Crossroads weather

Forecast for the Big Spring area: There is a chance of isolated afternoon and evening thunderstorms through Saturday in the Permian Basin, a few possibly severe. Cooler in much of area Saturday. The high Thursday was 82; the low was 57.

Gregg decision: Widening on its way

By ROBERT WERNSMAN
Managing Editor

After months of discussion and debate, the decision has been reached:

Gregg Street will be widened, from 10th Street to FM 700.

State Highway District Engineer Bill Burnett, Abilene, said this morning the decision to proceed with the project was reached earlier this week.

That decision comes about 45 days past the April 1 target date for a final decision — a delay he attributed to working with federal authorities.

Although Gregg Street — which is part of Highway 87 — is a state highway passing through the Big Spring city limits, federal authorities became involved "because it is their money" that will be used for the widening.

Project plans call for 18 blocks to be widened by seven feet on each side of the highway, to allow construction of a left turn lane.

Mayor Cotton Mize said this morning that he was not surprised by the decision.

"After the meeting at the Community Center (a Feb. 11 public hearing on the matter), I felt like the majority of the community seemed to support the project. In the long run, Big Spring will benefit from it and, after all, that's what we're after."

Work could begin as early as mid-May 1989, with completion of the project scheduled for Sept. 1, 1989, Burnett said.

Burnett said that bidletting for construction work will be scheduled for March or April 1989, with work to begin within two months. However, Burnett speculated that construction might be delayed until June, in anticipation of reduced traffic once school has recessed for the summer.

The project was proposed based on the accident rate of that portion of the state highway, thus qualifying for $700,000 in federal highway safety funds. An additional $50,000 will be awarded for traffic lights, Burnett said.

The $750,000 will cover the cost of the entire project, according to the district engineer.

Burnett said that the issue of parking "was the biggest hurdle," before he had gotten "everybody in the boat with us." He believes that "everybody's in agreement" on the parking issue, with "only one or two minor changes." Beyond that, he said, parking will remain the same. He declined to specify where the changes will occur.

Resident Engineer Mike Chetty will be responsible for contacting each of the property owners along the widening route, Burnett said, which is required to obtain the necessary federal letter of authority.

Chetty was not in his Big Spring office today, but Burnett suggested that the contacting process will begin by June 1.

Burnett said that it is "safe to assume" that the eventual widening of Gregg Street north from 10th Street will be considered.

However, he said, that stretch of the highway does not have the accident history south of 10th Street, which means that no federal highway safety program funds will be available for widening that portion of the street.

However, he said, "we have to look at the integrity of the Highway 87 system and the impact of it on citizens, as well as people traveling (through Big Spring) across the country."

Safety concerns along the route to be widened were noted by state highway officials through the use of several statistical profiles. Among them:

Avery, Grimes and Garrett honorees of local chamber

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Johnnie Lou Avery was named Big Spring's Small Business Person of the Year today, marking the second selection of a woman in the award's five-year history.

The recognition was made at the noon community luncheon of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber's Cultural Affairs Council named Katie Grimes, a realtor with Sun Country, its woman of the year.

In a special presentation, the council also named Dorothy Garrett the first recipient of the Cultural Affairs Angel Award in recognition of her financial and volunteer support for the fine arts in Big Spring.

Avery and Grimes received their awards in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum East Room; the award for Garrett, who was not present, was announced at the luncheon.

"If you had one call to make in Big Spring," said Texas Monthly, "(call) Johnnie Lou Avery, management consultant. Adroit businesswoman with lots of political savvy, also a columnist for the local paper, known from Midland and Odessa to Lubbock."

Avery, president of Avery & Associates, has established a business represented throughout Texas, with associates in 28 other states. The firm began in 1979 when Avery left Howard College, having been an administrator there for 13 years.

Avery & Associates is a consulting firm analyzing needs and meeting companies' problems in personnel management, customer-client relations and marketing.

It includes West Texas Program Bureau, a division providing speakers and workshop/seminar

DOROTHY GARRETT free-lance writer and former textbook editor. In addition to Avery & Associates, she has been instrumental in the founding of three businesses, one service and two retail, according to chamber Executive Vice President LeRoy Tillery.

Avery also has been nominated for appointment to the state College and University System Coordinating Board and was appointed to the Texas National Research Laboratory Committee, aimed at bringing the superconducting supercollider to Texas, by Governor Mark White. A past president of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors, she has been active for the past 20 years with the chamber and has been a consultant to other chambers in five states.

She has been nominated twice — in 1985 and 1987 — to the Texas Woman's Hall of Fame.

It's time Coahoma plans retiree's blowout

By BLAINE BUCHENAU
Special to the Herald and ROBERT WERNSMAN

"Like a kid looking forward to a birthday party."

That is Rob Ethridge's description of his impending retirement as an educator after nearly 30 years with the Coahoma school system.

Ethridge qualifies his enthusiasm about retirement, though, saying "You get excited about it, and then when it finally gets here, it's no big deal."

But quite a few folks plan to be sure that it is a "big deal" for Ethridge during a Saturday reception. The Coahoma junior high principal will be honored at 7 p.m. in the Coahoma Elementary Cafetorium — an event organized by Jean Wynn and Beverly Martin, and open to the public.

Coahoma Mayor Eleanor Garrett is proclaiming the week of May 21-28 as Rob Ethridge week, "in honor of his service to the school and community." City Clerk Holly Best said Thursday.

Beverly Martin, Ethridge's secretary for the past 12 years, says she has "never worked for anyone like him... he's the type of person who understands — even when you do it wrong."

She describes her work with Ethridge as "the best 12 years that I've ever had... I look forward to coming to work. If there's a problem, he's there to help and he's always treated us like he wants to be treated."

Martin believes one of the highest compliments paid to Ethridge came from this year's graduating class. "They think so much of him, they asked for him to deliver their commencement address."

Ethridge and his wife, Marie Petty, came to Coahoma in the fall of 1959, where he began teaching history and coaching high school football for five years and served as junior high assistant principal for one year before taking the job as principal in 1965.

Nancy Marshall also worked for Ethridge and has fond memories — including the time he sent her home as a first-year teacher, because the dress she wore was too short by school district standards. The action established her respect of him, she said.

She learned that he would enforce the rules — fairly — as they were established by the district. A favorite line about Ethridge, she said, was the belief that "if the board ruled all Coahoma ISD junior high girls were to wear mohawks, all the girls would have mohawks — whether he agrees with it or not."

He completed his master's degree in education in 1968 at Sul Ross University.

His education was interrupted by military service, he said, after having enrolled in Southern Methodist University in 1948 on a football scholarship. He volunteered for the Army, took basic training in San Antonio and was assigned to Brook Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston as a medic. He continued his sports interests, playing on the center's football team.

He returned to SMU in 1952 on the football scholarship after his discharge and resumed his studies, completing a B.B.A. degree in business marketing.

He's had more than education in his background, however, spending three years with the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville as an athletics and recreation officer, after teaching in a Dallas elementary school for one year.

Bail for three cut to $50,000

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Bonds for three Howard County men charged with capital murder were reduced in 118th District Court today.

Judge James Gregg reduced bonds for two men charged in the April 1 death of radio personality C. Vance Kimble from $100,000 each to $50,000.

He also reduced bonds for a Knott man charged in connection with the deaths of two Mexican nationals in October from $125,000 to $50,000 on each count of capital murder.

Michael Hodnett, 23, Big Spring, and 17-year-old Patrick Milton Newton, Sand Spring, were reduced from $100,000 each to $50,000 each after Gregg ruled the previous bonds excessive, oppressive and beyond the financial ability of the suspects.

Bonds for Enrique Sabedra Jr., 18, Knott, were reduced from two bonds of $125,000 on charges of capital murder to bonds of $50,000 on each count.

Sabedra was indicted in connection with the deaths of Norberto Gurrola Hernandez and Miguel Villareal Calixto, both of Mexico, whose bodies were found in the debris of a burned farmhouse near Luther in October.

He has been in custody in the Howard County jail since his arrest on those charges.

After the hearing, arrangements were being made for the families of all three men to make bond for them.

Judge Gregg appointed local attorney Robert H. Moore III to represent Newton Thursday. Don Richard was appointed to represent Hodnett.

Richard also serves as the court-appointed attorney for Sabedra.

Light show

Local residents were treated to a display of lightning Thursday night, along with nearly two inches of rain in some parts of the county. Rainfall reports since mid-day Thursday include: Elton Martin, 203 N. Nolan, 1.10 inch; Agricultural Research Center — 78, year-to-date total, 3.55; normal year-to-date total, 5.55; Tommy Hart, 1750 Purdue, 1.55; H. Boyce Hale, Starling City Route, 1.37; O.W. Scuddry, Forsan, 1.95; Neil Fryer, Lower, 1.2; Red Thomas, 187 E. 13th, 1.0; CRAWD, Big Spring intake, .79; Snyder intake, .49; Snyder, 1.07; Lake Spence, 2.4; Moss Creek, 1.4; Big Spring Base S. 1.5; Martin County, .80. CRAWD officials report that Sulphur Draw is now running.

Parents will meet to discuss disorders

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Parents whose children have dyslexia, attention deficit disorder syndrome or related learning disorders will have an opportunity to discuss and share their problems Sunday afternoon.

The parent meeting — the second for the group — is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday on the second floor of the Permian building, according to Cindy Overton, a parent of a child with a learning disorder.

"What we're trying to do," she said Thursday, "is let these parents know that they're not the only ones in this boat."

Parents of these children experience a variety of problems, ranging from the child's seeming inability to learn, to past indifference from school systems.

Overton — whose child, Richard, has been diagnosed as having hyperkinetic syndrome — is well aware of these problems, she said.

"Richard is hyperactive — he can't be still," she said. "He couldn't learn anything because he couldn't sit still."

"He was always in trouble at school," Overton continued. "Once, he wet his pants in the principal's office, and another time he set off the fire alarm at school — and it was snowing at the time."

The school system was of little help at the time. She said it "was like running into a brick wall" trying to get help for her son.

Part of the trouble, Overton said, is that Richard and children like him are what she described as children who fall between the cracks — unable to learn in a normal classroom setting, but not meeting the requirements for special education.

Richard had problems at school from the very beginning, his mother said. He failed first grade, but was passed on his second try.

Politics? Hardesty fired as president of SW Texas State

SAN MARCOS (AP) — Fired Southwest Texas State University President Robert L. Hardesty blamed "pure partisan politics" for his dismissal and said a board member appointed by Gov. Bill Clements was responsible. The Texas State University System board voted 5-4 Thursday to oust Hardesty after seven years as president of the San Marcos school, saying it took the action because of a philosophical difference on the administration of the school.

"I can only assume it was pure partisan politics, especially since the newest member of the board, Bill Worth of San Antonio, a Clements appointee, was sworn in (Thursday)," Hardesty told the San Antonio Light.

"He wasn't sworn in till (Thursday) afternoon. He'd never met me and never been on my campus, yet he voted without hesitation to fire me. I think that's a strange coincidence."

Board chairman Ruben M. Escobedo of San Antonio said the dismissal was not based on allegations of impropriety, but on a philosophical difference on the administration of SWT, spokesman James Hamm said.

Hardesty said he was fired because of his friendship with former Gov. Mark White. Hardesty said board members had "politicized our education system," and had previously accused him of writing speeches for White.

"They (board members) claim in previous conversations that I am too political. I have not in any way politicized this campus," Hardesty said.

