Why you should vote for them

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Big Spring voters will elect three council members Saturday, each chosen at large and each to serve three-year terms.

This is the first in four articles about the candidates and how they view both the needs of the city and their approach to dealing with those needs. They are arranged in the order the candidates appear on the ballot. Articles will continue on Thursday and Friday.

and love for my city and home. Twenty-two years of experience in the U.S. Air Force, most of which was spent in personal management, has given me experience and insight to the proper application of supervision and decision making.

Twelve years of service as a veterans' counselor with the Federal Civil Service has enhanced my ability to study the facts, listen to the circumstances, and advise on the best course of action. I graduated from Howard College in May 1978, with an associate's degree in management. This had been a goal of mine for several years, and I obtained it through determination and evening classes for several years.

Dealing with the public and applying government-made policies have been the center of my career. I feel like the concern I have for my city, the willingness to serve without pay, and the 40 years experience of learning, listening and implementing public policy fully qualify me as a city councilman.

Melvin Daratt — Having worked almost 25 years for the city, starting with the police department working my way up through the ranks to municipal judge, I became very familiar with the inner workings of the city through working with the council and city managers. As a department head I made several budgets and having to make the necessary cuts of the budget.

Education wise I have attended a business college as well as Howard College. As a police officer I attended Southwestern Law Academy, many Department of

Absentee voting picks up but no predictions made

By STEVE REAGAN

Activity at Howard County absentee ballot boxes increased somewhat during the final day of voting Tuesday, but officials were reluctant to predict the turnout for Saturday's municipal and school board elections.

Assistant City Secretary Mitzi Waltrip said today that 264 local residents had cast absentee ballots for the Big Spring City Council race, with four mail-in ballots still out. She described the voting as "steady" during the past few days. Absentee mail-in ballots will be received until 7 p.m. Saturday, she added.

Absentee voting for the Big Spring school district trustee election attracted fewer voters than the council election, according to Donna Morris, of the county clerk's office.

Morris said 76 people voted absentee in the district 4 race, where Donnie Baker, 2303 Cindy Lane and Doug Morris, 2502 Cin-

Parole repeal hearings set for suspects

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Two suspects in the April beating/shooting death of Odessa resident Manuel Garcia are scheduled for parole revocation hearings May 20.

LeRoy Alaniz, 30, and Ricardo Flores, 32, are being held without bond at the Big Spring Police Department pending the revocation hearings, District Parole Officer David Harman said Tuesday.

A third suspect arrested in connection with the Garcia slaying, Robert Flores, is being held at the police department in lieu of $100,000 bond.

The hearings for Alaniz and Flores are scheduled in the Howard County grand jury room, Harman said. Alaniz' hearing will be conducted by Midland parole officer Tracey Snell at 10 a.m., and Flores' hearing will be conducted by El Paso parole officer Jim Yates at 1:30 p.m.

Garcia, 53, was found dead in a west Big Spring sand pit April 7. An autopsy report found that he died from a blow to the head, although he had been shot also. He had been dead about a week, authorities estimated.

Alaniz was on parole from Ector County as a result of a January 1980 conviction for burglary of a habitation, with intent to commit rape. He had been sentenced to serve 10 years in the Texas Department of Corrections, Harman said.

The parole officer did not have specific dates, but said Alaniz was paroled a few years ago. He was returned to TDC on a parole violation in either 1983 or 1984, before his most recent parole in January 1987, Harman noted.

Alaniz was under supervision of the Midland-Odessa parole office since that time.

Ricardo Flores, whose Big Spring address is listed as 1205 W. Second St., was on parole from a December 1980 conviction for aggravated robbery in Howard County. He had been sentenced to 12 years in TDC, and was paroled Feb. 17, Harman said.

Since then, Ricardo Flores has been under Harman's supervision.

Emergency parole violation warrants were issued

Boulter needs 'lean, mean' fight with Bentsen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Rep. Beau Boulter will be running a mean-but-lean challenge to the deep-pockets campaign of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who has already amassed a formidable war chest and could spend up to $10 million on his quest for a fourth term, officials say.

According to quarterly election reports filed with the Federal Election Commission, Boulter had $17,874 cash on hand at the end of March, compared with $3,653,639 for Bentsen, a Democrat and Texas' senior senator.

Boulter was campaigning in Big Spring today.

Estimates vary on how much Bentsen will spend on his re-election bid, but officials of both parties agree his spending will outdistance Boulter's.

Bentsen, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, is already far outpacing Boulter in spending and fund-raising with six months to go before the November general election.

Related story on page 4-A

According to FEC reports released this week covering the first 15 months of the election cycle, Bentsen spent just over $2 million en route to an easy defeat of primary opponent Joe Sullivan with 85 percent of the vote.

Boulter spent $357,363 to fend off a crowded primary field and wealthy runoff opponent Wes Gilbreath, who poured $770,609 into his campaign, FEC records show.

Bentsen had raised more than $5 million through the end of March, making him the most financially successful candidate for Congress, the FEC records show, while Boulter's campaign has taken in $365,713, putting him in 50th place among Senate hopefuls.

"Boulter will have to run a very smart campaign and do what he can to hang on to the vice president's coattails as he runs for the presidency," said Texas Republican Party Chairman George Strake. "Bentsen has it to spend — he has unlimited personal wealth and a lot of (political action committee) support, and Boulter has no personal wealth and will find fund-raising very tough," said Strake, who estimates Bentsen's spending at $11 million to $12 million and Boulter's at $2 million.

Boulter spokesman Joe Fleming agreed the candidate will have to be cautious with his campaign funds — a difficult proposition in a huge state with at least 20 separate television and radio markets — and will do his best to cling to the coattails of Republican presidential hopeful George Bush, who calls

Houston home.

Boulter campaign manager Greg Graves said his budget is shaping up at around $3.5 million to $4 million, while Bentsen campaign director Jack Martin said he's looking at a budget of $7 million to $10 million.

A $10 million campaign would be twice the $5 million Bentsen spent in 1982 when he defeated James M. Collins with 58.6 percent of the vote, who spent an equal amount.

Tough economic times in Texas make fund-raising more difficult this year, but Bentsen, as an incumbent and chairman of the committee that writes tax law, is on the receiving end of generous PAC contributions, party officials say.

According to FEC documents, Bentsen had raked in $80,507 in PAC money in the first three months of 1988, along with $1.38 million in 1987, making him the No. 1 recipient of PAC money among congressional candidates through March 31, the FEC found.

Boulter's Senate campaign has received $10,150 in PAC money this year and had $50,011 in PAC contributions at the end of last year.

More getting refunds despite new law, forms

WASHINGTON (AP) — More Americans received federal tax refunds this year than last despite a thorough revision of the tax law and a confusing withholding form, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

Through April 29, the latest figures available, the IRS had certified 55.5 million refunds, compared with 55.4 million at the same time last year. Refunds were claimed on 79.5 percent of the returns that had been processed, up from 79.1 percent a year ago.

"Apparently withholding was more in line with tax liability than we had been expecting," said IRS spokesman Johnell Hunter.

Tax experts had anticipated that fewer people might qualify for refunds this year because the new tax law required all employees to file new W-4 withholding forms with their employers in 1987.

The first version of the new form was designed to match tax liability with withholding. But it was so confusing that the IRS eventually developed an alternative, W-4A, that was simpler but less accurate.

Another forecast — that fewer people would itemize deductions under the new law — was closer to target. Through April 15, slightly fewer than half the 49 million couples and individuals who filed the long form, 1040, itemized deductions, compared with 60 percent last year.

Through Friday, the IRS had received 98.6 million returns, a 2 percent increase over 96.7 million in the same period in 1987. Before the year is out, the agency anticipates 107.6 million total filings, compared with 104 million last year.

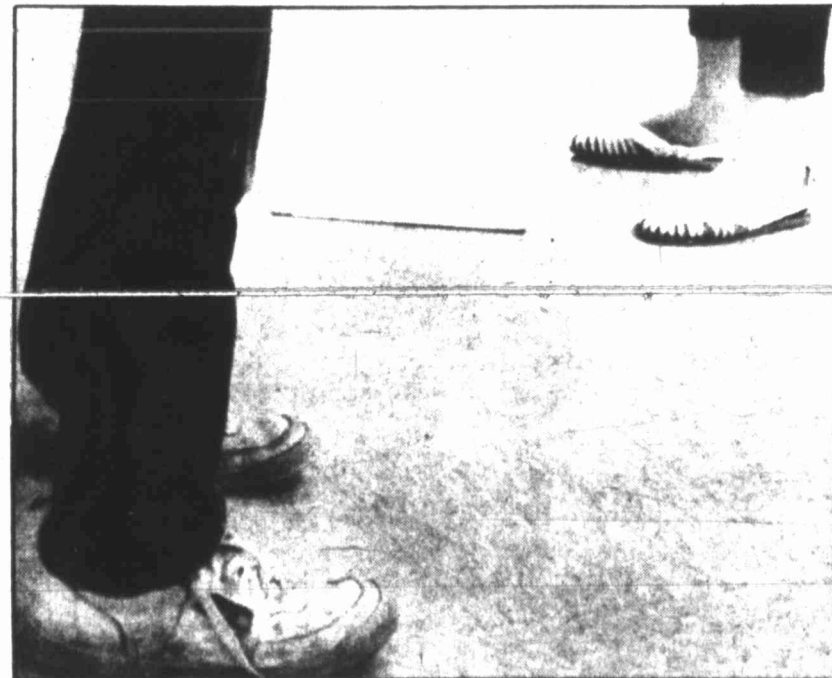

Some other statistics from this year's filing season:

• Almost 4.8 million people have asked so far for automatic four-month extensions beyond the April 15 filing deadline. At this time last year, the IRS had counted about 4.4 million. For reasons the IRS cannot explain, the number of extensions fluctuated significantly among the 10 regional centers. At Philadelphia, extensions were 28 percent below last year's mark while at Cincinnati they were up 47 percent.

• The average refund this year has been $850, compared with just under $849 last year.

• The IRS has processed 69.9 million returns so far this year, down 0.2 percent from 70 million in 1987.

Drug bust

Suspects living in widow's home

FORT WORTH (AP) — An 82-year-old widow whose home was invaded by drug dealers while she was hospitalized says she will clean it up as soon as she's better.

Two men were jailed on drug-possession charges and a third was out on bail Tuesday after police raided the home of Merzella Norris, who is in a nursing care facility while recovering from pneumonia.

"Yes, I'm sorry about it. But just as soon as I get home, I'm going to straighten it out, whatever it is," Mrs. Norris said. Police raided the house Friday on a tip that drug dealers had moved into Mrs. Norris' house without her consent and set up a cocaine distribution point. They confiscated cocaine and empty capsules in the raid.

Ben Thomas Rolla, 55; George McLaine, 58; and Harold Neal, 40, were arrested and charged with illegal drug possession and each held on $5,000 bond. Neal was released Saturday after posting bail, but a spokeswoman for the Tarrant County Jail said Rolla and McLaine remained in prison Tuesday.

"Her house had been taken over," Sgt. H.G. Tebay said. "Not one person in there knew that lady's name."

"What I find particularly sad is that she's a very elderly lady in her 80s, and all her personal stuff, her jewelry and clothes, had been gone through and dumped on the floor," Tebay said. "It looks like someone threw a grenade in there."

Mrs. Norris' 30-year-old grandson, Maurice, said he will live in the home until she can return. "I can't let her see it like this," Norris said. "She would have a stroke, a heart attack on the spot."

Mrs. Norris is the widow of the Rev. Sanford Norris, a Methodist minister whose church was in Ennis.

Big Spring student heads for state UIL competition

HERALD STAFF REPORT

The first Big Spring student in at least a decade will be entered in a journalism category at state UIL competition Friday.

Marc Schwarz, sophomore at Big Spring High School, won first place in editorial writing in the 4AAAA Regional University Interscholastic League contest recently.

He is the first Big Spring student to continue to the state level since at least 1975, said Steve Poitevin, publications adviser at Big Spring High School.

Marc said he was surprised to find he had done so well.

"This is the first time I have done it and I really surprised myself," Marc said.

He's not getting his hopes up too high for the Austin contest, though.

"I am looking at it for the experience so I know better what the judges will be looking for next year," he said.

Marc, the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. Marc Schwarz, 809 Highland Dr., has gone to the regional level in extemporaneous speaking.

The student, who has written for the Big Spring Herald, plans to pursue a career in politics.

Two other area students also will be in Austin this weekend.

Joan Braden and LeAnn Seidenberger competed with several other Garden City High School students at the Regional UIL contest in Abilene April 23.

Joan received second place in accounting and second place in editorial writing.

LeAnn won first place in feature writing, and also competed in news writing and ready writing. Liz Glass competed in news writing and Becky Pinkard went as District 2A's alternate in typing.

Public Safety courses and the judges' schools. During World War II, I supervised 75 mechanics so I am skilled in mechanics as well as working with people. After 20 years in the welding field, I became knowledgeable in construction. Now that I'm retired I have nothing but time to devote to the city council.

Jimmy Leffler — I am tired of the taxpayers getting ripped-off. The taxpayers are not receiving enough service for what they have paid. I have worked on a multi-million dollar budget for Sunstar Raceways, I planned and designed it. I know about what a lot of things should cost. I have enough common sense to know when prices are too high on bids. I have worked for the public for 17 years and know how the public feels.

Jerry W. Roach — I am 37 years old and lived in Big Spring most of my life. Married for 18 years to my wife, Susie, we have two children ages 16 and nine. I served in the Army for six years, three of which were in Vietnam. I attended Howard College and the University of Kentucky, majored in business, finance and law.

My wife and I operate two businesses in Big Spring and have proven leadership ability to make important decisions but my overall main qualification is Big Spring is my home and I care.

Bob Smith — I am an Air Force Veteran. I served as administrative supervisor of the military and civilian payroll. After my discharge, I served with the Big Spring Police Department for four years. Later, I was appointed chief of police in Stanton.

I have been in private business in Big Spring for over 20 years, during which time I served eight years as Howard County constable.

I began my civic leadership at age 17, serving as Scout Master and have been active ever since. I have been involved with the YM-CA, Boy's Club, and Youth Athletics.

I believe my educational background and community leadership for the past 33 years qualifies me to serve on your City Council.

Gail Earls — I am actively involved in the community now by serving on the following Board of Directors: Rape Crisis/Victim Services, March of Dimes, Westside Community Center, Christmas in April, United Way and the West Texas Girl Scouts.

I have worked with people through my job for 15 years in the County Extension Office. I have been involved in city and county government, I have been attending the City Council meetings for the last three years. I feel like I am already well informed and believe I can do a good job as a council member.

Sidney Clark — I am familiar with fund accounting and budget preparations, having been in the accounting field and operating my own business in Big Spring for the last 25 years. I am presently chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission, treasurer of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation, Secretary/Treasurer of the Optimist Club of Big Spring, treasurer of the Northside Community Center, a deacon for the First Baptist Church and a member of the board of the Rainbow Project.

I believe in honesty, integrity, commitment and continual personal improvement.

Dottie Leffler — I have experience as a clerk-typist, secretary, receptionist, real estate sales person, bookkeeper. I also have prepared a budget for a multi-million dollar race facility. I feel the person who gets in has a hard job facing them. Whoever gets the positions needs to use some common sense and think of the whole town and all its citizens and not just a few. I hope everyone gets out and votes for whoever you vote for.

Chuck Condray — I have attended the council meetings for the last three years and understand the issues facing the City of Big Spring. There is a difference between the private and public sector and I also recognize that difference.

I am an experienced manager of public funds and have participated in the development of operating budgets for 14 years. Council decisions are not those of an individual, but the result of a group process, and my experience working with people qualifies me for that task.

Oil prices rebound

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil futures prices have turned higher after suffering a steep decline following OPEC's failure to agree on new production cuts at its meetings in Vienna, Austria.

In Tuesday trading on the New York Mercantile Exchange, June contracts for West Texas Intermediate, the U.S. benchmark crude, rose 23 cents per barrel to close at $17.37.

The contract had dropped 85 cents on Monday, after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries adjourned from several days of meetings without reaching a production-cutting agreement with independent oil producers.

