Forecast for the Big Spring area: There is a chance of isolated afternoon and evening thunderstorms through Friday in the Permian Basin, a few possibly severe. The highs today will be in the middle 80s. The lows tonight will be in the middle 50s. The highs Friday will be in the middle 80s.

Savings and loan fund deficit doubles

Congressional help may be needed

By DAVE SKIDMORE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The deficit in the fund that insures deposits in the nation's savings institutions more than doubled last year and congressional action "may well be needed" to keep it operating, the General Accounting Office said today.

"The GAO, the auditing arm of Congress, said the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp.'s liabilities exceeded its assets at the end of 1987 by $13.7 billion, up from the deficit of $6.3 billion a year earlier.

In testimony prepared for the Senate Banking Committee, the GAO said the fund, which guarantees individual deposits up to $100,000 in 3,120 S&Ls, was in "precarious financial condition."

It said the money available to the fund "probably will not be adequate" to resolve the problems of the nation's 505 insolvent institutions.

"While FSLIC has the resources to continue operating in the near future, it may not have sufficient resources to effectively deal with the industry's current and future problems," Frederick D. Wolf, director of the GAO's accounting and financial management division, said in the testimony.

Replying to the GAO, M. Danny Wall, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which regulates federally insured S&Ls, said the deficit does not mean the insurance fund lacks cash to deal with current problems. He said it has $4 billion and S&L customers

"should be assured their deposits are fully insured."

Wall said the fact that FSLIC may need more money down the road "comes as a surprise to no one." But he added, "The thing I'm sensitive to is that there not be any kind of unnecessary concern in the time sense. We clearly have significant amounts of resources available to deal with (the worst 200 institutions.) After that, you get into predicting the future."

The GAO report comes only nine months after Congress authorized the sale of $10.8 billion in bonds over three years to bring the fund enough money to clean up the ailing industry, which has been hard hit by the bust of oil and real estate markets in the Southwest.

"We believe that further congressional action, beyond that already taken, ... may well be needed to enable (the fund) to continue to meet its obligations and provide the deposit insurance it is mandated to provide," the accounting office said.

Although Wolf did not explicitly say a taxpayer bailout will be required, he said "it appears unlikely that the industry would have the resources to provide such funding."

Officials of the bank board expect the bond sales, the premium fees it charges institutions and the proceeds from selling the assets of closed institutions to provide about $20 billion over the next three years and $28 billion over 10 years.

However, Wolf said, "We view FSLIC page 3-A

Board debates disability issue

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

A question as to whether out-going Big Spring Fire Chief Carl Dorton fits the technical definition of a firefighter has delayed his application for disability retirement from the department.

Dorton filed the application with the Big Spring Firemen's Relief and Retirement Fund about two weeks ago based on previous back surgeries he has undergone, he said Wednesday.

"There were several persons in the department whose fitness I questioned," he said, "and here I have a physical injury. What right do I have to question their injury when I have a problem as bad or worse?"

"I can't handle the rigorous activity required by my position," he added. "I just can't fight fires."

Dorton announced his resignation from the department on April 27, with an effective date of June 1. He said at that time he would pursue employment in other areas.

Dorton said he has been recently awarded a 25 percent work disability, and is restricted from lifting heavy objects.

His application has been delayed because of the question as to whether the chief fits the definition of a firefighter, said City Finance Director Tom Ferguson — who is secretary/treasurer of the retirement fund board of directors.

The board will make the final determination on the fire chief's request.

"There is some question as to what (Dorton's) duties would be, and whether he could perform those duties," Ferguson said today. The board also is awaiting background medical information on Dorton's back surgeries before making a final determination, he added.

Each firefighter has the right to file for disability and need "only be disabled to the extent of being unable to perform the duties of his occupation to be entitled" to a disability retirement, according to information released by the department.

The board — which met last week — consists of local firefighters Nolan Beal, Paul Brown and Steve Hedges, along with Ferguson, Mayor Cotton Mize, retired fire chief Alvie Harrison and State National Bank vice president M.Y. Butler.

Beal is chairman and Brown vice chairman of the board.

Created by the state legislature, the fund allows firefighters to create their own retirement and disability system — separate from the city or other agencies, Dorton said.

"The only thing the city has to do with it is that the mayor's on the board, as well as the city finance director," he said.

First funerals set for bus crash victims

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

RADCLIFF, Ky. — The state observed an official day of mourning today, as grief-stricken friends and families gathered to bid farewell to five of the 27 victims of one of nation's worst bus crashes. One funeral will be in Texas.

The first funerals for crash victims were set for today for four girls who attended Radcliff Middle School: Mary Catherine Daniels, 14; Julie Ann Earnest, 12; Denise Ellen Voglund, 13, and Amy Wheelock, 14. A fifth, 14-year-old Tina Michelle Mustain, was to be buried in Tyler, Texas.

Flags across Kentucky flew at half-staff to honor the memory of the 24 children and three adults killed Saturday night when their bus was struck head-on by a pickup truck heading in the wrong direction on Interstate 71.

"If it were possible to turn back the clock, we would," Gov. Wallace Wilkinson said Wednesday in declaring today's official day of mourning. "Whatever consolation we can give will never make up for the loss of friends and loved ones."

A memorial service for all 27 victims was planned for tonight at North Hardin High School in Radcliff. Most of the other funerals were scheduled for Friday.

Although fatal bus crashes also occurred this week in Cleveland and New York state, a deputy administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration said today that school buses are remarkably safe.

Jeff Miller, on CBS' "This Morning," said that the Saturday crash "was no accident. This was a crash and this was caused by a drunk driver."

"Out of 46,000 fatalities on our highways every year, less than 100 even involve school buses," Miller said. "It's the safest form of transportation. We've got 350,000 school buses on our highways, the transport 21 million kids to school every day and they've done an extraordinarily good job."

The Kentucky crash involved a converted school bus carrying members of a church group from an amusement park near Cincinnati. Most of the victims

On the campaign trail

By LAURA KING
AP Writer

Democratic presidential contender Jesse Jackson suggested that racist comments by "irresponsible public leaders" helped create the climate for an alleged assassination plot against him. Republican George Bush, meanwhile, sought to distance himself from President Reagan on Panama's Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

The presidential candidates were campaigning on both coasts — in California and New Jersey — as they headed into the final round of primary contests next month.

Michael Dukakis, the Democratic front-runner, is working to secure the Democratic nomination in the final four June 7 primaries. He expressed hopes Wednesday for a calm Democratic convention this summer, even as Jackson was renewing his objections to the party delegate-selection process.

Jackson, campaigning in Fresno, Calif., was asked about this week's arrest of a St. Louis couple accused of plotting to kill him. Londell Williams and his wife, Tammy, were also charged with threatening an informant and possessing an automatic rifle. Jackson initially downplayed word of the arrests, saying, "I cannot just focus on the two people arrested in St. Louis."

But later he told reporters: "The climate for this kind of antagonism and violence, of course, has been set by many irresponsible public leaders (whose) attacks based on race have set a divisive and dangerous climate, such as the one ... in New York in April, for example."

Jackson was apparently referring to comments by New York City Mayor Ed Koch during the New York primary campaign last month. Koch said, among other things, that Jews would be "crazy" to vote for Jackson.

Jackson met privately Wednesday with nearly three dozen rabbis and Jewish leaders in Los Angeles, in what he described as a "step toward healing the wounds." Many Jews were offended by Jackson's 1984 reference to New York as "Hymietown" and his association with Muslim leader Louis Farrakhan.

A dozen demonstrators outside the Hollywood hotel where the session was being held chanted "Lose, Jesse, lose" and "Jew hater."

Jackson was campaigning in California again today.

Bush, who concluded a seven-day West Coast campaign swing, made an anti-drug message his central theme Wednesday.

Campaigning in Los Angeles, he said that as president, he wouldn't "bargain with drug dealers ... whether they are on U.S. or foreign soil."

But he repeatedly refused to state his views directly on the administration's attempts to cut a deal with Noriega, who is under indictment on drug charges. In fact, he didn't even mention Noriega's name.

Rain in county totals half inch

HERALD STAFF REPORT

An overnight rain shower dropped nearly half an inch of rain on some parts of Howard County Wednesday evening.

The U.S. Agricultural Research Station north of Big Spring reported .47 inch of rain Wednesday, to bring the year-to-date total to 2.77 inches, a spokeswoman said today.

The rain provided some extra insurance for area farmers who have been busily planting their crops, County Extension Agent Don Richardson said.

"They have been (planting) all week," he said, "but more rain was needed."

Farmers who have planted must now be on the watch for excess soil being deposited on top of seeds. If this occurs, planters will have to "scratch" their fields — a process by which excess soil is removed, Richardson added.

Rainfall reports varied between .25 and .45 inch elsewhere in the county.

Boyce Hale reported .34 inch at his Sterling City Route residence south of Big Spring. That amount brings his yearly total to 5.06 inches, he said.

About 45 inch of rain were received at the Larry Shaw ranch north of Knott, bringing his yearly total to 4.1 inches.

In Big Spring, Tommy Hart, 1750 Purdue Ave., reported .25 inch of rain, while Red Thomas, 107 E. 13th St., received .4 inch.

Joe Pickle, secretary/treasurer of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, reported the following rainfall totals from district stations:

- Lake Spence — .3 inch.
- Moss Lake — .1 inch.

Chef conducts surgery — in hospital's kitchen

By BRIAN MURPHY
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON — The chief chef at a popular seafood restaurant chain returned to the hospital where he had been a patient recently to perform some corrective surgery of his own. In the kitchen.

As the specialist he is, Jean-Jacques Paimblanc supervised a well-scrubbed staff of more than 100 at Beth Israel Hospital.

A few watched as he made an incision into a cooked fish.

"Perfect," said Paimblanc, of Legal Sea Food's restaurants. "It should taste moist, but not too soft. This is good."

For Wednesday's lunch and dinner, Paimblanc and two Legal Sea Food employees oversaw preparation of 1,400 meals for patients and staff at the 460-bed hospital.

"It just takes a little attention to make good, fresh meals," said Paimblanc. "Hospitals serve fish sticks when they could get in fresh fish. They serve frozen vegetables when they could buy presliced fresh vegetables. It doesn't take much to make a much better meal."

The items on the menu were identical to those served at Legal Sea Food's six Massachusetts restaurants, including the fish chowder included at President Reagan's inaugural dinner in January 1981.

Paimblanc added a newly created low-calorie clam chowder with clams and vegetables.

"With all the studies talking about the benefits of fish and fish oils on health, it seems like hospitals should be taking a closer look at their meals," Paimblanc said.

"We'll put the hospitals out of business if people keep eating like this."

Paimblanc, 54, was recovering from a mild infection 18 months ago when he wandered into the Beth Israel kitchen bored by his meals. He suggested trying his hand at preparing the hospital's food for a day.

During a break in preparing the fish and stirring the chowder, Paimblanc took time out for his own lunch.

'Nice person' rams two dozen vehicles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A truck driver, described as a nice person and a good driver, allegedly rams more than two dozen vehicles during a 40-mile freeway rampage, but miraculously caused only minor injuries, authorities said.

The driver of the 18-wheel rig, identified as Charley Tom Lee Jr., 25, of Haltom City, Texas, was taken into custody about 4 p.m. Wednesday when his truck's brakes locked on a stretch of the Hollywood Freeway, about seven miles west of downtown.