The dismissal is effective June 30. Regents appointed SWT Executive Vice President Michael Abbott, 43, as interim president. Abbott joined SWT about 12 years ago as director of planning and analysis.

Clements had appointed three of the five regents who voted to remove Hardesty, who became SWT president in 1981. The other two, including Escobedo, are White appointees whose terms expire next year.

"I've written messages to the Legislature and speeches on higher education (for White) but I have never written a campaign speech for him," said Hardesty.

AUSTIN — Robert Hardesty was fired Thursday as president of Southwest Texas State University by a vote of 5-4 of the Texas State University System regents.

Judge throws out runoff election

PARIS (AP) — The results of a Lamar County commissioners runoff were thrown out by a retired judge who said he will set a date for a new election by mid-July.

A strong suspicion of ballot tampering made it impossible to declare a winner in the runoff between County Commissioner Gene Buster and his opponent, Glynn Stephens, said Retired Judge Thomas Crofts of Kaufman County.

Texas Rangers were looking into the possibility of ballot tampering, and planned to present evidence to a grand jury.

The evidence includes a key apparently shaved to fit a ballot box, Ranger Eddie Almond said. The key was found two days after a recount and was near the area where ballot boxes were stored, he said.

Buster won the April 12th runoff.

Wealthy areas give reviews on funding plan

AUSTIN (AP) — State comptroller Bob Bullock says representatives of some wealthy Dallas school districts have given mixed reactions to his proposal for beefing up funding to the state's poor school districts.

Bullock has drafted a plan to be phased in over five years that would boost state funding for education by $600 million to $700 million in 1991, the initial year, and use the state's bonding authority to assist local school districts in building new facilities.

"At best, it's a heck of a lot better than you have today," Bullock said Wednesday. "At worst, it's a starting point."

Last year, State District Judge Harley Clark of Austin ruled the state's method of paying for public education unconstitutional, saying it discriminated against children in poor districts.

Bullock's plan would include $200 million in so-called "transition" aid in 1991 to wealthy districts to reduce budget disruptions and keep the school districts at 85 percent of their present state aid levels.

Bullock said that while his plan has gotten a mixed review, representatives of wealthy districts realize there is a problem that must be solved. So far, Bullock has not recommended a tax plan to pay for his school finance proposal.

Woman killed both children, self, say officials

GAINESVILLE (AP) — A 40-year-old woman fatally shot her two children and then took her own life Thursday after pawning two diamond rings to buy a handgun, police said.

Authorities found the bodies of Sharon Wilson, her son, Kevin Paul Wilson, 13, and daughter Jacqueline Rose Wilson, 8, after Mrs. Wilson's worried parents called about a letter they received from their daughter.

The shootings occurred after Mrs. Wilson's estranged husband arrived to take his children to school, but was turned away by his daughter who said they were ill, police said.

Justice of the Peace Bill Freeman said the letter gave no explanation. "It was kind of an apology — an after-the-fact letter," he told the Gainesville Daily Register.

The letter was postmarked Thursday, the same day it was received at her parents' home in rural Cooke County, said Freeman. The exact contents of the letter were not immediately released.

Freeman tentatively ruled the deaths a double-homicide and suicide pending autopsy results.

Gainesville Police Lt. Richard Schlaudroff said the bodies of Mrs. Wilson and her daughter were both found in the woman's bed and the boy's body was found lying in another bed. All had apparently been shot once in the head, and a .38-caliber handgun with three spent shells was found, Schlaudroff said.

Freeman said it appeared some time had elapsed between the deaths of the children and the woman.

Receipts found on a dining room table showed the woman had pawned two diamond rings and purchased. Schlaudroff said the woman had been separated from her husband, an employee of a Denton-truck manufacturing company, for about five months.

Teen-ager injured as car hits pole

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A Big Spring man was injured when he was involved in a one-vehicle accident on 11th Place Thursday afternoon.

Marcus Hattenbach, 16, 1806 E. 15th St., was injured when the 1978 Chevrolet Camaro he was driving struck a utility pole on the 1600 block of 11th Place at 8:22 p.m., according to police reports.

Hattenbach was westbound on 11th Place at a high rate of speed when he lost control of his vehicle, crossed the road and struck the utility pole before coming to rest in a brushy area, the report stated.

He was transported by private vehicle to Scenic Mountain Medical Center, where he was treated and released, a hospital spokeswoman said today.

State LULAC honors women members

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

For the first time in its 59-year history, the League of United Latin American Citizens chose to recognize the advances made by its women members at a special banquet during the State Convention and Trade Fair May 12-15 in McAllen.

Local representative Raul Marquez considered the banquet a highlight of the convention, he said Tuesday, describing events he and fellow delegate Mary Lou Salazar had attended.

Salazar commented on the convention's theme, "Education is the Key," and noted that officers of the national and state and district levels of the organization had been elected Sunday.

Oscar Moran, San Antonio, will take over as national director. Vice President for the Southwest Region will be Abel Acosta, and Texas State Director Jose De Lara was retained in his position.

Outgoing deputy state director Oscar

Moreno will be replaced by John Garcia, and Richard Coronado was replaced by Isabel Jimenez, Salazar noted.

Adia Hernandez will serve as District 5 director for a territory reaching from Abilene to Midland.

Salazar, local chapter treasurer, also said she was impressed with the Saturday luncheon, "A Tribute to Farm Workers," and noted that LULAC has agreed to fully support the United Farmworkers' boycott of California grapes because workers face unsafe conditions in the fields, after hearing keynote speaker Rebecca Harrington, legal counsel for the farmworkers' union.

Lucy Acosta, an El Paso resident, was named Woman of the Year, Salazar said.

Marquez noted that State Representative Irma Rangel spoke to the convention about her family's history in business, begun when her mother began buying food, clothing and other necessities for resale from an automobile to ranch families in South Texas in the 1950s. "This was at a time when women did not do those things, and I was impressed with her initiative," Marquez said.

Her mother's success enabled Rangel to attend college, making her political career possible, he said. Rangel served as keynote speaker for the banquet honoring the achievements of LULAC women. He also related the story of the beginning of the Head Start school program among Hispanics.

It was begun by a man who began his fortune when he rented a business — where he had been a dishwasher — from the boss who intended to close it, Marquez said.

The man's success led to a chain of restaurants over several years, and he was nominated for the board of a large bank in the Houston area. His concern for the difficulties he faced in succeeding with a third-grade education inspired him to sponsor the school, Marquez noted.

Delegates from the local chapter will attend the national convention at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dallas during the first week of July, Salazar said.

911 board seeks more applications

HERALD STAFF REPORT

The 911 district board of directors have decided to extend the deadline for accepting coordinator applications until May 31, it was decided at the board's special meeting Thursday evening.

The deadline was extended from May 25 to give the board more time to advertise through Texas Employment Commission and review applications, Board Chairman Tim Yeats said.

Yeats said no applications for the coordinator position have been received as of Thursday, and added that the board has to be selective as to who it hires.

"We need someone with a little dispatch experience; someone who knows how to work with the police, fire department and ambulance (service)," he said. "We need someone who is pretty sharp."

In other business, the board agreed:

- To retain local accountant David McKay to handle the initial bookwork for the project.
- To enter into a letter of intent with the City to include 911 employees in the City's employee benefit package.
- To table until its June 2 meeting the review and approval of bylaws.

Her work on behalf of women, her community and the quality of life has earned her acclaim from several magazines, including Texas Business, commenting, "Johnnie Lou Avery is a live wire... a constant cheerleader for her community and the state."

"Avery has been a trailblazer for women, an advocate for business and education, a fighter for quality of life for all people," said West Texas Business Journal.

The 1987 award was given to John Freeman; the 1986 award went to Mrs. Pat Porter, Gail Office Supply House and Yes! Business Services.

Richard Atkins of Big Spring Hardware received the 1985 award and the inaugural presentation honored George Weeks of Gentlemen's Corner.

Katie Grimes received the second annual Cultural Affairs woman of the year award for "her continuous and dedicated work with the Heritage Museum," said Tillery.

"Her service as president of the museum in 1987 led to a number of fine activities being presented for Big Spring through the museum. The most renowned was the Big Spring Collects art show, which allowed the community to see many local collections of unique and fine art."

Tornado report creates turmoil at Midland airport

MIDLAND (AP) — Reports of funnel clouds near Midland International Airport prompted officials to evacuate two commercial jets and a window-lined terminal wing, but there were no reports of damage or injuries, authorities said.

Air traffic controllers also diverted traffic away from the airport until the storms passed Thursday evening, but the precautions caused delays of only about 15 minutes, officials said.

"We had a report of a funnel cloud in the vicinity of the airport and we relocated about 700 passengers," said airport Deputy Director Larry Roman.

"Two aircraft that were still sitting at their gates were deplaned and all those passengers and patrons who were in that glassed-in area were moved to the more sheltered baggage claim area," he said.

The emergency plan was put into effect at 6:25 p.m. after the National Weather Service reported a funnel cloud within three miles of the airport, Roman said.

Law enforcement agencies throughout the Midland area said there were no reports of tornado or other wind damage Thursday evening. Airport officials said the evacuation caused only a minor inconvenience.

highway department officials estimated that accidents could be reduced by as much as 30 percent as a result of the widening.

The project generated community debate among opponents and supporters, including more than 500 written responses and comments about the widening from local residents.

Harold Armstrong

Harold Raymond Armstrong, 79, of Coffeyville, Kan., died Thursday, May 12, 1988 in Coffeyville Medical Center.

Graveside services were 2 p.m. Monday, May 16, 1988 in Restlawn Memorial Park Cemetery under the direction of Graves Funeral Home.

