INS prison taxes resolved

By ROBERT WERNSMAN
Managing Editor

Brady developer Ed Davenport will retain ownership of his proposed INS prison and taxes on the property will be paid to all public entities in the area, Big Spring's new City Council learned Tuesday evening.

The council — along with a packed room of spectators and former council members — were told by acting City Manager Hal Boyd that Davenport will retain ownership. He requested the city disburse funds from its administrative fees based on $1 per prisoner per day to cover the estimated $25,000 annual tax burden of a facility expected to be valued at about $1.2 million.

The final proposal will appear in the form of a revamped letter of intent from Mid-Tex Detention Center, the Davenport-operated corporation. The council is to consider it at its regular May 24 meeting.

Related story on page 2-A

The council, including newly-sworn Sydney Clark, Chuck Condray and Gail Earls, was to hear the second reading of an ordinance providing a special use permit allowing conversion of Homestead Inn into a 240-bed illegal alien facility.

The proposal, which had initially drawn criticism from some private property owners near the motel's I-20 and Andrews Highway location, passed unanimously April 26. Advocate Johnny Rutherford abstained.

The issue drew no comment from the public or the council at the time.

It called for Davenport to sell the property to the city for a nominal fee and then lease it back for use as a federal minimum security prison.

Boyd, while explaining the Davenport proposal, said the developer is "Aware of the controversy" concerning the facility's impact on the tax base. As a result, he will retain ownership and "proposes to continue renovation." Davenport's estimates of increased valuation after renovation range to $1,200,000 from the current $609,800, Boyd said.

Although it had been reported that the federal government requires the city to hold deed to the property, Rutherford corrected that during the meeting to "the government simply won't pay ad valorem taxes."

The acting city manager said Davenport asked the city "to consider paying ad valorem taxes" to the county, school and city, "thus reducing our share of the $1 per day... but increasing the value of the property."

Based on Davenport's proposal for administrative payment to the city, and estimated $25,000 taxes on the property, the city's share of $87,000 for the at-capacity rate would be cut to $62,000 annually, "plus our share of taxes," Boyd said. The city's share of a $25,000 tax payment would be $8,160 city Finance Manager Tom Ferguson estimated today.

Boyd described Davenport's newest proposal as "a more viable situation to relieve concerns of citizens."

"This should soothe the natives," councilwoman Pat Deanda was heard to say under her breath.

Boyd said there have not been taxes collected on the property "for quite some time." Davenport, in limited remarks to the council from the audience, said that the current owners will pay all back taxes — "I won't buy a property without a clear title," he said.

However, an examination of records this morning show that property taxes on the real estate "are paid through 1987," according to Sue Born in the office of Howard County Tax Collector Dorothy Moore.

Killer's death row request: Just dirt for his final meal

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer

HUNTSVILLE — Death row inmate James Smith, who requested a lump of dirt for his final meal, insisted he wanted to be executed early Wednesday while his mother's attorneys asked the U.S. Supreme Court to spare the convicted killer.

Alexzene Hamilton of Indianapolis filed the appeal with the Supreme Court on Monday, contending her son was mentally incompetent.

Smith, 37, convicted of the 1983 robbery-slaying of a Houston insurance office manager, has no attorney and has resisted attempts for legal help from capital punishment opponents.

"I don't understand all this clinging to life," Smith said in a recent interview. "Life is a temporary situation. The spirit moves on. Death is like eating a prune in the morning. It's a natural function."

Tuesday morning, he requested "Rhaekunda dirt" for his final meal later in the day — a request Texas Department of Corrections officials said would not be honored.

"It's not food, it's not sanitary," prison spokesman David Nunnelee said. "He'll be offered something off the regular prison menu."

The dirt, according to Texas A&M University soil experts, was not identifiable soil but was believed to be dirt eaten in voodoo rituals, school spokeswoman Mary Jo Powell said. Smith has said he believes in and has practiced voodoo.

Smith refused chicken for lunch, then spent about 30 minutes in the prison recreation yard Tuesday afternoon. He later took a shower and rested in the bunk in his cell.

Smith, a former tarot-card dealer in New Orleans who was working as a Houston taxi driver at the time of his arrest, was convicted for the 1983 shooting death of

JAMES SMITH

Larry Rohus.

Testimony at his trial showed he was tackled by witnesses while fleeing the shooting scene and that a gun he was carrying was linked to the Rohus slaying.

Witnesses said Rohus, father of a 1-year-old son, complied with Smith's demands and filled a small trash can with cash, then was shot through the heart as he pleaded for his life.

"It never should have happened," said Rohus' brother, Raymond. "To commit a crime like this, he (Smith) deserves exactly what he gets."

"I don't think justice could ever be done totally," said Rohus' wife, Deborah, who since has remarried and now lives in North Carolina.

"I have no forgiveness, I'm not sentimental," Smith said.

Braving the wet and the wind, Vicki Gay uses an umbrella to make her way along South Main Street this morning. As of 8 a.m., the U.S. Agricultural Research Station received .75 inches of rain, although other reports from around Big Spring varied from .5 to 2.4 inches.

Let it rain, let it rain, let it rain!

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

A much-needed and much-appreciated rain continued falling on Howard County this morning, dumping more than two inches on some parts of the county.

The U.S. Agricultural Research Station north of Big Spring reported .75 of an inch precipitation as of 8 a.m. today, a spokeswoman said. This gives the area 2.09 inches so far this year, below the year-to-date average of 4.70 inches, she added.

High winds accompanied the rain, blowing down utility lines and wrecking havoc at some residences. Overall, however, area residents were pleased with the current downpour.

"You can call this a million-dollar rain if there ever was one," said County Agricultural Extension Agent Don Richardson. "Most of the farmers were waiting for the rain so they could start planting."

"It's not a drought-buster, but it's a step in the right direction," he added.

The rain came at exactly the right time for county growers, Richardson said, noting that May 10 has traditionally been the date set by farmers as the deadline for planting to ensure the crop has adequate growing time.

"Most (of the farmers) will start planting just as soon as they can get in the fields now," Richardson said.

At least two farmers' wives echoed Richardson's comments.

"You better believe (we're pleased with the rain)," said Mrs. Wendell Shive from their farm north of Coahoma.

Winds accompanying the rain blew the roof off the Shives' tool shop, and Mrs. Shives said her husband was repairing the roof this morning. The loss of the roof, however, didn't dampen his pleasure with the rainfall.

"He's delighted," Mrs. Shive said. "We'd be glad to lose a roof anytime (to get this rain)."

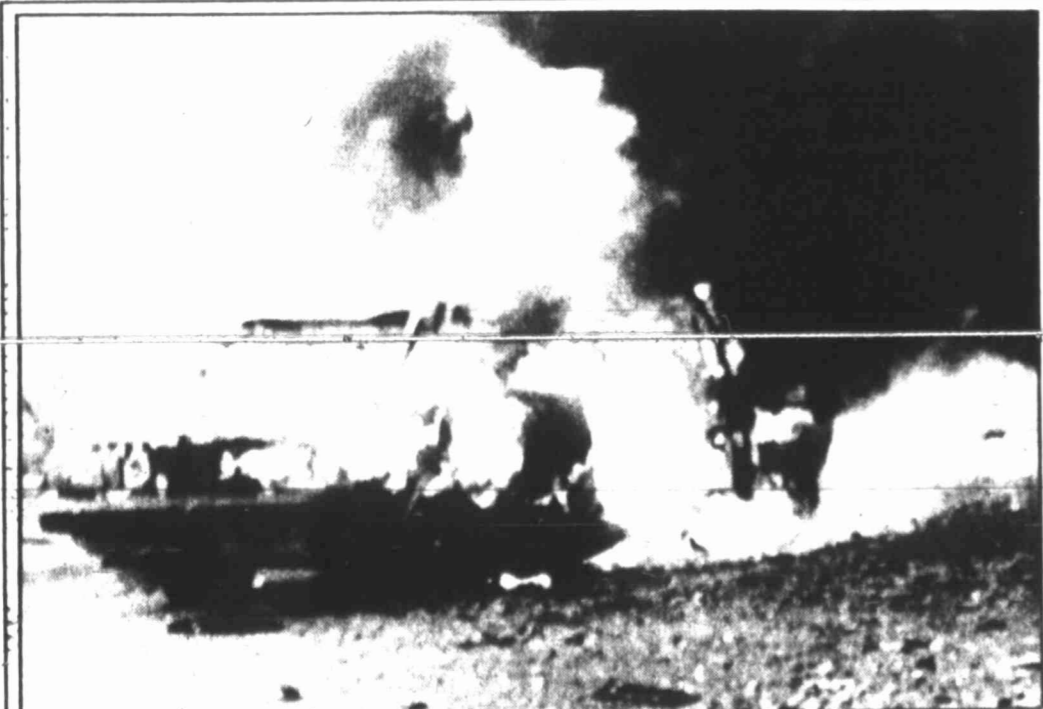

At the Paul Hopper farm near Knott, 1.4 inches of rain was recorded, and was still coming down this morning, his wife, Cindy, said.

"Paul's happy," she said. "The wind upset my strawberry plants, so I'm a little upset." But, she said the rain was a "good start."

Elsewhere in the county, rainfall reports varied between .5 and 2.6 inches.

Nancy Graves of Forsan reported a half-inch of rain at that town, adding the rain was continuing this NICOSIA, Cyprus — A car burns after it was torched by a car bomb explosion 200 yards away from the Israeli Embassy in Nicosia Wednesday. Two people were killed and several injured.

Bombing kills two in Cyprus

By ALEX EFTY
Associated Press Writer

NICOSIA, Cyprus — A car packed with explosives exploded on a bridge today, killing two people and injuring several, witnesses and police said.

The blast occurred 200 yards from the Israeli Embassy, but police said the car was traveling away from that area when it exploded.

Police on the scene said the car was destroyed and must have been carrying a sizable quantity of explosives. Windows were shattered throughout the area.

Witnesses and reporters saw the badly burned bodies of the dead. Several people were rushed to hospital with injuries. Police, who spoke on condition of anonymity, could not say how many had been injured.

Andreas Georgiou, a middle-aged driving instructor, said his car was on the bridge with two students aboard when the car exploded 50 yards in front.

'I do' Elderly couple ties the knot after 23 years 'living in sin'

BELLE GLADE, Fla. (AP) — After 23 years of living in sin, an 84-year-old cancer patient married his 74-year-old companion in a hospital ceremony arranged and attended by his nurses a day before surgery.

Emma Jones stood beside Charlie Vickers in a wheelchair and legally tied the knot Tuesday in a Glades General Hospital lounge as 25 nurses and doctors looked on, hospital spokesman Kerry F. Aunce said. Palm Beach Circuit Judge Don Adams performed the marriage.

"I don't believe the doctor is going to be able to get me through this, and I want to get my soul ready for the Lord," Vickers said of his colon surgery. "We've been together for 23 years and if something happens, I want us to be married."

Vickers said he gave up drinking moonshine when he was younger and gave up cigarettes after a colostomy a year ago.

"Smoking is a sin and sleeping with someone you're not married to is a sin," he said. "It doesn't do any good to quit one if you're not going to quit it all, so I wanted to get married and quit it all."

Vickers, who is scheduled for surgery today, also wanted Ms. Jones to be able to collect his Social Security should he die in surgery, Aunce said.

C-Bar service, softball fee OK'd

HERALD STAFF REPORT

The Big Spring City Council took care of several items of business during the course of Tuesday's meeting, including the second reading of several resolutions, two ordinances and three requests for alcoholic beverage applications.

Approval was granted — after considerable deliberation — on the second and final reading of a resolution authorizing a lease with C-Bar Flying Service for a fixed-base operator service at McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark.

Council member Sidney Clark raised several questions about the lease, pertaining to the delinquency charge, which the city does not apply; alterations to premises at the airpark, which are allowed by the park manager; and abatement of rent, which is allowed under such major circumstances that require airpark closure as war but not severe weather.

The agreement is with the Coleman family of Ackerly, with Dudley M. Coleman named as the principal participant.

• The council also approved first reading of an ordinance revising rates for the use of the city ball field recreation areas. The change calls for an annual fee of $15 per adult softball player, from the current charge of $10 per player plus $200 per team.

Noel Hull, Big Spring softball association vice president, said that as a result of the delay in the decision on fees there will not be an industrial softball league here, because the City Council "dragged its feet."

He said that softball players have switched to Stanton for the summer season. The council "ruined softball for the city of Big Spring this summer," Hull said this morning, and said that it will be difficult to bring the program back to its previous level after the delay.

In other business, the council approved:

• An application of an alcoholic beverage permit at Old Settler's Pavilion — Fina Oil & Chemical Co.

• An application of an alcoholic beverage permit at Shadow Retreat — Malone & Hogan Clinic.

• An application of an alcoholic beverage permit at Shadow Retreat — Union Carbide Corp.—Linde Div.

• Approval of application for keeping livestock — at 2112 W. Third Street — Iris Doss.

• Second and final reading of a resolution authorizing the mayor to execute a deed with the State of Texas.

• Second and final reading of a resolution authorizing the mayor to enter into a lease agreement with Comanche Trail Muzzle Loaders.

• Second and final reading of a resolution authorizing the withdrawal of members of the Fire Department from the Great West Life Long Term Disability Program and Transfer of Contributions to other funds.

• First reading of a resolution authorizing the Mayor to enter into agreement with the 911 board.

The agreement allows for the city to include a 911 employee on its insurance and benefits policy, with the cost to be reimbursed fully by the 911 board. The council required that administrative expense of maintaining the arrangement be charged to the 911 organization also.

Car bomb

"Suddenly everything went flash," Georgiou said, blood dripping onto his white shirt from a cut on his forehead. "We were lucky to come out alive."

He said the two women were slightly wounded and taken to a hospital.

A fire brigade official on the scene, speaking on condition of anonymity, said: "The explosion was inside the car, which disintegrated completely, and the hole in the bridge was clearly caused by an explosion from above the surface of the road."

The bridge is on Grivas Avenue and connects the main road from the capital of this Mediterranean island to western and northwestern Cyprus.

Israel radio, monitored in Jerusalem, said several windows of the Israeli Embassy building were broken by the shock wave from the blast, but that country's ambassador to Cyprus said no one at the embassy was hurt.

"We heard a powerful explosion about 100 to 150 meters (yards) from the embassy building," the ambassador, Aharon Lopez, said in a telephone interview broadcast in Israel by that nation's army radio.

"We still have no information about the victims' identity," Lopez said.

"We do not know yet who is responsible. But it is certainly possible that the embassy was the terrorists' target and that the car (bomb) exploded prematurely for some reason," he said.

The Palestine Liberation Organization has accused Israel of killing Khalil Wazir, a top PLO leader, in Tunis last month as well as killing two PLO officials in Cyprus last year.

Israel was blamed for an underwater blast that damaged the Sol Phyrne and ruined the PLO's plans to bring 130 Palestinian deportees from Cyprus to Israel aboard the ship to protest Israel's policy of expelling Palestinian activists.

One injured in accident

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A Big Spring woman was taken to Scenic Mountain Medical Center as a result of injuries suffered in a two-vehicle accident Tuesday afternoon on Gregg Street.

Peggy Johnson, Sterling City Rd., Box T80A, is in stable condition at the hospital after being transported there by Rural/Metro ambulance, a hospital spokeswoman said today.

The accident, which occurred at about 5:30 p.m., involved Johnson's 1987 Ford and a 1986 Ford driven by Robert Lloyd, 407 Edwards Blvd., the accident report stated.

Johnson was south bound on Gregg Street and Lloyd's vehicle was at a stop sign facing west on West 20th Street, the report noted. Lloyd then proceeded through the intersection, striking Johnson's vehicle in the left side, it added.

The report noted that Lloyd received two citations in the incident — for failure to maintain financial responsibility and failure to yield right of way from a stop sign. Neither driver was wearing seat belts at the time of the accident, the report stated.

Rural/Metro paramedics prepare to transport Peggy Johnson, center, to Scenic Mountain Medical Center after she was injured in a two-car accident on Gregg Street Tuesday afternoon.

Senior citizens, 30,000 strong, gather at meeting

DETROIT (AP) — About 30,000 senior citizens came to Detroit on Tuesday to flex their growing political muscle in the 1988 biennial convention of the American Association of Retired Persons.

Thousands of people gathered in Cobo Hall to hear speeches by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, sex therapist Ruth Westheimer, Peace Corps Director Lore Ruppe and U.S. Sen. Donald Riegle of Michigan. The convention runs through Thursday.

But many conventioners from across the country came to look at exhibits of motor homes and vacation spots, exercise devices and medications.

"It's wonderful," said Sophie Grudzinski of Hobart, Ind. "But all these freebies, we just can't pass it up."

She and Mary Bentley of Lake Station, Ind., were part of a two-bus contingent coming from the Gary, Ind., area to the convention on Detroit's sprawling riverfront convention center.

"I'm tired, I could use a little scooter," Mrs. Bentley said while relaxing near a stage in the main exhibit hall where entertainment was about to begin.

While here, the two women and thousands of others had the opportunity to attend seminars and hear speeches on consumer "rip-offs" and patient rights, the federal budget and sexuality among seniors by Westheimer.

During the convention, delegates will vote on a number of resolutions that are not binding on the AARP's 3,600 local chapters. The organization will issue no political endorsements.

But Mrs. Grudzinski said she didn't agree with the national organization's non-partisan policy.

"There's so many of us," she said, "that if we'd all stick together, we could really get things done."

Nader told a room packed with more than 2,000 conventioners that they should watch out for fraud in prosthetic devices, telephone solicitations, prepared food and pharmaceuticals.

Ruppe told a group there were opportunities for senior citizens in the Peace Corps.

Judge: Juvenile justice plan needed

AUSTIN (AP) — The state should adopt a uniform juvenile justice philosophy, but still allow judicial discretion for young offenders, a judge told a special Senate committee.

Each juvenile offender has a unique set of circumstances and factors that led to committing a crime, State District Judge Paul Davis told the Senate Select Committee on the Juvenile Justice System Tuesday.

"The response by the system to the juvenile should be individualized and related to an assessment of these unique contributing factors," he said.