Several California Highway Patrol officers forced him out of the cab at gunpoint and wrestled him to the ground, witnesses said.

Lee allegedly told police after his arrest, "Those people who would get out of my way, I wouldn't hit. But if they wouldn't get out of my way, I would hit them," said CHP Officer Bruce Hanson.

No one involved in the crashes was hospitalized, said CHP Officer Shirley Gaines. "We had three people complain of pain," she said.

A loaded derringer pistol, drug paraphernalia, a partly smoked marijuana cigarette and a small quantity of unknown narcotics were found in the cab, officers said.

The driver was arrested for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon — his truck, said CHP spokesman Mike Maas. He was also arrested for investigation of possessing narcotics, evading arrest, reckless driving and possessing a concealed, loaded

LOS ANGELES — California Highway Patrol officers arrest Charley Tom Lee, 25, of Haltom City, Texas, at left, as a Los Angeles police officer, at right, heads for the cab of Lee's rig Wednesday afternoon on the westbound San Bernardino freeways about 30 miles east of downtown Los Angeles. weapon, Maas said. However, authorities said tests indicated he was not under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

Jerry Johnston, a dispatcher with Ft. Worth, Texas-based Lisa Motor Lines Inc., said Lee has worked with the firm for about two years.

"He's been one of our very best drivers and is a very nice person. I have no explanation for what happened," Johnston said.

The semi-tractor trailer rig was bound for Los Angeles with a load of ironing boards, and the driver's route was traced by accidents reported on the Pomona and Hollywood freeways, Maas said.

The truck "apparently had safety checks before entering California," said Wendal Short, the company's safety director.

"We are on top of the situation and have notified our insurance people. We don't know anything more right now."

As of early today, at least 24 accident reports were made, although authorities believe several other crashes may have occurred, Maas said.

About a dozen CHP officers, a police helicopter and a canine unit chased after Lee through the early afternoon rush-hour traffic.

Video yearbook only a dream

EL PASO (AP) — High school students who had hoped for a high tech record of their schooldays may have to settle for memories after a video yearbook producer went bankrupt.

Tele Pictures Video Productions of El Paso made sales pitches at four high schools last fall while trying to reorganize under the protection of U.S. Bankruptcy Court. Now the company is being liquidated under Chapter 7 of the bankruptcy law, according to court records.

About 100 students who paid $53 last fall for 90-minute tapes of the year's activities may have to settle for keeping their memories in their heads instead of in videocassettes.

One of the company's biggest creditors, the U.S. Small Business Administration, is trying to find someone to edit videotape shot at the schools into cohesive tapes, SBA spokesman Berchmans Rivera said Tuesday.

Failing that, the SBA will try to get refunds for the purchasers, Rivera said.

Chamber of Commerce fills two of three board vacancies

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Two of three vacancies on the board of directors of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce have been filled, and the chamber plans to discuss its effort to raise funds for the July 4 fireworks show — among other topics — at its quarterly luncheon Friday.

Ben Gwin of Energas and Big Spring Herald publisher Richard White have been named to the board of directors. A third vacancy remains unfilled. The openings resulted from the departures of former board members John Brown, Albert DeAnda and Drew Mouton.

Chamber efforts to fund the fireworks show July 4 have so far collected $775, according to LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president for the chamber.

In addition to the fireworks, plans call for a band concert featuring patriotic music in the amphitheatre before sunset July 4.

Estimated cost of the fireworks show is $5,000 and chamber directors Sarge Strickland and Carl Bradley are in charge of a fundraising effort to underwrite the expenses for the fireworks.

The community meeting begins at noon Friday in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum East Room.

Directors received reports concerning the May 12 community strategic planning meeting at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Former city councilman Johnny Rutherford of the chamber board concerning improving the city's appearance and with Howard College president Bob Riley concerning keeping University Interscholastic League regional contests conducted in Big Spring.

The board also voted not to meet in regular session during June and July. The executive committee will meet and — if necessary — call the entire board into session according to the motion approved by directors Wednesday.

Board members approved Mark Morgan to serve as leadership chairman for 1988-89 and appointed Ben Bancroft to replace Kay Bancroft as co-chair of the beautification committee.

No suitable candidate to replace departing convention and visitors bureau chairman Liz Taylor has been located, the board was told. She will begin working as director of tourism in Georgetown May 23.

Chamber President Clyde McMahon Jr. recognized Taylor for her work and presented a $100 gift certificate on behalf of the board. Mrs. Pat Porter announced that an informal gathering for Taylor has been set for Friday from 5 through 7 p.m. at the Days Inn.

Funding requests from the cultural affairs committee and the convention and visitors bureau were approved. The cultural affairs council will spend $1,925 in promotions for the revived Starlight Specials summer productions.

A series of six shows is planned with admission $3 for adults, $1 for seniors and students, or season tickets to be sold for $12. The first show scheduled is a Theater Midland production, "Mark Twain: The Trouble Begins," June 4.

Spring City Theater productions of "Oil's Well That Ends Well" and a children's show are scheduled for June 23-25 and July 22-23 respectively.

July 8-9 has been tentatively declared fiesta night, and two August dates remain open. Spring City melodramas are tentatively scheduled there.

The convention and visitors bureau will spend $1,085 to assist in events sponsored by the West Texas Amateur Boxing Federation and the Antique Automobile Club.

The boxing group is hosting a State Junior Olympics tournament June 11-12 in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. The bureau will contribute $600 for expenses. The auto club is hosting the area Grand Ole Tour June 23-25. The events are expected to draw approximately 150 and 350 participants respectively.

The bureau also will spend $2,200 to order promotional pins for giveaway, and the pins will bear a new design. The flame symbol currently used by the chamber will make way for a new logo: Longhorns beneath the words, "Big Spring."

The board also approved governmental affairs committee resolutions recommending support for education corrections in the 1985 Tax Reform Act and for the Stenholm/Dickinson amendment to the Davis-Bacon Act, raising the ceiling for federal projects where the act's wage requirements are triggered to $250,000.

Board members voted to oppose the "comparable worth" study bill, a federal proposal to determine the value of various jobs to companies and set salaries commensurate with that value, by federal regulations rather than individual employers' decisions.

A breakfast for the board is scheduled at 7 a.m. Thursday, May 26, in Dorothy Garrett Hall of First Methodist Church. It will be prepared by the Ambassadors.

Sheriff's log

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Frank Bonacasa, 27, Manhattan, New York, was arrested by Howard County Sheriff's deputies on a parole warrant from New York. He was released to sheriff's officials from New York Wednesday.

Melvin William Biddle, 25, Andrews, was released from the Howard County jail after paying $196 fine and court costs for attempted fraudulent use of a prescription for a controlled substance.

Deputies assisted an elderly person reported driving in the wrong direction on Interstate Highway 20 Wednesday.

The Texas Highway Patrol arrested Greg Ray Clements, 20, La Mirada, Calif., for speeding and no valid vehicle registration. He was fined $80, and released with two days' credit for jail time served.

The THP arrested Merlin Thomas Jones, 22, 1106 B East 12th St., on Department of Public Safety Warrants. He was released on $710 total bonds.

HERALD STAFF REPORT

The following complaints were received by Big Spring police Wednesday:

About $450 in damage was done to a sliding patio door in an apparent burglary attempt at the residence of Salvador Flores, 3800 Calvin St.

A clerk at the South Birdwell Lane 7-Eleven store reported that someone left the store without paying for $24.24 in gasoline.

Someone stole two hanging plants — value $35 — from the residence of Lynda Grissam, 1420 Tucson Dr.

About $350 damage was done to a 1984 Chevrolet pickup parked outside the residence at 100 N.W. Eighth St.

Someone caused $150 damage to a security light at Pinkie's Liquor Store, 1414 E. Third St.

In addition, the following persons were arrested:

Merlin Thomas Jones, 22, 1106 B E. 12th St., was arrested on a warrant charging attempted criminal mischief. He was released later on bond.

Sonia Wyvonne Fryar, 19, Rt. 1, Box 397, was arrested on a warrant charging no insurance and failure to appear. She paid a fine and was released.

Taking advantage of clear skies and warm weather Wednesday morning, Linda Rodriguez, 6, daughter of Cipriano and Virginia Rodriguez, leaps high in the air as Gilbert Rubio, left, 6, son of Gilbert and Martha Rubio, and Corrina Rios, 6, daughter of Joe and Debbie Rios, turn the jump rope during recess at Bauer Magnet School.

were military dependents or had ties to nearby Fort Knox. The service at the high school's 2,400-seat football stadium will include hymns and a performance by the post military band, said Lelia S. Haddie, secretary to Mayor Joseph Hutcherson.

"Right now, Fort Knox is kind of our mainstay," she said. "They are being very involved because there are a lot of military families in this." The fort also has sent chaplains and counselors to help families.

On Wednesday, grief counselors from the National Organization for Victim Assistance conducted a seminar in Radcliff for school counselors, military personnel and others dealing with victims' families.

FSLIC

FSLIC's projections with significant reservations." He said the agency's estimates of both the cost of the bailout and the money it will have to spend are too optimistic.

Bank board officials last month had estimated the FSLIC deficit at $11.6 billion — $2.1 billion less than the GAO figure. They also said it would cost $15.3 billion to take care of the worst-off 204 thrift institutions and a total of $21.8 billion to rescue all insolvent thrifts.

However, the GAO said it would cost $17.4 billion to resolve the problems of "the more than 200 hopelessly insolvent institutions" and $26.4 billion to $36.4 billion to clean up all insolvent S&Ls.

The GAO warned that this figure does not include an additional 435 institutions, which it said are "barely solvent."

Private analysts have estimated the total cost of restoring the industry to health to be as high as $60 billion.

In making its $21.8 billion estimate, the bank board is assuming that interest rates will not increase significantly and that virtually no new problem cases will develop in the next 10 years — a view Wolf called "extremely optimistic."

Regulators also are assuming that insured deposits would grow by 7 percent a year and that nearly all healthy S&Ls would remain in the insurance fund even after a law blocking their withdrawal expires in August. Growth of deposits slowed in 1985, 1986 and 1987 and has only been accelerating since last October.

Also, if a special insurance premium assessed S&Ls is continued as the bank board expects, healthy thrifts would be encouraged to leave FSLIC to avoid the added cost. That would reduce its deposit base and income further, Wolf said.

But, he said, "Without continuing the special assessment, there is no shred of hope of resolving FSLIC's financial plight without turning to the taxpayer."

Bank board officials also projected the interest rate on bonds floated to recapitalize the insurance fund will remain below 10 percent even though rates already are edging higher.

And, they assume they will take care of most ailing S&Ls by merging them with healthier institutions, a cheaper alternative than closing an institution and paying off depositors.

The GAO noted, however, that over the last five years, 37 percent of the cases have been resolved through liquidations, and of the remaining cases resolved by merger, some have resulted in institutions that are still weak, only bigger.

I-20 accident claims life of Ennis man; wife injured

HERALD STAFF REPORT

An Ennis man was killed and his wife injured Wednesday when the automobile she was driving veered off Interstate Highway 20 and rolled over.

John C. Abell, 67, a retired surgeon, was pronounced dead at the scene at 2:49 p.m. by Howard County justice of the peace Willie Grant.

