Tubb's Addition firefighting unit is now equipped

By RAY McALPIN
Special to the Herald

Members of the Tubb's Addition volunteer fire department expect to have the unit fully operational soon, and have already seen action.

The new county unit joined two others in the last week to extinguish a brush fire and also snuffed two controlled fires for practice.

Private citizens, Howard County and the Big Spring Fire Department have supplied equipment to the new unit, temporarily located at the home of its fire chief, Kevin Calley. The location is centrally located on Angela Road, one mile east of Highway 87, and the search is underway for a permanent home for the unit.

The unit will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the cafeteria of the Elbow Elementary School. A sheriff's department representative will discuss use of the unit's new radio equipment.

DAVID ROMAN

David Roman, spokesman for the Tubb's unit, said a site on Todd Road, one quarter-mile east of Highway 7, has been offered as a donation. The county is reviewing the offer.

"We have a board of directors, a fire chief and equipment," Roman said. "But we don't have fire phones yet."

The phones connect fire units to the sheriff's office. After receiving a fire call, the sheriff uses the phones to call the closet fire unit.

The phones will be installed in six to 12 homes of the Tubb's unit in the next few months, Roman said.

The unit replaced a plan to temporarily use a 500-gallon water tank mounted on a trailer when a county truck became available, Roman says. The truck — once used in patching roads — now carries two 500-gallon water tanks, pumps and other fire equipment.

The unit is focusing on organization and incorporating the unit within the county's fire fighting system.

"We have been getting trained to work with the system," Calley said. "Things have happened real fast. We need to discuss the way we will respond to the fires and who will be doing what job."

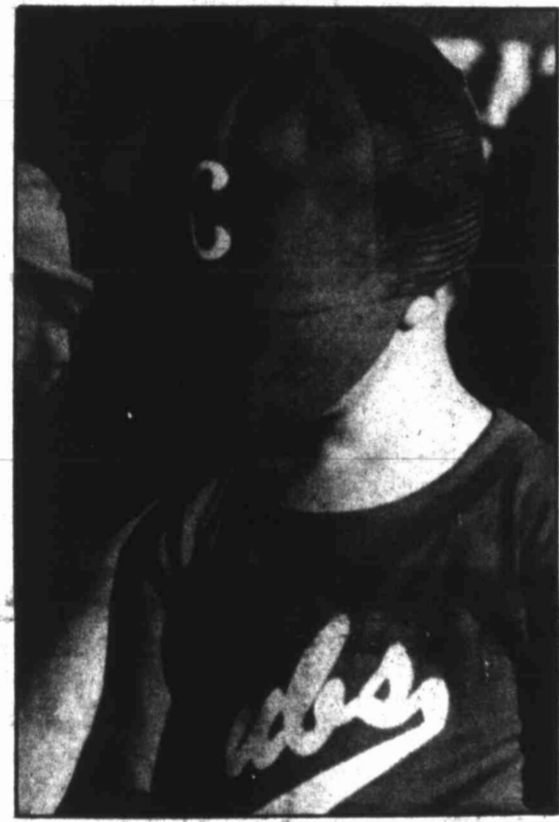

With the equipment in place, Calley said emphasis will now be placed on training. Members of the unit will take advantage of the one-week firefighting program offered by Texas A&M University.

Although 60 Tubb's-area residents volunteered to participate in the unit, final selection of the personnel has not been made, Calley says.

Despite that, the basic problem — finding the right equipment — has been solved.

"We have ordered various items for their use," County Commissioner Bill Crooker said. "Bunker suits, helmets and boots and airpicks have already been obtained."

The commissioners will discuss the new county budget in two months and will look into the unit's needs at that time, he said.

Slaying suspect Dunn dismissed from force

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

The Big Spring police officer charged in the shooting death of his wife earlier this month has been discharged from the department, according to the police chief.

Dennis Dunn, charged with involuntary manslaughter in the shooting death of his wife, Caryle, was sent a certified letter Wednesday, informing him he was discharged, Police Chief Joe Cook said today.

The dismissal was effective Tuesday, Cook said.

The official reason given for Dunn's discharge was failure to meet terms of his probationary period with the department. He had joined the local police force in November, Cook said.

The chief noted that it is unlikely Dunn will be allowed to re-join the department.

"Once you fail probation, that's it," Cook said. "There is an appeals process (that Dunn can pursue), but unless the decision is reversed, there's no chance of his returning to the department."

Cook is awaiting official word from City Attorney Jean Shotts concerning the department's right to release a photograph of the dismissed officer to the media. The Herald has made formal request for the photograph of Dunn.

Mrs. Dunn was shot once in the chest on the evening of April 11, and died at Scenic Mountain Medical Center early the next morning. Her husband was arrested that day and charged with involuntary manslaughter.

He currently is free on $90,000 bond.

The investigation into the Dunn slaying is being handled by the Midland office of the Texas Rangers, Cook said earlier.

• Three suspects arrested in connection with the beating/shooting death of an Odessa native earlier this month remain in police custody in lieu of $100,000 bonds.

Ricardo Flores, Robert Flores and LeRoy Alaniz were arrested in connection with the death of Manuel Garcia, 53, whose body was found in a west Big Spring sand pit April 7.

A final ruling into the March 29 shooting death of Fred Morales Jr., still is pending police investigation into the incident, a police spokeswoman said today.

A meeting scheduled for last week between investigating officers and Justice of the Peace Bill Shankle — who will make the ruling — has been indefinitely postponed, she said.

Morales was found on the 300 block of Trades Street March 29, the victim of a shotgun wound to the chest. The weapon used in the slaying — a .410-gauge shotgun — was found buried about 11 miles north of Big Spring a few days later.

A determination as to whether Morales' death was homicide or suicide is pending Shankle's ruling.

Senate OKs $1.1 billion package

By JILL LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Senate passage of a billion-dollar AIDS research and education bill shows that the government has finally "declared war on the virus and not on the victims," supporters say.

The Senate voted 87-4 for the $1.1 billion bill Thursday night after agreeing unanimously to require AIDS tests on people convicted of state or federal crimes related to sex or intravenous drug use.

The focus now shifts to the House, where a bill covering research on AIDS is in committee but measures addressing other portions of the Senate legislation have not been introduced.

The Senate bill authorizes $665 million for state and federal AIDS education programs, increased hiring at the National Institutes of Health, a new home health care program for AIDS victims and special efforts to help high-risk minorities and intravenous drug abusers. A committee aide said open-ended research money would bring total annual spending to about $1.1 billion.

"Finally, we have declared war on the virus and not on the victims in our battle against AIDS," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who as chairman of the Labor and Human Resources Committee spearheaded support for the bill.

Victor Basile, executive director of the Human Rights Campaign Fund, the national political action committee for the gay and lesbian community, said he was "delighted" with bill, which he said "for the first time establishes a national policy on AIDS."

During frequently bitter debate, the Senate rejected or weakened a number of amendments proposed by conservatives, several of them by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C.

The most controversial was Helms' attempt to renew an expiring 1987 ban on federal money for educational materials that allegedly promote or encourage homosexual activity. The ban passed 94-2 last year, but some senators said it has hampered public health efforts to reach the gay community.

Helms' drive was fueled by a gay-oriented AIDS education videotape he viewed with several senators on Wednesday. "I thought that I had seen everything until I saw this video," said the North Carolina Republican. "There's something wrong when federal tax dollars are used for this garbage."

But the bill's Republican co-sponsor, Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, told his GOP colleague that he ought to consider public health concerns and not just moral ones. "We have to tell homosexuals more than simply to become heterosexuals," he said.

The Senate agreed to the Helms amendment, but the victory was brief. Lawmakers also voted for a Kennedy amendment that said nothing in

School board member retires at meeting

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Big Spring Independent School District's board of trustees considered a bid on condemned property, amended the career ladder maintenance list and recognized retiring board member Jimmy Anderson during a special session Thursday at noon at the Goliad Junior High School.

The board was advised that one teacher had been left off the career ladder level two maintenance list inadvertently. The individual has met the requirements for maintenance and in keeping with the board's policy was not identified by name. The board voted unanimously to place the teacher on the list, bringing to 137 the number of level two or level three teachers employed in the district.

The board next considered a request to waive a judgment against property confiscated for back taxes. The property in question is Lot 10 and the south half of Lot 11 of the Tennyson Addition.

The bidder seeking title to the property is Juan Muniz, 410 N.E. Second St. His bid is for $300; a judgment of $700 exists against the property.

The land, which the board members discussed and determined that they were not familiar with insofar as its location and possible improvements, is presently recorded as belonging to Howard County et al.

Consisting of a vacant tract, Lot 10 and the south half of Lot 11 of the Tennyson Addition is located at 107 N. Goliad St. It is approximately 1/2 block north of the railroad tracks, between two frame homes and a mobile home, enclosed by a wooden fence. The lot has no structures on it except for a stone wall about three feet high on three sides.

It was placed for sale at a sheriff's foreclosure auction but no bids were received; the land then became the property of the county by forfeit.

Superintendent Bill McQueary recommended to the board that the sale be allowed. He said he understood the county had approved the action and the board of Howard College is considering approval.

Board president Bill Brooks demurred, saying he preferred the board have more information about the land, particularly whether it was a vacant lot and where it was.

After some discussion the board tabled further action on the matter for investigation. A decision is expected at the regular meeting May 12.

Trustees appointed Mike Murphy and Ron Logback as the district's asbestos designees. The two will inspect school district facilities and make a report recommending removal, enclosure or other steps to abate exposure to asbestos in the school.

Logback said they also will be making inspections and recommendations to school district facilities at the Big Spring State Hospital.

He said he was sure they would address the question of asbestos control at the YMCA because swimming and weightlifting is conducted there for the district's athletic program along with some physical education classes. Logback did not know Thursday to what extent the district would be responsible for that environment.

Trustees then adopted a resolution commending departing board member Jimmy Anderson for his service to the district and honoring him for services rendered to the community.

"I have been privileged to serve with some fine administrators," Anderson said in his acceptance remarks. "I believe we have some of the finest teachers assembled anywhere here in Big Spring."

Mattox: School financing needs revision

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas public school finance system is unfair but probably constitutional in the opinion of Attorney General Jim Mattox, who is defending the system in court.

A state district judge ruled the funding scheme unconstitutional because of the wide difference in spending between poor districts and wealthy districts.

Mattox, representing the state, is appealing that decision.

"I think in all probability the law can be defended from a constitutional perspective. I do not necessarily believe the law is fair, though," Mattox said Thursday.

"In this particular case I think we very well may be able to defend the law constitutionally. But just because it is defensible from a constitutional basis that does not mean it is necessarily good public policy," Mattox said, adding, "When I was in the Legislature I clearly supported a different public policy."

He also said he opposes a constitutional amendment to validate the current system, an idea mentioned by Gov. Bill Clements.

Clements met Thursday with state Comptroller Bob Bullock, who has been briefing legislative leaders on a proposal he thinks would help solve the dilemma.

After the meeting, Clements said Bullock's proposal is worthy of further study.

"They're really putting it on the table for discussion, that's what they're doing," Clements said. "It's an interesting concept, but it also represents a rather radical change from where we are now."

Tony Proffitt, a spokesman for Bullock, said the comptroller thought the meeting "constructive."

"I believe he (Clements) wants to explore them plus some other ideas of his own," said Proffitt.

Sources say Bullock has proposed a number of measures, including having the state use some bond proceeds to help poorer districts.

Clements has suggested a constitutional amendment to take the case out of the court's jurisdiction and give it to the Legislature.

Critics say that move is tantamount to ratifying an inequitable system, but Clements says the Legislature would be free to improve the quality of schools.

the bill should prevent the dissemination of accurate information to people at risk — effectively superseding the Helms provision.

The debate provoked a number of outbursts. At one point Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., tried to get a quick vote on a provision but Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., wouldn't let him.

"What the hell could be more important than 1.5 million people who are going to die?" Weicker exploded. "I suggest we should just stick to this business and just do it or not do it and go home."

Homosexuals and intravenous drug users have been the chief victims of AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome, a fatal disease spread through blood, blood products or semen. As of April 21, AIDS had been diagnosed in about 59,500 Americans, more than half of whom have died.

Helms was frustrated in several attempts to win an outright ban on federal money for programs in which drug addicts exchange shared — and possibly AIDS-contaminated — needles for clean ones.

