Reagan: Shooting 'justified'

Full study promised

By SUSANNE M. SCHAFER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says the Navy was justified in destroying an Iranian jetliner with 290 people aboard because U.S. officers thought it was an attacking warplane, but he promises a "full investigation" into still-unanswered questions about the Persian Gulf tragedy.

Reagan, who was scheduled to return to the White House today to wrap up his July 4th holiday, issued a statement Sunday afternoon saying "our sympathy and condolences go out to the passengers, crew and their families."

But he strongly defended the missile attack early Sunday morning by the cruiser USS Vincennes, saying the approaching jetliner ignored warnings and the American ship "followed standing orders and widely publicized procedures, firing to protect itself against possible attack."

The incident immediately provoked comparisons to the Soviet destruction of a Korean Air Lines jetliner in 1983, an attack which killed 269 people and led Reagan at the time to denounce "the barbarity of the Soviet government in shooting down an unarmed plane" after it veered into Soviet airspace.

Adm. William Crowe, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, rejected such comparisons, saying the Iranian airliner was flying in a "combat zone" where Iran itself wages war.

PERSIAN GULF — Bodies of victims from a downed Iranian Air Airbus A-300 float in this picture made off Iranian television via NBC-TV after the U.S. Navy shot down the aircraft mistaking it for a F-14 fighter. Iranians pulled the bodies of men, women and children from the gulf and vowed to avenge their deaths.

But numerous questions remain about how the mistake occurred, including why the Navy's most sophisticated naval defense system did not distinguish the large Airbus jetliner from Iran's much smaller, U.S.-made F-14 attack fighters.

Crowe said the Aegis defense system "cannot defy the laws of physics" and that "one of the most difficult problems is from a radar blip, particularly from a head-on target, to identify the type of aircraft." He also said the Vincennes' crew had only about four minutes to make a decision after picking up the approaching aircraft.

Members of Congress are scheduled to end their July 4th holiday on Wednesday, with the incident certain to renew debate over the Reagan administration's policy of military deployment in the gulf.

A White House official, asked whether the incident will force a reassessment, responded, "There is no change in policy." He refused to be identified by name.

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would "reserve judgment until receiving further information."

Another member of the committee, Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., said his initial impression was that U.S. forces acted appropriately, but he added, "I, too, have many unanswered questions."

Democratic presidential nominee-to-be Michael Dukakis,

What they say —

"American military forces must always have the right to defend themselves, and preliminary information indicates that the on-scene commander believed his forces were in imminent danger." — Sen. Sam Nunn, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

"We have saved lives," by being in the Persian Gulf. — Sen. Phil Gramm, adding that he did not believe the incident showed any flaws in U.S. policy.

"It seems reasonable to believe that the U.S. Navy acted in an appropriate manner... I'll reserve final judgment until I have more details." — Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich.

The deaths were "regrettable, but the actions of the Iranian plane left the U.S. Navy no other recourse." — Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

"I don't think the captain had much of an alternative." — Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill.

Pentagon disputing comparisons to KAL jet incident

By NANCY BENAC
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The nation's top military officer says American destruction of an Iranian airliner in the Persian Gulf is different from the 1983 Soviet downing of a Korean jet because the U.S. action occurred in a war zone.

Adm. William Crowe, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said the Iran Air plane was descending toward the USS Vincennes and that its flight profile and failure to respond to warnings "led us to believe it was a military aircraft."

He said that in the case of Korean Air Lines flight 007 shot down by the Soviets, the plane had been flying at a very high altitude and the Soviets never claimed to believe it had been out "to bomb or destroy."

"The fundamental differences, of course, are that it was not a war zone," Crowe said Sunday when asked to compare the Iran Air shooting with the KAL incident. "There was not combat in progress. There was not combat there normally."

In Sunday's incident, a U.S. Navy ship shot down an Iranian jetliner after mistaking it for a hostile military aircraft. Iran said all 290 people aboard were dead.

The Pentagon initially reported that the Vincennes had shot down an Iranian F-14 attack plane. Crowe acknowledged that the downed aircraft was, in fact, a civilian airliner about 10 hours after the incident occurred early Sunday.

On Sept. 1, 1983, the Soviets shot down KAL 007 after it strayed from its designated route into Soviet airspace after leaving Anchorage, Alaska, on the last leg of a trip to Seoul, South Korea, from New York. All 269 people aboard were killed.

It wasn't until Sept. 6 that the official Soviet news agency Tass admitted that Soviet pilots had "terminated" the flight. The Soviets claimed the plane has been spying for Washington and that their pilots had a duty to destroy it. President Reagan assailed the Soviets at the time for "barbarity" in shooting down an unarmed plane.

SERIOUS INJURY — A Big Spring woman is listed in stable condition after undergoing surgery for injuries sustained in this wreck Saturday night on the service road near Wal-Mart. Laura Iris Lomas, 23, 900 E. 18th St., was ejected when her car collided with a vehicle driven by Jerry Dale Moore, 24, 1108 Lamar St., about 7:25 p.m.

Accidents mar July 4th holiday

The lone survivor of a head-on collision early Saturday in Mitchell County — which killed a Coahoma man and five members of a Dallas family — remains hospitalized in critical condition, officials said.

Services for Ronnie Wayne Thompson, 38, will be held Tuesday.

Monica Nereia Sobrevilla, 12, remains in critical condition at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock, a nursing supervisor said Monday morning.

Three traffic accidents were reported in Big Spring over the Fourth of July weekend — including a collision Saturday night that seriously injured a 23-year-old woman, according to police reports.

• Laura Iris Lomas, 900 E. 18th

St., was ejected from the car she was driving when it collided with a vehicle driven by Jerry Dale Moore, 24, 1108 Lamar Ave., about 7:25 p.m. on the service road in the 400 block of Farm to Market Road, reports stated.

Lomas failed to yield at a stop sign while attempting to exit the Wal-Mart parking lot and was struck by Moore's car, which left 117 feet of skid marks attempting to avoid the collision, according to police reports.

A passenger in Lomas' car — Kimberly Dawn Watkins, 17 — was also injured. Lomas and Watkins were transported by ambulance to Scenic Mountain Medical Center, reports stated.

Lomas underwent surgery and was listed in stable condition, a nursing supervisor said this morning.

Moore — who was not injured — was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated, failure to maintain financial responsibility and failure to control speed, according to reports.

He was released from the sheriff's department on $1,000 bond.

Lomas was cited for failure to yield and failure to maintain financial responsibility.

• Three people suffered minor injuries early Saturday when two cars collided at the intersection of Goliad Street and FM 700, according to police reports.

A car driven by Timothy D. Dalton, 31, 1804 Mittel St., was attempting to make a left turn when it was struck by a car driven by Bobby Ray Waight, 20, 1103 E. 12th St., reports stated.

Three passengers in the cars — Sarah Mathison, 18, Jeneva Waight, 17, and Sandra Lynn Dalton, 29 — were transported by ambulance to Scenic Mountain Medical Center for treatment of minor injuries, according to police reports.

Dalton — who was arrested at the scene on a charge of public intoxication — was also cited by police for no driver's license and failure to yield right of way, reports stated.

• Conne Mae Rios, 22, 409 Sunset Ave., and a passenger — Jessica Ann Rios, 10 — sustained minor injuries about 9:15 a.m. Saturday in a two-car collision at 10th and Lancaster Street, according to police reports.

Marvin Elmer Watson, 69, Rt. 3, Holly Street, accelerated from a stop sign at the intersection and struck Rios' vehicle, reports stated.

Watson was cited by police for failure to yield right of way at a stop sign, reports stated.

Nation salutes freedom

By BART ZIEGLER

Americans kicked off their Fourth of July celebrations early today with a flag-waving send-off for the space shuttle Discovery's move to its launch pad, and most of the nation had bright sunshine for a holiday shadowed by distant tragedy.

"America, the dream is still alive," astronaut Dave Hilmers told a crowd of several hundred engineers, technicians and others at Kennedy Space Center.

Around the country, drought left many Americans facing a fair-weather Fourth without fireworks as the nation marked its 212th birthday with parades, food fests and other fun.

Many Wisconsin communities canceled fireworks because of the fire danger, so more than 580,000 people jammed Milwaukee's Lake Michigan shore Sunday for a 4,000-shell display. Traffic was so backed up that people driving into the area after 6 p.m. were "just basically spinning their wheels," said police Sgt. Ken Romels.

Showers and occasional thunderstorms developed over parts of the South, with some showers over the Rockies and northern Plains, but today was hot and sunny over most of the Texas highways Prove fatal for 19 during holiday

By The Associated Press
The number of traffic fatalities in Texas over the Independence Day weekend includes at least three pedestrians, a family of five and a teen-age boy who fell from the back of a pickup truck, authorities said.

Department of Public Safety spokesman Mike Cox reported Sunday Texas roads and highways had reached 19.

The DPS estimates 36 people will be killed in traffic accidents during the counting period, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday.

Among the pedestrians who were killed are Matthew Wayne Adams, 5, of McKinney; Mary Garza, 36, of Austin; and Max M. Zilem, 57, of Round Rock.

McKinney Saturday and died of his injuries Sunday. Ms. Garza was killed Sunday when she tried to cross Interstate 35 in Austin and Zilem died early Saturday after being struck Friday night along side Ranch Road 620 near El Salido Parkway.

Edward Louie Stanley, 15, of Leakey, died early Sunday after falling from the back of a pickup when the driver swerved to avoid a bump in Camp Wood.

At least three men were killed in one-vehicle accidents over the weekend, Cox said.

Wall Scott Teffet III, 21, of Galveston, was killed Saturday when his vehicle crashed on FM 3005 in Galveston. Ernesto Natividad Granado, 26, of Pecos, was killed Saturday night when the vehicle he was driving failed to negotiate a curve and flipped on FM 1216 three miles north of Pecos. Louis J. Bong, 65, of Gatesville, was killed when his pickup went off a gravel road.

Rainbow family prays for peace at gathering

ZAVALLA (AP) — Rainbow Family members fought court battles, dug latrines and raised money to celebrate the Fourth of July in the Angelina National Forest.

The weeklong "gathering of the tribes" is holding its biggest event today with family members celebrating Independence Day by praying for harmony, love and peace.

Some Rainbow family members planned to remain silent from the time they awoke until noon when the group would gather in what they call "meditation meadow" at the edge of Sam Rayburn Reservoir to pray silently for an hour for world peace.

A 40-year-old woman was injured Sunday night when she was hit by a vehicle that fled the scene, said Carl Gidlund, U.S. Forest Service spokesman. A man was arrested and the woman was transported to a Lufkin hospital where she was in stable but guarded condition, said nursing supervisor Evelyn Brookshire at Memorial Medical Center of East Texas in Lufkin.