Betty Roorbach Abell, 64, was transported to Scenic Mountain Medical Center, suffering from multiple fractured ribs and lacerations, according to a Texas Department of Public Safety accident fatality report.

The report indicates that Mrs. Abell fell asleep while driving in the outside lane of the eastbound highway. The vehicle struck a bridge overpass, became airborne and rolled 1 1/2 times, according to the report.

Mr. Abell was a passenger in the vehicle, a 1985 Oldsmobile two-door. Both occupants were wearing seatbelts, according to the DPS report.

Howard County Sheriff's Office records indicate that the Jaws of Life were summoned to the scene through the Big Spring Police Department, as well as justice Grant and a wrecker.

Abell's body was taken to Myers and Smith Funeral Home, where services were pending early today. The accident occurred 4.7 miles east of Coahoma at 2:30 p.m., according to the DPS report.

Alcohol overdose blamed in death

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Howard County Justice of the Peace China Long has ruled the death of a Big Spring man due to drinking.

"This man just drank too much alcohol for his body to handle," Justice Long said today Long said.

Based on an autopsy report, she said, Stephen Gregory, 3312 Cornell St., died of aspiration of stomach contents.

"His lungs were full of fluid," justice Long said. "Dr. (Robert) Rember said his body showed damage from a long history of drinking."

Gregory was pronounced dead on arrival at Scenic Mountain Medical Center hospital at about 2 a.m. Wednesday. The autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

"You hear so much about the illegal drugs," Long said. "No one ever talks about the legal drugs, but alcohol is a drug and it does damage the body."

Opinion

Views of other Texas papers

Here is a sampling of editorial opinions from around the state.

Court has no right to be legislative

The Texas Supreme Court has added a new problem to its long list. It seems it thinks it is now the Texas Legislature, too.

The court, in a recent 7-2 vote, struck down a 1977 law that limited the recovery of non-medical damages in a medical malpractice suit. That law, which allows for complete recovery of all medical expenses but limits non-medical damages to $500,000 — plus a Consumer Price Index adjustment — was instituted in hopes of limiting soaring medical malpractice insurance rates.

But Justice William Kilgarlin, writing for the majority, says the law is unreasonable and arbitrary. Since when do courts rewrite laws instead of interpreting them? ...

The two dissenting voices on the court come from the only two members of who haven't been criticized for their questionable judicial behavior. They are Justice Raul Gonzalez, who thankfully was just re-elected, and recently appointed Chief Justice Tom Phillips, who took over for resigning John Hill. ...

Gonzalez, in his dissent, has it right. There could be flaws in the legislation. But the proper forum to correct them is the Texas Legislature, not the Texas Supreme Court.

Panel should study discrimination

A suggestion by state Rep. Ron Wilson for a statewide inquiry into race relations is well-timed and a good idea. But the existing Human Rights Commission provides a better vehicle than establishment of a new interracial coalition. ...

The nine-member commission and its state agency were created in 1983 solely for the purpose of investigating employment discrimination. Because this commission is up for sunset review next year, it is a good time to consider making it more effective by broadening that narrow perspective. Discrimination in Texas, as anywhere, goes beyond who is hired and fired.

Jackson is point man in drug war

In his dramatic bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, Jesse Jackson has taken some stands which have been distinctly controversial. ... One point, though, he has enunciated a concern which is shared by the overpowering majority of Americans: the deep-seated fear of the corrosive effect of illicit drugs on American society.

In a rally last week at a Portland, Ore., high school, Jackson approached the drug threat from a distinctive angle, arguing that it represents a more serious threat to the civil rights movement than the Ku Klux Klan. "How many of you have seen a Klansman on your block, someone wearing a hood with a rope?" he asked the students. "But you have all seen somebody who sells dope. ... We are losing more lives to the dope than we ever lost to the rope. Dope pushers are the killers of the dream."

In those dramatic words, Jesse Jackson calls attention to the enormous challenge posed by illicit drugs — and calls for a counter-offensive. That is a message which should be repeated in every recess of American society.

Japan finds misfortune cookies

Trade philosophies and allegations of unfair import restrictions on the part of the Japanese are one thing. The example of the Brownies' cookies is something else: It brought the problem into stark focus and shows in a neat, simple instance how we're being had.

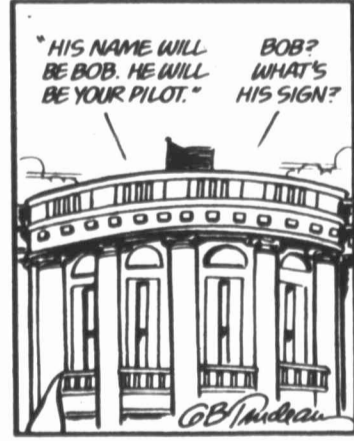

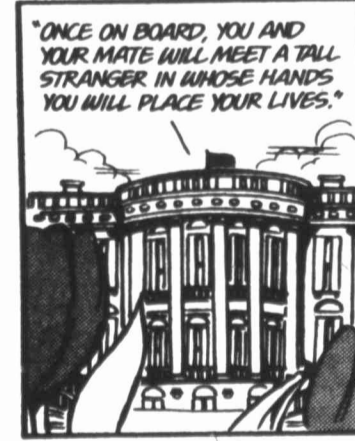

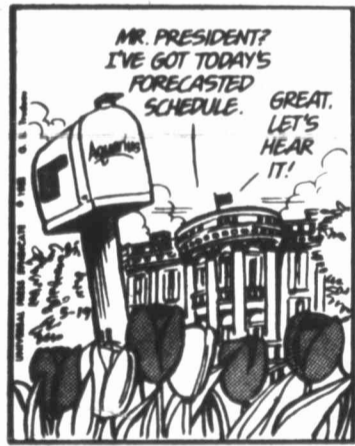

The 18 girls of a Beehive Brownie troop sold 402 boxes of cookies to sailors on the USS Midway, berthed in Atsugi, Japan. But Japanese authorities, perhaps fearful of a strong national cookie lobby, slapped a $2,000 import tax on the shipment when it arrived.

A Japanese official at the embassy in Washington said it might be a mistake. It was the kind Japan has made in dealing with U.S. citrus and beef exports. But this time they may have awakened another sleeping giant. The top cookie seller, 8-year-old Nickelle Clark, says she's mad. Rightly so. Japan should be ashamed.

Regan's author motives are colored

On the right

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

On the question, "Should Donald Regan have written out what he did?" you hear the orthodox negatives. On the other side, it is held that information of such general relevance to the public about their chief executive and commander in chief oughtn't be denied to us. One can understand the second position and still feel disgust over the conduct of Donald Regan.

If the imputed dependence of Ronald Reagan on a horoscope were correct, then Regan, immediately on finding out about it, should have taken his complaint directly to the president, and, failing to get satisfaction, directly to the American people.

He didn't do that. Instead he waited and wrote a book, about astrology and other matters. He tells us that he wrote the book in order to tell "my" story. But the story having been told, in a book competently merchandised by an aggressive publisher, Donald Regan can't let it go at that.

He appears, instead, on all the talk shows to plug his book. At this (judging from one example) he isn't particularly good, which strengthens the impression that he is doing something that vaguely disturbs him. Donald Regan was as awful as appropriate to an author handling hot but disreputable goods when he appeared on "Donahue."

Flirting coyly with the role of devil's advocate, Phil Donahue reminded Regan that there were lots of historical figures who paid attention to their horoscopes, including Churchill and de Gaulle and Mrs. Lincoln. What is the difference, Donahue wanted to know, between consulting one's horoscope and crossing oneself? The ladies laughed at this.

Regan sat there looking as dumb as Donahue's observation.

The sign of the cross is a sign of allegiance to the God worshipped in this century by the Pope, Reinhold Niebuhr and T.S. Eliot, to mention only three Christians who routinely invoked the Lord's blessings, as Donald Regan should certainly have done before appearing on the Donahue show.

Regan felt that he was badly treated by Ronald Reagan, for whom he insists he continues to feel admiration. Searching for an extra-commercial motive for the publication of Regan's book (Regan is donating the proceeds to charity), Donahue hit on the explanation that Regan was reflecting the fury he felt as a boy when his father, a police officer, was fired by Calvin Coolidge for refusing to cross a picket line in 1919. Nobody Fires Me and Gets Away With It, was Donahue's suggested motivation.

George Reedy, on "The MacNeil/Lehrer Newshour," said that in this experience, people were loyal to presidents "who had earned their loyalty." Both explanations, the first a venture in psychohistory, the second an affirmation of poetic justice, are abstractions. Michael Dwyer was treated by the Reagans as an adopted son, and soon after leaving the White House he repaid their loyalty by: Breaking the law; and writing a book suggesting the president is a creature of a left-minded virago.

No, Regan wrote the book for a number of reasons, certainly including the hostility he felt for Mrs. Reagan. To have written the book might have been a psychological compulsion. To tolerate, and by tolerating, encourage, the view of Reagan's White House as a creature of some San Francisco dame who watches the stars is ultimately to deserve not only the target of the book, but the book's author.

The situation is, of course, a comedian's field day, and I rather admire, professionally, House Speaker Jim Wright's crack that he was glad to learn that the president was consulting somebody.

In fact, no report on the book (I have not read it) goes further than to say that Mrs. Reagan is superstitious and that her husband, in order to humor her, indulges her predilections for determining on which day to travel. It said that their new house in Los Angeles has been renumbered. It used to be "666," which is evidently the devil's code number. The address is now "668."

That is as surprising as it is to enter hotels or office buildings in which Floor 13 is missing. In cosmopolitan America, floors go from 12 to 14. Because the architects are superstitious? Perhaps. But we are told that many Americans will not inhabit a room, or rent an office, on the 13th floor.

The union of Ronald Reagan and his wife is one of the wonders of this centrifugal age, and if the horoscope is the whisky they drink, we should put a food stamp on it and distribute it everywhere.

They have both been humiliated by revelations of her dependence on superstition, superstitions being scientifically infra dig. But no bead has been drawn on Regan's policies on this account. Which reminds me: Could it be that the INF treaty the president has submitted to the Senate is numbered Senate Treaty Resolution No. 666?

Oxymoron: Writing for the morons?

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

Yes, lucky reader, it's time once again to take a stroll through Uncle Stevie's Garden of Grammatical Delights.

For you first-timers to Uncle Stevie's garden — and since this is the first time any of us have taken this trip — a brief explanation is not only in order, but quite necessary.

What we're going to do is open Mr. Webster's dictionary and examine a few odd-sounding words. This won't be too difficult, since the English language is a veritable cornucopia of mind-numbing tongue-twisters.

In other words, there are some stupid-looking words in there.

Please don't misconstrue this to be an advertisement for Mr. Webster's dictionary. I'm sure the publishers at Webster's need no help from a literary peon such as me to peddle their wares.

Besides, by the time we're finished, they'll probably Express Mail their demand that I not speak for them in any shape, form or fashion.

Now, we're going to do this on the honor system, so everybody put away their dictionaries right now. No peeking, either — that would be cheating, and we don't cheat, do we?

Do we?

Enough of that. Let's get down to cases, as they say.

The first word for your consideration is oxymoron. There's an interesting word, wouldn't you agree? Sounds like a definition for an air-breathing idiot, or a new anti-pimple cream.