However, the cartel's inability to reach a consensus already had been crimping prices in preceding days, said John O'Dea, manager of international energy futures at the Dean Witter Reynolds Inc. securities firm.

One killed, two shot

FORT WORTH (AP) — A masked gunman forced his way into a northside home, killing one woman and critically wounding two other people in a burst of gunfire, authorities said today.

"It appears that the victims were in bed for the night and were caught unaware," Capt. Greg Givens said of the late Tuesday night attack. "Everybody had multiple gunshot wounds. It looks like the guy came in here to shoot some people, and he did."

Police did not immediately release the name of the dead woman. Givens said she appeared to be in her late teens or early 20s.

E.B. Sitton, 72, was in critical condition at John Peter Smith Hospital after the shootings, said spokesman Bob Wood. Sitton arrived at the hospital conscious and suffering from multiple gunshot wounds to the arm and chest, he said.

Martha Lindsey, 50, was in critical condition this morning at Harris Hospital-Methodist, said spokeswoman Joan Mertz.

BOCA CHICA BEACH (AP) — County workers had to stage a rehab of the Great Texas Beach Trash-Off after some of the garbage that had been stashed in bags on the beach stayed there for more than a week and then started washing away.

Pilot John Davis said he saw some of the white, plastic sacks of garbage floating in the ocean when he flew over the Boca Chica area near the mouth of the Rio Grande a week after the April 23 statewide volunteer cleanup.

"Some of the bags had broken open and the trash was washing back into the water," Davis said.

County workers who picked up the sacks collected by volunteers were unaware that some bags remained behind on a southern stretch of the beach, an official said.

"It was a communication problem," said Gus Zavaleta, road superintendent for Precinct 1 in Cameron County, who sent out crews Tuesday to finish the job.

About 700 people turned out on April 23 to clean up the Boca Chica area. But not all of the 1,100 garbage bags they piled on the beach made it to the county dump and instead were scattered around by high tides.

Baby born at school

AUSTIN (AP) — A high school senior gave birth to a girl in a Round Rock High School bathroom Tuesday, officials said.

Cheryl Parsons Darnell, director of communications for the Round Rock school district, said the student "asked her teacher if she could go to the restroom and immediately delivered the baby."

Ms. Darnell would not identify the student, but said she is 18 and had been prepared to graduate this spring. The mother and baby were taken by ambulance to Round Rock Community Hospital.

"Both mom and baby are doing fine," said Ricky Reed, a paramedic with the Williamson County Emergency Medical Service who responded to the call. He also declined to release the mother's name.

"Apparently, no one knew the student was pregnant," Ms. Darnell said. "Apparently, she was overweight."

Education candidates share views

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Two county school board races — Forsan and Howard College — feature unopposed candidates for the May 7 election.

Incumbents Terry Wooten and Fred Holguin are unopposed for reelection in Forsan, while Don McKinney and Harold Davis are running alone for spots on the Howard College Board of Trustees.

All candidates but Davis responded to a Herald questionnaire.

Both Wooten and Holguin stated that declining revenue is the major issue facing the Forsan school district. Holguin favors "more stringent budget controls" as a means of combating the problem, while Wooten said "maintaining good judgment and continuing the program in place" will solve the financial woes.

With many districts — Forsan included — facing a shrinking tax base, both were asked what steps they would take to address the problem.

Wooten replied, "We voted for a tax increase last year, plus reduced costs in some areas. A (future) tax increase, if at all, will be minimal. We will continue to be an academic leader even at reduced costs as compared to other school districts."

Holguin: "(I will) work with the state legislature to provide adequate and equal funding to all school districts on a per-pupil basis."

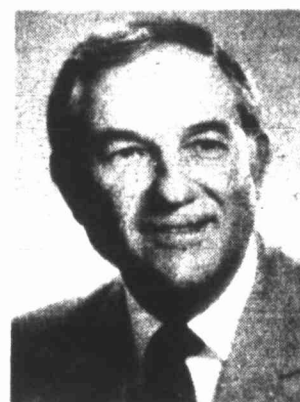

TERRY WOOTEN

FRED HOLGUIN

DON MCKINNEY

HAROLD DAVIS

Even with a declining tax base, Wooten stated his goal as maintaining "an excellent academic institution which is now in place," while Holguin stated his goal as supporting the educational programs of the Forsan school district.

Wooten, seeking his second three-year term on the board, and his wife, Kim, have two children, Joshua, 14, and Lindsay, 11.

Six-year board veteran Holguin and his wife, Sue, also have two children, Debbie, 21, and Freddie, 17.

The Howard College board is in the last year of a realignment that will have four of the seven trustees elected by place. This was brought about by settlement of a lawsuit filed against the college by the League of United Latin American Citizens.

Davis is running for the district 3 spot on the board, which comprises the southwest portion of the county, while McKinney seeks the district 4 seat, including Coahoma and the northeast portion of Howard County.

Lifetime county resident McKinney said the major issue facing the college district is maintaining adequate finances.

"(The major issue is) to keep Howard College funded adequately," he said. "We must keep the importance of the community colleges of Texas before the state government and State Budget Committee."

McKinney said he believes increased enrollment will help offset a declining tax base.

"A percent of Howard College income is provided by the state on a contract hour basis directly related to enrollment," he noted. "Increasing enrollment will keep our income up."

The 15-year veteran of the trustee board said his goal is to help ensure a good education for college students.

"(My goal is to) provide quality education to the students with the money and facilities that are available to the Board of Trustees," McKinney said. "I strongly feel that the policies of the board must insure the most efficient and effective use of the taxpayer and state money ..."

"Howard College is very important to our area by offering quality education in vocational, and general education, serving the community a life-long learning enrichment program for all ages," he added.

"Being a trustee for 15 years has been an opportunity to help gain these goals and be a service to the community. I would like to continue doing so," he concluded.

The 'w' word weighty in '88

When Walter Mondale chose Geraldine Ferraro as his Democratic vice-presidential running mate in 1984, feminists hailed the move as a victory for women. But ever since President Reagan handily trounced the Mondale-Ferraro ticket, Democratic insiders have had to wrestle with the fallout from the "Ferraro effect."

Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., complains that some in the party's male leadership blame Ferraro for dragging Mondale down. Not so, she says. In her view, Mondale lost for other reasons — and wasted whatever advantage a female running mate might have conferred, because he and Ferraro didn't address women's issues.

In this presidential election, Democratic women are still seen, but not addressed, on the campaign trail. For the Texas caucuses, Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis' campaign went to the trouble of naming a female co-chair in every congressional district. Yet, in his stump speeches, he rarely, if ever, talked directly about women and their concerns.

"You can't get a candidate to say the 'w' word," says Schroeder.

At some point, that must change. Women play too important a role in both parties for them to be taken for granted. Their numbers alone make them a force to be reckoned with. This year, female registered voters in this country outnumber their male counterparts by 10 million, according to the National Women's Political Caucus.

Moreover, women voters are now credited with supplying the victory margin for nine Democratic senators two years ago — an election that returned control of the U.S. Senate to the Democrats.

True, women voters don't form a single-interest group. Yet, many of them have an abiding interest in how presidential candidates feel about social issues such as school lunch programs, child care, family-leave policies or civil-rights enforcement.

No, the "w" word isn't the political kiss of death. On the contrary, a candidate might help his chances by addressing women voters. The 1986 elections indicate that women will be heard at the ballot box.

Trivia game may gain respect for West Texas

By KEN BRODNAX
The Odessa American

ODESSA — West Texans often don't get rewarded for their perseverance.

They brave spring sandstorms, winter blizzards, summer heat and fall football seasons.

And do they get respect? Of course not. The rest of the nation just thinks they're kinda strange for wanting to live at the end of the earth.

So hardy Texas folk take their pleasures in small ways. They talk about the magnificent sunsets, good neighbors and other, oh-so-intangible attributes.

They smile when outsiders establish residence and spend a good deal of their time griping about the stark landscape.

But every once in a while, they get a chance to feel superior. When one of those invaders commits a regional faux pas (flaw phaw, to West Texans), they get a lot of mileage out of it.

Maybe it's something as simple as not knowing how to spell a brisket, as in a slab of meat that is one of the favorite Texas barbecue treats. (Brisquit! You gotta be kiddin'.)

So here's yet another chance for West Texans to develop a superiority complex. It's a trivia quiz designed specifically for long-time residents. Short-timers might want to participate, if for no other reason than to pick up a couple of regional facts that might help them to pass for a native in certain circumstances. Here goes:

1. Pronounce "Study Butte."
2. What was the family name applied to the forerunner of U.S. 80? Hint: portions of the old road still exist in both Ector and Midland counties.

3. Name Wink's most famous former citizen.
4. Another guy, familiar to any sports fan, also spent a brief time in Wink as a boy, and qualifies as the town's second most famous former citizen. Who is he?

5. What former Midland high school star football player later became a professional wrestler and wore an Indian headdress as part of his act?

6. Along the same lines, what was Rickey Romero's most often used nickname in the rasslin' ring?

7. The late Hoyle Nix, a longtime Big Spring musician who carried on the Bob Wills western swing tradition, played hundreds of engagements in the West Texas area. What was his band called?

8. If you wanted to play the highest round of golf (in altitude) in Texas, what town would you visit?

9. What is the common pronunciation of the town of Marathon?

10. To throw in an easy one, country-western singing star Larry Gatlin is best known in Odessa High football circles for playing a certain position. What position?

OK, grant yourself 10 points for each right answer.

1. No, it isn't study, as in what is done in school. Properly, it should rhyme with moody.

2. Bankhead Highway, the family name of actress Tallulah and her father, William, a U.S. congressman.

3. He of the dark sunglasses and pasty skin, rock'n'roll legend Roy Orbison.

4. Frank Gifford, the former pro football star and current television commentator, actually went to school in Wink way back when.

5. Wahoo McDaniel.

6. A bit obscure, perhaps, but any West Texan worth his salt can recall Rapid Rocky.

7. The Texas Playboys.

8. Marfa claims the title of the highest town in Texas.

9. No, not maraTHAWN, as in the 26-mile punishment sought by masochistic joggers. It is properly call MARATHON, no heavy emphasis on the last syllable.

10. Quarterback.

If you failed miserably, don't feel bad. Even native West Texans might have some trouble with a few of the questions.

For those lucky souls who scored 100, or were nearly perfect, feel free to puff out your chest with pride. And you'll also know to hold off on the wide superior smile until later in the spring when the sand has settled.

Thanks citizens, officials for aid

To the editor:
In regard to the three-vehicle accident that occurred May 1 and involved my daughter-in-law, Teresa, and grandson, Tyler, I express our gratitude and say thank you to the caring professional assistance provided by the Rural/Metro Ambulance Service, the Police Department, Dr. Sullivan and the emergency staff on duty at (Scenic Mountain Medical Center).

Their timely response and teamwork is commendable.

Not only were they at the scene immediately, but were reassuring and demonstrated expertise in taking control and care of the situation.

There are truly good people in our city of Big Spring. When you are in need, they are there and they care.

Also, I wish to thank the police reporting the accident, the police dispatcher who notified us and Ms. Green (also involved in the accident) whose first concern was for 15-month-old Tyler.

Thankfully all involved in the vehicle were wearing seat belts and no serious injuries occurred.

God bless all of you.

Quotes

By The Associated Press

"I was afraid before, but now there's no more time to be scared. A good friend says it's not a trick, and now I realize I have to think of my family." — Armando Reyes, a last-minute applicant at U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service offices in Los Angeles for amnesty and the right to become a U.S. citizen.

"They view cable as the thing of the future. They look at cable as a hybrid of the little screen and the big screen, and something that is not restricted editorially or with time constraints." — James S. Cownie, chairman of the National Cable Television Association, on the boom in the cable television industry.

"I throw one every day. The first thing I do when I get up is throw a mullet." — Vickie Andrews of Thomasville, Ala., on her strategy for winning the women's competition of the Interstate Mullet Toss with a pitch of 72 feet, 1 inch.

Abused wife tells of her life

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

A letter from an abused wife was published in this space recently. Other abused women have followed with other letters.

I can't print them all. But I must print the following: "For a week now I've carried a copy of your 'Abused Wife's Open Letter' column. Each time I read it, I felt more compelled to respond."

"For several years I was an abused wife. I was beaten, stomped, kicked, burned with cigarettes and stabbed.

"My husband threw me into a wall so hard that my head went through the panelling. The man was also a gun fanatic. His favorite game when he was drinking was his version of Russian roulette. His gun, my head.

"And always, the children watched. My daughter with tears in her eyes. My sons in silent desperation; little boys with clenched fists and gritted teeth.

"The psychological control this man exercised over me was tremendous. When I tried to leave, he followed and begged me to come back.

"And I always did. I falsely thought that if I loved him enough he would change. But he wouldn't change, and I will wear the scars this man put upon my body forever.

"Unfortunately it didn't stop there.

"On Jan. 21, 1985, my husband hit me for the last time. When I staggered from the blow, he reached for his pistol.

"One of my sons stopped him. My child picked up another gun and fired. The bullet did not kill my husband, but it paralyzed him.

"That child had watched his mother tortured for the last time. After three years of watching helplessly while his mom was degraded, he took matters into his own hands.

"My (now ex) husband will never stomp, kick or hit another woman.

"My nightmare didn't end there with my husband being shot. I found myself caught up in the judicial system.

"I was charged with aggravated assault and aggravated battery. I have been in prison for two years now.

"The man who thrived on my agony testified at my trial from his wheelchair. He said he had never hit me in his life. He cried. He looked pitiful, and I was convicted.

"I still believe our system will work, and I will be cleared. Last year the Georgia Appeals Court overturned my aggravated assault conviction. The aggravated battery charge is in front of the court now, and I'm presently being considered for parole.

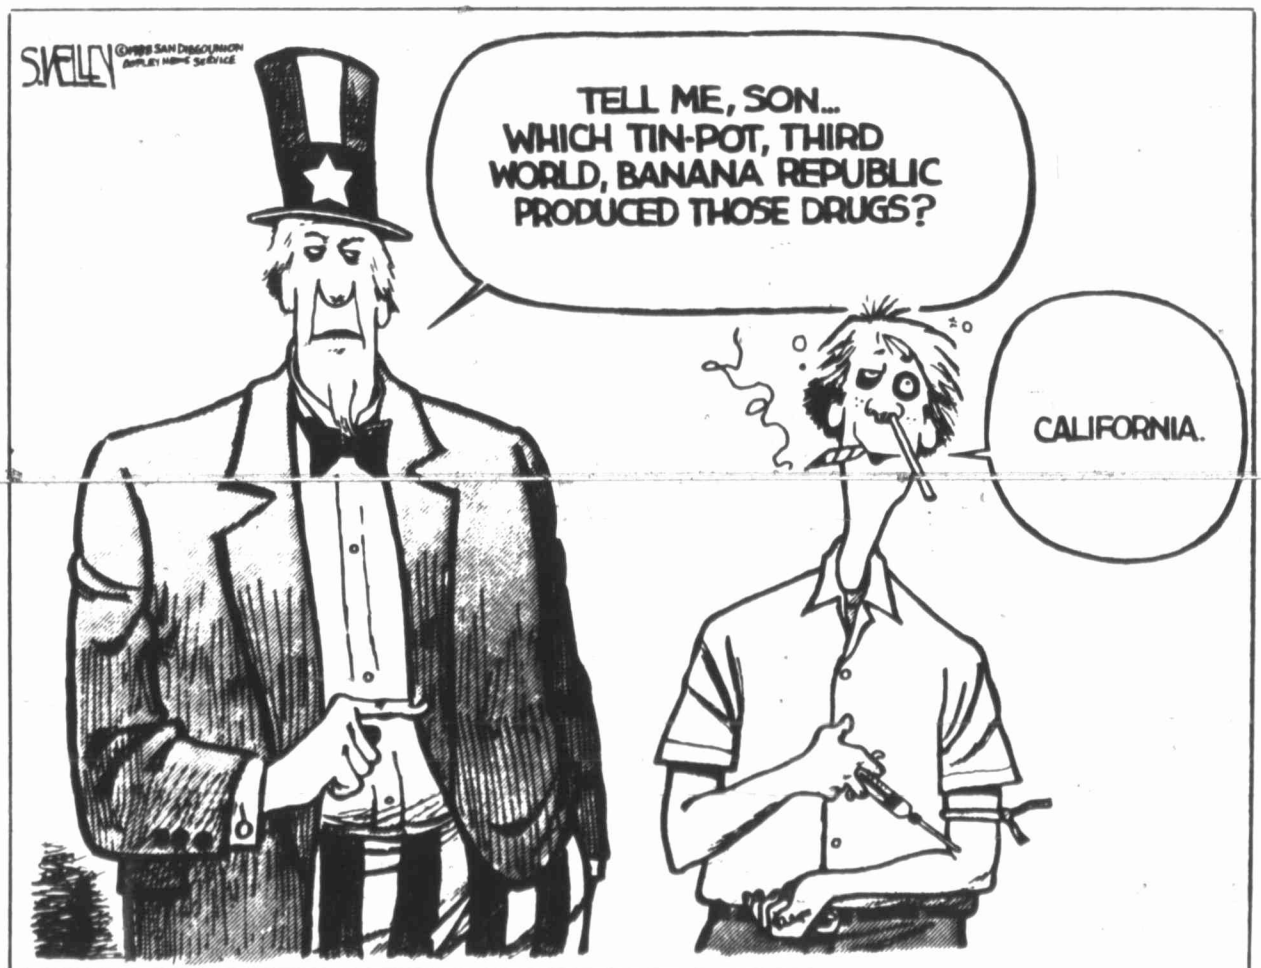

"One day soon, I hope to be going home to begin rebuilding my life.