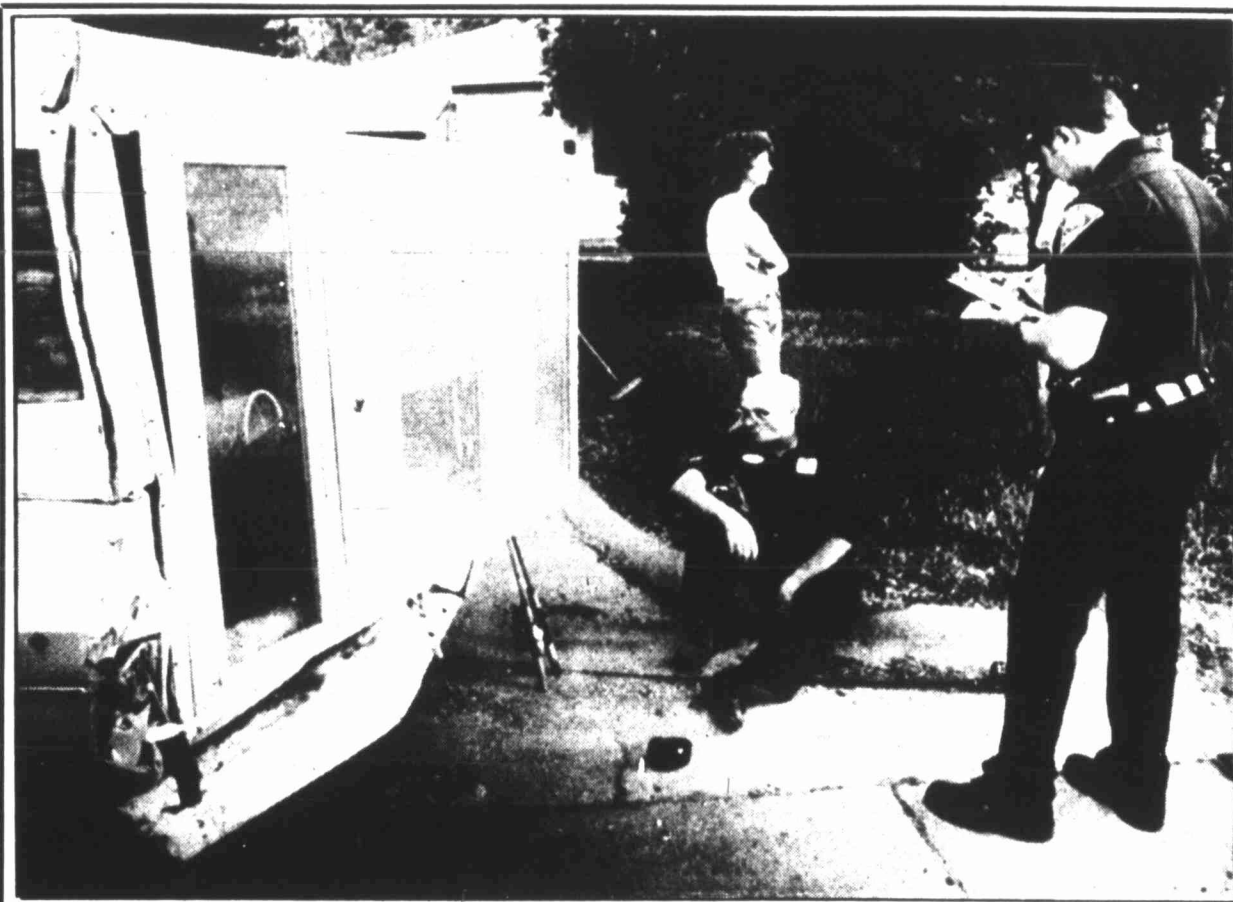

He was born Nov. 27, 1908 in Scammon, Okla. to William George and Amanda Ann Armstrong.

He married Dorothy Alice Donaldson in Independence, Okla. They made their home in Coffeyville where he worked for the post office and railroad company. In 1950 they moved to Big Spring where he owned and operated the Premier Truck Stop until he retired in 1972, when they returned to Coffeyville.

He was a veteran of World War II, serving with the U.S. Army, and was a member of the Dearing Christian Church.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy, Coffeyville; two daughters, Anita Johnson, Ruidoso, N.M.; and Mildred Pauline Baker, Waco; two sons, Bobby Ray, Big Spring; and

Not much fun

SALINA, Kan. — Richard Edwards is questioned by a police officer after his pickup truck was struck by a school bus driven by a 9-year-old. The boy stole the keys to his father's bus and went on a careening joyride through his neighborhood, smashing into cars, a tree and a house as startled residents tried to stop him. The bus finally came to rest in a trailer park. The boy and a 10-year-old friend were treated for minor injuries, but no one else was hurt. "He took the keys out of his mother's purse and just went for a joyride," said Shelley Hanchett, who works with the boy's mother. The boy's mother drives a 23-passenger bus used to transport special education students. The bus was severely damaged in the incident Wednesday.

only to fail second grade the next year.

"He had the ability, but was unable to sit down and learn," she said. "He can learn anything as long as he's on the go."

"If he could learn at the same time he's running and playing, he'd be all right," she added.

Richard's situation began to improve in October, after an appointment with Dr. G.H. Cirkovic, a Midland neurosurgeon. Dr. Cirkovic placed the child on the medication Cyfert, which has had a positive effect on Richard's schoolwork, Mrs. Overton said.

"It was like night and day with his attitude," she said. "As long as he's on the medication, he does very well in school. He's gone from a D to an A in conduct (this school year)."

Although the medication has had a positive effect while Richard is at school, his mother noted his behavior at home is much the same as it always has been.

"You can't tell any difference except in the classroom," she said. "We have to watch him to make sure he doesn't hurt himself or anyone else. He thinks he's 18."

Overton credits Richard's third-grade teacher — Coahoma Elementary instructor Shirley Ward — and Coahoma Superintendent Gary Rotan with helping her son at school.

"We have a lot of support from school," she said. "Shirley Ward jumped on his problem the first day of school this year... and Gary Rotan has worked with this kind of problem (before). They've been very helpful."

"The idea (of the meeting) is to share our problems and work on a solution," Overton said. "It's very important that parents work with the school and the school work with the parents."

Parents seeking additional information about the meeting can contact Overton at 263-0261 or Rotan at 394-4290.

Navajo accord is just to both

A Solomonic judgment appears to have been rendered in the case of little Allyssa Keetso by the Navajo Tribal Children's Court in Tuba City, Ariz. Even though the nine-month-old Navajo baby's custody never was disputed by the two mothers, the case had the potential for great emotional distress to all involved.

Patricia Keetso, Allyssa's single mother, was glad to give her baby for adoption to a white couple from San Jose whom she felt would provide a better home. Navajo tribal officials intervened in the adoption proceedings by Rick and Cheryl Pitts, however, citing authority to determine custody under the Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978. Tribal officials said they feared adoption would sever the child's link with her Indian heritage.

Another reason reportedly concerned ill feeling between the tribe and the Mormon Church over the latter's Indian foster-family programs, which are viewed as a threat to Navajo culture. Through one Mormon program, the Indian Student Placement Service, Miss Keetso spent most of her childhood living off the reservation with white families of the Mormon faith.

Happily, the tribal court has decided to grant the Pittses temporary custody pending disposition of a request for permanent guardianship. If granted, under that arrangement, Mr. and Mrs. Pitts would be able to raise the baby. The natural mother, meanwhile, would have visiting rights, which she wouldn't have under adoption. But she would not be able to come back and claim custody at a future date.

At the very least, this settlement should give little Allyssa loving parents as well as an ancestral heritage, which is something many adoptive children do not have and yearn for as they grow older. The ties that develop from such love and concern will surely be more binding than any resulting from an ugly tug of war.

COOL HAND LECH FDA letters to the doctors don't always tell the story

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — When a heart pacemaker is recalled, doctors usually find out about it through so-called "Dear Doctor" letters from the manufacturer. But those letters don't always tell the whole story, and now the Food and Drug Administration is passing up a chance to correct that problem.

The FDA reviews "Dear Doctor" letters before the pacemaker manufacturers send them out. We reported last fall that despite the FDA review, the "Dear Doctor" letters do not always include the nitty-gritty details.

In one case in early 1987, a letter may have lulled doctors into a false sense of security about dangerously defective pacemaker wires that did not always carry the pacemaker's electronic impulse to the heart.

Since our report, an FDA task force has proposed changes in the way faulty medical devices are recalled. But sources tell us that there will be no changes in the rules for "Dear Doctor" letters — even though the agency admits that the letters are the physicians' No. 1 source of information about defective medical devices.

The problem of incomplete letters will not go away if the FDA ignores it. Our associate Stewart Harris has seen another "Dear Doctor" letter that doesn't tell everything. Teletronics, a pacemaker distributor, notified doctors last year that "a very small number of Model 5281/5282 units have exhibited cessation of output." The letter said that overall, the performance was "well within accepted norms." After the letter went out, the pacemakers were recalled because of that "cessation of output."

A second letter from Teletronics said the company was trying to retrieve unused pacemakers and touch base with doctors caring for patients who already had the pacemaker. The letter closed on a comforting note: "This is neither an expansion nor new notification, simply an effort to inform you concerning these units."

What the letter didn't say was that the FDA had approved a "class one" recall for the 5281 and 5282 model pacemakers. That means there is a "reasonable probability" that using them will cause serious health consequences or death.

The FDA found that the pacemakers could suddenly stop. That would be fatal for someone totally dependent on a pacemaker to stimulate a heartbeat. (Most patients will survive even if their pacemaker stops.)

The company didn't want to scare doctors into removing pacemakers from patients who were not totally dependent on them. The spokesman challenged us to ask any doctor if it was necessary to include FDA recall information in "Dear Doctors" letters.

We did. Three out of three doctors in the Washington-Baltimore area told us they would like to get FDA recall information as long as it was explained. They said the recall data would give them another piece of information that they could use to decide whether to remove a pacemaker.

Traveler grateful to helpful officer

To the editor:

My 17-year-old daughter, Caron, was coming home from college on the night of May 6 when her car's electrical system failed. She was stranded just west of Big Spring on I-20.

It was several hours before word reached me in Odessa and I could drive to Big Spring to pick her up. When I arrived Deputy Jimmy Wallace was parked behind her car providing emergency lights for her vehicle.

Mr. Wallace helped us push her car off of the shoulder of the road, unload some of her luggage and gave moral support and advice on what could be done about her car the next day.

I have spent 17 years trying to instill into Caron a respect for and a confidence in law enforcement personnel. It was wonderful, that night, to see the values that she has been taught personified in Deputy Wallace.

I would like to reiterate how impressed we were with Deputy Wallace. He not only was very professional in his handling of the situation, but was also very caring toward us as persons.

I commend Sheriff A.N. Standard, and his department for employing an officer such as Jimmy Wallace and hope that he is representative of all of your deputies.

Rainy morning brings memories flooding back

By ALISHA GOLDMAN
Copy Editor

I had Thursday morning free and revelled in the raindrops falling on the hot West Texas earth.

There's nothing like rain to inspire poets, songwriters and memories.

Rarely is it heard in West Texas "Rain, rain go away, come again some other day." Especially not this year.

I've had a few special experiences with rain in my travels.

But none remain in my memory as much as two floods I have witnessed.

Winter is the rainy season in Chile, where I lived in 1981 and '82. It's not a tropical country, so the rain fell lightly for a couple of days and then the sun returned. The best thing about rain in Santiago, the capital city, was that it cleared smog from the air. Santiago has the worst smog of any city besides Tokyo, Japan, and Los Angeles, Calif.

The city flooded my second winter in Chile.

It rained without stopping for two weeks, just a light continual pattering. My Texan mindset of staying inside until it stopped raining had to change.

Tradition calls for Chileans to prepare "sopaipillas," a thick pancake served with caramel syrup, on rainy days.

But day after day life was accompanied by the gentle pattering; soon, no one was making sopaipillas. As a West Texan I usually appreciated it more than others. But after a week, I thought I was going crazy.

Finally, I prepared to leave for my hour-long journey via buses to attend church services one Sunday. Since it was part of my livelihood as a missionary assistant, I didn't miss services — come hell or high water.

I found my obligations tested by the latter.

As I headed for the door of the small apartment I shared with a Chilean family, I found the sons blocking my path — prepared to physically detain me if necessary.

They told me the city was flooded and I wouldn't be able to travel.

As they had anticipated, I didn't believe it. I insisted on seeing for myself.

Our block of apartments had become an island. The groundfloor shops were awash in half a foot of water. Buses and cars were stranded.

I was dismayed. I had never seen a natural disaster personally — especially flooding.

We lived on the third floor, so we weren't in danger.

The television gave reports of evacuations — from our neighborhood. The Red Cross was offering its services from schools and hospitals within blocks from our apartment.

I decided that maybe high water could keep me from my obligations to the church.

It took months to re-build homes for the hundreds of families, most impoverished, who had lost their "cardboard" neighborhoods. A trainload of lumber and other materials was sent from the "brothers and sisters" of the forested southern region of Chile to help.

In 1985, I returned to visit the Southern Cone of South America. For five weeks I was in Buenos Aires, Argentina. It began to rain at midnight during my next-to-last night. As my girlfriends and I went to bed, it was thundering and lightning — but in an ominous way different from Texan thunderstorms.

I didn't sleep.