Stumped already? OK, let's look at the definition: A rhetorical figure in which an epigrammatic effect is created by the conjunction of incongruous or contradictory terms.

Simple, huh?

In simple terms what they mean (I think) is a phrase consisting of contradicting words, like: mournful optimist, military intelligence or, MTV documentary.

Or meaningful Steve Reagan column, for that matter.

Now, wasn't that fun? Aren't you just chomping at the bit to find out more about our wonderfully twisted vocabulary?

Sorry, but we're going to anyway.

A flip through the 'ol word book brings us to quasi-stellar object. Another fun-looking phrase, eh? Now, what does that mean; an object that's almost stellar? Or, perhaps something that's stellar part of the time.

That would describe several people who currently owe me money.

Beyond the realm

The definition is: A member of any of several classes of starlike objects having exceptionally large red shifts that are often emitters of radio frequency as well as visible radiation and have apparently immense speeds, energies and distances from earth.

I was right — it does describe several people who owe me money.

We're running out of space, but I do believe I can squeeze in one more grammatical nugget. I'll even make this one easy. The final word is — onomatopoeia.

OK, so I lied.

This word — please don't ask me to spell it again — does not denote a rare skin ailment, or an extinct prehistoric bird, or even the sound one makes after one too many six-packs.

No. Simply, it is the formation of a word that sounds like its referent, such as: buzz, crack or smush.

There are literally hundreds of other such words in the dictionary I could cite, but alas, I'm out of space.

Breaks your heart, I know.

So, you folks freshen up your vocabulary, because you never know when another trip through the Garden of Grammatical Delights is in order.

As for me, I think I'll buzz out of here — onomatopoeially speaking.

Beyond the realm

Behind every great man in Washington there is a great astrologer. The story that Donald Regan tells in his book is that the Reagans used astrology as a means of arriving at decisions in the White House.

Before the know-it-alls make their comments I would like to say that there is absolutely nothing wrong with a President ruling a country by the stars. It is a foolproof system and one that has paid great dividends for the country.

We shall call the presidential astrologer Zodiac.

A dicey matter has come up in Panama and Noriega won't leave the country. After meeting with the National Security Council, the President calls in Zodiac. "What do you think?"

"I would do nothing until Wednesday, when Pluto conjoins Jupiter."

"This week?"

"No, next year."

"I would prefer that Noriega get out by Thursday, but I hear

Time for my nap, Zodiac?

that he won't do it until Saturn lines up with Venus."

"As an Aquarius, Mr. President, you have a right to be upset about Panama. After all, your chart indicates that Noriega should have fled the country last month."

"Did you come up with any predictions on my meeting with Gorbachev?"

"Well, sir, I would not give up any long-range missiles until the sun enters Gemini. Gorbachev is a Pisces and is dreamy, sensitive, artistic, romantic and a really tough SOB when it comes to making a deal. His astrologer has told him not to come to any decisions this year unless you give up Star Wars."

"Why is he so hellbent on me giving up Star Wars?"

"Because Gorbachev's astrologer is afraid Star Wars will mess up the entire universe map and make every astrological chart in the world obsolete."

"What signs do you see for Nancy?"

"Her natal chart indicates Nan-

Opinions are questioned

To the editor:

In my opinion, the citizens who expressed their opinions in the post office survey (in Monday's Herald) don't get into any depth of reading further than the comic section of the paper.

If they did, they should know that former White House Chief of Staff (Donald Regan) had manipulated President Ronald Reagan so that he was nearly the only one President Reagan would listen to. Needless to say, Regan only told the president just what he wanted the president to know.

In my opinion, a very bad situation at best.

Don Regan, in my opinion, should have been fired two or three years ago. The president didn't have the guts to fire Regan until Nancy Reagan put the heat on the president to get rid of Don Regan. Thank God Mrs. Reagan finally insisted President Reagan take action to fire Don Regan.

Meese counterattacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Edwin Meese III is launching a counterattack against his critics and telling conservative senators he won't resign in the absence of evidence of wrongdoing.

Meese's private lawyers said Wednesday that a Senate subcommittee report is "seriously wrong" in accusing Meese of violating a White House policy by assisting scandal-plagued Wedtech Corp.

In addition, Meese's counselor at the Justice Department, William Bradford Reynolds, claimed that subcommittee chairman Carl Levin of Michigan hadn't given the panel's members an opportunity to vote on the report.

Review can cut costs

BOSTON (AP) — Insurance companies can cut medical expenses 8 percent if they require people to get approval from a review board before being treated in the hospital, says a study published today.

Such "utilization review" programs are intended to hold down medical expenses by checking to make sure hospitalization is necessary.

The study found that the controls save money, although it did not determine whether they have any effect on health.

Utilization review programs generally require that hospital admissions be approved by a review panel before or at the time of admission.

Fraternity suspended

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP) — The president of Middlebury College suspended a fraternity for hanging a battered female mannequin splattered with red paint from a balcony during a toga party earlier this month.

College President Olin Robison on Wednesday accepted the recommendation of the school's community council to ban the Delta Upsilon fraternity from living in its house next year or functioning as a social organization.

Members of Delta Upsilon also must participate in a sexism awareness course, said college spokesman Ron Nief.

The fraternity was deluged with criticism last week after several students complained about the mannequin used as a decoration at the party.

Mountain claims one

DENALI MEDICAL CAMP, Alaska (AP) — A woman whose guided party was pushing for Mount McKinley's summit has become the first fatality of the 1988 climbing season on North America's tallest peak, the National Park Service said.

The agency said it learned early Wednesday that Lynn Salerno, 31, of Anchorage, had died of apparent hypothermia and exposure at the mountain's 19,500-foot level. Rangers did not know the circumstances or time of death.

Salerno was in a party led by Vern Tejas, 35, an Alaskan whose solo winter ascent of 20,320-foot McKinley this year made mountaineering history.

Street battle

Some 3,000 students march out of Chonna University after a rally denouncing the governments of South Korea and the United States. Students shout "Punish (president) Roh Tae-woo." Protestors battled riot troopers with firebombs and rocks in the center of Seoul for the third day today after police broke up a funeral march with volleys of tear gas.

Embezzlement

Leader may have had help

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — The late head of West Germany's Jewish community may not have acted alone in the apparent embezzlement of millions of dollars of government funds earmarked for Holocaust survivors, prosecutors say.

The family attorney for Werner Nachmann, who died in January, said on Wednesday that he had been unable to determine where the missing money had gone and that Nachmann may have squandered much of it.

The family has filed for bankruptcy in Karlsruhe, where Nachmann lived and ran a wholesale textile business.

Nachmann, who headed the Central Jewish Council for 23 years until his death from a heart attack at age 62, may have had accomplices in the scheme, said Manfred Roething, a spokesman for the Karlsruhe prosecutor's office.

He said investigators would seek to determine "whether other parties may be liable for prosecution as accessories."

Government officials have vowed to bring the truth to light. A top aide to Chancellor Helmut Kohl is to meet Friday with Heinz Galinski, who succeeded Nachmann as council president.

Jewish leaders have expressed shock and outrage. They say they believe Nachmann had for years embezzled money earmarked for Holocaust survivors around the world, which he was in charge of disbursing.

Galinski said Nachmann appears to have stolen more than $6 million.

But Peter Paepcke, the Nachmann family attorney, said he believes the late Jewish leader may have embezzled up to $15 million and used some of it to bolster his failing business.

Paepcke, who said he had worked for Nachmann for a decade, indicated he believed Nachmann had squandered some of the money. He said he filed for bankruptcy March 30 for Nachmann's heirs and the Karlsruhe-based company.

"I do not understand this yet," he told West German television. "The sums of money that were apparently taken should have been more than enough to cover (the Nachmann business') debts."

"I can only conclude that perhaps the money also went elsewhere," he added without elaboration.

Eberhard Braun, a court-appointed investigator who has been examining Nachmann's financial records, told The Associated Press he found unexplained income of $13 million in Nachmann's company records. Jewish leaders vowed to launch their own investigations to help clear up the cause.

"We will use all legal means at our disposal to take action against everyone who took part in this," Hanover Jewish leader Michael Fuerst said in a telephone interview.

Death toll confirmed

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet media official today confirmed that 12,000 to 15,000 Soviet soldiers died in Afghanistan during the Kremlin's more than eight years of military involvement in that country's civil war.

Eduard Rosental, a political observer for the government news agency Novosti, confirmed a recent report by the Paris-based Agence France-Presse news service that 12,000 to 15,000 Soviets had been killed in Afghanistan.

Rosental's comment during a news conference to discuss Afghanistan's history was believed to be the first time a Soviet official has approximated the death toll from the Soviet intervention.

Report: Stop plundering

LONDON (AP) — The earth will only be able to support its population in the coming century if all countries cooperate to reverse environmental destruction and control population growth, an annual U.N. report said.

The 1988 State of World Population Report, released in London on Wednesday, says increasing human demands and population are damaging the natural resources on which all life depends.

The report says world population, now at more than 5 billion, is expected to reach 6.1 billion by the year 2000.

Hostage talks to begin

JERUSALEM (AP) — Vernon Walters, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said today he will talk with Syrian officials in Damascus to try to help secure the release of nine Americans held hostage in Lebanon.

Walters, who leaves Friday for the Syrian capital, would not give details of his plans. "When it comes to the hostages, the less you talk about what you plan to do the more you get done," he said.

Walters said his visit to Damascus was prompted by a concern for the safety of the hostages because fighting between rival Shiite Moslem factions has escalated in the southern suburbs of Beirut, where the captives are believed held.

Japanese let on board

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Soviet officials today reluctantly allowed Japanese investigators to search a portion of a Soviet passenger ship to determine what caused a fire that killed at least 11 people and injured 35.

After 70 minutes of heated negotiations with Soviet consular officials, police agreed to pare down to 15 a team originally consisting of more than 60 investigators.

Police also gave in to Soviet demands that the probe be limited to the passenger cabins of the 4,870-ton Priamurye, gutted by a fire on Wednesday.

Seven charged with embezzlement

CHICAGO (AP) — Two bank employees and five other men have been charged in a sophisticated embezzlement scheme that succeeded in siphoning nearly $70 million from the First National Bank of Chicago to banks in Austria.

However, U.S. Attorney Anton Valukas said Wednesday that the conspiracy was cracked before the suspects could withdraw the money transferred illegally from the accounts of three of First National's corporate customers.

Valukas said authorities had filed charges of illegal wire transfer of funds against two First National employees, a third Chicago man, and three men from Detroit. He identified Armand Moore, 30, of Detroit, as ringleader of the failed scheme.

Four of the men were arrested late Tuesday or early Wednesday. A fifth man, bank employee Gabriel Taylor, 27, has been charged but is cooperating with authorities.

Another Detroit man, Leonard Strickland, about 50, was still at large today, as was a seventh defendant identified in the criminal complaint only as "the Reverend," Valukas said.

The federal prosecutor said that $70 million was transferred illegally Friday from the accounts of three of First National's corporate customers — Chicago-based United Airlines; New York-based Merrill Lynch & Co.; and Louisville, Ky.-based distiller Brown-Foreman Corp. — to two New York banks.

The money then was transferred to three accounts in two banks in Vienna, Austria.