The woman gave her name as No Guns and her home as Hawaii, said

Department of Public Safety Trooper Jimmy Kirksey. He said she and other Rainbow family members were trying to prevent the vehicle from driving through the camp to Lake Sam Rayburn when the driver accelerated, hitting her and dragging her under the vehicle.

Gidlund said in a statement the forest service was "saddened" by the accident, but the roads were public and Rainbow members should have met at a private campsite if they wanted their campsite closed.

Law enforcement personnel, who for most of last week carried out the heaviest patrol the Rainbow Family has faced in 17 years of gatherings, relaxed their efforts late Saturday after U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice declared health and sanitation conditions at the site acceptable for the gathering.

Justice also ruled Saturday that the group must provide the money for each day's water supply the night before to continue with its gathering. The group raised $900 for Sunday's water supply Saturday evening, Gidlund said.

Although up to 20,000 people were expected to attend the "gathering of the tribes," a family member testified he expected only about 3,500 people to show. The family member said that would be the smallest number ever to attend such a gathering.

July 5 begins final chance for liberty

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Perhaps ironically, the 5th of July will mark the start, or end, of a chance at real liberty for an unspecified number of illegal aliens in this country.

Under the yearlong amnesty program that expired two months ago, midnight Tuesday is the deadline for authorized private agencies, or Qualified Designated Entities, working on behalf of previously registered individuals to turn in their applications and fees.

The amnesty program provides for those having resided continuously in the United States since 1982 to submit proof and gain legal standing.

Those who get their paperwork processed and filed, go through interviews with federal legalization workers and gain approval from the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service will be on their way toward citizenship, starting off with temporary residency for 18 months.

For the rest, it will be back into the shadows of American society once more, likely for good — or at least until caught and deported.

Migrant farm workers have until Nov. 30 to apply for Special Agricultural Worker status.

For at least one such agency, Catholic Community Services in Tucson, the holiday weekend figured to be a long, laborious one, said Alva Torres, coordinator of its amnesty legalization assistance program in southern Arizona.

She said she was afraid that hundreds of people would not come up with the fees or all the needed documentation by the deadline. Meanwhile, many others waited late Friday to get assistance in processing their applications, she said.

Of 2,411 people whom her agency had registered but not processed by the May 4 deadline, she said 1,000 or more had yet to be processed as of mid-day Friday. And she predicted many would not show up by the deadline.

But legalization officials, who granted a 60-day extension for QDEs to file on behalf of its registered clients two months ago, are granting another delay for documentation.

"I have told QDEs we will accept the applications that are not fully documented and they can file the documents until the time of interview," said Richard Perry, chief legalization officer for Arizona.

Mrs. Torres said she anticipated at least $12,000 would be needed to help cover costs.

Mexican candidate shot to death

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A top official of the leftist National Democratic Front coalition and parliamentary candidate in this week's general election has been shot to death, law enforcement officials said.

Javier Ovando, the coalition's chief of electoral affairs and a close associate of its presidential candidate, Cuauhtemoc Cardenas, was shot five times in the head late Saturday and found inside his car at a downtown intersection, the attorney general's office said Sunday.

The coalition has mounted the strongest electoral challenge in years to the governing Institutional Revolutionary Party, or PRI. Voting is Wednesday.

The attorney general's office said the body of a person who has not been identified was also found in Ovando's car.

Police said they had no suspects and would not speculate on a motive. They said an investigation was under way.

Cardenas and other leaders of the coalition planned to meet with Interior Ministry officials today.

State school minority figures low

FORT WORTH (AP) — Five years after Texas promised to boost minority enrollment in public colleges and universities the figure has risen by only one percentage point.

When Texas submitted its desegregation plan in 1983, minorities made up 27 percent of the enrollment in Texas colleges and universities. Five years later, the figure is 28 percent and the number of black students has actually declined 3.6 percent from 29,703 in 1983 to 28,622 in 1987.

State Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said the plan was realistic, but suffered the effects of the oil slump and a consequent budget shortfall.

"I would get the feeling that the best we've done is fair," said Parker, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

Gary Curran, special assistant to the secretary of civil rights in the federal Department of Education, said the state's deadline to attain the goal passed with the end of June.

"If there is no change, we're going to have a greater gap between minorities and whites in terms of educational attainment, employment and income," said Sara Melendez, director of the American Council on Education's office of special minority initiatives.

Hollywood — as usual — sparkles on birthday

By LISA WOLFSON
Associated Press Writer
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Amid fanfare rivaling that of the Olympics and Super Bowl, this city gave itself a star-studded 75th birthday party capped with fireworks, music, and a diamond-encrusted cake worth $20 million.
"Happy Birthday, Beverly Hills," said singer Dinah Shore, a 20-year resident who was master of ceremonies Sunday night on an Academy Awards-like stage on the football field of Beverly Hills High

"We have the best of everything here, the best schools, the best police department... the best hotels and the best restaurants," Miss Shore said. "I'm glad I raised my children here."
The 90-minute show featured skits, music and dancing commemorating the city's history. More than 1,000 singers, dancers, actors and non-celebrity residents recalled Beverly Hills' transformation from a lima bean field to 5.6 square miles of some of the world's most expensive property.

Radio personality Casey Kasem led a 75-second countdown to the show's start, which erupted in fireworks and the release of 1,000 balloons, some shaped like silver-and-white birthday candles.
Jose Feliciano sang "America the Beautiful" to the audience of 10,000, and Desi Arnaz Jr. led more than 100 dancers, mariachi musicians and horse riders in a salute to the area's Mexican past.
The city, which draws more tourists than Disneyland, is home to mansions, Rodeo Drive boutiques and more Rolls-Royces per capita than London. The average income among its 33,000 residents is $125,000 and its 100 financial institutions have $8 billion in deposits.

Will Rogers Jr., son of the late humorist Will Rogers who was the city's first honorary mayor, told how the battle to incorporate Beverly Hills in 1914 was nearly lost.
He said his father went door to door promising residents an autographed photograph of himself if they voted in favor of independence versus annexation to Los Angeles. Independence won easily.

Motorcycle police escorted an armored truck onstage for the presentation of the official symbol of the celebration: a piece of birthday cake iced with 2,600 white diamonds valued at $20 million.
"Our birthday cake is so special you can only order it by the slice," Miss Shore said.

Help sought with killing in Arizona

HERALD STAFF REPORT
TUCSON, Ariz. — Arizona authorities are seeking to locate a man they believe was involved in the murder of a 55-year-old man who frequently stayed in the Big Spring area.
Pima County Sheriff's Detective Keith St. John said the body of Robert Morgan Thompson — whom he described as a transient — was discovered March 7 behind a Tucson truck stop.
St. John said Thompson died as a result of blunt trauma to the head. "There was heavy drinking involved and he was beaten to death," said St. John.
He said reliable witnesses — including one who is a Big Spring resident — have told him that Thompson stayed in Big Spring and was often treated for alcoholism at a rehabilitation center, although St. John said he has not been able to confirm that in telephone conversations with hospital officials here.

"A witness in Big Spring told me he would let Thompson sweep up for him and pay him $5 — then he would disappear for a few days," St. John said.
Thompson — a native of Oklahoma — often stayed in Big Spring and the Fort Worth area and "hitchhiked" a ride on a train to Tucson from Houston with his alleged assailant in early March, St. John said.
"We feel certain the man we are looking for was involved in Thompson's murder because we have witnesses who saw them living behind the truck stop just days before we found his body," St. John said.
He added that he is seeking the public's help in learning the identity of the suspect.
"I know what he looks like. If I knew his name, I'd be able to issue a warrant for his arrest," St. John said.

Italians: Jet out of corridor

ROME (AP) — Officers aboard an Italian frigate in the Persian Gulf say the Iranian jetliner shot down by an American warship was flying outside the commercial air corridor, an Italian Navy spokesman said today.
The route of the Iranian Airbus was detected by officers aboard the Espero, which was escorting the Italian cargo ship Jolly Smeraldo through the Strait of Hormuz, said the spokesman, speaking under the usual groundrules of anonymity.
He said Italian radar screens showed that the Iranian plane, on a 150-mile flight from Bandar Abbas, Iran, to Dubai in the United Arab Emirates, was outside the route reserved for civilian planes.
The spokesman didn't elaborate, but Adm. William Crowe, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said in Washington on Sunday that the aircraft approached the cruiser Vincennes four or five miles outside a commercial corridor used by civilian craft in the area.

Iran has claimed the plane was inside a commercial corridor.
The Italian military spokesman said the Italian officers heard the commander of the Vincennes send four radio warnings to the pilot of the Iranian plane, but there was no response.
The Italians later heard the Americans announce they had downed an Iranian F-14, the spokesman said.
Italy sent a naval task force to the gulf last year to protect Italian merchant ships in the waterway.
The spokesman said the Italian frigate had offered several times to help in rescue efforts on Sunday but never received an Iranian response. The escort mission continued today.

ed under new rules of engagement requiring them to take faster defensive action when threatened.
Crowe expressed "deep regret" over the loss of life but said Rogers and other commanders in the area "acted with good judgment" because they believed American ships were being approached by a hostile aircraft.
The Vincennes is a San Diego-based, 9,600-ton Aegis class cruiser that has been on patrol in the strategic Hormuz area for the Celebration

The Fourth of July celebration began Friday afternoon for the students of the YMCA Summer Day Camp, beginning with a carnival, and included two students-vs-councilors mud tugs — both won by the students — swimming and making banana splits. Six-year old Ryan Michelis winds-up for the pitch as he aims at knocking six cans for a prize at the ball toss booth. Jamie Beal, 7, laughs at a mud-caked Casey O'Brien, 9, as they prepare to do battle again in the mud tug.

Put drugs in proper perspective

Worried Americans tell pollsters that drugs are the nation's No. 1 problem. Congress is about to boost spending in the "war on drugs" to $9.1 billion a year. George Bush, Michael Dukakis and Jesse Jackson battle over drug issues. Politicians point fingers at each other for not voting to impose the death penalty on drug dealers who commit murder.

At the risk of being branded soft on drugs and ridden out of town on a rail, may we suggest that the "drug crisis" is being blown out of proportion and that while it is serious, the country has more important concerns?

deserves credit for trying to put the drug threat in perspective by circulating three revealing numbers among his colleagues: Last year illegal narcotics use killed fewer than 6,000 Americans, while cigarettes caused more than 300,000 deaths and alcohol 60,000.

Of course, the damage done by drugs greatly exceeds 6,000 deaths. Illicit narcotics are a cause of crime, grief, wasted lives and AIDS transmission. The problem is grave, but not overwhelming. Drugs should be addressed with more balance, less political posturing and no hysteria.

The Albuquerque (N.M.) Tribune

Space station funding appropriate

Politicians seldom take steps that lack immediate results — and subsequent benefit at the ballot box.