The final version says federal money could not be used for clean-needle programs unless the surgeon general concludes they help stop drug addiction or the spread of AIDS. A disgusted Helms said "it's just a matter of time" before federal dollars flow toward the programs.

Under the testing amendment sponsored by Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., AIDS tests would be mandatory for those convicted of sex or drug crimes carrying a penalty of at least a year in prison. Results would be confidential but could be disclosed to prison wardens or victims of sex crimes.

The Reagan administration announced last year it would test new immigrants and the Senate later put its stamp of approval on the policy. The Defense Department tests all 2.1 million men and women on active military duty as well as all recruit applicants and the Justice Department said last October that it would test some federal prisoners.

Senators voting against the AIDS bill were Helms; William Armstrong, R-Colo.; James McClure, R-Idaho, and Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo. Not voting were Sens. Joseph Biden, D-Del.; David Boren, D-Okla.; Lawton Chiles, D-Fla.; Daniel Evans, D-Wash.; David Karnes, R-Neb.; Jay Rockefeller, D-W.Va.; Paul Simon, D-Ill.; John Stennis, D-Miss; Steve Symms, R-Idaho.

Despite the bill's approval, Kennedy said it represents only the first step toward a national AIDS policy that also must address sensitive testing and discrimination questions.

"The total effort has to include testing, confidentiality and anti-discrimination provisions," he said. "We begin work on those tomorrow."

Fonseca child released from ICU

HERALD STAFF REPORT

LUBBOCK — The premature infant daughter of a Howard County capital murder suspect has been released from the neonatal intensive care unit of a hospital here, but remains hospitalized today.

A hospital spokeswoman this morning said that Rebecca Elizabeth Hernandez Rivera is no longer in the neonatal intensive care unit at St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital here. The child was born here five weeks ago to Jeannie Hernandez Fonseca, 29, a Big Spring woman currently in custody in Howard County jail on three counts of capital murder and an unrelated aggravated robbery charge.

Fonseca has been held in lieu of $425,000 total bonds since October, when she was arrested in connection with the deaths of a Grand Prairie man and two Mexican nationals.

Seven other Howard County residents were arrested in October in connection with the deaths. Charged in the death of Noe Perez of Grand Prairie are Fonseca and her brothers, Frankie Hernandez and Joe Hernandez, all of 606 11th Place, along with Arthur Islas, Jr. and Pete Salazar, Jr., both of Big Spring.

Fonseca's trial has been set for July 25, according to district attorney Rick Hamby.

The child's maternal grandparents were named managing conservators of the infant April 14 in 118th District Court, according to court records.

The baby was delivered March 24 and Fonseca was returned to the jail March 27, according to Howard County Sheriff's Department records.

Fonseca also faces capital murder charges in the deaths of Manuel Villareal Calixto and Norberto Gurrola Hernandez, whose burned bodies were found in the debris of a farmhouse near Luther in October.

Also charged in those deaths are Antonio (Tony) Aguilar of Big Spring, Enrique (Ricky) Sabedra and Orlando Aguirre, both of Knott.

Perez's body was exhumed from a shallow grave in Martin County Oct. 17.

Bonds for Aguilar, Sabedra, Aguirre, Islas, Salazar and the Hernandez brothers are $125,000 each. Bonds for Fonseca total $425,000.

Cancer Society benefit raises $8,000 Thursday

Howard/Glasscock Unit of the American Cancer Society raised nearly $8,000 through its "Spring Extravaganza and Auction" Thursday evening.

Officials described the event as a success, raising nearly $4,000 from the auction itself and another $4,000 through individual donations, said Katie Grimes, public relations chairman.

"We're very pleased," she said. Participants visited and enjoyed wine and cheese before the auction began.

The most unusual item auctioned by masters of ceremonies District Attorney Rick Hamby and Tim Haynes, was the services of Rev. Keith Wiseman, pastor of First United Methodist Church, who offered to mow the lawn at the home of Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church.

The offer drew a winning bid of $340.

"He's going to wear his SMU sweater and mow the lawn at 11 a.m. on a mutually-agreed Sunday," Grimes said.

A wild game dinner for eight, prepared in the home of Glynn and Drew Mouton, brought $450.

The American Cancer Society works to provide cancer patients with hospital equipment, and cancer information to those who request it.

In addition, the ACS provides the public, as well as health professionals, with information they need to reduce cancer and its risk.

A large percentage of funds raised in Texas are invested in research grants to many major hospitals and research center in the state, said Kay McDaniel, chairman.

Flea market fined in mauling trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Operators of a now-defunct flea market where a child was mauled last October by a lion were fined $5,000 and ordered to make commercials on child abuse.

District Judge Ted Poe announced the punishment Thursday after the lawyer for Texas Flea Market entered a plea of no contest to charges of injury to a child.

Poe said he wanted to "make the punishment fit the crime better. Just fining the corporation and having the money going into the county's coffers wouldn't be as beneficial as having the same amount of money — maybe even more — spent to educate the public on the plight of abused children."

The owner corporation, which could have been fined $50,000, was given 30 days by Poe to submit proposals on the nature of the commercials and where and for how long they would run.

Their cost was uncertain, but most of it will be paid by Gallery Furniture owner Jim McIngvale and his wife, Linda, major owners of the corporation.

"It's a considerable amount of money," Jim McIngvale said, "but if that's what the judge wants, we'll do it."

It will be at least a month before such ads begin appearing on Houston TV and radio stations.

Judge awaits tests before hearing

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A judge has ordered a man accused of killing his former girlfriend and her three siblings to remain in jail under $4 million bond until physicians determine if he is competent to stand trial.

Attorneys for Leopoldo Narvaiz Jr., 20, went to court Thursday hoping to get the defendant's bond reduced.

But after objections from Bexar County District Attorney Fred Rodriguez, State District Judge Mike Machado said he would wait for a psychiatric and competency report on Narvaiz before considering a lower bond.

Narvaiz is accused of fatally stabbing his former girlfriend, Shannon Mann, 17; Jennifer Mann, 19; Martha Mann, 15; and Ernest Mann Jr., 11.

The four were found in their mobile home about 4 a.m. on April 15 and police suspect some were asleep when an intruder broke into their home and attacked them with steak knives.

Narvaiz, who allegedly threatened his former girlfriend and her current boyfriend several days before the slayings, was arrested shortly after the bodies were found.

Hearing set for fugitive arrested

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities say a 40-year-old man embezzled $1.1 million from an Iowa credit union where he worked and moved to a Houston suburb, where he was living under a different name.

FBI officials in Iowa say they knew they would eventually catch Steven Riley Hadley because he continued to contact family members after he and the money from John Deere Credit Union disappeared nearly four years ago.

But officials thought he was in Colorado, not Texas.

Hadley was arrested earlier this week after a policeman in Friendswood, where he had been living, recognized Hadley's picture on an FBI flier.

Officials say Hadley changed his name to Richard Glen Finley, remarried and assumed a lifestyle that included driving a $61,000 Ferrari and a $30,000 Alpha Romeo and taking trips to Mexico's gulf waters and Colorado's ski slopes.

He was in the Harris County Jail today without bond on indictments alleging interstate transportation of stolen money, theft of money and embezzlement from a federally insured institution. He faces 20 years in prison and $30,000 in fines, if convicted.

FCC cites radio station twice

AMARILLO (AP) — Radio station KDXR-FM is on the air for the second time in two weeks after the Federal Communications Commission pulled the station's temporary permit to operate.

The FCC said after shutting the station down April 13 that the album-oriented rock station could operate pending an investigation into "the violations, including a tower built in the wrong place."

But the FCC said Wednesday that the absence of proper lighting on KDXR's 495-foot tower constitutes "a menace to air navigation" at nearby Amarillo International Airport and broadcasting must stop.

Employee sweetheart deals 'tolerated'

WASHINGTON — Frederick Joseph, chief executive of Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc., is sworn in before the House oversight and investigations subcommittee Thursday on Capitol Hill. Joseph defended his firm's practice of allowing employees to purchase bonds that have been denied to clients.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators are portraying Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. as a greedy firm that elbowed its own clients aside so top employees could profit on hot new issues of high-yield, high-risk "junk" bonds.

But Drexel chief executive Frederick H. Joseph, in 6½ hours of testimony Thursday before the investigations subcommittee of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, steadfastly defended the firm's practice of permitting employees to form private partnerships to compete with other investors for bonds underwritten by Drexel.

Under questioning from Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of both the committee and subcommittee, Joseph acknowledged "the perception of a conflict is troublesome."

Still, he said Drexel not only condones the partnerships, but believes they benefit corporate bond issuers by making more money available to buy the bonds.

However, documents released by the subcommittee showed that on several occasions Drexel employees purchased bonds from much-sought issues for their own accounts at the same time the firm's public customers were being turned away.

In the case of Textstyrene Corp., a Phoenix, Ariz., manufacturer of styrofoam products, partnerships owned by Drexel employees purchased $12 million of an initial $50 million offering in February 1986, according to the subcommittee.

Public customers were allowed to buy only some of the bonds they wanted, and within 17 days Drexel employees made more than $900,000 profits by selling the bonds back to Drexel, subcommittee documents indicate.

In another case, the subcommittee said, Drexel employees purchased $235 million of a $2.5 billion issue in the April 1986 leveraged buyout of Beatrice Cos., a diversified food and consumer products company.

Again, other customers were denied the chance to purchase as many bonds as they had initially ordered. And less than three months later, the employees made a $2.8 million profit by selling $61.4 million of the bonds, the subcommittee said.

"Any way you slice it, the people on the outside aren't getting the same deal as the people on the inside," said Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore.

Rep. Dennis E. Eckart, D-Ohio, said Drexel, in effect, "elbowed aside" its own customers and "cut to the head of the line." He said a telephone survey of five top competitors of Drexel, whom he declined to identify, showed that none would permit similar practices.

Joseph said it is quite common that investors will want to buy more bonds than are available and said Drexel used the same criteria for deciding.

Shooting death case reopened by officials

SAN ANGELO (AP) — A grand jury will meet May 11-13 to investigate a shooting death 13 months ago that apparently was ruled incorrectly as a suicide, officials said.

down when he was shot, but was dressed and the body had been moved by the time authorities arrived, the autopsy report said.

The grand jury has been asked by Tom Green County District Attorney Dick Alcala to look into the March 22, 1987 death of Jeffrey Dale Mazuk, 30, who was killed by a shot in the chest from a high-powered rifle, The Dallas Morning News reported.

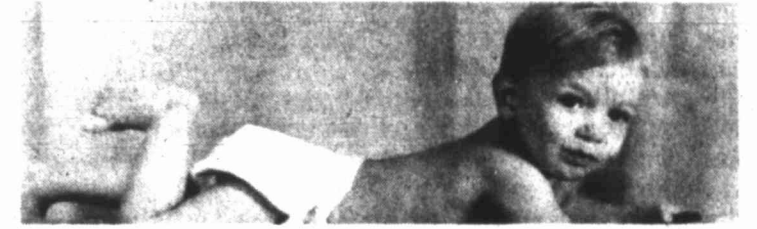

Prominent West Texas rancher J. Willis Johnson III, 57, is one of several people who will be subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury, the newspaper reported. It was Johnson who reported finding Mazuka on an obscure place on his ranch near Christoval, about 20 miles south of San Angelo.

A justice of the peace ruled Mazuk's death a suicide, but Alcala last week ordered the investigation reopened after the News presented him with a copy of the year-old autopsy report, which said the cause of death was undetermined because evidence showed that a second person was at the scene at the time of the shooting or soon after.

Alcala declined to say what evidence would be presented to grand jurors or who would be subpoenaed to appear. A source close to the investigation, however, said Johnson would be among "several" people who would be called to testify before the panel, whose proceedings are by law secret.

Johnson is a rancher and oilman who is an heir to a family fortune worth millions.

Terrible price of freeing hostages

The hostages of a Kuwaiti airliner are free. So are the terrorists who put them through hell. Kuwait did not give in to the demands of the hijackers to free 17 convicted terrorists. They remain in a Kuwaiti prison. Two Kuwaitis tortured by the terrorists found a tragic kind of liberation: They were murdered. Their murderers escaped unpunished.

"The happy end of the hijacking is an expression of national unity," a Kuwaiti official told United Press International. "The Kuwaiti people stood as one man in achieving a noble goal ... rejecting the blackmail and terrorism of the hijackers."

Kuwait has a right to revel in the freeing of the hostages without conceding to the hijackers' political demands. The tiny Persian Gulf emirate, with the aid of Algeria, gave an example to mightier nations on how to deal with hijackings.

