Proctor death to be observed

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Mayor A.C. Cotton Mize is requesting the city to observe a moment of silent prayer Tuesday at noon in memory of Christie Proctor.

Christie, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brooks and daughter of former Big Spring resident Laura Proctor, was thought to be missing for two years after her disappearance near her North Dallas home. Her remains were found in a field north of Plano April 14.

The funeral is scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday at First Baptist Church.

"We want (the family) to know our thoughts and concerns are with them," Mize said. "It's been a traumatic and trying experience for the family and the city."

Computer work OK'd for check program

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Howard County Commissioners today approved a request by the hot check department to hire an outside programmer to enable the department to use equipment the county purchased a year and a half ago.

Acting county attorney Harvey Hooser told the commissioners the hot check department has suffered from duplication of efforts and has not been able to properly use its computers to track offenders' partial payments since the computer operations began in late summer.

"We've had those things over there since July or August," Hooser told the commissioners. "We have three computers basically sitting idle, and we have about nine jillion ledger cards."

"We do those cards by hand and then write a report once a month on the partial payments, and the computers could eliminate a lot of our time and trouble and whatnot if we had them programmed properly."

"We have been asking for this for nearly two years, and what we want now is permission to go ahead and hire someone to program the computer for us so we can use the system and eliminate the cards," Hooser said.

Commissioners verified by discussion that county tax funds would not be used. Hooser affirmed

Residents jump to safety in fire

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An explosion and fire ripped through a paint store and spread to four other buildings, forcing residents to leap through windows to safety as a building collapsed, authorities said today. Twelve people, including five firefighters, were injured.

At least 150 firefighters battled the blaze, which reached seven alarms, and all off-duty firefighters were called in to provide backup help at fire stations.

"There was an explosion and I was watching TV at the time. I looked out the window and there was glass and debris scattered all over the street, but no fire yet," said David Bedwell, 24, who lived in a second-story apartment over the paint store.

"I opened the window and some people were shouting to me. I just jumped and they caught me," said Bedwell, who was clad only in his underwear.

Caroline Boatman, who was at a bar a block and a half from the explosion, said several patrons left and began shouting outside the windows to awaken people in the neighborhood. She said several people joined to catch residents who jumped when the building began collapsing.

"People that were in the building, some of them on the third floor, they said they felt the building drop," said Deputy Fire Chief William Walker. "The north wall dropped out and they jumped to their safety."

One woman was in fair condition with a spinal injury suffered when she jumped from a second-story window, according to St. Mary's Hospital spokesman Steve Pinzer.

Eleven others, including five firefighters and one police officer, were treated for minor injuries and released, Pinzer said.

"It was very fortunate. They must have had a friend upstairs," said Walker.

Ten people were evacuated from the building that collapsed and numerous others were evacuated from their dwellings in the neighborhood, said Police Lt. Donald Domagaleski said.

The fire was still smoldering early today, and authorities said it would be some time before investigators determined the cause. Walker said a crane would be used to pull the wreckage apart Tuesday.

Jerry Frank, a fire battalion chief, said at least 150 firefighters were called to fight the blaze, which began after 11 p.m. Sunday and was brought under control about 2 a.m. today.

The fire spread to at least two multifamily houses.

An unidentified police officer investigates the damage sustained by a police car driven by Gary Pritchett, involved in a two car accident at South Gregg and W. 22nd streets. Michael Leon Chesnut, 23, 1908

Nolan St., was treated and released from Scenic Mountain Medical Center for injuries he sustained.

Juarez dies when pickup truck rolls

A 55-year-old Big Spring man was killed when the pickup truck in which he was riding overturned on I-20 east of Big Spring early Sunday.

Guadalupe "Pete" Juarez, 602 Abrams St., was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Willie Grant about 4 a.m. Sunday, according to Department of Public Safety reports.

Juarez was a passenger in a 1984 Ford Pickup driven by Tomas Gutierrez, 48, Big Spring. Gutierrez remained hospitalized in stable condition at Scenic Mountain Medical Center this morning, a hospital spokeswoman said.

The accident occurred about 2:40 a.m. Sunday just east of the Salem Road exit off I-20, according to reports.

The Gutierrez vehicle was traveling eastbound on I-20 at a high rate of speed when it ran off the roadway, struck the center median and overturned coming to rest on its top, reports said.

Neither Gutierrez nor Juarez was wearing seatbelts at the time of the accident, according to reports.

Seven injuries in four weekend mishaps

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Seven people were injured in four traffic accidents over the weekend in Big Spring, according to police reports.

Two-year-old Roberto Perez Jr., 1601 Harding, was injured in a traffic accident on the 500 block of North Gregg Street at 9:21 p.m. Saturday.

The child was a passenger in a 1976 Cutlass Supreme driven by his father, Roberto Perez, 25. He was not treated for injuries, according to police reports.

The accident occurred when the Perez vehicle was struck by a 1971 Chevrolet Impala driven by Danny Lemon, 20, 104 N.W. Fourth St.

Lemon was cited for not having a driver's license and failure to maintain financial responsibility.

Michael Leon Chesnut, 23, 1908 Nolan St., was treated and released from Scenic Mountain Medical Center for injuries he received in an accident at South Gregg and West 22nd streets Saturday at 11:56 p.m.

Chesnut was a passenger in a 1984 Chevrolet driven by Gary Brooks Pritchett, 28, Big Spring.

A 1977 Chevrolet, driven by David Cruz, 21, Ackerly, collided with the Pritchett vehicle, according to police reports.

Cruz was cited for failure to maintain single lane and driving while intoxicated.

Three people also were injured in a three-vehicle accident at South Gregg and West 17th streets at 6:44 p.m. Sunday, police reports said.

Norma Claveran, 18, 1500 Robin St.; Ellen Percell, 24, 4403 Connally St.; and Angie Franco, 17, Big Spring were all reportedly injured in War criminal

JERUSALEM — John Demjanjuk, expressionless, sits in a wheelchair (unseen) and makes the sign of the cross as he hears the Israeli state prosecutor ask for the death sentence, Monday, in a Jerusalem courtroom. Demjanjuk, who was convicted of World War II crimes, said earlier on Monday that the judges made a "very, very, very big mistake." A related story appears on page 5-A.

Council agenda calls for debate on prison issue

By BILL FOSTER
Staff Writer

A public hearing to discuss developer Ed Davenport's request to convert the Homestead Inn in Big Spring to an illegal alien prison will be held during Tuesday's City Council meeting.

The meeting begins at 5 p.m. in the City Council room on the second floor at city hall.

Planning and Zoning Commission members are scheduled to consider Davenport's request for a special use permit to locate the prison at the vacant motel site during a meeting 5:15 p.m. meeting today.

However, the agenda packet for Tuesday's council meeting includes an ordinance that states that the Planning and Zoning Commission has "favorably recommended" issuance of the permit.

Council members also will meet in executive session with acting City Manager Hal Boyd and Fire Chief Carl Dorton to discuss personnel matters.

In other business council members will:

- Consider a 1988 street maintenance proposal.
- Review a report on skateboard park possibilities.

• Hear audit committee recommendations for audit services for 1987-88.

• Consider adoption of a mechanical code.

• Consider a request to conduct the annual "Splash Day" at Comanche Trail Municipal Pool.

• Consider closing streets for the annual Heart of the City Festival.

• Award a bid on long distance telephone service.

• Consider bidding of the city insurance package.

First reading of the following ordinances and resolutions will be held:

• Authorizing the mayor to execute a lease with C-Bar Flying service for fixed base operations at the municipal airport.

• Authorizing the mayor to enter into a lease agreement with Comanche Trail Muzzle Loaders.

• Authorizing the withdrawal of members of the fire department from the Great West Life Long Term Disability Program and transfer of contributions to other funds.

Second and final reading of the following ordinances and resolutions will be heard:

• Revising fees for swimming pool use.

• Rezoning a home at 900 S. Goliad Street from two-family dwelling to multiple-family dwelling.

Imagine: A surgical gown for your wedding

BEAUMONT (AP) — A young couple injured in an automobile accident while taking their wedding invitations to the post office traded vows on schedule — in a hospital room, the bride in a surgical gown trimmed in lace and beads.

"I didn't get to wear my dress, we just hung it in the room so I could look at it," said Kim Monzingo, who wore the special hospital gown for her Saturday afternoon wedding to Mark Woodell at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The hospital room was decorated with streamers as the young couple traded vows on schedule. The two were in an accident April 2 that left Mrs. Woodell with her legs in traction and with an arm cast.

Woodell's face was scratched and he received stitches above his eye and on his chin.

"I guess it could have been worse because we didn't have our seat belts on," Mrs. Woodell said in a phone interview from her room.

The couple, with boxes of invitations stacked in their laps, were on their way to the post office when a car pulled out in front of them.

Rescuers spent several minutes trying to free the bride-to-be from the mangled metal, the Beaumont Enterprise reported.

An elaborate church wedding including 12 attendants, flower girls, a ring bearer and two bride's maids had been planned. The couple had to give up those plans but refused to postpone the date.

Two injured as winds hit mobile home

STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Two people were injured when their mobile home was hurled onto a highway and destroyed, while houses were damaged and trees blown over as residents reported twisters dipping down in North Central Texas.

Parker County authorities closed Farm-to-Market Road 52, about 4 1/2 miles south of Whitt, after one trailer was thrown onto the highway about 10 p.m. Sunday.

A 69-year-old man was hospitalized in stable condition at Harris Hospital in Fort Worth, about 36 miles to the east.

A 72-year-old man was taken to Campbell Memorial Hospital in Weatherford, about 10 miles southeast of Whitt, in stable condition, said hospital spokeswoman Rita Wilson. The victims' names have not been released, she said.

"After that report, we received a report of heavy damage to two other mobile homes, one nearby and another about one-quarter mile away, and a barn," said Juan Fulton of the Parker County Fire Department. "But that debris was contained within the property."

In Howard County, gales blew up to 49.5 miles per hour at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, according to a spokesman with the U.S. Agricultural Research Service. The storm blew 10 1/2 hours, said Charles Yates, engineering technician.

