Sparks ignite Scenic Mountain fire

By BILL FOSTER Staff Writer

Sparks from a welding torch ignited a fire Thursday that destroyed an estimated 150 acres of brush and grass land and a one-million-gallon city water storage tank atop Scenic Mountain, Fire Chief Carl Dorton said this morning.

The blaze erupted about noon Wednesday when wind-blown sparks from a welder, being used by a construction crew to build a new water tank, drifted onto nearby grass, Dorton said.

"The workmen were welding on the south side of the mountain and a wind gust carried sparks to dry grass," the fire chief said.

The fire started north of the Caphart housing addition and swept across the north/northeast face of the mountain.

Two people were reportedly injured in connection with the fire.

Tom Linares, Hillcrest Christian and Development School principal, reportedly suffered a broken wrist and hip after falling from a roof at the school.

"He was trying to get onto the roof to help hose it down with water when he lost his footing and fell," said Sherri Samuels, a secretary at the school.

Linares was listed in stable condition at Scenic Mountain Medical Center this morning.

The church school — located at 2000 W. FM 700 directly north of the fire scene — was evacuated when wind-blown embers threatened to ignite the structure's wood shingle roof, Dorton said.

Big Spring firefighter Lane Clawson was overcome by smoke and exhaustion while battling the blaze. However, Clawson recovered after a brief rest and rejoined firefighting efforts, Dorton said.

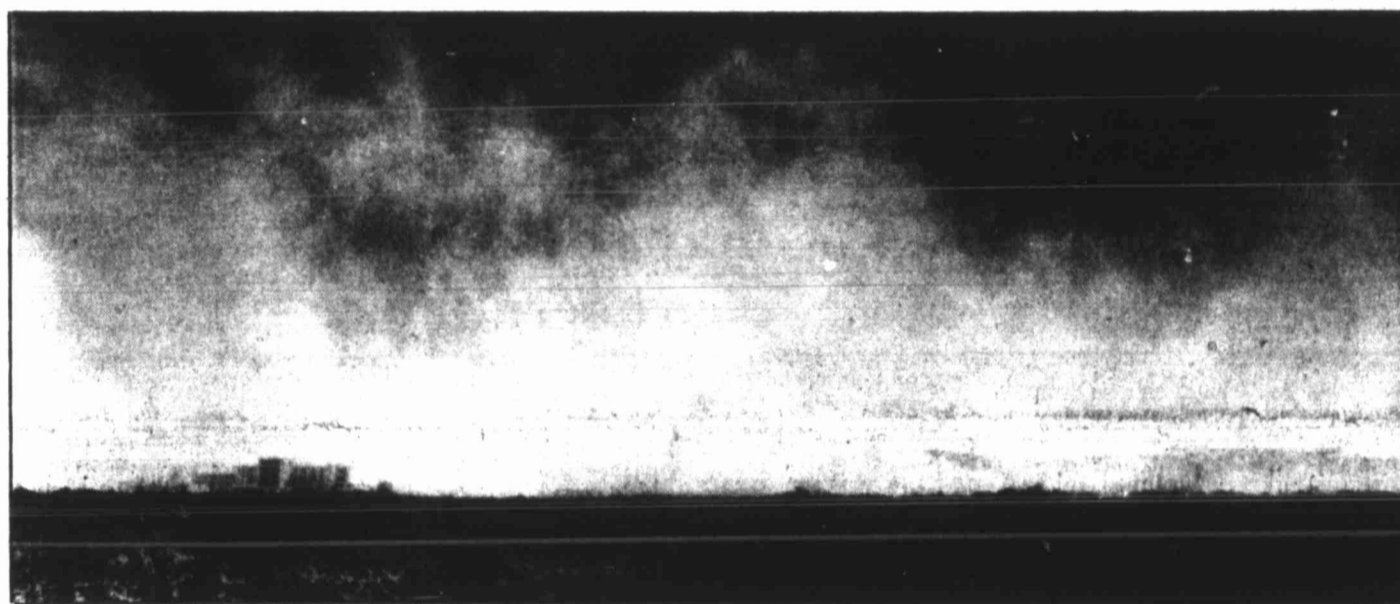

Strong wind gusts and rugged terrain hampered firefighters ability to control the fire, Dorton said. The fire was finally brought under control about 3 p.m. Wednesday, he said.

Eight fire trucks and an undetermined number of firefighters from Big Spring and area volunteer departments responded.

Officials representing Phoenix Fabrications, the firm working on the water tank, were scheduled to arrive in Big Spring today to assess damage to the tank atop the mountain. Public Works Director Tom Decell said.

A cloud of smoke surrounds an unidentified firefighter as he perches on the rung of a ladder while battling a range fire atop Scenic Mountain Thursday. Grassland blackened by the fire and topped by a haze of smoke can be seen in the bottom photo, looking north toward Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

A wooden roof covering the tank sustained extensive fire damage, Decell said.

"The tank is being drained so an assessment of damage can be made," he said.

Water service shortages or disruptions are not expected, Decell said.

"The tank was one of two one-million-gallon capacity tanks located on the mountain. I don't expect water service to Big Spring customers to suffer because of damage to the tank," Decell said.

Twenty-six Big Spring police officers worked in alternating shifts to block 16th Street from Park Drive to FM 700 and FM 700 from the 11th Place Extension to Marcy Avenue during the height of the blaze and intense smoke, according to Dorton.

There were reports of the smoke creating hazardous driving conditions.

Damage to cedar trees, grass and other foliage atop the mountain does not appear to be extensive, according to Howard County Soil and Water Conservation District technical assistant Chesley Wilson.

"It appears that several cedar trees are damaged and may have been killed. The grass and other plants should grow back with the spring rains," he said.

Officials arrest fourth Kimble slaying suspect

Three are arraigned

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

A former Coahoma High School student is in custody at an undisclosed site in Florida after his arrest Thursday in connection with the death of Big Spring radio personality C. Vance Kimble.

Three others arrested earlier were arraigned on capital murder charges before Justice of the Peace William Shankles Thursday afternoon, he said.

Dennis Noggler, 17, Sand Springs, was arrested by Florida officials late Thursday on a capital murder complaint filed earlier by Howard County officials, according to Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard. He would not disclose where Noggler is being held.

"We'd really like to get him on the road back to here before we reveal (where Noggler is being held)," Standard said this morning.

Standard said he does not anticipate a delay in Noggler's extradition, although he is awaiting further communication with Florida juvenile officials before sending deputies to return him to Howard County.

The sheriff added that he "couldn't expand further on any particulars in the case."

Noggler was a sophomore at Coahoma High School when he withdrew earlier this school year, according to Dennis Ward, principal at the high school.

The arrest brings to four the number of persons apprehended in connection with the murder of Kimble, who was found shot to death in his south Highway 87 home Friday morning.

Pamela Newton, 21, Patrick Newton, 17, and Michael Hodnett, 23, were arraigned at 3:15 p.m. and bond of $100,000 per person was set, Shankles said today.

They are in custody at the Howard County jail.

Officials seeking clues in death of Hispanic man

By BILL FOSTER Staff Writer

Another suspicious death was being investigated by local law officers this morning.

The body of an unidentified Hispanic male was discovered in a dump pit near First and Meadows streets in west Big Spring about 4:40 p.m. Wednesday, according to Justice of the Peace China Long.

Long tentatively ruled the death a homicide, pending the results of an autopsy being performed by Howard County Medical Examiner Dr. Robert Rember. Autopsy results are expected sometime today, Long said.

There are "indications of violence" in connection with the death, Long said this morning.

A young boy playing in the area discovered the body beneath a mattress. Boards and an old washing machine were stacked on top of the mattress, Long said.

"There was an attempt to hide the body," she said. The body appeared to have been at the location for as long as one week, Long said.

The death is the third suspicious death in Big Spring within the past month.

Fred Morales Jr., a 39-year-old Big Spring resident, was found on the 300 block of Trades Street in late March, the victim of a single gunshot wound to the chest, according to published reports.

Although authorities speculate that Morales' death may have been a homicide, no determination has yet been made.

A .410-gauge shotgun that was used in the Morales' death was found buried about 11 miles north of the city, according to Big Spring Police Lt. Juan Palacios.

Although there was speculation of a possible suicide, the distance between the victim and the weapon served to increase suspicion of homicide in the case, Palacios said.

Big Spring police are still investigating the case.

Four people also have been arrested in connection with the March 31 death of a long-time Big Spring radio personality.

C. Vance Kimble, 61, was found dead in his south Highway 87 home, the victim of a gunshot wound to the upper chest, Justice of the Peace Bill Shankles ruled earlier.

Beirut refuses to allow landing

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The pilot of a hijacked Kuwaiti jumbo jet with 55 people on board pleaded at gunpoint with the Beirut Airport control tower today to be allowed to land but was told he would be fired on if he tried.

"A gun is pointed to my head. I request landing permission to land to refuel," the captain of the Kuwait Airways Boeing 747 was overheard shouting through the jet's radio at 5:25 p.m. (10:25 a.m. Texas).

"We have been for 14 years under gunfire," an airport official replied, referring to Lebanon's civil war. "If you try to land by force, the plane will be fired on."

The jetliner left Mashhad airport in northeastern Iran at 2:28 p.m. (5:58 a.m. Texas) after the Arab hijackers threatened to blow it up. It was hijacked Tuesday on a flight from Bangkok to Kuwait.

According to sources monitoring radio traffic, a man speaking in Arabic with an east Lebanese accent came to the radio and asked that controllers put him in touch with Lebanese Public Works

Minister Walid Jumblatt or Interior Minister Abdulla Rassi and saying he just wanted to refuel.

The blue-and-white plane could be seen from rooftops, overshooting Beirut airport during the contact with the Beirut tower. Earlier, the Lebanese controllers would not respond to the captains' calls.

The plane later was reported over international waters in the Mediterranean Sea, and the pilot said he had fuel for another 2½ hours.

Authorities in Cyprus denied the captain permission to land, airport sources in Larnaca said.

In Beirut, a control tower official told The Associated Press fire engines and passenger buses of the Middle East Airlines, Lebanon's flag carrier, were parked on the airport's two runways.

"We don't want the plane to land here. We are not going to receive it," he said. He spoke on condition of anonymity.

Syrian troops, who control the airport, blocked all roads to the airport on Beirut's southern edge.

The gunmen — believed to number about six — released 57 passengers since Tuesday. One freed passenger described the hijackers as determined and "willing to die."

All the remaining hostages aboard the plane were believed to be Arabs, including more than 30 Kuwaitis, three of them members of the emirate's royal family. One passenger was believed to hold both U.S. and Egyptian passports.