They did not negotiate a hostage-for-prisoner trade. Rather, they talked the terrorists not to death, but to exhaustion, saving the hostages' lives. To the discredit of the Arab governments, the price of those lives was the freedom of the terrorists.

This will come to haunt Kuwait. Terrorists who survive one mission often commit other atrocities.

America stood by while the ordeal dragged on. This is an example of enlightened passivity. It was an illusion that, by some stroke of military might, we could have stormed the airliner and freed the passengers. Rather, such a tactic easily could have ended in their deaths.

The terrorists learned a mixed lesson from this siege. They learned that they couldn't get what they wanted by killing and terrorizing innocent people. They also learned that they could escape without paying a penalty for the deed.

They should not escape forever. We hope that one day they will be captured and brought to trial, though we have few illusions that this will happen.

How can international airlines prepare for the next terrorist assault? Through tougher airline-security measures. The hijackers were tipped off that Kuwait had reduced its security aboard the plane bound from Thailand.

Ultimately, responses to such hijackings should not be unilateral. Hijacking an international airliner should be a crime, not only against the individual travelers and their nation, but against all international travelers, against the system of international air travel.

International law, enforced by an international police force, would be the most effective way to deal with such events. How can nations work toward this goal without sacrificing sovereignty?

Rather than working through the United Nations, which is deadlocked on the issue of terrorism, the international airline industry should consider writing its own rules and maintaining its own independent security force. Although this could present myriad problems, it might be the most direct way to protect air travelers.

Terrorism lost a battle, but its warriors remain alive to kill and torture again. If nations can't cooperate to punish terrorists, who will?

Zoning board story incomplete

To the editor: What is the difference between a staff writer and a reporter? The reason I ask is that I attended the meeting of the Big Spring Planning and Zoning Board when they discussed the matter of a prison facility coming to Big Spring. Myself and several other persons who attended this meeting made some very favorable statements on this issue.

If Mr. Bill Foster was really at this meeting he must have heard these comments but somehow he only reported or copied the negative side of this issue. What's the deal? Thanks to Mr. Davenport for even looking at Big Spring to make such a capital investment. People should be aware that the anticipated payroll of $1.5 million will turn over about seven times in the Big Spring economy. They plan to have an annual operating budget of four million (dollars). Mr. Davenport stated that approximately 90 percent of this money will be spent in Big Spring, helping local business and bringing in much-needed taxes — taxes to keep us from losing services and jobs in our city!

Hear the knock? Knock! No! It's not someone else at the door — it's our opportunity!

JIM THURSTON
1425 E. Sixth, Apt. 120

Editor's note: Mr. Thurston is correct. The version of the account appearing in Tuesday's Herald was not complete. Space limitations resulting from a last-minute story prompted the Planning and Zoning Committee account to be trimmed — unfortunately eliminating his and others' comments. The following is an account of what was not printed:

Three individuals told Planning and Zoning Commission members that they favored locating the prison at the Homestead Inn site.

Jim Thurston told commission members that he believed the prison would boost the Big Spring economy by creating jobs and increasing local tax revenues.

"I'm for the proposition," Thurston said.

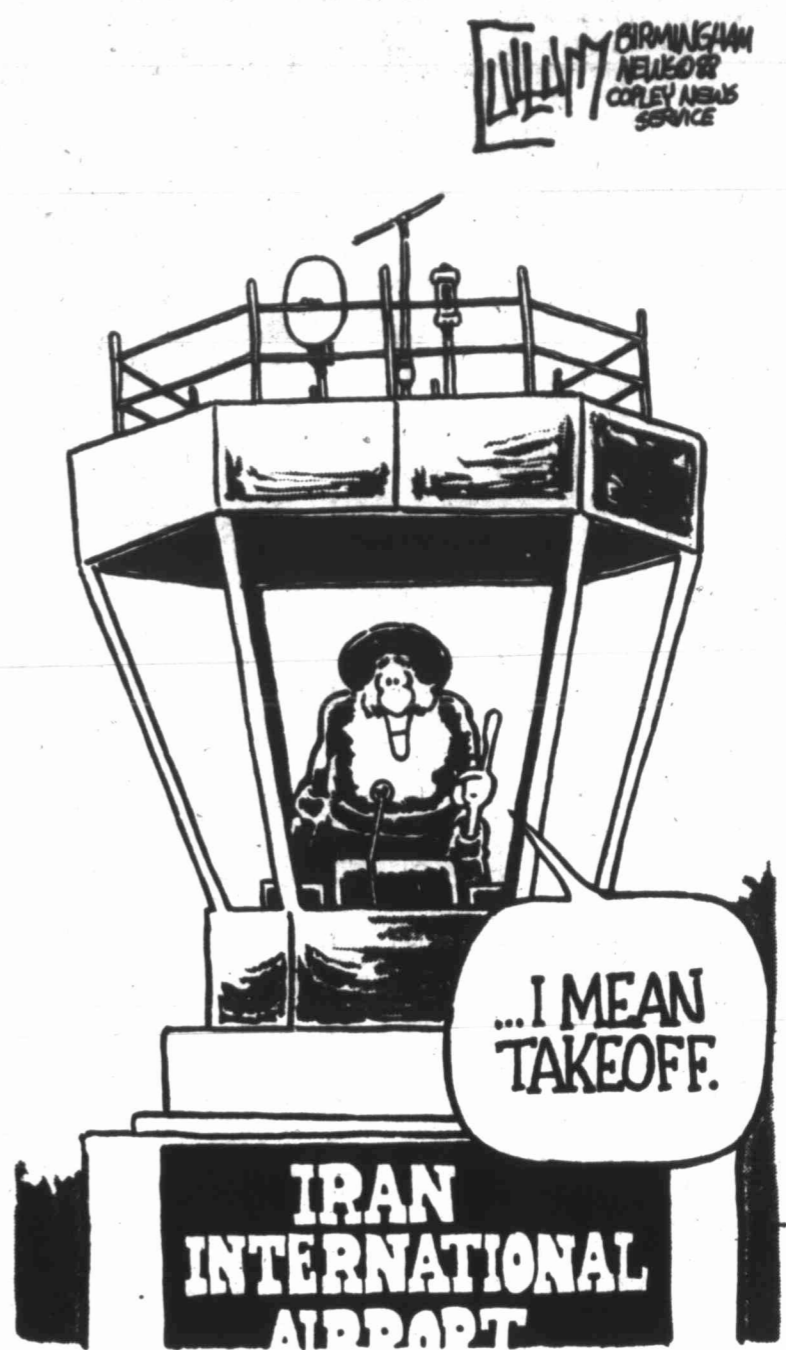

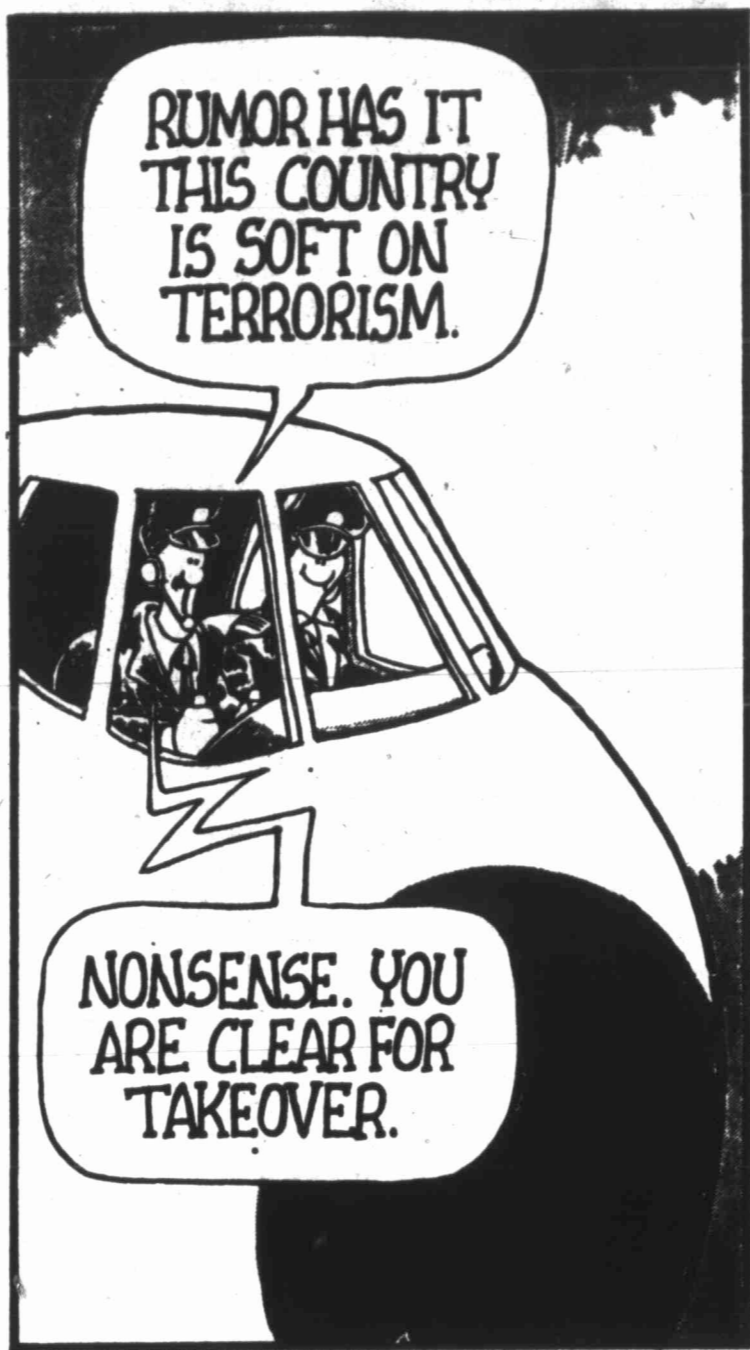

Hooper Sanders, manager of TU Electric Company, which has property located east of the motel site, said the company has no objections to locating the prison at the Homestead Inn.

"I have toured a similar facility operated by Mr. Davenport in Eden, Texas. There are residential areas on all three sides of the Eden prison and there does not seem to be any problems," Sanders said.

Ben Bancroft, an attorney speaking on behalf of Vern Johnson, a former owner of the Homestead Inn and Bancroft client, said Johnson also favors conversion of the site into a prison.

Bancroft said Johnson still owns three acres west of the motel.

"He (Johnson) feels that the prison would increase the value of his property, not decrease it," Bancroft said.

Funny papers aren't just drawn

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

I was walking through a convenience store and I noticed one of those tabloid newspapers that always have the great headlines.

The lead headline on this particular paper screamed, "WWII PLANE FOUND ON MOON!"

This, of course, was rather mild compared to other headlines you see in the world of journalism-gone-bonkers.

Some of my other favorites over the years have been, "GIRL, 11, GIVES BIRTH TO CALF!" "GHOST OF ELVIS HAUNTS MR. ROGERS!" "WOMAN PUREES HUSBAND IN HOME BLENDER!" This is my 23rd year as a journalist. Some of it has been great fun.

I covered a national political convention once where they gave the press free beer.

I've talked to two presidents, one man who claimed to be Jesus, and another who said he knew who was buried in the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, but was sworn to secrecy.

But there were the slow periods, too. When all you've got cooking is tax reform, high winds in Kansas and another ballplayer headed for a drug rehab program.

I was thinking as I left the convenience store how much easier this profession would be if we could do like the tabloids and simply make up the news. That, essentially, is what those publications do. They make them up and place them in racks in convenience stores and grocery stores. And they get away with it because a lot of people with pin-sized brains take this stuff seriously.

There's a lot of things I could write about today: the trouble in Panama, the presidential election, the West Bank, the fall of the dollar — but I'd rather make up some news.

Did you hear Big Foot made a recent appearance on "Soul Train," for instance?

You didn't know about that? "Dangdest thing ever," said Lewanda J., a "Soul Train" regular who danced with B.F. "He is a dancin' fool, but I had to watch out he didn't step on my head with one of those big feet."

I'd like to go on but a story just broke that George Bush is actually from Uranus. See you in the funny papers.

War tragedy

Family gets nothing but sympathy

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — On the morning of Dec. 4, 1983, an American fighter pilot bailed out of his crippled plane and splashed safely into the Mediterranean. He was lucky, but a family on the ground was not. The pilotless plane veered back over a coastal town in Lebanon and smashed into the home of Abdo Tabet.