He also noted that the area is 2.3 inches down from 1987 rainfall levels. The lack of rain is "not very good for farmers," he said, noting that moisture is needed to keep the topsoil from blowing away in the high spring winds.

No tornado formations were in evidence, however, he said.

High winds blew over trees about 100 miles northwest of Fort Worth and caused heavy roof damage in a 15-mile-long path near Graham.

"We had quite a few people call in and say they did spot twisters," said Houston Johnson of the Young County sheriff's office.

In the two-mile wide path north and east of Graham, half the shingles were blown off one home's roof, other structures were damaged and many trees were blown over, said David Hooper of the Graham Emergency Management Department.

"Some of the damage, that more or less circled Graham, could have been from a microburst, a downdraft out of a very intense thunderstorm," Hooper said.

At about the same time, storm sirens were blown in the West Texas town of Coleman, 125 miles to the southwest, after National Weather Service radar sighted a funnel cloud nearby.

The weather service said its radar picked up a funnel cloud near Coleman, 60 miles southeast of Abilene.

A dispatcher with the Coleman police department, who didn't give his name, said the town's warning siren was sounded at the request of the weather service.

Heavy rains, pea-size hail and high winds accompanied the storm, said the dispatcher.

The weather service placed most of North Texas under a tornado watch until 2 a.m. today.

Police beat

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Three burglaries and three thefts were reported to Big Spring police over the weekend.

• Wes Overton, Ackerly, told police that someone entered his vehicle and stole a radar detector, an ice chest and three credit cards. The items were valued at $250.

• Kenny Hart, 204 W. 10th St., reported that someone entered his home and stole a refrigerator valued at $100.

• Mallory Jennines, Star City Route, reported that someone entered her home and stole a carpet steam cleaner. Value of the item was not listed.

• Bill Driggers, Sunnyvale, reported the theft of a Mercedes Benz hood ornament valued at $100.

• Henry Pedro, 212 Circle Drive, reported the theft of hood and trunk ornaments from his 1985 Oldsmobile. The ornaments were valued at $60.

• Nine pin flags, valued at $360, were reported stolen from the Comanche Trail Golf Course.

Three people also were arrested by Big Spring police over the weekend.

• David Cruz, 21, Big Spring, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Cruz was transferred to the Howard County Jail and released on $1,000 bond.

• Katy Hernandez, 57, 606 N.W. Seventh St., was arrested on an outstanding traffic warrant.

• Andre Reyes Perches, 19, Knot, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated, unlawfully carrying a weapon and failure to maintain financial responsibility.

College board to meet

HERALD STAFF REPORT

The Howard County Junior College District Board of Trustees will consider employee contract renewal during its regular monthly meeting, scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Student Union Building board room.

All instructors will have their contracts up for renewal, assistant to the president Mary Dudley said, adding this is an annual procedure, and that all contracts are expected to be renewed.

There also will be an update on the progress of the Vietnam Memorial Committee's request to use a two-acre plot on SWCID land for the construction of a permanent Vietnam veteran's memorial, Dudley said.

Sheriff's log

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Two acts of vandalism were reported to the Howard County Sheriff's Department over the weekend.

• Gary Stallings reported that someone cut a fence and pulled the wire from posts in a pasture at the Creighton Ranch.

• Kenneth Lee Stonerook reported that someone shot two holes in his pickup truck. The incident occurred near the Salem Road exit off I-20, sheriff reports said.

Commissioners

problem with the proposal and she gave permission. The commissioners then approved the proposal unanimously.

A request for replacement of vehicles assigned to night duty at the sheriff's office was on the agenda. The commissioners decided to consult with Sheriff A.N. Standard before altering the budget to purchase new vehicles, since the budget allows only for $10,000 in total funding for sheriff's department vehicles. Those monies were earmarked for vehicle repairs, according to County Auditor Jackie Olson.

Commissioners approved supplying electricity to operate three central lights and two floodlights for the Tubb Pocket Park adjacent to the County Courthouse Annex. The Downtown Steering Committee's request for the electricity mandated that the committee will furnish all installation necessary and would pay all expenses except for the electricity used in lighting the park.

Purchasing requests for county fire departments were approved. Auxiliary pumps for two trucks used by the Luther and Forsan fire departments will be purchased. A tank for a fire truck in the Coahoma department was also approved, and commissioner Paul Allen said he believed that completed equipment purchases for all county departments.

Commissioner David Barr questioned whether the Knott fire department's trucks are all equipped with auxiliary pumps and Allen said he believed they were but would check on the matter.

The commissioners also voted to renew a $7,758 annual contract with Midland College for operation of the county's breath analysis equipment.

Judge Kirby said the contract will improve the county's ability to make driving-while-intoxicated arrests. The contract calls for certification and renewal training of law enforcement personnel, expert witness availability, and technical support of an Intoxilyzer apparatus through Sept. 30, 1989 including operation, supervision and maintenance.

An amendment to the agenda called for discussion of the contract.

An item discussed without being added to the agenda was the purchase of new software and/or hardware for the county's records division. The request was tabled pending information on bids.

PARIS — South African grandmother, Pat Anthony, 49, her son-in-law, Alcino Ferreira Jorgie, and her daughter, Karen, pose with surrogate grandchildren, David, Jose, and Paula (eight months) upon their arrival at Roissy Airport early Monday from Johannesburg. They will guest star on a French television show Tuesday. The boy in the center is eldest son, Alcino. Mrs. Anthony gave birth to the children in August 1987. Her daughter became sterile after giving birth to Alcino.

Death believed to be a suicide

The body of a man, the apparent victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, was discovered northeast of Big Spring at 10 a.m. today, according to Sheriff A.N. Standard. He was estimated to be in his 20s.

The man's body was found lying near his car south of the intersection of Midway Road and Moss Creek Lake Road, Standard said. "The shooting was either accidental or self-inflicted," Standard said.

A handgun was found near the body, the sheriff said.

The white male has been identified, but relatives had not been notified at press time, Justice of the Peace China Long said.

"It appears to be a death caused by a self-inflicted gunshot wound. I have ordered an autopsy to verify our investigation," Long said. The victim was reported to have suffered a gunshot wound to the chest.

Pathologist Dr. Robert Rember will perform the autopsy, Long said.

Food pantry suspended

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A proposed food pantry program for Howard County's needy has been suspended, according to Irene Rodriguez of the county welfare office.

"The organizing committee made a tour of the proposed building (a section of the Palmer House Hotel, 207 E. Second St.) and decided that it was not in an appropriate location," she said early today.

"So, we have suspended the program until we can find an appropriate building."

the accident, but did not seek medical treatment, police reports said.

The accident occurred when a 1988 Chevrolet, driven by Charles Quinton Purcell, 26, 4403 Connally St. collided with a 1982 Ford EXP driven by Claveran.

A third vehicle, a 1979 Pontiac Firebird driven by Brandon Scott Henderson, 18, 538 Westover Road, Apt. 162, was also involved in the accident, according to police reports.

Claveran was cited for failure to yield right-of-way while turning left and failure to maintain financial responsibility.

Waylon McGee, 14, and Neomia Rice, 37, both of 1204 Benton St., were reportedly injured in a traffic accident at South Goliad Street and East 11th Place at 11:02 a.m. Sunday.

McGee was a passenger in a 1977 Ford LTD driven by Rice, according to police reports. McGee and Rice refused treatment, reports said.

The Rice vehicle collided with a 1980 Buick Regal driven by Timmie Hill McCormick, 78, 1518 E. 17th St.

Rice was cited for failure to maintain financial responsibility, disregarding a red light and not having a driver's license.

Vietnam vet collects war film

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Michael M. Wiese has seen the Vietnam War twice: first-hand as a gunner on a helicopter, and through fleeting images captured by soldiers on 8mm home movie film.

Wiese, 38, estimates he has collected 1,000 hours of amateur footage during the last decade. Some of it is entertaining and some is boring but little is gory. All of it helps neutralize the nightmare of Vietnam, Wiese says.

He has pieced together some of his best footage in a 90-minute videocassette being test marketed in the Indianapolis area. The tape, "Helicopter Gunship Assault," is the first of what Wiese hopes will be a series of at least six tapes.

"In 90 percent of the film, it's unknown to me who took it or where it was taken," he said. "But still, everybody wanted to watch it because what a soldier would take a picture of over there just to show mom was not what they were showing on the news."

To Wiese, who spent seven months behind a machine gun aboard an Army helicopter, the film "is the best therapy I ever had. It's like reliving a nightmare. If you relive it long enough, it's not a nightmare anymore. I've watched this 300 times, and I'm never bored."

"Nam was such a hard story for everybody to tell people back home about," he said. "This makes the memories bubble out of you."

Some footage shows soldiers escaping the war on a muggy day by landing their helicopters on a riverbank and taking a swim. Another scene shows helicopters dropping down to rescue patrols under attack. There are scenes of helicopter gunships firing at ground targets and receiving return fire.

Most of the footage is remarkably intact after 20 years; little of the color has faded.

One pilot shows the hut he made from scrap wood and discarded rocket boxes after his tent rotted through.

INDIANAPOLIS — Michael M. Wiese of Indianapolis saw the Vietnam War firsthand as a helicopter gunner and is seeing it gain through rare footage captured by G.I.s on 8 mm home movie film.

Another narrates as a dog yaps in the background.

"If you watch over to the left, you'll see the tracers coming up at us," he says. "There they are."

Wiese says he has come across few gory scenes. "I have some helicopter accidents," he says. "I got aftermath of an ambush. But actual combat footage, I don't have much," he said.

Vietnam was the first war in which soldiers could carry a lightweight camera with automatic shutter control and focusing capability.

Still, Wiese says very little 8mm footage was shot in Vietnam.

One charged in fatal race

DALLAS (AP) — Two members of a Welsh soccer team, in Dallas to play an exhibition game, and one other person died when a pickup in which they were riding overturned during a drag race.

Police said that they were considering filing charges today in connection with the deaths.