The hijackers' main demand is freedom for 17 pro-Iranian terrorists jailed in Kuwait for bombing the U.S. and French embassies there in 1983.

"Iranian officials have told the hijackers that all the airports in the world will be closed to them," the agency said. The report was monitored in Nicosia.

IRNA said that before their departure, the hijackers threatened to blow up the plane. They claimed to have rigged the plane with explosives and also threatened to kill a passenger.

Airport authorities immediately agreed to remove obstacles to takeoff.

Republican absentee voting slow

By SARAH LUMAN Staff Writer

Howard County Republicans are following their past patterns of absentee voting in a primary runoff where no local races are contested: In the three days since absentee balloting opened Monday, one vote has been cast.

Donna Morris, chief deputy county clerk, said Wednesday that election returns for the 1980s indicate a very low turnout in one-party runoffs when no local races are contested.

"In 1986 we had a GOP runoff in state races," she said, "and we had 58 total absentee votes."

Similar results were shown by records from 1984, in which a Republican runoff garnered 78 votes in absentee balloting. That election included a runoff for a local race, the Precinct Three county commissioner's place.

"We very seldom have a second primary," she explained, "and when there are no local races, we have very little turnout."

Morris noted that she has answered 48 requests for mail-in ballots, and has received one ballot back.

A primary runoff among Democrats in 1982 brought in 395 absentee votes but that ballot included two local races: county judge and a county commissioner.

Absentee voting continues through Friday, with the runoff election scheduled Tuesday, from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at Goliad Middle School, Goliad and 20th streets, Morris said.

Family triples festivities

HERALD STAFF REPORT

COAHOMA — A local family is celebrating the 10th birthday of their triplets with a community reception Saturday.

John and Holly Best, parents of Jeremiah, Johnathan and James, are planning a 2 p.m. reception at the community center and everyone in the county is invited.

"Whenever (the triplets) were born, the community gave a shower and we decided after 10 years to say thank you again," Holly said. The Best couple learned only three weeks before the due date that their first birth was to be tripled. They arrived April 4, 1978. The community responded with gifts after they were born.

"They've done a lot for us. They've shown an interest in the boys. Everybody's always asking about them," Holly said.

The Bests are lifetime residents of Coahoma. The triplets' grandparents are Marvin and Pat McCutchan, and V.E. and Rae Nell Best, all of Coahoma.

Poor schools: Money makes difference

AUSTIN (AP) — More money won't necessarily ensure better education in poor school districts, but lack of funds clearly can hurt their ability to properly educate students, a spokesman for poor districts told the Select Committee on Education.

Equal funding "does not necessarily buy equal education. Equal money does, however, provide equal fiscal opportunity, and more money means more opportunity," said Richard Kirkpatrick, who heads a group of 55 low-wealth districts that joined a lawsuit against the state.

Texas has an obligation to devise an equitable system to replace the present one, which has been ruled unconstitutional, Kirkpatrick said. He added that the poor districts do not expect to be placed on par with the state's richest districts.

"Common sense tells us that the state has a legitimate and compelling interest in not providing us the opportunity to spend $15,000 per student with a local tax effort of only a dime," said Kirkpatrick, Copperas Cove district superintendent.

But it is wrong that the local property tax increase needed to raise $100 per student should be 24 cents in the Edgewood district in San Antonio, for example, but only 6 cents in the Azle district, Kirkpatrick said.

The state "has the capacity, and we believe the responsibility, to adopt a system which would equalize the rates" for such districts, he said.

Kirkpatrick and other representatives of low-wealth districts who spoke to the committee did not recommend a new system to fund public schools, but options for change were outlined.

State District Judge Harley Clark last year ruled that the present finance system, which is based on local district property taxes and state funds, is unconstitutional.

The state, and districts on both sides of the case, argued an appeal of the ruling before a 3rd Court of Appeals panel Wednesday. Attorneys said the court could take months to rule.

"Our position is that it's up to the Legislature to deal with this problem and design a constitutional system," said Al Kauffman of the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund. He is an attorney in the school finance case.

The lack of a specific recommendation was criticized by Sen. Carl Parker, a Port Arthur Democrat who heads the Senate Education Committee.

"You spent all this time stirring up the pot. You ought to come here with a plan," he said.

Chemical leak not damaging

HERALD STAFF REPORT

COAHOMA — A leak from a chemical truck caused some anxious moments this morning, but did not cause any evacuations and no injuries or damages were reported.

The leak occurred at about 8 a.m. today when an unknown amount of Dichlorvos — commonly known as DDVP — leaked from a chemical truck parked at the Town & Country convenience store at Interstate 20 and FM 820, according to Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard.

Dichlorvos primarily is used in the beef and dairy cattle business as an insecticide. It is highly toxic in concentrated form, according to Max Moore, of A-1 Southwestern Pest Control.

Units from the Sheriff's Office and Big Spring Fire Department quickly contained the spill, which was restricted to about a 10-inch area, Standard said. The area was reopened at about 9 a.m., he added.

Prison plans

may soon end court scrutiny

AUSTIN (AP) — Proposals to drastically reduce court-ordered oversight of the Texas prison system are expected to be filed today in federal court.

Attorney General Jim Mattox and Charles Terrell, chairman of the Texas Board of Corrections, planned to announce proposals at a news conference that include "getting rid of the court monitor in some areas and limiting what he does in certain areas," said Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Mattox.

Dusek said he did not have details of the proposals, which must be approved by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler.

The Houston Chronicle, quoting sources, said the proposals are to be submitted by Vincent Nathan, an Ohio attorney overseeing state compliance with court orders in the Ruiz prison reform lawsuit.

Nathan has said that his proposals will establish deadlines for compliance with required changes in the penal system and a timetable for withdrawing monitors overseeing progress. He has refused to discuss details of his report.

Nathan's report, if approved by Justice, would be a significant step in ending the 16-year-old lawsuit involving the Department of Corrections.

A source, who asked to remain anonymous, told the Chronicle that a target date of 1990 to end all monitoring has been discussed by parties in the case and may be included in Nathan's proposals. Gov. Bill Clements and Justice will discuss Nathan's report and other aspects of the case when the two meet April 15 in Tyler, the source said.

In past reports, Nathan has recommended that monitoring be reduced, but only to a limited degree in some prison units.

Meanwhile, William Bennett Turner, the San Francisco attorney representing the inmates in the lawsuit, said the system should remain under federal court supervision indefinitely. Turner said TDC's plans to expand capacity demonstrate the need for continued federal oversight.

Medals available to former POWs

Area residents who are former prisoners of war will be eligible to receive a medal from the U.S. government, according to Conrad Alexander, director of the Big Spring VA Medical Center.

President Reagan has declared April 9 as National Former Prisoner of War Day, an action that closely follows an announcement by the Department of Defense on the availability of the medals, Alexander noted.

He said his staff will be sending applications for the medals to each of this area's 165 former POWs.

Medical center staff also will be available to assist individual ex-POWs secure the medal.

At a later date, the hospital plans to host a special recognition and awards ceremony to make formal presentations of the medals, he said.

Former POWs or family members are encouraged to contact John Webb, administrative ex-POW coordinator at the VA — phone number 263-7361, extension 340 — or any of the local area American Ex-Prisoners of War chapters, Alexander stated.

Food bank planners seek building

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A proposed food bank to provide low-cost staples to needy Howard County residents remains stalled, Irene Rodriguez of the county welfare office said today, pending a vote of the board of directors on a building to house the facility.

A prospective location is within the Palmer House Hotel at 207 E.

Food bank planners seek building

2nd St., she said.

"We're looking at a building in the Palmer House," Rodriguez said, "but the board hasn't voted on it yet so right now we're pretty much at a standstill."

She said no other arrangements concerning the facility would be made until the question of a building can be settled.

Local bands to give concert

Three Big Spring school bands will present UIL contest selections in a free concert at 7:30 Tuesday in the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

The Runnels Band, the Big Spring High School Symphonic Band, and the BSHS Honor Band will present three selections each from repertoire prepared for competition April 20-23.

The Runnels Band will compete April 23 in Odessa. Directed by Steve Waggoner, the band will play: "Pride and Glory" by Harris; "Modal Song and Dance" by Del Borgo; and "Atlantis" by McGinty. The Symphonic Band, also directed by Mr. Waggoner, will perform: "The Belle of Chicago" by Sousa; "Northpointe Fantasy" by Swearingin; and "Crossgate" by Barnes. They will compete April 20 in Midland.

The Honor Band, directed by Ricky Mitchell, will play "Fairest of the Fair" by Sousa; "Polly Oliver" by Roo; and "Prelude, Siciliano and Rondo" by Arnold. They will go to contest April 21 in Midland.

The UIL Concert and Sight-reading Contest requires each band to perform three selections based upon a challenging list defined by school size. Two selections must be performed from the list or approved by a special committee, and one selection must be a march of the director's choosing.

In sight-reading, students and directors are given a limited amount of time to study a selection of music never played before, and perform it at a specific level.

Lawmakers must release fund details

AUSTIN (AP) — Secretary of State Jack Rains says officeholders and candidates must file a detailed accounting of how they spend their political funds.

The ruling Thursday means that officials cannot merely list "miscellaneous payments" or payments to credit card companies in disclosing how they spent money raised for their campaign and office expenses.

Rains' ruling came only days after The Dallas Morning News reports that top state officials were among political candidates who had simply listed payments to credit card companies instead of issuing detailed reports.

"This means that the public is now going to have the full benefits of the law as it was originally intended," Rains said. "No longer will the (financial) trail stop at the front door of Mastercard or American Express."

Gov. Bill Clements said Thursday before the ruling by Rains that he would file a detailed report on costs charged to credit cards.

Victim unknown in car bombing

FORT WORTH (AP) — Investigators were trying to identify the body of a man who was trapped inside his flaming car after a bomb blast that scattered debris over a two-block area.

Authorities late Thursday were sifting through the wreckage of the car that exploded in flames, burning the body beyond recognition.

Witnesses told police that the victim had parked his car and crossed the street to order food at a barbecue stand when two men in another car pulled up beside the vehicle, threw an object into the car and sped away.

"It all happened so fast," said a woman at the Truck Box Barbecue, a mobile food stand.

"I saw the white car take off and then just a few seconds later, the other car exploded. Glass was flying. Metal was flying," she told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

"The really amazing thing is that no one else was hurt," said homicide Sgt. Paul Kratz.

"Just the way that the car is damaged leads you to believe it would be in the passenger compartment," Kratz said. "The force was on the interior of the car, not under the hood."

The explosion occurred shortly before 2:30 p.m. Thursday and sent a plume of smoke skyward that was visible from three-quarters of a mile away, authorities said.