It was still raining at dawn. A final project my last day was to go downtown and purchase a briefcase made of Argentine leather — said to be the best in the world.

I found I was probably the only person in this city of 10 million downtown besides the employees. As I walked the deserted, soggy sidewalks the waiters stared at me, standing silently in uniforms of black suits and white aprons in the doorways of their empty restaurants.

Later I realized why — we were witnessing the city's worst flood of the decade.

I feared that the store would be closed and my efforts in vain. I was a soaked mess as I stepped through the door. The clerks seemed amazed anyone had attempted to shop in such weather.

They got me towels to dry myself off and, after I pointed to the briefcase I coveted so, they wrapped it three times to keep it dry.

The subways flooded and salespeople and businessmen were packing the buses to go home.

I was to meet a friend and wondered how we would get home. With the subway closed, there was a possibility we would be stranded far from the apartment.

I decided to call an American friend who owned a car to come and find us, but the phones weren't functioning.

My friend and I stood in the taxi line for about 20 minutes, but every taxi was occupied. We were beginning to panic, along with 50 others in line.

I broke the Argentine etiquette rules as I jumped out — risking my life — to stop the next empty taxi as it turned the corner where we were stood, instead of waiting our turn.

At the train station ten blocks from our apartment, we surrendered our taxi and went in to be out of the rain. Train lines were closed and hundreds were stranded. The concession stands soon ran out of food and drink.

At midnight the rain stopped, within minutes of 24 hours after it had begun.

As I went to the airport the next morning, we saw the neighborhoods completely flooded. Thousands were left homeless.

Although I felt guilty amid the chaos and mess, my briefcase and I left — high and dry.

Dress codes that need decoding

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

While actress Whoopi Goldberg was in Atlanta recently for her one-woman show, she stayed at the downtown Ritz Carlton hotel.

She was refused entrance to the Ritz restaurant, however, because she didn't look like the Ritz thinks you ought to look when you eat in one of their hotels.

Let's just say that Whoopi will never make the cover of Mademoiselle.

I often have wondered why restaurants and bars are so picky about how somebody looks or dresses when they come in and offer their business.

Take the sign that says, "No shirt, no shoes, no service."

Does this mean as long as I have on a shirt and shoes I can take off my pants and still get the bacon cheeseburger?

The least they could do in a restaurant with a sign like that is to say, "You can't come in without your shirt or shoes, but I'll take your order if you'll just wait outside while it's cooking."

"I've never been fond of the sign that says, 'Gentlemen are required to wear jackets and ties.'"

I've always figured restaurants have rules like that to make certain they don't get any riff-raff.

But some very riff-raffy people wear ties. Ed Meese. Jimmy Swaggart. Al Capone wore ties, didn't he?

I don't know if medical science has looked into it, but I would suppose that wearing a jacket and tie and trying to eat in a place where they won't allow you to drink your beer from a bottle would not be that good for the digestion.

The jacket restricts movement and the tie probably is some detriment to circulation. This dress code, then, could lead to such maladies as heartburn, indigestion, and even ulcers.

If it turns out such restaurants have a deal going with the Maalox people, I wouldn't be surprised.

I saw a sign in a hotel bar in Jacksonville, Fla., recently that completely baffled me.

It said, "Casual, stylish attire only."

The first thing I did when I saw that sign was to look and see what I was wearing. I was wearing a golf shirt, khaki slacks, and loafers with no socks.

There was no question that I was casual, but was I stylish as well?

With some trepidation I walked into the place and took a seat at the bar.

"Before I order," I said to the bartender, a woman, "do you think my outfit is stylish enough to be in here?"

"You'll do," she said. "Now, what ya drinkin'?"

Whoopi! I ordered a beer.

Rose spent thousands

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gov. Rose Mofford, who long has said that as secretary of state she paid for her office decorations and most expenses from her own pocket, spent thousands of dollars in state money on gifts and decorations, records show.

Some of the spending appears to have been done without authority from the Legislature, according to records and interviews with officials, although a close aide maintains that the expenditures were authorized.

Mrs. Mofford used state funds to pay for such things as a joke-writing service and a diet food as well as paintings, watches, Indian kachina dolls, clocks, flags and knick-knacks, typically charging them to "other operating expenses" or "supplies."

Records examined by The Associated Press showed that such gift expenditures totaled at least $50,000 for Mrs. Mofford's last five years as secretary of state.

Butler dead at 71

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The voice of Yogi Berra, Huckleberry Hound, Quick Draw McGraw and dozens of other cartoon characters loved by a generation of Americans has fallen silent. Charles Dawson Butler is dead at age 71.

Daws Butler, as he was professionally known at Hanna-Barbera Productions, died of a heart attack Wednesday at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, the studio announced Thursday. Butler had suffered a stroke and had been battling pneumonia in the past few months, the studio said.

"I just don't know how the industry will get along without him. There are a lot of people who can imitate Daws but he was the original," said Janet Waldo, who was the voice of Judy Jetson on "The Jetsons" series.

Butler was the voice of 42 cartoon series regular characters, among them Snagglepuss, Wally Gator, Baba Looey, Augie Doggie, Mr. Jinks, Lippy the Lion, Snooper and Blabber, as well as hundreds of other incidental characters.

Man indicted for threat

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A self-described racist indicted on a charge of threatening to kill black presidential candidate Jesse Jackson says he's innocent and authorities can't "railroad" him for his beliefs.

"My views shouldn't persecute me, actions should," Londell Williams said Thursday after a federal grand jury returned the indictment. "I haven't done anything. I haven't taken any actions towards Mr. Jackson. My views haven't pointed a gun at anyone."

"They can't railroad me just because of what I believe," he told the Belleville (Ill.) News-Democrat in an interview from the federal detention facility at the St. Clair County Jail in Belleville.

Williams, 30, of Washington, Mo., was named in all four counts of the indictment.

Drug dealer conviction a 'victory'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The prosecutor responsible for convicting reputed cocaine kingpin Carlos Lehder Rivas says the powerful Medellin Cartel's days are now numbered, but a defense lawyer predicts the verdict will be overturned.

Lehder was convicted Thursday of smuggling more than three tons of cocaine into the United States.

Authorities say the 38-year-old Colombian was a key figure in the cartel, a violent drug ring responsible for about 80 percent of U.S. cocaine imports.

The flamboyant Lehder, described by witnesses as a one-time New York City street hood, was characterized by U.S. Attorney Robert W. Merkle, chief prosecutor in the case, as the most important drug smuggler brought to trial in the United States.

The verdict capped a seven-month trial on an 11-count federal indictment charging him with taking over the island of Norman's Cay in the Bahamas to smuggle cocaine into Florida and Georgia from 1978 to 1980.

"This is truly a major victory in the war on drugs," said Merkle, who contended that the conviction threatens the Medellin Cartel's operations.

"I would say they are looking over their shoulders," he said. "I think their days are numbered."

However, Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., chairman of the House narcotics committee, said the conviction will by no means solve this country's drug problem.

"Lehder is not the end of the kingpins of the cartel," he said.

The trial included 22 weeks of testimony from 115 government witnesses, along with mounds of documents. Lehder was extradited to the United States last year after a firefight and his arrest by the Colombian army at a Medellin mansion.

Lehder faces a maximum sentence of life plus 150 years in prison and $350,000 in fines for his convictions on all 11 counts.

Grieving families

Family members of the 27 people killed in a bus accident near Carrollton, Ky., console each other during a memorial service Thursday evening at the North Hardin High School football stadium in Radcliff, Ky. An estimated 6,000 people, including Gov. Wallace Wilkinson, packed the stadium for the service. The stadium is next to the cemetery where many of the victims are being buried. Funerals for 11 young people were being held today. "Why do bad things happen to good people?" asked the Rev. Gene Waggoner, whose Baptist church lost two members in the crash. "None of us can answer that question. And if we could, it wouldn't take away your grief. I suggest that you do not blame anybody on that bus. I suggest that you don't blame God; God did not cause this," he added. W. Don Tension, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, read letters from President and Nancy Reagan and Vice President and Barbara Bush. "Your pain and loss is ours too," said the Reagans' letter. "Your countrymen are with you in prayer."

$50 million art stolen

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Three 19th-century paintings worth about $50 million, among them a work by Vincent van Gogh, were stolen from the Municipal Museum today, police said.

The three paintings were missing after the museum's alarm went off at 5 a.m. (10 p.m. CDT Thursday), indicating a window had been broken, said police spokeswoman Heleen van der Weijden.

The missing paintings are "Carnations," an 1880 work by van Gogh; "The House of Maitre Billard in Nevers," by Dutch painter Johan Jongkind, from 1874; and "Bottle with Apples," a still life by French impressionist Paul Cezanne, Ms. Van der Weijden said.

Paper: Journalist spied

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Interior Minister Tomas Borge revealed that a Nicaraguan journalist working as a Sandinista agent had "carried out missions in the heart of the CIA," a government newspaper reported.

Barricada, the newspaper of the governing Sandinista National Liberation Front, on Thursday quoted Borge as saying Maria Lourdes Pallais Checa was "a counterintelligence agent who worked in enemy ranks."

Pallais, 34, a graduate of Columbia University in New York, is a niece of the late Anastasio Somoza, the pro-American dictator who was overthrown by the Sandinistas in July 1979.

The newspaper said Borge made the remarks Sunday during a tour of Nicaragua's remote Caribbean coast. The Interior Ministry's press office said Thursday that it had no further information on Pallais.

But a source in the Sandinista front, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Pallais is under protection of state security and may soon hold a news conference.

48 die in boat accident

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A fishing boat crowded with passengers sank near a port in Indonesia, and 48 people drowned, police said Thursday.

A territorial police official said 28 people had been rescued after the accident Tuesday near Labuan Lombok, about 70 miles east of the West Nusa Tenggara provincial capital of Mataram.

The official, Anak Agung, said four of those rescued were in critical condition.

In a telephone interview, he said police did not know how many people had been aboard the boat, which had a normal capacity of 35.

The official Antara news agency quoted the head of the territorial police, Col. G. Adjiwan, as saying the accident occurred only about 330 yards from the port's wharf during a pleasure ride to celebrate the Moslem holiday of Idul Fitri.

Members meet for luncheon

Modern Woman's Forum met recently at the home of Irene Smith for a Mexican-style luncheon.

Louise Dalton was introduced as a new member. Members answered roll call by reporting on her accomplishment of assigned duties and most outstanding programs.

To honor outgoing president, Irene Smith, a book was given to the library at First Baptist Church in her honor.

A pinata, which was filled with candy with slips of paper taped to them, featured questions and answers pertaining to Mexico and its customs, was included in the activities. Goldye Moad conducted this activity.

Ruth Sweatt installed the 1988-90 officers, they are: Goldye Moad, president, Marie Affleck, vice president; Adele Tibbs, secretary/reporter; and Gertrude Hill, treasurer.

Although the next meeting will be Sept. 23, Moad announced that committee members, who along with the new officers, will begin duties June 1.

Ladies honor special friends

The Mary Jane Club met recently at the Green House for a spring luncheon to honor special older friends, with Pat Nash and Jo Evans, as co-hostesses.

Guests were Ruth Appleton, Stella Brooks, Mary Cotton, Eleanor Garrett, Marjorie Henderson, Amy Lee Purcell, Salena Sewell and Aurelia Sheedy.

Nash crocheted baskets, which were used as place favors.

Abby tells woman to forget debt

DEAR ABBY: Back in 1960, "Tom" and I were engaged. He needed money to finish college, so I gave him $2,000. (I was a nurse living at home at the time.)