Lee Donovan, 28, of Manchester, England, and Mark Andrew Jones, 21, of Gwent, Wales, players for the 23-member Lucas Girling Apprentice Football Team from South Wales, were killed Sunday when they were thrown from the pickup, officials said.

Also killed in the crash was Sandra Ann Spiker, 22, of suburban Carrollton. Ms. Spiker's mother, Frances Spiker, said her daughter had been dating the truck's driver for about five years.

Seven soccer team members sustained minor injuries in the crash when the pickup truck hit a median curb as it was racing a car at about 3:40 a.m. Sunday in the 2800 block of Forest Lane, near Josey Lane, police said.

Gareth Everson, 22, said they met the truck's driver, Craig Hardin Clark, 20, Saturday night while they were out for the evening in Dallas. Clark and Ms. Spiker invited them to go for a ride and the soccer players piled into the front and back of the 1981 GMC pickup. Clark then began to cruise on Forest Lane, Everson said.

Everson said he and the other soccer players had no idea the driver was going to race.

"We didn't even know what he (the driver) was doing," said Everson. "He put his foot down and we hit the curb. It was all over so quickly."

Andrew Sutton, 26, a team member, was in stable condition today at RHD Memorial Medical Center suffering from multiple cuts.

Team members canceled a Monday match with North Texas State University's "Mean Green" team and was planning to return to Wales.

Clark, of Carrollton, was released from Lew Sterrett Justice Center Sunday afternoon after posting $7,500 bond on three investigative charges of involuntary manslaughter, jail officials said.

Second court-martial begins

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Three instructors in the Academy of Health Sciences at Fort Sam Houston face courts-martial for allegedly participating in a party with school students that involved strip poker and sexual acts.

The second of four courts-martial in the scandal is scheduled to begin today.

Academy officials have strict rules against unauthorized socializing between faculty and students.

In today's proceeding, 1st Sgt. Gregory Brown faces a court-martial panel on charges of sodomy, adultery, obstructing justice and violating fraternization regulations.

The charges stem from a December party at an instructor's off-post apartment in which 13 instructors and students allegedly participated.

Staff Sgt. Elbert Gray, another instructor, pleaded guilty to participating in sex parties with students and pledged to cooperate in prosecution of the other three instructors charged in exchange for a lighter sentence.

Midlothian fights stigma

MIDLOTHIAN (AP) — Students in Midlothian felt the image of the town and of the school were tarnished by the fatal shooting last October of an undercover policeman who had posed as a student during a drug investigation.

Through a 5-month project dubbed "Fighting Back," students are trying to overcome the stigma and restore the image of this town 25 miles southwest of Dallas. A parade today was the first event on the agenda of a weeklong anti-drug campaign.

The slaying of Officer George Raffield left this town with a reputation that students say follows them wherever they travel.

Three Midlothian High School students were charged with capital murder in the slaying of Raffield.

Students bought a plaque in the officer's memory and planned to present it to Midlothian Police Chief Roy Vaughn at today's parade.

With help of the high school's "Just Say No" group, students also raised $1,200 for the George Raffield Memorial Scholarship, which is to be awarded annually to a student active in the anti-drug group, said adviser Brian Conway.

The parade and other drug denouncing events scheduled this week were the efforts of Ann Cole's middle school enrichment class.

As the events in the slaying unfolded, members of the class realized they were faced with a real-life dilemma and it became the subject of their community problem-solving project.

The project won first place statewide for community problem solving of the Texas Future Problems Solving Program.

"I think the whole town was being blamed for a few people who are involved in drugs," said Anthony Smith, 14, an eighth-grader at Midlothian Middle School.

Mattox's staff audited

DALLAS (AP) — Federal officials are conducting a special audit of the child support division in the attorney general's office as part of an investigation into a tip that one or more staffers have engaged in political campaign work on government time.

Attorney General Mattox is in the middle of his 4-year term of office.

"The office of inspector general is doing some auditing work and it does relate to a hot-line complaint that we received," said Judy Holt, spokeswoman for the inspector general of the U.S. Health and Human Services, confirming the inquiry.

Others who were questioned by the auditors said the month-old financial examination appeared to focus on allegations of political activity on Mattox's behalf by a staff member whose salary is supported by federal grants from HHS.

Opinion

Views of other Texas papers

Here is a sampling of editorial opinions from around the state.

Drug war will be strange legacy

One of the most surprising aspects of the Reagan administration is that it has lost the war on drugs. Despite all of the talk and all of the money spent, the results of the administration's assault on narcotics trafficking have been dismal. Cocaine shipments into the United States have soared during Reagan's presidency and the number of drug users in the United States remains near its all-time peak.

That will be one of the strangest legacies of his time in the White House. The Daily Astorian, Astoria, Ore.

Speakes' admission not surprising

Former White House press officer Larry Speakes' admission that he attempted to "spruce up the president's image by taking a bit of liberty with my PR man's license" has created an uproar, and no wonder. The statements Speakes attributed to President Reagan — one lifted from the lips of Secretary of State George Shultz and one fabricated by Speakes — were fairly innocuous in and of themselves. But the practice — if it had become routine, and we have only Speakes' word suggesting that it didn't — could have led to all sorts of unintended difficulties.

That's especially so in foreign affairs, where the president's spokesman could, by putting the wrong spin on a statement, easily create mistakes, even damaging impressions. ... The wonder of it all is that the president was ignorant of what was going on, or, if he wasn't, that he acquiesced in the deception. But, either way, it would fit an all too familiar pattern in this White House. Atlanta Constitution.

Spokesmen's veracity imperative

Larry Speakes is a distinguished Mississippi son, and the whole state will grieve with him over his bad fortune in this flap over manufactured (presidential) quotes. ...

Speakes lived for years under intense pressure in the demanding role of White House spokesman, under constant questioning by the press, before the eyes of the world, and he didn't make a serious blunder. ...

In his book Speakes said that he was "clearly wrong" to have created the quote(s) but said his intention was to "spruce up the president's image by taking a bit of liberty with the P.R. man's license."

Of course, that's precisely that the Washington press corps accuses White House spokesmen of doing. It also is precisely what Speakes, when he was press secretary, denied he was doing.

Truthfulness then, now and in the future must be the goal of White House spokesmen. When a spokesman's credibility is damaged, he loses his usefulness. The Greenwood (Miss.) Commonwealth

Afghan treaty step toward peace

The significance of the Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan after more than eight years of war is not lost on, but probably won't be advertised by, Democratic leaders of Congress.

Defeat of the Soviet Union is directly linked to the Reagan Doctrine's commitment of military support to insurgents who take on communist regimes around the globe.

The fighting between opposing Afghan factions likely will continue in order to establish a new Islamic government. An independent, non-aligned government in Kabul must remain the objective of American policy.

Although it may not result in peace immediately, the accord signed in Geneva last week was interpreted as a step toward peace. The Joplin (Mo.) Globe

Administration testimony valid?

Was Reagan administration testimony on the INF treaty banning intermediate-range nuclear forces "authoritative" and binding on future administrations?

Curiously enough, Reagan officials find themselves arguing vociferously that it was not — that Senate efforts to give their interpretations permanence amount to a legislative assault on executive prerogatives. ...

What brought this issue to the fore is a persistent Reagan effort to discard Nixon administration testimony on the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty and to offer a broader interpretation that would permit space-based testing of the Strategic Defense Initiative.

Last year Congress turned to its power of the purse to cut off funds for tests that Nixon testimony would bar.

But Reagan officials have returned to the fray, even if it means putting the INF treaty and the coming summit at risk. ...

We believe an administration that negotiates a treaty should offer testimony that the Senate can rely upon in giving its assent to ratification. The Baltimore Sun

Speakes probably isn't the first

So, a former White House press secretary has been caught in the act. Scandalous! Other press secretaries, past and present, have decried (Larry) Speakes' actions and stated flatly that they would have nothing to do with such behavior. The vehemence of their protest almost makes one wonder if they might have something to hide.

Speakes was merely telling the press what the president thought in a way that the president never objected to.

He probably was wrong to represent some of those views as verbatim quotes, but it wasn't as if he was misrepresenting the president's opinion on the issues.

It's doubtful that Speakes was the first press secretary to fabricate some golden quotations for the president. Lawrence (Kan.) Journal-World

Bush doesn't exactly inspire Cabinet

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — Vice President George Bush stirs fond feelings in all the Cabinet members who have served with him in the Reagan administration. But when it comes to political clout, he gets little respect.

We surveyed 33 former and current Reagan Cabinet members. They watched Bush in action at Cabinet meetings and they talked privately with him about issues.

When we asked them to rate Bush as presidential material, the majority confided, off the record, that Bush's one-time rival, Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., would be the better president.

We took our survey before Super Tuesday, while Dole was still in the running. With Bush now a virtual shoe-in for the nomination, the Cabinet members, who are all Republicans, are bound to toe the party line. But when the race was a tossup, many of them confided to us in personal interviews or through their designated spokesmen that they had qualms about Bush.

Those off-the-record responses differed markedly from the formal letters the Cabinet members wrote — most either begging out of the survey or damning Bush with faint praise.

We asked for concrete "examples of policy decisions or actions in which the opinion or work came up with examples of Bush's work. The two most enthusiastic responses came from former Education Secretary Terrel H. Bell and former Energy Secretary James Edwards. Both had come out publicly for Bush before Super Tuesday.

Treasury Secretary James Baker, a longtime friend of Bush, did not respond. His friends told us his response would only be dismissed as coming from an avowed Bush supporter.

Former Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Dole was said to have the opposite problem. Aides said an assessment she might give us about Bush would be disregarded because she is married to Dole.

Behind the fancy footwork by some Cabinet members to appear unbiased is a pattern of support for Dole.

White House Chief of Staff Howard Baker, Dole's predecessor as Senate Republican leader, was reportedly behind the campaign photo opportunity in which Dole and Reagan joined forces on the Intermediate Range Nuclear Forces Treaty. It was a temporary blow to Bush.