The incident is a lingering reminder of the bungled U.S. air attack on Syria. Because of it, Tabet lost his wife and his home, but he has yet to receive anything more than condolences from the U.S. Navy.

Tabet was outside working his vegetable farm when the flaming A-7 Corsair speared the three-story house he had inherited from his father. Inside, Tabet's five children were still sleeping; his wife was fixing breakfast.

In a blinding flash, his house was blown to rubble and his family severely burned. Sixteen hours later, his wife died. One of his sons was left with no outer ear. The other children are scarred, their skin blackened. A gold bracelet melted on the wrist of his youngest daughter, Hyam.

The Tabetes were not anti-American. They lived in Zouk Makayel, a pro-American, Christian town. And they expected the United States would help them recover.

But their trauma and loss were not noticed in the day's action. The U.S. plane that destroyed their home was one of two U.S. planes knocked down by the Syrians during the early morning raid which came in retaliation for a Syrian attack on U.S. reconnaissance planes.

The U.S. raid was the first time since the Vietnam War that any American aircraft had been downed in combat. The headlines focused on American pilots who were killed or captured, not on the one who dropped safely into the sea, and not on the woman cooking breakfast and the children sleeping in Zouk Makayel. Tabet didn't expect the U.S. government to compensate him for his emotional loss. But he figured it could compensate him for his monetary loss, which he estimated at $440,000 for damaged property, $29,150 for medical expenses and $56,000 in lost earnings.

Our associate Jim Lynch obtained a copy of the letter Tabet wrote to the White House explaining his predicament. "I couldn't estimate the damage of my great major loss, my wife's tenderness who is more valuable to me than the whole world's jewelries," he wrote. Then he asked for compensation for his material losses, "so as I may be able to re-support my family." Six weeks after the accident, the U.S. Embassy in Beirut wrote back and told him there would be no compensation.

Tabet then wrote to the U.S. Navy's claim judge. But the judge said the United States didn't pay foreigners for damages arising from combat. Tabet could expect only apologies. "Please be assured of the sympathy ... in the loss of your wife and injury to your family," the judge wrote. "I am constrained by law, however, from rendering a more favorably reply."

As far as the Pentagon is concerned, the case of Abdo Tabet is closed. Last October, Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., inquired into the case, and a Defense Department judge sent a response that echoed the Navy's original conclusion. A Defense Department spokesman told us this month that there are no plans to reconsider.

Tabet can't afford a Washington law firm to plead his case. Instead, he has relied on the help of groups like the American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee. "The government is playing hardball," said Albert Mokhiber, director of the committee's legal services. Mokhiber brought the case to the attention of Hamilton who chairs the House Subcommittee on Europe and the Middle East.

Tabet has rebuilt his house and still holds hope that the United States will decide to at least partially compensate his family for what it has endured. Mokhiber said he doubts the Pentagon will change its stance until public outcry forces it to.

SHIP SHAPE — For a while last year, it looked as though the government-owned cargo ships that carry war supplies would lay rusting without money for maintenance. That was because two government agencies couldn't agree on who controlled the 89 ships of the ready reserve force.

The Maritime Administration has had jurisdiction over the fleet since 1946. Maintenance money came from the Navy's Military Sealift Command. But the Navy cut off the money for new maintenance contracts because of a bureaucratic squabble over control.

That could have caused a crisis if one of the world's hot spots had flared. The Joint Chiefs of Staff estimate that in such a crisis the U.S. forces would rely on shipping to deliver 95 percent of all dry goods and 99 percent of all petroleum to supply combat troops.

A House Subcommittee on Government Operations exposed the danger posed by the stalemate. Earlier this year, the Office of Management and Budget stepped in and authorized $110 million for the Maritime Administration to work on the ships.

U.S. reduces demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, unable to force Panama's strongman Manuel Antonio Noriega into exile, appears close to a settlement that would let him stay in Panama after resigning as defense chief.

The administration initially had been opposed to that option, fearing that Noriega would be able to retain effective control in Panama even if he surrendered his post as commander of the Defense Forces.

But White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater signaled the policy shift Thursday when he said that the administration, while not insisting that Noriega leave Panama, wants him at least to "leave power."

And the Washington Post reported today the administration and Noriega have tentatively agreed on what a senior U.S. official called "the outlines of a deal" under which Noriega would give up power but not necessarily leave Panama.

Navy role to be wider

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is expected to extend U.S. Navy protection to neutral ships that come under attack in the Persian Gulf, following a meeting of top officials today at the White House.

The aim is to shield the cargoes and the crews, including ships owned by American interests but flying Liberian, Panamanian and other "flags of convenience."

Secretary of State George P. Shultz told a Senate appropriation subcommittee Thursday that the issue under consideration was whether the Navy would respond to calls for assistance from neutral ships under attack.

Christians rally, pray

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sex-and-money scandals that have rocked television evangelism gave added impetus to today's Christian rally in the nation's capital, organizers say.

"We are going to Washington to pray," said the Rev. John Gimenez, pastor of Rock Church in Virginia Beach, Va., and chairman of the rally's national steering committee. "We're not going there to condemn. We're not going to denounce. We're going there to point the finger at ourselves."

Role upsets librarians

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Alarmed by the growing number of latchkey children thrust upon them, the nation's public librarians are shelving their normally quiet roles and clamoring for better day care and after-school programs.

"Librarians have to become political animals," says Sue Rosenzweig of the University of North Carolina's Center for Early Adolescence. "We've got to take care of our kids."

KAHULUI, Hawaii — Paramedics and airport personnel help to evacuate passengers from an Aloha Airlines plane Thursday afternoon. The Boeing 747 made an emergency landing after an apparent explosion ripped off a section of the jetliner's roof.

Jet explosion

One person missing, 60 injured

KAHULUI, Hawaii (AP) — A mysterious explosion ripped open an Aloha Airlines jet "like a convertible" at 24,000 feet, injuring 60 people and tossing a flight attendant to her death before the pilot landed safely.

The Boeing 737, with one of its two engines aflame and about 15 to 20 feet of its cabin exposed, flew for 25 miles after the blast and made an emergency landing at Kahului Airport at 2 p.m. Thursday (8 p.m. EDT), airline officials said.

"There was big bang when it happened and everybody looked up and we were looking at blue sky," said passenger Bill Fink of Honolulu.

The cause of the blast was unknown Thursday night, said Kevin Morimatsu, a spokesman for the state Department of Transportation.

The National Transportation Safety Board was sending investigators to the scene and FBI agents were sent from Honolulu to determine whether the blast was caused by a bomb, said FBI spokesman Robert Heafner.

Another passenger, Alice Godwin of Boulder City, Nev., said she put on a life jacket and put her head between her knees. "I sang all the hymns I knew," she said. "That kept me busy."

"Everybody screamed," said Dan Dennin, also of Honolulu. "However, it was very brief — the panic. ... The rest of the plane was intact, and we did not go into any unusual attitudes or anything like that. I think that people realized the plane was still flying and they quickly went about the business of doing whatever they could do to save their lives."

Mark Eberly, a ramp supervisor at the airport, said he dropped to his knees in shock as he watched the plane land with one of its engines smoking and a section of the top missing. "I saw hair flying in the wind and arms dangling," he said.

Craig Nichols of Pocatello, Idaho, said after the plane came to a stop on the ground, he saw "some really mangled people (passengers)," including one with an arm almost severed.

"It looked like a normal landing with the whole top of the plane gone," he said, adding that the damage began behind the cockpit, "clear down to the windows," and extended to the rear.

"It looked like a convertible," said Joe Ronderos of Los Angeles.

"It was like somebody had peeled off a layer of skin. You could just see all the passengers sitting there," said George Harvey, area coordinator for the Federal Aviation Administration in Honolulu.

At a news conference in Honolulu, Maurice Myers, president of Aloha Airlines, said the explosion occurred in the front of the passenger section, where nothing is stored.

Myers cited the "extraordinary performance" of pilot Robert L. Schornsteimer in bringing the 737-200 in safely. Schornsteimer has flown for the airline for 12 years.

"I give credit to the pilot. He brought that plane down so smoothly. It was just like riding in a Cadillac," said passenger John Lopez, 40, of Hilo.

McDonald's in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviets will get a chance to munch "Bolshoi Macs" when the first of about 20 McDonald's restaurants in Moscow opens next year, officials from the city and the hamburger giant announced today.

"I think that the McDonald's in Moscow will be the highest volume McDonald's in the world," said George A. Cohon, president of McDonald's Restaurants of Canada Ltd., a subsidiary of McDonald's Corp. of Oak Brook, Ill.

Cohon and Vladimir I. Malishkov, chief of the food service administration of the Moscow City Council, signed a joint venture agreement today at Moscow's city hall at a ceremony attended by reporters.

Major plant on strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Workers today struck a heavy machinery plant in southeastern Poland, escalating the nation's worst labor unrest in six years. A strike persisted for a fourth day at a huge steel mill outside Krakow.

Opposition spokesman Jacek Kuron in Warsaw said 21 Solidarity activists were detained across the country today, an indication Communist authorities' tolerance for worker defiance was waning.

The state-run PAP news agency said a senior government official would talk to the nation about the economy on television later today. Consumer prices have gone up by 42 percent so far this year.

Police arrest at least 30

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Security agents arrested at least 30 people in a crackdown on the opposition and during street protests against strongman Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

Arrest warrants were issued for opposition leaders.

The Washington Post reported today that the Reagan administration has reached a tentative agreement with Noriega under which he would give up power but not necessarily leave Panama. The newspaper quoted unidentified U.S. government sources as saying Noriega was negotiating with a U.S. State Department official in Panama.

Oil prices fall, talks lag

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — OPEC talks aimed at shoring up oil prices bogged down today in a technical debate without any agreements being reached, leaders said.

Arturo Hernandez Grisanti, the oil minister of Venezuela, said a meeting that broke up early today after nearly four hours had been a "waste of time."

Leaders of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries said they would reconvene this evening to continue discussing a proposal to cut oil exports by 5 percent in conjunction with six independent producers.

CHICAGO — The car that killed two people at the McCormick Elementary School Thursday crashed through a chain-link fence, careened across the school yard and came to rest on the short flight of steps. A

Car plows into crowd; 4-year-old dies

By MARIO FOX
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO — A woman whose car plowed into an after-school crowd at an elementary school, killing a 4-year-old girl and a woman and injuring eight others, has been charged with negligent driving, police say.

Witnesses said the two-door sedan crashed through a chain-link fence and careened across an asphalt playground before running up a short flight of stairs to where the crowd was gathered Thursday afternoon in an entryway of Cyrus H. McCormick Elementary School.

"There were mothers screaming, looking for their children," said Araceli Hernandez, whose niece lives with her and attends the school. "Almost every child that was on the floor had their mother next to them."

Principal Jim Crowe and teachers helped lift the car, which was lodged in the two-story building, to free some victims trapped beneath the wheels.

"I called for 10 ambulances," Crowe said. "I told them there were bodies all over the playground."

Two of the injured youngsters remained in critical condition today.

Marcella Diaz, 30, was waiting for her 5-year-old son, Roger, and her 12-year-old daughter, Lynne, when the accident happened.

"I was picking up my son when I turned my head and saw the car coming," she says. "I just screamed and picked up my son with my hands and ran away. The car missed us by a yard and a half."

Isabel Fuentes, 37, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and negligent driving, Officer Terry Pickens said. She was arrested near the school and freed after posting $100 cash bond and her driver's license.

Reuben Fuentes, a pupil at the school, said his mother apparently had come to the school to pick him up.

"Our opinion is that she was driving too fast for conditions," said Sgt. Thomas Reynolds of the police department's major accidents unit. He didn't know exactly how fast she was traveling but said Mrs. Fuentes, who suffered a bloody nose in the accident, was "going over the 20 mph speed limit."

There was no evidence of intoxication or use of drugs, Reynolds said, adding that authorities were investigating the possibility that the car's brakes failed or the accelerator malfunctioned.

A police spokeswoman who declined to give her name said today she was unsure whether Mrs. Fuentes honked her horn or tried to warn those in her car's path.

Alma Cordero, Mrs. Fuentes' niece, said she had been told the car needed repairs. "She is a real good driver," said Ms. Cordero, 28. "She never got into an accident."

The schoolground was left littered with shattered glass, bodies and blood. "Everyone was screaming and running around," Liz Escarzaga, 18, said of what happened. "Some ladies started praying."