Such a policy has been referred to as "the tourniquet approach," he said. "You tighten the tourniquet tight enough to where the blood flow from the particular wound is stopped, but not so tight that you lose the limb. That's how the response of the juvenile justice system needs to be to the kid's individual problem."

The state also should put into the juvenile code a balanced approach philosophy that addresses the needs of the community while helping rehabilitate young offenders, Davis said.

He said community protection, accountability and helping an offender become a competent member of society are three parts of the model developed by a juvenile department director, the president of a juvenile justice consulting organization and a California State University professor.

According to Davis, who hears juvenile cases, the Travis County juvenile court has adopted the philosophy and it has worked well.

"The idea is that if the juvenile court will address in each individual kid's case these three components equally, then the court will have touched all of the bases necessary to come up with a plan for how to deal with that kid," Davis said.

The restoration of self-esteem is a necessary part of the solution to juvenile crime, Davis said, because young offenders generally have encountered problems at home and school.

"Many of the kids I see in juvenile court come to me from a cycle of incompetence. These are kids who have been taught from the day they were born they are wrong," he said.

Besides taking action to ensure the community is safe from future crimes by a juvenile, the balanced approach requires judges to find ways to hold a juvenile accountable for the crime — through restitution, for example — and to help the young offender relate to society in a healthy way.

Austin marshals to track down $13 million in fines

AUSTIN (AP) — Hoping to track down about $13 million in unpaid fines, Austin's city government has fielded city marshals for the first time in 64 years.

In the past four years, about 156,000 outstanding Class C misdemeanor warrants — most for traffic-related offenses — have accumulated, said Lt. Dell Shaw of the Austin police warrant division.

Shaw said that if every fine were paid, the city would collect $13 million. "We have so many outstanding warrants on our files. We hope this program will reduce that number," he said.

In 1924, city marshals in Austin were responsible for peace-keeping duties in the city, officials said. Their jobs later were assumed by the police department.

The three new marshals, who are paid by the city's legal department, will concentrate solely on serving the warrants.

"They are commissioned police officers, but they will not be doing any patrol work," Shaw said.

Currently the marshals are assisted by a seven-member police warrants task force, which eventually will disband after more marshals are commissioned, Shaw said. By October, there should be 16 city marshals, he said.

Marshal Doug Bell said their primary goal is to get people to pay their fines voluntarily.

"We'll call them up and give them a chance to pay their fines," Bell said. "If you don't pay up, we'll come and get you."

Bell said people will be given up to 72 hours, depending on circumstances, to pay outstanding fines.

On Monday, Bell said he served a warrant on a woman who incurred more than $1,900 in fines. "A lot of it was unpaid parking tickets," he said.

"Most of the people are pretty understanding when we come for them. They usually say, 'I've known about them (the tickets), I just haven't paid.'"

Man sues church, ex-nun over lesbian relationship

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Church officials said they heard rumors but had no evidence when a man first told them he believed his wife and a nun had a lesbian relationship that was breaking up a 12-year marriage.

Steve Woolvorton of Port Isabel contends the church did know, and filed a $5 million lawsuit against the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brownsville, the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Texas and former nun Mary Kregar.

The civil trial entered its first full day of testimony in state district court Tuesday.

Sister Mary Franchon Pirkl, executive councillor of the Franciscan Order to which Mary Kregar belonged, said in a videotaped deposition that she was first told in January 1984 of other nuns' suspicions about the relationship between the two women.

She said she confronted Sister Kregar with the story, but the nun assured her it was only a friendship. Later, Sister Pirkl said she learned there had been a lesbian relationship, and that Sister Kregar also acknowledged a different homosexual relationship with another nun.

Ms. Kregar was removed from the Rochester, Minn.-based order in Aug. 1984 by a "mutual decision," Sister Pirkl said, primarily because of Ms. Kregar's inability to lead a celibate life.

Woolvorton's alienation of affection suit claims that the marriage ended in May 1984 because of a lesbian relationship between Mary Woolvorton and Sister Mary Kregar. Sister Kregar was assigned to Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Port Isabel from 1983 until mid-1984.

Woolvorton said in the suit filed in 1986 that he confronted church officials about the relationship that he said was undermining his marriage, and asked to have Sister Kregar removed from the Port Isabel parish, but that the church refused to intervene.

Student writes epitaph for teacher

To the editor:
There are some who connect us with the past; there are some who live in the past, and there are some who construct the values of the past into rules for living in the future. Ann Gibson Houser was one of those rare individuals who, while appreciating history with its fallacies and perfections, could convey the best of those in a synthesized approach to education.

In the early morning hours and the drudgery of the afternoon, I sat next to a master. The master was someone who had no reverence for the self-indulgent and no tolerance for imperfection.

The crooked end of her pointer (rumored to be crooked because of numerous encounters with imperfect hands) indicated human history. Its suffering, its longing and its proud heritage. In one fell swoop that aluminum and mahogany directorate would veer mediocrity toward perfection and the mundane toward the ideal. In the abstract world of music she was a beacon.

Do not get me wrong, this dictator was not without feeling or anguish. No, she was sensitive and caring and, most of all interested. This interest was not distant, but present and powerful.

Myself, "I do not play this well, but I prayed about it and hope to do better."

She, "God only helps those who help themselves."

There was nothing philosophical or religious in nature about which we would speak to which she did not have substantial and pointed answer. Even in the dark of the oncoming day, she could make Bach relevant and Schumann timely.

This was done with personal and extra-personal anecdotes, no matter how cynical or humorous. This made the ephemeral dots and lines on the page jump out and explain human existence in a short and sometimes terse analogy. This is the hallmark of an educator and pedagogue.

To sit at the Baldwin, the "special" piano, with the painting of her grandfather seemingly glaring over your shoulder, you realized that tradition and history were not antiquated ideas, but the responsibility of our age. The touch of that Baldwin was as tough and resilient as our teacher, and as unforgiving.

On the walls there was art with varying levels of meaning, but the flat red brick walls offered images for any piece you might attempt. The menagerie of remembrances was at first forboding, but later reassuring. Music, like art, is imagery and iconography revealed by time.

Myself, "I would like you to listen to a new piece I have mastered."

She, upon hearing the piece, "We learned this when you were a freshman in high school, only you have changed, the piece has not."

This ease of rhetoric and deep insight made Ann Gibson Houser a legend in Big Spring, West Texas and beyond. Her students range in all careers, but each carries with them a piece of the mantle that she gave us.

This mantle is woven of history, self-esteem, technique and finesse, but the greatest of these is love. Ann Gibson Houser loved teaching, loved children and loved their product — a higher consciousness of humankind and its achievements.

Reader asks more religious news

To the editor:
In the May 1 Herald we were asked, "What would you most like to see changed in the paper?" I have enjoyed the Herald for many, many years, but I do wish things of national importance along religious lines would be given more coverage.

For example, (April 29-30) over a million people, including Catholics, Baptists, Congregationalists, Presbyterians, as well as the newer Charismatic groups, held a two-day meeting for prayer for our country on the grounds of the National Capitol in Washington, D.C.

It was called "Washington for Jesus." Friday night was Youth Night and Saturday was given over mainly to the adults, with of course the youth staying and participating.

Rev. Peter Marshall, son of the famous Peter Marshall, former chaplain of the Senate, prayed a prayer that I wish could have been heard or at least read by everyone in the United States.

In our Sunday paper, one of the three items of national news was about the gang fights in California. We have heard of these, seen them on TV, etc., but I feel it is time that God and his people and their work get some mention... especially when it is something that included people from every state in the USA and at least seven foreign countries who were asking God to guide our leaders and all of us in the way in which He would lead us.

HELEN EARLEY
1704 State

Editor's note: The "Washington for Jesus in '88" was attended by as many as 200,000, according to a U.S. Park Police spokesman. The report of the rally was printed in the April 29 national news brief column.

AIDS brochure impractical move

To the editor:
More senior citizen confusion!
It was announced on last night's news the federal government was going to mail out the latest on AIDS disease to every household in the nation — that's wonderful! But how will they reach the prostitutes and drug users where 90 percent of all AIDS cases originate?

Fully 50 million of our population are senior citizens whose sex drive are on the wane. If they develop AIDS it would have to be from a blood transfusion or AMD's needle from a shot or some kind; they use only sterilized equipment so that is out.

Since our post office system was set up as a separate system several years ago they figure their actual cost of handling each piece of mail, which was 13 cents for each first class letter in 1985. They have had two raises since so (I) presume its 15 cents now, with an additional cost for printing.

Paper and envelope would run the per delivered cost of AIDS brochure to 20 cents. Now multiply this by 200 million households, this sound like $4 billion. They could have bought an island and set up an AIDS Island like they used to have leprosy confinement — this figure could also be used on all our elected officials who send out postage-free mail. The taxpayers also pick up the total check for the cost plus post office charge. The post office bills the U.S. Treasury directly.

Problem of rhetorical politics

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Although a White House representative was quick to tell the press that Ronald Reagan's ploy to Mikhail Gorbachev was unrelated to the forthcoming summit conference, the headlines were unambiguous: "Reagan Credits/Gorbachev on Human Rights."

An unidentified spokesman of the Reagan administration quickly supplanted the interpretation of the first spokesman to say that indeed, the speech had been a "conscious attempt" to strike a conciliatory note in advance of the summit, and it can't reasonably be supposed that the president had any other purpose in mind.

Just two weeks ago Reagan accused the Soviets of trying to "prop up their discredited, doomed puppet regime" in Kabul despite Soviet agreement to withdraw its troops from Afghanistan. That speech had brought forth from Gorbachev thunderous denunciations of the usual sort.

The diplomatic world winces when occasionally reminded of Mr. Reagan's rhetoric on the subject of Soviet domestic practices in the field of human rights. Two weeks ago, in a public forum at Texas A&M, a former British prime minister was asked how he could account for the poll published six months ago revealing that the majority of Britons deemed Reagan a greater threat to the peace of the world than Gorbachev.

He replied that of course it was untrue that Reagan threatened the peace of the world, but that many Europeans were still traumatized "by the president's reference to the Soviet Union's 'evil empire' a few years ago."

Ten minutes after tendering his explanation for British resentment of Reagan's rhetorical excess, in answer to another question asking what should be the goal of the West in its treatment of the Soviet government, Lord Callaghan ventured that the primacy of Western concern should be not only with peace, but with human rights.

"We have got to tell the Soviet government that we cannot consider it to be civilized until it grants human rights to its citizens."

A participant in the forum observed that Lord Callaghan was evidently attempting to formulate something between an "evil empire" and an uncivilized empire. The audience was left to weigh the difference between "evil" and uncivilized. An African tribe given, say, to random genocide and wholesale slaughter like Idi Amin's would be (check one, but not both) 1) "evil" or 2) uncivilized.

Hard concentration on the difference between the two propels us to eristic verbal invention. One might say that the Indians who in the 18th century insisted on burning the live widow in the course of interring the dead husband were Declaration on Human Rights, which re-ratified rights guaranteed under the Soviet constitution of 1936.

It cannot be said of the Soviet Union that it is merely uncivilized, lacking in any knowledge of how civilized governments behave in respect of freedom of religion, of speech, of assembly, and of due process. The gentlemen who preside over the Soviet government are not ignorant of the Ten Commandments or of the work of the biblical prophets, of Locke, Blackstone and Mill. The Soviet government is barbarous because it chooses to be barbarous.

All of which is intensely relevant to the conduct of international relations, in part because we desire freedom for Soviet citizens, in part because the energizing animus of American foreign policy requires that we focus on Soviet practices, rather than on Soviet conceits. The Soviet government is a credible threat to the American way of life only for so long as we understand the searing differences between life there and life over here.

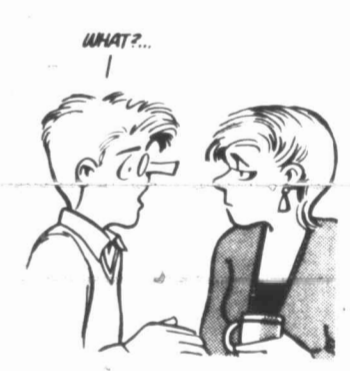

None of this disputes Mr. Reagan's cautious commendations of the slight improvements in Soviet life under Gorbachev. But to encourage the illusion that a year or two of glasnost alters the basic recognition of the Soviet Union as a totalitarian society is to pour sand into the eyes of the West.

The West does poorly enough in its foreign policy when our eyes are fully open, as they were when the Soviet Union declared martial law in Poland, invaded Afghanistan where it killed more than 1 million people, and subsidized the Hitlerian policies of Fidel Castro and Pol Pot.

Mr. Reagan must not go to Moscow ready to stress the showcasing of glasnost, by a government (evil? uncivilized?) that disposes of 500 million times the explosive power of the bomb that went off over Hiroshima, aimed at — us.

This deuce can no longer be wild

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

Dee and Jimmy, who are my friends, own a rather large black Lab named Deuce, who has become somewhat of a legend in their hometown.

Nobody is quite certain just how many puppies Deuce has fathered over the years, but the number likely would be astounding.

Deuce, put quite frankly, is one of the greatest lovers in the history of dogdom.

That's caused a lot of problems for Dee and Jimmy over the years.

Not so long ago, Deuce fell in lust with a female pit bull, of all things. He climbed a high fence to have his way with her and was noticed leaving the scene by the pit bull's owner.

He recognized Deuce and called Dee and Jimmy, and an arrangement was made to have the vet to make certain the pit bull didn't turn up with pup.

The pit bull's owner built a higher fence to protect his female.

Deuce came back a week later and scaled the fence and we're still waiting to see what you get if you cross a black Lab with a pit bull.

My guess is a pit bull who'd rather read Penhouse than Soldier of Fortune. But Dee and Jimmy gave me the news the other day.

"Deuce's days as a lover are over," Dee said. "And Jimmy's agreed with this?"

"He says hates to do it because Deuce has a reputation to uphold, but he's agreed we should have Deuce fixed. He just says he'll never be able to look him in the eye again."

We talked a little about the fact there are a lot of unwanted animals in the world and that there is a movement afoot for pet owners to be aware of this and to take the necessary steps to keep down the number of strays and unwanted.

It's a sad thing to see a stray dog or cat terribly undernourished wandering a neighborhood in search for food.

In cities and towns many of them get picked up by the animal control people and subsequently put to death.

"There's something else, too," said Dee. "It got to the point where our neighborhood wasn't enough for Deuce. He began wandering all over town.

"There's a busy highway just a few miles from us and Deuce would cross it on his way to see some of his girlfriends."

"We really love that dog and we want him around for a long time. Maybe after he's fixed he will stay around closer to home and won't have as much of a chance to get run over."

I had my own dog, Catfish, another black Lab, fixed a couple of years ago, for the same reason.

I told him I was sending him to the vet for a cholesterol check.

Still, you hate to see any great career come to an end. First, John Holmes, the porno film star who claimed to have had sex with 14,000 different women, up and dies and now of Deuce will no longer be on his ever vigilant prowl.

A moment of silence, if you will, for the both of them.

Jury acquits Scarfo

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The champagne flowed as family and friends celebrated the murder acquittals of reputed mob boss Nicodemo "Little Nicky" Scarfo and eight associates accused of killing a gangster rival. "It was a very, very brave jury," said Las Vegas lawyer Oscar Goodman at the party in a posh center city hotel hours after Tuesday's verdicts clearing Scarfo and his associates of killing Salvatore Testa on Sept. 14, 1984.

Scarfo and his associates were also found innocent of conspiracy and possession of an instrument of crime, charges brought against them by two ex-mobsters turned informants who said they were part of the murder plot. The revelers sipped $50-a-shot Louis XII cognac and downed glasses of $100-a-bottle Taittinger champagne to celebrate the stunning acquittal.

The acquitted men, however, did not attend. They remained in jail without bail, under federal indictment with nine other Scarfo associates on charges of operating a criminal enterprise that includes murder, extortion, drug dealing, loan sharking and gambling.

Gunman was grinning

OZARK, Ark. (AP) — A gunman wore a "horrid grin" as he aimed his revolver at office workers during a Christmas rampage in which he allegedly killed 16 people, including 14 of his relatives, a witness testified.

JULI MONEY

R. Gene Simmons, 47, stepped over the body of one of his victims, "took a stance and pointed the gun at me," Juli Money testified Tuesday in Simmons' murder trial, holding her arms out with hands clasped to show how he held the gun.

"I screamed, 'No!' and dived behind some boxes," she said. "He was grinning. He had a horrid grin that looked like false teeth and his eyes were wide open."

Ms. Money, 35, said she grabbed her head thinking she had been shot "because I felt the heat from the bullet" that whizzed past her head.

Simmons, a retired Air Force master sergeant, is on trial in the Dec. 28 deaths of former co-worker Kathy C. Kendrick, 24, and James D. Chaffin, 33, in Russellville. Four people were wounded during the shootings. The state is seeking the death penalty.

Simmons is to be tried July 18 for murder charges in the deaths of 14 relatives, including his wife, his children and his grandchildren. The bodies were found at his home near Dover after the shootings in nearby Russellville. Police said the 14 were killed during the Christmas holidays.

According to police, Simmons used two .22-caliber revolvers to kill Miss Kendrick, who friends said rejected Simmons' amorous attention, and Chaffin, who apparently was a chance victim.

Strike ends

Ball is in government's court

By JOHN DANISZEWSKI
Associated Press Writer

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Labor leaders said they ended an eight-day strike at the Gdansk shipyard to avoid a police raid, but communist authorities said the strike failed for lack of widespread support.

Still, the government said two weeks of strikes that ended Tuesday when Lech Walesa and about 1,000 haggard strikers marched from the Lenin shipyard will compel it to speed up efforts to revive Poland's crippled economy.

Heads held high, the shipyard workers filed out of the yard without a settlement but also without having backed down from demands whose centerpiece was reinstatement of the yard's Solidarity chapter.

Police had surrounded the shipyard since Thursday and the strikers had rejected government offers of wage increases, so quitting was the "best solution possible," said strike committee chairman Alojzy Szablewski.

The strike evoked memories of 1980, when a younger, leaner Walesa signed an accord at the same shipyard during a nationwide wave of strikes over price increases that toppled a government. A time of unmatched freedom followed.

The rest of the country did not follow suit this time, leaving the shipyard workers in the Baltic port city largely isolated.