When we asked him about Bush, Howard Baker demurred: "As you may know, President Reagan has, on several occasions, discussed the important role the vice president has performed over the past seven years. I can think of no one better positioned to examine the job that Vice President Bush has done than the president himself."

of Mr. Bush made a difference over the past seven years." If they chose, the Cabinet members could also give us a personal "assessment of Mr. Bush as presidential material."

West Texas We still have the dream

By SARAH LUMAN Staff Writer

West Texas still retains some of the flavor it had in my grandfather's day; that is one of the small miracles we sometimes overlook.

But it is spring, and a time for noticing the miracles that come with the season. The mesquite is in bloom; from bluebonnets by the highway to mockingbirds in the porch eaves, life is renewing itself all around us.

More than that, though, there's a taste of spring in the air and a feeling of goodwill and energy among folks.

Our heritage in Texas, as the history books will tell until they are rewritten again to expunge some discriminatory irrelevance, comes from cattle, oil and a tough pioneering spirit.

The heritage remains, though Lord knows oil isn't what it used to be and West Texas land supports far more cotton than cattle.

But what we've left isn't just symbolic: witness last summer's turnaround, the first in a long, long time, in the relative worth of cattle and cotton compared to oil.

We've put most of our economic eggs in oil's not-so-secure basket, but the leadership in the legislative and executive branches appears to be dimly beginning to grasp the danger of leaving our future dependent on a single volatile commodity.

That's good. What's better is the spirit among the people in West Texas that speaks well of us against the standards our grandparents might have set.

We can rail all we want about lenient courts and indifferent bureaucracies — but when you get right down to it the people in West Texas still have the gumption to do some pretty outstanding things.

And as one of my colleagues so aptly observed awhile back, it's uncommon for West Texans to blow their own horns on the matter. So you find hundreds signing up for Christmas In April to work on houses or feed workers or help clean the homes being repaired for their elderly and disabled owners.

When you realize that most of them aren't trying to make a name for themselves, that they just look at the project as the right thing to do, a natural part of life in the community, it's tough not to feel tears in your eyes and a lump in your throat.

We have our problems. Some of them are simple, like cleaning up the Big Spring and the area around it; some of them are complicated, like the economic doldrums besetting the community.

But the difference made in the shape of 15 homes, through some of Big Spring's ordinary folks who showed up to help out, speaks well of what this town can do when it wants to.

No, the Old West isn't dead — from the cattle grazing along I-20 on the west edge of town to the rows of pickups patiently awaiting their owners' return from local barbecue joints and watering holes right down to the spirit of volunteer firefighters and house repairers — it's just overlooked too often.

Maybe we're not as wild as Florida, where you can pack a gun if you like nowadays; surely we're not as indifferent as San Diego, Texas, where a group of cockfight spectators can apparently assault and abuse a woman without interference from the audience.

Maybe we're not perfect out here, but we're not as bad as some folks would have us believe.

What we need now is to believe in ourselves and each other — and act on those beliefs. Action is needed, from simple things like not tossing trash out the pickup window to difficult things like caring enough to vote in the city, state and national elections this year.

Before the elections, though, go out and feel the sunshine, sniff the lilacs' delicate aroma, and smile at someone you know. It'll take your mind off all the ills of the world and make you feel better.

Then you'll be ready to tackle improving the world, one step at a time. After all, that's how West Texas was built.

19-year-old shot to death

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — A young man was shot to death Sunday in a gang-related scuffle as he stood in line for the movie "Colors," police said.

A 17-year-old was suffered minor injuries outside the Regency Cinema when the bullet passed through the 19-year-old's head and hit her, said Lt. David Wim.

"Colors," which stars Sean Penn and Robert Duvall and opened nationwide April 15, portrays the Los Angeles Crips and Bloods gangs. It opened amid fears it would inspire more bloodshed, but until Sunday little violence materialized.

The assailant, a man in his 20s, wore a red handkerchief denoting membership in the Bloods; the victim wore the blue handkerchief of the Crips, Swain said.

Swain the gunman had gotten out of a car and approached the 19-year-old, asking, "Are you a ricket?" Swain said the word is a derogatory term for the Crips.

Spill threatens birds

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Wildlife rescuers fear hundreds more birds could be found coated in some of the 21,000 gallons of crude oil that spilled along 10 miles of Suisun Bay.

More than 100 oil-covered birds and other wildlife were taken Sunday to Berkeley and Walnut Creek to be cleaned following Saturday's spill just outside the northeastern reach of San Francisco Bay, where it joins the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta, rescuers said.

"Oil and marshes don't go together," said Al McNabney, vice president of Mount Diablo Audubon Society. "It's doomsday for the little birds and the big ones."

Cleanup crews used vacuum trucks, skimming boats and absorbent barriers at various sites to mop up the oil, which began leaking into Peyton Slough and then Suisun Bay from drainage pipes leading to a storage tank at a Shell Co. refinery.

Three missing at sea

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — An explosion and fire struck the submarine USS Bonefish off Florida, injuring 18 sailors and leaving three of the 92-member crew missing today, the Navy said.

Crews from two frigates and a helicopter were "looking and listening for any kind of sound or indication" of the missing in the Atlantic, said Lt. Cmdr. Bill Sonntag of the Norfolk-based Atlantic Fleet.

"We're doing everything we can to find them out there," Sonntag said.

The Bonefish, one of the Navy's last diesel submarines, surfaced Sunday afternoon 100 miles east of Cape Canaveral, Fla., said Cmdr. Fred Leeder, a fleet spokesman.

LOS ANGELES — A police officer leads away Merous Kitsinian, 17, during a protest by about 100 members of a group known as the Armenian Youth Federation during a protest in front of the Turkish Consulate in Los Angeles Sunday.

Rally

Thousands remember massacre

By the Associated Press

Thousands of Armenian-Americans rallied in three U.S. cities to commemorate the 73rd anniversary of a massacre in which Armenians claim more than 1.5 million of their countrymen were killed by the Ottoman Empire.

In Los Angeles, at least 13 protesters were arrested Sunday after they smashed windows and burned a symbolic Turkish flag during a protest at the Turkish Consulate, police said.

Most of the demonstrators had been part of a crowd of 10,000 who gathered earlier Sunday at Los Angeles City College.

"We can't change the tragedy that occurred 73 years ago under the Ottoman Empire, but we can and we must change the way the world thinks about that genocide," California Lt. Gov. Leo McCarthy told the crowd.

Vasken Khodanian, spokesman for the Armenian Human Rights Council, said Armenians want the Turkish government to recognize the killings and compensate the survivors.

Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif., told the crowd he has asked President Reagan to discuss the plight of Armenians during the summit with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev. Armenia is a republic of the Soviet Union.

"Let us hear no more of glasnost if ... Gorbachev will not guarantee Armenian rights. Let us not think that 1915 cannot happen again," he said.

The Los Angeles Armenian community of 200,000, the largest outside the Soviet Union, annually commemorates the massacre.

In New York, more than 2,000 people gathered in Times Square.

"We are here to try to get Congress to pass a resolution to declare April 24 as a Day of Remembrance and to get the U.S. State Department to drop the word 'alleged' when referring to the Armenian genocide," said Sam Azadian, a rally organizer.

Mayor Edward I. Koch told the crowd: "The truth is that there was an attempt by the Ottoman Turks to destroy the Armenians and thank God they were not successful — but the truth is they tried. If we do not remember what happened to the Armenians we will not remember what happened to the Jews."

Many survivors of the massacre were among the Times Square crowd, including 80-year-old M. Manuelian.

"When I was a little boy I remember the Turks coming and taking everything from us," Manuelian said. "They took my father away and I never saw him again."

Rep. Joseph Kennedy, D-Mass., told nearly 1,000 demonstrators in Watertown, Mass., that people everywhere had a moral responsibility to call attention to the tragedy.

Mitterrand faces Chirac

PARIS (AP) — Conservative Premier Jacques Chirac today embarked on the formidable task of piecing together a fragmented right to face incumbent Socialist President Francois Mitterrand in the presidential runoff May 8.

Mitterrand, who is seeking a second seven-year term, received the most votes in first-round of balloting on Sunday.

Chirac, a 55-year-old neo-Gaullist who finished second, and Raymond Barre, 64, a former center-right premier who finished third, appeared on television after the polls closed Sunday and pledged to work together.

"I support him in his fight," said Barre, "and I ask all those who voted for me to vote for him in the second round."

However, Barre did not write Chirac a blank check. "I count on him to defend the objectives to which we are particularly attached, an open and tolerant society that rejects xenophobia, racism and extremism," Barre said.

Man to be executed

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli court today sentenced John Demjanjuk to be executed for war crimes committed as "Ivan the Terrible," a Nazi guard who ran gas chambers where about 800,000 Jews died.

"He was a chief hangman who with his own hands killed tens of thousands with cruelty ... We sentenced him to death," said Judge Zvi Tal. Onlookers clapped and shouted as the sentence was announced. Some chanted "Bravo." Others shouted: "Death, death."

Last week, the court convicted the 68-year-old retired Ohio autoworker of Nazi war crimes. It said he was responsible for the deaths of thousands of Jews at the Treblinka concentration camp in occupied Poland. About 800,000 Jews died in 1942 and 1943, when "Ivan" worked at the camp.

Only one man has ever been executed in Israel's 40-year history. Adolf Eichmann, architect of the Holocaust, was hanged in 1962.

Voters have final say

JERUSALEM (AP) — The left-of-center Labor Party adopted a campaign platform saying Israel will never completely withdraw from the occupied territories and that voters will be asked to approve any Middle East peace settlement.

The platform for November's election appeared to be more hard-line than the U.S. peace initiative initially backed by Shimon Peres, the head of the Labor Party and the foreign minister in Israel's coalition government.

The platform adopted Sunday apparently was aimed winning over voters on the right who might consider the party too "dovish."

How to build indoor-outdoor furniture

By BOB SAWYER

The trouble with most lawn furniture is that it's, well, so lawnish. During the off season, you're not likely to bring your average patio chaise inside for extra seating. Aluminum tubing and plastic webbing somehow don't quite fit in with most home decor.