"I was helping one mother because she kept screaming for help," Miss Escarzaga said. "In school, they say when someone's injured don't move him because they get can get worse."

"I took off my jacket," she said. "I took off my sweater and then put them both under a boy's head. He passed out."

Authorities identified the dead as Veronica Marquez, 4, who suffered head and abdominal injuries, and Dolores Torres, between 60 and 65. "She waits there every day faithfully to make sure her kids get home safely," Crowe said of Mrs. Torres, whose grandchildren attend the school.

The school system will try to arrange a special memorial, said Manfred Byrd, superintendent of the Chicago Public Schools.

"We want to help those students overcome their grief," he said. "If we have to do counseling, we'll do that."

Authorities decided to open the school today because "I think the teachers can help the children overcome this tragedy."

Wind and tides threaten to spread oil slick

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Strong wind and rising tides hampered the cleanup of a 175,000-gallon oil spill and posed a new threat to a fragile bird sanctuary where nearly 200 oil-soaked birds and animals have died. "The good news is the oil is no longer getting out of Peyton Slough, where 80 percent of it was trapped, but the bad news is that what's out there in the strait and bays is going to get swirled around a bit by nature," Coast Guard spokesman Dave Zawadzki said Thursday.

Meanwhile, a state water quality engineer speculated the size of Shell Oil Co.'s spill may be even larger than the 175,000 gallons estimated by the company. The spill occurred Saturday when a drainpipe that carries off rain-water broke inside an oil tank.

Senate vote scuttles immigration amnesty extension

CORNELIUS, Oregon — Migrant workers from Mexico make tortilla shells from pinto beans in a kitchen near Cornelius as they wait for crops to ripen and work in the strawberry fields to begin. Up to 25,000 migrant workers have poured into Oregon this spring — weeks before the traditional June 1 beginning of the harvest. Migrant workers are running out of time to apply for amnesty.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief author of the nation's landmark immigration law says illegal aliens better apply for amnesty by next Wednesday's deadline, because a Senate vote has ended any chance for an extension.

"This is it," Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., said Thursday night after helping to kill a plan that would have moved the deadline to Nov. 30. "This extraordinary act of grace will end May 4 when we are in recess."

Those who sought to move the date back nearly seven months were defeated when they tried to end debate by opponents of the extension. Only 40 votes could be mustered to end the budding filibuster, and 60 were needed.

With the Senate adjourning today until May 9, supporters of the extension have no chance to try to pick up another 20 votes.

Even if the extension had passed Congress, Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, said President Reagan would have vetoed the bill as suggested by Commissioner Alan C. Nelson of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The House passed the amnesty extension April 21 by a 213-201 vote, indicating that a veto would have been sustained there. A two-thirds vote is needed for an override.

Simpson was the chief sponsor of the 1986 law passed to control years of massive illegal immigration to the United States. The measure had two main portions: legalization for illegal aliens who came to the United States before Jan. 1, 1982 and have lived here continually since then; and financial penalties for employers who knowingly hired illegal residents.

The aliens were given a one-year period, through May 4, to apply for temporary residency and start down the longer road toward permanent residency and citizenship.

About 1.3 million applications have been received so far, and the approval rate is running about 95 percent, according to INS figures.

Those who opposed the extension argued that supporters of the change played a cruel hoax on illegal aliens by proposing legislation that had no chance of enactment.

Officials of the Senate Judiciary immigration subcommittee said Thursday that people have been calling daily asking how long the extension would last.

Even before the vote, the INS anticipated it would be swamped as the deadline approaches. The agency has already announced that any alien who shows up before the deadline can file an application now and produce the supporting documents later.

Officials will officially be open until midnight Wednesday, and the INS said anyone in line will be permitted to file an application.

Applicants have to pay a fee of $185 for individuals and $420 for a family.

Gramm said illegal aliens who fail to beat the deadline will "lose the opportunity to get the best gift America has — to be in the United States legally."

"After an initial period when the law was taken seriously, the level of illegal immigration has risen by 60 percent over the last year," he said. "When people are asked why they are coming, they say they don't believe the law is going to be enforced."

Gramm added that the Border Patrol is finding a large increase in the use of false documents by illegal aliens.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who argued for the extension, predicted that hundreds of thousands of eligible aliens would not apply by next Wednesday.

"There has been a cloud of confusion encircling this program since its inception," Cranston said. "The regulations defining who is eligible for legalization were finalized days before the application period opened."

Academia

WOOSTER, Ohio — Ravi Masih of Big Spring has prepared a major independent study project at the College of Wooster — one of only four institutions in the country with independent study as a graduation requirement.

Masih is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Bakhshish Masih, 2524 Gunter Circle.

A chemistry major, Masih wrote his thesis on "Identification of the Essential Carboxyl Groups in Yeast Enolase modified by 14C-EAC."

While at Wooster, Masih has been a member of the Wooster Scot Band and Symphony Orchestra, Campus Council and the Student Activities Board. He also has been a volunteer with Boys Village, a shelter for boys from troubled homes, and with Wooster Community Hospital.

Wooster's Independent Study program, instituted more than 40 years ago, encourages students to become actively involved in their own learning, with the result that a higher percentage of Wooster graduates go on to earn doctoral degrees.

Working closely with a faculty adviser, every senior does an intensive investigation of a topic of personal interest. While the study often takes the form of a thesis, some students have produced original plays, fiction, musical compositions and works of art.

Old man to become priest

CROMWELL, Conn. (AP) — After waiting a lifetime, a 79-year-old father of six will become in June the oldest man ever to be ordained a Roman Catholic priest in the United States.

"I'm here for one purpose only. I'm expecting to graduate and become a priest and from then on live the life of priest with whatever the duties are given me. That's it. I'm not trying to be a celebrity," William R. Schumacher said Thursday.

"In a way, it's been working on me... I don't want it to interfere with my vocation," said Schumacher, who is completing his final exams at Holy Apostles College and Seminary in this Hartford suburb in central Connecticut.

A widower and the grandfather of 13, Schumacher will finish his exams next week as a B-plus student and graduate May 8 to complete his three years as a seminarian.

He will formally enter the priesthood at St. Tarcissus Roman Catholic Church in his native Chicago and will be assigned to the Dallas diocese, where he hopes to work with the sick and aged.

A heavy man, with a full face, wire-rim glasses, a neatly trimmed mustache and thick white hair, Schumacher hopes there is a lesson in his case that will help others his age who are uncertain about whether to commit to the church.

He sums up that message as: "Go for it... There is an opportunity. There is a place to be."

Schumacher wanted to enroll in a seminary at age 18 after completing his schooling at DePaul Academy.

Instead, he went to work and took courses at DePaul and Loyola universities. He married in September 1931 while enrolled in law school.

After his wife died of a stroke in 1984, Schumacher decided it was time to enter the priesthood. "At that time, it was when I said, 'Lord, now I'm ready. There's nothing to hold me back,'" Schumacher recalled.

Lady Bird Johnson honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The setting matched the subject as President Reagan honored the beautification efforts of Lady Bird Johnson, awarding the former first lady a congressional gold medal at a glittering White House ceremony.

Under chandeliers that cast prisms of light across the East Room, Reagan hailed Mrs. Johnson for "an impressive career in her own right."

"Her concern for the poor and underprivileged helped inspire a nation; her efforts to beautify America continuing up to today still blossom in our nation's capital and beside our highways," he said.

Mrs. Johnson said that 20 years ago, when her husband, Lyndon B. Johnson, decided not to seek re-election and the family left the White House, she never imagined she would be back in the capital under such circumstances.

It was, she said, the furthest thought from her mind.

But Thursday, the wealthy, the powerful and the famous turned out in force to honor the 75-year-old Texan for filling the capital's traffic circles with tulips and lining ribbons of concrete highway with evening primroses, Indian paintbrushes and other native wildflowers.

"For all of us here at the White House and on Capitol Hill, welcome back, Lady Bird, it's good to have you home," Reagan said. In the audience were executives and politicians and men who once were members of WASHINGTON — Lady Bird Johnson leans over to talk to President Reagan after he presented her with a congressional gold medal during ceremonies in the East Room of the White House Thursday.

Johnson's inner circle.

Earlier in the day, the Senate paid tribute and the House overflowed with well-wishers as both presented Mrs. Johnson with resolutions honoring her good works. Speeches recalled her lifelong love of nature and her ability to inspire the rest of the nation to treasure its natural heritage.

"Mrs. Johnson has painted the landscape with daffodils, tulips and wildflowers; but she has also beautified America with the magic of her presence, the gentleness of her touch and her compassion for our people," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, a fellow Texan and Democrat.

Buyer resents hard sell at work

DEAR ABBY: Thirty-five-year-old "Girl Scouts" are almost unheard of — until cookie-selling season approaches. Then these badgeless mothers are turned loose in the workplace to unload goods for their 10-year-old kids.

Co-workers of parents whose children participate in sports or other activities are subjected to seasonal pitches for fund-raising items. Whatever happened to the Girl Scouts and Little Leaguers who used to go from door-to-door to sell their cookies and candies? I frequently buy wares from these children's parents, but just once I'd like to see a handwritten acknowledgment from the child on the bulletin board in Mom's or Dad's workplace.

I will remain skeptical that Girl Scouts even exist unless my coworkers are allowed to wear their green uniforms to the office.

Thanks, Abby, for letting me sound off.

HEIDI, FORMER DOOR KNOCKER
DEAR HEIDI: I see your point, and you are not alone. However, let's be fair. I've seen supervised Girl Scouts selling their cookies outside supermarkets and malls — always cheerful, persistent and enthusiastic. At the workplace, you are buying cookies, not gratitude. And if that leaves a bad taste in your mouth, that's the way the cookie crumbles!

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am enclosing the letter you ran in your column a couple of years ago on National Secretaries Day. I think your comment said it all. It's National Secretaries Week again already! Please run it again, Abby.

A SECRETARY IN HARTFORD
DEAR SECRETARY: I agree. Here it is.

DEAR ABBY: I am a certified public accountant who recently led a workshop involving secretaries and their bosses. I asked secretaries what they wanted most from their bosses on Secretaries Day. Then I asked the bosses what they thought their secretaries wanted most on "their" day. There were 201 responses from secretaries, and 143 responses from their bosses.

Guess what 22 percent of the secretaries said they wanted most on their day? A day off with pay! Only 6 percent of the bosses said that's what their secretaries wanted most.

Concerning flowers: Only 7 percent of the secretaries said they wanted flowers. But 25 percent of the bosses said they thought their secretaries wanted flowers.

Interesting?

MARY L. CRAIG, CPA
DEAR MARY: Very. Unfortunately, what most secretaries want and what they get are vastly different. Moral: If one wants to know, one asks. But if one isn't asked, then one takes what one gets.

DEAR ABBY: If you're not too tired of the bee issue, here's a little poem for you:

"The sex of a bee is hard to see
"But he can tell, and so can she.
"The queen is quite a busy soul
"She has no time for birth control
"And that is why, in times like these,
"There are so many sons of bees."
(Submitted, but not originated by)

JIM HARVEL,
ARIZONA BEEKEEPER

P.S. Abby, this poem has been around for a long time, but I doubt if it has a title.

DEAR JIM: Let's call it "To Bee or Not to Bee."

Earls speaks to members of the ABWA

The Cactus Chapter of American Business Women's Association met at the New Horizon's Health Club recently, with Brenda Claxton, president, presiding.

Gail Earls, former member of ABWA, was guest speaker. She recounted her early years as a member, and how she realized that women could have a place in the business community.

Vocational speaker was Odell Turner, who has been employed by Big Spring Hardware for 34 years. He is manager of the houseware and gift department.

Brenda Claxton was named Woman of the Year. She is employed as an internal auditor of First National Bank. She was born in Korea and came to the United States when she was 15 months old. Claxton has held offices in ABWA and has served on all committees.

Members used the exercise machines at the New Horizon Health Club, and owners Nell and Lonny Thames served refreshments to members.

The March meeting was a dinner meeting at Days Inn.

Members of the Cactus Chapter voted to consolidate with the Scenic Chapter to form a new chapter.

Troy Fraser, candidate for the House of Representatives at Austin, was the guest speaker.

Fraser, a Republican, informed the group about his goals and asked for their support. He noted that he wants to work for West Texas and bring more industry to our part of the state.

The members met at Days Inn Patio Room for a dinner meeting with Brenda Claxton presiding. Eleven members were present.