"My message is, seek help. If you are a woman, talk to your family doctor, a minister, a psychologist or a police officer.

"If you are a child and your mother is being abused, talk to your school counselor or minister or police.

"And just leave! Get away from the monster before it's too late."

The author of the letter is an inmate at the Georgia's Women's Correctional Institute in Hardwick, Ga.

Wedtech report issued

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorney General Edwin Meese III violated a White House ban on intervening in government contracts on behalf of friends when he tried to help the Wedtech Corp., according to an upcoming Senate subcommittee report.

The report found that while Meese was counselor to President Reagan in 1981 and 1982, he violated the policy despite warnings by White House officials not to intervene, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

Meese was in Rome on Tuesday attending a meeting of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. His lawyer, Nathan Lewin, disputed the subcommittee's findings. He said Meese's actions "did not give the appearance of impropriety" and "did not fall within the scope of the White House regulation."

Meese picks attorney

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prominent Utah attorney is the third person named to fill a vacancy as the chief deputy to Attorney General Edwin Meese III after the protest resignation March 29 of Arnold Burns, a published report said today.

Meese, however, is waiting until a background check is completed before making the announcement, The Washington Post reported today.

Meese sent the recommendation of Harold G. Christensen, 62, of Salt Lake City, to the White House on Monday, the Post said, quoting unidentified administration sources.

Burns and Assistant Attorney General William F. Weld resigned in the wake of continuing investigations of Meese by independent counsel James C. McKay. The officials said the investigations hampered the attorney general's ability to lead the department.

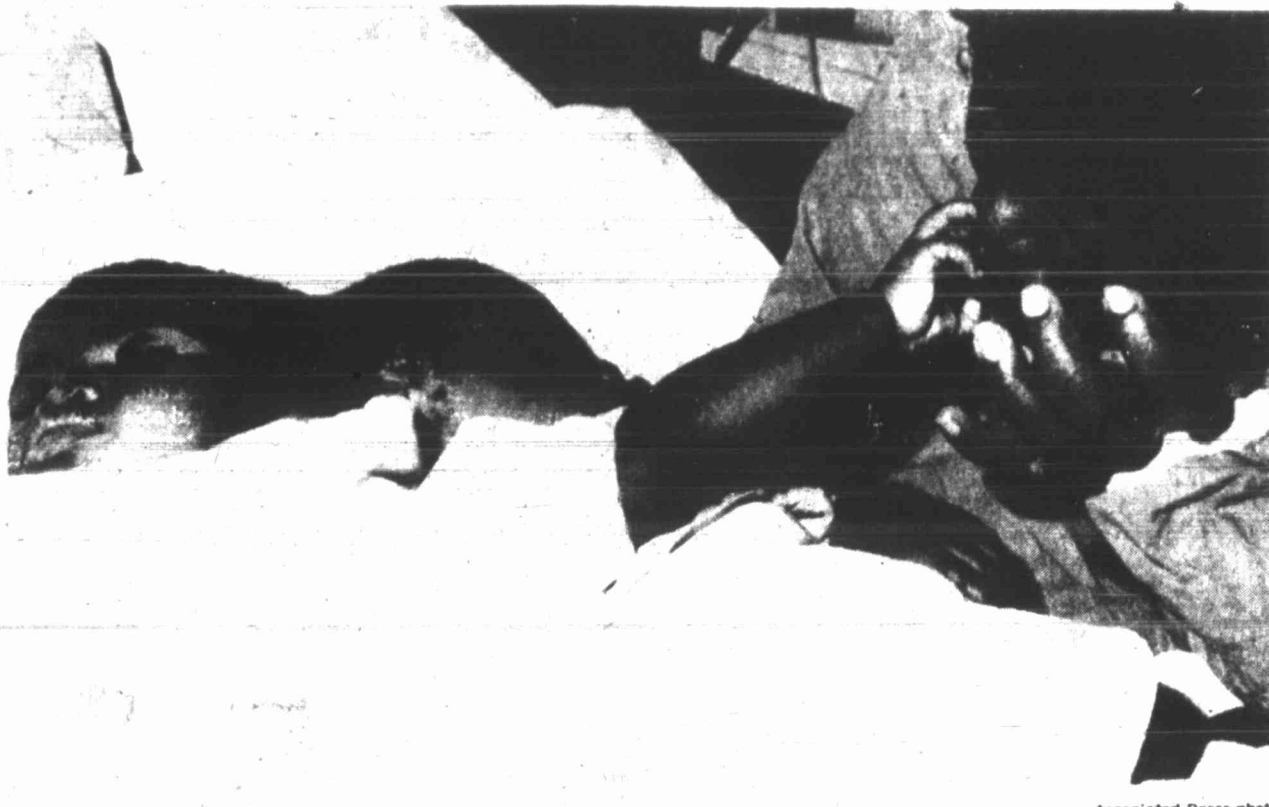

AIDS brochure out

WASHINGTON (AP) — An eight-page government AIDS pamphlet being mailed to every U.S. household is a straight-talking attempt to educate Americans about the deadly disease, including the role condoms can play in preventing its spread, the nation's health chief said today.

"The brochure lays out the facts of what everyone needs to know," Health and Human Services Secretary Otis R. Bowen said in an interview.

"It's written in plain, easy, straightforward language that is at about the 12-to-13-year-old reading level," said Bowen. "It doesn't mince words, yet it is in good taste. It stresses proper behavior and it stresses values and responsibilities."

He said the brochure seeks to emphasize how AIDS is and is not transmitted and "to get the message out that it is behavior that puts one at risk."

Precious moment

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prior to their separation Tuesday Mpho and Mphonyana Mathibela spend a few moments with their mother, Sophie Mathibela. Doctors today performed follow-up surgery on Mphonyana. The operation was an intricate 7½-hour procedure, hospital officials said. Both were in critical but stable condition. "I always knew they would be all right," said Sophie. "I feel so happy."

Astrology

Reagans are long-time stargazers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Syndicated stargazers say it was an open secret that President and Nancy Reagan consult their horoscopes, with their interest in astrology dating to the years when Reagan was governor of California.

The White House confirmed Tuesday that Nancy Reagan follows astrology and consults it for some of the president's activities, but the president said no policy or decision he's made has been influenced by the stars.

"I refer to it as the world's worst-kept secret that President Reagan relies on astrology. There's nothing new about it," said astrologer Sydney Omarr of Santa Monica, whose syndicated daily horoscope is distributed to more than 300 newspapers, including The Washington Post.

Omarr said he has never consulted with Reagan, but received congratulations via a phone call from former White House spokesman Larry Speakes when Omarr noted his 25 years with the Los Angeles Times syndicate.

"Franklin Roosevelt relied on astrology. Theodore Roosevelt did. George Washington's diary said he kept track of the position of the stars," Omarr said.

The confirmation of the Reagans' interest followed reports that Donald T. Regan, the former White House chief of staff, plans to reveal in a book that Mrs. Reagan turned to astrologers in shaping the president's schedule.

"It's an input that they receive. I don't like to use the word rely," said Joyce Jillson, an astrologer from the San Fernando Valley whose daily horoscope is distributed to more than 100 newspapers nationwide by Tribune Media Services.

The question of Reagan and astrology surfaced more than 20 years ago, when he chose to be sworn in as governor for his first term shortly after midnight on Jan. 5, 1967.

Outgoing Gov. Pat Brown said Reagan picked the time because he relied on astrology. Reagan's aides denied that, and said the unusual time was picked because of constitutional questions regarding transfer of power.

Israel shells village

RASHAYA, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli forces shelled a Syrian-held town and battled pro-Iranian guerrillas as the Israeli army advanced deeper into southeast Lebanon today, police said. Three Israelis and seven guerrillas were reported killed.

The Israeli soldiers were killed when the army stormed Shiite Moslem guerrilla bases, said security sources in south Lebanon who spoke on condition of anonymity. There was no comment from the Israeli army.

A police spokesman, also speaking on condition of anonymity, said seven guerrillas were killed in the shootout around the villages of Maydoun and Ein el-Tineh in the southwestern sector of the Bekaa Valley.

Marcos' mother dead

HONOLULU (AP) — Exiled Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos was in seclusion at his home here after learning his 95-year-old mother had died in Manila, an aide said.

Philippine President Corazon Aquino told her nation today that Marcos would not be allowed to return for the funeral because he remains a threat to national security.

Joe Lazo, a leader of a pro-Marcos group in Hawaii, told reporters outside Marcos' home that a priest was expected to come by to say mass.

After the death of Josefa Edralin-Marcos was reported here Tuesday night, about 50 local Marcos supporters went into the home walled estate in Makiki Heights, overlooking downtown Honolulu.

Pope speaks to Poles

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II met with a group of Polish pilgrims that included two Solidarity leaders and said the laws of God dictate that Poles be allowed to govern themselves and decide their own fate.