What you have, then, is a set of furniture that's used for only part of the year. The rest of the time it has to be stored somewhere or be left to slowly deteriorate on the lawn throughout the winter.

Why not assemble some more versatile items? You can build this set of solid-wood chairs, coffee and end tables that will blend handsomely into both indoor and outdoor settings. Our plans include a materials list, cutting layouts and illustrated instructions.

If you're interested in fantastic bargains, the plans in our Outdoor Projects packet will please you. Included are plans for a full-size outdoor gazebo party center, a lawn care caddy to help with yard chores, and a wooden glider for well-earned relaxation.

To order the indoor-outdoor fur-

Each piece of indoor-outdoor furniture is assembled in modules, and almost all of the parts are straight lengths of 1x3 lumber. You can use hardwood or softwood with a weatherproof finish.

The assembly is done with pegs, but you might want to substitute screws. Pegs can be cut from 3/4-inch dowel rod, or you can purchase them pre-cut and shaped. When pegging, first glue and clamp

Campbell presents hair care program

The Mary Jane Club met recently at the home of Roselle Coates, with Pat Nash as co-hostess.

Dionne Campbell, who is associated with Regis Hairstylists, presented a program on the care and styling of hair. She suggested using hair care products that would absorb in the cuticle of the hair, rather than just coating the hair.

When possible, it is healthier to let hair dry naturally, rather than with artificial heat. She demonstrated how to use a diffuser on a conventional hand dryer to get a more gentle heat flow.

Campbell cut and styled the hair of Connie Walker and Bobbie Nix. She was presented a gift by the group.

In a business session conducted by Nash, the club voted to spend $50 for items needed by the Rainbow Project.

The refreshment table, draped with a white cut-work cloth, was centered with an arrangement of Blue Bonnets.

The social committee will be in charge of the luncheon May 11.

Postal recipe cookbook still available

The National Association of Letter Carriers Auxiliary 1975 met recently at the home of Martha Moody, with Vice-president Marie Daniels presiding.

Anyone wanting a copy of the cookbook "The Best of Postal Recipes," may contact a member of the auxiliary.

A contribution was made by the auxiliary to the National Association of Letter Carriers Political Action Fund in support of Hatch Act reform which currently prohibits letter carriers from participating in political activities when they are off duty.

The political action committee opposes privatization of the postal service.

Organ donor also needs consent

DEAR ABBY: This year, April 24-30 has been designated as National Organ Donor Awareness Week. Many people will sign donor cards stating their intentions to donate. However, many do not realize that just by signing the card, they do not automatically become a donor — they must get consent from next of kin.

Last November, due to the critical need for organs for transplant, required request became federal law — meaning that any time a death occurs, the next of kin must be asked for consent to remove organs suitable for transplant.

Organ donation is a very personal decision and should be discussed by all family members now — not later.

When we ask the nearest of kin for permission, we present that beautiful piece clipped from the Dear Abby column, and permission is promptly given.

Thank you for all the good you do.

DEAR PAM MAYES: What better time to again publish "that beautiful piece":

"At a certain moment a doctor will determine that my brain has ceased to function and that, for all intents and purposes, my life has stopped.

"When that happens, do not attempt to instill artificial life into my body by the use of a machine. And don't call this my 'deathbed'.

Call it my 'bed of life,' and let my body be taken from it to help others lead fuller lives

"Give my sight to a man who has never seen a sunrise, a baby's face or love in the eyes of a woman.

"Give my heart to a person whose own heart has caused nothing but endless days of pain.

"Give my blood to the teenager who has been pulled from the wreckage of his car, so that he might live to see his grandchildren play.

"Give my kidneys to one who depends on a machine to exist from week to week.

"Take my bones, every muscle, every fiber and nerve in my body and find a way to make a crippled child walk.

"Explore every corner of my brain. Take my cells, if necessary, and let them grow so that someday a speechless boy will shout at the crack of a bat and a deaf girl will hear the sound of rain against her windows.

"Burn what is left of me and scatter the ashes to the winds to help the flowers grow.

"If you must bury something, let it be my faults, my weaknesses, and all prejudices against my fellowman.

"Give my soul to God.

"If by chance you wish to remember me, do it with a kind deed or word to someone who needs you. If you do all I have asked, I will live forever."

ROBERT N. TEST

Donor cards are available by writing to: The Living Bank, P.O. Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77265. I have carried such a card for more than 15 years and feel there is nothing I can leave after my death that will be of greater value.

This is strictly a non-profit organization operating on a "shoestring" as a public service, so please be a sport and send a dollar or two along with your request. It's tax-deductible.

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc. because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Take a close look at an Arvin cooler.

A lot of evaporative coolers look about the same on the outside, so it's easy to assume they're about the same on the inside. Well, Arvin coolers deserve a closer look.

Arvin quality begins on the outside, with POLYCON, Arvin's exclusive quality finish. Powder base epoxy is electronically applied to the cabinet of each Arvin unit to seal out rust for years of trouble-free service.

Arvin quality is more than skin deep. Inside, Arvin uses heavy-duty, moisture resistant UL recognized motors, balanced blower wheels, heavy-duty blower bearings, easy quick-connect friction boxes, and maximum pad surface for high efficiency and extra cooling.

Arvin pumps are UL listed, encased in flame-retardant material, thermally protected, grounded, and powered by heavy-duty motors.

And only Arvin has stock availability — and parts availability for over 30 models.

Linksters geared for region

By STEVE DELVIN
Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers golf team is going to regional and coach Don Cook makes no bones about it — he isn't satisfied with just making the trip to Brownwood.

"There no doubt about it. We're going to Brownwood to qualify to go to state in Austin. We've got the team that can do it," said Cook.

Standing is the way is district foe and defending state champion Andrews. Andrews outdistanced the Steers by 34 strokes to win the District 2-4 title. Cook also said Borger is considered one of the favorites.

The Steers will be trying to rebound from a rough three weeks, which saw Andrews outshoot them by over 40 strokes in the last three district rounds.

But the team of Jeff Rhodes, Chris Sims, Wesley Fields, Chad Freeman, Michael Porch and Paul Barringer, held on to win second place by two strokes over Monahans.

The thing that has affected the Steers most in the past three weeks is weather conditions. Big Spring hasn't played well in windy conditions Cook said.

"If the wind doesn't blow, we'll play well. If there is good weather, there's no question we'll play well," said Cook. "We haven't played well in the wind; I don't know if its psychological or not."

"Out kids are not the strongest in the world. We hit good iron shots, but don't drive the ball as far. Like Chad Freeman, the wind really affects him because he's so small (5-9, 140 pounds). We may have to put rocks in his pockets on a windy day," joked Cook.

Freeman, the lone sophomore on the team, will be in a shoot-off with seniors Barringer and Porch, to see who claims the fourth and fifth positions on the team for region play. The first three spots are locked up with seniors Rhodes, the fifth place medalist in district play, junior Fields, and junior Sims, the ninth place finisher in district play.

Cook said the team will shoot a practice round Tuesday in Brownwood, to decide who will man the fourth and fifth spots on the region team.

"I think the key will be how our fourth and fifth men come through," said Cook. "The top three (Rhodes, Sims, Fields) have played in a lot of tournaments — and all are consistent. The first three must shoot in the low 70's. The fourth and fifth man must shoot in the 70's. It will probably take two rounds of 300 to win." But it's really the roll of the dice, you don't know who's going to play well on a particular day.

Big Spring Steer golfer Wesley Fields watches his putt during tournament play earlier this season. Fields and the Steers will be competing in the Region 1-4A golf tournament in Brownwood Wednesday and Thursday.

Sims, a three-year letterman, has been the hottest Steer of late. He shot a 78 and 79 in his last two tournaments. Rhodes, earning his fourth varsity letter, started off fast with a five-under-par 67 in the first district round, by dipped to a 82 and 83 in the last two rounds.

Fields shot a two-under-par 70 at the Western Texas College golf course in Snyder earlier this week. The Steers shot 315 overall. He feels confident of the team's chances.

"We've never been to regional and it will be a good experience. If we play well, we have a very good chance, and I think we'll play well. Personally, I'd like to shoot 75's. As a team, I think we'll have to shoot in the low 300's," said Fields.

"There was no doubt in our minds that we would make regional. After last year we knew we could make it. This year it was a tough, even district."

Regional play will begin Wednesday morning with first round action. Second round play will follow Thursday morning.

Oilers nab star Michigan St. RB

HOUSTON (AP) — Michigan State's Lorenzo White was among the busiest collegiate runners in the nation last season for the Big 10 Conference and Rose Bowl champion Spartans.

He set a Big 10 record with 56 carries in one game and finished the season with a workhorse 322 carries.

White became the first-round selection of the Houston Oilers in the NFL draft Sunday, but he won't have to work overtime for the Oilers next season.

"It'll be easier for him here," Oilers Coach Jerry Glanville said. "We're going to make our living throwing the ball, and when we do run the ball our runners get in the secondary before they get hit. I know he's excited about that."

White will be competing for playing time with Mike Rozier and Alonzo Highsmith, the Oilers' No. 1 pick last season.

"He's a great miss guy, he's a great cut back runner," Oiler Coach Jerry Glanville said. "He'll leave a lot of people hitting air."

White was the 21st player overall selected in the first round, although the Oilers had hoped to bolster their defense in the first round.

The Oilers already had traded the first of their two first round selections to the Los Angeles Raiders on Thursday for defensive end Sean Jones.

They came back in the second round and chose Pittsburgh cornerback Quinton Jones, and selected punter Greg Montgomery of Michigan State in the third round.

The Oilers had no fourth-round pick, but chose Purdue defensive back Cris Dishman and Chico State tight end Chris Verhulst with their

Cowboys try to bolster troubled receiving corps

IRVING (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys got a deep wide receiving threat, a speedy linebacker who is the son of a world champion boxer, and two burly offensive linemen in Sunday's first half of the 1988 NFL draft.

They couldn't find a market for dissident running back Tony Dorsett and didn't think enough of the quarterback crop to draft one high.

"It just wasn't a quarterback draft," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said.