Government spokesman Jerzy Urban said on Tuesday that "the strikes and protests have not won the support of the working class and society" but had taught the government important lessons.

"The May events will compel the government to more consistently develop reform, which should be more strongly felt by society," he said.

The government planned today to introduce a bill that would allow it to take over money-losing enterprises and fire managers who resist economic change. Its reform program has increased prices by 42 percent this year.

And an official PAP news agency statement on Tuesday's meeting of the ruling Politburo spoke of the "indispensable" need to quicken democratization — a process it has so far only vaguely described.

Five major strikes since April 25

added up to Poland's worst wave of labor unrest since the 1981 military crackdown on Solidarity. The Soviet bloc's only independent labor federation ever was banned in 1982.

The opposition said the strikes illustrated a resuscitation of its fortunes after years of complacency caused by the shock of the 1981 crackdown and economic hardship.

"It's a new spring for Solidarity," strikers said in a statement issued before they left the shipyard. "We remain faithful to the slogan of our strike, 'There is no freedom without Solidarity.'"

The strike also pointed up the mood of a new generation.

During negotiations, the mostly young strikers often appeared more militant than their elders. On Monday, the young strikers refused to accept a compromise largely agreed to by the strike committee.

"You were 13, 14, 15, when Solidarity was born. ... This was your first protest for Polish workers," Solidarity chaplain the Rev. Henryk Jankowski told them after the strike ended.

He urged them to continue the struggle "until victory."

Szablewski, a 62-year-old shipyard veteran, said the strike committee had voted 13-2 to end the stoppage.

"I wanted to avoid the police taking them out," he said. "There were many wonderful young men there, and I could not allow them to be beaten."

Szablewski said the police blockade had taken its toll.

Telling the men the strike was over was difficult, he said. "The faces showed their disappointment. For them, it was a defeat."

Wojciech Gielzynski, a Solidarity supporter who witnessed the scene, said it was wrenching. Tough-looking men in their late teens and early 20s "cried like children," he said.

"We told ourselves that there was no choice," he said. "We lost but we did not surrender."

Redford tours Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Robert Redford opened an exhibition of his movies by telling an audience that films are a powerful way to bridge differences of opinion and that he supports glasnost in Soviet cinema.

Glasnost, the Russian word for openness, is a key term in Mikhail Gorbachev's policy of reforms in certain areas.

"Obviously this is a very important time for our countries," Redford told the audience at Moscow's Oktyabr theater on Tuesday, the exhibition's opening day. "And I believe that film is a very powerful tool to translate differences of opinion and points of common interest."

"And for that reason, I support glasnost in both American film and Soviet cinema."

Group accuses Burma

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Burmese soldiers have killed, raped and tortured members of ethnic minorities in the government's fight to crush rebel movements, the human rights group Amnesty International said today.

The London-based organization said evidence shows "a consistent pattern of gross violations of human rights" by the Burmese army. In a 71-page report, it described the fates of nearly 200 alleged victims.

Among cases listed were those of an 11-year-old girl and her mother raped by soldiers, a 22-year-old student who may have been shot "because he looked different" and an illiterate rice farmer whose flesh was peeled from the bone during interrogation.

An appendix gave details of apparent "extra-judicial executions" of 60 members of the Karen minority. Only one was said to have been an active rebel.

The Amnesty report said insurgents also have killed civilians, but said the government was not justified in doing the same.

Danes vote in election

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Prime Minister Poul Schluter made an appointment with the queen today to submit his resignation, beginning the process of building a new center-right government, an official said.

Schluter was scheduled to go to Amalienborg Palace at 11:30 a.m. (6:30 a.m. CDT) to see Queen Margrethe II, said Dorte Christiansen, an official in the premier's office.

The step followed a parliamentary election Tuesday called over a dispute on Denmark's nuclear-weapons policy and its allegiance to NATO, which ended in a stalemate in which neither major bloc can form a majority government.

The Social Democrats, Denmark's largest party, touched off the election by pushing through parliament a new anti-nuclear resolution the government refused to implement because of strong objections from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

County considers VDT usage regulations

HAUPPAUGE, N.Y. (AP) — Companies with 20 or more computer terminals would be required to provide employees with work breaks, eye care, special lighting and detachable keyboards, under a bill approved by the county Legislature.

If Suffolk County Executive Patrick Halpin signs the bill, which passed 13-2 Tuesday, it would be the first law in the country to regulate the terminals in private businesses, workplace design experts said.

Business leaders have sharply criticized the measure, charging it would be costly to implement and put placing them at a competitive disadvantage in the marketplace. They contend the bill will drive companies out of the county.

Mitchell Pally, a spokesman for the Long Island Association, the region's largest business organization, said the bill "threatens the continued economic vitality of the community."

"We're obviously very disappointed and will urge Mr. Halpin to veto the bill," he said.

The bill is intended to protect the health and safety of employees who use video display terminals (VDTs), according to legislator John Foley, sponsor of the bill.

Restoration of 1937 Ford 'a labor of love'

By LYNN HAYES
Staff Writer

When five Forsan students looked upon a deteriorated 50-year-old automobile badly in need of restoration, they didn't know exactly what they were in for.

They've learned. Not every educational experience provides immediate, tangible evidence, but several Forsan High School students own a first and were given Best of Division status at the annual Industrial Technology state competition in Waco May 6-7.

Students from every high school and junior high school were eligible to compete in project competition, said Forsan High School teacher Mark Reeh.

This year's group project was the restoration of a 1937 Ford four-door sedan. Working on the project were: Chris Marquez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saul Marquez; Michael Self, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Self, Tubb's Addition; Michael Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Chandler, Tubb's Addition; Billy Massingill, son of Mrs. Beverly Massingill, Big Spring; and Clint Tannis, son of Mrs. Maxine Conlan, Big Spring.

Mike Jennings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jennings, Tubb's Addition, placed second for his metal work project by building a golf cart trailer.

Timi Morales, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eusebio Morales, Coahoma, placed second in portrait photography for her photograph of a child, and took third in special effects for her time exposure night photograph of Cosden Oil & Chemical refinery complex.

The car, which will be on display May 17 at 7:30 p.m. during Forsan High School's awards banquet, is a family-owned car that was passed down from Reeh's great uncle to his father and finally to Reeh. "I plan to pass it on to my son, Eric," Reeh said.

"The five of us knew we were in for quite a task when our teacher, Mr. Mark Reeh, brought in 'the car' — a dilapidated 1937 Ford. We realized that we were going to work on something that was manufactured before any of us were born — even before our teacher was born," said Billy Massingill.

"We put in countless hours working on the car, everything from taking out the motor, to putting on the gas cap. We didn't realize how much labor was involved in the restoration of the car — but we learned," Massingill said.

"We all discovered the same lesson: If you take your time, and love what you do, you can change an old clunker into a showroom car. We owe much of this feeling of pride and accomplishment to our teacher. Our task became a labor of love," he said.

RSVP members honored

Members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program were honored Tuesday night at Howard College.

Approximately 160 guests were treated to dinner and were entertained by the Hot Potato Band.

Keynote speaker Joe Pickle addressed the volunteers, who serve many area facilities including Big Spring State Hospital, VA hospital, Golden Plains Care Center, Mountain View Lodge, Westside Day Care Center, Northside Community Center, Howard County Council on Aging, which is primarily the delivery of home meals.

It's better to be loved

DEAR ABBY: This concerns the letter from the man who wrote to say that when he was 19, his parents disowned him and threw him out of the house when he told them that his 20-year-old girlfriend was pregnant. (He married her, and became very successful.)

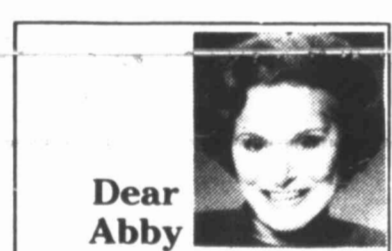

After not speaking to him for six years, the father wrote his son saying his business had gone bankrupt and he asked if the son could let him save $500 a month "for a while." You were on the side of forgiveness and advised the son to meet with his father and work out some way to help him.

Your readers clobbered you. The score: Readers, 289; Abby, 1.

Well, when I was 28, unmarried and pregnant, my father gave me a blank check and told me to have an abortion. I refused.

Although my parents lived less than a mile from me, both chose to ignore me and my child for two years. Then out of the blue, they called to ask if I would meet them at a nearby park so they could see their grandchild.

My husband forbade me to go, but I went anyway. Now I am grateful that I learned early in life that it is far better to love and be loved than it is to be right.

Abby, change that score to: Readers, 289; Abby and Joy, 2.

DEAR JOY: Since I published the score showing how badly I was "clobbered," I received enormous support for "my" side. Add more than 5,000 for Abby — and still counting!

To get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054 (postage and handling are included).

Juice of 2 to 3 limes
1 to 1½ tsp. garlic salt
½ tsp. pepper
1 pound flank or skirt steak
4 flour tortillas

Combine lime juice, salt, and pepper in a zip-top, heavy-duty plastic bag. Place steak in bag, and secure tightly, turning bag to coat each side thoroughly. Refrigerate 6 to 8 hours. Remove steak from marinade, and drain well. Grill steak over medium-hot mesquite coals 5 to 6 minutes on each side or until desired degree of doneness. Slice steak diagonally across grain into thin slices.

Wrap tortillas in aluminum foil, and heat at 325 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Wrap tortillas around meat and top with any of the following: chopped tomato, green onions, guacamole, sour cream, picante sauce, or taco sauce. Makes four servings.

Use mustard when cooking

The days when mustard was strictly a hot dog topping are long gone. More and more people are discovering the secret of mustard as an ingredient in a wide range of dishes. And the list of uses keeps getting longer.

Summertime is a perfect season for mustard to strut its stuff. Faye Egan and her staff at the Nabisco Brands Consumer Food Center have come up with some quick and easy serving suggestions using Grey Poupon Dijon Mustard.

• Zesty Potato Salad: Combine 2 pounds potatoes, peeled, cooked, cubed, ½ cup mustard and ½ tsp. celery seed. Chill until serving.

• Marinated Mixed Vegetables: Combine ½ bottle Italian dressing and 3 tbs. mustard; stir in 6 cups mixed blanched vegetables. Chill at least 2 hours.

• Sweet 'n Sour Mustard Sauce: Combine ½ cup mustard, ¼ cup peach preserves, 2 tbs. white wine vinegar, and 2 tbs. chopped parsley. Use as a basting sauce for poultry or spare ribs.

• Peppery Mustard Sauce: Combine 1 (8 oz.) package softened cream cheese, ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese, ¼ cup mustard and 2 tbs. sliced scallions or jalapenos. Use as a spread on crackers or pretzels.

• Zippy Margarine Spread: Combine ½ cup softened margarine, 3 tbs. mustard, ¼ cup chopped scallions and 1 minced clove garlic. Use as a spread on grilled corn, potatoes or bread slices.

Study: Immigrants do better than minorities due to perceptions

By VALERIE MEEHAN
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE — Doing well in school is equated with "acting white" for minority groups such as American blacks and Chicanos and is a barrier to education that does not exist for immigrant minorities, according to a Nigerian-born professor of anthropology.

Because of that, immigrant children, who buy into the American dream, are more likely to succeed in school than American minorities, said John U. Ogbu, a professor at the University of California-Berkeley.

"Sometimes you have to choose between things that enhance school success and being a good member of your minority group," said Ogbu.

Similar forces are at work in other countries such as Japan and New Zealand, Ogbu said. He cited the example of members of the outcast class in Japan who generally perform poorly in school but are indistinguishable from other Japanese when they immigrate to the United States.

Speaking Monday at the Council of Chief State School Officers conference held at Johns Hopkins University campus, Ogbu said the solution lies at least partly in changing teachers' expectations, ridding society of discrimination and pointing out to students their unconscious assumptions.

The conference theme is "Advancing Effective Teaching for At-Risk Youth."

Ogbu based his theory on two years spent in Stockton, Calif., in a school district that was 92 percent black and Chicano. He said many of his findings were published in 1986 in a paper entitled "Black Students' School Success: Coping With the Burden of Acting White." A soon to be published paper titled "Minority Youths' School Success," advances many of the same ideas, he said.

Ogbu divided minorities into voluntary and involuntary immigrants.

Immigrants face difficulties but "see (them) as barriers to overcome," he said. "Things are better here, if not for themselves for their children."

But American blacks have seen that education was no guarantee of a good job or advancement and see difficulties as "symbols of identity," said Ogbu.

Speaking proper English and working hard in school are "defined by minority students as going against the minority group," he said.

American blacks who do well in school generally must develop psychological strategies to do so, Ogbu said. They frequently assimilate or "become white," become emissaries who see themselves as representatives of their group, or see getting a good education as an alternate part of their personality. This is most similar to the immigrant approach and is the most psychologically healthy, the anthropologist said.

Ogbu said South American and Central American immigrants tend to do well, but Chicano children are less likely to do so because they see learning English as giving up their Hispanic identity, Ogbu said.

Ogbu defined Chicanos as Hispanics, primarily Mexican-Americans, who are descendants of those who came under American rule when Mexico lost the Mexican-American War and the U.S. acquired a large portion of the Southwest. Mexican Americans who immigrated later but identify with that group also fall into the category, Ogbu said.

Amnesty may indicate fewer Mexicans in U.S.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A Mexican Foreign Ministry official says the year-old U.S. immigration law may indicate there are fewer Mexicans living in the United States illegally than previously thought.

"There has been much talk of large numbers of undocumented workers" in the United States, Edgar Flores Rivas said Monday, but noted the estimates have tended to decline over the years.

"We feel that if there were those large numbers at least they would have requested regularization" under the amnesty or asked for consular or other services during the period, he said at a news conference.

U.S. immigration officials said last week that there had been more than 1.6 million requests for legalization under the Simpson-Rodino law.

Half or more of the estimated 6 million to 7 million illegal aliens in the United States are Mexican, according to U.S. officials. The Immigration and Naturalization Service estimated that 2 million applications would be filed during the year-long program.

Flores Rivas, the ministry's general director of protection and consular services, said the government generally has accepted assurances by U.S. officials that there will not be mass expulsions of undocumented workers with the expiration last week of the period for them to apply for amnesty in the United States.

The situation of those who remain illegally, Flores Rivas said, "will depend on the focus of sanctions against employers. I think that the workers are, in fact, vulnerable. They are vulnerable to exploitation."

The law establishes penalties for employers who hire illegal aliens.

"The workers are there because there is work," he said, and questioned whether the U.S. government would hurt the economy by closing businesses who violate the law.

Sailor court-martialed on AIDS-assault charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The former fiancée of a sailor carrying the AIDS virus testified Monday that she filed an AIDS-related assault charge against him to protect other women he might date.

Jeannine Elmer, 28, said she learned of his test results only one or two days after having sex with Petty Officer 2nd Class John E. Crawford. She told the judge and jury at Crawford's court-martial that she worried that he might have sex with someone else without telling them about the test.

"What I went through — what I'm going through — I don't want any female to go through," Elmer said in the first day of Crawford's trial.

The AIDS-assault trial is a first of its kind for the Navy, officials said.

Elmer also said that since the encounter in April, 1987, she had tested negative three times for HIV antibodies. Crawford tested positive in March 1987 for HIV, human immunodeficiency virus, the virus that causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

Scientists do not know if everyone infected by the virus eventually will develop the incurable ailment, which destroys the body's ability to fight off disease.

Crawford has said the test result surprised him because he does not consider himself to be in any of the high-risk groups normally associated with AIDS.

He could be stripped of rank, dishonorably discharged and sentenced to up to a decade behind bars if found guilty of the charges, which include adultery, or "wrongfully having sexual intercourse with a married woman, not his wife." Elmer was separated from her third husband when she was dating Crawford.

The trial at the Navy's Treasure Island facility is expected to last three days.

The 27-year-old sailor denies the charges, saying that he wore a condom during sex and that Elmer knew he had tested positive for the HIV virus. He claims her charges are based on jealousy.

Elmer testified that she confronted Crawford about his test results about a week after she learned about his condition from a mutual friend.

"I asked him why did he take me to bed with him if he knew," she said. "He said 'I'm sorry. I don't know why.'"

Elmer said that she told Crawford she loved him and wanted to take care of him and that he then proposed to her. However, she said, Crawford ended their engagement about two weeks later.

Elmer was composed as she testified before the judge, Capt. R.M. Mollison, and the seven-member jury. However, she heatedly denied a suggestion that she brought the charge to avenge herself after Crawford broke off their brief engagement.

Crawford, a Magnolia, Ark., native, lives off-base with another woman, to whom he has been engaged for six months.

Lt. Cmdr. George Farrar, a Navy spokesman at the Treasure Island Naval Station, where the trial is being held, said the case was the first of its kind in the Navy. An Army private is charged in another AIDS-related assault case, and his court-martial is set to resume on Wednesday in Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

Survey: Teachers earn less than a living

AUSTIN (AP) — More than 80 percent of Austin's public school teachers who responded to a recent survey say their salaries are too low to support their families.

Just under half said they must must moonlight to help make ends meet.

Sixty-two percent of the approximately 600 teachers who answered the questionnaire by the Austin Federation of Teachers said that each year they spend at least $100 of their own money to buy supplies, equipment or materials for their students.

Although the survey portrays Austin teachers as being underpaid and discontented, the superintendent of the Austin Independent School District, John Ellis, said that isn't the case. He cited studies that show the turnover rate among teachers in Austin public schools is at its lowest point in about a decade.

"If there is a level of dissatisfaction that the teacher's union maintains, it is not reflected in people leaving," Ellis said.

But Adrienne Segal, president of the teachers federation, believes the survey by her group, which has about 300 members, is an accurate reflection of the mood of Austin teachers. She said salary woes are the chief culprit.

Two years ago, teachers received no pay raise. Last year, they received a pay raise averaging 5.4 percent. This year, the district is looking to cut some $7 million from the budget to be able to give the teachers a 3 percent increase.

Big Spring gets second taste of body building

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Big Spring got its first taste of body building last year — maybe it's time to bring the sport back.

Local resident Doug Beams is doing just that. He's giving Big Spring its second dose of the sport when the Spring City Classic Body Building championships come to town May 21 at the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium.