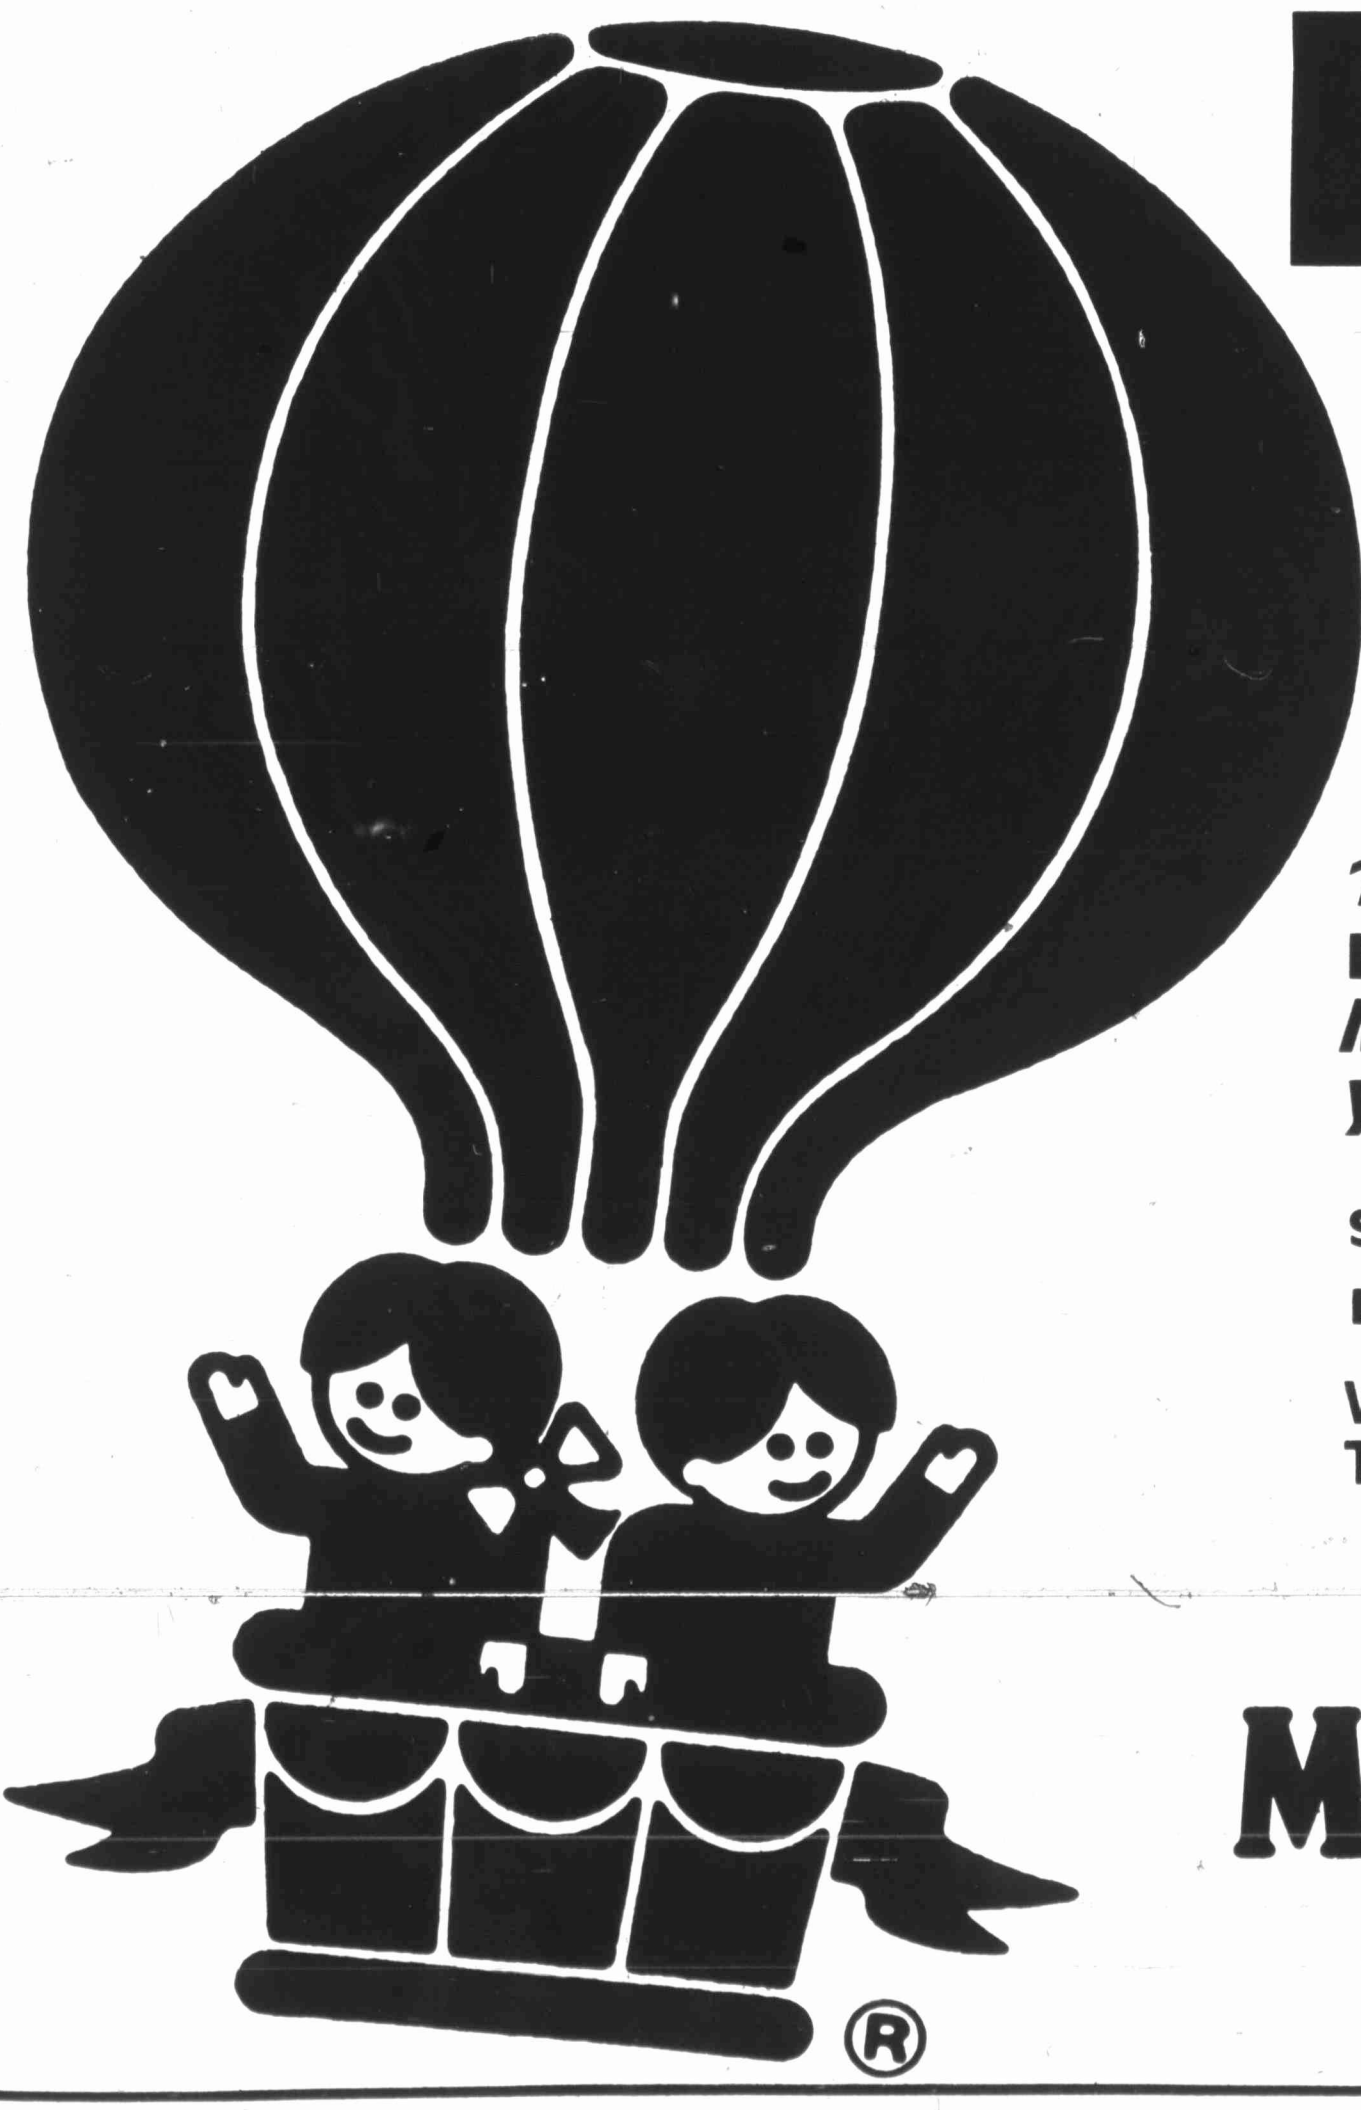

The meeting Tuesday was the pontiff's second in three days with pilgrims from his homeland in which he addressed the strife there.

About 500 Poles attended a Mass the pope said in a chapel of St. Peter's Basilica on Tuesday.

The Italian news agency AGI said that among those at the Mass were Solidarity leaders Kornel Morawiecki and Andrzej Kolodziej, who were released from a Warsaw prison last week for medical treatment in Rome.

Names in the news

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sylvester Stallone is getting nearly $20 million for his latest skirmish on the silver screen as Vietnam veteran John Rambo, making him the world's highest paid performer, a trade newspaper says.

Carolco Productions' "Rambo III," due in theaters May 25, cost $63 million to make and ranks among the most expensive movies ever produced, Daily Variety said Monday.

Carolco President Peter Hoffman said Monday the figures were inaccurate. He declined to give any amounts but did say both figures reported were substantially higher than the actual cost.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — State senators honored actress Olympia Dukakis as a "Jersey jewel" for her Academy Award-winning portrayal of an aging Italian matron in the movie "Moonstruck."

Miss Dukakis came to the capital Monday to be recognized for acting achievements by the Senate and to campaign for her cousin, Democratic presidential contender Michael Dukakis.

"Acting is her trade and she continually works at this trade," said Sen. Carmen Orechio. "Olympia is an actress' actress. She is a Jersey jewel."

Senate President John Russo presented her with a "New Jersey and You — Perfect Together" T-shirt.

"I'm very moved and deeply gratified," said Ms. Dukakis.

She thanked the Legislature and Gov. Thomas H. Kean for annual funding of the performing arts. Ms. Dukakis, a New Jersey resident for the past 18 years, helped found the Whole Theater in Montclair, which has been nominated for a Tony Award as an outstanding regional theater.

She won two Obie Awards for off-Broadway performances, and has appeared in numerous television, film and stage productions.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Tom Hanks, who romanced a mermaid in the movie "Splash," has taken the plunge in real life.

Hanks and actress Rita Wilson were married Saturday night at an undisclosed Los Angeles church, his publicist, Heidi Schaefer, said Monday. The couple left for a honeymoon at an undisclosed location, Miss Schaefer said.

No details were released because the couple doesn't want any publicity, she said.

Hanks and Miss Wilson met while making the film "Volunteers," Miss Schaefer said.

She said they will live in Los Angeles.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Singer-songwriter Rickie Lee Jones, whose song "Chuck E.'s In Love" became a hit, has given birth to a girl, her record company says.

The 7-pound, 9-ounce girl, named Charlotte Diamanti Nabet, was born April 9 at St. Francis Hospital in this coastal city, Gefen Records publicist Bryn Bridenthal said Monday.

Miss Jones is married to composer Pascal Nabet-Meyer, 30.

At the 1980 Grammy Awards show, Miss Jones was voted best new artist.

Foster children to exhibit art

The Foster Home Program will host the first "Art Show by Children in Foster Homes."

The 30 piece exhibit includes art mediums from crayon to glitter and will be displayed at the Highland Mall May 16-21.

The event is to commemorate Foster Care Month, which is the month of May.

Foster parents provide a substitute family for children whose parents need extra help with their situations, and provide a home for children who would not be safe at home, said Jeannie Hunt, foster home recruiter.

Association gives courage, support

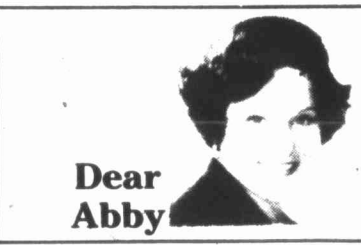

DEAR ABBY: In a recent letter dealing with people who have a hearing problem but refuse to wear a hearing aid, you wrote: "A physical impairment of any kind is nothing to be ashamed of." That message should be communicated to the hundreds of thousands of people who are not members of the United Ostomy Association where they can get support and information about the problems they face. There are persons — of all ages — who have a "stoma" (artificial opening) to eliminate the waste products of the body. The surgical procedure is called "colostomy" or "ileostomy."

There are an estimated 1 1/2 million "ostomates" in the United States, but only 50,000 are members of the United Ostomy Association. Why? Because most people who have had that kind of surgery are too embarrassed to discuss it.

Abby, meeting with others who share a common problem can give encouragement and support. Bearing it alone isolates, and makes for self-pity.

B.W. HOLMES, ESCONDIDO, CALIF.

DEAR B.W.: Right on! I have friends of all ages who are members of this wonderful organization. I recommend it highly. Those interested may write to the United Ostomy Association, 36 Executive Park, Suite 120, Irvine, Calif. 92714. This is a non-profit organization, so please send a self-addressed, stamped (25 cents) envelope.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: You have had several letters recently from people who are fed up with receiving overdue notices and nasty letters from service companies. You say that most billings these days are handled by computers, which are sorely lacking in common sense.

My trash collecting service uses computer billing, and what its computer lacks in common sense, it makes up in a sense of humor. After I missed one payment, my second bill read: "Hello. I am a computer. Your account is past due. If you don't pay soon, I will tell a human."

That kind of message will get better results than one that puts me on the defensive.

Mother's Day

Culinary treats for a special day

By LYNN HAYES
Staff Writer

Sunday is Mother's Day, and in honor of this special occasion, I've selected several easy-to-prepare dishes to help you surprise your mother with a delicious meal on her special day.

Breakfast is a good idea if you are a beginner in the kitchen. If you are an experienced cook you'll enjoy preparing and serving any of the other featured dishes.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

2 cups all-purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 tbs. baking powder
1 cup blueberries
1 egg
3/4 cup milk
1/3 cup vegetable oil

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. In a large bowl, mix flour, sugar and baking powder. Add blueberries and stir to coat them. In another bowl, beat egg, milk and oil together and add to flour mixture, stirring only until dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon into greased muffin tins and bake about 30 minutes, or until golden. Makes 8 to 10 muffins. The author notes that either fresh or frozen blueberries can be used — but advises that, if frozen blueberries are used, it is better not to thaw them first.

EASY EGGS

6 eggs
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 tbs. chopped onion
1/4 cup milk
Salt and pepper
1 tbs. butter

In a bowl, beat eggs, cheese, onion and milk together. Add salt and pepper to taste. In a large frying pan, melt butter over medium heat. Pour egg mixture into pan and cook, stirring frequently, until all the liquid is absorbed but eggs are still moist-looking. Serve with toast or English muffins. Serves 4.

EIGHT-VEGETABLE PASTITSIO

1 small onion, quartered
2 shallots or 2 garlic cloves
1 stalk celery, quartered
2 carrots, quartered
1/2 green pepper, seeded and quartered
1/2 sweet red pepper, seeded and quartered
1 large zucchini, quartered
1 tbs. extra-virgin olive oil
1 1/2 tsp. Italian herb blend, crushed
2 tbs. grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 cup dry red wine
8 oz. can Italian plum tomatoes, crushed
12 oz. penne or ziti
1 pound unpeeled eggplant, sliced into rounds 1/2-inch thick
1 pound skim-milk ricotta, pureed until smooth
2 oz. shredded skim-milk mozzarella cheese

Place first 7 ingredients in food processor or blender and chop coarsely. Sauté vegetables in oil in nonstick saute pan for 5 minutes. Add herbs and Parmesan cheese; saute for 3 to 5 minutes. Add red wine and tomatoes, bring to a boil, reduce heat, and simmer for 10 minutes. While sauce is simmering, cook pasta.

Place sliced eggplant on nonstick baking sheet and broil lightly on both sides. To assemble, in a shallow 3-quart casserole sprayed with nonstick cooking spray, layer one fourth of the sauce, all the pasta, one fourth of the sauce, all of the ricotta cheese, one fourth of the sauce, the eggplant, and remaining sauce. Top with shredded mozzarella.

Bake in a pre-heated 375 degree F. oven for 40 minutes, or until bubbling. Serves 8.

Let's talk track

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

This past weekend marked the third year Big Spring has hosted the Region I-2A track meet. I think it's getting better every year.

First of all, my hat's off to Linda Conway of Howard College, who is responsible for bringing regional track, golf and tennis action to the Spring City.

Conway has done a swell job of organizing, and making sure everything runs smoothly, which is no easy matter when you're dealing with hundreds of high school kids, not to mention coaches and parents.

After the meet, Conway said she didn't know if the next regional meet will be in Big Spring, citing too hard a time finding people to help with the meet as the main problem she had encountered.

Competition is good for Big Spring. It brings excitement to town and added income.

Here's hoping it stays in the Spring City.

I'll admit, because of seating space, Blankenship Field is not the ideal place to host a regional track meet of this size.

But it seems that those tightly packed stands bring out the best in athletes.

But it's logical knowledge that's the main incentive for what drives these young thrillclads to breathtaking performances. As one runner put it after his relay team won, "We're going to the Big House."

That's what it's all about, getting to the Big House. That Big House rests in Austin at Memorial Stadium, home of the state track meet.

Though there weren't many Crossroads Country track athletes competing in the Region I-2A meet, the few who did represented the area well.

Brandy Bryan made the community of Forsan happy when he qualified in both the 110-meter high hurdles, and the long jump.

Stanton's Kody Newman will be making a return trip to Austin after a one-year absence. Newman overcame a bad start in the girls 100 meters to finish second, thus earning he senior a trip to state.

It was a painful ending to an illustrious prep track career for Forsan high jumper Brant Nichols. Nichols went to state his sophomore year. He was beaten out last year by a good crew of high jumpers, including a seven-foot jumper from White Deer. This year Nichols was recovering from knee surgery after a football injury.

Saturday the Forsan jumper leaped 6-4, four inches below his career best, and finished fourth. One can't help but think that a healthy Nichols would be going back to Austin, especially since the winning jump was 6-6.

Another Forsan runner competed well at the meet. Robin Soles ran a 61.49 to finish fourth in the 400 meters. In the prelims, on a nice cool night, Soles ran a career best 60.40.

Stanton will have two athletes aching to get back to the meet, after near misses Saturday. Junior Anthony Inman ran a 38.88 to finish fourth in the 300 intermediate hurdles and Robert Jones was fifth in the long jump at 21-6. On his last jump in the finals Jones barley scratched on a 22-0 effort. It would have been good enough to win the gold.

One team that didn't rise to the occasion against regional competition was the Big Spring Steers. Big Spring took eight individuals and one relay to the Region I-4A track meet. The Steers scored a paltry 17 points.

The lone Steer who did compete well in his individual event was senior Sean Jackson in the 400 meters. Jackson ran a career-best 49.40 to finish fourth.

Just how much did the Steers miss Ben Gonzales, the junior runner who failed an English class and didn't get to compete in the 3200 and 1600 runs, and 1600-meter relay? Badly.

The times that won both the metric two mile and mile were comparable to Gonzales' best times. And Gonzales, who finished third in state in the 1600 last year, wasn't even pushed during the regular season. So with Gonzales running, Big Spring might have scored 16-20 points more.

Last week at the Lone Star Conference track meet, the Angelo State Rabelles 400 meter relay team won first place.

The team had two familiar names on it, if you're a Crossroads Country track fan.

Leading off the relay was former Colorado City star Sandra Williams. Running third leg is ex-Coahoma speedster Tobi Henry. Both were high school all-stars.

Williams and Henry teamed with Johna Tackel and Sharon Lang to run a 47.20. The foursome has a season-best of 46.20.

Williams, a sophomore, has bests of 11.78 in the 100 meters, 25.18 in the 200, and 19-10 in the long jump.

Henry, a junior, has a best of 57.20 in the 400, and 25.63 in the 200. She also runs on the 1600 relay team that has clocked a 3:53.37.

Walker drops idea of buying Cowboys

IRVING (AP) — Millionaire running back Herschel Walker says he had considered and abandoned an idea to try to buy the Dallas Cowboys.

"I thought about getting me a couple of guys together and putting in a bid," Walker said Tuesday. "I thought how much fun it would be to be the first owner-player in the NFL."

Walker said he decided not to do it after negotiations between owner H.R. "Bum" Bright and billionaire Marvin Davis began to heat up.

He said he even talked to billionaire Donald Trump about the idea. Trump was the owner of the now defunct New Jersey Generals of the USFL.

"Mr. Trump and I talk all the time and he's always wanted to own a team in the NFL," Walker said. "He has too many other things going right now, though."

"Davis reminds me a lot of Trump," Walker said. "He's a mover and a shaker and loves a winner. I think it would be great to see an owner at practice."

MCC clubs Howard 15-5

WACO — The McLennan Community College Highlanders exploded for six, fifth inning runs and went on to defeat the Howard College Hawks 15-5 Tuesday afternoon in Region V baseball action.

MCC took advantage of three Howard errors in the fifth inning to start its trek to ending the game in eight innings because of the 10-run rule.

REGION STANDINGS
Howard	16-6
Ranger	11-10
Northwood	11-12
MCC	11-13
Hill	8-6

Howard scored a run in the first inning when Ernesto Castro walked, and scored on a base hit by Randy Deal. MCC tied the game in the bottom of the first.