Michael Irvin, a fleet and tough 6-foot-2, 190-pound wide receiver from Miami, was the first-round choice.

The second-round selection was linebacker Ken Norton Jr., of UCLA, son of former world heavyweight champion Ken Norton.

The third round pick was 6-foot-3 Mark Hudson, a 287-pound All-American from Oklahoma Sooners.

The fourth and last choice of the day for the Cowboys was Dave Widell, a 6-6, 280-pound tackle from Boston College, who is also a good long snapper for field goals and extra points.

The fifth round ended the selections for the day after 9 hours, 28 minutes. The draft was to resume at 10 a.m. EDT today with seven more rounds scheduled. Dallas had no fifth-round pick, having traded it away previously.

All attempts Sunday to trade Dorsett failed.

"There wasn't much interest in Tony," said Landry. "Sometimes people have to re-just their decisions. Sometimes you can't do what you want to do."

Dorsett asked to be traded because he was relegated to second-string duty behind Herschel Walker.

Irvin was the Cowboys' top-rated player and the Cowboys sweated him all the way.

Landry said the drafting of Irvin filled a void created when Mike Sherrard, the No. 1 pick in 1986, suffered a broken leg in training camp. Sherrard recently re-broke the same leg and his career is in jeopardy.

Irvin has no injury history.

"We were nervous Irvin might not be there. If he gets to camp without signing problems, then he has a chance to be a starter," Landry said.

Club President Tex Schramm said Irvin "is a great combination of size, speed, and great, great hands. He is in the same mold as Sherrard and Danny Noonan (The 1987 No. 1 pick) and he should accelerate our return to the living."

Irvin has 4.5 speed and is also rated an excellent downfield

This year's draft is not one of the quarterback

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Irvin and Keith Jackson, two game-breaking receivers, lasted until the 11th and 13th picks. A kicker was chosen before the first quarterback, who was really a punter.

The first day of the 1988 NFL draft on Sunday was definitely one in which teams went for needs rather than sheer athletic skill.

With few exceptions in the five rounds, which took 9 hours, 28 minutes, teams examined their holes, then went after players to fill them. That was particularly true of the stronger teams — the Cleveland Browns, Denver Broncos San Francisco 49ers, New Orleans Saints, New York Giants and even the Super Bowl champion Washington Redskins.

Typical was Miami's choice of Ohio State's Eric Kumerow with the 16th pick in the draft. Kumerow, a 257-pound defensive end-linebacker, was generally rated a second-rounder or lower but he fit one of the Dolphins' desperate needs.

While a record six wide receivers and five running backs went in the first round, no quarterbacks were chosen and the first quarterback went lower than ever before. In all, one pure quarterback was taken in Sunday's 137 picks even though six teams desperately need players at that position.

In fact the first quarterback taken was actually a punter, Tom Tupa of Ohio State by Phoenix. He was chosen with the 69th pick primarily to kick — he was the NFL scouting combine's 11th-rated quarterback and would probably be used as an emergency backup.

When Indianapolis took Washington's Chris Chandler seven picks later, the quarterback drought was finally over and a new record had been set. The lowest the first quarterback was taken previously was in 1974, when the Cowboys used the 53rd pick on Danny White, who is still their quarterback.

The first round was typical of the search for needs.

The first eight picks, starting with Auburn linebacker Aundray Bruce, already signed by the Atlanta Falcons, was predictable.

But then the Los Angeles Raiders, who had already taken Heisman Trophy winner Tim Brown of Notre Dame with the sixth choice, used the ninth on Terry McDaniel, a cornerback from Tennessee, who was projected as a late-first, early second-rounder. He will be used as a successor to the keystones of the Raiders' aging secondary, cornerbacks Mike Haynes and Lester Hayes.

Then the Giants took 290-pound offensive tackle Eric Moore of Indiana, following it up with 306-pounder John Elliott of Michigan on the second round as they chose to rebuild the offensive line that was in part responsible for their slip to 6-9 from a Super Bowl title in 1986.

Jackson slipped by the Cardinals

Player drowns, but saves son

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — A United States Football League standout who signed a free-agent contract with the Detroit Lions earlier this year drowned Saturday while fishing for trout near his hometown.

Gill Anthony Stegall, 26, drowned when the boat in which he, his 4-year-old son, his brother and a friend were fishing capsized Saturday afternoon. The four were fishing on the Little Red River near Pangburn.

According to Coroner Beth Kennedy of White County, the boat in which the four were in hit a stump, turned sideways and took on water when the four leaned in the same direction. Stegall's brother, Ricky, said Stegall grabbed his child, Gill Jr., and handed the boy to his friend before going under. Stegall's brother and his friend, holding Stegall's son, swam safely to shore. Stegall's body was recovered Sunday morning by White County rescue workers.

Stegall, a wide receiver, was to report to the Lions' training camp next week.

Stegall played for the St. Louis Cardinals last season during the NFL players strike. He played for Denver in the USFL, setting a single-game reception record for the league with 16 catches. Stegall also also played one season with Montreal of the Canadian Football League.

A standout in both football and track and Searcy High School, Stegall lettered as a wide receiver, running back and kick returner for Arkansas State from 1980-82.

Mills may not go to Kentucky

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The controversy surrounding Chris Mills' recruitment to play basketball for the University of Kentucky has prompted his father to say he does not know if his son will enroll at the school.

Claud Mills said he was tired of the controversy and said he was being harassed by journalists. "I don't care anymore. I'm sick of it," he said. "I've got a hundred reporters calling me every day. I'm sick and tired of you accusing my son of something."

Because of the furor, Claud Mills said he does not want his son, considered one of the nation's top high school players, to go to Kentucky.

"I really don't," he said in a weekend interview with the Lexington, Ky., Herald-Leader. "I really don't know if he's coming to Kentucky or not. I really don't know. It's up to the NCAA."

The outcome of an NCAA investigation of Chris Mills' recruitment could affect where he is eligible to play.

The NCAA and university are investigating allegations that $1,000 in cash was found when an Emery overnight mail envelope addressed to Claud Mills popped open at a Los Angeles sorting center. The sender was listed as Kentucky assistant coach Dwane Casey.

Casey has denied all knowledge of the money, and Mills repeated his denial in the interview. "I didn't ask Kentucky for no money. I have money. (Head Coach (Eddie) Sutton will tell you right now. He never sent me no money, and I never asked for no money," Mills said.

Mills said his son "could have gone anywhere in the country for $50,000 or $100,000. What the hell you talking about — $1,000. That's slavery."

"Chris Mills ain't no $1,000 man. He's one of the top players in the nation. "He didn't come there for no money. UNLV — Las Vegas — has got more money than Kentucky."

Pitcher just misses no-hitter vs. Astros

By The Associated Press
 Andy Hawkins was an unlikely hero for the San Diego Padres. Hawkins, who hadn't pitched a shutout in almost two years and entered the game with a 6.75 earned run average, pitched a one-hitter Sunday as the Padres beat the Houston Astros 3-0 and completed a sweep of their three-game series in San Diego.

Bill Doran spoiled the no-hitter with a leadoff single in the seventh, but was quickly erased on a double play.

"I really wasn't expecting (a no-hitter)," said Hawkins, 2-1, who struck out five and walked three. "Maybe if it had gotten into the eighth or ninth it might have been different."

National League

It was the 12th one-hitter in Padres' history and the first since Jimmy Jones beat the Astros 5-0 on Sept. 21, 1966. No San Diego pitcher has ever thrown a no-hitter.

Hawkins, 28, was plagued by shoulder problems last season and finished with a 3-10 record and 5.05 ERA. But he was in complete control Sunday, not allowing a Houston runner past second base.

The Astros, who have lost 10 in a row at Jack Murphy Stadium, scored only one run against the Padres in the three-game series.

The Padres took a 1-0 lead in the fifth on rookie Roberto Alomar's RBI-single off starter Jim Deshaies, 1-2. San Diego made it 3-0 in the eighth on an RBI-triple by Marvell Wynne and a run-scoring bunt single by Benito Santiago.

Braves 4, Cubs 2
 Darnell Coles hit a tie-breaking single and Rafael Belliard followed with a run-scoring triple in the fourth inning as streaking Pittsburgh completed a three-game sweep at Three Rivers Stadium.

Bob Walk, 3-1, held the Cubs to two runs on six hits over 6 2/3 innings as the Pirates won for the 11th time in 13 games, including five of six against the Cubs. The Pirates, who are leading the NL East by two games, are 8-1 at home this season.

Cardinals 5, Mets 4
 Willie McGee singled through a drawn-in infield to snap a tie in the seventh inning as St. Louis beat visiting New York for the first time in six games this season.

Bob Horner's sacrifice fly and Tom Brunansky's RBI-single capped a three-run rally that gave St. Louis a 5-2 lead in the seventh.

Howard Johnson hit a two-out, two-run homer in the ninth off starter Danny Cox, but reliever Todd Worrell came in and got Mackey Sasser to fly out to end the game.

Worrell picked up his fourth save. Cox, 2-2, allowed nine hits, struck out two and walked none.

Braves 4, Reds 1
 Dale Murphy broke out of a slump with three hits as Atlanta snapped a 28-inning scoring drought and won its first home game of the season after nine defeats.

The Braves ended their scoreless streak in the first inning when Ron Gant doubled and scored on Murphy's single.

Rookie Pete Smith, 1-1, picked up the win. He allowed five hits, struck out two and walked two before giving way to reliever Bruce Sutter in the seventh. After Sutter pitched two hitless innings, Paul Assenmacher got the final three outs to pick up his second save.

Expos 3, Phillies 1
 Mike Fitzgerald's RBI-single in the eighth inning broke a 1-1 tie, and Dennis Martinez allowed five hits over 7 1/3 innings as visiting Montreal defeated Philadelphia.

After Tim Wallach opened the eighth with a double, Kent Tekulve relieved Phillies starter Don Carman, 2-2. Wallach went to third on Andres Galarraga's groundout and scored on Fitzgerald's single to right.