This unique approach to Musical Comedy is designed to be enjoyed equally by deaf and hearing audiences. The Robber Bridegroom is a tall yarn about the folks of Rodney Mississippi, about two hundred years ago or so. The musical involves song, dance and two youngsters getting together in a mighty confusing way.

TORNADO FACTS THAT CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE

- FACT: Tornadoes travel at an average speed of 30 miles an hour, but speeds ranging from stationary to 70 miles an hour have been reported. While most tornadoes move from the southwest to the northeast, their direction of travel can be erratic and may change suddenly. In populated areas, it is very dangerous to attempt to flee to safety in an automobile. Over half of the deaths in the Wichita Falls tornado of 1979 were attributed to people trying to escape in motor vehicles. It is best in most cases to seek or remain in a sturdy shelter such as a house or building. Even a ditch or ravine offers better protection than a vehicle.
- FACT: While hail may or may not precede a tornado, the portion of a thunderstorm adjacent to large hail is often the area where strong to violent tornadoes are most likely to occur. Once large hail begins to fall, it is best to assume that a tornado may be nearby, and seek appropriate shelter. Once the hail has stopped, remain in a protected area until the thunderstorm has moved away.
- FACT: The tornado's atmospheric pressure drop plays, at most, a minor role in the damage process. Most structures have sufficient venting to allow for the sudden drop in atmospheric pressure. Opening a window, once thought to be a way to minimize damage by allowing inside and outside atmospheric pressures to equalize, is not recommended. Furthermore, opening the wrong window can actually increase damage.
- FACT: While most tornado damage is caused by the violent winds, most tornado injuries and deaths result from flying debris. Small rooms, such as closets or bathrooms, in the center of a home or building offer the greatest protection from flying objects. Such rooms are also less likely to experience roof collapse. Always stay away from windows or exterior doors.
- FACT: Tornado wind speeds increase with height within the tornado. Storm cellars or well constructed basements offer the greatest protection from tornadoes. If neither is available, the lowest floor of any substantial structure offers the best alternative.
- FACT: Tornado winds may produce a loud roar similar to that of a train or airplane. At night or during heavy rain, the only clue to a tornado's presence may be its roar. Thunderstorms can also produce violent straight-line winds which produce a similar sound. If any unusual roar is heard during threatening weather, take cover immediately.
- FACT: Although most tornadoes occur during the mid-afternoon or early evening (3 p.m.-7 p.m.), they can occur at any time; often with little or no warning. All members of a household should know where the safest areas of home are: interior bathrooms, closets, halls or basement shelter areas. Be sure every family member knows that they should move to such safe areas at the first signs of danger. There may be only seconds to act. Tornadoes occur in many parts of the world and in each of the 50 States. However, no area is more favorable to their formation than the continental plains and Gulf Coast of the U.S. during April, May and June. Tornadoes are least frequent in the United States during the winter months, although damaging tornadoes can develop at any time of year.

LIGHTNING SAFETY RULES

If you plan to be outdoors, check the latest weather forecast and keep a weather eye on the sky. At signs of an impending storm — towering thunderheads, darkening skies, lightning, increasing wind — tune in your NOAA Weather Radio, AM-FM radio, or television for the latest weather information.

When a thunderstorm threatens, get inside a home, a large building, or an all-metal (not convertible) automobile. Do not use the telephone except for emergencies.

If you are caught outside, do not stand underneath a tall isolated tree or a telephone pole. Avoid projecting above the surrounding landscape. For example, don't stand on a hilltop. In a forest, seek shelter in a low area under a thick growth of small trees. In open areas, go to a low place, such as a ravine or valley.

Get off or away from open water, tractors, and other metal farm equipment or small metal vehicles, such as motorcycles, bicycles, golf carts, etc. Put down golf clubs and take off golf shoes. Stay away from wire fences, clotheslines, metal pipes, and rails. If you are in a group in the open, spread out, keeping people several yards apart.

Remember — lightning may strike some miles from the parent cloud. Precautions should be taken even though the thunderstorm is not directly overhead. If you are caught in a level field or prairie far from shelter and if you feel your hair stand on end, lightning may be about to strike you. Drop to your knees and bend forward, putting your hands on your knees. Do not lie flat on the ground.

FIRST AID

Persons struck by lightning receive a severe electrical shock and may be burned, but they carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely. Someone who appears to have been killed by lightning often can be revived by prompt action. When a group has been struck, the apparently "dead" should be treated first.

The American Red Cross says that if a victim is not breathing, you should immediately begin mouth-to-

HEAT WAVE SAFETY TIPS

Slow down. Strenuous activities should be reduced, eliminated, or rescheduled to the coolest time of the day. Individuals at risk should stay in the coolest available place, not necessarily indoors.

Dress for summer. Lightweight light-colored clothing reflects heat and sunlight, and helps your body maintain normal temperatures.

Put less fuel on your inner fires. Foods (like proteins) that increase metabolic heat production also increase water loss.

Drink plenty of water or other non-alcohol fluids. Your body needs water to keep cool. Drink plenty of fluids even if you don't feel thirsty. Persons who (1) have epilepsy or heart, kidney, or liver disease, (2) are on fluid restrictive diets or (3) have a problem with fluid retention should consult a physician before increasing their consumption of fluids.

Do not drink alcoholic beverages.

Do not take salt tablets unless specified by a physician. Persons on salt restrictive diets should consult a physician before increasing their salt intake.

Spend more time in air conditioned places. Air conditioning in homes and other buildings markedly reduces danger from the heat. If you cannot afford an air conditioner, spending some time each day (during hot weather) in an air conditioned environment affords some protection.

Don't get too much sun. Sunburn makes the job of heat dissipation that much more difficult.

Staubach wants to buy Cowboys

IRVING (AP) — Former quarterback Roger Staubach heads one of four groups interested in buying the Dallas Cowboys, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

But the strongest bid is from a Denver billionaire who has owned 20th Century Fox and oil companies, bought Kenny Rogers' house, and partied with Frank Sinatra.

Marvin Davis, 62, has been negotiating with Cowboys majority owner H.R. "Bum" Bright and may be a week away from completing a deal for purchase of the NFL team, the Dallas Morning News reported today.

The Dallas Times Herald reported today that that team sources told them that there were four groups, including Davis and the group headed by Staubach that are interested in buying the NFL team.

The sources told the newspaper that Davis has made the strongest bid.

Cowboys President Tex Schramm confirmed Thursday that Staubach, owner of a Dallas commercial real estate firm, helped organize a group that is interested in buying the Cowboys.

Schramm said Staubach introduced him to a Dallas businessman who was interested in heading a group that would include Staubach. Schramm declined to identify the businessman.

"My understanding was that Roger would have been part of the deal if it could be arranged," Schramm told the newspaper. "I have no idea where that deal stands right now with Bum."

Staubach was at a speaking engagement Thursday and could not be reached for comment, the newspaper reported.

Schramm said he has passed along to Bright about 20 inquiries he has received in the past four months from people interested in buying the team.

Cleveland Browns owner Art Modell, a friend of both Davis and Schramm, said he spoke to Davis last week about the Cowboys.

Modell says he made one point clear to Davis.

"Don't buy the team without Tex Schramm staying," he said. "I have a tremendous regard for Tex, and I've had so for 28 years. Nobody in their right mind should buy it unless Tex stays."

Schramm said Thursday he will sell his three percent if necessary.

Schramm said he has been in touch with Bright since published reports that Davis is near a deal to buy the team.

A Davis spokeswoman said in New York there would be no comment on the reports.

Davis, whose fortune has been estimated at $1.45 billion, has among his holdings the Davis Oil Co. An avid sports fan, he has been active in attempts to attract a major league baseball team to Denver, but recently has spent more of his time in Los Angeles.

Bright and his partners paid $80 million for the team and Texas Stadium's assets in 1984. The Cowboys lost some $2 million in the strike-plagued 1987 season which was marked by the team's lowest attendance in decades. The stock market crash in October cost Bright an estimated $39 million in FirstRepublic Bank losses. He was the largest share holder.

The value of some of Bright's other holdings which include numerous savings and loans institutions have been diminished by hard times in Texas oil and real estate.

"I'm not going to comment on Bum's economic problems," Schramm said.

Balanced Mavs whip Rockets

DALLAS (AP) — The balance of the Dallas Mavericks, who had all eight players who played in double figures, and the unexpected scoring of center James Donaldson shot down Houston's one-man gang Thursday night in the first round of the NBA playoffs.

The Mavericks were too hot to handle as Roy Tarpley came off the bench with 24 points and Donaldson scored a career playoff high 18 in a 120-110 victory in the opener of the best-of-five Western Conference series.

Akeem Olajuwon had 34 points and 14 rebounds, but got little help. Joe Barry Carroll and Purvis Short had 13 points each for the losers.

Donaldson said he decided to turn into a scoring machine when Houston sagged off him.

The first-round matchup resumes Saturday at Reunion Arena in a nationally televised game.

Tarpley scored nine points in the fourth quarter as the Mavs, who had defeated Houston 4-2 during the regular season, beat back a rally led by Akeem Olajuwon.

Donaldson, who had twice scored 17 points in playoff games, had 11 points in the first half in the first playoff meeting in history between the two Texas teams.