Thus it was cheering to see the Senate appropriations defense subcommittee vote $800 million last week toward the planned U.S. space station, even if NASA says that is $100 million less than necessary to make it operational by a 1996 target. The figure is far better than the $200 million approved by another subcommittee last week, an amount space officials said was so insufficient it would derail the project.

A space station manned by scientists is the key to solving universal questions — and ones of survival on Earth. It is not a frill or a luxury.

Even those in Congress with focus no further than the next election apparently realize that.

The Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune

Unethical conduct caused scandal

Who was minding the store? The widening investigation of fraud and bribery in the nation's weapons procurement system is disturbing but it is not surprising. What happens when a climate of permissiveness, starting at the very top, pervades a bureaucratic system.

The lackadaisical disregard for the ethical conduct displayed by scores of important appointees in the Reagan administration has set the tone for those in lesser positions. It's no wonder that the procurement system became riddled with bribery and fraud.

Salem (Ore.) Statesman-Journal

Say no to a Marcos homecoming

Philippine President Aquino would be risking a lot by letting Ferdinand Marcos return home, even to stand trial as a defendant in the theft of national wealth.

Marcos, who has been living in Honolulu since February 1986, has previously asked for permission to go home. He wanted to be with his dying mother and also to attend her funeral. These requests were wisely rejected by the Aquino government, which has enough troubles without letting the deposed president back into the country.

Aquino's fragile government is asking for trouble by letting the mischievous Marcos back in the country, even if he is under lock and key. Opportunities are still ripe for Marcos and his old backers to exploit his presence in Manila to stir up insurrection.

As badly as the Philippines wants Marcos' millions, the price of having Marcos back home again may be too costly a trade-off.

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin

Line-item veto can be beneficial

If the president had a line-item veto, would it be easier for him to fight spending excesses on Capitol Hill? Though common sense says yes, opponents of the idea cite discouraging evidence from states that already have this budget device. They say that on the average these states have no more success in restraining outlays than other states.

But George Mason University economist Mark Crain, currently on leave to the White House budget office, has conducted a more detailed analysis. He reports that not all line-item vetoes are created equal: The most effective type seems to be the "item-reduction veto," which allows a governor to substitute a lower dollar figure than the one sought by the legislature for a particular item. Only 10 states have this budget device.

Crain finds that when all other variables are held constant, the item-reduction veto slashes average annual spending increases by more than half — from 4 percent to 1.3 percent.

Over the years that adds up to enormous savings. Crain's findings make the case for a strong line-item veto more convincing than ever.

The Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel

Increase anti-pollution efforts

Look closely at the news photos from drought-stricken farm regions, at images of sun-baked land and withered crops. If a group of scientists who testified before a congressional hearing last week are right, pictures like that could be common in years to come — and we have only ourselves to blame.

The cars that clog our freeways, the factories and power plants that spew pollutants into the air, the massive deforestation taking place in poor countries — they all contribute to the "greenhouse effect," a warming trend expected to profoundly impact our planet.

The four warmest years of the last 100 have been in the 1980s, and 1988 is shaping up to be the hottest on record.

What could be the long-range consequences? As with just about anything, there will be winners and losers. America's rich Farm Belt could dry up, but Canadian and Soviet agriculture would benefit.

Because some countries stand to benefit from a global warming trend, it could be difficult to enlist their support for measures to fight it.

So what can be done? A start would be to clean house in our country by phasing out polluting plants, improving mass-transportation systems and developing pollution-free alternative energy sources.

America, after all is one of the major contributors to the problem. If this country doesn't show leadership, who will?

Fourth of July festivities never fail to remind me of other years and other Fourths.

I've seen some fireworks in my time, ranging from the shows Lubbock officials used to stage at Ratson Canyon to the time I watched San Antonio fireworks from the back porch of an Air Force barracks — 10 years ago — in basic training.

The year after that, I escaped from Louisiana to spend part of my Independence Day in Texas; there were fireworks in Shreveport, and sparklers bought a minute before midnight at the state line.

There were years of fireworks in town, an orderly display for which a Missouri city charged $1 per carload to gain admittance to the high school football field where the shows were staged.

You could see them even better from the top of a hill behind the bleachers. free.

Write from the heart

That's what fireworks remind me of — and while I know insurance rates and fire hazards have had a hand in curtailing those displays, I can't help believing there's a pettiness in stopping fireworks.

Call me old-fashioned (again) but I believe some traditions are worth hanging on to, and fireworks on July 4 is one of them. The sight of the rockets and the sound of the shells is the first lesson most of us have in what Independence Day means.

It's a fun time — and one of the few holidays not commercially exploited beyond belief — but it's losing much of its flair.

Nowadays the stores stay open, trumpeting their bargains, and I figure progressive legislators will be "observing" Independence Day with a first-Monday-in-July long weekend any session now.

Maybe that's not inappropriate. Maybe the independence we celebrate has degenerated so badly.

A nation generations fought for is giving its freedom away in pursuit of ever-higher profits. The land and principles for which the Revolutionary War was fought are under siege again, and the saddest note is that no one seems to care.

We've let apathy decide our political races for so long that any dedicated fanatic can raise significant support with two or three hundred voters scattered around a state.

We've let spending priorities and federal judges wrangle over our prison systems so long that a term in the state penitentiary is a joke, a better deal than probation for 10 years, in some parts of Texas.

We've been irresponsible, and we're probably going to stay that way. We rail about crime in the streets but don't provide money to build prisons to protect ourselves.

Long since have we given up the idea of punishing inescapably.

We wring our hands over the drug problem and turn our backs on dope deals done in the school, in the street, by White House workers; it's not our job, we say, to call police.

So more offenders get away with more little crimes, and we say, "legalize the substance," to clear the backlog in the courts.

Then we face slaughter on the highways from drivers not just drunk but stoned, and wonder why we don't feel safe.

Maybe we shouldn't celebrate our independence any more. Maybe we don't have it.

More importantly, maybe we don't deserve it — because we sure don't act as if we care.

'Hanoi Jane' apologized to the wrong people

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

A woman and a man were arguing about Jane Fonda.

She said, "Jane Fonda was just doing what she believed was the right thing to do. The war was wrong and if it hadn't been for all the protestors it might have gone on even longer and cost even more lives."

He said, "The protestors in the streets were one thing. Jane Fonda was another."

She was hosted by our enemy. She was photographed with an enemy aircraft gun. She broadcast on our enemy's radio to American servicemen. She called them 'war criminals.'

Who knows how much her appearance in Hanoi strengthened the will of our enemy, and how her appearance broke the will of our men?

"She should have been tried for treason."

"Hanoi Jane," they have called

Orson Swindle is assistant secretary for economic development in the Department of Commerce in Washington.

After he graduated from Georgia Tech, Orson went into the Marine Corps and became a pilot.

He was shipped out to Vietnam in 1965. He finished his tour of duty and was ready to go home, but he volunteered for one last flight.

That was November 1966. He was shot down and taken prisoner by the North Vietnamese.

He was beaten and otherwise tortured. He was a prisoner for four years before his family learned he wasn't dead. He remained a prisoner of war for over seven years. He was released by the North Vietnamese in March of 1973.

Seven years. Think of it.

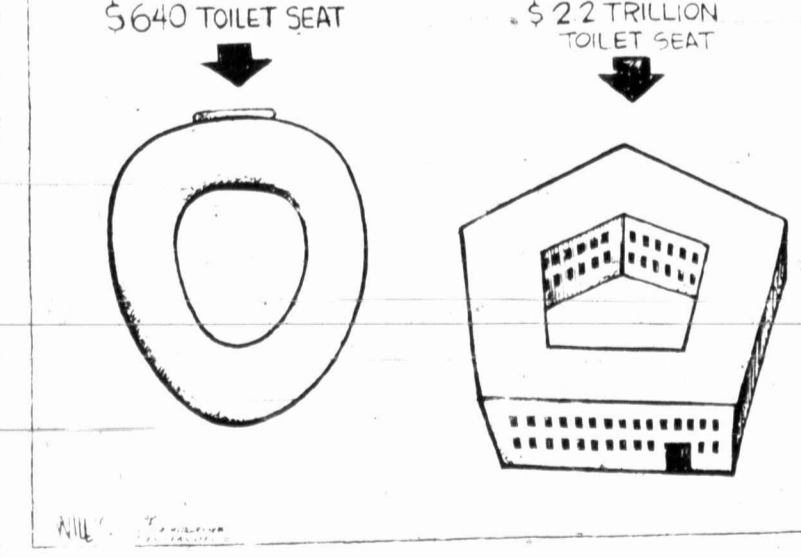

I called Orson in Washington when I read Hanoi Jane's comments. I wasn't surprised at anything he said.

"I have a lot of resentment toward her," he began. "She is despicable. When I was in prison I heard her activities and I heard her tapes."

"Her brainwashed comments were absurd and she continues to be repulsive to me. I think she apologized because she's trying to go into those communities that have protested against her, and they should protest. She should be an unwelcomed person anywhere she goes."

If Hanoi Jane wants to apologize to somebody, she ought to go to that wall in Washington and get down on her knees and beg forgiveness from those names engraved upon it.

Only then might she have a speck of credibility.

With all the defense contractor fraud, insider stock trading etc., we won't have an equal chance at making business contacts unless they make PRISONS co-ed, too!

Rogue program ruins data

NEW YORK (AP) — A computer "virus" destroyed information stored in personal computers at NASA and other government agencies, The New York Times reported today.

The rogue computer program, designed to sabotage a private company in Dallas, destroyed computer files over a five-month period beginning in January, the newspaper said.

Damage to government data was limited, but files were destroyed, projects were delayed and hundreds of hours were spent tracking the electronic culprit, the Times said.

It was not known whether the program was deliberately introduced or brought in accidentally, but National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials have asked the FBI to investigate, the paper said.

Also affected were the Environmental Protection Agency, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the U.S. Sentencing Commission, the Times said.

Memorial's eternal light revived

GETTYSBURG, PA. (AP) — The cheers of thousands echoed on a hillside here as a tongue of flame atop the Eternal Light Peace Memorial burst skyward for the first time in 15 years.

More than 20,000 people witnessed the relighting Sunday of the memorial that was first ignited 50 years ago in memory of those who fought and died in the Civil War Battle of Gettysburg. "It's time for us to learn from the sacrifice of those who fell here. And it is time to act," astronomer Carl Sagan said in his dedication address.

"The real triumph of Gettysburg was not, I think, in 1863. It was 50 years later, when the veterans, the remnants of the adversary forces, the Blue and the Gray, met in celebration and in solemn memorial," Sagan said. "It is time to emulate them."

Prisons cheaper than release

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says it is ultimately cheaper to relieve overcrowding in penal facilities by building new prisons and jails than by releasing repeat offenders.