The Hawks added another run in the second.

Paul Spyhalski singled, and scored on a fielder's choice by Castro.

Howard stretched its lead to 4-1 in the third. Deal led off the inning with a walk. Ernie Sanchez was courtesy runner for the HC catcher. Darren Glenn singled, and Jody Allen reached base on a fielding error by the shortstop. Sanchez scored on the play. Joey Camarillo's single scored Allen.

In the fifth MCC turned the tide of the game, scoring six runs and chasing Howard starter Ted Hebert from the contest. Hebert went five innings, allowed seven runs and seven hits. He also walked seven. Only two of the runs were earned though. Hebert was followed by John Medrick and Greg Kroeger.

MCC followed up its big fifth inning by scoring three times in the sixth, once in the seventh and four more times in the eighth inning.

Howard's last run came in the seventh stanza. Allen led off the inning with a solo homer.

"We were leading until the fifth inning, and after that, it seemed we couldn't do anything right," said Howard College assistant coach Greg Henry. "We made three errors in the fifth and gave them six outs. That will kill you everytime."

"I don't want to say it was an emotional let-down after winning the region yesterday. We're the number one team in the region and we've got to play like we're number one. We want to have lots of momentum when the playoffs start," said Henry.

The loss drops Howard to 42-12 overall, and 16-6 in region play. Howard will conclude regular season play Saturday by taking on Ranger in a doubleheader in Rangers, starting at 1 p.m.

Down and out

HOUSTON — Montreal Expos catcher Mike Fitzgerald and pitcher Byrrn Smith roll over home plate as they try to come up with the ball as Houston Astros baserunner Billy Hatcher looks for the plate to tag. Hatcher tried to score on a loose ball while he was on third base. He was later tagged out before he could score in the third inning.

We'll never know if this umpire got punished

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a red mark on Pete Rose's face that he says was put there by umpire Dave Pallone. The umpire's union says Pallone won't be punished; the National League says that if he is, no one will ever know.

While the Cincinnati manager filed an appeal of his unprecedented 30-day suspension and two Cincinnati broadcasters apologized for their role in Saturday night's raucous ninth-inning at Riverfront Stadium, Pallone's fate remained up in the air.

"The umpires are subject to discipline just like anyone else on the field," National League spokeswoman Katy Feeney said when asked if Pallone would be punished for his part in the altercation with Rose. But she added: "It is between the league president and the umpire. It will never be released. It never has been released. We won't release any disciplinary action for the safety of the umpires. We don't want to subject them to any danger on the field."

However, Richie Phillips, executive director of the Major League Umpires Association, said he believes that no action will be taken against Pallone. Ironically, Pallone is not a member of the union and first worked in the major leagues during the 1979 umpires' strike, remaining in the league after the walkout ended.

Phillips acknowledged that umpires had been disciplined in the past but declined to discuss the names or the action taken against them.

Asked if Pallone had been disciplined for the Rose incident, Phillips replied: "No, and I don't expect him to be. Why should he be?"

The suspension of Rose is the longest for a manager since Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers was suspended for the 1947 season by Commissioner Happy Chandler for "incidents detrimental to baseball." Durocher allegedly had associated with gamblers.

The Rose-Pallone incident occurred with the Reds and New York Mets tied 5-5 in the ninth inning of Saturday night's game.

New York's Howard Johnson

was on second base with two outs when Mookie Wilson hit a ground ball to shortstop Barry Larkin, whose throw pulled first baseman Nick Esasky off the bag. Pallone delayed his call and Johnson raced home with what proved to be the winning run without a throw to the plate.

Rose shot out of the dugout and got into an animated argument with Pallone. The umpire gestured at Rose with a finger — Rose says he was hit below the left eye — and Rose shoved Pallone twice. Rose then was ejected, inciting the crowd of 41,032.

Pallone had no comment on the incident. Asked, however, whether he waited too long to make the call, Pallone said, "My honest answer to that is 'no.'"

Spurs ousted from playoffs

By The Associated Press
Magic Johnson had 25 points and 11 assists and Mychal Thompson scored 23 points as the Los Angeles Lakers beat the San Antonio Spurs 109-107 Tuesday night and advanced to the second round of the NBA playoffs.

The Spurs could have sent the game into overtime, but Johnny Dawkins missed a layup with four seconds remaining, and the Lakers ran out the clock.

"I fully expected this kind of a game," Lakers coach Pat Riley said. "The defense was aggressive. We found a way to win."

"I want to take my hat off to San Antonio. I am very glad we don't have to play them in a Game 4."

"They make you work for everything and that makes you play that much better," Johnson said. "When it's only a couple of points, you always feel you're in it. I give them credit for battling."

The Lakers, who have won 15 consecutive first-round games and swept their last five first-round series, will face the winner of the Portland-Utah series in the next round.

Walter Berry came off the Spurs bench to lead all scorers with 27 points, while Frank Brickowski added 22.

The Spurs had a 91-89 lead at the beginning of the final period, but Thompson's basket with 8:16 left tied the score at 97.

James Worthy later gave the Lakers the lead for good at 104-102. A basket by Johnson was offset by a field goal by Greg Anderson, making the score 106-104 with 2:50 left before Johnson scored three straight points to increase the margin to 109-104.

Brickowski hit a 3-pointer with 34 seconds left to make it 109-107, and the Spurs regained possession with 10 seconds left after a three-second violation.

"This team has always given us lots of problems," Lakers forward Kurt Rambis said. "We know we are in a fight when we have to play them, especially here."

In other games Tuesday night, Dallas took a 2-1 series lead with a 93-92 victory over Houston, and Cleveland avoided elimination against Chicago, defeating the Bulls 110-102. At Seattle, the Denver Nuggets defeated Seattle SuperSonics 125-114.

On Wednesday, it's Boston at New York, Detroit at Washington, Atlanta at Milwaukee and Portland at Utah. The Celtics and Hawks lead their series 2-0 while the Pistons lead 2-1 and the Trail Blazers and Jazz are tied 1-1.

Mavericks 93, Rockets 92
Roy Tarpley scored six of his 17 points in the final minutes, including the go-ahead basket with 3:45 to play, leading Dallas over Houston.

The Mavericks, who ended a five-game playoff losing streak on the road, had to overcome 35 points and 12 rebounds by Akeem Olatunji and some last-minute heroics by the Rockets.

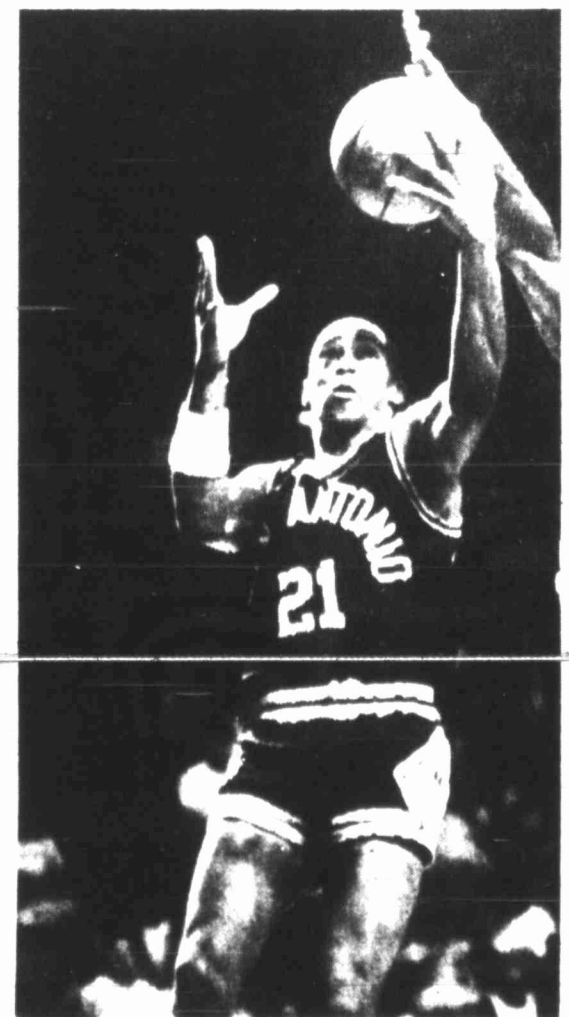

Trailing 93-92, Rodney McCray grabbed the ball from Rolando Blackman and the Rockets called timeout with 12 seconds to play to set up their final play. Olatunji missed the basket and Detlef Schrempf slapped the ball back toward midcourt as the game ended.

The Mavericks, trailing 77-73 to start the fourth quarter, tied the score four times in the period and took the lead, 86-84, with 3:45 to go on a tipin by Tarpley, who led the Mavericks with 13 rebounds.

Cavaliers 110, Bulls 102
Mark Price scored 31 points and Larry Nance and Brad Daugherty each made a critical basket in the final minute as Cleveland held off a Chicago rally.

Michael Jordan scored 38 for the Bulls, three above his regular-season average, but far below his average through the first two playoff games when he scored 50 and 55 points. Guarded by Craig Ehlo after Ron Harper went out with his fifth foul early in the fourth quarter.

Yanks move into first

By The Associated Press
Rickey Henderson: "It's always nice to be in first place."
Billy Martin: "First place doesn't mean a thing this time of year."
The two Yankees, left fielder and manager, couldn't quite agree on its significance, but New York moved into first place in the American League East Tuesday night.

American League

The Yankees beat the Chicago White Sox 4-1 and, because Cleveland lost 8-4 to California, New York took a half game lead over the Yankees.

Henderson's reason for enjoying first place? "Because that means the other teams have to chase you," he said.

Martin's reason for not getting excited: "I like to be there the last day."

Henderson homered, stole two bases and scored three times in the Yankees victory. Charlie Hudson was the winner, making his first start of the season because Rick Rhoden is injured. He worked into the seventh inning, allowing four hits.

Henderson hit his fourth homer leading off the seventh off White Sox left-hander Dave LaPoint, who came into the game with a league-leading 0.94 ERA.

Angels 8, Indians 4
California scored five times in the ninth inning to beat Cleveland, getting two of the runs on clutch pinch hits by George Hendrick and Butch Wynegar.

Hendrick's liner to left scored Chili Davis, who led off with a double into the left-field corner, tying the score 4-4. A single by Devon White chased Dan Schatzeder, and Hendrick scored the go-ahead run on a pinch single by Wynegar off Chris Codiroli.

Bill Buckner had a two-run single later in the inning.
Donnie Moore worked two innings for the Angels and was the winner, evening his record at 2-2.

Royals 9, Red Sox 3
George Brett hit two doubles and a single, drove in a pair of runs and scored twice as Kansas City swept a two-game series in Boston. Brett had six hits in 10 at-bats during the series.

Jamie Quirk and Bill Pecota homered for Kansas City, and Bret Saberhagen, 4-2, allowed seven hits and four walks in seven innings before giving way to Dan Quisenberry.

Brett had an RBI single in a two-run third inning and a run-scoring double as the Royals chased Boston starter Dennis Boyd in a four-run fifth.

Rangers 4, Orioles 2
Rangers rookie left-hander Ray Hayward, recalled from the Rangers Class AAA Oklahoma City team just four days ago, worked 7 1-3 innings for his first major league victory, allowing eight hits and two runs.

Pete Incaviglia doubled in a run and Larry Parrish drove in his second run of the game with a sacrifice fly as Texas broke a 2-2 tie with two runs in the sixth inning.

Athletics 8, Tigers 2
Dave Stewart became the major leagues' first seven-game winner, allowing six hits in six innings. Stewart also became the first Oakland pitcher to win seven games in a row to start a season.

Carney Lansford and Mike Gallego each drove in three runs for Oakland, which has won nine in a row.

Gallego's bases-loaded double highlighted a four-run fourth.

Lansford had an RBI single in the same inning and a two-run homer in the sixth.

Brewers 4, Twins 3
Jim Gantner had three hits and two RBIs, including a run-scoring single in the ninth inning that snapped a 3-3 tie and lifted Milwaukee to its fourth straight victory. All four of Milwaukee's runs were unearned.

Joey Meyer reached on shortstop Greg Gagne's error to begin the Milwaukee ninth, and Mike Felder came in to run. Felder went off third on Dale Sveum's single and scored when Gantner singled through a drawn-in infield.

Blue Jays 9, Mariners 2
Rookie Todd Stottlemyre pitched 6 1-3 perfect innings, and Fred McGriff hit two of Toronto's four homers. Stottlemyre retired 19 in a row until he hit Ray Quinones with one out in the seventh. One out later, Alvin Davis doubled to end the no-hitter.

McGriff had four hits and four RBIs, including the two homers and a run-scoring single in the ninth. Rance Mulliniks and Ernie Whitt also homered for the Blue Jays.

No trade works for Dodgers

By The Associated Press
There's an old baseball adage that says the best trades often are the ones that aren't made. That reasoning looks sound in Los Angeles, where the Dodgers failed last winter to deal slugger Mike Marshall.

National League

Today, the team that struggled to consecutive 73-89 finishes as Marshall missed more than 50 games in each of the last two seasons — much to the chagrin of some teammates who questioned the seriousness of his many injuries — is in first place in the National League West.

Only three of its players have appeared in all 23 games. The surprise among them is Marshall, who on Tuesday night hit three homers and drove in five runs as the Dodgers knocked Pittsburgh out of first place in the East in a 14-6 rout.

"It's been unfortunate what's happened the past couple of years with all the injuries I've had, but that's a fact," Marshall said. "I've always said that when I'm able and healthy and go out there every day, I feel that I'll put good numbers up for this club ..."

Good numbers indeed, and Marshall was thinking about three homers, but wasn't terribly disappointed because the third would have come against outfielder John Cangelosi, who pitched in a mopup role.

Marshall capped a four-run first inning with a two-run homer and a five-run fourth with a three-run shot, his third of the season.

Rookie Tim Lincecum, 2-1, pitched five innings, allowing five runs and seven hits while striking out four and walking three.

The Dodgers, who had 16 hits — including a three-run double by reliever Tim Lincecum — also were helped by three Pittsburgh errors.

Cubs 13, Padres 5
Andre Dawson, who homered twice, doubled and drove in five runs for Chicago, can't say why he destroys San Diego on a regular basis.

The homers, a two-run shot in the third inning off Ed Whitson, 2-1, and a three-run shot in the fourth off rookie Candy Sierra, gave Dawson nine for the season. Dawson has hit three homers in two victories this week over the Padres and 11 against San Diego since joining the Cubs in 1987. Dawson has 25 career homers against the Padres.

Calvin Schiraldi, 2-2, allowed six hits over seven innings, including rookie Roberto Alomar's second homer, which tied the score at 3-3 in the third.

Mets 8, Braves 0
With Rick Aguilera disabled and David Cone pressed into a starting role, New York manager Davey Johnson got more than he expected.

Cone, 3-0, allowed eight hits, struck out five and walked one in pitching the second complete game of his career. The shutout was the sixth of the season for the Mets.

Darryl Strawberry took the all-time club lead in homers. Strawberry's three-run homer in the sixth inning, his eighth of the season, made him New York's leader with 155.

Astros 4, Phillies 0
Left-hander Bob Knepper, troubled by tendonitis which had sidelined him since April 21, returned with "real confidence in my stuff."

Knepper pitched a six-hit shutout, beating Philadelphia at Veterans Stadium for the first time in five years. He struck out seven and walked one in upping his record to 3-0 and reducing his earned run average to 0.64.

Expos 4, Reds 3
Joe Hesketh dug himself a hole deep enough to guarantee no one would envy his position and then pitched himself right out of it.

"I don't think there are going to be too many tougher situations in baseball than that," Hesketh said of the last half of the 11th inning, which he ended by striking out slugger Eric Davis on a full count with the bases loaded.

Tim Wallach singled home Tim Lincecum with two out in the top of the 12th after sloppy fielding by the Reds set the stage.

A baby for Mark and Brigitte

NEW YORK (AP) — Defensive lineman Mark Gastineau of the New York Jets and actress Brigitte Nielsen, Sylvester Stallone's ex-wife, are expecting a baby, Gastineau says.