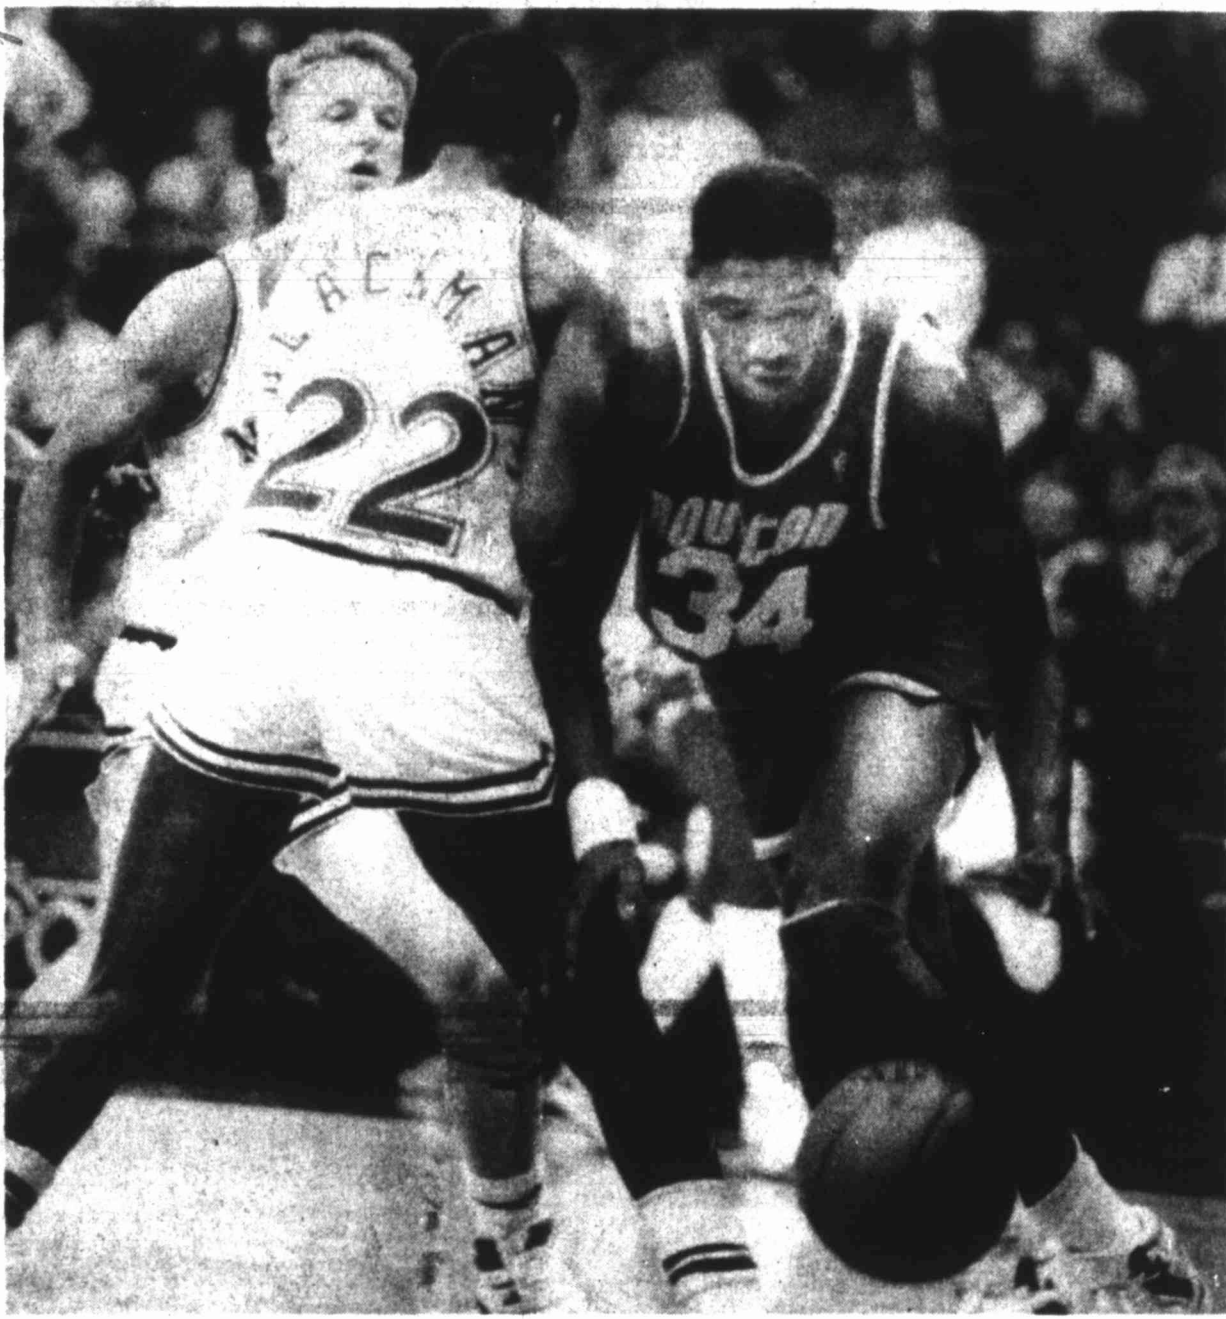

Other Mavs in double figures Mark Aguirre with 16, Rolando Blackman with 15, Derek Harper, Brad Davis and Detlef Schrempf with 12 apiece and Sam Perkins with 11.

The Rockets chopped into Dallas' 18-point lead in the third period without the help of Olajuwon, who spent the last six minutes on the bench with four fouls. Houston cut the deficit to 77-73 on a basket by Joe Barry Carroll.

Houston only scored one basket in the last seven minutes of the first half to fall behind 61-46, with Dallas scoring the last 12 points of the period.

Olajuwon kept Houston in the game with 18 points but Dallas kept the pressure with a more balanced attack as Aguirre, Donaldson, and Blackman scored in double figures in the first 24 minutes.

Trail Blazers 108, Jazz 96

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Clyde Drexler and Jerome Kersey scored 26 points apiece as the Portland Trail Blazers surged ahead in the second quarter and rolled to a 108-96 victory over the Utah Jazz in their NBA playoff opener Thursday night.

The Blazers, who lost four out of five to the Jazz in the regular season, outscored Utah 16-3 during a span of 6:18 late in the second quarter to take a 60-48 halftime lead. A 7-0 Portland run boosted the advantage to 84-64 with 1:41 left in the third period.

Utah, beaten badly on the boards most of the night against the smaller Trail Blazers, pulled to within 11 twice in the final quarter, the last time at 98-87 on

John Stockton's two free throws with 5:47 remaining.

Terry Porter's 20-footer and Drexler's rebound basket put Portland back in control for good.

Kersey, whose 26 points was a career high for the playoffs, scored 16 in the first quarter. Porter finished with 20 points and Drexler had 13 rebounds.

Regional Roundup

Steer golfers fifth

BROWNWOOD — The Big Spring Steer golfers shot 10 strokes better, but it still wasn't good enough to get to the state golf tournament, as Big Spring finished fifth in the Region 1-4A Golf Tournament at Brownwood Country Club.

Coach Don Cook's Steers shot a 318 in the second round of play, but Brownwood, Andrews, Canyon and Pampa all shot better rounds also.

Brownwood, playing on its own course, recorded its second consecutive 303, to win the regional title with a 606. District 2-4A team Andrews, vaulted from third place to second with a 303 also, thus qualifying for state with a 624. Andrews is the defending state champs.

Canyon shot a 312 Thursday, finishing with a total of 631. Pampa put a lock on fourth place with its 316 performance, giving it a 635 tourney total. Big Spring's team total was 646.

"We didn't play bad, we played average," said Cook of his team's fifth place finish. "If you go to regional you have to play good, not average. We had a good second day, but so did everybody else. I think we were a little nervous the first day, not knowing what it was like to play at regional. On the second day we played pretty solid."

"The course wasn't too bad, and the wind might have gotten up to 20 miles per hour. The course had a lot of trees but they didn't really get in your way. It was a good experience for us."

Wesley Fields had the best second round for Big Spring, shooting a six-under-par 78. Jeff Rhodes, Michael Porch and Chris Sims all shot 80's.

Sims' also shot an 80 in the first round, giving him the best tournament score of all Steers with a 160.

The Brownwood duo of Drue Pounds and Jeff Low finished one-two in the medalist race, with a 146, 147 respectively.

In the girls competition, Andrews A shot a 738, outdistancing second place Hereford by 14 strokes. Andrews shot a 374 on the first day, and finished it off with a 364 on the second day. Both scores were the best each round.

Kim Jutt of Everman shot a 165 to win the medalist competition. Hereford's Amy Coneway was second with 166.

TEAM TOTALS — 1. Brownwood 303-303 — 606; 2. Andrews 321-303 — 624; 3. Canyon 319-312 — 631; 4. Pampa 319-316 — 635; 5. Big Spring 328-318 — 646; 6. Burkburnett 330-328 — 658; 7. Hot, hot, hot. When Buster Poindexter penned those simple lyrics, he didn't have Dave LaPoint, Frank Tanana or Mike Henneman in mind. Nor was he thinking about Floyd Bannister, Dave Stewart or Mike Campbell.

But they're as hot as Poindexter's hit song. LaPoint, 3-1, pitched a four-hitter for his eighth career shutout as Chicago beat Boston 6-0 Thursday night. Detroit's Tanana, another quick-starting left-hander, moved to 5-0 with a 2-1 victory over California in which Henneman got his eighth save in nine chances.

Bannister, 3-1, has allowed just 23 hits in 32 innings for Kansas City this season and has won 11 of his last 13 decisions. His latest victory was a 6-3 verdict over the New York Yankees.

Stewart became the first six-game winner in the majors as he struck out eight for Oakland in a 6-2 win at Toronto. Stewart, 6-0, allowed five hits and balked twice, giving him 11 this season, tying Steve Carlton's major-league record, set in 1979.

Campbell, a rookie, threw a five-hitter, striking out seven and walking three for his second complete game of the year, as the Mariners beat Cleveland 3-1. The Indians have lost just three of the last 13 games. Cleveland's 16-5 record matches the best start in team history.

White Sox 6, Red Sox 0

LaPoint lowered his league-leading earned run average to 0.95.

Ken Williams certainly is helping at third base, where he was placed this year after playing center field in previous seasons. Williams hit a three-run homer to support LaPoint and made several fine plays in the field.

Twins 4, Orioles 2

Winless Baltimore's defeat broke the AL record of 30 set by Boston in 1906 and tied twice by the Philadelphia Athletics, in 1916 and 1943.

The Orioles are two games short of the 1961 Philadelphia Phillies' abysmal mark of 23 straight failures. They open a three-game series in Chicago tonight.

Tigers 2, Angels 1

Tanana allowed five hits, five walks and struck out five while becoming the first Tigers pitcher in 34 years to win his first five starts.

Henneman has come along sensationally. He had seven saves down the stretch as a rookie last season and has continued to roll this year.

Royals 6, Yankees 3

Bannister, who left his previous start after five innings with a stiff back, had a one-hit shutout until the seventh. He got offensive support from George Brett, who drove in three runs with a homer and a double.

Athletics 6, Blue Jays 2

Stewart befuddled the Blue Jays with a dancing forkball. But he wasn't satisfied.

He also wants to cut down on his balks. The two Thursday didn't hurt because Dave Parker had a three-run homer to give Stewart a nice cushion.

Mariners 3, Indians 1

Campbell has made 14 major-league starts. This was the best.

"It took me a couple of innings to adjust to the mound," Campbell said. "It wasn't a real high mound. My curve ball was all over the place for the first few innings. About the third or fourth, I started throwing it over, and my fastball was good. I used the curve a lot for strikeouts and ground balls.

Caps even series

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — There was one lingering question to be determined after the Washington Capitals evened their Patrick Division playoff series with New Jersey, and Devils coach Jim Schoenfeld wasn't giving out the answer.

The question obviously is who starts in goal for New Jersey in final game of the series on Saturday, rookie Sean Burke or veteran Bob Sauve?

NHL Playoffs

Burke gave up five goals in two periods Thursday night as the Capitals got four assists from defenseman Scott Stevens, a gusty 25-save performance from Pete Peeters and coasted to a 7-2 victory over New Jersey before a sellout crowd of 19,096 at the Brendan Byrne Arena.

"I made the choice between the second and third periods," Schoenfeld said, refusing to disclose his choice. He said he planned to let his players know the decision at practice today.

"I guess I have a 50-50 chance of starting," said Sauve, who allowed two goals in the third period. "We'll be ready though. We've won some big games in other buildings this year."

None will be bigger than Game 7. For the winner, it will be the ticket to Boston for the opening game of the Wales Conference final on Monday night. For the loser, it's the end of the season.

The Devils have not faced that situation at all in the playoffs, although they faced it nightly in the closing weeks of the season.

This will be the fifth must-win game for the Capitals in the playoffs, and they will be pretty sure of one thing, Peeters will be in goal.

Peeters, who missed Game 5 because of a concussion suffered in Game 4, was spectacular against New Jersey after giving up a fluke goal to Claude Loiselle just 18 seconds into the game after a puck took a weird hop off the boards behind the Washington net.

"It hit a rib in the glass," Peeters said. "I just said that's one for them. We'll spot them one. We'll come back."

The Capitals did just that, getting goals from Mike Ridley, Dale Hunter and rookie Steve Leach to grab a 3-1 after the first period. Yvon Corriveau and Dave Christian added second-period goals, and Kelly Miller scored in the third period to give Washington a comfortable 6-1 lead.

The only concern the Capitals had came after the second period when Peeters asked to see the team doctor because he was having a headache.

"The doctor told me the effects of a concussion are different in everybody," Peeters said. "He just said to keep hydrated and if the headache persists tomorrow to come in and see him. Right now it feels like there is a woodpecker up there."

Peeters was at his best early in the second period when he came up with big saves on Joe Cirella, Aaron Broten and Kirk Muller in a two minute span with Washington leading 3-1. After that Corriveau and Christian scored and the Caps were heading home.

"It's gratifying that we can come back the way we have been," Peeters said. "It's also scary, putting that kind of pressure on yourself. In the playoffs you can't take anything for granted. Saturday is going to be a good game."

Schoenfeld said he was not disappointed by the Devils play Thursday.

"It was a tremendous effort by Washington," he said. "They were relentless in their pursuit of the puck. We were playing hard, although it didn't look like it."

In the six games in the series, both teams now have posted a 1-2 record at home.

"Maybe we play too hard in front of the home crowd," Schoenfeld said. "Thank goodness Game 7 is on the road. Anything can happen though."

Dawson and Cubs bop Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It took a while, but Andre Dawson finally got to the Los Angeles Dodgers' fine pitching staff. It came at just the right time for the Chicago Cubs.

Dawson's two-run triple highlighted a four-run rally in the sixth inning Thursday night that broke a scoreless tie, and the Cubs went on to beat the Dodgers 5-1.

The victory enabled the Cubs to win two of the three games played between the teams at Dodger Stadium this week.

National League

In the only other scheduled National League games, Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 2-1 in 10 innings and St. Louis beat San Diego 6-4.

Dawson went hitless in his first nine at-bats in the series before doubling in the fourth for the first Chicago hit off Los Angeles rookie Tim Belcher and lining his two-run triple into the right field corner in the sixth.

Belcher, 1-1, fanned six of the first 10 batters and finished with a career-high eight strikeouts. He allowed only the fourth-inning double by Dawson through the first five innings.

But the Cubs got to him in the sixth. Darrin Jackson singled with one out, Ryne Sandberg walked and Dawson sliced a 1-2 pitch into the right-field corner.