"At this point, we don't know what type of bomb it was. Obviously it was a pretty spectacular explosion," Kratz said.

The blast near the intersection of Loop 820 and North Beach Street ripped the roof off the car and dropped it 100 feet away, said Fire Department spokesman R.C. Knight.

"It's charred black, the roof is gone and all the doors are blown open on it and there are no tires on it — they've all burned off," Knight said.

Kratz said the car was rented Feb. 25 and the name of the person who rented the car is known, but investigators have not been able to determine whether he was the victim because at least three people had access to the car.

Dr. Marc Krouse, an investigator from the Tarrant County Medical Examiner's Office said an autopsy would be conducted today.

Ice rink melts, cancels Disney show

FORT WORTH (AP) — A meltdown at the Tarrant County Convention Center left Disney's World On Ice in puddles and hundreds of tiny Mickey Mouse and Snow White fans out in the cold.

After a Tuesday opening that attracted more than 6,000 fans to an ice version of a Snow White adventure, convention center officials were forced to cancel two performances Wednesday when a blown fuse melted the 80-by-200-foot rink.

A cast of Disney characters — including Doc, Happy, Sleepy, Grumpy, Sneezy, Dopey and Bashful — got an unscheduled day off.

"It's unbelievable," said Melvin Morgan, executive director of the convention center. "This has never happened to us before — or to them."

Greg Ericson, regional marketing director for the show, estimated ticket sale losses "could be anywhere from $40,000 to $200,000. I think there may be some kind of insurance covering this, but I'm not positive."

Morgan said convention center workers first noticed the blown fuse had jammed a pump used to make ice late Tuesday, after the opening performance. But workers were convinced the problem was not serious.

"Throughout the night, it would start up and run for awhile and then shut off," Morgan said. By Wednesday morning, some ice remained, but most of the rink had become a slushy mire.

Opinion

Spare nothing for longest war

America is losing the war on drugs. News from the front grows ever more alarming. U.S.-organized campaigns to curtail coca, marijuana and opium-poppo crops in drug-producing countries have failed. Production was up substantially last year.

The casualty lists, in terms of lost lives, broken families and ruined careers, continue to grow. Drug-abuse levels are rising all over the world and especially in the United States. Americans spent nearly $130 billion on illegal narcotics last year, a figure that is expected to soar 10 percent this year.

The raw power of the narco dollar is permitting drug cartels to buy governments and to alter the relations between countries. Latin American narcotics merchants have been so successful at subverting governments and judicial systems that they have superseded communist guerrillas as the main threat to the region. The corruption reaches to the highest officials and the lowest cops on the beat.

The question no longer is "Who's on the take?" but, rather, who isn't?

So pervasive is the power and influence of Latin drug lords, said the State Department in a confidential report last week to Congress, that nations seeking to stop drug production are "outmanned, outgunned and outspent by narcotics traffickers."

In little more than a decade, a small group of drug traffickers who operate from Medellin, Colombia's second largest city, have come to dominate the cocaine industry, as well as the economies and governments of several countries.

The Medellin cartel supplies 80 percent of the world's cocaine and is a law unto itself. Its gunmen have struck as far away as Hungary, and it is responsible for the murders of Colombia's attorney general, 21 judges, scores of soldiers and policemen, a newspaper editor and more than a dozen other journalists.

There were 3,000 drug-related murders in Medellin alone last year, and many U.S. officials believe that Colombia is at risk of becoming another Lebanon.

If Colombia's leaders are being openly challenged by drug merchants, Panama's leaders are drug dealers. The same is true in Haiti, Costa Rica, Honduras, the Bahamas and Mexico are staging areas for the transshipment of drugs to the United States, often with the help of local police and midlevel government officials.

Fortunately, there have been modest victories. Bolivia and Peru, where the cocaine trail begins, have made considerable progress toward eradicating drug crops and government corruption, as have Jamaica, Belize, Ecuador, Pakistan, Turkey, Burma and Thailand.

Last year, 23 countries joined the United States in destroying drug crops, wiping out 283 metric tons of opium, more than 5,000 tons of coca leaf and 17,500 tons of marijuana.

At home, First Lady Nancy Reagan has waged a lonely campaign, alerting young Americans to the dangers of experimenting with drugs. And increasing numbers of intravenous drug users are seeking help in kicking the habit, impelled no doubt by the fear of contracting AIDS from dirty syringes.

Drug education and rehabilitation programs are only the first steps on the path to victory, however. What is required is a strategy that combines all the methods of fighting drugs, that is pursued by every government in the hemisphere and that is adequately funded by the only country that can afford it, the United States.

If Congress and the administration are serious about winning the war on drugs, they will put their budget priorities on a war footing. It makes little sense for Congress to wait about the rising tide of drugs and then turn around and hogtie the Coast Guard's drug-interdiction missions by arbitrarily hacking $117 million from its operating funds.

Likewise, the administration wins few plaudits when the ordinarily prudent secretary of education, William Bennett, urges that U.S. troops be used to do what foreign governments must do for themselves.

In war, the will to win is equally as important as ability, resources and strategy. We Americans have the ability. What is lacking is leadership, unity of purpose and strategy.

Quotes

"Oh, Lordy, every time you turn around you're giving gifts. Wedding gifts and baby gifts and shower gifts. You couldn't begin to count them. You're giving all the time, but you're not getting anything in return." — Alma Eck Mullen, 81, a founding member of the 38-year-old Women Always Stung for Presents Society, which is throwing its annual bash.

Calling the Rio Treaty to come to rescue

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Just what is an American military unit doing in Honduras? The answer to that question is strangely absent from most accounts, and therein lies a tale.

Meanwhile, we should revisit the Rio Treaty, which was executed in 1947. It is described in the following language in the volume The American Political Dictionary, Seventh Edition, by Jack C. Plano and Milton Greenberg:

"The Inter-American Treaty of Reciprocal Assistance of 1947, by which 21 American republics agreed that an armed attack by any state against an American state shall be considered as an attack against all the American states..."

"The Rio Treaty was the first mutual security pact entered into by the United States, and it became a model for all subsequent ones. The treaty establishes a hemispheric security zone stretching from the North Pole to the South Pole. If an attack occurs within the zone, members agree to consult about collective measures to be undertaken, while retaining freedom to act individually." Obviously the United States acted individually when the president sent four battalions of American troops to Honduras. Whether he solicited active cooperation from neighboring Latin American states while doing so, we do not know.

We do know that the argument of "hot pursuit," on which the Sandinistas have primarily relied, is phony. Hot pursuit envisions a fighter plane declining to stop at the border when engaged in giving chase to the adversary. Or if one wishes a slow-motion analogy, imagine chasing a Colombian vessel hailed in Caribbean waters suspected of carrying dope.

The vessel turns tail and hotfoots it for the protection of home territory. The Coast Guard zooms across the frontier and overcomes the boat, say, six miles away from Colombian land. Such is the drama of hot pursuit.

But information being made available by the Department of State confirms that there was no element of this in the Sandinista offensive. The attack on Contra bases was planned weeks ago. The planners took carefully into account terrain, logistics and likely opposition. There are aerial photographs, made by U.S. aircraft, that confirm the premeditated character of the strike. Article 3 of the Rio Treaty, Clause 2, stipulates, "On the request of the state or states directly attacked and until the decision of the organ of consultation of the Inter-American system, each one of the contracting parties may determine the immediate measures which it may individually take in fulfillment of the obligation (to help against the aggressor)."

Now, it is nowhere specified who is to call the organ of consultation. Would it, in this case, be Honduras? Or the United States? In any event, neither country has done so, and one can guess why. The organ of consultation, once convened, is likely to be influenced heavily by the Contadora group.

And the Contadora countries are and always have been opposed to the Contras. Not because they fear the Contras, but because they fear the Sandinistas.

A long while back, the Contadora countries — Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama — took a look at the civil war in Nicaragua and reasoned, quite understandably, that the Sandinistas would prevail. Not because they were popular or because they represented any of the values the Contadora countries publicly esteem, but because the ambiguity flowing in from the United States would eventually paralyze the Contras. As it has now done, with the refusal of Congress to vote even exiguous aid, even in humanitarian funds.

Another question arises, not without interest: Does the right to hot pursuit limit the defending nation to wait for an attack before he can return it in kind, reaching into the enemy's territory if necessary?

The Israelis, in 1981, conducted a pre-emptive raid against a nuclear power plant in Iraq, which the Israelis claimed, was being developed in such a way as easily to be converted into a nuclear bomb plant. The Israelis made it plain that they were not going to sit around until nuclear bombs rained down on them to indulge the niceties of argumentation about when the laws of hot pursuit apply. So they reached in and bombed the nuclear station.

Human deduction sympathizes with the Israelis. And the value-free logic in respect of Nicaragua tends to respect the right even of a despotic power to blast away at the opposition in whichever country it mobilizes.

So while pleading the Rio Treaty we are not entirely covered by its language. We are completely covered by our resolution to try to do something to arrest the Communization of Central America, if Congress will permit us to do so.

Busy switching channels

While considering recently the television programs I watch, the question arose in my mind: "Why do you like these shows?"

Next to the print medium and books, I love the film and broadcast medium.

I like to escape from the reality of the newsroom for awhile daily, and the television set seems to be the easiest method. It allows me to do dishes, cook supper, even write a letter while entertaining myself.

One of my favorite shows is "The Equalizer" with Edward Woodward. He plays a fatherly figure eliminating crime from the streets of New York City one scoundrel at a time, and helping the underdog.

It is a comforting thought — that an experienced former CIA agent might be out there caring about what happens to the ordinary person in the battle against evil.

Then there's "L.A. Law," an inside look at an up-and-coming, if small, law firm in Los Angeles, and the personal and professional lives of the attorneys.

They get caught in dilemmas of ethics and personal values on almost every show. I become engrossed in their evaluations and mistakes, and in the ethical questions posed about our justice system. It's a "Matter of Scruples" game on television.

• Does a company have the right to fire a lawyer because she is overweight and therefore doesn't project the right image?

• What happens when a retarded man is duped into armed robbery? Is he sent to prison or institutionalized — or given a second chance?

Then there's the "Bob Newhart Show." For years I watched him play a psychologist dealing with all the unusual people in his life. And his return to television has been no less entertaining in the new setting of a New England inn.

Sunny side up, please for Texas

To the editor:
If you think you had to get up in the middle of the night to go to work this week, you are absolutely right.

Now that we are on so-called Daylight "Savings" time, those of us who live in this part of the country are pretty much out of step with the sun. "Noon" is the worldly concept used to mean that the sun is highest in the sky or due south casting a shadow due north.