Martinez, 3-2, allowed one earned run, struck out three and did not walk a batter before being relieved by Tim Burke with a man on second and one out in the eighth. Burke struck out Phil Bradley and got Juan Samuel on a popout to end the inning, and finished the game to pick up his third save.

Dodgers 4, Giants 0
 Mike Scioscia drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Fernando Valenzuela allowed five hits in 7 2/3 innings as the Dodgers beat the Giants in San Francisco.

won the District III Little League title last year in Big Spring. This season the District III tournament will be played in Midland.

Orioles losing streak now at 18

By The Associated Press
 Bret Saberhagen's dreams turned sweet as the Baltimore Orioles continued to go sour.

Saberhagen didn't want to be the first pitcher to lose to the Orioles this season and he wasn't. The Orioles dropped to 0-18 Sunday and stumbled closer to the worst losing streak in baseball history as Saberhagen pitched a six-hitter and Kansas City won 3-1.

American League

"I didn't want to be the first one to lose to these guys," Saberhagen said. "I dreamt about that last night."

The Orioles' losing streak is the longest in the majors since the Detroit Tigers dropped 19 straight in 1975 and tied the fifth-longest in American League history. The Philadelphia Athletics in 1920 and the Washington Senators in 1948 and '59 also lost 18 straight.

The modern major league mark is 23, set by the Philadelphia Phillies in 1961, and the AL record is 20, done three times. The Orioles extended their record for season-opening defeats and their team mark for consecutive losses — not including five straight losses to end exhibition play.

The Orioles were blown out by the Royals 13-1 Friday and lost 4-3 on Saturday.

Red Sox 4, Brewers 0
 Roger Clemens pitched a three-hitter and shut out Milwaukee for the third straight time as visiting Boston won its fifth straight game.

Clemens, 4-0, beat the Brewers 2-0 April 14 at Boston and 4-0 on the last day of the 1987 season. He struck out five and walked none en route to his 13th career shutout.

Twins 13, Indians 7
 Tim Laudner, a career .218 hitter, had a pair of three-run homers as Minnesota cooled off Cleveland to snap a six-game losing streak. Laudner is 13-for-37 (.351) so far in 1988.

The victory also broke a five-game losing streak at home for the Twins, the major's winningest club at home in 1987 at 56-25. The loss snapped Cleveland's three-game winning streak and was only the Indians' second defeat in their last 10 games.

Athletics 5, White Sox 3
 Jose Canseco hit a three-run homer and Oakland beat Chicago for its sixth victory in seven games.

Oakland scored four runs in the third off starter Rick Horton, 2-3. With two outs, Mike Gallego singled, moved to second on a walk and scored on Carney Lansford's single. Canseco followed with his major league-leading seventh homer, a shot into the upper deck in left field at Comiskey Park.

Bob Welch, 2-2, was the winner and Dennis Eckersley picked up his eighth save in eight appearances.

Chicago's Dan Pasqua broke an 0-for-18 slump with two homers.

Yankees 5, Blue Jays 3
 Reliever Mark Eichhorn threw a wild pitch to allow Rickey Henderson to score and break an eighth-inning tie as New York beat Toronto at Yankee Stadium.

With the score 3-3, Henderson opened the eighth with a single and Willie Randolph followed with a walk. One out later, on Eichhorn's 1-2 pitch to Jack Clark, Henderson and Randolph attempted a double steal and Henderson scored when the pitch bounced away from catcher Ernie Whitt.

Rangers 4, Tigers 2
 Steve Buechele hit a home run and Charlie Hough scattered seven hits in seven innings as Texas beat visiting Detroit and Jack Morris.

Buechele's homer to right-center broke a 2-2 tie following Lou Whitaker's two-run homer in the top of the fifth.

Mariners 4, Angels 2
 Mark Langston pitched a complete game allowing eight hits and struck out 10 as Seattle beat California at Anaheim.

Trailing 2-1 in the fifth, Glenn Wilson singled and Jim Presley walked against starter Chuck Finley.

Oilers

 two fifth-round selections.

The draft's final seven rounds were today.

The Oilers' 15-minute time limit ran out in the first round before they chose White.

Oilers General Manager Ladd Herzog said the team was trying to make a trade with five other NFL teams for the 21st selection.

White's selection marked the second year in a row that the Oilers made a running back their first round selection. They took Miami running back Alonzo Highsmith last year.

It also was the sixth time in seven years the Oilers used their first-round pick to select an offensive player.

White gained 1,459 yards on 322 carries for Michigan State last season and scored 14 of his career 41 touchdowns.

"For them to pick me in the first round, they had to like what they saw and have a spot where they could utilize me," White said.

The Oilers advanced to the NFL playoffs last season with an improved offense, led by quarterback Warren Moon and wide receivers Drew Hill and Ernest Givins.

The Oilers jumped from 16th in total offense to eighth last season.

Defense suffered, however, dropping to 17th in total defense among the 26 NFL teams.

Although the Oilers had hoped to seek defensive help early in the draft, Herzog said White was the best player available.

"We pick by categories and we don't drop down to a lower category just to fill a need," Herzog said. "Lorenzo was the best player available in our category."

They chose Highsmith and North Carolina State wide receiver Haywood Jeffires in the first round last year.

Defensive end Ray Childress of Texas A&M, now a starter, and cornerback Richard Johnson were first-round picks in 1985.

Prior to 1985, the Oilers had not picked a defensive player in the first round since they took Jackson State linebacker Robert Brazile in 1975.

Bolster

 blocker.

"It should help our running game considerably, and Irvin should be good enough going deep to force the defense to pay attention and get off Herschel," Landry said.

Irvin, who is scheduled to graduate May 6, still had another year of eligibility remaining with the national champion Hurricanes, but decided to come out with his class. Gil Brandt, the Cowboys' personnel director, said he tried to talk him out of it but added "I'm glad I didn't."

Irvin said: "I've always wanted to play for a team with a star on the helmet. That's the kind of person I am."

Asked about his hot dog reputation at Miami, the school's all-time leading receiver said "I'm not a hot dog, I just have fun. I don't do anything to hurt anyone."

Irvin, the 15th in a family of 17 children, said the Cowboys won't have any holdout problems from him.

"The last thing I want is contract problems," he said. "First, business is business; then I want to play football. Dallas will be nice enough to pay me for something I would be doing anyway."

Schramm said the Cowboys aren't worried about Irvin's image after which include ball-waving after touchdown receptions.

"First, we want him to have the opportunity to be a hot dog," Schramm said. "Then we'll worry about the second part."

He said the Cowboys tried to trade up from the 11th position to get Irvin but the other teams wanted too much.

"We had a lot of tough moments because we heard the Los Angeles Rams wanted to trade up," Schramm said. "Dorsett's name might have cropped up. Irvin is the kind of player who provide a big lift to this team. It's obvious that he is something special."

Irvin averaged over 17 yards per catch and set the Hurricane career touchdown reception record with 26. He also holds the school career mark for receptions (143) and receiving yardage (2,423).

Norton said the Cowboys don't have to worry about him being a boxer.

"I saw enough tapes of my father to know you can get beat up on," Norton said. "It's a rough life, pro boxing."

2-A golfers to invade Big Spring

The Region 1-2A Golf Tournament will get started Tuesday morning at Comanche Trail Golf Course. The two teams and individual medalists from eight districts will be competing in the tournament, hosted annually by Big Spring.

The girls tee-off at 8 a.m. Tuesday, with boys play following. On Wednesday, boys will tee-off at 8 a.m., followed by girls play.

Crossroads Country team Stanton will be competing in the tournament.

Forsan Booster Club meeting

FORSAN — The Forsan Booster Club will meet in the Elbow Cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Monday. For more information contact David Roman at 267-3677.

Tubbs tuff in practice tourney

JUNCTION — Freshman Rocky Tubbs from Big Spring lost but one game in four matches during the Regional Qualifying Tournament Saturday before leaving Sunday for the Regional 4A Tournament beginning today. Tubbs defeated Jochen Herrman of Paint Rock 6-0, 6-0 in his first match.

He disposed of Rodney Chant of Liano 6-0, 6-0, then Snyder's Brandon Martin went down 6-1, 6-0 before Tubbs met Sid Ball of Junction in the finals. Tubbs won 6-0, 6-0.

He will play Texas' 12th ranked 16-year-old during the tournament. Sean Cobb, top seed in the regional singles tourney.

Campbell sinks hole-in-one

Jim Magee, assistant pro at Comanche Trail Golf Course, reported Saturday that Buddy Campbell of Big Spring had scored a hole-in-one on the 15th hole. Kent Brown and Greg Earnest witnessed the ace.

Magee said he believed that was the first hole-in-one of the year on the 156-yard No. 15.

Rebels dispose of Tigers, 17-6

The International Little League Royals defeated the Tigers 17-6 Friday. Chris Morgan was the winning hurler and J. Oliva took the loss. Jee Van Johnson and Chris Morgan led the Royals in hitting.

D. Vanderbilt went three-for-three to lead Tiger batsmen. Both teams are now 1-1 on the season.

Pirates begin season with win

The American Little League Pirates won two games last week. Wednesday, the Pirates downed the Hawks 13-2 behind a combined no-hitter by Todd Parrish and David Akin. Jeremy Smith took the loss for the Hawks.

Akin led the winners with two triples and a single. James Steil had two doubles and Parrish added two singles.

On Friday the Pirates defeated the Colts 4-2 as Parrish and Akin combined for a four-hitter. Greg Biddison took the loss for the Colts.

Parrish hit two doubles and a single in the game. Akin, Steil and Jeremy Robertson hit two singles each in the win.

Michael Jones doubled twice for the Colts, and Tim Rigdon hit two singles. The Colts fall to 1-1 for the season.

NBA season over; now the fun begins

By The Associated Press
The Chicago Bulls wanted 50 victories and the No. 3 seed in the Eastern Conference playoffs, and the Boston Celtics had four regulars who saw little or no playing time.

Still, it wasn't easy. "I have the flu and I have lost my voice. I begged my guys before the game and again at halftime, not to take Boston for granted, but I guess I must have been talking to the wall," Bulls coach Doug Collins said after Chicago defeated the Celtics 115-108 on the final day of the NBA regular season.