A report released Sunday by the department's National Institute of Justice concluded that new crimes committed by released prisoners cost society about $430,000 a year through such things as police and court work, losses to victims and private security expenses.

But it costs about $25,000 for each prisoner each year to build a new cell and maintain the inmate, the study said.

"Confinement is not too expensive when weighed against the price of crimes that would otherwise be prevented by incapacitation," said James K. Stewart, the institute's director.

Prosecutions weaken mob body

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The "Commission" set up by the most powerful mob families to settle their disputes appears to be out of commission, authorities say.

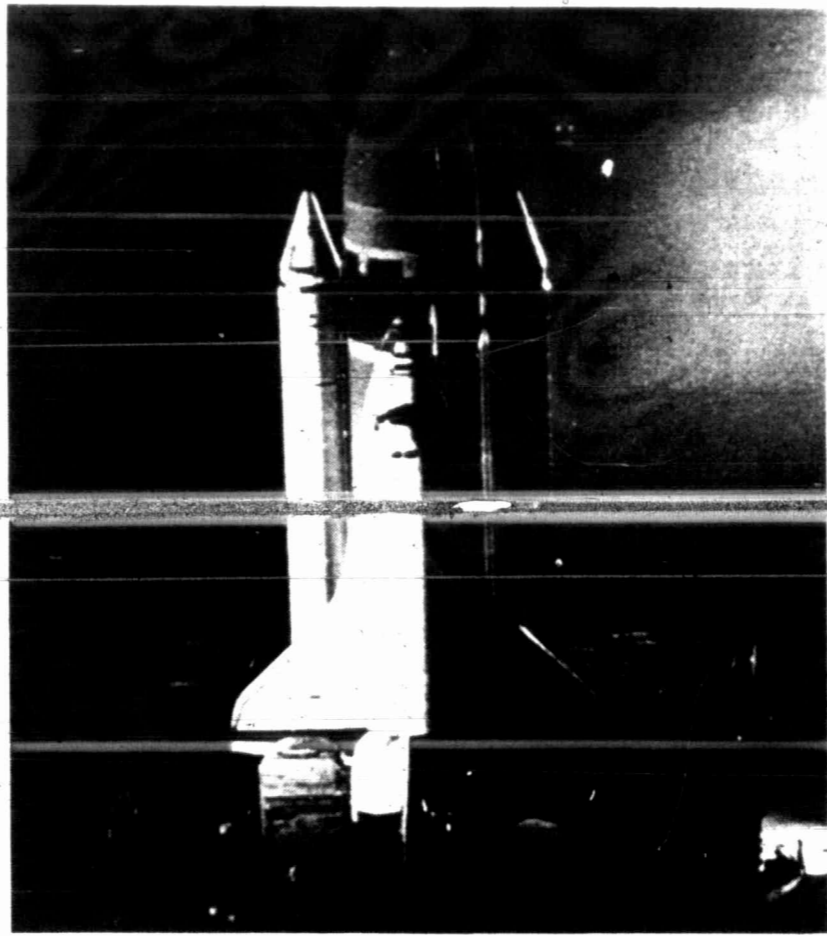

The latest example of the ruling group's declining power came last week when authorities handed down indictments that indicated rivalry between the nation's two most powerful mob families had escalated into a plot to kill reputed mob boss John Gotti.

"I think you can say with some degree of certainty there is a bankruptcy of leadership," says Fred Martens, director of the Pennsylvania Crime Commission.

The ruling body that generally stabilized the five major Mafia families — Genovese, Gambino, Lucchese, Bonanno and Colombo — for more than a half-century was effectively dismantled by the 1986 Commission trial.

Experts say a new wave of prosecutions has thrown the underworld into further disarray

SPACE CENTER, Fla. — The Space Shuttle orbiter Discovery rolls away from the Vehicle Assembly Building in the early morning hours Monday enroute to its launch pad. Launch is scheduled in early September.

Shuttle moves to launch pad

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Space shuttle Discovery made its long-delayed trip to the launch pad today, cheered on by flag-waving workers who have waited 2 1/2 years for a rebirth of the American space program.

"America, the dream is still alive," astronaut Dave Hilmers told a Fourth of July crowd of several hundred engineers, technicians and others who watched as the 85-ton spaceship edged out of an assembly building into the glare of floodlights at 12:50 a.m.

"What more fitting present can we make to our country than this on the day of its birthday," said Hilmers, one of five crew members scheduled to fly Discovery on the first post-Challenger mission, set for early September.

Discovery, attached to its external fuel tank and two solid-fuel booster rockets, was perched on the broad back of a giant tracked transporter that lumbered along at less than 1 mph in covering the 4.2-mile route to the pad in 6 1/2 hours.

The shuttle arrived at Pad 39B at 7:30 a.m., and technicians began connecting its various systems to the launch tower, including air-conditioning and electricity, and extending platforms from the pad so workers can have access to the shuttle.

NASA scheduled the move in the early morning to avoid thunderstorms and lightning that are common during the daytime in the summer.

For three hours, beginning at 8 a.m., space center workers and their families were permitted to drive personal cars past the launch pad for a good look at Discovery before a service structure enclosed it.

Soviets offer deserters amnesty

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it would grant an amnesty to any of its troops who deserted their units in Afghanistan during the nation's eight-year involvement in the war there.

Prosecutor General A. Y. Sukharev told a news conference in Moscow the amnesty was being offered to about 200 Soviet soldiers who either deserted or became separated from their units during the war.

The Soviet Union began pulling its forces out of Afghanistan on May 15 under accords signed in Geneva, and units still in Afghanistan awaiting withdrawal are not taking part in offensive operations.

Sukharev said any soldier who returns to the Soviet Union "will enjoy all political, social and all other rights guaranteed by Soviet law."

Asked specifically if the amnesty applied to deserters, he said it would apply to all servicemen who became victims of "extreme conditions" in Afghanistan and that "from the standpoint of humanism, an amnesty will be applied to them."

The Soviet Union has listed 312 soldiers missing in action in Afghanistan.

One killed, two hurt in shootout

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — One soldier was killed and two policemen wounded when they fired on each other near the presidential palace today, police said.

Police said the shooting began when two officers in a patrol car accosted three men "acting suspiciously" on a street corner about 500 yards from Malacanang Palace, the home of President Corason Aquino.

The three men, who were in civilian clothes, pulled out pistols and shot at the policemen, who fired back, investigators said. One of the three was killed and two escaped.

Police said the three were identified as members of an army unit through papers found on the body of the slain soldier.

Bomb explodes by U.S. Embassy

MADRID, Spain (AP) — A homemade bomb exploded today about 300 yards from the U.S. Embassy in Madrid, causing no injuries or damage, police said.

A municipal police spokeswoman said the small bomb, placed in a garbage container, exploded at 8:25 a.m.

The spokeswoman, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said national police experts deactivated another small bomb in the area a few minutes later.

She said police had defused another bomb in the area Sunday evening.

No group took responsibility for the bombs, police said.

A reception was planned later in the day in the U.S. Embassy to celebrate the Fourth of July holiday, U.S. officials said.

Explosion, fire on train kill 5

BEIJING (AP) — An explosion and fire on a passenger train in central China killed five people and injured 20, an official report said today.

The cause of last Friday's blast was not yet known. The English language China Daily said Eleven of the injured were reported in serious condition.

The explosion occurred in a hard-seat carriage, the kind in which most Chinese travel because it is cheaper. About eight minutes after the train left Anyang in Henan province heading south for Baoliansi.

The car burst into flames that destroyed it and damaged two adjoining cars before being extinguished about a half hour later.

It was the fifth fatal train accident this year. A total of 169 people died in two train collisions, a derailment and a train fire.

Railways Minister Ding Guangen was forced to resign in March to take responsibility for the accidents, which were blamed on negligence or poor enforcement of safety rules by rail workers.

Blimp contract stirs probes

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI, as part of its probe of Pentagon dealings, and the Securities and Exchange Commission are investigating the competition between two groups for a Navy blimp contract, The New York Times reported today.

In 1986, the Navy decided to develop a model blimp that could be used for radar surveillance, sparking feverish competition between the Goodyear Aerospace Corp., a unit of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., and a joint venture of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and Airship Industries, a British blimp maker.

The two military contractors envisioned a potential $5 billion project involving 48 airships, the Times said.

The competition is now a subject of the FBI inquiry into alleged Pentagon bribery and fraud in awarding military contracts, according to present and former executives of the companies, federal investigators and others familiar with the case.

It also is being examined by a separate SEC investigation looking at whether information leaks from the Navy affected trading in the stock of Airship Industries, the executives and investigators told the Times.

The $168.9 million airship prototype contract was awarded to Westinghouse-Airship in June 1987. Information suggests the FBI is looking at the airship consultants used by the Loral Corp., which acquired Goodyear Aerospace during the competition, the Times said. The information also suggests the SEC is looking at whether Navy leaks affected trading in Airship stock before the winning bid was announced, it said.

The price of Airship stock, which trades over the counter in the United States, soared to $31 from $16 in the weeks before the contract award was announced, the report said.

The stock is currently trading near $4, reflecting financing troubles for the airship after the Navy terminated the project earlier this year and passed it on to another Pentagon branch.

Goodyear Aerospace retained at least two Washington-area consultants who have figured in the Pentagon fraud inquiry, William M. Galvin and William Parkin, aerospace executives familiar with the program told the Times.

Federal investigators searched Loral's Akron, Ohio, offices in June, focusing on company consultants used for the airship competition, according to Thomas M. Seese, president of the United Auto Workers local which represents about 1,400 workers at Loral's Akron plant.

A Loral spokeswoman, Elizabeth Allen, said the company felt it was inappropriate to comment on the investigation, but said Loral was cooperating with investigators and believed its activities were within "the letter and the spirit of the law."

Flush with cash, Pennzoil eyeing Tenneco package

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials of Pennzoil Co., cash-rich after receiving a $3 billion settlement from Texaco Inc., say they are considering buying the oil and gas operations being sold by neighboring Tenneco Inc.

Tenneco, with headquarters a few blocks from Pennzoil's in downtown Houston, announced in May that it will auction off its Tenneco Oil Co. division, which includes its vast oil and gas properties and refining and marketing divisions, to reduce its $8.5 billion debt. Analysts said the division could fetch $5 billion to $7 billion.

A Pennzoil spokesman said the company has not yet asked to look at Tenneco's books or requested other information in preparation for making a bonafide offer for Tenneco Oil.

"We haven't gotten anywhere near that point yet," spokesman Robert G. Harper said. "We're looking at a number of investment situations. Since Tenneco has put its oil operation on the market, that's one of those we're looking at. We're kind of analyzing the situation."

Harper downplayed a report on Pennzoil Chairman Randal

McDonald in which he said the company is interested in buying Tenneco Oil, using the $3 billion legal settlement from Texaco.