Valukas said no money had been withdrawn from Citibank and Chase Manhattan in New York, or from Creditanstalt and Focobank in Austria.

"But you could call this sophisticated in that the money actually made it to the (Austrian) banks," said Valukas.

First National spokesman Anthony Zehnder said neither the nation's 10th-largest bank nor the three corporate customers whose accounts were involved in the wire-transfer scheme would lose any money.

Valukas said authorities were attempting to determine whether the accounts at the Viennese banks were fictitious. Two were in the names of companies, Lord Investment Inc. and GTL Industries, and a third was in the name of Walter Newman.

"Our investigation into whether others are involved is continuing," Valukas said.

He said evidence would be presented to a federal grand jury as it considers further charges.

Four of the suspects appeared for an initial bond hearing late Wednesday before U.S. Magistrate Bernard Weisberg.

The four — Moore and Neal Jackson, 31, both of Detroit; and Herschel Bailey, 30, and First National employee Otis Wilson, 30, both of Chicago — were returned to the federal Metropolitan Correctional Center pending another bond hearing Friday.

Local teachers to give recital

Don't miss the performance of 14 local teachers presenting chamber music free Sunday.

The public is invited to the free concert at the First Presbyterian Church, Eighth and Runnels, at 3 p.m.

The program will feature music from the Renaissance to contemporary with a concentration in Baroque-era music. The first half will present woodwind, harp, and keyboard compositions; the second, brass and vocal. Each half will last about 45 minutes.

Instruments to be played include flutes, harp, cello, recorder, harpsichord, organ, oboe, trumpet, trombones, tuba, French horn and piano. Composers include Bach, Vivaldi, Britten, and Delibes.

The best and worst of '87-'88 shows

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television's two best new shows are off the air just now but both seem likely to return in the fall. Let us give thanks.

In a purely personal survey, "Frank's Place" on CBS and "The Wonder Years" on ABC tied for best new show. The runner-up was ABC's "China Beach."

With the season over, let's take a look back at the best and the worst. This is strictly one reporter's opinion, and there are no awards — or booby prizes.

• "Frank's Place," which stars Tim Reid as a New England college professor who inherits his father's Creole restaurant in New Orleans, is well-written and has wonderfully defined characters. It's a so-called "dramedy" with few laughs, but the stories are grabbing and get into the characters. It's also the first TV show to capture the essence of New Orleans and appreciate the difference between Creole and Cajun.

• "The Wonder Years," told from the perspective of an adult looking back on his youth, is like reliving adolescence, but in the safety, and sweet privacy, of your living room. It all rings true: the domineering older brother, the nerdy best friend, the confusing infatuation with girls, and the parents who want to help but don't quite understand.

• "China Beach," which tells of the women in Vietnam, has wonderfully drawn characters. You really care about these people.

Here are other best shows of the year:

• "L.A. Law," NBC — The writing is unbelievably good, at times bordering on tasteless and tacky, yet so right for these off-beat, well-defined, well-cast characters.

• "St. Elsewhere," NBC — Another show with great writing that dared to take chances and push the limitations of taste and naughtiness.

• "Newhart," CBS — An underrated show that is a perfect blending of concept, writing, characters and acting. It's always true to its characters, always funny.

• "Beauty and the Beast," CBS — The show that took the year's corniest concept and made it work as the most romantic show of recent memory.

• "Designing Women," CBS — The first show to find Southern women both intelligent and incredibly funny.

• "Aaron's Way," NBC — Wonderful

schmaltz, well-written, best family show of the year. That didn't do it any good, though. NBC canceled it.

• "Golden Girls," NBC — You know exactly how each character will react, yet you can't wait for them to do it. Funny, funny, funny.

• "Cheers," NBC — Best comeback of the year. The show seemed to be on its way out, but they gave it a fresh, new look. Kirstie Alley deserves an Emmy.

• "Night Court," NBC — Naughty, naughty, naughty. And incredibly funny.

• "Tour of Duty," CBS — It isn't "Platoon," but it's not bad.

Other good shows: "Murder, She Wrote" on CBS, "Matlock" on NBC, and "Head of the Class" and "Perfect Strangers," both on ABC. The jury is still out on ABC's "Hooperman." John Ritter is television's best comic actor, but he's too restrained here.

The pits:

• ABC's "Dolly!" proved once again that variety is dead. Dolly Parton sings well and has a winning personality, but her show didn't cut it.

• "Supercarrier," ABC — A good idea turned into a cartoon.

Museum hosts family day

The Museum of the Southwest invites West Texans to observe a "Dizzy Decades Celebration" at the Museum Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

This family activities day is planned around the current exhibition from the Smithsonian Institution, John Held's America: flappers, the jazz age, and beyond.

A display of vintage cars from the Midland and Odessa car clubs will line the driveway in front of the 1934 vintage Turner Mansion. These cars of the '20s and '30s include Fords, Chevrolets, and Studebakers. Some of the car owners will be dressed in costumes of the time.

From 11 to 11:30 a.m. dance students from Midland College will model replicas of ball gowns by Paris designers of the '20s.

In the Thomas Gallery videos and films such as "The Great Gatsby," Betty Boop cartoons, Charlie Chaplin and W. C. Fields comedies will be shown.

At 1 p.m. songs of the time will be performed by Janet Considine, Drew Anderson, and Tony Lackland. At 3 p.m. the Dow Jones Average will play band and dance music.

On the grounds the Morning Lions' Club will sell snowcones and popcorn, and there will be a lemonade stand. Visitors are invited to bring a picnic lunch to eat on the museum grounds.

The Museum of the Southwest is located at 1705 W. Missouri. Regular Museum hours are Tuesday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 2 to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Guadalupe Mountains park sets summer visitor hours

Park Superintendent Karen Wade has announced that visitor hours and services will be expanded at Guadalupe Mountains National Park starting May 28, and continuing through Labor Day, Sept. 5.

The park's temporary visitor center, just off U.S. Highway 62/180, will be open 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. Visitors should register for overnight backpacking trips, to obtain information, or to obtain needed assistance. The center is just east of Guadalupe Pass, 55 miles southwest of Carlsbad, N.M., and 110 miles east of El Paso.

The access road to the McKittrick Canyon day-use area will be open 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. The entrance is seven miles north of the visitor center on U.S. 62-180, or 48 miles southwest of Carlsbad, N.M.

Further information about the park and summer activities can be obtained by calling 915-28-3251, or by writing to the Superintendent at HC 60, Box 400, Salt Flat, Texas, 79847-9400.

First 'Big Valley' episode to run

The first episode of "The Big Valley," never before shown on CBN Cable Network, will air at 3 p.m. eastern Saturday, June 4. This pilot episode introduces Lee Majors as the illegitimate son, Heath, who returns to claim his inheritance.

"The Big Valley" also airs at 6 p.m. eastern Sundays and in May moved to 6 p.m. eastern Monday through Friday.

Dancers to hit the floor Saturday

Mike and Mary Lintner promenade at one of the square dances several weeks ago.

Square dancing comes to Big Spring on a grand scale Friday and Saturday when the Big Spring Squares hosts its 19th annual Square and Round Dance Festival at the Squares Corral on Chaparral Road.

Square dancers from a 100-mile radius will be on hand for the festivities, including dancers from Abilene, Lubbock, San Angelo, Odessa, Midland, Lamesa, Sweetwater, Snyder, Colorado City and Crane.

The festivities will begin at 7:15 p.m. Friday. Sid Perkins, Plainview, will be the caller for the evening. Cueing the rounds will be Dave and Nita Smith, Lubbock.

Saturday afternoon workshops will offer both square and round dancers an opportunity to learn new dances that will be included in the evening dance.

The round dance workshop taught by the Smiths, will be at 1 p.m. At 3 p.m., Chris Vear, Austin, will teach the square dancing workshop.

Request rounds begin at 7 p.m., followed by square dancing at 8 p.m. Vear will be the caller for the evening.

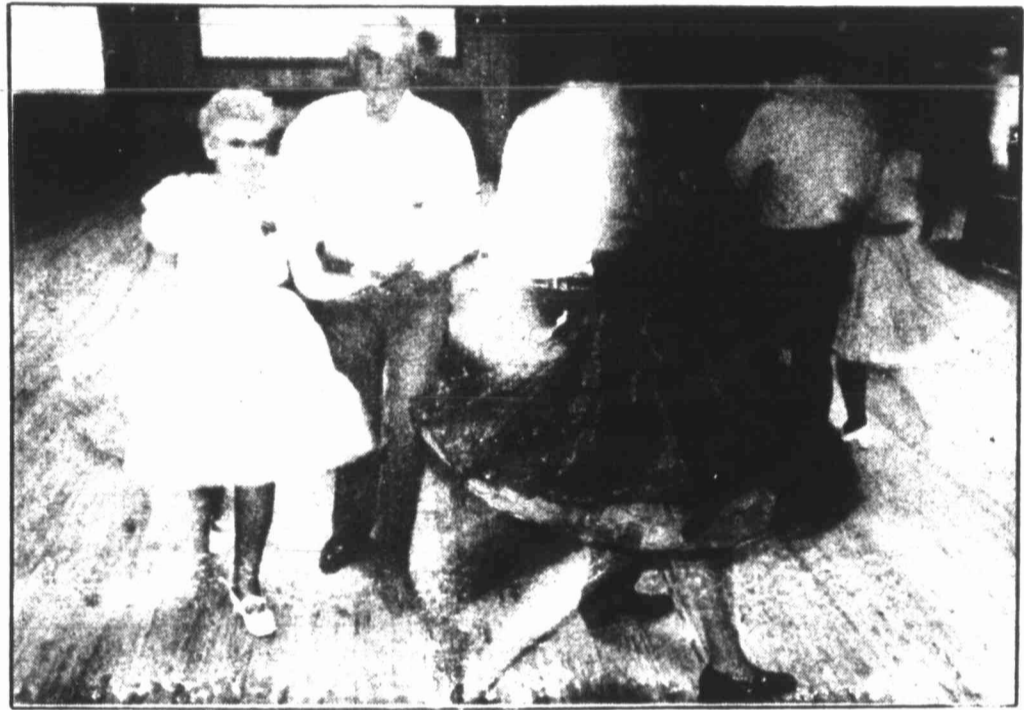

The "After Party" will begin at 11:15 p.m., with club callers David Davis, Midland, and Tommy White, Odessa, sharing the microphone.

Don and Mary Ellen Proctor, festival chairmen, and Albert and Penny Hill, club presidents, and club members have planned for the event for a year, said Lucy Bonner, publicity chairman.

Other committee chairmen are Orville and Lillie Sealey, Garland and Gerry Rudd, registrars; Lee and Rueleen Freeze, facilities; J.W. and Nancy Dickens, and Preston and Mae Ward (alternates), hospitality; Wayne and Joy Armstrong, decorations; Neil and Marjorie Squires, door prizes; Carl and Norma Morrow, after party; Skeeter and Ruth Salisbury, finance; and Wayne and Lucy Bonner, publicity.

Mom worries about war

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two small children, and like mothers all over the world, I am concerned about the possibility of a nuclear war. I'm just an ordinary person who doesn't know much about nuclear weapons, but I'm terrified when I look at my beautiful children and think what could happen to them in the event of a nuclear war. I owe it to my children to do what I can so they can grow up and have families.

What can one concerned mother do? I feel so helpless and alone.