Noon here in this part of Texas now comes at about 2 p.m. This means that if your alarm went off at 5:30 this morning, it was in reality 3:30 according to the sun. You were right, you did get up in the middle of the night.

So where did we go wrong? Our trouble is with Texas being on Central time rather than Mountain time like El Paso, New Mexico, Arizona, and Colorado. In fact to help correct matters for them, Arizona doesn't even go on Daylight time.

I wish that... Texas were so wise. Think of all the clock-setting headaches we would eliminate. If any company or organization wants to go to work an hour earlier, I know of no government rule, at least so far, that says they can't.

Each 1000 miles around the Earth, going west, the sun rises one hour later. From here to New York is about 2000 miles or two hours, yet we are on Central time, only one hour of change. From here to L.A. is about 1000 miles or one hour, yet we have two hours of time zone change. I guess it is sort of like the army — everybody is in step but Texas. Wouldn't it be nice if we could get with it here in Texas?

Supremacists acquitted

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — The acquittal of 13 white supremacists on sedition charges means that "religious freedom is still alive in this country," says one of the defendants in the seven-week federal trial.

An all-white jury Thursday acquitted the men, including a former Texas Ku Klux Klan member charged with conspiring to kill a federal judge and FBI agent and plotting to overthrow the federal government and establish an all-white nation in the Pacific Northwest.

Defendant Robert E. Miles, 63, a white supremacist leader from Cohoctah, Mich., praised the verdicts. But when asked how the trial had affected the supremacist movement, he said, "Who knows? What movement? What's left of it after this?"

Zaccaro jurors chosen

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP) — Lawyers in the trial of John Zaccaro Jr. questioned jurors for four days about their attitudes toward undercover police work and the prominence of the defendant's mother, former vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro.

Opening arguments were scheduled to begin today. Zaccaro is accused of selling one-quarter gram of cocaine to an undercover police officer at his off-campus apartment two years ago, while a senior at Middlebury College.

The 12 jurors and two alternates were selected Thursday after lawyers interviewed more than 60 Rutland County residents since Monday.

Eggs linked to outbreak

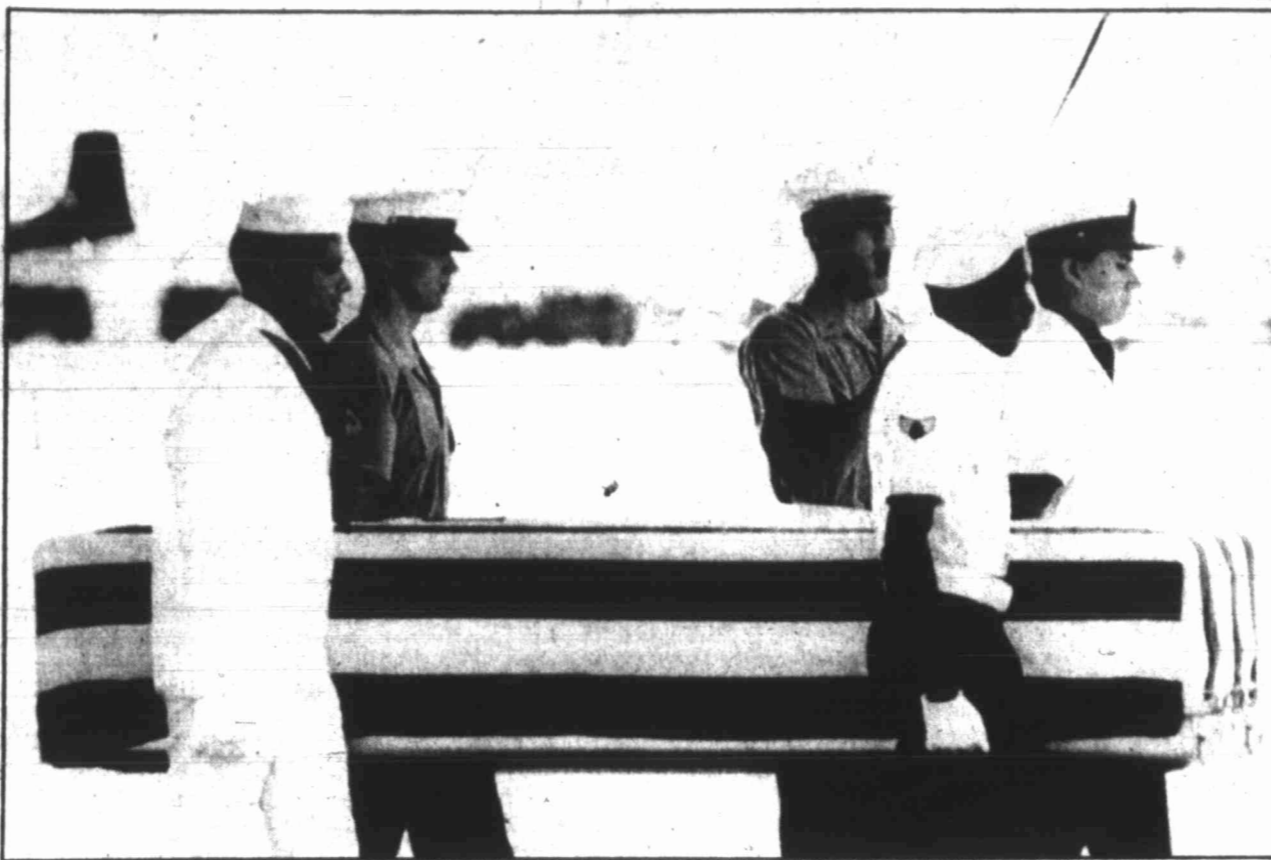

CHICAGO (AP) — Raw or undercooked eggs — even from perfect and sanitized shells — may be spreading the salmonella bacteria in the Northeast, says a federal researcher who fears the problem may be spreading.

Even sound Grade A eggs, which are screened for defects and cleansed outside with chemical disinfectant, appear to be implicated in the sickening of hundreds of people in recent years, the researcher said Thursday.

Previous egg-related salmonella food poisoning has been limited to eggs that were cracked, dirty or in some other way defective or mishandled, said Dr. Michael E. St. Louis of the national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

St. Louis said in a telephone interview, though, that his findings now implicate Grade A eggs — the most widely sold egg in whole shell form. He said, however, that fully cooked eggs appear to present no danger.

"In all of the outbreaks we investigated, people ate the eggs raw or undercooked," St. Louis said.

Remains returned

HICKAM AIR FORCE BASE — A military honor guard carries one of 27 caskets from an Air Force cargo plane shortly after arrival at Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii Thursday. The caskets contain remains believed to be those of Americans killed in the Vietnam War. The remains were taken to an Army laboratory for identification.

Riot Students burn embassy buildings

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Students stormed two U.S. Embassy annex buildings and set them ablaze before they were dispersed with bullets, beatings and tear gas. At least five demonstrators were killed and 10 wounded.

An Embassy spokesman reported extensive damage from Thursday night's attack, but said no U.S. citizens were injured.

Police said the crowd of more than 1,000 university students also set fire to about 25 automobiles belonging to embassy personnel that were parked near the annex complex.

The students were protesting the forced extradition this week of an alleged drug trafficker suspected of involvement in the killing of a U.S. drug agent. They also voiced anger at President Reagan's dispatch of additional American troops to Honduras last month.

Private Honduran guards posted at the embassy fired shots and lobbed tear gas grenades at the demonstrators from inside the main embassy building across the street from the annex buildings, said police sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

But Michael O'Brien, the Embassy spokesman, said

Honduran riot police had fired on the crowd.

They said four men who were killed were university students and one was a child who had accompanied her mother to the protest. Ages were not immediately available for the dead.

The riot police did not arrive at the embassy complex until nearly two hours after the demonstration began. No explanation was given for the delay.

Several of the demonstrators were seen carrying pistols and students told reporters they had disarmed about 10 of the private embassy guards. Police said none of the guards were injured.

All the contents of two floors of a four-story annex building housing U.S. Information Agency offices were destroyed by the blaze and the windows of both annex buildings were shattered by the students.

Red Cross officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said that in addition to those killed, 10 demonstrators were hospitalized with injuries from bullets, beatings and tear gas.

The three-hour demonstration began at the National Autonomous University, located on the outskirts of Tegucigalpa.

Panamanian talks halt

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Archbishop Marcos McGrath called off his attempt to mediate between Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega and the opposition, which has refused to negotiate unless the general first agrees to leave the country.

Also Thursday, there was a split in the main anti-Noriega coalition. And police using tear gas and rubber hoses dispersed hundreds of anti-government demonstrators in the western city of David.

A Roman Catholic church communique said mediation efforts were suspended because the opposition had insisted Noriega — the nation's de facto ruler — agree to depart and the general had failed to agree in writing to mediation.

"The church in no way surrenders the difficult task of mediation. It still considers it urgent and every day more so," said the communique, which asked all parties to remove obstacles so that talks might begin.

Autopsy casts doubts

JERUSALEM (AP) — An autopsy of a young Israeli settler killed in a clash with Palestinians showed she was struck both by a bullet and a large object, casting doubt on initial army reports she was stoned to death by Arabs.

Details provided by an Israel Television report raised the possibility that the girl, 15-year-old Tirza Porat, was inadvertently shot by another Jewish West Bank settler. The army said the cause of death was still unclear.

Initial reports that the girl died from rocks flung by Arabs while she was on a hike with other Israeli teen-agers aggravated tensions between the 65,000 Jewish settlers and 850,000 Arabs in the West Bank.

Massacre deaths at 36

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Gunmen who killed 28 peasants at an Easter festival also tracked down eight survivors and murdered them, a Bogota radio station reported Thursday.

Station RCN quoted national police sources as saying drug traffickers were responsible for the massacre of the 36 people last Sunday at Mejor Esquina, a village in the northwestern state of Cordoba.

It said the information was included in a police report to the defense minister, Gen. Rafael Samudio Molina. The national police are part of the military.