McDonald was quoted as saying the company is looking at the Tenneco assets, but has not decided if it will make a bid.

Tenneco has received a number of queries on the properties, company officials said.

Market analysts have said Pennzoil probably doesn't have the financing to buy all of Tenneco Oil, although it might combine with one or more partners or else make a limited bid for some of the company's producing properties.

McDonald said the company is particularly interested in the oil and gas properties, but would consider buying everything, including the refining and marketing division.

Pennzoil received a $3 billion payment from Texaco as settlement for a lawsuit in which Texaco was ruled to have interfered with Pennzoil's plan to buy oil and gas properties held by Getty Oil Co.

To avoid tax liabilities, Pennzoil must use the money for something like Getty, which Pennzoil wanted for its vast oil reserves.

Towing requirements change, stiffen

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A new Texas law makes towing a vehicle without a licensed tow truck punishable by a fine of up to $200. The law — Article 6687-9b of the Texas Civil Statutes — says no one may operate a tow truck for payment unless the truck is registered with the department of standards and labor.

A tow truck, according to the law, is any motor vehicle or mechanical device used to tow, winch or move disabled vehicles. There's one exception: if the owner of the vehicle doing the towing also owns the vehicle being towed, and if the pulling vehicle is clearly marked "not for hire."

The law took effect Sept. 1, with a "grace period" for operators from February through May. Although not yet stringently enforced in Big Spring, according to local tow truck company spokesman David Mitchem, the law is already being strictly enforced in surrounding cities — among them Midland and Odessa — and larger cities such as Dallas and Fort Worth.

The law imposes a Class C misdemeanor fine — up to $200 — on violators. Tow truck operators are required to have and maintain specialized equipment for towing various types of cars — front-wheel drives and badly-damaged cars, for example — under the law.

The law is designed to protect people from non-qualified and non- or under-insured operators by requiring tow trucks to have proper equipment and operators to have proper insurance.

It also helps protect lienholders and repossessioners by helping police identify legitimate repossessions rather than thefts of vehicles, Mitchem noted.

Mitchem and his son Ricky operate a 24-hour on-call, five-truck towing service as a family business. They are one of five licensed tow-truck services in Big Spring, he said Tuesday.

The other four Big Spring tow truck operators are Ace Wrecking, Bill's Wrecker Service, Henson Wrecker Service and Texas Wrecking.

"All of them are authorized to operate tow trucks commercially, and they all have the tow truck tag," David Mitchem explained. The tag and a certificate required to receive it cost $15 and $125, respectively, per year.

"We're required to have a tow truck license certificate in the cab," Mitchem said, "plus commercial insurance and cargo insurance."

His son recently completed a training program for tow truck drivers. The service's operation includes a specially-equipped rollback, which takes a car aboard the bed of the truck.

Recovering a happy ending

HERALD STAFF REPORT

When a car is stolen, the owner almost never recovers it. One such case recently had a very different ending for a South Carolina man, thanks in part to a Big Spring tow truck service.

Tow truck operator Ricky Mitchem recently returned a 1985 S-15 Jimmy two-wheel-drive utility truck to its owner.

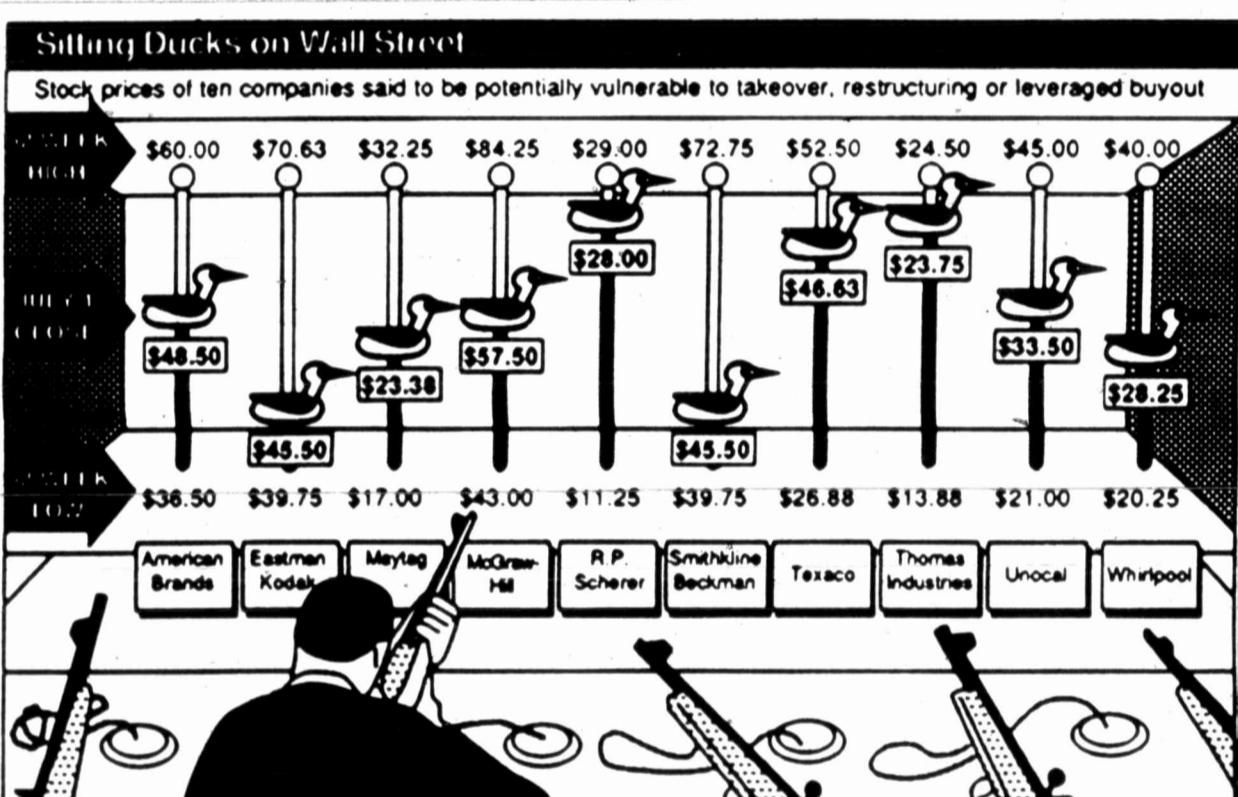

The truck, stolen by a member of the man's family, was discovered in Howard County by Texas Highway Patrol officers. Bridgeport police placed a hold on the vehicle, meaning it could not be returned until an investigation was completed.

Once the Jimmy was released, owner E. T. "Bud" Chandler, Ocala, S.C., contacted Mitchem's Wrecker Service, where the Jimmy had been towed and stored, to make arrangements to retrieve his truck.

At one point Chandler planned to fly to Texas to retrieve his truck; following negotiations, Ricky Mitchem headed to South Carolina with the vehicle.

Chandler was so pleased at its return that he wrote a letter to the Mitchems, thanking them.

"It's been a long, long time since I've seen anything that nice," David Mitchem said.

Wall Street ducks

A looming question for the latter half of 1988, a period ripe for fast-paced buy-outs, is just who is on the secret hit lists of corporate takeover artists. The graphic above lists stock prices of ten companies said to be potentially vulnerable to takeovers, restructurings or leveraged buyouts.

Oil firms studying switches

HOUSTON (AP) — Exxon, Texaco, Gulf and Conoco officials are investigating reports that some of their gas stations have sold non-branded gasoline and diesel fuel to the public, the Houston Post reports.

In a copyright story published Sunday, the Post said it obtained copies of invoices and drivers' logs indicating at least 22 loads of unbranded fuel were delivered to stations under contract to sell branded products.

By Friday afternoon, Gulf's parent corporation, Chevron, had removed company signs and the credit-card imprinter from a Gulf station that officials said sold non-Gulf products.

Industry experts say consumers won't necessarily get an inferior product if a branded station sells an unbranded product. Retailers sometimes are tempted to buy cheaper non-branded products to increase their profits, experts said.

But major oil companies object to the practice because they lose quality control, and the action degrades their trademark protection.

Such sales also could constitute a violation of the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act that protects consumers from misrepresentation, said Ron Dusek, spokesman for the Texas Attorney General's office.

Station operators contacted by the Post because their locations appeared on the documents refused to say if they had bought gasoline or diesel fuel from unauthorized sources.

LULAC considering action against Ford

DALLAS (AP) — Ford Motor Co. could face economic sanctions from a national Hispanic rights group unless the company improves its record of hiring and doing business with Hispanics, a group spokesman said.

The action against Ford by Hispanic consumers — described as a "selective buying strategy" — would come about if Ford executives meeting in Dallas this week rebuff a six-point plan to increase Hispanic hiring and advertising in Hispanic media, said Gilbert Herrera of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

Ford's workforce is less than 2 percent Hispanic and has no Hispanic executives, said Herrera, chairman of LULAC Council 100 of Dallas and LULAC corporate chairman.

"I think they have to come to some realization that they have a problem with the Hispanic community," Herrera said in the Dallas Morning News. "I think we will be able to resolve this."

A June 3 letter sent by Herrera to Ford said that 18 of 4,900 Ford dealerships nationwide are owned by Hispanics and that the $84 million Ford spent with Hispanic-owned firms was 0.16 percent of

"I think they have to come to some realization that they have a problem with the Hispanic community," said Gilbert Herrera, with LULAC. "I think we will be able to resolve this."

Ford's contracts in 1987.

But the Ford regional public affairs manager in Dallas, Bob Bierman, said a letter from a Ford executive to LULAC wrongly said that Ford has 18 Hispanic-owned dealerships when there are actually 41.

Presidential candidates George Bush and Michael Dukakis are to speak at LULAC's convention July 5-10 in Dallas.

As many as 5,000 Hispanic community leaders and corporate representatives at the convention will discuss Ford and consider any action beyond its recommended six-point plan, Herrera said.

TU offering safety reminder

TU Electric is reminding its customers this month to ask for identification when anyone claiming to be from the Electric Company approaches them at home. The company is including the security message in the mail with its July bills.

"We are trying to take every possible step to avoid criminal activity by any imposter claiming to be one of our employees," said Hooper Sanders, district manager.

Some TU Electric employees such as meter readers wear uniforms, and some employees do not. The company says it is a good idea for customers to ask for identification from any such stranger who comes to their door.

It's still raining at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The men's championship match between Boris Becker and Stefan Edberg finally resumed at Wimbledon today after a mixture of heavy rain, thunder and drizzle had continued to hold up the climax of the two-week tournament.

After Sunday's virtual wash-out, when only five games were possible, the final was pushed back until 6 a.m. EDT today.

But with no change in the weather, the covers were still on the Centre Court at that time, and there was no immediate indication when the match could resume.

Two hours later, however, after an improvement in the weather, the players came out on court to warm up. A few minutes later, play got under way.