A VERY CONCERNED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: In 1985, Linda Smith, a young mother from La Jolla, Calif., visited the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C., with her four daughters. She was so overwhelmed by the loss of life in that war — and the possibility of even greater losses in the event of a nuclear war — that she started an organization called MEND: Mothers Embracing Nuclear Disarmament.

MEND is a non-profit educational organization that produces and distributes educational material for concerned mothers just like you.

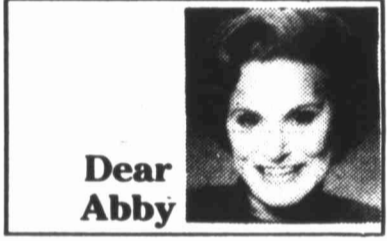

MEND has 1,900 members in the United States, Canada, West Germany and India. It has been endorsed and supported by some people whose names may be familiar to you: Norman Cousins, The Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, Jack Lemmon, Wallis Anneberg, Carl Sagan, Robin Williams, Joan Kroc, Jonas Salk and myself.

There is strength in numbers — and one ordinary person can make a difference by uniting with other "ordinary" people.

For information about joining MEND, write to: MEND P.O. Box 2309C, La Jolla, Calif. 92038.

DEAR ABBY: I have been amus-

Dear Abby

ed at all of the letters in your column lately from women who have been complaining because their husbands would not have a vasectomy.

Two years ago I decided that four children was enough and I did not want any more. I was 37 at the time and four children — ages 12, 10, 6 and 3. With my age and the fact that I have hypoglycemia, I did not feel I could go through another pregnancy. My husband was scared and reluctant to go through surgery, but because he loves me, he had a vasectomy.

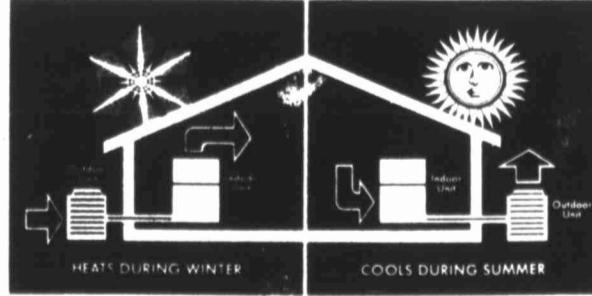

Imagine what a shock it was to find out a few weeks ago that I am going to have another baby in September! My doctor said I am the third patient he has known who got pregnant after her husband had surgery — the chances are 1 in 900! So, all the women who push to get their husbands to have surgery should remember that it is not always 100 percent effective. (By the way, my husband is really excited about the baby and so am I, now that I'm over the shock.)

INS procedures criticized

EL PASO (AP) — The director of the El Paso Legalization Center disputed claims that the amnesty program for special agricultural workers isn't being conducted properly.

Criticism of the program came Tuesday from a farm workers union leader as about a dozen union members demonstrated at the center.

"We feel they aren't doing what Congress intended," Carlos Marentes, head of the Union of Border Agricultural Workers, said. "It looks like they're trying to discourage applicants from applying."

Marentes said the Immigration and Naturalization Service isn't accepting enough amnesty applications a day, that workers arbitrarily reject applications and that the INS expects undocumented workers to risk deportation while compiling documentation needed to earn immigration amnesty.

None of the accusations are true, countered Pete Reyes, director of the El Paso Legalization Center. Chief among Marentes' complaints was that the legalization center is accepting 25 amnesty applicants a day now, far less than the 2,000 applications the center accepted on the last day of the broader general amnesty program. The deadline for general amnesty applicants was May 4, but agricultural workers apply under more liberal rules and have until Nov. 30 to apply.

Reyes said the center was accepting only skeleton applications during the last few weeks of the general amnesty program and scheduling personal interviews for later, enabling workers to cope with the flood of applications.

The 25 agricultural applicants allowed to apply daily go through their interviews that day, Reyes said, adding that agricultural workers have plenty of time to apply.

"We're talking about 25 agricultural worker amnesty applications, 75 scheduled interviews (for general amnesty applicants), plus whatever comes in from the qualified designated entities, who have 60 days from the May 4 deadline to give us the general amnesty applications they've worked on," Reyes said. "We may be handling 175 to 200 a day."

Marentes said legalization center employees arbitrarily reject amnesty applications without even accepting the paperwork or $185 application fee, but Reyes said such applications are usually incomplete, or have woefully inadequate documentation.

"When they show up here and claim they live in Florida and work in Georgia, and they don't have a shred of evidence of who they've been working for or where or what kind of crop, we can't just accept the application," Reyes said.

Marentes said agricultural workers don't want to travel into the interior of the United States to collect documentation from employers for fear they will be caught by the Border Patrol and arrested.

But the INS has taken care of that problem by giving out 90-day travel permits for agricultural workers who need to get documentation. They can get the permits at three ports of entry: Laredo, Texas; Olay Mesa, Ariz.; and Calexico, Calif.

Amnesty Illegal aliens still crossing border

By JOEL WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer

COMBES (AP) — A new law banning employers from hiring undocumented aliens hasn't stopped the northbound quest for work, immigration officials said after arresting 42 people stowed aboard a freight train.

One of those arrested, Tomas Vega of San Luis Potosi, Mexico, said he got on the northbound railroad grain car without knowing what city he would reach. "I came to find work wherever it (the train) stops," the 21-year-old undocumented alien said, because he cannot find a job back home.

Vega and about 16 others, including a man carrying a crying, sleepy 3-year-old boy to the immigration bus, appeared stunned as they climbed down a ladder from the grain car Tuesday. Their trip was cut short a mere 30 miles north of the Rio Grande.

The 42 aliens found scattered along the Houston-bound train are among the thousands of people of officials say are continuing to flock to this country illegally every week, despite a new immigration law making it illegal for anyone to hire them. Employer sanctions under the new law go into full effect June 1.

Jerry Hicks, deputy chief patrol agent with the Border Patrol's McAllen Sector, said the numbers have been increasing lately, and agents who stopped the train Tuesday had been expecting to find even more aliens in the train's cars.

Immigration officials say lack of employment in Mexico is prompting the aliens to take their chances on whether employers will flout the new law.

"I think we're going to have to show them we're serious about enforcing employer sanctions," Hicks said.

A recent five-day sweep of trains netted more than 100 aliens per day, officials said, including a group suffering from dehydration in a sealed boxcar.

"The situation in Mexico is terrible, and people are caught in a situation where their country has nothing to offer them," said Telma Longoria, director of Catholic Social Services for the church's Brownsville Diocese.

She said the diocese is seeing more Central Americans than ever at its Casa Oscar Romero shelter east of Brownsville, which averages 150-200 aliens at any given time.

Most, she said, do not stay at the sanctuary more than a couple of weeks.

"The people are coming," Ms. Longoria said. "There is no doubt about that. We see it all the time." With the weather warming up, immigration officials said they are checking the trains more often, in order to prevent a repeat of the tragedy in Sierra Blanca last summer, in which 18 aliens suffocated in a sealed boxcar in the West Texas heat.

"The smugglers don't care about the aliens that much," said Travis Johnson, agent in charge of the Harlingen Border Patrol station. "They want their money."

On hand to observe Tuesday morning's pre-dawn train operation were Jim Olech, Border Patrol chief in Washington, and Henry Oncken, U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Texas.

The first week of May, the Border Patrol's McAllen Sector reported 1,691 apprehensions of undocumented aliens, most of whom were not on trains. Last week the sector reported 1,080 apprehensions, 204 involving people from countries other than Mexico, said Fred Rangel, a Border Patrol intelligence agent in McAllen.

"We're getting reports of actual large numbers of people crossing," Rangel said, adding the number of aliens apprehended has dropped since the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 was passed, but that the total is up from a year ago.

"They are finding ways of getting around the legalities of it" (the new law), Rangel said.

"We're still catching 500 or 600 a day," said Doug Mosier, with the Border Patrol's El Paso Sector that stretches to the New Mexico-Arizona border.

He said apprehensions in the sector are about 30 percent below the rate of 1986, when the sector made 312,000 alien arrests, some of which were multiple apprehensions of the same people.

"The new law's had its impact, but still people are willing to take a chance," said Laredo Sector Border Patrol agent Michael O'Barr. "Unfortunately, we have those employers who are willing to hire them."

Popular demand!

Physique Artist Extraordinaire returns

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Physique Artist Extraordinaire is returning to Big Spring. Back by popular demand is Russ Testo, who thrilled fans with his guest posing at last year's Spring City Classic Body Building Championship.

Testo is back and he's bigger and better than ever. The 5-7, 170-pound Troy, N.Y. resident, has added more thickness to his body, and a handful of new posing routines.

He seems as excited about returning to Big Spring as fans are to have him back.

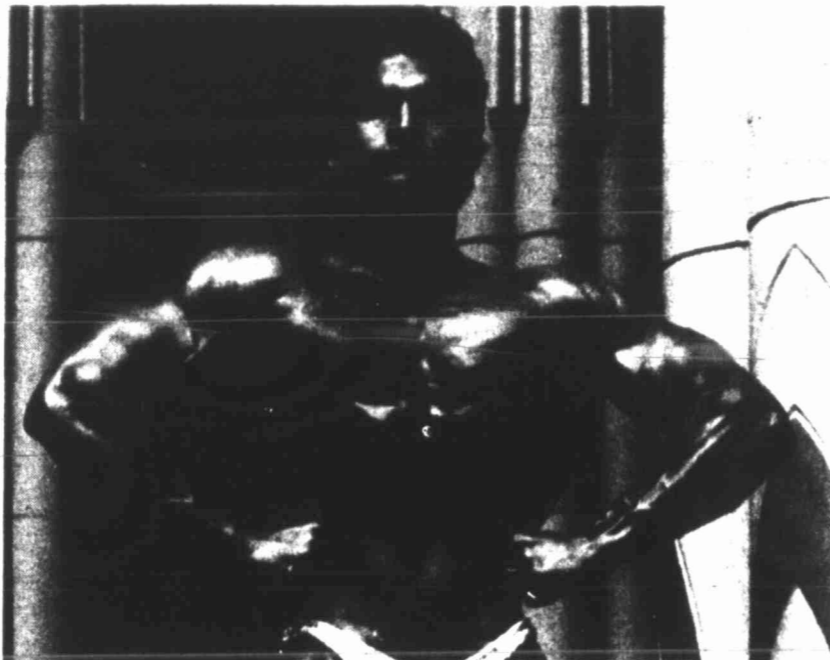

"He's back by popular demand," said meet coordinator Doug Beams. "That's the main request we got from people who attended last year. They want Russ Testo."

In a telephone interview Wednesday night, Testo said he will arrive in Big Spring Thursday night, and bubbled with enthusiasm.

"I felt very comfortable in Big Spring. I had a good time, I really enjoyed myself," said the 28-year-old, who's considered by the experts to be the best poser in the world.

"Texas is probably my best state. It seems I perform in Texas more than any state. The sports of body building and power lifting are pretty popular in Texas."

"I have a lot of friends in Texas. Each time I come down I get closer to them."

Troy, N.Y. native Russ Testo will be making his second appearance in Big Spring when he guest poses at the Spring City Classic Body Building Championships Saturday at the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium.

Thus far he's also made appearances in Austin and El Paso.