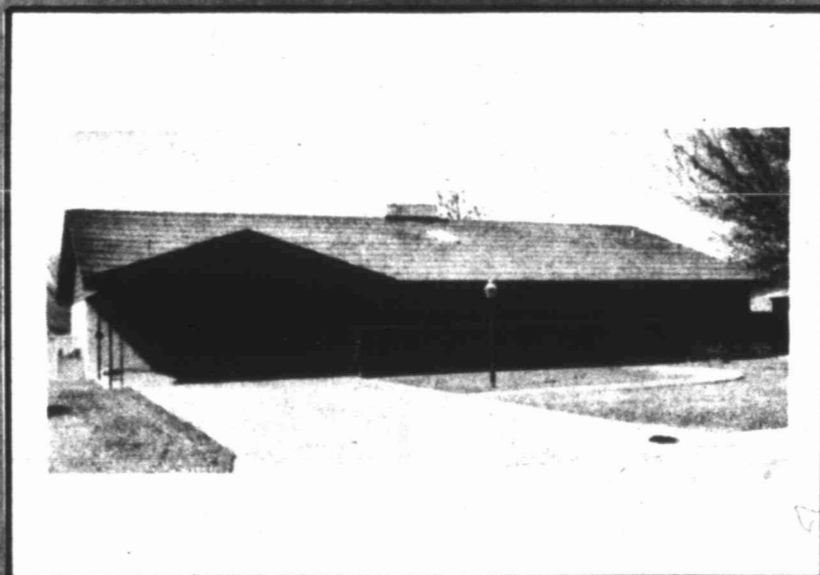

Drug traffickers attacked the village because it allowed a leftist guerrilla group to use it as headquarters for extorting money from ranchers in the area, RCN reported, quoting the national police.

Narcotics dealers had bought many of the ranches and were among those from whom money was demanded, the radio said.

Demo front-runners preach unity; Gore a contrast

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic presidential front-runners Michael Dukakis and Jesse Jackson are preaching unity in the volatile political atmosphere of the New York primary campaign, but Sen. Albert Gore Jr. says he will persist in "drawing a contrast" with his opponents.

From ethnic neighborhoods to special interest forums, the Democratic contenders were campaigning for the 255-delegate prize at stake in the April 19 primary.

A poll released today said Dukakis was the choice of 47 percent of likely Democratic voters, while 31 percent backed Jackson. Gore was the choice of 6 percent.

The Marist College Institute for Public Opinion questioned 404 Democrats Tuesday and Wednesday for the survey that had a margin of error of 5 percentage points. A similar survey conducted by the institute in mid-March had Dukakis the choice of 37 percent of Democrats and Jackson the pick of 28 percent.

A fourth Democratic presidential candidate, Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois, put his campaign in cold storage on Thursday — and drew sharp criticism from Jackson for technically remaining in the race to keep control of the block of 47 at-large delegates he will get as a result of his Illinois primary victory.

If Simon dropped out, those delegates would go to Jackson, who finished second in Illinois.

"I would hope that in time Mr. Simon... now that he has made the decision to leave the race will leave so honorably, and hide behind no technicalities to block those as my delegates which in fact belong to me," said Jackson.

Vice President George Bush, considered a sure bet for the Republican presidential nomination even by his only remaining rival, Pat Robertson, was heading for Texas to complete the fundraising phase of his campaign.

Barbara Gattullo said Robertson hoped to bring "a strong conservative message" to the convention. The Democratic candidates crossed paths often in New York, appearing at forums sponsored by the state party and The Democracy Project, a liberal-oriented group.

They often found it difficult to escape the shadows of Gov. Mario Cuomo and New York City Mayor Ed Koch.

"Who cares what... Mario Cuomo says?" responded Cuomo when pressed about whether he would endorse one of the contenders.

Cuomo also has advised Gore to tone down criticism of his rivals — a request seconded by party chairman Paul G. Kirk Jr.

"I spoke a year ago about the importance of resolving to keep the debate and the dialogue positive and not involved in any negative campaigning," Kirk said.

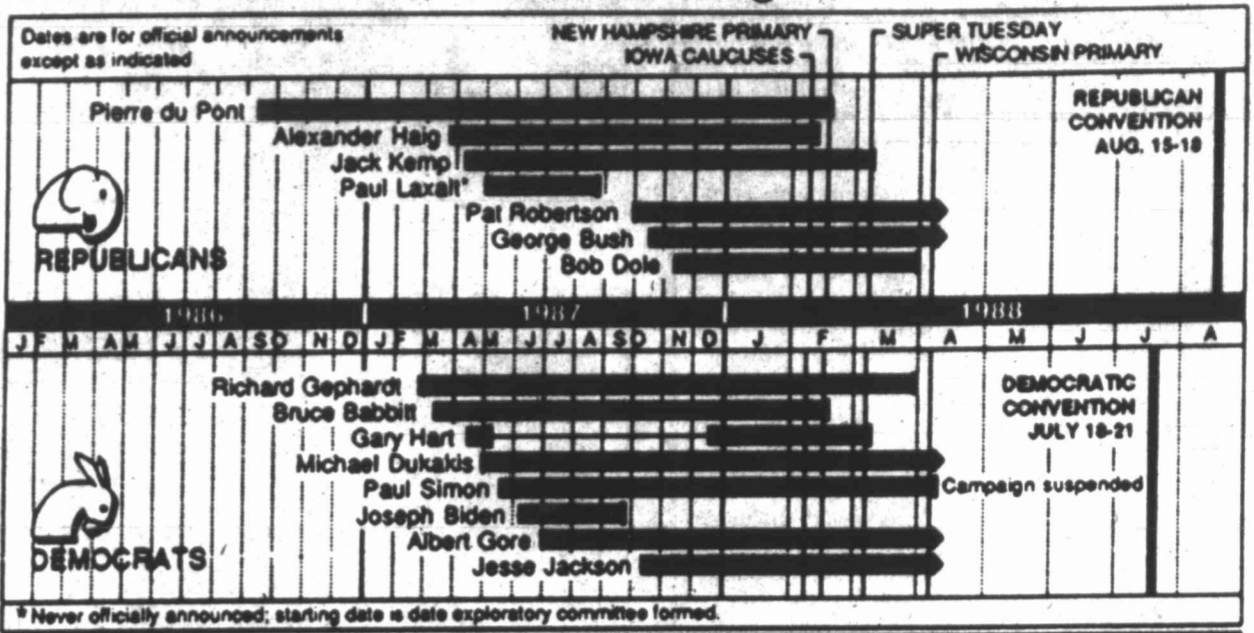

"For the most part, we've been quite successful in that regard. The admonitions that have been addressed to Sen. Gore by Gov. Cuomo just help to make sure we can continue to talk about the issues in a positive way."

No sooner had Kirk and Cuomo spoken than Gore let loose with a fresh attack. He accused the Dukakis campaign of trying to fuel a "stop Jackson" movement by spreading the word that "a vote for Gore is a vote for Jackson."

The Dukakis campaign denied that, and Jackson's campaign manager, Gerald Austin, said Gore has used that strategy himself.

Asked if he would persist in his attacks, Gore said, "I think there is

This timeline graphic indicates when presidential candidates made official announcements of their candidacy and — in most cases — withdrawal from the presidential race.

a legitimate role for drawing a contrast between one's approach to the issues, one's experience, one's philosophy of government and those of one's opponents."

Koch also was unwilling to heed the admonitions of the governor and party chairman and said Jews would have to be "crazy" to vote for Jackson because of his views on Israel. Jackson brushed aside the remark, saying "Let us keep this campaign above any form of racial or religious bigotry."

Economist admires Jackson, but gives Dukakis his support

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Economist John Kenneth Galbraith says he admires Jesse Jackson but supports Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis for the Democratic nomination for president.

"I think Jesse Jackson has certainly been a good force in our time. He has given voice to people who previously did not have voice and is bringing a whole new group of people into the political process. I think we're going to look back on Jesse Jackson's campaign with great approval," Galbraith said at a news conference at Miami University on Thursday.

Asked if he thought Jackson could be elected president, Galbraith said, "My dear fellow, Ronald Reagan is president."

Galbraith said that if Reagan can be president, "surely Jackson can be president."

Young wouldn't specify Thursday how much he would give, but Joel Ferguson, who headed Jackson's efforts in Michigan, said the mayor offered between $10,000 and $20,000 to Jackson's campaign.

"He called it a modest contribution. I called it substantial. It's a statement that Jesse appreciates," Ferguson said after a two-hour meeting with Young.

Gore names five on coast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five prominent California business leaders have been named to the executive committee of the Gore for President campaign in California.

The five, who will spearhead efforts on behalf of Democratic Sen. Albert Gore in the state's June 7 primary, are Eli Broad, chairman of insurer and homebuilder Kaufman & Broad Inc.; John F. Cooke, president of The Disney Channel; San Francisco attorney Duane Garrett; San Diego businessman M. Larry Lawrence, who owns the Hotel del Coronado; and investment broker Stephen D. Moses.

Coleman boosts Jackson

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, who backed Michael Dukakis in the Michigan Democratic presidential caucuses, is offering to contribute money to the campaign of Jesse Jackson.

Campaign quotes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some comments from the presidential campaign trail:

PAUL SIMON, suspending his campaign and keeping a lock on his delegates: "I want to have an impact on who the party nominates. I want to have an impact on the whole process there (at the Democratic National Convention), and on where we go."

ALBERT GORE, charging the Dukakis campaign with fueling an effort to stop Jackson: "Last week the Wisconsin director of the Dukakis campaign, Pat Forceia, was quoted publicly as saying, 'A vote for Gore is a vote for Jackson.' ... In my opinion that kind of politics is insulting to Jesse, insulting to me and insulting to the Democratic Party."

Bees bumble as they buzz about

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Delaware Beekeeper" and "Larry of Lakewood, Ohio."

The honeybee will indeed land on soft-drink cans and bottles and get into them. I know several people who were stung in the mouth from a honeybee that got into their soft-drink can.

True, honeybees will sting only in defense of their hive or if they are threatened, but when a honeybee gets into someone's mouth and feels pressure, it will sting to protect itself. I am a beekeeper, and I know the difference between a yellow jacket, wasp and a honeybee.

At work, at lunchtime we have to keep our soft drinks covered because the bees swarm on top of any open can.

I would also like to add that the flight of the bumblebee is not only from flower to flower. If you go to a swimming pool or watering hole in the summertime, if there is a beehive in the area, you will see bees collecting water for their hive.

Also, the honeybee does not gather honey from flowers as

Dear Abby

Larry stated; bees gather pollen and nectar from flowers and then make the honey.

BIG AL, LOUISIANA BEEKEEPER
DEAR AL: Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I was appalled to read in your column that great numbers of people wrote to say that bees get a bad rap because people mistake wasps and yellow jackets for bees.

Who cares? I wish you'd have focused on the real issue — that being stung on the inside of the mouth is a potentially fatal situation!

When I was stung on the tongue (at the age of 24), I was terrified of the very real possibility that my throat would swell closed, and I would die of asphyxiation!

So again I say, I don't care if it's a bee, wasp or whatever. It's terrifying to get an insect in one's mouth, feel it sting, then have to pull the stinger out of one's tongue or other oral tissue; worse if the stinger is too far down to reach.