After Tom graduated, we broke up, by mutual agreement. He said he'd repay the money when he could afford it.

Ten years later, he sent me a money order for $1,000, saying he had to be "careful" about sending me money because he didn't want his wife to know about what she would assume was an "affair." Since then, Tom has become very wealthy. While my husband and I are not destitute, I resent the fact that he has never really thanked me properly for helping him out when he needed it.

Now my question: Since it was a gift, should I forget it — as he obviously has done? If not, how can I remind him that he still has a moral obligation to repay me? I haven't talked to him in 15 years, and I don't want to jeopardize his marriage over money.

DEAR BARB: Do you really believe Tom's marriage would be jeopardized if his wife found out that 24 years ago his former fiancée had given him $2,000 to finish college? Tom has a character deficiency. Write the balance off as a bad debt, and be glad he's not your husband.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently received a wedding gift from a co-worker I'll call "Andy." Andy loves to paint, so he gave us one of his paintings. This painting is definitely not our taste. Andy must have shown it in an art show because the price tag was still on the back of it.

I suppose this painting has some special meaning to Andy and he probably spent many precious hours on it.

Our question: Should we keep the painting and hide it in the closet? Or is there a tactful way to give it back to Andy so he can enjoy it himself, or give it to someone who will appreciate it?

DEAR PERPLEXED: I would have to know more about your relationship with Andy. If you returned it, would he be hurt? Insulted? Grateful? If Andy values the painting, I'm sure he'd rather have it back than have it stuck away in some dark closet.

Women elect new officers

GFWC Forsan Study Club met at the Big Spring Country Club for its end of the year luncheon, when the club was honored for its 50th anniversary.

A community clean-up was discussed as a possibility as a fall project. Members viewed a film on volunteering services.

Officers installed for 1988-90 are: Eunice Thixton, president; Kathy Pickett, vice president; Tammy Schrenergost, recording secretary/reporter; Doreen Dolan, corresponding secretary; Kathy Pickett, treasurer; Sandy Shanks, federation counselor; and Doreen Dolan, scrapbook historian.

Cuban cyclist gets asylum in U.S.

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — A member of Cuba's cycling team who was jailed this week for trying to defect to the United States has been accepted as a political refugee by U.S. authorities, El Norte newspaper said Thursday.

The local daily said Cuban Roger Vazquez Vazquez, 25, was taken Wednesday to Laredo, Texas, on the border with Mexico after the U.S. government telephoned him in Monterrey with news of his acceptance.

Vazquez was in the office of El Norte columnist Federico Arreola when the call came from U.S. authorities, Arreola wrote in Thursday's newspaper. Arreola's brother, who is a member of Mexico's cycling team, gave Vazquez lodging for nearly two weeks in Monterrey as he tried to get political asylum.

In a letter addressed to El Norte and published Thursday, Vazquez thanked his Monterrey friends for their support and described himself as one "who abandoned his beloved country to seek the liberty that we lost 29 years ago and that we're going to regain in the future."

Vazquez abandoned his team following a race in Mexico City last week.

The U.S. Consulate in Monterrey noted that the U.S. government cannot offer asylum to people until they are physically present in the United States.

Consulate spokesman Bob Brown said, however, "We can help them get to the United States as a refugee if they qualify."

Mexican cyclists gave Vazquez refuge in Monterrey and took him to the U.S. Consulate last week, where his case was being considered.

Vazquez became impatient and tried to leave Mexico on his own.

He was apprehended Sunday as he tried to pass through a federal migration checkpoint at Nuevo Laredo about 16 miles south of Laredo.

He was jailed in Monterrey, the capital of Nuevo Leon state about 135 miles south of Laredo, but was later released.

Vazquez told El Norte he will fly to Miami to join family members there.

Teen-ager freed from Juarez jail

EL PASO (AP) — Mexican authorities released a teen-ager Thursday who was accused of taking part in killing a Mexican policeman and injuring another.

Rawn Yates, 18, of El Paso, was released about 3 p.m. Thursday from the Juarez juvenile detention center after his family posted $2,300 bail, said the family's lawyer, George Rodriguez. Yates spent 12 days in two Mexican jails.

"My nightmare is over," said Yates' mother, Bobbie Mikkelsen, as she held her son's hand tightly at a news conference in the office of the family's attorney. "He's home. I'm glad he's back."

Yates said the first thing he wanted to do was to take a bath, then eat a steak.

Yates, who has not been formally charged, was arrested May 7 in connection with that night's shooting death of Juarez patrolman Pedro Vera Gallegos and the wounding of officer Jose Zuniga Gallegos.

Another 18-year-old arrested in connection with the shootings, Kelly Martin of Dell City, told authorities that Yates was not involved in the incident. Martin is still being held in a Juarez jail, charged with murder, injuries with a firearm, theft of a police gun and unauthorized use of a police car.

Rodriguez said Yates' legal troubles are not over. At the least, the lawyer said, Yates will have to make more appearances before judicial authorities in Mexico.

Yates laughed often and seemed relieved to be back in El Paso as he described his 12-day ordeal in jail.

Nuke waste official changes tack to curry favor for dump

EL PASO (AP) — State officials say they'll change tactics on efforts to get support for a low-level radioactive waste dump 50 miles east of El Paso.

Members of the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority said Thursday that instead of trying to calm the fears of people in El Paso, they'll concentrate on residents of nearby Fort Hancock and Hudspeth County.

The city and county of El Paso have sued the authority, claiming it already has decided to choose the site and that an upcoming yearlong environmental examination will be a sham. They oppose the site for fear the radioactive waste could contaminate the Rio Grande. The suit is pending.

In its effort to persuade Fort Hancock residents to accept the dump, the authority plans to open an office in the town by June 1. The two full-time clerks at the office will spend much of their time educating citizens about the proposed dump, said Tom Blackburn, public information officer for the authority.

The authority can do a better job of persuading Fort Hancock residents if members meet with people in small, informal groups, said Roger Scott, a public information consultant with an Idaho research company that contracts with the U.S. Department of Energy.

At formal meetings in which the authority fields public comment, "it's immediately 'we and they,'" said Scott, who advised California in a similar search for a radioactive waste dump. "People say, 'Here are those guys from Austin, and you can't bridge the gap.'"

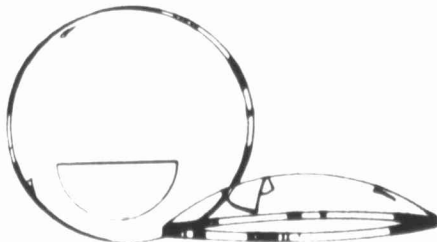

The authority plans to begin testing the proposed Fort Hancock site June 1 to determine whether a dump would harm the environment. After a year of testing and three months of evaluating the results, the authority will decide whether to build the dump there or continue searching for a suitable site.

If the Fort Hancock site is chosen, construction could start in 1992 and the first shipment of waste could be buried in 1993. The dump would accept a broad spectrum of materials, from surgical tools to bricks and windows from nuclear plants. The dump would not store high-level waste, uranium tailings or transuranic waste.

Finding new life in wheelchair

By RHONDA MORAN
The Brazosport Facts

CLUTE (AP) — Laurin "Spud" Ivy Jr. lived 40 years of his life as many others have. He was a Freeport Facts delivery boy, served in the U.S. Navy, then worked as a painter in the Brazosport area where he grew up.

But his everyday lifestyle ended one night six years ago when he was robbed of $30 and shot in the neck with a .22-caliber pistol in the parking lot of a Houston painters' union hall.

"I gave him my billfold, and then he shot me," Ivy says simply, describing in few words the crime that left him paralyzed from the shoulders down. The thief was never caught.

What followed was the beginning of the rest of Ivy's life: weeks in intensive care at Ben Taub Hospital, weeks at the Texas Institute for Research and Rehabilitation, then the long trip home to take up residence at Woodlake Nursing Home.

For the first year he was deeply depressed and rarely left his bed, even though he had a wheelchair and access to people trained to help him. But his self-imposed isolation ended when Sharon Seifert took over as administrator at Woodlake and insisted that Ivy stop wasting his life.

"Sharon came here and saw I was in bed and had a fit," Ivy says fondly, grinning as he remembers her common-sense method of motivating him to move.

When he refused to get up, she assigned him a roommate who had problems with bladder and bowel control, and the occasional odor of accidents finally drove the quadriplegic out of bed and into the wheelchair.

At first, he only went to the nurses' station for a few minutes, returning to sit in his room. Before long, he was going to the lobby. And then a Woodlake employee, Iraida "Yayi" Gonzales, invited him to go with her to the store. He rode in his

CLUTE — Laurin 'Spud' Ivy Jr., paralyzed from the shoulders down, has found mobility and happiness with his souped-up wheelchair. Ivy was shot in the neck by a robber six years ago in a Houston parking lot.

Ivy stopped too close to the sloping side of a ditch and rolled into it, unable to back out.

It was almost dark, but passers-by saw his lights and came to help. Still, he says he wasn't especially worried.

"I always tell someone where I'm going and when I'm going to leave, so they know when to expect me," he says. Waiting calmly in a ditch for help to come would require patience, and that's something Ivy has plenty of.

The divorced father of two admits that before his accident, he wouldn't have gone near a nursing home, but after he was shot he chose to go there despite his mixed feelings about the decision.

"One person can't take care of me, it ties them down too much," he says. "This way is better. It's no problem here; I can do what I want to. If I want to go downtown, I go downtown. I've even been to Lake Jackson in this chair."

He has plenty of relatives in the area and a good many friends who come by to visit or to invite Ivy to go places — he's been to parties, barbecues, rodeos and a variety of other events.

"My family about drove me crazy when I first came here," he says. "Some of them came by two or three times a day. I told them, 'Hey, I didn't see you this much before, there's no need to do it now.'"

He goes out to eat from time to time at Cooker's Restaurant, where Pete and Norma Atkinson help him strap on a special device for feeding himself.

"They're really good to me," he notes. "If I can't get over there, sometimes they bring the food over here."

He wonders why anyone would want to write a story about him, and says he's just like anyone else would be in his position.

"I don't see that I'm a lot different than anybody else," he says. "I get to feeling bad sometimes, but heck, I'm not dead. I can still talk and go. I could be a whole lot worse off, and there's just no point worrying about it."

"I lived for 40 years one way, and I've had six years this way," he adds, "but I've still got a lot of good friends."

wheelchair as she walked beside him.

Soon, he was going out alone. "It was scary at first," the 46-year-old Freeport native says. "But people are really nice. They're nicer than you think they are. I've had people stop and get out of their cars to help me."

A friend, Mac McCollister, gave Ivy the headlights and some of the other things mounted on the wheelchair. A red reflector hangs from the back. There's a horn, an umbrella and a radio, which isn't working at the moment.

The battery-powered wheelchair has trouble getting over railroad tracks, and once

Woman gets degree at age of 94

TRIBUNE, Kan. (AP) — Tess "Tweety" Twietmeyer has graduated from high school, 78 years after she dropped out.

The 94-year-old Twietmeyer was honored with the rest of Greeley County High School's 1988 class after completing her General Education Development course.

About 150 people attended a reception for her, celebrating under a banner that said "Congratulations, Tweety." Her four children and 12 of her 18 grandchildren traveled to Tribune in western Kansas for Sunday's event. President Reagan sent a telegram.

Twietmeyer said her daughter first suggested she finish high school. Her instructor, Carol Coe, said she could quit any time if she didn't like it.