Beams introduced Big Spring to its first body building championship in August, with a Level II competition. Evidently it went well, since a Level I meet will be conducted this year. There are four levels of amateur competition: I, II, III and national.

Level I competition is the highest level of state competition. The next step is national competition and the United States Championship. The elite group is the professional level.

To advance to the II or III level, a body builder must place in the top three at a sanctioned amateur meet. To advance to national level, one must win a level I competition. Since the competition here is only one of three national qualifying meets in the state of Texas, we'll see some of the top body builders in the state.

How did Big Spring get chosen for such a prestigious meet?

It took some inside pull, and Beams is just the pull the Spring City needed. Beams, who is an avid weight lifter himself, is the state's vice-chairman of the National Physique Committee. He's held the position for two years and has a big say in where these contests are conducted.

Since things went so well last year, it was only fitting the contest come back to Big Spring, where Doug and wife, Vicky, are working diligently to make it another success.

Vicky, an amateur body builder herself, has helped promote many contests while living in the Houston area.

Compared to contests in Houston, Vicky said the support the Spring City Championship got was phenomenal. She said in Houston, the average attendance at these type events were 800. Last year, 500 attended the one in Big Spring.

Doug says the competition is being conducted three months earlier this year so more high school youth can see the competition, and meet the athletes competing. "Last year in August a lot of the school kids were doing various things or on vacation," Doug said.

Doug stresses the point that he wants the school youth to meet and talk with the body builders. "These body builders can make a big impression on kids," he said. "I know from past experience that you can have a complex from being skinny. When I was 16, I was skinny as a toothpick," said the strapping 6-3, 245-pounder.

"Then I got introduced to weight training. I feel like all kids need to know you can benefit from weight training. Besides looking better, you'll feel better and have more self confidence. It can help you reach your goals in life. It gives you a better self-image."

Besides contestants, there will be guest appearances from female stars like Reggie Bennett, L.A. champion and pro wrestler; and Jayne Kathan of San Antonio, the 1987 Texas Body Building Champion.

There also will be guest appearances by New York's Russ Testo, billed as the "Physique Artist Extraordinaire", and Ronnie Schweyer, National Collegiate Champion, and a graduate of Texas Christian University.

Also helping Beams with the meet will be former Colorado City native Kenneth Lain, owner of World Gym in Abilene. The 270-pound Lain recently set a world record with a bench press of 593 pounds.

But the body building competition is only half of it. There will be other activities like the Spring City Pro/Am Armwrestling Championships Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in the auditorium. Beams says armwrestling at these different states are scheduled to be here.

Other activities include a "Bowl with the Body Builders" day on Sunday afternoon and a dance contest at the Pin Deck Lounge Sunday night. More importantly, there will be a session where youth can sit down and talk with the body builders about drugs, alcohol and life in general, said Beams.

But the main thing of it all is that it's all for a worthy cause. All proceeds will go to the Rape Crisis/Victim Services, which serves Howard, Martin, Borden and Glasscock Counties.

Numerous businesses in the area have donated their time and money to help promote this affair in Big Spring.

And that's what it's all about. Bringing something new and exciting to town, and joining forces to make it a success.

See you there.

Hawks begin state play

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Howard College Hawks — a team equipped with all the tools to back up its 44-12 record and number 18 national ranking — are going to the state Junior College baseball tournament at the Arlington Athletic Center.

Howard faces its first test against Navarro at 10 a.m. Thursday. Other games are: Richland vs. Alvin, 1 p.m.; Panola vs. Northwood, 4 p.m. and San Jacinto vs. Vernon at 7.

Among other attributes, the Hawks have the second winningest coach in junior college baseball history in head coach Bill Griffin. He's notched 810 wins in his three decades of coaching.

Like it has since baseball was reinstated at Howard six years ago, the Hawks have a strong hitting team. Led by the likes of left fielder Ernesto Castro, catcher Randy Deal and designated hitter Darren Glenn, the Hawks have batted out 96 homers, have a team batting average of .369 and are averaging 10 runs per game.

Pitching wise, Howard doesn't have a remarkable team earned run average. But when your team scores 10 runs per game, it's all right to have an ERA 4.73. Sophomore hurlers Ted Hebert and Al Benavides have been steady, while frosh like Garth Buresh and Greg Kroeger have made the transition well from high school to college ball.

So, why shouldn't the Hawks be optimistic about their chances in the eight-team double-elimination tournament? Assistant coach Greg Henry sees no reason to stem the optimism.

"I think we've got a very good chance of winning the state tournament," Henry said at a Monday afternoon practice session. "We've got our momentum coming off the Ranger series where we scored 30 runs and hit 11 home runs in two games."

"Even though we've got a young ballclub, I don't look at us as a young ballclub. Last year we were good, and this year we're good. But we seem congealed. We play better as a team. We've got more depth hitting all the way down the line. It's like our number nine hole hitter, Jay Williams, can come up and hit the ball well," said Henry.

This tournament is extremely important to Henry since this will be his last season as Hawk assistant coach. He will be wed August 13, and he and his bride will be moving to Austin. Henry plans to attend Southwest Texas University in San Marcos.

All-American Castro is leading the Howard hitters. Although he's in the leadoff position, Castro has the power to play long ball, indicated by his .405 batting average and 15 homers. Henry said it's a good bet Castro will try the pro route after this season.

Catcher Deal, who's headed to Texas Tech next season, has been the big RBI man for Howard the past two years. He ranks among the nation's junior college leaders with his 23 home runs and 80 RBIs.

Glenn, the freshman DH from El Paso, is the team's leading hitter. He's batting a hot .479, with 18 home runs and 77 RBIs.

The list of good hitters goes on and on for the Hawks. Outfielders Jose Rubiera (.381); Jody Allen (.365) and Joey Camarillo (.354) are all top notch hitters. Infielders Geraldo Camara (.374); Richard Baker (.348) and Kenny Frederick (.324) complete the group of starters batting above the .300 mark. Allen, Camara and Frederick are all long ball threats.

Williams, Phil Longo and Paul Spyhalski are reserves who can handle the toils of regular duty

Pitchers rise to the occasion

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Perhaps the most pleasant surprise on this year's Howard Hawks baseball team has been the pitching staff. With only one experienced pitcher returning, there was much speculation as to whether an untested pitching staff could hold up against the hard hitting teams in Region V.

But the Howard pitchers quickly answered all questions with their performances. Steady pitching, combined with the solid hitting, equalled a 44-12 record, a number 18 ranking in the nation, and most of all, Howard's first Region V championship in six seasons.

But things weren't always so smooth for the Hawks this season, especially when last year's ace, Ted Hebert, went down with an arm injury when region play opened. That left Al Benavides as the only sophomore hurler on the staff. And Benavides didn't have much experience. He only pitched seven and two-thirds innings last season.

Howard pitching coach Frank Anderson had his doubts.

"If you had told me that Hebert would get hurt, and we would win 44 games, I would have told you 'you're crazy,'" said Anderson. "I knew Kroeger and Garth were good, but I didn't think they would win that many games," said Anderson of freshmen Greg Kroeger and Garth Buresh.

Buresh, from Sioux Falls, S.D., went 8-2 and was a key figure in Howard's starting rotation. Kroeger, of Omaha, Neb., was Howard's top reliever. He led the team in saves while compiling a 9-2 record.

"Garth did a good job as starter, and Kroeger was a big part of the staff. I think he appeared in 29 games this season," said Anderson.

Kroeger, a 6-2, 195-pounder with a fastball that has been clocked in the mid 80s, says he likes his role as a reliever.

"In high school we really didn't have any relief pitchers. Everybody just pitched. I pitched all the time. Sometimes I started, and sometimes I relieved," said Kroeger.

Kroeger said he asked Coach Anderson if he could be a relief pitcher this season. "I didn't have the confidence in myself of being a college starter. But I like the pressure situation of a relief pitcher."

"If I come in in the bottom of the ninth with the bases loaded, I don't need any motivation. That's motivation enough right there. I

Howard College Hawks freshman pitcher Garth Buresh has emerged as one of Howard's top pitchers this season. The curve-balling lefty has compiled an 8-2 record.

Suns hire Fitzsimmons for second time

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Cotton Fitzsimmons, back for his second stint as coach of the Phoenix Suns, says he made a mistake leaving the first time 16 years ago.

Fitzsimmons, 56, was named Tuesday to replace John Wetzel, who went 28-54 in his only season and was fired on May 2.

The Suns originally hired Fitzsimmons in 1970 and he posted the team's first-ever winning records of 48-34 and 49-33 before leaving for a job with Atlanta.

The Suns also hire Paul Westphal as assistant coach.

He coached the Hawks for four seasons, the Buffalo Braves for one season, the Kansas City Kings for six seasons and the San Antonio Spurs for two seasons.

"It's been a lot of years and a lot of miles. I don't know why I left here," Fitzsimmons said. "I found the grass isn't always greener on the other side. In fact, in some places, they didn't even have grass."

"This is the sixth time I've stood in front of cameras in the NBA. Five of those times, I took over clubs that were completely off the track. The only time I didn't was the Suns. It was my first job in the NBA and Phoenix was coming off a 39-43 record in 1969-70. Dick Van Arsdale was the captain. It was a good team, a Veteran team. It was the best team I ever coached in the NBA. I don't kid myself."

Fitzsimmons' winning percentage of .591 still ranks as the best in Suns' history.

That fact wasn't lost on president Jerry Colangelo, whose club has now suffered through four straight losing seasons and three consecutive years out of the playoffs.

"Eighteen years ago at an NCAA Tournament in Louisville, Kentucky, I bumped into Cotton when he was at Kansas State and at that time, we developed a relationship," Colangelo said. "Not much longer after that, he became the coach of the Phoenix Suns for the first time. We're thrilled to have him back in that capacity."

"Phoenix is where I want to be. I made a decision last year that I want to stay here," Fitzsimmons said. "I think Jerry's big concern last year was he was worried about me looking for other jobs in the NBA."

Benavides has emerged as the Howard ace this season with his 12-2 record, despite a 5.39 ERA. Buresh and Kroeger have pitched more innings than anybody on the staff. Buresh has 84 under his belt, while Kroeger has 74. If Hebert's arm holds up, Howard will be in good shape on the mound. Hebert has the lowest ERA on the team at 2.48.

In closing of the 1987-88 Grady Wildcats Banquet, Clay Black rendered the benediction, and closing with the spirit of Grady High the athletes, paid their respects to their alma mater.

Allen can be called upon to pitch if needed.

Henry is confident that this freshman-dominated team is ready for the state tourney.

"When you go 44-12, age isn't a factor," said Henry. We've been through a lot of battles. At the junior college level freshmen have to be able to play. We expect them to be good."

And so far, the Howard College Hawks have been very good.

But officials in New Mexico and Indiana refuse to say if Knight is considering a reported offer to take over the Lobo program or merely is helping New Mexico find a successor to Gary Colson.

Utah upsets Lakers at home

By The Associated Press
With what coach Frank Layden called the biggest victory in Jazz history in the bank, Utah's players weren't getting cocky. "We're feeling pretty good about ourselves right now," Thurl Bailey said after the Jazz evened its Western Conference playoff series with the defending NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers with a 101-97 victory Tuesday night. "It's almost like we won the whole thing. But we've got to put this one behind us. We can't celebrate anything yet."

NBA Playoffs

The Jazz had lost 31 of its last 33 games at the Forum. And it was coming off an embarrassing loss in the series opener, in which Utah scored an all-time playoff low of eight points in the first quarter.

But Karl Malone scored 18 of his 29 points in the second half for Utah, which will host the next two games Friday and Sunday. Thurl Bailey added 20 points, John Stockton had 19 and 13 assists and 7-foot-4 center Mark Eaton had 12 rebounds and blocked seven shots.

Elsewhere, it was Detroit 93, Chicago 82, and Denver 126, Dallas 115. Atlanta is at Boston tonight.

Los Angeles saw its 13-game homecourt playoff winning streak end, although the Lakers made it close in the final moments by hitting four 3-point shots.

"I think we had a lot of chances to fold," Malone said. "We showed a lot of character." "At this hour, we've got the homecourt advantage. I guarantee you the Salt Palace will be rocking. But we're going to take it one game at a time. The Lakers are going to come in ready to play." "Those guys are the world champions. They're not going to let little old Utah beat them. This gives us a lot of confidence, but we're still afraid of the Lakers."

The Lakers, led by Byron Scott's 26 points, plus 19 points, 10 assists and seven rebounds by Magic Johnson, are conceding nothing.

Pistons 93, Bulls 82

Detroit won its 11th straight home playoff game, never trailing and shutting down Michael Jordan in the first half.

Jordan had only seven points in the opening 24 minutes. Although he finished with 29, that was 16.2 points below his record average for the first series, a five-game victory over Cleveland.

"The man has expended a lot of energy this year and we've asked him to carry us in a lot of situations," Bulls coach Doug Collins said. "We've got to get other people to step forward and give us some help."

The Pistons, who finished four games in front of second-place Chicago in the Central Division, got 23 points from Adrian Dantley, 18 in the opening half, when they took charge.

Bill Laimbeer had 16 points and 14 rebounds for the Pistons. Reserve forward Horace Grant added 16 points for Chicago, who got no closer than six points in the second half.

It was the second straight game the Pistons held an opponent under 90 points; Detroit eliminated Washington 99-78 in Sunday's fifth game of the first round.

"Our defense has been excellent, that's what's been carrying us, and as long as your defense is good and your defense is constant, you can shoot 40 percent and win," Detroit guard Isiah Thomas said. "We're a much better shooting basketball team than we've shown. The defense will continue to carry us, hopefully, until our offense clicks in."

Nuggets 126, Mavericks 115

Lafayette Lever, bothered by a knee injury in Denver's first-round series against Seattle, sure looked healthy Tuesday. He scored 30 points, pulled in 11 rebounds and had eight assists for Denver, which edged Dallas by one game for first place in the Midwest Division.

"Fat (Lever) was really super," Dallas coach John MacLeod said. "He was playing his game, hitting the outside shots and rebounding the way he does."

Denver moved to a 12-point halftime lead, then outscored the Mavericks 10-1 early in the third quarter to open a 21-point margin. The closest Dallas got was eight the rest of the way as Denver shot 58 percent for the game.

Alex English added 22 points and Jay Vincent had 17 for the Nuggets. Mark Aguirre had 26 and Rolando Blackman 20 for the Mavericks.

Pitchers

want the ball, I want to throw, I want to go out there and do my best.

"There wasn't any pressure on me at first — freshmen aren't expected to rise to the top. Now I feel pressure because I've done well, and I can't let up. At state, I feel like we've got the capability to come out number one. The best team doesn't always win, but I feel right now we've got the best team," said Kroeger.

Buresh, a curve-balling left-hander, is the quiet one on the Howard staff. He credits good Howard hitting for a lot of his success.

"I really haven't been all that consistent. I really don't think anybody on our staff has," said Buresh. "On this team, a pitcher can go out and do lousy sometimes, and still win a game. Our hitters are so good. We average 10 runs a game, so that takes a lot of pressure off us pitchers," he said.

From the perspective of Howard assistant coach Greg Henry, Buresh "Does his speaking on the mound."

Sophomores Hebert and Benavides have had totally different seasons compared to a year ago. Hebert was Howard's top winner at 13-3 last season. This year, because of his arm injury, he's 5-2.

Benavides didn't pitch eight innings all of last year. This year, he's Howard's leading winner, with a 12-2 mark.

Hebert was cruising along with a 4-1 record and 2.20 ERA when he injured his arm February 28 against Hill College. Stretched ligaments kept him off the mound for two months. He's pitched sparingly since he's been back, winning one, losing one and getting one save.

"The arm is feeling better, but it's not full strength. I can throw good for three or four innings, then it starts getting weak. My velocity has dropped from 82 or 83 (mph) to around 72. Now I have to work more on (pitching to) my location," said the Lafayette, La. native, who will play ball at Southwest Louisiana next year.

Hebert says this year's freshman hurlers have adjusted well to college baseball.

"I was very disappointed when I got hurt. I knew I was the only experienced sophomore pitcher coming back, and I knew everyone was depending on me. I was just hoping the freshmen would keep us close until I got back, but they did a heck of a lot better," said Hebert.

But while the freshmen held their own, it was Benavides who took over the leadership role on the mound in Hebert's absence.

The Corpus Christi native, an avid weight lifter, has improved 100 percent from last year.

"Last year I really hadn't matured as far as getting on the mound and being able to throw my fastball, curve and changeup for strikes. I wasn't disappointed about not getting to pitch much last year because I didn't deserve to get to pitch."

"Muscles" as he is nicknamed by his teammates because of his extensive weight training, credits weight lifting and lots of summer baseball for much of his success.

"I've been pumping iron since the seventh grade because I played football also. And I've never stopped pumping," said the 6-1, 165-pounder. It's helped my velocity a lot. Now I throw in the mid 80s.

"Being a sophomore, I just wanted to help the team. Even if Hebert hadn't gotten hurt, I still would have wanted to take charge. I knew our freshmen were capable of playing the way they did, because they did it in the fall. Last year we didn't have much depth on the mound, maybe three pitchers at the most that could do the job.

This year we've got five, six, or seven that can do the job."

And if those pitchers continue to do the job, the Hawks just might bring home their first state title.

State bound Stanton swingers

Buffalo boys old hands

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

STANTON — Going to the state golf tournament is beginning to be old hat for the Stanton Buffalo golfers. In fact, it would be safe to say that Coach John Stiles has built a golf dynasty at Stanton.

The Buffs will go for their second state championship in the last three years Thursday and Friday when they compete in the Class AA state golf tournament at Lions Municipal Golf Course in Austin.

Stiles, himself a golfer long enough to double the ages of his students, has been the Stanton golf coach for eight years. The Buffalos have won seven district championships, two regional titles and one state crown during that time.

Stanton's last state appearance was in 1986. That year the Buffalos won the state championship.

"When I started coaching golf here eight years ago, I was just trying to build a golf program. I was, and still am, an English teacher. I just took the program because nobody else wanted it. I began by getting the kids to play in the summer, and it started to build from there.