Edberg led 3-2 in the opening set after an early exchange of breaks on Sunday. It was Becker to serve.

Although all 15,500 tickets sold for the final remained valid, there were many empty seats around Centre Court. Many of the fans remained huddled under a variety of multicolored umbrellas.

Alleyways and corridors at the All England Club, normally buzzing with activity, were strangely quiet.

With the weather forecast predicting intermittent showers for the rest of the day, prospects for an uninterrupted completion of the championship match and three other unfinished finals looked bleak.

But the skies, although cloudy, were clear of the immediate threat of rain as the action got under way.

The rain, which spared the first week of the Grand Slam tournament before turning up regularly for the next six days, hit with a vengeance Sunday and wiped out all but 22 minutes of the event's climax.

Four and a half hours after play had been scheduled to begin,

Becker and Edberg pulled out their rackets as the clouds parted and, briefly, the sun shone.

They warmed up, started play, broke each other's service. Then the rain returned and drove the players off with Edberg ahead 3-2.

"This is the day we have always dreaded since we went to the Sunday final," said Chris Gorringe, chief executive of the All England Club. The tournament has ended on a Sunday since 1982.

"We have no fallback like we would have if the final were scheduled for Saturday," Gorringe said.

It was the first time in Wimbledon history that play in the men's final had been spread over two days. It happened to the women's final just once, in 1902.

It was also the first time for 16 years that a Wimbledon singles championship match had not been completed on schedule. The 1972 men's final between Stan Smith and Ilije Nastase never got started, and was put off for 24 hours.

Sunday's rain also pushed back three other finals.

The men's doubles, called off Saturday after 2½ sets, resumed just in time for Americans Ken Flach and Robert Seguso to wrap up the third set against Anders Jarryd and John Fitzgerald. The U.S. Davis Cup pair led 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 1-0.

Only two games of the women's doubles final beat the weather, while the mixed doubles never got started.

It left Steffi Graf's success in Saturday's women's final as the only title decided by the end of the regular Wimbledon fortnight.

The 19-year-old West German beat Martina Navratilova 5-7, 6-2, 6-1 to capture her first All England Club crown and stay on course for the Grand Slam. She already holds the Australian and French titles and now has only the U.S. Open to OAK BROOK, Ill. — Peter Jacobsen watches his sand shot at the 14th hole of the Western Open. Jacobsen, who was leading going into Sunday's final round, finished second in the tournament. His four day total was 279, earning him $97,200. Jim Benepe shot a 278 and won $162,000 for finishing first.

Little breaks six-year drought by winning de Mauier Classic

COQUITLAM, British Columbia (AP) — After six years of pain and frustration, Sally Little, finally has something to celebrate.

"I'd like to buy you all some champagne. This has been a long time coming," Little said after sinking a 25-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole Sunday to win the $500,000 du Maurier Classic, the third of the LPGA's four major tournaments.

It was the 15th Tour victory and third major for Little, 36, but her first win in six years.

The South African native, who became an American citizen in August, 1982, underwent knee surgery and an abdominal operation in 1983. When she came back, her putting touch was almost gone and the road back was filled with frustration and setbacks.

"This feels like a new career after six years of hardship," she said. "Now I realize all the hard work was worth it, every minute."

The celebration almost didn't come about.

Little, who took the lead Friday with a second-round 65, had a two-shot lead over England's Laura Davies entering the round, but saw the 24-year-old long-hitting rookie pull even on the 16th hole when Little bunkered her approach shot and took a bogey.

With the $75,000 first prize at stake, Little regained her composure by making a six-foot par putt at 17. Davies also parred and they were tied entering the final hole.

Little hit a straight drive, a solid four-wood approach and calmly dropped a 25-foot putt on a soft-green that was soggy from an overnight rain.

Davies had no chance after driving into the right rough and putting her approach in the trap. She made a marvellous save from the bunker to four feet from the pin, but Little's birdie putt ended any thought of a playoff.

"I didn't watch Laura coming down 18," Little said. "I was watching myself, trying to control myself."

"I feel the game is not won on the tee, but by hitting a lot of good shots and putts. I have to do everything well to win. What a feeling. I love majors."

Little's final-round 71 gave her a 72-hole total of 9-under-par 279 on the 6,361-yard, par-72 course. Davies finished with a 2-under 70 for a 280.

Little, who resides in Laguna Beach, Calif., and plays out of Delray Beach, Fla., entered the tournament 54th on the earnings list with $30,115.

Davies went over the $100,000 mark in earnings with the second-place money of $46,250.

"No one remembers who is second in a major," philosophized Davies, who won the U.S. Open last year, "but I will, and my folks will be happy to hear I was second."

Sherri Turner, the first-round leader, closed with a 72 for a 282 to finish third.

There was a four-way tie for fourth at 285 among Alice Brown, Jan Stephenson, Deb Richard and Amy Alcott. Brown had the best final round with a 68. Stephenson and Richard shot 70s, while Alcott had a 72.

Expos hurler just misses shutout against Braves

By The Associated Press

Montreal's John Dopsos came up one out short of his first major league shutout — and a place in the record books.

The Montreal right-hander lost what would have been a history-making 14-hit shutout Sunday on Dion James' two-out, two-run single in the top of the ninth. Andy McGaffigan relieved and struck out Dale Murphy to end the game as the Expos won 9-2.

If Dopsos had retired James, he would have tied the major-league record for the most hits allowed in a shutout. Larry Cheney in 1913 and Milt Gaston in 1928 both pitched 14-hitters.

The Expos did everything possible to help Dopsos. They turned three double plays and prevented a run in the bottom of the ninth when right fielder Mitch Webster made a running over-the-shoulder catch on a drive by Ron Gant.

"The guys really did a great job trying to protect the shutout for me," Dopsos said.

Dopsos, 25, walked one and struck out three as he won for the first time since May 18.

Mets 5, Astros 0

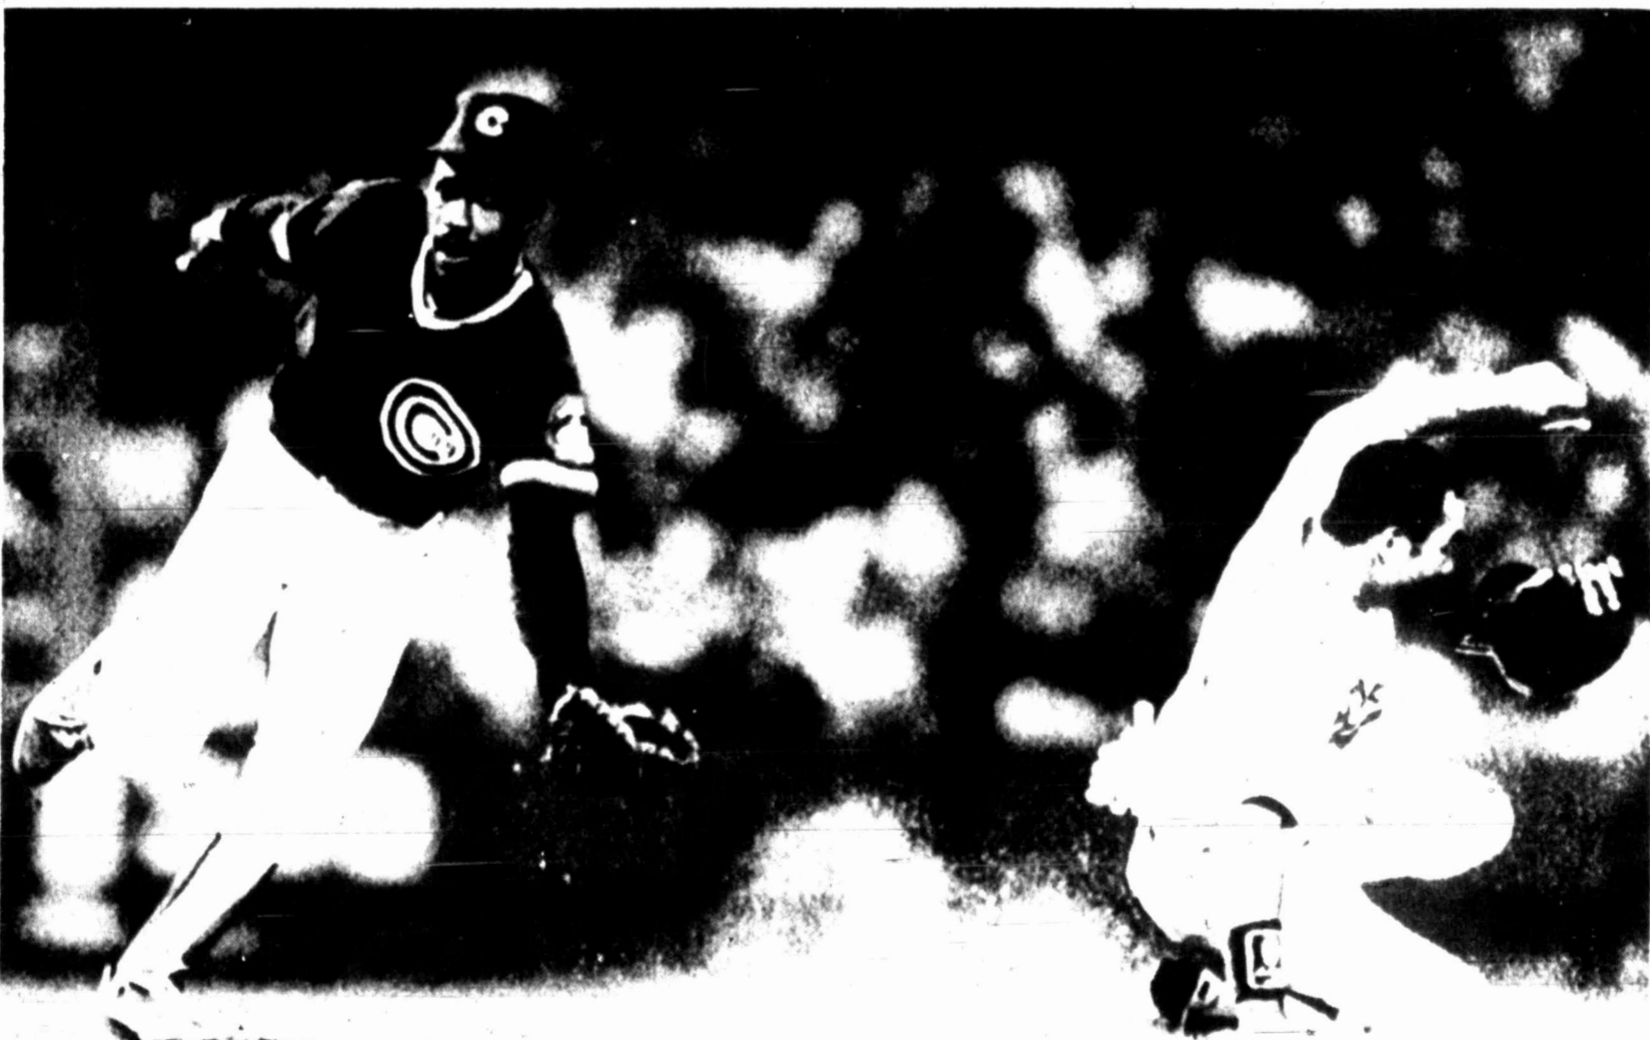

In contrast to Dopsos, Sid Fernandez had little trouble with the Astros, allowing only two hits and striking out 12 to hand Nolan Ryan his fifth straight loss.