"So I thought, 'Well, I guess it's worth a try,'" Twietmeyer said.

WASHINGTON — Comedienne Carol Burnett lets go with her Tarzan yell after a ceremony at the Smithsonian Institute Thursday after she donated the charwoman costume used in her television series.

Drug-trade assault would mean tradeoffs

DETROIT (AP) — Using the armed forces in an all-out assault on drug trafficking would involve civil rights tradeoffs Americans may not want to contemplate, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said Wednesday.

"To solve the drug problem and still guarantee all Americans the rights and privileges they enjoy today is a difficult thing," Adm. William J. Crowe Jr. told a news conference before a luncheon speech at the Economic Club of Detroit.

Crowe, chairman of the Joint Chiefs since October 1985, said the armed forces would carry out whatever anti-drug trade measures Congress assigned them.

"I think there are things we can do, primarily identification, surveillance and tracking of people bringing in drugs in illicit fashion," he said.

But he said, "To truly stop the flow of drugs you would have to increase police powers and do some searches and seizures that are not contemplated today."

Crowe also said he foresaw no quick end to U.S. military involvement in the Persian Gulf and no increased activity in Panama.

Writers, producers to meet with mediator

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Scriptwriters and producers will meet with a federal mediator next week in an attempt to resume talks in the 11-week-old writers strike that has crippled the entertainment industry, both sides said Thursday.

"The chief negotiations have been exploring a possible solution to the impasse and feel a meeting at this time is in order," said a joint statement from the writers and producers.

Both sides refused further comment.

Monday's meeting would be the third such mediated session between the two sides. The last was a 20-minute meeting April 18; talks March 14 also failed to bring results.

The 9,000-member Writers Guild of America struck the Alliance of Motion Picture and Television Producers on March 7 over issues of creative control and residual payments for reruns and works distributed in foreign countries.

Federal mediator Leonard Farrell scheduled the meeting for Monday afternoon at the alliance's Sherman Oaks headquarters.

The talks come at a time when negotiating committees for the guild are believed to be on the verge of signing at least 20 contracts with independent production companies desperate to resume work. Another 60 companies are in negotiations with the guild.

While the producers face the possibility of some companies resuming work while others remain idle, the writers on Wednesday sent letters to Walt Disney, Paramount, and several soap opera and other production companies seeking the names of replacement scriptwriters.

The WGA letters appear to be the guild's first acknowledgement that substantial numbers of replacement writers are being hired to foil their strike.

"Your Company apparently has employed one or more persons to perform WGA-covered writing services since the strike began. The WGA is entitled under federal labor law to the name and address of each of these persons," says the letter signed by WGA Executive Director Brian Walton.

"We are asking for this information for the purpose of policing our contract," said guild spokeswoman Cheryl Rhoden.

The letters were sent to Walt Disney Co., TriStar, Viacom, W.F. Productions, "Supercarrier" producer Charles Fries Enterprises and Fox Square for "The Late Show."

The letter also went to Paramount, which produces "MacGyver," "Star Trek — The Next Generation," "Entertainment Tonight" and "Naked Gun"; Santa Barbara Productions for the soap opera "Santa Barbara"; Corday Productions for "Days of Our Lives"; Bell Dramatic Serial Co. for "The Bold and Beautiful" and "The Young and Restless".

Spring City Classic kicks off

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

It's time for the Spring City Classic Body Building Championship and a weekend of competition and festivities is planned for the extravaganza.

The Spring City Pro/Am Armwrestling Championships will be held in conjunction with the Level I contest. Meet coordinator Doug Beams is heading the events, with proceeds going to the Rape/Crisis Victim Services.

Beams, a resident of Big Spring, is vice chairman of the National Physique Committee.

Beams said that local merchants have been very helpful with their donations and time, especially Permian Distributing.

The Level I championship is one of three held in the state of Texas. The winners of the body building competition qualifies for competition at the national level. Therefore, locals will be seeing some premier contestants.

Pre-judging in the body building competition will begin Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Municipal Auditorium. The finals begin at 7 p.m.

Heading the arm wrestling meet

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS
Friday — Meet the Stars at Pin Deck Lounge, 11 p.m. until 2 a.m.
Saturday — 9 a.m. — Body building pre-judging.
10 a.m.-12:30 p.m. — Armwrestling weigh-in.
12:30 p.m. — Armwrestling competition begins.
4 p.m. — End of school party, Highland Lane Shopping Center.
7 p.m. — Body building finals begins.
10:30 p.m. — Pigout Part at Pizza Inn.
12 midnight — 2 a.m. — Public can donate money to Rape/Crisis Victim Services to challenge armwrestlers at Pin Deck Lounge.
Sunday — 3-5 p.m. — Bowl with the body builders, Highland Lanes.
9:30 - 11:30 p.m. — Dance Contest at Pin Deck Lounge.

is Gary Ray and James Shipman of Houston, who formed Texas Arm Benders Association.

Arm wrestling competition will begin at 12:30 at the auditorium, and Beams says there could be contestants from as many as five states. "You really don't know how many will be here until they get here," said Beams, explaining that arm wrestling contestants don't have to register early to enter.

Admission for pre-judging body building competition is $3 per person or $5 for the pre-judging and arm wrestling. For the body building finals, tickets are $10 and $5, and $2 for a balcony seat. Arm wrestling tickets are $3 per person. Children under 12 get in free.

The arm wrestling meet has an amateur division and professional division. Weight classes for men are: featherweight (under 140 pounds); lightweight (141-165); midweight (166-185); light heavy (186-220) and heavy (201-over).

Amateur women have weight divisions for lightweight (under 120); middleweight (121-140) and heavyweight (141 over).

Contestants weigh in at 10 a.m. Entry fee for contestants is $10. Winners will be awarded trophies. The West Texas Pro Championship will have three divisions in its arm wrestling competition: lightweight (under 165); middleweight (165-195) and heavyweight (196 above).

The winners of each pro division will receive $150 in prize money, and a Bulova watch donated by Blum's Jewelers. The second place finishers receive $75 in prize money.

Highlighting the competition will be guest appearances by top body builders like Russ Testo of Troy, N.Y.; Jayne Kathan of San Antonio; and Reggie Bennett of Los Angeles.

Mavericks advance with 108-95 victory

By The Associated Press
Rolando Blackman scored nine straight points in the fourth period to lead Dallas over Denver 108-95 and into the Western Conference finals for the first time in the team's history.

"It's absolute fantasy," Mavs owner Donald Carter said. "It's like a fairyland. We've come a long, long way. I feel like a daddy-sized Jolly Green giant."

Blackman and Sam Perkins scored 23 points apiece, while Roy Tarpley, the NBA's best sixth man, had 18 points and 19 rebounds.

"It's a great feeling to be part of history," Tarpley said. "We can always say we were the first ones to get to the Western Conference finals."

Denver's Alex English scored 34 points, but couldn't make up for the loss of Lafayette Lever and Jay Vincent, who missed the last three games with injuries.

"We had to change our lineup and play with what we had," Denver coach Doug Moe said. "We had to scramble to find some scoring. You just have to accept what fate deals you. Some things you have no control over."

Mark Aguirre, Dallas' leading scorer, made only four points as the Mavericks went to Blackman in the stretch.

"I wanted the ball in my hands," he said. "I live for those situations. The plays down the stretch were designed to get me the ball and try to make chances to score."

Jazz 108, Lakers 80
The Boston Celtics and Los Angeles Lakers were heavy favorites to battle for the NBA title for the fourth time in the last five years. Atlanta and Utah have other ideas.

The Utah Jazz handed the Lakers

SALT LAKE CITY — James Worthy (left) and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Los Angeles Lakers, watch helplessly as the Utah Jazz pull away for a 108-80 win in the sixth game of their NBA Western playoff at the Salt Palace Thursday night. The Jazz evened the series at 3-3.

the sixth worst playoff defeat in the franchise's history Thursday night, 108-80, to send their series into a decisive seventh game Saturday afternoon at Inglewood, Calif. Tonight in Atlanta, the Hawks can end the Celtics' season. Atlanta leads the series 3-2, and Game 7, if necessary, will be played Sunday at Boston. Prior to the game, Utah coach Frank Layden was upset with Karl Malone for predicting the Jazz would win Game 6. Malone was sure by scoring 27 points and grabbing 11 rebounds.

"He shouldn't say that," Layden said. "When you walk by the lion, it's better to do it softly. You don't want to wake him up."

The Jazz didn't have to wake up the Lakers. They just ran past them. It was the worst playoff defeat suffered by the defending champion Lakers since they fell to the Celtics 148-114 in Game 1 of the finals on May 27, 1985.

Bobby Hansen scored 25 points on 10-for-11 shooting, while John Stockton had 14 points and 17 assists for the Jazz. Stockton, the NBA assist leader with 13.8 per game, is averaging 14.3 in the playoffs and has had at least 12 in each of the six games against the Lakers.

The Jazz never trailed after Malone gave them an 8-7 lead and Los Angeles scored just 13 points in the opening quarter.

Celtics-Hawks
Boston will be trying to avoid its earliest exit from the NBA playoffs in five years when the Celtics tangle with Atlanta tonight.

"Game 6 will be tougher than tonight, but I think we're tough enough to come back," Larry Bird said after the Hawks upset the Celtics 112-104 Wednesday night to snap Atlanta's 13-game losing streak at Boston Garden.

"They did a big job winning here (Boston)," Celtics coach K.C. Jones said. "That was monumental. We've got to go down there and try to pull it out."

A Celtics victory would send the series back to Boston, something Atlanta's Dominique Wilkins doesn't want.

"We've just got to win," Wilkins said. "We don't want to have to go back to Boston. This is like a dream coming true. We're not there yet, but it's in our hands."

Sports Briefs

Baldwin loses decision

OMAHA, Neb. — Big Spring boxer was ousted in the quarterfinal round of the National Golden Glove Boxing Tournament here Thursday night.

Baldwin, boxing in the 155-pound weight division, was decisively defeated by Frank Pena of Rocky Mountain.

Baldwin advanced to the national tournament by winning the State Golden Gloves crown in Forth Worth.

Aggies, Bears net wins

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The surprising Baylor Bears and Texas A&M advanced in the winner's round of the Southwest Conference baseball tournament.

Doubles by Trent Stroth and Chad Patterson powered Baylor to a 4-2 upset victory over the top-seeded Texas Longhorns Thursday.

Texas A&M's Tim McWilliam ripped a three-run homer and teammate Scott Livingstone had an RBI triple to lift the Aggies to a 4-3 victory over host Arkansas in the other first round game.

The Razorbacks' loss forced them into a game with tournament-favorite Texas. A&M faces Baylor in tonight's game.

The Aggies' Livingstone tripled in Kirk Thompson for the game-winning score. A&M, which, like Texas, already has an NCAA tournament berth, is 49-11; Arkansas fell to 39-20. The winner of the tournament gets an NCAA tournament berth.

Left-handed reliever Nick Felix, 8-6, earned the win with two innings of work for starter Sean Snedeker. Arkansas starter Ray Harris, 5-3, who shut out the Aggies for the first five innings, got the loss. He had blanked A&M for 16 straight innings over the past year before giving up McWilliam's big sixth-inning shot.

Arkansas' Greg D'Alexander and Troy Eklund hit solo home runs. Felix struck out three Razorbacks, allowing two hits. Jimmy Kremers tied Ralph Krause's Arkansas career record of 58 doubles with a double in the sixth.