"It helps to have good athletes. All of these golfers are real fine kids. Really, just about all the athletes at Stanton compete in all things, from sports to academic UIL (University Interscholastic League) events. They make up their minds to work and they work at being good. They're a pleasure to work with," said Stiles.

Competing in the state tournament won't be anything new for two Stanton seniors. Greg Avery and Skip Hopkins were sophomores on Stanton's state winning team. Now Avery, an all-district, all-area and all-state basketball player, will be competing in the medalist play also.

Avery's been Stanton's top golfer the entire season. He won regional with a 36-hole total of 149. As a team, Stanton shot a 660, five strokes behind regional winner Ozona.

Hopkins is also an all-around athlete. He quarterbacked the Stanton football team, and was a starter on the basketball team, making all-district in both.

Avery usually shoots in the mid 70's and Hopkins shoots in the high 70's.

"Both Greg and Skip set good work examples for the others," said Stiles. "The best thing about this team is they all work together. I think this group is harder working than the group in '86. Even though golf is an individual sport, they keep in mind they're shooting for the team championship."

Rounding out the state-bound team are juniors Brad Holland and Darren Patrick, and sophomore Chris Carder. Holland and Carder played varsity football and basketball, while Patrick recently finished third in UIL ready writing competition.

Coach Stiles believes his Buffalos stand a good chance at state, and labels Weimer and China Springs as two of the top teams.

"I feel we can be in the top four teams. I'm very confident we can compete with any of the teams. I told them just do like Lee Trevino says: 'The smoother I swing, the luckier I get.' If we can go in with that kind of approach, then we'll do all right."

Stanton High School golfer Kelli Glaspie hits a shot on the green during second round play at the Region I-AA Golf Tournament in Big Spring two weeks ago. Thursday and Friday the Stanton girls will be competing in the state tournament in Austin.

Something new for girls

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

STANTON — Without doubt, the small community of Stanton will be one of the few teams that will have both its boys and girls golf teams competing in the state golf tournament Thursday and Friday in Austin.

While Buffalo boys are used to winning district and regional titles and competing in state tournaments; the Lady Buffalos haven't been quite as fortunate. When Coach Stuart Beckwith and his girls travel to Austin, it will be the first time in 12 years the feat has been accomplished.

Beckwith, in his first year as girls' head coach, had been assistant coach under John Stiles until this year. Stiles was head golf coach for both boys and girls. Beckwith is somewhat modest about his first year success. And he rightly gives credit where credit is due — Coach Stiles.

"Coach Stiles is a fantastic golf coach. I tell him all the time that I'm just living in the house that he built. He did most of the teaching. I'm just the motivator," said Beckwith.

The combination has evidently worked well. The Lady Buffalos finished a distant second behind Ozona in district play. In four district rounds, Ozona outscored Stanton by 28 strokes.

"Ozona kids didn't shoot that low, but they were real consistent. Our goal at regional was to beat Ozona," said Beckwith. "We felt that Ozona was a high enough caliber of team, that if we could beat them, we could compete with anybody."

And that's exactly what the Lady Buffs did. Stanton finished second at regional, behind Memphis' 36-hole total of 757. Stanton shot an 785.

"That's the approach we'll take in Austin. We're going to try to beat Memphis. If we do that, we'll be all right," said Beckwith.

The regional play of Cheryl Stewart — one of four juniors on the team — is a major reason the Lady Buffs are headed to state. Stewart shot a 94, 10 strokes under her average, on the opening day of region play to help put her team in second place.

The lone senior on the Stanton team is Kristy Fryar, who was also an all-state basketball player. Fryar will be going to Schriener on a basketball scholarship.

"Kristi hasn't been as consistent as we would like her to be this season. She's worked real hard the past couple of weeks to bring her score down. If she shoots well in Austin, it will be a big factor for us," said Beckwith.

The top golfer on the team this year has been Kelli Glaspie, a district medalist this season. Glaspie averages 88, with her best round of 82 coming on her own course in Stanton. Kaki Elmore is next with an 94 average. Rounding out the team is Patricia Gonzales.

Like Stiles, Beckwith agrees that one of the major keys to success is that Stanton athletes compete in all sports.

"To me, that's the definition of a winner: A person who competes hard in all sports and tries to be the best they can be. I think the girls might be a little nervous, but we're looking at it as a learning experience. We want to go down, have fun, and turn it into positive thing. With four girls coming back, it will be a springboard for next year."

A's streak stopped at 14

By The Associated Press
Two long American League winning streaks — Oakland's at 14 games and Milwaukee's at 10 — are over. The same thing happened to the Brewers last year, and their season was over, too.

The Brewers lost 9-3 Tuesday night to Minnesota, the victim of another fine outing by left-hander Frank Viola, who saw his club-record scoreless streak end in the eighth at 30 1-3 innings.

American League

Last year, the Brewers won 13 games to start the season, then soon thereafter lost 12 in a row to fall out of the AL East race.

Tigers 8, Athletics 2
The Athletics' winning streak was an Oakland record and the longest in the major leagues since the 1977 Kansas City Royals won 16 straight. The AL record is 19 in a row by the 1906 White Sox and 1947 Yankees, while the 1916 New York Giants hold the major league mark of 26.

Walt Terrell allowed just four Oakland hits in seven innings, and Larry Herndon and Luis Salazar homered.

Twins 9, Brewers 3

Viola's bid for a third straight shutout ended with two out in the eighth when Robin Yount hit an RBI single to center and Glenn Braggs hit his fourth homered. Viola had shut out Boston in his last two starts.

Viola, 5-1, broke the 22-year-old Minnesota record of 28 straight scoreless innings by Jim Kaat. Viola gave up six hits, walked three and struck out seven in 7 2-3 innings.

Yankees 17, White Sox 3
Don Mattingly ended the longest string of homerless at-bats in his career with a three-run shot that ignited a seven-run third inning, and the Yankees had a season-high 20 hits and 17 runs to beat Chicago.

Mattingly had gone 124 at-bats this season without a home run. His longest previous stretch was 103 at-bats in 1985.

Mariners 4, Blue Jays 2
Mark Langston set a career mark and matched the season high with 16 strikeouts in beating Toronto, which has lost 11 of its last 15 games. Roger Clemens of Boston struck out 17 Kansas City Royals on Monday night.

Langston allowed eight hits, walked none and lost his shutout in the eighth inning on an RBI double by Lloyd Moseby. Jesse Barfield hit a home run, his third, in the ninth.

Rey Quinones drove in two of Seattle's runs, and Mickey Brantley hit his fifth homer.

Royals 7, Red Sox 2
Kansas City broke a six-game losing streak, all at home, getting three RBI from Steve Balboni and four hits from Bo Jackson, including two infield singles. The Royals had not lost six in a row at home since 1974.

Rangers 13, Orioles 5
Pete Incaviglia had a two-run homer and two doubles, Steve Buechele had four hits, and Larry Parrish added three hits to power Texas to its fourth straight victory. It was their longest winning streak of the season as the Rangers set season highs for runs and hits, with 13.

One of Parrish's hits was a two-run homer.

Charlie Hough overcame early wildness for the victory, allowing eight hits in eight innings. Baltimore starter Mark Thurmond lasted only 1 2-3 innings, allowing five runs and losing his sixth game in six decisions.

Indians 7, Angels 1
Scott Bailes allowed four hits, retiring 19 straight Angels between the first and eighth innings, helping the Indians end a six-game losing streak. Bailes allowed a two-out single to Wally Joyner in the first and didn't allow another baserunner until Johnny Ray led off the eighth with a single.

Bruins spank Devils, 7-1

BOSTON (AP) — Power politics gave way to power hockey. NHL officials returned to work and the Boston Bruins never let up.

Led by three young rookies, the Bruins ignored the suspension of New Jersey coach Jim Schoenfeld and whipped the Devils 7-1 Tuesday night.

"We were on the money, everybody came to play," Coach Terry O'Reilly said after the Bruins took a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Wales Conference final series.

NHL Playoffs

Frustrated by amateur officiating in a 3-1 loss that evened the series Sunday night, the Bruins overwhelmed the Devils in moving within one victory of a shot at the Stanley Cup championship they last won in 1972.

"We talked about how to score more goals, but everybody really knew what had to be done," O'Reilly said. "We realized that we had to play a 60-minute game, that we had to cut down on mistakes and get to their goalie, Sean Burke."

"He's a good goalie when he gets momentum. That's the key word. Some nights he's hot and they have momentum. When we get hot we have the momentum."

The Bruins peppered Burke with 31 shots. They scored three goals on power plays while holding the Devils scoreless when they had a man advantage.

The Devils learned about 35 minutes before gametime that Schoenfeld had been suspended for the game for his run-in with referee Don Koharski after Boston's 6-1 victory Friday night in Game 3. Schoenfeld also was fined $1,000 and the Devils $10,000 for the Koharski incident.

While Schoenfeld watched from a luxury box, General Manager Lou Lamoriello, a former Providence College coach, assumed the role behind the bench.

It didn't make any difference what the Devils did on the bench. They were outclassed on the ice.

Canadian Olympic star Bob Joyce scored two goals and U.S. Olympic standout Craig Janney had one goal and three assists. Glen Wesley, another rookie, had three assists.

"I thought they came out strong, but we were ready," O'Reilly said. "Now we have to settle down and come out ready for the big one. And the next game is the big one."

"We have no excuses," Lamoriello said. "We got outworked and outplayed. The special teams didn't do the job for us."

"Give them credit, too. They worked awfully hard out there. They took advantage of opportunities (3-for-6 on the power play) and we didn't (0-for-7 with a man advantage)."

"We just want to put all this behind us. Schoenfeld (Schoenfeld) will be back (Thursday) for the next game. Hopefully, we can get things going."

"We've overcome adversity before. We've had our backs to the wall."

New Jersey's Tom Kurvers said the Devils were determined not to let the Schoenfeld situation "bother us."

He said the game Sunday night was "a lot tougher to be ready for than tonight."

"We don't have any excuses," Kurvers said.

Three Pirate hurlers do job

By The Associated Press
Pittsburgh manager Jim Leyland has found a script for a winning season in his pen.

Vincente Palacios, Barry Jones and Jim Gott combined on a five-hitter as the Pirates beat San Francisco 6-2 Tuesday night. Jones and Gott pitched two scoreless innings each with Gott finishing for his fifth save.

Jones remained unscored upon in nine games and 14 2-3 innings this season. Gott, a middle reliever last season for the Giants until being dealt to Pittsburgh, has 18 saves in a little over three months' service with the Pirates.

National League

"I'm not just pleased with the bullpen, I'm pleased with the whole pitching staff," said Leyland, whose team is 20-11 and second in the National League East. The Pirates didn't win their 20th game last season until May 23.

R.J. Reynolds, Jose Lind and Barry Bonds drove in two runs each for the Pirates.

Dodgers 6, Cubs 5
Kirk Gibson homered with two outs in the 14th inning to lift Los Angeles over Chicago at Wrigley Field.

Brian Holton, 1-0, pitched three innings of one-hit ball for the victory. Orel Hershiser, a regular starter, pitched the 14th inning for the Dodgers to earn a save. He had made two relief appearances last year when he had one save.

Expos 6, Braves 1
Hubie Brooks drove in three runs and Bryn Smith improved his lifetime record to 11-2 against Atlanta as visiting Montreal beat the Braves.

Brooks' two-run single capped a five-run second inning and chased starter Tom Glavine, 1-3. Brooks hit his fourth homer in the fifth inning off reliever Jose Alvarez.

Smith allowed eight hits in seven innings and Jeff Parrett finished.

Reds 10, Phillies 1
Tom Browning pitched a six-hitter as Cincinnati routed Philadelphia at Veterans Stadium. Browning, 1-0, got his first decision of the season after five starts. He struck out five and walked two. It was the Reds' eighth complete game, matching their total of last season.

Cincinnati took a 5-0 lead in the first inning off Don Carman, 3-3, with the help of a hit batsman, three hits, a balk, a wild pitch and Bo Diaz's two-run homer.

Cardinals 5, Padres 1
Duane Walker's two-run pinch single snapped a sixth-inning tie as St. Louis beat San Diego at Busch Stadium.

Walker's hit, his first since his contract was purchased on April 23 from Louisville, came off starter Andy Hawkins and broke a 1-1 tie.

Hawkins, 3-3, retired the first two batters in the sixth but walked both Terry Pendleton and Luis Alcea. Tony Pena then singled to load the bases and Walker followed with a single to make it 3-1.

Mets 5, Astros 2
Gary Carter's run-scoring single snapped an eighth-inning tie and New York went on to beat Houston at the Astrodome.

David Cone, 4-0, pitched seven innings, allowing one run and four hits. Roger McDowell finished for his third save, yielding a run in the ninth.

With the score tied 1-1, Darryl Strawberry led off the eighth with a walk from reliever Ernie Camacho, 0-3. After Camacho balked, Kevin McReynolds reached on an infield single. Carter then singled to center, scoring Strawberry from second. Lee Mazzilli had a sacrifice fly and Mookie Wilson an RBI single to close out the scoring in the eighth.

MONEY, MONEY — A whole lot of shaking goes on in West Texas after hunters capture rattlesnakes for cash. Larry Simer, Cap Rock Electric

Snakes alive New cash crop for West Texas — Rattlesnakes

By PEGGY LUXTON
Cap Rock Electric Cooperative Inc.

The sight and sound of a rattlesnake can make a West Texan's blood run cold. If you grow up in these parts, you learn a healthy respect for these reptiles almost from the cradle up.

Larry Simer, however, of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative's Underground Crew, grew up with a different attitude toward diamondback rattlers. When Larry was five years old, he accompanied his father, M.D. Simer, on his first rattlesnake hunt. Larry, now 28, has been hunting rattlers, off and on, ever since.

One of the first lessons Larry learned from his father was "never hunt snakes alone." On most occasions, father and son hunt together, but Larry never goes alone. During the years, in their handling of thousands of rattlesnakes, neither man has ever been bitten.

Tool of the trade is rattlesnake hunting is a gadget called tongs. Tongs consist of an aluminum tube about five feet long, equipped with a handhold and a trigger. Pinchers protrude from the other end and the trigger tightens the pinchers around the snake's body. Then the snake can be handled more or less safely.

Up until about five years ago, the Simers hunted snakes with one goal in mind — to find a snake big enough to win the cash prize awarded at the Big Spring Rattlesnake Roundup for the largest snake caught. Larry remembers one year in particular when his father submitted a snake five feet, eight inches long, only to be beaten out by someone with a snake five feet, eight and a half inches long.

But then Larry found out that the Roundup would pay cash for live rattlesnakes, with the going price of about $3 a pound. In preparation for this year's Roundup, Larry and his father collected almost 500 snakes to "take to market." Then, just before the Roundup, Larry was approached by a man who offered to buy his whole collection.

Larry sold his "crop" for the tidy sum of $2,028.

Three-fourths of this year's "crop" was caught between the middle of February and the end of March. The snakes leave the dens around the middle of February for short periods of time to lie in the sun. The snakes begin doing this after the first two or three days of warm weather.

Someone usually tips Larry off to the location of a den. A large number of snakes lying around a relatively small area is a strong indication that a den is nearby.

Larry has introduced a number of his co-workers from Cap Rock to the sport. Earlier this spring, he took four of them a few miles southeast of Stanton, where he had been told there were numerous rattlers. They first visited Fred Bowlin's farm, where they removed eight rattlers.

The group then moved about a mile down the road and located a den on a slight rise among rocks. They took a total of 63 rattlers out of that den that afternoon.

The next weekend, Larry and his father collected 150 snakes and by the middle of March, the two were collecting 175 over a two-day weekend.

When Larry approaches a spot he believes to be a den opening, he first checks out the area around the opening and catches any snakes lying outside the den. He says he has learned to check every clump of grass, no matter how small. He once overlooked a clump of grass, thinking it was too small to hide a rattler. But the grass proved to be the hiding place of not one, but several baby diamondbacks.

After the area around the den opening has been cleared, Larry "puts the spray to it." He uses a 2½-gallon pump-up sprayer with a long, narrow nozzle. He can extend the nozzle and attached hose as far as 20 feet into the interior of a den.

Larry says the size of dens vary, some of them being no more than a few feet deep and some having walls that cannot be reached, even by using the full 20 feet of nozzle hose. He sprays between one and two quarts of gasoline into the den opening.

Sometimes, after the gasoline spray, it takes 10 or 15 minutes for the snakes to begin crawling from the hole. But sometimes, they start coming out before Larry can remove the nozzle.

Snakes have an acute sense of smell and gasoline fumes make the den unbearable. Sometimes the snakes leave the den, one right after the other, and sometimes it is necessary to spray more gasoline, especially if the den is very big.

While the snakes retreat from the gasoline-saturated den, both Larry and his father catch them and place them in a 30-gallon trash can with a lid. The snakes can sometimes reach the top of the can, and after a number of snakes have been collected, the snakes on top have to be fought back down before another can be added. When the can is full, it is taken to the pickup and the snakes are dumped into a three-by-four-foot plywood box.

From the box, the snakes are transported to a pit on a farm several miles northwest of Big Spring. The pit is eight feet long, four feet wide, and four feet deep. They have fitted a hinged cover over the pit and have erected a fence around it. The fence keeps livestock out of the pit area. The farm is completely fenced and the gates are padlocked, so there is no real danger of someone stumbling across the pit by accident.

Larry estimates the average snake he catches will measure about three or three and a half feet in length, although he has measured some at five feet and over. Average weight is two or three pounds, although he has weighed some as high as eight pounds.

Larry cannot tell the difference between a male and a female rattlesnake. To him, there is but one difference, they are either big or little. To him, the sport is just like fishing. He counts the day successful if he catches a batch of big ones.

District round-up winners

By KATHRYN BURCH
County Extension Agent/H.E.
Martin-Glasscock Counties

Twenty-six 4-H'ers competed in the 4-H District Round-Up Contest this weekend in Alpine. This is the largest group of participants in nearly 20 years. A whole host of parents, coaches, grandparents, neighbors, friends and Extension agents accompanied the teams.

Martin County Senior Share-the-Fun team placed first and will be going on to State competition at A&M University in College Station the first week of June.

The eight member team did a take-off on a Glad Concert performance. Charles Wesley and Martin Luther often used the tunes from bar songs and changed the words to praise the Lord.