The veteran NFL player checked into a Jets' minicamp Tuesday and made the announcement. "You can just say ... that she's pregnant," Gastineau said.

He said the couple would marry as soon as his divorce from his estranged wife, Lisa, becomes final.

Steers beaten by Andrews

ANDREWS — The Big Spring Steers dropped a 9-5 decision to the Andrews Mustangs in 2-4A baseball action Tuesday night.

The Steers fall to 7-6 n district play and 14-14 overall. Andrews is now 11-2 and 20-5. Big Spring concludes its season Saturday afternoon at Steer Field against Pecos.

Spurs

Jordan made only two field goals in the final 12 minutes.

The Cavaliers never trailed and didn't let Chicago get closer than six points in the second half.

The Bulls made it 104-98 on a pair of free throws by Jordan with 1:16 to go, but Nance then sank an 18-footer to put Cleveland ahead by eight. John Paxson again brought Chicago within six when he made a 15-footer with 48 seconds left, but Daugherty responded with a short jumper with 20 seconds to go.

John "Hot Rod" Williams scored 20 points off the bench for Cleveland. Brad Sellers had 22 for Chicago, 18 of them in the first half.

Nuggets 125, Sonics 114

Blair Rasmussen had 28 points, Alex English added 25 and Jay Vincent scored 20 of his 24 points in the second half as the Denver Nuggets beat Seattle 125-114 Tuesday night to take a 2-1 lead in their first-round NBA playoff series.

The Nuggets played the second half without All-Star guard Lafayette Lever, who was sidelined with a sore right knee. His status for Game 4 of the best-of-five series in Seattle Thursday night, is uncertain.

The 7-foot Rasmussen hit 13 of 21 shots from the floor and grabbed 12 rebounds.

Despite not having Lever in the second half and with center Danny Schayes hampered by foul problems.

Seattle cut the Nuggets' lead to 85-84 with 3:18 left in the third quarter, but Denver outscored the Sonics 13-4 for a 98-88 lead after three periods.

The Sonics got within two twice in the fourth quarter — at 112-110 and 114-112.

Tom Chambers led Seattle with 34 points, followed by Xavier McDaniel with 30 points and 12 rebounds and Dale Ellis with 27 points. Michael Adams scored 19 points for Denver.

The Nuggets led at 53-39 with 6:08 left in the first half before McDaniel got hot, scoring 13 of his 17 first-half points in the last 5 1/2 minutes.

Seattle won Game 2 of the series 111-91 in Denver Sunday after the Nuggets took Game 1 126-123.

Stanton's 'littlest cowboy'

By PEGGY LUXTON

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Very often, horses are an integral part of growing up... especially in West Texas, where a horse is almost standard backyard equipment. But not all youngsters become so proficient as to become champion horseback performers.

One such Stanton youngster, Brittany Brown, has been riding since she was 8½ years old. As Brittany is presently only 12 years old, she's racked up a lot of awards in only 3½ years.

Brittany is the daughter of Kay Lynne Lucas of Stanton and Davis Brown, who lives south of Stanton. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hankins and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Brown, all of Stanton.

The equestrian career of Brittany Brown began on a note that sowed no indication of her future proficiency. When she was three, she was placed on a horse for the first time. This episode ended in near-disaster, as Brittany was bucked off and narrowly missed being stepped on. When she began riding regularly after her eighth birthday, her earlier mishap was not repeated.

Children's lives are marked off by the occurrence of events that are important to them. One event Brittany will never forget occurred in 1985 — she received her first horse. This was what many cowgirl's and cowboy's mothers know as a "starter horse." He was small of stature and named Jigger. Her mother rode alongside her on Sugar Puff, a Palomino mare that had been in the family for some time.

Kay Lynne had been a horse-show competitor in high school. By May of 1986, she had decided to see if Brittany had inherited her competitive spirit. She and Brittany hit the show circuit.

Midland was the site for Brittany's first show. She showed both Sugar Puff and Jigger in the halter classes and rode Jigger in several of the speed events. In the speed events, she finished in average time. Not championship speeds, but nothing to be ashamed of, either. But in showing Sugar Puff at halter, the pair was named Reserve Champion.

For a first show, this was phenomenal. And for Brittany, it only whetted her appetite for more competition.

Anyone who has ever competed in horse shows knows there is another side to the coin. The horse show trail is studded with much hard work. Kay Lynne was determined that Brittany know that hard work is required in order to compete. Today, Brittany knows that a horse cannot simply be taken from a stall and hauled to a show. Brittany can ready a horse for a show as competently as can her mom.

As Brittany gained more ability and confidence, she graduated from Jigger to Sugar Puff as her sole mount. The pair became a real team, and the ribbons began to change to blue. Time after school and on weekends was devoted to working on such fine points as leads, lead changes, patterns and gaits.

Brittany and Sugar Puff enter a show to compete. They enter all events. These include Western Pleasure, Western Horsemanship, Western Riding, Trail, Reining, Showmanship, Halter, Barrels, Poles and Flags. Brittany has even tried her hand at goat-tying.

Most of Brittany's early shows were 4-H events, but she is now competing in the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) shows.

Some of Brittany's accomplishments include being named for the last two years the All-Around Champion of the Martin County 4-H competition. This is the Junior Division, in which Brittany competes against other youngsters between the ages of 11 and 13. She was also named All-Around Youth Champion at the Monahans 2-day AQHA show, as well as High Point Youth.

In Big Spring, at an open show, Brittany was named Reserve All-Around Junior. In San Angelo, she was named Reserve All-Around Champion in the Junior Division and was given the Sportsmanship Award. In the Midland County 4-H Show, she was named Reserve All-Around Junior.

Kay Lynne says her father is the coach on the sidelines. She credits her father with much she has learned about the horse world. She credits her mother with having the patience to stand so many "horse people" around her all the time.

Very few things can match the thrill of competition for mother or daughter. Kay Lynne is not sure which brings her more pleasure, winning an event herself, or watching her daughter win an event.

Brittany's favorite performance classes are Reining and Western Riding. Both she and Sugar Puff excel in these events. But like most kids, Brittany's real thrills come in the speed events — the speedier the better.

Aside from all the practice and participation during the horse show seasons, Brittany is just like any other six-grade student. She enjoys water skiing, snow skiing, skating and talking on the telephone. She is a Junior High cheerleader, Class Favorite and has been a class officer for two years. She was a Pee Wee Football Sweetheart nominee.

HOW SWEET — As Brittany Brown gained more ability and confidence, she graduated from Jigger to Sugar Puff as her sole mount.

Crime keeps sheriff busy

April was a busy month for the Martin County Sheriff's Office. Sheriff Dan Saunders stated that along with the routine DWI, assault, and other misdemeanor cases, the 118th District Court has processed several felony cases.

Gustavo Padron, 30, of Stanton, accused of burning a mobile home of his former wife, was sentenced to five years in prison for arson. He was transported to Huntsville early in April by Deputy John Castro.

Yolando Carrillo Vila, 36, of Big Spring, charged with burglarizing a farm barn of Theodore Wells in January of 1987, was sentenced to three years in prison for burglary. She was transported to Gatesville by Deputy Castro late in April along with a prisoner to Huntsville for a period of five years after pleading out to indecency with a child.

A burglar entered the Dairy Treat on Highway 80 in Stanton and stole items valued at $1,000. After entering through a front window, the intruder stole hamburger meat, steak fingers, chili, a small television set, micro-wave oven, paper towels, toilet paper, chewing gum and candy. The suspect transported the merchandise to Midland and was selling items door-to-door. He only netted $75. Charged with burglary was Domingo Perez, 24, of Stanton. He entered a plea of guilty and received a five year probated sentence and was directed to pay $1,000 restitution.

Joseph David Watkins and Debra Faye Parker allegedly stole a car and a VCR in Lamesa and were arrested in Martin County by Deputy John Castro on a radio tip from volunteer fireman. Lamesa officers had pursued the suspects from Lamesa when they were arrested in Martin County.

Dusty Ray Hatley, 31, of Clovis, New Mexico, charged with stealing pipe from the Flynt Ranch in the northern part of Martin county, was arrested in Anson. Hatley is being held on $20,000 bond and is awaiting transportation back to Stanton.

In addition a New York couple were detained on theft of a vehicle from New York and a California man on a like charge from San Diego.

Two Alabama juveniles were held on felony charges from Alabama.

Election '88

For council, school races

Stanton and Martin County voters will go to the polls Saturday to choose city councilmen and school board trustees.

Only three days of campaigning are left for candidates. Stanton Mayor Danny Fryar and three incumbent city councilmen are seeking re-election. They are unopposed.

Councilmen are Howard Jenkins, H. Baker and Ronnie Christian. City voters may cast votes in this election at city hall.

Candidates for the Stanton ISD board of trustees include:

Place 3: Mike Hall, Tri-City Bottling Co. and Sonny Garza, Cap Rock Electric Co-Op.

Place 4: Terry Franklin, Stanton businessman and Elvia Erives, State Health Department.

Place 5: Bob Adkins, Lomax farmer and Clemente Villa, State Highway Department.

Statements of Stanton ISD incumbents follow:

BOB ADKINS

My wife Deborah and I both graduated from Stanton High School and I am a graduate of Texas Tech. We have three children, Jennifer, Kelly and Trey attending Stanton Elementary now. We farm in the Lomax community.

I am a member of the First Baptist Church, am on the board of the Lomax Farmers Gin and am fire chief of the Lomax Volunteer Fire Department. I am a Vietnam combat veteran.

I am completing my first term as a Stanton ISD trustee. During that time I have completed over 30 certified hours of classroom training for board members. I feel that it has taken me most of my first term to become familiar enough with the complexities of the school to be an effective board member.

Also during the last few months, we as a school district have undertaken a huge building project. As a member of that board I feel I have a responsibility to the taxpayers to complete the project in the most economical manner possible and at the same time to give our children the best quality education available. I would like to have the opportunity to complete this job.

SHS boys come close in final

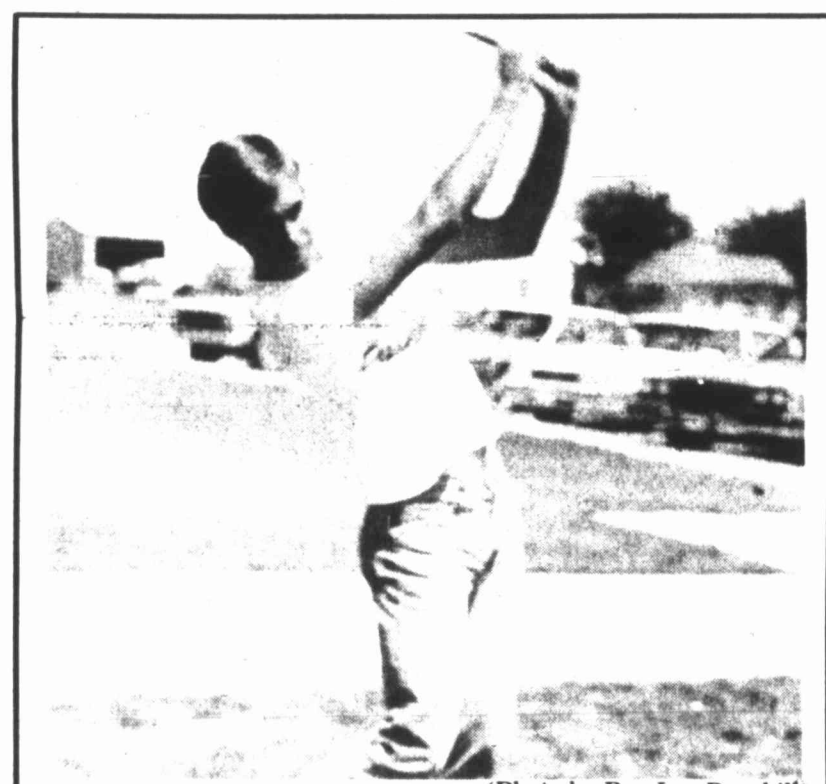

Members of the SHS boys track teams made a strong showing in last Saturday's region meet in Big Spring, although the Buffs failed to qualify a state entry.

On Friday night, both 800 meter entry Kevin Barnes and hurdler Anthony Inman qualified for Saturday's finals.

In Saturday morning competition, long jumper Robert Jones was barely nudged out of a state berth as his 21'5½" jump was good for fifth place. The winning jump was only 3¼ inches better. Coach Dale Ruth stated that Jones barely scratched on his last jump which would have measured well over 22 feet. Jones posted a 22'3" last week.

In the 300 meter intermediate hurdles, Inman captured fourth place with a time of 38.88, after catching the sixth hurdle with his foot. Inman had set a new school record of 38.73 in the preliminaries on Friday night. The winning time of 38.24 was a new region record.

Kevin Barnes picked up points for the Buffs with a fifth place in the 800 meters with a time of 2:02.77. Barnes, Inman, and Jones will all be returning for another year as Stanton athletes.

SHS golf teams to Austin

Stanton High School qualified both its boys and girls golf teams for the state meet in Austin next week. Both teams qualified by taking the runner-up slots in the Region I-AA Tournament played on the Comanche Trail Course in Big Spring last week.

Paced by the Regional Medalist, Greg Avery, the boys squad took the lead on the first day of play with a team score of 328, to lead Ozona by five strokes. The Ozona squad had a second day team score of 322, while the Buffs shot a 332. The Buffs finished 13 strokes in front of third place Panhandle.

In medalist play, Avery combined rounds of 73 and 76 for the top spot. Skip Hopkins tied for third place honors with rounds of 77 and 79.

The girls team finished the first day of play trailing tournament leader Memphis by eight strokes, 392 to 384. This was good for a 12 stroke lead over the third place teams, Ozona and Quanah. Cherlyn Stewart led the Lady Buffs with a windy day round of 94.

In the second round, Stanton fired a 393, while Memphis had a 373 to clinch the top spot. Quanah had a second round of 383 to finish in third place, two strokes behind the Lady Buffs. Kelli Glaspie had a 91 to lead the squad on the second day of play.

The boy's team, coached by John Stiles, will be playing on Austin's Lions Municipal Course while Stuart Beckwith's girls team will be playing the Jimmy Clay Course. Both teams will be playing Thursday and Friday, May 12th and 13th, in the field of the states top eight teams.

Stanton regional results are as follows: Girls — Kelli Glaspie, 98, 91 — 189; Kaki Elmore 99, 95 — 194; Cherlyn Stewart, 94, 104 — 198; Tricia Gonzales, 101, 103 — 204; Kristi Fryar, 112, 116 — 228; Team Total 785.

Educational activities conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level; race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Newman flashes to state

Stanton senior Kody Newman is headed back to Austin for her second appearance in the state track meet. Miss Newman had qualified for state her sophomore year.

Kody qualified at the Region Meet held in Big Spring Saturday by taking second place in the 100 meters with a time of 12.63.

She overcame a slow start caused by an apparent false start in the lane next to her, and finished a very close second to the winner, Jennifer Evans of Morton who posted a 12.60.

In the 200 meters, Newman established a new school record of 25.91, which was good for fourth place. Kathy Halfmann of Wall won the 200 with a very fine time of 25.29.

The Class 2A, 100 meter dash is set for 10:35 a.m. Saturday, May 14, at UT's Memorial Stadium. Coach Wilma Stirl feels her outstanding sprinter will be in top shape for the State Meet.

Track events for this year's meet will start at 6 p.m. on Friday, May 13, with class 3A and 4A. Class A and 2A track events are on Saturday morning, with 5A on Saturday night.

We have been busy giving out Angels' tickets and we have lots more to give away! If you don't have tickets for your family yet, please check with a local merchant or come by the Old Jail and get as many as you need. We want everyone to go who will root for the Angels and represent Martin County. Remember now, the games are this Thursday and Friday nights, May 5th and 6th; Be There!!

Vacation time is approaching for many of us. If you want to come in and look over and may take some brochures describing vacation areas please feel free to do so. We have descriptions of fun-places and scenic areas in all parts of Texas, some in New Mexico and some in Colorado.

Wasn't the circus fun? We saw lots of beaming children's faces and lots of happy adult faces—remembering younger days, maybe? All those animals together was a spectacular sight. And as many tents, hundreds of pieces of equipment, dozens of workers and concessions, and did you see those grounds after they left? Not Even One Scrap of Paper! All the local circus-lovers appreciated that!