JULIANNE TANSKI, LAKEWOOD, CALIF.

DEAR JULIANNE: Let's put the cap on this stinging issue with a final word from a reader with a sense of humor:

DEAR ABBY: Your "It was a wasp, not a bee column" reminds me of this story: A bee, wearing a yarmulke, met another bee who asked, "Why are you wearing that skullcap? You're not Jewish."

The bee replied, "I know, I just don't want anyone to mistake me for a WASP."

Egg hunt helps Rainbow Project

Area youths were presented gifts by area businesses and the Rainbow Project funds were boosted by almost $2,200 after an Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. The hunt collected $2,119 from ticket sales, according to a release, and $49.75 from donations at the door for a total of $2,168.75.

Winners and their prizes include: In the 3 and under age category, Ericka Rodriguez, a tricycle for first place; Ryan Rodriguez, second; Jocelyn Chavez, third.

In the 4 to 6 age group, Roxanna Flores received a spelling starter computer for first; Brian Mims, second; Nancy Zozea, third.

In the 7 to 12 age group, William Franklin a "jam box" for first; Adam Rodriguez, second; Brian Mims and Elisabeth Lopez tied for third.

In the 13 to 16 group, Donnie Jowers received a 10-speed bicycle for first; Ruben Gomez, second; and Janette Wright, third.

Alberto Gomez' ticket was chosen in a drawing for a $100 savings bond donated by the telephone company.

Area merchants donating prizes to the effort were:

Grantham's, Son Shine Christian Bookstore, Pizza Hut, Permian Research, Radio Shack, Ritz Theatre, Highland Lanes, and CWA Local 6101.

Names in the news

CAROLINE KENNEDY SCHLOSSBERG

BOSTON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy Schlossberg unveiled a 3-foot plaster model of a bronze statue of her late father, John F. Kennedy, that will stand in front of the Massachusetts capitol building.

"There are many memorials to my father in this country and around the world," Ms. Schlossberg said Thursday. "But of all of them, this one in the state he loved means the most."

On May 29, 1989, which would have been Kennedy's 72nd birthday, dignitaries and family members are slated to gather for the unveiling of an 8-foot-high bronze statue of Kennedy, striding forward, his eyes on the horizon.

The statue by artist Isabel McIlvain of Concord shows Kennedy in what members of the selection commission called a classic pose — mid-stride, eyes forward, elbows bent with his left hand tucked into his suit pocket.

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Actor Gene Hackman, actor-dancer Donald O'Connor, comedians Dick and Jerry Van Dyke, and pianist Bobby Short are returning to their hometown to help raise money for a theater-renovation project.

The May 23 benefit, fetching $1,000 apiece for tickets, will raise money to help restore the abandoned Fischer Theater, where some of the stars began their careers, the sponsoring Vermilion Heritage Foundation said Wednesday.

Hackman and Jerry Van Dyke were ushers at the downtown theater and O'Connor made his first public appearance there.

$3 billion exchange quietly ends Texaco, Pennzoil feud

HOUSTON (AP) — A suddenly-richer Pennzoil Co. is ready to get on with business now that its tumultuous, bitter four-year legal battle with Texaco Inc. has ended with a quiet $3 billion payment.

"Quite frankly, we've been in a holding pattern for over four years," Pennzoil Chairman J. Hugh Liedtke said Thursday after Texaco paid Pennzoil $3 billion to settle their dispute.

"We think we're now in a position to invest these funds and to make up for lost time and hopefully look at areas of growth . . ." Liedtke said.

Unlike the historic courtroom brawls that took place between the two oil companies, the official end came without much fanfare in the quiet confines of a downtown

Houston bank. At Texas Commerce Bank-Houston, $3 billion was transferred from several Texaco banks to a Pennzoil account. It took 10 minutes and four transactions to complete the payment.

The payment settled litigation stemming from Texaco's 1984 acquisition of Getty Oil Co. and allows the White Plains, N.Y.-based oil giant to emerge from bankruptcy protection.

The settlement was part of Texaco's bankruptcy reorganization plan, approved March 23 by a federal judge. Texaco also will begin making another $2.6 billion in payments to its other creditors.

Pennzoil officials now are looking at long-term ways to invest the windfall. The company actually borrowed $3 billion a couple of weeks ago in advance of the payment so it could invest it in an orderly manner, Pennzoil spokesman Bob Harper said.

The legal war began with Texaco's acquisition of Getty Oil. Houston-based Pennzoil sued Texaco, claiming interference with a planned merger between Pennzoil and Getty.

In November 1985, a Houston jury shocked Texaco by agreeing with Pennzoil and awarding the Houston company $10.53 billion in damages — the largest civil award in U.S. history.

A state appeals court upheld the verdict, but reduced the $3 billion in punitive damages to $1 billion.

Nearly a year ago, Texaco filed for bankruptcy protection, saying it had to do so to avoid posting a potentially ruinous bond to continue its appeal of the judgment.

Last November, the Texas Supreme Court refused to hear oral arguments in Texaco's appeal and let the verdict stand. Texaco said it would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, but a committee of Texaco shareholders proposed the $3 billion settlement to get the company out of bankruptcy court reorganization.

Pennzoil agreed with the plan.

Thursday's quiet conclusion, consisting of a simple electronic transfer of money, was witnessed by about a dozen reporters and photographers and representatives of Pennzoil and the bank.

It was in sharp contrast with the bombast of the court proceedings and subsequent appeals.

Led by colorful Houston attorney Joe Jamail, Pennzoil's case was based on the belief that a handshake and a man's word was as good as a written contract, and Texaco violated that rule by plucking Getty from Pennzoil's grasp.

Texaco contended Getty had invited it to bid — and there was no valid contract between Pennzoil and Getty because all the papers had not been signed by the appropriate parties.

Texaco also put the entire Texas court system under scrutiny.

It's chilly situation at Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Robert Wrenn of Midlothian, Va., celebrates his birdie on the 18th Thursday at the Masters to finish as co-leader of the first day of play. He shot a three-under-par 69.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The wind blew for Larry Nelson and the cold grew for Robert Wrenn.

But each survived his battle with the elements to get a share of the lead Thursday in the first round of the 52nd Masters.

Each had 69s — Wrenn with a last-hole birdie — in conditions that rank among the most severe in the history of this old tournament.

The chilly winds produced scenes more common to a New England autumn than a Southern spring. It sent spectators burrowing under blankets and scurrying for warmer clothing.

Most of them were gone when Wrenn, a rookie in this event who played in the next-to-last group on the Augusta National Golf Club course, rapped in the eight-foot birdie putt on the final hole, only the third birdie of the day on the 18th.

"A heck of a way to end the day," said the Wake Forest product who is in his fourth year on the tour. "The last couple of holes, I was getting numb out there."

It wasn't quite so cold for Nelson. But he played in the worst of the tormenting winds that had the elite, international field of 90 searching their vocabularies for adequate words of description.

"Devilish," Ken Brown of Scotland said.

"Impossible," Davis Love III said.

"Heartbreaking," Ben Crenshaw said.

"It was definitely one of the top four most difficult days I've seen here," said Jack Nicklaus, competing in his 30th Masters. "It may be THE most difficult, actually."

Nelson only smiled. "It wasn't windy, was it?" the 40-year-old current PGA champion said, his eyes twinkling.

"I didn't do anything really dumb. And I didn't do anything really smart. I just hit a lot of good shots and made a lot of short putts," he said.

That was an exception, too. More short putts were missed than made.

"I backed away many, many times," said Crenshaw, one of the game's finest putters. "The wind would rock you and you had to back off."

Seve Ballesteros, the mercurial Spaniard who has such a fascination with this event, four-putted for a double bogey on the 16th. He finished with a 73.

"In my 13 Masters, I have never seen conditions so difficult," Ballesteros said.

The 48-year-old Nicklaus, who has won this title six times, three-putted four times in a round of 75 that, he insisted, kept him in the hunt for still another green jacket.

"You cannot win the golf tournament on a day like today, but you can lose the golf tournament," he said.

That could have happened to some of the game's more celebrated performers.

Greg Norman, who has finished second in the last two Masters, struggled to a 77. Defending champion Larry Mize was one shot higher. And U.S. Open title-holder Scott Simpson had a 79.

But they were not alone in wind-raked misery.

"I saw some heartbreaking things out there," Crenshaw said.

Lee Trevino, who has won the other three major championships

AUGUSTA, GA. — Larry Nelson of Marietta, Ga., puts for a birdie on the 17th during Thursday's opening round of the Masters at the Augusta National Golf Club. Nelson finished the day tied for first with a three-under-par 69.

Veteran catcher blasts Expos

BY The Associated Press
Gary Carter is getting older. Maybe he's getting better, too.

Carter, who turned 34 today, celebrated early by hitting two solo home runs Thursday night as the New York Mets beat the Montreal Expos 8-5.

The Mets are hoping this will be a good year for Carter, a 10-time All-Star who slumped to .235 last season. Manager Davey Johnson plans to give his catcher plenty of rest; Carter, who also threw out Mitch Webster trying to steal, may make that decision difficult if he continues playing well.

Darryl Strawberry continued hitting, connecting for his National League-leading third home run of the season. Strawberry usually does well against Montreal — .309 in his career.

But Carter, traded by Montreal to the Mets after the 1984 season, has never fared well against his ex-team, especially at Olympic Stadium. He began this season with a .216 career average against the Expos, his lowest against any club.

Carter homered in the third inning against Neal Heaton, 0-1, for a 4-2 lead.