Stroth doubled in a pair of runs and teammate Patterson doubled in another for the Bears.

Left-hander Pat Combs scattered eight hits and struck out four to give Baylor the victory.

Texas, winner of the regular season conference title, was ranked third in the latest ESPN college baseball poll. Baylor is 25-29; Texas is 51-9.

Stroth knocked in the Bears' final run when he grounded out in the eighth.

Texas scored in the seventh when Brian Cisarik singled in Rusty Crockett. The Longhorns' other run came on an eighth-inning home run by left fielder David Tollison.

Eric Stone, 15-3, was tagged with his second straight losing decision while Combs improved to 4-2.

Combs walked five, but the Longhorns left 10 runners on base.

Shortstop Joel Chimelis, a former Howard College player, and designated hitter Mike Patrick collected two hits each to pace Texas while Patterson and third baseman Mike Briley each had two hits for the Bears.

Blinn athlete wins title

ODESSA (AP) — Stefan Blomquist of Blinn College in Brenham, Texas, won the national title in the hammer throw with a toss of 175 feet 6 inches on the first day of the national junior college track and field meet.

Weather played havoc with the meet, forcing two delays and a couple of postponements, and the hammer throw was the only event completed.

Qualifying continues through Friday, with finals scheduled for Saturday.

Anders Axlid, also of Blinn, took second in the hammer throw with a heave of 170-9.

Blinn Coach Steve Silvey said success in the field events would be the key for his team to repeat its 1987 championship and add the 1988 outdoor title to its indoor.

Storms forced the postponement of the 4x400 relays, men's high jump, women's long jump and the women's 10,000 run.

Odezza College's John Drummond ran a 10.25 in the 100, good enough to qualify for the Olympic trials.

However, Drummond collapsed after winning his heat in the 200 and was taken to the hospital. He has been recovering from viral meningitis.

OC trainer Jim Carlson said Drummond was alert and felt OK but was taken in for observation. Qualifying continues Friday and Saturday with finals set for Saturday.

Massey leads by stroke

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Debbie Massey had six birdies, but she said her bogey on the first hole made all the difference in a round of 67 that staked her to a one-shot lead in the LPGA Championship.

Massey overcame the bogey on No. 1 with three birdies on the front side of the Grizzly Golf Course at the Jack Nicklaus Sports Center, then added three more on the back side to hold off four players who came in at 68.

Massey, a two-time winner in 12 years on the women's golf tour, was a stroke ahead of four players, notably Amy Alcott, winner of the season's first major title, the Dinah Shore. Alcott's 68 featured two chip-in birdies.

Also at 68 were Lisa Walters, Sherrin Smyners and Nina Foust, all non-winners in their pro careers.

Walters, a Canadian who played college golf at Florida State, had 12 one-putt greens while Foust's round featured an eagle on the par-5, 435-yard 15th hole.

Lounge Lizard Lanny returns to Colonial course with bang

FORT WORTH (AP) — Call him Lounge Lizard Lanny, the kiss-and-tell bandit of the $750,000 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament.

After 11 unsuccessful passes, Lanny Wadkins spurned the prod and pristine Colonial course for two years, then returned Thursday to fire a 3-under-par 67 and seize a share of the first-round lead with four of his touring colleagues.

"It's like your high school reunion," Wadkins said of his first sub-par round in 36 at Colonial over 11 years. "You go back three or four years later and the girls look better than they ever did before."

The 38-year-old Wadkins, who won the Hawaiian Open this season for his 17th victory, took a rollercoaster route to the top of the leader board, where he shares a spot with John Inman, Scott Hoch, Jodie Mudd and Clarence Rose.

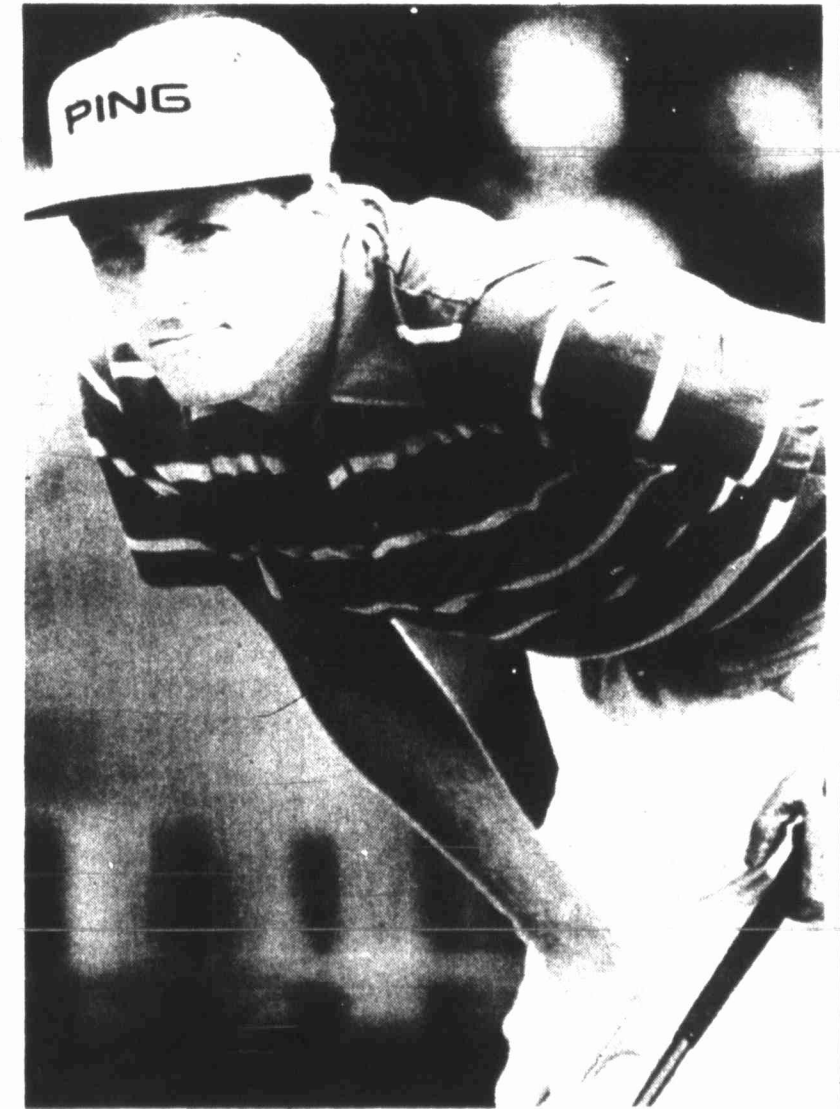

Wadkins got to four under par through 12 holes but slipped back with bogies on the 13th and 14th. He got a stroke back at 16 with a birdie, but gave it back with a bogey at 17. He closed out his round with an 18-foot birdie putt that moved him back into a share of the lead.

"It's kind of fun for a change to get ahead of this golf course," said Wadkins, who has taken liberties with most of the courses he's encountered while amassing $3.4 million in career earnings.

He said he couldn't explain his futility on a course that's only a short trip from his home in Dallas.

"I've always liked Colonial," he said. "But I've always thought it's too close to stay over and too far to drive with all the traffic."

"So for the last couple of years I thought I'd just stay home and save the gas money."

FORT WORTH — John Inman of Greensboro, N.C., bends to watch his tee shot on the 15th fairway during the first round of the Colonial Invitation golf tourney.

Rose, runnerup last week in the Byron Nelson Classic at Dallas, said he suffered no let-down from his playoff loss to Bruce Lietzke.

Hoch had a bogey-free round. Mudd lost his chance for the outright lead with a bogey at the tough par-3 16th, and Inman blew his chance by lashing an approach shot into the lake guarding the 18th green.

Dodgers whitewash Expos

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tim Leary pitched a complete game shutout against the Montreal Expos, but as far as he was concerned, Steve Sax deserved a save. And Sax is a second baseman.

NL

"I can't say enough about our infield," Leary said after the Dodgers beat the Expos 2-0 Thursday night.

Sax helped bail Leary out in the eighth inning when he started an inning-ending play that robbed Tim Raines of his third hit of the game. Sax went behind second base, back-handed the grounder hit by Raines and threw to Alfredo Griffin, who fired off-balance to first to get the speedy Raines.

The Dodgers scored both their runs in the fourth inning. Kirk Gibson led off with a single and went to third on an errant pickoff throw by losing pitcher Dennis Martinez, 3-6.

Pedro Guerrero hit a sacrifice fly before Mike Marshall, whose 12-game hitting streak was stopped Tuesday night, came to the plate. Marshall hit the next pitch into the left field pavilion for his sixth homer of the season.

Mets 9, Padres 4
New York shrugged off a three-game sweep by the Giants last weekend with its four-game sweep in San Diego.

Ron Darling was a pitching and hitting star, despite battling the flu. Darling pitched effectively for eight innings and got two hits, including a single that sparked a four-run seventh inning.

Keith Hernandez got three of New York's season-high 16 hits.

Darling led off the seventh with a single and was sacrificed to second. Wally Backman hit an RBI single, took second on the throw home and scored on a single by Hernandez. Darryl Strawberry hit an RBI double and scored on Howard Johnson's single.

Keith Moreland homered in the eighth and Marvell Wynne hit a pinch homer in the ninth for San Diego.

Cardinals 5, Cubs 1

At Wrigley Field, Kris Carpenter pitched a four-hitter for his first major league victory as the Cardinals won their fourth straight game. Carpenter struck out five and walked two in his second major-league start. He was the Cardinals' No. 1 pick in last June's draft.

St. Louis improved to 20-19 — the first time the National League champions have been over .500 this season — as Bob Horner and Tony Pena drove in two runs apiece and Willie McGee had three of the Cardinals' 10 hits, all singles.

Swindell wins pitcher's duel

By The Associated Press

Cleveland's Greg Swindell knew he had to be stingy against Dave LaPoint. So he matched zeroes until Cory Snyder stung the White Sox.

AL

Swindell won his eighth game of the season with a sparkling two-hitter, getting the run he needed when Snyder homered off reliever Bobby Thigpen with one out in the ninth inning for a 1-0 victory. Cleveland has won three straight and eight of its last nine games, while Chicago has lost four.

LaPoint made all the right pitches, too. He pitched eight scoreless innings to lower his ERA to an American League-leading 1.64. But Snyder victimized Thigpen, 1-4, in the ninth.

"In that situation, I'm looking for something to drive, to hit the ball hard somewhere, because even with a base hit, you're still a long way from home plate," Snyder said.

On winning the game for Swindell, his buddy, Snyder added, "That makes me feel real good. When a guy pitches that well you really try to play hard for him."

Elsewhere, California swept a doubleheader from Baltimore, 2-1 in 10 innings and 9-6, while Kansas City routed Minnesota 14-1. The Seattle-New York game was rained out.

Angels 2, Orioles 1
Angels 9, Orioles 6

The teams tied a major-league record by hitting into 12 double plays, including nine in the opener. California won that game on, yes, a double play. Bob Boone scored the winning run as Chili Davis hit into the double play.

The Orioles continued their lack of support for Boddicker, who began the day with a club-record 13-game losing streak since Sept. 4. Baltimore has scored just 21 runs in his last 14 starts.

The Orioles built a 6-1 lead in the second game as Fred Lynn homered twice, then fell apart in a seven-run eighth inning. The Angels sent 13 batters to the plate in the decisive inning, getting ng a season-high seven singles. The tying and winning runs scored on a squeeze play when Mark McLem-ore laid down a bunt with the bases loaded and reliever Tom Niedenfuer charged it and threw the ball past catcher Terry Kennedy.

