring forth on TV? ...
Mrs. J.C. Hill
 Haskell, Texas

... prefer newspapers for all news and advertising. All the extra trash received in the mail must be thrown away...
Mrs. Betty Goen
 Floydada, Texas

... newspapers best for advertising, news, elections and services for the area. I subscribe to four newspapers. On the other hand, some ads can be too jumbled; trying to put too much into one advertisement...
Mrs. Marilyn Hodge
 Ft. Worth, Texas

... I read all of the ads in the newspapers when I want to compare prices. Too much of it on TV. I just mute it. I like newspaper ads, whether they're printed or inserted...
Frances Lee
 Grandview, Texas

... favor newspapers generally because their ads have information that I can refer back to at my leisure. I don't like telephone salesmen of any kind, or ads coming in the mail asking you to request information in writing ... then to have a salesman call or come by trying to sell something. Such information should be given in writing. I don't buy when this situation occurs...
James Abernathy
 Perryton, Texas

... some newspaper ads quote misleading claims of 24 to 50 % Off. Off of what?? (Also questions) scantily clothed females in health clubs ads ...
Noble Shaw
 Nacogdoches, Texas

... advertising has become sophomoric and unsophisticated ...
D.M. Richman, Sr.
 Nacogdoches, Texas

... certain ads belong in newspapers and magazines. If TV is going to continue those 'feminine' ads, why don't they just go ahead and do 'male' advertising, too? Or take the female ads off. Women know these products, and it should be left as a personal matter. But not on TV! ...
S. Pruitt
 Canyon, Texas

... live 8 miles out of Friona. It really irritates me when I see bargains in the newspaper ads that will save me some money. And I use gas going into town only to find these so-called 'bargains' won't be in until Thursday, or Saturday or whenever...
Susie Howard
 Friona, Texas

... prefer retailers carrying their ads in the newspaper. Too much on TV. Way too much over and over and over...
Betty Sue Worthan
 Hereford, Texas

... like ads in the newspaper or as sections in the newspaper. As for the ads that come to me as circulars in the mail, these go in the trash...
Thelma Ludlum
 Plainview, Texas

... favor newspaper in every category. But some ads are not very detailed. I like to know 'everything' about something before I leave the house to buy it...
Lee Ann Plane
 Copperas Cove, Texas

... we prefer obtaining our news and advertising information from the newspaper. Advertising on TV and Radio is forced on me. I don't have to read it in newspapers if I don't want to...
Franklin Williamson
 Kerrville, Texas

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

FRIDAY,
APRIL 1, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Your close relationships will bring you great joy and some heartache. On balance, you come out way ahead. An unusual offer of help will enable you to launch a partnership or overcome a cash flow problem. View your work as a creative struggle. As long as you work hard and use all of your talents, you will do just fine. A legacy or windfall gives you new freedom. Guard your health and see that your loved ones do the same.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): An imaginative, open-minded approach will help you solve even the toughest problems. Assistance you counted on may not be available. Review your options and be prepared for anything. Romance deepens.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The focus today is on money. The boss has questions that should not go unanswered. You know that you love your partner more than ever despite some recent difficulties. Travel for fun.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Business affairs could go into a tailspin. Influential people may not be as cooperative as you would like. Stay cool. Experts give good advice. A close relationship intensifies. Speak from the heart.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Not a good day for making major financial decisions. Get bills in order and write checks. Tackle projects requiring full concentration. Call friends or write letters. Emphasize the positive!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Caution is the watchword today. Distant affairs continue to be financially rewarding. Plan to get together with old friends in the near future. Influential people will lend support and good advice. Show appreciation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Relatives could prove unpredictable now, but friends will lend a helping hand. Make your summer vacation plans. Dealings with the authorities should be handled without delay. Do not postpone the inevitable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your confidence increases as the day progresses. A child wants to show appreciation but may not know how. Try to help this loved one come to grips with basic issues. Offer encouragement.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A strong attraction to someone who is unavailable could have you living in a fantasy world. Branch out and pursue new interests. A creative venture could provide a satisfying release for nervous energy.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You are lucky in many areas. Your confidence provides an incentive to take action. Someone you meet by chance could be devious; stay alert. Have a third party look over any documents you are asked to sign.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE:

actress Debbie Reynolds, slugger Rusty Staub, singer Jane Powell, pianist Eddy Duchin, coach Bo Schembechler.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your new self-confidence strengthens an already satisfying relationship. Keep travel plans to yourself. Some secrecy will be necessary to pull off a deal that could line your pockets with gold. Follow your instincts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Develop a better accounting system. You need to pay bills promptly to protect your credit rating. Be direct when making your point, but use just enough humor to keep from being too blunt.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): If you have been at low ebb, the tide is about to turn. The weekend could find you jumping with joy. Finish one project before starting another. Penalties apply if you are