Well, April is gone so not long till school will be out for the summer. Time to mow the weed yards, fill in on summer jobs, clean closets and garages, prepare for Old Settlers Reunion - and class Reunions!

We want to promote some kind of "shop at home" campaign and don't know how to go about starting one. Are you in favor of this idea? Do you know how to get such a campaign started? Call us if you would like to help get this idea off the ground and "flying high". Any help we can be to our local members and other merchants we would like to know about.

SEE YOU AT THE ANGELS' GAME!!

Kite flying season safety rules issued

Kite flying season is here again and TU Electric urges young kite flyers to follow a few simple rules for their own safety.

Hooper Sanders, TU Electric manager, warns them of the danger of flying kites in the vicinity of electric power lines.

"If your kite should get caught in electric wires, call TU Electric," Sanders said, "and someone will be sent to get it down for you."

He also recommends the following safety rules for kite flying:

- Always use dry string, not wire, anything metallic or any stringing with metallic threads.
- Always use kites made of wood and paper, not wire or metal.

- Don't fly your kite on rainy days.

- Always avoid busy streets and highways while flying your kite.

- Don't pull on the string or climb a power pole to loosen a kite snagged in electric wires.

- Always fly your kite far from electric or power lines.

- Always fly your kite away from TV and radio antennas.

"Young people following these rules will get more fun out of flying kites and at the same time will keep from getting hurt or losing their kites," Sanders said.

Minzenmayer accepts new extension job in Ballinger

Rick Minzenmayer, who has served as Extension Agent — Pest Management for Martin, Midland, and Howard Counties for the past three years, has assumed a new post with the extension service as of May 1.

Minzenmayer will be taking a similar position with Tom Green and Runnels Counties and will be headquartered in Ballinger.

His new area is primarily cotton and grain farming that has a past history of heavy insect infestations, particularly boll weevils. A native of Winters, Minzenmayer graduated from Texas Tech in May of 1985. He went to work as County Entomologist in Stanton the same month.

Minzenmayer said he had enjoyed his work in this area and had appreciated the cooperation he had received from everyone.

He further stated he had enjoyed working with these producers over the past three years and hopes the area will continue to grow in knowledge of cotton pest management.

Minzenmayer's wife, Mary, and their two children will be moving in early summer.

The Pest-Management Steering Committee will be interviewing applicants early in May. Minzenmayer felt that the local position would be filled by early June and the scouting program will continue as usual.

Cap Rock Connection

By PEGGY LUXTON
Member Information Advisor
Cap Rock Electric Cooperative recently received its new mobile substation. The substation will be used to carry the load for any of the Co-Op's existing substations when maintenance is required for the substation transformers or other equipment. The mobile substation will, in effect, "stand in" for a substation that has to be taken out of service for any reason.

Many rural electric cooperatives and utilities have purchased mobile substations. The primary advantage of having one available is that it drastically shortens the length of substation outages. When an outage is experienced at a substation, the power can be restored to the line as soon as the mobile sub can be transported to the site. It can be hooked on ahead of the existing substation and "do the work" for the substation while it is out of operation. The mobile substation can be used for such purposes for any length of time. It is equipped with dual high-side/low-side voltage and will fill in for any of Cap Rock's existing substations.

The mobile substation is mounted on tires and may be transported to any substation site. Area trucking firms will be utilized to provide a truck large enough to move the 88,000-pound substation.

Another use for the mobile substation will arise when existing substations become overloaded. The mobile sub can carry all or part of the power load for the existing substation until the transformer capacity of the existing substation can be enlarged. It is designed to carry from six to twenty megavolt amperes, which is larger than the capacity of any of Cap Rock's existing substations.

Equipment such as the Mobile substation is necessary in meeting the goals of the Cooperative, number one of which is improved service reliability. Though such equipment is expensive, the cost of the equipment will not be reflected on any monthly electric bills, nor will it in any way precipitate any sort of rate increase. Such equipment is part of the effective operation of any modern rural electric cooperative and will assist Co-Op personnel in their pursuit of better service to Cooperative members.

Editorial/opinion

No self-evident truth

One thing that's obvious is that virtually no one in Washington holds any truths to be self-evident any more.

As illogical as it may seem, isn't a put-on a take-off?

Since the professional athletes have gotten more or less organized, we've seen more courtship than sportsmanship in their dealings with management.

I'm willing to concede management undoubtedly is at least equally to blame. But it has dulled my respect for everyone concerned.

I suppose it was inevitable. Professional sports now is one of the nation's biggest — and most profitable — businesses.

If Oklahoma's football team continues to maul other members of the Big Eight, plus Texas, the coaches might change their tune to:

"We came to Barry Switzer, not to praise him."

I received a communication Friday addressed "To Dummy One from Dummy Two."

My father used to tell me, "If you're going to do something, Walter L., do it well."

J.O. Sheid Jr., war veteran and left-handed and salesman, says:

"Did you know that a bunch of old draft dodgers are planning a reunion? A feature of the affair will be called 'The Parade of the Wouldn't Soldier.'"

My landlord, A.G. Hall, whose

been feeling puny lately, provides an example of eternal ecology, called

RAGS TO BAGS

Rags make paper, paper makes money, money makes banks, banks make loans, loans make poverty, poverty makes rags.

Stan of Stanton, saw a wonderful bumper sticker

CHICKEN LITTLE WAS RIGHT! Don't you wish you'd invented the first bumper sticker and patented the idea?

Let's speak a lil' bumperese: Custer had it coming.

Eat More Lamb; 20,000 Coyotes Can't Be Wrong

Save Energy: Unplug Nixon Speed On Brother: Hell Ain't Half Full

Down With Hot Pants! Marijuana: Nature's Way Of Saying 'Hi'

Be Alert: This Country Needs More Lerts

And from my drinking cousin, Bobby Harris, this collection of stickers:

Eat More Possum, Butter Eaters are Better Lovers, Keep on Truckin', Don't Blame Me — I Voted for McGovern, God Bless John Wayne, Eat More Rice, Goat Ropers Need More Love Too, I May Be Slow But I'm Ahead of You.

Watergate inspired many, many anti-Nixon stickers, some of them, according to National Observer, an obscene play on words concerning the President's sacking of Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox. Others include:

Nixon Bugs Me
Honk If you Think He's Guilty
Nixon's Had ITT
Impeachment with Honor
Don't Blame Me: I'm From Massachusetts

Tricia's Dog Sucks Eggs
Say Goodbye, Dick!
Impeach Tapeworm
Visit San Clemente: You Paid For It

There are bumper stickers in Cherokee saying "Indian Power," and in Polish saying: "I Can't Believe I Ate The Whole Thing."

A member of the Big Spring Herald staff has this on her vehicle:

Mafia Staff Car: Keepa Your Hands Off

Then there's: Don't Laugh; Your Daughter May Be In This Car

Mary Poppins Is A Junkie
This Bumper is Being Held Together By This Sticker

I'd Rather Be Skiing, My Serve Stinks

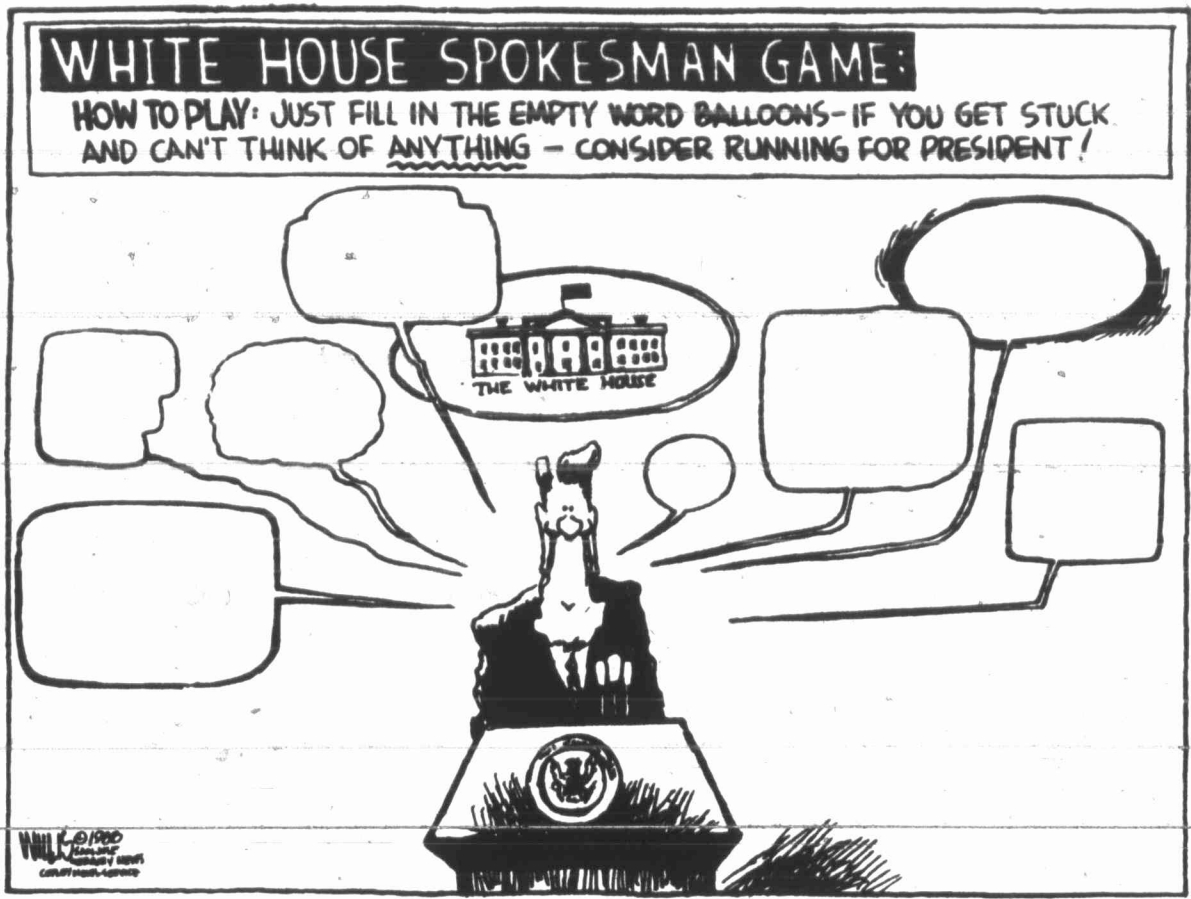

Happiness Isn't Everything; It Won't Buy Money

Golan Heights: Love 'Em or Leave 'Em.
Stamp Out Old Age: Smoke Cigarettes.

Coincidental Intelligence: "Thomas Jefferson was the first American president to wear long pants."

Well, he was the fourth and the nation was coming of age.

A friend is someone who will lend you a hundred dollars without asking why you need it.

Traffic diverted for five hours after I-20 accident

Traffic diverted for five hours after I-20 accident

Traffic moving west on Interstate 20 west of Midland was diverted during a five-hour period Thursday while Texas Department of Public Safety troopers investigated the cause of a tractor-trailer collision that killed an Indiana man.

According to DPS reports, Richard Rogers, 49, of Madison, Ind., died after his 1987 Kenworth tractor-trailer collided with the rear of a 1978 Mack truck driven by Israel Dena Garanzuay of Stanton.

Rogers was pronounced dead at the scene by Midland County Justice of the Peace Keith Jobe. The body was taken to Ellis Funeral Home.

A DPS spokeswoman said Midland County Sheriff's deputies and Midland Police Department patrol officers assisted troopers in diverting westbound traffic to roads from the Loop 250 exit.

A resume of chapter activities for the year was given by each chapter. The following "Women of the Year" were announced from the chapters: Rho Xi, Georgeann Walton; Xi Theta Nu, Marsha Todd; Xi Omega Gamma, Cindy Koonce; Xi Epsilon Delta, Tracy McAnally; Preceptor Eta Epsilon, Ruby Haggard; Laureate Alpha, Helen Cobean; Laureate Beta Pi, Helen Thraikill.

The new theme for the 1988-1989 year was announced, "Pave It With Stars."

Members joined in singing the Beta Sigma Phi song, "You And You and You." Cindy Koonce led the Closing Ritual. Approximately 55 members attended.

Scout membership growing

Membership in scouting is gaining in the Buffalo Trail Council, John D. Johnson, area executive, told Big Spring scouts in his regular report meeting here Wednesday morning at Troop 5 activities building.
Of that number, 110 members are in the Lone Star (Big Spring-Garden City, Sterling City) district, according to Fred Yocke, district executive.
New activities included a boy leadership camp on Bar Mountain at the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains, and the 35 goal likely will be exceeded well in advance of June 6, deadline.

Johnson said that reservations to the National Jamboree in 1989 were already filled, but applications are now being taken for a second contingent to the Valley Forge event.
A woodbadge camp for adult leaders will be held in September at the aquatic camp on Lake Colorado City, he added, and the regular two-week aquatic camp for boys promises to be oversubscribed.

Children can victimize innocent people

DEAR ABBY: This concerns "Haunted," the gentleman who was "groped" under the blanket on an overnight flight by a precocious 10-year-old girl. You told him he should have told one of the adult members of the girl's family traveling with her that the child had a problem and needed counseling.

Sure, the child had a problem and needed counseling, but where do you think she learned such behavior? Obviously someone close to her had sexually abused her. Such seductive behavior is common in incest victims.

Had that man followed your advice, the girl would have denied it, and accused the man of touching her. It would be her word against his — and children always in such cases!

I would have advised the man to find another seat, say nothing to anybody, and let it go at that. I speak from experience, having served 18 months in prison for child molestation. An 8-year-old girl lied. Now I never allow children in my house unless another adult is present, and I never allow a child to get within touching distance. My name and address are for your eyes alone if you want to verify this.

VICTIM OF A LIE
DEAR VICTIM: Judging from my mail, you belong to a very large fraternity. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: When I saw the letter from "Haunted," I had to write. As you can see by my address, I am in prison. I was sentenced to four years for child molestation — a crime I did not commit. I am 66 years old and will be released next month, but I am a broken old man. My wife suffered a massive heart attack and died four months ago, and I was not even allowed to attend her funeral.

The irony of this whole nightmare experience is that shortly before my wife died, two of the three girls who falsely accused me came to my wife with their mothers and tearfully confessed that they had made up the story that convicted me. They said they got the idea from a TV program, "When Touching Is a Crime." Unfortunately, the third girl, now 15, whose testimony was the most damaging, could not be found, having run off with an older man.

It doesn't matter now. The damage is done, and I'll be going home to an empty house soon.

NO. 34661
LAS CRUCES, N.M.

DEAR ABBY: Your reply to "Haunted" touched a nerve. While well-intended, it would have landed him in jail immediately. Had I been the gentleman in question, I would have gone immediately to my private attorney, put the whole incident down in affidavit form, had my attorney file an anonymous "friend of the court" petition on that child's behalf, and let the local child abuse authorities investigate it — without revealing my name or involving me.

The number of falsely accused in this country today would astonish you! I know. Three years ago, out of jealousy and meanness, my ex-wife accused me — falsely — of molesting one of our daughters. We have spent $150,000 in attorney's fees in the interim. I see my daughters only twice a month, with a court monitor, and the daughter who was manipulated by her mother is a psychiatrist's nightmare.

Celebrate 50th anniversary

The David Hoppers

Mr. and Mrs. David Hopper recently celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary.

Rev. R.P. Drennan officiated as the couple exchanged vows April 14, 1933 in Tahoka.

In 1954, he went to work managing an irrigation farm in Martin County, where he worked until he turned 68 years old. Although he was in good health, he decided to retire.

To keep in shape, Hopper walked three miles a day for eight years. He is recovering from an accident at this time, but will resume hiking on Scenic Mountain.

Mrs. Hopper, a graduate of the Commercial Art School in Minneapolis, Minn., was employed in Fort Worth during World War II, until she was forced to retire due to

No playoffs for Steers

MONAHANS — The hunt is over. The Big Spring Steer baseball team had its playoff hopes dashed as it dropped a 6-5 decision to the Monahans Lobos Saturday afternoon.