Since he was in Big Spring last time Testo has made guest appearances in 15 states in the country, Canada and the island of Curaco in the Caribbean.

He said the people on the island really enjoyed his show. "I went over there (Curaco) first in '84; twice in '85 and '86, and once in '87," he said. "Body building is really beginning to grow there. The people really appreciated my exhibitions. They hadn't really seen anything like it."

Changing from his normal workout routine, Testo has done some power lifting this past year.

"That's what has contributed to me adding more thickness and quality to my physique," he said of power lifting.

"I powered lifted for two-and-a-half months. Therefore, I was training with heavier weights."

Testo competed in a power lifting meet Feb. 6 in the 170-181 pound division. Of 13 competitors he placed fifth. He dead lifted 520 pounds, bench pressed 315 pounds and squatted 440 pounds.

"Power lifting is easier than training for body building," said Testo. "In power lifting you're not doing as many reps and taking longer rest in between sets," he explained.

"An example is when I'm doing heavy dead lifts, I rest no longer than five minutes between sets. When I'm body building training, I rest from 45 seconds to a minute."

Testo's long term goal is to make it in the movies. For that purpose he's assembled a video tape resume, which features 15 routines, including his latest ones.

He said he will perform "three or four" routines for the crowd. His latest, a big crowd favorite, is to Michael Jackson's "The Way You Make Me Feel." "It's going over real big. I've only done it about four or five times," he said.

"This year I'm following my "Billy Jean" routine with "The Way You Make Me Feel", just like Michael followed his "Thriller" album with his "Bad" album."

Likewise, Testo is expected to follow up last year's Spring City Classic visit with another rousing performance.

Forsan hosting first-ever youth basketball camp

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Forsan High School will be the site June 13-17 for the Forsan Buffalo Basketball Camp, a camp for youth ages 9-12, and any incoming seventh, eighth and ninth grade student.

A $45 tuition fee will be charged to each camp member. A $20 deposit will be required prior to the camp, with the full amount due on the first day of the camp.

This is the first camp Forsan has hosted. It consists of individual skills development, shooting competitions and team competitions. Individual and team awards, and camp T-shirts will be issued at the conclusion of camp.

Camp hours will be 8:30 a.m. until 3:45 p.m. during the week. The award ceremony will be Friday at noon. Camp instructor will be Forsan boys basketball coach Kurt White.

All involved campers will be instructed in accordance with University Interscholastic League policy regarding summer camp restrictions.

Deadline to register is June 6.

Write to: Kurt White, Box 684, Forsan, Tx. 79733.

Thursday Notes

Both the variety and size of fishing catches improved at lakes J.B. Thomas and E.V. Spence during the past weekend.

Crappie fishing, mostly on minnows and jigs, was excellent at Lake Thomas, and increasing at Lake Spence. There were several large striped bass caught at Lake Spence; one 21.5 pounder, along with sizeable strings of white bass, blue and channel catfish and black bass.

At Lake Spence, Gene Adams, of Big Spring, caught 10 white and one black bass. Dee and Lil Anderson, of Ackery caught 11 catfish — the largest weighing 20.5 pounds.

Now for the weekly happenings from the Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association...

Four teams tied for first in couples nine hole play last Thursday, with scores of 33.

Those teams were: Mark and Dana Wilkinson and Paul and Patti Woodall; Jim and Ruby Honea and Gerald and Ramona Harris; Jim and Annie Ward and Nile Cole and Ina Stewart; and Tommy and Stormy Ward and Travis and Milli Hunter.

Teams finishing with 34s were: Margaret and Dan Wise and Paul and Dee Jenkins; and Jim and Georgie Newsom and Tommy and Dianne Posey.

The couples will have a picnic following play this Thursday.

In ladies nine hole play Monday, Harriett Richardson and Dana Wilkinson shot a 45 to finish first. Shooting a 46 was the duo of Peggy Marshall and Mary Malone.

In other golfing news...

Ramona Harris and Patsy Sharpnack, local Comanche Trail golfers, placed second in the first flight in the two-day ladies tournament this past weekend in Lamesa.

Albert's Upholstery won first place in the Second Annual Chicano Invitational Bowling Tournament at Big Spring Bowl-A-Rama last weekend.

J.M. Ringener and Tom Davis won the doubles, David Campbell won the singles, and Robert Evans came in first in all events.

Big Spring Bowl-A-Rama will be the site of two scratch tournaments this Saturday and Sunday. Entry fee is $50.

One tournament is for bowlers who have an average under 150, and the other tournament is for anyone who wants to compete. Both are scratch tournaments.

The tournament will have qualifying squads at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Saturday. Squad times are 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

For more information call Bowl-A-Rama at 267-7484.

Local semipro baseball team Big Spring Cardinals split a doubleheader with the Andrews Braves Sunday at Roy Anderson Complex.

The Braves won the opener 10-1. Adam Rodriguez was the losing pitcher. In the second game Frankie Rubio pitched a three-hitter as the Cardinals won 7-1. Rubio aided his own cause by hitting a grand slam homer and a solo shot.

The Cardinals are now 9-3 for the season. The Cardinals travel to Eunice, N.M. for a doubleheader this weekend.

The New York School of Umpiring, one of three approved professional umpiring programs in the country, is set for its fifth season, starting June 27 in New York.

The school, which operates on the campus of Fordham University, is offering a two-week amateur session, and five-week professional session.

Tuition for the five-week program is $700, and the two-week program is $375.

For more information call (214) 247-3597.

Texas A&M University will be sponsoring track and field camps July 3-9 and July 10-16.

Tuition is $220 for live-in campers and $190 for day campers. This includes instruction, handouts, accident insurance, room and board (live-in campers) and campus transportation.

For more information call (409) 845-5823.

Local Big League baseball tryouts have been rescheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Roy Anderson Complex. The tryouts, for boys 16-18 years old, was originally scheduled for May 18.

For more information call Terry Brumley at 267-7263.

Center sub comes through

EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) — Keith Acton admits he's no Wayne Gretzky, but he's starting to look like a superstar to the Edmonton Oilers with his timely goals in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

"Acton has a great attitude and works hard, even when he's not playing," Edmonton coach Glen Sather said "after watching his infrequently-used center score the game-winner in Wednesday night's 2-1 victory over Boston in the opening of the Stanley Cup final.

"He's a great character person and a great off-ice influence. He's been tremendous for the team."

Acton, a center known more for his defense than his offense, was acquired by Edmonton in a trade last January with Minnesota. He only scored three goals in 26 games with the Oilers, but has two goals in the playoffs so far — both of them game-winners.

Before Wednesday night's big goal, he also scored the game-winner in the Campbell Conference clincher over Detroit.

"It's real nice to be here," Acton said. "I knew when I first got here that I'd have to sit out my share of games. We have a lot of depth at forward, especially the center ice position."

Acton's goal came on a deflection of a shot by Steve Smith from the deep slot 1:15 into the third period.

"I was just standing there and Steve Smith saw me," Acton said. "He's a real heads-up player and good with the puck. He was shooting the puck for me to deflect it. I think it was probably off the net. I don't think he was shooting to score."

Said Smith: "I saw Keith and tried to get it in his direction. It was fortunate that the puck went in."

Smith also was in on the Oilers'

EDMONTON — Edmonton Oilers goalie Fehr controls the puck with his stick as Boston Bruins Moe Lemay closes in during Wednesday night's first game of Stanley Cup Finals play.

other goal, when Gretzky scored at 1:56 of the second period to break a scoreless tie.

"I just shot it in and the puck was bouncing," Smith said. "Someone told me the replay showed it bounced off four or five players before Moog batted it in."

Smith referred to Andy Moog, the ex-Oiler who was facing his former team for the first time since a trade to Boston last March.

Reaction from the Oilers on facing their old teammate was all positive.

"Andy played well, he played very well," Gretzky said. "But the bottom line was that we got two goals and they only got one."

That was a tribute to the Edmonton defense as well as anything else. The Oilers only allowed the Bruins 14 shots in the game and shut them out on six power-play opportunities.

"We're going to have to generate more offense," Bruins coach Terry

Hawks take upper hand on Celts

By The Associated Press

Now that the Hawks have put an end to their string of futility at the Boston Garden, the Celtics will have to win in Atlanta to avoid their earliest ouster from the NBA Playoffs in five years.

NBA

Playoffs

The Hawks beat the Celtics 112-104 Wednesday night to break a 13-game losing streak at the Garden, take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal and put themselves within a victory of meeting the Detroit Pistons for the right to advance to the league championship series. Detroit eliminated Chicago in five games with a 102-95 victory.

"It's a great feeling, but we have to keep everything in perspective," Atlanta's Dominique Wilkins said. "We have to play another game (or two)."

Game 6 is scheduled for Friday night at the Omni, where the Hawks have beaten the Celtics eight of the last nine times they've played.

A seventh game, if necessary, will be in Boston on Sunday.

Tonight at Salt Lake City, the Los Angeles Lakers, seeking to become the first team to win consecutive league championships since the Celtics in 1968-69, will try to oust the Utah Jazz. The Lakers, aiming to win their fifth title this decade, lead 3-2 in their Western Conference semifinal series.

The other Western semifinal also could end tonight if the Mavericks, leading Denver 3-2, beat the Nuggets at Dallas.

If seventh games in those series are necessary, they would be played Saturday at Inglewood, Calif., and at Denver.

The Celtics are hoping to avoid becoming the fifth team in league history — the first since 1977 — to lose a seven-game series after winning the first two.

Boston, which reached the finals in each of the last four seasons and won twice, hadn't lost to the Hawks in Boston Garden since a 114-105 setback on March 1, 1985.

"We believed we could do it," Atlanta guard Glenn Rivers said.

Now Boston, seeking its 17th NBA championship, will have to beat a confident Atlanta team twice to continue that quest.

The Hawks rebounded from their two losses to win Games 3 and 4 at home.

"When you beat a great team ... it's got to help your confidence," Rivers added. "The Celtics gave us the open shots and we hit them. In the past, we haven't."

Two free throws by Wilkins' with 2:07 left gave Atlanta a 99-98 lead and launched a 10-0 run that lifted the Hawks to victory.

Two free throws by Dennis Johnson with 2:25 to go gave Boston its last lead, 98-97. But the parade to the foul line by Atlanta — which made 22 of 24 free throws in the final period — doomed Boston.

Atlanta was led by Kevin Willis with a playoff-career-high 27 points. Wilkins added 25 points and Rivers 21.

For Boston, Robert Parish had 24 points, Bird 22 and Johnson 20.

Pistons 102, Bulls 95 Detroit advanced to the Eastern final for the second straight year behind the play of Bill Laimbeer, who scored 13 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter.

"It just happened that my six, eight, 10 points in a row came at the end of the game," Laimbeer said. "That's where it became a point to get the shots to fall in and ours did."

Texan hoping for win in state
FORT WORTH (AP) — Texan Tom Kite says he's going to relax this week, take it easy, have a good time and maybe just win the $750,000 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament.
 "At least I hope so," he said after firing a 2-under-par 68 in a pro-am prelude to today's opening round of the 42nd springtime Colonial classic. "I'm going to have some fun, no matter what the results."
 The operative word, he revealed, is patience.
 "I need to be long on patience," said Kite, the former University of Texas ace who freely admits he tries so hard to play well in Texas that he tends to put too much pressure on himself.
 "I think that's a little bit of what happened last week in Dallas," he said, referring to an opening round 75 that caused him to miss the cut in the Byron Nelson Classic.