Royals 14, Twins 1
At Minneapolis, the World Series champion Twins continued to struggle. The long ball boosted Kansas City as Kurt Stillwell homered for the third straight game and Bill Buckner drove in three runs with two homers and a single in Kansas City's 18-hit attack.

George Brett, who had three hits and two RBI, hit his eighth home run of the season in a six-run third inning, when Kansas City had three homers, tying a club record. All three homers came against reliever Mark Portugal.

Award winner

GARDEN CITY — In Wednesday's Herald this photo was run from the Garden City U.I.L. Banquet. This is not Guillermo Morales, but Raymond Lopez, who won an award for top singles player in tennis.

For the record

In Wednesday's Herald sports section there was a story about the Forsan U.I.L. Banquet. The story stated that Brandy Bryan won the Oscar Baker Award. Actually it was Billy Massengill that won the award. We regret the error.

Classic

he's considered to be among the best posers in the world. He was a big crowd favorite last year.

"We really don't know how fortunate we are to have a guest poser like Russ," said Beams. "He travels all over the world giving exhibitions. He's not just a body builder, he's an entertainer. He really entertains the crowd."

Kathan is quickly becoming one of the top body builders in the country. She already holds the title of Level I Texas State Champion, and Mid-Central U.S.A. Champion. In six level I meets, she's won them all.

Kathan is taking a year off to train for national competition. Bennett has just returned from Rome where she had a part in Mickey Rourke's latest movie. A professional wrestler and body builder, Bennett is the Los Angeles champion. This is Bennett's second appearance in Big Spring.

Serving as master of ceremonies will be Rick Wells, KTPX weatherman.

There are plenty of other activities such as a dance contest at the Pin Deck Lounge on Sunday and a chance for the public to donate money to the Rape Crisis/Victim Services Center for a chance to arm wrestle against the professionals. There will even be a "Pigout Party" at Pizza Inn pizza after the body building competition.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
SEALED PROPOSALS addressed to the County Judge of Sterling County, Texas, will be received at the office of the County Judge, Sterling County Courthouse, Sterling City, Texas 76561, until 2:00 o'clock P.M. on the 6th day of June, 1988, for the supervision, labor, materials, supplies and equipment necessary for constructing and equipping a building to be used for county library purposes (BASE BID). A building consisting of a 2128 square foot wood framed structure with tin roofing, brick siding, suspended ceiling and concrete slab foundation. Base bid to include structure, grading, utility hook ups, HVAC systems, plumbing, electrical and flooring. ADD ALTERNATES: Certain furnishings and equipment for the building including refrigerator, stove, cabinets, book drop, shelving and furniture in accordance with plans and specifications hereafter now on file in the office of the County Clerk, Sterling County Courthouse, Sterling City, Texas, and in the office of the Project Engineer, SK Engineering, 1122 South Bryant Boulevard, San Angelo, Texas, and at such time and place all such proposals will be opened and read.

BIDDERS must submit with their bids a cashier's check or certified check in the amount of 5% of their bid, payable without recourse to Sterling County, Texas, or proposal bonds in the same amounts from a reliable surety company, as a guarantee that the bidder or bidders will enter into contract or contracts not less than bond and guarantee forms within five (5) days after notice of award of contract (i.e. Payment and Performance Bonds are required). Bids without check or proposal bond will not be considered.

In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the price in the bids, the County reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof or to reject the bid. All prices must be stated in both script and figures. THE SUCCESSFUL BIDDER OR BIDDERS will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Payment Bond each for 100% of the bid amount, written by a responsible surety company authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and satisfactory to the Commissioners' Court of Sterling County and shall also be required to furnish Sterling County assurance that all accidents, liabilities and property damage shall be assumed by said contractor. Such bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves of all local conditions.

ATTENTION OF BIDDERS is directed to the provisions of Article 1559a, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, as amended, requiring the posting of the general prevailing rates of per diem wages for work of a similar character in the locality where the work is performed, shall be paid all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed in the construction of public works.

The County proposes to pay all or part of the contract price or prices, by the delivery of such amount of "STERLING COUNTY, TEXAS, CERTIFICATES OF OBLIGATION, SERIES 1988" to be payable from ad valorem taxes, authorized by the Commissioners' Court of Sterling County, Texas, on March 14, 1988, as shall be required in making payment of said contract or contracts, but not exceeding $25,000, the difference, if any between the contract price or prices entered into with the successful bidder and the amount of interest bearing time certificates of obligations or claims and accounts representing an undivided interest therein to be issued and delivered to the successful bidder will be paid by the County in cash.

Arrangements have been made for the Contractor or contractors to sell or assign such certificates or claims or accounts representing an undivided interest therein and receive part value therefor where such obligations are issued in payment of all or a part of any contract or contracts, and the successful bidder or Contractors may elect to accept such certificates of obligations or claims and accounts by so stating on the bid, form, or shall be bound to sell or assign such obligations (at par, no accrued interest) to the financial institution with whom the County has made the foregoing arrangements, all in accordance with the Special Conditions Relating to Payment included in the contract documents. INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS, Plans, Proposal Forms, Specifications and Contract Documents may be examined without charge at the office of the County Clerk, Sterling County Courthouse, Sterling City, Texas, and may be obtained from SK Engineers, 1122 South Bryant Boulevard, San Angelo, Texas 76903-7295, upon payment of $35.00 for each set, non-refundable. The County reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive technicalities. STERLING COUNTY, TEXAS

LET US HONOR THOSE WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES FOR OTHERS

It is time to honor our heroes who have given their lives for us on the field of battle, so that we may continue to enjoy the blessings of liberty in our land. However, there are others who have died in peacetime situations, whose memories we should also cherish: the policeman who was shot in the line of duty, the fireman who succumbed to smoke inhalation while trying to save a burning house, the person who couldn't swim but managed to save a child before drowning, etc. The list is endless. Let us go to our House of Worship, give thanks for their heroic deeds and pray that no war must ever again be fought, so that our gallant service people will not have died in vain; keeping in mind that our choice of worship is one of the freedoms they fought for.

They are not dead who live in hearts they leave behind.

Children to present musical
 The combined children's choirs of Hillcrest Baptist Church will present a musical titled, "Get on Board, Children," Sunday at 6 p.m.
 The musical, which tells the story of Noah's Ark, will be directed by Kelly Killion.

Woman to preach seminars
 Spring Tabernacle, 911 W. Fourth St., will present a series of seminars May 24-28 at 7 p.m., and May 25-27 at 10 a.m.
 Raye Noah, Gracemont, Okla., who will teach the seminars, was an abused child and a battered wife, according to a news release.
 She was filled with hurt, fear, sickness and disease. A victim of an arranged marriage, she became a child bride at 13, the release stated.
 Her salvation came when she was nine years old.
 Raye ministers the word of God, and was called to minister special anointings to the body of Christ.
 She and her husband, Claude, who is pastor of Agape Fellowship in Binger, Okla., founded Agape Drug and Alcohol Abuse Center, Noah Christian Academy and Women of the Harvest.
 Raye also has a daily radio program in Woodward, Okla.

Religion roundup

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — People who live together before marriage should be denied a full church wedding because "such a wedding would be dishonor," and instead be married in a low-key ceremony, Hartford Archbishop John F. Whealon said in a column published in The Catholic Transcript.

"I would be happy to witness your marriage in a simple, quiet ceremony with two witnesses, and perhaps your immediate families," Whealon said he would tell such couples. His comments were addressed to priests confronted with the issue.

Whealon said, however, couples living together should be granted a full marriage ceremony if they are willing to "live separately and chastely" until they are married.

The statement serves as an advisory and does not set policy. Parish priests say they make the ultimate decisions on church weddings based on pastoral consideration.

Whealon said co-habiting couples who want an extravagant church wedding are in effect asking the church to provide "tacit approval" to unacceptable behavior.

LAKE GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — The new president of the Rabbinical Council of America, Rabbi Max N. Schreier of Brooklyn, has voiced concern about new legislation pending in various states about defining death and removing life-support systems.

"We want to make sure the sanctity of human life is protected," he told the Orthodox rabbinical convention.

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Drawing parallels between the beliefs of Christians and the Shiite Moslems who held him captive for 19 months, the Rev. Lawrence Jenco says that a better understanding of the Islamic religion could "help us overcome such ignorance and stereotyping as we have of the people of Islam."

Moslems believe, as do Christians and Jews, in one God, Jenco said. And that common belief could be used to foster justice and human rights throughout the world, he said.

Jenco outlined the tenets of the Islamic faith to an audience of about 300 at Carroll College in opening a three-day conference entitled "Prophecy and Politics." Jenco was released in July 1986 after 564 days of captivity.

"Muslims, Christians and Jews are all followers of the same living God," he said, adding that the "dialogue" among the three religions must continue.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The Consultation on Church Union says the United Methodist Church at its general conference in May became the third church to accept the "COCU consensus."

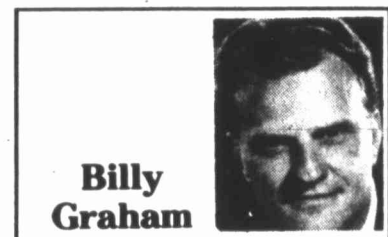

It is a theological agreement worked out over 25 years by nine denominations. The United Methodists recognized the consensus as a sufficient basis for "covenanting acts" of working partnership among the participating churches.

Previously accepting the consensus were the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church and the International Council of Community Churches. Six other denominations are still to act.

Pope returns to Rome after tour

ROME (AP) — Pope John Paul II returned to Rome today after a 12-day South American tour in which he condemned drugs in Bolivia, preached reconciliation in Peru and Paraguay and reminded Uruguay of its Roman Catholic roots.

The pontiff's plane arrived at Rome's Ciampino airport shortly after 4 p.m. and he headed directly for the Vatican.

He ended his tour in the Paraguayan capital of Asuncion on Wednesday with a plea for listeners to settle their differences and build a better nation. The day also marked his 68th birthday.

"The key to unity, reconciliation and brotherhood is in the Scriptures," the pontiff said at an airport farewell ceremony attended by authoritarian President Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, 75, the Western Hemisphere's longest-ruling head of state.

"By building a Christian nation and being faithful to your genuine roots, you can build a Paraguay of tomorrow," said John Paul, who early in the visit preached respect for human rights and civil liberties to Stroessner, in power since a 1954 coup. Stroessner, bidding the pope goodbye, said the visit had been a "source of joy and hope" for Paraguay, which he described as "a pluralistic and democratic society ... without terrorism ... and enjoying full freedom within a state of law."

Most outside observers regard the nation of 3.8 million people as a dictatorship.

BIG SPRING

area chamber of commerce

TO ALL RESIDENTS OF HOWARD COUNTY:

The Board of Directors of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce has voted to sponsor the Fireworks display on the 4th of July, but we need the help of all residents to assure that this popular event will continue.

More residents and visitors attend and enjoy the 4th of July Fireworks display than any other activity in Big Spring or Howard County.

The goal is to raise $5000. With everyone contributing a little, it will not be hard to meet. Please send your donations to Fireworks Fund, P.O. Box 1391, Big Spring, TX., 79721-1391 or you may bring it by the chamber office at 215 W. 3rd. Every contribution will help. In fact, only $.50 per family in the county will raise the needed $5000.

The Big Spring Herald's help and support of this project is greatly appreciated by the Chamber.

Sincerely,

 Clyde McMahon, Jr.
 President