Using this idea they first sing the song as a German bar song. Next they sing it as a traditional hymn. From there the words remain similar and the tune is changed from country and western, to a 60's Beach Boys sound, to a rapping beat of the 80's.

Cemetery work day set May 21

Blocker urged everyone that had an interest in the cemetery to show up and lend a hand. He urged people to bring hoes, rakes, shovels and wheelbarrows. Plans are being made for a sandwich lunch.

Their presentation is called "We Praise Thee O God," and is a tribute to the Lord as well as entertaining. Their coach is Lou Smith.

Members of the team are: Sheri Williams, daughter of Don and Elizabeth Williams; Steven Yates, son of Dan and Pam Yates; Stacy Long, daughter of Lonnie and Carlene Long; Cheryl Stewart, daughter of Teddy and Clara Stewart; Sherry Johnson, daughter of Brad and Debbie Johnson; Shannon Koonce, daughter of Thadd and Cindy Koonce; Robby Wilson, son of Bob and Patricia Wilson; and Cade Robertson, son of Jim and Brenda Robertson.

Placing first, the junior Share-the-Fun team did a delightful take-off on Hee-Haw. Grandpa couldn't hear to read. The girls weren't going around spreading rumors. And all in all the pickin and grinnin was a good ole time. Their coach was Lou Smith.

Members of the team were: Patricia Melton, son of Debbie Melton; Misti Carder, daughter of Doug Carder; Jami Lewis, daughter of Jerry and Sharon Lewis; Sonja and Jason Hopper, daughter and son of Lance and Betty Hopper; Brittany Brown, daughter of David Brown and Kay Lynne Lucas; Ryan Webb, son of Jack and Brenda Webb; and Jeremy Louder, son of Johnny and Sandy Louder.

Jason Williams and Suzanne Ruth place first with their method demonstration on Repotting a Plant. Jason is the son of Don and Elizabeth Williams. Suzanne is the daughter of Dale and Patty Ruth.

Naomi Adams, daughter of Larry and Gina Adams, place first in the Consumer Life Skills Educational Activity. Her illustrated talk was on where should children keep their money.

Report cites positive aspects of red meat

By GREG JONES
County Extension Agent/Ag
Martin County

A recent report released by the National Academy of Sciences verifies that red meat provides a significant portion of nutrients in the diet.

It notes that the industry has had a "remarkably responsive" record in developing new products to meet demands of nutritionally aware consumers, says Greg Jones, Martin County Extension Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Called "Designing Foods," the report is the result of more than two years of review of national food supply statistics and dietary survey data.

The report shows that current government data overestimates the amount of fat consumed from red meat products. It adds that animal foods are contributing a decreasing proportion of total fat in the U.S. diet because of major strides taken by the meat industry to produce a leaner product.

Food supply and dietary survey data reported in the study indicate that fat from animal sources has decreased 22 percent while fat from vegetable sources has increased 64 percent. The report indicates that current food supply and diet survey data inaccurately overstate the amount of fat consumed, particularly fat of animal origin, since statistics are not adjusted for waste, spoilage, trimming or cooking losses.

Among committee recommendations are that the U.S. Department of Agriculture should play a more constructive role in promoting production and marketing of leaner meat and dairy products. Current U.S. meat grading policies, they said, "encourage the overfattening of beef and lamb."

The report also noted that separating the yield- and quality-grading procedures and allowing producers to remove fat after slaughter through "hot fat trimming" would be encouraging.

Other committee suggestions, include use of electronic equipment in grading, establishing voluntary guidelines on the use of labels such as "light" or "lean," and improving consumer information on fats and cholesterol.

The National Academy of Sciences report supports industry and individual cattlemen's action plans for the future, notes the National Cattlemen's Association.

FmHA office growing

The Farmers' Home Administration County Office has been relocated here, FmHA State Director J. Lynn Futch announced last week.

Loans previously serviced out of the Big Spring office for Howard, Glasscock, Midland and Upton counties have been combined with Martin County loans. The new headquarters office will be here in Stanton, Futch said.

Stanton's FmHA sub-office will now become a full-time office, serving Martin, Howard, Glasscock, Midland, Upton, Ector, Ward, Loving, Crane and Winkler counties.

The Stanton County office headquarters will remain in District 12 with headquarters in Pecos.

Futch said individual loan customers will not be affected by the move, which means that the Stanton office will be open full-time while the Big Spring Howard County office will operate during designated hours.

Big Spring hours will be 8 a.m. through noon Wednesdays in the County Commissioners Courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse, Futch said. Stanton's office will be located at 103 East Broadway, open 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The telephone number (915) 756-3308 and the address is P.O. Box 748, Stanton, Texas, 79782-0748.

FmHA is a lending agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture that makes loans available to farmers, rural and small-town people and groups, including local governments, unable to secure credit elsewhere. The loans are used for housing, agriculture purposes and a variety of community facilities, Futch said.

Ronnal E. Bruton, county supervisor, and his staff will continue to serve the county office, Futch said.

Farmers to gain refund for some full expenses

Forget here and now, this is a matter of here and then. If you were a farmer in the 1970's you're entitled to a refund for some of your fuel expenses. But you have to act before June 30, reports Greg Jones, Martin county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The refund is a result of a settlement reached by the Dept. of Energy with oil companies.

Consequently, farmers can get back about $80 or more for every 100,000 gallons of fuel used between Aug. 19, and Jan. 27, 1981, says Jones. That equates to a little over $14 for every 100 acres of cropland

Clothing Construction program will give you this opportunity. The training is free, but cost you the pledge to share the skills you learn with others.

The class will be May 16-20 at the Midland County Extension office. Upon of the course you will be certified Clothing Construction Master Volunteer.

For more information and registrations in the class, call the county Extension office (756-3316) today.

in production during the seven-and-a-half-year period, according to economists with the extension service.

Jones notes that this refund should not be confused with the income tax credit for federal excise taxes on fuel.

The Department of Energy will base refunds on actual gallons purchased, estimated gallons used or a USDA estimate of 23.8 gallons per acre of cropland per year. An explanation of filing procedures for the refund and a simple two-page filing form can be obtained from Jones at the Howard County Extension Office.

Mid-year crop, livestock reporting begins June 1

Beginning June 1, representatives from the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service will be contacting farmers and ranchers across the state to help set the 1988 planted acreage estimates and mid-year livestock inventories.

"These surveys are very important this year because they will be the first measure of the impact of the changes in the 1988 national farm program," state statistician Dennis Findley explained. "Information from these surveys will provide Texas producers with solid facts and figures they can use when making their production and marketing plans in light of these changes."

Individual reports will be combined with other reports to set state estimates. Results of the confidential interviews, conducted by telephone or in person by field enumerators, will be published later this summer.

The 1988 acreage forecast will be published July 12, and the mid-year cattle inventory will be published July 29.

Campus Improvement plan adopted by panel

The final 1987-88 Stanton Jr. High Campus Planning meeting was held Thursday, April 28, at 9:15 a.m. This meeting was used to adopt a final Campus Improvement Plan which will be implemented by the beginning of the 1988-1989 school year. This plan is focused primarily on improving student performance in junior high.

The 1988 teams scores were also reviewed and compared to 1986 and 1987 scores. A definite improvement can be seen each year in the majority of areas. A graph was presented to show the actual rise in percentage in the different areas of math, reading, and writing.

The committee agreed to provide all campus teachers with a copy of the plan so everyone can work together to improve student performance.

Before the meeting adjourned, it was decided the next meeting would be held after the objective evaluation period next year.

Sonny Garza, Second-Class Lineman, was uninjured when Truck #37, which he was driving, rolled into a ditch after a blow-out on April 22. The truck is a two and one-half ton Polecat. Garza was alone in the vehicle. The blow-out resulted in a tear approximately five inches long in the rubber of the front right tire.

The blow-out caused the truck to veer off the right side of the roadway, where it encountered loose sand and rolled over one and a half times.

Garza was traveling north on U.S. 87 north of Big Spring when the accident occurred. He was on his way to join a construction crew already in Vealmoor. When the truck rolled, it struck one of Cap Rock's service poles, breaking the pole off.

Cap Rock Electric employees put in extensive highway miles traveling the roadways of the 13-county service area while maintaining lines, constructing lines or checking lines. Last year, the Cap Rock Electric vehicle fleet traveled over a million miles in performing the various jobs of the Co-Op.

Sonny Garza has been employed by Cap Rock Electric for seven years. He has driven Truck #37, a 1980 Chevrolet, on his job for the past five years. The truck was due for replacement in the next few months and had already been traded in on a replacement vehicle when the accident occurred.

Odessa College to host track meet May 19-21

For the fourth consecutive year, Odessa College will host the National Junior College Athletic Association track meet May 19-21, at Ratliff Stadium in Odessa.

More than 1,000 individuals including athletes, coaches, spectators and recruiters are expected to come to Odessa for the meet, bringing approximately $300,000 to the city, according to Odessa Chamber of Commerce statistics.

Athletes from more than 20 states will compete in 41 men's and women's track and field events. In 1987, Blinn College in Brenham won the championship for themen, while San Jacinto Junior College in Pasadena, Texas, captured the title for the women. Previously, Odessa College won the men's championship six consecutive years, 1981-86.

For the men, Blinn College is favored to win again this year. Odessa College, Central Arizona College in Coolidge, Ariz., and South Plains College in Levelland are expected to compete for second.

Three teams are predicted to battle for the women's crown: San Jacinto Junior College, Barton County Junior College in Great Bend, Kan., and Eastern Oklahoma State in Wilburton, Okla. San Jacinto won the outdoor championship last year, and Barton County won the women's indoor meet this year.

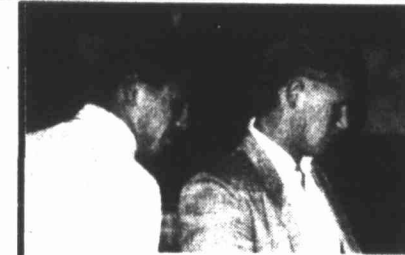

This national track meet draws top athletes from around the nation. In the 1987 meet, OC set a national record in the sprint relay — a record that also was best in the world at that time. Additionally, San Jacinto Junior College had the fastest world time in the 400 meters, and a Southern Idaho College high jumper cleared 7 feet, 5 inches. Two years ago, four long jumpers leaped more than 27 feet. They were from OC, Southwest Michigan Junior College, Central Arizona College and Barton County Junior College.

Tickets for the meet will be on sale May 19-21, at the west end of Ratliff Stadium. On Thursday, May 19, students will be admitted free and adult tickets will cost $2. Tickets for Friday and Saturday events will be $3 for adults and $1 for students and senior citizens. Gates open at 7 a.m. Thursday and Friday, and at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Open throwing events including shot put, discus, javelin and hammer, and the 3,000-meter steeplechase will be conducted at the Odessa College track. Admission is free for these events.

The rights of the taxpayers

Most fair-minded Americans have no objections to paying their rightful share of taxes. But the very least they are entitled to in return is helpful, courteous treatment from officials of the Internal Revenue Service.

All too often, that is not the case. By no means can all IRS officials be accused of officious or offhand treatment of the taxpayers, but the many documented cases of abusive and arrogant behavior suffice for serious concern.

It seems odd that the American people should have to be protected from their own bullying civil servants, but that is what is being offered in The Omnibus Taxpayers' Bill of Rights Act, which was approved by the Senate Finance Committee on March 18.

This bill, introduced by Democratic Sen. David Pryor of Arkansas, gives taxpayers certain specific rights regarding their dealings with the IRS:

- It would give the IRS ombudsman power to halt illegal or unwarranted seizures of property or money. It would also allow taxpayers to recover damages when the IRS carelessly, recklessly or intentionally disregards any law or regulation.

- Other provisions would require the IRS to wait 30 days, instead of 10, to receive a tax payment before seizure actions and prohibit IRS supervisors from promoting or rewarding IRS personnel on the basis of sums collected from taxpayers.

- And last but not least, the bill requires that penalties be waived in cases where a taxpayer relies on incorrect written advice from the IRS.

The National Taxpayers Union, which endorses the Taxpayers' Bill of Rights, admits that taxes are collected "in a civilized manner" most of the time, but asserts nevertheless that the IRS has a long history of negligent disregard for taxpayers' rights.

The Taxpayers' Bill of Rights Act is designed to curb the excess zeal of a minority of IRS officials and to insert some checks and balances into the business of tax collection.

Such safeguards are long overdue and deserve the full support of the House. In passing this bill, Congress would instruct the IRS that it is the servant and not the master of the taxpayer. It would remove some of the bitterness from the tax pill.

The 'w' word weighty in '88

When Walter Mondale chose Geraldine Ferraro as his Democratic vice-presidential running mate in 1984, feminists hailed the move as a victory for women. But ever since President Reagan handily trounced the Mondale-Ferraro ticket, Democratic insiders have had to wrestle with the fallout from the "Ferraro effect."

Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., complains that some in the party's male leadership blame Ferraro for dragging Mondale down. Not so, she says. In her view, Mondale lost for other reasons — and wasted whatever advantage a female running mate might have conferred, because he and Ferraro didn't address women's issues.

In this presidential election, Democratic women are still seen, but not addressed, on the campaign trail. For the Texas caucuses, Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis' campaign went to the trouble of naming a female co-chair in every congressional district. Yet, in his stump speeches, he rarely, if ever, talked directly about women and their concerns.

"You can't get a candidate to say the 'w' word," says Schroeder.

At some point, that must change. Women play too important a role in both parties for them to be taken for granted. Their numbers alone make them a force to be reckoned with. This year, female registered voters in this country outnumber their male counterparts by 10 million, according to the National Women's Political Caucus.

Moreover, women voters are now credited with supplying the victory margin for nine Democratic senators two years ago — an election that returned control of the U.S. Senate to the Democrats.

True, women voters don't form a single-interest group. Yet, many of them have an abiding interest in how presidential candidates feel about social issues such as school lunch programs, child care, family-leave policies or civil-rights enforcement.

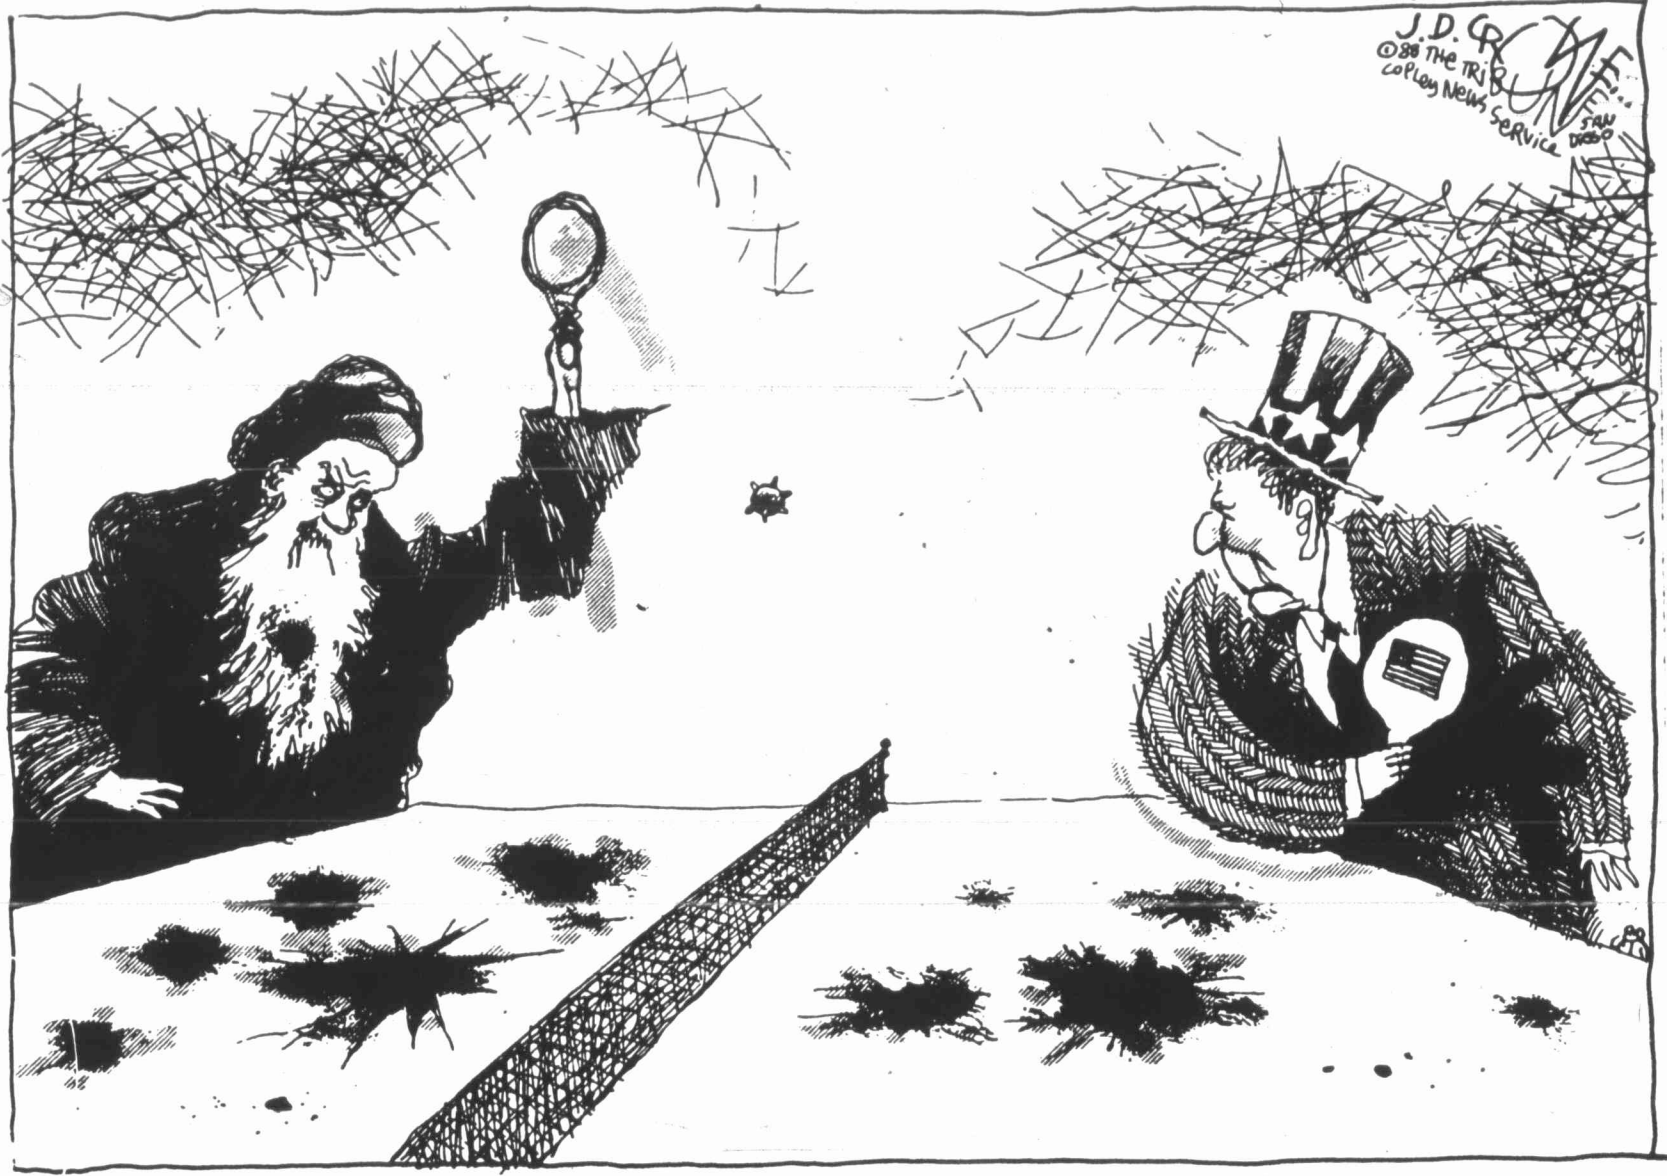

No, the "w" word isn't the political kiss of death. On the contrary, a candidate might help his chances by addressing women voters. The 1986 elections indicate that women will be heard at the ballot box.