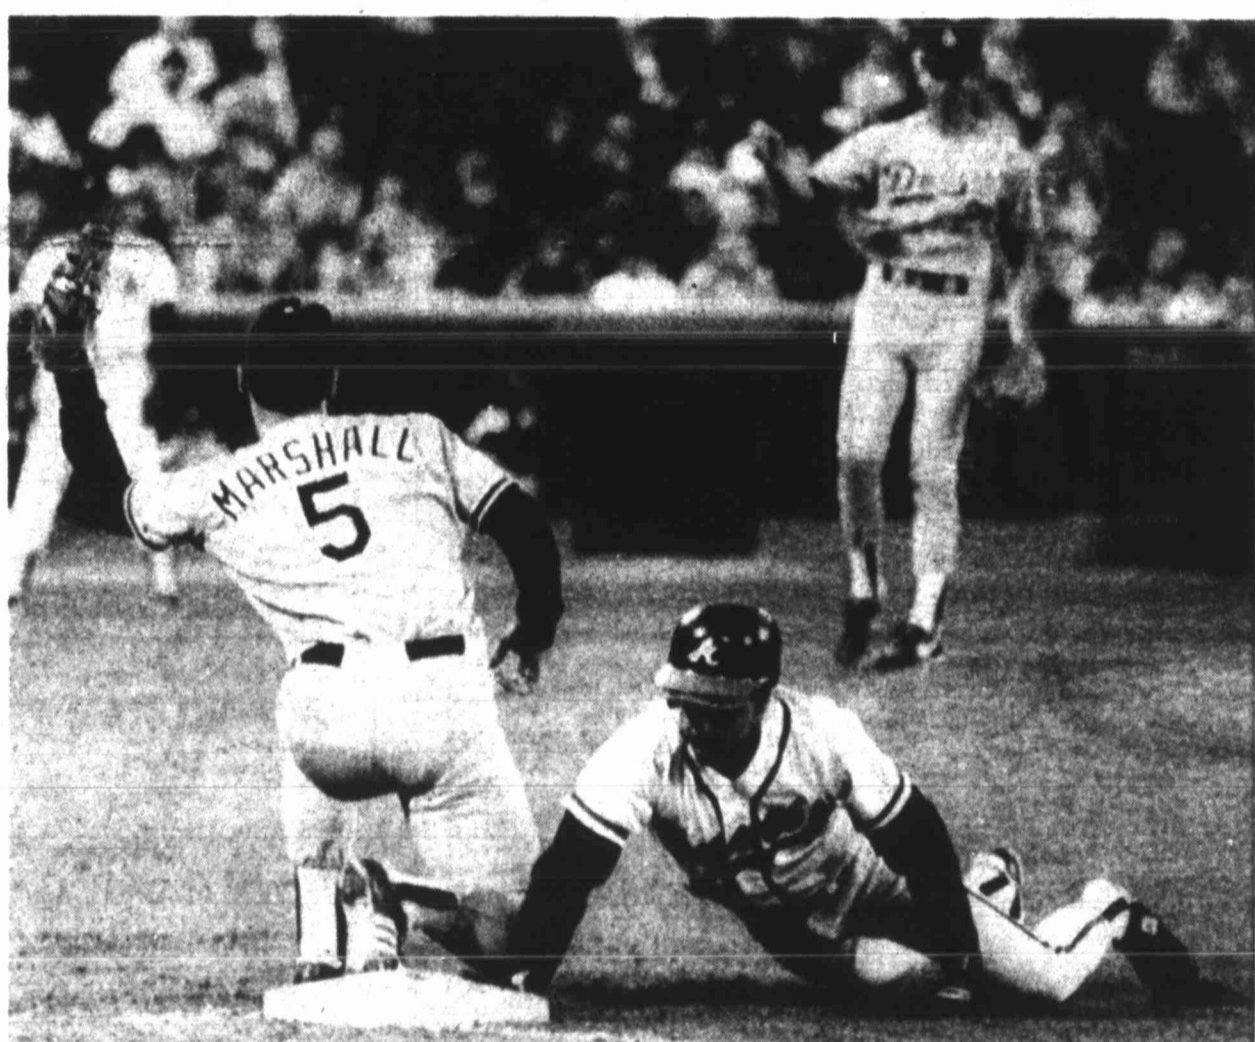

Strawberry's two-run homer chased Heaton in the fifth and Carter followed with a home run against Andy McGaffigan. Carter has 28 multi-homer games in his career.

Keith Hernandez had a pair of RBI singles as Bob Ojeda beat Montreal for the first time in four career decisions. Ojeda gave up seven hits in seven innings and left because his right knee began stiffening.

Heaton, averaging under two walks per game, walked three batters in the first inning as the Mets took a 3-0 lead. Hernandez and Kevin Elster had RBI singles and Tim Lincecum walked with the bases loaded.

Heaton hit a two-run single in the second, and Montreal made it 4-4 in the fourth on run-scoring singles by Luis Rivera and Casey Candaele.

Trailing 8-4, the Expos loaded the bases with no outs in the ninth on errors by reliever Roger McDowell and Elster, a rookie shortstop who pulled his foot off second base while trying to turn a double play.

McDowell escaped by retiring Tim Lincecum on an RBI forceout, getting Mitch Webster on a popup and finishing Hubie Brooks on a fly ball.

Giants 6, Padres 1
Mike Krukow pitched four-hit ball for seven innings and Bob Brenly and Brett Butler homered as San Francisco won its home opener before 54,543 fans.

Krukow, a 20-game winner two years ago who slumped to 5-6 last season, struck out six and walked one. Benito Santiago homered for San Diego in the seventh.

Brenly hit the Giants' first homer of the season, a three-run shot in the fourth against Eric Show, 0-1. Butler hit a solo homer in the fifth off Eric Nolte.

The Padres have lost all three of their games this season.

Reds 8, Cardinals 1
Danny Jackson pitched a three-hitter and drove home two runs in his NL debut as Cincinnati beat visiting St. Louis.

Jackson, acquired from Kansas City in the winter, worked around seven walks and a home run by Bob Horner. He contributed his first major-league hit, an RBI single after a fake bunt, and a sacrifice fly.

Dodgers 5, Braves 2
Pedro Guerrero's two-run single snapped a 2-2 tie in the ninth inning and Los Angeles won in Atlanta. The Braves have lost their first three games this season.

The Dodgers loaded the bases against Paul Assenmacher, 0-1, and Guerrero singled off Jim Acker. Mike Marshall followed with an RBI single.

Interference call saves day for Chisox

By The Associated Press
You thought this was the Year of the Balk? In Chicago, it's the Year of the Interference Call?

For the second time this young season, an umpire's interference ruling at a key point in a tight ballgame went in favor of a team from the Windy City.

American League

On Tuesday night, the Chicago Cubs beat Atlanta 10-9 in 13 innings after an interference call against Gerald Perry of the Braves wiped out what would have been the winning run in the bottom of the ninth. On Thursday, the Chicago White Sox held off California 2-1 thanks to a game-ending double play that included an interference call against the Angels' Wally Joyner.

Chicago's Dave LaPoint lost his shutout bid with one out in the ninth on consecutive doubles by Tony Armas and Chili Davis. Reliever Bill Long walked Joyner but got Brian Downing to hit a grounder to second baseman Fred Manrique, who threw to shortstop Ozzie Guillen. Umpire Jim McKean ruled it a double play, saying the sliding Joyner had interfered with Guillen.

"There was no interference," California manager Cookie Rojas said. "Joyner was sliding into second base. He was trying to break up a double play. He's not out of line. He didn't grab the guy."

Maybe he did and maybe he didn't.

"I'm not denying I stuck my arm out, but that's no different than sticking my foot out," Joyner said. "Ozzie wasn't making an effort to throw anywhere."

Guillen, on the other hand, said Joyner "tried to grab my right leg." And White Sox manager Jim Fregosi said replays showed Joyner had his arm locked around Guillen's leg.

"There's no question about it," he said.

In other American League games, Detroit outslugged Boston 11-6, Kansas City defeated Toronto 7-4 and Cleveland downed Texas

4-1. The Minnesota-New York and Milwaukee-Baltimore games were rained out.

LaPoint took a three-hit shutout into the ninth inning and had retired 15 California batters in a row before Armas' double.

"Early on, my fastball was moving because of the wind and the dryness," LaPoint said. "After I got going, my changeup was working."

The White Sox scored off Chuck Finley on Ivan Calderon's RBI single in the fourth inning. They made it 2-0 in the fifth when Lance Johnson's grounder to shortstop went through the legs of Dick Schofield, snapping his errorless game streak at 43. The error CHISOX page 2-B

Kansas coach may go to UCLA

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Brown, who led the Kansas Jayhawks to the NCAA championship on Monday, will return to UCLA as head coach, CBS reported today.

On CBS-TV's "This Morning," reporter Jim Lampley quoted sources he did not name as saying Brown agreed to a contract Thursday to once again coach the Pac-10 school he took to the 1980 NCAA Championship game. Lampley said the agreement was for five years, but did not specify Brown's salary.

Brown, according to the report, will fly from Los Angeles to Lawrence, Kan., today to meet with the Kansas players. He will then return to Los Angeles for a news conference at UCLA Saturday.

Brown replaces Walt Hazzard, fired March 30 after a 16-14 season. Hazzard had a four-year record of 77-47. Brown first led the Bruins during the 1979-80 and 1980-81 seasons, compiling a 42-17 record before leaving to coach the NBA's New Jersey Nets. In his first year at UCLA, he took the squad to the Final Four, losing to national champion Louisville.

GOD TILTED THE EARTH JUST RIGHT FOR THE FOUR SEASONS

When we see a picture on a wall that is crooked, we are annoyed by someone's obvious carelessness. On the other hand, look at a world globe on a stand and notice the way it is tilted. The equator is not horizontal, but 23 degrees off. This was not divine carelessness, but rather it is God's way of giving us the four seasons that keep us alive. The earth's orbit of the sun brings the direct solar rays north to the Tropic of Cancer and south to the Tropic of Capricorn, named for their corresponding signs of the Zodiac. The result is that in each hemisphere we have a time of planting and of harvest; interspersed with the seasons of flourishing life and of complete dormancy beneath the snows that replenish the water supply. Thank the Lord for this arrangement that was no accident, but a vital part of His creation, without which we would not even be here.

Now God comes to thee...and all times are his seasons.
 —John Donne

"To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven."

Religion roundup

NEW YORK (AP) — A personnel shakeup has hit the the biggest agency of the United Methodist Church, the Board of Global Ministries.

Two top-level executives, Peggy Billings, head of the world mission program, and the Rev. John A. Murdock, head of health and welfare ministries, were notified they were not being named to another term.

Earlier this year, the Rev. Rene O. Bideaux, head of national missions, announced he was resigning in June to return to parish ministry.

The Rev. Randolph Nugent, the agency's chief executive, said the decision not to reappoint Ms. Billings had no connection with criticism of the board's mission policy by the evangelical caucus, Good News, which has opposed her.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — After 17 years of work, the Bible Society of Kenya has printed the first complete translation of the Bible in the language of the Masai, traditional herdsmen and warriors of that country.

DALLAS (AP) — Attorneys or brain surgeons can live however they please and still perform flawlessly in the courtroom or operating room, but this doesn't apply to ministers in the pulpit, one of them says.

The Rev. Joel Gregory of Fort Worth, president of the state Baptist Convention, told its executive board that when a minister strays, he "loses it all."

Without mentioning names, he alluded indirectly to the scandal-topped TV preachers Jim Bakker and Jimmy Swaggart, citing "high-profile individuals who contradict that which they spoke."