Fernandez, 5-6, did not allow a hit after the third inning and pitched his first complete game in 33 starts since May 30, 1987.

The left-hander also scored the game's first run after reaching on an error in the bottom of the third and later singled twice, one of them driving in a run.

Chicago's Rick Sutcliffe combined with two relievers on a seven-hitter and Mark Grace drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the seventh inning.

Sutcliffe, 7-5, allowed six hits, struck out nine and walked one.

Pat Perry came in with one out and a runner on first in the eighth and retired the side. Les Lancaster retired the final batter of the game and earned his fourth save.

Giants 4, Pirates 0

Kelly Downs pitched a three-hitter for his third shutout of the season and Kevin Mitchell drove in three runs for San Francisco.

Downs, 7-7, retired the first 13 batters before giving up a one-out single to Darnell Coles in the fifth inning. Downs walked two and struck out four in pitching his fourth complete game.

The only other Pirate hits were a two-out bunt single by starter Mike Dunne in the sixth and a leadoff single by Sid Bream in the eighth.

Brett Butler led off the first with a walk against Dunne, 5-7, and later scored on Mitchell's sacrifice fly. Mitchell added a two-run single in the top of the seventh, chasing Dunne.

Cardinals 5, Padres 1

Tom Brunansky hit a two-run homer with two outs in the ninth inning as St. Louis won for only the sixth time in 22 games.

Ozzie Smith singled with one in the ninth off Lance McCullers, 1-5. After Willie McGee struck out, Brunansky hit a 1-2 pitch for his 11th homer.

Todd Worrell, 4-4, got the victory despite allowing a two-run homer to Garry Templeton in the bottom of the eighth.

The Cardinals led 3-2 after seven innings, but John Kruk led off the eighth against Worrell with a single and Templeton followed with his second homer of the season.

U.S. to host 1994 World Cup

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — The United States will host the 1994 World Cup, soccer's world governing body announced today.

The United States, which will become the first nation outside Europe or South America to stage the month-long, 52-match tournament, automatically qualifies as host. The United States has not advanced past World Cup qualifying rounds since 1950.

The 21-member executive committee of FIFA, the International Federation of Association Football, voted this morning after hearing final presentations from the United States, Brazil and Morocco.

FIFA Senior Vice President Harry Cavan of Northern Ireland made the announcement at a news conference in a suburban hotel.

The U.S. delegation clapped and cheered as Cavan made the announcement, which was expected.

The 1994 competition will be the 15th World Cup, which dates back to 1930. Since that time, the tournament has alternated between Europe and South America, soccer's two traditional powers.

The 1990 World Cup will be played in Italy. The 1986 World Cup was in Mexico, where Argentina beat West Germany 3-2 in the championship.

The United States played in the World Cup in 1930, 1934 and 1950. It is 3-4 in its three appearances, including a stunning 1-0 victory over England in 1950 at Belo Horizonte, Brazil.

The U.S. proposal includes 18 possible stadiums, of which 12 would be used.

Briton runs blistering mile

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Britain's Steve Cram outkicked a star-studded field in the final 40 meters Saturday night to win his fourth straight "Dream Mile" at the Bislett Games IAAF Mobil Grand Prix track meet.

Earlier, Liz Lynch-McColgan of Britain handed world record-holder Ingrid Kristiansen of Norway her first-ever loss in the 10,000 meters.

Cram came from the inside lane to overtake Jens-Peter Herold of East Germany, fellow World Championships, finished sixth in 3:50.57.

It was the fastest 10,000-meter time in the world this year and a new personal best for Lynch-McColgan, who had predicted after her Belfast victory that she would beat Kristiansen in this meet.

Xiuting Wang of China was a distant third in 32:02.21, just ahead of France's Annette Sergent-Palluy, who was timed in 32:04.78.

A rough day for relievers

By The Associated Press
Late-inning flops are rare for Dennis Eckersley, Jeff Reardon and Lee Smith, three of baseball's top relief specialists, but they're getting to be a habit with Cecilio Guante.

On a Sunday when Oakland's Eckersley, Minnesota's Reardon and Boston's Smith all blew save opportunities, Guante served up another last-inning home run that spelled disaster for the New York Yankees.

Ex-Yankee Dan Pasqua added to Guante's gopher-ball collection when he hit a two-run homer into Comiskey Park's upper right-field stands with one out in the bottom of the 10th inning, giving the Chicago White Sox a dramatic 4-3 victory.

On May 13, Guante surrendered a game-winning two-run homer to California's Brian Downing with two out in the ninth inning. On June 20, Detroit's Tom Brookens homered with one out in the bottom of the 10th for a 2-1 win. The next night, Detroit's Alan Trammell, the only batter Guante faced, hit a grand slam with two out in the ninth to cap a six-run rally in a 7-6 victory.

Guante also yielded a two-run, game-tying eighth-inning homer to Baltimore's Eddie Murray on June 12, and was nicked for game-winning ninth-inning singles by Chicago's Gary Scudis on Friday night and Texas' Scott Fletcher on May 7.

Elsewhere, Eckersley gave up the tying run in the ninth inning but Oakland, which got three homers from Jose Canseco, outlasted Toronto 9-8 on Mark McGwire's homer in the 16th. Reardon failed to protect a one-run lead in the eighth inning and walked home the winning run as Milwaukee edged Minnesota 4-3 and Smith yielded a game-tying double in the seventh inning before Kansas City nipped Boston 3-2 in the eighth.

In other American League games, it was California 10, Detroit 4; Seattle 7, Cleveland 6 and Texas 13, Baltimore 1.

White Sox 4, Yankees 3
After New York took a 3-2 lead in the top of the 10th on Dave Winfield's RBI single, Harold Baines opened the Chicago half of the inning with a walk. One out later, Pasqua hit his ninth home run — the 12th time the Yankees have lost in the opposition's final turn at bat.

PHILADELPHIA — Philadelphia Phillies baserunner Chris James holds his head after colliding with Cincinnati Reds shortstop Barry Larkins on a force out at second in fourth inning action.

Redus hit a two-run double and Bill Long blanked the Yankees on five hits through seven innings. Bobby Thigpen relieved to start the eighth and the Yankees tied the score on Rickey Henderson's double and singles by Don Mattingly, Jack Clark and Winfield.

Athletics 9, Blue Jays 8
Canseco, whose 23 homers lead the majors, hit a two-run shot in the first inning and a solo homer in the sixth off Toronto starter Todd Stottlemyre. He gave Oakland an 8-6 with a two-run homer off Tom Henke in the 12th but Toronto tied it when Manny Lee singled and Tony Fernandez homered off Greg Cdaeret. Canseco got a sixth RBI on a groundout.

The Blue Jays tied the game 6-6 against Eckersley with two out in the ninth on a two-base throwing error by third baseman Carney Lansford and a double by Fernandez.

McGwire hit his game-winning homer with one out in the 16th off John Cerutti. Todd Burns, Oakland's sixth pitcher, allowed two hits in 4-2-3 innings for his first major-league victory. Oakland has a 6 1/2-game lead over Minnesota in the AL West. The A's are 8-0 against Toronto and 32-9 against the AL East.

Oakland used 21 players, including pitcher Gene Nelson as a pinch runner in the 12th. Nelson stole second, the first stolen base by an AL pitcher since the designated hitter rule came into effect in 1973.

Brewers 4, Twins 3
The Twins led 3-2 when Robin Yount singled off Keith Atherton with one out in the Milwaukee eighth and Jeffrey Leonard was hit by a pitch. Reardon, who has 21 saves, relieved and pinch-hitter Darryl Hamilton hit his first pitch for a game-tying double.

One out later, Reardon intentionally walked Billy Jo Robidoux to load the bases. Dale Sveum, another pinch hitter, walked on four pitches to force Leonard home.

Royals 3, Red Sox 2
Boston led 2-1 when a one-out double by George Brett in the seventh inning chased starter Mike Smith. Smith got the second out, but Kevin Seitzer doubled to tie the score. With two out in the eighth, Smith walked Jamie Quirk. Kurt Stillwell singled and Willie Wilson singled to score pinch-runner Bill Pecota.

The game was scoreless until the sixth when Bo Jackson homered to give the Royals a 1-0 lead. The Red Sox went ahead 2-1 in the seventh on Todd Benzinger's two-run homer off Mark Gubicza.

Angels 10, Tigers 4
Chili Davis drove in four runs and had one of three homers off Jack Morris in the first three innings. Winner Kirk McCaskill allowed two unearned runs and eight hits in 7 1/3 innings.

Mariners 7, Indians 6
Mario Diaz drove in three runs and Mike Schooler defused a rally in the eighth inning, retiring all five batters he faced for his third save. Winner Scott Bankhead yielded four runs in six innings, including Ron Kittle's 12th homer.

Rangers 13, Orioles 1
Jose Guzman scattered five hits over eight innings and Bob Brower hit Texas' first grand slam in exactly a year and drove in six runs. Guzman was bidding for his second straight shutout until Joe Orsulak hit his first home run of the season in the eighth.

U.S. team wins final series game

TOKYO (AP) — Bret Barberie of Southern Cal hit a three-run home run and reliever Jim Abbott of the University of Michigan pitched no-hit ball during the last 4 1/3 innings as an American collegiate all-star squad defeated a Japanese national baseball team 6-4 Sunday.

The victory was the U.S. team's second against three defeats in the five-game series.

Poke picks unsigned

IRVING (AP) — Dallas Cowboys top draft pick Michael Irvin remained unsigned by the club this weekend as rookies, free agents and a few veterans prepared for their annual six-week training camp.

Irvin has plenty of company among his fellow rookies, as only offensive tackle Owen Hooven, a seventh-round selection, has been signed.

The Cowboys' vice president who handles contract negotiations, Joe Bailey, is trying to sign agreements with Irvin and seven other picks.

Bailey has met twice with Mel Levine, who represents Irvin, and sources told The Dallas Morning News that Levine is seeking a four-year deal worth close to $2 million for Irvin.

Bailey wouldn't reveal specifics about his negotiations, but is optimistic that Irvin will sign early enough to make it to camp when it begins Sunday.