Long and short of it all

I'm beginning to feel I'm being beaten down literally by life.

EVERYONE has heard that he is slightly shorter at the end of the day than in the morning. Right? It has to do with stretching out while you are asleep, and contracting during your active hours.

(I concede that explanation will never get you through medical school, but you'd make a lousy doctor anyway.)

It may be necessary to do a little research on whether this shrinkage increases with age. (Not that I'm old — even if I do remember Stan Kenton.)

I've noticed I have to raise the rear view mirror in my car each morning, and lower it at night.

Maybe it's the car that's getting old.

"COULD YOU GO TO AN ORGY, get drunk and still write a lively, funny and factual story about it the next morning?"

It goes on in that vein. It's seeking a swinging reporter for a swinging publication which describes itself as "the west coast's first and only sex review."

But going back to the eye-catching original sentence — if the answer is "Yes," you weren't really orgying at all, were you?

Or do I have an exaggerated idea of orgying?

Special ed committee adds Stanton graduate

Deborah H. Louder, of McAllen, Special Education Staff Person from Regional 1 Education Service Center has been nominated and approved by the State Board of Education to the State continuing Advisory Committee for Special Education. She will be serving a three year term with 16 other representatives from around the state.

The Continuing Advisory committee for Special Education was established in 1970 by the Sixty First Legislature. The enactment of Public Law 94-142, The Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975 redefined the role as specified by federal regulation to include those who are involved and concerned with education of exceptional students.

The Committee shall have representation from parents of handicapped individuals, teachers of handicapped children, state and local education officials and special education program administrators, the purpose of the committee as specified by federal regulations are to: (1) review the current status of special education, (2) identify unmet needs, (3) commit on rules proposed by the state and the procedures for distribution of federal funds, and (4) assist in developing and reporting information and evaluations.

Ms. Louder (Debbie) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hazlewood, Jr. of Stanton. She was a graduate in 1970 from Stanton High School. She graduated from McMurry College, Abilene in 1973 with a degree in Elementary Education and Certification in Special Education. She received her Masters Degree from Pan American University, Edinburg in Guidance and Counseling.

Debbie is married to Stanley Louder, also a 1970 Stanton High School graduate and they have one son, Justin.

Door to door crusade nets $1,100

The American Cancer Society's annual Door to Door Crusade got off to a whirlwind start May 3 in Stanton thanks to 29 volunteers passing out over 300 of educational pamphlets and generous residents for contributing over $1,100.

The Chamber of Commerce in Stanton has offered their facility at the Old Jail as a place to contact for information (756-3386), publications or to leave contributions for those who were missed Tuesday evening.

Gloomy statistics show cancer causes one out of five deaths in the United States; it kills more children ages 3 to 14 than any other cause; almost half a million Americans will die of it this year.

Good news is that young people are very concerned with cancer and are volunteering to help inform their community.

High School students volunteering their time again this year were: Patricia Gillum, Brent Swink, Shannon Koonce, Sheri Williams and Jana Heideberg. Joining them in giving of their valuable time were Christian Woodruff, Carlos Ortiz, Courtney Duke, Ernestina Hinojosa, Lydia Flores, Heath Colburn, Reggie Franklin, Stacy Long, Stacy Tollison, Shawan Dennis and Carol Smith.

Coach Wilma Stirl was caught up in their enthusiasm and walked several blocks with the students.

Of the more than 5 million Americans alive today who have a history of cancer, 3 million are considered cured. With advanced diagnostic procedures and treatment, more forms of cancer are being controlled.

This is due to some pretty tired returning volunteers like: Bernice Jenkins, Mary Ramos, Clea

Barber, Rosie Young, Bonnie Franklin, Gerry Yardley and Gladys Edmond. They know that their effort along with new workers like Pam Tollison, Kathryn Burch and Grace Glaspie that big odds can be overcome. The odds today are that one in 10 people in the U.S. will have cancer.

Katie Hughes, Crusade Chairman, issued a statement commending all the volunteers and the contributors. Mrs. Hughes stated that with the development of new technology, together we can win the battle against cancer.

Oil/Gas

MARTIN COUNTY
No. 1 R.K. Argo, WC, 12,000-ft. proj TD, five mine Tarzan, T&P Sy, Sect 10 Block 36, RK Petroleum, Midland, oprtr.

Flowing 177 barrels of 42-gravity crude per day, the No. 2 R.K. Glass has been completed at a wildcat drillsite in Martin County, 12 miles southwest of Tarzan.

RK Petroleum Inc. of Midland is the operator.
Located in the T&P Survey Section 21,

Block 38, the well was gauged on a 10/64 choke. It also made 33,600 CF casinghead gas daily. Production will be from a set of Silurian perforations, 12,087 to 12,112 feet into the hole.

Plug-and-abandon orders have been issued for the No. 4-48-Davis, an ill-fated developmental well in Martin County's Perrinville Field, six miles south of Ackerly. With Rosewood Resources of Midland as the operator.

Voters OK horse racing

Weekend voting made winners out of horse racing and pari-mutuel betting in Dallas and Lubbock counties while the small city of Crystal Beach elected three councilmen who promised to wipe the town off the map.

In unofficial returns from all precincts, Dallas County voters approved pari-mutuel betting 42,198 to 32,830, or 56 percent to 44 percent.

Lubbock County voters approved pari-mutuel 18,939, or 52 percent, to 17,541, or 48 percent in complete returns Saturday.

In Melvin, a West Texas town of 202 people, Florence and Nestor Perez, both Republicans, faced each other on the ballot but were defeated by write-in candidate J.T. Sparks, the incumbent Democratic mayor.

Sparks, a rancher who changed his mind about running after the filing deadline, got 28 votes, while Florence Perez received 27 and Nestor Perez, 7.

In Crystal Beach, a sleepy Gulf Coast town of about 1,000 people, J.M. Tatum, Kyle Bryan and Leon Gaspard were elected aldermen. The city voted to disincorporate in April 1987, but the vote was overturned in state district court because election laws were violated.

Disincorporation forces have appealed the decision, and a final ruling is pending before a State Appeals Court in Houston.

Tatum says the new aldermen hope they don't have to serve too long before the city goes back under the jurisdiction of Galveston County.

But Crystal Beach Mayor Bill Kelsey, a strong opponent of disincorporation, says he wants the new council members work to work at making the city better.

The Lubbock racing vote was a reversal of last November's election, when pari-mutuel won statewide despite a negative vote in the West Texas county.

A leader of the anti-gambling forces said more money and stronger campaigning probably wouldn't have turned the tide.

"If we had been more visible it would just have increased the turnout," said Sue Cox, executive director of Texans Who Care, adding that greater numbers would probably work in favor of pro-gambling efforts.

Also in Dallas, voters approved by a more than 2-to-1 margin a proposal to build a 12-story jail tower.

Dozen local piano pupils candidates for membership

Twelve local piano pupils from the Class of Mrs. John Mason of Stanton have registered as candidates for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, Teacher Division of The American College of Musicians, of which their teacher is a member.

This group of young piano hobbyists will play in the National Piano Playing Auditions, St. Lukes Methodist Church, Midland and strive for pledges, local, district, state, national or even International honors which the Mother organization will confer according to the number of standard classic, romantic and modern pieces chosen from the Masters of pianoforte literature each student can creditably perform in the presence of an imported examiner of note from another state.

From coast to coast over 105,464 enthusiastic piano pupils of the nation will participate in this annual national piano-playing event being held in 770 music centers of the country and every entrant worth his salt will be certificated, given a gold or bronze embossed pin, a year's Membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Piano Hobbyists of the World.

Begun at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, in 1929, national headquarters are still maintained in Texas, where rules and regulations are available on request free of charge by addressing Piano Guild, Box 1807, Austin, Texas 78764.

The names of the local entrants, pupils of Phyllis Mason are: Milanda Cannon, Jaclyn Chandler, Laci Chandler, Courtney Epley, Kassie Graves

Stacy Graves, Laura Herm, Karla Hull, Jeremy Louder, Ashley Miller, Stephanie Wilson and Kristen Wyckoff.

REPLACE YOUR OLD AIR CONDITIONER WITH THE HOTTEST THING IN HEATING AND COOLING:

It's the "hottest" thing because it's so versatile and energy efficient. The heat pump not only cools the home in summer, it also heats it in the winter.

Plus, a heat pump costs less to operate than any other heating system. Even a gas furnace. And that means lower energy bills for you each month.

Ask your dealer about the all-in-one comfort center: the amazing heat pump. Or if you're looking for a new home, look for an Energy Action home with a heat pump.

$5.88 million highway program gets under way

The Highway District's $5.88 million Highway Safety and Betterment Program got under way Monday, May 2, according to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

The program consists of seal coating 609 miles of highways in the District's 12 county area. Seal coating a highway consists of applying a layer of liquid asphalt to the existing roadway, followed by a coating of fine rock chips which sink into the asphalt. The process seals cracks in the roadway surface, retards the formation of potholes, and provides more skid resistance for vehicles.

The program will consist of two contracts this year. The first contract which will include Terrell, Pecos, Crane, Ward, Reeves, and Loving Counties in the southwestern portion of District 6 will be handled by Caprock Highway Construction Company of Lubbock, at a cost of $1.7 million.

The second contract to include Andrews, Martin, Midland, Ector, Winkler, Ward, Crane, and Upton Counties in the northeastern portion of District 6 went to Wagner and Sons Paving Company of San Antonio, at a cost of $1.83 million.

The remainder of the $5.88 million cost is in material already stockpiled on the roadways. The Seal Coat Program is funded entirely by the State.

"Slower speed zones will not be posted in construction areas," said Tom Schlegel, Resident Engineer in charge of the projects; "However, we do ask that traffic slow down to prevent damage to windshields."

Tom Schlegel can be contacted at 3901 East Highway 80, Odessa, Texas 79761, and at telephone number 915-332-0501.

Chamber Chatter

By GERRY YARDLEY

Say, did you get to participate in "Martin County Night" at the Midland Angels baseball games last week? We went to both games, enjoyed seeing the Angels win, and waving hello and chatting with neighbors. And Friday evening on the sports news we even saw some familiar faces on local TV — WOW! Hope a lot more Martin Countians can participate next year!

Gee, things are humming around Martin County. Schools nearly out, college kids will be coming home this week-end for the summer, some hunting jobs, VBS will be on some Church calendars so lots of youngsters will be out and busy.

Your Chamber is in favor of "shopping at home" so let's all remember that as we go through the summer. Local merchants are here to help us so let's help them whenever we can. Which reminds me..... have you eaten at the new Pizza place or Bonnie's? I hear the food is good, good, good!

Yea, SHS tracksters and golfers! Go! Play! Win!

It is not too early to be thinking of Old Settlers Reunion scheduled July 9. Class reunions are already on tap, folks are already calling the office to confirm the date, a street dance and contest are in the planning, so plan to be here!

Producers reminded to return census forms

By GREG JONES
County Extension Agent/Ag
Martin County

Farmers and ranchers who have not completed their 1987 Census of Agriculture report forms are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Although the February 1 deadline has passed, and the most farmers and ranchers already have sent in their forms, others who may have set theirs aside are asked to complete and return them, reminds Greg Jones, Martin County Extension Agent.

The status of agriculture in the nation's 3,100 counties cannot be determined until all the census report forms are in. While most reports are already in, the remainder must be received before a state can begin tabulating results.

The Agriculture Census has been taken every five years since 1840. The results from the census are studied by farmers, farm organizations, agribusinesses, farm magazines and government officials to aid in future agricultural planning. Here are some examples of how the agriculture census aids in planning:

- Pinpointing long-term trends based on census data collected over a number of decades.

- Allocating funds for national farm programs, including USDA's Agricultural Extension Services.

- Helping agribusinesses develop sales territories and plans for marketing commodities such as fertilizer, seed and equipment.

- Helping Congress and state legislators evaluate the effects of potential changes in farm legislation.

- Assessing patterns in water use and irrigation to determine resource and management needs.

The reports are confidential by law and will be used for statistical purposes only.

Results from 1987 Census of Agriculture will be available through the U.S. Government Printing Office beginning in the fall. Results will also be available at many universities, libraries and State Data Centers.

Elementary campus panel talking communications

Principal Jim White began the meeting of the elementary campus committee by passing out copies to each committee member of a tentative elementary campus plan.

The committee read over and discussed the plan to improve communication in three primary areas: between grade level teachers, between regular classroom teachers and teachers in the special programs, and between the elementary campus and the parents of our students.

The committee came up with a few suggestions to be added to the plan. These additions are to be made to the plan which will then be presented to the district committee for its consideration.

Members of the elementary campus committee include Jan Wallace, Jo Yater, Elaine Riddle, Diana Ferguson, Norman Wright, Anita Vest, Leatrice Brown, Ophelia Ruiz, Steve Herm, and White.

Businessbeat

By SARAH LUMAN
Business Writer

Overheard on the beat this week: Josie Paredez, manager of the Regis Hairstylists store in Big Spring Mall, recently won the second annual Regis Directors Award, an honor for customer service.

JOSIE PAREDEZ

STANTON — The Farmers' Home Administration County Office has been relocated here. FmHA State Director J. Lynn Futch announced this week.

Loans previously serviced out of the Big Spring office for Howard, Glasscock, Midland and Upton counties have been combined with Martin County loans. The new headquarters office will be in Stanton, Futch said.

Stanton's FmHA sub-office will now become a full-time office, serving Martin, Howard, Glasscock, Midland, Upton, Ector, Ward, Loving, Crane and Winkler counties.

The Stanton County office headquarters will remain in District 12 with headquarters in Pecos.

Futch said individual loan customers will not be affected by the move, which means that the Stanton office will be open full-time while the Big Spring Howard County office will operate during designated hours.

Big Spring hours will be 8 a.m. through noon Wednesdays in the County Commissioners Courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse, Futch said. Stanton's office will be located at 103 East Broadway, open 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The telephone number is (915) 756-3308 and the address is P.O. Box 748, Stanton, Texas, 79782-0748.

FmHA is a lending agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture that makes loans available to farmers, rural and small-town people and groups, including local governments, unable to secure credit elsewhere. The loans are used for housing, agriculture purposes and a variety of community facilities, Futch said.

Ronnie E. Bruton, county supervisor, and his staff will continue to serve the county office, Futch said.

Other topics will include selling services and products outside the oil patch, a focus on marketing, and a panel discussion, "The Future for Machinists in the Permian Basin: Where Do We Go From Here?"

Reservations for the $12.50 workshop — which includes lunch and materials — and further information can be obtained by telephoning (915) 367-2190.

A Hazardous Waste Management seminar has been scheduled for May 16-18 at the Sheraton Hotel-Mockingbird West in Dallas.

Sponsored by the American Institute of Hazardous Materials Management, the course offers 20 hours covering hazardous waste regulations under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, focusing on the generators of waste.

Chamber of Commerce executive vice president LeRoy Tillery asked me to remind you all that this is Small Business Week. Though local observances will be emphasized at the chamber's quarterly luncheon May 20, he said, it's worth remembering that most of Big Spring's firms are small businesses.

Own a machine shop? You might want to attend the workshop Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

"Expanding our Machining Business: New Dollars for the Permian Basin" is scheduled for the Devonian Room and will feature professional advice on improving shop performance, marketing specific products and services, reaching new markets and exchanging ideas about major issues in the machining business.

LIZ TAYLOR

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Liz Taylor is leaving her post with the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce's Convention and Visitors' Bureau for the position of director of tourism in Georgetown this month.

"It'll be the same job — with a different title and a different structure," Taylor said Friday. She began working for the Big Spring chamber in July 1986.

According to chamber executive vice president LeRoy Tillery, Taylor brought many innovative ideas to the post and her tenure has seen some significant changes in the bureau and in the cultural affairs and athletic committees, where she also serves as a staff member.

Taylor has represented Big Spring and the West Texas Travel Council at several travel shows, Tillery said.

Focus on family

- 6:00 p.m. — Depart Kerrville.
- 7:00 p.m. — Dinner in Junction.
- 10:30-11 p.m. — Arrive back in Big Spring.