After Rafael Palmeiro greeted reliever Brad Havens with a run-scoring single to score Dawson, Jody Davis walked and Manny Trillo singled in Palmeiro.

The Cubs added a run in the seventh on a triple by Angel Salazar and a suicide squeeze by Sandberg.

Dawson joined the Cubs last year as a free agent and had a monster season, hitting .287 with a National League-leading 49 home runs and 137 runs batted in. This, he pointed out, is a new year.

Pirates 2, Giants 1

Considering the pitching on both sides, Darnell Coles felt no remorse over his decisive single being nothing more than a bloop.

"The game-winning hit had to be a chinker," Coles said after Pittsburgh won for the 13th time in its last 16 games.

Bobby Bonilla opened the 10th inning with a bloop single and was sacrificed to second by Sid Bream. Don Robinson relieved Craig Leferts, 1-1, and Coles hit the ball just over the glove of second baseman Robby Thompson to hand the Giants their fifth loss in six games.

San Francisco's Kelly Downs had a perfect game through five innings, and gave up just two hits over eight while striking out seven and walking one.

Jeff Robinson, 2-0, pitched 3 2-3 innings of one-hit relief and Jim Gott got the last out for his third save. Mike Dunne, who came off the 21-day disabled list earlier in the day, gave up only four hits in six innings for Pittsburgh.

Cardinals 6, Padres 4
Tom Brunansky says he is a mistake-prone hitter, prone to hitting mistakes out of the ballpark. "I would say that 100 percent of my homers come on mistakes made by the pitcher," Brunansky said after hitting two home runs to pace an 11-hit attack.

Brunansky, traded from Minnesota to St. Louis for second baseman Tom Herr on April 22, hit a two-run homer in the second inning off Padres starter Ed Whitson and a solo shot in the fifth off Mark Grant, his third in the last two games.

Larry McWilliams, 1-0, pitched 5 1-3 shutout innings to pick up the win after relieving starter Jose DeLeon in the second. Todd Worrell came on with two outs in the ninth to strike out Chris Brown for his sixth save.

Trailing 2-0 against Greg Booker, 0-1, the Cardinals scored four runs in the second. Brunansky's first homer tied the game. Then Ozzie Smith hit a sacrifice fly and Willie McGee a run-scoring double. Rookie Luis Alicea's RBI grounder in the third gave the Cardinals the lead for good.

The Padres had tied it in the bottom of the second on Tony Gwynn's two-run single. Gwynn was 4-for-5.

Queens sign another guard

A California ballplayer has signed with Coach Don Stevens to play for the Howard College Hawk Queens' basketball team this year. Stevens announced Thursday that ANITRA GUARDINO, Anitra Wilkins is a 5-7 guard from Pasadena High School, Pasadena, Calif.

She averages 17.2 points a game with a 7.2 board average and has dished out 3.1 assists per game while stealing the ball 2.3 times per outing. She's also a shotblocker with a 5.5 average, Stevens said.

"Anitra is an accomplished player, a player that is a standout in an area where excellent talent is commonplace," Stevens said.

She was named to the Los Angeles Times' All-San Gabriel Valley All-Star team for the past two seasons, Stevens noted.

"She possesses great athletic ability," he said. "(She is) a leaper as evidenced by her blocked shots statistic while only being of average height."

"An excellent passer, ballhandler and shooter, (she) possesses fine defensive skills and is very quick and exciting to watch," the coach said.

Mavs

Pistons 96, Bullets 87
PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Isiah Thomas scored 26 of his 34 points in the second half Thursday night, leading the Detroit Pistons to a 96-87 victory over the Washington Bullets in the first game of their first-round NBA playoff series.

Washington had a 42-38 edge at halftime before Steve Colter hit the Bullets' first six points of the second half, giving them a 48-41 lead.

But the Pistons, getting 12 third-quarter points from Thomas and seven from Adrian Dantley, surged back.

Detroit took a 62-61 lead on a breakaway layup by Thomas with 4:33 remaining in the third quarter and led the rest of the way. The Pistons led 67-61 at the start of the final period.

Thomas scored 12 of the Pistons first 16 points to start the fourth quarter, but Jeff Malone, hitting 15 of his 33 points in the fourth quarter, kept the Bullets close.

A basket by Moses Malone narrowed the Pistons' lead to 91-87 with 57 seconds remaining. But Dantley hit a free throw and Thomas added two more in the closing seconds to ice it for Detroit.

Moses Malone finished with 21 points for Washington, and Dantley also had 21 for Detroit. The best-of-five series resumes in the Silverdome on Saturday night.

Bulls 104, Cavaliers 93

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan scored 50 points, including 20 in the second quarter when he outscored the entire Cleveland team, as the Chicago Bulls beat the Cavaliers 104-93 in the opener of their best-of-five NBA playoff series Thursday night.

Jordan's two baskets and a free throw started a 16-1 run at the start of the fourth quarter, erasing a 76-73 third-quarter deficit.

The free throw put the Bulls ahead to stay, 78-77, with 10:22 left in the game, and the Bulls then went on to score the next 11 points, including three free throws by Jordan after Craig Ehlo was called for a technical foul and a personal foul when Jordan fell to the floor with 7:10 left.

Ehlo led Cleveland with 21 points, including nine in the third quarter when the Cavaliers overcame a 53-48 halftime deficit. Ehlo put the Cavaliers ahead 72-71 with a three-point play with 1:08 left in the quarter.

Mike Sanders added 18 points for Cleveland, while Mark Price and Larry Nance had 17 each. Jordan broke loose for 20 of the Bulls' 30 points in the second quarter while the entire Cavaliers team was held to 19.

Cleveland led 29-23 at the end of the first quarter, hitting 14 of 23 shots from the floor while the Bulls managed only 10 of 24. Sam Vincent kept Chicago close with 11 points during the period.

The two teams, who split their regular-season meetings 3-3, meet again Sunday night.

THE LORD'S CREATURES SHOULD BE TREATED WITH KINDNESS

Of course you have taught your children manners; to honor all adults and particularly older people, the poor and the handicapped. However, an extension of this training should include kindness to animals; not only for their own sake, but as part of your children's attitude toward all living creatures, human or otherwise. Moreover, they should make no distinction between wild animals and the family pets. If they are inclined to chase lizards and tease or abuse the dog when you are not looking, you should put a stop to it. Their habits of a lifetime are being formed right now, and the most important one is the acceptance of the responsibility that God gave us, which is described in various ways throughout the Bible and reinforced at your House of Worship: to show Love and respect for all of the creatures that He put here on this earth.

Bible Bee USA contest set
 Local Churches of all denominations are invited to participate in Bible Bee USA, a national interdenominational contest of Bible skills for children in grades 1-12. Winners at the local church level will advance to county or regional, state and national contests. Cash awards, trophies, certificates and a private interview and photo session with honorary chairman, Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys, are among the prizes that will be given the winners. Now in its fourth year, Bible Bee USA is sponsored by Kids For Christ International headquartered in Carrollton. The contest is designed to motivate children to learn the Bible, to provide parents with a simple tool to help teach them, and to offer an effective program to churches that will enhance their ministry to children without adding significant burden to already over-worked staff. Reminiscent of the ever-popular spelling bee, Bible Bee USA tests Bible skills in six categories: memory work, map skills, spelling, sword drill, quizzes and quotes. Study material is taken from the New King James Bible. Churches must enter before May 10. Contestants study through the summer for fall contests.

After Dorothy Day, a crisis of continuity

NEW YORK (AP) — When Dorothy Day, founder of the Catholic Worker movement, died in 1980, a reporter asked one of her followers: "What will you do now?" "Bury her," he said.

It was an answer Day would have liked, for her faith was in good works, not personal charisma.

But Catholics to whom she was a heroine will not be comforted by a new study which implies that the Workers are burying their founder figuratively, as well as literally.

In "Beyond Charismatic Leadership," Sister Michele Teresa Aronica, a sociologist who teaches at St. Joseph's College in Maine, accuses some of Day's followers of straying from her radical commitment to serve the poor and promote pacifism.

With no Dorothy Day to guide it — and no program for teaching new members about her life and philosophy — the New York Catholic Worker runs the risk of becoming "simply another social service agency," Aronica warns.

Aronica spent several months in 1984 at the Workers' "houses of hospitality" on the impoorished Lower East Side of Manhattan. She describes a group at once too hierarchical to satisfy Day's insistence on individual responsibility, yet too unorganized to preserve her memory.

And, in an increasingly hostile and stressful environment — the Lower East Side was being flooded with homeless people, many of them addicts or former mental patients — "these folks were very concerned with trying to maintain the organization, even at the expense of serving the poor," she said in a telephone interview.

The changes Aronica observed included watered-down soup in the famous Catholic Worker soup line and the use of a personal computer to mail the Catholic Worker newspaper.

One unhappy Worker complained that the Catholic Worker "used to have the reputation of being the best soup in the city, but these young people decide they are going to experiment and do it their own way instead of learning to make a good stew."

"It's hot water, man," one homeless man complained. "Who the hell wants to wait in line for that?"

The Catholic Worker newspaper, the movement's voice and primary source of income, is issued less frequently, with contributions from fewer workers. And Day — who valued manual labor and mistrusted technology — would have been appalled by the purchase of a computer to address subscriptions, some insisted.

Aronica also found the Worker had "only a token commitment" to pacifism and disarmament, even though Day opposed every war from Benito Mussolini's in Ethiopia to Lyndon Johnson's in Vietnam.

Friday night meetings, once dedicated to discussing the thought of Day and Worker founder Peter Maurin instead feature lectures on a variety of subjects, with the result that the founders' ideas "are not systematically or consistently presented or discussed within the group."

Aronica warns: "If the spirit or the vision is not passed on to the membership, the Catholic Worker runs the risk of becoming just another one of the many facilities which offer services to the indigent."

Crossing the street

When Lutheran Bishop Herbert W. Chilstrom was a boy on the way to school in Litchfield, Minn., his route went by a Roman Catholic Church. It then seemed such an alien place that in passing it, he would cross to the other side of the street. Now, as head of his Protestant denomination in a new ecumenical climate, he confers with the pope in Rome and moves about the Vatican domain as a trusted friend.

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Your loyalty and experience will finally pay off financially. A child's success both gladdens your heart and reduces a financial burden. Get caught up on bills. Although mate is your major supporter, your offspring will also be there if you need them. A new home or special trip is part of the picture. Someone who turned away from you now comes back to ask for help.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actresses Jill Clayburgh and Eve Arden, singer Willie Nelson, TV host Gary Collins, actor Robert Shaw, astrologer William Lilly, poet John Crowe Ransom.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Avoid hasty financial moves and shun get-rich-quick schemes proposed by friends and neighbors. A budget change will benefit the entire family. Stick to diet/exercise regimen recommended by doctor.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be more careful with your money. Buy in quantity whenever practical. Group activities hold special appeal to many this evening. If single, you could meet the person of your dreams! Share transportation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Candid discussions will improve parent-child relations. The family car could be the cause of a dispute. Struggling artists will find it easier to sell their work today. A current romance flourishes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Stick by friends who have proved their loyalty. Sharing knowledge with an inexperienced person wins you a friend for life. Table any social plans that would interfere with your family responsibilities.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Romance with a former co-worker goes well. Entertaining at home is favored if you keep costs to a minimum. A candid chat helps strengthen a valuable personal relationship. Travel holds new appeal.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Forge ahead with stimulating new projects. Others look to you for leadership. Get ready to take a quick, unexpected trip. It is time to let go of old hurts. Show more initiative in romance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Bring beauty and serenity to your life: visit a museum or art gallery. Discuss your plans with family members before going out. Weather conditions could influence last-minute plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Do not let foolish pride stand in the way of a chance to learn. Give yourself more credit for your accomplishments. Moderation should be your watchword where food and drink are concerned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Get errands and household chores out of the way early in the day. You need to monitor your investments with an eagle eye. Perform more services for yourself to save money.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A longtime wish could be fulfilled today. Someone shy reveals his true feelings. This revelation will play a major role in your romantic future! Speak from the heart. Family members offer support.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): If your foibles bother your loved ones, make an effort to change. Spend quality time with each offspring. Be careful not to spend too much if you go shopping. Romance looks promising.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Seek friends from all walks of life; they will give you new insights. Comparison shopping can yield some terrific bargains. Adopt the role of peacemaker in a tense situation; everyone benefits!