Two draft choices — wide receiver Brian Bedford (No. 9) and defensive end Chad Hennings (No. 11) — won't be in camp.

The Cowboys traded Bedford's rights to the San Diego Chargers. Hennings, an Air Force Academy graduate, must meet a five-year military commitment before he can begin a pro football career.

That leaves on the unsigned list with former Miami wide receiver Irvin, linebacker Ken Norton (No. 2), guard Mark Hutson (No. 3), tackle Dave Widell (No. 4), quarterback Scott Secules (No. 6), running back Mark Higgs (No. 7), safety Billy Owens (No. 10) and linebacker Ben Hummel (No. 12).

Bailey also has had discussions with Leonard Armato, an attorney who represents Norton. The Cowboys want Norton in camp on time because he is being switched from inside to outside linebacker.

"To me, all of the draft choices are critical," Bailey said. "Everybody needs to be there. The higher draft choices have a better chance of making the team than the lower-round picks, but we want them all."

Mike Sherrard, the team's 1986 No. 1 pick, missed 32 days before signing a four-year $1.46 million deal. Last summer, Danny Noonan sat out 42 days before agreeing to a four-year $1.63 million pact.

Gorringe said the club had a duty to the fans and millions more watching worldwide on TV to try to get the match started. But it was clear almost immediately that the final wouldn't be completed on schedule.

Black clouds quickly descended over Centre Court and, sure enough, the rain returned just as Becker, broken in the second game, broke Edberg's serve at love.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, play is suspended," umpire Gerry Armstrong said.

Half an hour later, the action was called off for good and the name of the 1988 men's champion remained in the balance for at least one extra day.

Raining

Graf's victory dashed Navratilova's hopes of a record seventh successive Wimbledon singles title. It also stopped, for this year at least, the Czech-born American's bid for an unprecedented ninth singles crown overall.

Three times on Sunday, the Centre Court groundsman pulled off the khaki tarpaulin covers, bringing cheers from the crowd. But each time the covers went on again, to groans of disappointment.

Finally, with about two hours' light remaining, Edberg, in his first Wimbledon final, and Becker, the champion in 1985 and 1986, walked onto the court.

Player breaks neck sliding

LONGVIEW (AP) — The family of a 14-year-old boy who broke his neck sliding into home plate face medical expenses that surpass the coverage of an insurance policy bought through the youth's baseball league.

Doyal Jacobs was injured June 13 when he sprinted home from third after a ball was caught by the opposing team's catcher in the bottom of the fifth inning.

Jacobs slid head first, collided with the catcher and broke his neck.

"It happened just that fast," Jacob's mother, Bobbie Anderson, told the Longview Morning Journal.

Angels five games in first

By The Associated Press
El Paso outfielder Tim Casey hit three homers and batted in six runs as the Diablos swept a doubleheader from San Antonio, 12-5 and 3-0, in Texas League play. Casey also hit a double and scored two runs in a 4-for-5 performance over the two games. In the only other games, Jackson nipped Shreveport 2-1 in 13 innings and Midland defeated Wichita 10-7. Kent Hetrick, 1-3, went all seven innings in the first game in El Paso. El Paso's Brad Wheeler, 2-2, won the nightcap. The losers for San Antonio were John Wetland, 8-4, and Gregg LaFever, 6-5. In Jackson, a two-run homer by Jim Opie sparked Midland's fifth inning comeback after the Angels had fallen behind 7-6, despite a five-run first inning. Midland reliever Marty Reed, 2-0, picked up the win and Kurt Walker earned his seventh save. Midland boosted its second-half record to 12-4. The win kept the Angels five games ahead of El Paso in the Western Division race. Arkansas and Tulsa share the Eastern Division lead with 9-6 records.

The Declaration of Independence

July 4, 1776 July 4, 1988
Originally Signed By Signed Today By These Citizens
General Congress In Faith Of As An Expression Of Faith In A Country They Knew Could Exist. A Country That Does Exist.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.
A DECLARATION
BY THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, IN GENERAL CONGRESS ASSEMBLED.

When in the Course of human Events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the Political Bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the Earth, the separate and equal Station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent Respect to the Opinions of Mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the Separation.

We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed, that whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its Foundation on such Principles, and organizing its Powers in such Form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient Causes; but when a long Train of Abuses and Usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a Design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their Right, it is their Duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future Security. Such has been the Patient Sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the Necessity which constrains them to alter their former System of Government. The History of the present King of Great Britain is a History of repeated Injuries and Usurpations, all having in direct Object the Establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid World.

He has refused to Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public Good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of moderate and pressing Importance, unless suspended in their Operation till he should be consulted; and when so consulted, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to assent to other Laws for the Accommodation of large Districts of People, unless their People would relinquish the Right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inalienable to them, and inimitable to the Colonies only.

He has called together Legislative Bodies at Places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the Depository of their public Records, for the sole Purpose of fatiguing them into Compliance with his Measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly Firmness his Invasions on the Rights of the People.

He has refused for a long Time, after such Dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean Time exposed to all the Dangers of Invasion from without, and Confusions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the Population of these States, for that Purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners, refusing to pass others to encourage the Migration hither, and raising the Conditions of new Appropriations of Land.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the Tenure of their Offices, and the Amount and Payment of their Salaries.

He has kept among us, in Times of Peace, Standing Armies, without the Consent of our Legislature.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil Power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a Jurisdiction foreign to our Constitution, and unacknowledged by our Laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation.

For quartering large Bodies of Armed Troops among us.

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from Punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States.

For cutting off our Trade with all Parts of the World.

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent.

For depriving us, in many Cases, of the Benefit of Trial by Jury.

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended Offences.

For abolishing the beneficial Laws of our Colonies, and establishing in their stead others, which have altered the whole Character of our Government.

For taking away our Charters, and depriving us in many Instances of the Powers which we have by our Charters.

For suspending our Laws, and declaring themselves invested with Power to legislate for us in all Cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our Seas, and ravaged our Coasts, and destroyed the Lives of our People.

He is, at this Time, transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to complete the Works of Death, Desolation, and Tyranny, already begun with consequences of Cruelty and Barbarity, scarcely parallelled in the most barbarous Ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized Nation.

He has constrained our Colonies to take up Arms against their Country, to become the Executioners of their Friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic Contentions amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the Inhabitants of our Frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known Rule of Warfare, is an undistinguished Destruction, of all Ages, Sexes and Conditions.

In every Stage of these Oppressions we have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble Terms. Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated Injury. A Prince, whose Character is thus marked by every Act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the Ruler of a free People.

Not content with these Violations, we have petitioned that they should cease, and have been answered only by repeated Injury. We have petitioned that they should cease, and have been answered only by repeated Injury. We have petitioned that they should cease, and have been answered only by repeated Injury.

We therefore, the Representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for the Rectitude of our Intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political Connection between them and that State is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of Right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm Reliance on the Protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.

Signed by ORDER and in BEHALF of the CONGRESS,
JOHN HANCOCK, PRESIDENT.

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, JULY 5, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Past mistakes will not hinder your progress. Hang on to your values and self-confidence, and no hurdle will be too high. Reassure family members concerned about the future. You know the importance of minding your p's and q's. Homemakers should set goals for themselves the same way they would in an office. Place greater emphasis on sharing and a close relationship will regain its former luster.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: slugger Gary Matthews, pitcher Rich Gossage, showman P.T. Barnum, dramatist Jean Cocteau, actress Katharine Hepburn, coach John McKay.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Career matters enjoy highly favorable influences. Your spirits rise, thanks to a phone call or chance meeting. Give a child a second chance. Instill confidence, not fear! Be tactful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Accomplishments, not cash, are on your mind. Trust your own intuition over what a co-worker says. More education could open doors that are now closed. Investigate going to school part-time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Quick results are possible. Do not ever give up on yourself! Move in more than one social circle. You need to start new studies and meet new people. Good things come your way.

CANCER (June 21-July 22):

Good friends are hard to find. Listen when they try to help you. Balance your checkbook before going shopping. You may have overlooked certain expenses. Eating the right foods boosts your energy level.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A splendid day lies ahead. Expected money finally arrives. Romance is a source of inspiration. Productivity rises along with your spirits. You can expect to see something truly beautiful when traveling.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Go ahead and speak up at a business meeting. Ongoing projects deserve "top priority" status today. Excellent trends enable you to capitalize on your powers of persuasion. Others jump on your bandwagon.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A fine day for accounting and bookkeeping activities. Careful budgeting is the key to greater financial security in the near future. A romantic entanglement could prove expensive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Creative and artistic ventures hold great promise. Steer clear of speculative financial ventures that could boomerang. People or events at a distance may affect your closest relationships. Keep your own counsel.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Certain associates could be jealous of your talents. Stick to your budget and guard against extravagance. Romance is apt to be especially glamorous and exciting now. Be discreet. Guard your reputation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Showcase your strengths while downplaying your weaknesses. Catch up on paperwork and routine chores. Influential person begins to see you in a new light. Stress your reliability to those holding the purse strings.

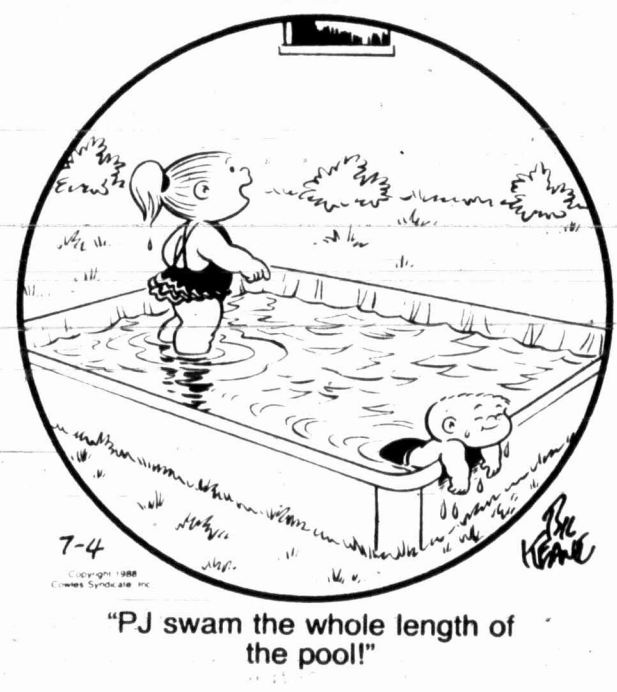

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A lucky day for employment matters. Go ahead and make some important changes in your personal life. You arouse intense feelings in member of opposite sex. Avoid saying more than you should.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Double-check all facts and figures before making an important presentation. Open up new lines of communication at work and the atmosphere will improve. Romance takes a fascinating turn. Go slow on making commitments.