 It was Julius Boros, twice a winner here, who first provided the formula for conquering the Colonial course. Said he:
 "Well, you gotta be patient. And you gotta have some experience here. You gotta hit different shots, and it's not enough to just hit the greens. You gotta hit 'em in the right places."
 Kite agrees.
 "But it's easy to put so much pressure on yourself that you can't play well," he said, adding that, aside from the majors, there is no tournament in the world he'd rather win than the Colonial NIT.

Hernandez K-O's Padres

By The Associated Press
Keith Hernandez went down for the count, then got up and knocked out the San Diego Padres.
 Hernandez, the New York Mets' all-star first baseman, was kneed by a baserunner in the fifth inning Wednesday night. He was knocked dizzy, but remained in the game after being revived.

National League

"I really don't know (if I was knocked out)," Hernandez said after the Mets beat San Diego 5-2 as Bob Ojeda pitched two-hit ball for 8 1/3 innings. "I was wondering if I was on the base. There was a guy on third. I tried to get up but when I heard (umpire) Lee Weyer say 'out,' I said to hell with this and laid down there a while."

Two innings later, Hernandez did some slugging of his own against pitcher Jimmy Jones, who collided with him at first base with the score 1-1. Ojeda singled, Len Dykstra was safe on catcher Benito Santiago's throwing error, and after Ojeda was picked off, and Wally Backman struck out, Hernandez homered.

"I was ahead of the count and he got the ball over the plate. I hit it," Hernandez explained.
 After Hernandez's homer, Howard Johnson added a bases-loaded double in the four-run seventh inning as the Mets opened a four-game lead on second-place Pittsburgh in the NL East.
 New York has won three straight against San Diego since losing that many in San Francisco.

Expos 3, Dodgers 0
 Homers by Andres Galarraga and Tim Wallach supported rookie John Dopson's first major league win. Dopson pitched six scoreless innings, allowing three hits.
 Dodgers starter Orel Hershiser, who has lost two in a row after opening the season 6-0, struck out eight, walked two and allowed five hits. But one of them was Galarraga's eighth homer of the season, leading off the second. That was all Montreal needed.

Giants 5, Phillies 1
 At San Francisco, Mike Krukow gave up four hits, struck out six and walked three before being relieved by Scott Garrelts with two on in the ninth. Garrelts got Lance Parrish to hit into a double play to pick up his second save. Parrish had homered in the second inning.
 Brett Butler, who had three hits, broke a 1-1 tie with a two-run single in the sixth off Bruce Ruffin, 3-4. Chris Speier also had three hits.

Astros 4, Pirates 2
 Slumping Alan Ashby struck out three times. But he also had a two-run single in the sixth inning, rallying the Astros. Visiting Pittsburgh lost its fifth in a row.

Ashby had four hits in his previous 33 at-bats prior to his game-winning off Doug Drabek. Nolan Ryan, pitched six innings and got the victory, despite striking out only two. Dave Smith got his eighth save by pitching the ninth.
 Billy Hatcher singled, Denny Walling reached base on a fielder's choice and Kevin Bass was intentionally walked before Ashby's hit scored Hatcher and Walling.
Reds 9, Braves 4
 At Cincinnati, Dave Collins' suicide squeeze bunt put the Reds ahead in the seventh inning and he added a two-run double in the eighth.
 The Reds scored twice in the seventh to overcome a 4-3 deficit. Kal Daniels led off with a double and scored on a one-out single by Barry Larkin. A wild pitch with Paul Neill at bat sent Larkin to third, and Collins pinch-hit with a 2-1 count. He went to a full count before laying down the bunt for a run-scoring single.
Cardinals 4, Cubs 1
 Tom Brunansky, whom St. Louis acquired for power, provided plenty at Wrigley Field with a pair of doubles. His second double was good for two runs in the eighth.
 Todd Worrell worked the final 1 2/3 innings for his league-leading 12th save.

Rookie nets first big league win

By The Associated Press
Rookie Jose Bautista pitched a five-hitter through seven innings for his first major-league win, but the Baltimore Orioles had to hold on to earn their sixth victory of the season Wednesday night, outlasting the California Angels 8-7.

The Orioles snapped a 2-2 tie in the sixth by scoring five runs against loser Mike Witt, 1-5, on four walks, a single and a misjudged line drive that turned into a three-run double.
Red Sox 4, Athletics 1
BOSTON (AP) — A two-base error by outfielder Dave Parker and a two-run throwing error by Oakland pitcher Dave Stewart helped the Boston Red Sox to a 4-1 victory over the Athletics.
 Stewart, 8-2, was outdueling by Boston's Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 5-2, who scattered six hits, walked four and struck out four in eight innings as the Red Sox snapped Oakland's four-game winning streak. Stewart walked a career-high nine batters, allowed five hits and set a major league record with his 12th balk of the season.

Detroit's Doyle Alexander, 4-2, allowed eight hits, walked three and struck out seven.
 Ray Knight had four hits for the Tigers.

Indians 2, White Sox 1
CLEVELAND (AP) — Joe Carter doubled home two runs and Tom Candiotti pitched his sixth complete game as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox 2-1.
 Carter's two-run double off Melido Perez, 3-1, gave Cleveland its seventh victory in the last eight games and helped Candiotti raise his record to 6-1.
Rangers 4, Blue Jays 0
TORONTO (AP) — Geno Petralli

hit a two-run double off the glove of Lloyd Moseby, and Ray Hayward, 3-0, made the runs stand up, tossing a six-hitter as the Texas Rangers defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 4-0.
 Ruben Sierra and Steve Buechele hit consecutive solo homers in the seventh off Todd Stottlemyre, 1-5, to seal the victory. It was Sierra's fourth and Buechele's seventh.
 The victory completed a two-game sweep for the Rangers. Texas had dropped nine straight games at Exhibition Stadium before its extra-inning win on Tuesday.

Royals 8, Twins 2
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Home runs by Bo Jackson, Kurt Stillwell and Danny Tartabull backed Bret Saberhagen's eight-hitter as the Kansas City Royals defeated the Minnesota Twins 8-2.
 Saberhagen, 5-4, struck out four and walked four as he threw the 35th complete game of his career. He has four of the Royals' six complete games this season.

Stillwell, the ninth batter in the order, broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth when he hit a two-run homer off Allan Anderson, 1-3. Stillwell, who singled in the third, is 7-for-15 in his last five games and has homered in his last two games.
 The Royals' outfielders threw out three runners, two by Jackson.

American League

The five-run outburst matched the biggest inning of the season for the 6-31 Orioles, who were being managed by bullpen coach Elrod Hendricks. Hendricks is filling in for manager Frank Robinson, who is hospitalized for treatment of a ruptured disk.
Tigers 3, Brewers 1
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Luis Salazar scored the go-ahead run on a ninth-inning balk by Milwaukee's Teddy Higuera and the Detroit Tigers went on to defeat the Brewers 3-1.

Bliss leaves Southern Methodist for UNM
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — If his opening act is any indication, Dave Bliss indeed is ready to take over the No. 1 show in town.
 Bliss is leaving Southern Methodist University to become the head coach at New Mexico, a school where basketball is king regardless of the season.
 Bliss inherits a program rich in fan support but hungrier for national prominence. While New Mexico has ranked in the top 10 nationally in attendance for 22 consecutive years, the Lobos haven't been to the NCAA Tournament since 1978.
 It was that shortcoming that paved Bliss' road from Dallas to Albuquerque as the successor to Gary Colson. Colson won more games than he lost in eight seasons at New Mexico — a 146-106 record — but his failure to get the Lobos to the NCAA Tournament eventually led to his forced resignation on April 26.
 "It's clear we haven't been to an NCAA Tournament and our expectations are that we will win the WAC (Western Athletic Conference) and get involved in the national scene," New Mexico athletic director John Koenig said in announcing that Bliss had agreed to a five-year contract.
 Bliss used Wednesday's press conference to show that a basketball coach can also have a sense of humor.
 Noting he became New Mexico's top choice only after Indiana coach Bob Knight turned down the job last weekend, Bliss said, "I understand he turned it down because (UNM) President (Gerald) May refused to give Bob an unlimited chair budget."
 Knight, often the center of controversy for his actions on and off the court, is a longtime friend of Bliss, who assisted Knight-coached programs at Army and Indiana. In fact, Knight stopped at a payphone during a trip to Cincinnati on Wednesday to make a call to the news conference.
 Before Knight's call came through, Greg Remington, New Mexico's sport's information director, informed the audience the Indiana coach would be calling. New Mexico athletic director John Koenig, who heard only a part of the announcement, turned to Remington and said, "Who?"
 "Bobby Knight," Bliss said. "You remember him, don't you, John?"
 "Dave will bring great organization to the job and I don't think there is a better man for the job at New Mexico than Dave," Knight said.
 Bliss said he appreciated Knight's support, but more so his decision to remain in Indiana.

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

FRIDAY,
MAY 20, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: You will find a new source of inspiration. Although the summer brings some emotional upsets, you will experience many beautiful golden moments. Enjoy the companionship of a child or parent. After Labor Day, your personal life settles down. A new contentment is shared by your loved ones. Your work should give you a feeling of exhilaration. You have the freedom to do more exciting things. Building a home or moving to a different part of the country holds special appeal.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actress Mindy Cohn, tenor Beniamino Gigli, actor Jimmy Stewart, superstar Cher, football coach Bud Grant.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your attraction to a stranger could be part of those secret rebellious feelings you are harboring. Step back and take a second look at a financial problem. The solution is before you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You need group support to make a business deal, and you will get it. Count pennies until a credit situation is set right. Unusual circumstances lead you toward a satisfying relationship.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You feel the need for more friends. Experimentation could produce extra cash. You can mend a broken relationship if you are willing to pick up the phone. Keep developing new social outlets.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your logic is a major asset when negotiating a business deal or acquiring needed cash. You may have to change some travel plans at the last minute. You find it easier now to examine your emotions.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You sometimes work yourself into a panic that could be avoided. Listen closely today and profit from what is said. A lunchtime nap gives you extra energy for a busy afternoon.

VRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Profits increase, but so do expenses. Stick to the tried-and-true. A career move will be beneficial. Work on your own as much as possible, but attend a party tonight and join the human race!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A conservative approach works best for you. Pay back any money you owe as soon as possible. Musicians and writers should do especially well today. A health program started now will be successful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Salespeople can expect a bonanza today. Do not let success go to your head. A change of residence contributes to a sense of well-being. Complete educational courses. Self-improvement pays off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Start a new job with confidence. Wise counsel helps you solve a problem quickly. Reorganize your living environment for greater comfort. Learn more about computers; take a course.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Tempers could flare over financial issues. A third party is brought in to arbitrate. Resolve to keep things calmer in the future. An older person shows romantic inclinations. Know your heart.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Develop your talents to the fullest, even if it means going back to school. Do not sign contracts without first completing research. Attend meetings on time and be prepared to answer questions.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Influential person displays renewed interest in your projects. A hobby can be turned into a lucrative venture. Seek experts' advice. An old relationship can be rejuvenated. Make the first overture.