Monahans scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning, breaking a 5-5 deadlock. Mike Molina's sacrifice fly scored the winning run.

But Steer coach John Velasquez said the play of the game came in the second inning. Velasquez said two Monahans players were on base when John Martinez doubled. The first run scored from third but the second runner was called safe at home on a close play thanks to a good relay throw by Steer second baseman Mike Hilario to catcher Chris Crownover.

"The umpire said he (Crownover) missed the tag," said a solemn Velasquez after the loss. "Everybody there says the runner was out. Call it bad luck or whatever, but that's the way our season and their (Monahans) season has been going.

"We've lost six one run games, and four have come in district. Now we just to finish on a good note and try to have a winning season."

The Steers scored two runs in their first at bat. Hilario walked, and Allen popped his ninth home run of the season off Monahans winner Ralph Sanchez.

Allen hit his 10th round tripper of the season in the third, a solo shot. After that, Monahans refused to pitch to the Big Spring slugger, said Velasquez.

Big Spring's last two runs came in the fifth. Robert Rodriguez walked and Felix Rodriguez singled. Hilario forced Robert Rodriguez out at third. Felix Rodriguez and Hilario both scored on a wild throw by the Monahans' second baseman.

Allen took the loss for Big Spring. He relieved Timmy Guterrez in the third.

Big Spring's next game will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Andrews. The Steers are now 7-5 in 2-4A play and 14-13 overall. Monahans goes to 11-1, 16-6.

It may be Strange; but HC has world class bronc rider

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Casey Strange's looks belie his talent. He's a courteous 22-year-old sophomore at Howard College who specializes in bareback bronc riding — at which, as of this moment, Casey is either the third or fourth leading scorer in the nation.

If he is third, his traveling partner and arch rival Mike Carrillo of Sul Ross is second; if he is fourth, Carrillo is third. The outcome depends on their placement at the Tarleton State University National Intercollegiate Rodeo this weekend in Stephenville.

"These two have been battling back and forth all season to see who's number one and who's number two in the region," said Howard coach Dusty Johnston. "It could well be that our region's number one and number two men will wind up in the top five in the nation."

That thought brings a gleam to Strange's blue eyes. If there's one rodeo in the world he'd rather go to than any other, he said, it would be the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association National Finals in Las Vegas, Nevada.

"What about Cheyenne?" Johnston asked, referring to the Cheyenne Frontier Days blowout in Wyoming. Strange shook his head. "Cheyenne's fun, but Vegas would be too much fun."

The soft-spoken Strange not only rides in collegiate rodeos but also rides pro rodeo, having grown up on the circuit. "My dad and older brother both rodeoed," Strange said quietly. "I got started real young."

Unlike many rodeo cowboys, Strange has escaped most of the injuries that go with a career in the arena. He counts his most serious as a cut from a horse that resulted in 27 stitches in his head.

"I was in the sixth grade," he recalled, "and the horse flipped over on me, and then he kicked me in the head. I had to have 27 stitches; the only other time I was ever hurt, I broke my foot.

CASEY STRANGE

I've been lucky."

He has ridden in PRCA events for three years now, and will ride in three rodeos for PRCA points this weekend in addition to the Tarleton NIRA show.

"We'll go to Del Rio and Lufkin and Mesquite, and then back to Tarleton for the short go," Strange said. He will drive the distances in an automobile, traveling with Carrillo.

"If I have a good rodeo (at Tarleton) I think I have a shot at moving up into the top three," he said. He likes bareback broncs above saddle broncs and bulls, all of which he has ridden in the past.

"The bulls scare me," Strange said. "I think riding bareback is more a challenge than (saddle) broncs or bulls."

"You've got to have your technique down, be able to set your feet where you want them and keep yourself pulled in on the rigging," he said.

A bronc rider's outfit consists of his spurs, bareback rigging, a pair of chaps, a glove and boot ties, Strange explained. For both NIRA and PRCA rodeos, cowboys provide their own gear.

He will ride in the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo June 15-18 in the rodeo bowl.

"The atmosphere is a whole lot different," he said of professional riding. "Out there, the guys you're riding against are doing it for a living.

"The big difference is just the caliber of the cowboys you're competing against," he said.

Strange will graduate from Howard College this year and plans to attend Sul Ross after that. "I'm working on a scholarship to go there."

Top riders in collegiate rodeo are determined by the amount of points accumulated, Strange said. In pro rodeo, the standings are according to the amount of a cowboy's winnings in his events.

All year long, cowboys work toward the national finals — either the collegiates in Bozeman, Montana, or the PRCA finals in Las Vegas.

"Only the top 15 in the world go there," Strange, who would like to be one of them this year, said of the Las Vegas rodeo.

He traveled last year with world-ranked rider Stan Fry. "He's one of the top 15 in the world in the PRCA standings. He really helped me a lot with my riding."

Strange believes that has something to do with the overall improvement this season has been over last year.

His best ride this year came in a collegiate rodeo in Hobbs, N.M., Strange said. He sees the same horses several times a year through the season, and believes that helps make the riding easier.

"You'll get to know the horse and find out about the little tricks he might have," Strange said. "Or you can get to know whether you want to draw a horse, whether he's a good horse or a bad horse."

A bad horse to a rodeo cowboy means a horse who'd rather run than fight, who won't buck or doesn't buck well out of the chute.

"You don't want a bad horse," he said softly. "Can't win money on 'em."

If Casey Strange has his way, he'll draw four good horses this weekend, tough buckers to help raise his winnings and boost him into the top of the national standings.

Wall girls go one better and win regional track crown

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Wall Lady Hawks got better this year around and it resulted in a Region I Track title at Blankenship Field Saturday afternoon.

In last year's regional meet, Wall finished second behind Albany. This year coach Jerry Chitsey's Lady Hawks scored 73 points to outdistance second place Panhandle by 12 points.

Chitsey called his team's performance, "peeking at the right time". Earlier in the year our times wasn't that good and we were starting to get a little concerned," said Chitsey, who also coached the lady Hawks to the District 8-AA title. "At the district meet we had some good weather and our times went down drastically. Now here, I think we peaked at the right time.

"It feels real good to win it this year after finishing runner-up to Albany last year. The key was our relays. We had some good relay times going into this meet. It was just a matter of going out and doing it."

The Lady Hawk foursome of Lisa Smith, Melissa Multer, Karen Luker and Carissa Dierschke, captured the 400 and 800 relays. Halfmann added 10 points with a first place win in the 200. Dierschke added eight more in the high jump and Multer scored a point in the long jump.

Wall distance points came from Michelle Bealsey, who was second in the 3200 meters and fifth in the metric mile.

Stanton sprinter Kody Newman will be making her second trip to the state meet in three years. Newman finished second in the 100 meters, running a 12.63, thus earning a berth in Austin. The Stanton senior also ran a 25.91 to finish fourth in the 200.

As a sophomore, Newman qualified for state in the 100. Last year she barley missed out, finishing third at region in the 100 meters. This year she credits a weight loss for her success.

"I dropped about 14 pounds from last year," said Newman after finishing second to Morton's Jennifer Evans, who ran a 12.60.

"I was the last one out of the blocks. I thought the girl next to me from Jim Ned jumped the gun, it threw me off. I made up some ground and it was close at the end."

The other Crossroads Country athlete scoring points in the meet was Forsan's Robin Soles.

The senior quartermiler finished fourth in the 400 meters in a time of 61.49. In the prelims on Friday, Soles ran a season-best 60.40.

The leading point scorer at the meet was Spearman's Heather Murrell. The junior star scored 30 of Spearman's 42 fifth place points. Murrell, the defending state champion in the 400 meters, won the event in 58.33, and 15 minutes later finished third in the 200 in 25.89.

Earlier in the meet she ran a 15.55 to finish second in the 100 meter hurdles. That morning, she jumped 17-2 to finish third in the long jump.

Coleman's Tracey Brown was a double winner, winning the 3200 meters on Friday (12:19.04) and 1600 Saturday (5:36.78).

INS prison

City officials are confident

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

City officials say they're confident that even if a proposed Immigration and Naturalization Service Prison facility does not receive a contract from the Federal Bureau of Prisons, Big Spring won't be left holding the bag.

"Our understanding," said Acting City Manager Hal Boyd Friday morning, "is that Mr. (Ed) Davenport and Mid-Tex Corrections Inc. will provide the improvements and funds required."

The city would then pay $10 for title to the property, he said, and lease it back to Davenport and Mid-Tex Corrections for $1 per year for 99 years.

HAL BOYD

"In that lease is a reversionary clause that completely eliminates the City of Big Spring from financial responsibility if the bureau (Federal Bureau of Prisons) does not renew the contract or if Mr. Davenport and Mid-Tex fail to function," Boyd said.

"We anticipate him expending in excess of $1 million," Boyd said, "on the renovation of the facility."

Those expenditures would include bricking-in windows on the sides of the structure facing the highway, constructing a 12-foot chain link fence surrounding the facility and topping that fence with three strands of razor wire, adding a kitchen-type facility and providing a cafeteria for the detainees, he said.

"They'll have to have some type of food services in there, a kitchen or a cafeteria-type food service," he said. "It will have to meet standards provided by the Federal Department of Justice's Bureau of Prisons as far as the quality of the food, the quality of the care, the medical support, educational support and the quality of the correctional officers employed."

He said no additional funding or manpower had been planned for the city's police department as a result of the proposal.

Big Spring Police Chief Joe Cook said, "I have no knowledge of any additional manpower or money for this department resulting from that facility."

He said he has received no information concerning the facility, other than what he heard at Tuesday's city council session. At that time a resolution approving a special permit for the facility, which requires a zoning adjustment to allow construction of a prison in a light-industrial zoning area, was read.

It was given first reading approval and is to be considered for second and final approval at the May 10 council meeting.

Boyd said he understood Davenport's reasons for locating the facility in the city stemmed from the cooperation between the city and the Federal Prison Camp facility already located in the Industrial Park, the positive attitude of the city officials and need for such a facility to house Immigration and Naturalization Service detainees.

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said his department is most interested in the proposed facility from a security standpoint.

TOM DECELL

"I'm adopting a wait-and-see attitude," he said. "I think the key to such a facility would be whether it was managed well or not."

"If it is well managed, if the security is maintained well, then we should have no problems. If it's not well managed, if there are problems, then I'm sure (Davenport) will be taken to task over it. But again, I wouldn't want to comment on the pros and cons of it.

"We'd have to see it completed and in operation for a period of time before making a judgment," he said.

"If its security is maintained and it's well managed, then I don't expect we would add any manpower or money to our budget for responsibilities resulting from it. But if not, then I think we'll see some adjustments very quickly."

Big Spring city public works director Tom Decell described the facility as bringing Big Spring a virtually recession-proof industry.

He said the original Davenport proposal to build a medium-security detention facility in the airport, at a cost of $11-$14 million, was scrapped as unfeasible. The new proposal, converting the Homestead Inn, a vacant former motel on West Interstate 20, to a 240-bed minimum-security facility, had resulted from what Boyd called a change in the needs of the INS.

"Their needs are always vacillating, I think," Decell said. "There is apparently a greater need for minimum security facilities now than for medium security."

Since the May 4 amnesty deadline has not been extended, Boyd said, there may be a sharp demand for facilities to house immigration violators.

Standard said he would like to see a track record for a similar facility, particularly one in which Davenport and Mid-Tex were involved.

The sheriff's department currently serves as an interim detention facility for minimum security Border Patrol inmates, he said, and those inmates have not been a major security risk.

"We've probably had less trouble from a security standpoint with them than any other inmates," Standard said. "You're talking about people who have committed an infraction of the immigration laws here, rather than offenders with what I'd consider heinous offenses — crimes against property or people. That's not to say that some of these people might not have committed those types of crimes or be capable of committing them," he added.

He said the Immigration and Naturalization Service pays the county $22 per inmate per day. Some days the jail may house as many as half a dozen; other days, he said, there will be one, or none, of the INS prisoners.

"It's a natural feeling for folks to be concerned about their safety, to be uneasy, around a detention facility," Standard said. "I can understand that, and I can understand that they would naturally be concerned about their property values possibly going down."

"But I think in time, we will see if the predictions (about the proposed prison) come true — that the property values will rise and that the facility will maintain security."

"If so, then we should congratulate (Davenport). If not, I'm sure he'll be taken to task," the sheriff said.

Decell and Boyd said the city's attitude toward the project is that it will add approximately 50 jobs to the local economy. While some of the corrections officers will be experienced personnel brought in through the Mid-Tex staff, Boyd said, other jobs certainly will be available to local workers.

"The salary range is from about $15,000 for a corrections officer trainee to about $50,000 for the business director," Boyd said.

Big Spring Mayor A.C. Mize said the city has been working with Davenport, a developer from Brady, for some 18 months beginning with the original proposal. "The city won't be involved in the operation," Mize said, "but we feel this is a new industry and it could benefit our community as any industry would."

Amnesty date imminent for illegal aliens

By SARAH LUMAN

Illegal aliens residing in the United States since Jan. 1, 1982 and seeking amnesty received no relief from the Senate Friday when it refused to extend the application deadline beyond May 4.

Locally, aliens seeking amnesty have been advised to take their applications to the Legalization Center at 1940 Avenue G in Lubbock.

Marfa Division Assistant Chief Patrol Agent Don Barnfield said Friday that amnesty applications must be taken to legalization centers not later than May 4.

"They should go to Lubbock," he said. "That is the closest place for your area."

He said there is a legalization center in El Paso "but it wouldn't make sense for people to drive that far."

Efforts to contact the legalization center in Lubbock were unsuccessful, but Acting Chief Legalization Officer Pedro A. Reyes of the El Paso center described the guidelines for illegals seeking amnesty.

"People who are eligible would be people who came into the U.S. illegally prior to Jan. 1, 1982, and have remained here illegally since. Continuous physical presence (is required); that means they may not have been absent more than 45 days at one time or 180 days in the aggregate."

"That's for normal amnesty or legalization," he said. "The special agricultural worker eligibility is for the individual who, in order to qualify, must have 90 working man days during the 12 months ending May 5, 1986."

"They must have been engaged in special agricultural work such as planting, cultural practices, harvesting of all the fruits or vegetables and other perishable crops," Reyes said.

In addition to proof of identity, such as a birth or baptismal certificate or a passport, Reyes said the applicant must have proof of residency and proof of employment.

"There definitely has been a big last-minute rush," he said.

Try George's Candyland for Mother's Day sweets

Nothing quite expresses your sentiments on Mother's Day like a box of fresh, handmade candy from George's Candyland, 1711 Benton.

This year George has collected a treasure trove of gift boxes that can be filled with candy, and when mother has eaten every morsel, she'll have a trinket chest to remember you by.

All the candy at George's Candyland is made from scratch — fresh every day — by George and Doris Williams. Candy connoisseurs will appreciate the fact that they use no mixes, pre-packaged ingredients or preservatives. Let them pack mother's box (and one for yourself, too) with any combination of turtles, peanut brittle, toffee, divinity or peanut patties.

Or you may choose George's famous hand-dipped chocolates with a multitude of deliciously flavored centers — maple, cherry, orange, coconut, jellies, crushed nuts, caramel. Or pralines, cherry cordials or fudges (chocolate, peanut butter or vanilla.)

George's popular pecan roll is a hefty concoction of handmade nougat, thickly swatched in pecans. Truffles — the ultimate candy experience — are now available in nine flavors: creme de menthe, lemon supreme, pina colada, butterscotch, toffee, amaretto, cafe mocha, rum-raisin, and Roman punch.

Before the store opens each day, the Williamses have already worked four hours making candy of every description. They stir up secret recipes in large batches. They can make 12 to 15 pounds of divinity and fudge at a time, 20 pounds of peanut brittle and dip about 20 pound of chocolates — all in a day's work. George also whips up about 10 gallons of his own marshmallow cream each day for use in his fudges.

The sweet shop is open from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, so there's plenty of time to buy your Mother's Day gifts and extra gifts for friends you want to remember on that day.

And here's a tip: you'd better stock up on treats this week for yourself. Because George's Candyland will close after Mother's Day for the summer, leaving your sweet tooth in want until September.