Costs for the tour will be approximately $35.00 per person. This includes $20 for bus transportation, $5 for admittance to the fair and $10 for meals. Be sure to bring some extra money for purchasing things at the fair. Many handmade items will be available.

The tour is limited to 39 persons so make reservations as soon as possible. Deadline for reservations is May 20. Make reservations by mailing or bringing a check for $20.00 to the County Extension Office (first floor of the Howard County Courthouse, or Box 790, Big Spring, TX 79721). Make checks payable to Howard County Extension Homemakers. Because of the cost for the bus, we cannot make a reservation without the deposit.

Anyone may participate in the tour and children are welcome, but they must be accompanied by an adult and children must pay for a bus seat too. Participants are encouraged to wear comfortable clothing and walking shoes. The fair is conducted on a college campus along the banks of a creek so it will involve a great deal of walking. As this is the first week of June, it is likely to be hot — an umbrella is handy to provide protection from the sun.

The fair, now in its 17th year is a "Juried" show. This means that exhibitors must be accepted before they can set up a booth. They must submit samples of their art or craft and have it judged by a committee of artists/craftsmen to gain admittance as an exhibitor.

Hope you can join us. For more information, call the Howard County Extension Office at 267-8469.

Cruisin' to see Texas wildflowers

By TUMBLEWEED SMITH

One of the most unique ways to see Texas wildflowers in bloom is to take the Vanishing Texas River Cruise on the Colorado River. This attraction has been a success since it opened six years ago. The owners keep adding things like swimming cruises to Sand Island, photographic cruises, candlelight dinner cruises, etc.

The daily excursions depart at 11 a.m. and travel through some of the most beautiful country in Texas. High bluffs ablaze with wildflowers are spectacular and you get to see a waterfall or two. You can't see these sights any other way than by boat. It is a must for folks wanting to see something special.

You'll board the Texas Eagle, a 70-foot enclosed tour boat with restrooms and a galley that offers sandwiches and salads. You can feel the spray on your face when you stand on the bottom deck. If you prefer, you can hang around on the third floor observation deck that is open to the elements and provides a great place to take pictures.

The animals and birds you'll see on the hillsides are fascinating. Deer, turkey, goats, great blue herons, crested cormorants and kingfishers are but a few of the species I saw. Bald eagles winter here and are a common sight during the cold months.

The two-hour cruise takes passengers 14 miles up the Colorado. It leaves each day except Christmas and costs $12 for adults, $10 for students and seniors, $8 for children. The commentary by knowledgeable cruise directors is interesting and lively.

Reservations are required. The address is P.O. Box 901 Burnet, Texas, 78611. The phone number is 512 756-6986.

Bluebonnets peak around the Highland Lakes area between April 9 and 17. The cities of Marble Falls, Burnet, Lampasas, Llano, Buchanan Dam and Kingsland all have festivals during this period. Free maps are available showing roads with the most colorful displays.

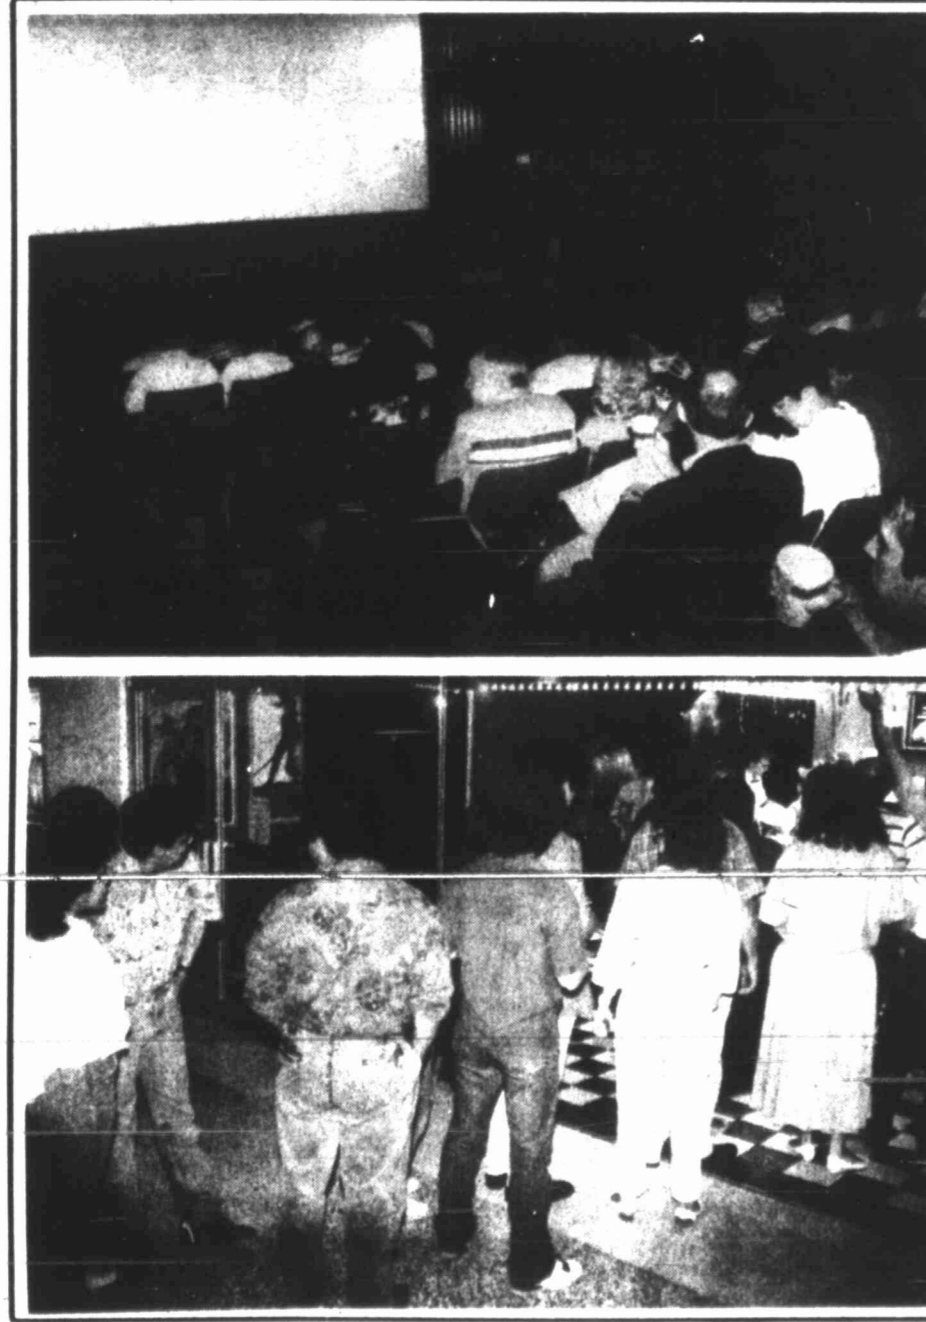

The Texas legislature has declared Llano and Burnet counties the Bluebonnet Capitol of Texas. And when the bluebonnets bloom, Indian paintbrush, verbena and gaillardia do, too. New England may be the most colorful place in the fall, but Texas is the most colorful place in the spring.

The National Wildflower Research Center in Austin provides taped phone messages from March to May telling callers that wildflower are blooming and where. The number is 512/929-3607.

Several Texans who live in Burnet and Llano counties are wildflower experts — and know the best spots to view them. Bill and Dolphina Bransford of Buchanan Dam is a man and wife team researching wildflowers for 25 years.

Bill retired from selling boats and motors when he was 49 years old. One day his wife asked him to go with her to take some pictures of wildflowers so she could identify them later. He did and has been hooked on wildflowers ever since. They travel in Texas and every other U.S. state photographing wildflowers.

New kid on block

Customers wait in line recently to see one of the movies showing at Big Spring's newest theater, Movies 4, in the bottom photo. The new movie house opened at Big Spring Mall April 28. At top, the crowd views one of the four cinemas offered by the theater.

Big Spring Steers third baseman Jason Phillips lets loose with a throw after catching a grounder during Saturday action against the Pecos Eagles at Steer Field. Pecos won 5-3.

Steers drop finale to Pecos Eagles

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ

11-3 tallies to represent the district as the runner-up team.

The Big Spring Steers played their hearts out and led most of the game, Saturday afternoon at Steer Field, but plagued by errors, they lost an exciting District 2-4A finale, 5-3 to Pecos, ending the Steers' season.

Leading through four complete innings and appearing as though the Steers were flirting with the 'Destiny of the Pecos Eagles'. The Birds had other ideas with three runs on four hits, one walk, and aided by two Big Spring errors overcame a 3-1 deficit, to take the lead 4-3.

Eagle pitcher Jim Workman went the complete game and recorded a tough win as he gave up four walks, struck out six, and allowed five hits. With that win, it forced the Monahans Lobos into a one-game playoff, (to be announced at a later date), with identical

With the start of the contest, Big Spring starter Freddie Rodriguez had no problem in putting away the first four batters, and the home team was ready to get their chance to bat.

The Steers took the lead on a triple by Mike Hilario, aided by a Pecos error Hilario scored on what one would call an inside the-park-home run.

The Steers again added to their lead after stalling the Pecos bats, in the second inning. Chris Crownover walked and Freddie Rodriguez doubled, scoring Crownover from second base.

Steer pitcher Rodriguez again put down the Eagles threat with leadoff Lou Cerna who doubled up the middle. Rene Rayos tried to bunt himself to first but was put out at first while advancing Cerna to third.

Tidbits

Delores Jones rubbed the nose of elephant statues at Bangkok's ancient royal palace on her recent three-week vacation to the Orient.

"Tradition has it that if you rub the statues, you'll be sure to return to Bangkok some day. I want to go back; it was wonderful."

Delores first flew to Seattle to visit former Big Spring residents, Myrtle and Walt Stoutenburg, in Yakima; then Delores and Myrtle took off to join a tour group.

In Bangkok, they toured the palace, watched Thai traditional dancers and visited the floating market where all the wares are sold from boats. In Singapore they sipped tea at a zoo with a real, live orangutan; and then went on to Hong Kong "where we shopped till we dropped."

Delores had been to Singapore in 1975 "when there were few multi-story buildings. This time, our hotel was 70 stories tall!" The visitors admired the abundance of fruit, interwoven with orchids, available at breakfast each day. What a surprise when they read the label on an apple: Washington State!

Suspect in death injured in accident

By ROBERT WERNSMAN
Managing Editor

AMARILLO — Former Big Spring police officer Dennis Dunn was in satisfactory condition in a hospital here Saturday night, after being injured in a one-vehicle accident Wednesday in the Panhandle.

The accident occurred 2.9 miles west of Lefors, a community of less than 1,000 eight miles southeast of Pampa.

Published reports Friday by the Pampa News indicated that Dunn was cited for driving while intoxicated after the incident in which his car was reported to have rolled three times.

According to the report from the Department of Public Service, Dunn was treated in the emergency room of the Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo and released on Wednesday night.

He was confirmed Saturday to have been admitted to the High Plains Baptist Hospital, although an employee refused to release any information about Dunn — at the request of his family — other than his satisfactory condition.

The former officer was charged April 12 with involuntary manslaughter in the shooting death of his wife.

He was suspended from the department after the shooting incident.

Police reports indicated that he transported his wife to Scenic Mountain Medical Center late April 11, where she was declared dead of a gunshot to the chest. The investigation was turned over to the Texas Rangers by Police Chief Joe Cook the following day.

Dunn was informed by certified letter April 27 from Cook that he had been discharged, effective April 26.

The official reason given for Dunn's discharge was failure to meet terms of his probationary period with the department.

The Walter Christensens

Walter and Suncha Christensen celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a reception April 23 at First United Methodist Church.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER CHRISTENSEN Celebrate 50th anniversary

Their children, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Christensen, Mt. Clemens, Mich., and Dr. and Mrs. Phillip W. Christensen, Salt Lake City, Utah, hosted the event.

The house party was composed of the members of the Couples Sunday School class, which the Christensens belong. Pianist Gail Legg played several pieces that were popular in the 30's such as: "This Can't Be Love", "Two Sleepy People" and many others.

Linda Lindell, pianist, presented a musical skit which included highlights in the lives of the Christensens. Thelma Carlile read the words and was accompanied by Carol Boyd and Suzanne Cranford in singing the songs selected to describe each event.

The main table, draped with a pure white Irish linen cloth with crochet motifs which Suncha made and was used on their wedding table 50 years ago.

Baskets of fresh flowers, arranged by Lucy Knox, decorated the guests tables.

Suncha is a native of Puerto Rico. She moved to Chicago where she met Walter in the Spring of 1937. They were married on April 23, 1938. In 1946 they moved to Puerto Rico and upon their retirement in 1978, they came to Big Spring to be near their son Phillip, who, at the time, was a psychologist at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Walter is an active member of the Evening Lion's Club and plays "Grampa" to the children of the Westside Day Care Center, while Suncha belongs to the Rosebud Garden Club, the Howard County Lioness Club and the Big Spring Symphony Guild. Both are supporters of the Big Spring Symphony Association.

"The people of Big Spring have been wonderful to us and we are very happy to be chose this community to establish our permanent home," they expressed.

Hawks finish regular season with sweep

RANGER — The Howard College Hawks advanced to the state tournament on a good note by sweeping the Ranger Rangers in a doubleheader in the regular season finale.

The sweep by the Region V champions prevented Ranger from getting into the state tournament. The Rangers had to win one of the games to reach the state tournament in Arlington.

Ranger finished region play tied with Northwood with a 11-13 record. But Northwood will advance because it won its series with Ranger. The number 18th ranked Hawks finish regular season play with an 18-6 region record and 44-12 overall mark.

HOWARD 15, RANGER 8
Randy Deal, Joey Camarillo and Darren Glenn made life miserable for Ranger pitchers in the opening game, combining for 11 RBI's.

Deal and Camrillo each had four runs batted in, and Glenn, drove in three runs.

John Medrick got the win for Howard in relief of Garth Buresh, who went two innings and allowed six runs on six hits. Medrick went three-and-a-third innings, allowed four hits and two runs. Greg Kroeger pitched the final inning for Howard.

In the second inning, with Ranger leading 3-0, Howard tied the game on a three-run homer by Camarillo. But the Rangers scored three more times in the bottom of the second to take a 6-3 advantage.

In the third Deal singled. Designated runner Ernie Sanchez scored on a double by Glenn. Camarillo hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Glenn. Howard trailed 6-5.

Howard took the lead with two runs in the fourth, thanks to a two-run shot by Deal.

In the sixth, Deal did the feat again, blasting a two-run homer.

Howard iced the game with six runs in the seventh inning. Paul Sphalski doubled, and scored on Jay Williams' double. Ernesto Castro was hit by a pitch and Jose Rubiera singled. Geraldo Camara singled, scoring Williams with Howard's 11th run of the game.

HOWARD 15, RANGER 10
The second contest was a game of homers as the Hawks hit seven round-trippers, and Ranger hit six.

Al Benavides went the distance for Howard, allowing 12 hits and fanning six. Benavides is Howard's leading winner, pushing his record to 12-2.

Ranger scored two runs in the first inning to take its only lead of the game.

Howard regained the lead by scoring three runs in the second.

Glenn led off with a homer and Kenny Frederick finished it off with a two-run shot.

In the third inning, Howard added a run when Glenn singled, and scored on a single by Frederick.

In the fourth, Williams and Castro hit back-to-back singles.

Rubiera reached base on a fielder's choice, scoring Williams with Howard's fifth run. Camara singled, and Glenn doubled, scoring Rubiera. Howard led 6-5.

The Hawks iced the game by scoring five times in the sixth. Rubiera singled and Camara followed with a homer. Glenn then singled, and Deal hit a homer. Allen followed with Howard's third homer of the inning, giving the Hawks a 11-7 lead.

In the seventh, Howard padded its lead by scoring four more times. Rubiera led off with a homer. Camara walked and Deal followed with a double. Allen's sacrifice fly scored Allen with Howard's 13th run of the game. Frederick then hit his second two-run homer of the game, ending the HC scoring. First baseman Frederick went three-for-five with five RBI's. Glenn went four-for-five with two RBI's. Deal, Camara and Allen all had two hits for the Hawks.

"It's good to end the regular season on a high note like this," said Howard assistant coach Greg Henry. "We hit the ball well and I think our pitchers did a pretty good job of keeping Ranger in the park. It's hard to do when it's only 290 feet down the right field line. A lot of those homers wouldn't have been homers in other parks."

The Hawks will play Navarro in the opening round of the state tournament in Arlington at 10 a.m. Thursday.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW Edited by Lea Whitehead

Hester & Robertson installs air conditioners, sprinklers

Although the first day of summer isn't until June 21, we've had a good preview — several days with temperatures in the 90's, combined with lower than average rainfall.

It looks like we're in for a long, hot dry spell, so homeowners and businesses would be well-advised to have their cooling systems in good working order. Or replaced if the systems are older and out-dated.

Hester & Robertson have two radio-dispatched service vehicles ready to give fast and efficient service, and all calls are usually worked the same day they are taken.

Parts are usually on the service truck, saving time and money for the customers.

Hester & Robertson also offer a free cooling survey and price estimates. "We measure the square footage of the home, check ductwork and insulation in order to give an estimate of the equipment, cost and improvements needed to improve your present unit's efficiency," says Carol Hollingsworth.

"If your cooling equipment needs replacement, we sell and service air conditioning units by Lennox, Carrier and Trane," Hollingsworth added. "Some of the new high efficiency models offer 10-year warranties on the compressors."

Remember, it's not only humans who suffer in the heat and drought — your lawn and shrubs will suffer, too. Hester & Robertson offers very competitive bids on lawn sprinkler systems, the sensible way to assure that your yard gets the moisture it needs.

Hester & Robertson also does residential and commercial plumbing, including whirlpool baths, septic and drain fields; and they sell and install State hot water heaters.

"Our work is guaranteed," says Hollingsworth. "We invite all our customers to compare our service and prices."

Phone Hester & Robertson at 263-8342 or stop by and see them on North Birdwell Lane.

READY TO GO — Robert Williams, service man for Hester & Robertson, is ready to answer a call in the company's radio-dispatched truck. With hot weather on its way, today is not too soon for homeowners and businesses to have cooling systems checked.