Local church news

Sedinger will pastor church in Louisiana

Rev. Victor Sedinger, pastor of First Christian Church, 911 Goliad St., and his family will leave Big Spring Sunday afternoon to reside in Lake Charles, La., where Sedinger will assume the pastorate of the First Christian Church.

VICTOR SEDINGER

Church members will host a reception Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. in the church fellowship hall. Doughnuts, coffee and juice will be served.

Sedinger has been the minister of First Christian Church in Big Spring since August 1980. He and his wife, Carolyn, and their two children, Leah and Adam, have been active in many facets of the community.

Sedinger was the driving force behind the founding and establishment of the Rainbow Project, a shelter for abused and abandoned children. He served on the Rape Crisis/Victim Services Board, and is one of the founders of the Human Services Council, serving as president in 1986, according to a news release. He also is past president of the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship.

In other community activities he is an active Rotarian, was active in the YMCA and church league sports, and was one of the coaches for the youth soccer program.

Carolyn is a dental hygienist for Dr. Cave. She has been an instructor for the Howard College Dental Hygiene Program and is an award winning artist, who is working toward a degree in art, the release stated.

Sedinger said that although he and his family have mixed emotions about leaving the church and Big Spring, they're looking forward to beginning a new ministry in Lake Charles, La.

"I can't say enough about this church and this community. We've really been supported here," Sedinger said.

"We've had a great 7½ years here and we've grown a lot. It's been good."

Revivals to begin at First Church of God

First Church of God, 2009 Main St., will host revival services today and Saturday at 7 p.m., and Sunday at 10:50 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

The evangelist will be Robert R. "Bob" Lawrence. Brother Bob, as he prefers to be called, was born in 1944 in West Virginia. He was converted at 16 and began preaching at 17.

ROBERT LAWRENCE

He is a graduate of Anderson University and Anderson Graduate School of Theology in Anderson, Ind. Lawrence is presently completing his doctor of education degree at Oklahoma State University, according to a news release.

His preaching experience includes 20 years of pastoring churches in Kentucky, Ohio, North Carolina, and Oklahoma. He served three years as state coordinator for the Church of God in Oklahoma and is teaching practical ministry at Mid-America Bible College in Oklahoma City.

Lawrence is the author of several books, including "This Glorious Church," published by Warner Press. He has preached at state and national conventions, camp meetings, youth meetings, and pastor's fellowships throughout the United States, the release stated.

His wife, Linda, is a frequent writer for the adult Sunday School curriculum and works part-time at Mid-America Bible College in public relations.

She is pursuing a master's degree in Christian education and religion at Southern Nazarene University in Bethany, Okla.

The public is invited to attend the revivals.

Living Water Christian Church celebrates

Living Water Christian Church, FM 700 and 11th Place, will have a celebration service Sunday, with breakfast being served at 10 a.m.

The church is celebrating its first anniversary since the merger of Big Spring Christian Fellowship and Christ

Fellowship churches April 10. The public is invited to attend. For more information call the church at 263-3168.

Local church to show "Twice Pardoned"

"Twice Pardoned," a "must see" film presentation created especially for teen-agers, examines the destructive ways in which many young people try to cope with the pains and pressures of growing up.

avoid the snares — alcohol, drugs, illicit sex and wrong associations — that led to his imprisonment, according to a news release.

Georgia State Penitentiary. After eight years in prison, including hard time on Death Row, Morris made a commitment to Jesus Christ and began an outreach to young people to help them avoid the traps that got him into trouble.

The film will be shown Sunday at St. Paul Lutheran Church, 810 Scurry St., at 2:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

"Twice Pardoned" has been enthusiastically endorsed by noted family psychologist and best-selling author Dr. James Dobson. "I have never seen a more powerful message for teens," Dobson said. "Every young person in America needs to see these films."

Morris was miraculously released on parole March 14, 1978, after nearly a decade behind bars. He later was graduated from Southeastern Bible College in Birmingham, Ala., and was granted a full pardon by Georgia Governor George Busbee March 15, 1981, the release stated.

A nursery will be provided and admission is free.

In 1969, as a result of false testimony from two "friends," Morris was convicted of armed robbery and murder, and was sentenced to a double life term at themes of life and death; the first and last movements are prayers on the behalf of all humanity, movements two and six are psalms, three and five are personal prayers to Christ, and the central Sanctus is an affirmation of divine glory, according to the release.

Churches present John Rutter's "Requiem"

The Chancel Choirs of First United Methodist Church, 400 Scurry, St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Midland, and a 22-piece orchestra will present John Rutter's "Requiem" Sunday at 7 p.m. at First United Methodist Church.

United Methodist Church, Dallas. According to a news release, it is not strictly a setting of the "Requiem" Mass as laid down in Catholic liturgy; but instead is made up of a personal section of texts, some taken from the "Requiem" Mass and some from the 1662 Book of Common Prayer.

The seven sections of the work form an arch-like meditation on the

The "Requiem" was written in 1965 and was first performed in October of that year at Lover's Lane

The public is invited and admission is free.

Only God can give us the answers

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I'm skeptical of people who are always quoting the Bible to back up their ideas, no matter what they are. You can prove anything by the Bible, it seems to me. We need to be more analytical and intelligent in our approach to problems. — S.Y.

Billy Graham

DEAR S.Y.: You've probably heard the old saying that "you can prove anything by the Bible, if you just try hard enough." And there is a certain amount of truth in that, because you can always take a few words or sentences out of context and make it look as if that is what the Bible really teaches. Cults do this all the time. But that, of course, is a wrong use of the Bible — and (to use your words) it is not an intelligent approach to the Bible. We should read the Bible to find out what it really says and teaches, not to back up our preconceived ideas or prejudices.

And that's what I challenge you to do — to discover for yourself what the Bible says. Have you ever done that? Your letter indicates you feel we must rely only on your own abilities to solve our problems. That may be very appealing to our pride, because it suggests we're smart enough to solve them. But can you honestly say that's true? Look at newspaper headlines. Even the finest minds of our generation cannot solve the problems we face in our world and in our lives. And by ourselves we cannot solve the greater questions of life either — questions like why we are here and where we will go when we die.

Only God can give us the answers — and He has, because He loves us and wants us to know His plan for our lives. More than that, He wants us to come to know Him personally. This is why the Bible is so important, because God has given it to us to reveal Himself and His plan of salvation in Christ to us.

Unity Friends to meet

Unity Friends will gather at 7 p.m. April 12 for a "Let's Talk it Over" evening at the Unity House of Prayer, 1804 B Wasson Rd. "This is an informal time when those who attend discuss subjects in which they have an interest," said Nancy Patrick, coordinator.

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

SATURDAY,
APRIL 9, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: You need to be more disciplined where your work is concerned. Refuse to be distracted or deflected from your goals. Only steady effort will land you that position you covet. Heed the business advice you receive from the experts. Romance should become more fulfilling this summer. Keep your feet planted firmly on the ground. December is the best time for vacation travel. Your intuition will tell you where to go.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actress Keshia Knight Pulliam, Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner, actor Jean-Paul Belmondo, actress Michael Learned, western star Ward Bond, impresario Sol Hurok, actor Dennis Quaid, singer Carl Perkins, singer-actor Paul Robeson.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Try to rectify a past mistake. Find out all you can before accusing a family member of impropriety. You will be certain! A new relationship is a source of deep delight.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Skimming the surface of life will never satisfy you. Discuss a family problem with mate and you will get the support you need. A good friend is still in your corner. Show appreciation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Stop procrastinating and take care of home repairs this weekend. Travel will not prove as satisfying as staying at home. Spending more time with partner will be good for your relationship.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You are in a very productive period. Good things will continue to happen if you avoid getting overly tired. Good nutrition is linked to good health. Avoid eating between meals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Fortune will smile on you this weekend if you put a close relationship ahead of everything else. Make this a time of new beginnings. Cash flows to you through another person.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): An interesting sideline becomes more profitable. Scholarships are available for the college-bound. A neglected love is likely to stray. Good luck comes when you do the unexpected. Socialize more with your neighbors.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A great day for starting new projects. Put work before pleasure and do not attempt to mix the two. The ability to write concise memos is a tremendous asset in business.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Gambling will not pay off. Keep your hands in your pockets. Someone may try to dupe you. Stay alert. Obey all safety regulations when working with tools or machinery. Do not take chances.

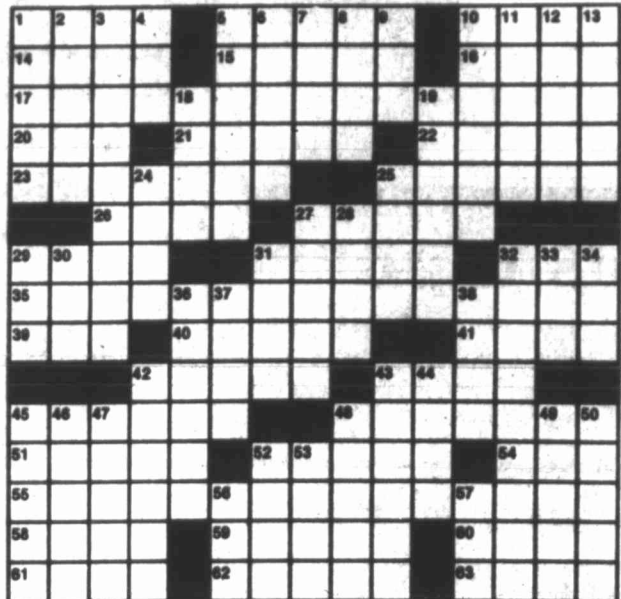

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Continue yesterday's efforts. This is no time to change course. Your ideas are right on target! Your relationship with a loved one could be improved. Make the first move to patch up a quarrel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Reread a letter about finances; a new interpretation is likely. Do not make changes on the home front without talking to mate first. Keep entertainment costs down by limiting the guest list.

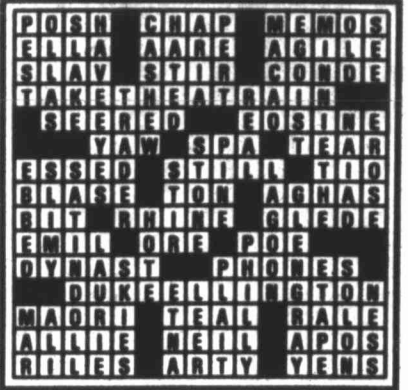

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): New ideas could be hard to come by today. Concentrate on routine tasks and projects already under way. Anyone in business for himself should have lots of options now. A partnership is one possibility.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Thrashing out your differences with loved one will clear the air. Someone influential shows new interest in you or your projects. A former relationship can be revived. Know your own heart.