"But, when you think we got 10 more wins this year, I can't really complain, because I think we're not just the Michael Jordan show." Jordan scored 46 points and won his second straight NBA scoring title.

Charles Oakley had 24 points and 21 rebounds, but Michael Cage of the Los Angeles Clippers had a career-high 30 later Sunday to win the rebounding championship. Cage finished with a 13.028 average to 13.0 for Oakley, who had 35 rebounds, high in the 1980s, on Friday night.

NBA

With the victory, Chicago finished 50-32, its first 50-win season since 1974, and tied Atlanta for the third-best record in the Eastern Conference. But the Bulls got the No. 3 seed and a first-round playoff matchup with No. 6 Cleveland because they beat the Hawks three times in five games.

Larry Bird stayed in Boston to nurse a sore ankle, Kevin McHale rested on the bench and veterans Dennis Johnson and Robert Parish played seven minutes apiece against the Bulls.

But Boston reserves Artis Gilmore and Fred Roberts combined for 15 fourth-quarter points, helping the Celtics cut a 94-82 Chicago lead to 106-103 with 2:39 remaining.

A three-point play by Vincent and two baskets by Jordan enabled the Bulls to rebuild the margin to 113-106 with 53 seconds remaining. Boston coach K.C. Jones complained that the Celtics "started off ugly, just like in Atlanta on Friday when we fell behind 22-4 in the first 5:19, so I benched Dennis Johnson and Robert Parish and we almost pulled it off."

The Eastern Conference champion Celtics, who got 20 points from Danny Ainge, face eighth-seeded New York in the first round of the playoffs.

Mavericks 119, Spurs 109
Dallas grabbed third seed in the West, defeating San Antonio behind 27 points and 13 rebounds from Roy Tarpley and 25 points by Mark

Aguirre.
The Mavericks and Portland tied for the third-best record at 53-29, but the Mavericks got the higher seed by winning three of five games with the Trail Blazers.

The Mavericks open the playoffs Thursday night in Dallas against the sixth-seeded Houston Rockets. The Spurs are the No. 8 seed and will play the top-seeded Los Angeles Lakers in the first round.

Greg Anderson scored 26 points and Mike Mitchell finished with 24 to lead the Spurs.

Lakers 136, Warriors 100
Los Angeles, with the homecourt advantage throughout the playoffs, buried Golden State early as Byron Scott scored 15 points while the Lakers opened a 20-3 lead.

The Lakers increased the margin to 72-44 by halftime as reserve Tony Campbell, who led the Lakers with 26 points, had 11 in the second period. Scott, who played little in the second half, finished with 20 points.

Chris Mullin had 26 points, Ben McDonald 21 and Tellis Frank 19 for the Warriors, one of seven teams in the 23-team league that failed to make the playoffs.

Pistons 128, 76ers 118
Detroit, the Central Division champions, tripped Philadelphia as Isiah Thomas had 25 points and 14 assists and Joe Dumars added 24 points.

The Pistons will play the Washington Bullets in the first round of the playoffs beginning Thursday night at the Pontiac Silverdome. The 76ers failed to qualify for the playoffs for the first time in 13 years.

Detroit took the lead for good on a three-point play by Dumars with 4:40 to play in the third quarter. The 76ers trailed only 89-88 with 1:48 to play in the period, but the Pistons scored the last eight points of the quarter, and the closest Philadelphia could get after that was 103-98 with 8:12 left.

Charles Barkley had 36 points and 18 rebounds to lead the 76ers.

Rockets 127, Suns 119
Houston snapped a three-game losing streak behind Akeem Olujuwon's 26 points and 18 rebounds and Rodney McCray's 12 points in the decisive third quarter against Phoenix.

Houston turned a 70-70 tie into an 87-73 lead in the third period with a 17-3 spurt.

The Suns, out of the playoffs, finished with seven players in double figures, led by Walter Davis with 21 points.

SuperSonics 109, Clippers 100
Los Angeles finished the season with a seven-game losing streak and the worst record in the NBA for the third straight season.

Eric White scored 20 points for the Clippers.

Draft

dinals, who in their usual enigmatic style, took California linebacker Ken Harvey, claiming they needed an outside rushing linebacker. If he works out, Harvey would compensate for two previous draft disappointments at outside linebacker — Freddie Joe Nunn, the Cardinals' first pick in 1985, and Anthony Bell, their first choice in 1986.

That left the Eagles to take Jackson.

But most of the better teams went for needs.

The Redskins, whose first pick was the last of the second round and 55th overall, took Chip Lohmiller, a kicker from Minnesota, in hopes of ending the erratic kicking game that has plagued them the last two years.

Then they traded away three later picks to move up in the third round to take another specialist, kick-returner Mike Oliphant of Puget Sound, and set up a brother-on-brother confrontation when they used their fourth-rounder to take Jamie Morris of Michigan, brother of Joe Morris, a running back for their main NFC East rival, the Giants.

Cleveland, desperately needing pass rushers, went for Clifford Charlton, a blitzing Florida linebacker on the first round, then took defensive lineman Michael Dean Perry of Clemson, the brother of Chicago's William Perry. They decided on Charlton over Lorenzo White of Michigan State, who would have augmented an already strong running back corps.

Denver, seeking to bulk up after being overwhelmed in two straight Super Bowls, picked 270-pound nose tackle Ted Gregory of Syracuse with their first choice despite his history of knee troubles. With their second, the Broncos took Gerald Perry, a 311-pound tackle from Southern University.

New Orleans, worried about the condition of star running back Rueben Mayes' knee, took the mammoth Craig "Ironhead" Heyward of Pittsburgh on the first round, then went for the receiving speed they need on the second round with Brent Perriman of Miami, Fla.

San Francisco, needing pass rushers, traded down and got two on the second round — Danny Stubbs of Miami and Pierce Holt of Angelo State. They also satisfied a need for a receiver in the trade, which brought them Dokie Williams from the Raiders.

And Buffalo, with no first-round pick, took a calculated gamble that could pay off when it chose on the second round Oklahoma State running back Thurman Thomas to fill a hole at running back. Thomas would have been a first-rounder if not for knee problems.

Of the have-nots, the Detroit Lions, a team that could use everything, seemed to do well, picking up Miami safety Bennie Blades on the first round, then getting Ohio State linebacker Chris Spielman and Florida State tight end Pat Carter with two early second-rounders.

Like the Lions, the needy teams tended to be less picky about position than the better ones.

After Atlanta selected Bruce and Kansas City and Detroit made their expected choices of Nebraska defensive end Neil Smith and Blades, Tampa Bay came through with the first surprise. Needing everything, but expected to take a wide receiver, the Bucs took the best offensive lineman, Wisconsin tackle Paul Gruber, even though coach-general manager Ray Perkins has always maintained that offensive linemen can be taken lower.

Gruber was followed by defensive back Rickey Dixon of Oklahoma, who went to the Cincinnati Bengals and Brown.

The Raiders ended up with three picks on the round — the first team since Cincinnati in 1984 to have three first-rounders. They made room for Brown by trading Williams and filled two needs with McDaniel and defensive end Scott Davis of Illinois, a talented but temperamental player.

Following Brown, the first round went this way:

Wide receiver Sterling Sharpe of South Carolina to Green Bay; offensive tackle Dave Cadigan of Southern California to the New York Jets; McDaniel to the Raiders; Moore to the Giants; Irvin to the Cowboys; Harvey to the Cardinals and Jackson to the Eagles.

Then the Los Angeles Rams, who used four of their five picks in the first two rounds for Pac-10 players, went for UCLA running back Gaston Green, who was joined on the second round by his college teammate, Willie "Flipper" Anderson, a wide receiver.

Saturday's Puzzle Solved:

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, APRIL 26, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Extend yourself in both love and business. You will reap what you sow. Take whatever steps are necessary to get spending under control. Financial planning is the key to a secure future. Learning new skills will make you more valuable to your employer. Instead of watching TV in the evening, take a special class or seminar. A relationship blossoms when you and partner open up to each other. Travel is favored in July.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: naturalist John James Audubon, comedienne Carol Burnett, author Bernard Malamud, singer Bobby Rydell, William Shakespeare.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): The harder the task, the better you will perform it today. Your determination sharpens your wits. Advice from an old friend leads to success. You are the hit of a social event!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Problems from yesterday can be solved. Co-workers are cooperative. Team effort helps increase profits. Attractive member of opposite sex breaks down your resistance! Avoid revealing too much too soon.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Weight loss becomes easier with regular exercise. An office romance is a huge temptation; resist it. Buy art for investment purposes. A close friend is a source of inspiration. Voice your admiration.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Travel will bring excellent results now. New clients are eager to do business with you. Keep a tendency to be impulsive in check. Influential people offer their support. You score socially.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Someone challenges you early in the day. Showcase your talents to best advantage. Reorganize important files while you have the time. Let go of resentment toward a friend or neighbor.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Give in to loved one's wishes involving a joint financial matter. Socializing is something you do very well. A captivating new romance sets your spirits soaring. Your head is in the clouds.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Artistic and creative interests bring you new prominence on the job scene. Do not take your talents for granted. Approach a new love interest with subtlety. Watch this person's body language for clues.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Developments related to a work problem could set your nerves on edge. Use your imagination when seeking a solution. Adopt a conciliatory attitude toward a difficult person and you will win concessions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Do plenty of planning with your pals and partners today. Real estate negotiations require careful attention to detail. You are able to mix business and pleasure successfully. Thank your lucky stars!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A financial offer grows more and more enticing. Sound advice from experts brings relief from worry. A visit from a close friend cheers you. Take a break from work tonight. Have fun.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A partnership or contractual matter could throw you a curve. Seek expert advice. Long-distance travel, academic and intellectual endeavors enjoy favorable influences. Give thought to logistics.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Insist on having all travel and communications matters spelled out in detail. Comparison shop before purchasing a luxury item. Focus more attention on a big career move. Enlist allies.
